"MOON WORK SUIT"—A man peers from inside of what is described as an experimental two-piece lunar exploration suit. The suit was developed by the Republic Aviation Corporation of Farmingdale, N. Y., which says it is meant to be "working clothes" for an astronaut as he scours around, digs, gardens or does other chores on the moon. To take a brief rest, he lowers the tripod, two legs of which can be seen hanging from the "waist-line," and curls up inside aluminum torso on a little built-in seat. (AP Wirephoto)

Bank Deposits Decline From Record Level

Snyder bank deposits are down by approximately $2 million but loans are up by half a million dollars compared to figures of a year ago.

Figures from both Snyder banks compiled in response to a call for statements of condition as of Oct. 3 showed deposits totalling $19,719,541.22, and loans totalling $9,924,893.87.

For the corresponding call last year, which was issued effective Oct. 6, deposits amounted to $21,717,799.76 and loans totalled $9,238,312.40.

The third quarter figures this year were about $4 million below the all-time record for deposits which was set last January. The record high was $24,339,140.37.

On the current call the West Texas State Bank reported deposits of $6,204,177.33 and loans totalling $3,685,934.29.

The Snyder National Bank reported deposits of $13,515,363.84 and loans totalling $6,238,959.58.

One Admits Leadership

YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—Three men, wanted for a series of vicious highway robberies in four states, were arrested today by Arizona and California authorities.

Elton Harold Hale, 43-year-old ex-convict from Arkansas, and his 17-year-old son, Robert, were picked up at Hale's home in Lancaster, Calif.

Sheriff deputies in Yuma later arrested LeRoy Coates, 27, of Yuma and E. J. Minor, 31, hometown unknown. Neither man was armed nor offered any resistance.

The three men are believed to be responsible for a number of robberies of motorists and assaults on women in California, Texas, Arizona and Arkansas.

Hale said he had served 10 years for rustling and two years for burglary in the Arkansas State Penitentiary. He has been charged in Texas with highway robbery and rape.

Sgt. Ellsworth said Hale had refused to name his companions in the crimes, saying: "I'll probably have to do time for this, and I don't want to put the finger on anyone... If you pick them up and they tell you, fine."

Ellsworth said, "We're confident there'll be other arrests soon."

Investigators said three men in a car stopped four cars near El Paso, Tex., last Wednesday morning, assaulted one woman and escaped with about $10,000 after tying up their victims with a metal chain and securing it with a padlock.

The victims said the bandit car had a red light and siren, but Hale told officers he and his partners did not use such equipment.

Hale, described by Ellsworth as blond, balding and "built like a bulldog," told the officer the gang's usual method was to pull alongside a car, flash a portable spotlight at the driver, stop him and tell him to "scout over."

How many such jobs? A hundred, perhaps? "Yes, about a hundred," Ellsworth said Hale replied, adding later: "Maybe there weren't quite that many."

Hale said a fourth man participated in holdups around Merced and Modesto, Calif., officers reported.

Ellsworth said Hale told his son at the Lancaster Substation of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Office.

"You know, Son, I didn't make any money doing this. Maybe the other fellows made money, but I didn't."

Hale, of (1538 Lanitas Ave.) Livermore, Calif., and his son were arrested in a car on the edge of Littleton, a Mojave Desert community 35 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

Two highway patrolmen said they spotted the car because its headlights were on the high beam, then noticed that it was a wanted car. Deputies said a 45-caliber revolver and a portable searchlight were found in the automobile.

Hale's wife, Thelma, 37, told deputies her husband left home last May, saying he was going to Arkansas to pick cotton.

Hale is charged in Wheeler, Tex., with trapping a 15-year-old California girl after holdup men snatched the girl and her mother Sept. 29 on a lonely stretch of U.S. 66.

In El Paso last night four victims of the holdup gang identified police photos of Hale, Charles Lemmons of Gree, S.C., said "I swear to God that's him. Although this isn't a very good picture, I remember him distinctly."

Liquor Vote Set Saturday

Snyder voters will go to the polls tomorrow to decide whether the sale of alcoholic beverages shall be legalized in the city.

The proposal calls for a referendum of legalizing sales of alcoholic beverages for "off-premises" consumption, which means that beverages could not be consumed on the property where they are purchased.

All qualified voters who live within the corporate limits of the City of Snyder are eligible to vote in the election.

It will be the first proposal of its kind ever to be submitted to voters here. Previous liquor elections have been presented on a county-wide basis, and the county has traditionally gone "dry."

A heavy turnout of voters is expected tomorrow. The polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

Voters will cast their ballots in the same locations they used for the Democratic primaries last May and June, with all four polling places located in the county courthouse.

Two Ships In Collision

EMMERICH, Germany (AP)—A Belgian tanker loaded with kerosene and naphthalene collided with a new ferryboat in the Rhine River here today and caught fire. Six other vessels also were reported afloat and a police spokesman said one person perished and eight were seriously hurt.

The tanker was identified as the 365-ton Diamond 'out of Antwerp. The ferryboat, the Tina Scarlett, had just been partially filled with kerosene and naphthalene for Rotterdam for fuel and masts. Capable of carrying 500 passengers and 60 cars, the Tina Scarlett had been due to go into service between Denmark and Sweden next week.

