DAVID BAUMGARDNER AND THE GRAND CHAMPION

Three Council Members to Be Elected April 3

Wellington voters will name three members of the City Council in the election to be held Saturday, April 3. This election was called by the council in its regular meeting Monday night, January 19.

Members whose terms expire are Earl Lynn Bartlett, Bob Goforth and Wayne Cudd. None has been announced for re-election. All three are serving first terms.

Holdover members are Tom Wilkins and Gus Barton, and Mayor Bill Hatch is not up for re-election this year.

Candidates have until Wednesday, March 3, thirty days before the election, to file for a place on the ballot.

Mayor Hatch appointed Miss Bessie Rainer as election judge and Mrs. Cicero Gulley and Mrs. Sam Adams as clerks.

Historical Group Reviews 1975 Work

The Collingsworth County Historical Commission met Sunday, January 18, at the Clyde Drake home to review the past year's work and discuss the program of work for 1976.

Work accomplished during 1975 included placing of two new official historical markers in the county;

The dedication recently of one for the O'Neil Building, the first brick building on the Wellington square.

Moving the Rocking Chair Ranch marker to its permanent site at Pioneer Park.

Development at the Collingsworth County Historical Museum which this group sponsors, and which include improved facilities for the storage of manuscripts, the photo collection and the microfilm viewer, as well as improved exhibit cases.

Discussion of the program of work for 1976 followed.

Immediately, the group voted to again sponsor the presentation of the historical play, "Man & Land &

Baumgardner Calf Wins County Livestock Show

"This is probably as good a country string (of steers) as you will see," Ronny Gooch, judge of the Collingsworth County Livestock Show, told the boys and their friends as he prepared to name the grand champion Saturday, January 17.

That coveted trophy went to David Baumgardner for his handsome and docile heavy weight Charolais-Hereford cross. Moments earlier it had placed first in its class.

The reserve champion was a Hereford, exhibited by Stan Tate. This calf was second in the heavy weight class.

Fifteen calves were exhibited and were divided evenly into the three weight divisions.

County Agent Don Reeves had praise for the boys and their animals.

"I think we have a winner for some of the big shows in this group," he declared, calling it the best over-all group of calves he has seen in a show since he came here in 1967.

Lindsey Seeks Sheriff's Office

Bill Lindsey has authorized The Wellington Leader to announce his candidacy for Sheriff of Collingsworth County, subject to action of the Democratic Primary. Mr. Lindsey said:

I am 30 years old and was raised in Collingsworth County. I graduated from Quail High School in 1963 and am presently engaged in farming and ranching.

I have had a little more than three years experience in law enforcement work, having served with the Childress County Sheriff's Department, the Memphis Police Department and Midland Police Department. I feel this experience will enable me to carry out the duties of this office capably and fairly.

If I am elected your sheriff, I will strive to make this an efficient, hard-working department.

Any questions or citizen suggestions will be welcome, and I hope you will feel free to call or see me. In the weeks ahead, I will try to see each of you, but if I miss anyone, I take this means of asking for your support and vote.

Voting Certificate Deadline Jan. 31

Saturday, January 31, is the final date to secure voter registration certificates in Texas, Frances Williams, tax assessor-collector, reminded this week.

Applications for voter registration certificates have been mailed to all registered voters in Collingsworth County. These should be brought to the office, where they will be checked to determine if they are filled in correctly, and the certificate will then be issued, Mrs. Williams explained.

"If anyone would like to come in the office, we will help them fill out the applications," she added.

The new voting certificate applications must include certain new information: social security number, birthday of the applicant, where born, and the maiden name of each woman applicant.

"The kids are becoming more proficient in knowing what to do all year to make their calves better at this time of year. We have young kids who are already veterans. The learning process in this is just like sports, or anything else."

Calves in the heavy division, in addition to the two champions, were third, Lynn Tate; fourth and fifth, Kirk Patterson.

Middle weight division: first, Mark Fourmentin; second and third, Harold Scott; and fourth and fifth, Mark Fountentin.

Weekly Rehearsals Begin For "I Love America"

Rehearsals for "I Love America," this county's bicentennial musical presentation, will be on a once-a-week basis beginning February 1. This will be the schedule until the three night presentation, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, March 18, 20 and 21. First Baptist Church and Wellington High School Auditorium will be the setting for the musical.

Benny Kilgo, director, said 82 Collingsworth County singers and narrators will participate, reflecting the highlights of the nation's history.

"Each of the songs salute America as a country of which all Americans can be proud," said Mr. Kilgo. With the lyrics of well-known patriotic songs as "God of Our Fathers," and Mike Smith and Tony Stephens, representing the Wellington Softball League, met with the City Council Monday night, January 22, to discuss a new stadium or other seating arrangements and new lights at Marian Airpark ball field for the summer playing season.

