In preparation for the grain festival all downtown stores have been decorated. Window displays show bundles of grain.

Theaters here have prepared special attractions for out-of-town visitors to be here. Several hotels will provide free rooms during the daylight hours as an accommodation to shoppers from this area.

The harvest festival was decided on here recently by the retail trade bureau of the chamber as one of its activities to create additional trade for Wichita Falls, to extend the city's trade area and to stimulate the cultivation of better crops and to develop agriculture in the Wichita valley.

County Agent Supervisor

During the three days of the festival G. C. McGown, county farm agent, will be on hand at the exposition rooms to dispense advice regarding the planting of pure seed and to explain the increased quality of grain through adherence to instructions given in seed education. Mr. McGown will also give charts and explain regarding the feeding of animals, particularly the feeding of grain to calves.

Prizes totalling $75 have been posted by the retail division and awards on exhibits probably will be made Friday, it was said. Awards are to be made as follows:

ALL RAILROADS PETITION FOR FREIGHT HIKE

I. C. C. Asked for 15 Per Cent Increase in All Charges

SHRINKAGE CITED

Roads Plead Emergency in Plea for Quick Decision

WASHINGTON, June 17. (US)—Faced by a tremendous shrinkage in revenue and threats of serious impairment of their financial structure, the railroads of the nation today joined in petitioning the Interstate Commerce commission for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates.

The increase in rates asked will give the railroads $400,000,000 additional revenue, it was estimated.

Swift action was declared imperative and the commission indicated the railroads asked for authority to increase all freight rates and charges, including joint rail and water rates, with such adjustments in the case of coal, coke and certain other commodities as will preserve existing differentials.

Percentage Increase

They asked for a percentage increase rather than a horizontal boost. As to coal, coke and certain other commodities, specific tariffs complying with the ordinary requirements of tariff publication.

A 4,500-word brief was submitted jointly by J. J. Pelley, chairman of the special committee of railroad presidents representing the eastern group; H. A. Scandrett, chairman of the committee of presidents of the western and mountain-Pacific groups, and W. R. Cole, chairman of the southern group.

While the railroads asked for a rate increase of 15 per cent, the commission has full authority to reject it or allow part of the amount asked. It was doubted that the commission would grant 15 per cent.

Schedule 'Reasonable'

The petition said the increase asked had been estimated to yield the carriers less than 4 per cent on the value of their property. The brief said:

"Since this return will be much below the return prescribed by law, the case presented does not appear to be one for the determination of maximum reasonable rates by the commission.

"If the existing emergency has been made clear to the commission, time does not permit the exercise of the power to determine, otherwise than from a revenue standpoint, the reasonableness of the proposed schedules of rates as a condition precedent to permitting them to become effective."

Fight Wage Cuts

No revenue relief could be expected from an increase in passenger fares, the petition said, as the automobile competition is too

JURY PONDERS PANTAGES CASE

Complaining Witness Held An Accomplice

SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 17. (AP)—Deliberations were begun by a jury of nine men and three women late today in the case of Alexander Pantages, wealthy showman, and three others, tried on a felony charge of conspiracy to violate the juvenile court law and a misdemeanor charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Before the jurors took the "girl market" case at noon, they were instructed by Superior Judge L. N. Turrentine that they must consider Lydia Nitto, the youthful complaining witness, as an accomplice in their deliberations on the felony charge.

He also ruled that Helen Livinston, another girl allegedly brought for immoral purposes to a hotel party here last Oct. 30, and John P. Mills, real estate dealer who turned state's witness after pleading guilty to the misdemeanor, were accomplices in the alleged conspiracy and in the misdemeanor. He told the jurors that to consider the testimony of accomplices, they must find independent evidence or circumstances satisfactorily corroborated it.

The trial opened May 25.

THREE TO PAY FOR CRIMES IN CHAIR FRIDAY

HERRARA UNAFRAID

Convicted Mexican Slayers Wait March to Death

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, June 17. (AP)—Executive clemency virtually denied them, three men, all convicted slayers, awaited approaching death in the state prison tonight.

Two were frankly fearful, but the third, Ofilio Herrera, who for 24 months has stared through the slit in the same death cell door, "smiled and waved," the assistant warden said, when that official chanced by. Twenty men have gone from death row to the electric chair since Herrera first was committed here.

Killed Sheriff

Herrera, Nicandro Munoz and Victor Rodrigues will be electrocuted early Friday, barring intervention by Governor Sterling who said in Houston this afternoon he would take no step in their behalf unless new and extenuating circumstances should appear.

No more than two men have been electrocuted here on a single morning in years.

Herrera killed, the jury found, Sheriff A. T. Murray of Mason county, four years ago. He doggedly sought to escape the penalty, obtained a reversal, but in the new trial the death verdict again was returned. He besought the higher courts again, to no avail.

Ambush Slaying

Munoz and Rodrigues, who are Mexican aliens, subject to deportation, were convicted of the murder of Bert Ellison, a customs officer at Weslaco, near the Mexican border. Ellison was ambushed.

The two condemned men confessed to participation in the killing, according to the record., Margarito Rodrigues, whom they named as one of the slayers was killed resisting arrest. Jose Maria Lopez, a convicted accomplice, was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The prosecution contended a grudge growing out of a deportation motivated the murder.

Salt Water Adds To Producers' Worries In East Texas Area

Lease Brokers Pulling Out as Geologists Revise Inflated Figures on Proven Area; Frenzied Drilling for Cheap Oil "Getting Old" in Piney Woods

By PAUL HEDRICK
Record News Correspondent

TULSA, Okla., June 17.—Low prices for East Texas field crude oil are going lower, mid-continent oil producers state.

Five producers were advised at Tyler yesterday that one firm would take but 100 barrels per well and pay 10 cents a barrel for the oil, or five centz a barrel less than any other large purchaser was paying, and another oil purchaser was willing to pay 11 cents a barrel and also take but 100 barrels per well. Still another major purchaser was ceasing to make any further lease or well connections and the Humble Oil and Refining company officials explained 'hat they were taking a nominal amount of oil and paying a fair price for it. Just what the fair price amounted to was not stated.

Fight Goes On

Oklahoma oil men say that East Texas land owners and business men are "getting sick" of the interminable scrapping over what the East Texas field should produce. The two factions are bitter towards each other and therein lies the unwillingness of the larger companies to accept the Cranfill-Lucey 20 acre plan of 300 barrels per unit. As a result they predict lower oil prices for the area as the fight goes on. It looks now, Earl Sneed, president of the Y Oil and Gas company, Hendricks Royalties, Inc., and Sneed Petroleum corporation, that Governor Sterling may now be forced to call the Texas legislature together to end the orgy that the oil men apparently have not been able to stop.

The lease play is over, other oil men say, and brokers are returning to their homes all over the mid-continent. Only the royalty play has been left and interests under producing leases range from $350 to $500 an acre. Titles are still bothering buyers.

The appearance of salt water in the Kilgore area, and particularly in the southern portion and the rapid decline of natural rock pressure in the Joiner sector, has caused geologists and engineers to hurriedly revise their estimates of what the East Texas area may show up in the final analysis.

Instead of 122,000 acres of proven territory as was heralded up until June 13, they now state that East Texas will do well to come out with 84,500 acres of proven territory.

Figures Revised

Ultimate recovery figures are also being checked downward and one hears of some leases making upwards of 25,000 to 40,000 barrels an acre, but the per field estimates will drop to from 5,000 to 10,000 barrels and probably around 5,000 to 7,500 barrels an acre.

Production men say that East Texas will make an ideal pumping oil field, and many are not worried by the waning pressure, and other problems.

Operators putting down drilling wells are wondering, however, because certain conditions are occurring to increase their operating costs. In the first six months of the play all drilling crews found an abundance of water to drill with in the shallow horizons, from 29 to 35 feet below the surface and again at around 700 feet. Both water strata are now about depleted and the Sabine river is being drawn upon, but such efforts are provoking complaints from towns and cities that use the water from the river for municipal purposes.

Proration is unsatisfactory and unfavorable, but many operators are willing to go along. Shutting down East Texas wells hurts them and practically must be swabbed back into production when opened later. Several crews keep busy with a Fordson tractor, going about swabbing wells back.

The fight between the prorationists and the anti-prorationists has caused some operators to openly assert that they were going to get their oil. The fact that many wells are started with 11¼-inch holes, against the customary six-inch hole, proves that the most active operators are doing just that. Almost all wells are tested through a 11-16 inch choke on the tubing for an hour and the volume produced is multiplied to give the 24-hour estimate.

"Junk Yard of Oil"

East Texas is to become known as the "junk yard of oil." Every oil operator has been busy scraping up old leases, cleaning out yards, warehouses and the scrap-heap for equipment that can be used. One firm, the Humble, has moved in tons of used equipment and is utilizing all of it. That firm is also busy enlarging its storage facilities, erecting a battery of 50 tanks, each of 80,000 barrels capacity, and has built a modern 60-foot road across

Brazil Chops Off Three Letters of Official Alphabet

President Geulio Vargos issued a formal decree eliminating the letters W, K and Y from the alphabet, and directing that in their places the letters U, Q and I will be used.

EAST TEXAS WAITS CURB

Voluntary Proration Under Test Saturday

TYLER, Texas, June 17. (AP)—Voluntary pinching by operators in the East Texas field as surcease for overproduction after efforts of the railroad commission to enforce proration apparently had failed, had been resorted to today and the outcome was watched by the oil world, made wobbly by what the industry claims was the new pool's disregard for orderly marketing.

Should the latest plan work, production in the field was expected to be cut to from 200,000 to 220,000 barrels daily at the start. Latest figures available showed average daily production in the field about 330,000 barrels, more than twice the 160,000 barrels limit fixed by order of the railroad commission.

Saturday at 10 a. m. had been fixed by sponsors of the voluntary effort to reduce production as "cut down hour." All operators were appealed to to limit their wells to 300 barrels at that hour.

Success of the unitization plan endorsed by a mass meeting of operators here Monday will depend on how general the appeal is respected. Should all the operators join in the movement, Capt. J. F. Lucey of Dallas, chairman of the "arbitration committee" set up to administer the unit plan, said he was confident the state, through the railroad commission, would take hold of the project and add its influence through a formal order placing the plan in effect in lieu of the violated proration instructions now extant.

MIDWEST TOUR FAILS TO STIR ENTHUSIASM

Campaign Wedge Meets Indifference on Whole Route

SPRINGFIELD ADDRESS

President Calls for Law Enforcement at Lincoln's Tomb

By WILLIAM P. FLYTHE

ON BOARD PRESIDENT HOOver's Special Train Returning to Washington, June 17. (US).—President Hoover was en route to his desk in the White House tonight from a whirlwind campaign of the Middled-West which ended today when he delivered an eulogy at the tomb of Lincoln in Springfield.

It dawned upon those close to the president that he has really launched a campaign for renomination and will adhere strictly to the policies he adopted shortly after he came into the White House.

It was generally understood when he left Washington that the purpose of the tour of West Virginia, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana was a political crusade, but none realized that it would be so intense.

Little Enthusiasm

None realized that his reception would be quite as indifferent as it has been. During the three days he has reviewed vast throngs in widely scattered communities, but for some reason which not even those close to the president can explain there has been little enthusiasm.

He adopted a new policy on this tour which transformed it into a a true campaign. He had the special train operate on an unusually slow schedule. Instructions were issued to have a secret service man on the train appraise the crowds at various stations and if it was a sizeable one the train slowed down to a snail's pace, or stopped.

He adopted this policy on the return trip. Tonight he stopped at Danville, home of Joe Cannon, famous Republican boss of the house until his death and made a brief address there. The train schedule had been so arranged that he may appear at places in West Virginia which he missed on the western jump during the night.

President Exhausted

As the president started the 24-hour journey homeward late today he appeared to show the strain that comes of exhaustion, for his program has been an exceedingly trying one physically, and disappointment that the vast throngs he addressed, or passed in the numerous processions through cities did not give him the greeting he had been expected and political leaders in Washington had assured him he would receive.

IDEALS OF LINCOLN REAFFIRMED

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 17. (AP)—President Hoover closed his tour of the Middle-West today with a ples at the shrine of Abraham Lincoln for obedience and enforcement of the law.

Before going to the granite shaft rising over the remodeled tomb of the civil war president, Mr. Hoover in an address to the Illinois assembly emphasized the part of state government in the national life and asserted "our machinery of government must shift" to meet changing "economic and social forces."