The collision, police said, occurred on German territory shortly before the Rhine crosses into the Netherlands, but the burning vessels—most of them river barges—were abandoned after being abandoned by their crews, drifted over to the Dutch side.

Britons Say Krush Wants Talks In '61

LONDON (AP)—Premier Khrushchev wants a special summit session of the U.N. General Assembly early in 1961 to discuss disarmament, British officials reported today.

Informants said the Soviet premier put up the idea to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at his farewell meeting in New York Tuesday.

They reported Macmillan expressed himself against the proposal. The British leader instead restated his own—and the general Western—position about ways of advancing negotiations to end the world arms race.

The Western Allies want East-West talks to be resumed on two levels—political and technical. At a pinch they may meet Khrushchev's demand to include neutral nations in the negotiations.

Khrushchev made it clear to Macmillan he intends to propose the idea of a new U.N. summit meeting when disarmament comes up for discussion in the assembly shortly.

Showdown On China Looms

By RYLAND MORIN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly pushed toward a critical East-West showdown over Red China today amid rising Western concern over the position of new African nations who may hold the key to the outcome.

Heralding a bitter struggle to be waged on the floor tonight, Nationalist China denounced the Red Peiping regime as the world's "greatest menace to international peace and security" and predicted its downfall in violent revolution.

Nationalist Chinese Ambassador T. F. Tsiang leveled this charge in the general policy debate. Discussion of whether Red China's claim to membership should be based on "territory, population and the like of which the world has never known," and added:

"Under such intolerable circumstances, it is not without reason that there is a boiling, seething and ultimately irrepressible mass of resentment among the suffering people. The day will surely come when they will rise in revolt against their oppressors. We Chinese will yet see the day of national liberation."

The imminent vote is not on the question of admitting Red China to U.N. membership, but on the question whether to place a Soviet-backed resolution on the assembly's agenda for full debate. For nine years the United States has persuaded the Assembly to draw a resolution calling for a meeting of the U.S. President and the Soviet premier.

Hussein declined to say specifically what he and Eisenhower talked about during their half-hour meeting.

But he said his country is very thankful for the economic help provided by the United States.

Emergency State Declared In Strike

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—The mayor and city manager declared a state of emergency here today after jostling, shouting and fist-fighting broke out on picket lines surrounding the large General Electric plant.

The officials said police were unable to cope with the situation adequately. They said all members of the fire department would be deputized and additional deputies would be sworn in.

Mayor Malachuk and Manager Arthur Blessing also appealed to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for state assistance.

Thousands of pickets closed off GE's main plant here for the second day.

Two Men Injured In Road Mishap

Two men were injured at a 1 m. today when the pickup in which they were riding left the pavement and landed in a draw 20 miles north of Snyder on the Lubbock highway.

Injured were George B. Anglin of Big Spring and Wilbur Lee of Muleshoe. They were treated for facial lacerations and abrasions in Cogdell Memorial Hospital where they were taken by a Bolger Funeral Home ambulance.

Hussein Says Move 'Wise'

WASHINGTON (AP)—King Hussein of Jordan said today after a talk with President Eisenhower that the dropping of nationalist moves for a quick Eisenhower-Khrushchev meeting was wise.

The pro-Western Arab monarch told reporters he thinks "prior to such a suggestion, there should have been plenty of work and planning so that the chances of a useful result would be better."

Hussein declined to say his country is not particularly disappointed that the sponsors withdrew a resolution calling for a meeting of the U.S. President and the Soviet premier.

Labor Party Still Intact

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP)—Britain's Labor party emerged today from its most raucous conference since World War II still intact and still very much a going concern.

High Gaitskill is still its leader, despite predictions he would become a sort of tribal sacrifice. True, Gaitskill must fight when the party's parliamentary delegation meets behind locked doors in London later this month. But with the passing of every hour, Gaitskill's position appears more secure.

In a sense, the party was lucky to get out of its ordeal with so few wounds. Even its best friends had begun to wonder whether the party was determined to commit suicide by carrying its internal arguments to a fatal showdown.

Some leading figures in the movement think the high tide of left-wing insurgency was reached when the conference demand that Britain give up its nuclear weapons and pull out of the Atlantic alliance. Now they believe Gaitskill and the party moderates will reverse that nationalist decision in the months ahead.

Second Debate Set Tonight

By JOE F. KANE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican and Democratic Presidential rivals met tonight in the second round of their televised debate, with indications it will be livelier than the first one.

Both Democrat, John F. Kennedy and Republican Richard M. Nixon were relaxing here today before the hour-long session scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time.

Since they first met before the TV cameras and radio microphones on Sept. 26, both candidates have gotten down to more rough-and-tumble politicking than they did before the first round which many critics called a kid-gloves affair.

Some of the tougher tactics are expected to show up as the two square off in a television studio setting designed "to suggest a feeling of warmth and comfort."

The candidates will be questioned by a panel of four newsmen on both foreign and domestic issues. There will be no formal opening statements, as there were in the first debate. Replies to questions will be limited to 2 1/2 minutes.

