Trial set

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Dec. 7 trial date was set Friday for the allegedly obsessed fan accused of shooting actress Rebecca Schaeffer to death last year. Robert John Bardo came to court in a wrinkled prison T-shirt and pajama pants and sat staring at the top of the counsel table throughout a hearing. His lawyer, Steven Galindo, said Bardo is constantly medicated and appears to be improving mentally with the help of drugs. Bardo is charged with first-degree murder and special circumstances of lying in wait, which could bring him the death penalty if he is convicted. Miss Schaeffer, 21, was shot to death in the doorway of her Fairfax apartment building July 18, 1989. Bardo was arrested the next day in his hometown, Tucson, Ariz.

Still alive

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Veteran entertainer Art Linkletter says older people can still get a kick out of life. "I'm 78 and still alive and doing what I want to stay alive and be fulfilled," Linkletter told a seminar for seniors Wednesday. He encouraged them to "save your self-esteem and your identity" by staying young emotionally. Linkletter is author of 23 books, including his latest, "Old Age is Not For Sissies." He says everyone needs "something to hope for and something to love." Linkletter, the host of long-running TV shows "House Party" and "People Are Funny," also said taking things easy shouldn't wait until old age. "Live your life so you don't destroy yourself en route," he said.

Iraq orders foreigners to report

■ Gasoline rationing ordered in Iraq as oil price falls by $2 per barrel in New York; Saddam's government demands that all foreigners report to officials or face punishment.

By Lisa Genasci
Associated Press Writer

Iraq on Friday ordered all foreigners in occupied Kuwait to report to authorities or face punishment, and announced it would ration gasoline to save imported chemicals used in refining fuel. The gasoline rationing was the latest indication that international trade sanctions against Iraq are having an impact. The U.N. embargo was imposed two months ago to force Iraq out of Kuwait, which it invaded Aug. 2. In New York, there was good news about oil. Prices were down $2.00 a barrel in early afternoon trading on the New York Mercantile Exchange to $34.70. Traders said prices eased after conciliatory remarks by an Iraqi official. Iraq's deputy prime minister, Taha Yassin Ramadan, said Thursday in Amman, Jordan, that he thought both sides in the crisis were reassessing their positions and that peace talks could be in the offing. But in Washington, President Bush said he saw no chance for compromise in the Persian Gulf crisis. "I am as determined as I was the day the first troop left, that Saddam Hussein's aggression not be rewarded by some compromise," Bush said in a meeting with Italian-American leaders. Bush met later with a Soviet envoy, Yevgeny Primakov, who said he agreed that the world should not relax its insistence on an unconditional Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait. "One cannot allow a situation where actions that are incompatible with a civilized society would be in order," Primakov said after the meeting. A report published in Iraqi newspapers Friday said all foreigners in Kuwait must register with local authorities before Nov. 5. Those who fail to do so "will be responsible before the law, and their residency cards will be canceled," the report said. Under Iraqi law, foreigners found without residency cards are punished with fines and imprisonment. The exceptions are citizens from Arab Cooperation Council nations — Egypt, Jordan and Yemen.

Midland Reporter-Telegram Editor Emeritus W.H. "Bill" Collins will be honored as one of three "Outstanding West Texans" during the Texas Chamber of Commerce's West Texas regional council meeting Oct. 29-30 in Kerrville. Collins, a Midland resident since 1936, was named to receive the award by members of the West Texas regional council last week. Williams votes, vows he'll counter Richards' ads

By Brian Pearson
Staff Writer

Republican gubernatorial candidate Clayton Williams ambled into the Midland County Election Administration offices Friday and assured himself of at least one vote in the November election. Williams also assured that he would counter another round of attacks by Democratic opponent Ann Richards. Advertisements that began airing Friday morning showcase Williams' previous comments on rape and his remarks on Ms. Richards' past drinking habits. After escorting his wife, Modesta, to the absentee poll, Williams vowed to respond to the advertisements with a campaign showing the differences in the candidates' positions. "She's a liberal and I'm a conservative and we're going to point that out," Williams said, adding that the issues may have been lost in a sea of negative campaigning. Nevertheless, he urged Texans to get out and vote in force. Williams was greeted at the 709 W. Washington Ave. elections office by a group of about 30 supporters toting brooms symbolizing hope for a Republican sweep Nov. 6. "I'm very proud to tell you I voted a straight Republican ticket," he said. "I feel like I've done a few things backwards in my life, but I must have done a few things right to be here today." Williams spent a moment to reflect on the Campaign designed to show support for drug-free life

By Michael Kashgarian
Staff Writer

Don't be surprised if you start seeing red next week. It's just part of the Red Ribbon Campaign, celebrated nationally, which encourages everyone to wear a red ribbon during the week of Oct. 21-28 as a symbol for eliminating the demand for drugs. In Midland the campaign — with the state theme "Proud To Be ... Drug-Free" — was kicked off Friday at ClayDesta Atrium. "We can all participate. We can all come out and take a very strong stand ... Red is the color for the Permian Basin next week," said Jessie Orr, local co-coordinator of this year's campaign.

"If you see someone walking down the street without a red ribbon on ask them why," Ms. Orr encouraged the small crowd that showed up for the kick-off. Supporting the movement to color the city red, Mayor Carroll Thomas read a City Council proclamation that recognized Red Ribbon Week in Midland. This will be the third year that Midland as well as the rest of the country will take part in Red Ribbon Week. The campaign began when federal agent Enrique Camarena was murdered by drug traffickers in 1985. In Texas, the campaign is sponsored by the Texans' War on Drugs, an organization funded through grants from the governor's office. "We are there year round but the Red Ribbon Campaign is the most visible project we're involved with," said Beverly Barron, regional coordinator for the Texans' War on Drugs. "I think it (Red Ribbon Week) has gained such popularity because it is easy for everyone to get involved with, to have a say. It gives them an opportunity to express themselves by wearing the red ribbon," Ms. Barron said. Expressing their support at Friday's kickoff were representatives from the Midland Independent School District, law enforcement officials, and the Telephone Pioneers of America, the local sponsors of the campaign. Cheering along the kickoff were anti-

Budget writers working on tax compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats pushed President Bush to accept higher taxes on the richest Americans Friday as Congress began a final drive to craft a compromise deficit-reduction bill. Republicans warned that pressing Bush too hard would merely invite a veto. Bush, meanwhile, signed a stopgap spending bill to keep the government functioning through next Wednesday to give Congress more time to work on a final budget compromise. He signed the legislation shortly before leaving the White House for a weekend at the presidential retreat in Camp

David, Md. GOP lawmakers mustered around a bipartisan budget the Senate adopted early Friday imposing only modest tax increases on the wealthy and doubling the gasoline levy. Democrats preferred a House-passed version leaning heavily on the rich, leaving the gasoline tax alone and easing cost increases on Medicare recipients. "We believe in tax fairness and progressivity, and that's what we're going to fight for," said House Majority Leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo. "You can bet your life if a package is going to pass in this House it's going to include the rich," said Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee. But as House and Senate budget-writers began bargaining over a $250 billion, five-year package of taxes and spending cuts, Republicans warned that Democrats could not go too far without risking a veto by Bush. "I don't know why we have to go through a process of producing a bill that will not be signed," said Sen. Pete Domenici of New Mexico, ranking Republican on the Budget Committee.

IRAQ: All foreigners ordered to report to authorities

(From 1A)

About 400,000 foreigners are believed in Kuwait, including 2,000 Westerners that the U.S. State Department says are hiding from Iraqi soldiers.

Hundreds more are held in Iraq, many at strategic sites to deter attack by the multinational force. About 200,000 U.S. soldiers and thousands from other nations are facing an estimated 430,000 Iraqi troops in the region.

Saddam's forces overran his southern neighbor in a dispute over oil, land and money. With Kuwaiti oilfields, his share of world reserves increased to 20 percent, second only to Saudi Arabia.

Despite Iraq's vast reserves, the Oil Ministry announced Friday gasoline rationing would begin next week. The U.N. embargo on Iraq has squeezed Baghdad's supply of imported chemicals used in refining oil.

"There is nothing to get worried about. ... The rationing is just a precaution," said oil minister Isam Abdul-Rahim al-Chalabi. "There is a lot of waste and by introducing the rationing we are going to cut that waste."

Iraq is already rationing food staples such as milk, meat and bread. Baghdad says there are shortages of all such products — and many more.

Car owners were ordered to pick up ration coupons at special centers, although the minister did not say how much gasoline would be allocated to each person or how long the rationing would last.

Iraqis rushed to gasoline stations to stock up on gasoline Friday and long lines formed outside gas stations.

merce, the Midland Downtown Lions Club, the West Texas Press Association, the Texas Associated Press Managing Editors Association and the Midland Jaycees.

Two other West Texans will share the 1990 honor with Collins: Owen Ivie of Big Spring and State Sen. John Montford of Lubbock.

Ivie was recognized for his years of achievement and leadership in the development of water supplies for West Texas. He is general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District and played a leading part in the construction of three major reservoirs between 1950 and 1990. The most recent lake that the CRMWD has developed was named for Ivie.

Montford was honored for his efforts on behalf of the 28th Senatorial District and the entire state. Specifically cited were his efforts in sponsoring and passing the 1985 statewide water plan and three additional water initiatives during the 71st Legislature along with his continuing efforts to reform the state civil justice system. He was first elected to the Senate in 1982.

(From 1A)

campaign and his stance on issues. Overall, the campaign has gone on too long, he said.

"The people of Texas need to take a serious look at moving the March primary into August," he said. "I think a shorter campaign would make it less negative."

He also reiterated his views on the economy, fighting drugs, and education.

"Education is so important," he said. "Our existing system is not working."

Williams said parents should have a choice on which schools their children attend.

He also spoke of his $1.5 billion plan to double the state's prison capacity, which would be paid for through cuts in government spending instead of through higher taxes.

Responding to recent charges that his bank was involved in questionable lending activities, Williams said there has been no wrongdoing.

"My managers at the bank ...

have told me we have done nothing out of line," he said. "If someone is out of line in any way, I will be the first person to hold him accountable."

Though recent polls have shown that Ms. Richards has closed the gap to five percentage points, Williams said he plans no campaign strategy changes. "Polls come and go," he said, adding that polls conducted by his supporters show him ahead by 10 percentage points.

Bill Cryer, spokesman for the Ms. Richards campaign, defended his camp's new round of advertising.

"Our ad is 100 percent accurate," Cryer said. "It's Clayton Williams in his own words."

He said he sees nothing wrong with a Williams advertisement showing the candidates' differences on the issues.

"We can stand the comparison just as long as they're not distorted," Cryer said. "That's great as long as he's accurate."

Later in the day, Williams attended a luncheon sponsored by the West Texas Amigos for Clayton Williams. The event was held at The Plaza Club in Claydesta National Bank.

Williams emphasized to the crowd that Texas needs to strengthen trade ties with Mexico and decrease the dropout rate in public schools.

"We must expand trade with Mexico," he said. "We must expand reciprocity and communication."

Addressing education, Williams said public schools must beef up their vocational programs in order to keep more children from dropping out.

