Mystery Man In Spy Probe Is Questioned

By JACK LOTTO
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 7—The "mystery witness" grilled Friday night by a sub-committee of the House Un - American activities committee was identified tonight as Alexander Koral, of New York.

The disclosure was made by Rep. Nixon (R) Calif., chairman of the sub-committee which made a flying trip to New York to interview him amid reports that Koral had some "important" information about a Communist spy ring "contact man."

Koral turned out to be a mild-mannered middle-aged employe of the New York city board of education. What he told the subcommittee was not revealed but he was ordered to appear in Washington Monday to testify in detail in open session.

Investigated By FBI

Koral's home is in Brooklyn, where he lives with his wife and two sons. Not too much was known about him there other than he led a tenant fight against a rent increase in his apartment building.

It was learned from the building superintendent that Koral has been under investigation by the FBI for more than a year.

Koral Examined Secretly

Asked if "Koral" is the highly-publicized mystery witness whose testimony the committee previously had said would break the Communist spy case "wide open," Nixon said he couldn't comment.

The California congressman did reveal, however, that "Koral" was examined secretly in New York last night.

Today the committee again went into closed session to question former Communist party head Earl Browder, Victor Perlo, former War Production board member, and Whittaker Chambers, a Time magazine editor who testified earlier this week in Washington about alleged spy ring activities in the U. S.

Browder was before the sub-

Reds 'Snatch' Soviet Teacher

VALLEY COTTAGE, N.Y., Aug. 7. (AP)—A 52-year-old Russian woman school teacher tonight became the storm center of a Russian tug-of-war that ranged from here to the New York City Soviet consulate with repercussions in Washington.

The woman, identified as Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, was driven away today from Reed farm, operated here by Countess Alexandra Tolstoy, youngest daughter of the Russian novelist, as a White Russian retreat.

In New York, Soviet Consul General Jacob Lomakin said she had been "rescued" from the farm after White Russians forcibly took her there to keep her from returning to the Soviet Union.

Woman's Story Told

The woman, a chemistry teacher at a school operated by the Soviet government for its UN delegates, sat beside Lomakin and an aide in the consulate as they told her story to reporters. She occasionally answered questions and they translated to the newspapermen.

But the Countess Tolstov said Mrs. Kosenkina had come to Reed farm because "she believed she was going to be shot," and went back to New York with the Soviets today saying "if they shoot me, maybe it is the best way out." The countess said Mrs. Kosenkina did not wish to return to the Soviet Union.

Later, in Washington, Rep. Mundt (R-SD) said the school

Three Die In Plane Crash

(By The Associated Press)

MCCAMEY, Aug. 7.—Two 17-year-old boys and a girl, about 16, were killed when a light plane crashed near here tonight.

They were Sidney F. Bradberry of Abilene, pilot of the plane; Billy Bruton of Abilene, and Donna Ray Summerall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Summerall of McCamey.

Bradberry came here from Abilene alone today in the plane. He picked up Bruton and Miss Summerall here.

Cause Not Known

Deputy Sheriff Chester Roan of McCamey said that he and County Commissioner Joe Conger saw the plane fall from the sky and were among the first to reach the spot where it crashed, about a half mile north of here on the Crane highway.

Roan said he saw nothing to indicate the cause of the crash.

Conger said he was watering horses on his ranch near here about 6:30 p. m. when he saw the plane in a tailspin about a mile away at an altitude of about 400 feet.

Conger said that when he reached the plane, Bradberry and Miss Summerall were dead but Bruton lived a few minutes. He said the girl's body had been thrown partly out of the cabin. The two boys were still inside.

Bruton worked for the West Texas Utilities company at its Rio Pecos plant about 10 miles west of here.

The plane was owned by John Curry of Abilene.

McCamey is in the southwest corner of Upton county in West Texas. It is about 100 miles south of Odessa and 120 miles south of Midland.

Three Persons Dead In Navy Plane Crash

LAKE CITY, Fla., Aug. 7 (AP)—A Navy plane crashed and burned southeast of Houston between Lake City and Live Oak tonight, the Florida highway patrol reported.

Lt. T. J. Riley of the highway patrol said first reports indicated that at least three persons were dead. He said that three bodies had been counted by searchers who reached the scene.

The wreckage was still burning when a party of highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies reached it, the highway patrol said.

City Moves Nearer All-Time Record

Building Total Here Passes $9 Million

THE city's building permit total leaped beyond $9,000,000 Saturday to place 1948 in second place among the years in Lubbock construction history.

The $169,635 in newly authorized construction announced during the day boosted the building total for the year to $9,034,931.

Only the $11,130,866 building total for the whole of 1947 exceeds the construction already authorized this year. With nearly five months of 1948 remaining, estimates are that the figure for the year will exceed that of 1947 by $2,000,000 to $4,000,000.

Dropped from second to third place among the years by the end-of-week building surge was 1946, when the $8,946,191 in new construction set a record up to that time.

Largest among the new projects authorized Saturday was a business building costing $52,000 on Main street at Avenue Q. I. A. Stephens is owner, and Carl Maxey contractor. The authorization was conditional upon minor adjustments of building lines so as to make the structure conform with the city code.

Maxey also obtained a permit as contractor for alterations and addition costing $20,000 to the J. C. Rigney home at 3001 Nineteenth.

New Homes Included

Second largest among the new permits was one to Carl E. Ratliff for a two-story stone veneer residence costing $40,000 at 2915 Nineteenth.

The permit which shoved the 1948 total beyond that for the whole of 1946 was one to Haynes and Soash, contractor, for a metal warehouse and office building costing $25,200 for Miller and Miller Motor Freight lines at 1103 Twenty-sixth.

Other new permits included: Bruce E. Stewart, contractor, frame residence at 3405 Twenty-ninth for J. L. Morris, $11,600; Carl Suitt, contractor, frame residence at 3506 Twenty-seventh, $10,000, and W. H. Moreland, tile addition to the residence at 2402 Twenty-sixth, $8,000.

SPAAF Site Is Sought By City

Three Lubbock officials left by air for Washington Saturday to attempt to hasten the return to city control of the site on which South Plains Army Air field was located during the war.

In the group were Mayor W. H. Rodgers, City Commissioner Clarence Whiteside and A. B. Davis, manager of the chamber of commerce. They were named as a committee by the city commission to carry on negotiations in the long-pending matter.

The officials emphasized as they departed that there is no possibility that the actual return of control may be completed while they are in Washington. But they expressed hope they may iron out some complex problems during consultations with the Army Air Forces command which will hasten return of the land to the city.

Buildings Prove Problem

The SPAAF site consists of approximately 1,400 acres which was leased to the government at $1 a year for SPAAF.

The land includes the 640 acres—a square mile—of Municipal airport. The continued existence of the lease, city officials said, is a handicap in carrying out plans to make the airport one of the best of any inland city in the nation.

The difficulties of turning the land back to the city have been increased greatly, officials said, by questions as to the disposition of the several million dollars worth of buildings erected for SPAAF. Among these are two gigantic hangars, a huge shop building, a large hospital facility and a great number of other structures of various kinds.

City Seeks Buildings

The city has asked for all of them, hoping to make some of them available for new industries which might be attracted to Lubbock if suitable sites and operating structures are available. If refused the buildings, the city has asked for the return of the land in its "original condition," as stipulated in the lease contract.

Improved City Bus Service Is Planned

Plans for extensive improvements in city bus service, including the purchase of six new buses, were announced Saturday by J. A Fortenberry, president and general manager of Lubbock Bus Co.

He hopes to obtain delivery of the new buses in time to put them into service before the new sessions of public schools start, he said.

The new equipment will mean a 22 per cent increase in the fleet of 27 buses now in operation, he added.

All the new vehicles, he said, will be the latest models of the same type as the largest buses now in use. They will be two-door equipment, seating 27 passengers.

Fortenberry also announced the company is working on revisions of routings of several present lines so as to give improved services to many parts of the city. A new operation is planned on Ave. F. Extension of the Avenue V and T line from Thirty-first to Thirty-fourth and service closer to patrons in the outlying fringes of Southwest Lubbock are contemplated.

City commission approval of the changed and improved routings will be asked when plans are completed, he added.

Plans Launched To Make City's Yule Decorations Among Best

LUBBOCK started preparations for Christmas Saturday.

First sign of the approach of the Yuletide were the appointments of O. W. Ribble and Ruel C. Martin as co-chairmen of the citywide Christmas lighting and decorating committee. They were announced by Homer D. Grant, president of the chamber of commerce.

Ribble, a florist and former mayor, headed the committee last year. Martin is an executive of Dunlap's department store.

While several reasons led to the early appointments of the committee heads, they added up to the same one:

Christmas lighting and decorating on a scale never seen before in this part of the Southwest are planned. Such a program will require a great deal of advance work. Consequently, they are starting early.

Another consideration, Grant said, is that decorations of the kind likely to be desired may be difficult to obtain. So full allowance is being made for this and the possibility of delayed deliveries. Present hopes are to get the decorations in place before Thanksgiving.

Ribble and Martin conferred after accepting the appointments

Envoys Await Call To Talks At Kremlin

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 7—Envoys of the three western powers expect a call from Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov tomorrow or Monday to resume negotiations to solve the East-West deadlock in Germany and perhaps all Europe.

After two lengthy meetings with the Russians—one Monday night with Prime Minister Stalin and another last night with Molotov—all or most of the issues between the four powers have been brought into the open and laid on the conference table.

The present stage was described by an authoritative source here as a "negotiations period."

Objections Believed Raised

(A British diplomatic source said in London the western powers thus far have failed to agree with Russia on a broad basis for four-power talks on Germany. The informant said some progress was being made in the negotiations but Russia had raised objections to "certain concrete proposals" made to Molotov last night.)

The negotiations period as such may continue for some time. In other words, there may be several more meetings with Molotov before all four negotiators are ready to report back to Stalin.

At this point, things are believed to be proceeding all right. There have been a lot of frank exchanges over the Berlin question and Germany. The three western envoys have been talking pretty bluntly about the Berlin blockade and the Soviet has been just as frank about Allied plans for a western German government, it was said.

Soviet Proposals Upheld

The Literary Gazette said today that "only a realization of Soviet proposals on the future of Germany" would lead to settlement of the Berlin crisis and create conditions for a firm peace in Europe.

(The Warsaw declaration by the Soviet Union and seven other eastern European countries urged a provisional government for all Germany. The western powers have announced plans for a separate western German government.

Soviets Charge Plane Violations

By OMER ANDERSON
INS Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Aug. 7—Soviet authorities presented formal charges tonight that American and British planes violated air safety regulations 150 times during July while supplying Berlin by air.

The Soviet charges indicated that a showdown is swiftly approaching on western use of the air corridor to nullify the Soviet land blockade of the city.

Russia's charges followed another crisis-heightening development—a move by the western powers to circumvent Russian attempts to win complete financial control of Berlin.

Charges Are Made

The western powers today made 100 million deutsche marks available to firms in the western part of the city whose bank accounts in the Soviet sector have been blocked by the Russians.

The Soviet news bureau announced that the air violation charges first made by the Russians last night had been presented in written form to British and American control officers at Berlin's air safety center.

The British were accused of 123 violations and the Americans of 27.

The Soviet officer demanded "immediate measures to insure observance of air safety regulations."

Optimism Lowered

Highest American military officials have long felt that any Russian attempt to interfere with air traffic to the city might lead to the gravest consequences. There is no indication the U. S. intends to yield an inch against the present Soviet complaints.

The currency wrangle, combined with the new Soviet campaign against the Anglo-American air lift, brought down a peg the recent optimism over chances of

U. S. 'IRON CURTAIN' CHARGED

Solon Hints Of 'Impeachment' To Get Loyalty Data From HST

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8—Senator Ferguson spoke sternly of "impeachment" today in accusing President Truman of lowering "an iron curtain between Congress and the public business."

His complaint was against the executive's refusal to let the lawmakers have "loyalty" investigation records of government workers.

There was no comment forthcoming from the White House.

In a speech to the Senate, Ferguson declared:

"Congress is rapidly being pushed into the intolerable position of having either to legislate through a blind or compel the President to answer for his conduct in an impeachment proceeding.

"We do not want representative government reduced to such a ridiculous position."

Ferguson is chairman of the Senate investigating subcommittee which closed its public hearings on the case of William W. Remington this week because, the committee said, Mr. Truman refused to turn over necessary records and information on Remington.

Remington, 30, is a Commerce department official. He has been suspended while inquiries are being made into charges by Elizabeth T. Bentley that he gave her wartime information for a Soviet spy ring.

Ferguson said that as a senator, President Truman "had been intensely critical of this secrecy," built up under Pres-

18 TOWNS JOIN PRICE FIGHT

Texas Housewives To Start Meat Price War This Week

(By The Associated Press)

THOUSANDS of Texas housewives carrying the torch of the family budget start their war on high meat prices this week.

Their fight will be passive resistance — just stay away from the meat counters until the prices go down. Eighteen Texas towns were reported in on the fight.

Preliminary skirmishes the past week have been indecisive. In general, sales dropped off in towns where the war was declared, but prices showed no great change.

Cattle Prices Steady

Whether the housewives' war was having its effect couldn't be pinned down but a sign showed up in the Fort Worth livestock market. Although livestock for the past week was in light supply—usually a signal for advancing prices—the prices were either steady or trended downward. Cattle were 50 cents to one dollar or more lower and calves were around a dollar lower.

It's been a telephone war. Peppery 71-year-old Mrs. R. D. Vaughn of Dallas started it in Texas. Her army of 300 housewives started going down each page of the telephone book carrying the word to boycott meat purchases Aug. 9-15.

Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm bureau federation Saturday scored the boycott as a "useless, senseless" gesture, he predicted it will "fall flat on its face."

"I think our campaign will be successful, not only in Dallas, but from coast to coast," declared Mrs. Vaughn, who is president of the Dallas Women's Chamber of Commerce.

Some Retailers Hit Plan

The idea spread. Mrs. Vaughn announced she had the support of the second district of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs—12,000 more recruits.

By the end of the week, women in 16 Texas towns had joined up and a one-man campaign began

Housewives' Drive To Boycott Meat Markets Spreads

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 7—Budget-harried housewives increased their buy-no-meat campaign over telephone wires today in the face of a government prediction that meat prices will go higher.

The boycott plan, originating in Dallas, spread to such cities as Louisville, Boise, Kansas City, San Francisco, Indianapolis, 18 cities in Texas and half a dozen in Wisconsin.

The housewives' crusade was aimed directly at one of two causes given by the department: Record consumer buying power and a decline in the output of meats and other livestock products.

New Price Hike Foreseen

Meanwhile the Agriculture department predicted that meat and other livestock prices will lead a retail food price advance in the next few months.

In Indianapolis, however, an official of Kingan & Co., meat packers, discounted the government prediction and said beef and pork prices would fall in September or October as farmers bring in stock.

And in Chicago, a spokesman for the major packers said that "although we have no crystal ball capable of forecasting future prices, more adequate meat supplies are expected this fall and winter, due to seasonally increased marketings of livestock. Prices then, as always, will be established by the overall demand of consumers."

Women Team For Action

But the women who pay the grocery bills teamed for action.

Ten thousand Dallas women promised to support the boycott idea, which started when

HST Handed Rebuff On All Major Items

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — Congress wrote its own ticket today on anti-inflation and housing legislation, then slammed the door on the extra session called by President Truman.

The House adjourned at 6:31 p. m. (Central Standard Time); the Senate at 7:39 p. m. They had met July 26 and had been in session 11 working days.

The adjournment was until December 31, with a provision that the session may be resumed earlier on call of the Republican leaders.

Anti-Inflation Plan Trimmed

With a few minor exceptions, the lawmakers rewrote, blocked, or just plain ignored the far-reaching program Mr. Truman presented with an "urgent" label.

The president's eight-point anti-inflation program emerged cut down to two: Revived curbs on installment buying and higher reserve requirements for banks belonging to the Federal Reserve system. The Senate beat back by a 53 to 33 vote a Democratic attempt to revive rationing, price and wage control powers. The Truman plan to bring back the excess profits tax wasn't even considered.

Republicans said their housing bill would encourage the construction of low-cost homes and rental housing. But it omitted the federal subsidies for public housing and slum-clearance that were features of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill endorsed by the President.

Hearings Steal Show

Mr. Truman had his way without quibbling on only one major item. The lawmakers approved a $65,000,000 interest-free loan to the United Nations for construction of permanent headquarters in New York.

Until the last couple of days, two extracurricular developments stole the show from the actual lawmaking. One was a successful five-day filibuster by southern Democratic senators against the anti-poll tax bill. The other was a senatorial series of hearings, before House and Senate committees, on charges that Communist spies and sympathizers had wormed

Tobin Nominated As Secretary Of Labor

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—President Truman nominated former Governor Maurice J. Tobin of Massachusetts to be secretary of labor tonight but Senator Taft (R-Ohio) blocked Senate confirmation.

However, legislators said Mr. Truman can give Tobin a recess appointment while Congress is in adjournment. They said Tobin then can serve and draw his pay pending action at the next session of Congress.

Tobin, former Democratic mayor of Boston as well as governor of the Bay state, would succeed the late Secretary Lewis B. Schwellenbach.

Also nominated today by the President was Elmer H. Wene of New Jersey to be assistant secretary of agriculture. He would succeed Charles Brannan, who became secretary of agriculture.

Mercury Again Soars To 101

The South Plains had its second day of hundred degree temperature Saturday, and the prospects Saturday night were that Sunday and Monday would continue hot with the maximum temperature each day hitting near or above the 100 degree mark.

The thermometer at the weather station north of Lubbock reached 101 degrees at 4 p. m. Saturday to duplicate the Friday afternoon maximum. The minimum Saturday morning was 68 degrees.

So far as rain was concerned, the weatherman, could see only scattered showers during the afternoon and evening, and widely scattered at that. Light showers fell Saturday afternoon at Amarillo, Clarendon and Childress, but the forecaster said the weak front that had moved into the Panhandle appeared headed east and was not likely to cover the South Plains.

While Lubbock and the South Plains failed to receive moisture, Amarillo reported thundershowers in the late afternoon and again about 10:30 p.m. last night which halted the Lubbock-Amarillo baseball game.

Rainfall totaled about .50 inch in Amarillo and lightning caused damage in parts of the city. A major part of the town was reported without electrical power for more than an hour and in some places power had not been restored completely at midnight.

ARGUMENT WORKS BOTH WAYS

Blast At Meat Prices Reveals Other Goods Also Costing More

FRANK B. HUSTED, the Lubbock cement salesman who started a telephone campaign against high meat prices, got a rise out of at least one Lubbock groceryman Saturday and a survey indicated that there was some feeling that if "boycotts" were suddenly extended against all goods on which prices were high the "vicious circle" would soon halt the country's economy.

This conclusion was drawn after a survey of numerous building contractors and builders indicated that numerous items other than meat had gone up recently. One of them apparently was cement. At least that is what H. T. Stovall, an independent grocer whose ABC Food store is at 1002 Ave. T thought.

Answering Husted's telephone campaign plan launched Friday night asking Lubbock housewives to refrain from buying meat starting Monday until prices were down, Stovall penned the following note and released it to the press:

"Mr. Frank B. Husted:

"You say you got your dander up because the price of meat is high. I know steak is high and I am for cheaper steak. But what

Modest Prices To Be Charged By Carnival Midway At Fair Here

There was good news for the kids, and for all other thrifty, fun-loving persons, from officials of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair association Saturday.