The debate will originate in the big NBC studio here and will be carried by the three TV networks and four major radio networks.

Kennedy will be on the left of the screen, Nixon on the right—as they were in the first debate in Chicago. Between them will be Frank McGee, an NBC newsmen who will be moderator. They will be seated at a large desk which curves outward like a widespread horseshoe arrangement.

Nixon and Kennedy will step to nearby lecterns to answer questions. The lecterns will be covered by grass cloth, like that covering the curved wall in the background.

The four newsmen who will question the candidates in turn will be seated at a long desk facing the standard bearers. The questioners will be Edward P. Morgan of ABC, Paul Niven of CBS, Alvin Sipkav of United Press International and Hal Levy, Washington correspondent for the Long Island Newsday.

Cameras occasionally will catch reaction shots of each of the candidates while the other is speaking.

Many viewers said after the first debate that the studio setting looked bleak and that Nixon appeared haggard and tired. GOP national headquarters said lighting and makeup had made Nixon appear wan.

Nixon's TV adviser, Edward A. Rogers, said the type of lighting used in the Chicago debate proved to be used on the vice president tonight, but that the final decision will be up to Nixon.

Rogers also said that Stan Lawrence, a New York makeup man, used previously at various times by Nixon, will apply makeup to Nixon's face to hide the beard shadow.

There was no word on whether Kennedy will use makeup. His aide said he used no makeup in the first debate, relying on a heavy tan.

In addition to the candidates and the panelists, only a few members of the Kennedy staffs, NBC production people, three pool reporters and six pool photographers will be in the studio during the program.

Space normally used for storing television scenery has been converted to a press room to handle the crowd of newsmen expected to cover the debate outside the studio.

Secrecy Surrounds Activity Of Invasion Forces In Cuba

By ROBERT BERRILL

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government today clamped secrecy on operations against a band of invaders who escaped to the mountains after landing on the northeast tip of Cuba this week. A reliable source reported that four separate invading groups totaling 200 men landed during the week. There was no confirmation of the report.

The government admitted only one landing—an estimated 27 men—and said the leader was killed and two of the band captured. The others got away.

A spokesman for Castro said the prime minister regarded the landing as "of very little importance" and was remaining in Havana to deliver a major address to the nation on Monday.

But a 4.5 kg. rumor in Santiago that the prime minister's younger brother, Maj. Raul Castro, the armed forces minister, was personally commanding the hunt.

A communiqué said three Americans were among the 24 invaders of the landing who made for the mountains after hitting the shore.

The hunt centered in the rugged hill country on the north shore of Oriente Province. It was in Oriente that Castro launched his revolution to "topple Fulgencio Batista."

Government-controlled Havana newspapers and radio stations played up the landing and stressed the communiqué's allegation that the invasion band had official U.S. support.

The report apparently was being set for Castro to deliver another attack on the United States and President Eisenhower's administration when he speaks on Monday. There was also the possibility of repercussions in the United Nations.

(In Washington, Press Officer Francis Tully said the State Department had no information about the invasion. He said there were some "comic opera" aspects about the Cuban report the invaders carried an American flag.)

Sweetwater Remains Dry

SWEETWATER—Dry forces triumphed by a 460-vote margin in a liquor election here Thursday which attracted record numbers to the polls.

The vote count totaled 3,835 as voters in the City of Sweetwater balloted on a proposal to legalize the sale of alcoholic beverages within the city limits for off-premises consumption.

The final unofficial count listed 2,152 "dry" votes and 1,683 "wet" votes.

New Rooms Grow Up With Youngsters, Says McCobb

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—A new look in nurseries curdles the eye at the National Home Furnishings Show. Dedicated to "The Wonderful World of Children," the show appeals to Mom and Dad as well as the little pop set.

Paul McCobb has adapted his design talents to the juvenile level, bringing the charm and uncluttered lines of his adult designs to youngsters' furniture.

His basic pieces are in cherry with a hand-rubbed finish. The nursery features a combination chest, dresser, four-drawer chest and crib. A handsome—a and completely different—child's chair has a seat about five inches from the floor and a high curved and shaped back. Another item built along the same lines is a combination table, chair and toy box.

Accessory pieces are in the bright colors which seem to have been taken over as accents in the modern nursery—blue, green, yellow. A toy pen, designed to warm the heart of any mother, is an oversized basket that manages to make a pile of toys look decorative, even while they are in use.

Emily Malino, well-known designer in the juvenile furnishings field, showed eight simple settings, including a series of rooms, adaptable to a growing child.

An infant's room is in bright sea-blue, white, deeper blue. Shades begin halfway down the windows; the upper sections are gay house designs painted on cloth. Above the crib hangs a mobile of colorful discs. Modern, low chests with sliding panels hug the walls. For age 3, the baby chests are painted white, moved under the windows. Miss Malino uses a cheerful fabric of blue, green and lilac in a bold design at the window. A doll house is built into the area above the windows. The shelf above it is used for an animal collection. A bed cover is mint corduroy.

The same chests stained in a natural wood, are used in the teenage setting. The room is now lilac, combined with white and green to give a sophisticated note.

