World Scientists Hail Soviet Moon Hit

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev is flying to Washington Tuesday amid worldwide acclaim for the Soviet feat of landing a rocket on the moon.

Congratulations streamed in today from the six continents for this development in the conquest of space.

American scientists were among the first to hail the handling of the 860-pound lunar probe as a remarkable job of scientific reckoning and marksmanship.

The official reaction of the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration was summed up in Washington by its deputy administrator, Dr. Hugh Dryden.

"We have followed with interest the travel of the Soviet lunar probe to its impact with the moon," Dryden said.

"We wish to congratulate our fellow scientists and engineers on their success in this forward step in the exploration of space.

"We hope that the scientific data obtained in this flight will soon be available for study by the scientists of all countries."

The Soviet news agency Tass picked up a British story quoting Heinz Kaminsky, director of the Bochum Observatory in the Ruhr, as saying the feat could be compared to a rifleman hitting the eye of a fly at a distance of six miles.

Radio Budapest said Hungarian scientists spotted a dust cloud raised on the moon when the rocket landed at 12:02 a.m. A black ring was visible for more than an hour after the probe's radio signals stopped on impact, it said, and the scientists expressed belief this outlined a new crater cut into the sand and rock of the moon's surface.

From Britain's major space tracking station, Prof. A. J. Lovell, director of the huge radio telescope at Jodrell Bank, said: "At the moment of impact the telescope was accurately positioned in the direction of the moon and there is no reason to doubt that the Lunik capsule made impact on the lunar surface."

A leading Soviet astronomer said today the next step in the preparation for landing people on the moon is to set up a robot observatory there.

Aleksandr Mikhailov, director of the Pulkovo Astronomical Observatory was heard in London over Moscow radio.

There was no immediate reaction from President Eisenhower.

But Saturday, after the Soviets announced the launching of their newest moon rocket, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said: "It has been known for some time that both the Soviets and the United States have had the capability for such shots, and this comes as no surprise."

The Russians were clearly delighted about the success of this effort in the enhancement of Soviet prestige as Khrushchev prepared to start his exchange of visits with President Eisenhower.

The Soviets did not disclose the exact time or site of the rocket launching, but newsmen estimated that it took off sometime early Saturday. They reckoned the capsule soared 236,160 miles to the moon in about 35 hours.

The rocket carried pennants bearing the Soviet hammer-and-sickle emblem and an inscription "Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, September 1959."

The Soviet news agency Tass said special measures had been taken to make sure the pennants bearing the emblem remained intact despite the terrific impact of the moon landing.

The dramtic shot, sure to give Khrushchev's visit a sharp prestige boost, marked the first time man has lobbed a missile through space to hit a celestial target.

News of the flight was hailed on both sides of the Iron Curtain as a major scientific achievement.

In Jodrell Bank, England, Prof. Alfred Lovell, in charge of the world's biggest radio telescope, termed the moon rocket "a brilliant demonstration of the advanced state of Russian technology."

It was Jordell Bank that flashed first word that the Soviets had been successful in their moon shot.

American scientists congratulated the Soviet Union on her feat and expressed hope information gleaned from the rocket would be shared with the world.

But Vice President Richard M. Nixon said official proof was still lacking that the Soviets really hit the moon.

Midwest Demos Dissolve Harmony

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The 14-state Midwest Democratic Conference has split into two factions, dissolving the harmony sought at a weekend meeting here.

Each group elected officers and accused the other of holding a rump meeting Sunday.

Both factions said party issues and potential presidential candidates were not affected by the split.

Heading the rival groups are Jame More of Harlan, Iowa, and Frank Theis of Arkansas City, Kan.

More, as conference chairman, opened the business meeting by ruling that a constitution adopted six months ago at Milwaukee was illegal. He said there wasn't a quorum at Milwaukee and no prior notice was given of the proposed constitutional change.

The new constitution says only current state party chairmen, vice chairmen and national committee members can vote and hold office in the Midwest Conference.

More, former Iowa state chairman, no longer qualified for the conference chairmanship under the new constitution.

When he announced his ruling, party officers from 11 states walked out and held a separate meeting. They represented Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, West Virginia and Wisconsin, and claimed 37 of the 54 votes in the conference.

Theis, Kansas chairman and national committeeman, was elected chairman.

More, who was retained as chairman of his faction, said his group included representatives from Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, South Dakota and Oklahoma. Most of them appeared to be former party officers.

Both sides said it would be up to the National Democratic Committee to decide which represents the conference.

The Theis faction scheduled a meeting next March 20 in Detroit. More's group was invited to hold its next meeting in the fall of 1960 at Lincoln, Neb.

More said Paul Butler, national committee chairman, was behind the walkout and wants to control the conference.

"I don't know why Butler wants me removed," More told newsmen. "Nobody can control this conference except its members."

Marguerite R. Benson of Milwaukee, conference vice chairman, and Ruby Harris of Wichita, Kan., conference secretary, walked out with Theis and were re-elected by his group.

City Budget Hearing Is Set Tonight

Public hearing on the city's 1959-60 budget will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the city hall during the regular session of the council for this month.

The budget hearing usually is just a formality, with no one appearing to protest.

First reading of an ordinance setting the tax rate of $1.65 per $100 valuation is also to be considered tonight. The valuation is based on 40 per cent of actual values. The tax rate and valuation percentage is the same as for the 1958-59 fiscal year.

The council will also consider the approval of plans and specifications on a new storm sewer in southeast Snyder, and if approved bids are expected to be called for on Oct. 5, on the project.

Report on a survey of commercial refuse collections and charges made recently by Earl Davis, sanitation superintendent, and Ronald Neighbors, assistant city manager will be made.

The report shows that many business firms now have large quantities of refuse, but pay only a small fee, while others have a small quantity of refuse and pay the minimum of $3 per month.

The survey report proposes that some businesses be given a new lower rate than they now pay, and some a higher rate based on the amount of refuse collected.

Congress Pushing To Close Session

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress edges its way toward possible adjournment today with friends and foes already appraising its legislative record.

If Southern opponents halt their attack on a rider extending the life of the Civil Rights Commission, the Senate may be able to complete action on a $3,281,813,000 foreign aid bill it approved in substance Saturday.

But there was no terminal hour on the Dixie verbal onslaught against the commission, nor on the potential counter-threat that Northerners might push for stronger civil rights legislation this year.

The House, standing by, was ready for efforts to compromise the bill with its own $3,186,500,000 version of overseas assistance. Once this was done the weary legislators could go home.

Money items for foreign aid and for miscellaneous unrelated items already have been tentatively decided by the Senate. It rejected Saturday night all efforts to change the appropriations recommended by its committee.

Two efforts by Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La) to trim foreign aid funds were defeated. A 53-37 roll call vote rejected a proposed 100-million-dollar cut in military aid funds, and a voice vote beat a 50-million-dollar cut he proposed in economic help for nations maintaining large defense forces.

Also defeated, by a standing vote, was a proposal by Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) to vote this year a 500-million-dollar fund for development loans abroad during the next fiscal year.

But before a final vote on the bill could be taken, the Senate had to dispose of the civil rights question. The battle started Saturday night, but was temporarily terminated by a recess early Sunday.

Southern senators were determined to get into the record their opposition to a series of recommendations made by the Civil Rights Commission in a report last week. Unless its life is extended, the commission goes out of existence Nov. 9.

Proponents of stronger civil rights legislation were seeking as a minimum assurances that Congress will take up the subject early next year. They were prepared to call up specific proposals immediately if necessary to counter the Southerners' drive.

Other legislative business was virtually completed. Both Houses passed Saturday a compromise bill which permits an increase in interest rate on series E and H bonds.

The House also passed an adjournment resolution fixing Jan. 6 as the day for convening Congress next year. Setting the date was necessary because the Constitution provides that otherwise Congress shall meet on Jan. 3, which falls next year on a Sunday.

New Deputy Authorized

The county commissioners court this morning authorized the addition of another deputy to the sheriff's staff, readied for a county contract on the hospital addition and took bids on sale of a frame house.

Sheriff Earl Abercrombie requested the addition of a deputy to help take care of increased fall business of the department. The authorization of the court runs until Jan. 1.

The court voted, on recommendation of the county hospital board, to enter into a contract with A. P. Kasch & Sons of Big Spring for the building of the half-million-dollar addition to Cogdell Memorial Hospital. The Kasch firm had been low bidder and was tentatively awarded the contract pending approval by the State Health Department and federal government. Their approval was necessary because federal Hill-Burton funds will be used for half the expense.

The court accepted the low bid of Caprock Machinery Co. for the county's purchase of a loader for Precinct 2. Caprock's bid was $21,000 difference between the new loader and one being traded in. Bids had been opened last week but action tabled until today.

Buford Browning was high bidder on purchase of a frame dwelling the county is selling to be moved off property in Precinct 2. The property will be site for a maintenance barn. Browning was sold the house for $301.

Other bidders were G. W. Bigham with $215, Melvin S. Lee with $251, Joe Middleton with $225, C. H. Hunnicutt with $275.50 and Kenneth Wood with $101.

Radio Message Is Bounced Off Moon

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) —A group of Auckland radio amateurs who claimed they sent a message to California by bouncing radio waves off the moon said today the confirmation message they received led them to believe they succeeded. The message via the moon was sent to the San Gabriel Valley Radio Club Sunday.

Ike Signs New Labor Curb Bill Into Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed into law the bill regulating internal affairs of labor unions and limiting their boycott and picketing activities.

The measure, a landmark of the 1959 session of Congress, represents one of Eisenhower's most important legislative triumphs. It contains Taft-Hartley law amendments he insisted were essential to any effective bill.