It was a busy day for the president beginning with a visit shortly

May Foreign Trade Figures Show Decrease

TRIAL POSTPONED

STEPHENVILLE, Texas, June 17. (AP)—District Judge Sam Russell today granted the request of Dr. J. A. Whiteacre, dentist charged with the fatal shooting of Cecil L. Young last September, to postpone the trial until the September term of court.

Canadian Asks U. S. to Reconsider Citizenship Bar to Arms Objectors

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP)—Contending the supreme court had barred everyone with religious scruples against war from citizenship and from public office as well, Prof. Douglas C. MacIntosh today asked that tribunal to reconsider its recent five-to-four decision excluding him from naturalization.

Canadian born, a Baptist clergyman and professor of theology at Yale, MacIntosh, in seeking naturalization declined to take an unqualified oath that he would bear arms for the United States in any war in which the nation might become involved.

He said he would have to defer judgment and decide for himself after the outbreak of hostilities whether the cause was just. Then, he might or might not take an active part in the prosecution of the war, as his conscience should dictate.

The lower federal court refused to grant him citizenship, but this ruling was reversed by the circuit court of appeals. With Chief Justice Hughes and Associate Justices Holmes, Brandeis and Stone dissenting the supreme court held him ineligible for citizenship.

350 New Dry Sleuths to Attack 'Higher-Ups' in Mid-July Drive

WASHINGTON, Jue 17. (AP)—Prohibition officials today disclosed preparations for a campaign against the higher-ups of the illicit liquor gangs that will throw against them—promptly on July 15—the biggest and best trained force of agents since prohibition became a law.

Prohibition Director Woodcock acknowledged that for the last two or three months his office has been "bending every effort" toward this date.

By mid-July, he said, approximately 350 new agents, chosen from among thousands of applicants for their ability as investigators will be trained and distributed throughout the country. This force is the last of the 500 new agents authorized by congress. The rest are already in the field.

They will be directed specifically, Woodcock asserted, to "get" the big commercial violators and the leaders among the illicit liquor gangsters, rather than to concentrate against the speakeasy and small-time bootlegger.

HOOVER ENDS MIDWEST TOUR

after his arrival in the morning to the old frame structure occupied by Abraham Lincoln before he went to the White House 70 years ago.

Teachings Cited

Crowds lined his route throughout the day, an immense gathering assembling under the scorching sun at the cemetery. The silence of the crowds was broken by occasional applause.

The president was introduced by Governor Emerson who said that the president "like Lincoln, was called from the ranks of the common people to lead our country in an hour of adversity."

The president then called the nation to the teachings of Lincoln that America's heritage "rests upon obedience and enforcement of the law."

'None Above Law'

"There can be no man in our country," he said, "who, either by his position or his influence, stands above the law. That the republic cannot admit and still live, for ours is a government of laws and a society of ordered liberty safeguarded only by law."

The president referred to the state legislatures as the "laboratories" for trial of government problems.

The president brought with him Charles G. Dawes, ambassador to Great Britain; and Secretary Lamont, two sons of Illinois. They were cheered by the Illinois assembly and guests.

Veterans Gather

"A nation in its whole life time flowers with but a few whose names remain upon the roll of the world in after generations," Mr. Hoover said. "Lincoln after all these years still grows, not only in the hearts of his countrymen but in the hearts of the peoples of the world.

"It is not new, yet it is eternally true, to state that Lincoln made a universal appeal to the minds and hearts of men. His every aspiration was for the unity and welfare of his country. He became a triumphant force in achieving that ideal, because he saw the problems of his time not only from the standpoint of the statesman but of the average citizen whose outlook he understood and whose trials and hopes he shared.

Tangled Relationships Follow Marital Mixups

FERTILE, Iowa, June 17. (UP)—Nearly two years ago Peter E. Linsky married a widow with a grown daughter. Shortly thereafter Linsky's father married the daughter.

Each couple has been blessed with a son and with a problem in relationship.

They figured out that Linsky's stepmother is his wife's daughter and that Mrs. Linsky's daughter is her father-in-law's wife, but when the two babies were born they struggled for hours to discover the relation of the two infants, finally deciding that each was a stepuncle to the other.

And to climax the tangle, the child born to the widow's daughter and Linsky's father is Mrs. Linsky's step-brother-in-law and similarly the child born to Linsky and the widow is Linsky's father's step-brother-in-law.

the field, connecting its several properties with its field camps. Field rumors say the Humble is planning 650 test wells in East Texas.

The Texas railroad commission reports that the Henderson, Kilgore and Longview pools from Jan. 1 to June 13 have moved out 62,680 tank cars filled with oil. Henderson led with 26,140 cars; Kilgore, 22,025 cars; Longview, 2,470 cars; Willow Springs, 1,825 cars, and Arp, 220 cars.

C. V. Terrell, chairman of the Texas railroad commission estimates that the steady decline in oil prices has cost the Lone Star state at leats $250,000,000. He estimates that 3,000,000 barrels of oil will be produced in Texas this year, and on a reasonable market it would bring $1.25 a barrel and at the average price of 25 cents a barrel prevailing today it will yield only $94,000,000, or a loss of $281,000,000.

One-sixth of the oil produced in Texas is consumed within the state, Judge Terrell said, which makes the difference in dollars and cents to the state approximately $250,000,000.

"Sure It's Good—Our Team Trains On It"

Bill Edwards knows results when he sees them. His peppy team has Thompson's "Double Malted" at luncheon and after practice. They know it has increased their energy and endurance.

Health and energy can come only from well digested food. This is very important to children because they must eat more than grown folks in order to grow. Helps young, growing bodies get full benefit from the food they eat. Then they eat more—hence gain in height, weight, energy. intense. Likewise the roads said they did not want to cut wages.

When the depression hit the railroads late in 1929, they had the alternatives of retrenching, reducing all expenditures, cutting wages and facing the storm, or, they could expand expenditures for maintenance of way and other improvements, maintain wages and thereby help maintain the national purchasing power. They chose the latter course, the brief said.

Despite curtailed traffic the railroads spent about $598,000,000 on their properties, the petition pointed out. But the carriers have reached their financial limit to continue this course without more revenue, they said.

Returns Listed

The return on the value of railway property of class one carriers for 1930 was 3.54 per cent. Stocks and bonds of the roads, held by the public, banks, insurance companies, etc., have dropped, impairing the ability of the roads to obtain new lows.

The return to the railroads on operations for the first four months of 1931 averaged only 2.24 per cent, it was said.

Pointing out that a move to reduce wages would result in prolonged negotiation, when the carriers are faced by an emergency that needs speedy remedy, the brief said.

A conference of state public utilities commissioners with members of the Interstate Commerce commission will be held here Saturday to consider a program of procedure for action on the railroads' application.

Attending the meeting will be the committee on cooperation between the federal and state utilities commissions of the national association of railroad and utilities commissioners.

This committee consists of Paul A. Walker of the Oklahoma state commission; Benjamin A. Larkin, North Dakota commissioner; Hugh White, Alabama commissioner; Henry G. Wells, Massachusetts commissioner, and Commissioner Ernest I. Lewis and Claude R. Porter the I. C. C.

45 Members Now Listed in Boys Band

Activities of the Lions club in this city were reviewed at the weekly meeting of the organization held Wednesday noon at the Wichita club, Leo M. Underwood being the principal speaker with a discussion of the Lions Club Boys band and its history.

From a small organization begun several years ago, the band has reached a fixed number of about 45 and spends two hours weekly in rehearsal, the speaker said.

Announcement of the plans made by the Junior chamber of commerce for a parade to welcome the Spudders home Saturday was made by Roy E. Carter. Three musical units, the Lions Club Boys' band, Paul Seeds' Caballeros band, and the American Legion drum and bugle corps, will participate in the march Mr. Carter said. K. C. Spell, Dr. W. P. Bolding and Mr. Carter were named as a committee to stimulate attendance of the Lions club membership at the affair.

Plans are in the making for an inaugural party to be held soon at the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club, according to W. B. Featherston, chairman of the committee.

Members of the club were asked by Frank Cripliver, president, to aid Boy Scouts in obtaining odd jobs by which they may earn summer camp expense money.

A run-off election resulted in the choice of Ralph S. Fidler as third vice president; C. J. Coffey, lion tamer; K. C. Spell, tail twister; and G. T. Buchanan and James King, directors.

Wichita State Bank Starts Work on Handsome New Front for Building

Alteration of the front of the Wichita State Bank and Trust company's quarters in the Waggoner building, designed to provide better interior lighting, improved ventilation, a more beautiful facade on Eighth street and more spacious banking accommodations, were started Wednesday morning.

According to Pat Simmons, active vice president of the bank, remodeling of the building will be rushed to completion. The present front of the bank's quarters will be removed, the stone wall being replaced by large plate glass windows, two on either side of the present main entrance. Plate glass doors will be installed also on either side of the present double doors.

The mezzanine floor located at the front of the banking floor is to be removed in is entirety. The directors' room, up to this time located on the mezzanine, will be located in the basement, and will be materially larger than that formerly afforded.

Changes in the building have been designed by Voelcker & Dixon local architects, to bring out the unusual beauty of the bank's interior by admitting more light from the front, it was said. Taylor Bros. & Co., are contractors for the job, which is estimated to cost about $7,500. During the remodeling all present entrances may be used as formerly, it was said.

Mr. Buelow responded briefly to the talks made relative to his promotion and impending departure for Hillsboro.

Optimists were requested by Ralph Pond to be on hand at the union depot Saturday afternoon when the Spudders return from their current road trip.

Rev. S. F. Martin, pastor of the Lamar Avenue Baptist church, was introduced Wednesday as a new member of the club.

Junior Forum Entertains With Informal Open House

Twinkling lights strung on the wide green lawn, the odor of sweet summer flowers and the splash of water in the goldfish pool; pretty girls in long bouffant organdy frocks and boys in immaculate white, all combined Tuesday evening to make a beautiful social event of the informal party given by members of the Junior Forum at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. P. P. Langford, on Tilden. Mrs. Langford, with her charming daughter, Miss Elizabeth, were hostesses with Junior Forum officers.

Several games of croquet were carried on outdoors; bridge and other games were played in the spacious rooms and dancing was the entertainment on the tiled porch.

A pretty musical program was given in the music room late in the evening with Miss Minnie T. Baker, Jimmie Campbell and four charming young artists from Zundelowitz Junior high school taking part. Roberta Lincoln and Peggy Williamson, accompanied by Miss Baker at the piano, played several violin duets and a group of songs was given by the Zundelowitz girl's quartet, composed of Roberta Lincoln, Peggy Williamson, Ruth Tucker and Charlotte Maer. Miss Baker accompanied Mr. Campbell, who sang with beautiful expression three songs, "Trees," by Rasbach; "Mighty Lak a Rose," by Nevin, and "One Alone," from "The Desert Song." The program was concluded by Miss Baker's lovely series of songs, "Danny Boy," by Weatherby; "Rose in the Bud," Foster; "To You," Oley Speaks, and "The Lonesome Road," from "The Showboat."

Punch was served throughout the evening on a flower laden glass topped table.

Among the guests were Messrs. and Mesdames W. N. Maer, T. A. Hicks, Mrs. J. D. PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

In a corridor of the South Dakota capitol there is in a glass case a blackened silver plate long since discovered, that in its inscription, claims the lands along the Missouri for France. Next to it, a bit of rock found by children in the vicinity, tells a tragic story of the fate of pioneers.

◆ ◆ ◆

"Seven of us came, all dead but me," is roughly scratched. "Indians got our ponies." The names of the seven, still to be deciphered, might have explained tragic disappearances to loved ones who waited in the older states.

◆ ◆ ◆

Tragedies are so commonplace that the world reads of all but the latest and nearest without a shudder. The silver plate left me cold, though I had a faint stirring of imagination concerning the Frenchmen alone in a new country so many years ago. The scratched rock touched me with the thought of the lonely survivor whose passing no one knew.

◆ ◆ ◆

Those pioneers were our own people; perhaps for that reason, the little saga seemed so pathetic. Yet in this day, millions are suffering the tragedy of starvation and it does not come home to us like the story of our breadlines and our own people out of work.

◆ ◆ ◆

Lindsay Hoben wrote in the April Current History of the scourge of famine in China, telling in vivid words of terrible conditions. There were, he said, approximately 7,000,000 dead of famine in 1930.

◆ ◆ ◆

The Chinese, he states, do not help famine sufferers. There are two reasons; first, the stoical lack of feeling drilled in by centuries of recurring famines; second, a Chinaman who aids a starving person is socially responsible for his burial expenses, or—should he live, for his maintenance.

