Planes Bombing Barracks Of Regiment Near Lisbon

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Air force planes bombed the barracks of an artillery regiment near Lisbon today and paratroops surrounded it as the national radio said there had been "a rising against democratic order."

MEN KILLED

Two propellor-driven planes bombed and strafed the 1st Light Artillery Regiment near the airport, blasting holes in the red tile roofs of the barracks buildings and shattering windows.

"Several men were killed. We don't know how many," said an officer at the scene.

Sources said the fighting involved rival factions of the military, which toppled Portugal's 45-year dictatorship last April 25 and has been ruling the country in preparation for elections.

The national radio, which said it was broadcasting for the 5th Division of the Lisbon military high command, called on residents to remain calm and united with the armed forces. The communique said the insurrection "can in no way succeed."

RING OF FIRE

Paratroops in battle gear took up positions in a ring around the barracks wall at a distance of more than 100 yards. They were at construction sites, near apartment buildings and along the main road to the Spanish border.

There was no firing after the planes attacked. The aircraft circled slowly in the sky, making occasional passes over the barracks. Two jets stalked them at higher altitude.

A passer-by reported seeing one of the buildings at the artillery unit barracks on fire.

Meanwhile, witnesses said armor and mobile anti-aircraft guns were converging on the capital from the outskirts.

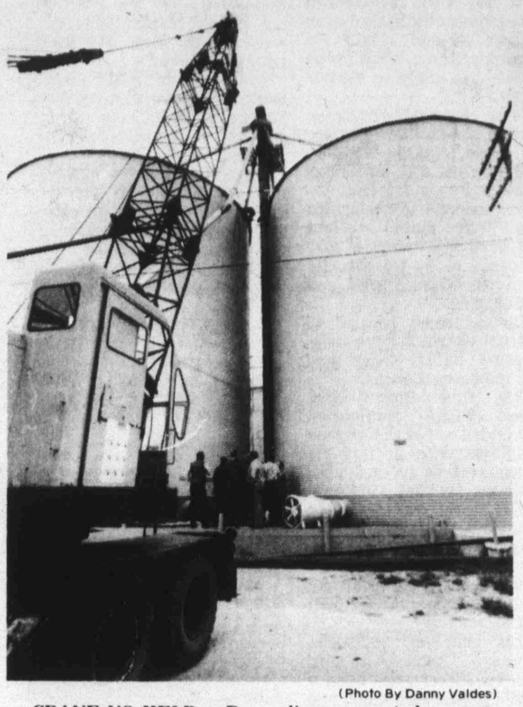

Military planes were visible over Lisbon. Officers went to a factory near the airport and said the workers should be sent home and the factory closed because of the danger.

AIRPORT CLOSED

Sources in Madrid said the artillery regiment that was bombed had recently taken a sharp turn to the left politically. Reports reaching Madrid also said leftist radio stations in Lisbon were calling on people to come out to the streets.

Portugal's present military-led government says it will hold a constitutional assembly next month and legislative elections in the fall, but left-wing and moderate factions within the military have been differing over the military's future role in running the nation.

Spanish officials in Madrid said Lisbon airport had been closed and that the Spanish national airline Iberia had suspended flights to Lisbon because of the fighting.

CRANE NO HELP — Power lines prevented a crane from getting close enough to help lift a victim from a grain tower here Monday afternoon. Around one dozen firemen used ropes and pulleys to free the body from an auger and corn and lower the body to the ground outside.

VICTIM RECOVERED — Workers pull a victim of suffocation from the top of a 60-foot grain storage tank. Jimmy Donald Key, 35, Azle, was caught on an auger and suffocated under corn and corn supplement, it was believed. Firemen and volunteers pulled Key from the opposite side of the tank about 40 feet from the top. Lifting Key are Jack Cathey (left) and fireman Don Templeton.

Man Suffocates In Grain Tower

By JOHN EDWARDS

"I fell in and he handed me a shovel and helped pull me out and he fell in," Donald Hanson, 16, said after watching a co-worker drown in corn Monday afternoon.

Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena Jr. ruled Jimmy Donald Key, 35, Azle, died of suffocation in a grain tower belonging to Inadale Grain Co., 403 E. 1st St.

"This guy just wanted one day's work," Mrs. E. T. Tucker, wife of the firm owner, said. She chided Hanson, because the two were not wearing safety ropes.

Hanson said he and Key were levelling corn, as augers ran inside a 60-foot grain tower.

Hanson said he didn't even know the victim's name.

Some grain provided solid footing, but around the augers the corn was like quicksand.

"I fell in and he handed me a shovel and helped pull me out and he fell in," Hanson said. "I grabbed his hand, and I pulled."

"I said 'come on, come on,' " Hanson said.

"He said he couldn't. It covered up too much," the survivor related.

"I saw I couldn't (free Key)," Hanson continued. "So I ran up and told Jack (Hilario) to cut off all the switches."

Hanson said he already had jerked the cord connecting one auger with power. Key was believed to have been caught on an auger, making his rescue difficult.

Firemen struggled for two hours on heaps of corn about 20 feet from the bottom of the 60-foot grain tower.

Repeatedly, they cleared corn from the area and tried to tie ropes to Key only to have grain cascade back over the victim.

Then, they had trouble lifting Key out of the grain, to the top of the tower and down to ground outside.

A crane was driven to the scene, but power lines prevented the crane from assisting. Firemen and volunteers used ropes, pulleys to remove the body while crowds watched patiently from the street.

Key's body has been taken to Azle, where rites are pending, by the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Nail Drove Into Chest

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Doctors had to use an X-ray to determine that a "pin" in a 41-year-old man's chest actually was a three-inch nail he apparently drove into his chest.

The man died at Audie Murphy Veterans Administration Hospital before the doctors could determine the strange small flat piece of metal was the top of a nail.

San Antonio police said surgeons operated on the man several times and thought the bloodless nail top was a permanent pin in the man's sternum.

Homocide detectives said the man's roommate told them he heard pounding noises from the man's bedroom before the victim was taken to the hospital because of breathing difficulties.

Police say the man's medical records indicate he had tried to commit suicide before.

Enemy Forces Threaten To Grab Second Capital

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — North Vietnamese troops backed by tanks launched widespread attacks across South Vietnam today, toppling district capitals, bases and outposts, cutting highways and threatening to seize their second provincial capital in two months, military officials said.

In Cambodia, President Lon Nol asked Prime Minister Long Boret to form a new cabinet in a sweeping shakeup that included the ouster of armed forces commander in chief Gen. Sosthene Fernandez, political and diplomatic sources said. They said the shakeup could eventually lead to the fall of Lon Nol himself.

HEAVY SHELLING

Heavy shelling of the Phnom Penh airport again curtailed the American airlift of rice from South Vietnam and DC8 jets bringing ammunition and other military supplies from Thailand. About 15 per cent less cargo was delivered.

South Vietnamese officials said the situation in the lower central highlands provincial capital of Ban Me Thuot — where nine Americans are trapped — worsened when North Vietnamese reinforcements backed by tanks renewed their assaults on the city and captured many parts of the town.

LAUNCH OFFENSIVE

"Communist forces have launched a nationwide military campaign in South Vietnam," the Saigon command said. Heavy casualties were reported but no total count was available.

South Vietnamese field reports said the reinforced 4,000-man government garrison at Ban Me Thuot had lost radio contact with the corps headquarters at Pleiku after one tank scored a direct hit on the city hall command post. But it remained in contact with observation planes acting as a relay station.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the Saigon command, said the command staff at Ban Me Thuot had moved outside the headquarters to operate with ranger reinforcements flown in by helicopter.

The Saigon command said the fighting — the heaviest since the fall of Phuoc Long Province north of Saigon last Jan. 7 — marks the start of a general offensive.

GROUND ATTACKS

"Communist forces have actually begun their nationwide offensive campaign ..." the command said in a communique. "North Vietnamese units, supported by tanks and artillery, launched many shelling and ground attacks against government civilian population centers and military installations across South Vietnam."

In efforts to drive back two North Vietnamese regiments and other supporting units numbering perhaps 4,000 men with between 40 and 50 tanks, South Vietnamese bombers mounted 100 missions around the city, officers said. One of the bombers immediately knocked out the tank that made the direct hit on city hall, field reports said. A second tank was destroyed behind the city treasury building, the reports said.

Oil Firm Representatives Meet With Commissioners

Representatives of five oil firms met with County Commissioners Court Monday afternoon.

Bob McKenzie, Fort Worth, Continental Oil Co., told the court they were reviewing tax values used on local property other than oil property.

"Most of your city property is pretty well in line," McKenzie said. But he indicated some rural property might need reevaluation.

Another oil company was represented by a man who thought the county was not allowing enough for operating expenses.

Last year, $3,500 per well was the operating expense used for tax computations, he said. "We probably should have used $6,500 last year." And costs were higher still this year, he claimed.

"Last year, we received more price for our product than we ever did before," McKenzie said.

But he and others stressed the increasing costs of secondary oil recovery and reduced oil reserves here. Raymond Ebling, tax manager for Cosden Oil & Chemical Co., mentioned that part of the plant was not being used now.