"If you show interest, we'll do the legwork," Smith told the council. The two said they were aware of mounting costs but added that members of the league would contribute work, just as they did on improvements made for the 1974 season. Smith also expressed fear of an accident at some time when the stands are loaded to capacity.

"I think if we can improve our facilities it (softball) will be an ongoing operation," Smith said.

The skyrocketing interest in slow pitch soft ball reached Wellington last year, and during tournament play here, games were scheduled throughout the night. The league proposes to use the money it made last year, $900, in the improvement work.

The field could be used for women's teams, and it is used regularly by Little League teams, it was pointed out.

Councilman Gus Barton, who played at the ball field when it was new, said the grandstand was put up shortly after the end of World War II, between 1945 and 1950, making it nearly 30 years old.

Council members pointed out the amount of out-of-town business brought to Wellington by the tournaments last year.

The three most important things, Smith said, are the bleachers, new lights, and rest rooms. City manager Tiny Taylor said rest rooms at the swimming pool could be made available with some structural changes so the concession stands could not be reached from the rest rooms. There has been vandalism from this source in the past, he said.

The city manager and the softball league representatives will investigate several feasible seating and lighting arrangements and these will be discussed by the two groups at the next council meeting Monday, February 2.

Present were Mayor Bill Hatch; Council Members Wayne Cudd, Bob Goforth, Tom Wilkins, Gus Barton and Earl Lynn Bartlett; City Manager Taylor; Mr. Smith and Mr. Stephens.

BEATRICE ARCHIE

Woman Charged in Shooting Death Sun.

Beatrice Archie, 29-year-old Wellington woman, was arraigned Monday morning, January 19, on a murder charge growing out of the shooting death of her former husband, Tol. R. Kilgore, Jr., which occurred Sunday night.

Bond was set at $10,000 by Mrs. Beatrice McKinney, Justice of the Peace, and Mrs. Archie remains in Collingsworth County Jail, according to Sheriff John Rainey.

The sheriff gave this account of the shooting, which occurred outside a cafe in Northeast Wellington, in the old Booker T. Washington School:

Kilgore and Mrs. Archie were inside the cafe about 10:30 p.m. and "everything was smooth," the sheriff said. "He asked her to come outside, he wanted to talk to her," according to Mr. Rainey, and the two left together. There was no argument inside, those present told officers.

Kilgore, 53, was shot near the corner of one eye with a .22 calibre handgun, although officers were still hunting the murder weapon on Monday, the sheriff said. He lived a short time after being taken to Collingsworth General Hospital.

The couple was divorced in late 1975, according to the sheriff. Kilgore was a year-around employee of Farmers Co-op Gin.

Funeral services for Tol

Mrs. B.M. Sims, who wrote the play in 1971, is making some changes and will include some county events that have come to light since the original presentation.

Mrs. Bob McAlister is directing the play and has many new approaches.

"So...even though you may have seen the play when it was given in 1971 or 1972, you will enjoy this fresh new approach," said Mrs. Clyde Drake of the Collingsworth County Historical Commission, who is working with the

Other youths exhibiting steers include:

Farm Exports Boost U.S. Business Activity

COLLEGE STATION--Two dollars for one! That's what happens when agricultural products are exported.

"In addition to being the main contributor to the United States' trade balance, agricultural exports spawn added business activity in the country," points out Dr. Russell McDonald, a marketing economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Agricultural products at the port of shipment were worth $22 billion last year and generated an additional $21 billion worth of business in the U.S. in the form of

New Book Printed on Early Texas Furniture

"Texas Furniture: The Cabinetmakers and Their Work, 1840-1880" includes representative examples of chests, chairs, safes, tables and desks, as well as descriptions of the tools and types of wood used by the cabinetmakers.

The book was conceived by the late Miss Ima Hogg. Its co-authors are Lonn Taylor, director of UT's Winedale Museum near Round Top, and David B. Warren, associate director of Houston's Museum of Fine Arts.

goods and services needed to produce these exports. This means that for every dollar's worth of agricultural exports, almost another dollar was generated in other areas of the economy," notes the Texas A&M University System economist.

The $21 billion spinoff included $6 billion in the farm sector, $2 billion in food processing, $5 billion in other manufacturing services, $2 billion for trade and transportation, and $6 billion for various other services.

According to U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates, about 70 per cent, or $15 billion, accrued to nonfarm segments of the economy.

Nursery Grower Industry Booms

COLLEGE STATION--The nursery grower industry is booming across Texas.

Nursery sales in Texas are estimated at more than $55 million for 1973 by Dr. H.B. Sorensen, an agricultural economist for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

The research economist has studied the types of businesses, sales volumes and production of nursery industries in Texas.