◆ ◆ ◆

When the drouth comes, he says, "foods dwindle; roots are eaten, then mudballs and chopped straw—and the desperate wandering begins." From village to village, they go, some dying on the way; some sold into slavery for the salvation of the remainder of the family. And the drouth, the writer states, is a recurring thing for Central Asia is slowly drying up.

◆ ◆ ◆

"One of the ghastly things," he writes, "is the silence. The victims stand or sit or lie like bewildered beasts at a dried water hole." They ask no help. It is fate to them. They have burned their paper money and said their prayers and it is on the knees of the gods.

◆ ◆ ◆

China, where the increasing population undoes all temporary relief, cannot support her people. "China has 2,000,000 square miles of arid country" and less arable land each year. Hallend Abend is quoted in his book, "Tortured China," saying, "It has been estimated that even when there is no famine, 2,000,000 Chinese die annually from starvation."

◆ ◆ ◆

And yet, we sometimes forget all that we have for which we should be thankful.

High Court Affirms Two Wichita Cases

Affirmation by the court of criminal appeals of two felony convictions returned in district court here early this year was reported on Wednesday in news dispatches from Austin.

One of the convictions was that of Sam Parks, charged with forgery and given the maximum term of seven years under the repetition of offenses statute. A check was shown by the state as the instrument bearing an allegedly forged endorsement. Evidence shown by the prosecution also revealed the defendant's earlier conviction on a similar charge.

The second affirmation applied to the case of Ralph Abercrombie, who was given a four-year term on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property. He was accused of attempting to sell to an automobile dealer here a car which had been stolen in Graham.

500 Pounds of Carp Seined From Wichita River for Needy

About 500 pounds of carp were seined from the Wichita river just below the Lake Kemp dam Wednesday; the fish were hauled to town and turned over the Salvation Army for distribution.

The seining was done under the supervision of Game Warden Cave, and while some bass and other fish were included in the catch, all except the carp and gars were put back into the river. The dam's gates had been closed for the occasion, and the pools just below the gates seemed to be almost alive with carp.

The removal of the carp serves the double purpose of ridding the water of a fish which preys much on bass and other game fish, and of furnishing food to some needy folks. While the carp is not prized as a food fish, it is quite palatable.

The expedition was arranged by the Wichita Falls chapter of the Izaak Walton League. The city of Wichita Falls furnished a truck for the transportation of the fish and the Wichita Ice company ice for preserving the catch until ready for distribution.

Participating in the seining expedition were Ben G. Oneal, W. Daniel, John Harris, G. W. Pond, Jim King, John Gould and Messrs. Cave and Prescott of the irrigation district force.

GOLF TOURNEY AT HASKELL

Course Worked Over for Tri-County Meet

Special to The Record News.

HASKELL, Texas, June 17.—The golf association of Haskell has been at work for the past week under the direction of F. L. Daugherty, president, in an attempt to make the nine-hole course most attractive when the Tri-County association holds its annual tournament in August. Baylor, Knox and Haskell counties will compete for honors.

Earlier in the spring the succession of the fairways was changed to make the course a two-way tee-off which enables crowds of golfers to start at the same time with the distance of three holes between them. The old cottonseed hulls have been removed from the greens and new packing is being laid, enlarging the greens. New bunkers and sand traps have been added and the old ones enlarged. The Haskell course has been conceded by visiting golfers to be one of the best in the section, having seven water hazards. Plans are being drawn up to make the course number 18 holes. This is under the direction of the greens committee, J. A. Couch, B. M. Whitaker and Hollis Atkeison. This will be the third Tri-County tourney, the one last year being held at Seymour.

Famous Oklahoma Defense Lawyer To Plead at Bar for Earl Quinn

NEWKIRK, Okla., June 17. (UP)—James H. Mathers, Oklahoma City attorney who won an acquittal for Clara Smith in the Jake Hamon murder case at Ardmore, will defend Earl Quinn when he goes on trial charged with murder in the brutal slaying of Zexia and Jesse Griffith of Blackwell.

Mathers, one of the state's most famous criminal lawyers, will defend the former Missouri convict single handed.

Against him will be arrayed Kay County Attorney Bruce Potter, his assistants and Assistant Attorney General Frank Dudley ordered into the prosecution by Gov. William H. Murray.

Quinn faces preliminary hearing at Newkirk next Tuesday. Mathers said today he had not decided whether he would make a defense at the hearing.

Defense Complete

Mathers said a complete defense had been evolved for Quinn, which both he and the accused man are confident would win acquittal. The defense will be disclosed at the district court trial in July.

Mathers established his reputation in the sensational trial of Clara Smith in the slaying of Hamon, wealthy Oklahoma oil man and associate of the late President Warren G. Harding.

County Attorney Potter said today that a young Muskogee society woman, who claims she was attacked at the place of the Griffith sisters murder a month before the school teachers were found slain, will be the state's star witness against Quinn at the preliminary hearing.

Star State Witness

The young woman, whose identity has been kept secret, has identified a photograph of Quinn as the man who forced her to drive to the lonely river road on highway 77 south of Blackwell on Thanksgiving day, Potter said.

The woman was driving home alone after a visit with friends at Blackwell when assaulted.

The Griffith sisters were found slain near the highway south of Tonkawa Dec. 30. Jessie, the younger, had been attacked. Both had been shot. Their car was found near the highway, 20 miles south of the place of the murder.

Mathers' "lone wolf" defense of accused persons is not new. Single-handed, he won an acquittal for Edith Bishop in the sensational Luther Bishop murder case in Oklahoma City. He won a 25-year sentence for A. Y. Hembree when his brother was sentenced to the electric chair in an attack case at Duncan.

Courtrooms are always packed when the stock built, silver-haired attorney, his coat off and wearing gold rimmed glasses, begins to plead in what has been described as a "motherly voice" with the jury for the freedom of his client.

Claims Wrong Man

"No, this is not a tough case," Mathers said today at Oklahoma City. "They have accused the wrong man. I do not know who the murderer is."

Mathers said Jean Quinn, the defendant's young wife, will be a defense witness.

Mathers revealed today he had been in touch with Quinn continuously during the months officers were looking for him in a nation-wide search.

"Quinn hid out because of public opinion and because his friends at Tonkawa, with whom he was in touch, advised him to hide. When he finally decided to follow my advice and surrender, I made the arrangements for the officers to meet him at the Omaha union station."

Potter was equally confident.

"We have our evidence nearly complete. We will use 12 witnesses at the preliminary and more at the trial. We are certain we have the right man and can convict him.

"I will demand the death penalty," Potter said.

The cigaret tax was termed a nuisance and members of the committee said the feeling of delegates at the convention apparently was that taxation in general affected the druggist's business severely.

A Corpus Christi civic club sponsoring the trip had forgotten to prepare for this. The boat was seized and the 12 were held while coast guardsmen attempted to untangle the riddle.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas has 117 daily newspapers—27 morning, 90 evening—and 57 Sunday papers. The dailies have combined circulations of 1,275,331, giving 100 per cent plus coverage of the 1,213,474 Texas homes and almost complete coverage of the 1,323,774 Texas families. Texas has better than 6 per cent of all the daily newspapers in the United States and better than 10 per cent of all the Sunday newspapers.

HELPING BUILD TEXAS

Counties and districts, along with federal and state governments, are doing their part toward giving Texas a real system of highways. Some recent notes. . . . Navarro county is selling $606,000 remaining from its $2,278,000 bond issue voted two years ago and will spend the proceeds in further improving its county roads. . . . Jackson county votes July 3 on a road bond issue of $1,150,000. . . . Early beginning of the road improvement work in the Temple district is seen in the announcement that the $625,000 road bond issue recently voted has been approved by the attorney general's department and will be sold. . . . Glen Rose-Walnut Springs highway will get the benefit of $30,000 appropriated by the state highway commission for that purpose. . . . Navarro and Henderson counties celebrated yesterday the opening of the Trinity river bridge on the Athens-Corsicana highway No. 31. Bridge construction through the Trinity bottoms on that highway involved an expenditure of a half million dollars and opening of the bridge provides an all-weather connection between the two important county seats.

Cripple Saves Boy From Waves After Human Chain Fails

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif., June 17. (AP)—A crippled youth saved the life of a drowning boy after pounding ocean waves had foiled the rescue efforts of a "human chain" of 20 persons and a lone woman swimmer yesterday.

The victim of a childhood attack of infantile paralysis, Gerald Berbeau, 24, of Pasadena, Calif., struggled out 100 feet into a rough surf and recovered John Barton Carawan, 8, son of Mrs. Guy H. Carawan, Los Angeles. A respirator revived the boy.

Heavy waves had thwarted the efforts of Mrs. Thelma Joyce, who plunged in alone, and a score of bathers who joined hands in an attempt to reach young Carawan.

Plane Crash Fatal to Texas Marine Gunner

PENSACOLA, Fla., June 17. (INS)—Elmo Regan of Overton, Texas, marine gunner, died here today of injuries received when the plane he was piloting crashed near the naval air station yesterday.

An investigation into the cause of the crash was started by naval station officials today.

Ensign Robert Jennings of New Foundland, N. J., who was in the plane with Regan, escaped with only minor injuries. Regan received a severe fracture of the skull and both arms and legs were fractured.

Talkies are not going well in Italy, we read. Mussolini apparently is too big a factor to compete with.

Power of Conservatism

IT IS a fairly safe bet that some of the most radical speaking and planning of the coming decade is going to be indulged in by the country's most fervent conservatives.

This may not sound like good sense, but it is entirely logical. A little consideration of the problems of the day make it clear.

Governor Ritchie of Maryland, for instance, remarks that "you cannot have from five to eight million people wanting work and unable to get it without knowing that this constitutes a challenge to our social order and that it is the strongest argument for communism unless it is solved."

And Dean Wallace B. Donham of the Harvard School of Business Administration says bluntly:

"Capitalism is on trial and upon this trial may depend the whole future of western civilization. The justification of capitalism is efficiency. Our present situation is a major breakdown."

Two prominent men thus state the issue. What is going to happen?

Obviously, it is the iron-ribbed conservative who has the greatest stake in the existing social and economic order. It is he who can be counted on to take the strongest measure to prevent a change in the direction of communism or socialism.

How is he going to do it? Not, in the long run, by chanting over and over again the wearisome refrain that "conditions are fundamentally sound." Not by calling out the police to club the heads of dissatisfied men who can't get the jobs they want. Not by insisting that business always has and always must run in cycles.

He will do it, eventually, by making such changes in the machinery of production and distribution as will ensure to the ordinary man a chance to have steady work at good pay throughout his lifetime. He will do it that way because there is no other way on earth of doing it.

To do that will take some very radical measures. The intelligent conservative will not shrink from them. He will adopt them because he will realize that there is no other way of saving the form of society that he wants to preserve.

He will become a radical, as a matter of fact, to preserve and justify his conservatism. If he doesn't the things he is so anxious to conserve are very apt to get knocked out from under him.

A Little Bit Mixed

IT IS something of a commentary on the kind of civilization in which we live, that a big New York musical revue recently put into effect a minimum wage of $100 a week for its chorus girls.

Not, of course, that anybody ought to begrudge a chorus girl a nice fat pay envelope. If she can get her hundred a week, more power to her. She's lucky.

But, while this was happening, every city was filled with skilled workers at useful trades who could not get jobs at all. Every industry was full of trained men who had had to take sharp reductions in their pay. Every town, from the largest to the smallest, had plenty of men who were glad to get half-time or quarter-time work.

It is a queer country, isn't it, that offers $100 a week to chorus girls while it can't pay some four or five million useful workers anything at all?

Not So Very Tough

FRANK M'ERLANE, long called the toughest of all Chicago gunmen, seems to have gone completely insane. He was picked up by police after he had stood on a street corner and blazed frantically away at empty space with two shotguns, and when he insisted that he was beating off a swarm of foes they prepared to ship him off to some quiet hospital.

Those familiar with the situation say that fear of his underworld enemies caused the man to lose his mind; and that fact sheds a revealing light on the stature of the average gangster.

This McErlane, remember, was the toughest of the tough. But common, every-day cowardice drove him insane! Where, then, is the he-man ruggedness, the emotionless self-control, the square-jawed self-reliance that the gangster is supposed to possess?