They announced that prices charged on the carnival midway during the fair to be held here Sept. 27 through Oct. 2 will be low enough to fit youthful and modest purses.

The prices, the officials emphasized, are set out in the contract with the Forsythe and Dowis carnival which has been booked for the fair.

Special Rates Set

On Children's Days, all "kid" rides will be a nickel for children. The merry-go-round will be 6 cents and the ferris wheel 12 cents. Nothing will be over 18 cents—and there will be only one of those.

These will be just half the prices for adults at all times during the fair. No ride will be over 35 cents.

The policy is in sharp contrast with last year when scalping ride prices resulted in much criticism. The situation was one over which the fair association had little control. Carnivals still were so scarce during the post-war hangover that the fair had to take practically anything it could get. It signed the Bill Hames shows, and the consensus was that everyone—fair and patrons—got stung.

Rides Main Feature

But the situation is different this year, fair officials said. The Forsythe & Dowis shows were available, and were signed. The organization was described as having the reputation of presenting the "cleanest" entertainment of any carnival on tour. It is one which stresses rides—some 30 of them—more than any other feature. It carries tent shows, too, but with emphasis upon entertainment of a quality which will not be offensive.

The carnival grounds also will be the scene of daily free entertainment, officials said. Featured will be "Seldon, the Stratosphere Man," who has been signed to perform twice daily at the top of a slender pole taller than a 15-story building.

Mrs. Roberts and their daughter, Lois, 17, will accompany Mr. Roberts to Shallowater.

Index Of Prices Received For Texas Products Is Unchanged

AUSTIN, Aug. 7 (AP) — The index of prices received by Texas farmers and ranchers for their products as of July 15 was unchanged at a high level, the United States Department of Agriculture said today.

Sharp increases in prices of most meat animals and higher prices for poultry, eggs, cottonseed, fruit, potatoes and sweet potatoes offset declines in hay, grains and cotton to hold the index at 329.

On July 15, 1947, it was 200 and the five-year average (Jan. 1935-Dec. 1939) was 103, the USDA said.

Millsap, H. A. Beaty, Sam Poteet and I. D. Dunagan. Several students who plan to make the trip are not pictured. The group will return by way of Nashville, Tenn., for the Grand Ole Opry show. In 1946 the Dunagan school with six entries won four awards. In 1947 at St. Louis with 14 entries six awards were won. The contests are open to amateur guitarists from all parts of the world. Chemical Defoliant Role In Harvest Of Cotton Will Be Discussed At Conference

The important role of chemical defoliants in mechanically harvesting cotton and the experimental work in developing new types of "man-made frost" will be told by Dr. M. V. Bailey, New York, director of agricultural research of the American Cyanamid Company at the Beltwide Cotton Mechanization conference here October 14-16.

Defoliation, a problem growers consider increasingly important as more and more cotton is harvested by machines, is one of a number of production topics listed on the conference program which has as its theme, "A Challenge—The Mechanization of Cotton and Related Crops."

Test Results Told

Tests by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and experiment stations in various sections of the Cotton Belt have shown that after defoliation—a process in which chemicals are dusted or sprayed on cotton plants to cause the leaves to drop off—mechanical and hand gathering of a much cleaner crop is possible.

Calcium cyanamide, agricultural specialists explain, is effective as a defoliant in areas such as the Southeast and the Delta where dew plays a big part in the reaction which causes the leaves to break off the cotton stalk.

Research is being pushed on a more effective defoliant for dry areas in Texas and the West where lack of dew is a handicap in the use of calcium cyanamide. Satisfactory methods of application which would allow the chemical to reach the lower part of the cotton plant as well as the top—thus causing all the leaves to drop off—are also being sought.

Station Will Be Host

The Agricultural Experiment Station of the Agricultural Extension Service of the A & M College of Texas and the Texas Statewide Cotton Committee will be hosts for the conference. Land grant colleges, the Farm Equipment Institute, United States Department of Agriculture, vocaional agriculture workers and farm organizations are cooperating with the National Cotton Council in sponsoring the Beltwide cotton meeting.

Texas boasts more airports than any other state. California is second.

A six-ton electromagnet has enough magnetic force to lift 13 average-size automobiles.

An important use for cotton duck is the reinforcement of inner soins of shoes.

REMEMBER GUADALCANAL, TULAGI?

Lubbock Men Recall First U. S. Pacific Thrust Six Years Ago

By OPAL DIXON
Avalanche Staff Writer

Six years ago Saturday, the Marines swarmed ashore on Guadalcanal and Tulagi to launch America's first offensive action in World war II against Japanese forces in the Pacific.

Several Lubbock men were in the Marines who went ashore to the accompaniment of naval bombardment by American cruisers and battleships. One Lubbock man was on a cruiser helping cover the landing with shell fire.

Hoover Is Policeman

Back in their normal course of life, the Lubbock men spent a far different day Saturday. One is a policeman on vacation, one a boot and shoe maker and two are employed by a coffee company.

Jerry Hoover, now a city policeman, was in the Second Marine division and at the time of the offensive action in the Solomons was detached to a raider battalion which went ashore in landing boats. "We kept our heads down and hoped they didn't shoot us," he recalled. That night, the Japanese infiltrated through some of the lines and attacked outpost sentries. It was three days before Hoover saw the Japanese, although they kept up constant sniping. He was taken out on a hospital ship Oct. 23, 1942, after having been wounded. He came back to the states on the heavy cruiser Chicago, which was unescorted. Hoover said he is "ready to go" if another war develops.

Suffered Shrapnel Wound

Morgan (Pud) Davidson of west of Lubbock, went ashore on Guadalcanal in Higgins boats with a Marine raiders detached unit from troop carriers about 9 o'clock the morning of Aug. 7, 1942. He also was in a Marine raider detached unit. The Japanese did not offer much mass resistance, but retreated back into the mountains and thereafter infiltrated the lines and sniped at American troops. Davidson suffered a shrapnel wound. He stayed on Guadalcanal until the unit he was in left in December, 1942.

Wayne Branum of 1406 Ave. T, who was in the Marine corps and was attached to the Navy on sea duty, was a gunner aboard a cruiser from which Guadalcanal was being covered with shell fire as the troops swarmed ashore. He stayed in vicinity of the Solomon islands from 1942 to early 1944.

Helped "Mop Up"

J. B. Thompson of 1613 Ave. N, who was squad leader of a rifle platoon, left a troop transport off Tulagi and went ashore with Marines in landing boats to reinforce the First Raider battalion which had gone ashore earlier that day. He took part in "mopping up" actions on the smaller islands in that vicinity. After a few weeks on Tulagi, he went to Guadalcanal a short distance away. He developed malaria and asthma and was taken off by airplane about six months after he had arrived at Tulagi.

Under the command of General Alexander A. Vandegrift, then a major general and later the 18th commandant of the Marine corps, approximately 10,000 men of the First division swarmed ashore on the northern coast of Guadalcanal, while the First Marine Raider battalion landed at Tulagi, followed by the Second battalion, Fifth Marines. The First Parachute battalion landed on Gavutu about noon. Two naval task forces and other escorting naval units supported the operation.

For four months the Marines struggled to keep up the campaign, which was highlighted by the battles of Tenaru and Matanikau rivers and the battle of "Bloody Ridge." On Dec. 9, 1942 they were relieved by U. S. Army troops and units of the Second Marine division.

ANNIVERSARY OF LANDING—Former Marines who took part six years ago Saturday as the Marines landed at Guadalcanal and Tulagi islands have their minds on far different activities now. Jerry Hoover, city policeman who has been on vacation, has been spending some of his time mending toys of his two and one-half year old son, Duane. They are pictured above left with Duane's tricycle at their home, 110 N. Madison. At bottom left, Wayne Branum, left, of 1406 Sixth, and Morgan (Pud) Davidson of west of Lubbock, talk with broad smiles on their faces. J. B. Thompson, top right, of 1613 Ave. N, also wears a smile. All took part in the Solomon islands action. (Staff Photos).

Red Cross Reports 92 Nurses Recruited To Fight Texas Polio

AUSTIN, Aug. 7. (AP)—American Red Cross chapters have recruited 92 nurses to fight polio in Texas since May 1, state relations officer Dixie Carmichael reported yesterday.

Of these, 75 came from other states and 47 were secured to concentrate on the fight at Edinburg.

Carmichael praised the response made by hospitals to the recruiting drive. Many of these had nursing shortages of their own, but they "showed an understanding of the need for sharing the available nurses during the emergency," Carmichael said.

Sen. Murray Urges Congress To Give Indian Vets Citizenship

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (U.P.)—Sen. James E. Murry, (D.-Mont.) today called on Congress to act on his bill to give citizenship and civil rights" to Indian veterans of World War I and II.

Murray said it was apparent Congress was not going to take major action on prices, public housing and minimum wages.

Therefore, he said, "I see no reason why we should not meantime take action on such worthwhile legislation as granting civil rights to those native Americans who have a better right to them than anyone else."

"We have heard much talk of civil rights. I'd like to see some action instead," Murray said in a statement.

Costs Will Climb Next Year Costs Will Cling Next Year

AUSTIN, Aug. 7. (AP)—Texas highway maintenance costs next fiscal year will be up more than two and a half million dollars.

The State Highway department said today the increase is necessary because there are more miles of highways and it costs more per mile to keep them up.

The maintenance budget for the fiscal year starting Sept. 1 is an estimated $15,179,212, State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer said.

There have been 2,443 miles of road added to the state system—mostly farm-to-market connections—and the cost per mile of maintenance has increased $44 to a new high of $479.

Europe has a total population of about 500 million.

Reserve Commissions Authorized By Army

Direct commissions in the Officers' Reserve Corps for persons possessing either professional or technical qualifications critically essential and adaptable to the needs of the Army have now been authorized, according to an announcement issued in Austin by Colonel Oscar B. Abbott, senior instructor for the organized reserves. Appointments will be given in grades from second lieutenant through colonel.

The purpose of the new regulation is to provide a source of officers possessing specialties in which it is not feasible or economical for the Army to train. Individuals with and without prior service can be appointed, although those without prior service will be required to meet, within a reasonable length of time, minimum military training requirements

To be eligible for an initial appointment an applicant must be at least 21, a citizen of the U. S., have appropriate professional or technical educational requirements, and be physically qualified. Various ages indicate the grade in which the applicant will be placed.

Also deciding the grade in which the applicant will be placed is the qualifying college education or experience level. For instance, a first lieutenant must have had seven years of education and-or experience in his specialty. The educational level required for each type of service varies according to the service applied for.

For additional information, applicants should see Captain Louis Sanders, organized reserve corps assistant instructor, in basement offices of the Lubbock county courthouse.

School Opening At Lamesa Stepped Up Almost Month Early

LAMESA, Aug. 7 (Special) — School students here rejoiced today over the announcement that the Lamesa schools would end their year of work next May 2, almost a month earlier than usual.

Supt. G. B. Wadzeck announced that registration for the new school year would open August 30 with the first semester of work slated to end January 14.

Holiday Schedule Given

The school timetable was moved forward so that the buildings may be vacated earlier next spring for a complete repair and refinishing job on the interiors, Wadzeck stated.

Holidays to be observed during the year include Nov. 11, Nov. 25 and 26, and the Christmas layoff from the close of school on Dec. 22 to Jan. 3.

Enrollment Begins Aug. 30

Children in the elementary school here last year will report to their rooms for enrollment on August 31. Students above the first grade who have not attended school here before will report to the principal's office on that date.

Two Americans, 61 Others Die In Ie Shima Ammunition Blast

TOKYO, Aug. 7. (U.P.)—Air Force officials announced today that two Americans, 11 Filipinos and 50 natives were killed yesterday at Ie Shima island in the explosion of a tank landing craft that was loading ammunition for transfer to Okinawa.

The gigantic explosion completely demolished the tank landing craft and also a medium landing craft (LCM) that was close by, Far East Air Force officers said.

Officers estimated that the blast killed 50 natives in a village near the loading area. The village was heavily damaged.

The entire crew of 13 men aboard the tank landing craft is missing, the announcement said. The crew included two enlisted men and 11 Filipino sailors.

A Quonset 40 (40' x 100'), costing between $8000 and $9000 erected, can store 40,000 bushels of wheat. Even at $9000 storage costs only 22¢ per bushel for the first season . . . or, over a ten year period, 2.2¢ per bushel.

The current government wheat loan to farmers approximates $2.00 per bushel plus 7¢ per bushel for stored wheat. In the face of current elevator storage costs of 13½¢ per bushel plus haulage and dockage for ground-stored wheat, farmers cannot afford not to have their own storage facilities.

Quonset buildings, immediately available for this purpose, give their owners these profit-making advantages:

- Saves transportation costs to storage
- Saves storage costs
- Saves dockage on ground-stored wheat

AMAZED AT QUICK ACTION OF MERTOX

"For the past ten years I have been troubled with severe gas pains which seemed to press against my heart and made it difficult to breathe. I had a pain under my heart that was almost unbearable at times," writes Mrs. Alma Cummings of Waco.

"My food would not digest and soured on my stomach. I had bad dizzy spells and when these attacks occurred I felt all puffed up. My appetite has greatly improved and I can now eat lots of things that I couldn't eat before taking this wonderful medicine.

"Since taking Mertox I feel like a different person. It certainly is wonderful to get up in the morning and do a day's work, without that tired, worn-out feeling. I certainly was amazed at the quick action of this medicine."

You can get Mertox from any Texas druggist at the new REDUCED price.

Distribution Of U. S. Cotton Shows Decline

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. (AP)—Domestic and export distribution of American cotton in the season ended July 31 was about 2,200,000 bales lower than in the 1946-47 season, the New York Cotton exchange service bureau said today.

The bureau estimated total domestic consumption at 9,325,000 bales compared with 10,025,000 bales in the preceding year, and exports at 2,050,000 bales against 3,545,000 in the 1946-47 season.

Carryover Is Small

The report added that with supply in the season just ended 1,750,000 bales lower than in the preceding year, the carryover in all hands on July 31 was only about 470,000 bales higher than a year previous. It is estimated at 3,000,000 bales compared with 2,530,000 on July 31, 1947.

On the basis of current trade estimates of the 1948 crop the cotton supply with the carryover should reach about 17,000,000 bales compared with 14,000,000 last year, the bureau said.

It pointed out that movement of cotton into the hands of the government has been very small during the past three seasons because market prices averaged well above the government loan rate.

"With the start of the new season, however, market prices are comparatively close to the loan level, and members of the trade are discussing the possibility of rather substantial loan entries this season," the report added.

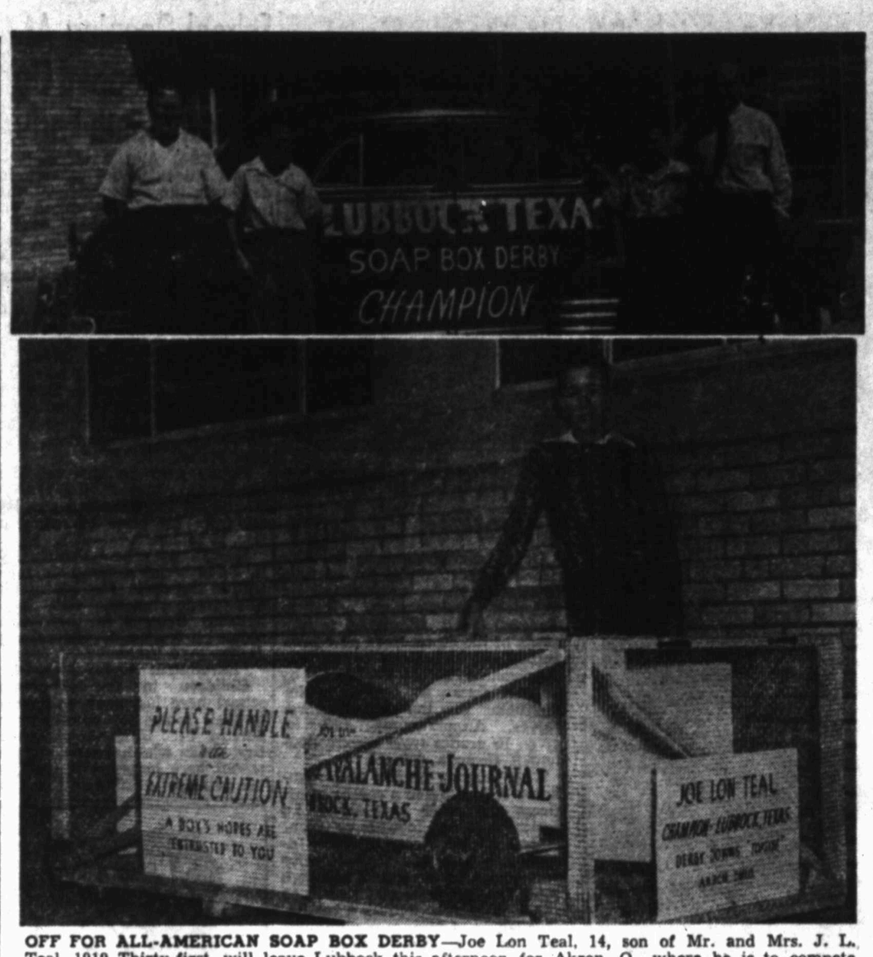

More Home Builders To Face Prosecution

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. (U.P.)—A Justice department spokesman predicted today that there will be "a lot more prosecutions" against business men who are cheating home-buying veterans.

The statement was made as representatives of four federal agencies concluded a two-day conference here with U.S. attorneys from 21 key cities. Officials of the Veterans administration, the Federal Housing administration and the office of housing expediter Tighe E. Woods, participated in the talks.

Woods' office is investigating a backlog of 30,000 complaints. Some 300 officers are being recruited for the work. Until recently there have been only 15.

Many builders have been accused of using inferior materials in veterans' housing or selling above ceiling prices.

OFF FOR ALL-AMERICAN SOAP BOX DERBY—Joe Lon Teal, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Teal, 1919 Thirty-first, will leave Lubbock this afternoon for Akron, O., where he is to compete next Sunday against Soap Box Derby champions from 152 other cities and small towns all over the United States, and from Canada, Alaska and Panama. He will ride in a specially-painted Chevrolet automobile bearing the sign "Lubbock, Texas Soap Box Derby Champion," pictured at top, accompanied by Roy Finley, local Derby director; C. W. Ratliff, Avalanche-Journal managing editor; and his son, Dan Ratliff, 13. Young Teal's car was shipped to Akron ten days ago in a specially-constructed crate by express as shown in the bottom picture. A sign on the crate read: "Please Handle with Extreme Caution, A Boy's Hopes Are Entrusted To You." In the top picture, left to right, are: Finley, Dan Ratliff, Champion Teal and Ratliff. Construction Awards Hit Record In July

AUSTIN, Aug. 7. (AP)—July construction awards totalled $76,186,654, a new record, the Texas Contractor said today.

FOR EVERY PURPOSE MORE for your building DOLLAR

Here are a few typical examples of the many sizes and types of structures that are available in Standard ARMCO STEELOX Buildings. Ask us to demonstrate how you can get the exact building you need.