Sorensen identifies three groups in the nursery industry--nursery growers, nursery dealers and florists.

"Nursery growers produce over 50 per cent of the plants they sell and sell over 60 per cent of all plants wholesale.

"Most growers sell to other nurseries, garden centers and landscape architecture firms," says the economist.

Forty-five per cent of all sales are made within a radius of 50 miles. Thirty-one per cent are made over a 200-mile radius.

"Of the 455 nursery growers listed in the 1972 Texas Floral and Nursery Directory, 73 per cent are individual proprietors. Partnership and corporation forms of operations are about equally prevalent after individual proprietors," notes Sorensen.

According to the report, the average individual proprietor does about $81,000 worth of business per year while the average corporation's yearly business volume is about $470,000.

In addition to the nursery growers, there are also almost 5,000 licensed nursery dealers in Texas.

May we express our deepest gratitude for the many kindnesses shown us at the death of our loved one. Especially do we thank Thomas Nursing Center Staff, Dr. Jones, Dr. Holcomb, and all who sent food or flowers, or who offered prayers in our behalf.

The family of C.R. Barnett

The economist says there has been an overall increase in business among nursery firms.

"In the three years since 1971, 71 per cent of the firms reported a difference in business volume. Eighty-five per cent of these reported an increase in business and 15 per cent reported a decrease. Almost 60 per cent said they expected an increase in business in the next three years."

Sorensen says the most common type of plants grown in Texas nurseries are deciduous shrubs, which make up about 35 per cent of all plants grown.

Ft. Worth Street Church of Christ Plans Filmstrips

Starting February 4, at 7:30 p.m., the Fort Worth St. church of Christ will hold a special presentation of four color filmstrips on "How We Got the Bible".

This will be shown for four consecutive Wednesday nights at 7:30, according to Lynn Wolf, evangelist.

Part I is entitled "The Bible Comes into Being". This film tells of the making of ancient books and how the Bible was originally put into writing.

Part II is called "The Manuscripts of the Bible". The purpose of this film is to learn about the manuscripts of the Bible and how they were copied; to see in this way how the message of the Bible has been accurately preserved through the centuries.

Part III, "The Translations of the Bible," helps people learn something of the early translations and especially of the translations of the Bible that were made in English down to the time of the King James Version.

The last film, Part IV, "The Bible and Recent Discoveries", shows that the Bible test, though illumined by recent discoveries and published in various translations remains essentially unchanged through the centuries.

This filmstrip series has been produced especially for the following purposes:

--To relate and to make real the history of how the Bible has come down to our times.

--To simplify, with the aid of authentic photographs and reproductions, a subject that otherwise might prove to be difficult.

--To show that much factual knowledge exists on this subject and contributes to the assurance that the Bible has been well preserved and accurately transmitted through the centuries.

Anyone having questions about the films is asked to call Mr. Wolf.

Mrs. Jim Henegar of Pasadena, California is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson this week.

There has been an increase in land sales in the two counties recently, Mr. Bratton said. He attributes this in part to the pick-up in the economy. Most of the buyers are people who are already well established financially and who have some available cash.

Mr. Bratton, whose home town is Brady, came to Shamrock October 1, after a year and a half at Ballinger, where he represented the Federal Land Bank Association of San Angelo for a year and a half.

A 1973 graduate of Texas A&M University, he joined the Federal Land Bank at Edna. Bratton was chairman of the youth committee of Ballinger Lions Club, a Boy Scout adult leader, and has worked with 4-H and FFA boys.

Interlibrary Loan Books Available

A new look for 1976 has been given to a popular area library service, Interlibrary Loan, by the Texas State Library.

Attempting to speed up the service with a goal of providing access for all citizens to materials and information to all Texas public libraries, State Library has streamlined procedures and added personnel. Public libraries in the Panhandle can now call collect to the Amarillo library with any request they are unable to fill. If the Amarillo library is also unable to fill it, the request is forwarded via teletype to other libraries in the Texas network. From anywhere in the Panhandle a book may be borrowed from such libraries as Fort Worth, Dallas or Corpus Christi, as well as from cooperating university libraries such as Baylor or SMU.

In charge of Interlibrary Loan here (ILL) is Mrs. Helen Devitt, professional librarian. Her assistant is Terri Jolly. These two full-time employees replace part-time work with ILL in the local Reference Department and are paid through the State Library.

Cost of this service to the individual is nothing, except in cases where the user's local library charges postage one way. "The key to ILL is: ask your local librarian!" says Mrs. Devitt. "For any information or materials, the ILL office is ready and eager to make every effort to fill each request. Your local librarian will be glad to call the Amarillo ILL with your request, and we will take it from there."