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down a Few Notes

Dear W. W.: Mr. Ziegfeld phoned to say that after all these months of comment regarding Ruth Etting's legs, they will be revealed in tights for the first time in the new "Follies". . . . It appears that the same commentator, after giving you a break on the beat, said you had played the Palace in New York and were very bad . . . I asked Kelcey and Solmson to send the clips for your "rapbook" . . . You're all wet about Nemo Egan being married to J. Don't you miss his great help and his amusing cracks? . . . I'll wager you do . . . Sorry I let that error go through for the first two editions yesterday . . . EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

A BALL OF STEEL WILL FLOAT IN THE AIR.—If a steel ball is placed in the center of a jet of compressed air shooting from the nozzle, the ball will float in the air as long as the pressure remains even. The air jet can be directed either straight up or at an angle of about 40 degrees, in either instance floating the ball. The suggestion came to me from G. B. Scott, Brooks Field, Texas, who proved the experiment.

JOSE REGUEIRA Y SANJURJO—Jose Reguerira y Sanjurjo, a 25-year-old carpenter, native of the province of Galicia, Spain, but at present living in Havana, Cuba, was such an ardent Republican that he repeatedly expressed a wish to sacrifice a finger if his dream of a Republican regime in Spain ever came true. Jose lived to see his native country under a republican form of government, and he is now minus one finger in accordance with his vow. Cuban newspapers have commented very sympathetically on this extreme act of patriotism.

THE STORY SO FAR

Sally Blair, after persistent efforts, is now acting secretary for Harvey Davidson, millionaire, on a yacht cruise. She is in love with Peter Douglas, but has given him up, as Mrs. Douglas wishes Peter to marry Davidson's daughter Linda. Since she can't have Peter, Sally is determined to win Mr. Davidson. Davidson comments favorably on Sally's work. Peter, Linda's guest, comes to her stateroom late one night. Linda sees him and the next morning threatens to report Sally to her father. Finished with her duties, Sally goes for the second time to see Linda, regarding Peter.

CHAPTER XXV

Sally wondered how much Linda Davidson had heard of their conversation—hers and Peter's—the night before. Little she thought, because they had spoken in low tones except for a few outbursts of Peter's.

Peter's protests that he didn't care for Linda. Had she heard them? Perhaps she had and that was why she was so angry.

Linda plunged right into her subject. There was no waiting this time.

"I told you I might forget the incident of last night, didn't I?"

Sally nodded.

"I'm not forgetting it, however, unless you do something for me. Something you can do very easily. Will you do it?"

"It depends—on what it is." Sally hesitated. She wasn't going to commit herself entirely.

"I want you to stop seeing Peter Douglas." Linda looked at her highly polished crimson nails as she spoke.

Sally said nothing. What was there to say after Linda had made such a complete confession of her interest in Peter? She had thought Linda would hedge, perhaps pretend not to care for Peter, but here she had come right out admitting her interest in Peter.

Mrs. Douglas and Linda, both the same. Both insisted she give up Peter. First Mrs. Douglass, then Harvey Davidson's daughter.

Hadn't Linda any pride, either, that she was asking this thing?

"It isn't much to ask, and you can do it easily," Linda continued, still gazing at her fingernails. "Just promise me never to see him again, and I'll forget last night—completely."

"And if I don't?"

"If you don't, I shall have to tell my father. You've a nice job, and you don't want to lose it, do you?"

Sally didn't reply but she didn't want to lose her job. And she didn't want to lose Peter—not after last night. The hour in the cabin had brought them close together again.

"Besides, there's another angle. You don't want Peter to lose his job, too, do you?"

"You wouldn't—" Sally was amazed at the vindictiveness of the girl.

"I would. And it's perfectly possible that I shall, unless you do as I ask. Very easy if you see what I mean. I have only to speak to my father and Peter will go the same as you."

Linda's study of her nails become intensive. She started rubbing them on the sleeve of her pajama coat.

"That's not fair to Peter—"

"Why not? Perhaps you don't know how Peter got his job with my father's company in the first place. He doesn't know himself, so you wouldn't know. I arranged it, without telling him anything about it." Which was true. Linda, after she renewed her acquaintance with Peter had persuaded Davidson to put him somewhere in the didn't know when he hired Douglas away from Brander & Brander exactly who had given the orders, although he had a strong suspicion lately.

"Peter doesn't even suspect that I had anything to do with the change. That's the way I wanted it."

Peter owing his job at Davidson's to Davidson's daughter! Sally realized she should have known. She was dumb not to guess. But when Peter, himself, hadn't recognized it, how could she?

And here was Linda telling her that Peter's job was as unstable as hers. That if she persisted in going with Peter, both of them would be losers. It didn't matter so much about herself. She could start over. But if Peter were let out of a good house, it was different. Peter with his mother to support. Peter with his future ahead. The future he was so proud of.

"You wouldn't do it!" Sally declared fiercely. "You couldn't!" How could Linda disgrace Peter when she loved him?

"I would," finality in her tone, and Sally recognized it. Linda abandoned her fingernails for a cigaret. "And what is more, I shall."

Peter so proud of what he had done already. So hopeful of things that would come.

Sally wasn't angry, as she had been when Mrs. Douglas had talked with her. She was hurt, miserable. Last night she had begun to be happy again, and now—this.

Once she had given Peter up. Then talking to him last night had brought all the love she had for him back again. Could she give him up again? True, she hadn't told him definitely that she'd marry him Monday. She hadn't let him kiss her last night when they were together. Something had held her back. Fear of his mother, again. The worry that with Peter went Mrs. Douglas, no matter what he said, what he did. Always Mrs. Douglas.

"Well?" Linda was asking.

Oh, it was better that way. Better to forget him entirely. No matter which way she turned, she bumped into a stone wall. First Mrs. Douglas, now Linda Davidson.

With Linda, Peter could have everything. With Linda he would go far up in the Davidson organization, probably be the head of it some day. With Linda he would have money, position. With her—nothing. Monday no job. Mrs. Douglas more vindictive than ever, blaming her for all Peter's misfortunes. Life with Peter's mother, then would be impossible. Unbearable.

Sally looked at Linda with narrowed eyes. A little score she would settle with her if she gave up Peter. Even if it took her a long, long time. Hadn't she told Ann, weeks ago, even before she had met Linda, before she knew Peter knew her, that she had chosen Harvey Davidson as her millionaire husband? Ann had laughed, but Ann wouldn't be laughing now if she had seen Sally watching Mr. Davidson's daughter. Ann would have been frightened. For the grey of Sally's eyes was black, and there was a stubborn arch to her brows.

—Even if it takes me a long time—she told herself again, as she went on with her scrutiny.

"Well?" Linda asked again.

Yes, Peter would be better off. company. Even John Warner An easy thing to promise, because once before she had given up Peter of her own accord.

"I'm not giving him up because you ask me to, Miss Davidson, I'm giving him up, because—"

"It's best for him?" Linda finished quickly. "You're very sensible, Miss Blair. I thought you would be. Now if I can do any little favor for you in return—"

"You can." Why shouldn't she ask it? Why shouldn't Linda do something for her, when she had done so much for Linda?

Linda was almost sure she was going to ask for money, so she reached for the checkbook in the writing box on the little table. There ought to be a pen, too . . .

"I've always been ambitious, Miss Davidson," Sally went on slowly, "and if you can arrange it, I'd like to be your father's secretary."

"What a queer thing to ask for!" Linda was surprised, and glad. Very easy to arrange.

"Not—so queer, when you're in business, to advance yourself, is it?"

"I suppose not."

Sally felt mean, and cheap and small when Linda told her she would speak to her father that afternoon. Trading Peter for another job, that's what she was doing. How much better to have wanted nothing for him. And yet, what chance would they have had together? None, that she could see. Still it was pretty bad, cold bloodedly exchanging Peter for a job as Harvey Davidson's secretary. Last night she would have been shocked at herself for thinking of it. Even now she was more than a little disturbed. She wanted to get away to her own cabin, wanted to leave this exotic room of Linda's, wanted to hide her pettiness somewhere . . .

From Mrs. Douglas she asked nothing. With Linda she was bargaining. Ann would be disgusted, of course. Ann had a right to be. Even Sally was disgusted with herself. But Ann needn't know. No one but Linda and she would know about this—transaction.

"I'm sure it'll be all right with dad," Linda said again, as she accompanied Sally to the door. "We are going to be friends now, aren't we?"

Without Linda, Sally could hope to accomplish nothing, so she said, yes, they were going to be friends, and hated herself afterward for saying it.

"And you'll let Peter know right away?"

"Yes."

"Fine."

So it was definitely, completely ended, this love between her and Peter. Sally hurried through the corridor, hoping she'd meet no one. She didn't want to be seen—yet.

Linda was humming to herself as she called Estelle. The girl had been easy, easier than she had thought. She couldn't care for Peter the way she had acted, giving him up so quickly. Estelle was happy as she did her mistress-bidding, happier than she had been all day. What had happened, anyway? Miss Linda had been a bear last night, worse this morning, and sullen the earlier part of the afternoon. Now she was singing and smiling to herself.

When Miss Linda was pleased, she was charming, and when she wasn't, she was horrid. Estelle knew. She was with her more than any one else.

A.—It indicates the limit of submergence allowed by law.

Q.—When was Sixteenth street in Washington, D. C., called the Avenue of the Presidents?—C. C. O.

Q.—Please tell something of the life of Commander Danenhower who is going with the Wilkins Expedition to the north pole.—R. H.

A.—Lieut. Commander Sloan Danenhower is an Annapolis graduate of 1907. He is a veteran submarine technician, son of Lieut. Danenhower, who was navigating officer for the DeLong-Jeanette arctic expedition. Lieut. Commander Danenhower is to command the Nautilus on its transpolar expedition.

Q.—Are the helicopter and autogiro the same?—E. R.

A.—A helicopter and an autogiro are entirely different. The autogiro is a rotating-wing airplane and the wings are not geared to the motor. The helicopter is a form of aircraft whose sole support in the air is derived directly from the vertical component of the thrust produced by rotating airfoil. The blades of the helicopter are geared to the motor.

Q.—Please give some information about the convict ship, Success.—W. L. G.

A.—It was built by the British government in 1790 at Moulmain, East Indies. When the convict system was abolished the vessel was scuttled and sunk in Sydney harbor, Australia, and lay there for five years. It was subsequently raised to serve as an object lesson in prison reform. Since that time the vessel has been traveling from port to port as an exhibit. It first came to New York, May 17, 1913.

Q.—What license fee is charged for a radio in Canada and what service is rendered in return?—F. B.

A.—Every owner of a radio receiving set in Canada is required to pay a license fee of $1 to the Canadian government. For this fee certain benefits and services of advantage to the radio fan are given. One branch of this service is to detect and check causes of interference that prevent satisfactory reception. Motor cars with special equipment are maintained by the government in several centers to cruise around in order to find the cause of trouble. When located, experts apply the remedy. The Canadian government has a director of radio attached to the department of marine.

Q.—What was the first publication in this country?—S. I. S.

A.—The first publication was the Boston News Pamphlet, dated April 24, 1704. There is only one copy known to be in existence. It is in state paper office in London, England.

The Record News Offers A New Official Road Map

Here is a map in colors, 28 by 42 inches in size, with, on the reverse side, the equivalent of 24 printed pages of information needed by the touring motorist. It was made by the American Automobile association and is as accurate and up-to-date as the resources of that organization can make it. It can be procured only through The Record News Washington bureau.

It is primarily a map for tourists, prepared to show major resort areas and touring objectives of the United States, and how to get to them. No other map of this kind is now available to the motoring public. Motor vehicle laws of all the states, U. S. numbered routes, a mileage chart, how to motor to Canada, Mexico, or Cuba, first aid, courtesy and safety rules, and how to plan a tour are the features of the information accompanying the map.

Send today for your copy, enclosing 15 cents in coin or stamps. Use this coupon.

Foster Son to File New Suit For Share

TULSA, Okla., June 17. (UP)—Two developments involving the estate of the late Charles Page, philanthropist and oil man, were awaited today as a result of dismissal of the suit of W. E. Page seeking a son's share of the reputed $18,000,000 estate.

Attorneys for W. E. Page, a foster son, announced shortly after the suit was thrown out of court late yesterday that another suit would be reinstated.

Another angle to the case concerns what action the state will take against the estate on charges of alleged tax evasion which have been made by Gov. William H. Murray.

Dismissal of the foster son's suit for $9,750,000 of the estate was predicated on the court's ruling that assets of the Sand Springs orphanage, one of the charitable institutions established by the late financier, were separate from assets of the Page estate. The court further ruled that Page founded the orphanage in good faith.

It is upon the latter ruling that the state has been investigating the estate for the last 10 days. R. P. Hill, personal attorney for the governor, has attended the hearings. The governor charged that some 32 corporations operating under charters giving the orphanage the profits, and thereby tax free, had not paid all their profits to the institution.

