Superjet Appears

By JAMES RAGSDALE
Associated Press Writer

EVERETT, Wash. (AP) — The Boeing 747— a giant computerized jetliner destined to boost the airline industry into a new era rolls of the production line today for its first public appearance.

The swept - wing superjet, costing about $20 million each, can deliver 490 passengers — four times the number now carried on the largest commercial jetliner.

Some 1,200 persons, including Secretary of Commerce C. R. Smith, have been invited to the ceremonies when the 747 will be rolled out of a giant hangar in this city on the edge of Puget Sound, 30 miles north of Seattle.

The plane will be splashed with champagne by 26 stewardesses representing the airlines already signed up to buy the big plane.

The 747 can go nonstop for 6,000 miles at 625 miles an hour. The Boeing 707, the largest commercial jetliner now in service, carries an average of 141 passengers. It can go nonstop for 6,000 miles at up to 605 m.p.h.

The cargo version of the 747 can haul up to 100 tons, compared with 45 tons for Boeing's 707 cargo liner now in service.

Boeing officials say the superjet is a step into a new era for aviation, delivering more people faster than ever before, and they say, doing it cheaper than current intercontinental jets.

The 747 has been on the drawing boards for more than seven years and construction has been under way for more than one year. The first plane will not get into the air until late December and then faces a year of flight testing for government approval before being delivered to the airlines.

Boeing already has orders for 158 of the big jets and the company expects to produce about 400 by 1972.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Sept. 30, the 274th day of 1968. There are 92 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1946, an international military tribunal in Nuernberg, Germany, found 22 top German Nazi leaders guilty of war crimes and sentenced 11 of them to death.

On this date:

In 1787, an American vessel for the first time sailed on a voyage around the world.

In 1846, ether was used for the first time as an anesthetic by Dr. William Morton, a dentist, in Boston.

In 1913, the U. S. Army reported it had 17 airplanes, with 23 officers and 91 enlisted men, on aeronautical duty.

In 1953, President Dwight D. Eisenhower named Gov. Earl Warren of California as chief justice of the United States.

In 1954, the submarine Nautilus, the first atomic - powered vessel, was commissioned by the U. S. Navy.

In 1955, the entire French delegation walked out of the U. N. General Assembly after the assembly decided, by a margin of one vote, to take up the question of unrest in Algeria.

Ten years ago — The Atomic Energy Commission announced that Russia had resumed testing nuclear devices with two detonations north of the Arctic Circle.

Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy pledged U. S. financial help to non-Communist countries short of funds after the United States halts its deficit in international payments.

One year ago — President Johnson selected Erwin Griswold, dean of the Harvard Law School, as solicitor general.

POWER OF MONARCHY REDUCED

Greeks Endorse Regime

By PHILIP DOPOULOS
Associated Press Writer

ATHENS (AP) — Complete returns from Sunday's referendum gave the military-backed regime today a 92.2 per cent majority approval for its constitution. The charter reduces the power of the monarchy and establishes a powerful executive.

Despite whispered skepticism here and open doubts abroad about the fairness of the referendum, the regime hailed the outcome as an overwhelming vote of confidence from the Greek people. Government spokesman Byron Stamatopoulos called it "unreserved support of the government and the revolution."

It was the first vote permitted in Greece since the coup d'etat nearly 18 months ago. No opposition was permitted.

In a statement today Premier George Papadopoulos said democracy "would be broadened" in this Atlantic Alliance nation.

The constitution drastically reduces the power of absent King Constantine and reduces the amount of financial support provided the royal family. At his residence outside Rome, the self-exiled king was informed of the vote result. He had no comment.

The constitution goes into effect immediately except for 12 of its 138 articles. These deal with individual freedoms, public assembly and freedom of the press. They are to take effect at

The constitution also sets up unprecedented measures to curb political corruption, which the Papadopoulos regime contends was rampant under elected Greek governments of the Adoption of a new constitution is just a first step toward return to a parliamentary system such as the one swept out of office by a bloodless army coup April 21, 1967. The next step would be general elections, but no date has been set.

Martial law and press control continue in the country, and about 2,100 leftists remain imprisoned on two Aegean Sea islands. At least 12 former deputies or politicians also are still under house arrest or in exile in rural areas.

Stamatopoulos called the huge yes vote for the constitution in the Sunday referendum "a triumph" for the government.

"It is certain," he said "that the overwhelming majority of the Greek people support the government, its efforts for peace and quiet and for the defense of the country against subversive actions."

With returns tabulated from all 8,108 polling stations in the nation, the vote was 4,633,602 for the constitution and 390,470 against.

Nearly 23 per cent of the registered voters did not vote, despite a law making it obligatory. However, Stamatopoulos said that 500,000 of those registered had emigrated from Greece, and that the actual percentage of absenteesm was normal for a Greek election.

He said that only those who would be prosecuted, and that this number probably would not be large. Many voters could not get home to vote because of huge transportation snarls.

King Constantine, who has been living in Rome since he fled Greece after an abortive countercoup last December, appeared no closer to return as a result of the referendum. Presumably he may be recalled when and if parliamentary elections are held, but whether he will return is another question.

One immediate effect of the new national charter is to deprive Queen Mother Frederika of her $100,000 annual pension. She has been living at Rome with Constantine and Queen Anne Marie since they fled Greece.

Constantine's allowance, currently $580,000 a year is continued along with an allowance for his son 18-month old Crown Prince Paul when he turns 21.

United Fund Begins Push

Some 85 persons were on hand this morning for a breakfast session that officially launched the general fall campaign of the Scurry County United Fund.

The campaign to subscribe funds to support 10 participating agencies is seeking a total of $38,805.60 this year. The advance gifts division of the campaign kicked off a week ago.

Joe Pitts, executive vice president of American Magnesium Co., was the featured speaker at the general campaign breakfast this morning at the First Baptist Church. He told the group something about AM, its product and some of the uses for magnesium in addition to kicking off the United Fund campaign.

Lyle Deffebach, president of the Scurry County United Fund, presided at the meeting.

The scene of interest then shifted to the United Fund campaign headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce office at city hall. The report board at the campaign headquarters showed contributions and pledges totalling $5,928 by mid-morning. Most of this, of course, came from the first week of work in the advance gifts division.

Workers in the general campaign started immediately following the breakfast session this morning. It was possibly the largest turnout of workers for a United Fund campaign kickoff in history.

The Scurry County United Fund supports operation of the Scurry County Boys' Club, Boy Scouts, Giry Scouts, Red Cross, Salvation Army, the USO, Texas Association of Mental Health, Texas Rehabilitation Hospital, Texas Social Welfare Association, and the United Cerebral Palsy of Texas, Inc.

Blast Shakes Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR, Mich. AP) — A dynamite explosion Sunday rocked a six-unit downtown office building.

Police Chief Walter E. Krasney said a blast outside a street-level entrance to an office blew a three-inch-deep hole in the concrete side walks, bent a door frame, overturned furniture and knocked down pieces of ceiling.

No injuries were reported.

Police later declined to estimate the extent of damage or say what agencies were involved in the investigation, although it was understood FBI agents were at the scene.

Area newsmen reported a receptionist at the office regularly declines to answer questions about the unmarked office and reports the manager is away on business. They believe it houses a recruiting office for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Windows in buildings on the other side of South Main Street at the south edge of the business district also were broken.

Humphrey Assails Extremists

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey pictured the nation today as facing potential destruction from extremists of left and right and declared, "No democracy can, or should, stand for it."

The Democratic presidential candidate, who flew here Sunday after two noisy confrontations with organized hecklers in the Pacific Northwest, made it clear that his denunciation of extremism applied not only to them but to the forces of third party candidate George C. Wallace and to Negro revolutionaries.

Humphrey, faced with speech-disrupting shouts from some 200 young antiwar activists in Seattle Saturday night, tried to quiet them by letting one of their leaders address the clearly pro-Humphrey audience. The tactic failed, and, in the end, the demonstrators were ejected from the packed Civic Center arena, seating 5,000. More than a dozen resisted police who steered them out, with a brief but violent uproar ensuing.

Having experienced a noisy walkout by about 400 protesters at a similar party rally in Portland, Ore., the night before, Humphrey came here still searching for a way to deal with the demonstrators who have been plaguing him from coast to coast.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the Mormon Tabernacle here, the vice president criticized both ends of the political spectrum.

"There are people today who made their basic appeal to the baser instincts—to fear, to racial prejudice, to escapism, to the darker side of the human character. They are dangerous."

NOW SERVING 15 YEARS

Estes Asks Term Reduction

ABILENE (AP) — Billie Sol Estes, convicted of mail fraud in a Texas case that attracted nationwide attention, has asked for a reduction in the 15-year federal prison sentence he is now serving.

His wife, Patsy, said in Odessa where she is now living, revealed Estes' petition for a shorter sentence. The Justice Department in Washington said the application was one of 1,100 filed with the department's pardon attorney, a spokesman said.

"We can only say the document has been received here," a Justice Department official said.

Mrs. Estes said in an interview, "I feel he served as long as he should serve. Billie Sol owed a debt to society, of course, but I believe it has been fully repaid.

"Everyone," continued the attractive mother, "should be satisfied. They've taken four years of his life—and of our life as a family.

"We still have two children," she reflected coolly, "but we've already lost two to adulthood."

As Estes' appeal winds through complex channels to the White House (investigation by the pardon attorney, review by the attorney general, submission to the president) he and his family play charades in different worlds, linked only by mail.

They are torn asunder. Estes whiles away the years at a minimum security prison near Sandstone, Minn. His wife, three daughters and a son at 70 Castle Road in Abilene, and another daughter studying dental hygiene at the University of Texas medical branch in Houston.

But they are united by hope.

"We are all hoping," admitted Mrs. Estes Saturday, "but you never know about these things. I hear from Billie Sol every day, and I write him daily.

"And by his letters," she said, "I know he's looking forward to something—leniency from the president, a pardon—maybe—or even parole when he becomes eligible in 1970.