WITH

STEELOX BUILDINGS

1. LOW FIRST COST
2. LOW INSTALLATION COST
3. LOW MAINTENANCE COST

Order the Exact Building You Need

Choose your STEELOX Building from a wide range of standard sizes. There are so many combinations that you are sure to find the exact building you want. Doors and windows are available in a wide variety of types and sizes and may be placed wherever you need them. Conventional materials for insulating against heat or cold can be used. Interior finishing and other special details can be done the same as for any other building.

Meets Changing Conditions

Changing conditions never catch you flatfooted when you own an ARMCO STEELOX Building. Even after years of use as a permanent building the entire structure can be quickly dismantled and moved to a new location without loss of material. It can readily be expanded or adapted to a new use. If you need more room the building can easily be extended with standard parts obtainable at any time. Loosening a few bolts and rearranging the panels permits changing doors and windows. Obsolescence is never a problem when you build with STEELOX.

Exceptionally Weathertight

With all their flexibility of construction, ARMCO STEELOX Buildings remain sturdily rigid and weathertight. The patented STEELOX joint withstands expansion, contraction and unequal settlement—cannot open up or pull apart. There are no nails to work loose — no holes in the covering.

Fire-Resistant

The all-metal construction is fire-resistant and can be made lightning-safe by grounding opposite corners. Lightning rods are not needed.

Other Money-Saving Features

Every feature of ARMCO STEELOX Buildings is designed to save you time, trouble and money. For example, individual STEELOX Sections are made of 18 and 20 gage ARMCO Galvanized PAINTGRIP STEEL. This is 2 or 3 times heavier than ordinary corrugated galvanized roofing and siding used on many industrial buildings. Long life is assured. Tight construction keeps out rats and other pests. Storms hold little danger because these buildings are designed to withstand wind velocities in excess of 75 miles per hour. Insurance rates are therefore low.

You will always be proud of your STEELOX Building. It stays neat and attractive through the years. Thousands of installations have proved their value.

Board Is Ordered To Rewrite Touchy National Guard Report

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (U.P.)—A special defense department board that recently wrote a touchy report recommending federalization of the National guard had the report back in its laps today, along with special orders to rewrite it.

Defense Secretary James Forrestal told the board to "clarify" some of the report's recommendations. He had all advance copies given to the press taken back.

Conference Canceled

He first canceled a Monday press conference by the board's chairman, Assistant Army Secretary Gordon Gray. His office later announced, however, that Gray's Monday meeting with the press would be held after all, and that the revised report would be released Wednesday, as originally planned

Many state governors and National guard adjutant generals are bitterly opposed to federal control of guard units. The issue is one that involves the traditional question of states rights.

Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, military aide to President Truman, suggested federalization of the guard last September. His suggestion raised a storm of protest from National guard officials, who said such a move is "unconstitutional" and would ruin the guard.

Statements Denied

When the Gray board was appointed, Forrestal denied repeatedly published statements that it was a move to take control of the guard away from the states.

Many army officers contended however, that the National guard should be put under federal control and made a closer part of the regular army. They contend that in the atomic age, the guard must be ready for immediate mobilization.

20 Persons Indicted In Vote Conspiracy

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 7.—(U.P.)—A county grand jury today indicted 20 persons for conspiracy to elect certain candidates in the New Mexico primary election June 8.

Twenty-four indictments were returned by the grand jury which was called into session two and one-half weeks ago to investigate charges of fraud in primary voting in the second judicial district.

Names of those indicted were withheld by authorities pending their arrests. Warrants were to be sworn out later today.

In its report to Judge Luis Armijo the jury said it found "a well-defined conspiracy to elect a certain slate" in the primary balloting in the three-county district.

Evidence was found of double-marking of ballots, erasures, remarking and attempts to bribe, the jury said.

Along with the indictments the jury recommended that both the Republican and Democratic parties "clean house" in Bernalillo, Sandoval and Valencia counties.

Louisiana Extradition Hearing In Assault Case Is Postponed

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 7 (AP)—An extradition hearing in the case of Mrs. Theresa Weikert of Lake Charles, La., wanted for trial on an assault charge in Orange, Tex., has been postponed, A. A. Fredericks, executive secretary to Gov. Earl K. Long, said today.

Fredericks said Governor Long, who left Baton Rouge yesterday, would not be back in the city by Tuesday, when the hearing was scheduled to be held. A new date will be set when the governor returns, Fredericks said.

Mrs. Weikert was charged in connection with the pistol whipping May 18 of Mrs. Burton Roan

New Police Chief At Lamesa Is Selected

LAMESA, August 7 (Special)—A. N. (Jap) Randle, veteran peace officer and a Lamesa resident for 38 years, has been named chief of police here succeeding J. B. (Barney) Yarbrough, city manager J. D. Willson announced today.

Randle, who served as deputy sheriff here for 16 years before he resigned several months ago to make the race for sheriff of Dawson county was named to the post by the city council. Yarbrough has been transferred to the city water department where he will assume his new duties when he returns from his vacation.

Yarbrough, a long-time resident, had served on the city police force for a number of years and had been its chief a good portion of that time.

Randle was eliminated in the first primary in his bid for the sheriff's post, running third in a field of five candidates.

Buying Plentiful Food Items Will Help Topple High Prices

DALLAS, Aug. 7 (U.P.) — Texas homemakers aren't completely helpless in the face of ascending food prices.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture said today that housewives can help topple high prices by shopping often for items on its plentiful foods lists.

On the list are green vegetables, potatoes, tomatoes, both fresh and canned citrus fruits, eggs, fresh and frozen fish, fruit spreads, honey and peanut butter.

Floyd County Farmer Now Realizes Dream Of Turning Out Finished Dairy Products

FLOYDADA, Aug. 7 — In this specialized world, it is rare to find a man who takes a raw material and produces a finished product. George McAllister is one of them.

A dairy farmer who far years had an ambition to take his raw milk and turn out finished creamery products, McAllister is now realizing that dream, and his process extends from the hay field to the grocery or drug store where his ice cream, cottage cheese, sweet milk and buttermilk are sold.

McAllister has long been a Floyd county dairy farmer. His herd of 125 head of milking shorthorns on his farm a few miles west of here is one of the largest in West Texas.

Ambition Completed

It was only last year that McAllister was able to complete his ambition by building a dairy products processing plant in Floydada. He calls it the Lindale dairy store.

His current milk output is about 90 gallons a day, a little less than normal. This total is estimated to be derived from about 30 head of good milk producers.

This output is entirely absorbed by the creamery.

"It isn't at all unusual for milk that is milked on my farm in the morning to be in grocery stores in the form of ice cream late that same afternoon," McAllister said.

Has Other Equipment

He also has equipment to make homogenized and pasteurized milk, cottage cheese, buttermilk and butter. He makes his own ice cream mix. His products are not sent out of Floyd county

Sales Boost In Confederate Flags Saddens Store Owner

DALLAS, Aug. 7 (AP) — A Dallas store owner is unhappy because of a "3,000 per cent" increase in sales—of Confederate flags.

Store owner J. Hugh Campbell attributes the demand to the Dixiecrat movement against President Truman.

"We used to get maybe 25 to 30 calls a year for Confederate flags," Campbell said sadly. "Now we get several a day, and the people get worked up because we can't fill their orders right away."

He added: "It doesn't make me happy. I think we should treasure our memories of the war between the states, but I think the memory of it should be dedicated to strengthening the Union."

SENTENCED TO DIE

Drivers Show Better Record

Despite the fact that July is a heavy vacation and travel month, South Plains automobile drivers show a considerably better record for the month than they did for June, according to the monthly highway patrol roundup report for 21 South Plains counties.

The patrol records for July show that two persons were killed and 29 injured in the 21-district area, whereas a similar report for June indicated eight persons killed and 77 injured. The patrol staff, composed of 19 patrolmen, a captain and a sergeant, investigated 41 accidents during July and 50 accidents during June. July property damage estimates are listed at $19,950. The comparable figure for June was $27,640.

The July report figures, issued under authorization of Capt. E. L. Posey, district patrol commanding officer, show that a total of 518 arrests was made, with 285 classified as "hazardous" arrests, the remainder as "non-hazardous."

The hazardous arrests, or violations, include: driving while intoxicated, 42; speeding, 73; reckless driving, 55; improper parking, 7; improper starting from parked position, 2; other driving violations, 21; defective brakes, 3; defective lights, 28; other defective equipment, 20; drunk in car, 16; drunk pedestrian, 16; aggravated assault with motor vehicle, 2.

State Revenue Rises With Inflation Spiral

AUSTIN, Aug. 7 (AP)—The inflationary price spiral has brought about 59 per cent of the state's increase in revenue, state Comptroller George Sheppard estimated today.

In a comparative statement of the state's financial condition, Sheppard reported that of an increase of $125,000,000 in state funds this year, $25,000,000 is in federal grants and the remaining $100,000,000 is in state revenue.

Oil Money Increases

"Of the $100,000,000" the Comptroller said, "59 per cent is due to inflation of prices on crude oil and other products taxed on value . . . "

Twenty-nine per cent, he added, was due to increased volume of buisness on taxable products, and 12 per cent to a "tax rate change in ad valorem."

Sheppard pointed out that though the number of barrels of crude oil produced has increased only six per cent, the income from the crude oil tax has risen 55 per cent.

Other Results Noted

The "boom condition of business in Texas," he said, also was shown by improvement in the insurance companies' occupation tax and the franchise tax.

Total revenue receipts came to $41,683,093 in July, he reported, and so far this fiscal year $470,555,870 in cash receipts have come into the treasury. Last year at this time the figure was $344,692,358.

The cost of running the state government in July ran to $33,151,650, Sheppard said.

Pacific War GI Bewildered When Real Thing Comes Along

Veteran Meets Blonde German Sweetheart For First Time After A Pen Pal Romance

LONDON, Aug. 7 (AP)—A shy American veteran of the war in the Pacific and a blonde German beauty met for the first time at Waterloo station today after a two-year pen pal romance.

Joseph Conti of Richmond, Ind., greeted his sweetheart Ingeborg Schleuter with a kiss, but photographers had to persuade him to do it.

They had been eight months chopping through the red tape and regulations that stood in the way of their plans to be married. Finally Ingeborg got a visa to come here from Berlin and meet Conti, who will take her back home under the so-called "GI sweetheart act."

The boat train brought Conti to London from Southampton, where he debarked from the Marine Falcon. Waiting excitedly outside the gate of the platform with a battery of newsmen and photographers was his blue-eyed fiance.

Suddenly she recognized the sunburned, soft-spoken former sergeant, picking him out of the hustling crowd. They pushed toward each other and stopped—one foot apart. They regarded each other gravely and quietly.

Finally a correspondent broke the silence and the tableau with a shout:

"Aren't you going to kiss your future wife, Joe?"

"Gosh no," he answered indignantly, "not in front of all these people."

It took all the persuasion of the picture-makers to make them kiss. And their first kiss was interrupted rudely by a clumsy porter who almost knocked them over.

Chained Bridegroom-To-Be Wants Key To His Trouble

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug 7 (AP)—Larry Flaugher, 24, met his bride-to-be here today but sadly learned she doesn't have the key to unshackle him from a 24-pound ball and chain which he has lugged 700 miles from Tulsa.

Fellow students at a Tulsa aeronautical school padlocked the ball and chain to Flaugher's leg when he boarded a plane.

Looked Like Prisoner

Then they mailed the key to Miss Lucille Hemminger, 19, of Edmore, Mich., whom Flaugher will marry Sunday. They said they wanted to be sure he didn't get cold feet at the last minute.

Flaugher arrived safely this afternoon, still dragging his chains. Miss Hemminger said she hadn't received the key yet.

"I guess I'll have to get me a hack-saw," Flaugher said sadly. "I don't want to get married tomorrow in chains."

"The ball and chain didn't bother me much but it sure caused a lot of laughs on the plane and train. Some people must have thought I was an escaped prisoner and I had to explain the thing to everybody."

Wedding Time Set

Flaugher and Miss Hemminger will be married at 4 p. m. Sunday in the Edmore Methodist church. After a week's honeymoon, the couple will move to Pittsburgh where Flaugher has a new job as instructor for the Pittsburgh Institute of Aviation. He graduated from the Tulsa school Friday.

"Everyone says love laughs at locksmiths and I sure hope the key arrives before I have to saw the ball and chain off," Flaugher observed.

Mrs. Wheeler Begins Voyage To Germany

Mrs. Frank R. Wheeler, daughter of R. E. Jones and a sister of Miss Ruth Jones, both of 706 Ave. X, left Lubbock Saturday for New York City, from where she will sail for Germany.

Her husband is a civil service employee who is in charge of property accounts of the Erding, Germany, Air depot. He and Mrs. Wheeler returned in November from Puerto Rico, where he was chief administrative assistant five years. He sailed for Germany four months ago, but authority for her leaving has just cleared.

They plan to be in Germany two years.

Mrs. Wheeler is the former Lafon Jones.

Erding Is Near Munich

Erding is near Munich, in one of the most picturesque sections of Germany. Mrs. Wheeler said eggs and dairy supplies to the depot there are flown in from Denmark, but that other commodities are more easily obtainable from depot commissaries. She will land at Bremerhaven.

NAVAL EXPANSION PROGRAM IS LAUNCHED

U. S. Navy Announces Construction To Start On 16 'Atom Age' Warships, Super Aircraft Carrier

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (INS)—The Navy launched its huge postwar expansion of the U. S. fleet tonight by announcing construction will begin on 16 "atom age" warships including a 65,000-ton super aircraft carrier.

The department also announced the start of postwar conversion work on 33 vessels including four carriers now afloat.

The Navy said that it has signed contracts with the Newport News, Va., Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company, one of the nation's foremost aircraft carrier builders, to construct the super carrier.

Can Handle Bombers

Construction of the 15 other vessels, including two anti-submarine cruisers, four destroyers, six high-speed submarines and three anti-submarine submarines, will be carried out by civilian shipyards on the East and West coasts.

The Navy announcement emphasized that a main purpose of the building program was "to insure that a minimum nucleus of the... shipbuilding capacity in the private yards will be kept available in the interests of national security."

The Navy added, however, that the ship conversion program will be done largely at naval shipyards.

Present top weight of America's carriers is the 45,000-ton Midway class.

High Navy officers say that the new carrier will be the acme of naval perfection. Equipped to handle twin-engined bombers, the carrier is designed to provide a quick counter-blow in event the U.S. is attacked.

Huge Sum Okayed

Congress provided a $124,000,000 down payment on the supercarrier for fiscal year 1949 during the last session of Congress.

The revolutionary-type ship will literally be a "flat top" since the "island" featured on most carriers today will be replaced by a "flush-deck" design.

It will be equipped with the latest mechanisms out of naval research and development and will be built progressively under a long-range program.

The Navy said that the construction of the four destroyers will be divided between the Bethlehem Steel Co., Quincy, Mass., and the Bath Iron Works, Bath, Me.

To Include Subs

The Navy declared:

"These destroyers, which have not yet been named, are long-range vessels, larger than their wartime predecessors. Essentially anti-submarine vessels, they will also have the speed, endurance and sea keeping qualities which will permit them to serve with high-speed task forces."

Construction of the USS Norfolk, an anti-submarine cruiser, will be done by the New York Shipbuilding Corp., Camden, N. J., while the Philadelphia Naval shipyard will construct the other.

Three of the six high-speed subs will be built by the Portsmouth Naval shipyard, Portsmouth, N. H., and the remainder by the Electric Boat Co., Groton, Conn.

The Electric Boat Co., the New York Shipbuilding Corp., and the Mare Island Navy shipyard, Vallejo, Calif., will build the three anti-submarine subs.

The conversion program includes work on two Essex class fleet carriers, two light carriers for anti-sub warfare, 18 destroyers and other warships.

McGrath Calls For Election Of Truman, Democratic Congress

By EARLE MARCKRES
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—Democratic National Chairman McGrath called tonight for the election of President Truman and a Democratic Congress in November as "the only relief" the public can get from further price increases.

McGrath, in a campaign blast at the Republicans said that "the people want action against the rising cost of living . . . before we are swept into a disastrous depression." McGrath declared:

"Their vote in November will be a popular mandate in support of President Truman's stand against inflation."

For the second straight day McGrath assailed GOP presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey, saying that "the Republican new look now stands revealed as camouflage for a tongue-tied candidate hiding behind the long skirts of reactionary congressional leadership." McGrath said:

"The Republican presidential candidate refused to take any public stand on an anti-inflation program. He has thus forfeited his right to discuss inflation during the campaign.

"The Republican presidential candidate refused to take a public stand in the housing fight. He thus has forfeited his right to discuss housing during the campaign."

Other Blasts Fired

In rapid-fire order McGrath also charged Dewey with failure to take a position on amending the displaced persons law and the anti-poll tax bill. The chairman asserted:

"He has thus forfeited the right to discuss civil rights during the campaign.

"... Dewey has left the international wheat agreement, federal aid to schools, a higher minimum wage, broader social security, an expanded federal power program and fair pay for federal workers go by default.

"It is reported that the governor now is preparing a campaign speech. It is difficult to see how it can honestly contain anything more than the silence which Dewey has maintained during the special session of Congress."

Inflation Blamed On GOP

McGrath predicted that "between now and the election prices may well continue to rise . . . and add about $2,500,000,000 more to the cost of Republican inflation to the American people." The chairman said:

"This would mean that Republican inaction at the special session will have cost the American people almost twice the amount spent in the same period on the European recovery program.

"The Republicans like to talk about economy, yet their failure to curb inflation at this special session amounts to a profligate squandering of the earnings of every American."

McGrath charged that the special session "has shown a serious split between the interests of the Republican Congress and the interests of the people."

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7 (INS)—Aviation's glamour girl, Jane Page, was busy looking for a sponsor today to back her in the forthcoming Los Angeles to Cleveland Bendix race—for which "I am a cinch to win."

The willowy, blonde aviatrix who finished out of the money in last year's cross-country classic because of engine trouble said that she has acquired world-flyer Bill Odum's P-47 Thunderbolt. She insists:

"I am positive I will win this year—if I can get a sponsor. Odum's plane does over 500 miles per hour. The sponsor will be repaid when I set down in Cleveland municipal airport, ahead of all the others."

She explained that she needs $300 for gas and a quick overhaul and with that accomplished it's the plane to beat in the Bendix race.

Miss Page, 26, and from Peoria, Ill., said that she was sure that she would find a sponsor in Los Angeles, but after searching for six months she is beginning to wonder.

Remnants Of Troop Carrier Squadron To Be De-Activated

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP) — The U. S. Air Force announced that what is left of the 19th Troop Carrier squadron at Hickam Field, Hawaii, has been ordered to return to the United States.

The Air Force said the transfer is being made because all of the squadron's C-54 planes and more than half of the outfit's personnel are now flying foodstuffs into Russian-blockaded Berlin.

The squadron will go to Bergstrom Air base near Austin, Texas, and there be re-activated with the approximately 100 enlisted men and five or six officers transferred to another outfit.

The squadron's 12 C-54 planes were authorized to go to Germany in June. The planes and about 100 enlisted men and nearly 40 officers were placed under command of Lt. Gen. Curtis Lemay, commanding general of the U. S. Air Forces in Germany.

Organized Ring Blamed For Houston Horse Meat Sales

HOUSTON, Aug. 7, (AP)—Houston's new chief veterinarian says an organized ring is responsible for the illegal sale of horse meat and sulphite-treated meat here.