NEGROES ESCAPE

LONGVIEW, Texas, June 17. (AP)—Nine negro prisoners escaped early today from a temporary frame structure being used as an annex to the Gregg county jail after they had sawed out a steel grating across a window. Fifteen other negroes, including two women, refused to leave the building.

Strange Beasts Share Barrymore's Attention With Rare Collections

Editor's Note—This is another in the series of stories dealing with the little known facts of prominent personalities.

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 17. (AP)—John Barrymore thinks he is called eccentric because he likes odd pets. He may be right; he owns Hollywood's largest and most varied private collection of bird, fish and animal life.

Dolores Ethel Mae, infant daughter of John and Dolores Costello, never will lack for pets and her father hopes she will inherit his liking for them. The baby is growing up surrounded by cats and dogs, chickens and rare birds, gold fish and rabbits. To this list of ordinary pets Barrymore sometimes adds extraordinary newcomers like Clementine, the Japanese, a tame b'possum, or a South American kinkajou, which he has ordered by cable from its native habitat.

Barrymore has a tremendous amount of money invested in his collections, which include first editions, Venetian glass, ivory, firearms, old prints and antique church vestments. None of his books are catalogued. Once he invited a friend up to see his copy of Caxton, the first English printed book, but he couldn't find it.

His home, high up on a mountain ridge, is so difficult to find that he has prepared a road map which he sends with invitations to guests who never before have visited him. He is interested in astrology and sometimes plans his work and even his life in accordance with the readings of the stars.

He owns the only dinosaur egg outside of the museums, a gift from his friend, Roy Chapman Andrews. Barrymore says the world's oldest egg is a very appropriate gift for an actor.

It was while in search of a rare bird, the quezal, that Barrymore contracted jungle fever in Guatamala last November, from which he is not yet entirely free. When queried on his return for making the nearly fatal trip, he said:

"It sounds foolish, of course, looking for a rare bird, considering the number of them right here in Hollywood."

GIRL'S LAST RIDE AIRED

'Playboy's' Death Trial Reopens at Newport

NEWPORT, R. I., June 17. (INS)—Rapid-fire events of the tragic night of March 3, the dark bleak nights of gin and fast motor cars, the night that Verna Russell met her death in a lonely Tiverton lane, were unfolded before a crowded courtroom today with the resumption of the trial of Elliott R. Hathaway, son of a Fall River, Mass., legislator, accused of strangling the pretty blonde student nurse.

Step by step government witnesses brought to a climax the story of the fatal night. Jury, court officials and spectators listened intently to every word of testimony.

The story of the purchase of liquor by Hathaway, his driving away with Verna from Fall River in his fast motor car, his visit to the home of his friend, Vernon Calvin, hours later and the finding of the body was pieced together by men and women witnesses.

Their testimony followed that of medical men who had testified that Verna died from strangulation by a human hand, testimony featured by the theoretical "strangling to death" in the courtroom of a girl of Verna's own age, Miss Lily Edin, pretty blonde assistant court clerk.

Flames Destroy $7,000,000 Steamer

HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 17. (UP)—The $7,000,000 Furness motorship Bermuda rested on the bottom at her dock today after naval forces had brought under control a fire that destroyed her super-structure and ravaged the interior.

Fifteen to 20 sailors were overcome by smoke while fighting the flames and were sent to the hospital.

The damage had not yet been estimated, but it was extremely great. Opening of the seacocks to flood the hold prevented the fuel tanks from exploding and it was believed the vessel could be salvaged.

FARM BOARD 'WON'T PROMISE'

Wheat Sales to Be Guided By Markets

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP)—The farm board will not pledge itself to withhold stabilization wheat from domestic markets for another year.

The board intends to pursue its policy announced on March 23 of handling the wheat "in such a way as to impose the minimum of burden upon domestic and world prices."

It desires to have itself uncommitted so it can take advantage of any favorable market to dispose of a part at least, of the huge stocks bought by the grain stabilization corporation to maintain domestic prices.

A number of Mid-Western grain men have requested the board to withhold the wheat for another year to remove what has been described as an unnerving influence on present grain prices.

"And what would I have to give you for one little kiss?"

"Chloroform." — Hummel Hamburg.

STERLING MAPS ROAD NEEDS

Governor Hopes for Bond Vote 'Some Day'

AUSTIN, June 17. (AP)—In his first public reference to the state highway bond issue since his inaugural address, Gov. Ross S. Sterling said today that perhaps the people "will be given the opportunity yet, some day," to register their will on the question. He made this prediction in an article on bridges and highways, prepared on request for a special edition of the Kerens Tribune incidental to the dedication and opening of the new Trinity river bridge at Trinidad today.

The governor said failure of the legislature to submit the bond issue was due to "an organized minority bloc under a leadership moved by political considerations."

Pay Dividends

"No right-thinking citizen now questions that highways are abundantly worth the cost," Governor Sterling said. "They pay the greatest dividends of any public investment except schools. All the leading progressive states have come to this realization and are completing their highway systems as quickly as possible, in order to hasten their dividends.

"To that end, two-thirds of the states are building their roads as private business builds its facilities; that is, building them 'on time' and paying them out with the profits from the traffic.

"This plan was advocated by a great majority of the Texas legislature at the recent regular session; but an organized minority bloc, under a leadership moved by political considerations, managed by the sheer margin of three or four votes to prevent the necessary two-thirds majority, and so denied the people of Texas the opportunity to register their will on the proposition. Perhaps they will be given the opportunity yet, some day.

Speed Needed

"The present system of highway financing was evolved when road building by the state was an adventure and an experiment. We have all concluded that a complete system of paved highways must be perfected; it means the difference between a poor, undeveloped state and a prosperous empire. Yet we still have the makeshift system of financing.

"With the tremendous amount of highway mileage that Texas has to improve, it cannot be completed rapidly enough at the present rate of financing to meet the demands of state progress. . . . If the great majority of the people of Texas do not now realize it, they will sooner or later; and the later the realization, the more dearly they will pay for it in delayed progress."

SEASON POT-ROAST WITH SUGAR AS WELL AS SALT

Combined Flavors of Sugar and Salt Blend Deliciously with Meat

These are days when there are always bargains on the meat counter. A lady who bought a chuck-roast for 45 cents—made a tasteful discovery by cooking it as follows:

Sear and brown both sides of the meat in an iron or pot-roast kettle containing two or three tablespoonfuls of fat. Then sprinkle top surface of the meat with sugar as well as salt. Add about a cupful of water, then cover the kettle and cook for an hour. Turn the meat and sprinkle newly exposed side with sugar and salt. Continue cooking until the meat is tender, adding just enough water to keep the meat from burning. Serve with the gravy which remains in the kettle, thickened with flour if you wish. You'll be surprised at the unusual, full-bodied flavor in the meat as well as in the gravy.

Cheap cuts of lamb respond to this seasoning if you prefer that meat to beef. Vegetables also are more tasteful when a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is added. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute. —Adv.

Faster Show Promised At Stamford Rodeo

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, June 17.—Visitors to this city for the Texas cowboy reunion program next week will see a faster and more interesting rodeo than the one presented during the celebration last year, which has been accorded wide praise, according to W. G. Swenson, president of the organization.

The corrals and chutes in which the horses, calves, steers and other animals are handled have been changed for the better in several instances. The new arrangement will allow turning out the stock faster and more efficiently than before and thus furnish a better show, as the waits between exhibitions will be almost entirely eliminated and there will be something going on in the arena continuously.

The fences around the arena and the other appurtenances of the show have all been given attractive white and blue coats of paint; the ground in the show ring has been worked over and will be oiled and sprinkled to keep down dust which bothers both the contestants and the spectators.

A large number of entries for the various contests have already been received and a big lot of additional ones are expected during the next few days.

Housekeeper's Death Brings Investigation

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 17. (AP)—The death of Miss Marianna Gauthier, 44, whose body was found hidden between two mattresses on her bed, in the home of William McBride yesterday, was the subject of a police investigation today.

Medical Examiner Frederick R. Barnes, who performed an autopsy, reported death was caused by asphyxia due to strangulation. The medical examiner said it was a case of murder or suicide.

The only clues in the hands of police were a piece of window cord found about Miss Gauthier's neck and a pair of man's worn-out shoes found in McBride's bed. McBride, for whom Miss Gauthier was housekeeper, said a new pair of shoes had been stolen from him.

Gradual Depletion of World's Stock Of Commodities to End Depression

Speeding Up of Production to Replace Goods Used Will Soon Return U. S. to Normal Business, Says Haskin

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The most encouraging single factor in the depression situation is the cutting down of stocks of commodities on hand. Low prices and unemployment were caused by the piling up of huge stocks of essential products in quantities greater than the capacity of the world to consume. In such a situation it was inevitable that the pace of production should slow down. That meant unemployment.

Stocks are disappearing now. As the peaks are passed, the disappearance will proceed with a rush and the world will awake quite suddenly to a realization that it has become necessary for every one to turn to and begin the production cycle anew. That will mean prosperity and the relegation of hard times to the pages of history.

The depression resulted from the world war. During the war, every nation, neutral or belligerent, speeded up its production. Tremendous additions to plants were made. Wartime consumption is always on a wasteful scale. In the world war this was especially true because the introduction of mass production methods had made it so easy to produce in great volume.

The war was followed by a period in which the world was kept busy in making up the deficits in goods for civilian use which had been caused by preoccupation with the struggle. That created a stimulus scarcely second to the war stimulus. Thus it was that the greatest producing plant the world had ever known was brought into being and set running at top speed. The last decade was concerned with the filling in of gaps and a general catching up. Keen business men knew as early as 1928 that the gaps were rapidly filling and that a reaction was due. Momentum was so great, however, that large scale production continued. The stock market boom in the United States contributed to this momentum. Full realization that there were more goods in the world than demand for them abruptly halted everything in a manner which caused the collapse.

Some measure of how soon the machinery will have to be started up again is found in an examination of the extent to which these great accumulated stocks has been worked off.

Recession from Peaks

Let us take the dates of the peak accumulation in basic lines. In two or these lines the peak is right now. In lead and rubber, stocks are greater than ever in history and it is possible that they will go still higher. Prices for both these commodities are at all times low and agreements have been entered into for curtailment of new production. That is difficult. Lead mines are difficult to close down without inviting heavy loss and rubber, being a natural growth, continues to produce itself in spite of tapping holidays and the withholding of new acreage. The wild rubber alone is producing itself at a rate rapid enough to take care of the demand and many thousands of acres of plantations are being abandoned.

In other lines, however, there are more signs of encouragement. Copper is heavily over-produced but, at last, the peak of accumulation has been passed. The peak of stocks was Nov. 1, 1930. While the selling off process has been very slow they are 4.9 per cent off from that peak. Tin is another basic essential metal which has been over-produced and the peak of stocks did not occur until March 1, 1931. Stocks now are 1.8 per cent down from that peak. Zinc stocks are off 1.4 per cent from the peak which was reached last Feb. 1.

A halt in private building operations and the slowing down of the automobile industry are largely responsible for the huge over-supply of these basic metals. Any gain shown in building construction, in automobile production, in the electrical industries, will soon account for the big stocks and, as they pass into consumption, fresh mine production will be called for.

Crude oil is one of the very big problems and the government has been seeking to cooperate with the oil companies in conservation measures. Although stocks remain unweildy they are down nearly 8 per cent from the peak reached March 1, 1930. However, the industry is so uncertain that it is impossible to say when some phenomenal new gushers will run the visible supply up again. There are general agreements to stop drilling but it is known that vast supplies are bubbling underground, eager to get out.

The peak of hide production was noted at the first of this year and since then stocks are off 6.1 per cent. Leather showed the same peak with stocks now off 5.3 per cent. This movement is slow but in the right direction.

For more than a decade the textile industry has been in the doldrums of depression. The 1929 collapse meant nothing new to this industry; it had been experiencing depression for years. That very adversity placed it in a trained position to cope with new hardships and it is one of the first of the major industries to show signs of strong and healthy emergence. Stocks of cotton textiles are off 39.5 per cent from their peak which was reached in July, 1930. This is encouraging to the industry and gives promise of increased employment in the mills of New England and the South before long.

Recurrence of Cycles

In August, 1930, stocks of women's hosiery reached a peak but a reduction of 19 per cent has been accomplished. The silk goods peak goes back to Jan. 1, 1930. Stocks have been worked off at a rate greater than new production since that time and now are 19.4 per cent under the peak. Knitted underwear stocks are 29.9 per cent down from the August, 1930 peak.