"He's hopeful, I know, of a reduced sentence. But he's trying hard not to get his hopes up too much. We know there can be a big disappointment for us if we did that, so we're all trying not to."

Eban To Present New Peace Plan

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk was in New York today for 10 days of diplomatic talks that include a meeting with Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban, on hand with a new peace plan for the Middle East.

Rusk also had on his agenda talks with Secretary-General U Thant and General Assembly President Emilio Arenales of Guatemala.

Rusk and Eban both arrived Sunday to take part in the U.N. General Assembly policy debates, and in other diplomatic conferences.

Eban told reporters that Israel is "exploring all possibilities for a lasting peace" and that he would give his ideas on the subject in a speech Oct. 8.

Diplomatic sources here said Eban told officials in Rome, Paris and London that he had a package deal for the Arabs. But the sources said they knew none of the details.

Other sources said they doubted reports that the Israeli plan would return Sinai to Egypt and most of the West Bank of the Jordan River to Jordan.

For the second time in three days, Eban rejected a Soviet peace plan reported to call for Israeli withdrawal to pre-1967 boundaries in return for a U.N. presence there, an Arab declaration of nonbelligerency and a Big Four guarantee against new hostilities.

Washington officials said Wednesday that the Soviet Union had presented such a plan to the United States. Eban said it was not new, could not be called a peace plan and in any case should have been presented directly to the countrie concerned. He also objected that it did not call for "recognized boundaries" for Israel.

A $50 MILLION QUESTION MARK

Battleship New Jersey Goes Into Action

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The battleship USS New Jersey went into action off the Vietnamese coast today—a $50 million question mark.

The 56,000-ton vessel which fired her last previous bombardment off the coast of Korea 15 years ago has become something of an embarrassment since the decision was taken a year ago to put her back in service.

Officially, the Navy is keeping a stiff upper lip and hopes the battleship's nine 16-inch guns will prove more than useful in Vietnam. Privately, however, many officers feel the ship is a victim of de-escalation and finding enough targets to justify her presence won't be easy.

The naval command won an argument in August 1967, within the confines of the Pentagon to bring the ship—which flew Adm. William F. "Bull" Halsey's pennant in World War II—out of mothballs.

Elaborate charts and reports were drawn up to show that a battleship—with guns able to reach 23 miles—could blast a majority of the targets in North Vietnam being hit then by warplanes. The argument was particularly telling because the jets were then going down at the rate of about one a day.

Even then, however, the Navy didn't win all it wanted. The original plan had called for two battleships. That would permit one ship to be on the gunline at all times. The second ship would be back at Subic Bay in the Philippines, replacing the barrels of her guns which wear out after about 300 firings if maxi-

Agnew Asks Better Life Through Law

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Gov. Spiro Agnew called Sunday for "a better way of life through the law."

The GOP vice presidential nominee said the "moral leadership" of his running mate, Richard Nixon, is a reliable reply to mounting crime rates.

"Is it not proper," he said Sunday in televised remarks, "to ask what has happened to our society when the President's crime commission reports that 43 per cent of the American people are afraid to walk on the streets at night?

"Our system is capable of redressing just grievances."

Agnew was applauded loudly Saturday during an Alverno College rally attended by 400 persons when he denounced violent dissenters.

The theme continued that night as he addressed a $100 dinner:

"This small number of dissenters that's causing all the trouble for the youth of today is just that—a small bunch of professional hoodlums."

Agnew said there is room in society for constructive opposition, even dissent.

"Where the demonstrators break existing laws, then I'm not for dissent," he said.

Agnew again said the United States must not withdraw unilaterally from Vietnam.

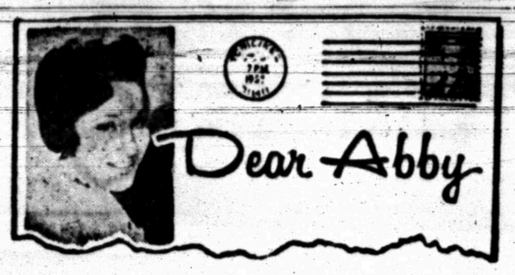

The Vietnam war, he said, can be resolved by courageous Americans who "aren't about to give up just because some people have developed a little jelly in thir spines about a tough situation."

Port Houston Is Beehive Of Activity

HOUSTON (AP)—Port Houston was bustling with actiyity today as shippers sought to clear as many vessels as possible before a scheduled mdnight strike by longshoremen.

Port officials said about 15 of the 24 ships in port are expected to beat the deadline. Five other ships were scheduled to arrive today.

Houston has about 2,000 longshoremen. Both union locals in Houston have voted unanimously to establish picket lines tonight if no agreement is reached in the New York City negotiations affecting most ports from Maine to Brownsville.

DEAR ABBY: Last evening my daughter brought her boyfriend over to visit. I was pouring coffee, so I asked the young man if he cared for a cup. He just stared at me and didn't say a word. When he finally spoke, it was to say that he never realized before that I was cross - eyed, and he didn't answer me right away because he didn't know I was talking to him.

I said to him, "Young man, I am not only cross-eyed, I am extremely sensitive about it, but most people spare me embarrassment by not mentioning it, having learned from their mothers when very young that such remarks are rude and unkind."

Do you think I was justified in answering him that way? Or should I apologize to him just to please my daughter?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: You owe the boorish fellow no apology. He should have thanked YOU for the lesson.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow who's been seeing a very eligible man for nearly two years. I know he thinks a lot of me because I am the only woman he goes with.

During our more intimate moments I have told him I "loved" him, but he has never said "I love you" to me. He has said, "I adore you, . . . I think the world of you, . . . you're the greatest," but he has yet to say, "I love you." Abby, these are the words a woman wants to hear.

We're not kids. I am 46 and he is 51. I've quit saying "I love you" to him because I feel foolish when he doesn't reciprocate. (He says, "actions speak louder than words.")

I'd like to marry this man, Abby. What's wrong with him, and what do you advise me to do?

LOVES HIM

DEAR LOVES: Actions do speak louder than words. And your friend acts like a man who doesn't want to get involved. The words, "I love you" are a commitment, usually followed by, "will you marry me?" He is shrewdly avoiding a more permanent relationship with you. Lose him, Lady. He'll "adore" you for as long as you let him, but I doubt if he's marriage material.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I've been dating this boy for quite a while. I enjoy being with him a lot, but he just doesn't know how to kiss a girl.

It's hard to explain what he does, but after kissing him a few times, my lips are all bruised. Maybe it's because he plays the trumpet. Anyway, I have tried awfully hard to show him how to kiss, but he doesn't catch on.

I'd gladly skip the kissing and just sit around and "cuddle" with him when our friends are making out, but I'm afraid I'll hurt his feelings. What to do?

SORE LIPS

DEAR SORE LIPS: It's either his feelings or your lips. If something must be sore — let it be his feelings.

Israelis, Arabs Swap Mortar Fire

TEL AVIV (AP)—Israeli and Arab forces exchanged mortar and bazooka fire across the Jordan River cease-fire line Sunday night, the army said.

The Israelis accused the Arabs of opening the fight by firing several mortar shells south of Beit Yossef in the Beisan Valley.

About 45 minutes later a bazooka shell was fired toward the Israeli side south of the border settlement of Kfar Ruppin, the Israelis said.

The Israelis returned the fire and reported no casualties.

Battleship

mum charges are used.

The Navy accepted the reactivation of just one battleship confident it would prove its worth.

Then came the de-escalation of the war with President Johnson's order limiting bombing to a relatively small area of the North Vietnamese panhandle.

There isn't much in the panhandle to really occupy a battleship. Most of the coastal road is easily within range of cruiser and destroyer guns, as are small airfields at Vinh and Dong Hoi.

The one area where the New Jersey's massive broadside could be devastating is along the 17th parallel demilitarized zone, dividing North and South Vietnam.

In this area, North Vietnamese forces have dug in some gun emplacements that have defied counterfire and aerial bombardment.

Although the DMZ is actually 37 miles long, most of the enemy's gun emplacements are within range of the New Jersey's main batteries. This is where she is likely to do most of her work and where the first rounds were fired today.

With each gun firing a 2,700 pound projectile, the battleship can lay down a nine-gun broadside roughly equivalent to half the bomb load of one B52. Within a few minutes she could easily match the bomb load of any B52 strike. And her great shells can penetrate 30 feet of reinforced concrete—bringing far more devastation to a small area than the bombers can achieve.

Whether this capability matches th reactivated battleships's price tag is a question for the cost accountants. It cost about $21.5 million to reactivate the battleship and another $20 million was budgeted for ammunition. Fuel, spare parts and the cost of the 1,400-man crew easily make the New Jersey a $50 million experiment.

Two Tyler Men Die In Air Crash

GILMER, Tex. (AP) — A light plane crashed in an isolated creek bottom seven miles southeast of Gilmer early Sunday night killing two Tyler men.

Killed in the crash were Jimmy C. Wilkinson, 41, owner of the plane, and Ernest Crejo, 25.

Making a return flight from Dallas where the two had witnessed a performance by the Blue Angels Air Squadron, they circled a house where Mrs. Wilkinson was visiting her parents. She ran outside and saw the plane go down.

Gilmer firemen worked about two hours to remove the bodies from the burned plane.

Dallas News Backs Nixon-Agnew Ticket

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Morning News has endorsed the Richard Nixon-Spiro Agnew Republican national ticket in its editorials of Sunday.

The editorial, in part, said: "Evidence is compelling that the people want, and the nation needs, a drastic change from a course which has led to political, social and economic instability."

Another reason, the editorial stated, for the newspaper's support of the Republican ticket is that Nixon stands behind J. Edgar Hoover, Federal Bureau of Investigation director.

ASKS CONTINUED AID

Johnson At Monetary Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson urged the world's developed nations today to resist the temptation to cut back their assistance to the have-nots of the globe.

"This would be a tragic end to two decades of commitment, of trial and error and, I think, magnificent achievement," the President said.