In Amarillo or Potter County, call the ILL office directly (374-2921) when the Amarillo library is unable to fill needs.

Rev. Joel Wallace, 6008 Jameson, became acquainted with the advantages of ILL in a California seminary, when he found he could get research materials needed for work on his doctorate. Books have been traveling to him from various public libraries, and he is pleased with the speedy service.

In Hereford, a do-it-yourself home improvement project waited only one day while a call was placed to the Deaf Smith County Library. A quick phone call was made to Amarillo ILL, and "How to Lay Carpet" arrived in Hereford the next day.

The chief problem in Interlibrary Loan service, popular for many years, has always been the time required for reply. The State Library hopes to reduce the time lag dramatically and give 24-hour service if at all possible.

Her sleeves were fitted to the wrists. The hemline was encircled with two rows of lace which extended to a chapel train. Matching lace trimmed the bride's veil and formed the headpiece, which was trimmed with satin bows. She carried a cascade bouquet of pastel colored daisies and baby's breath.

Attending the bride were here sisters, Mrs. Dallas Holland of Aspermont, matron of honor, and Miss Angela Mitchell, maid of honor. Their dresses were evening length with high fitted bodices, wide scoop necklines with circular ruffles, circular short sleeves and A-line skirts. The matron of honor wore aqua blue, and the maid of honor coral. Stacey Fires, the flower girl, wore pink. Lee Souder, the groom's nephew, was ring bearer.

Jeff Hanna, twin brother of the groom, was best man and the groomsmen was Bart Patterson. George Brewer and Bill Havens ushered.

Water Development an Urgent Collingsworth County Need

One of our urgent needs in 1976, as in other years, is overall development of Collingsworth County water—our major streams and creeks, and water where it falls on our farms and ranches.

So much of it now goes downstream to power the industry in the Dallas area. It does nothing for Collingsworth.

"Overall development" must be in our plan. We have no major river on which to build a big dam, but past studies show we have sufficient water of good quality for smaller structures, for municipal and recreational use.

We have long had the Collingsworth County Water Control and Improvement District, contiguous with our county lines, but inactive for some years now. Reactivation of this entity will give us a ready-made platform from which to work.

Water development is already a big program in Texas, limited only by the imagination of those working with it.

To the east of us, Oklahoma continues to push water development plans to include the southwestern part of the state. If these are carried out, Oklahoma waters will be lapping almost to the state line.

To many, Oklahoma still signifies the Dust Bowl, but in the 40 years since then, that state has developed water like nothing else in the nation. Today, Oklahoma has more shoreline on its lakes than the entire Atlantic coastline of the United States, from Maine to Key West, Florida. Within 100 miles of Tulsa is the greatest concentration of man-made lakes in the world.

We would take nothing from the greatness Oklahoma has shown in water development. We must, in fact, let some of their enthusiasm rub off on us. Collingsworth must preserve its own water rights, develop its streams and ponds, and the water conservation programs of our fields.

We must take leadership in the development of the Southeast Panhandle, and if the need and program arises, join with other counties, forgetting these man-made boundaries, for area-wide water development.

Suckers for Rocks

Any nation that entered a national rock craze during the Christmas season just has to be looking for ways to get skinned.

In case you didn't get in on it, the Pet Rock made sales history. Pet Rocks sold out in every department store and had customers clamoring for more.

And what is a Pet Rock?

It is just that. A common, ordinary rock, the kind you can pick up in any creek bed, just plain old ordinary rocks.

That is, they are plain and ordinary to you and me. To a sharpie they become something else. Package them in a box, write some clever copy about them, and you have a sales success rivaling the Hula Hoop.

Pet Rocks are promoted as the ideal pet. They do not whine, need to be walked nor do they wet on the floor. They never need feeding and if you leave for a vacation, forget about boarding the rocks with some kennel. They will be all right until you get back.

The instructions that comes with a box of Pet Rocks tell you how to train your rock to roll over. Merely place the rock on some sort of incline, give it a nudge, and step back out of the way. When the rock rolls to the bottom of the incline, repeat the procedure.

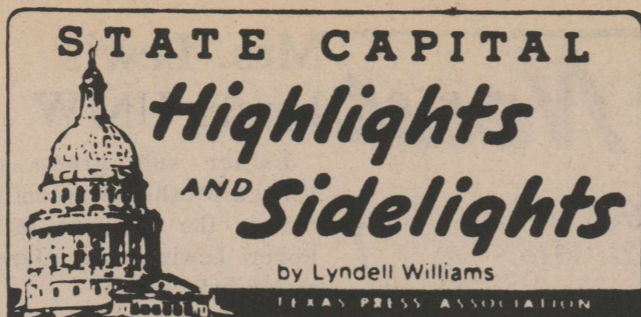

The Pet Rock is also used as a tranquilizer and pacifier, good for executives among all else. Merely take your smooth surfaced pet rock and stroke it, using one hand or two. Keep it up and you will notice that you are calming down. Works well and costs less than pills.