In addition to Conoco and Cosden, Sun Oil, Atlantic-Richfield and Mobil were represented at the informal discussion.

In other business, the court:

Tabled consideration of county-financial support for the State Department of Public Welfare child abuse program here.

The World At-A-Glance

CHICAGO (AP) — A Chicago area doctor who is the father of 14 children says he will move his family to Ireland rather than pay federal income taxes which might, in part, help pay for abortions. And he says he will give up his $36,000 home in suburban Chicago Heights rather than pay $3.14 in local property taxes which he says were destined to finance abortions. Dr. John S. Kelly, 53, whose children range in age from six to 29, said Monday that paying taxes to finance abortions is "like paying somebody to kill a person." Kelly said the $3.14 in property taxes he has withheld for the last two years was the "amount I figured went to finance the voluntary abortion program at Cook County Hospital. It was the only way I could refuse to take part in abortions." Kelly said he was notified that if he didn't pay the delinquent taxes his property would be sold.

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Strangers became friends in a common cause as 50 people joined two Marine patrol officers in an effort to save a beached, wounded mother whale and her newborn calf. "Here were all these people not paying any attention to each other," said Marine Patrolman Ronald R. Tedder. "And along come two helpless creatures ... and then we're all on a first name basis, beaming, smiling and freezing together." The group struggled for more than three hours Monday until the pigmy sperm whales could be pulled from the surf and taken to a marine park at St. Augustine. "We had to keep them from drying out or getting sunburn and keep them from being pounded by the surf," Tedder said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic leaders intend to avoid a veto showdown with President Ford as efforts to produce a compromise energy program center on delaying Ford's proposed oil taxes. The House has before it Ford's veto of a bill that would delay his tariff on imported oil for 90 days. But rather than forcing an override vote, Democratic leaders are planning to shunt the veto message today to the House Ways and Means Committee.

BOUNTIFUL, Utah (AP) — "The people who are doing this don't know brain from dirt," says one Mormon of plans to tear down the 112-year-old Bountiful Tabernacle to make way for a modern church building. "It's just terrible that they could be so destructive. It's a crime, a religious crime," Heber J. Sessions, an 89-year-old high priest of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon), said Monday. Sessions' father was a founder of Bountiful and helped build the white stucco Bountiful Tabernacle, described by architects as the oldest and finest example of pioneer church architecture in Utah. It was dedicated by Mormon colonizer Brigham Young. Mormon leaders voted Sunday to tear the old building down.

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger resumes his Arab-Israeli shuttle diplomacy today after urging Turkish leaders to agree to a revival of negotiations between the Greek and Turkish Cypriots in New York or Vienna. There was no word of the Turkish response. Kissinger was figuring on a long stay in the Middle East this time, possibly as long as his 34-day visit last spring that produced the Syrian-Israeli disengagement agreement.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A reluctant Congress is approaching decisions on additional military aid to Cambodia amid mounting pressure for the government of President Lon Nol to resign. Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott joined other lawmakers Monday in calling for "a change in leadership" in Cambodia to facilitate negotiations for the safety of refugees in Phnom Penh, the besieged Cambodian capital.

DUBLIN (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson completes negotiations today with the leaders of the eight other Common Market governments and is expected to announce that he will recommend that Britain remain in the European Economic Community. Two important matters remained unsettled after the first day of a Common Market summit meeting in Dublin Castle: a reduction in Britain's contribution to the community's budget and future sales of New Zealand butter and cheese to Britain.

WHITE WINS

Reverse Bias

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert J. Neyhart, who won a "reverse discrimination" case against his employer, says he hopes his experience will prompt other white males to consider filing similar complaints if they are warranted.

In Neyhart's case, his employer was the Office of Equal Employment Opportunity in the Labor Department. It deals with complaints of job discrimination.

"Very few white males file equal employment opportunity complaints. I'm sort of an oddity," Neyhart said in an interview Monday. "But Congress meant the Civil Rights Act and the 1972 Equal Opportunity to apply to all Americans."

Neyhart was awarded back pay and a delayed promotion after a Civil Service Commission hearing examiner upheld his complaint that he was passed over for the deputy directorship of the Labor Department's Office of Equal Employment Opportunity because he is not Spanish surnamed.

"The evidence of record strongly suggests that the fact involved was national origin and that the agency was looking for a deputy director with a Spanish-surname," Civil Service Commission hearing examiner Dean Wright wrote in his opinion.

Neyhart was awarded promotion to the $28,000-a-year deputy directorship with back pay to May 15, 1972, to cover the $3,600-a-year pay difference.

In the interview Neyhart said, "I was working in the Office of Federal Contract Compliance, which deals with discrimination in the private sector, so I was quite familiar with all the implications of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act."

HCA President Is Due Here For Ceremonial

Last-minute straightening and polishing is under way at Malone & Hogan Hospital Inc. in anticipation of the formal open — and open house — Sunday afternoon.

Due here for the event is John C. Neff, president of the Hospital Corporation of America, which has constructed and will operate the new multi-million dollar facility. With him are due Dr. Thomas Frist Sr., medical director, vice president, and one of the HCA founders; also Dr. Thomas Frist Jr., executive vice president. A sizeable number of other company and contractor representatives also are expected.

Sunday the employes of the present hospital, together with their families, made a tour of the hospital, and like all others who have had a preview, they went away enthused about it.

City crews are pushing to have paving completed on Eleventh Place to Abrams Street so that traffic can enter from this point. The road is open from FM 700 and W. Eleventh Place, and the second drive is being completed to the paved parking area.

New Restrictions Are Placed On Landfills

New state regulations on landfills and a discussion of water pressure needs in Highland South highlighted the city council meeting here this morning at City Hall.

At the end of the light agenda, City Manager Harry Nagel reported that the state has set up a new set of requirements on landfills which require that there be a public hearing before they move into a new site.

The city also has to submit an engineer's report on plans for the landfill. Roy Crim, city consulting engineer, was instructed to submit the report.

Charles Tomkins, city councilman, asked at the end of the meeting if there was ever to be any action on a request a year ago for additional water pressure in the Highland South area.

Crim reported on various studies and told the group that a tank on the mountain above would make too much pressure below and might even cause water heaters and other appliances to burst.

He suggested that a booster stations be prepared for that particular plane which would clear up pressure problems. "We have no problem on volume of water — just pressure."

Nagel told the council that there were funds budgeted for two booster stations. The council authorized the engineer to proceed with plans in this direction.

The council also approved minutes of both the tourism and the traffic commission.

In approving the traffic commission minutes, they authorized the city to apply for federal funds on the STEP program.

This program will federally fund off-duty policemen to work high-accident areas to try to prevent accidents. The city would furnish the cars for the project.

In other action, they awarded a bid on a compact car to Pollard Chevrolet on a low bid of $3,335.

They awarded a $412.22 claim for damages to Wesley Hutchings. It was reported that the steering gear locked on a city pickup and it struck the Hutchings vehicle. Nagel told the council the city was at fault.

They tabled action on a claim by Charles Boadle that city equipment struck his parked car. Operators of the equipment denied it and more investigation was to be done before the city made a decision.

James Gregg, city attorney, told the coundil of the new Flato tax suit in district court here. He also reported that he had completed condemnation proceedings on the Owen Street Overpass.

Mayor pro-tem Eddie Acri presided in the absence of Mayor Wade Choate who is attending the state chamber meeting. All other council members were present, including Harold Hall, Mrs. Polly Mays and Tompkins.

Tompkins also asked questions concerning gas rates, with a report made by the city manager.

HARRIS IMPRESSIVE

It Takes 15 Frames Before BS Bows Out

SNYDER — It took three hours and 15 innings before Snyder could find the right combination to lasso Big Spring, 3-2, here Monday afternoon.

The Steers now 3-5, dropping four in a row, had a 4:30 p.m. home date planned with AAA semifinalist Pecos today.

Behind 2-1, Snyder shoved across two runs in the bottom of the 15th to shut the gate on the Steers.

Snyder's Tovar singled and was sacrificed to second. Gary Greenlee reached first on a Big Spring error. Gressett received a free pass to first.

Robinson's single smash drove in Tovar and Ragland fanned. Simons' Texas League hit with two outs put Snyder in the win column.

Snyder scored first with a run in the third. The Steers retaliated by dumping one home in the fourth.

Pat Carroll and Tracy Thompson both whalloped the ball for bingles. Mike Harris doubled in Carroll.

A standstill stood until the 15th frame rolled around. Big Spring broke up the tie.

Harris singled, then stole second. Barry Canning tapped the ball into the outfield for a single. Wes Boullioun's bunt advanced both Harris and Canning. Ray Don Box's grounder to second enabled Harris to race home.

Harris and Carroll both hit extra base blows for the Steers in the fourth and eighth respectively.

Harris' stance at the plate produced three hits in five appearances and Box, three for seven.

Snyder's Gary Greenlee, 11-1 last year, is now 2-0 for the current campaign.