Johnson was a surprise speaker at the opening session of the combined annual meetings of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank.

The meetings have assembled finance ministers from the majority of the non-Communist nations.

"We simply cannot turn our backs on the majority of our fellow human beings," Johnson said.

By sensible cooperation, the President said, it will be possible to increase world income five per cent per year over the next five years. The alternative he said, is to allow uncontrolled forces to determine the progress with the likely result that growth would sink to three per cent.

"Let us not fail to be wise," Johnson said.

The President's remarks, while addressed directly to finance ministers and central bank heads from scores of other nations, seemed indirectly aimed at Congress, which this year is cutting foreign aid funds to the lowest point since World War II.

"The more we move together," he said, "the more each of us will be able to advance the economy of our own people."

Johnson addressed the joint gathering before a speech by bank's president, Robert S. McNamara.

McNamara proposed a five-year plan of increased lending in Africa, Latin America and Asia. He said the bank's loans should double during the plan.

McNamara said the new plan would include a broadening of the bank's past emphasis on South Asia—India and Pakistan — to the other underdeveloped areas of the world.

In his first speech prepared for the board of governor's of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, the former secretary of defense singled out Indonesia and the Unted Arab Republic Egypt as countries with great need for help, but where little has been done in the past.

Governors of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund—interlocking groups involving many of the same men—convened today for week-long annual meetings. Many joint sessions are scheduled.

The World Bank makes or guarantees loans to help improve production, standards of living and international trade. The IMF provides short-term loans to governments to help maintain the stabilty of international exchange. Both were organized in 1944.

Pierre-Paul Schweitzer, chairman of the executive oard and managing director of the IMF, reported to the meeting that the world may be moving toward a balance in international payments—but at the expense of reduced aid to developing nations.

Narcotics Suspects Moved To El Paso

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Two men jailed on traffic violations were expected to have narcotics violation charges brought against them Monday, police said.

The two were transferred to the El Paso jail from Van Horn Saturday night after being arrested Friday about 35 miles north of Van Horn on Texas 54.

An El Paso man and a companion from Mexico were captured after a high-speed chase by officers using helicopters and squad cars overtook the pair. Some 197 pounds of marijuana claimed to be worth $197,000 was seized at the time of arrest, officers said.

State police told of acting on a tip and watching the men pick up the marijuana.

SUITS-ON-THE-MOVE — The traveler's dream of wardrobe perfection is fulfilled in every way by these two suits — with their free-wheeling new styling, any-season comfort and forever-new crispness. Secret of their performing arts is a new fabric of 100 percent mohair, in a weightless linen-weave, that completely resists crushing or wrinkling. Whatever the weather, it's a joy to wear. Left, contrast of light and dark, in a pale riding jacket, with pussycat bow and hacking pockets, and dark skirt with action pleating. Right, the new Mao jacket, buttoned in brass, combined with a skirt in whirling all-around pleats.

Compatible Combo

Slices of canned luncheon meat go well in a casserole of scalloped corn to bake right along with the vegetable. With the meat, the dish can serve as an entree for simple luncheon or supper.

Give a protein boost, also, to creamed mixed vegetables or creamed peas and onion by adding diced luncheon meat; serve on toast triangles.

Teenager Emerges

A recent survey of the 13 to 19 year - old future homemaker group projects that three million girls help with the family shopping list; over seven million help with the actual shopping. Over three million of them help prepare meals and almost seven million do the dishes.

With about 43 percent of the nation's mothers holding jobs outside the home, this power source, untapped until recently, once again becomes important.

What's even more important is this result: about 75 percent of these teenage girls definitely want a homemaking career.

Quick And Easy

Slice a can of luncheon meat in half, heat it in a frying-pan, then serve with a sauce of creamed eggs.

Like deviled eggs? Place them over a slice of canned luncheon meat or ready-to-serve meats and top with hot cheese sauce.

Snyder Girls Are Pledges At TCU

FORT WORTH — Pledging of 237 women students enrolled at Texas Christian University was announced at the close of rush week for the TCU Panhellenic Council by adviser Mrs. Jan Fleck, assistant dean of women.

Pledge ceremonies were conducted after the issuing of bids by the 10 Greek - letter organizations for women at TCU.

Among the pledges are Deborah Kay Raines and Cheril Ruth Stevenson of Snyder. Both girls pledged Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

Temperature Break

Nothing's more soothing on a suddenly cold day than a cup or bowl of hot, creamy soup. Many soups can be purchased canned or frozen or they can be made quickly from a medium cream sauce with vegetables and meat added.

How about cream of potato soup with bits of crumbled, cooked bacon and bits of dried or smoked beef?

Or, wouldn't the family enjoy cream of corn soup with tiny circles of Vienna-style sausage?

Cream of pea or celery soup takes well to small cubes of canned ham.

Pact To End NY Teachers Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Teachers and the Board of Education have agreed on a plan to end a three-week strike of the city's public schools and get 1.1 million pupils back in their classrooms.

The agreement was announced Sunday afternoon after a 16-hour negotiating session at Mayor John V. Lindsay's residence. It was approved by the leadership of the 55,000-member AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers. A rank-and-file vote Sunday night was 5,828 in favor of calling off the walkout and 592 against.

Lindsay said the written agreement "should allow our city schools to open" today.

The plan calls for sending 110 teachers, opposed by the governing board of Brooklyn's Ocean Hill-Brownsville schools, back to their classes in the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican district. It also provides for observers named by the Board of Education and the predominantly white UFT to be stationed in the district's eight schools to see that the teachers are not molested or threatened.

Uniformed and plainclothes policemen also were to be on hand.

Rhody McCoy, administrator of the experimental district, was asked early today if he would allow observers in the district's schools. He replied, "How would I stop them?" and added: "We don't want them, we don't need them."

After a two-day strike at the beginning of the fall term, and a subsequent agreement, the 110 teachers returned to Ocean Hill-Brownsville on Sept. 11 to be met by cursing jeering spectators.

Police escorted the teachers inside, but the educators said they were not allowed to teach. Other instructors had been hired in their place.

The strike then resumed Sept. 13.

The union struck Ocean Hill-Brownsville last spring when the local board dismissed 19 teachers and 100 others walked out in sympathy. Nine of the dismissed teachers subsequently accepted different assignments.

The UFT, in demanding that the 110 teachers be returned to their original assignments, says the whole principle of job security is involved. The Ocean Hill-Brownsville board contends that the union is using the situation to further its opposition to school decentralization, which is scheduled to go into effect for all city schools next year.

To make up partly for the school days lost, the UFT-Board of Education agreement calls for six extra days to be added to the school year: Election Day; Lincoln's birthday; the Friday after Thanksgiving; March 31 and April 1, before Easter; and Easter Monday. The teachers are to be paid time-and-a-half for the additional school days, partially making up for wages lost due to the strike.

Bar Panel Firm For Fortas

CHICAGO (AP) — The chairman of an American Bar Association committee is standing firm on endorsement of Abe Fortas for Chief Justice of the United States.

Albert J. Jenner of Chicago, head of the ABA Committee on Federal Judgeships, said, Sunday he knows of "nothing relavant that has come forth", that would warrant a change in the recommendation.

"The committee passes only on the question of the professional qualifications of a prospective nominee to the court," Jenner told a newsman.

William Gossett, president of the ABA, said Friday the committee did not have all the facts when it endorsed Fortas. But, he added, it was up to Jenner to decide whether the committee should take another look at the endorsement. Jenner criticized the Senate for considering decisions Fortas has made while serving on the court as a basis for his suitability.

"We would not presume," Jenner said, "to inject ourselves into the areas of consideration that have been on the U.S. Senate floor—for example, the inquiring into decisions of the court—and I respectfully submit that the Senate should not either."

Outlook Dim For Vote On Equal Time

By ROBERT A. HUNT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bill to exempt televised Humphrey-Nixon-Wallace debates from equal time requirement could get a House vote this week, but the outlook for such confrontations is dim indeed.

The bill is on the House calendar, subject to clearance from the Rules Committee which has scheduled a meeting on the issue for Thursday.

But House members close to the situation doubt that the debates would materialize even if Congress passes the bill in its present form.

Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon has said he would debate Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey if Congress suspends the equal time requirement. But he has flatly rejected taking part in a three-way affair with third party candidate George C. Wallace.

Humphrey has said he would go along with the three-man format.

The House Commerce Committee modified a Senate-passed bill to specify that the exemption would apply only to debates which provided all major candidates "opportunity for equivalent appearances."

Rep. J. J. Pickle, D-Tex., author of that language before it was modified, said his original wording would have permitted the exemption only on programs with equivalent appearances instead of those with opportunity for equal appearances by the trio.

"My clear intent was to allow a three-way debate or no debate at all," Pickle said.

Shortage Of Labor Plagues State Fair

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Employment Commission says there is a critical shortage of temporary labor to work at the annual State Fair of Texas.

The TEC said today there is a need for guards, groundskeepers, demonstrators, receptionists, waitresses, dishwashers, busboys and countermen.

A special TEC placement office has been set up at Fair Park, site of the annual fair which gets underway Oct. 5.

AMERICAN MOTORS offers a totally restyled Ambassador line for 1969. The line features seven models, including the luxurious and distinctive Ambassador SST 4-door sedan shown here. Wheelbase and overall length of the new Ambassador have been increased four inches, and the track widened to 60 inches. New, custom velour seats and stainless steel side trim are a package option on the SST 4-door sedan. Interiors are extensively restyled. The Ambassador's air conditioning, which is standard equipment, is a new, higher capacity system for 1969.

American Shows '69 Models

Five separate lines of new 1969 automobiles embodying hundreds of improvements and refinements designed for maximum consumer satisfaction were announced by American Motors Corporation; and on display at Dupree Motors, Tuesday, October 1.

They include the high - performance record breaking two-seat AMX, the sporty Javelin, the compact Rambler (formerly Rambler American), the rugged, all - around Rebel and the luxury Ambassador.