Newsprint paper, a tremendous industry, created huge stocks on the wave of the accelerated production cycle but a peak of accumulated stocks was reached Oct. 1, 1930, and the stocks now are off 20.8 per cent from that top mark.

It is an old story, this recurrent cycle of over-production, hard times, and then recovery. Almost half a century ago D. A. Wells in his "Recent Economic Changes" described the phenomenon in terms just as applicable today. He wrote:

"As prices fall and profits shrink, producers working on insufficient capital, or by imperfect methods, are soon obliged in order to meet impending obligations, to force sales through a further reduction in prices; and then stronger competitors, in order to retain their markets and customers, are compelled to follow their example; and this in turn is followed by new concessions alternately by both parties until gradually the industrial system becomes depressed and demoralized and the weaker succumb with a greater or less destruction of capital and waste of product.

"Affairs now having reached their maximum of depression, recovery slowly commences. Consumption is never arrested, even if production is, for the world must continue to consume in order that life and civilization may exist. The continued increase in population also increases the aggregate of consumption, and the industrial and commercial world again suddenly realizes that the condition of affairs has been reversed, and that now the supply has become unequal to the demand. Then such producers as have stocks on hand, or the machinery of production ready for immediate and effective service, realize large profits; and the realization of this fact immediately tempts others to rush into production, in many cases with insufficient capital (raised often through stock companies) and without that practical knowledge of the detail of their undertaking which is necessary to insure success and the old experience of inflation and reaction is again and again repeated."

A FAVORITE

The American public have their "favorites." Whether person or product, these favorites enjoy unusual popularity. For instance, Babe Ruth's popularity is the result of his home run hitting and colorful personality. Constance Bennett's fame results from her beauty, her ability to act and wear clothes effectively. Bobby Jones, the golfer, occupies a pre-eminent position because of his uncanny skill and pleasing personality. And so it goes, on and on, St. Joseph's Genuine Aspirin is now the largest selling pure aspirin in the world for 10c because it is as genuine and as pure as money can buy. Thousands now realize that it is neither sensible nor necessary to pay more than 10c for twelve tablets of genuine pure aspirin. Last month alone more than one million people laid down on druggists' counters more than one million dimes for one million boxes of St. Joseph's Genuine Pure Aspirin. Always ask for "St. Joseph's", it meets every government standard.

FATAL CRASH TRIAL OPENS

Aged Cowman Acquitted On Graham Charge

Special to The Record News.

GRAHAM, Texas, June 17.—Willis Newman, 65-year-old pioneer cowman of Young county, was acquitted late Wednesday afternoon by a jury before Judge Allan D. Montgomery in the 30th district court on a charge of cattle theft. His trial opened Tuesday morning.

The aged defendant was accused of having taken a steer from the E. C. Garvey farm, near Farmer, by truck to Fort Worth and having marketed the animal as his own. He was defended by C. C. McDonald of Wichita Falls and Fred Arnold of Graham.

Introduction of evidence in the case of Phil Beatty, charged with failure to stop and render aid in a traffic accident, was completed Wednesday afternoon, and the case was given to the jury shortly after 5 o'clock.

Charges against Beatty, formerly a resident of Olney and now living in Denver, grew out of an accident in which Miss Jimmie Lee Landreth, of Padgett, received injuries from which she died. The accident occurred in Olney on Jan. 18, 1930, on a principal highway. The defendant is represented by R. E. Taylor & Son of Wichita Falls. Prosecutions are being handled by District Attorney Sam B. Spence and his assistant, O. M. Wiley, of Graham.

GLAD HER FRIEND SAID TRY CARDUI

"A FEW years ago, I was in a miserable, 'run-down condition,'" says Mrs. M. M. Brett, of 806 Albany Ave., Waycross, Ga. "I was so weak, I could hardly go. I was nervous and all out of heart, getting very discouraged with my condition.

"A friend of mine, seeing how miserable I was, told me to try Cardui. I have never ceased to be grateful, for I felt better from the time I began taking it.

"I kept on taking Cardui until I felt well and strong. I was less nervous and was soon enjoying good health." FS-17

Frank Hawks Makes Europe Dizzy With More Rapid Flights

CROYDON, England, June 17. (AP)—Frank Hawks fulfilled the promise to his British friends today by taking breakfast in London, lunch in Rome, and returning to London in time for dinner.

Leaving here at 5:30 a. m. he reached Rome at 10:10 o'clock, left there at 1 p. m. and landed at Croydon at 6 p. m.

He averaged about 200 miles an hour on the southward trip, but the return journey in which he faced head winds was a little slower. The weather was fine for the final lap of the flight across the channel to England.

WOMEN HANGED FOR POISONING

Victims Faint at Sight of Gallows

BUDAPEST, June 17. (UP)—Two women participants in the mass poisonings of Theiss Valley, one of the strangest and most ghastly chapters of modern crime, were hanged today at Szolnok, Hungary.

They were the wife of Lasla Szabo and the widow of Balint Chordas, sentenced for poisoning Frau Szabo's father and uncle at Tiszakuert in March, 1925.

Both fainted when they saw the gallows, and they were hanged simultaneously while unconscious. By the Hungarian method, the victim's feet are drawn apart by to assistants while a supporting stool is knocked from under. The hangman holds the victim's face with a handkerchief, turning it from side to side until convinced death has occurred, when he lifts his hat and informs the president of the court that sentence has been carried out.

Marie Kardos was executed Jan. 13 for murder of her husband and son in connection with the same case.

Altogether 34 persons were tried for the murder by poisoning of 42 others, the victims in nearly all cases being husbands, brothers, fathers or mothers of the defendants.

New German War Gas Capable Of Halting Airplane Motors

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND
(Copyright, 1931, by Universal Service, Inc.)

BERLIN, June 17.—A sensational new war gas, capable of bringing fighting planes down from the skies through action on the motor, has been discovered by German scientists, Universal Service learned today.

The gas, it is claimed, will stop airplane motors immediately if the motor takes in even the smallest volume of the gas fumes.

The new discovery sounds as fantastic as the much talked of "death ray" were it not for the source from whence the announcement comes.

Secret Guarded

The gas was discovered by the noted German scientist, Prof. Karl Hofmann, head of the chemical department of the famous Berlin Institute of Technology.

Great secrecy regarding the discovery has been maintained, but chemical experts of the institute insist that the mysterious chemical may be one of the most important discoveries of recent times, with possible far-reaching effect on modern warfare. Professor Hoffman said:

"We have been working for many years on this problem and have just completed our first tests successfully.

Halts Explosions

"The problem which the new gas has solved is the intercepting of the explosive reactions created in a motor immediately after combustion.

"Not only can explosions be made impossible by this chemical, but the speed of explosions can be slowed down to a mere puff."

Professor Hoffman declined to divulge the exact character of the gas, but stated that its chief constituent is ethylated iodine. By putting up a "wall" of this gas, it is believed possible to hold off an attacking air fleet, Professor Hofmann declared, adding:

"The moment a minute particle of the gas enters the engine, the motor is brought to a standstill and the plane forced to descend.

"Our trials have proved that by mixing this gas with another light gas such as hydrogen, the erection of such a "barrier wall" is possible.

Since Germany is forbidden to have military planes, tremendous research experimenting is being carried on to discover and develop means of defense against the aerial weapons of other nations.

How One Woman Lost 102 Lbs. of Fat

Almost Unbelievable—Nevertheless True

Dear Friends:

You advertise Kruschen Salts for reducing, so I finally tried them and when I started I weighed 219 pounds and when I took them for a year and 3 weeks, I lost exactly 102 pounds.

I am 23 years old and I look at least 5 years younger now than I did when I was fat. I have a picture of myself before and after so if you want to see them let me know.

I am always telling my friends about the wonderful salts. I am always advertising them.

I took 2 bottles every month for a year and 3 weeks. It amounted to $25 for reducing 102 pounds, but it was worth it.

If I can be of any help to you let me know.

Yours truly, Miss Nellie Simpson, 1903 Wayne street, Swissvale, Pa., Oct. 31, 1930.

The Modern Safe Way—Right Way to Lose Fat

Just take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

You can hasten the reducing action of Kruschen by going lighter on potatoes, pastry and fatty meats.

Unlike other Salts, Kruschen doesn't reduce by rushing food through your system. Rather it's an ideal blend of 6 separate mineral salts which help every gland, nerve and body organ to function properly.

Women everywhere are overjoyed with this marvelous reducing treatment. Frequently pound by pound of surplus fat leaves and soon you possess that trim, slender figure you've always craved.

An 85c bottle of Kruschen (lasts 4 weeks) is sold by leading druggists the world over—so start this SAFE method to lose ugly fat TODAY! Allison's Drug store sells lots of it.—Adv.

Weather Report Shows Heat as Crop Benefit

WASHINGTON, June 17. (UP)—Weekly weather report issued by the department of agriculture today said:

"In most of the cotton belt the week was somewhat warmer than normal and local showers were fairly general, especially in the western part. The warmer weather was beneficial and the showers were helpful in many localities where rain was needed.

"In Texas progress and condition of cotton are fairly good with fields clean though the crop is considerably laetr than usual. In Oklahoma plants are small for the season but are now making good growth with fair to good stand."

COONEY'S THREE-HIT PITCHING BLANKS EXPORTERS, 1 TO 0

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

I think old Tubby Yaryan, the Panther catcher, ought to feel ashamed of the way he treated Dizzy Dean last Tuesday night. Tubby's two home runs meant Dean's downfall on a night he had dedicated to celebrating his marriage to Patricia. Dean had the game won until the ninth inning, and then Tubby let loose with his second home run and the rally was on. I believe I would have felt like a batter facing a pitcher who had a no-hit game on the road. If I'd come up with two out in the ninth, I believe I would have fanned, just to let the boy get the glory.

But these tough baseball players are not so touchy. They don't consider anybody's feelings. They're out to win.

It seems funny, though, that Tubby went on this batting spree, of all times, just when Dizzy had the most at stake. Yaryan, as everybody knows, had been in the big middle of a batting slump. He started off the season by clouting hard, and then, like a few other players I could name, and some of them close to home, too, he suddenly wilted. But he regained his stride suddenly at Houston.

We don't know, of course, but it's a safe bet that Dean's confidence, or over-confidence, cost him that game last Tuesday evening. Yaryan had already belted one out of the park, but Houston was leading in the ninth, 3 to 1, and I'll bet anything Dizzy said to himself: "Well, I'll just fan that beezark now and show the missus I'm not afraid of him at all."

He would have done a lot better had he given Tubby a walk, even if it loaded the sacks.

Harry Barnes, veteran sports writer, gives us an account of how the term "Texas leaguer" originated. His explanation, which appeared in the Sporting News, follows:

"To the best of my recollection on the subject, it was coined by a Toledo, Ohio, fan in June or July, 1888. Toledo that year got away to a bad start and something had to be done to get the crowds out. Toledo obtained Scrappy Bill Joyce and another player from some Texas club. They were touted very highly as the men who would put Toledo up in the running. Both had impressive batting averages in Texas.

"The big day arrived and the park was crowded. Joyce and his partner (whose name unfortunately has escaped my memory) impressed everybody with their prowess before the game. The contest started. Toledo could get no one on base until Joyce came to the bat. Amid cheers and calls to put the ball out of the lot, Joyce lifted a pop fly, just fast enough to fall out of the range of the infielders. The other Texan came to the bat and he squirted another one in another direction, which just grazed the finger tips of another infielder. Both men were on base, but the crowd did not seem to be pleased, as it had about as good an opinion of such hits as they did of bunts in those days. Toledo was not getting anywhere when Joyce stepped up to the plate on a second trip. Again he swung and the ball sailed over the infielders' head and landed safely on the grass. Then some one in the bleachers, who was disgusted with the hitting, bawled out: 'There goes another Texas leaguer,' and the nickname was born then and there amid a roar of laughter and jeers."

The Morning Mail

C. A. Barton of Weinert asks for the solution of this problem: The batter hit an infield fly. The umpire at first base said the first baseman did not catch it and ruled the runner safe. The umpire behind the bat said the first baseman did catch the ball, and ruled the runner out. Which umpire should make the decision?"

The umpire at first base should call the play. That's what he's there for.

Roy Smith, manager of the Seymour baseball club, puts forth another problem, as follows:

"We had a little case to come up at Rochester Sunday and we want to leave it up to you, so here is how it is. In the first of the ninth the score was 3 and 3. Our first man up singled. The next hit a home run. The next singled and the next hit a home run and then a cloud came up and it began to mist a little. Rochester began to stall. We tried to get them to hurry but the pitcher just kept stalling and then the ump called the game and ruled it no contest. Now the question is can he do that and can they take those four runs away from us? I would like to see this in your corner."