"This was the best high school game I ever witnessed," said Larry Horton, Steer head coach. "Harris did a fantastic job in pitching although he lost."

BIG SPRING HIGH

Tennis Team On Probation

The Big Spring tennis team has been put on probation for one calendar year, starting March 7, according to a letter received by the school superintendent from James H. Mailey, chairman of District 5-AAA in University Interscholastic League.

The probation is for violation of the eligibility rule. A stipulation to the probation is that two $100 donations given to the tennis team be returned by the school district to the donor.

The district committee has ruled that members of the tennis team shall be permitted to compete for district championships and other honors during this period of time.

They pointed out however, that accepting donations of money from a member of the community during each of the previous two years for a trip by the tennis team was a violation of the amateur rule.

They further pointed out that allowing an eighth-grade student in 1974 to participate in a doubles match with a ninth-grade student from a different campus is likewise a violation of the Interscholastic rules.

What probably kept the team from losing their eligibility to compete, was the fact that Big Spring school officials turned themselves in. Dr. Emmett McKenzie said, "When I learned of the violations, I immediately contacted the UIL officials at a district and state level since it is our responsibility to do so. If they found out about it from others, we might have been more severly punished."

Bob Burris, athletic director, concurred with the superintendent in immediately turning in the violation when they learned about it in recent weeks.

District committee chairman advised Novice Kniffen, tennis coach, as well as other school officials, that any violation of the UIL rules and regulations, as they pertain to the tennis program, will most probably result in disqualification of tennis team members from participating in district, regional or state championship competition.

Windeggar Digs Frog Promotion

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Texas Christian University is promoting Frank Windegger to director of athletics next fall.

Officials said Monday that Windegger, 41, will move up to succeed Abe Martin, former head football coach and the school's director of athletics since 1936. Martin has resigned, effective Sept. 1.

Retiring with Martin will be Buster Brannon, an assistant director of athletics like Windegger. Martin and Brannon both will serve as parttime consultants with the department, officials said.

In addition to serving as an assistant director, Windegger has been head baseball coach since 1959.

Windegger, one of the nation's most successful college baseball coaches, had won 269 games going into the current season for a .642 percentage. His teams have taken four Southwest Conference pennants.

Martin, a 1932 TCU graduate, became head football coach after the university's 1952 season on the retirement of Dutch Meyer.

He retired from active coaching after a heart attack late in the 1966 season. Martin had been named TCU's athletic director in 1963 after Meyer fully retired.

Windegger is the third athletic director at TCU in a quarter century. He will be the youngest holding that post in the Southwest Conference.

HOT PROSPECT — Darryl Dawkins, one of the top high school prospects for a career in college or professional basketball next year, shows his reach as his coach, Fred Pennington, watches. Dawkins led his team from Orlando Evans High School in Jacksonville, Fla., to a state title this year. He is considered remarkably agile for his height, six-foot-10, and weight, 240 pounds.

LYNCH FILLS VACANCY

Roberts Steps Down As Coach

Norman Roberts, head football coach at Coahoma and athletic director, has resigned his duties as head football director for personal reasons.

Roberts has been Coahoma High's headcoach for three years, compiling a 20-10-1 record and one district championship.

Charles Lynch has been hired to fill the vacancy. He has been at Coahoma for one year.

Lynch previously coached at MacArthur High School in Irving for seven years and three at Sweetwater High.

John Enjoyed Bruin Season

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach John Wooden calls this year's UCLA basketball team one of his favorites in 27 seasons at the school even though it has had to scramble to win what came almost too easily in earlier years.

"This is one of the most enjoyable years I've ever experienced," said Wooden, coaching his 40th season in basketball.

The second-ranked Bruins won their ninth straight Pacific-8 title with a 23-3 record, with upsets by Stanford, Notre Dame and Washington.

Earlier teams ran off 88 straight victories, seven consecutive NCAA titles and four unbeaten seasons.

This time the Bruins, whose NCAA domination was ended by North Carolina State last year, go into the tournament as second-rated favorites behind Indiana. UCLA starts playoff action Saturday at Pullman, Wash., against Michigan.

Other years have produced players such as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Bill Walton.

This year has produced pleasure because, said Wooden, "There has been a lack of problems both on and off the court. It's really been a delightful year."

Wooden said in an interview Monday, "This team has a lot of empathy and there's not the least sign of friction. I haven't got upset with them and they haven't got upset with me."

He said "It's almost impossible to go a year without some sort of squabble, it's almost unheard of at any school. Ask any other coach.

"And to add the icing on the cake, this team has improved as a basketball team."

Instead of a group of excellent players plus a superstar, the 1974-75 bruins are without a star player such as Walton. Forward Dave Meyers, the 6-foot-8 senior forward, is a team leader but the Bruins no longer have a "big man" to depend on and Wooden is not unhappy about it.

"There's Meyers, Pete Trgovich, Marques Johnson, Richard Washington, Ralph Drollinger, Andre McCarter...

"It's a team of fine balance. We're not great on offense, defense or at rebounding. We were inexperienced at the start of the season. But while we're not great, neither are we weak in anything. We just have good balance."

Wooden said, "We can't go to a big man now. It might be anyone. It isn't likely to be one man. It all comes back to balance.

"And this is not a highly spirited team. It works together. That isn't to say there isn't the competitive spirit, there certainly is."

Bucking The Tide

The "odd couple" of economics — inflation and recession — are pulling everybody's pursestrings tighter. Americans are increasingly having to do without this or that item because of rising prices combined with shrinking — or missing — incomes.

Even so, there is a whole list of things that have defied the inflation-shortage squeeze. Because of improved technology, new materials, strong competition for the reluctant dollar or other factors, the prices of a number of products are actually less than they were a decade or two ago.

They run the gamut from television sets to ballpoint pens to power tools to pocket calculators, according to a study by RCA economists.

For example, a 15-inch color TV set (RCA) retailed for $1,000 in 1954. Today, its improved, tubeless counterpart retails for under $400.

In 1964, a 14-cubic-inch refrigerator (Westinghouse) cost $349. The same size frost-free model today sells for $299.

In the few years they have been on the market, pocket calculators have come down in price by 60 per cent. One model (Texas Instruments) that sold for $150 in 1972 goes for $59.95 today.

Power tools. An electric drill (Black & Decker) has dropped from $9.88 to $7.99, a circular saw from $59.95 to under $20 and a jigsaw from $23.50 to $9.99.

Would you believe that in some cases even medical costs have come down? The reason is the expiration of patents on some drugs and competition. Examples are ampicillin and tetracycline, two important antibiotics.

And say what you will about Ma Bell, such improvements as direct dialing and microwave relays have brought the cost of a coast-to-coast telephone call down from $2.25 in 1964 to $1.45 today.

And until the fuel costs got out of hand, power companies were selling electricity at pre-war prices.

Stay Out Of Our Pasture

The Texas Coordinating Board (for universities and colleges) delayed a decision on a proposal that senior colleges be allowed to award less-than-baccalaureate degrees.

Traditionally, this has been the province of the community junior colleges. There have been exceptions in a limited number of instances. But today much of the educational action is taking place in the community college (approximately 45 per cent of the secondary enrollment), so senior colleges, some with declining enrollments, want to get a piece of this.

It now is proposed that senior institutions will be considered for less than four-year degrees only if there is no community junior college within a reasonable commuting delivery distance which can provide the proposed program within a designated time period, the proposing senior institution possesses faculties, facilties and other resources to offer particular program which are not feasible or desirable on the part of the community college. In other words, senior colleges, stay out unless it's at the option of the community college.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I have often wondered why all wild things are afraid of man. Is there some natural fear between the animal kingdom and man, or did we instill it by our incessant hunting? F.L.P.

The Bible has the answer to your question. Before the flood, certainly before the fall, man and beasts were friendly. Otherwise, it would have been difficult for Noah to collect all those creatures for the ark.

But after the flood, all was changed, perhaps as part of God's judgment on the earth. Genesis 9:2, 3 quotes God saying to Noah: "All wild animals and birds and fish will be afraid of you, for I have placed them in your power." Perhaps the natural fear animals seem to have for man is a protective device — to avoid an "overkill."

But that's not the end of the story. Paul teaches us in Romans that: "All creation is waiting patiently and hopefully for that future day . . . For on that day, thorns and thistles, sin, death and decay . . . will all disappear . . . For we know that even the things of nature, like animals . . . suffer . . . as they await this great event."

What a hope the Christian has — of a society in which all fear has gone! May it happen soon!

William F. Buckley, Jr.

In recent weeks several correspondents, thoughtfully sending me copies have triumphantly advised editors of newspapers in which this feature appears, that "Mr. Buckley was himself a member of the CIA," and that under the circumstances, that fact should be noted every time a newspaper publishes a comment by Mr. Buckley on the CIA.