William S. Pickett, vice-president of sales, said the Ambassador line, designed to fill a market gap between the top intermediate and standard-sized cars, has the most pronounced changes. The Ambassador, with an entirely new and distinctive front end, has a wheelbase of 122 inches, 4 inches greater than last year, and its track has been widened to a full 60 inches, providing much-improved riding comfort and

Across-the-line changes and improvements found in all 1969 AM cars include the addition of head restraints as standard equipment; a smooth cable-controlled accelerator system with a suspended pedal; a new smaller, lighter battery with a translucent polypropylene case; parking lights which remain on with headlamps, and new Guard - Glo safety headlamps, featuring a stand-by filament.

American Motors' newest line, the sporty, two - seat AMX which was introduced in the spring of 1968, will offer all-leather upholstery as an option. An improved four-speed close-ratio transmission and improved tachometers will be standard on the '69 AMX.

Air conditioning, standard on all Ambassadors, has increased capacity and improved air distribution for 1969. AM air conditioning units will be capable of dropping inside temperature on Ambassador and Rebel models considerably faster than units previously used.

The increase in the length of the Ambassador applies both to its wheelbase and its overall length, giving it the longest wheelbase of the high-line intermediates. The wheelbase is increased to 122 inches, and the overall length to 206.5 inches for sedans and 207 inches for station wagons.

AM's modern powerplant collection includes three six-cylinder engines and five V-8's, with a horsepower range from 128 to 315. The 290-cubic inch two-barrel V-8 is standard on the Ambassador SST, with the 290-inch inch four - barrel V-8 standard on the AMX. Sixes are standard on all other models.

Ambassador and Rebel station wagons will offer as standard equipment Dual - Swing tailgates which can be lowered in the conventional way or swung open from the side, like a door.

With the exception of the Rambler, all 1969 models will offer as optional a new ventilation system caled "Command Air." It consists of a high-capacity three-speed blower wmich forces air through normal air conditioning outlets.

In addition to the increased comfort which the system affords, "Command Air" also makes it easier for car owners to switch to regular air conditioning later.

Standard safety features on all 1969 American Motors cars include double safety brakes, seat belts for all passenger positions, shoulder belts for driver and right front seat passenger, energy - absorbing steering column, padded dash and visors, left outside rear view mirror and front seat head restraints.

For 1969, American Motors offers a wide range of important options which includes individually - adjustable reclining seats, power disc brakes on all V-8 models except the Rambler, a 390-cubic inch four-barrel V-8 on AMX, Ambassador SST and Javelin SST models, and close-ratio four-speed transmission on Rambler Rogue, Javelin, Javelin ST and Ambassador SST models. Four-on-the-floor is standard on the AMX.

The 1969 model American Motors cars will go on display at dealerships on October 1, 1968.

Young Genius Teaches Trig At Michigan

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Walk into Edith Stern's trigonometry class for freshmen at Michigan State University, you would swear the teacher isn't a day over 17.

She isn't. She's only 16.

Edith is a mathematics phenomenon from Florida who: was exposed to 24-hour-a-day classical music shortly after birth; was reading—and drawing books from the public library—at 2½; has an IQ of 154 to 201, depending on the test; and worries about her weight.

She's lost 20 pounds since starting her graduate work at Michigan State, but would like to lose more, "so I can find inexpensive dresses that aren't so old-looking."

"I always was a fat little thing," she added.

Edith decided to come to MSU after graduation from Florida Atlantic University because she learned the school had an excellent reputation in mathematics and because MSU offered her a graduate assistantship to help pay costs. Her father is unable to work because of illness, and her mother is a sales clerk in a bakery.

There are two other young geniuses at Michigan State.

Michael Grost, 14, son of a Lansing couple, is completing his senior year this semester and will join Edith in the MSU graduate college studying mathematics.

Norman Plantnik, 16, a graduate student in zoology, is teaching general biology to sophomores. He is a graduate of Concord College in Athens, W. Va.

The classical music as an infant was the beginning of years of disciplined work for Edith guided by her father, Aaron, who said he wanted to create a genius in his daughter.

Public school officials fought her father's plans to take Edith from the ninth grade into Miami-Dade Junior College. They lost in court.

Edith accepts—with reservations—her father's opinion that she is a genius.

"I believe it is questionable that I was born a genius," she stated. "It must be the experience. In terms of IQ I am a genius. But in terms of creativity, I don't know."

Edith reads science fiction in her spare time and she enjoys one television series in particular: "We 'Star Trek' lovers are an underground."

She likes music from classical to pop. She has dated and admits to a crush or two.

New Testing At Project Gasbuggy

HOUSTON (AP) — The Project Gasbuggy well in New Mexico will soon undergo three new tests to help determine the success of the first nucear explosion for peaceful purposes.

Plans for the tests were announced Sunday at the opening session of the four-day fall meeting of the Society of Petroleum Engineers.

More than 4,000 persons are expected at the meeting, where 154 technical papers will be delivered in 29 sessions.

The new 30-day production tests will begin Nov. 1 at the Gasbuggy natural gas well near Farmington, N.M., spokesmen said.

Plans for the tests on the joint government-industry project were announced by the El Paso Natural Gas Co., the Atomic Energy Commission and the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

Results of the series will be used in preparing plans for a later test.

Scientists detonated an underground nuclear device in the Gasbuggy test last Dec. 10. The explosion formed a gas-collecting cavern about 80 feet in radius and 333 feet high.

A 15-day production test in June produced more than 57 million cubic feet of gas from the cavern, some 4,200 feet below the earth's surface.

The three 30-day tests will be conducted over a four-month period, spokesmen said. Gas will be withdrawn at rates to keep a pre-selected bottomhole pressure, which will be changed for each test.

The tests are designed to measure the rate of flow of gas into the cavern from surrounding fractured formations.

Spokesmen said additional information will be sought from an old gas producing well some 435 feet northwest of the Gasbuggy well. As part of the Gasbuggy test, the old well was filled with sand, cement and drilling mud. Workmen wil begin cleaning out the old well Oct. 7.

Gasbuggy is the first of three tests to determine if nuclear explosions can be used to fracture deep reservoirs in the Rocky Mountain area sufficiently to make commercial production possible.

Mayo Smith Keeps Eyes On Series

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Busy with crucial decisions to activate slugger Eddie Mathews and restore power hitter Al Kaline to the starting line-up, Detroit Manager Mayo Smith hardly noticed the Tigers' 3-2 loss to Washington Sunday in the last game of the regular American League season.

Smith's first words to newsmen in the Tigers' dressing room after the loss were, "The shortstop will be Mickey Stanley.

"Now don't ask me why. That's all," he said abruptly, his mind occupied fully with the coming first game of the World Series on Wednesday against the Cardinals at St. Louis.

"This is not done for sentiment to get an Al Kaline into the line-up," said Smith, "I want you to understand that. I just want to get an extra bat in the line-up."

The move will give the Tigers the benefit of Kaline's hitting talent in the game. The .291 slugger will play right field in place of Jim Northrup, who will move to center.

Smith said he would rather have Stanley play short because of his hitting ability, instead of either Ray Oyler or Tom Matchick, both weak hitters this year. Stanley wound up the season with a .259 average.

Mayo said he made the decision on Stanley Sunday, along with the decision to put Mathews, who has batted a deceptively low .212, on the Series eligibility list. Smith dropped reliever John Wyatt from the list to make room for the 36-year-old veteran.

Seven Killed In Collision

ROCKDALE, Tex. (AP) — Seven persons were killed and two injured early Sunday near this Central Texas town in an automobile collision that officers said they were unable to explain.

Police said the two cars met in fair weather about dawn. The shattering collision occurred two miles east of Rockdale on U. S. 77 at a farm road intersection.

Six persons were killed in the crash. Dead were Jefferson Davis, 60; Rosie Hemphill, 35; Annette Dealey, 12; and Sherana Matthews, 6, all of Eagle Lake, Tex.; William Jackson Jr., 35, of Ledbetter, Tex., and Harry James Green 46, of Dallas.

The widow of Davis, Mrs. Lavella Mae Davis, died in a hospital a few hours after the crash. Still in critical condition at the Temple hospital was Sharon Davis, her year-old granddaughter, also of Eagle Lake.

Larry Joe Mitchell, 27, of Fort Worth, taken to a Rockdale hospital, was treated and released.

Rockdale is about 50 miles northeast of Austin.

Mexia Collision Kills Three Persons

MEXIA, Tex. (AP) — A two-car collision late Saturday night killed three persons and injured two, one critically.

The accident occurred about 13 miles west of Mexia on U.S. 84.

Justice of the Peace Sam Bonner listed the dead as Mrs. Willie Lee Collins Walker and R. L. Busby, both of Mart, and Laurine Chambers of Mexia.

Suffering injuries in the crash were Charles E. Jefferson of Mart and Elmer Dempsey of Mexia.

Dempsey was alone and traveling west when the second vehicle suddenly veered into his lane while heading east, Bonner said.

WHICH TWIN HAS THE ALL ELECTRIC HOME?

Electric cooking is so clean and cool. Electric heat is free of smoke and soot. Electric appliances are timesavers allowing more leisure, greater freedom. An all electric home is so clean and efficient. Thus, it is obvious that the young housewife on the left has an all electric home.

However, appearances can sometimes be deceiving. The other young housewife also has an all electric home but she's been out fighting a grassfire.

JAVELIN SST AMBASSADOR SST AMX

There was a time when all we made were Ramblers.

And, those Ramblers made our image.

With the predictable result that we got a reputation for building dependable, little cars that were high on economy and low on sex appeal.

We still make the Rambler.

It's a smarter buy than it ever was.

But it's no Javelin.

When American Motors can build a hot, sporty car that out-sports the other sporty cars, that's news.

So far, more than 45,000 sporty-car drivers have decided that the Javelin is a better car for the money.