BUDGET: Avoiding veto priority

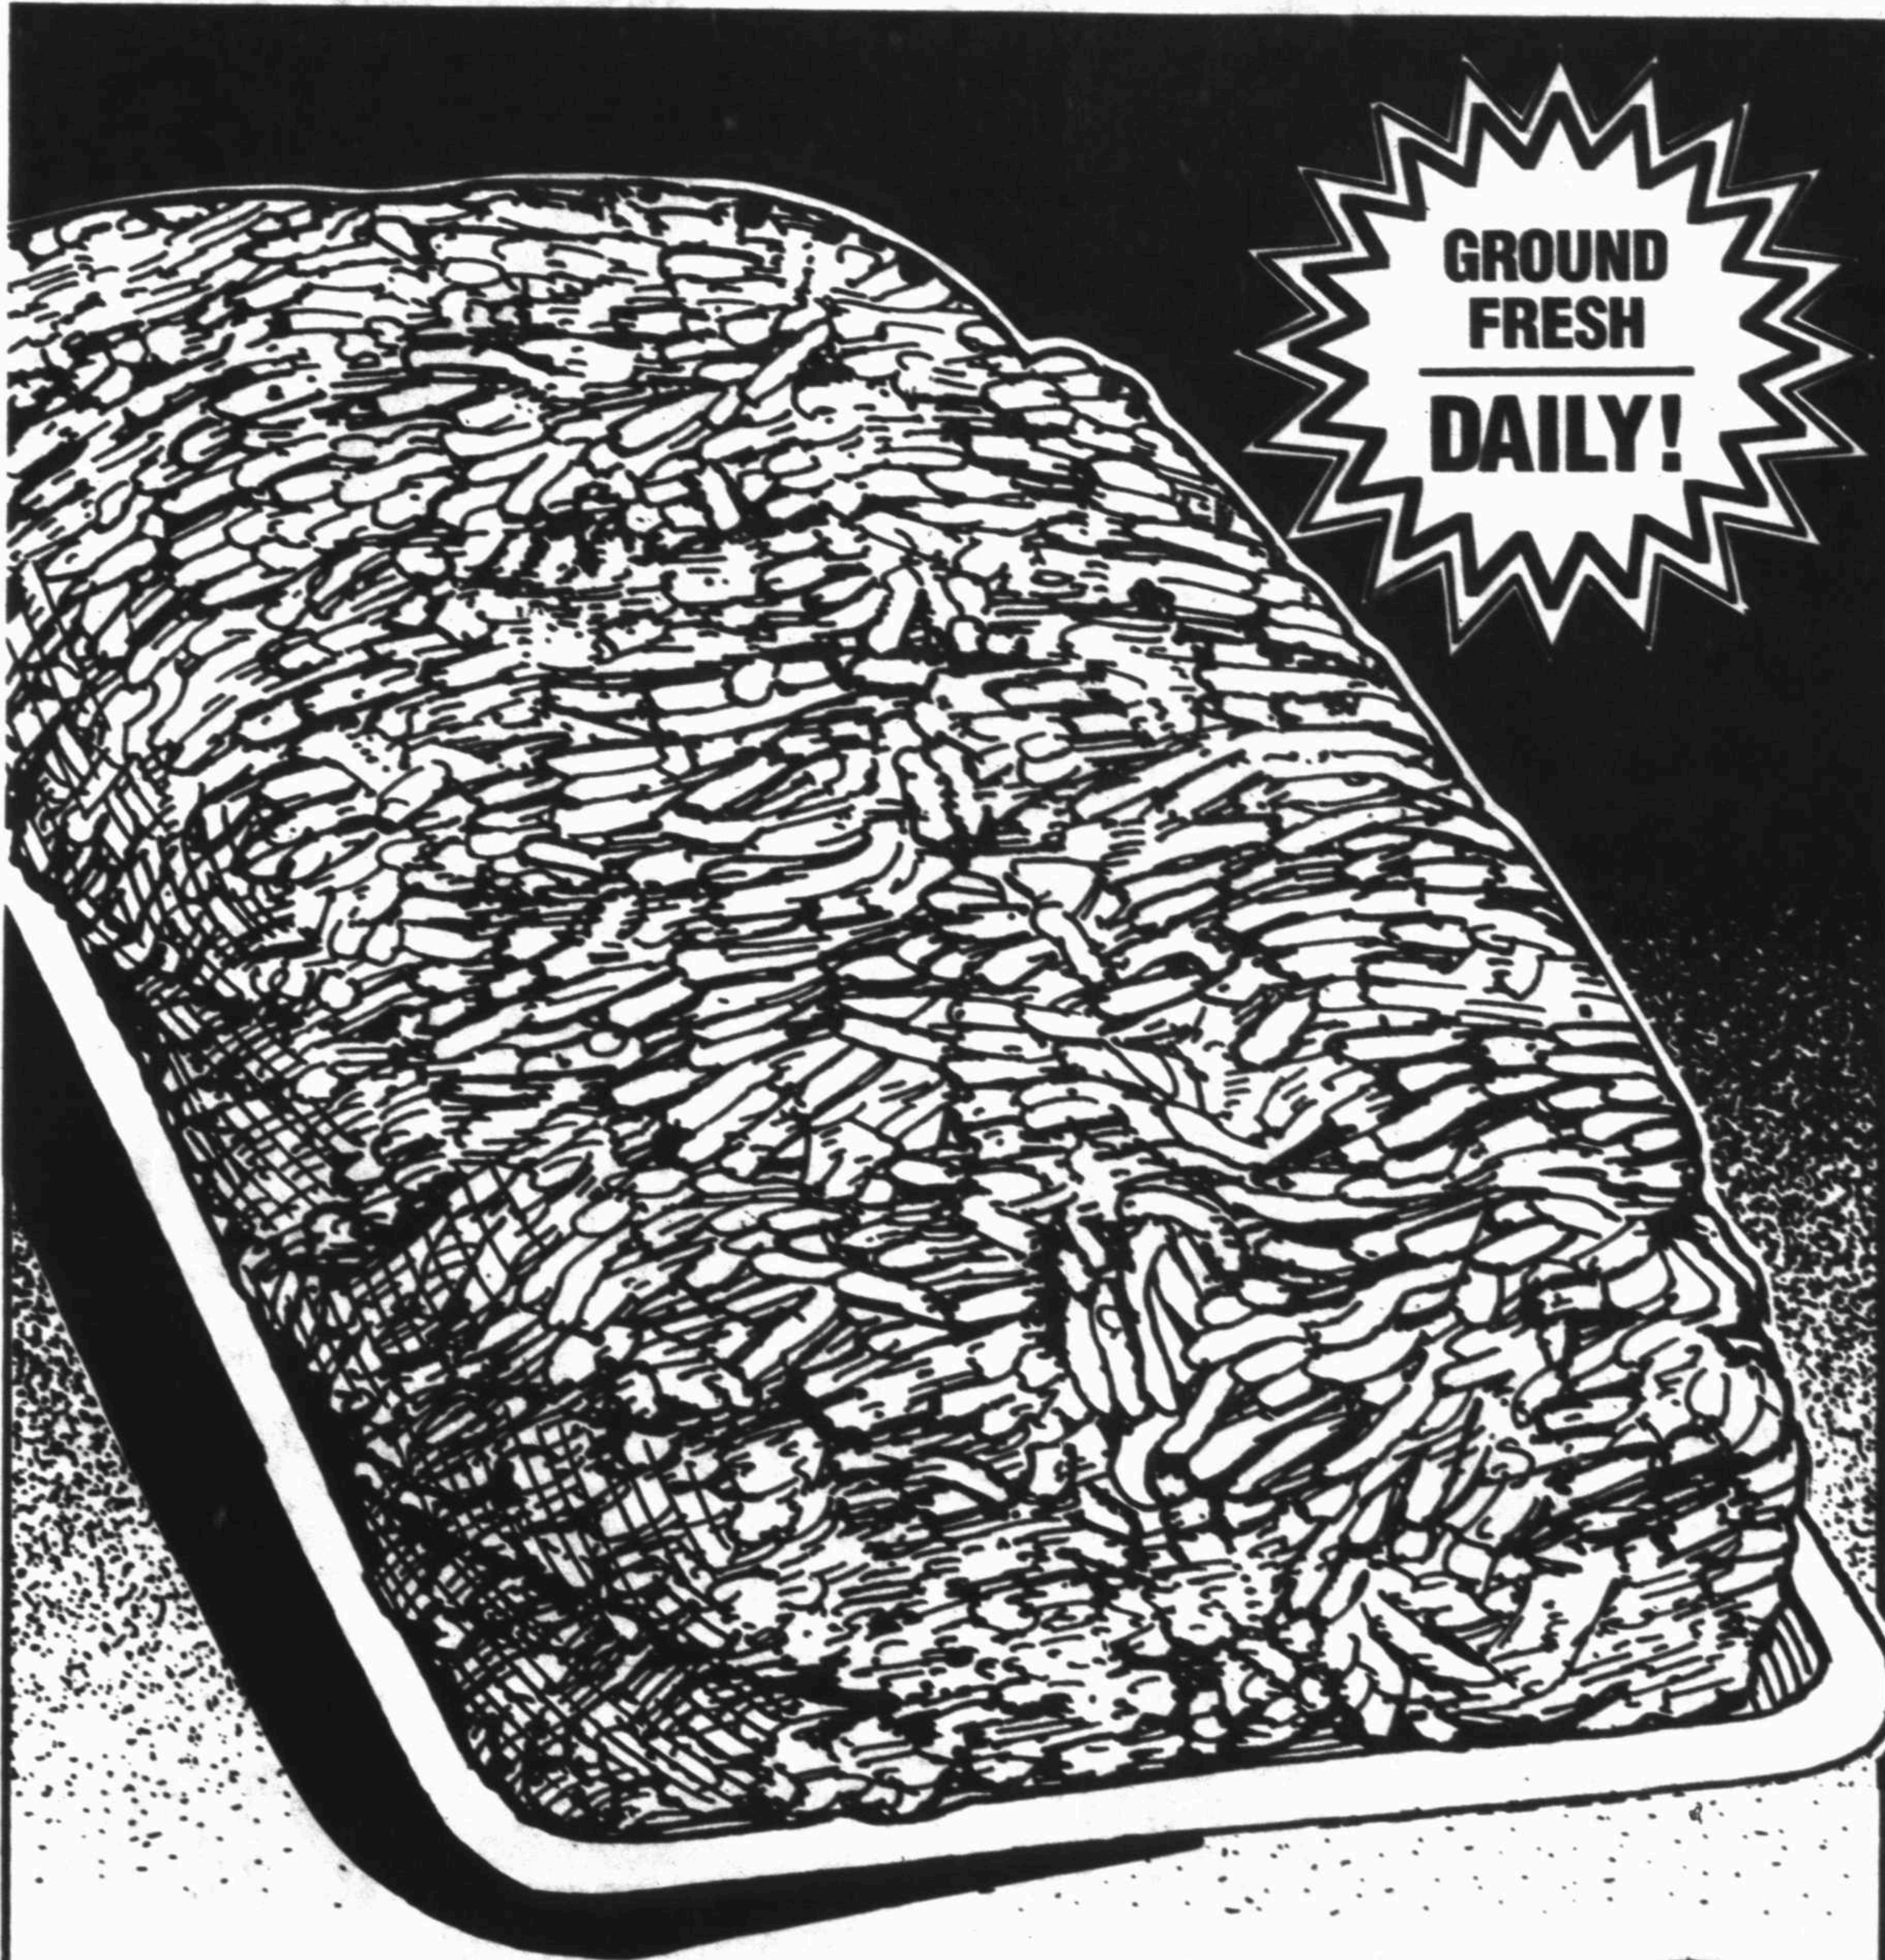

(From 1A)

Bush reiterated his preference for the Senate version and said, "I, for the first time, feel optimistic that we can get this job done for the American people."

The president visited the Capitol for about an hour, urging lawmakers to quickly fashion a compromise plan.

"He said nobody is going to get all he wants," Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., said afterward.

Testimony continues in local 'fracturing' suit

By David Morris
Staff Writer

Witnesses pointed Friday to surplus inventory on Dresser-Titan shelves as evidence of an alleged swindle as testimony in Parker & Parsley's lawsuit against oil-well fracturing companies continued.

Parker & Parsley maintains that the companies shorted it on orders for hydraulic fracturing materials such as sand and gel used to treat more than 500 Permian Basin wells between 1983 and 1988.

In their suit, filed last year in U.S. District Court, Parker & Parsley officials seek at least $120 million for undelivered materials and lost well production. Defendants include BJ-Titan Services and BJ-Hughes of Houston and Dresser Industries of Dallas and its Dresser-Titan division.

Accountants for both the defendants and Parker & Parsley testified Friday that Dresser's local monthly inventory routinely failed to reflect monthly sales. In most cases, they said, inventories showed a "positive variance" from sales — in other words, there were more fracturing supplies in stock than records indicated had been sold.

Glen Wurm, former controller

Luxury liner sank off Newfoundland in '12

In the early morning hours of April 15, 1912, the British luxury ocean liner Titanic sank in the North Atlantic off Newfoundland, less than three hours after striking an iceberg.

About 1,500 of the more than 2,200 people aboard perished.

for one-time Dresser subsidiary BJ-Titan Services, said no sales district served by his company showed positive variance as often and as consistently as Midland-Odessa.

"It was most likely higher than the rest of the districts because of the level of business," he said. The Odessa district was among the most profitable among those served by BJ-Titan and would be expected to have proportionally higher inventory overages, he said.

He said "turnkey" jobs, in which customers are not credited for materials not used, could have contributed to inventory discrepancies.

However, Wurm acknowledged that surpluses could have been caused by shorting customers on fracturing orders. He said the possibility of cheating occurred to him, but he never investigated it.

"Nothing that I reviewed ever showed to me that they (Parker & Parsley) were being shorted on any material," Wurm said.

Harold S. Eldridge, a forensic accountant retained by Parker & Parsley, said amounts of excess inventory were too consistent from month to month to be accidental.

"The information that I saw ... indicated significant shorting of materials to customers by the Titan entity," he testified.

Defense attorney Jack N. Price asked Eldridge why Parker & Parsley paid for the fracturing work if the company was not receiving quality service.

"I think they were misled," he said.

Eldridge said he had not formed an opinion with regard to whether or not Parker & Parsley executives knew about alleged cheating by Dresser and BJ-Titan.