Rocks are rocks and some are more interesting than others. Some people collect rocks and polish them and mount them into jewelry. These people have a fancy name like lapidarist, but the owner of a Pet Rock doesn't need a fancy name.

All he needs is four bucks and the strength to carry home his Pet Rocks.

Who said P.T. Barnum was dead?

The Perryton Herald.

AUSTIN — School superintendents and board presidents have been invited to a statewide hearing here, January 26, on Atty. Gen. John Hill's recent opinion outlawing many student fees.

The State Board of Education has upheld Texas Education Commissioner M.L. Brockette's order for local districts to stop collection of the fees immediately.

Brockette on October 10 instructed districts to abide by Hill's October 1 opinion. The Hill ruling applied to such fees as those charged for workbooks, driver education and uniform rental for band members.

If it stands, the opinion will require local districts to dig up $22 million more this school year to replace the lost fees, according to a Texas Education Agency study.

State Board of Education Chairman Joe Kelly Butler named a special committee headed by E.R. Gregg of Jacksonville to study the issue.

Butler said he hopes the panel will have an interim report in time for the board's February 14 meeting.

Allowable Set

Texas Railroad Commission set the February oil allowable—for the 47th straight month—at 100 per cent. There was one exception—the East Texas field, held to 86 per cent.

Meanwhile, oilmen expressed concern the federal government may be maneuvering to take over the oil industry. They said they will outline views on proposed Federal Energy Administration rules at a meeting of the Commission next month.

February nominations by buyers totalled more than 3.9 million barrels a day, 18,123 down from January.

Economy Studied

A new Joint Advisory Committee on Government Operations will study governmental reorganization and try to come up with ideas to curtail creation of new agencies.

One proposal is to require that all legislation proposing new agencies be accompanied with an authoritative note spelling out the function and program to be performed.

Committee spokesmen also commented on lack of state control over soaring higher education expenditures.

Cutback Ordered

Texas Youth Council will reduce its community assistance grants due to Gov. Dolph Briscoe's decision to hold back $2 million in appropriated funds for the purpose.

The grants were expected to go to probationary programs. Plans were scratched for a third "halfway house" to serve youngsters returning from youth reform institutions to local communities.

Courts Speak

Texas Supreme Court held that $2.5 million worth of imported items in a warehouse at Farmers Branch are exempt from local property taxes, but it may have to reconsider. The U.S. Supreme Court, switching a 100-year-old position, said state and local governments can tax imported merchandise.

In other recent opinions, the high court concluded:

—A couple hurt in a motorcycle wreck is entitled to $106,683 from the City of Denton due to a faulty traffic signal.

—A Kroger Company appeal from a $25,700 judgement in a case where a teen-aged grocery checker was imprisoned on a theft charge should be dismissed.

—A trial court decision to throw out an insurance company's $9,000 suit against a Dallas law firm (alleging a legal mistake) is proper.

AG Opinions

Attorney General Hill found the Coordinating Board Texas College and University System cannot turn down campus construction projects on the basis of cost per square foot.

In other recent opinions, Hill decided:

—There is no minimum World War II length of service requirement to qualify for a college tuition exemption.

—Presentation of a driver's license in court is an absolute defense to a charge of operating a motor vehicle without having a license in one's immediate possession.

—Firemen's relief and retirement funds in affected cities are eligible to receive an annual apportionment from the state appropriation.

Rebound Reported

Texas Industrial Commission's Executive Director Jim Harwell reports a significant rebound in industrial development during the last quarter of 1975.

Harwell told TEC the increase in economic activity may be proof the recessionary trend is at an end in Texas.

A record number of 16 industrial prospect visits were made during the September - December period, compared to only nine the same quarter last year. The number of current active prospects increased to 478 from 333 during the last quarter of 1974.

Short Snorts

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen launched his senatorial reelection campaign with an eight-cities tour.

Governor Briscoe has named J.B. Potts of Post to the Brazos River Authority Board of Directors. He appointed Louis E. McClish of Amarillo to the Texas Pest Control Association and A.D. Clark III of Tyler to be Smith County criminal district attorney.

Texas Taxes

By BOB BULLOCK, State Comptroller

Austin—AN URGENT MESSAGE FOR ANYONE THINKING OF BUYING A BUSINESS IN TEXAS:

You better check carefully to see if the business you are buying owes the state delinquent sales taxes.

If it does, you are buying a problem. You are buying the responsibility for paying off that delinquency.