Dr. J. W. Williamson said yesterday that the situation is about as bad as it has been at any time in the past.

Williamson was appointed to his position recently after a grand jury investigation of the situation. Forty-five indictments were returned.

He said he sees no hope for an immediate halt to the problem. "A fine of $200 isn't going to stop those who sell horse meat," he said. "There's too much profit in the business."

Women on the island of Cheju off the coast of Korea traditionally earn the family living by diving for shells and other sea products while the men often tend the children and prepare the meals.

TEXAS VOTE IS DISPUTED

Dixie Demo Leaders Claiming Heavy Edge In Southern States

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—Top Dixiecrats predict tonight that their rebel Fourth party ticket will carry more southern states than President Truman in November's presidential election.

The rebel southerners claim the electoral votes of six states below the Mason-Dixon line, and possibly a seventh, while yielding the President a victory chance in only two.

The Dixiecrats profess they already have insured President Truman's defeat in November by robbing him of the "Solid South."

Claim Backing In Texas

Their program in the coming campaign will be to gain control of the Democratic party machinery following a November disaster.

The Dixiecrats claim a minimum of 73 southern electoral votes for their ticket—Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, of South Carolina, and Gov. Fielding L. Wright, of Mississippi. They say Mr. Truman's limit will be 31 electoral votes in the South.

The Dixiecrat claims include Alabama (11 electoral votes); Georgia (12); Louisiana (10); Mississippi (9); South Carolina (8) and Texas (23). They add they have a chance also to carry Florida (8). They give Mr. Truman a bright chance to carry only Arkansas (9) and Tennessee (12).

The Dixiecrats intimate strongly that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, will carry North Carolina with its 14 electoral votes and Virginia with 11.

Dispute Over Texas

The Dixiecrats are not very hopeful about the border states. Some of their top spokesmen say Mr. Truman will carry Kentucky and Oklahoma but they seem to believe the Republicans will win Maryland, Missouri and West Virginia. Naturally the Truman leaders claim all the border states, particularly his home state of Missouri.

There is considerable dispute over the Dixiecrat claim to Texas. Regular Democratic leaders say the "Lone Star" state will be for Truman.

There are strong reports from Texas, however, that the Dixiecrat move is sweeping the state. The Houston Democratic organization already has voted against the President. This was a first step toward staking the state's electoral votes in the Thurmond-Wright column. The issue should be decided at the Democratic state convention in Fort Worth September first. The Dixiecrats are jubilant over their chances of success.

There is every indication, meanwhile, that the Dixiecrats intend to battle the Truman political philosophy to a finish. This was the portent Friday when nine Southern Democrats joined with Republicans in the Senate to defeat Mr. Truman's requested federal housing bill. The vote was 48 to 36 to kill the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill, asked by the President. Nine of the "killing" votes were cast by southerners—more than enough to have passed it.

In the House Thursday, the Dixiecrats showed their strength and intentions when 51 Democrats, mostly southerners, voted for the mild GOP anti-inflation program over the President's sweeping price control-ration authority demands. Without the southerners, the GOP leadership could not have mustered the two-thirds vote necessary under suspension of the rules to pass the measure.

The Dixiecrat revolt against the Truman Civil Rights program is certain to hurt the President throughout the South. In the north, especially in the big cities, he is faced with the Wallace Third Party opposition.

The Dixiecrat claim of 73 electoral votes in the South if true, may doom the President's election chances. If their concession of only 42 out of Dixie's 179 electoral votes is correct, the President certainly faces a tremendous uphill battle in the coming campaign.

The question naturally arises: Where will he get the other 224 electoral votes, necessary for election?

Only a political miracle could give him a favorable answer.

Soviet Bloc Outvotes Western Nations In Talks On Danube Navigation At Belgrade

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, INS

BELGRADE, Aug. 7—The eastern bloc outvoted the western powers five time on procedural questions at the Danubian conference today. The Soviet states then moved ahead with plans to perpetuate Russian domination over Danubian navigation.

U. S. Ambassador Cavendish Cannon warned that the Danube "will remain cut in two" unless Austria is given a share with other riparain sates in control of the river.

Allied Position Hopeless

But the position of the western powers appeared to be hopeless in trying to buck Soviet plans for the Danube.

There were indications the American delegation may walk out before the conference closes.

French delegate Adrien Thierry, faced Soviet "steam-roller" tactics, warned the Russians that his country probably will refuse to recognize decisions taken by the conference under Soviet pressure.

He made the threat in connection with a British proposal to refer the question of validity of the 1921 agreement on the Danube to the Hague court or the United Nations.

All Proposals Rejected

Like four other western proposals, the British proposal was voted down seven to three.

Romania's foreign minister and Communist boss, Ana Pauker, accused the French delegate of delivering an ultimatum to the conference.

She said it was no longer possible for the western powers to talk to the eastern nations as "the overlords talked to the colonials."

The American and British delegations, apparently because of confusion at today's session, voted with the Soviet bloc to accept the Russian draft treaty for the Danube as a basis for discussion. The French delegation voted against it.

Russia's Andrei Vishinsky triumphantly announced acceptance of the proposal by a 9 to 1 vote.

The conference was adjourned until Monday when discussions enter the committee phase.

Grand Jury To Report Monday

A grand jury will report at 10 a. m. Monday to Judge Dan Blair of 72nd district court, a petit jury for trial of a civil action at 1:30 p. m.

Approximately 57 felony charges are likely to be presented to the grand jury for investigation, court officials said.

Seven of those cases charge murder, believed unofficially a record number for one Lubbock county grand jury.

Theft Cases Included

There are 22 cases charging theft, three of rape, nine of burglary, two of chicken theft, four of forgery, three of assault with intent to murder, three of swindling, one of disposal of mortgaged property, and three for desertion, it was learned from District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and his assistant, E. G. Pharr.

Only 11 of those charged have not been apprehended, records of the sheriff's department showed.

Judge Blair closed minutes on his current term of court here Saturday, and will convene a new term Monday.

It was deemed probable that the grand jury would require at least three days for completion of its investigation.

Three Arrests Made As FBI Cracks Down In Big Theft

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 7 (INS)—The case of the missing sheets and pillow cases—12,000 of them—from the Army's Wakeman General hospital at Camp Atterbury near Indianapolis resulted in three arrests today.

Taken into custody were Lt. John J. Ward, 39, post engineer at Fort Benjamin Harrison in Indianapolis, his bartender-brother, Bernard J. Ward, 40, of Calumet City, Ill., and Abraham Levi, 67, president of the Elwood Iron and Metal company at Elwood, Ind.

The Army officer and Levi will be arraigned in Indianapolis, while Bernard Ward's arraignment will be held in Hammond, Ind.

The FBI said approximately 8,000 sheets and 4,000 pillow cases, valued at $16,919.25, were stolen from the hospital in April, 1948, and were sold in Chicago.

Camp Atterbury has been on a standby basis since demobilization of World War II soldiers was completed.

A portion of the camp area now is being used by the Indiana National guard, but Wakeman hospital itself is closed.

Electric Co-Op To Be Dedicated At Tahoka

TAHOKA, Aug. 7 (Special) — An estimated 5,000 persons, probably the largest group ever to assemble in Tahoka, are expected to attend a barbecue and dedication ceremonies for the new Lyntegar Electric co-operative office building here Tuesday.

Congressman George Mahon will be the principal speaker during the afternoon. Mahon wired his acceptance of the invitation Saturday, saying that Congress would adjourn in time for him to be on hand for the event.

Lines of the co-operative now extend into ten counties: Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, Hockley, Cochran, Garza, Borden, Dawson, Gaines and Martin. With 4,755 connections, the lines total 1,900 miles.

Tom Garrad, attorney for the cooperative, will act as master of ceremonies for the program, which will begin at 10 o'clock. Sheldon Russell, music director of the Tahoka First Baptist church, will lead a song. Rev. C. A. Holcomb, pastor of the First Methodist church, will ask invocation. District Attorney Calloway Huffaker will deliver the welcome address.

After talks will include reports from John Heck of Wilson, president, G. Q. Hensley of Draw, secretary, and election of officers. Joe Peterson will present special prizes.

Canadians Name New Minister

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 7 (INS)—Louis St. Laurent, Canadian minister of external affairs for Canada, late today was chosen leader of the liberal party of Canada to succeed Prime Minister W. L. McKenzie King, who held the post for 30 years.

While St. Laurent now becomes leader of the party in power in Canada, McKenzie King will remain as prime minister for several months, the exact length of time depending on world conditions.

St. Laurent — chosen on the first ballot at the liberal party convention — will eventually become Canada's prime minister, when King resigns.

Has Impressive Background

St. Laurent is an outstanding legal figure in Canada and a former president of the Canadian bar association. He entered public life late in his career, being first elected to the House of Commons in Feb., 1942.

Since that time he has grown steadily in political stature, and has represented Canada from time to time at United Nations meetings at Lake Success.

He is married and has five children — two married daughters, one unmarried daughter and two sons.

The national liberal convention called to pick a new leader gave St. Laurent 848 votes on the first ballot against 323 for James G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, and 56 for C. G. Power, former air ministry official.

Johnson Rounds Up Votes While Stevenson Finishes Ranch Work

(By The Associated Press)

Lyndon Johnson rounded up votes in East Texas Saturday while Coke Stevenson, his senatorial runoff opponent, was rounding up some cattle and arranging for goat shearing on his Kimble county ranch.

Stevenson finished his ranch business at Junction and came into his Austin headquarters before hitting the vote trail at Alvarado.

Johnson Shakes Hands

Johnson did some speaking and considerable hand-shaking along the way from Timpson to Kilgore. He stopped at Teneha, Mount Enterprise, Henderson and Carthage.

He told audiences:

"We are going to see and hear a lot of indignation over the failure of my opponent to tell where he stands on one major issue—the Taft-Hartley bill.

"My opponent says he is against hoof-and-mouth disease in Mexico. But he won't say whether he is for or against Taft-Hartley in Texas. He says flatly he is for the Constitution, but he won't say whether he is for or against Taft-Hartley."

"Coke" To Head West

Stevenson said at Austin he planned to continue to campaign in the runoff just as he did in the first primary.

"I had to get some work done at the ranch before starting out on the road again," the former governor said. "I had to get some hay cut, arrange to have the goats sheared, and roundup and spray a bunch of cattle against flies."

Johnson planned to spend Sunday at Austin and head west Monday. He will be in El Paso Tuesday; Odessa Wednesday morning and visit between there and Sweetwater. He has a night rally at Sweetwater Wednesday. Thursday and Friday he will be in San Antonio.

Stevenson headquarters said he would also visit Bowie Monday and probably go to East Texas Tuesday.

JOHNSON ASKS STEVENSON TO TAKE DEFINITE STAND

KILGORE, Aug. 7 (AP)—Lyndon Johnson suggested tonight that Texas employers and employes "keep your eyes on the newspapers and your ears on the radio to see what position, if any, my opponent takes on Taft-Hartley."

Johnson's opponent in the runoff campaign for the Democratic U. S. senatorial nomination is former Governor Coke Stevenson. Johnson said that if Stevenson "doesn't take a stand" on the Taft-Hartley law soon, "the jig's up."

The tenth district congressman arrived here at dusk for an hour-long handshaking tour of the Kilgore business section before leaving for Austin, where he will spend the weekend. No speech was scheduled here.

"We've spent the day in the heart of the Peddy country," Johnson told reporters. "Every place we've gone and nearly every person we've seen told us they're fighting for us now."

"The enthusiastic Peddy supporters of ten days ago are Johnson leaders today," he asserted.

He claimed that many first primary supporters of Stevenson are planning to vote for Johnson Aug. 28.

"His (Stevenson's) indecision, vacillation and attempt to cover up his position on Taft-Hartley is losing him votes every day. It's pretty hard for his supporters to explain a position he doesn't make clear himself," Johnson added.

Housewives Ready

in Lubbock. Telephones were ringing in Big Spring, Denison, Texarkana, Beaumont, Austin, Dallas, Orange, Port Arthur, Corpus Christi, Fort Worth, Galveston, Houston, Abilene, Paris, Waco, Hamlin, Wichita Falls and Lubbock.

Reaction of meat packers, processors and retailers was varied. Some retailers complained the proposed boycott was unfair, that everything else was high, too. One said steel was high and why didn't the housewives boycott that.

"You don't plan a meal around a hunk of steel," was the reply.

Otis Bryant, president of the 900-member Dallas Independent Retail Grocers association, predicted that the boycott would boomerang with increased poultry and produce prices.

A few grocery stores announced they would close their meat markets during the week of the boycott. Others reported they were cutting their meat buying sharply.

A frozen locker plant in Orange reported a big increase in meat going into lockers. In Big Spring, Mrs. Norman Spencer, wife of a rancher, proposed to boycott the boycotters in that ranching area.

And a Texas farmwife flayed her city sisters.

"I wonder what would happen if the farmers went on a non-selling strike?" Mrs. W. T. Schooley of Zephyr asked in a letter to the Fort Worth Star Telegram. "Did they (the city housewives) ever stop to think about the terrifically high prices of the grains those calves and hogs ate? But the farmers don't strike."

Mrs. Vaughn said the national people's lobby on price control has endorsed her campaign and through its chairman, Paul Ross of New York City, has asked her to go to Washington for a conference.

She said she has received telephone calls from all over the country and wires and letters of support from Los Angeles, Long Beach, Hawthorne and Kervin County, Calif.; Mattapan, Mass.; Providence, R. I.; Rochester and Bay Shore, Long Island, N. Y.; Reading, Pa.; Birmingham, Ala.; Elkhart, Ind., and Poland, Ohio.

Statement On Senate Race Is 'Completed'

DALLAS, Aug. 7. (AP)—A speaker in behalf of Coke Stevenson said tonight that Lyndon Johnson, the former governor's opponent in the U. S. Senate race, had the support of Henry A. Wallace when he ran unsuccessfully for the Senate in 1941.

Richard G. Scurry, Dallas lawyer, said in a speech delivered here:

"An unprejudiced authority, Dr. Seth McKay, professor of history at Texas Technological college, has described in his book on Texas politics, a typical Johnson rally of that campaign.

"This particular rally was held in Austin.

"'Johnson called attention to his New Deal backing,' Dr. McKay wrote, 'and quoted complimentary letters of encouragement from vice-president Henry A. Wallace."

SENTENCE NOT COMPLETED CHECK IN LUBBOCK SHOWS

Mr. Scurry forgot to add the rest of the sentence when quoting for Dr. McKay's book, it was pointed out in Lubbock last night when news of the Dallas man's statement was read here.

Dr. McKay, quoting from his book said that it was true that the quotes Scurry used came from his book but that the sentence in the book read:

"Johnson . . . quoted complimentary letters of encouragement from Vice-President Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Committee on Naval Affairs, Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes. Speaker Sam Rayburn announced that he had already cast an absentee ballot for Johnson . . ."

Thus, it seems, Mr. Scurry forgot to add a few other names who also were backing Johnson.

Soviet Charges

quickly settling East-West differences in Berlin.

Banks in the western sector of Berlin began making loans of western marks to firms with overdue payrolls. They remained open until 5 p.m. today and will open again at 9 a.m. Sunday for four hours.

Limit Is Set

Advances were made at the rate of no more than 100 marks for each unpaid worker. No company received more than the total of marks frozen in banks in the Soviet sector of the city.

The western powers acted because they considered unacceptable Russian "conditions" under which they offered to release the blocked marks.

The Russians wanted firms in western Berlin to use Soviet financial agencies for their transactions, and make the Soviet mark the only currency for Berlin.

Fuel Saving Ordered

In line with the stand taken by the western powers, the Berlin assembly at a special session formally rejected the Soviet demand that western firms deal exclusively in Russian marks.

The western military governments meanwhile ordered further fuel-saving cuts in cooking gas and electricity in the western sectors, despite the continuing efforts in Moscow to break the East-West deadlock.

Their aim is to reduce consumption of coal, now being flown into Soviet-blockaded Berlin along with food at the rate of 1,600 to 1,300 tons daily. Gas lines will be shut off from 9 p.m. to 5 a.m.

Money Situation Deadlocked

The Soviet news agency ADN reported without confirmation from Washington that President Truman is ready to accept the Soviet mark as the exclusive currency for the city, presumably as part of the West's attempt to get the Russians to lift the Berlin blockade.

Some western officials believed ironing out of the still deadlocked currency situation in Berlin is now up to diplomats in Moscow, where still another conference in Kremlin on the Berlin crisis is expected soon.

Red Warnings Ignored

Russian hints that Soviet fighters may try to force down American planes supplying the blockaded city because of alleged western violations of air safety rules apparently had little effect on U.S. and British officials.

It was pointed out that Gen. Lucius D. Clay has said time and again that American fighters would protect American transports and take whatever action necessary to deal with any Soviet interference.

This position has been reaffirmed by Maj. Gen. William E. Hall, Gen. Clay's air aide, with the reminder that "in Munich the United States has the world's finest fighter squadron."

Jewish Sexton Sought After Wife Accused Of Smuggling

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (INS) — A search is underway in Chicago tonight for Abraham Keller, sexton at a Jewish Synagogue, whose wife is accused of smuggling $10,000 worth of cut diamonds into this country from Europe.

Supervising U. S. customs agent Ernest Beaton said his agent went to Keller's Chicago home but didn't find him there.

Beaton said Keller is being sought for questioning about the alleged gem smuggling activities of his wife, Fanny, 45.

Mrs. Keller was arrested in New York yesterday when customs officials found 343.71 carats of cut diamonds in the false bottom of her suitcase.

Mrs. Keller denied knowing the gems were concealed there and was released under $1,000 bond pending a hearing on the jewel smuggling charge against her.

Her husband is sexton of Kehilate Jeshurun synagogue in Chicago.

and announced they expected to be able to announce most of the membership of their committee within the next few days.

This will involve the creation of several highly important subcommittees. These will work closely together in the effort to coordinate many phases of decorating into a program which will make Lubbock one of the most beautifully ornamented cities in the country during the holidays.

The co-chairmen cautioned that service on the committee will involve a good deal of work. Those invited to serve will be chosen carefully from among those who have demonstrated a high degree of civic mindedness.

First meeting of the group may be held during the coming week, but is more likely to be postponed until the week following, the co-chairmen said. Jimmy Crook, assistant manager, is the staff member of the chamber of commerce assigned to work with the group.

ident Roosevelt.

"But when he became president," Ferguson continued, "he became the willing prisoner and mouthpiece of this power clique."

Ferguson noted that Congress has the "final word" under the constitution and added that if a president "carried the powers of his office to unconscionable extremes, the Congress can dispose of him by impeachment proceedings."

"The President, on the other hand, has no powers vested in him that would permit him to dispose of Congress," he said.

Ferguson told the Senate that some day Congress "shall have to meet the issue head-on because the trend to presidential arrogance is becoming intolerable."

The senator said the "Communist menace today is not that governments will be raised by forcible means. It is that they will be undermined and taken over by the insidious infiltration of Communists into high government offices."

Wide Search Underway For Missing Plane In Northwest

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 7 (INS) —Authorities began a far-flung search tonight for a plane with two men aboard which has been unreported since Wednesday.

Aboard were Earl Williams, 30, the pilot, and Ed Suppes, 22, of Shoshone, Wyoming.