Defense attorneys have suggested that Parker & Parsley officials were aware of possible cheating by fracturing companies but did nothing about it because the "frac" work was being ordered merely for tax purposes.

Parker & Parsley attorneys are expected to call their final witnesses in the case on Monday. U.S. District Court Judge Lucius D. Bunton released jurors early Friday.

Drug allegation 'stinks,' says Richards

AUSTIN (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial candidate Ann Richards on Friday denounced a New Mexico man's allegation that he saw her use cocaine 13 years ago and called it a "smear" by GOP candidate Clayton Williams.

"This stinks to high heaven," Richards told reporters.

Richards, a recovering alcoholic, has been dogged by drug questions since February. During a televised debate, she refused to say whether she had ever used illegal drugs.

"My political opponents cannot resist using my illness when all else is failing in their campaigns," Richards said.

Reggie Bashur, a Williams consultant, said the Republican's campaign had nothing to do with the charge. "We are not involved and Ann Richards knows it," he said.

"As far as we're concerned, this comes totally out of left field. It's unfortunate that Ms. Richards is so shrill and so panicked," Bashur said.

The allegation was contained in a story published Friday by the Albuquerque (N.M.) Journal. It was reiterated later in the day at a San Antonio news conference held by Bexar County Sheriff Harlon Copeland.

STATE

"That story and the actions of the Republican sheriff of Bexar County have taken the Clayton Williams' smear campaign to new lows," Richards said.

The newspaper and the sheriff cited interviews with J.D. Arnold, a Santa Fe, N.M., tour operator. Arnold also was a press secretary to former Rep. Jim Mattox, now state attorney general, who lost the gubernatorial nomination to Richards in April.

Copeland said Arnold gave a sworn statement that he saw Richards use cocaine at the Stoneleigh P. bar in Dallas on Dec. 7, 1977, following a Mattox fund-raiser.

"I just can't understand why anyone who is a drug user would try to get into high office," Copeland said. "Ann Richards: Did you use drugs or did you not use drugs?

He denied he had a political motive in making the allegation public, saying Arnold's name surfaced during a San Antonio drug trafficking investigation.

"This is a dangerous and unpardonable subversion of the police function of Bexar County by a campaign that has not only lost its momentum, it has lost its moral compass," Richards said. "The actions of the Bexar County sheriff represent an abuse of power."

Arnold told the Albuquerque newspaper he made the allegation public "because I can't stand Ann Richards."

"I'm so sick of her," he said. "I'm sick of everything she's done. It all goes back to the comments she made (about Mattox), like 'He's like a chicken-killing dog.'"

"The affidavit described in the article of J.D. Arnold is not true," Richards said.

Richards introduced to reporters two women who said she hadn't attended the 1977 party — her longtime friend Betty McKool of Dallas and Martha Harris of Austin. McKool said Richards was with her that night. Harris said she attended the party and Richards wasn't there.

Richards accused Williams of trying to divert attention from an investigation into his ClayDesta National Bank and its practices of giving car loans to high-risk customers.

ClayDesta profited from insurance program, records show

DALLAS (AP) — A bank controlled by Republican gubernatorial nominee Clayton Williams sought to expand statewide a program that made high-risk insurance and car loans and netted $500,000 in premiums, records show.

The program was aimed at people thought to be poor credit risks, some of whom have said they were illegally forced to buy the policies to obtain car loans, The Dallas Morning News reported Friday.

Records obtained by investigators show that ClayDesta National Bank made about $500,000 in commissions in a 12-month period beginning August 1989 from the sale of credit insurance policies. The State Board of Insurance and the Travis County attorney are investigating the borrowers' complaints.

Some of the car buyers sued ClayDesta last month.

Williams, who founded the Midland bank in 1982, has denied the allegations made by ClayDesta's customers.

Sources told the newspaper that John Clark of El Paso told investigators of the bank's plan to move beyond the state's big cities.

Clark is a district manager for Service Life & Casualty Insurance Co., which eventually underwrote the loans.

According to the News' story, Clark said the bank's chief consumer-loan officer told him last May approximately $55 million from outside sources had been raised to expand the auto loan program statewide.

"These folks are extremely aggressive and have a deal in the works to acquire paper from dealers all across Texas," Clark said in an internal company memo after a May 23, 1989, meeting with D.O. Rob Robinson, the bank's consumer loan chief.

ClayDesta president David Jones said Thursday that he "no idea where a figure like that would come from."

"There was no strategic plan to take this (program) to 'X' (amount of dollars)," he said.

Banks may require credit insurance, which pays off the loan balance on the vehicle if the borrower dies or is disabled, but state law prohibits them from making their customers buy it through them or from any particular company.

ClayDesta halted its loan broker program in February after federal banking regulators raised questions about the program, the newspaper reported.

In November 1989, premiums written on the bank's customers were about $60,000. In December, they jumped to $214,000; in January, $365,000; and in February, $244,000. Bank officials say they got out of the program that month.

Natasha Dennis, 10, has been the subject of too much interest among the parents of young soccer players and a coach in Denton.

On-the-spot request nets suspensions

DENTON (AP) — Four parents and one assistant coach were suspended after the gender of a star goalie was questioned in a girls under-12 soccer game.

Lewisville Blaze goalie Natasha Dennis, 10, raised the suspicions of two fathers for the opposing Sohlers players, a Denton team, in a Sept. 29 game. Natasha performed at a level beyond which the men thought a girl was capable, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported Friday.

The fathers thought the undefeated Blaze team was using a male ringer and demanded proof of Natasha's gender.

"Two fathers from the other team went on to the field during half time because they wanted proof that Natasha was a girl," said Natasha's mother, Linda Dennis.

The men weren't satisfied with an offer from the Blaze coach to show them the team roster and birth certificates for each player, said Ronnie Dennis, Natasha's father and the Blaze's assistant coach.

"They expected her to go into the ladies' restroom and take her clothes off in front of some stranger," Mrs. Dennis said.

Mrs. Dennis took Natasha to meet one of her accusers after the game.

"I said, 'Excuse me, but I would like to take the opportunity to introduce you to my daughter Natasha.' He looked at Natasha real funny and said, 'Good game, boy,'" Mrs. Dennis said. "I said no, it's 'Good game, girl.' He said 'Good game, son,' and started to walk away."

Chris Farr, another Blaze mother who had followed the Dennises across the field, began arguing with the man, Mrs. Dennis said. Both mothers were suspended for two games for crossing the field.

"When she told me they asked for a panty check, I was appalled," said Ross Stewart, youth commissioner for the association.

The two Sohlers fathers accused of asking for the gender check were suspended from attending league soccer games, Stewart said.

Natasha's mother said her daughter has taken the controversy well.

But Natasha said she didn't appreciate the men's accusations.

"I think they should go somewhere and check and see if they have anything between their ears," she said.

Varied issues bog down Noriega trail

By Richard Cole
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI — A judge Friday tried to jump start Manuel Noriega's drug-smuggling trial, which has stalled over disputes about legal fees, a new indictment and the fate of his co-defendants.

Also complicating the case is the new Panamanian government's $5 billion lawsuit against the country's former military leader, expected to be filed here as early as next week.

U.S. District Judge William Hoever called in prosecutors and the defense Friday for a conference on the case's progress, with an eye on the planned January starting date.

"We've got to press on with this," Hoever insisted, but for the first time acknowledged the Jan. 28 trial date might have to be moved back until spring.

Meanwhile, New York Newsday reported Friday that Noriega has made coded telephone calls through the office of his lead attorney, Frank Rubino, to contacts in Panama attempting to organize the overthrow of President Guillermo Endara's government.

Quoting sources it did not identify, Newsday said U.S. investigators have broken the code used in the phone calls and turned the transcripts over to Panamanian authorities.

Rubino said he does not know the content of Noriega's telephone conversations, which are monitored by the government as are the calls of other prisoners.

On Noriega's trial, Hoever warned he may be forced to remove Noriega's defense team — possibly reappointing them as federally paid attorneys — if they cannot pry money loose from foreign banks to pay their expenses.

And he said he may have to grant separate trials to minor co-defendants if the case drags on.

Noriega's attorneys said their hands were tied because not one penny has been released from frozen bank accounts that contain $20 million, despite a June agreement with the U.S. attorney's office.

"We are at square zero," Rubino said. "January 28 is unrealistic. If I got all the money in the world I couldn't investigate the case before then — and I can't find a dozen investigators to work for free."

Sam Burstyn, attorney for former Noriega aide Luis del Cid, said he believed the government was delaying to force a plea bargain.

"It amounts to a legal siege — trial by attrition," Burstyn said. "I don't think the government ever intends to prosecute Noriega, and my client is being held hostage."

NATION IN BRIEF

Cheney will ask for defense veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Dick Cheney is signaling he will recommend a presidential veto of the 1991 defense bill because of deep cuts in major strategic weapons, lawmakers and congressional sources said Friday.

"That's what I've heard from people who ought to know," said one House member, Jon Kyl of Arizona. He was one of 15 Republicans who were involved in negotiations on the bill but refused to sign the final package.

Cheney was to issue an official statement on his recommendation when the bill was filed formally in the House and Senate, an action expected shortly, said congressional sources who requested anonymity.

The House and Senate are expected to approve the negotiators' defense package by next week. Meanwhile, the House approved a military construction bill that bans the use of federal funds to build an air base in Italy.

Beam damages shuttle

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Human error caused a 9-foot-long aluminum beam to be left inside the engine compartment of the space shuttle Atlantis, damaging the craft, investigators concluded Friday.

The beam was discovered Oct. 3 when the shuttle was lifted into an upright position in an assembly room, said J.B. Kump, a spokesman for Lockheed Space Operations Co. of Titusville. The company is NASA's primary shuttle contractor.

The beam, part of a work platform, banged around inside the compartment and caused about 25 dents and dings. The damage was not expected to delay a secret military flight by Atlantis, set for around Nov. 10.

A nine-member Lockheed team blamed human error and not worker fatigue, experience or scheduling, Kump said. The team based its finding on employee interviews.

The beam has since been removed.

Rights appeal made

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush was confronted by a last-minute appeal and demonstration by civil rights leaders Friday as he weighed whether to carry through on his threat to veto the civil rights minority-hiring bill.

Presidential spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said there was a long-shot possibility that a compromise could be reached, but he also indicated Bush might simply veto the bill.

"We will staple our new bill to the veto message and send it right back up," Fitzwater suggested.

However, another administration official said Friday that the administration was preparing new proposals for Congress to consider that offers a compromise on the sticky question of whether the bill would result in hiring quotas for minorities.

This official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the White House could have a draft ready this weekend to send to Capitol Hill, where Congress members will be meeting on the federal budget.

Group admits error

WASHINGTON (AP) — The consumer group Public Citizen admitted Friday it made a mistake in putting the ITT Hartford Insurance group on a list of five property and casualty insurance companies it said could fail in the event of a recession.

ITT Hartford said it was Public Citizen, not the insurance company, that "flunked the test."

Public Citizen said Monday that the Hartford, Aetna, American International Group, Liberty Mutual and United States Fidelity & Guaranty each failed four of six tests that it used to measure vulnerability to insolvency.

The group said none of the companies was on the edge of insolvency but "the underlying weakness in their financial condition is clearly evident."

All five companies took issue with the report.

Bulldog plans go astray

■ Despite a masterful performance by running back James Lee, Midland High succumbs to San Angelo Central, 21-12, putting on hold any plans the 'Dogs might have had for post-season action.

By Bill Price
Staff Writer

With a tail wind gusting more than 30 mph, Midland High's David Worley lined up for a 48-yard field goal try that would give the Bulldogs a 15-14 lead over San Angelo early in the fourth quarter Friday night at Memorial Stadium.

Worley's kick was straight enough, but bounced off the cross bar, as the Bobcats held off a 191-yard rushing performance by MHS tailback James Lee for a 21-12 win.

"Before the game I was kicking 50-yarders, but I didn't get my leg all the way through it. I was too confident and pulled it," Worley said in the post-mortem, post-game MHS locker room.

The win gives San Angelo a 4-2-1 overall record, but more importantly a 2-1 slate in District 4-5A. The Bulldogs, meanwhile, were dropped to 4-3 and 1-3 with the loss. MHS is now behind Midland Lee (3-0), Odessa High (3-1), and play-off ineligible Odessa Permian (2-1) in the 4-5A standings and the dash for the three playoff berths from the district.

And while Lee's rushing performance was superlative, he scored on runs of 80

Third loss bodes ill for MHS

By Terry Williamson
Sports Editor

Midland High's hopes to end 39 years of gridiron playoff frustration were dashed by the San Angelo Bobcats, 21-12, at Memorial Stadium Friday night, and it hurt.

"These kids have worked so hard that you want something good to happen to them," said MHS head coach Davis Corley in a postgame locker room that fell to utter silence. "This is a tough loss. The kids gave a great effort and played hard, but this is tough."