NOW THE Boston Phoenix, which is that area's left-complement to the John Birch Society magazine, publishes an editorial on the subject that begins with the ominous sentence, "William F. Buckley, Jr.'s past is catching up with him. In the 50's he served as E. Howard Hunt's assistant in the Mexico City CIA station . . ." Accordingly, the Phoenix has protested to the editor of the Boston Globe, and reports to its readers, "Ann Wyman, the new editor of the Globe's editorial pages, is now considering whether to append Buckley's past CIA affiliation to his column, which appears regularly in the Globe. Wyman intends to consult with other Globe editors . . . The Globe may finally be on to him."

If so, it would indeed have taken the Globe a very long time, since it began publishing me in 1962, and my CIA involvement, a 25-year-old friendship with Howard Hunt is, among newspaper readers, as well known as that Coca Cola is the pause that refreshes. But one pauses to wonder what is the planted axiom in the position taken by the Boston Phoenix?

IT IS TRUE that I was in the CIA. I joined in July, 1951, and left in April, 1952. Now the assumption, not always stated, is that obviously anybody who was ever a member of an organization, defends that organization. But one wonders: why should this be held to be true? The most prominent critics of the CIA are in fact former members of it.

I attended Yale University for four years. Is it the position of the Boston Phoenix that, therefore, everything I write about Yale is presumptively suspect, because as a Yale graduate I am obviously pro-Yale? And notice should be given. But it happens that shortly before entering the CIA I wrote a book very critical of Yale. And, as a matter of fact, I have in recent years written critically about Yale on a dozen occasions.

I AM A Roman Catholic, and have written, oh, 20 columns in the last ten years critical of developments within the Catholic Church. Should I be identified as a Roman Catholic?

I like, roughly, in the order described, 1) God, 2) my family, 3) my country, 4) J. S. Bach, 5) peanut butter, and 6) good English prose. Should these biases be identified when I write about, say, Satan, divorce, Czechoslovakia, Chopin, marmalade, and New York Times editorials?

I WONDER IF Miss Wyman is being asked, implicitly, to label the religious, or ethnic backgrounds, of her columists? "Mr. Joseph Kraft, who writes today on Israel, is a Jew." That would presumbly please the editors of the Boston Phoenix. Or, "Mr. William Raspberry, who wrotes today about civil rights in the South, is black." Or how about: "Mr. John Roche, who writes today in favor of federal aid to education, receives a salary from Tufts whose income depends substantially on federal grants."

Job Prospects

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Optimism about future job prospects has risen among independent and small business enterprises, according to a survey conducted for the National Federation of Independent Business.

The San Mateo, Calif., Organization, which claims a membership of 410,000 businesses ranging from small shopkeepers to operators of concerns with multimillion-dollar sales, said the turnabout was noted in a January survey.

"No panic is registered" by members regarding economic conditions, said Niel Heard, a spokesman for the organization, founded in 1943. "They appear to be concerned, but not alarmed."

Said Heard: "A lot of writers have phoned me with their mind already made up that small businesses are biting the dust in wholesale lots. Frankly, I can't find any evidence of this."

In addition to brighter employment prospects, he said that for the first time in 18 months the federation's members are more optimistic about obtaining financing, and that a growing percentage expect improved business during the next six months.

The data from which the federation draws its conclusions comes from surveys conducted by Faculty Associates, an independent research firm whose members include University of California and Stanford University personnel.

Heard said surveys reveal 20 per cent or more of smaller firms are actively looking for new workers but that most of the openings they seek to fill require skills.

Asked to explain how small, privately held businesses could weather the economic storm, Heard said one factor has been the "collapse" of some big corporate discount chains and other outlets.

"People, whether drawing wages or unemployment checks, still buy the necessities of life, and this business is now going to independents who have been able to stay open while their corporate competitors collapsed due to high overhead and often frantic financing plans," he said.

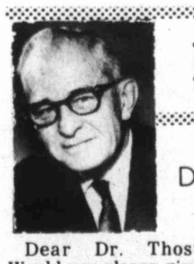

Hundreds of volunteer comments to the federation give perhaps a fuller picture than the statistics, said Heard.

"Many do not believe there is really a serious recession as yet," he said. "Some suspect government economic reports are highly colored for some future political move, and many feel newspaper headlines are building up an economic decline beyond its true proportions.

About 70 per cent of the business respondents to federation surveys are situated in non-metropolitan areas, he said.

"As far as the decline in Detroit and in some other big industries is concerned, the feeling appears to be that big business and big labor, through constantly increasing demands, have created their own situation," he said.

Having priced themselves out of part of the market, he said, "both management and labor will have to reduce their sights."

Electrolysis Dependable?

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you please give me a frank and honest opinion concerning electrolysis in hair removal? Is it as easy and dependable as the advertisements say it is, or is it really a hassle and undependable? — T.Y.

Frankly and honestly, electrolysis is the only way to remove hair permanently. A tiny wire needle is used to conduct a mild electrical current to the hair root to destroy the individual follicle. In the hands of a skilled technician the method is clean, safe, and effective. I prefer it above others. The chances of regrowth are remote.

But is it a hassle? That depends upon how you define that word. Electrolysis is a tedious procedure. You must remember it is one hair at a time which is being destroyed. This can take time and become rather expensive.

To find a qualified electrologist, ask your doctor. He should be able, especially if he is a dermatologist, to provide a list of qualified practitioners, or one in whom he has particular confidence. Look for one who uses the initials "R.E." after his or her name. This stands for "Registered Electrologist."

You can also write to the Director of Professional Electrologists, 30 E. 40th St., New York, N.Y. 10016, for a listing of registered electrologists state by state, including Canadian provinces.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What can I do for an enlarged heart and emphysema? What causes them, and can I take some medication to cure these problems? — S.H.M.

You have two problems here that may be somewhat related.

Enlargement of the heart is caused by the organ's attempt to adjust to chronic strain. The strain can be brought on by diseased valves within the heart, from high blood pressure of long standing, or (and this bears on your case) from a chronic lung disorder such as emphysema or fibrosis, a scarring of the lung.

The enlargement doesn't always mean an inefficient heart. To the contrary, it often means that the heart muscle is working hard to overcome forces opposed to it, such as those represented by a lung disorder such as emphysema.

Emphysema means a loss of elasticity in the lung spaces. It can cause enlargement of the right chamber of the heart, the side that pumps blood to the lungs. Thus you can readily see the connection between the two problems.

Treatment of the enlarged heart usually goes back to the underlying cause — and the treatment of emphysema, which is probably your problem, can be quite complex. Smoking must be stopped. Medication is usually prescribed to relieve spasms of the bronchial tubes.

Other measures can be taken to make breathing easier. As in so many diseases that are, in effect, incurable, control is the key word. My booklet on emphysema, for example, is titled, "How to Control Emphysema." It might help you. For a copy, send 20 cents and a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

With harsh supervision. a junk addict can live a fairly normal life. They just want to be left alone in their attics, with no hassle.

THE THING that gets a pack rat strung out is having to move.

To my delight (and the dismay of neater friends) in losing an attic I gained a basement.

The mess moves with me.

While packing, I ran across a Big Spring Herald I acquired a year or so ago, and I'm wondering about some of the people mentioned in a gossip column on Jan. 2, 1947. A few names I recognized — most I didn't. Maybe you can tell me what happaned to them. Here's the column written by a Leatrice Ross:

"THE GLORIES of snow were furthered Tuesday afternoon, so far as students at HCJC were concerned, with dismissal from classes. The few persons with stamina sufficient to creep along the snowed highways to the college, however, were unaware that the president would spring a prolonged vacation on them. When Billy Clanton came around to classrooms with the announcement, students only smiled at him tolerantly, or gnashed teeth over his sense of humor.

"TIP ANDERSON'S model A failed to make the hill on 10th between Main and Runnels Monday night and he took off toward home afoot through the snow . . . Billy Chrane summed up bravado to leap a snow drift near the First Baptist Church Tuesday morning but did not find his feet when he came down . . . Robert Hobbs took to the pavement on 4th street . . . Gil Barnett, Pat Ray, Dickie Cloud and others, pursued people with handsful of snow . . . Clif Clark was picking up friends bodily and dropping them in drifts.

"HAVING LUNCH in the Club Tuesday were Louis Moore, Jean Duncan, Doris Blalack, Ritzy Reed, Eddie Anderson, Harry Echols . . . Martine Underwood is associated with the telephone office in Tyler now . . . Gathering at Harold Bishop's house Monday evening for popcorn and card party were Luan Wear, Charles Lovelace, Betty Ray Nall, Ardis McCasland, Ann Blankenship, Billie Saunders and Eugene Jones . . . Jimmie Velvin, Tech man formerly of Big Spring, now of Midland, was to have been in during the week.

"BILL UNDERHILL did not share with others the joy of cold weather, as it reminded him vividly of his post with the naval air corps in Ottumwa, Ia. . . . Billy Crunk is sure only Latin students would have seen "Caesar and Cleopatra" . . . he's visiting here from Seattle . . . Jimmy Tamsit is another who saw the state high school championship in Austin Saturday.