Designer Larry Peabody makes the walls of his nursery look like something out of Wonderland. Oversized photographs of Alice in Wonderland illustrations decorate one wall. Laminated is used to cover another. Peabody says the laminated idea came from his son, and that it may be considered an investment since it can be used later as a rug in a teenager's room.

Nine table settings by Janice Gerton are inspired by children. A cheerful breakfast table for the entire family is decorated in sunny yellow and bronze-green. A "dinner at 6" children can mix" company dinner, using hyacinth and olive color schemes, has both child and adult appeal.

New Lacquer Objects On Market Soon

Binh Doung, Vietnam (AP)—The resin from a Cambodian tree, "the color of cockroach wings," is making big business in South Vietnam and some of the finest contemporary art objects in Asia.

Tiny saucers, elaborately-mounted elephant tusks, a bowl beautifully crafted from broken eggshells, a little knife holder or an ivory-inlaid screen.

The business is Vietnamese lacquer, little known outside the country but of such superior quality that other countries with a reputation for lacquer ware such as Japan send experts here to study. Beside a Buddhist temple in Binh Duong, 19 miles from Saigon is the Thanh Le Lacquer Studio. Vietnam's biggest and best. Yellow-robed priests pad past the factory where some 200 craftsmen practice techniques imported by a mandarin 500 years ago from China.

"Of course, we use mass production methods nowadays," explains a workman as he etches a butterfly in mother-of-pearl. Mass production means it takes four months to make an ashtray and up to three years for more elaborate products.

Thanh Le has had an exhibition touring the United States since 1958 but the firm won't begin exporting abroad until next month.

The basis of the industry is the lacquer itself, tapped like rubber from Cambodian trees. The trees are now in the communist North, although some are being planted in the south.

Will legalizing the sale of alcoholic beverages in Snyder reduce drunkenness, driving while intoxicated, and "bootlegging"?

In the City of Post, court records reveal the following arrests for an equal period of time before and after legalizing beer and liquor sales

	After	Before
Arrests for Intoxication
In Public Places	270	58
Arrests For Driving While Intoxicated	10	1
Arrests for illegal sale, transportation, and possession of alcoholic beverages (commonly called "bootlegging")	32	8

Post law enforcement officers say:

"Where we might have 2 to 4 in jail on Saturday nights, we have now 14 to 20."

"If there is more business in our community it is liquor business. I do know that there are more bad checks and unpaid bills."

Will legalizing the sale of alcoholic beverages help business?

Post Merchants say "NO"

"My business has suffered since legal sales came to Post. Legal liquor stores in a town is a good way to ruin the grocery business."

"I cannot tell that it has helped my business at all."

"I operate a service station in Post. The legal sale of alcoholic beverages has made no noticeable increase in my business. No increase would be worth what we have to put up with by having legal sales in Post."

Where Beer Belongs!

The brewers of America, those men who traffic in the bodies and souls of men, women and children, are launching a campaign to sell America the vicious lie that "beer belongs in every American scene." The brewers do not want beer where it really belongs, however, for beer belongs in the stories of nearly all auto wrecks which blight our highways.

Beer belongs in the morgue where it has sent so many people.

Beer belongs in the gutters, where it has laid so many men and women.

Beer belongs in the "bad debt roll" where are to be found the names of so many who spend all they are making to purchase the "brew of hell."

Beer belongs in the juvenile courts of the country where it has sent so many children to whom the brewers have sold their product.

Beer belongs in hell, where it will finally send the souls of all who foolishly think they can drink it and get by.

Statistics show that ten thousand people are killed by whiskey while only one is killed by a mad dog. So what do we do? Shoot the mad dog, and license the sale of whiskey! ! !

GENERAL TELLER WHAT IS MORALLY WRONG WITH PROHIBITION

By the powers of "moral reason" in the church and around the family hearthstone, and in the school room, followed up by worthy examples of those who lead the way in society and business—especially by those who assume the role of moral reformers—temperance and sobriety will prevail, for by these methods men's pride and honor can be cultivated and aroused to the elevated standard of honesty and truth in all things.

In result of education and exercise in private affairs, men become conservative when there is hope in open resistance, but so soon as this feeling is gone they sneak next in the hiding places of cowardice, criminality and outlawry to evade what they conceive and contend to be oppression. In such refuge tricks are conjured and deception and hypocrisy are practiced, and perjury is bred, nurtured and emulated.

If the war is really on the evil influence of the saloons as some avow, then it can be made more successfully in the legislature than by the present methods. Remove the saloons so that all the drinkers can be seen; abolish the vulgar pictures which arouse the evil passions; drive out the exchanging music which draws the crowds; and "blow away the gaming tables that afford sport, recreation and amusement for the patrons. A step further on this line, if necessary, close them up at night, or not permit lights to be used in the saloons from sun-down until sun-up, so that he who goes there after night will do so alone for a drink and must grope in the darkness to slake his thirst. Supplement this by heavy bonds and high licenses, exclude the sale of liquor from every other place and there will be some chance at least of confining a great evil under the surveillance of law where it can be made to defray a large share of the tax as it does now, and to carry all the odium which the rules of society and temperance people can pile upon it.