The new law is designed to curb racketeering and other abuses in some unions spotlighted in congressional investigations.

The law also puts new restrictions on organizational picketing by unions and on secondary boycotts.

A secondary boycott is one directed at an employer with whom the union has no direct quarrel.

The AFL-CIO contends these Taft-Hartley changes will weaken labor's legitimate economic powers. Employers argue that the boycott and picketing weapons were abused by the Teamsters and some other unions. The measure was strongly opposed by organized labor in its final form.

The act contains the most far-rewriting of the nation's labor-management relations law since the Taft-Hartley law was passed in 1947.

Eisenhower signed the bill without any special ceremony. But two hours after the signing, Reps. Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich) and Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga) authors of the late-session bill, called on Eisenhower at the White House to express their thanks.

"The President's wonderful support certainly was the thing which made the difference in obtaining fair and constructive reform legislation," Griffin told newsmen afterwards.

They agreed that Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), head of the Union-Rackets Investigating subcommittee, "had a lot to do with it, too."

The original bill was introduced by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass). Major changes, some strongly opposed by labor union chiefs, were put in by McClellan in the Senate and by Griffin and Landrum in the House.

Through its major provisions, the new law:

1. Sets up a bill of rights for all union members guaranteeing such things as equal privileges in conduct of meetings and elections, enforceable by civil suits in federal courts.

2. Requires detailed public financial reporting by all unions, including all receipts, expenditures, salaries, and conflict of interest transactions by officers or employes. Reports must be filed with the U.S. Labor Department. Criminal penalties are provided for false reporting.

3. Requires employers and labor relations consultants to report publicly their expenditures to influence employes.

4. Limits trusteeships over a local by an international union to 18 months. Requires detailed public reports on reasons for trusteeships, plus a provision that a trusteeship must be for legitimate union objectives.

5. Provides for secret ballot elections in unions with a limit on terms of union officers. Contains provisions to insure all members can nominate candidates, vote in the election, and be sure of an honest count.

6. Bans service as a union officer by any person convicted of a major crime for five years after he leaves prison, or by any Communist or former Communist for five years after he quits the party.

7. Ends a void in federal-state jurisdiction known as no man's land by permitting each state to handle under its own laws any labor dispute the National Labor Relations Board declines to handle. But the NLRB could not refuse to act on any class of cases it was handling Aug. 1, 1959.

Integrated NY School Boycotted

NEW YORK (AP) — Picketing, and a stay-at-home boycott by at least a fourth of the white pupils in the Glendale-Ridgewood area of Queens, greeted the arrival today of Negro and Puerto Rican pupils transferred from Brooklyn.

Large signs saying "Blacks go home" appeared in front of one school during the night. They were painted out before the students from Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant area arrived in the school for opening day.

Most of the 363 pupils scheduled for transfer showed up, and they entered the five schools involved without difficulty. White parents picketed in front of three of the schools, however.

The schools are in an almost entirely white area of Queens, and had a total registration of about 2,300 excluding the transfer from Brooklyn. More than 900 pupils stayed at home, authorities estimated.

Some white parents in the Glendale-Ridgewood areas have held angry meetings and parades in recent months to protest the transfer of the Negro and Puerto Rican children.

They contended the transfer were an illegal use of public funds to force integration.

AF School Integrates

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — An elementary school for children of Air Force personnel was integrated quietly near here today.

Ten Negro pupils entered the school with 600 whites without incident. Two other Negroes were eligible. A spokesman said he did not know why they didn't enter today.

No military or civil officers were on hand. Supt. E. F. Dunn said he had not requested any.

The school is near Jacksonville, about 15 miles northeast of Little Rock.

The Jacksonville integration was the result of an agreement worked out after federal authorities threatened to withdraw financial assistance if segregation continued.

Panel Nearing Laos

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Shinichi Shibusawa, Japanese chairman of the U.N. subcommittee investigating the fighting in Laos, arrived today and said he expects his group will remain at least a week in the revolt-torn Southeast Asian nation.

Reds Say Indians Violate Own Line

TOKYO (AP)—Red China accused India Sunday of sending troops into an area which even Indian maps show as Chinese.

Radio Peiping said Foreign Minister and Deputy Premier Chen Yi made the charge before the closing session of the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress.

Chen said India was using "two-faced tactics" in her border dispute with China. He rejected an Indian proposal that Red troops withdraw from Longju, a disputed border post on the Tibetan frontier, but added that China was willing to discuss Longju.

The outpost was overrun by Red Chinese troops Aug. 26 after a skirmish with an Indian border patrol. In a note to Peiping last Thursday, the Indian government proposed that Longju be made a temporary no-man's land while its status is discussed.

But Chen said the post is definitely north even of the MacMahon line, which India claims as the dividing line between northeast India and Tibet.

"Therefore, the question at present is that Indian troops and administrative personnel should withdraw from Chinese territory, while there does not exist a question of Chinese troops withdrawing from anywhere," Chen said.

In New Delhi, official sources said Peiping has sent another long note to the Indian government replying to all points hitherto unanswered on the border situation. They said it was a consolidated reply to India's note and did not raise any new points.

Peiping radio said the committee to which Chen spoke approved Premier Chou En-lai's claim to large chunks of Himalayan territory long administered by India. The committee expressed withdrawal of Indian troops from territory claimed by China.

Chen also accused India of permitting Tibetan refugees to engage in political activities against Red China. This far exceeds normal practices allowed by the international rights of asylum, Chen maintained.

Weight Of Paper Plagues Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—If somebody hadn't done something about it, Washington long ago would have been mashed flat as a Potomac mudbank by the sheer weight of paper.

If the government records that are thrown away each year were collected for 10 years, they would make a pyramid that would cover the Capitol building—Senate and House wings, dome, statue of Freedom on top and all.

But deciding what to throw away can be difficult.

An 1889 law requires Congress to give its permission before any executive department records are chucked out.

This brought into being perhaps the most obscure of all congressional committees the Joint Committee on Disposal of Executive Papers.

The main burden of decision on what is expendable, however, falls on the staff of the National Archives.

They recommend—the committee always approves.

About 3,600,000 cubic feet of records have been authorized for disposal this year—most of it to be sold as waste paper.

They include: gasoline charge card receipts signed by government employes last year.

Records of State Department fiscal inspection trips prior to 1956.

Transcripts of lie detector tests given by military police prior to 1945.

Philip Bauer, who heads Archives' Service Division, says the problem isn't really to keep departments from throwing away too much material that might be of historical value—it's to persuade them to throw away enough.

The accumulation of permanetly kept records now stands at 23,700,000 cubic feet. The Archives people are rather proud that it hasn't grown in the last two years.

The piling up of papers became an acute problem after World War II. Congress provided some help by authorizing disposal of some records after fixed times—but new categories still require approval.

One thing cheers the archivists considerably: nobody, so far as they can remember, has ever come around and asked to see a piece of paper which they had thrown away.

Helms Rites Set Today

Funeral services were to be held at 2 p.m. today for Robert Lee Helms, 85, of 2206 Avenue S, who died at 7:10 a.m. yesterday here after a long illness.

Mr. Helms, a retired farmer had been a Snyder resident since 1940, having moved here from Peacock. He was born March 27, 1874, in Joplin, Mo. He married Sarah Olive Linsley in Brown County, Feb. 12, 1896.

The Rev. Jack Dean, pastor of the Northside Baptist Church, was to officiate in services at that church, assisted by Glen Pace minister of the Twenty-fifth Street Church of Christ.

Pallbearers were to be Roy Church, Luther Mosley, Wesley Emfinger, Elvin S. Emfinger, Howard B. Renminano and Ray Helms.

Survivors include the widow; four daughters, Mrs. Hardy Mosley of Las Cruces, N. M., Mrs. Otto Hars of Bakersfield, Cal., Mrs. J. A. Marrisett of Madisonville and Mrs. A. R. Rose of Muleshoe; five sons, Dr. C. E. Helms of Snyder, Luther H. Helms of Soccora, N.M. R. C. Helms of Lemitar N. M. Chester Lee Helms of Chattanooga, Tenn., and J. G. Helms of Wistfir, Ore.; 22 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Jury Being Picked Here

Questioning of the jury panel was still underway in 132nd District Court here this morning in the trial of J. E. McKinzie of Lubbock on an indictment of swindle and theft by false pretext.

McKinzie is charged with theft of $2,500 from L. L. (Pat) Moore in connection with oil deals in Colorado.

Wayland G. Holt, district attorney, is prosecutor in the case. Defense attorneys are Dewey Cox of Ranger and William Boedecker of Levelland.

A jury was expected to be chosen by early afternoon.

Khrushchev Talk Likely To Set Pace For U. N. Session

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly convening Tuesday looks to a speech by Nikita Khrushchev for an indication whether it will be a "cold war" or "reconciliation" session.

The 82-nation body, meeting the day the Soviet premier arrives in Washington for his 13-day visit to the United States, has on its schedule a speech by Khrushchev Friday.

The prospective agenda of more than 70 subjects includes an Indian drive to seat Communist China, the Algerians' fight for independence from France, the future of a million Palestine Arab refugees and questions of nuclear and conventional disarmament.

The body is set to elect Victor Andres Belaunde, 77, Peruvian lawyer - teacher - diplomat, as its president soon after starting its 14th annual session.

After speaking to the Assembly Friday, Khrushchev will be Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's guest of honor at an official dinner.

Diplomats are looking to his address on hints on how far he may go toward reaching an agreement with the West — and what he might do toward inducing Communist China to settle her border dispute with India.