Section 4 of rule 24 says: "A forfeited game shall be declared by the umpire in favor of the club not in fault if a team employs tactics palpably designed to delay the game."

Therefore, instead of ruling the game in question no contest, the umpire should have awarded Seymour the game, by the forfeit score of 9 to 0.

C. W. Whitehead, an employe of the Vernon Times at Vernon, encourages the installation of night baseball here. He writes:

"Dear Rambler: Just finished reading your column. Let's settle the hot weather problem by installing lights in Wichita Falls, not only helping the young pitchers but increasing attendance, giving us working folks who cannot attend day games a chance to attend at night. I have always been a Spudder booster, win or lose, so let's do for them the best possible."

I believe we'll win our fight yet, Mr. Whitehead, and all you other fans who have encouraged the night pastime here. In a few days I think I'll have something to tell you regarding night baseball here.

BOB ALSO NETS WINNING RUN

Young Twirler Beats Vaughn in Mound Duel

Special to The Record News.

BEAUMONT, Texas, June 17.—Bob Cooney not only pitched sensational shutout ball but his eighth-inning single after two were down paved the way for the only run of the game, Wichita Falls defeating Muleshoe Vaughn and the Exporters, 1 to 0, in a tight mound battle today. Cooney allowed three hits and Vaughn five.

In the eighth Scharein popped out to Schuble and Koch grounded out to the box but Cooney singled to left and Garms walked on four pitched balls. Then Allday singled to center, Cooney crossing the plate before White threw Garms out at third.

Cooney was in danger only twice. Boroja opened the second with a smashing double to left center but Hughes flew out to Fuss, Fritz popped to Allday, Holley walked and Lorbeer grounded out to the box. In the fifth Fritz's fly back of second went for a Texas leaguer double and Holley walked. Then Lorbeer popped out to Allday, Vaughn grounded out to short and Taylor lined out to Koch.

With one down in the second Bradbury tripled to right but died as Scharein hoisted to Taylor and Koch grounded out to the box. After that only three Spudders came up per inning until the eighth. In the ninth with Sullivan pitching Stanton was hit by a hook and Hungling walked. Fuss grounded to the box and Stanton was forced at third and Schuble threw high to Fritz trying to catch Fuss at first. Then Bradbury hit into a double play.

In the last half of the ninth Schuble, Boroja and Hughes grounded out to the infield. Score:

Tennis Champions Forsake Wimbledon

LONDON, June 17. (AP)—With not one champion back to defend hard won laurels, new international tennis stars twinkle in the long lists of the all-English championships at Wimbledon announced today. There are 128 men and 96 women included in the draw.

Among the absent champions are W. T. Tilden, singles king now a professional, and Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, women's singles champion and co-holder with Miss Elizabeth Ryan of the women's doubles crown and Miss Ryan, who also held the mixed doubles titles crown with Jack Crawford, of England. Wilmer Allison, who held the doubles title with John Van Ryn, has withdrawn from international play this year.

Prominent among the new stars, are the three American youngsters—Frank Shields and B. Wood Jr., of New York and Miss Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Calif.

Jean Borota heads the men's list, taking precedence over his convalescent fellow-musketeer, Henri Cochet, while Cilli Aussem, of Germany, heads the list of preferred women players with Betty Nuthall, pride of England, second.

Left outside the seedings in the men's list are three other Americans—George Lott Jr., John Van Ryn and Gregory Mangin, the former two members of this year's United States Davis cup team and the latter a spare in the American Davis cup play.

Trans-Mississippi Champion Defeated

GOLDEN VALLEY GOLF Club, Minneapolis, June 17. (AP)—Robert McCrary's two-year reign as champion of the Trans-Mississippi Golf association ended today as he fell before the determined attack of Dr. Paul M. Barton of Davenport, 2 and 1, in a second round match of the tournament.

The ruling favorite, Johnny Goodman of Omaha, came through a pair of hard matches. He won from Allan Labatt of Minneapolis, two up in the morning, and beat Denmar Miller of Des Moines, 4 and 3, in the second round.

The biggest upset in the day's two rounds came in the afternoon when L. B. "Bud" Maytag of Des Moines, runner up to McCrary in 1929, lost to Fred Dold of Wichita, Kan., 5 and 4.

Tulsa Woman Beats Defending Golf Champ

ST. LOUIS COUNTRY CLUB, June 17. (AP)—Mrs. J. Walter Beyer of Tulsa, Okla., state champion, ousted Mrs. Hulbert S. Clarke, defending champion, from the fifth annual women's trans-Mississippi golf tournament here today, advancing to the quarter-finals along with a quartet of St. Louisians, the tournament medalist from Kansas City, a par-stroking Iowan and the Kansas state title holder.

The Tulsan defeated Mrs. Clarke by 3 and 2. Miss Webster, playing her usual game close to par, easily triumphed over Mrs. A. A. Kennedy of Tulsa, today, 5 and 4.

Rye Goes on Retired List; Bailey Fills Gap

GALVESTON, June 17. (AP)—Gene Bailey, outfielder, has rejoined the Galveston Bucs, succeeding Gene Rye, who asked Manager Del Pratt to be put on the voluntarily retired list. This means that Rye can play no more professional baseball until he seeks and gets reinstatement from the Galveston manager as well as the National Board of Associations. Rye's injured wrist, sustained in spring training with Boston, had much to do with his decision.

Patron Knifes Wrestler During Waco Match

WACO, Texas, June 17, (INS)—Police questioned scores of witnesses today in an effort to trace an unidentified assailant who thrust a knife into Billy Edwards, Dallas and Kansas City wrestler, while he was pinned to the floor during a public match here last night.

Reaching through the ropes while hundreds looked on, the assailant slashed Edward's leg from just below the knee almost to the ankle. In the confusion which followed he slipped through the crowd and escaped.

Ewards, locked in the hold of his opponent, was unable to move and did not see the face of his assailant, he said. He almost fainted from pain before the referee could stop the match and have him carried away to an ambulance.

Trapshoot Kings to Enter Oklahoma Tourney; Movies to 'Shoot' Rufus Here

Youthful National Champion and Father Prepare for Vandalia, Ohio, Tournament

R. A. King Sr. and his son, Rufus, Wichita Falls' notable champions of the trapshoot world, will leave today for Oklahoma City to participate in the three-day Oklahoma State trapshoot beginning Friday, it was announced.

The father, winner of scores of trapshoot trophies in his career, and the son, present grand national trapshoot champion though only 15 years old, are priming their guns for the 1931 grand national trapshoot at Vandalia, Ohio, and expect to get in some good practice in the Oklahoma meet. Mr. King is a member of the Texas state team which will participate in the grand national. Rufus, in addition to defending his national title, expects to enter all events.

The two trapshooters have been practising steadily of late, both having participated in the Texas association trapshoot at Galveston recently. It was there that Mr. King was selected a member of the team to represent Texas at Vandalia. Rufus carried off a $50 cash prize in the junior events.

The Oklahoma City tournament over, the two expect to continue practice here until August, when the national trapshoot will be held. The Kings practice here at a trapshoot on the Iowa Park road.

Both, but especially the son, whose championship victory last year was an upset, are attracting attention in the trapshoot world, with the approaching of the national tournament. Wednesday it was learned that the movies are on the trail of the young champion, and that a sound news apparatus of the Paramount movie concern will be in Wichita Falls early next week to "shoot" Rufus in action on the local trapshoot. The Paramount sound news reels are shown at the local theaters regularly, and doubtless the film in which Rufus will appear will be seen on the screen here before the Kings depart for Vandalia.

Rufus has faced the best trapshooters in the nation with a steady nerve and eye, but at the prospect of facing a camera, and one you can "talk into" he anticipates a little jumping of the nerves.

"I guess I can get through it all right," he said, "if only they won't make me talk."

In the Oklahoma tournament the Kings will not be eligible to win any of the state trophies, being Texas entrants. They will, however, be free to win any of the cash prizes and other honors.

Checker players from Hedley, Memphis, Newlin, Parnell, Childress, Hollis, Okla., and Estelline, were entered in the tournament which started here this morning and closed near nightfall.

Bud McKinney Cops Cleburne Golf Crown

CLEBURNE, Texas, June 17. (AP)—Bud McKinney of Del Rio captured the championship of the third annual invitation golf tournament here this afternoon. He defeated Matty Reed, municipal star of Fort Worth, 3 and 1, in the 18-hole finals for the honors.

McKinney had reached the final round through a one-up victory over Billy Spencer, Dallas, in the semifinals this morning, while Reed had reached the round by eliminating John Shives, Waxahachie, 4 and 3.

WESTERN OPEN STARTS TODAY

Pros to Give New Ball Thorough Test

By WARREN BROWN

DAYTON, Ohio, June 17. (US)—Some truly critical research into the behavior of the new golf ball will be undertaken here tomorrow when the first 18-hole round of the Western open championship will be decided at the Miami Valley Country club.

As first of the year's major competitive golfing enterprises, the Western open has attracted, if not as congested a field as usual, certainly as entertaining a collection.

It is improbably that more than 125 will be on hand for the first round, and this is a sign of depression, according to Western open standards, since this particular golf fixture in the last few years has always attracted more golfers than there were places to put them.

Armour May Play

There was something of a doubt cast about the possible presence of the new British open champion, Tommy Armour, though he was sighted in Ohio today, but at Toledo where the national open title is to be decided a couple of weeks hence.

Armour's enlistment in the championship would enhance its importance, of course, for the Western open hasn't had a British champion performing since away back yonder.

Les Gordon, the Western Golf association's president and Ray Fruit, who does the work, have allotted Armour a starting time, pairing him with Ed Dudley.

Gene Sarazen, who scampered away from all competitors last summer to win the Western, is on hand to let the boys see what they can do about it. His playing partner is George Von Elm, and Von Elm is apparently in the Armour class, as far as the championship's checkers were able to discover today.

There is a representative gathering of the country's professionals ready of the test.

Dutra Boys Enter

The Dutra boys, Mortie and Olin, have come all the way from California, and the former has turned in two practice rounds aggregating 139, which doesn't indicate that the new ball has been bothersome.

There will be only one of the brothers Espinosa on the job. This will be brother Abe, who held the Western title a few years back. Brother Al, who is going in for tilling the soil, is reported to be biding his time between raising cabbages and practising for the Ryder cup matches, scheduled next week at Columbus.

At about 10 o'clock tomorrow morning Bob Mac Donald, of Chicago, and Clarence Gamber, of Detroit, are due to tee off. Outside of Jimmy Thompson, from out in the Rocky mountain country, it is improbable that any other professional can whack a ball further than these two, once they wind up, and let go.

The new ball is going to get old in a hurry when Robert and Clarence pile into it.

The championship goes through 18 hole stages tomorrow and Friday, with the low 60 and ties playing 36 holes on Saturday.

The Therapeutic Sitz Bath

There are few people nowadays who are not aware of the importance of water for external cleanliness. The average person takes at least one or two baths a week; mostly with the idea of washing off accumulated dirt and perspiration rather than as a health measure. Yet, we have in the use of water one of the most powerful therapeutic agencies at the command of anyone.

One of the most effective water treatments is the sitz bath. The hot sitz bath is especially helpful in relieving the pain of acute indigestion or abdominal cramps and many other disorders of the pelvic region. Only the hips, lower back and abdomen are immersed in the water for this treatment. To secure the best local effect in the pelvic region, other parts of the body should not be wet.

In taking a hot sitz bath the water should be as warm as it is possible to endure without burning, while the bath lasts from 10 to 15 minutes; the skin should become quite pink. The feet may be left in the hot water at the same time as the hips if desired. This bath may be taken in an ordinary tub with some sort of comfortable support for the back. If the pain is very severe, the bath may be repeated every hour, but in this case it is usually advisable to follow each hot immersion with a quick cold shower for a short time in order to readjust the circulation.

When it is desirable to improve the circulation through the pelvic region in cases of chronic congestion or weakness it is advisable to follow the hot sitz bath with the cold sitz bath, using the hot for 10 or 15 minutes and using the cold for from one to five minutes. Where there is an acute inflammation but a lack of tone, or prolapsed condition, or hemorrhages it is sometimes advisable to use the cold sitz bath alone without the hot. In this case special care should be used to prevent a general chill.

The cold sitz bath is most effective after exercising. The bath room should be warm and the portions of the patient's body not under water should be covered with blankets or clothing. If patient does not react properly and feels chilly the patient's feet may be placed in a basin of hot water. When taking the hot sitz bath the water should be as hot as possible and in the cold sitz bath the water should be as cold as the patient can stand. It is often advisable to put some ice in the water to get it cold enough to bring about the proper reaction.