The plane was last seen as it took off from Klamath Falls, Ore., Wednesday. Kinsfolk of Suppes, who informed the Civil Aeronautics authority, said the plane was on a flight to Albuquerque, N. M. Searchers are handicapped by the flyers' failure to file a flight schedule.

State police of nearby states, the search and rescue unit at McChord Air Force base and the forest service have begun a search. The C. A. A., meanwhile, has begun checking landing fields in the possibility that the plane has landed somewhere without reporting.

Two Killed, One Injured In Car Accidents Near Dallas

DALLAS, Aug. 7. (AP) — Three separate traffic accidents in Dallas county early today killed two men and left a third injured.

Boyd Lee Grant, 22, Dallas, was crushed to death when his car overturned on him two miles west of here. James Hill, 18, as killed when he fell from a truck.

Thomas R. Wright, 20, Fort Worth, regained consciousness in Methodist hospital this afternoon and his condition was reported "just fair." His car overturned on top of him on U. S. Highway 80 near the Bagdad club about 5:35 a. m.

Survey Reveals Price Situation

about the price of cemept. It was 90 cents a sack three months ago (last report I had). Now you can't even buy it unless you buy a whole house then it costs $1.50 and if you want two or three sacks of cement it costs $2."

It seems that the feud between Stovall and Husted will probably be settled by the housewives themselves, but in the meantime, the survey over the city showed that meat isn't the only thing that has gone up. Observers pointed out that should the "boycott' idea be extended to those other products then it wouldn't be any time until no one would be trading and the economic system would automatically collapse.

No one denied but that prices were high and going higher. But they explained that the "vicious circle" of inflation affected everything and everybody, including wages, and action against one product alone wasn't the answer.

Steel Costs Up

Most of the construction companies and contractors remarked on the sharp advance of steel and steel building products. One large firm reported that they had been notified of a 9 per cent increase in the price of steel windows as of August 1. Another commented that any product with or of steel involved a waiting process of indeterminate length, and added that steel goods producers have "escalator clauses" whereby the price of the product, though quoted at one price, may be higher on the day it is shipped, and the buyer must pay the latter price, even though he may have allowed in his estimates for the lower price. Still a third contractor reported that steel jumped about $13 per ton in the past two weeks.

Standard double-hung residential steel windows, which formerly cost about $20, now are up about 9 or 10 per cent, beginning the first of this month, a contractor said.

Cement Costs Included

Major jump, however, most contractors agreed, has been in the price of cement, which has increased the cost of masonry, plastering, slab work, and stuccoing.

One of the contractors questioned said much of the concrete on the market at the present time was that on trucks, which sells for around $2 per sack.

Up until about three weeks ago, he said, it was obtainable for 90 or 95 cents a sack.

The prices at Lubbock lumberyards are pegged at about $1.20 per sack for Fort Worth cement in the yard, $1.25 delivered in the city.

Ruling Affects Price

A recent Supreme court ruling abolished "equalization" of freight rates which formerly enabled cement factories to sell their products for the same price everywhere. Now the dealer pays the mill price plus the freight rate to the point of delivery.

W. B. Yeager, manager of Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber company, said his firm is selling cement at $1.20 a sack and that he had a carload on the tracks at the moment. That price represented an increase from the form price of $1 before the freight rate ruling.

J. Ben Cole, manager of Forrest Lumber company, was another dealer who confirmed the current prices of cement. He pointed out that out-of-state cement is as high as $1.85 due to the additional freight charges. Lubbock lumber companies make an effort to obtain their supplies from Fort Worth, San Antonio or El Paso.

Both Yeager and Cole attributed the current shortage, which makes a black market possible, to an unprecedented building volume, and heavy oil drilling. In particular were mentioned numerous highway projects on which the federal government matches dollar for dollar of cost, the atomic building project at Los Alamos and White Sands, N. M., which drains much materials consigned to this area.

Drilling Uses Cement

Heavy drilling in the South Plains takes a heavy toll of cement, for the average well uses 1,000 sacks in the course of completing.

There is undoubtedly a black market in cement. Cole said he had heard of cement, hauled in by truckers, going for as much as $2.75 a sack in Lubbock. Yeager knew of a used car lot that had sacks of cement stacked on it, tagged at $2 per sack.

Reputable dealers say they are three to four months behind in their orders.

It was the concensus of the contractors that the cement black market would not last longer than three or four more months at most, since cold weather is expected to halt to a large degree concrete pouring on highways, dams and other similar projects. They expected the concrete to become more plentiful once building is slowed down for the winter.

A local contractor whose company builds many of the city's better homes, reported that builders hardware has increased about 12½ per cent in the past few weeks. Nails, he said, have increased mainly because buyers must pay freight charges from the mill whereas mills formerly charged a flat rate. For a keg of nails, lumber companies used to pay $9. Now they must also pay the freight charges, and to this must be added enough for a profit, and by the time contractors receive the materials, a noticeable price increase must be paid.

Masonry products have increased, though not in proportion to the increase in prices of some other products. A few years back, the contractor said, common brick sold for $20 a thousand, and facing brick sold for $30 a thousand. Now the bricks are about $28 and $38.50 respectively.

Another commented that brick and tile prices have risen from three to five per cent recently).

Meanwhile, Lubbock housewives definitely were not employing cement in their cookery and there was some indications they intended to follow Husted's proposal regarding the meat strike.

Friday Husted began calling the first residential number in the left hand corner of each page in the telephone book. He then spoke to the housewife and asked her to join in a campaign against high meat prices by refusing to buy meat to eat beginning Monday, and to co-operate by calling all other residential numbers on the page of the telephone book on which she was listed.

Saturday afternoon he was still at the task, though he had almost finished late last night he said. He said the response was still good and that most of the women he called agreed to co-operate.

The first written history of Oklahoma was before the Pilgrims landed in 1620. Casanada, historian of the famous Spanish Expedition of Coronado, was the author.

Five Persons Sought By Farwell Officers

FARWELL, Aug. 7 (AP)—Officers here said today they had issued warrants for five persons wanted for questioning in the death of a Melrose, N. M., man found dead in his automobile near here.

The five included three men and two women. They have been reported on their way either to Charlestown, S. C., or New York.

The victim was O. T. McDaniel, 55, service station owner in Melrose. He was found shot to death on the highway 10 miles southeast of here Tuesday morning.

Mystery Witness

committee members for 50 minutes and emerged with the announcement that he "would refuse to co-operate" with the investigators.

In addition to Nixon, subcommittee members in New York were Reps. Herbert (D-La) and McDowell (R-Pa.). They were accompanied by chief committee investigator Robert Stripling.

In Washington, acting Un-American Activities committee chairman Rep. Mundt (R-S.D.) said:

"It is believed Alexander Koral is in a position to give the committee valuable and direct information concerning a contact man for the Communist spy ring, who met with key people.

"We have reason to believe this contact man operated within the ring and that he was one of the people who made contacts within the ring."

Mystery Man To Testify

Mundt said his committee will resume open spy hearings in Washington on Monday. Nixon said "Koral" will testify at this session.

Pending "Koral's" expected witness stand session in the capital, committee members obviously were reluctant to say any more about the man.

It is possible that Henry Wallace, Progressive candidate for president, also may be a committee witness next week. A demand that the former vice president be called was made in Washington today by Un-American Activities committee member Rankin (D-Miss).

Rankin said he wants to question Wallace about wartime shipments to Russia of "atomic materials."

The Mississippian said he will request that Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, who headed the wartime A-bomb project, also be asked to testify.

Secrecy Marks Talks

Rankin said "the American people have a right to know what has been going on."

The aura of secrecy that surrounded the New York activities of the Un-American Activities subcommittee left unanswered whether the congressmen had seen and talked to the un-named witness alleged to have information that would break the spy probe "wide open."

This mystery witness, apparently a man, allegedly succeeded Elizabeth T. Bentley as head of the Russian-dominated spy ring which she has testified she led until she renounced Communism in 1945.

The story the congressmen expected to obtain from this reputed key spy ring figure was considered so important that the group flew to New York from Washington last night, expressly to meet with the witness.

All activities of the subcommittee were conducted in New York's federal building. So carefully guarded were the sessions, however, that nothing concrete was learned except for the statements made "on the record" by Nixon.

protest from the western powers on the Berlin blockade said the Russians would not object to negotiating differences in Berlin, but the talks must be without preliminary conditions and must concern the administration of Germany as a whole.)

Dispatch Puzzling

Failure to announce any progress, and the length of last night's meeting—two hours and 45 minutes—caused the belief that some obstacles have appeared on the horizon.

(Observers also were puzzled by a Berlin dispatch filed by the Soviet news agency Tass.

(It said "the Americans are becoming more sure that they will have to abandon Berlin and prefer to leave now 'under calm conditions.'"

(The dispatch was published before the meeting of Molotov, U.S. Ambassador Lieut. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, French Ambassador Yves Chataigneau and the special British envoy, Frank Roberts.

(It was thought, however, that the dispatch may be significant because of its publication in the midst of the Kremlin talks.)

Solons Adjourn Special Session

deep into the federal government.

Those hearings brought bitter words from both the White House and the capitol.

Barkley Makes Plea

Mr. Truman accused the Republicans of trying to hide the shortcomings of Congress by a "red herring" hunt for Communists.

Then, in the Senate's closing hours, Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) went so far as to speak of "impeachment."

In its last long day, Congress cleared first the housing bill, then the anti-inflation measure.

Senator Barkley (D-Ky), President Truman's running mate in the fall campaign, pleaded for adoption of the White House anti-inflation program. He said a do-nothing policy would endanger America's economy and national security and impair the nation's foreign policy. Inaction on high prices, he declared, will cost the American people $10,000,000,000 in the next year.

Credit Controls Voted

But Senator Taft of Ohio, the Republican policy chief, asserted bluntly:

"Price controls won't work in America in peacetime."

The Senate passed the bill by a voice vote after rejecting the Barkley amendment. The House approved the bill as amended by the Senate, 337 to 11.

Putting restraints on installment buying, the anti-inflation bill authorizes the Federal Reserve board to fix credit controls on consumer goods. If the board adheres to the wartime pattern, down payments of at least one-third of the purchase price of such articles as automobiles and washing machines would be required, with a maximum of 15 or 18 months to pay the balance.

The other principal feature of the bill increases by 1½ percentage points the reserve requirements on time (savings) deposits for Rederal Reserve bank members, with an increase of 4 percentage points in the reserves behind demand (checking) deposits. President Truman had asked increases of 4 and 10 percentage points respectively.

The Republicans' housing bill provides for some federal aid to encourage the building of low-cost homes and large rental projects. There will be no federal subsidies, however, for public housing or slum-clearance.

Major provisions of the bill include:

1. Low and middle-income families would be allowed 95 per cent insured mortgages on houses costing $6,000 or less.

2. Construction loans would be provided for builders of low-cost homes, with an 80 per cent insured mortgage for builders of 25 or more units priced under $7,500 each.

3. Owner-occupied homes would be eligible for more liberal loans, such as a 90-per cent insured mortgage for single-family units costing up to $6,300 instead of the present $5,400.

4. Large-scale rental projects would be allowed 90 per cent insured mortgages. The $1,350 cost limitation per room would be removed and a family unit maximum of $8,100 substituted.

5. A minimum return of 2-3/4 per cent a year on investment, plus two per cent for amortization, would be guaranteed by the government to those making investments in construction of rental property for lower and middle income groups.

6. Prefabricated housing manufacturers would be allowed more liberal loans.

7. An additional $35,000,000 would be provided for insuring loans for home modernization and improvement.

8. A new division in the housing and home finance agency would be set up to work toward the standardization of building codes and measurements.

Meat Price Drive

71-year-old Mrs. R. D. Vaughn, president of the Dallas Women's Chamber of Commerce, took to the telephone.

The idea spread across Texas, where in 18 cities women agreed to stop buying meat on August 9. Some sales already have fallen off, but there has been no general reflection in prices to date.

In Indianapolis, several housewives began a phone campaign and their leader, Mrs. Velma Perk, advised callers to write Congress for price controls on meat.

WAVE Sparks Drive

In Kansas City, Mrs. Edward S. Munneke, 25-year-old former WAVE, sparked a chain-telephone drive to get her colleagues to quit buying meat all next week and observe three meatless days weekly until prices fall.

In the same city, James Browne, president of the city and state independent retail grocers association, said "if people would quit eating meat for a week, the country would be flooded with meat, and prices would break sharply."

Hopes Blasted For Repeal Of Oleo Taxes As Solons Quit

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP) — Faint hopes that a bill to repeal taxes on oleomargarine might be acted on by the special session of Congress died today when Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) dropped plans to tack an oleo amendment to the anti-inflation measure.

The fight to repeal the half-century-old taxes on oleo was one of the bitterest of the last regular session. Those favoring repeal, many of them from the cotton states of the South, came closer to victory than ever before.

SOLON REPORTS

Russians 'Robbing' Czech Uranium Pits

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (U.P.) —Rep. Karl Stefan (R-Neb.), reported today that Russia is "robbing" Czechoslovakia uranium mines "in a desperate effort to develop an atomic bomb."

"This is being done with wanton disregard for the lives of the slave laborers being used in the mines," Stefan said.

His statement was contained in a report to the House Appropriations committee on his recent European tour.

Stefan attributed his information to "well informed sources" contacted during his tour of Germany, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Western Europe. The uranium mines which are being exploited, he said, are located in Jackymov, Czechoslovakia.

Stefan reported also that Russian military forces are using "live" ammunition and bombs in maneuvers in Austria "much to the discomfort of Austrian civilians."

Crop Prospects Remain Bright

Although hail damaged about 4,000 acres of Hockley county cotton, South Plains crop prospects Saturday were about the same as during the previous week, according to K. N. Clapp, area representative of Anderson, Clayton & Co., Houston cotton merchants.

He said, however, that the probability of serious and widespread hail losses now can be discounted as one of the major cotton crop hazards. The fall reported in Hockley county, he said, was unusually late. July 15 usually is considered the end of the "hail season."

Weather Still Hazard

Before that date, he said, hail has to be considered one of the serious hazards of the cotton farmers. Falls after that time are rare and are confined to small areas. But, he cautioned, damaging hail storms have occurred in September.

Clapp's forecast of a record 1,102-000-bale crop in the South Plains area this year, as made a week ago, remained unchanged.

Conditions in most of the 18 counties, he said, range from "good" to "excellent." The biggest boost crop prospects could receive in the near future, he added, would be a general rain about the middle of August. But, even without that, he said, prospects point to the biggest yield in history, and well in excess of the record 959,000 bale crop of 1937.

Russian Woman

teacher was going to tell the House Un-American Activities committee, of which he is acting chairman, all about Russian aggression.

FBI Claimed Investigating

Mundt said she was being held in the New York consulate against her will and the FBI was investigating to see if there was a kidnapping.

However, Rep. Hebert (D-La), a member of the committee said in New York when told of Mundt's statement: "I never heard of the woman. I never knew she was wanted for questioning."

The FBI had no comment in New York or Washington.

Mundt said the State department had been asked whether in this country we can have what appears to be a branch of the NKVD (Soviet secret police) picking someone up at a private American home, incarcerate them in the Soviet consulate, put them in seclusion and keep them under virtual house arrest."

Police Notified

Asked if Mrs. Kosenkina would be permitted to talk to the FBI, Lomakin said:

"First of all, she must take a rest." He said he thought she might talk to the FBI later.

The strange and conflicting stories about Mrs. Kosenkina started at 2 p.m. when local police said they received a call from Reed farm, saying the woman had been forcibly taken away in a car by an unidentified man.

About five minutes later, according to Clarkstown Police Lt. Ernest Wiebecke, a second call was received.

Alarm Canceled

The caller said a station wagon carrying a USSR diplomatic license plate had driven up to the farm. Three men in the car, the caller said, had demanded to see Mrs. Kosenkina.

The station wagon left the 200-acre estate after the men were informed that the schoolteacher had just been taken away in a car.

Shortly afterward, Clarkstown police said, Reed farm officials said they no longer believed that the woman had been forcibly taken, and a police alarm for the "get-away car" was canceled.

Countess Tolstov said she was standing near Mrs. Kosenkina today when the Soviet officials arrived at Reed farm.

"She turned white," the countess said.

Then Mrs. Kosenkina said, according to Countess Tolstov, "never mind. They have found me. I will be shot. I'd better go of my own accord. If they shoot me, maybe it is the best way out. I have no other way."

Police Front In City Is Quiet

It was unusually quiet on the police front last night, that is, it was until a firecracker exploded in the 2400 Block of Twentieth street. Things began popping after that.

When the commotion ended after the firecracker incident, two men had been charged with fighting.

Investigating city officers said the two men charged with fighting were neighbors, and that the disagreement started when a firecracker was tossed from the yard of one over a fence into the yard of the other. The officers said when they arrived a considerable crowd had gathered around the combatants, and many of the spectators were arguing back and forth and openly taking the part of one or the other battling men.

Theft Is Reported

Theft of a coin purse containing $33 in cash and a diamond ring valued at $75 was reported Saturday to city police by Opal L. Foster of 1514 Thirteenth street. The purse and its contents were believed to have been taken from the house on Tuesday, reports showed.

Police said they fined D. C. Rogers, 20, of Post a total of $100 on charges that he left the scene of two accidents without leaving information as required by law, and a charge that he directed abusive language at a public official here.

Five women were arrested and fined $25 each for vagrancy by prostitution, police said.

J. O. Day, jr., of three and a half miles south of Petersburg informed the sheriff's department that a battery had been stolen from his irrigation well He valued it at $15.

A starter and battery earlier had been reported stolen from the well of Kenneth Williams of route 1 Idalou.

This condition would require the removal of existing buildings.

The whole proposition involves a maze of technicalities, including the question of whether, and how many, restrictions the government might place on the use of the buildings, if they should be turned over to the city. Air force officials have said they don't have the money to turn the land back to the city in its original condition.

Members of the committee said they will present whatever information they obtain to the city commission as a whole as soon as practical after their return. They expect to return the latter part of this week.

Sleeping Sickness Epidemic Threatens To Sweep Japan

TOKYO, Aug. 8 (Sunday) (INS) —Japan's encephalitis-B (sleeping sickness) epidemic threatened today to assume nationwide proportions as a new case was reported in Moji on the western tip of Honshu, the central Japanese island.

The outbreak of the sickness, which Gen. Douglas MacArthur's public health and welfare section has termed a "small epidemic," has been concentrated in the Tokyo area.

Tokyo has had 254 cases, resulting in 39 deaths, and five nearby prefectures (provinces) have reported 38 patients and eight fatalities.

No cases have broken out among Allied occupation personnel.

Wainwright Denies Statement Absolving Tojo Of War Crime

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 7 (AP)—General Jonathan M. Wainwright today denied he had ever made a statement absolving Premier Hideki Tojo of the treatment he received from the Japanese while a prisoner of war.

In a press dispatch from Tokyo, George Francis Blewett, a Philadelphia attorney serving as American counsel for Tojo, said Wainwright asked him to tell Tojo "as one general to another" he did not hold him responsible.

Wainwright said:

"To the best of my recollection I have sent no messages to Tojo. In fact I hold him responsible for the sneak attack on us at Pearl Harbor and in the Philippines.

POW Treatment Cited

"He was then chief of the Imperial Japanese general staff and undoubtedly approved the plans that were made for those attacks. I do not really think he had much to do with my treatment as a prisoner of war as those were delegated, I understand, to the local commanders and differed very much in different places.