Midland High has now lost to all three playoff contenders in District 4-5A — Midland Lee, Odessa High and now San Angelo.

Even if miracles were to occur, the Bulldogs are on the down end of every tie breaker system the league uses to determine playoff advancement.

"We just go on and play Mojo next week," said Corley. "We've got a great season going and we would like to finish strong."

And while the death knell sounded for the Bulldogs, the Bobcats understood the meaning of the victory as they took a step closer to vaulting into the playoffs since Odessa Permian, barring a court injunction that could get them into the playoffs, is currently ineligible for post-season honors.

Bearkats win key District 9-A battle

■ Two second half touchdowns by Garden City spill undefeated Bronte.

By Joe Wyatt
Staff Writer

GARDEN CITY — The Bronte Longhorns spent the first half here Friday night proving that their perfect 6-0 football record was no fluke. Then host Garden City put to rest the notion that Bronte had the better team.

Garden City twice used touchdowns to come from behind in the second half, and finished with a 22-19 District 9-A victory over the 'Horns that was in doubt throughout.

The Bearkats elevated their record to 5-1 and 2-0 in 9-A play, while Bronte fell to 2-1 in the league thanks to its first loss of the season.

"We expected a battle, but not this close," said Garden City quarterback Shae Scott, a sophomore whose chief tactic was handing off to tailback James Soles. "We just wanted it more," Scott added.

Soles, who led all runners with 181 yards on 25 carries including a four-yard touchdown jaunt late in the third period, also scored on a 62-yard screen pass from Scott that gave the 'Kats a 7-0 lead with 8:16 to play in the first quarter.

But that play, which came on Garden City's second offensive snap of the game, was all the scoring the Bearkats could muster in the first half. Bronte, meanwhile, used drives of 52 and 69 yards in the second quarter to take a 13-7 lead on short TD runs by quarterback Justin Phillips.

"We came out and tried to do a few things to catch them by surprise, and I guess we did that early on," said Garden City head coach Sam Scott. "But our wheels came off after that. We panicked in the second quarter, and some of our youth showed through."

But the Bearkats came of age in the third quarter when Pete Talamantes recovered a Longhorn fumble that set Garden City up at its own 45-yard line. Soles' 4-yard TD came 10 plays later and gave Garden City a 14-13 lead.

However, Bronte, which capitalized on 115 rushing yards by senior Brandon Marshall, came right back with a 10-yard drive of its own. Six of those plays, including the 42-yard sprint that got the whole thing started, went to Marshall. And fullback Bill Windham's six-yard burst punctuated the drive that gave the 'Horns the lead once again, 19-14 with 10:56 to play.

"We just tried to get the kids to realize that they needed to do the things they're capable of doing to have a chance to get back in the game," Scott said of his half-time directions for the 'Kats.

And that's what they did. Richard Morales banged over from the five-yard line midway through the fourth quarter to give Garden City a 20-19 edge. The play funneled through a gaping hole that Wesley Glass dug up front, and it capped a heads-up 80-yard drive that was spurred on by a 40-yard dash by Soles.

The Bearkat defense forced Bronte to punt away its next possession, then ran off 12 straight plays — including a successful fourth-and-two from the Longhorn 49 with 2:06 to play — before punting the ball back with 44 seconds left in the game.

"All the kids came over, and I told them that the book says you punt in that situation," Scott described the decision to send Soles over the top on fourth down with 2:06 remaining.

"They talked me out of it though, and then they went out there and got it."