"Dot Wasson treated a host of friends with turkey at the Wasson ranch over the weekend. Among those present were Ike Robb, Horace Rankin, Harold Beery, Vivien Middleton, Helen Montgomery, Frances Wilson, Jackie Barron, Paul Shaffer, Eddie Houser, Jim Bill Little, B. B. Lees, Jimmy Talbot, Dot Cauble and Lil Tamsitt.

"RICHARD DEATS was duck hunting Tuesday . . . Lex James will be in Austin today or tomorrow."

Well, that column was a little before my time here, but bet it brings back memories to several Big Springers. Were we ever that young?

The Discount Offer

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The airlines are going back into the discount business. Many of them are advertising special rates if you travel on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, buy your ticket a week in advance and stay where you're going for not less than seven days or more than 30.

THERE IS something wrong about this whole thing. Why should the airlines tell you how long you have to stay in one place in order to get a discount? It doesn't cost them any more to fly you there if you remain 24 hours or one year."

"I want to go to Los Angeles."

"Could you tell us the nature of your trip? If we consider it a good reason, we can give you 25 per cent off on your ticket."

"What's a good reason?"

"THAT'S FOR us to decide. We have a right to know what you plan to do in Los Angeles if we're going to make it cheaper for you to fly there."

"I'm going cross-country skiing on Wilshire Boulevard."

"No jokes, please. Airline discounting is a very serious business. The idea of a discount is not to give old customers a break, but to attract new customers. For example, if you're a businessman and travel all the time on our line, there is no reason why we should make a lower price for you. You'll use us anyway. We are after the tourist who has never flown with us."

"YOU WOULD think that businessmen would get the discount since they're your best customers."

"You're entitled to the discount if you stay seven days."

"Why seven days? Why not a month or a year?" We wouldn't want you to just do what you had to do and then turn around and fly home. That wouldn't be very nice would it?"

"SUPPOSE I, in good faith, said I was going to remain in Los Angeles for seven days, but then something unexpected happened and I had to leave on Friday. Would that still be held against me?"

"You could appeal your case at the Airline Discount Control Court in Burbank. But you would have to appear before the nine judges no later than 72 hours before you plan to leave Los Angeles."

"Suppose I don't tell anyone and just sneak on the plane?"

"There will be lie detectors at all the antihijacking search areas. You might have to pay full fare."

Rabin's Gamble

Robert Novak

JERUSALEM — The exorbitant cost of raising its military power to a point 50 per cent higher than before the October war of 1973 in such major categories as battle tanks has placed Israel in a precarious economic crisis, by far the worst in a 27-year history studded with financial problems

ONE PREDICTABLE IMPACT: an attack on high military spending by worried economists and planners in Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin's government. Indeed, there is reason to believe that Rabin himself, who was chief of the general staff in the brilliantly fought six-day war of 1967, is convinced that the $4 billion defense budget — approximately one-half the gross national product — is far too high and is quietly trying to cut it.

"THERE IS A HUGE argument now going on inside our government about the size of the military budget," a top government economist told us. "What we desperately need is more civilian control, an oversight committee to study real defense needs. We need a control mechanism to rein in Peres" (Defense Minister Shimon Peres).

PERES HIMSELF intends to meet this defense-cut campaign head on. He told us that even if a second-stage Israeli withdrawal from Sinai succeeds and Egypt pledges some form of non-belligerency, the defense budget for 1976 would still remain at the just-under $4 billion level set for 1975.

Given the battle-front conditioning of four major wars since independence, the voters might follow Peres and not the budget-cutters if the issue goes public. The economist now pushing for a civilian oversight committee half conceded that fact.

"We are willing to sacrifice our well-being if we have to," he told us, "but not our being."

THE SACRIFICE of well-being is pervasive and harsh, and Rabin has shown extraordinary political courage in forcing his country to do what has to be done, given the exorbitant level of defense spending. There is only one word to describe his policy. That word is — brutal.

The object is to squeeze purchasing power out of the civilian economy down to but not quite including the last drop. The devices are familiar: let prices soar and sop up what little non-essential buying power is left — after the purchase of essentials like sugar, bread, milk — by high taxes.

A Devotion For Today

"He who believes in me, as the scripture has said, 'Out of his heart shall flow rivers of living water.' "
(John 7:38 RSV)

Most Americans Oppose Extra Aid To Indochina

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — A recent Gallup poll indicates that 78 per cent of Americans oppose the Ford administration's proposal to send an extra $522 million in military aid to Indochina.

In a survey of 1,566 persons at least 18 years old, 78 per cent opposed extra aid for South Vietnam and Cambodia, 12 per cent were in favor and 10 per cent had no opinion.

A Gallup spokesman said opposition to President Ford's proposal was based primarily on "fear of reinvolvement on a major scale" in Southeast Asia fighting.

Opinion on aid to South Vietnam and Cambodia varied little according to respondents' age, sex, educational level or political affiliation, the Gallup organization reported.

President Ford's aid request was opposed by 72 per cent of Republicans polled, with 18 per cent in favor and 10 per cent registering no opinion.

Democrats were opposed 8 to 1 with 10 per cent having no opinion.

Of independents surveyed, 78 per cent said they were opposed, 13 per cent were in favor and 9 per cent had no opinion.

The survey was conducted during the Feb. 7-10 weekend. On Jan. 28 President Ford asked Congress to appropriate $300 million in military aid for South Vietnam and $222 million for Cambodia for the fiscal year ending June 30.

The Gallup spokesman said recent surveys have shown that "the American public has a distinct aversion to getting involved in any armed conflicts." Americans overwhelmingly favor a requirement that a president receive congressional approval to commit U.S. armed forces to combat.

Similarly, he said Americans' sympathies lie with Israelis in the Middle East conflict 5 to 1, but fewer than 1 in 10 Americans favor U.S. military involvement there in event of another war between Israel and Arab countries or another Arab oil embargo.

Haircut Code Gets Protest

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Police Chief Carroll M. Lynn may have a hairy problem on his hands if he doesn't listen to 200 members of the Houston Police Officers Association.

The officers have asked Lynn to modify the present police hair code, which prohibits mustaches, long sideburns and hair touching the ears or collar.

Lynn, who wears his hair close cropped, wants policemen to present a military appearance, which he says includes haircuts.

Association President R.C. Rich said a poll of the membership showed a heavy majority wanted to change the code to permit more "mod" haircuts and mustaches.

Five INS Selections

The new appointments are: Edward F. O'Connor, currently Associate Commissioner, Examinations to be Regional Commissioner, Southwest Region; Leonard W. Gilman, currently Southwest Regional Commissioner to be Associate Commissioner, Enforcement, replacing Alva L. Pilliod, who retired Jan. 31 after 37 years service; Socrates P. Zolotas, currently Regional Commissioner, Northeast Region, to be Associate Commissioner, Examinations; Nathaniel Ewing, currently Regional Commissioner, Northwest Region to be Regional Commissioner Northeast Region; Harold E. Hulsing, currently Deputy Regional Commissioner Northwest to Regional Commissioner, Northwest.

Extended Coverage

By Jerry E. Mancill, CLU, CPCU

Keep your insurance policies on your auto, home and other property on hand. You'll want to check your coverage in case of loss.

Life insurance policies with cash value, however, ought to be kept in a safe place, such as a safe deposit box.

Fluorescent-light ballast is a pitchlike substance — in older bulbs, it can smolder and burn. New lamps have a fireproof ballast. Check when you buy.

Don't leave your house and car keys together when parking in public lots. Keys can be duplicated. For safety's sake, leave the ignition key only.

What won't they insure next — in California you can get a liability policy for your waterbed. Seems some landlords were worried about being flooded out.

What do YOU want to insure? For knowledgeable advice and personalized service, insure with Stripling-Mancill Insurance Agency, 102 Caylor Office Building, 600 Main.

Unwell Motels Along U.S. 80

DALLAS (AP) — Anchored along U.S. 80 between here and Fort Worth are scores of motels, sinking slowly in the economic backwash left by the Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike.

They used to call them tourist courts, back when Hank Williams and Woody Guthrie records dominated cafe juke boxes.

But along came fluorescent lighting, cars with tail fins, Elvis Presley and the new word—motel.

Also came the turnpike which steered motorists off U.S. 80 onto the non-stop 30-mile highway between Dallas and Fort Worth.

Now, more than 70 motels which catered to the traveling trade stand like aging sentinels along the road—their tattered uniforms of peeling paint and sagging ceilings all that's left of that other time.

Business isn't exactly dead at most of the old "tourist courts." It's just become tired, and old, and seedy.

The overnight traveler doesn't stop along U.S. 80 anymore. More often than not those who enter these near-forgotten motels are drifters, drunks and deserters from life.

"I had one old boy come in here one night and he stayed 15 years," said W.B. Johnson, operator of the Last Frontier. "He was an alcoholic and the police kept arresting him out there on the highway."

"We used to do a lot of overnight business until people began using the turnpike," said Mrs. T.C. Ruby, owner of the Green Gables Modern Courts.

One man likes the Green Gables so much he's been in the same room for 27 years, she said.

"We get all kinds of people," added Johnson. "We get people that work for contractors, people from busted homes, alcoholics, transits, and retired people."