The Comptroller's Department wants to save you from that pitfall.

Information about any possible delinquent sales taxes is something every business buyer should have in hand before closing any deal.

The lawyers call this "successor liability". In plain English that means that the new owner is responsible for tax debts left behind by the former owner.

The law actually requires the new owner to withhold the amount of any delinquent taxes from the purchase price of the business, but as a practical matter many deals are already closed and paid before the new owner finds out about the back taxes.

We are moving to correct this by making certain all new owners are aware of what can happen and by speeding up the information they need.

We first find out that a business is changing hands when the new owner comes to one of our district offices for a sales tax permit in the new name. It is at this point that we want to emphasize to the new owner that the tax liability goes along with the business.

For immediate protection this should stop any closing of any deal in which there are questions. Previously the possibility of a tax liability wasn't brought to the new owner's attention until the sales tax permit application went through some time-consuming channels, and by that time it was often too late.

According to an officer of Norelco, "The fire safety market is as yet untapped."

Safety experts say the smoke detector alarm is the first step in proper home fire protection, even before a fire extinguisher. The self-contained smoke detector sounds an alarm when it senses a fire. There are 70 million residences in the U.S. and less than 2 million of them have smoke detection devices. Household fires cause about 200,000 injuries and 7,000 deaths annually and fire protection specialists believe these figures could be sharply cut with more of the smoke detectors installed. Some manufacturers of smoke detector alarms are concentrating on the new home construction market, working with contractors, architects and manufacturers of mobile homes. Other companies are concentrating on the industrial market where the cost of a built-in sprinkler system is prohibitive. General Electric and Norelco are heading straight for the consumer with massive TV advertising planned.

A built-in market already exists for the alarms. HUD requires smoke alarms in all new houses built with funds from the Federal Housing Administration. State and local building codes are requiring the installation of the alarms in new homes. The sales of home smoke alarms has doubled in just the past two years.

Retail price of the units is currently around $40, but this price is dropping and lower prices for the alarms is expected to increase sales sharply in older homes. Some manufacturers are looking for the market to develop into a $200 million a year giant by 1980.

The Veterans Administration has guaranteed or insured 9.1 million home loans to veterans since World War II.

Today's Sugar And Spice. . . Tomorrow's Veterinarian.

When we were young, people would say, "she'll make a good nurse." Today, we encourage young women to be whatever they want to be. From housewives and secretaries to construction workers and architects. Our changing attitude, however, requires changing responsibilities. It costs more to send both sons and daughters to college.

At First Federal, we have several federally-insured savings plans to help you meet your children's educational goals. Our 5 1/2 per cent passbook account encourages you to start saving small amounts regularly, while children are young. As college approaches, you can set up time certificates so that maturity dates correspond with tuition payment dates. Our 90-day to 6-year certificates pay 5.75 to 7.75 per cent annual interest, depending upon the terms you select.

Unity Singers Step Up 1st Baptist Activity

Unity, a group of singing teen-agers from First Baptist Church, were featured during services Sunday, January 18.

Their numbers included "Jesus, Precious Jesus," and their theme song, "Make Your People One," with Robert Burba as soloist. He also sang "Move On".

Unity has begun meeting in the church fellowship hall at 6:00 p.m. each Sunday evening, except the third Sunday of each month when the hour is 7:30.

During this time, some of the parents prepare a meal for them. Following rehearsal, the group sings at the worship services.

Unity members are now getting uniforms which include long dresses for the girls, while the boys will wear shirts with puffed sleeves and either blue or white pants.

These young singers are working on a new musical, "Tell It Like It Is," directed by Benny Kilgo.

"The choir members would like to welcome the new members from the puppet ministry, and they also invite others to attend and enjoy the fellowship," said Kim Judd, reporter.

Mr. and Mrs. B.T. Coffee of Pampa visited Tuesday with his mother, Mrs. Vera Coffee.

Michael Herd of Memphis visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fulcher, last weekend.

SHOOTING SCENE

The shooting which took the life of 53-year-old Tol Kilgore, Jr., on Sunday night, January 18, occurred outside this cafe, operated by Johnny Lee Nash in northeast Wellington. It is part of the old Booker T. Washington School.

Cotton Market Fluctuates During Week

Local market prices fluctuated this week according to T.J. Proske, in charge of the Memphis Texas Cotton Classing Office. Trading was active most of the week with price increases of 1/2 to 1 cent per pound. On Thursday the market fell 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents per pound causing trading to come to an abrupt halt. Growers sold mixed lots composed mostly of grades 42, 32, and 41; staples 30 through 32; and 3.0 and higher mike for 47.50 to 50.50 cents per pound. Lots containing mostly grades 52, 43, and 33; 30 through 32 staples; and 2.4 through 2.9 mike brought 39.00 to 42.00 cents.