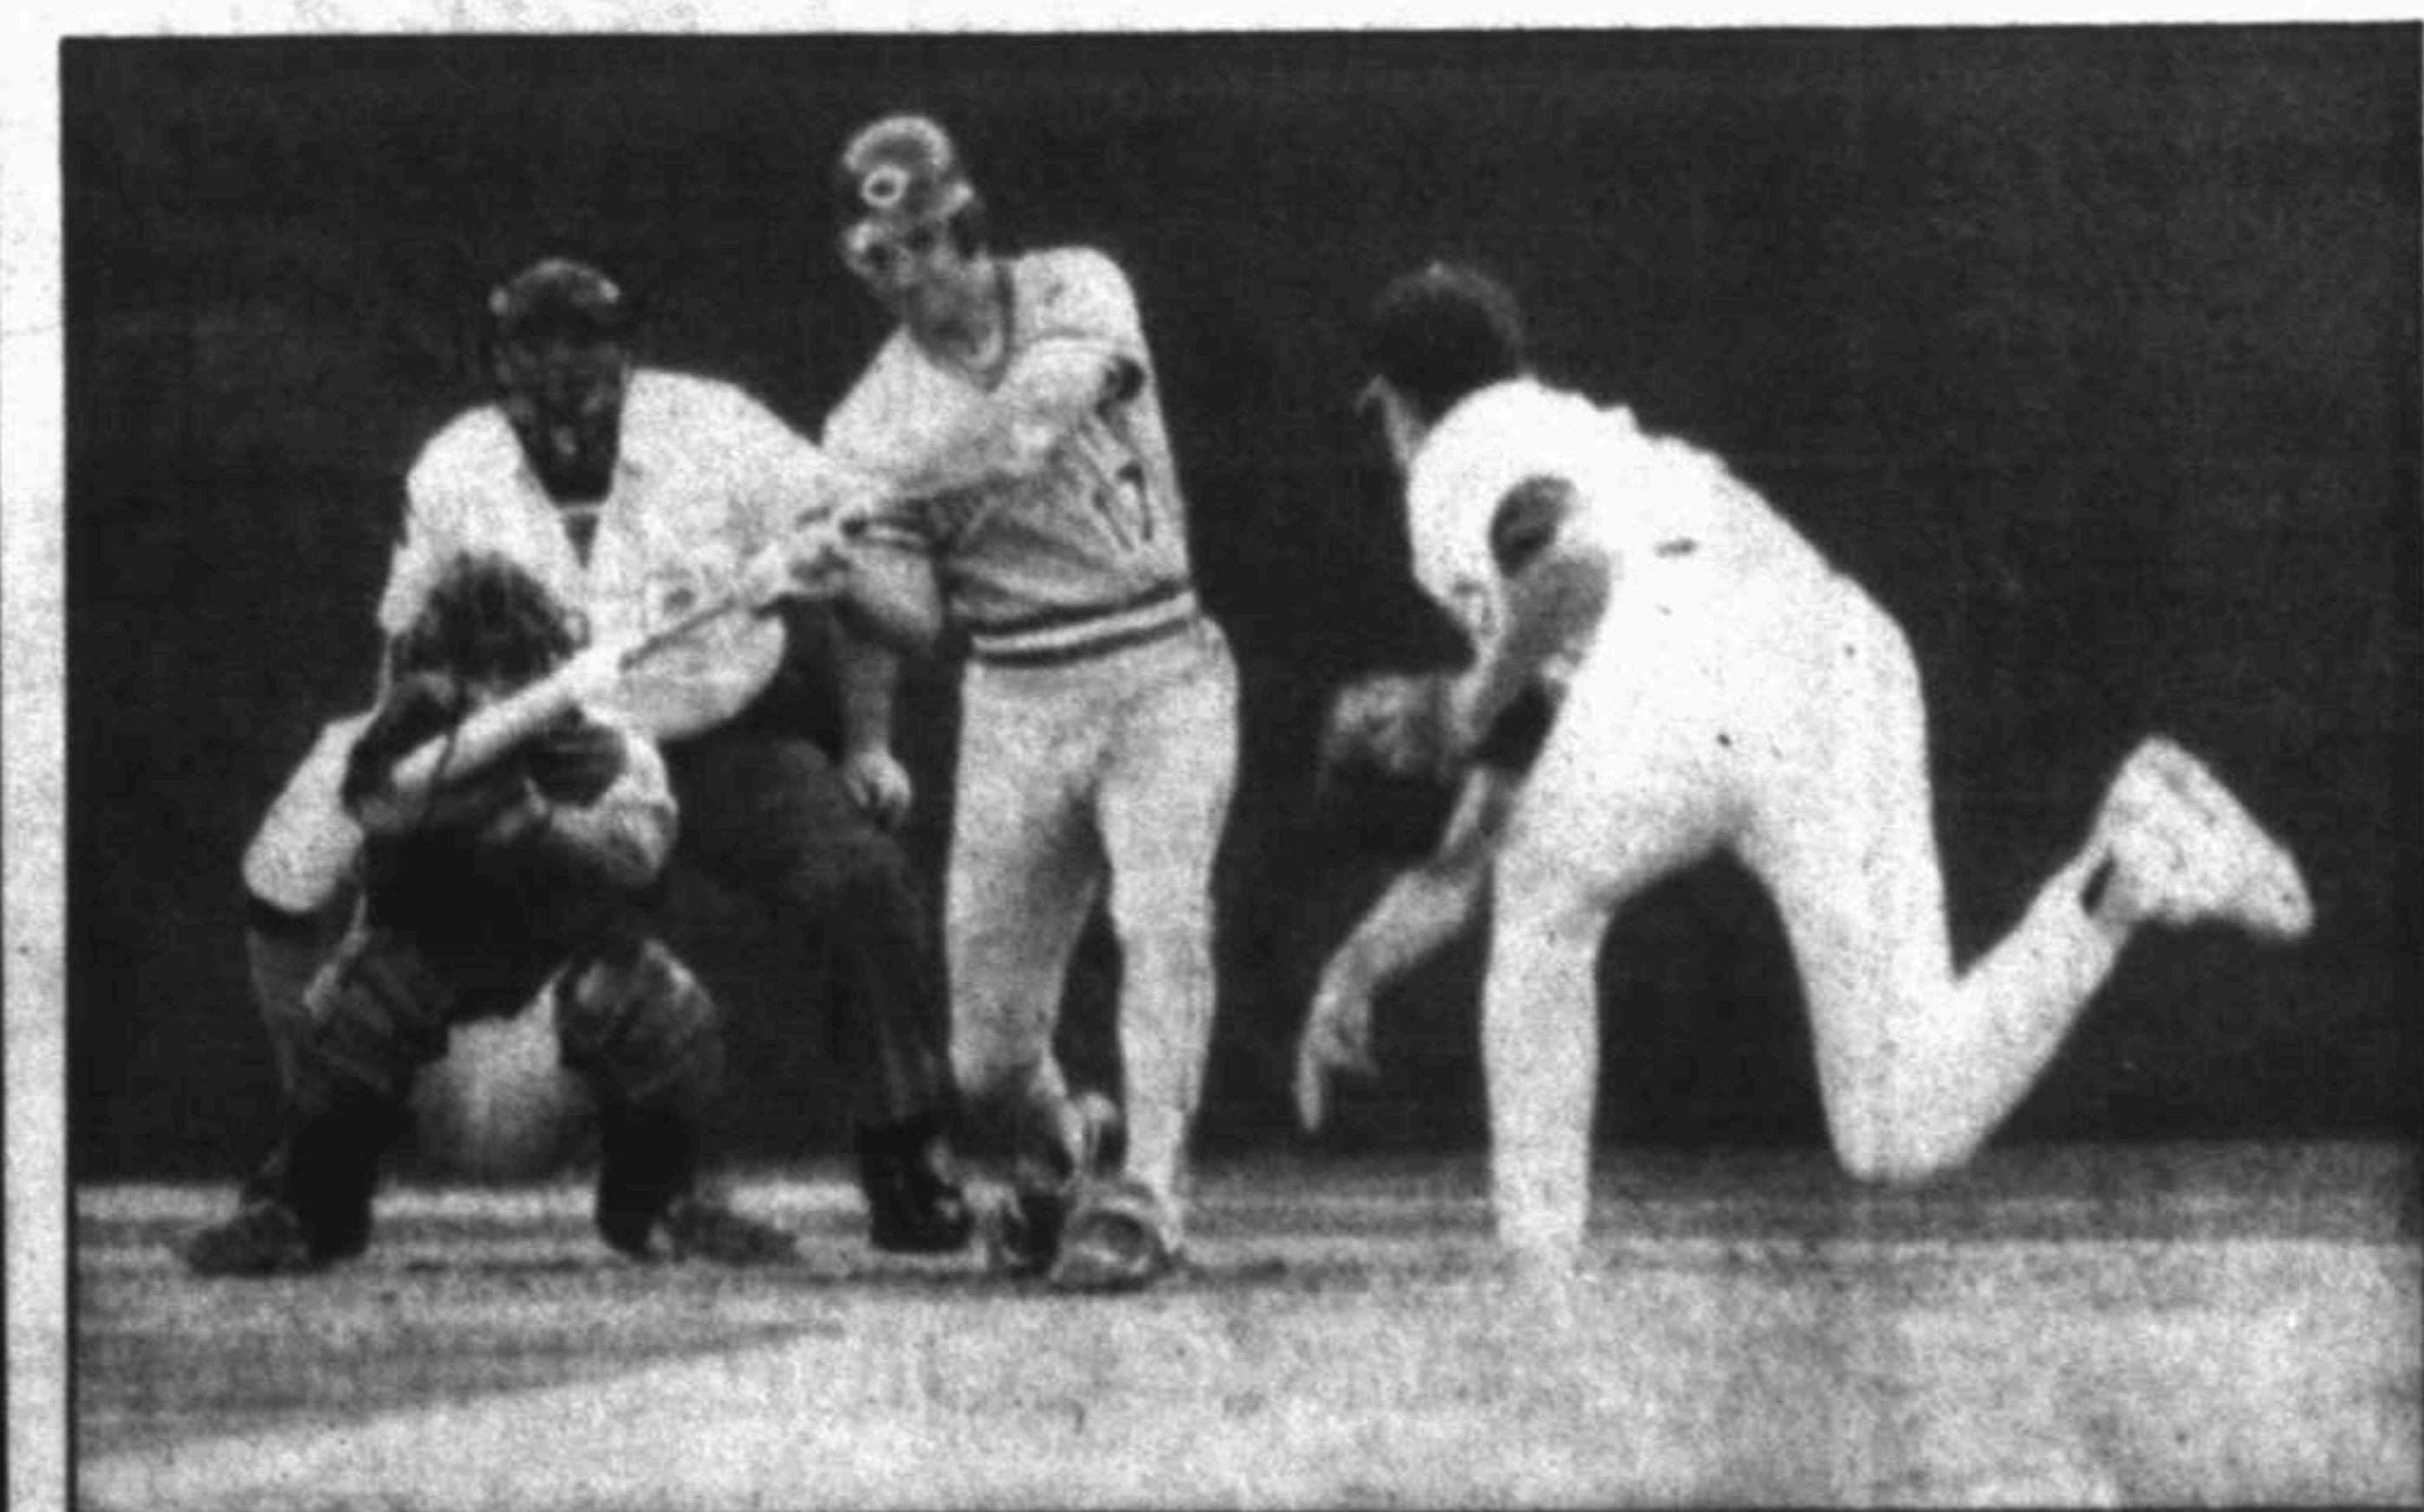

Garden City ground another minute and a half off the clock, then punted from Bronte territory.

Two plays later Ceasar Galindo led a charge by three Bearkats that dropped Phillips for a safety that finalized win.

Sweep? Does anyone have 'A' broom?

Cincinnati Reds' third baseman slams a second inning home run against Oakland Athletics' starting pitcher Mike Moore in Friday night's World Series Game 3 at the Oakland Coliseum. Sabo ended up with two home runs in the Cincinnati victory. Watching the first dinger are Oakland catcher Terry Steinbach and umpire Jim Quick.

■ Cincinnati is fast putting to rest any rumors of a Bay-Area dynasty-in-the-making as the Reds pound the A's 8-3 in Oakland.

Associated Press

OAKLAND, Calif. — Right result, wrong team.

The World Series is on the verge of a sweep — no surprise — but it's the Cincinnati Reds, not the Oakland Athletics who are doing the sweeping.

The Reds got there Friday night, beating Oakland 8-3 in the same way the A's beat everyone else.

Chris Sabo put Cincinnati in position with home runs in the second and third innings off pitiful Mike Moore, and added some Saboteage in the field with three nice plays among a record-tying 10 chances for a third baseman.

The Reds took advantage of an Oakland error, not the other way around, and they ran, ran, ran. They even got the breaks — Joe Oliver, who singled in the 10th to win Game 2, was safe when his check-swing roller hit the chalk on the third-base line and stayed fair.

The Athletics did finally solve Billy Hatcher, getting him to ground into a double play in his first at-bat after a streak of seven hits and two walks. But Hatcher singled during a seven-run third and finished 2-for-5.

By the end of the third, every Cincinnati batter, except Hal Morris, had either scored a run or driven one in, and it was 8-2. By that time, the fans were also out of it, having gone from shouts to shock. They did save some late boos, however, for Jose Canseco, whose misplay on a fly ball set up Oakland's loss in Game 2 and set off some angry words in the Athletics' clubhouse.

Tom Browning, pitching 44 hours after witnessing the birth of his son in a Cincinnati hospital, overcame Harold Baines' two-run homer in the second and stayed out of further trouble until Rob Dibble relieved in the seventh and Randy Myers took over in the eighth.

Overall, it was Oh Baby! for Browning and the boys from Cincinnati and again nasty for the Athletics. And, as it has yards while playing only part-time (11 carries) because of a deep thigh bruise, the Bobcats had an answer.

BOBCATS: Williams the difference

Surprisingly though, the 'Cats reply came in the form of fullback Steve Williams instead of the passing of quarterback Shea Morenz. While the windy conditions and an occasional MHS blitz forced Morenz into throwing incompletions on 15 of his 22 pass attempts, Williams was rumbling for 139 yards and all three of San Angelo's touchdowns.