Weeds, taped window panes, faded signs, and gravel driveways join hands with many of the broken lives which exist along U.S. 80.

There are a number of tourist court signs where tourist courts no longer exist, sunk in the battle of progress, drive-in stores and gas stations.

Boot Trims Clot Threat

Much of the risk of major surgery appears to be prevented by a new kind of "boot" therapy pioneered by a surgeon at the Castle Point, N.Y., Veterans Administration Hospital to keep blood clots from forming and reaching the lungs with fatal outcome.

Air-inflated, intermittently pressurized plastic boots fitting over the feet and to the knees of the patient are put on before anesthesia and remain until he is recovering and back on his feet.

Dr. Bok Y. Lee, the hospital's chief of surgery, has not found a single case of blood clot or other complication of the veins among 79 veterans who wore the boots before and to three weeks after major surgery. These include 10 who underwent hip surgery.

About 95 per cent of postoperative blood clots develop in leg or pelvic veins, Dr. Lee explained. The chance that a clot, not necessarily of fatal size, will reach the lungs is about one in three for persons over 40 after major surgery.

One of the first American surgeons to use the new British-developed boots, Dr. Lee credits the excellent results at the Castle Point VA Hospital to early use of them, before anesthsia, and to the intermittent pressure. The boot inflates for 12 seconds of each minute to an air pressure sufficient to empty the leg veins without interfering with blood flow in the arteries, keeping the blood in the veins circulating by a process much like the effect of walking.

Bidding has made enormous strides over the last three decades. Much of this advance, however, is attributable to the plethora of artificial systems that have come to the fore, spurred in part by the phenomenal success of the world champion Italian Blue Team. These systems pose an enormous strain on the memory, and as a general rule are far too complicated for the average player to master—and, indeed, complex systems are not necessary for the enjoyment of the game.

There is little doubting the accuracy of these artificial methods, especially in the area of slam bidding. Take a look at this hand from the recent European Championship. The bidding shown is that of former European Champions Oscar Bellentani and Cesare Bresiani of Italy, and probably seems like gobbledygook to you.

South's opening one no trump showed 16-18 points and North's two club response was the Stayman Convention, inquiring about major-suit holdings—just as you and I might play it. Thereafter, no bid except for the final one was natural. North's bid of three clubs asked about his partner's minor-suit holdings, and three diamonds showed possession of a five-card minor. Three hearts inquired as to which minor, and three no trump announced diamonds.

North next checked on his spade weakness. Four spades was an asking bid and partner's response showed specifically the ace-queen. Five no trump requested South to further describe his diamond holding, and the six spade reply confirmed all three top diamond honors, so North bid the grand slam.

Though seven hearts is a slightly better contract, seven diamonds was an excellent grand slam and was duly made. It is interesting to note that, at no point in the auction, did North bid his heart suit naturally.

In the other room, the German South also opened the bidding with one no trump and North made a rather uninspired jump to four hearts, which ended the auction.

Scout Exposition More Animated Than In '74

The Scout Exposition Saturday drew a good crowd, and preliminary tallies indicated sales of around 1,500 tickets.

Bill Priebe, chairman, and his co-chairman Maj. Myron Willett, said that the exhibits, while slightly smaller in number, were of better quality and more animated than last year. Traffic at the show at the Howard County Fair Barns was good all afternoon, he said. Under the chairmanship of Dr. Larry Key, a downtown parade with Scouts and Cubs, bearing American flags, set the mood for the event.

The next major event, said Jack Alexander, sitting in for District Chairman Sam Hunnicutt here Monday, will be the council camporee when between 500 and 1,000 boys, plus leaders, are expected. Dates are April 25-26 at the Roundup Grounds, and on the second day, Cubs will hold a field day while the camporee is going on. The Rev. Lester Utz will conduct worship services the following morning as camp breaks. Charles Grizzard is general chairman, aided by Garrett Patton. A Midland law enforcement Explorer post will provide security for the camp.

Clem Jones, district Scouting commissioners, appealed for volunteers to serve as commissioners — the link between the district committee and the unit (troop, pack or post). All that is needed is an interest in and love for boys. The Rev. Mr. Utz said he also could use similar help with Cubbing packs.

New emphasis is to be placed this year on leadership training, said Alexander. He and Art Hyman, district executive, will work toward seeking to provide two-deep training teams. Scouters and families are invited to a council Scout family retreat April 11-12 Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains.

TEACHERS' PACTS RENEWED

Airport School To Get More Air Conditioning

By MARJ CARPENTER

The school board renewed the contracts of all faculty members as recommended, discussed air conditioner projects in two schools, discussed an objection to three school textbooks, and approved next year's school calendar when they met in a lengthy session Monday night in the board room.

All faculty members contracts were renewed following an executive session at the end of the board meeting. Part of the list will be included in today's Herald and part of them in subsequent issues.

The board approved adding $4,620 to $2,000 raised by the Airport Elementary PTA to complete two additional wings at that school. They had earlier complete one wing of evaporative coolers.

TO TAKE BIDS

The board tabled action on a request by Marcy until bids can be obtained and firm figure presented. The PTA has raised $5,100 and Capt. Joe Moyer has done the preliminary planning for a system for their north and south wings. The board indicated they needed a definite cost before making a final decision and authorized taking the bids.

Up to this time, the board has donated $8,841 and PTAs have raised $7,673 for air conditioners, prior to last night's meeting.

A lengthy report was given on objections by two local citizens to three textbooks. Many of the objections centered around the fact that they believed there was an overbalance of violent stories in some of the junior high readers.

LOOK AT BOOKS

The textbook committee reviewed the books for a second time and submitted a report which said, "The two citizens who placed objections are interested and concerned. However, we could find no basis for such an objection."

The teachers found that some of the objections were taken out of context. The two women who objected had received information in the mail from some group warning them of the books.

In other action, the board accepted the low bid of Balco Sound of Lubbock at $1,298 for a sound system at Airport. They also approved a calendar for next year which shows school starting for students on August 18 and letting out May 27.

SPLIT HOLIDAYS

Holidays include Labor Day, two days at Thanksgiving, Dec.22-Jan. 2 Christmas, and a split spring holiday with a long weekend March 18-22 for spring break and another long weekend April 15-19 for Easter.

In-service days for teachers are four days before school starts, Aug. 12-15 the day after school is out May 28 and others including Oct. 3, Nov. 7 and 14, Jan 16 and Feb 27.

The board hired Mrs. Donna Dixon to teach third grade at Bauer for the rest of the year and hired Stephen Ray Poitevint to teach journalism next year. He is presently teaching in Colorado City They accepted the resignation of Mrs. Kathleen Fritz, due to her husband's transfer.

The board also amended the budget with some elation when they added state emergency funds to the district totaling $200,295.

Members discussed hearing a report on vocational courses at their next board meeting.

Board President Roy Watkins presided with members present including Delnor Poss, Al Valdes, Thomas Fetters and Jim Bill Little. Both Jerry Jenkins and Dan Wilkins were out of town on business.

Bonner Meets With Retirees

Personal concerns of senior citizens will again be the topic of discussion with Dr. Wayne Bonner this Thursday afternoon at the Howard College Senior Citizens Center.

The time for the meeting has been moved up to 1:30 p.m. for this occasion. All retired persons, or soon-to-be-retired persons, are urged to join in the coffee and talk session and exchange views and feelings about this very important change of life-style called retirement.

Local Utilities Control Urged

"I could only back a state utilities commission if it had a local option clause," State Rep. Mike Ezzell stated in Big Spring Monday while here for the Bi-Centennial ceremonies.

"I can sympathize that the bigger cities concern about soaring utility rates, but I do think we need to keep some control in the hands of local people. I like the Texas Municipal League Plan which would allow cities to have a voice in the matter," he added.

When questioned about school finance plans, he stated, "There are four main plans and I don't think any of the four will be accepted completely. I think that the matter of equal school finance is closely tied to requests by teachers for higher pay."

DON'T HAVE FUNDS

"Most school districts simply cannot come up with the higher pay, even with the help of the state without a tax increase or re-evaluation of some types. We need a more uniform system of taxation to distribute the tax monies more equally. I do think the teachers will get a pay raise, but not as much as they are seeking," he added.

Ezzell said he is co-author with the Odessa legislator in attempting to cut the number of school days taught back to 171 instead of 180 and in-service days to six instead of ten. "Main purpose behind this bill is to get schools back to starting after Labor Day."

DAYLIGHT SAVINGS

Ezzell added that "I am for a non-binding referendum in November 1976 to see if people in Texas really want daylight savings time." He said that he had voted against the bill that would allow speeding up to 70 without it affecting insurance, stating, "The fact that speeding tickets go on our insurance is the main encouragement to stay within the speed limits."

When asked about possible changes in voter registration requirements, he admitted that the lists needed updating but did not think we would return to annual registration.

STATE COMMISSIONER

Mrs. Tom Simmons of Lubbock, Bi-Centennial commissioner, also interviewed at the press conference, said, "I have now covered a dozen of these occasions and this is the most enthusiastic group I have come across."