If, for no stronger reason, this amendment ought to be delayed upon the grounds that it would scatter the traffic and use of intoxicants and force them into low dives and high places alike, without the attendance of law, or the burdens of taxation, where in the former they would be productive of the most heinous and corrupting forms of crime, and in the latter they would play the part of "live-out" rascals of the fairest flowers of our land.

Yes, my friend, I am opposed to and shall vote against the so-called prohibition amendment, for what I believe to be the welfare of morality, the protection of virtue, the promotion of honesty and the perpetuity of good government. With great respect and sincere friendship.

starting of the state of halfback Joe Dost, who will be remembered as a mainstay in the Buck backfield the season past. A head injury has put him out of action indefinitely.

The sole remaining strong starter that has thus been harrowed down is 160-pound halfback-turned-quarterback, Fred Kennedy. And now by graduation have topped all-arounders, Roy Scarborough and Tommy Minton, and David Wiman, plus backs Jesse Crawford and Mike Moffett. Injuries have taken up to smolder in those performers, though as Snyder is saddled with a combination and Wiman with a cracked bone in his knee.

The Buckaroos, in running out of a wing 7, are primarily a passing team. They are blessed with a host of quarterbacks of considerable ability, one of whom Mackie McArthur—graduated from the post-aid while alternate Harry Ledbetter—has been the center of all eyes. Kennedy and halfback Buddy Langford also contribute to the passing team.

The Tigers also can be depended upon to be a team to watch. Snyder's quarterback, Roy Scarborough, is a fine passer, and his halfback, Mike Moffett, is a fine runner. The Tigers also have a strong line, and a strong defense.

TODAY THE GREATEST SIXTY-ONEDERFUL CHEVROLET

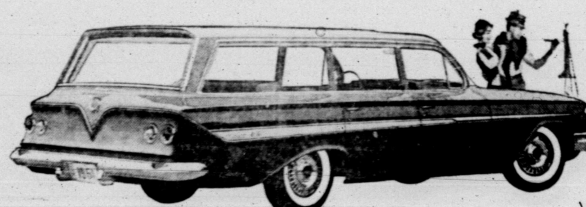

Here's the car that reads you loud and clear—the new size, you-size '61 Chevrolet. We started out by trimming the outside size a bit to give you extra inches of clearance for parking and maneuvering, but inside we left you a full measure of Chevy comfort. Door openings are as much as 6 inches wider to give feet, knees, and elbows the undisputed right of way. And the new easy-chair seats are as much as 14" higher—just right for sitting, just right for sleeping.

Once you're settled inside you'll have high and wide spaces for Chevrolet's spacious new dimensions (in the Sport Coupe, for example, head room has been upped as much as 2 inches, and there's leg room, too—front and rear). Chevy's new trunk is something else that will please you hugely—what with its deep-well shape and bumper-level loading it holds things you've never been able to get in a trunk before.

Yet, generously endowed as this car is with spaciousness and clean-lined elegance, it holds steadily to all the thrifty, dependable virtues Chevrolet buyers have come to take for granted. Your dealer's the man to see for all the details.

IMPALA 4-DOOR SPORT SEDAN—one of the Impalas that bring you a new measure of elegance from the most elegant Chevrolets of all.

NOMAD 9-PASSENGER STATION WAGON. You have a choice of six Chevrolet wagons, each with a case-sized cargo opening nearly 5 feet across.

BEL AIR 2-DOOR SEDAN, like all '61 Chevrolets brings you Body by Fisher newness—more front and leg room.

Trojans To Be Idle

Local football fans are reminded that the Trojans of the University of Texas at El Paso are scheduled to tomorrow night, which was to have matched that team against Lamesa.

Word was received yesterday morning that the game has been called off indefinitely.

Texas Tech center E. J. Hohn opened his sophomore and senior seasons with the same defensive gem-blocking a field goal. The All-American rushed Texas A&M's placement in 1958. West Texas attempt in 1960.

Successful Night Enjoyed By Junior High Elevens

Snyder's junior high elevens had some close calls during action of last night, but had the stamina to come through to two wins, a tie, and a single loss.

Breaking into the winners' circle for the first time was Lamar 7th, a 6-0 conquest of Big Spring, while across town Travis 8th posted its third triumph without loss at the expense of Sweetwater, 14-0.

Still among the unbeaten, but held to a tie was Travis 7th, deadlocked by Sweetwater, 6-6. Travis 9th went down to defeat in the other contest of the night, being bounced by a tough Sweetwater crew to the tune of 30-0.

Game accounts follow:

Travis 7th 6, Sweetwater 6

The Travis 7th Blue Devils, rattled by personnel losses during the past week, still managed to preserve their unbeaten skin of games here last night in tying Sweetwater, 6-6. They had previously whipped the same team on its own stomping grounds, 8-6, in their opener of the season.

No less than six boys who had started the game previous for the Blue Devils saw no action last night. Two backfield stalwarts—Paul Kinzey and Donnie Newman—have since moved from Snyder, while four other first-liners have been sidetracked due to scholastic deficiency.

All of the scoring fireworks which transpired during the game were lit in the waning moments of the first half. With 1:02 left to play in the half, fleet halfback Jesse Costello plowed a fine furrow up the middle of the field, as he churned 55 yards into paydirt for the triumphant Blue Devils.