The first debate on world issues is expected in the 21-nation steering committee when it meets to choose items from the prospective agenda to recommend for the assembly's consideration.

Despite the Chinese-Indian frontier squabble, India has pressed her July 13 request that the assembly take up the "question of the representation of China" in the U.N. and grant representation to the Communist "People's Government of China."

The United States is ready, as usual, to counter with a proposal that the Assembly shelve the question. She is expected to bolster this with charges that the Chinese Communists have repressed the Tibetans, intruded into India, threatened Chinese Nationalists' offshore islands with gunboats and put the North Vietnamese up to encouraging rebellion in Laos.

Twenty-five Asian and African countries — a record number — have asked that the Assembly put the Algerian question on the agenda for the fifth straight year. A statement is expected from French President Charles de Daulle Wednesday promising Algeria self-determination—after defeat of the Algerian rebellion.

Ike, Top Officials Discuss Strategy For Krush Parleys

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and other top government officials today discussed all aspects of the historic talks Eisenhower will start Tuesday with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The President conferred for 75 minutes at the White House with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Llewellyn Thompson, U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union.

Several other State Department officials also sat in.

The group explored strategy for the Eisenhower talks with the Kremlin leader.

Eisenhower and Khrushchev are scheduled to meet at the White House Tuesday afternoon for their first discussion, for which 90 minutes was been set aside.

That will be shortly after the Communist chieftain arrives, packing the prestige of the Soviet's new scientific achievement, the weekend bullseye shot to the moon.

In response to question, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty described today's meeting as a general type of session "that the President and the people in the government have prior to the visit of any foreign official."

Hagerty added that the discussion "included all aspects of the upcoming visit, not only precedural but topics to be discussed by our side."

While American scientists congratulated the U.S.S.R. on its apparent spectacular success in landing a space capsule on the moon, official Washington seemed unperturbed. The space shot was clearly timed to glorify Soviet scientific and industrial prowess for Khrushchev on the eve of his American trip.

Nevertheless this new first for Soviet science in the space race seemed certain to get some attention in Eisenhower's meeting with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Under Secretary Douglas Dillon on plans and preparations for Khrushchev's visit.

Meanwhile members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee were working on their own preparations for entertaining Khrushchev at an hour-long tea party Wednesday afternoon. They want to find out "what kind of man he is," said Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark), and they want to ask him some tough questions about Soviet behavior in world affairs.

Eisenhower himself is expected to tell his visitor that the use or threat of force around the boundaries of the Communist bloc — most recently against India and Laos—is the major cause of tension and war fears in the world.

The President expects at least half a dozen major problems to be covered in the talks he and Khrushchev will hold here Tuesday afternoon and late next week, following the Soviet premier's return from a tour around the country. The problems include disarmament, Berlin and the future of Germany, and the situation in the Far East.

One difference between the Soviet and American approaches has already appeared. Soviet propaganda for several days now has been building up great expectations of achievement from the meetings. American officials have been playing down hopes of major accomplishments.

Asst. Secretary of State Francis O. Wilcox cautioned Sunday night in a New York speech that while he was not pessimistic about Khrushchev's visit "no one ought to look for miracles."

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) said that if Eisenhower and Khrushchev would deal in specific problems such as Berlin and nuclear weapons control there would be some hope for a significant improvement in relations. He spoke Sunday night on a television program.

Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), Hugh Scott (R-Pa) and Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa) agreed in another broadcast that Khrushchev's trip could be useful in establishing better relations with the Soviet Union.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon said he thought it was "tremendously important" that Khrushchev should not miscalculate the strength of the United States "not just our military and economic strength but particularly the will of the American people to use that strength to defend their vital interests."

Proxmire's Drive Lags

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis) said today he has made no real dent in what he calls the one - man rule by Senateo Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

Proxmire lit into Johnson in a series of senate speeches this year, contending the Democratic members had little to say about the program or policies.

One of the Wisconsin senator's main complaints was that Johnson refused to call regular caucuses where Senate Democrats could voice their views and aid in shaping legislative policy.

"I think," Proxmire said, "that we may have made some slight progress, but I would not say that it has resulted in any real dent in the Johnson leadership program.

"We have not had a Democratic caucus since the first one called by Sen. Johnson in January after this present congress got under way.

"However, I will continue my efforts next year. I am not at all discouraged."

Proxmire asserted he is not anti-Johnson. As a matter of fact, he said, he recognizes that "Sen. Johnson is one of the ablest floor leaders we have had."

Child, 6, Is Abandoned

DALLAS (AP) — Police are searching for a couple who abandoned their 6 - year - old son at the home of a west Dallas woman.

The woman said she had not seen the couple or the child before.

She said the couple left the boy, along with a box containing his clothing, toothbrush and toys.

"Here he is. Be sure to send him to school," they told her.

By investigating clues the boy was able to give them, police traced the couple to a residence in a fashionable part of the city. No one was at home.

Under questioning, the west Dallas woman told police she had an illegitimate child six years ago but did not know whether it was a boy or girl. She said the clinic arranged for its adoption.

8. Prohibits all types of secondary boycotts by closing Taft-Hartley loopholes.

9. Bans hot cargo contracts under which an employer agrees with a union not to do business with another employer.

10. Prohibits picketing in order to organize workers in these situations: where another union has been lawfully recognized; where the union seeking to picket has lost a collective bargaining election in the last 12 months; where picketing has been conducted for a reasonable period not exceeding 30 days; and where no election has been asked.

On secondary boycotts, the law makes it clear that labor can continue to refuse to work on struck goods.

It also protects garment industry agreements under which a prime contractor agrees not to deal with nonunion subcontractors; provides that the right of primary picketing against the employer directly involved in the dispute is not limited, and allows unions to use informational acitities other than picketing to seek to persuade customers not to buy products of an employer with whom there is a dispute.

On organizational picketing, the limitations provide that a union can picket for longer than 30 days without an election if the picketing does not halt deliveries to a business. They also permit unlimited organizational picketing if the employer has entered into a collusive, or "sweetheart," contract with another union.

The act also contains three provisions long sought by labor. These would:

1. Permit replaced strikers to vote in a bargaining election for one year after a strike begins. This repeals a section of Taft-Hartley.

2. Repeal the Taft-Hartley provision requiring union officers to file non-Communist affidavits if their organizations seek to use the NLRB.

3. Permit pre-hire agreements in the construction industry plus mandatory union membership after seven days instead of the 30 required by present law.

Junket Ban Is Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders may ban junkets next year while Congress is in session.

Junkets are those taxpayer-paid trips abroad so dear to the heart of so many congressmen.

Fewer than half the House members were present for Saturday's session. Many of them have been abroad for some time. Others had gone home for the weekend.

That meant Saturday's session lacked a quorum—the attendance of at least half the members. If one member had objected, the House would have had to adjourn until enough of the wanderers were called back. No one objected, so some routine business was taken care of.

Under consideration is a proposed rule that would bar use of public funds for congressional travel overseas while Congress is in session. Any member going abroad at that time would have to pay his own way.

Absenteeism has been a vital factor several times in recent weeks. Some Democrats believe the first veto of a public works bill could have been overriden if absent members had been on hand.

Krush Party On Way

Red Flag To Fly Over Blair House

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Red hammer and sickle flag of the Soviet Union will fly from historic Blair House, the President's guest house, when Nikita Khrushchev and his family stay there this week.

From the windows of the green-shuttered, four-story, stucco-faced house, steeped in 175 years of Americana, Khrushchev can look across the street to the White House.

Presidents, kings and potentates have slept in Blair House. The latest was young King Baudouin of Belgium. Others have been Queen Elizabeth of England and colorful King Saud of Saudi Arabia, who reportedly had three guards sleep on a rug outside his bedroom door.

Another top Soviet official once slept there too—V. M. Molotov, who now is somewhat out of favor with Khrushchev and is stationed in Outer Mongolia.

A small sentry house is erected outside Blair House for part of the heavy security guard for the visiting Soviet premier.

For this is the place where two Puerto Rican revolutionists shot their way to the doorstep in 1950, trying to kill President Harry S. Truman.

Truman, temporarily in residence there while the White House was being reconstructed, was taking a nap at the time. One Secret Service guard was killed and two others wounded.

The Khrushchevs will get their first meal on American soil at cooked by a French chef, Marcel, who has been employed by several American millionaires.

The President's guest house actually is two houses—Blair House, built in 1824, and adjoining Blair-Lee House, built just before the Civil War.

It has probably seen as much history as any building in Washington, from meetings of President Andrew Jackson's unofficial kitchen cabinet to visits from President Lincoln.

Its priceless collection of furniture from four generations of the Blair family is considered by some to be even richer in tone than that of the White House.

It can accommodate about 22 of Khrushchev's party of about 100.

Lesser dignitaries and officials will stay in hotels of the 60-room Soviet Embassy.

Some Demos Rankle Sam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats who vote against their own party and with the opposition annoy Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn.

The veteran Texas congressman, in an interview recorded for a New Orleans television station, said "I have no hates; I just don't have time to hate."

But when pressed as to what caused him the most irritation he said it is "the so-called 'democrat' who 85 or 95 per cent of the time votes against the Democratic position."

Rayburn said such a persons "ought to run on some other ticket."

Rayburn named no individuals or groups in his criticism. However, in the present and past congresses, some southern Democrats have frequently supported Republican positions, especially on economic measures and those dealing with labor. They have also opposed civil rights legislation supported by the majority of Democrats.

Air Reservists To Meet Here Tonight

Air Reservists will hold a meeting here tonight in the county courthouse.