The Ambassador SST 4-door sedan is our luxury car. It comes with standard air-conditioning, standard V-8, standard automatic transmission, optional velour seats, a long, long wheelbase for an elegant limousine ride, and an astonishingly low price for the package.

We also make the Rebel.

The Rebel is the family car that dared to cross the treacherous Baja peninsula. Most of the specially equipped cars that start this trip never finish. The Rebel did.

But, if anything changes our image, it will be the AMX, our two-seater sports car.

The AMX, specially equipped and modified, has set 106 American, national and international speed records.

At this point, it looks like our image will never survive.

Raiders Just Kept Keying On Gilbert

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas Tech Coach J. T. King had this theory about the University of Texas.

"I told my kids excuse me, men, that if we held Chris Gilbert to 125 yards rushing and one touchdown we can beat Texas," King said.

The Red Raiders own the Southwest Conference lead today because King's theory worked perfectly Saturday night as Tech overwhelmed the Longhorns 31-22 in a sizzling fray before a record Jones Stadium crowd of 50,167.

Gilbert, the sensational slippery ghost of many a touchdown run, could gouge but 29 yards out of a stout Tech line that keyed on him. Gilbert got that one touchdown—on a six-yard run, his longest of the night.

"We weren't going to let him go wide—we had enough of that guy last year," King said. "We let our ends follow Gilbert wherever he went," he said.

King said, "Another important factor was our domination of the kicking game. I believe we'll keep Larry Alford on scholarship at least another week."

King was jokingly referring to Alford's tremendous punt returns—one for 84 yards and a touchdown and another for 49 yards to set up another score.

Texas Coach Darrell Royal said "I think it is obvious the breakdown came in the kicking game. "We had two punt run backs and a blocked field goal," that's the story."

King said Texas quarterback-punter Bill Bradley was outbooting his coverage.

"Alford just popped up the middle and got some good blocks," he said.

He said "The secret to our offense was the ability to run against their goal line defense. Houston couldn't do it."

Roger Freeman scored twice for Tech on short runs and caught a 17-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Joe Matulich for another score.

While Tech and Texas settled the first issue of the conference campaign, the other league members split even with intersectional opposition.

Conference members, coming off its worst intersectional showing ever in 1967, now have a 5-6-3 record against outside competition.

SMU continued its record-setting aerial circus but Ohio State stole the show with a 35-14 victory.

Mustang quarterback Chuck Hixson completed 37 of 69 passes for 417 yards. All three figures are SWC records. Flanker Jerry Levias caught a school-record 15 passes for 160 yards.

But the Buckeyes tore into the Ponies for a 14-0 first quarter lead to pop the bubble SMU has been keeping aloft since last week's surprising win over Auburn.

The Aggies somewhat squared accounts with Louisiana teams in its decisive victory over the Green Wave. Losers last week to LSU, the Ags sent Larry Stegent tearing through Tulane's defenses for three touchdowns.

Arkansas' Doug Dickey almost forgot he was a tailback instead of a quarterback in the Razorbacks' victory over Tulsa. Dickey passed for two touchdowns and ran over another from the one yard line.

The Baylor Bears made it two straight losses to Big Ten teams but once again proved they had some spunk. Last week the Bear offense put on a show before losing to Indiana, but Saturday the defense rose to the occasion to hold the Spartans back through three periods.

The Rice Owls fought LSU to a 7-7 draw in the first half but the Tigers were too much in the last half. The Louisianans rolled up 374 yards in total offense to hand Rice its first loss.

Arkansas and TCU venture into league warfare this week in the only conference games. Intersectional games include Baylor at LSU, Tennessee at Rice, North Carolina State at SMU, Texas A&M at Florida State, Colorado State at Texas Tech, and Oklahma State at Texas.

GOOD GAIN FOR SNYDER — Randy Levens (35) moves for a good gain for the Snyder Tigers in Friday night's District 3-AAA game at Slaton, with Valvin Garcia (65) up front. Other Snyder players in the action include Robert Sadler (50) at far left, and Eddie Ray McClain (67). Slaton won the battle of the Tigers, 21-20, as Snyder had a touchdown and a field goal nullified by penalties.

Lamar 8th Rolls Past Sweetwater

Paced by David Tyrone who romped for three first - half touchdowns, the Lamar 8th grade Texans overpowered the Sweetwater 8th grade team, 28-0, on the local Junior High field Saturday afternoon.

Tyrone galloped across on runs of 55 yards and 40 yards for two of his six - pointers and got another TD on a shorter trip.

The other Lamar touchdown was scored by Glenn Hoyle from 12 yards out. Hoyle himself had set up the score with two long runs.

Bobby Burleson and Elton Hessler scored two - point conversions for the Texans to round out the scoring.

Lamar 8th grade Coach Gene Westmoreland priased his defensive unit also for its role in the victory. Fred Liner intercepted a pass and made a 30-yard return before he was downed. Jim Waters, Ken Bell and Henry Ramos also were cited for their stellar defensive play.

The Texan 8th graders will be at home this week, hosting the Colorado City 8th graders Thursday evening.

Packers Are Tired Of Guys Named Bill

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Jones boy has New York buzzing again and a couple of Smiths are hitting it big for Baltimore. But Green Bay has had its fill of just-plain Bills.

Speedster Homer Jones, shackled in New York's first two National Football League games this season, snared five Fran Tarkenton passes for 179 yards and two touchdwns Sunday as the Giants drubbed the Washington Redskins 48-21 for their third consecutive victory.

The Smiths—295-pound Bubba and 250-pound Billy Ray of Baltimore's defensive line—set up three interceptions that were run back for touchdowns as the unbeaten Colts demolished the Pittsburgh Steers 41-7.

At Green Bay, Bill Munson's second scoring strike to Billy Gambrell, a 12-yard flip with 1:55 to play, gave the Detroit Lions a 23-17 nod over the Packers, who have lost two in a row for a 1-2 mark—their worst start since 1958.

A week ago, Bill Brown scored two early touchdowns and rambled for 74 yards in Minnesota's 26-13 ambush of the defending NFL champs.

Elsewhere, the Dallas Cowboys crushed Philadelphia 45-13 for a 3-0 mark; the Los Angeles Rams cuffed Cleveland 24-6 for their third straight triumph; the Chicago Bears ended a two-game tailspin by trimming Minnesota 27-17; the St. Louis Cardinals nipped New Orleans 21-20 with a late rally and the San Francisco 49ers beat Atlanta 28-13.

In the American Football League it was Buffalo 37, New York 35; Boston 20, Denver 17; San Diego 31, Cincinnati 10 and Oakland 24, Houston 15. Kansas City wrecked Miami 48-3 in a Saturday night game.

Jones, who grabbed 49 passes for 1,209 yards and a league-leading 13 touchdowns last year, went into Sunday's game with three receptions and no scores. But he clicked with Tarkenton on an 82-yard bomb in the second period and a 56-yarder in the third.

Baltimore's Bobby Boyd, Charlie Stukes and Roy Hilton returned pass thefts for touchdowns, tying the single game NFL record.

Bubba Smith, tossed Steeler quarterbacks Kent Nix and Dick Shiner for three losses and deflected a Shiner pass that Hilton picked off for a 13-yard touchdown return. Billy Ray Smith got to the harassed Pittsburgh passers twice and hurried Nix into an interception returned 60 yards by Stukes for a score.

Green Bay grabbed a 10-0 lead over the Lions and was on the way to another touchdwn in the second period. But defensive back Lem Barney led a Detroit goal line stand that blunted the drive, then intercepted a Bart Starr pass to trigger a 47-yard Lion march capped by Munson's six-yard scoring pass to Gambrell. The Packers never recovered.

Don Meredith threw five touchdown passes, leading the Cowboys' stampede at Philadelphia. Dallas defenders intercepted five passes, grabbed two fumbles and capitalized on a short punt.

The Rams completely blunted Cleveland's attack except for a 53-yard touchdown pass from Frank Ryan to Paul Warfield. The Browns did not run a play from scrimmage on the Los Angeles side of the 50-yard line.

Ralph Kurek bolted 23 yards for Chicago's clinching touchdown in the final period, killing off a desperate comeback by the Vikings. The Bears, however lost two quarterbacks. Jack Concannon broke his left collarbone and Rudy Bukich suffered a possble shoulder separation.

Chuck Latourrette's 86-yard scoring jaunt with a New Orleans punt launched a 21-point fourth quarter spree that carried the Cardinals past the Saints. Willis Crenshaw blasted one yard for the tying touchdown with less than a minute remaining and Jim Bakken booted the decisive extra point.

Angelo Lee Decisions Travis 9th

SAN ANGELO — The Snyder Travis Junior High 9th grade football team battled Lee Junior High of San Angelo on virtually even terms for nearly three quarters here Saturday but the hosts finally triumphed, 28-12.

The first half was scoreless until less than a minute of playing time remained. Lee broke the scoring ice on a pass interception that was returned 35 yards for the touchdown. A try for the two - point conversion failed, giving Lee a 6-0 advantage at intermission.

Lee took the second half kickoff and launched a 75-yard drive for another touchdown and made the two extra points to take a 14-0 lead.

Travis retaliated this time, taking the kickoff and marching 65 yards for a touchdown. Quarterback Jackie Murray scored the six - pointer on a bootleg play from 15 yards out. The try for a two - point conversion failed.

Lee clinched the decision then, with touchdowns runs of 35 and 40 yards, getting the two - point conversion after the third one.

Travis fought back and midway of the fourth period got its second touchdown. The pay-off came on a 35-yard pass play from Murray to Butch Buchanan. The conversion try failed.

Travis drove inside the Lee 20 yard line earlier in the period and once recovered a fumble inside the 20, but was unable to move into the end zone.

Billy Clayton was outstanding on both offense and defense for the Blue Devils.

Travis 9th has an open date this week.

Sweetwater 9th Downs Texans, 24-0

SWEETWATER — Two long gainers early in the ball game sent the Sweetwater 9th grade team on the road to a 24-0 decision over the Snyder Lamar 9th grade football team Saturday evening.