She credited Mrs. Gene Browning of Arlington, with coming up with the original idea of keeping the Bi-Centennial celebrations all over America rather than in one central location such as Philadelphia.

She pointed out that "The best thing about it is that it causes people everywhere to work together for something worthwhile."

CREDENTIALS TO PROVE IT — Big Spring, designated officially as a Bi-Centennial Community in a ceremony at the local high school Monday, now has the credentials to prove it. Gene Currie, credited with arranging Monday's patriotic program, and Mrs. Harold (Janell) Davis, the community's Bi-Centennial co-chairwoman, are at the left. Mrs. Tom (Anne) Simmons (center) of Lubbock, chairwoman of the State Bi-Centennial Commission, officiated at the certification. At the right, Mrs. Jerry (Johnnie Lou) Avery, who served as community co-chairwoman with Mrs. Davis, and State Rep. Mike Ezzell. Ezzell came from Austin to present Bi-Centennial flags to Mayor Wade Choate.

Big Spring Designated As Bi-Cen Community

"We hold these truths to be self evident" . . . chorused the Big Spring Meistersingers accompanied by the Big Spring stage band when Big Spring was designated an official bi-centennial community and county at ceremonies at the high school Monday afternoon.

A presentation of an original patriotic arrangement by Gene Currie, stage band director with Jack Bowers, choir director, as narrator, highlighted the official kick-off presentation for the special events to come during 1975 and 1976 in Big Spring and the county.

PRESENTS FLAGS

State Rep. Mike Ezzell of Snyder, came from Austin, to present the city and county special bi-centennial flags with Mayor Wade Choate accepting the flags.

Certificates from the state and national bi-centennial commission were presented to the co-chairwomen of the event here, Mrs. Harold (Janell) Davis and Mrs. Jerry (Johnnie Lou) Avery by Mrs. Anne Simmons of Lubbock, state commissioner of the bi-centennial commission.

Ezzell spoke briefly, pointing out that "The greatest glory of being freed is the right to transmit freedom to our children."

GOOD TO COURAGEOUS

The state representative added, "It's a bad world to the cowardly, tired and weak and a good world to the brave and courageous."

He stressed the importance of courage and the importance of work in keeping our country a free world leader.

Joe Pickle, Big Spring Herald editor, served as master of ceremonies and stressed that the bi-centennial stressed past honor and future challenge. He introduced the three sub-chairpersons of the event, including Mrs. Roscoe Cowper, Horizons, Mrs. Larson Lloyd, Festivals and George Zachariah, Heritage.

Also introduced in the audience were representatives from schools, clubs and churches that are backing the event. Another special guest was Delbert Downing, Snyder bi-centennial commissioner.

The Rev. J. B. Sharp presented the invocation and a Webb Air Force Base Color guard gave the presentation of colors.

A reception followed in the foyer. At vantage points in the foyer were scenes constructed by the sixth grade classes from Washington Elementary that depicted scenes such as Paul Revere's ride, the Boston Tea Party, the "shot heard round the world" and others.

V. Townsend New Chairman

Mrs. Jimmy (Vonda) Townsend, has been named chairman of the newly organized Child Welfare Volunteers and will go to El Paso in the near future to attend a seminar on duties of the volunteers.

Mrs. Townsend pointed out that the project will be begun here on a small basis with one of the first projects to be lining up volunteers who will be willing to take neglected children on single day outings, such as a trip to a show or a picnic.

She also said that she plans to line up a list of retired teachers or former teachers who might be willing to donate time to tutoring problem children.

Anyone interested in the volunteer organization can call Mrs. Townsend at 7-7324.

Break-In Is Investigated

A woman at 1701 Donley told city police that at 5:24 p.m. Monday, a tall male dressed in a pink shirt, red checked pants, a yellow cap and black and white mask broke into her home.

She said he threatened her with a knife, then fled. The incident was under investigation by police detectives.

NAMED TO ELITE GROUP — County Judge Bill Tune presents a "certificate of conformance" to County Auditor Virginia Black on behalf of the Municipal Finance Officers Association for the 1973 Howard County financial report. The national committee which established the criteria for certification "recognizes that in addition to serving the needs of the chief executive officer and the governing body, the annual financial report must serve the needs of the general public, other governmental authorities and agencies, investors, financial underwriters, commercial and investment bankers and educational institutions and research organizations concerned with public finances and their administration." Howard County is one of 12 Texas counties which have earned the certificate. Witnessing the Monday presentation were (left to right background) Commissioners Simon (Cy) Terrazas, Jack Buchanan, William B. Crooker Jr. and Ikie Rupard.

Awards Given To City Garden Clubs

The Big Spring Garden Club Council and five clubs received awards at the District One, Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., meeting held recently in Lubbock.

The council received $100 from Sears Roebuck for "dedicated leadership and creative civic action" in the environmental improvement program sponsored by the National Council of State Garden Club, Inc. and Sears.

Five local clubs, Texas Bouquet African Violet Club, Big Spring Garden Club, Rosebud, How To Grow Garden Club, Rosebud Garden Club, and Planters Garden Club, received commendations.

A first place on the yearbook and a third on the president's report was won by the Rosebud How To Grow, and the Rosebud club won an honorable mention on yearbook, a second place on litter control, and a horticulture citation.

Texas Bouquet African Violet Club won a third place on the president's report, and the council took a third place on the 1974 flower show schedule.

In the business session, Mrs. Odell Womack was installed at zone chairman of District one.

Preconvention entertainment was by Mrs. Keene Ludden, Dallas, who gave a musical review of "Kiss Me Kate."

At the judges breakfast Mrs. Preston Smith told of the heritage of the governors' mansion in her talk on "More Beautiful Texas, Our Heritage." Mrs. Womack displayed a still life arrangement that depicted the revolutionary period through the present and the bicentennial based on heritage.

The luncheon speaker was Mrs. J. C. Van Auken, Midland, who also gave a demonstration on flower arranging.

Attending from Big Spring were Mrs. John Knox, Mrs. D. O. Gray and Mrs. Schley Riley, Big Spring club; Mrs. Albert Hohertz, Mrs. Charles Harwell, Mrs. Boone Horne, Oasis club; and Mrs. Womack, Rosebud club.

Nuns Subject Of Church Program

Nuns was the topic of a program for the Women of the Church of St. Marv's Episcopal when they met Sunday evening in the parish house.

Mrs. Lee Hanson brought the devotional thoughts on "How To Pray" by the Rt. Rev. Everett H. Jones.

Mrs. Dana Macklin presided at the business session.

Speaker was Sister Emilie Wolf of the Franciscan Order of the Roman Catholic Church. She is an instructor at Howard College and a consultant in Christian education at St. Mary's.

In speaking on the subject of nuns, Sister Emilie said in books written about them, the novelist always has the subject as a person of mystery and object of curiosity. Some novels are interesting but the novelist is unfamiliar with his subject because he cannot "live in" and gain an understanding of community living.

Nuns have private things they would not like to have told, just as families do. Many writers have a tendency to extremes, making a totally innocent character or one with hidden or mysterious ways. Most novels are about cloistered nuns who are sheltered in order to spend their lives in prayer. These are rare, said the speaker, the nunneries generally having 35 to 40 acres in which the nuns may go to have time to themselves.

Sister Emilie recommended "The Nun's Story" based on a true story from Belgium that gives an exellent story of the time. Active religious life here and now is different but it is difficult to get across in fiction.

"In This House of Brede" by Rumer Godden was highly spoken of by the sister who said the story tells of the change in the Catholic community, also noting that jealousies and frustrations do exist in daily life.

Sister Emilie said the best indication in novels about nuns as to the believabilty is wnether the chararcters come through as human beings, because 'perfect people' don't make it as nuns.

Mrs. Howard Voss served refreshments.

The May meeting will feature a style show.

IN "NIGHT WATCH" — Bobbie Steakley, left, and Ken Womack play the Wheelers in the mystery thriller that will open on March 18 with a 6:45 p.m. dinner-theatre showing at the Civic Center in Colorado City. Other productions will be at the Opera House at 8 p.m., Wednesday through Saturday.

World Day Of Prayer Held At Webb Chapel

The World Day of Prayer, sponsored by Church Women United, was held Friday at Webb Air Force Base chapel with Chaplain Donald R. Hudson as guest speaker.

Hostesses were the Women of the Chapel at Webb AFB.

Mrs. Darrell Fellows, president of Women of the Chapel and vice president of Church Women United, introduced Mrs. H. C. Ernsting, president of Church Women United; Mrs. Calvin Daniels, publicity chairman; and Women of the Chapel co-chairman, Mrs. Joe Shafer.

Chaplain Hudson spoke on "Unity" and mentioned that although we are different, we are still one in Christ. God created us all different to be united, but unity is not necessarily sameness. He quoted the saying "Do not walk in front of me for I may not follow; do not walk behind me for I may not lead; rather walk beside me so we can walk together." The goal should be to love one another, accept each other and be united in perfect harmony.