All present members of the Air Reserve and those interested in joining have been invited to attend. The session will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Steel Talks Resume Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Full - scale negotiations in the nation's longest steel strike resume today in the shadow of a warning from the union that it will not budge.

United Steelworkers Union President David J. McDonald made the statement while appearing on a television program Sunday.

He said the union does not intend to back down on its demand for higher wages and its refusal to accept changes in current work practices. Prestrike wages averaged $3.11 an hour.

Accusing the steel companies of trying to "turn back the clock," McDonald said the union would not retreat no matter how long the strike lasts.

Top-level negotiations were in recess Sunday.

The strike, which affects almost 90 per cent of the nation's steel production and has idled half a million steelworkers and an estimated 175,000 others, went into its 63rd day today.

All over the country steel inventories were low and the impact of the strike growing.

No federal intervention is expected before next month, but President Eisenhower has indicated he would force an 80-day resumption of production through provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act if he thought the strike was threatening national safety or health.

Pair Arrested In Shooting Incident

One man pleaded guilty to three charges in city court and another was placed under $50 bond on a plea of not guilty to a similar charge resulting from the firing of firearms here yesterday.

Able Hernandes Jr., entered pleas of guilty to charges of intoxication, affray, and shooting firearms inside a building. He was fined $30 on each charge for a total of $90 in fines.

Manuel Barrentez was released on $50 bond when he pleaded not guilty to a charge of firing firearms in the building.

The incident occurred about 9 o'clock yesterday morning at 1904 Nineteenth Street, city police said.

Fine Is Assessed On Plea Of Guilty

A fine of $123.50, including court costs, was assessed during the weekend when Dorette Beggs Stell of Snyder pleaded guilty to a charge of aggravated assault.

The case involved assault of Perry Rodman, sheriff's deputy, while he was in performance of his duties.

OLD-FASHIONED TREAT—A double-duty recipe and doubly good is fried chicken baked with cornbread.

Old-Fashioned Chicken Dish Makes Modern, Attractive Meal

By CECILX ROWNSTONE
AP Newsfeatures Food Editor

IT GOES under several names: Yorkshire Chicken. Chicken Baked in Batter, Chicken on a Cloud. But no matter what the name, the recipe derives from an early American one called Chicken Pudding.

One old-time Virginia recipe for the dish calls for jointing the chicken and cooking it in herb-seasoned water until tender. Then the chicken is drained and arranged in a baking dish and a Yorkshire pudding or popover batter poured over. Now into the oven the whole thing goes. The chicken stock is used for a cream gravy with directions carefully given to "pass separately."

Modern recipes for the dish brown the chicken in fat, then arrange the pieces in a skillet of Yorkshire pudding or popover batter and bake. Some years ago this old-time dish won a prize in a contest for new recipes.

We've taken a further liberty with this dish. Seemed to us the chicken would taste good baked in cornmeal batter as a change from the usual Yorkshire pudding or popover mixture. No sooner thought of than tried: now crisp brown chicken peeps up through a blanket of cornbread.

This is the sort of baked main dish that's convenient when company's coming. You can put it in the oven and forget about it: 40 minutes later the chicken will be tender and brown, the cornbread baked through, all ready to enjoy. We like the dish with old-fashioned condiments—pickled watermelon rind, corn relish, chowchow. Add a big salad, dessert and coffee and you're all set.

CHICKEN CORNBREAD PUDDING

INGREDIENTS: 1 broiler-fryer (any size), ¾ cup sifted flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 6 tablespoons butter or margarine, ½ cup enriched yellow cornmeal, 2 teaspoons baking power, 1 egg, ¾ cup milk, 2 tablespoons soft shortening.

METHOD: Have chicken cut in 10 pieces; wash and drain. Stir together ¼ cup of flour, 1 teaspoon of the salt, pepper and paprika; coat chicken with flour mixture. Brown chicken in hot butter in a 10-inch black or enamel-coated iron frying pan; remove chicken; reserve drippings; wash and dry pan; grease. Sift remaining ½ cup flour, cornmeal, baking powder and remaining ½ teaspoon salt into a mixing bowl; add egg, milk and shortening; beat with rotary beater until just smooth, about 1 minute. Pour batter into prepared frying pan; arrange chicken in batter, skin side up. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 40 minutes or until cake tester inserted in cornbread comes out clean. Cut in wedges and serve at once. If desired, you may use the reserved drippings for a cream gravy to serve with the chicken pudding, making stock for the gravy out of the chicken giblets. Makes 4 servings.

When a telephone man drives, safety comes first!

Telephone drivers help reflect company's Spirit of Service

In telephone business, safety, efficiency go hand in hand

by Don Davis
Telephone News Reporter

SAFE MEN BEHIND THE WHEEL. Courtesy and thoughtfulness are trademarks of telephone drivers — another of the countless ways telephone service shows its value and telephone people show their traditional Spirit of Service.

It's too bad that safety records are often thought of as dull and not newsworthy while a major accident makes front-page headlines. The greatest human drama is in the accidents that don't happen – the accidents that good safety habits prevent from happening!

Not long ago, a newspaper editor wrote, "We salute the drivers of telephone company trucks. They never drive fast or recklessly; time and again we've seen them yield the right-of-way. They seem to apply the rule that the other driver is always right.

"We don't know the safety record of the telephone company's truck fleet, but it must be excellent. It is nothing short of inspiring to see an entire corps of drivers display the courtesy and friendliness that are habitual with telephone company drivers."

HOW PUBLIC BENEFITS

With thanks for such praise, we'd like to confirm the editor's feeling that the safety record in the telephone business must be excellent. It's among the best in the country. The National Safety Council's annual award of honor—its highest award—has been presented to Southwestern Bell five times since 1951 for its safety performances. Scores of state and local safety awards also have been earned, including many presented to telephone company people as individuals.

But more important than the awards for safety are the results. When you consider that Southwestern Bell vehicles logged some 70 million miles last year, it's easy to see how the public benefits. Telephone company safe driving practices are a major protection of life and property —a way of working that's summed up in the slogan: "No job is so urgent it can't be done safely."

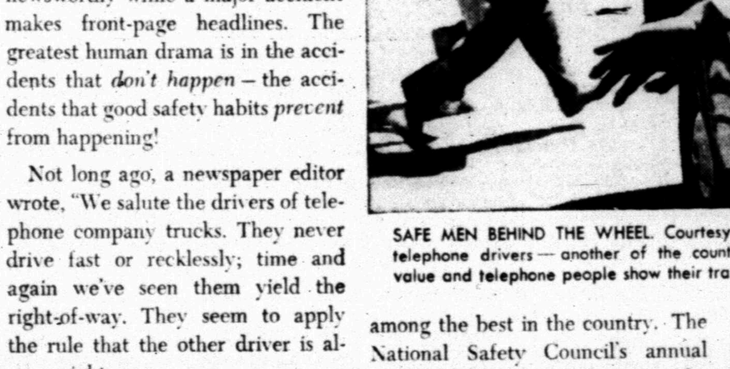

ADD EXTRA VALUE

Truly, there's a special sense of responsibility that goes with telephone work: A Spirit of Service. It shows up in the way telephone people do things, both on the job and off. Safe driving is only one example. There are many others.

Next time you see an installer or repairman, watch how he works. Carefully, diligently, safely, with an honest desire to do his job well.

Often, it seems you can almost "hear" the Spirit of Service when you talk to an operator or a telephone service representative. Her tone of voice, her interested and helpful manner tell you she'll make sure you get the very best telephone service Southwestern Bell can deliver.

Telephone service shows its value in many ways. Not the least of this value is in the attitude of the telephone people who furnish it.

SAFETY-RATER DEVICE provides checks and tests of company's drivers. Device rates reflexes and vision, points out weaknesses that practice and extra caution can overcome.

OUR VIEW

A Weak Argument

THE HOUSTON CHRONICLE:

United States Attorney General William P. Rogers wasn't very convincing in his speech before the American Bar Assn. convention, in which he supported repeal of the provision which keeps the International Court of Justice from interfering in the domestic affairs of this nation. In fact, his statement that failure to repeal the provision will cause other nations to believe we are not sincere in our support of international law is likely to enrage many Americans.

A lot of Americans are getting pretty sick of being told constantly that if we do not sacrifice more and more of our natonal sovereignty, some foreign nation is going to get mad at us. Such a Casper Milquetoast attitude is damaging to this nation.

Former Sen. Tom Connally of Texas had a very good reason for inserting the prohibition in the agreement in which the United States participates in the International Court of Justice, commonly known as the World Court. Connally wanted to assure, and rightfully so, that the court did not assume any jurisdiction over the domestic affairs of this nation.

Rogers told the bar members that the court is bound by its own charter not to consider matters within domestic jurisdiction. But without the Connally amendment this leaves the World Court free to decide what is domestic. The free-wheeling decisions of our own Supreme Court should convince Americans that judicial decisions can be stretched.

Rogers complained that the United States is the only one of the 10 North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations which denies the World Court the right to determine its own jurisdiction. But Rogers failed to mention that the United States also is the only one of these nations whose Constitution provides that international treaties shall be the supreme law of the land, even superseding the Constitution itself. The same crowd which is fighting to eliminate the Connally amendment fought to defeat the Bricker amendment, which would have kept treaties from superseding the Constitution.

Rogers contradicted his own argument when he said that another nation with whom we have a dispute can keep us out of the World Court by invoking our denial of domestic jurisdiction to the court. All we are denying is that the court may interfere in domestic affairs of this nation, so Rogers leaves the implication that unless the World Court does have the right to interfere we can be barred from it.