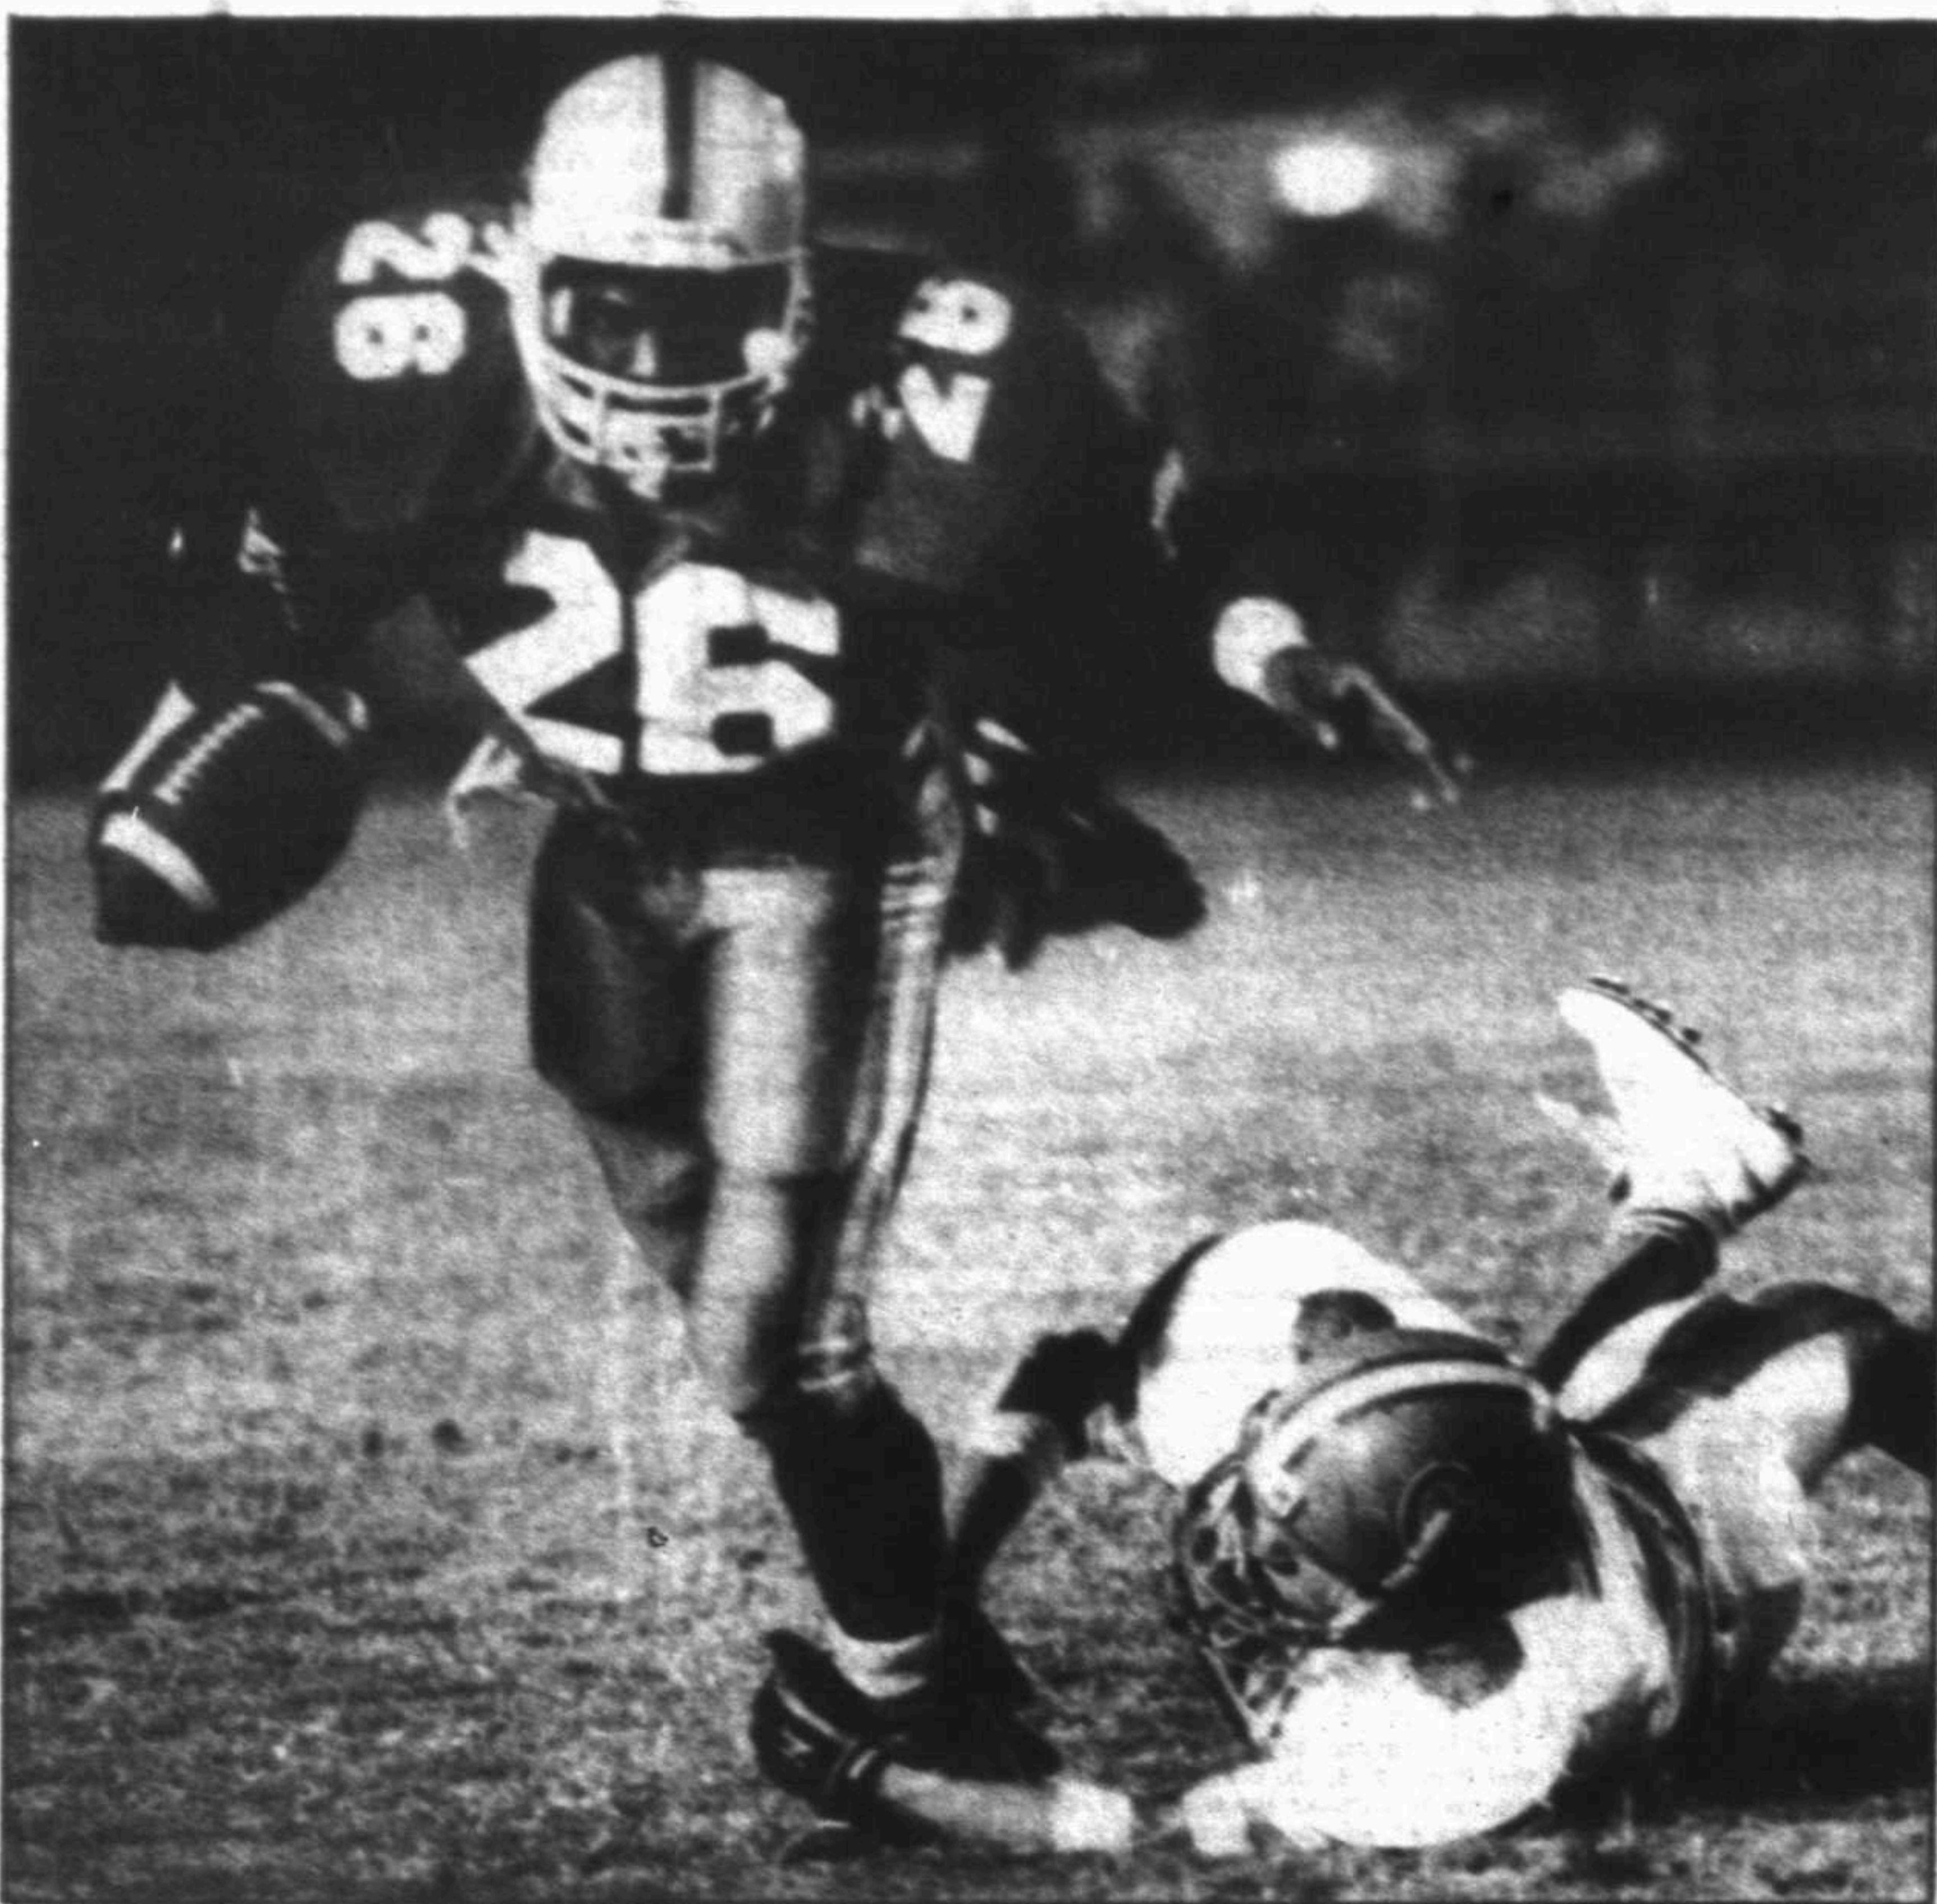

After a scoreless first quarter that saw Lee ride the bench for all 12 minutes, Williams gave the Bobcats the early lead on a nine-yard run with 9:44 to play in the first half. Scott Caudle added the point after kick that proved to play an important role in the game and gave the 'Cats a 7-0 edge.

But on the first snap after the 'Dogs took the kickoff, Lee burst through the San Angelo line and veered right as he dashed for 60 yards, then limped for 20 on his 80-yard scoring jaunt. MHS tried a two-point conversion from the kicking formation that wound up failing, leaving the 'Dogs behind on the scoreboard, 7-6.

"It's one of those deals where we have a receiver wide and if there's no coverage on him, the center reads it and snaps to Jesse (Arenivas, the regular quarterback)," said MHS head coach Davis Corley. "When Jesse got the ball he saw a man moving over to the receiver he dumped it off."

Arenivas dumped the ball off to Worley, who was dropped before entering the end zone. San Angelo padded its lead with the first possession of the second half, when Williams capped a 12-play, 68-yard drive by plunging in from a yard away. Again Caudle converted to make the score 14-6.

But Lee was to make his presence sorely felt in the 'Cat secondary soon, as he scooted for his 90-yarder score with 4:05 remaining in the third quarter. After missing the first extra point, MHS went for two from the power-I formation, missing on a pass to the middle of the end zone to leave the scoreboard at 14-12.

Then Worley's 48-yard field goal try came just inside the start of the fourth period with 11:27 to play, as the ball came off the goal post.

San Angelo took little time in taking advantage of the MHS' misfortune, as Morenz completed a 13-yard pass to Ryan King and Williams took off on a 43-yard burst. On the next play, Williams carried it home from 12 yards out, then Caudle closed the scorebook with his PAT kick.

As for the passing performance of Morenz, who entered the game among the state's leaders in that category with 1,170 yards, San Angelo head coach Dan Gandy was not wholly displeased.

"Any time the wind blows like it did tonight you're going to have trouble throwing the ball. You overthrow it when the wind's to your back and underthrow it going into the wind."

"But I don't want to take anything away from Midland. They played a tough pass defense."

'CATS: Hoping for lucky legal system

From 1B

San Angelo coach Dan Gandy said, "Every game you win is a big one, but this game really carried a lot of significance as far as third place is concerned. We would like to go on and win the rest of our games and take it all, but you can't overlook how important this win was for us against a good team."

There was some speculation that the winner of this contest would be seeking its own lawyer to protect itself against the injunction being sought by Permian. However, Gandy denies that San Angelo will resort to that tactic.

"First of all, I can't see how Permian can win an injunction without its own school district behind them," said Gandy. "I just can't conceive of that happening. We're in deep trouble if the UIL can't decide penalties. Permian is not above the level of the law."

They have to play by the same rules as we do and that's the way I see it."

When asked again if San Angelo would have to seek legal counsel at some point in time, Gandy answered, "We'll just have to wait and see what happens, but I really believe that my faith in the courts and the system will be upheld."

San Angelo's victory over MHS wasn't as great a surprise as the way it happened. Bobcat quarterback Shea Morenz had passed for 700 yards in his last two games, but hit only seven of 22 for 72 yards against the Bulldogs. It was fullback Steve Williams that bruised the Bulldog playoff hopes. Williams had 139 yards on 17 carries.

"We knew we had to win this one the way the district is this year. If you lose to both Odessa High and Midland High, you don't stand a very good chance of getting into the playoffs. Now we have a good shot at the playoffs," said Williams. "The passing game has been great for us, but we had a good running game tonight. My offensive line really took good care of me."

With a 1-3 district record, MHS ends the season by hosting Permian Friday and then traveling to Abilene Cooper in two weeks.

The one bright spot for MHS was James Lee, who cracked the 1,000-yard barrier with 191 yards on 11 carries with TD runs of 80 and 90 yards. He now has 1,077 yards for the year.

But no lawyer can save the Bulldogs now as the playoff drought continues. This loss was on the field of play and not in the courts or with that dreaded coin flip (1982 and 1988), but the hurt runs deep no matter how you look at it.

It's time to play 'Let's Make a Neal'

Big Spring

BIG SPRING — The Big Spring Steers, utilizing a powerful running game, stymied the Fort Stockton Panthers before an appreciative Homecoming crowd Friday night. The defending District 3-4A champs may have mistaken the Homecoming festivities for Neal Mayfield Day as the big senior rumbled his way to 123 yards on 18 carries and three touchdowns.

Big Spring wasted little time in getting on the scoreboard. The Steers' first possession began on Fort Stockton's 35 yard line. A poor punt from deep in Panther territory put the Steers in position to score. It then took the Steers only three plays to punch it in on Mayfield's one yard plunge. Only 9:51 remained in the first quarter, but for all intents and purposes that was the game.

Big Spring simply dominated the first half action, running 43 plays from scrimmage compared with Fort Stockton's 14. The Steers did not allow a first down all half nor did they allow the Panthers across mid-field. Big Spring's defense shut down Fort Stockton's running attack completely allowing only one gain of five or more yards in the half. The Panther passing attack was non-existent.

Big Spring's offense ground up yards, rolling to a 10 point half-time lead. That score could have easily been 24-0 had the Steers not dropped two sure touchdown passes. Quarterback Gerard Cobos was not called on to pass often as the running game was clicking on all cylinders. Yet, when he did throw the ball, it was on the money. Unfortunately for him, his receivers had a bad case of the drops.

In all fairness to both sides, a brisk wind out of the South made passing and kicking treacherous at times.

The second half brought little relief to the Panthers as Big Spring controlled the line of scrimmage and the ball. Mayfield continued his one man show as he broke free for a 43 yard touchdown run from scrimmage early in the third quarter. His score and subsequent PAT gave the Steers a 17 point cushion that was never threatened.

It wasn't until the middle of the fourth quarter that Fort Stockton earned its initial first down from scrimmage. Of their three on the night, two came via penalties against the Steers. Two of the first downs came in a drive that represented Fort Stockton's only foray into Big Spring territory.

Big Spring's offense was balanced as seven backs carried the ball. Mayfield was not the only Steer to put up impressive numbers. Roman Ortega slashed his way to 85 yards while Johnny Lozano quietly rang up 72 yards on 16 carries.

Some outstanding defensive plays were turned in by the Steers. Pat Chavarría picked off a Shannon Beeles pass as did Richard Kriesen. Kriesen had a touchdown taken away when a teammate was whistled for a clip on the return. The foul was well behind the play and the block totally unnecessary. Somebody will be sitting low in their chair watching film this week. It's not often those linebackers get into the end zone.

Perucca, Miller lead Mustangs

By Bill Grimes
Staff Writer

ANDREWS — Andrews' Eric Perucca took care of history in the first half of Friday's District 3-4A thriller with Pecos at the Mustang Bowl.

Then, Mustang halfback Zach Miller took care of the game with two of his three touchdowns in the second half of a 26-25 Andrews win that kept the Mustangs in the hunt for a playoff berth.

Perucca connected on a 57-yard field goal on the last snap of the first half to keep Andrews close. The clutch kick is believed to be a school record, though official confirmation was unavailable at press time.

After halftime homecoming festivities, Miller broke a 97-yard kickoff return up the middle behind a key block by Russell Morris to put the Mustangs ahead. Chris Garrett added a PAT run to push Andrews to an 18-12 lead.

Not to be outdone, Pecos ate up more than eight minutes with a 16-play, 74-yard drive that Myron Jenkins capped with a one yard run on fourth down with 1:34 left in the third quarter. Jaime Lara's extra-point kick put the Eagles up 19-18.

Pecos, 24 overall and 0-2 in district play, padded its lead on a 56-yard return of a Miller fumble by James Silvas with 3:30 left in the fourth quarter.

Even though Pecos misfired on a PAT pass, Andrews, 4-3 and 2-1, appeared to be in trouble because, 1) the Mustangs didn't pick up a second-half first down until the last six minutes of the game, and 2) the hosts had already lost three fumbles.

But after a squib kick by the Eagles gave Andrews the ball on its own 40 with little more than three minutes left, Miller broke off right end for a 37-yard run. Four plays later, the 164-pound junior took the ball in from the three for his third score of the night to bring the hosts back within one point.

Miller finished with a game-high 111 yards on 16 carries.

Andrews coach W.T. Stapler elected to go for the win, and quarterback Kevin Nichols made the veteran mentor look good with a two-point conversion run that produced the game's final points.

To Stapler, there was no choice but to try for two.

"A tie doesn't do us or them any good," he said. "Nick evidently made one heck of a play."

Pecos cornerback Ismael Ramirez stopped Nichols at the one on the conversion attempt, but the latter somehow wriggled through for the winning points.

After Perucca sent the ensuing kickoff out of the end zone, courtesy of a 20-mile-an-hour wind, four Pecos passes fell incomplete and the 'Stangs were able to run out the clock.

Both teams moved the ball well in the first half. Andrews had 171 of its 251 total yards before the break, but the Mustangs were victimized by a pair of lost fumbles in Pecos territory.