"Sometimes we were treated most brutally, in other places not so badly. I think the army commanders were the ones that dictated the treatment of prisoners of war."

Blewett said he had talked to Wainwright at the Republican convention in Philadelphia and Wainwright gave him the verbal message to deliver to Tojo when he returned to Japan.

Tojo is now awaiting judgment of the international war crime court.

Federal Lunch Aid Sought For Schools

HOUSTON, Aug. 7 (U.P.)—A campaign to get the Houston school board to accept federal aid for the school lunch program was underway today, but a board member indicated the group would not reverse its opposition to federal aid.

Mrs. Olon Rogers, president of the Houston Parent-Teachers association council, said she was asking the many mothers who called her complaining of the school lunch system to express their disapproval to board members.

Mrs. Rogers said she would attend Monday's board meeting hopeful that the board would drop its plans for an Oct. 4 campaign to raise donations to provide lunches for needy school children.

C. W. McPhail, chairman of the board's lunchroom committee, said protests would not change the attitude of the board, only one of whose members favors the federal aid program.

J. Hall Sheppard, county school superintendent, said the 18 county schools participating in the federal aid program charged 20 to 25 cents for a hot lunch while Houston schools charge from 30 to 47½ cents, depending on the school. He added that county schools serve superior food to Houston schools and that he received few complaints about the quantity.

New Republic Of Korea To Be Born Week From Today

SEOUL, Korea, Sunday, Aug. 8 (AP)—The American sponsored republic of Korea, with a hopeful name that ignores the threats and rival pretensions of the Russian-occupied north, is to be born in South Korea one week from today.

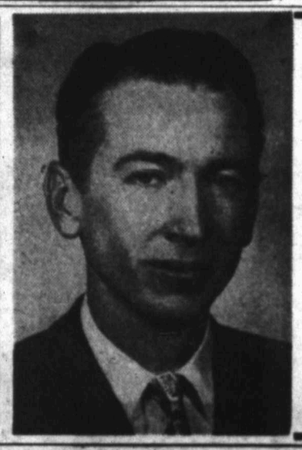

Communist violence may mark the occasion.

The new republic is to take from the American hands that intangible thing called sovereignty over half of the territory and two-thirds of the population of this sharply divided country.

It starts life with an unhealthy economy and a shaky defense: It expects Uncle Sam's help in bolstering both.

The date is the third anniversary of the liberation from Japan, whereupon the United States and Russia arbitrarily divided the country for occupation purposes along the 38th parallel of north latitude. That supposedly temporary division has hardened with the years.

Throughout the occupation, Russia has refused to join in any unification plan that would not have the effect of assuring a Communist regime for all Korea.

If Devil Does Exist, He Isn't Talking

Status Of Hell's Boss Man Is Debated On Radio Program

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 7 (U.P.)—Three ministers, a divinity student and a doubting hotel keeper gave the devil his due last night.

The hotel keeper, 64-year-old Alexander W. Andrews of Shadyside, Md. said that the devil is so repulsive he just couldn't exist. The four others agreed he was as repulsive as they come, but they said that, unfortunately, he does exist.

All quoted the Bible to prove their points during an hour-long radio debate on the subject.

Believers Quote Bible

Andrews prompted the discussion by offering to prove in 10 minutes that the devil and hell doesn't exist. He said in a newspaper advertisement last month that it is "high time to expose preachers who use hell and the devil to give little children nightmares."

The three clerics and a student promptly accepted the challenge. They were the Rev. Robert C. Smoot of Baltimore, a Presbyterian; the Rev. James I. Smiley of Annapolis, an Episcopalian; Ben. H. Atkinson of Sunbury, Pa., a Church of Christ evangelist and Jerry Simpson, a young divinity student at Moravian college in Bethlehem, Pa.

The four devil-believers spoke first. As Andrews sat with his head in his arms and sighed audibly, they quoted verse after verse of the Bible in which references to the devil and hell were made.

Devil's Help Not Needed

Smiley told the radio audience that, on the basis of these verses, he and his colleagues believe "hell is a reality which is doomed to complete extinction on Judgment day."

After the clerics had concluded, Andrews took over the arguments. He said that to admit of the existence of a hell or a devil was to admit that God's power is limited.

"God has all the power he needs to punish wrong-doing," he said. "He needs no help from a devil or a place of eternal torture."

He said that when the Bible referred to devils, it only meant the evil in man himself. He said that "men are the only devils to be found."

Terry Discovery Well Flows 116 Barrels Oil

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 1. E. M. Hinson, northeast Terry county wildcat discovery from the Cisco lime section of the Pennsylvanian flowed a total of 116 barrels of clean oil in 14 hours, from pay at 9405-55 feet, natural, and was still flowing to clean out and test further.

This project is eight miles southeast of Meadow, 10 miles northeast of Brownfield, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 91, block 4-X, psl survey.

During the first 12 hours of the 14 hours of flowing the well was on a one-half inch tubing choke. The opening during the last two hours of that period was a three-eighth inch choke.

No water showed. Tubing pressure was 100 pounds and casing pressure was 325 pounds. The flow during the 14 hours was at the average rate of 8.28 barrels per hour, or 208.72 barrels of oil per day.

The discovery is expected to yield larger amounts of oil when it is fully cleaned of drilling mud on and possibly in the producing formation.

Warning Of Possible Acute Shortage Of Milk Sounded

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (INS) — A warning of a possible acute shortage of milk this fall and winter was issued today by the director of the Illinois Agricultural association.

The director, J. P. Mason, blamed the possible decline on the fall and winter seasonal slump in milk production. He added:

"The condition will be nationwide, and the production goal of 120 billion pounds of milk will not be met. It is expected the total production will not exceed 112 billion pounds."

He said that the prices paid producers have risen more slowly than the cost of producing milk, thus accounting for the decline of production in the face of the highest retail prices in history.

Weather Man Becomes Popular Throughout Kansas These Days

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 7 (U.P.) — There wasn't a sign of hot weather on the Kansas meteorological chart today.

S. D. Flora, the state weatherman, jokingly said "maybe I should ask for a raise now, I'd have popular support."

Kansans continued to revel in mild summer temperatures. A dozen degrees below August's usual levels, the mercury readings would do credit to a mountain resort.

In the last 24 hours the Kansas high was 81 degrees at Goodland, the low 60 at Hutchinson and Dodge City.

The weekend range was forecast to be from 62 to 84. Skies will be cloudy for the next 36 hours and a few light scattered showers may fall.

UN Secretary Urges Big Powers To Settle Quarrel Over Germany

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 7 (AP)—Trygve Lie appealed to the big powers today to end their quarrel over Germany.

The United Nations secretary general also called for urgent action to stop what he called a race among the great powers to develop and stockpile lethal bacteriological and chemical weapons.

German Issue Heads List

In his third annual report to the General Assembly, Lie placed the German problem at the top of a list of issues standing in the way of world peace.

"Nothing would contribute more to the effectiveness of the United Nations," he said, "than a settlement of this problem."

Lie ranged over the entire field of political, economic and social problems before the UN, painting a grim picture of strife and conflict between Russia and the western powers. He spared neither the United States nor the Soviet Union in his analysis of the UN's activities during the past year.

U. S. Criticised

He said the United States supported the Palestine partition plan but refused to use force to carry it out. Russia boycotted several UN bodies, including the Korean and Balkan commissions, he said.

"Both cases," he said "involve areas where the immediate interests of the two greatest powers have reacted sharply upon each other."

Lie made no specific recommendations on the German problem beyond urging the big powers to resume negotiations. He spoke of the future status of Germany as a whole and not merely of the Berlin crisis.

Lie expressed grave concern over failure of the UN to make any progress on such vital problems as atomic control, reduction of armaments and creation of an international police force.

He said the prolonged debate over atomic control has distracted attention from other weapons of mass destruction such as bacteriological and chemical weapons.

The national parks of Canada had their beginning in 1885 when 10 square miles around the hot mineral springs at Banff, Alberta, were reserved for public use.

Strike Postponement Gained By Officials

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 7 (AP) — State and federal officials intervened last night to successfully gain a second postponement in a strike called against the Kennecott Copper corporation in Utah, Nevada and New Mexico.

The last minute efforts halted a walkout by members of the International union of Mine, Mill And Smelter workers until at least Monday morning.

Strike Is Set Back

The strike earlier had been set back from Thursday morning until today at the request of the U. S. Mediation and Conciliation service. Apprehension over the tieup of copper production in a strike affecting more than 7,000 workers precipitated that action.

The latest postponement of "at least 48 hours" was announced by Daniel Edwards, commissioner for labor relations, Utah Industrial commission, and Donald G. Godman of the U. S. Federal Mediation And Conciliation service.

Edwards and Godman will meet with union and company representatives today. The dispute hinges around non-communist affidavits required by union leaders under the Taft-Hartley law.

4,293 Oil Wells Completed In Texas So Far This Year

AUSTIN, Aug. 7 (U.P.) — The number of oil well completions for the year in Texas rose this week to 4,293, the Railroad commission reported today.

The pace was far ahead of 1947 at this time, when 3,360 wells had been completed. For the past week, 164 new wells were brought in.

Seventeen gas wells were completed in the week, bringing the year's total to 390, compared to 349 last year at this time. The number of wells plugged also remained ahead of 1947, with 4,246 for 1948 and 3,768 last year.

The commission also reported that the total average daily oil allowable as of today is 2,618,688 barrels, some 6,000 barrels above the previous week.

More Than $3 Million In Counterfeit U. S. Money Seized For New Record During 1947

By ALLAN J. FUNCH
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—Secret service chief James J. Maloney reported today that a record high of more than $3,000,000 in counterfeit U. S. currency was seized during fiscal 1947.

He attributed the new high in seizures largely to counterfeiting of U. S. money abroad, especially in France.

Story Stranger Than Fiction

The chief's annual report to Treasury Secretary Snyder reads like a dime store mystery novel, with such additional standout chapters as:

1. The solution of a 15-year-old secret service riddle as to the 'lone wolf' forger who managed to pass more than 5,000 fake one-dollar bills in New York City since 1932.

2. The stranger-than-fiction results of the questioning of a California gas station proprietor as to whether he knew anything about some stolen U. S. savings bonds.

3. The Washington, D. C. bond thief and forger who was convicted by the weather.

12 Frenchmen Arrested

Maloney said 12 men arrested at Marseilles on forgery charges are awaiting French courts. Seized with the men and currency were the plates on which the forged money had been printed.

For 15 years the Secret Service had tried unsuccessfully to nab the 'lone wolf' forger of one-dollar bills in New York City. Hazy descriptions of the man and the technique he used in passing the bills convinced agents he was an elderly German of small means.

The long trail finally led to the $25-a-month apartment of Emerich Juettner, alias Edward Miller. A printing press and plates for the counterfeit bills was found. Juettner, under indictment, is awaiting trial.

When agents questioned Roy L. Bowman, gas station proprietor at Madera, Cal., regarding bonds stolen at Avondale, Colo., the previous year, they got the surprise of their lives.

Men Tell All

Bowman voluntarily confessed to the forgery of $2,600 in bonds given to him by a "Billy Williams," until then unknown to the Secret service.

When Williams was apprehended he thought his record was known to the agents and voluntarily confessed more than $50,000 worth of saving bonds thefts from safes in grammar schools, high schools and colleges from coast to coast.

Both men are awaiting trial under bonds of $25,000 each.

Francis M. O'Neill, of Washington, D. C., was the man convicted by the weather. At his trial for the theft of $1,250 in government bonds from a home, he produced seven witnesses who said he was playing football with them on Dec. 26, the afternoon of the theft.

A check with the weather bureau disclosed, however, more than four inches of snow fell the day before, and that at least two inches remained on the ground on the 26th. O'Neill drew a sentence of 16 months to four years.

The Colorado is the second longest river in the United States.

Houston Youths Charged In Theft Of Cars And Robbery

HOUSTON, Aug. 7 (U.P.) — The son of a former city fire chief and two 18-year-old youths were charged today with theft in connection with the stealing of two cars and robbery of a filling station.

Homer Lyles, jr., 21, son of former city Fire Chief Homer Lyles, was charged with theft of a car in Cypress, Tex., last Saturday. In a written statement, he admitted stealing the car and taking it to Beaumont and there stealing another car, which was recovered here yesterday.

Raymond Lloyd Ivey, 18, and Roy Virgil Hooper, 18, were charged with misdemeanor theft in a Houston filling station robbery last Thursday. Ivey is charged, also, with felony theft in connection with the Beaumont car.

The trio and another youth were being questioned about the theft of two other cars, one in North Dakota and one here, and the robbing of three local filling stations during the past three weeks

Strike On Gulf Is Threatened

HOUSTON, Aug. 7 (AP) — Threat of a longshoremen's strike in west Gulf coast ports within two weeks was made today by the International Longshoremen's Association, AFL.

R. A. Massey, secretary of the south Atlantic and Gulf coast district of the union, said all legal requirements have been disposed of so the longshoremen could call the strike August 22 if no contract has been signed with representatives of the Maritime associations in Houston, Galveston and Lake Charles.

The present contract expires August 21.

Massey's announcement following a meeting last night in Galveston between representatives of the Maritime associations and delegates from the longshoremen's locals in the district.

It was the first meeting held to negotiate a contract since the longshoremen gave notice in June that changes would be requested in the new contract.

Massey said the meeting "really didn't get started because the employers started trying to inject the hiring hall issue into the negotiations."

J. E. Davies, representing the States Marine Steamship corporation and chairman of the Maritime association's labor committee, said the union insisted on maintaining the hiring halls "and would not discuss anything unless we agreed to accept them."

Both men said the question of wages is not expected to hold up negotiations.

Traffic Cop Pounds Beat After Ticketing U.S. Court Justice

DENVER, Aug. 7. (U.P.) — The traffic cop who handed a ticket to U. S. Supreme Court Justice Wiley B. Rutledge was pounding a beat today.

Patrolman Paul Mayerle, who joined the force in 1946 and has been assigned to a squad car ever since, tagged Rutledge after the justice was involved in a collision on July 27.

Mayerle went on foot duty Aug. 1. Capt. Joseph Trinnier said the transfer was "routine."

Houston Post Backs Johnson For Senate

HOUSTON, Aug. 7 (AP) — The Houston Post, which supported Houstonian George Peddy in the first primary, has endorsed the candidacy of Rep. Lyndon Johnson for the U. S. Senate in the runoff.

On its editorial page Friday the Post said:

"... For our part, it is a matter of determining which of these two (Johnson or Coke Stevenson) is better equipped to represent the people in this high post. And a careful comparison of their qualifications for the office leads to the conclusion that it is Lyndon Johnson.

"His training and experience have been on the national scene. He has served ably and well as a congressman; he knows intimately the ins and outs of the federal government. He has a broader viewpoint of a lawmaker for the entire country, not merely for his home state—yet he has represented Texas with distinguished ability."

Reduction Of Freight Rates On Oranges Promised Growers

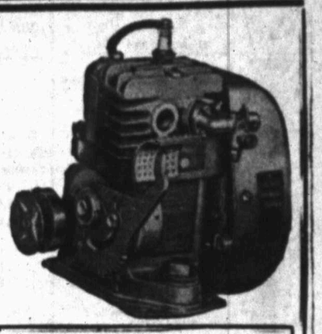

WESLACO, Aug. 7 (AP) — Reduction of freight rates on orange shipments has been promised Rio Grande valley growers.

C. L. Butler, traffic manager of the Missouri-Pacific railroad, yesterday said transportation lines have withdrawn their objections to lowering orange rates to match those of grapefruit.

J. S. Massey, traffic manager of the Texsun Citrus exchange, said the reduction will mean a drop of one to 28 cents per hundred pounds on rail freight costs for oranges shipped to states which have so-called "double standard" tariffs.

SOME SKILLED CONSTRUCTION WORKERS ARE GETTING THEIR PLANS FOR THE FUTURE INTO HIGH GEAR

HERE'S THE STORY
The high cost of living is putting a crimp into most everybody's hopes for the future. You can't save for that new house (or new anything) when it takes every penny to just get by. This is why many skilled construction workers are turning to overseas work to build a big enough stake to get out of the bind. Some figure to turn an 18-month hitch into a nice four-figure bank account.

NOT MANY OPENINGS
Middle-East, Inc. wants a limited number of responsible men for oil refinery and power house construction in Saudi Arabia, near the Persian Gulf. This company will pay top wages, monthly bonus, monthly vacation allowance and living expenses to those who can qualify.

BASIC QUALIFICATIONS
You must know your trade from the ground up. You must also be 25 to 50 years of age, have proof of U. S. citizenship and be able to pass a physical exam.

Certain Trades Needed Most PIPE WELDERS
PIPE FITTERS
CRANE OPERATORS
ELECTRICIANS
BOILERMAKERS
CEMENT FINISHERS
PLUMBERS
CARPENTERS
Welders must be certified by pipe test. All others must have plenty of industrial construction experience.

NO BED OF ROSES
This is not a travel for romance deal. It's an opportunity for far-sighted men. Good food and a fine clubhouse hardly make up for terrific heat and isolation. Think this over before inquiring

Get The Story First Hand
... from Mr. A. L. Anderson of Middle-East Inc. He will be in Lubbock Texas, August 5th through August 10th at the State Employment Service Office.

Inventor Makes Own Boats; Fits Lure To Meet Bass' Temperament

A. W. Penn Devises New Inboard Motor

By HART STILWELL
Special Staff Writer

Since I have little of that enviable talent known as mechanical aptitude, I lean heavily toward fishing companions who are good with their hands.

The things some of these people do are amazing. For instance, there is the case of A. W. (Grip) Penn, an employee of the Texas Insurance Commission in Austin, and at one time, way back around the beginning of the Twenties, a star football and baseball player at the University of Texas.

Grip makes his own boats and his own bass lures. He makes lures of plastic, and he sells them "personalized" lures.

"I like to fit my lure to the temperament of the particular bass I'm after," he says, which always baffles me because I can't tell one bass from another until after he's on the stringer, and the business of lures, personalized or otherwise, makes no difference then.

But what Grip has done that ought to interest a lot of Texans who fish is to devise a demountable inboard, with the result that he has one of the neatest fishing crafts I have yet had the pleasure of setting in.

It works like a charm. I'll tell you a little about it, then if you want to know more, you'll have to get in touch with the inventor.

Grip took a one and a half horsepower air-cooled inboard and rigged it with a metal plate on the bottom. Onto this motor base he welded a couple of rods, extending six inches or so beyond the base.

Then he fastened a couple of two by fours to the bottom of the boat, bevelling them so the motor would sit level. In one of the two by fours he bored two holes. In the other he cut two slots. So he takes his motor, which he carries in the trunk of his car the way you would an outboard, slides the rods on the port side into the two holes, drops the other rods into the slits, and fastens the motor in place.

The motor transmits its power to the drive shaft by means of a couple of wheels and a pulley band. And Grip has rigged up a clutch, operated by a lever back on the port side of the stern seat, which is his position in the boat. When he pulls the lever back, the motor is pulled to port by a rope run through pulleys. This tightens the pulley band and she's in gear. When he pushes the lever forward a spring on the starboard side of the motor pulls it that way, and the pulley band is loosened. It's out of gear.