Under such circumstances, it would be better to stay out of it.

Miss America To Set An Example

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)— The new Miss America says she thinks it is her duty to "educate herself, to make herself as wholesome as possible so as to set an example for the women of America."

So spoke Lynda Lee Mead, 20, of Natchez, Miss., Sunday. She won the title Saturday night, along with a $10,000 scholarship and the possibility of earning about $75,000 from personal appearances.

Miss Mead, a junior at the University of Mississippi, intends to return to school after her year as Miss America is over, then go to get a master's degree in English.

Newsmen gathered around Miss Mead. How does she like to spend leisure time?

"I like to read and listen to music," she said. She added that music did not include rock 'n' roll. "I just haven't been able to catch on to it."

Boy friend? "There is no one terribly serious in my life."

Eventual goal? "Ultimately, marriage and a family but it'll be years from now. I'm sure. I'm not ready for that yet."

Miss Mead says she'd like to meet Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev during his American visit. She added that meeting President Eisenhower "would be the thrill of a lifetime."

Miss Mead is the second girl in a row from Mississippi to win the title. Mary Ann Mobley of Brandon, Miss., Miss America 1959, also is a University of Mississippi student. This happened once before—Miss Pennsylvanias won in 1935 and 1936.

Miss Mead is 5 feet 7, has brown hair and green eyes and measures 36-24-36. She did not win any preliminary awards. She has just a trace of a Southern accent.

"This is a challenge to any girl, especially so for me because of the fine example Mary Ann and my other predecessors have set," said Miss Mead.

"I don't know when I'll get back to Natchez, but it will be as soon as possible. I'll never forget what the people of Natchez have done for me."

Second in the contest was Miss Wisconsin, Mary Alice Fox, 20, of Sheboygan, Wis. She won a $3,000 scholarship.

In third place was Miss Washington, Sharon Joyce Vaughn, 21, of Seattle, who won a $2,500 scholarship. Miss California, 19-year-old Susan Diane Bronson of San Lorenzo, Calif., was fourth and won a $2,000 scholarship. Fifth place and a $1,500 scholarship was taken by Miss Arizona, Patricia Anne Allebrand, 18, of Yuma, Ariz.

Soviet-American Trade Controlled

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans could ship thousands of items to the Soviet Union and have little trouble finding hordes of customers who would like to have them. Moscow has the gold to pay for them.

U.S. purchasing agents could buy a number of commodities and raw materials from the Soviet Union and often at cut rate prices with little relation to the cost of production.

So why is the trade between the United States and the Soviet Union such a trivial stream and such a fluctuating one?

Because in this case the words free trade are just empty jargon. It's government controlled—more or less on both sides.

The goods we could sell Ivan—consumer items—the Kremlin won't let him buy. The goods Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev wants from us—machinery that could be used to make armaments or for economic warfare—we won't let Americans sell him.

Khrushchev arrives Tuesday, and he's made it plain he wants to get more from us—on credit, if possible—and sell us more—for cash or barter, doubtless.

And many of the commodities and raw materials he will be trying to peddle while he's here we don't want Americans to buy because they're already getting them from our friends—to the general good of the Western alliance—and also because when we did get them from the Soviet Union they were subject to sudden embargo as political policies dictated.

Here is how our trade with the Soviet Union in recent years has gone up and down with political tempers, and the things we've sold and bought.

In the first five months of this year our Soviet imports came to 12 million dollars and our exports to 3 million dollars. In 1958 we bought 17½ million dollars worth and sold 3½ million.

The biggest items we bought were benzene, scientific instruments, wood pulp and furs. Mostly they bought equipment for plastic pipe, synthetic fiber, and milk-product processing plants, and crop seeds, tallow, butyl alcohol, stereophonic, radio, TV and hearing aid equipment.

Americans have tried to sell more to the Communist bloc than this. They have applied this year for licenses to sell some 40 million dollars worth of goods, and Washington has rejected most of this as strategic, or potentially strategic, materials. Example: steel pipelines.

In this decade the best export year was 1956 with almost 4 million dollars worth of goods going to the Soviet Union, and the lowest volume was $19,000 in 1953. At best our trade with the Russians is only a tenth of one per cent of our total foreign trade.

The urge for more trade with the Communist bloc gets keener as you go west from Moscow and east from Washington. The satellites to the east of the Iron Curtain are traditional traders with our West Europen allies. Both the satellites and the West European countries have grown industrially in the last five years.

Many of the goods we still ban as strategic our European allies now will sell to the nearby Communists. And officials have been going back and forth to see how trade can be stepped up.

But even if Khrushchev doesn't get all the trade concessions he hopes from his visit here, he has a consolation. So many American tourists have gone to the Soviet Union this year that it is estimated they have left five million dollars behind for the Kremlin to garner and spend on whatever goods it will consent to buy and we will consent to sell.

Between You And Me

By JERRY JACKSON

A most comendable record fell by the wayside this past Friday eve, as Borger served up a fat goose-egg to our Tigers in their season's debut. This record which extended through five seasons and a total of 51 games was, to wit: that a Conley coached team had never been held scoreless.

Granted, there have been some near misses in that department in bygone days, notably the 1956 season's 2-0 win over Levelland and 3-0 triumph over Sweetwater, but Snyder had always managed to somehow, some way break enough of the scoring ice to avert a shutout.

The offensive show served up by the Tigers was not of an auspicious nature, the margin of difference between the two teams falling within the passing game, which in the Bengals' case fell far short of expectations.

Lack Of Pass Completions Hurt

Completing only one toss in 13 tries as stacked up against the Bulldogs' five for nine proved to be the prime bugaboo responsible for knocking the offensive wind out of the Tiger sails.

The most encouraging factor coming out of the game was Snyder's surprising show of defensive strength, the boys consistently performing their best when the chips were down.

This was proven repeatedly as the Tiger forward wall never failed to get stingier with the terra firma the nearer the Borgerites got to their double stripe. It was a highly gratifying performance on the part of the defensive unit, and one which shouldn't go unnoticed.

Rumor in this neck o' the woods has it that Big Spring Coach Al Milch was seriously considering approaching the school board in that neighboring city concerning an extension of contract had his Steers been victorious over San Antonio Edison Friday night.

However, a couple of last half touchdowns by the Edisons, which resulted in a 13-12 win for the Bears, may have very well spoiled his bid!

Tankersley Accepts H-SU Scolarship

Danny Tankersley, all-district Tiger basketeer, has been offered and has accepted a cage scholarship to Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

The scholarship includes books, tuition and fees during his freshman year, with the chance at a full scholarship at a later date.

Tankersley, 18, was the top Tiger point-maker this past season, meshing a total of 239 points for an average of 11.9 per game, which was also tops in that he was the only Snyder roundballer to average in double figures over the season.

In compiling this record he hit 78 field goals out of 203 attempts for 28 per cent, 83 free tosses in 116 attempts for 71 per cent, and was the team's leading rebounder with a total of 103 grabs.

He also had the distinction of being the sole Tiger to appear in every quarter of the 20 games in which Snyder participated last season.

Another honor which he received other than being named to the All-District 3-AAA team was being placed on the All-Canyon Reef Tournament Team, the tourney being held here this past December.

Olmedo Is Losing His Magic Touch

By ED CORRIGAN

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Three months ago, Alex Olmedo was hoping to get a fat professional tennis contract out of Jack Kramer.

Today, he is hoping Kramer still is just a little interested.

Since he won the Wimbledon title in early summer, Alex has been drifting slowly downstream. He dropped both a singles and the doubles match two weeks ago when the Australians took back the Davis Cup.

Sunday Neale Fraser, his chief tormenter in the Davis Cup, licked him, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2, 6-4 in the final of the National championship—giving the Aussies their fourth straight U.S. singles crown.

Now Alex is heading back for his senior year at Southern California.

Asked if he would join the Kramer troupe if an offer were forthcoming, the 23-year-old lend-lease Peruvian replied: "Money can do a lot for a guy. It can change your mind."

The big question is whether Kramer still will be interested in Alex or will turn his attention to Fraser, at the moment the hottest thing in amateur tennis.

Fraser won two singles and the doubles in the Davis Cup, then made it emphatic with his easy triumph over Alex Sunday.

"But," the easy-going Aussie left-hander laughed, "I haven't had any offers. If and when I get them, it will be soon enough for me to start discussing them."

Nineteen-year-old Maria Esther Bueno of Brazil won the women's title with an easy 6-1, 6-4 triumph over England's Christine Truman.

Miss Bueno was the first foreigner to win the women's title since Anita Lizana of Chile turned the trick in 1937. It marked the first time in the history of the tournament that both the men's and women's titles have been taken out of the United States the same year.

NFL Votes To Up Team Player Limit

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—With an eye toward expansion, the 12 club owners of the National Football League have voted to increase the team player limit from 35 to 36.

League Commissioner Bert Bell said Sunday the purpose was to form a pool of seasoned players who could be used as the nucleus of new teams.

The owners are expected to take up the subject of expansion when the league meets here in January.

George Halas of the Chicago Bears, Chairman of the expansion committee, recently recommended that Houston and Dallas, Texas, be given franchises.

Colonels Can't Win In Semifinal Play

By The Associated Press

They were a picture of poise in the regular season, but the Louisville Colonels can't seem to buy a victory in the American Assn. semifinal playoffs.

The Eastern Division champions lost their third straight of a best-of-seven series to Fort Worth Sunday, 3-2 in 15 innings.

In the other series, Omaha beat Minneapolis 4-2 for the first Cardinal victory in three games.