The Eagles eventually drew first blood on a four-yard run by Jenkins with 14 seconds left in the first quarter. Jenkins led the visitors with 94 yards and three touchdowns on 18 carries. Sophomore fullback Dominique Tellez added 91 yards on 19 trips for Pecos.

Just after Pecos' first TD, Andrews resorted to razzle-dazzle for their first scoring drive. A tight end option pass by Mike Garza to Oscar Bueno accounted for 38 yards of a 72-yard drive that ended with Miller's two-yard run with 7:43 left in the half.

Minutes later, Andrews got the ball on the Pecos 42 after a 10-yard punt by Silvas against the wind. Two incomplete passes and a short run later, Perucca stepped on the field and the straight-ahead kicker pounded the ball through the up-rights from the Pecos 47.

Rangers in the dark, lose 20-2

By Tom Ruiz
MRT Correspondent

GREENWOOD — It must have been a bad omen when the stadium lights were turned off during the halftime performance by the Greenwood band. Bad omen? Maybe. Because when the second half began, the Crane Golden Cranes turned off the lights on the Rangers, 20-2, in a District 6-3A game for both teams Friday night.

Greenwood scored its only points on a blocked punt mid-way through the opening quarter. On the play, Crane punter Michael Hambrick couldn't handle a high snap that sailed over his head and recovered the pigskin in the end zone just before Greenwood defenders fell on him for the safety.

But it was the Rangers lack of offensive firepower that left the door wide open for Crane in the second half.

Greenwood opened the game with a nifty 10-play drive that took them from their own 25 to the Crane 22.

"It hurts when you can't punch the ball in," said Greenwood coach Bob Purser. "If we could've scored there in the first half, this might've been a different ballgame," he added.

On the tenth play of the drive, quarterback Cody Mebane was left almost with no brain when two Crane defenders nearly jerked his head off on a tackle which led Mebane to fumble and end the scoring threat.

The Rangers squandered another scoring opportunity late in the half. Starting from their own 38, Greenwood scampered to the Crane 11 on six plays.

But on fourth and four, Mebane was not able to connect to Eric Clutter at the Crane 7.

Purser added that the ejection of defensive tackle Danny Harvick hurt his defensive unit.

"It hurt us because we really don't have much depth on defense," Purser said.

Crane, however, laid some hurt on their own on the Rangers in the second half.

Greenwood touched the ball for the first time in the third quarter with 5:48 left when Crane was unable to convert a fourth-down play at the Ranger 17. The play was close enough for a measurement, but the officials elected not to bring out the chains.

Ah, but justice is served. Greenwood took over on downs, but immediately fumbled the ball away, and Crane was sitting pretty from the 17.

One play later, Jason Johnson went in untouched for a 7-2 lead.

Two Crane possessions later, the Cranes scored when Chad Ellison found a wide-open Ricky Flores from 13-yards out and a 14-2 lead.

Turnovers, no doubt, killed Greenwood in the quarter.

"The fumbles did hurt us there," said Purser. "I also felt like the Crane defense did a number on us more than we did it on ourselves."

The Rangers squandered another

The Crane defense held the Rangers to a mere 32 yards of total offense in the second half.

Meanwhile, Crane's Ricardo Garza churned out 172 yards on the ground. Eighty of those came in the fourth period, when he broke off right tackle and scampered easily into the endzone, with 6:02 left to play.

"That 20-2 score was just too much to overcome. When you don't have a wide-open game, it's pretty tough to comeback," Purser commented.

The 6-1, 1-1 Rangers will have to regroup quickly when they travel to Kermit next Friday.

Braves roll over Stanton

Staff Report

IRAAN — The Iraan Braves remained unbeaten on the season and in District 6-2A play here Friday night with a 58-0 romp over the Stanton Buffaloes, who have not found the win column this year.

Stanton is now 0-7 on the year and 0-4 in loop play while Iraan is 6-0-1 and 4-0.

Iraan's Riley Malone rushed for 178 yards on 30 carries and scored three touchdowns while Corby Maurer ran for two touchdowns and passed another.

".....Sparkling Silence"

There is a song which has been popular for many years, entitled "Little Things Mean A Lot." One of those "little things" is a smile.

Have you ever experienced a day when everything seemed to be going wrong? Then you happened upon someone who gave you a smile, a special smile which traveled from the heart, paused at the lips, and went on to reflect the warmth of caring eyes. Maybe that smile brightened the moment, or even gave you that extra bit of strength to make it through the day feeling less "blue."

So, as you go on your way, try to give someone you pass that very special gift of a smile. It takes such little effort, yet it can mean so much.

As we worship God this week, may we thank Him for the love of God which may be reflected from the shining window of a twinkling eye, making mere words unnecessary.

"that ultimate sparkling silence."

Church hosting creation forum

The Christian Church of Midland today will host a seminar dealing with the creation of earth in the church auditorium, 2608 Neely.

"Steven A. Austin of the Institute for Creation Research, El Cajon, Calif., will present the extraordinary series of processes initiated by the 1980 eruption of Mount St. Helens to challenge our way of thinking about ourselves, the earth, Noah's flood and God," said a church release.

Austin will explain his involvement with the volcano before, during and after the eruptions. He also will investigate the various methods used to estimate the age of the earth.

Austin is an associate professor and chairman of the Geology Department, Institute for Creation Research, Santee, Calif.; associate professor and visiting professor of geology, Christian Heritage College, El Cajon, Calif.; and president, Keymar Resources, Inc. — Idaho Oil Exploration and Drilling Corp.

He is associated with the American Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists.

Today's presentation is planned for 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

A $5 suggested donation will be collected during the coffee and registration at 8:30 a.m. For more information call 684-7681.

The public is invited to attend.

Ladies seminar today

A "Ladies Seminar" is set for 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. today at Kelview Heights Baptist Church, 402 W. Scharbauer Drive.

Jan Frank, author of "A Door of Hope," will conduct the seminar.

"As you hear Jan Frank's story of transformation, you will sense the serenity that comes as a result of God's healing in her life," said a church release. "Her compassion and gentle spirit are evident as she openly shares her recovery process through the anointing of the Holy Spirit."

Mrs. Frank, who has been the victim of incest, married her husband in 1979. Shortly after the birth of their child, she realized she had the potential of physically abusing her child.

"As she prayed for help, God made clear the link of her present problems with her past experiences," the release said. "Since the Lord has led Jan through a healing process and helped her develop steps to help other victims."

Cost of the seminar is $10. For more information call Kelview Heights, 682-3042.

Theater group performs

The Covenant Players, a nationally acclaimed theater group, will perform at St. Ann's Catholic Church in the gym, Illinois Avenue and N Street, at 6 p.m. Sunday.

The focus of the Christian drama will be on youth. All youth groups and high school religion classes are invited as well as interested adults.

"Covenant Players utilizes a unique kind of drama," said a release from St. Ann's. "With a repertoire of over 1,500 plays, there is a flexibility to be able to communicate a wide variety of themes, issues and subject matter. Using everything from light comedy to heavy drama, plus science fiction, biblical characterizations and more, the Players present the messages of the gospel."

No admission will be charged. For more information call Joe Peabody, 682-7033.

Visitations scheduled

Coinciding with National Shut-in Day, Midland Seventh-day Adventist will team up today and Sunday to visit all the shut-ins they know about.

President Richard Nixon proclaimed the third Sunday of October — Sunshine Sunday — as the day to remember shut-ins in 1972.

"A visit is the best and most effective means of taking sunshine to a shut-in," said Eddie Card, pastor of the Midland Seventh-day Adventist. "Of course, our long range goal will be to develop an on-going visitation program. We figure that loneliness is a curable disease, and we — people — are the cure."

Challenge for a continuing ministry to shut-ins will be given at 9:30 a.m. today. Community residents are welcome to worship with the Adventist or to join them in this visitation thoughtfulness this weekend.

Church forum Sunday

Nancy Anderson, the outreach coordinator-counselor for the Permian Basin Center for Battered Women and Their Children, will speak at the Unitarian Universalist Church forum at 10 a.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Anderson graduated from Texas Tech University with a bachelor's degree in human development and family services.

The Permian Basin Battered Women's Center provides a variety of services to the community including a 24-hour hotline, a shelter for battered families, counseling services, legal assistance and support groups. The Center also provides a counseling program for the abusive partner.

The church is located at the corner of Neely Avenue and Midkiff Street. The public is invited.

Church showing film

"Molder of Dreams" with Guy Doud is being presented at Kelview Heights Baptist Church at 5:45 p.m. Sundays through Nov. 4. Doud is a former Teacher of the Year.

"Growing up, Doud was a loser, and everyone knew it," said a release from Kelview Heights. "Any hopes and dreams he had in life would have to be kept to himself because that's all they would ever be — dreams.

"Then something happened. But what? How did this social outcast become National Teacher of the Year, and find himself standing in the Oval Office, being honored by the President of the United States?"

The film series was produced by Focus on the Family Films.

100th birthday slated

The First Christian Church is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year.

As a part of the planned activities, Oct. 27 has been designated as homecoming day where all former members and invited to return for a continental breakfast to be served at the church at 9:30 a.m. prior to the 10:30 a.m. worship service.

As always, visitors are welcome and are encouraged to celebrate this special event with both the members and the former members of the church.

Camp meeting, Bible Bowl this weekend

Bethel United Methodist Church is hosting an old-fashioned Camp Meeting through Sunday.

"The land for Bethel United Methodist Church has recently been purchased and the congregation, as an expression of thanksgiving and confidence in God's continued provision, is planning a weekend of celebration and dedication," said a release from the church.

"The land purchase was not just a bargain, it was a miracle and the Bethel family and I want to share with the community our excitement and thanksgiving," said the Rev. K.C. Blacketter, pastor of the two-year old congregation. Bethel currently meets at the Alamo YMCA at 10 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Sundays and has CARE groups meeting in home during the week.

The Camp Meeting, entitled "Standing on the Promises," is being held on the church's property, one block south of Wadley at Loop 250. The Camp Meeting began Friday.

The children's BIBLE BOWL begins today at 6:15 p.m. and services begin today at 7:30 p.m. The Camp Meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Sunday.

Speaker for the Camp Meeting is evangelist Jack Gray, founder and president of Kids for Christ International. Gray helped develop and direct the Bible Bowl ministries for children.

Called to preach when he was 17, Gray served 17 years as pastor in five North Texas United Methodist churches before entering a full-time ministry in evangelism in 1968. Active in evangelism for 32 years, Gray has preached in churches of all denominations throughout the United States and many nations abroad.

Song leader for the weekend is Laura Fields, who, in addition to leading the singing, is a featured soloist. Glory Bound, a men's quartet from St. Paul United Methodist Church, and the Chancel Choir from First United Methodist Church are providing special camp meeting selections. Musical accompaniment is being provided by LaRae Phillips of Odessa.

A nursery is being provided for infants, toddlers and preschoolers for all events. The public is invited to attend each event. For more information call the church office, 682-2626 or 682-2468.

Holy Trinity guest speaker to explain liturgical dance

San Antonio native Tinka Tarver talks about her experiences as a liturgical dancer and an artist at 11 a.m. Tuesday at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, 1400 W. Illinois Ave.

Mrs. Tarver, who earned a bachelor of science degree in painting in 1963 from The University of Texas at Austin, is a well-known artist in San Antonio. A piece of her sculpture is in the permanent collection of the San Antonio Museum of Art.

During the 1970s, Mrs. Tarver danced in churches, seminaries and synagogues throughout Texas with The Company of Heaven, an ecumenical liturgical dance group sponsored by the San Antonio Council of Churches. She served as the group's director for five years.

"Dance as part of the liturgy," Mrs. Tarver said. "I've danced in every known denomination of church. It's real easy to put it into something like an Episcopal church. It's a liturgical church and it fits right in. Dancing in a Baptist or Methodist church you can just slip it into the service whenever and however you want to."

"It's really not so shocking. People accept other arts in the church. They're used to music, used to stained glass windows — any kind of visual arts."

Her Midland talk and the luncheon which follows are open to the public. Lunch is $3.50. Reservations, which are necessary, may be made by calling 683-4207.

'Gone With the Wind' takes Moscow by storm

MOSCOW (AP) — With popping flashbulbs, furs and limousines, Hollywood made a classic entrance in Moscow Friday night for the Soviet premiere of "Gone With The Wind."

The 1939 epic began an indefinite engagement in Moscow courtesy of a British-Soviet joint venture and Ted Turner, the American media mogul already known in the Soviet Union for his Cable News Network and Goodwill Games.

A Red Army band played outside the 2,500-seat Oktyabr theater while moviegoers were treated to a yellow champagne-lookalike before the opening. The VIPs got the real stuff, with caviar, behind a guarded door.