Lamar 7th 6, Goliad 0

BIG SPRING — A fourth-down quarterback sneak on the part of signal caller Roy Taylor from less than a yard out enabled Lamar's 7th grade Texans to post their first touchdown of the season here last night during the second quarter of play. It eventually proved to be sufficient, though, as it boosted them into a 6-0 victory over Goliad of this city.

A "swap out" in the half, possession department set up the deciding six pointer, as the Texans drove to Goliad's five-yard line, only to lose the ball by a fumble, after which Texan guard David Holt "returned the favor" by punting on a Goliad miscue on that team's three-yard line. The Texans punched over for the tally from that point in four downs, following a rugged goaling stand as thrown up by the Goliadders.

Texan tackle Freddie Johnston proved himself to be the outstanding lineman on the field during the contest, as he showed up extremely well on both offense and defense. His defensive "red dog" tactics played a big part in keeping Goliad from mounting a sustained scoring drive and preserved the Texans' slim lead.

Fullback Kenneth Dieke, the Lamar game captain along with guard Bill Blum, was the top runner for the team, during the course of the evening.

Travis 8th 14, Sweetwater 8

Travis 8th survived its closest squeak of the campaign here last night in slipping past Sweetwater, 14-8. The victory was the third without loss for the winners.

Coach Charley Sparks was not overly elated with the performance shown, commenting that even in winning "we didn't look good at all." His team had previously downed the same Sweetwater eleven by 16-0 in its first game of the season.

Hard charging Leslie Brown put his Travis mates into the lead with 13 seconds left to play in the first period, as he rambled over left tackle for five yards and a touchdown. He followed up by bulging over for the bonus points, also. The scene was fairly quiet until late in the half, when Travis punched over what was to be the deciding tally. At 0:16 of the half, fullback Gary Bergeron carried the mail two yards over left tackle for the TD, after which he was piled up in his attempt to run the conversion.

Late in the game Sweetwater came alive to score, with the six-pointer being realized on a one-yard skirting of right end. The extra points were picked up via a run around the same end, which terminated the scoring for the night.

SPORTS

The Snyder (Texas) Daily News, Fri., Oct. 7, 1960

Brown and Bergeron paced the Blue Devil running game throughout, while end J. B. Murphy and middle linebacker Kenneth Dowd both turned in stellar games defensively for the winners.

Sweetwater 30, Travis 9th 0

SWEETWATER—The Travis 9th Blue Devils, hobbled in their efforts to throw together an adequate offense, fell before Sweetwater 9th here last night, 30-0. It was the second loss in as many encounters against that team, the first being a 14-8 felling last month, and dropped the Blue Devils to a 2-2 season mark.

A leaky pass defense on the part of Travis made the difference, as all four Sweetwater touchdowns were realized through the air. Also, the margin between the two teams wasn't as great as the score would indicate, reports Travis mentor Bill Hartfield, as several "quicks" slipped in to stymie the Blue Devil efforts.

After receiving the opening kickoff, the Blue Devils put on their most concerted drive of the game, picking up a pair of first downs in short order and rolling to the Sweetwater 30-yard line before a penalty brought the march to a halt.

Duffy Daffy? Time'll Tell

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—A soccer player wearing shorts will kick off for Michigan State in Saturday's football game with Iowa.

"We're going to put the foot back in football," grinned State Coach Duffy Daugherty.

Daugherty actually has a better reason. He tossed nights over the 99-yard kickoff, rumbuck for a touchdown scored by Michigan last Saturday.

A couple of soccer players were invited to the football field to show some kicking. They boomed them into or beyond the end zone on every try. This would kill any rumbucks by speedy Iowa. Daugherty made a quick eligibility check and gave order to issue the pair uniforms.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

More space . . . more spunk and wagons, too!

The newest car in America: the CORVAIR 700 LAKE WOOD 4-DOOR STATION WAGON.

CORVAIR 700 CLUB COUPE. Like all coupes and sedans, it has a longer range fuel tank.

CORVAIR 700 4-DOOR SEDAN. Provision for heating ducts are built right into its Body by Fisher.

Here's the new Chevy Corvair for '61 with a complete line of complete thrifty cars.

To start with, every Corvair has a budget-pleasing price tag. And Corvair goes on from there to save you even more. With extra miles per gallon . . . quicker-than-ever cold-start warmup so you start saving sooner . . . a new extra-cost optional heater that warms everyone evenly. Riding along with this extra economy: more room inside for you, more room up front for your luggage (sedans and coupes have almost 12% more usable trunk space).

And our new wagons? You'll love them—think they're the greatest thing for families since houses. The Lakewood Station Wagon does a man-sized job with cargo, up to 68 cubic feet of it. The Greenbrier Sports Wagon you're going to have to see—it gives you up to 175.5 cubic feet of space for you and your things.

Corvair's whole thrifty lineup gets its pep from a spunkier 145-cu.-in. air-cooled rear engine. Same rear-engine traction, same smooth 4-wheel independent suspension ride. See the polished and refined 1961 Corvair first chance you get at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Spare tire is in the rear in coupes and sedans—leaving more luggage space up front.