HOMEMADE INVENTION WORKS—A. W. (Grip) Penn puttered around with his own inventions and came up with this useful inboard-outboard motor. Hart Stilwell tells about in the accompanying article.

And in between gears there are varying degrees of tightening the pulley band, with the result that Grip can keep the boat barely moving if he wants to slow down and work out a likely looking spot.

Grip has a rudder attached to the stern of his boat, and he operates this with a foot-lever. The result is that he has his hands entirely free for fishing as the boat moves slowly along.

You can, of course, rig an outboard-powered boat with a stering apparatus to be operated by foot. A kind friend of mine has just installed such a system in the little cartop boat in which I fish. It's something every angler who casts from a power-driven boat ought to have.

Five Redbirds Get 1949 Salary Raises Already

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 7 (INS)—Five members of the St. Louis Cardinals have been awarded new contracts calling for substantial wage boosts in recognition of stellar performances during the 1948 season.

It was learned today that the new contracts were awarded by Cardinal president Bob Hannegan to the following players:

Outfielder Stan (The Man) Musial, who has been pacing the National League in hitting this season; lefthand pitcher Harry (The Cat) Brecheen; outfielder Enos Slaughter; relief pitcher Ted Wilks, and first baseman Nippy Jones.

Hannegan was unavailable for comment. He is enroute to St. Louis from the east where he witnessed most of the games played by his club. However, it was learned that the new contracts calls for raises ranging from $1,000 to $3,000.

Under current rules bonuses to players are prohibited, but the ruling does not extend to cover the awarding of new contracts.

The Boston Braves did the same thing for pitcher Johnny Sain. After Sain pitched magnificently in the recent All-Star game in St. Louis, Boston officials discarded his old contract and gave him a new one which called for a big boost in pay.

Clayton CHASSIS DYNAMOMETER VEHICLE ANALYZER
Vehicles Tested Under Load Give Peak Performance On the Road

A New and Improved Service
To Insure Peak Road Performance

HOW WE DO IT

The rear wheels of your car rest on the traction rolls, which act as a treadmill. As your engine transmits horsepower to the rolls, it is absorbed and measured. The road load set up on the rolls by the operator is changed at will to duplicate every possible road driving condition, and your car's reaction to these road driving demands determines the adjustments necessary to insure peak performance.

Now you can be sure of peak performance from your car. Our Clayton Vehicle Analyzer allows us to check, tune and adjust both engine and driving mechanism under every road driving condition without leaving our service floor. Trouble shooting is done scientifically . . . quickly . . . accurately, to determine just where the trouble exists, and at the exact load point. The result is faster service, fewer parts, lower cost and greater satisfaction. Drive in tomorrow.

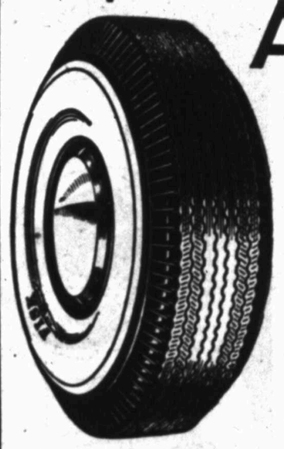

Regardless of the make or model of your car the Clayton Vehicle Analyzer will properly diagnose its trouble . . . for our correction

Floyd Walker Racks Up .404 To Pace Hub Batting; Hixson Gains

Hubs Lead In Team Fielding With .950

Floyd Walker's booming bat took over leadership among the Lubbock Hubbers in the race for batting honors, the rookie catcher pounding the ball at a .404 pace for the period covered by official averages ending August 3.

Walker raised his average from .397 to remain ahead of Virgil Richardson, who had a mark of .396, an increase from .392 the week previous. However, Richardson has played in 44 more games than Walker and leads the regulars on the Hubber squad.

Gene Hixson, the classy centerfielder, continued his phenomenal point rise, climbing from .315 to .325 for 57 games. Five days after joining the Hubbers, Hixson was batting only .182, so that he has made the greatest gain.

Pitching Is Weak

Manager Jackie Sullivan made a sharp rise, more than any other player, in bringing his average up from .368 to an even .380. He and Richardson have the same number of total bases, 269.

Among the mound staff regulars, Roy Larue had the best mark, three wins against no defeats, although he has not been with the club long. Royce Mills, the veteran relief hurler, actually had the best record on nine victories and only three defeats. Strung out behind were Lefty Fred Pollock, four and three; Cotton Russell, nine and seven; Bob Clodfelter, ten and eight; Chris Haskins, eight and eight; and Red Ramsey, six and six.

Hubbers Top Fielders

In team batting, the Hubbers remained in second place with an average of .315, the same as a week before, and were tied with Pampa. Amarillo held onto first place with a team mark of .318, which was no change.

In team fielding, the Hubbers remained in first place with a .950 mark, the same as the preceding week. Albuquerque and Pampa were tied for second on .949 and Abilene was fourth with .947.

The Hubbers continued to lead the loop in double plays, followed by Albuquerque, and had committed only one error over the lowest number.

Crues Holds Leadership

Bob Crues of Amarillo continued his stranglehold on almost all offensive departments. He was tops in runs with 147, in hits with 171, in total bases with 371, in home runs with 54, in being hit by pitchers, six times, and in runs batted in, 197.

His record of 197 runs batted in smashed the existing mark set by Bill Serena of Lubbock in 1947 and his home run total leaves him only three short of tying Serena's record.

Doug Lewis of Amarillo had the most doubles, 44; Len Attyd of Albuquerque had the most triples, 15; Rocky Stone of Abilene had the most base thefts, 33; Verdun Gilchrist of Borger had the most walks, 133; and Eddie Skrabacz of Lamesa had the most strikeouts, 97.

SLAMMIN SAM SHOOTS SIX UNDER PAR

Sammy Snead Burns Up Greens To Lead Tam O'Shanter Tourney

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (INS) — Sam Snead called on his traditionally artless putter today and burned up the greens for a vivid 66 and a three-stroke lead halfway through George May's winner-take - all golfing special.

The guileless West Virginian, whose putting has been compared to that of a temporarily-blinded eight-year-old caddy, turned white hot in the gloaming today and on the back nine downed putts of four, 13, 15, 16 and 20 feet.

That was definitely enough to put him six strokes up on par and three swings ahead of Herman Barron and Cary Middlecoff, who, finishing earlier with a pair of 69's, had the best days among 11 of Snead's cronies competing for ten grand and the so-called world championship at Tam O'Shanter.

Such well-disciplined customers as Bobby Locke and Jimmy Demaret became afflicted with the horrors today and staked themselves to a pair of two-over-par 74's, enough to read them right out of contention in this extravaganza which ends with another 18-hole medal play stretch tomorrow.

Locke achieved a temporary nadir of execution when he treated himself to a bloated 7 on the par-4 seventh, but as it turned out he failed to receive the booby prize. That award went instead to Skip Alexander, the stringy Lexington, N. C., fellow who took a 5 on the par-4 18th for the final score of 77, five over par.

Danny Elliott Upsets Lundquist To Win Junior Snipe Tourney

CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 7. (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Danny Elliott of Long Beach, Calif., upset defending champion Dave Lundquist of Lakewood, N. Y., to win the National Junior Snipe championship here today.

Jimmy Gussack, Corpus Christi, finished second.

Illness Is Cause Of Postponement

Mills, Lesnevich Title Battle Runs Into Snag

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. (AP)—The Tournament of Champions' tentative double-header championship fight card was cut in half today when light heavyweight king Freddie Mills asked for a postponement of his title fight because of illness.

Mills had agreed to meet ex-champion Gus Lesnevich of Cliffside, N. J., in a return 15-rounder on the same program matching middleweight champ Tony Zale and Marcel Cerdan of France.

The twin title bill was to be staged at Brooklyn's Ebbets field, Sept. 23, 24 or 25.

But today Mills, who lifted Lesnevich's crown in London July 26, begged out of the return. Ted Broadribb, manager of the champion, said Mills has been suffering from severe headaches since that fight and has been unable to train.

The news came as a stunning blow to the young promotional group. Promoter Andy Niederreiter and his backers had hoped to make a sizeable dent in Mike Jacobs' fistic empire with this spectacular although costly, prestige show.

The Mills-Lesnevich fight alone would have cost the T. of C. $150,000 as the champion had been guaranteed $80,000 and Lesnevich $70,000.

Colts Play Dons In Grid Opener

SUN VALLEY, Idaho, Aug. 7 (INS)—The Baltimore Colts left their Sun Valley training grounds today for Portland to meet the Los Angeles Dons tomorrow night in a preview of the All-America conference professional football season.

The exhibition game will raise the curtain on the season for both teams.

Coach Cecil Isbell, mentor of the 42-man squad, said injuries will keep eight men at Sun Valley over the week-end. The injured list includes two regulars, Billy Hildebrand, famed Indiana All-American halfback, and Barry French, former Purdue guard.

Both Hildebrand and French wer sparkplugs of the Colts last year. Isbell said their absence will be felt seriously when the colts meet Jimmy Phelan's Dons.

Ladies Publinx Club To Hold Second Meeting On Wednesday

The newly-formed Ladies Publinx club, a social and golfing organization for women members of the Meadowbrook Publinx Golf club, will hold its second meeting Wednesday at the golf club.

A group of 17 women met last Wednesday and adopted a name for the organization, as well as making plans for future entertainment. The Wednesday meeting will follow a day of golf on the local public links course.

All interested women in the area, as well as Lubbock, are invited to attend and join.

CHAMPION IS SUED

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (U.P.)—Heavyweight champion Joe Louis' lawyers were preparing an answer today to a preacher's charge that he stole the love of the minister's wife. Louis smilingly accepted service of Rev. Matthew Faulker's suit at the Tam O'Shanter golf course yesterday. Lubbock, Texas, Sunday, August 8, 1948

V . . . FOR VIRGIL—He hasn't always spelled victory, but he's had a lot to do with the majority of Hubber wins, playing a steady first base and hitting over .400 most of the time. He is shown at left above in a typical pose at first base and in the center with his pretty wife and daughter, Sandra, in their home. At the right, Richardson looks at the camera with the same menacing eyes opposing pitchers see, as he swings his big bat. (Staff Photos by Earl Scudday).

Hubbers Smash Gold Sox, 3 To 1

Miller Gives Up Only Four Hits

AMARILLO, Aug. 7 (Special)—Roland Miller, making his debut on the mound for the Lubbock Hubbers, completely tamed the rugged Amarillo Gold Sox here tonight, setting them down on four hits to lead the way to a 3-1 victory.

Miller was almost sensational in his first start, making only one mistake. That was in the third inning, when he pitched a home run ball to Jerry Folkman. The blow tied up the game momentarily, but the Hubbers went on to win.

Ray Pannemann, making his second start on the mound for the Gold Sox, didn't turn in a bad game, but he had trouble in the third and fifth, the two innings accounting for all the Hubber runs. He and Miller matched pitch for pitch most of the game, with both teams turning in sparkling field work.

The Hubbers tallied first, sending one run over in the third. Jackie Wilcox beat out a bunt for the first of two hits he was to get and then stole second. Gene Hixson grounded out, moving Wilcox to third and he scored easily on Manager Jackie Sullivan's clean single.

Folkman took care of that run in the Amarillo half of the inning when, with two out, he hit for the circuit, but that was the last time Amarillo was to dent the rubber.

The winning Hubber runs came in the fifth, Wilcox again starting things off with a single to rightfield. Hixson attempted to bunt, but Wilcox was thrown out at second on a close play. Hixson promptly thieved second and when Folkman fumbled the ball, the antelope-footed Hixson went to third. He scored easily on a long fly to leftfield by Sullivan, Paul Halter making a sensational catch on the wall.

Hixson's run handed the Hubbers a lead and they quickly added another. Amarillo showed tremendous respect for Virgil Richardson, giving him an intentional walk, the third time during the evening that he strolled. But Floyd Walker came through in the clutch, driving out a long double to score Richardson.

Amarillo threatened in the eighth, just before the rains came, but Miller forced Buck Fausett to ground into a double play with the bases loaded, the second death ending the contest.

Sanders In Top Spot In Industrial Loop

The race for the championship of the City Softball league tightened up last week, with two nines—Baptists and the Lubbock Barber college—challenging the Methodists for the lead post.

The Methodists retained a slender percentage margin, on 17 victories and five defeats, but the Baptists are only a half-game behind with a 17 won, six lost mark.

In the Industrial Softball loop Sanders Motors and Economy Mills are locked in a torrid duel for the top position, with the Motormen holding a one-half game lead.

Villanova enjoyed its last unbeaten football season in 1937. Three members of that team now are on the Wildcat coaching staff.

Between The Lines. . .

By Joe Kelly

Funny thing happened to us the other night; we got into a heated argument. It really wasn't so funny. An argument is merely exercise for the jaw and overheats your blood stream and nervous system. It's wasted effort and not much ever is accomplished, since both sides generally have their mind firmly made up before the fracas starts. And in the end, you feel a little foolish, but our Irish dander was up and when it gets up, only a good argument can let the steam off.

But when we had cooled off, we realized that the person with whom we had been arguing had paid a man a tremendous compliment and we couldn't resist breaking into print with the praise. It's nothing that hasn't been known all year, but, in its indirect way, it spotlights the dependence of a team of nine men on one individual. That's Virgil Richardson, the tall, quiet, efficient first baseman for the Hubbers. Without his presence on the team, we don't know where the Hubbers would be now, but we have a good idea.

The person with whom we were arguing coming back from a ball game had been pretty bitter because Richardson had gone hitless in five trips. He flatly stated that Richardson's failure to hit had been the biggest reason why the Hubbers had lost a tight ball game, that men had been left stranded through his failure to hit. All of which was true. Rich, in one of his worst slumps of the season, had driven in only one run and that was via a long fly. A couple of his usual timely hits might have ridden in enough runs to win that particular game.

But the implication that Richardson was a bum because he hadn't delivered in that one particular game angered us. After all, there were seven other regular players and a pitcher in the lineup and they also failed to come through, so why pin the blame on one man. Surely, one man alone can't do everything and isn't supposed to, even in the West Texas-New Mexico League. Sure, the Yanks have DiMaggio, the Red Sox have Williams, the Indians have Feller and so on, but they have other guys who are doing something more than standing around.

All of which makes Richardson stand even higher in our estimation as the most valuable player on the Hubber roster and, for that matter, in the league. He and Manager Jackie Sullivan, who runs Rich almost even as the most valuable player, have been carrying the greater portion of the load all season. They bat one-two and their heavy weapons have won more than one game for the Lubbock nine. As of July 27 averages, they had driven in 249 of the 793 Hubber runs, almost a third of all the Hubber markers. And of this number, Richardson had driven in 149.

The big initial sacker had gotten 145 hits in 97 games and made them good for 264 total bases. This total included 34 doubles, which placed him third in that department in the league. It also included five triples, which placed him 14th in the loop. And there was the matter of 25 home runs, which placed him third in that category. His runs batted in total left him second only to Bob Crues of Amarillo, who had a mere 53 home runs at that time. Only nine men in the league, at that time, had driven in 100 or more runs. And Richardson has scored 100 runs with only 13 other men having that many, or more.

He hasn't been flawless in the field. If he had been, it would have been a miracle. But his work at first base hasn't left much to be desired in that department. He has saved players errors by his scoops of bad throws and his long reach. He has taken part in the majority of the double plays turned in by the Hubbers, a department that has put them on top in the league. He is a quiet, steadying influence to the younger men; he is a gentleman, both on the field and in private life. Colorful, no, but efficient, yes.

There's no question that Floyd Walker, Don Moore, Chick Fowler, Charley Scarborough, Frank McAlexander—all the Hubbers—have had their periods of invaluable hitting. They wouldn't be in fourth place solely because of two men, that's for sure. At the same time, it has been the consistency of Richardson and Sullivan that has made the tremendous difference. The record shows that Richardson has an edge. Part of it is due to his hitting fourth in the batting order, of course, but he's there because he is dependable. In a pinch, opposing pitchers would rather see any other Hubber than Sullivan or Richardson come to bat.

Everyone likes the big first baseman, including fans, players and umpires, which is tribute in itself. But we are singling him out this time because, after that game in which he went hitless, he sat dejected in the dressing room, vilifying himself. He wants no special attention or publicity at any time. He's that way. He's a team player. He'd rather win than get five for five. He'd rather everyone else on the team got credit for something. He's the first to admit he made an error, the first to give credit to someone else. Popular? You bet—and for our money he can keep on playing first base for the Hubbers until he needs crutches.

Yankees Blank Indians, 5 To 0

CLEVELAND, Aug. 7 (AP)—The New York Yankees climbed within two percentage points of the American League's front-running Cleveland Indians today as Vic Raschi pitched the Yanks to 5-0 four-hit triumph over the Indians before a crowd of 43,439 paid customers.

Only Larry Doby and Dale Mitchell, who collected two singles apiece, were able to solve the star righthander's pitching. Raschi fanned seven, including catcher Jim Hegan three times, in posting his 14th victory of the year and his fifth shutout.

Jolting Joe DiMaggio drove home three runs on a pair of doubles and also stole home on the front end of a double steal to climax a three-run third-inning rally.

Bob Lemon, seeking his 15th victory of the year, started for Cleveland and was tagged with his tenth loss.

Lamesa High School Football Ducats Go On Sale Monday

LAMESA, Aug. 7—Season tickets for the Lamesa High School football team's five home games of 1948 will go on sale here Monday at the school tax office, Tax Officer Derwood Peterson has announced.

The tickets for the Golden Tornadoes' home schedule will sell for $6, an average cost of $1.20 per game, Peterson said.

The Tornadoes will play a 10-game schedule this Fall, opening their campaign at Seminole on Sept. 3 and winding up the season with Midland here on Nov. 19.

CLOVIS, Aug. 7. (Spl)—A six-run outburst in the fifth inning tonight handed Al Kavanaugh his 12th victory of the season and the Clovis Pioneers a 6-1 victory over the Lamesa Loboes.

Lamesa took a one-run lead in the fourth on singles by Palmer, Skidgel and Skrabacz, but lost the lead and the game in the fifth, when Clovis put together three walks, a fielder's choice, two sacrifices, an error, a single and a double.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Aug. 7 (INS)—Athletic officials at the University of Indiana said today the new super de luxe press box in memorial stadium probably would be finished in time for I. U.'s first home game against Iowa, Oct. 2.

Sunbeamers Meet Lysaght In ASA Play

The Thomas-Sunbeamers softball team, recent winners of the Texas Softball League and the area A. S. A. softball tournament, will leave Thursday for Wichita Falls and the Texas A. S. A. tournament.

Club Manager J. C. Bumpass said yesterday that the tournament, which is the biggest event in softball circles in the state, had attracted the usual large field. Lubbock is given a good chance of springing a surprise and coming back with the title.

Opening Game Announced

The Thomas-Sunbeamers will meet Lysaght Manufacturing company in the opening game for the local nine on Thursday. Bumpass said yesterday that they had not yet been informed at what time they would play their first round game.

The opposition team backs up the fine pitching of Lefty Tolar, one of the greatest softball pitchers in the state, with a hard hitting attack. They have been in the tournament for several years and have always been at or near the top.

Jackie Neel undoubtedly will be given the opening game pitching chores and his teammates feel that there isn't a better softball chucker in the state. They will back him up with a fine fielding, good hitting organization.