Sweetwater held Lamar after the opening kickoff and then on its first play from scrimmage moved to the five yard line on a long pass play. A moment later the hosts pushed over for the score. Still early in the first period, the Ponies scored again on a 70-yard quick pitch around their right side. A field goal just before half - time hiked the margin to 17-0.

The scoring was concluded in the third period when the hosts put on a sustained drive for another touchdown.

Lamar moved inside the Sweetwater 20 yard line twice, but lost the ball on a fumble once and had its drive bogged down on the other occasion.

The 9th grade Texans will host the Stamford 9th grade team Thursday night.

Snyder B Downs San Angelo, 12-6

SAN ANGELO — Snyder High School's B team held the advantage in every department Saturday in marching to a 12-6 victory over the San Angelo Central B team footballers.

The Kittens from Snyder took a 6-0 lead in the second period when Larry Wall launched a drive with a 38-yard run from the Snyder 19. Johnny Mata and Gary Shields then alternated in carrying the ball to the San Angelo 18 from which point Shields churned into the end zone on a first - down play. The try for the extra point failed.

The Kittens got their other touchdown before half - time on a spectacular play. Taking possession of the football on their own 32 yard line, the Snyder team managed but two yards on two plays. Then, quarterback Bid, Cooper hit Shields with a pass and Shields, who had moved into the clear behind the San Angelo safety man, galloped into the end zone to complete a 66-yard play. The conversion try failed again, but the Kittens had a 12-0 advantage at halftime.

The second half was mostly a defensive battle. The Kittens held San Angelo on the one-yard-line in the third period. The hosts got their only touchdown early in the fourth quarter, scoring from four yards out to climax a 56-yard drive. Harvey Pinkerton broke up a pass attempt for the two extra points.

Snyder B had 164 yards rushing, compared to 148 for San Angelo, and 69 yards passing compared to 27 for the hosts. Cooper passed four times, completing two. San Angelo led in first downs, 16-12.

Two regular Snyder B backs missed the game on account of injuries. Bill Branson and Bobby Thompson were out of action. Shields suffered a broken rib in the game and will be out of action this week.

Snyder B will meet Sweetwater B in Snyder Thursday night.

Top-Ranked Schoolboy Teams Win

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Texas schoolboy football rankings were due a much milder shakeup today than a week ago when wholesale revamping was in order in all four classifications.

All four top-ranked teams in the Dallas Morning News poll—Amarillo Tascosa, Perryton, Iowa Park and Poth—will put their titles on the line again this week after surviving last Friday's round unbeaten.

Amarillo Tascosa, the Class AAAA leader, hosts Amarillo High on Saturday. In Friday games, Class AAA's No. 1 team, Perryton, tests Amarillo Caprock, Iowa Park, the top-rated Class AA team, travels to Wellington and Class A king Poth, hosts Sam Houston B.

In last weekend's games, Tascosa whipped Dumas 18-10; Perryton downed Class AAAA's Pampa 33-14; Iowa Park defeated Wichita Falls Hirschi, the No. 7 AAA team, 16-15; and Poth outmanned Judson 58-0.

Pasadena, 26-20 loser to Port Arthur Thomas Jefferson, was the only ranked AAAA team to fall. Pasadena was tied for 10th with Houston Sam Houston.

Sixth ranked Waco Moore joined Wichita Falls Hirschi in the losers' bracket in Class AAA.

Brady, Bellville and Fort Worth Kirkpatrick, the eighth, ninth, and 10th, ranked Class AA teams, were all defeated.

Third-ranked Dilley fifth ranked Sonora, eighth-ranked Clifton and 10th-ranked Spur were defeated in the Class A listing.

Netters Fall To Cooper

Snyder High School tennis teams fell victim to Abilene Cooper in matches in Towle Park Saturday morning, with Cooper boys winning over the Snyder lads 7 matches to 6. The Snyder girls were losers 12 matches to 2.

Snyder girls winning their matches were Linda Miller and Carolyn Tyree, both in singles matches.

The winning Snyder boys were Max Falls, two singles and one doubles match; Ronnie Maddux, one singles and one doubles; and Tom Boren, winning one singles match.

The Snyder team will match their skill against Big Spring teams at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday in Towle Memorial Park.

Namath's Aerials Score Six-Pointers Both Ways

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Most professional quarterbacks, when they've passed for four touchdowns and 280 yards, figure they've had a pretty good day.

But don't talk to Joe Namath about it.

The New York Jets' signal-caller also had five intercepted, with three of them run back 198 yards for touchdowns in the Jets' 37-35 upset defeat by Buffalo Sunday.

It was New York's first loss, dropping the Jets into a share of first place in the American Football League's Eastern Division with Boston, and the first victory in four starts for Buffalo.

"Those interceptions murdered us," Namath said. "I'm the one to blame for 'em. This dumb guy sitting here. I just wasn't reacting properly."

In other AFL games Sunday, San Diego and Oakland remained tied at the top of the Western Division with 3-0 marks, San Diego beating Cincinnati 31-10 and Oakland taking Houston 24-15, while Boston edged Denver 20-17. Kansas City trampled Miami 48-3, Saturday night.

In the National Football League, Baltimore blasted Pittsburgh 41-7, Detroit upset Green Bay 23-17, San Francisco beat Atlanta 28-13, Chicago took Minnesota 27-17, Dallas romped over Philadelphia 45-13, Los Angeles defeated Cleveland 24-6, St. Louis held off New Orleans 21-20 and New York whipped Washington 48-21.

Tom Janik made the longest run with the steal of a Namath pass, 100 yards in the second period. But Joe came back for a 55-yard touchdown toss to Don Maynard to give the Jets a 21-20 halftime margin.

Bruce Alford kicked a field goal, shortly after the half for a 23-21 Buffalo lead, and the Bills put it out of reach with Butch Byrd returning an interception 53 yards and Booker Edgerson another 45 yards for fourth period touchdowns and a 37-21 lead. New York made it close only on Namath's third touchdown pass to Sauer in the closing seconds.

Bob Scarpitto's league record 87-yard punt, which the Patriots recovered on the one when Denver fumbled it, helped Boston regain a share of the top spot in the East. Larry Garron rammed over for the touchdown that broke a 10-10 tie with Denver and Gino Cappelletti's fourth period field goal clinched it.

John Hadl passed for two touchdowns and scored two on runs of one and two yards in San Diego's easy triumph over Cincinnati. Both of Hadl's scoring passes went to Gary Garrison, the plays covering 10 and 19 yards.

Oakland remained unbeaten with second half touchdown drives of 80 and 75 yards against Houston. Daryle Lamonica climaxed both drives with touchdown passes of nine yards to Warren Wells and Billy Cannon.

Kansas City scored the first four times it got the ball and Len Dawson threw three touchdown passes in the rout of Miami.

Boeing Rolls Out Superjet

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the day that the Boeing Company rolls out its superjet, the incredibly large 747 that can carry up to 490 passengers at 625 miles an hour for 6,000 miles.

Everything about this plane is so large that it seems to belong to the future than the present. But there is always a sense of awe about the vehicles of air and space that doesn't apply to those of land and water.

Ten years ago Americans were fascinated by the first American commercial jet airliner. It was bigger and heavier than anything lofted into the sky before. It was 152 feet long, weighed 328,000 pounds and carried 111 passengers.

Most reports about that 1958 event convey a feeling of awe. Never would the writers have believed that in one decade technology would make their reports sound embarrasingly unsophisticated.

The present jumbo, a term the Boeing engineers dislike, makes the 1958 plane seem like something from the distant past. It is 231 feet long, weighs 710,000 pounds and carries four times as many passengers.

Almost everyone who has seen it finds it difficult to believe. Some financiers went through the plant the other day and were excited as kids. Photographers who have tried to encircle the plane with their lens have been frustrated. Writers have been unable to convey their feelings.

Just as well for the writers, perhaps, for even bigger and swifter products will be coming out of the hangar-factories in the next few decades. It seems inevitable, for the know how and momentum are there.

Already Boeing is working on designs for a supersonic plane and, although the company is well behind schedule and some of the original theories might have to be dropped, the craft is almost certain to be flying in the 1970s.

Until it can, however, the 747 maybe the plane that makes Boeing rich, returns airlines to a high level of profitability and even cuts down congestion around airports. That is what the Boeing people are hoping for.

At least one of the airlines that put in an early order for the new $20 million jet also said it would cut fares. Nobody has heard much about that suggestion of late, however, and rising costs might ruin the prospect.

To fulfill its own forecasts, Boeing has already invested $500 million in design and development, $200 million to build and equip a 44-acre building, and $50 million to bring in rail lines and water and other necessities.

The plane will be assembled at Everett, 30 miles north of Seattle, but the impact will be felt in every state. Primary suppliers of 133,000 Boening-designed parts and materials number 1,500. And "second tier subcontractors" number 15,000.

Somehow all this will be coordinated and connected and inspected in the plane. Boeing is certain the job can be done. So are the airlines. Twenty-six of them have announced orders for 158 planes.

By 1972 Boeing expects to have produced and sold 400 airliners and to be building them at the rate of one every 2½ days. Sales by 1978 are expected to total between 600 and 900.

Confidence doesn't put a plane in the air, however, and the 747 hasn't been one inch off the ground under its own power. It will rise, the engineers say. It has to. A $750-million investment and the laws of physics dictate that it must.

Certain as they are, the Boeing engineers still face ground tests, flight tests and approval by the government before deliveries can begin late in 1969.

Present guesses are that the first flight will be in December, preferably on the 17th. "These engineers are very sentimental," said a Boeing man. "That date means a lot to them."

It was on that date in 1903 that Kitty Hawk, N.C., that Orville Wright took the contorls of a little kite-like craft, and with his brother Wilbur running alongside to steady the wing, rose into the air and flew for 12 seconds. It was an awesome event.

Junior Editors Quiz on ERASERS

QUESTION: Who invented the rubber eraser?