The series moves Monday night to Fort Worth and to Minneapolis. At the Texas City, Louisville will throw Bob Hartman (10-7) at the Cats' Jim Schaffernoth (4-3). Southpaw Ray Sadecki (13-0) will hurl for Omaha at Minneapolis, which didn't name a starter.

Giants Are Ready For Knockout Punch

As tough to catch as a frightened jack rabbit, as hard to hold as a slippery eel. That may be the best way to describe Billy Rigney's San Francisco Giants as they continue to bounce back after every seemingly fatal knockdown.

For the fifth time since they leaped past Milwaukee into first place a little over two months ago the Giants appeared ready for the knockout punch. For the fifth time they came back Sunday to win a big one and open more daylight between themselves and their relentless pursuers.

Their lead reduced to a mere half-game, the Giants had only to lose to Philadelphia Saturday to set the stage for a three-way tie for first place.

The Giants bounced back with a victory Saturday and Sunday for a 1-0 squeaker over the Phillies to boost their first place margin to two games over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who bowed 4-3 to Pittsburgh, and the Milwaukee Braves, who were beaten 3-2 by Cincinnati.

In the other National League game, Chicago shut out St. Louis 8-0.

Jack Sanford pitched the Giant victory, limiting the Phillies to five hits. But he needed help from Mike McCormick in the ninth. There were two out and Harry Anderson on second, via a double, when McCormick took over and got Ed Bouchee to end the game with a fly to Willie Mays.

The lone run, off loser Don Cardwell, came in the second and was driven in by pinch hitter Dusty Rhodes with a sacrifice fly. The stage was set for Dusty when Orlando Cepeda and Willie Kirkland singled and Hobie Landrith walked to load the bases. Rigney sent Rhodes in to hit for Danny O'Connell.

Four Pittsburgh home runs ruined the Dodgers. The last was hit by Hank Foiles in the eighth, off reliver Chuck Churn, snapping a 3-3 tie. The others were hit by Ray Mejias, Bob Skinner and Dick Stuart off starter Johnny Podres. Ronnie Kline went all the way for his 10th victory.

Eddie Kasko's fourth hit, a seventh-inning single, scored Frank Robinson and enabled the Reds to break a 3-3 deadlock with Milwaukee. Bob Purkey yielded nine hits for his 12th triumph. The loser was Warren Spahn, who was attempting to register 20 victories for the 10th time. He lost his 14th.

Gustin, Boros Hold Lead In Dallas Open

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Jon Gustin, scenting a big pay day at last along the weary golf tour, and plodding Julius Boros, who's had many but not recently, were tied for the lead today as the $25,000 Dallas Open entered its final round.

Gustin, 27-year-old Birmingham, Ala., native playing out of Gladwyne, Pa., shot his third sub-par round yesterday—a 3-under 67—to tie the faltering Boros, the veteran from Mid-Pines, N.C., at 54 holes with 204.

The tall young man, who has won a total of $913.50 in four years of spasdomic trying along the tour but now is a regular of one month because he has a private sponsor, said it call came about because he bought himself a new putter.

Relief Waltman of Johannesburg, South Africa, had a putter Gustin liked. So he found out one could be purchased, used it Tuesday and proceeded to shoot four straight sub-par rounds — 65 in practice, and 69-68-67 in the tournament.

Boros, who started the third round yesterday leading the field by two strokes with 134 for 36 holes, sailed through the front nine in 3-under-par 32. But his putting went sour on the first four holes of the second nine and he had trouble finishing with a par 70.

The round finished in a drizzle of rain over the 6,744-yard Oak Cliff Country Club course but there were 18 sub par scores. It was the best round of the tournament.

Bo Winninger of Odessa, Tex., had a 71 to stand alone in third place with 207 while Don January of Denver shot one of the three 67's of the day for 208 and fourth place. Tied at 210 were Gardner Dickinson of West Palm Beach, Fla.; Marty Furgol of Cog Hill, Ill., and Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla. Dickinson had one of the 67's.

Major Loop Favorites Indicated

By The Associated Press

Sportswriters and sportscasters trying to pick the national champion college football team in the 1959 pre-season poll inadvertantly also picked the champions of the major conferences.

Louisiana State, not too surprisingly, was picked to defend successfully its national championship. The Bengals wound up with 60 first place votes and 1,440 points to 48 first places votes and 1,370 points for second-place Oklahoma.

The voters were asked to name 10 teams in the order in which they believed the schools would finish in the national ranking. By checking to find the team that finished highest of the teams in any one conference it was easy to figure how the voters believed the campaign in that particular conference would end.

Here's the way the conference champs were more or less accidentally picked:

SEC — Louisiana State, 1,440 points; Big Ten—Wisconsin, 645 points; Big Eight—Oklahoma, 1,370 points; Independents—Army, 696 points; Southern—West Virginia, 1 point; Missouri Valley—N. Tex. State, 1 point; Far West Five—USC, 228 points; Atlantic Coast—North Carolina, 288 points; Border — Arizona State U., 2 points; Skyline—Wyoming & Utah tied, 4 points each; Southwest—SMU, 720 points; Ivy—Dartmouth, 14 points; Rocky Mountain—Colorado State U., 1 point.

Fred Long of Iowa hit his team's only Big Ten home run for the Hawkeyes during the 1959 campaign of 14 league games.

In football, no player on the kicking team is permitted to tackle or block an opponent who has completed a fair catch.

Dying Indians Not Ready To Concede

NEW YORK (AP)—Lo, the poor Indians. Trailing Chicago by 5½ games with only 11 to play, the Cleveland Tribe is dying fast.

"Come on in and join the wake," said manager Joe Gordon Sunday night in the clubhouse after Cleveland dropped a doubleheader to the New York Yankees, 2-1 in 11 innings and 1-0.

Gordon wasn't ready to give up. Not quite.

"I'll concede when we run out of numbers," he said with a sad smile. "How many have we got left? Eleven? There have been 11-game winning streaks before."

But there was no conviction in his voice. It had been a long touch Sunday for the Indians.

"We still have a faint shot," he said. "Faint, but still a shot. If we could get the kind of pitching we got today. But somebody would have to hit."

"Gordon shook his head wearily. "What a shame to waste that kind of pitching (Complete games by Jack Harshman and Jim Perry who allowed the Yanks a total of only three runs). But we could not hit. We didn't even get the pleasure of clinching second place."

National Am Opens Today

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—A field of 200 of the country's better club swingers begins shooting today for amateur golf's top prize—the National Amateur Championship—at the highest elevation in 59 years of the tournament.

The entries include six former champions and numerous others capable of going all the way in the six-day grind, but the toll of so-called hot shots could be terrific early on the Broadmoor Course that rests at the foot of the Rocky Mountains 6,500 feet above sea level.

Defending champion Charley Coe of Oklahoma City was among the entries being given a good chance to win. The lanky, extra-lean Coe has won several tourneys on the hilly 7,010-yard par 36-35 course here, among them the Trans-Mississippi.

Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., a sensation in such tournaments as the U.S. Open and the Masters, could be ready to make a charge for this one. Patton is a smooth putter, and that figures to help him considerably on greens that are hard to read, because of the mountain backgrounds and shadows.

While it's another token appearance for ageless Charles (Chick) Evans of Chicago, who won the crown back in 1916 and 1920. Four other former champs figure very much in the running.

They include Harvie Ward Jr. of San Francisco, 1955 and 1956; Congressman Jack Westland of Everett, Wash., 1952; Ted Bishop of Boston, 1946; and Dick Chapman of Osterville, Mass., 1940.

Tough Foes Slated For Missouri Valley

By The Associated Press

Rugged opposition faces Missouri Valley Conference football teams as they open the 1959 season this week.

North Texas State gets the first test against Border Conference champion Hardin-Simmons at Abilene Thursday night.

Houston, one of the favorites to regain the conference crown it captured in 1956 and '57, has its hands full as it entertains Mississippi, the Gator Bowl champion, Saturday night.

The rest of the league plays Saturday afternoon. Wichita renews an intrastate rivalry with Kansas State of the Big Eight at Manhattan, Kan. Oklahoma State, which left the Valley to join the Big Eight, hosts Cincinnati. Tulsa tangles with Arkansas, of the Southwest Conference, at Fayetteville, Ark.

Fashion Variety At Needlecraft Shop

Fashion goes further than just the outer dress this fall, Mrs. Kathleen Glover, owner of Needlecraft Dress Shop on the east side of the square, said.

"This fall, women can choose from a rainbow of exciting new colors and coordinate their entire ensemble in matching colors from the lingerie out," she said.

This important advance in fashions is made possible by Kayser's new "Interlude" collection of lingerie, the complete line of which is now at the Needlecraft Shop.

"You'll like the fabric—soft, cool Kayonara, the nylon tissue tricot with the silken touch," Mrs. Glover said.

"You'll like the fit. And when you try on the Interlude slip, for instance, you'll find it fits you as perfectly as it it had been tailored for your figure," she added.

The half-slip, the petti-pants, the waltz gown or the sleep coat are all in the new colors and material. The new colors include cinnamon, olive, ivory rose, pale blue, black and white — all colors that are popular in women's fashions this fal and all in colors in which the Needlecraft Shop has a wide slection of dresses, coordinated, sweaters, cardigans and skirts.

"Also, this fall, accessories are an important part of the wardrobe," Mrs. Glover said.

The shop has added many new accessories and belts to its already large collection, and many new nationally advertised lines of dresses, skirts and blouses, and sweaters have been added.