Growers received $80 to $90 per ton for their cottonseed.

Grade 42 predominated in this weeks classing accounting for 34 per cent. Other major grades were 43 with 19 per cent, 32 with 12 per cent, and 33 with 11 per cent.

One-fourth of the samples classed were reduced in grade due to bark content. Staple 31 was the predominant length comprising 56 per cent. Staples 32 and 30 made up 30 and 13 per cent respectively.

Micronaire readings were lower with 13 per cent miking in the desirable 3.5 through 4.9 range compared to 19 per cent last week. Twelve per cent miked 3.3-3.4, 34 per cent miked 3.0-3.2, and 32 per cent miked 2.7-2.9. Pressley results showed that 96 per cent of the samples tested had a breaking strength of 75,000 psi and above.

Approximately 18,000 samples were classed for the week ending Friday, January 16. This brings the season's total to 172,000 for the Memphis, Texas area.

VFW Approves Support of Project Group

Members of Glynn Moore Post 6439, Veterans of Foreign Wars, met Tuesday, January 13, to cover a wide range of business.

After a discussion of installation of central air conditioning members voted to sent $25 to the VFW National Home in Eaton Rapids, Michigan; and $100 to the Wellington Kiwanis Club for the benefit of the 4-H Beef Club. Support of the Boy Scout Troop 232 was continued.

President Richard Fourmentin appointed a committee to determine if the post will sponsor a Little League Baseball team in 1976. Members are Ross O'Hair, Keith Smith and Sam Adams.

It was voted at an earlier meeting that any organization or school may obtain a United States Flag from the post free of charge, Mr. Fourmentin reminded.

J.R. Bowen, quartermaster, read the minutes of the last meeting.

VFW members were reminded that the next business meeting will be February 3, at 7:30 p.m. at the Post home.

Mr. Fourmentin explained that the VFW National Home at Eaton Rapids, Michigan, is maintained by the organization for orphaned children of veterans.

It observed its 50th anniversary late in 1975.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S.H. Manuel during the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Otis Fletcher from Olney, Mrs. Ella Mae Hitch of Throckmorton, Mr. and Mrs. Joey Manuel and Mr. and Mrs. Don Manuel and Terry. A birthday dinner Saturday night, January 17, honored Joey Manuel.

Children from families whose income is at or below levels shown on the scale are eligible for free or reduced-price meals. Students eligible for free meals are also eligible for free extra milk. The school children of parents or guardians who become unemployed are eligible for free or reduced-price meals and free milk during the period of unemployment, provided that the loss of income causes the family income during the period of unemployment to be at or below the levels shown on the scale.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If you have foster children living with you and wish to apply for such meals and milk for them, please notify us or indicate it on the application.

All children are treated the same regardless of ability to pay. In the operation of child feeding programs no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, or national origin.

Three Overtimes— But the Quails Win

In one of the exciting games of Quail basketball, the Quails went into three overtime periods with Hedley before they could take a 80-72 victory. Gary Wischkaemper was high for Quail with 39 points.

The Bobwhites also won, but by an easier 10 point margin, 70-60. This, too, provided its thrills.

High pointer was Hedley's Laura Wheatley with 49 points.

A complete story on these games will be carried next week.

Farmers Losing Control Of Agriculture Policy

COLLEGE STATION-- Farmers are finding it increasingly difficult to be heard in Washington.

"Producer interests in agricultural policy are taking a secondary position to interests of foreign policy, consumerism and labor. Secretary Butz is no longer calling the shots on farm policy. Unless farmers are able to take charge, farm programs may actually be a noose around the producer's neck."

That's the contention of Dr. Ronald Knutson, economist in marketing and policy for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, who spoke at an Extension Service Press Day banquet at Texas A&M University yesterday evening (Jan. 13).

"Producers must consolidate if they are to regain a position of control over agricultural policy," emphasized the Texas A&M University System economist.

Knutson listed two critical policy questions on which producers must evaluate their position: (1) In whose interest is agricultural policy going to be made? (2) How much government involvement should there be?

The economist noted that the overriding concern of producers is the question of the conditions under which they will have access to international markets.

"Food has become an integral part of the policy of detente. As such, it may be used either as a carrot or a stick in diplomacy. The carrot policy involves freely exporting to make foreign governments more dependent on the United States as a source of supply. The theory behind this is that a foreign power will not bite the hand that feeds it.

"On the other hand, the stick policy makes access to U.S. grain dependent on support of U.S. policy by the recipient government. If food is used as a stick, the producer is in danger of being denied free market access from time to time."