Even middle-seat passengers sit pretty; thanks to Corvair's practically flat floor.

Now in production—the GREENBRIER SPORTS WAGON with up to twice as much room as ordinary wagons (third seat optional at extra cost).

Ticket In Japan Taken Seriously

By JAMES CARY
TOKYO (AP)—I'll never do that again—park in a no parking zone in Japan. The price you pay is too high.
I know now, 3 days, 3 hours and 25 minutes of frustration later.
It seemed so ordinary that day it all began.
I was in the Marunouchi Police Station. I was smiling and genial—having the ticket I had found under the windshield wiper of my ancient vehicle.
Now if you'll just tell me where I can pay my fine, I suggested.
"Name please," said a stern-looking desk sergeant. "Age? Where do you live? Drivers license. Married? Children? How long have you been in Japan? Foreign registration card?"
I gave them all. Now about that fine, I started hopefully again.
The sergeant studied the documents in front of him. He was pretty quiet. I was confident the wheels of justice were turning.
"You were illegally parked," he announced triumphantly.
I had that same general impression, too. My smile was a little weaker now. The enormity of my crime was sinking in.
"If you'll tell me where to pay the fine," I began again.
"You must go to Summary Court," came the shattering announcement.
"In America," I started to say. "This is Japan," he smiled.
CHAPTER II—The Trial. Time—three days later. Setting—2 hours and 20 traffic-congested miles from the scene of the crime. A tiny, placid-looking building designed to accommodate about 25 persons. Additional details—about 5000 equally criminal types jammed inside, waiting to pay their debt to society.
I tramped over a few hundred bodies getting to a seat I was motioned to in front of another policeman. He was menacingly armed with forms, charts, paper, pencil, pen and law books.
"You can speak Japanese," he asked.
"A little," I said.
We stumbled through the life history of my crime again.
"You shouldn't have parked there," he finally said reproachfully.
I couldn't have agreed more about the time, I said.
"Sign your name in Japanese characters here," he said, thrusting a pen at me.
That did it.
"I can't write in characters," I said.
The wheels of justice came to a full stop.
Then we must send you to the prosecutor's office," he announced. "It's over on the other side of town. They'll summon you in three or four months for trial."
Visions of indictments, bold headlines in my hometown newspaper, and a canceled home leave in America swam before my eyes. Then I really put my foot in it.
"Yes," I answered when the officer asked if I'd ever had a traffic violation before. "Umpteen years ago I passed in a no-passing zone."
His jaw dropped in amazement. A deep silence settled over the room. The policeman removed his glasses for a better look at this hardened foreign criminal.
Hurried conferences with his superiors followed.

Broadway Off And Running With Customary Crude List

BY INEZ ROBB
The Broadway season is off and running to the form it has set for itself in the past half-dozen years. The prostitute with the heart of gold is again Broadway's favorite heroine. La, if prostitution is the oldest profession, then the second oldest surely be the writing and production of plays about the trade.
"Rain" and its heroine Sadie Thompson, may have seemed very daring a generation ago, but no longer. There is nothing subtle or implied about any more. The favorite Broadway mise en scene is the house of ill fame, beginning with such educational exhibits as "House of Flowers" and "Up and Up" to "The World of Susie Wong."
"Both made me feel a bit queasy. But everyone told me it must be something I eat, so both opuses were so gay, so sophisticated, and done with such charm and sympathy. Now, I am forced to admit I am a sinner."
Then we must send you to the prosecutor's office," he announced. "It's over on the other side of town. They'll summon you in three or four months for trial."
Visions of indictments, bold headlines in my hometown newspaper, and a canceled home leave in America swam before my eyes. Then I really put my foot in it.
"Yes," I answered when the officer asked if I'd ever had a traffic violation before. "Umpteen years ago I passed in a no-passing zone."
His jaw dropped in amazement. A deep silence settled over the room. The policeman removed his glasses for a better look at this hardened foreign criminal.
Hurried conferences with his superiors followed.
"We'll try you here," the po-that both these plays were merely a beginner's course.

If any details of the operation of such houses and the conduct of their occupants have been skipped or lightly passed over in recent seasons, the first big critical hit of this season spells them out carefully and explicitly.
And, again, if the new musical, "Irma la Douce," afflicts me with squeamishness, it doubtless is something I eat. For, without exception, all the New York critics have greeted it ecstatically. They have pulled out all the stops for this vehicle dealing with a prostitute, her clients, pimps, crooked police and crooked justice.
Nothing is left to the imagination in "Irma la Douce," which has already had a long life in London and seems destined for similar immortality on Broadway.
The reviews of "Irma la Douce" must have puzzled at least one visitor to our shores, the Irish playwright, Brendan Behan. His play, "The Hostage," also fresh from a London run and also set in a hawdy house, was damned with faint praise by the self-same critics who found "Irma" so enchanting. Behan's contribution was dismissed as "ribald," "Rabelaisian" and "shocking."
Goodness knows, neither play is for the family trade. But of the two, "Irma la Douce" was a great deal more offensive to this seasoned theatre buff. I found it a crude and blatant exercise in vulgarity from beginning to end. The word for this imported musical is "nasty," and all the bewitching talents of its English star, Elizabeth Seal, cannot save it from that label.
At least the Behan-play exhibits

King of Kings

And there is no finer name for the Great Teacher. He speaks and His words come with authority. There is no court to defer His words for judgement... for He is the judgement. He has blessed mankind so richly that we have sought other words to do Him honor; the Great Physician, Shepherd of Souls and Lord of Life. But Handel's Messiah keeps ringing in our ears... "King of Kings and Lord of lords. And He shall reign forever and ever." Isaiah looked forward to the coming of this "Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace."