Donovan-Galvani of Dallas, Nardis, Minx Modes, and Mack Shore are some of the popular names seen in nationally advertised lines now at the Needlecraft Shop.

Mrs. Glover said that the firm has made a special effort to have all the sewing accessories anyone will need-including high school and junior high school home economics students.

"We invite everyone to come in and see our new styles and lines," she said.

ALL IN MATCHING COLORS—The display window of the Needlecraft Dress Shop on the east side of the square shows the store's complete coordination of colors in everything from lingerie to dresses. Mrs. Kathleen Glover, owner, said that Kayser's new lingerie line, "Interlude," makes the color coordination possible in any of this fall's popular new colors. (Lee Watson photograph)

TREADS for truck tires last up to four times as long when the tires are retreaded by the new process developed in West Germany and now used by Central Tire Service. Here, Stanley Noah, Central Tire owner, holds a piece of the tread rubber like the type which is applied to a truck tire. The tire is buffed and ready for the new process. In the background is a curing cabinet.

New Central Tire Service Extends Truck Tires' Life

Probably the most revolutionary thing in tire treading since the origination of tire recapping many years ago is a cold process of recapping tires developed recently in West Germany.

The new Bandag cold process has been catching on in the U. S. during the past several years as far superior, especially good for recapping of truck tires, and Central Tire Service of Snyder has a franchise for a wide area of West Texas on the process.

Stanley Noah, owner of Central Tire Service, said the firm had made available truck tire service by the new Bandag process and that it has been very satisfactory, since it can result in up to four times more mileage than the conventional recapping process.

Central Tire recently installed the new equipment required for giving the truck tire service by the new process. A Snyder firm which deals in hauling heavy loads tried some of the tires and after trial runs asked for more. Noah said he expects that kind of result from many other truck owners in the near future as they learn of the long-lasting feature of the new Bandag process.

While the process was developed in West Germany, the product is not an import. American rubber and chemicals are used in the new process here.

The new process includes rubber being cured before it is put onto the tire, and it is placed on the tire by a chemical process. That is the most unique feature about the new Bandag process, with the tread cured, complete with tread design, before its application to the tire.

The pre-cure makes the tire service industry able, for the first time in the history of retreading, to tread at a controlled pressure. The pressure at the time of cure is a very important factor in the production of tire mileage, Noah pointed out.

While the conventional retread methods use 160 to 180 pounds of pressure during the cure and the pressure is in the tire, some absorbed by the tube, some by the tire and some forcing the rubber into the tread design, the Bandag process differs in that it is cured from both sides, between two pieces of steel. One of them has the tread design which is applied at 650 pounds of pressure.

This is about four times the amount of pressure of the conventional recapping and all the pressure is on the tread rubber, resulting in the Bandag process giving two, three or four times the amount of mileage of conventional retreading.

Noah said truck owners have two choices now on retreading, either the conventional or the Bandag process. Either is a bargain. He invited truck owners to stop by Central Tire and inquire about the new process and how it could be used to help them save money for their firms.

No Breeze On Moon To Wave Flags

WASHINGTON (AP)—If those hammer-and-sickle pennants of the Soviet moon rocket are real flags, they're not waving on the moon—because there is no breeze on the airless moon.

But, as one top American astronomer put it to a reporter, "placing even a dead pennant on the moon is really something."

"I wish we had done it first ourselves," said Dr. Gerald Clemence of the U. S. Naval Observatory.

John M. Raymond, deputy legal adviser to the State Department, said the United States is taking the position that any rocket planting of a flag on the moon would not give the U.S.S.R. or anyone else a claim to rule over it.

However, he added, the United States as yet has "no views on how far you would have to go" to claim moon sovereignty.

The Soviets triumphantly said their moon rocket bore pennants emblazoned with the arms of the Soviet Union and an inscription "the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. September 1959."

But the Soviet announcement didn't make entirely clear whether the pennants were painted on the rocket's casing—or were regular flags.

However, if they are real flags, they're just lying—or standing—limp up there.

The reason is that the moon is a world without air, without wind or weather. It has no atmosphere to speak of.

For the same reason, the rocket's impact on the moon would have been silent. There is no atmosphere to carry sound waves.

Says Moon Has Gorge

BALTIMORE (AP) — An astronautical engineer, W. Ray Benton, says he has evidence of a gorge 1,000 miles long and one-fourth to one-half a mile wide on the surface of the moon.

Benton called lunar experts to his home Sunday to look at a 20-year-old photograph of the moon taken at Mount Wilson Observatory in California.

Dr. James Q. Gant, Washington physician and president of the International Lunar Society, agreed that the cleft in the moon was not due to any discrepancy in the negative. Then why didn't Mount Wilson notice it?

"There's so damn much up there to see that one spends a whole evening looking at just one point," said Dr. Gant.

The barometer, which judges changes of weather, was invented by Italian scientist Torricelli in 1643.

Alaska Carpenters Accept New Pact

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Alaska carpenters voted Sunday to accept a new contract offering wage increases of 78 cents an hour over a three-year period, thus ending a 78-day strike.

The action will send 2,000 carpenters back to work with about 2,000 members of other craft unions affected by the strike. The walkout started June 27.

Labor Bill Is Defended By Johnson

DALLAS (AP) — Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) says there aren't any awards or penalties for workers or management in the compromise labor bill which Congress has sent to the White House.

The Senate majority leader said in his transcribed weekly talk over Texas radio stations Sunday that he hoped President Eisenhower would sign the bill.

The measure "is the bill the public wanted," Johnson said.

He did not mention the President by name.

The senator explained that the new labor bill was a product of a Senate-House conference committees work. He said the committee "sought to salvage the best from the Landrum-Griffin bill as approved by the House, and the Kennedy-Erwin bill, which was passed by the Senate."

The bill plugged loopholes existing in the secondary boycott bans originally written into the Taft-Hartley Act passed by the 80th Congress, he said.

"The new labor bill sealed these loopholes. And this includes a clause covering 'hot cargo' deals, one of the most vicious forms of the secondary boycott," Johnson continued.

The senator said the bill was "an attack on racketeers and hoodlums" and that "rank-and-file union members gained a bill of rights."

Junior Editors Quiz on FOOD

QUESTION: What country first grew watermelons?

* * *

ANSWER: The watermelon is a fruit that grows on a long vine. It is related to the pumpkin, squash, muskmelon and cucumber. And it is called watermelon for a very good reason. It is 93 per cent water. Watermelon has very little food value, but it has a delicious taste. Watermelons were first grown in Africa and spread in early times to southern Asia. Eventually it was brought to the United States, which is now the chief source of the fruit. Watermelons are grown in the deep, sandy soil of Georgia, Florida, Texas, South Carolina and Alabama.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Why not have a watermelon party? Have enough watermelon to give each guest one piece and have one piece left over. Before you begin eating, have each guest guess the number of seeds in his piece. After eating, count the seeds. Whoever comes closest to the right number of seeds in his portion wins the other piece of melon.

* * *

(Jay Gourley of Sharon, S. C., wins $10 for this question. Mail your question on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper. Mrs. Higgins will make the final selection if duplicate questions are received.)

Nixon Says Reds Failed Three Times

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon says the Soviets failed three times in the last two weeks to hit the moon with a rocket.

He could not reveal the source of his information, he said.

Saturday's firing, which the Soviets announced was successful, apparently was the fourth recent attempt.

Before that only one Soviet lunar probe had been announced. That was Lunix II, fired Jan. 2, which passed the moon and went into orbit around the sun.

When Nixon was asked about Moscow's announcement that the Soviet rocket had hit the moon, his press secretary, Herbert Klein interjected, "There is no official proof yet."

"Yes," said Nixon, "that's right. None of us really knows that it is in the moon."

Nixon was interviewed Sunday night when he arrived by plane from Washington to address a national dental convention.

Until Nixon's statement, only seven lunar probes had been announced—five of them by the United States and two by the U.S.S.R.

Four of the U. S. attempts failed to reach as far as the moon. The fifth, on March 3, passed the moon, as Lunik I did, and went into orbit around the sun.

The latest Soviet space exploit is "nothing to get hysterical about," Nixon said.

"Scientifically and educationally," he said, "we are way ahead of the Soviets, and there is no reason to junk our educational programs. In science, sometimes we're ahead and sometimes they're ahead, but over-all, we are way ahead."

Man Makes Confession

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—"I want to tell you about a murder," the caller told police.

He said he had smothered Thelma Stowe Townsend last Aug. 29 because "she started hollering" when they argued during a drinking bout.

Police checked their files and found that Mrs. Townsend's death had been listed as from natural causes, pending pathological studies.

The caller—David Watson Stewart, 32, a cook—said he smothered the divorcee by holding his hand over her nose and mouth. He said he had to confess to police Sunday because "I haven't slept" since the woman's death. He was booked on suspicion of murder.

HST Urges Rights Bill

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman says he can't see how Congress can fail to adopt adequate civil rights legislation in view of "the fundamental faith of this country and the clear language of our Constitution."

Truman said Congress has made a start toward such legislation but "we must always be working to eliminate injustice and to create a society which carries out our ideals."

His statements were in a filmed address for the opening Sunday of the 45th annual national convention of Hadassah, the women's Zionist organization of America. More than 3,400 persons attended.

Israel's foreign minister, Golda Meir, said Israel is preparing for immigration of large numbers of Jews from European countries.

Dr. Miriam K. Freund, national president of Hadassah, said the organization will erect a "freedom bell" atop the 25-million-dollar Hadassah-Hebrew University Medical Center being built in Jerusalem.

26 In State Die Violently

By The Associated Press

Weekend violent deaths claimed at least 26 lives in Texas. Eighteen of the fatalities were blamed on traffic accidents.