* * *

ANSWER: No one invented the wonderful, natural material rubber; it comes from certain trees growing in tropical countries. As early explorers came to America from Europe, they found Central and South American Indians playing with bouncing balls. Some of these were brought to Europe and, in 1770, the English chemist Joseph Priestly made the discovery that these balls would lift off or erase marks made by lead pencils. Graphite, used in pencils, adheres to the rubber and is carried away by it. Since one had to rub to get the marks out, the material in the balls came to be called rubber. Later, other substances were added to make even better erasers. Our lower picture shows some modern ones. Hard erasers are apt to smear the graphite on to the paper; many artists like the material called art gum because it crumbles and can be brushed off. Our Junior Editor artist rubs out his first pencil sketches with kneaded eraser before inking, then uses art gum, which doesn't lighten the ink lines. Ink erasers work because they contain powdered pumice which actually removes some of the paper surface.

Bulletins From Boyle's Mailbag

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Drinking coffee is no longer regarded as a birth control help, but when the brew was first introduced to Europe in the 16th century it was feared that coffee made women barren and frigid. In Constantinople, a law was passed enabling husbands to forbid wifely u se of the beverage.

Like to be comfy in bed? The prototype of a "dream bed" was recently displayed in Tokyo that was equipped with such cozy gadgets as a liquor cabinet, tape recorder, television screen and stereo set. Surely a bargain at only—$14,000.

Did you think the Sahara was the world's largest desert? No, the Antarctic continent is, notes the National Geographic Society. Its vast frozen wastes get only six inches of snow a year, equal to about half an inch of rain. This is less moisture than falls on Death Valley in California.

Health tips: Unrelieved tension and stress contribute to heart attacks and age you sooner, says Dr. Hans Selye. Experimenting with rats, he found that a simple program of cold baths and regular exercise helped build their resistance against heart attacks.

Highway safety slogan: "The faster you go, the faster YOU go."

Urban woes: Those who flee the country for the city may face a future of disillusion. U.S. census surveys indicate that in the next five years the decaying cores of our major cities will increase three million in population but suffer a reduction of up to 66 per cent in available jobs.

Wool from Timber: Sheep have thrived on a diet consisting of 30 per cent cellulose fibers made by steam-heating hard and soft woods in tests conducted at the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. So far none of the sheep has grown a leaf.

Worth remembering: "One of the queerest things about modern life is the number of people who are spending money they haven't got for things they don't want, to impress people they can't stand the sight of."—Catholic Digest.

Have you a cricket on your hearth yet? These cheerful insects, long popular in the Orient, are now in vogue as pets among American youngsters. They sometimes make better burglar alarms than watchdogs do. In Hong Kong gamblers bet on cricket fights, and a bull cricket with a good left-footed jab sells for more than $100.

It was James Thurber who observed, "It is better to have loafed and lost than never to have loafed at all."

Things Will Never Be Same For Women Of Vietnam

EDITORS NOTE — The women of North Vietnam have lived through decades of war. How has war affected traditions, homelife, romance? And what has happened to the dark, delicate beauty for which Vietnamese women are famous? Journalist Gemma Cruz Araneta of the Philippines, herself an Asian beauty who won the title of Miss International Beauty at Long Beach, Calif., in 1965, has recently returned to Manila from a trip with her publisher-husband to North Vietnam. She reports here on the women in war.

By GEMMA CRUZ ARANETA
Written for The Associated Press

MANILA (AP) — The old Vietnamese saying that a woman is "like a drop of rain, no one knows whether it will fall into a palace or the mud of the rice fields" is meaningless nowadays in North Vietnam.

The war has changed all that. Things will never be the same.

Gone is the woman that trailed helplessly behind her husband through life; who stayed out of important discussions; who left decisions to men.

Women have surged into the front lines of North Vietnam's defense, education, government have shattered centuries-old traditions.

Yet despite the new-found responsibilities, the North Vietnamese woman has kept her delicate beauty and grace and her feminine behavior.

Even in drab army fatigues, helmets, coarse rubber sandals or shapeless factory smocks her abundant feminity shines through.

During three weeks that my husband and I toured a half dozen cities and towns of North Vietnam—the American bombing already had been cut back and we could move rather freely, with government guides, of course—we learned quickly that a prime mover in the rise of womanhood, for teenagers, matrons and grandmothers alike, was the Three Responsibilites Movement. Women often talked about it:

"1. To guarantee production and take over the tasks of men so they can fight; 2. to guarantee work and income for the family and to encourage sons and husbands to leave for the front; 3 to ensure the task of supporting the war efforts and when necessary to engage in actual combat."

The head of the Women's Association, Madame Ly Huan, told us the movement "has encouraged women to step forward and bear new responsibilities.

The movement was launched by the Women's Association in April of 1965, and leaders say more than 2.5 million women volunteered for the association in the first two months. That's roughly 25 percent of the country's females of all ages.

While driving from Hanoi to Thanh Hoa province my husband and I passed dozens of reconstruction teams of young girls filling bomb craters.

Near the Ham Rong Bridge, we interviewed the leader of a reconstruction team. She was 18 and wore a brown army uniform, a towel on her head and a wide brimmed straw hat. But when we started taking pictures she, like women everywhere, tugged at the towel and quickly removed it, smoothed down her hair and carefully replaced her hat. She wore gold hoop earrings.

Some times when I would try to dig out information about feminine things the response would be starkly unromantic.

"What do you look for in a man?", I asked Madame Le Huong.

"First of all," she said, seriously, "He must have progressive ideas, those that are compatible with our Socialist regime. He must also be active in production and must take an active part in building our society. He must be willing to sacrifice for the fatherland."

Then, smiling coyly like a school girl, she added, "He must, of course, be nice-looking."

At last, a down-to-earth characteristic.

One could have expected that response about love from Madame Le Huong because she was already over 40 and quite official. But when I asked a young, unmarried girl, I got the same unromantic answer.

"I have no sweetheart yet but I do have ideals. He must be progressive and must be ready to sacrifice for the fatherland," declared Nguyen Thi Hanh, a beautiful, 24-year-old commander of a militia unit.

Almost everywhere, I found ironies curious about my appearance. Sometimes, they gathered enough courage to ask in broken English or French, "where are you from?"

"From the Philippines." They were amazed an Asian could be so tall. I am 5 feet-10.

The men do not seem upset or worried by the accomplishments of their women. Prime Minister Pham Van Dong told us in an interview that the women were "La plus belle expression de la revolution (The most beautiful expression of the Revolution)."

At a farewell dinner given us, Ngo Dien, Head of the Foreign Ministry press, introduced Luu Quy Ky as the president of "The Vietnamese Journalists" and "The Association of Men Who Are Not Afraid of Their Wives."

"Do you know how he was elected president?" Dien asked. "There was a gathering and all the husbands who were not afraid of their wives were asked to stand in a line. Everyone stood up because their wives had not yet arrived. But when the women came, all the husbans ran away except Mr. Ky."

"So, you are not afraid of your wife," I said.

"Oh, but I am. I just did not want her to know."

Who Is Willing To Claim America's Orphaned Acres?

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

RED ROCK CANYON, Nev. (AP) — There is a strangely orphaned land in America, empty, the leftover after the best has been taken. It is the land almost nobody wants.

In a nation where cities press people together and each square foot is dear, it is the last vast vacant lot. Desert and mountain, canyon and bluff, sage brush and pinon pine—it is huge.

Its grand expanses and small weed-filled lots stretch from Florida to Alaska across 26 states. In the connected 48 states, it totals an area larger than California, Oregon and Washington combined. Counting Alska, it amounts to one-fifth of the United States.

It is neither Indian reservation, National Forest, National Monument nor National Park. Yet it is public land. For nearly 150 years it has been there for the taking, and nobody took it.

It is just too dry, too rugged, too wild or too remote. Ruled by disappintment, these brutal acres break the men who seek to tame them.

But now land-hungry eyes turn to these lands, mostly in 10 western states. Some want the lands for expansion, some for taxes. Some see them preserved forever as natural wilderness and watershed. Some seek gold in the hills and oil in the strata. Some want them only as open range for cattle and sheep. Some covet them for speculation. Some dream of the land reborn with the miracle of water.

Technically these vast acres are "unappropriated land"—those acres remaining from the original public domain, which was everthing except the original 13 states.

The land is held by the Department of Interior's Bureau of Land management, now trying to catalog the uses of these immense holdings. More than 3,900 laws, many of them on the books for a century, govern these lands. The laws are anachronistic, contradictory and complex, wormed through with loopholes. Only in the last few years have Americans begun to build a philosophy to guide the future of these approximately 452 million final acres, which represent about 60 per cent of all federally owned lands. Other federally-owned lands include national forests, wildlife refuges military bases, national parks.

Here, at the base of the Red Rock escapment, is a piece of this orphaned land. The eastern sun glints off the devil's crimson of its cliffs and pokes into the canyons. Indian petroglyphs on the wall of a cave portray a primitive stick man, arms and legs akimbo. Ten miles away, modern stickmen clear the losers' bets from the crap tables of Las Vegas.

At the foot of the mountain is the tumbled ruin of a homesteader's tentative home, a crumpled dream in native stone. Nearby, a small forgetful trickle of water emerges from a cave and blinks in the sunlight. It twists and wastes itself in a thin wet trail through rock to sand, a puny giver of life with fragments of green clinging to its skirts. In a dry and, this is a precious year-around spring.

Ignored for years, this canyon was visited by only a few campers escaping the clatter of coins in the neon-lit valley below. The Bureau recognized its potential as a camping and picknicking area. But then the Girl Scouts of Las Vegas filed for a key part of it as a premanent campsite of its own: Thus began an awesome contest: The sus the United States of Ameri- Girl Scouts of Las Vegas verca.

The bureau kept putting off the claim, and in public print found itself in the worst mismatch since Gretel popped the old witch in the oven. But the bureau stuck to its point, compromised at length and gave the Girl Scouts another tract considered separate but equal. Now, with limited funds, the Red Canyon site is being developed into a general recreation area. Ludicrous though the dispute was, it phrased a basic question about public lands: federal ownership for general use, or ownership and use by special interests?