The artist has done us a service in the picture. Christ is destined to reign over His people, over His church, over His world. His throne was a cross spelling sacrifice. His vehicle is the church and His army a company of devout followers. His dominence is within the hearts of men and His forces are Truth, and Goodness and Love. He will triumph through our loyalty and devotion. They stop where you are! Is He regnant in your heart? He is looking to His church, imperfect as it may be, to bring in His Kingdom and to save the world. Won't you join His army, His church today... for He is the King of Kings.

Mexico Squatters Highly Organized

By JACK RUTLEDGE
ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP)—Ten thousand screaming squatters with machetes, guns, knives and clubs poured from their hovels on a hilltop overlooking this resort city at 3 a.m. to repel invaders.

A primitive alarm system consisting of an iron triangle and several steel rails had been sounded by guards. Heads of families in hundreds of homes flew emergency whistles.

This time it was a false alarm. Celebrants observing a saint's day had touched off fireworks that sounded like pistol shots. Once the squatters learned there was no danger, they calmed down and joined in the fun.

There was no sleep in La Laja that night. King Lopitos had proved again the efficiency of the best-organized squatters colony in Mexico.

The history of La Laja (The Flagstone) began a few years ago when promoters decided to build a bungalow-type hotel on a finger of land curling around along a tropical bay.

About 100 squatters lived on the hill overlooking the colorful resort city. City officials promised them another site if they moved.

They moved peacefully and work started on the hotel, now Las Brisas, operated by the Hilton chain. But the city didn't live up to its promise.

A young Mexican in his 20s known simply as Rey (king) Lopitos decided to take action. He found a quick following.

On a hillside near the entrance to the city, he found a beautiful, undeveloped 740-acre piece of land. It was ideal. Near the city, with a perfect view, and because of its terrain it could be protected in case of necessity.

The squatters began building a new shantytown. To raise funds for basic necessities King Lopito charged 80 cents per month for squatters rights.

He threw the settlement open to anyone who qualified, not just the 100 who had been ousted. Within weeks there were 2,000. Today there are 13,000 in La Laja.

A first step was to set up an alarm system as protection against ouster proceedings. All able-bodied residents were pledged to come to the aid of La Laja when the alarm sounded.

The owner of the land, a rich Spaniard, has filed suit after suit to regain his property. There have been delays. Officials are wary of taking action.

An eviction attempt could end in bloodshed. Too many live there now, well entrenched and well organized.

County Vote Has No Affect On City

AUSTIN (AP)—A wet-dry election in a city or precinct cannot be nullified by a county-wide election, the attorney general held Thursday.

The opinion specifically said a planned countywide election in Grayson County would have no effect on Denison's vote to legalize liquor sales last July 9. Only another city-wide vote can change the July results, said Asst. Atty. Gen. Paul Floyd who wrote the opinion.

Should a county-wide election be held, Denison citizens will be entitled to vote, the opinion added.

Grayson County voted out beer sales in 1942 and has been dry since then until July. County Atty. Dean Martin of Sherman said in asking the opinion. Then Denison voted in the sale of all alcoholic beverages by a margin of about 70 votes with the rest of the county remaining dry.

"It is now contemplated that a countywide election will be held in the near future for the purpose of attempting to nullify the Denison election, should the county vote dry," Martin wrote.

The opinion said a Grayson County election, now or a year from now, would not change the Denison results.

"This question was litigated to the Texas Supreme Court and the law seems to be clear now that a countywide election voting dry will not control those cities or precincts which vote wet," said Atty. Gen. Will Wilson in a statement accompanying the opinion.

Floyd's opinion discussed a Dimmitt County local option case that reached the Supreme Court. The court decision, returned early in 1959, said it is apparent the Texas Legislature in drafting the 1935 amendment to the constitution following repeal of prohibition, and the voters' approval of the constitution change, intended that counties, justice's precincts and incorporated cities or towns should be on an equal footing, and that by complying with the provisions of the law either of them might hold an election any time to either legalize or prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Tax Collections In Dallas At High Mark

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The city of Dallas has collected more than 99 per cent of the taxes owed it for the past fiscal year. Officials think this may be the highest percentage in the nation.

When the year's books were closed Sept. 30 the city had collected 99.736 per cent of the $55,994,304 owed to it. Dallas has collected more than 99 per cent of its taxes four times in the last decade.

By comparison, Houston collects about 96 per cent of its taxes and Fort Worth, 96 per cent, Dallas officials said.

Emmy Awards On NBC Through '65

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The NBC television network will carry the annual Emmy award program through 1965.

The National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences signed a five-year contract Thursday to supersede a pact which would have expired in 1962.