Less time is required with the extremes of temperatures than if moderate temperatures are used. The cold sitz baths should be only for a few minutes at first and if they are repeated for several days the time may be gradually increased as the patient's strength permits.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Lump Under Arm

Question—Mrs. A. H. writes—"I have a lump under my arm about the size of a walnut that hurts me at times. I have been to a doctor, and he told me it was an enlarged gland, but I am afraid of cancer. Do you think the fruit fast would help me? Or would I be able to stand it, as I am quite thin and rundown now?"

Answer—Your doctor was probably right, and you are needlessly worrying about your trouble being cancer. Lumps under the arm usually from after a cancer of the breast has developed, but your doctor would have been able to discover this during his examination. The fruit fast is the best treatment I know of for absorbing enlarged lymphatic glands. Being thin, you will get quicker results than if you were overweight, and when your system has become thoroughly cleansed you will then gain weight more easily than before.

Bad Breath

Question—M. M. writes: "I am troubled with a bad breath, and have a slight case of catarrah which I contracted from a friend a few years ago. I am constipated also, and must continually take purgatives."

Answer—The only way you could contract catarrh from a friend is to practice the same bad habits of improper eating that your friend must have practiced in order to have developed catarrh. You have practically answered your own question when you tell me you are constipated. Get rid of your constipation through proper dieting and your catarrh and bad breath will soon disappear.

Nervousness

Question—L. S. G. asks: "Can a person be highly nervous without high blood pressure?"

Answer—Yes.

Several showers of rain fell here during last week and put a fine season into the ground. Most of the showers fell slowly and soaked in. Crops west of Sunset were damaged some by hail one day during the past week. Except where the hail fell, crops of all kinds are doing well. Corn is looking good and is promising a good yield. Watermelon and cantaloupe crops are showing prospects of a good yield this year. Beans and peas are doing well. The season is sufficient to finish making the potato, cabbage and early bean crops. The rains were sufficient to supply stock pastures with plenty of moisture to keep the grass growing for some time.

Prices Soften Slightly as Trade Volume Drops to 900,000 Shares

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 17. (US)—It would be necessary to go back nearly five years to find a stock market as small as today's. The 900,000-share turnover represented the first time since Oct. 25, 1926, that sales for a full five-hour session dropped below a million. The price tone was rather soft, although the majority of net declines were again limited.

Developments of the day failed to exert material influence on the price trend, nothwithstanding a further decline in steel operations which now average 38 per cent for the industry, the closing-down of lead smelters by one of the dominant interests in the industry, establishment of an 8-cent price for copper, and similar items, all of which have become familiar.

There was an offsetting influence perhaps in the announcement that Bethlehem Steel corporation has raised its quotations on sheets $1 to $5 a ton. Formal filing of the railroad rate increase petition resulted only in profit-taking among the rail shares.

Decline in volume below the million-share mark might probably be accepted as signalizing the return of normalcy in the stock market. If anything, the dominant powers who ultimately control the market have desired a virtually stagnant market, both from the standpoint of price fluctuation and volume. Fear-inspired liquidation has been gradually absorbed and now a reasonable and calm survey of conditions is more likely to result.

This in no sense need be interpreted as establishing bottom for every stock, but rather it should mean the elimination from investment lists of all securities which still appear not to have fully discounted prospects on are out of line with the general list or their own specific group. During a period of extreme dullness there will also develop an increasing amount of accumulation, buying of a type which may take months to find reflection in active price response.

That considerable realizing should develop among railroad stocks upon filing of the rate advance application was entirely logical and in line with expectations voiced here.

The group has, in its advance from the extreme lows, gone a considerable distance toward discounting the immediate benefit to accrue from the rate increase. Rail shares now depend upon a new stimulus for further appreciation since it is generally conceded now, and again in confirmation of this column's attitude, that it may require two to three months at the minimum for the inauguration of higher rates.

Then, too, a 15 per cent blanket increase is hardly likely; this column has proceeded on the theory that possibly 5 per cent or slightly more expansion in gross revenues is more reasonable to expect.

Railroad bonds maintained their firmness, but substantial strength in second-grade rail obligations would be significant and probably preliminary to renewed upturn in railroad stocks. Buying which took place in rail shares near their recent lows, however, was generally of long-term investment nature.

Speculative interest and sentiment was centered around Westinghouse Electric, which sold off more than three points to a new low price for many years. Selling was induced by revived talk concerning safety of the dividend, with widespread forecasts of a $2 rate being established at the next directors' meeting and extreme guesses of the payment being entirely omitted.

Westinghouse now is selling for the value of its net quick assets, so that almost regardless of the dividend outlook, sellers from current levels downward must be discounting something worse than dividend omission. The company is the second largest enterprise in the electrical manufacturing industry and is in strong financial position.

American Smelting & Refining's plan to close down its lead smelters throughout July, August and September obviously is a reflection of the extremely low price of the metal. The company is cognizant of the drastic action necessary to correct the situation in the industry, and, nearby improvement in demand being absent, is taking such action in the hope that the curtailment in production will bring about stabilization through reduction of surplus stocks of the metal.

This is a condition common to the entire metal industry and it is not at all improbable that other metal producers not only in lead but possibly copper may take similar steps.

Notwithstanding the immediate effect on sentiment and employment, such action might very well mark the commencement of the final stage of readjustment in the specific industries involved.

German bonds again improved.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 17. (AP)—Indications that Canada's wheat yield this season would be the scantiest ever known turned wheat prices upward today, but American harvest reports acted as an offset. Extremely high tempatures, 100 and above, were noted both in Canadian and American spring wheat territory, with drouth unabated. However, cutting of winter wheat was announced as having begun in this country's chief producing state, Kansas, with yields outdoing expectation.

Wheat closed irregular, ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher, corn unchanged to ⅛c advance, oats unchanged, and provisions showing 2c to 5c gain.

Corn was in demand from previous speculative sellers, but price upturns brought about a notable increase of country offerings. Oats were held down by optimistic crop reports.

Provisions went higher with hog values.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, June 17. (US)—Most traders feel the market itself must answer the question of what will happen with no buying at a time when the winter crop is beginning to move. There may be a clue in the present cash situation.

Notwithstanding steady increases in new arrivals cash markets are firm. Bearish traders feel that this will be only temporary, but this view comes from the same factions that refused a few months ago to recognize the possibility that even temporary strength would develop.

Strength in July corn brought its natural result today, depressing the market after an early advance. Country offerings increased to liberal proportions, with bookings of 206,000 bushels.

Southwest markets were offering new wheat more freely today. Cutting of wheat has started in Kansas. Fort Worth reported 16 cars of new wheat, Wichita 6 and Kansas City 6.

THREE HELD ON DRUG CHARGES

Woman Aids Police In Series of Raids

Aaided by a woman, two city policemen seized morphine valued at more than $75 and secured information to bring narcotic charges against two women and a man in three raids made here Wednesday.

Charges of possession and sale of narcotics were filed late Wednesday against the two women, Lillian McCassalin and May Howard, before George Anderson, assistant district attorney. Similar charges will be filed against the man Thursday, it was said. The women were lodged in the county jail pending a hearing, and the man was being held in the city jail until charges are filed.

Each of the three were arrested by A. L. Stubblefield, detective, and Homer Bentley, motorcycle squad captain. In each case the sale of morphine was alleged to have been made to the woman aiding officers.

Two grains of morphine were seized when a home was searched. One cube was obtained with the arrest of the man at a hotel.

The cases are among the first charging possession or sale handled by officers here since the enactment recently of a state law providing a heavy penalty for use of or traffic in narcotics.

Lindberghs Map Tentative Route For Oriental Vacation Tour

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has tentatively decided on the route for his forthcoming flight to the Orient, but this is to be a vacation trip and no definite schedule will be followed.

He said today he and his wife at present were working on a course leading northward to Hudson's bay, over to Point Barrow, Alaska, on the Arctic ocean, down Behring strait to the Aleutian islands, and along them to Japan and so to China.

Whether they actually fly this route, however, depends among other things on their ability to arrange for fuel depots along the way. And even if this is fixed up they will not feel bound to follow any definite course, local conditions at the time being their sole guide.

Since Colonel Lindbergh is carrying a powerful wireless set, and since both he and Mrs. Lindbergh have become adequately proficient operators, it will be possible to keep in constant touch with ships and land stations. In this way they will know at all times what sort of weather is ahead and can alter their course to take advantage of the most favorable conditions.

Suicidal Shot Fails To Disturb Movie Fans

CHICAGO, June 17. (US)—A man shot himself dead in the uptown theater tonight while 2,000 persons were watching the film play, "The Front Page," and for more than 15 minutes the body sat in the theater chair amid the crowd.

Christ Kelly, 63, owner of a drug store, was the suicide. The shot rang out just as a thrilling scene in the film drama was reached, "Earl Williams," the mythical convict in the play having just staged a jail escape. At first it was thought the shot was a part of the play.

YEGGS FAIL TO LOOT SAFE

An unsuccessful attempt to break into the safe of the E-Z Auto laundry, Tenth and Broad streets, was made by knob knockers Tuesday night, according to a report Wednesday to police. The handle of the safe had been knocked off when the place was opened for business Wednesday morning, it was said, although the door resisted efforts to open it.

First Wheat Sold on Market at Haskell

HASKELL, Texas, June 17.—The first load of new wheat was sold on the Haskell market Wednesday. It was raised by J. T. Brewer of the Center Point community and was bought by the Haskell Mill and Grain company at 40 cents per bushel. This was on the basis of 45 cents but was docked five cents on account of smut. Those in authority expect the threshing to be well under way by the last of the week as a number of machines are ready to start. The yield will approximate from 10 to 25 bushels per acre.

CITY READY TO GREET SPUDS

All Wichitans Invited to Join Welcome

All business firms here are invited to enter their automibiles in the parade Saturday afternoon to welcome the return of the Spudders from an extended road trip, it was announced Wednesday by Ralph Pond, chairman of arrangements.

The Junior chamber of commerce is sponsoring the celebration, and requested that concerns entering automobiles in the parade use placards on the machine inscribed with a welcome to the Wichita Falls ball club. Any other advertisement may be used on cars, it was said.

With the arrival of the Spudders here at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, practically every whistle and noise making apparatus will be put into use.

A representative of the Junior chamber will board the train at Henrietta to prepare the team members for their reception and to make arrangements for their participation in the parade.

The procession will be formed at the railroad station and led by Miss Lois Campbell, selected recently as "Miss Wichita Falls" in the international beauty pageant at Galveston, the parade will traverse downtown streets before the game with San Antonio is played Saturday afternoon at Athletic park.

Organizations to participate include two bands, Paul Seeds Caballeros and the Lions Cub band, the American Legion drum and bugle corps, and service clubs of the city.

Scotland Park Wins Playground Tourney

More than 60 children participated Wednesday morning at Myles O'Reilly park in an athletic meet between playground groups of that park and Scotland park, with the latter emerging as the winner, it was announced at the city park department's office Wednesday afternoon.

Contests in horseshoe pitching concluded with D. James and Glenn Fox as victors, while D. James and C. Jordan also win first place in pitching washers. Both these teams represented Scotland park.

Announcement of the coming pictures promises a treat for theater attendants. Warner Baxter and Joan Bennett will star Sunday in "Doctor's Wives." Negro Pastor Held for Chasing Disciple With Knife

Charged with having brandished a knife while chasing a member of his congregation out of a meeting Tuesday night, the pastor of a local negro church was placed in the Wichita county jail Wednesday under a charge of aggravated assault.

The defendant professed to 20 years of service as a minister, in a statement made to County Attorney Louis V. Abernathy.

Charges Filed Against Negro in $315 Theft

Ernest Jones, colored, alias "Eight Rock," was lodged in the Wichita county jail Wednesday by transfer from the city jail after charges of receiving and concealing stolen goods over $50 had been filed against him by George Anderson, assistant district attorney.

City Detectives Luke Hart and A. O. Roberson arrested the negro Monday in connection with the disposal of merchandise valued at more than $315 which allegedly was stolen last Saturday afternoon along with a car from the L. B. Price company.

According to Mr. Anderson, the negro was indicted in this county in 1927 on a charge of car theft under the name "Eight Rock" and was never arrested on that charge. Records obtained by local officers Wednesday indicate that the defendant has served a term in the state penitentiary since 1927 on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property. The 1927 indictment has been dismissed during the past two years, it was said.