But let's not quibble over small parcels. The public domain lands stretch far away. They include for instance 77 per cent of Alaska, 68 per cent of Nevada, 43 per cent of Utah, 28 per cent of Wyoming, 25 per cent of Oregon, 23 per cent of Idaho.

Gov. John Love of Colorado, where public lands total only 13 per cent of the state and all federal lands total 36 per cent, decries what he calls the federal fiefdom. The land isn't taxable, isn't salable, isn't really Colorado.

In all, the federal government holds 87 per cent of Nevada, a state of endless, isolated, mountain-rimmed basins, high desert, low rainfall and three wilderness counties where the total population of some 2,000 is greatly outnumbered by the cattle.

Sixty miles northwest of Elko, Stanley Ellison's Spanish Ranch sprawls in the dull green of late summer across the brown streams and pools of Independence Valley, a welcome and lush interruption in the hot brown hills.

Ellison runs the ranch from the cluster of buildings that center on his solid white home and the annex that house his office.

This has been a dry year, he complains, and as usual an expensive one, pointing to the new mowing machine in the next field.

Forage is in short supply. He seems out of place in his air-conditioned, walnut-paneled office, behind his simple, modern desk where he totes up the economics of his 135,000 acr ranch, his 9,000 sheep, his 10,000 cattle, his perhaps 100 hired hands including a dozen shepherds imported from the Basque conutry of Spain, the last place where reliable shepherds are born and not made.

His telephone bill ran $8,148.61 in fiscal 1967, mostly long distance charges tracking his herds over three states. Often the telephone is no help, and he is frequently out in the field. He sends 300 calves north to Idaho where a farmer has a forage surplus, or he checks the shepherds as they move the sheep on a spring to winter circuit from the high forest across Nevada to the southwestern desert, a trek of some 300 miles by foot and hoff.

The land is not his. It takes an estimated one million acres of public lands to graze his herds. On the average it takes 15 acres of sparse grass to satisfy the appetite of one cow one month. Some of it is so bad it takes 40 acres per cow per month. He pays the federal government for each cow-month a price based on the cattle market. It is running about 33 cents a head now, a third of which is put back into the land to improve the range.

Ellison is only one of some 27,000 ranches who use the federal lands for grazing.

Many ranching families have used the open range for generations. Some tend to look at it as their own. For a time it almost was. In the early days ranchers sent their cowboys out to stake claims on all the water points. Controlling the water, they controlled the range.

The federal government organized the use of the range with the Taylor Grazing Act of 1934, setting up districts with the authority to lease or grant permits for grazing. Just as the open range was an enhancement to the value of the old ranches, so now the leases and permits enhance the value of the present day ranches, even figure in the selling price.

Not all ranching on federal lands is profitable. In the south west, the land is stingy, yielding mesquite and small patches of indian wheat amid the cactus. But ranchers graze cattle on these lands too.

But there are other ways to get rich on federal lands besides ranching. The real promise is oil.

The United States retains those lands with known oil-bearing structures. Oil companies pay handsome royalties to drill and pump them. But there are other lands that hold promise, and the chances are distributed in a drawing system that amounts to a lottery.

This is the way the drawing works. Once a month, the federal government publishes lists of land parcels available for gas and oil exploration. Any citizen, 21 and over, can file. He is allowed one application per parcel, for as many parcels as he wants to or can afford. The only practical limitation is that he may not hold leases on more than 246,080 acres in any one state. He must pay a $10 filing fee and put up cash to cover the first year's rent at a standard price of 50 cents an acre. The federal government publishes names of winners.

A winner may drill for oil himself, or he may sell the lease to another party. Since on exploration is chancey and expensive, most of those who win valusable plots choose to sell. The profit may be small, or it may range to more than $100,000. The federal government can't lose. It retains a 12½ per cent royalty on all oil and gas discovered.

Humphrey Headquarters In Austin

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Citizens for Humphrey-Muskie open today a state headquarters for the organization here.

Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., arrived in Austin Sunday to attend the meeting.

"The statewide campaign was discussed and a state organizational headquarters formed for the Texas Citizen for Humphrey-Muskie and its part in the overall effort to carry Texas for the Democratic party ticket in November," Yarborough said.

Planning the campaign during Monday's session in Austin were members and Democratic party leaders from all parts of the state.

"We invited all members of the statewide Citizens for Humphrey-Muskie executive committee to attend the organizational meeting or to send representatives," Yarborough said.

"Also we invited others who are concerned about forming a Humphrey-Muskie organization in their county to come to the Capitol City Monday and join with us in a real drive to carry Texas for the Democratic ticket," the senator continued.

Yarborough planned to return to Washington Monday night for the vote Tuesday in the Senate on the nomination of Justice Abe Fortas as Chief Justice of the United States and other legislative actions.

Paul Eggers At Bryan

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — Campaigning here Sunday, the GOP gubernatorial candidate Paul Eggers, said Texans could not afford to put his Democratic opponent, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith in the driver's seat as governor.

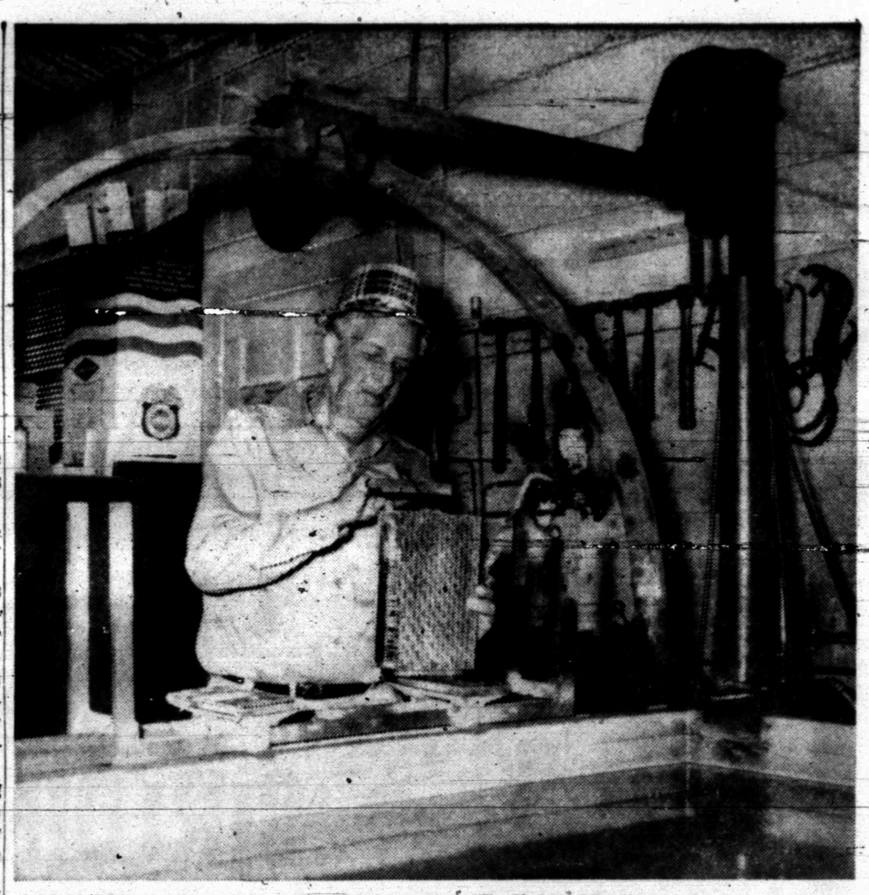

"A bill which would have authorized breath tests of drivers suspected of drunk driving failed to pass in the special legislative session in June," Eggers said.

A report issued last week by the State Board of Insurance involving drinking drivers "points up another of my opponent's failures to solve a serious problem," the Republican candidate continued at a barbecue in the city's American Legion Hall.

Eggers said the report revealed that drinking drivers are a major cause of automobile deaths.

"The approach Mr. Smith ignored in the Senate would have gone a long way toward taking guess-work out of DWI cases," Eggers said.

"The House passed the bill... but Preston Smith failed to get it passed in the Senate. In this and many other major problem areas, Preston Smith has already failed the test of leadership," said Eggers.

RADIATOR MAN — Frank Stephenson, the "Radiator Man," works on a heater core at his new tank at Snyder Radiator Service, 1105 Avenue T. Frank earned his nickname, "the Radiator Man," by working on all types of radiators, including heavy industrial and commercial.

It's Time To Prepare For Winter, Says Radiator Man

Frank D. Stephenson, the "radiator man," specializes in all types of radiator repair at Snyder Radiator Service, 1105 Avenue T. His company is the oldest continuously operated radiator business in Scurry County.

Frank knows what he's talking about when he says now is a good time to have your radiator checked before cold weather sets in.

Many car and truck radiators which apparently give no trouble during the summer, reveal a leak or start heating up when anti-freeze is put in for the first time each winter.

A small leak or clogged radiator and cooling system usually doesn't cause much trouble during summer months, because water can be added to keep the level up, but in the winter when anti-freeze is lost serious damage can result to your car, Stephenson pointed out.

He suggests that if your car is several months old or a few years old to have the cooling system checked before the first cold spell and the annual "last minute rush" begins.

Only a few minutes are required to check the system and any repairs usually can be done in a few hours while the shop is not too busy.

Stephenson carries over 65 different makes and models of radiators to replace ones that are beyond rapair. All kinds of radiators are repaired at Snyder Radiator Service, including industrial radiators for oil field equipment, farm equipment and all types of automobiles.

Replacement cores also are carried in stock, and steel overflow tubes may be replaced by copper tubes for better all around performance.

The cooling system of any car, truck, tractor or industrial engine is one of its most important parts. Why not give it the best possible care — at Snyder Radiator Service. Just dial 573-2131 and Frank Stephenson, the "radiator man," will be glad to give you satisfaction.