Special worship music was provided by Miss Cindy Cheatham, Miss Lynette Fellows, and Miss Lynette Coffee, members of the Big Spring Meistersingers.

Wife's Not Tickled By Husband's New Brush

DEAR ABBY: Four months ago, when we were on vacation, my husband neglected to shave for a few days, so our daughter said: "Oh, Daddy, you'd look neat in a mustache, please grow one!"

Well, George grew a mustache. I didn't like it one bit, and I told him so, but he hasn't said anything about shaving it off. I don't hassle him about it, but he knows how I feel.

Some of our friends like George's mustache, and some don't, but George seems to hear only the compliments he gets on it.

Personally, I think he should listen to me. As his wife, I surely want what is best for him and I wouldn't steer him wrong.

Abby, why would a man insist on wearing a mustache (or a beard) when he knows his wife doesn't like it?

ONE WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Facial hair on men communicates a variety of messages. Among the most obvious are: "Like it or lump it, I'm old enough to shave and have the whiskers to prove it, and I'm doing my own thing."

It's a symbol of independence, and in some cases, it's a decoration one courageously confers upon himself.

DEAR ABBY: What one thing most inspires you to write?

NOSY IN N.J.

DEAR NOSY: The Bureau of Internal Revenue.

DEAR ABBY: I prepared a huge, lovely dinner party myself. When my guests departed, they all thanked me and raved about how wonderful everything was.

The next morning, each one telephoned to tell me again how much they enjoyed the dinner, repeating the compliments about the food, etc.

Abby, I had no help, and there was plenty of cleaning up to do after the party, and I was very much annoyed with those unncessary calls. Each one talked for 15 minutes to half an hour, and when they all finished, my morning was gone.

After having already thanked me, I felt it was totally unnecessary for them to call the next morning and take my time as they did.

On top of it all, one of the guests took a tremendous amount of meat for her second helping, and then asked for a doggie bag.

What is your opinion of both cases?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: In addition to verbal thanks on departing, a written note to reiterate one's appreciation as far more appreciated, and less intrusive than a telephone call. And as for the doggie bag number — Wow, and bow wow! Shame on her.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CONCERNED BROTHER in L.A. It's not true that people who threaten to commit suicide seldom do. Tell your sister that when she feels "low" she should call the SUICIDE PREVENTION CENTER. A trained member of their staff will be glad to talk with her about her problem. They are listed in your telephone directory.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20 cents) envelope.

Party For Mrs. Cobb

Mrs. Darrow Cobb was complimented Friday with a baby shower in the Texas Electric Reddy Room.

Hostesses were Miss Barbara Eason, Mrs. Bobbie Hogue, Mrs. Ricky Cauble, Mrs. Leon Hobbs, Mrs. Larry Don McMurtrey and Mrs. Tommy McMurtrey.

Mrs. Cobb was given a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Jessey Coker, the honoree's mother, received a pink carnation corsage, and the mother-in-law, Mrs. Chuck Dillon, received a similar one in blue.

The refreshment table was covered with a paper cloth with stork decor, and the centerpiece was a miniature stork with babies at his feet.

The registry table featured "The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe."

Miss Noble Is Complimented

A gift shower for Miss Deantha Noble was given recently at the home of Mrs. Jim Newsom, 1206 Nolan. Miss Noble is the bride-elect of Larry Cotton.

Corsages of orange flowers were given to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. E. A. Noble, and to the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. V. W. Cotton.

The couple will be married Saturday at Trinity Baptist Church.

The refreshment table was covered with floor length satin cloth overlaid with white net and centered with a permanent arrangement of orange flowers. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

There were 16 hostesses.

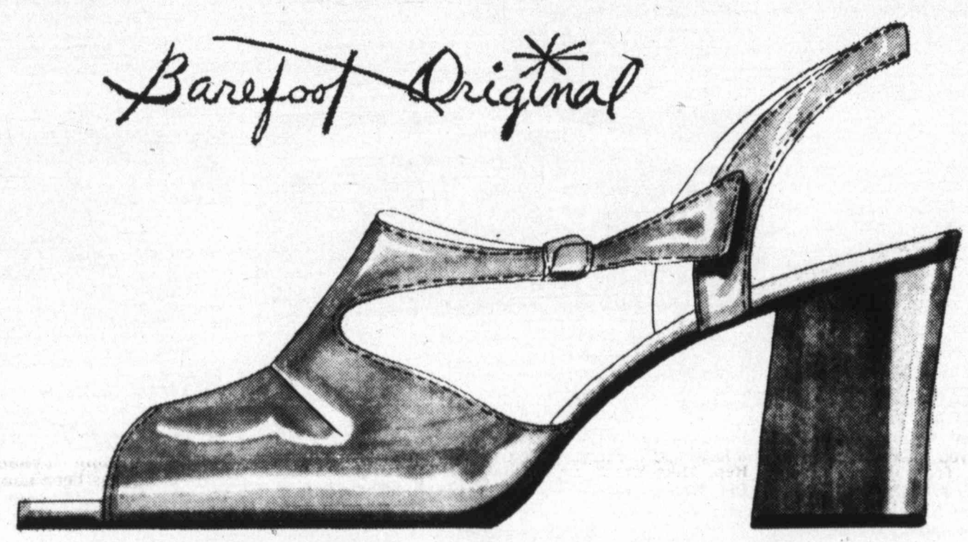

Pest Control Is Club Talk

Texas Star African Violet Club met in the home of Mrs. Gertrude Rodricks Thursday for a program on pests and insecticides.

Mrs. Paul Guy told members of ways to control many pests such as red spiders, ants, white grub, cut worm, aphids, nematodes, slugs and mealy bugs. Mrs. Guy also reported on the Garden Club council.

The club will have a bicentennial project.

The next meeting will be a dinner at La Posada at which time officers will be installed.

Says Racism Inherited

(AP WIREPHOTO)

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas school Supt. Nolan Estes says "institutional racism" is a problem the schools have inherited, not created.

In an interview published by The Dallas Times Herald Sunday, Estes said economic discrimination against students represents another form of "institutional rucism."

He said institutional racism affects the lives of average citizens by "rally shortchanging young people in terms of the kind and quality of education they get." He said it produces attitudes "that are not appropriate in apluralistic society."

Estes said another example is having "low expectations for students because of their economic, social or racial background."

"There are ways in which we discriminate economically, where we don't make appropriate provision, say, for workbooks. That discriminates," Estes said. "Providing various punishments for failure to pay locker fees ... where we use I.Q. tests for purposes of grouping or determination of achievement level, exclusively, which are not culture free or fair, this represents racial discrimination."

Estes says the number of black student suspensions has decreased since the school district adopted an Affirmative Action Plan.

Deadline May 1 For Transfers

Students transferring into the Forsan Independent School District from area schools must have transfer requests turned in by May 1 this year, according to the Texas Education Agency.

These transfer requests, which are only for out-of-district transfers, are available in Forsan High School tax office, and can be filled out with the help of Mrs. Nova Scudday.

Students who have already transferred into Forsan ISD must submit new transfer applications for the 1975-76 school year, reminded Superintendent H.D. Smith. Requests have to be approved by Texas Education Agency.

The Forsan ISD transfer policy approved by the board of trustees Jan. 13, 1970, is still in effect.

MOD Wasn't Beneficiary

Two juveniles, a 15-year-old boy and girl, were taken into custody over the weekend for soliciting funds unlawfully.

The two were claiming to be collecting March of Dimes Funds, according to Lt. Jim McCain of the city juvenile department.

Citizens are urged to check for identification when in doubt about charity drives.

Police also arrested a local 17-year-old youth who is out on parole on a juvenile charge in the State of Illinois. He is to be returned to Illinois.

Another juvenile, a 16-year-old boy, was caught inside Bollinger's Grocery at 3:08 a.m. by city police and has been turned over to juvenile authorities.

Movie Producer Plans Visit To Area Soon

Producers of a proposed "high budget" movie, are eyeing the Big Spring area as a location, according to Ron Mercer, chief executive of the Big Spring Industrial Foundation. The producers are slated to visit the area this week, to look over some of the old homes in the area. He made the report to the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors at its regular meeting Monday.

The movie is slated to star Charles Bronson and will be set in the 1880s. Mercer wrote the Texas Film Commission in Austin several months ago, saying that Big Spring is interested in hosting another movie. Last week, the film commission contacted him and said that they might have a movie for Big Spring, Stanton or Colorado City.

In other action, the board voted to amend its budget to appropriate $675 to purchase a new typewriter for the Chamber office. The old typewriter was reportedly beyond repair.

They also voted to reimburse Chamber Manager Terry Hanson the $470 that he paid in employment fees when he began work for the Chamber around nine months ago.

John Arrick will head the membership drive this year, with a new method of soliciting new members planned for this drive.

Mercer also reported that the Industrial Foundation is making plans to honor local industry during Texas Industrial Week April 1-7.

Economic Development Council chairman Clyde McMahon Sr. reported that Trans-Regional Airlines' request for an air carrier permit is in good shape and the permit should be issued around the last of this month.

He also reported that conditions for this year's cotton crop look good.