While food diplomacy receives a lot of attention, organized labor and consumerism stand as even greater threats to producer access to foreign markets, argued Knutson. In both 1973 and 1975 the impact of exports on domestic food prices was the primary reason for export controls. This reflects the fact that President Ford listened to George Meany more than to producers or Secretary Butz.

Rockets Take 74-69 Win Over Memphis, Lead 2-A

"The most exciting game I've been in in my four years of coaching!" That's how Coach Robert Hicks summed up the Skyrockets 74-69 victory over Memphis in overtime Tuesday, January 20, in Rocket Gym.

This was the game the coach told his boys they had to win if they take the 2-A title--and they won it.

Eight free throws during that three-minute overtime, plus one field goal accounted for the win. Memphis scored two field goals.

The game was tight almost from the start. Wellington led 22-14 at the first period and it was nip and tuck through the second. The last shot before half time gave Memphis a 39-37 lead, then during the third period the lead went back and forth. At one point, the Cyclones had an 8 point lead, then the Rockets cut it down to as little as one.

At the end of the third, Wellington was ahead 56-53. Excitement mounted during the final period. Memphis had a chance to win as time ran out, but Wellington blocked a shot and the buzzer sounded. The score was 65-65.

Going into overtime, Neal Cochran made a field goal to put the Rockets ahead and they never let it change. Wellington began collecting free shots on Memphis fouls and ran this up to 8-four from Sammy Gonzales, and two from Edward Thomas. Then George Brewer, who had been ill, came off the bench after a Wellington player fouled off, and he made two crucial free throws.

Ricky Guy and Guy Johnson each made two points for Memphis.

High point Rocket was Edward Thomas with 28. But the second high was Jessie Davis with 17. He has not been a starter, but against Memphis he played what Coach Hicks called a fantastic job.

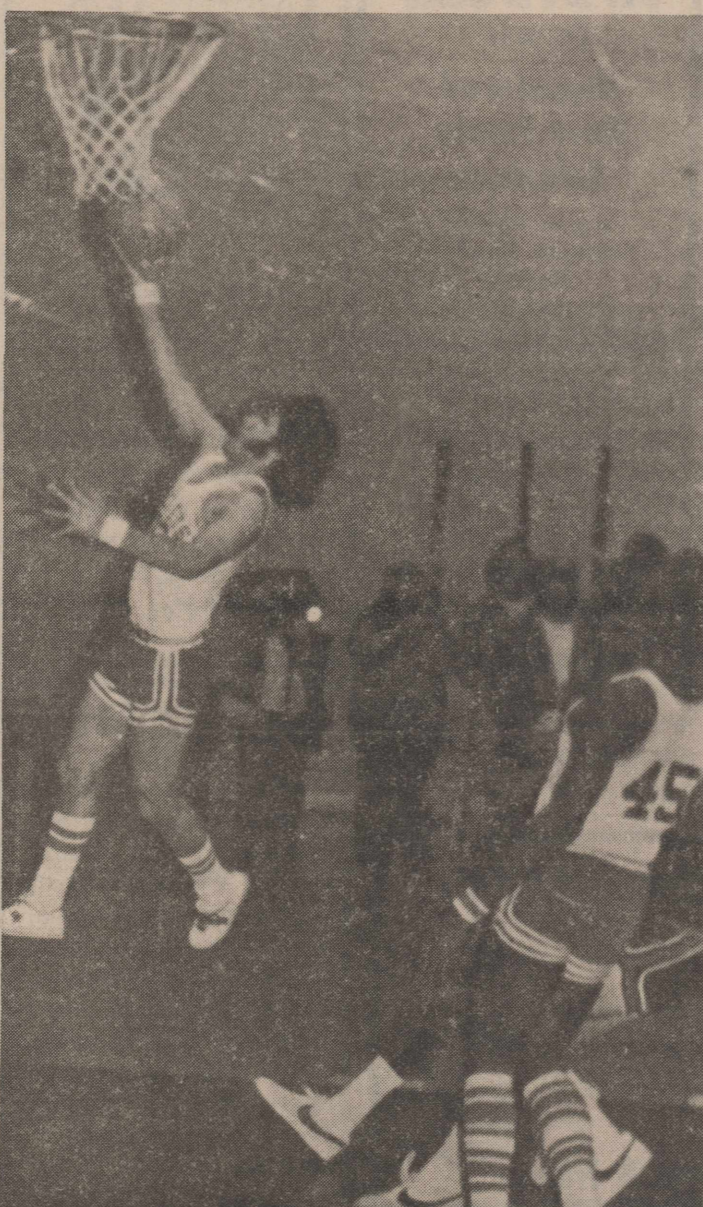

Sammy Gonzales had 10 points, Shane Tarver 8, Neal Cochran 6, Cliff Pennon three and Brewer two.

Darrell Smith was high point man for Memphis.