Hundreds of people jammed the sidewalk in front of the theater on one of Moscow's main thoroughfares for a chance to view what Turner called the American equivalent of Tolstoy's "War and Peace," another tale of lives torn asunder by a great war.

"Gone With The Wind" is set in the Civil War during the time of the emancipation of the slaves, the same years in which serfdom was abolished in czarist Russia. The countries' histories took widely divergent paths after that, but Turner saw a modern day analogy.

"The spirit of Scarlett O'Hara is what the Russian people need right now," he said before introducing the film to his Soviet audience.

Five years into the jolting reforms launched by Gorbachev, store shelves are bare and many Soviets predict a hungry winter.

"Because they're going through a huge transition, they have to do like she did (and say) 'With God as my witness, I'll never be hungry again,' and go to work to rebuild their country with a new economic system. You can't sit around ... moaning and groaning about the days that are gone."

In its review of the film, the Soviet news agency Tass said "it will turn the attention of our contemporaries to the beauty of noble feelings."

But Soviets seem to crave anything foreign, particularly American, whether noble or banal. The lines outside "Gone with the Wind" were similar to those at the McDonald's and Pizza Hut restaurants that opened this year in Moscow.

The film retained the original sound-track, with Russian-language subtitles.

Movie fans had to queue up for at least two hours for the chance to pay 15 rubles, $25 at the official exchange rate.

Formal black-tie attire was optional for this premiere; the movie's organizers guessed most Soviets had never even seen a dinner jacket up close. But they also wanted to let people see what a Hollywood premiere could be like, and many Soviet guests dressed snazzily for the occasion.

In a country where a sale of tennis shoes can cause a near-riot, some wore Italian suits and formal gowns, while others were draped in furs and silk of the sort unseen in ordinary Soviet stores.

WORLD IN BRIEF

American worker kidnapped in Angola

LUANDA, Angola (AP) — A U.S. helicopter mechanic for a company contracted by Chevron Corp. was kidnapped by armed guerrillas in northern Angola Friday, a government official said.

According to the official, mechanic Brent Swan and an Angolan colleague were abducted as they drove to a heliport in Cabinda, an oil-rich province where separatist rebels have staged anti-government operations.

But no group had claimed responsibility for the kidnapping by late Friday.

Gary Weber, a spokesman for Petroleum Helicopter Inc. in Lafayette, La., confirmed Swan is an employee, but declined to discuss the incident "at this time."

The Angolan official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, did not give Swan's age or hometown.

Hostages in Bekaa?

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanese military intelligence sources said Friday that Moslem extremists last week transferred the American and British hostages they are holding from Beirut's southern slums to east Lebanon's Bekaa Valley.

The switch was made before government troops and the Syrian army launched a joint attack Saturday that ended the 11-month rebellion by Gen. Michel Aoun in the Christian heartland northeast of the capital, the sources said, speaking on condition of anonymity.

A source reported, "We believe they are now held in Sheikh Abdulla barracks in Baalbek and in the nearby village of Nabi Sheet, but we do not know who, or how many, are held in either place."

One source said the Syrians had to know of the move, since they control the roads from Beirut to the Bekaa, "but we do not know whether they had any role in it."

The sources said those transferred included the six Americans held and Britons Terry Waite, the Anglican Church envoy, and journalist John McCarthy.

Rebels push talks

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Salvadoran guerrillas have begun a diplomatic offensive and increased their military activity, hoping the mixture will bring progress in stalemated peace talks with the government.

The Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front, or FMLN, began meetings Thursday with Latin American and European governments. The night before, rebels attacked the base of El Salvador's air force on the eastern edge of the capital, damaging several helicopters.

Rebel spokesmen said the actions were intended to bring movement in peace talks with the government of President Alfredo Cristiani.

Teddy 'bearly' affordable

LONDON (AP) — The owner of a store that sells teddy bears paid 8,800 pounds ($17,100) Friday for a rare 78-year-old teddy bear, auctioneers said.

It was purchased by Jane Pout, who owns a teddy bear shop with an adjoining museum.

STAYING WELL AND ACTIVE WITH ASTHMA

John D. Bray, M.D. and Certified Allergist and Pediatric Pulmonary Physician.

Asthma is the most common reason, of any chronic disease, to cause children to miss school and adults to miss work. It is also, the most cited reason for a child's inability to participate in sports and physical education classes. In the large majority of cases, this is unnecessary. Asthma can't be cured, but it almost always, can be well controlled.

Over 7% of the American population suffers from Asthma. The frequency of asthma in the population and the number of deaths caused by asthma is clearly increasing.

Asthma has become the most common reason for hospitalizations of American children. Based on recent United States statistics, 6.3 million school days are missed, per year, due to allergies and asthma.

Almost always, these problems can be prevented by using a comprehensive preventative medical approach. The importance of patient education and a close working relationship between the patient and the physician cannot be over emphasized.

Sills favors moral standards

NEW YORK (AP) — Opera star Beverly Sills says she doesn't like violence and explicit sex in the arts, but "you can't legislate taste."

"We have laws today that tell us we can't smoke on airplanes, but you can freely sing — if you'll pardon the expression — about the joys of violating a woman's body in monstrous detail on commercial recordings because it's a constitutional right," Sills told about 1,000 people Thursday night at the 45th annual Alfred E. Smith Memorial Dinner.

The $500-a-plate dinner, run by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of New York, benefits health care causes.

"We do not need self-appointed vigilantes to insist upon legislating artistic work, because you can't legislate taste," Ms. Sills said. "You can't criminalize imagination. You shouldn't throw artists in jail."

Instead, she said, higher moral standards are needed.

"Now I'm all for artistic freedom — I used to be a performing artist myself — but we as a society are growing dangerously out of touch with our conscience," she said.

Ms. Sills spoke at the Waldorf-Astoria at what has been called the city's most important non-political political event. Among guests were Mayor David Dinkins, former Mayor Ed Koch and syndicated columnist William F. Buckley.

Ms. Sills, 61, is a soprano who directed the New York City Opera from 1979 to 1989 after retiring from the stage.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Barry Levinson, one of the most bankable of directors with credits like "Rain Man" and "Good Morning, Vietnam," says movie makers' power over the world outside Hollywood is overrated.

"I don't think filmmakers can influence or affect anything," he said during a recent interview while promoting his newest movie, "Avalon."

"I think sometimes we can make a ripple," Levinson said, "but, I mean, we're just a teaspoon in the ocean."

Levinson got his break in Hollywood writing comedy scripts for "The Tim Conway Show" and "The Carol Burnett Show" 20 years ago. He takes a rather dim view of television, but says it's hard to overstate its influence.

"I don't think it's the culprit; it's not the only thing that's wrong with our society," he said.

"But if you had to ask me what was one of the (main) things that has been influential over the last half of the 20th century, I'd have to say it's television. I don't think we know its ramifications — psychologically, sociologically — but it's frightening."

Playing in limited release, Levinson's autobiographical "Avalon" collected $201,574 for a spectacular per-screen average of $28,796, according to figures released Monday by Exhibitor Relations Co. Inc. "Avalon" opened nationwide on Friday.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Sportscenter Red Barber and National Public Radio host Bob Edwards finally spoke face to face Friday after nearly 10 years of conversing over the phone. Millions of listeners hear Barber in his distinctive Florida drawl talk by telephone with Edwards at 7:35 every Friday morning on the "Morning Edition" program.

But the pair has never done a broadcast in person. Edwards was in Florida's capital, which is Barber's home, for a fund-raiser to benefit the NPR affiliate WFSU.

"This will be a little easier for me because I'm a little hard of hearing, and now I can read your lips," said Barber, 82.

"And I'm making no campaign promises," joked Edwards.

The 3½-minute show, which began in 1981, is by far the most popular segment on NPR, generating thousands of telephone calls and letters, Edwards said.

"I think it's because Red is a real person, he's not plastic," he said. "He's the kind of person you want to meet and talk with over the fence in the back yard."

Barber has been involved in broadcasting for 60 years, starting with the Cincinnati Reds. He is best known as the voice of the Brooklyn Dodgers from 1939 to 1953 and his trademark "Oh Doctor!" marking big plays.

LONDON (AP) — Novelist Frederick Forsyth was divorced by his actress wife, Carrie, on Friday on grounds they have lived apart for two years.

Forsyth, 52-year-old author of the best-sellers, "The Day of the Jackal," "The Dogs of War" and "The Odessa File," did not contest the divorce.

The couple, who had been married for 17 years, have two children, Frederick, 13, and Shane, 11.

The divorce was granted by E.J. Holman, sitting as an assistant recorder in the London Divorce Court. Afterwards, Mrs. Forsyth attended a short hearing in private to deal with arrangements for the children, which were not disclosed.

PERSIAN GULF CRISIS

Refueling mission

An armed U.S. Air Force F-16 fighter pulls up under a KC-135 refueling tanker over the Persian Gulf to take on fuel while patrolling Thursday afternoon. Military aircraft patrol the area 24 hours per day.

In Baghdad, imported food plentiful

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — An array of imported food can be seen in Baghdad grocery stores these days, despite the United Nations trade embargo imposed on Iraq in retaliation for its invasion of Kuwait.

But many of the items on store shelves are from what Iraqis call their 19th province — Kuwait, which was stripped of consumer goods after Iraq took over on Aug. 2.

Buyers in Baghdad can find mackerel from China, sardines, tuna and pineapples from Asia, olives from Morocco, butter cookies from Denmark and grape juice from Austria. They can even get American hot sauce.

But whether they can afford the items is another question. Prices are rising beyond the reach of the common man in this city of 4.5 million.

At Baghdad's popular riverside fish restaurants almost all the tables are full, and diners have a choice of roast chicken, baked fish or beef. But a chicken lunch in an average restaurant costs $15.

Motorists at Baghdad's open market park their cars with whatever food is available.

"Before, I used to buy food for the whole month; now I buy all the food I can get," a taxi driver said.

The basics — wheat, milk, sugar and tea — are not available and "this is hurting many average Iraqis," said a European diplomat, who like the others spoke on condition of anonymity.

Events signal tough time on farms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Mideast crisis and the oil crunch are helping set the stage for some rougher times ahead for farmers, an Agriculture Department report said Friday.

Net cash income of farmers — the difference between gross cash income and cash expenses — is still expected to be at a record level in 1990, probably in the range of $59 billion to $63 billion.

That is unchanged from previous forecasts by the department's Economic Research Service.

"However, abundant crops, lackluster commodity prices, the oil shock and a weaker global economic outlook are putting downward pressure on farmers' receipts and boosting expenses for this quarter and into next year," the report said.

Farmers have "undergone a major financial restructuring" since the previous oil shock and recession in the early 1980s, it said. Total farm debt has dropped about one-third from the 1983 peak of $193 billion.

"With a lighter debt burden and record income this year, U.S. farmers are in a stronger position to withstand a drop in income," the report said.

The agency did not make a prediction of 1991 farm income, however. That forecast is expected to be announced during the department's annual outlook conference here Nov. 27-29.

condition of anonymity.

The government has rationed these items along with cooking oil, soap, detergent and rice.

"The milk situation is pretty grim," said an Iraqi official, who also spoke on condition of anonymity.

He would not give any figures, but said: "I would say that pretty soon, we will be in a serious crisis."

"Our assessment is that without any external help, Iraqis can last four to five months," said an Asian diplomat. "And by that time, their winter wheat crops will be ready."

He noted that Iraqi farmland is very fertile and abundantly irrigated by rivers.

"Like any other developing society, farming had been neglected in Iraq, but now it appears that the government is serious," he said.

Before the Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait brought on the U.N. embargo, Iraq had imported most of its food.

Now, in an effort to fight the blockade, the government has asked farmers to triple wheat cultivation by devoting all farmland into the crop.

Financial incentives have been offered and orders issued that no land should go to waste.

"We expect big response and big success," said Deputy Prime Minister Sadoun Hamadi.

"These objectives center on the main issue of self-sufficiency in grains, at least at a minimum level, although some say that we are able to go beyond that," Hamadi said.

State television runs programs on how to raise poultry, an Iraqi staple, and cultivate the ubiquitous date palm.

"There is tremendous enthusiasm," said Jihada Samran Abedhi, a 50-year-old mother of seven children, who heads a collective farm at Sholei, 16 miles west of Baghdad.

"We are planting wheat on 80 percent of our land this season," she told a group of reporters. "We are also planting barley, beans and potatoes."

"We know about efforts by imperialist America to starve us, but this is not going to work," Mrs. Abedhi said as she drove off to instruct a group of farmers.

Availability of fertilizers is uncertain, and spare parts and lubricants for agricultural equipment, as well as imported seed, may run out because of the trade embargo, diplomats said.

"If the government succeeds in promoting agriculture the way it is doing now, it will suddenly be a big plus point in fighting the blockade," said the European diplomat.