Nine persons died in three auto crashes.

A head on collision near Del Rio Saturday night killed three persons. They were Cody Wardlaw III, 19 of Del Rio; Charles Gregory Bryne, 16, of Houston, and Arthur Lopez, 43, Burbank, Calif. Miss Tulisha Shahan, 17 of Brackettville, was critically injured.

Three men were killed Saturday night when their car left the Falfurrias - Hebbronville highway and overturned. They were Francisco Arrendondo Jr., 31, Falfurrias; Domingo Garza, 54, Corpus Christi, and Baldemar Hinjjosa, Falfurrias.

Another 3 - death accident occurred Saturday 22 miles west of Amarillo on U. S. 66. Killed were Mrs. Sam James, 64, Amarillo; Chester L. Dement, 69, San Jon, N. M., and his son, Eugene L. Dement, 44, of Roswell, N. M.

Two college students from Corpus Christi died early Sunday when a car overturned at a curve just outside Corpus Christi. They were James W. Pinson, 25, and Miss Adele Darlene Hill, 18.

Robert Walter Long, 21, a University of Texas student from Houston, died Sunday in a car which rolled over six times and hurdled a fence 5 miles north of Freer.

Authorities blamed a cambling argument for the shotgun slaying Sunday night of Grover Tapp, about 70, at a gas station in Muleshoe.

Zan Mosley, 22, died in a Houston hospital early Sunday of head injuries suffered in a barroom fight. Police said a 21-year-old man would be charged with murder.

Allen Wright, 25, was shot and killed in the climax to a cafe argument early Sunday in Houston. Officers held a 23-year-old man.

Rufus F. Fletcher, 70, of Denton died at a Fort Worth hospital Sunday of injuries suffered in a truck - car crash Saturday night north of Saginaw.

J. B. Houser, 28, former shop foreman for a taxicab firm in Texarkana, was killed by a bullet from an Army pistol early Sunday while asleep at his home. Dist. Atty. Bob Vance said Mrs. Houser, 26, told officers her husband beat her with a clothes hanger during an argument before the shooting.

Jesse Ray Manning, 24, was killed Saturday when his father's car overturned on U. S. 59 near Beeville. The father, Harry C. Manning of Chase Naval Air Station at Beeville, was uninjured.

Berry Ellington, 12, of Garland was killed Saturday and four other persons injured, two critically, in a two - car collision. The accident occurred in northeast Dallas County.

Jimmy Wilson, 34, of Austin was stabbed to death in an east Austin cafe Saturday. Police said he was in a violent struggle with another man and a 29-year-old woman.

C. E. Southwell, 68, of Dallas was killed Saturday when his pickup truck rammed into the rear of a lumber truck six miles east of Marshall on U. S. 80.

Louis Frank Nearl of Corsicana was fatally injured in a two-car collision at Fort Worth Saturday.

Domingo Garza Hernandez, 18, of Charlotte, was killed Sunday when his auto left the highway 2½ miles north of Encinal.

In San Antonio, police said Ambrosio Sanchez, 20, was fatally injured in a fight with his father at the pair's home Saturday. Police jailed the father and booked him for investigation of murder.

Craig John Licata, 4, his skull smashed, was found in an isolated spot in northwest Houston Saturday night by a terrified boy. Police said a 9-year-old boy has admitted striking the child accidentally as he swung an iron bar.

After a Saturday noon argument in an east Dallas cafe, Orrin Alvin Heard, 44, shot and critically wounded his estranged wife, Hazel Marie, 44, then fatally wounded himself. He died Saturday night.

CHARGED IN BOMBING—Samuel Graydon Beavers, 39 (second from left), John Taylor Coggins, 49 (center), and Jesse Raymond Perry, 24, (right), appeared in Municipal Court in Little Rock, Ark., on charges arising from the bombing of two buildings and a car at Little Rock. All are held on $50,000 bond. Two other men face similar charges. Prosecutor J. Frank Holt (left), is handling the case for the state. (AP Wirephoto)

Teen-Aged Groups Battle In Field

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (AP) — While their friends watched, two teen-agers from the rival towns of Blackfoot and Aberdeen fought in a darkened farm field Sunday.

Suddenly one drew a knife and stabbed the other 10 to 12 times.

Ronald Nielsen, 18, Blackfoot, is in serious condition at a hospital.

Sheriff's officers held Arturo Paz, 16, of Aberdeen for arraignment on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Deputy Sheriff Rex Anderson blamed teen-age rivalry between the two towns.

Child Slain By Playmate

HOUSTON (AP)—A husky 9-year-old boy told police Sunday night he accidentally killed a 4-year-old playmate with a heavy iron bar.

Craig John Licata was beaten to death Saturday. Police said he was struck at least three times on the head with a blunt instrument.

Detective Chester Massey said the older youth told him he accidentally struck Craig in the head while swinging the bar. No charges have been filed. In Texas the names of persons arrested can not be published until charges are filed.

The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Licata. Licata, who is a certified public accountant, moved to Houston five years ago from Ottawa, Canada. He became an American citizen last June.

Gen. Jackson Is Honored

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Beatrice Giffin of Topeka, Kan., and Isobelle Arnold of Deland, Fla., grandnieces of Gen. Thomas J. (Stonewall) Jackson, unveiled a bust of the Civil War hero Sunday in West Virginia's statehouse.

Sculptor Bryant Baker did the bronze bust of the Confederate general born 135 years ago at what is now Clarksburg, W. Va. It was given to the state by the West Virginia division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Maj. Gen. William H. Milton Jr., superintendent of Virginia Military Institute where Jackson once taught, praised him for "the qualities which will protect this nation from those forces dedicated to destroy us."

School Rule To Get Test

DALAS (AP)—A court test of the right of a school board to bar married high school students from extra curricular activities comes up here Tuesday. It involves a ban invoked by the school board at nearby Garland.

The suit's outcome may affect the Dallas school board's policy on the controversial subject.

The suit before Dist. Judge Claude Williams was brought by Jerry Kissick Jr., 16, a football player, and his father.

Judge Williams Friday issued a temporary restraining order directing that young Kissick be permitted to join the Garland football team.

A denial of non-classroom activities has been advocated by the Dallas parent-teachers Assn. council. A Dallas school board member who also is a lawyer, Franklin E. Spafford, said the board will take into consideration the results of the Garland court hearing before it acts on the PTA request.

An earlier suggestion by the PTA that the Dallas school board set up a separate school for married students was rejected.

Young Kissick is separated from his bride. They were wed last spring before the Garland board put the ban on married students.

Three Killed In Smashup

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three persons were killed and five others critically injured Sunday when an auto sideswiped another on a freeway and hurtled head-on into a third.

Highway patrolmen said a car driven by Jonathan Robert Cowan, 44, of South Gate, Calif., collided with an auto bound the same direction on the Long Beach Freeway in Los Angeles.

They said Cowan's car hurtled over a 50-foot-wide divider strip into the opposite lanes of traffic. It smashed into a station wagon with such force it drove the wagon's engine into the front seat.

Killed were Vera Cowan, 38; Richard Ackenback, 15, of San Pedro, and Emma Lawson.

Critically hurt were Cowan; Alfred Ackenback, 46; his wife, Margaret; a daughter, Linda, 12, and a son, Rudy, 14.

American Families Amaze Russians

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — A college girl who worked at the U.S. exhibit in Moscow this summer says Soviet citizens were amazed that an American family could afford four children.

Louise W. Jennison, 19, a Vassar College junior, was baby-sitter for the four children of Mr. and Mrs John Jacobs of Alexandria, Va., the American family which lived in the model home at the exhibit.

The Soviets were amazed that all the children were under 5 years of age," Miss Jennison said. "They couldn't believe Americans could afford what they considered a large family."

Officers In Algeria Ready To Back Plan Of DeGaulle

ALGIERS (AP)—The great majority of French army officers in Algeria apparently are ready to accept French President Charles de Gaulle's plan for ending the Algerian war whatever it may be.

De Gaulle has secretly prepared a new approach to settling the costly nationalist rebellion. He is to disclose his plan in a nationwide radio and television broadcast Wednesday. Officially, all that is known is that it will "affirm the principle of self-determination" for the Algerians.

But two days before the expected announcement the hard core of the French army appears to be lined up solidly behind De Gaulle.

De Gaulle is the only man who can solve the Algerian problem and we have all reason to believe his solution will be compatible with the nation's honor and interests," a staff officer said.

Highly placed French administration sources said some officers remain hostile to De Gaulle, but that their number and influence is not enough to steer the army into an anti-De Gaulle rebellion.

De Gaulle's trusted friend Gen. Maurice Challe seems to be in complete control of the 400,000-man French force fighting the Algerian rebels, who seek complete independence.

More than 1,000 officers suspected of being plotters have been booted out of Algeria in recent months or have been removed from key posts.

Highly placed French sources said De Gaulle left his Algerian inspection tour late last month impressed by recent French military successes and by the army's loyalty to him.

Hence, these sources said, no radical change in his Algerian policy is expected. It probably will renew a peace offer to the rebels and promise the nine million Algerians the right to choose their own political future—once peace has returned.

Meanwhile, machine-gun fire rattles throughout Algeria and grenades explode in dingy Moorish cafes and bars.

Despite powerful swoops of the French army, rebel guerrillas continue to recruit conscripts in mountain villages.

Fifty miles east in Algeria's Kabylie Mountain range, crack French army units pursue a seven-week-old operation aimed at breaking the back of one of the most stubborn rebel areas.