Win Practice Games

Friday night the local team went to Plainview for a pair of exhibition games with a Plainview aggregation. The Thomas-Sunbeamers won with ease, but received enough competition to give them a needed workout before leaving for Wichita Falls.

A complete account of all Thomas-Sunbeamer games will be carried in the Avalanche-Journal so long as the local nine remains in the running.

Bottarini Sold To Pampa; Marvin Peel Traded To Pioneers

CLOVIS, Aug. 7. (Spl)—In one of the biggest trades of the season, Manager John Bottarini of the Clovis Pioneers today was sold to Pampa for an undisclosed sum of money and the Oilers traded Rookie Catcher Marvin Peel to Clovis.

Bottarini will join the Oilers in Amarillo tomorrow, where they open a three-game series, with Peel joining Clovis in time for the Abilene invasion.

Chuck Novotney, veteran first baseman, immediately was named manager of the Pioneers by Clovis Baseball club officials.

All-Tourney Team

Six Lubbock players were named to the Area 1 all-tournament team selected by sports writers and tournament officials, with four Wichita Falls performers receiving recognition. Three El Paso boys and two Lamesa standouts complete the squad.

The all-tournament team:

City Wide Title At Stake Today

Championships in the men's open division of the annual City-Wide tennis tournament will be determined at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the new clay courts of the Storey Tennis club, two miles north of the courthouse on the Plainview highway, with A. J. (Jake) Broyles of Lamesa and Texas Tech battling Techsan Glenn Ivy for the singles crown.

Broyles entered the final tussle with early bracket wins over Ed Scudday and Hubert Burgess, jr., while Ivy notched wins over Joe Wheatley and David Hester. Both Broyles and Ivy were top members of the Tech tennis team this spring.

The men's open doubles title will be decided when Broyles and Wheatley tangle with Ivy and Hubert Burgess, sr. Broyles and Wheatley defeated the defending champions in the division in the first round, and will be heavy favorites to win the '48 crown.

Bleacher seats have been set up at the courts, tourney officials have announced, and the public is urged to attend the feature matches. No admission will be charged for the program.

Finals in the novice divisions of the tourney will be unreeled later this week.

LEVINES NOSES LORENZO

In a courtesy softball tilt Friday night at Lorenzo, the Levine aggregation nosed past the Lorenzo club, 16-14 in a game in which hits were sprayed to all corners of the lot, and in which both starting hurlers stayed on the mound to take the punishment. Levine's batteries were Vance and Gregory; Lorenzo batteries were Wilber and Smith.

TICKET HOLDERS WARNED

DALLAS, Aug. 7 (UP)—Cotton Bowl bondholders were warned today that ticket option privileges for the 1948 football season expire Aug. 15. Tickets of bondholders who fail to exercise their option will be returned to participating universities for public sale.

Brilliant three-hit hurling by Lefty Jackie Martyn and slender Hulen Fowler gave the Lubbock American Legion nine an 8-2 victory over Wichita Falls in the championship nightcap tilt of the Area 1 tournament Saturday night at Rosenthal field, after the Wichita Falls diamond team had copped the opening setto, 10-2.

The triumph in the final game gave the Lubbock boys the Area 1 crown and the right to represent all of West Texas in the state Legion junior baseball tourney which opens Thursday at Paris. The Hub city crew will compete against the three other area winners in the Paris meet for the Texas title and a chance to enter the regional playoffs leading to a national championship.

Three Tallies In First

The Lubbock representatives wasted little time in taking the lead in the erucial final tussle, punching across three tallies in the top of the first inning. The first three Lubbock batters—Jesse Fullerton, Bill Tatum and Charles Galey—drew walks, then Dorrance Guy slammed a long fly into right field that scored Fullerton. Bobby Brown, flashy shortstop, batted in the third run with a single after Tatum stole home.

Guy's double into right field in the fourth stanza, following bases on balls to Tatum and Galey, tallied another Lubbock run.

The Lubbock nine staged a four-run offensive in the top of the seventh frame to clinch the victory. Guy led off with a single, Brown's sacrifice bunt was booted by the Wichita infield and Jack Cook pushed across a run with a bingle. Fowler struck out, but Jimmy Richards connected for a single. Martyn reached first on a fielder's choice, Fullerton walked and Tatum and Galey flied out to end the attack.

Martyn, Fowler Star

Wichita Falls was able to score only in the third inning, when they capitalized on three walks and a single off Martyn to tally twice.

Martyn and Fowler were the stars of the tussle, however, Martyn hurled three-hit ball for the first three and one-third innings, striking out seven Wichita batters. Fowler, young right-hand ace of the mound staff, took over in the fourth and hurled no-hit ball for the remainder of the tilt.

The Wichita Falls boys had their big game of the area tourney in the opening setto of the twin bill. The visitors shelled Lubbock starter Jack McCabe for three hits and seven runs in two and one-third innings, then added three more runs off reliefer Jim Wilson.

Americans Disqualified In 400-Meter Relay Event

Yanks Win Track Titles

LONDON, Aug. 7 (AP)—America's Olympic valiants wrapped up unofficial team championships in two major sections of the games today—track and swimming—but their victory celebration was dulled by an unhappy incident in the 400 meter relay.

The stout American dash team, wound up by Mel Patton of Southern California, won the race with some ten yards to spare only to have the triumph nullified by disqualification.

Medals Go To British

So the gold medals in the race went to the British, who finished in :41.3 to beat out Italy and Hungary in that order.

Dean Cromwell, veteran U. S. track coach, immediately announced: "I have protested."

"I do not think I went over the line," said Ewell, who went over later to explain the case to Avery Brundage, president of the U. S. Olympic committee and a member of the board of appeal.

The American 1,600 meter relay team, composed of Art Harnden, of Texas A. and M., Cliff Bourland, Roy Cochran and Mal Whitfield, captured that event to give the United States a total of ten championships.

The Americans amassed a staggering total of 450½ points—189 in track and field alone—more than 200 better than the closest challenger.

Sweden followed with 239½. Then came France with 123 and Hungary with 117—the only countries able to crack the century figure.

The two relays and the marathon run were the championships decided on their eighth day of competition before 84,000.

The U. S. 1,500 meter quartet ran the distance, just ten yards short of a mile, in 3:10.4 to finish 50 yards ahead of France, with Sweden trailing in third.

Argentine Wins Marathon

The marathon—a grind of 26 miles, 385 yards — was won by Delfo Cabrera, a tireless Argentine, in two hours, 35 minutes, 7.6 seconds. Tom Richards of Britain rallied to overtake E. Gailly of Belgium for second place.

At the nearby Wembley pool the American water magicians clicked off three more championships and left two olympic records straggling.

These conquests—by Philadelphia's Joe Verdeur in the 200 meter breast stroke, Ann Curtis of San Francisco in the 400 meter free style and Jimmy McLane of Akron, Ohio, in the 1,500 meter free style—gave American splashers a sweep of the men's six swimming and two diving titles and the women enough points to take the team crown. The girls won two diving and two swimming events.

Unofficial team totals gave the men 122 points to 21 for runnerup Hungary and the women 68 compared with 37 for the crack Danish swimming team.

Next week when rowing, yachting, boxing and other specialties of the 17-sport program take the limelight.

Verdeur, who has been cracking the Olympic record on almost every outing, won the 200 meter breast stroke in 2:39.3 to beat the record of 2:40 he had hung up in a preliminary heat.

Miss Curtis also broke the Olympic record in outdistancing Denmark's favored Karen Margrethe Harup in the women's 400 meter free style. Her time of 5:17.6 cut deeply into the mark of 5:25.7 Miss Marup had registered yesterday.

To McLane, 17-year-old Andover Academy student, went the honor of scoring the last American victory and clinching the U. S. swimming "slam." His time for the 1,500 meter free style was 19 minutes, 18½ seconds.

Hubbers Smash Gold Sox, 3 To 1

Miller Gives Up Only Four Hits

AMARILLO, Aug. 7 (Special)—Roland Miller, making his debut on the mound for the Lubbock Hubbers, completely tamed the rugged Amarillo Gold Sox here tonight, setting them down on four hits to lead the way to a 3-1 victory.

Miller was almost sensational in his first start, making only one mistake. That was in the third inning, when he pitched a home run ball to Jerry Folkman. The blow tied up the game momentarily, but the Hubbers went on to win.

Ray Pannemann, making his second start on the mound for the Gold Sox, didn't turn in a bad game, but he had trouble in the third and fifth, the two innings accounting for all the Hubber runs. He and Miller matched pitch for pitch most of the game, with both teams turning in sparkling field work.

The Hubbers tallied first, sending one run over in the third. Jackie Wilcox beat out a bunt for the first of two hits he was to get and then stole second. Gene Hixson grounded out, moving Wilcox to third and he scored easily on Manager Jackie Sullivan's clean single.

Folkman took care of that run in the Amarillo half of the inning when, with two out, he hit for the circuit, but that was the last time Amarillo was to dent the rubber.

The winning Hubber runs came in the fifth, Wilcox again starting things off with a single to rightfield. Hixson attempted to bunt, but Wilcox was thrown out at second on a close play. Hixson promptly thieved second and when Folkman fumbled the ball, the antelope-footed Hixson went to third. He scored easily on a long fly to leftfield by Sullivan, Paul Halter making a sensational catch on the wall.

Hixson's run handed the Hubbers a lead and they quickly added another. Amarillo showed tremendous respect for Virgil Richardson, giving him an intentional walk, the third time during the evening that he strolled. But Floyd Walker came through in the clutch, driving out a long double to score Richardson.

Amarillo threatened in the eighth, just before the rains came, but Miller forced Buck Fausett to ground into a double play with the bases loaded, the second death ending the contest.

The race for the championship of the City Softball league tightened up last week, with two nines—Baptists and the Lubbock Barber college—challenging the Methodists for the lead post.

The Methodists retained a slender percentage margin, on 17 victories and five defeats, but the Baptists are only a half-game behind with a 17 won, six lost mark.

In the Industrial Softball loop Sanders Motors and Economy Mills are locked in a torrid duel for the top position, with the Motormen holding a one-half game lead.

Between The Lines. . .

By Joe Kelly

Funny thing happened to us the other night; we got into a heated argument. It really wasn't so funny. An argument is merely exercise for the jaw and overheats your blood stream and nervous system. It's wasted effort and not much ever is accomplished, since both sides generally have their mind firmly made up before the fracas starts. And in the end, you feel a little foolish, but our Irish dander was up and when it gets up, only a good argument can let the steam off.

But when we had cooled off, we realized that the person with whom we had been arguing had paid a man a tremendous compliment and we couldn't resist breaking into print with the praise. It's nothing that hasn't been known all year, but, in its indirect way, it spotlights the dependence of a team of nine men on one individual. That's Virgil Richardson, the tall, quiet, efficient first baseman for the Hubbers. Without his presence on the team, we don't know where the Hubbers would be now, but we have a good idea.

The person with whom we were arguing coming back from a ball game had been pretty bitter because Richardson had gone hitless in five trips. He flatly stated that Richardson's failure to hit had been the biggest reason why the Hubbers had lost a tight ball game, that men had been left stranded through his failure to hit. All of which was true. Rich, in one of his worst slumps of the season, had driven in only one run and that was via a long fly. A couple of his usual timely hits might have ridden in enough runs to win that particular game.

But the implication that Richardson was a bum because he hadn't delivered in that one particular game angered us. After all, there were seven other regular players and a pitcher in the lineup and they also failed to come through, so why pin the blame on one man. Surely, one man alone can't do everything and isn't supposed to, even in the West Texas-New Mexico League. Sure, the Yanks have DiMaggio, the Red Sox have Williams, the Indians have Feller and so on, but they have other guys who are doing something more than standing around.

All of which makes Richardson stand even higher in our estimation as the most valuable player on the Hubber roster and, for that matter, in the league. He and Manager Jackie Sullivan, who runs Rich almost even as the most valuable player, have been carrying the greater portion of the load all season. They bat one-two and their heavy weapons have won more than one game for the Lubbock nine. As of July 27 averages, they had driven in 249 of the 793 Hubber runs, almost a third of all the Hubber markers. And of this number, Richardson had driven in 149.

The big initial sacker had gotten 145 hits in 97 games and made them good for 264 total bases. This total included 34 doubles, which placed him third in that department in the league. It also included five triples, which placed him 14th in the loop. And there was the matter of 25 home runs, which placed him third in that category. His runs batted in total left him second only to Bob Crues of Amarillo, who had a mere 53 home runs at that time. Only nine men in the league, at that time, had driven in 100 or more runs. And Richardson has scored 100 runs with only 13 other men having that many, or more.

He hasn't been flawless in the field. If he had been, it would have been a miracle. But his work at first base hasn't left much to be desired in that department. He has saved players errors by his scoops of bad throws and his long reach. He has taken part in the majority of the double plays turned in by the Hubbers, a department that has put them on top in the league. He is a quiet, steadying influence to the younger men; he is a gentleman, both on the field and in private life. Colorful, no, but efficient, yes.

There's no question that Floyd Walker, Don Moore, Chick Fowler, Charley Scarborough, Frank McAlexander—all the Hubbers—have had their periods of invaluable hitting. They wouldn't be in fourth place solely because of two men, that's for sure. At the same time, it has been the consistency of Richardson and Sullivan that has made the tremendous difference. The record shows that Richardson has an edge. Part of it is due to his hitting fourth in the batting order, of course, but he's there because he is dependable. In a pinch, opposing pitchers would rather see any other Hubber than Sullivan or Richardson come to bat.

Everyone likes the big first baseman, including fans, players and umpires, which is tribute in itself. But we are singling him out this time because, after that game in which he went hitless, he sat dejected in the dressing room, vilifying himself. He wants no special attention or publicity at any time. He's that way. He's a team player. He'd rather win than get five for five. He'd rather everyone else on the team got credit for something. He's the first to admit he made an error, the first to give credit to someone else. Popular? You bet—and for our money he can keep on playing first base for the Hubbers until he needs crutches.

Yankees Blank Indians, 5 To 0

CLEVELAND, Aug. 7 (AP)—The New York Yankees climbed within two percentage points of the American League's front-running Cleveland Indians today as Vic Raschi pitched the Yanks to 5-0 four-hit triumph over the Indians before a crowd of 43,439 paid customers.

Only Larry Doby and Dale Mitchell, who collected two singles apiece, were able to solve the star righthander's pitching. Raschi fanned seven, including catcher Jim Hegan three times, in posting his 14th victory of the year and his fifth shutout.

Jolting Joe DiMaggio drove home three runs on a pair of doubles and also stole home on the front end of a double steal to climax a three-run third-inning rally.

Bob Lemon, seeking his 15th victory of the year, started for Cleveland and was tagged with his tenth loss.

Sunbeamers Meet Lysaght In ASA Play

The Thomas-Sunbeamers softball team, recent winners of the Texas Softball League and the area A. S. A. softball tournament, will leave Thursday for Wichita Falls and the Texas A. S. A. tournament.

Club Manager J. C. Bumpass said yesterday that the tournament, which is the biggest event in softball circles in the state, had attracted the usual large field. Lubbock is given a good chance of springing a surprise and coming back with the title.

Opening Game Announced

The Thomas-Sunbeamers will meet Lysaght Manufacturing company in the opening game for the local nine on Thursday. Bumpass said yesterday that they had not yet been informed at what time they would play their first round game.

The opposition team backs up the fine pitching of Lefty Tolar, one of the greatest softball pitchers in the state, with a hard hitting attack. They have been in the tournament for several years and have always been at or near the top.

Jackie Neel undoubtedly will be given the opening game pitching chores and his teammates feel that there isn't a better softball chucker in the state. They will back him up with a fine fielding, good hitting organization.

Win Practice Games

Friday night the local team went to Plainview for a pair of exhibition games with a Plainview aggregation. The Thomas-Sunbeamers won with ease, but received enough competition to give them a needed workout before leaving for Wichita Falls.

A complete account of all Thomas-Sunbeamer games will be carried in the Avalanche-Journal so long as the local nine remains in the running.

All-Tourney Team

Six Lubbock players were named to the Area 1 all-tournament team selected by sports writers and tournament officials, with four Wichita Falls performers receiving recognition. Three El Paso boys and two Lamesa standouts complete the squad.

The all-tournament team:

City Wide Title At Stake Today

Championships in the men's open division of the annual City-Wide tennis tournament will be determined at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the new clay courts of the Storey Tennis club, two miles north of the courthouse on the Plainview highway, with A. J. (Jake) Broyles of Lamesa and Texas Tech battling Techsan Glenn Ivy for the singles crown.

Broyles entered the final tussle with early bracket wins over Ed Scudday and Hubert Burgess, jr., while Ivy notched wins over Joe Wheatley and David Hester. Both Broyles and Ivy were top members of the Tech tennis team this spring.

The men's open doubles title will be decided when Broyles and Wheatley tangle with Ivy and Hubert Burgess, sr. Broyles and Wheatley defeated the defending champions in the division in the first round, and will be heavy favorites to win the '48 crown.

Bleacher seats have been set up at the courts, tourney officials have announced, and the public is urged to attend the feature matches. No admission will be charged for the program.

Finals in the novice divisions of the tourney will be unreeled later this week.

LEVINES NOSES LORENZO

In a courtesy softball tilt Friday night at Lorenzo, the Levine aggregation nosed past the Lorenzo club, 16-14 in a game in which hits were sprayed to all corners of the lot, and in which both starting hurlers stayed on the mound to take the punishment. Levine's batteries were Vance and Gregory; Lorenzo batteries were Wilber and Smith.

TICKET HOLDERS WARNED

DALLAS, Aug. 7 (UP)—Cotton Bowl bondholders were warned today that ticket option privileges for the 1948 football season expire Aug. 15. Tickets of bondholders who fail to exercise their option will be returned to participating universities for public sale.

HAPPY CHANDLER NIGHT

HOUSTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—"Happy Chandler Night" will be held at Buff stadium, home of the Houston club of the Texas league, Aug. 24. Buff president Allen Russell today announced baseball commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler will be guest of honor.

Bottarini Sold To Pampa; Marvin Peel Traded To Pioneers

CLOVIS, Aug. 7. (Spl)—In one of the biggest trades of the season, Manager John Bottarini of the Clovis Pioneers today was sold to Pampa for an undisclosed sum of money and the Oilers traded Rookie Catcher Marvin Peel to Clovis.

Bottarini will join the Oilers in Amarillo tomorrow, where they open a three-game series, with Peel joining Clovis in time for the Abilene invasion.

Chuck Novotney, veteran first baseman, immediately was named manager of the Pioneers by Clovis Baseball club officials.

Jack Martyn Hurls Second Mound Win

By EARL SCUDDAY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Writer

Brilliant three-hit hurling by Lefty Jackie Martyn and slender Hulen Fowler gave the Lubbock American Legion nine an 8-2 victory over Wichita Falls in the championship nightcap tilt of the Area 1 tournament Saturday night at Rosenthal field, after the Wichita Falls diamond team had copped the opening setto, 10-2.

The triumph in the final game gave the Lubbock boys the Area 1 crown and the right to represent all of West Texas in the state Legion junior baseball tourney which opens Thursday at Paris. The Hub city crew will compete against the three other area winners in the Paris meet for the Texas title and a chance to enter the regional playoffs leading to a national championship.

Three Tallies In First

The Lubbock representatives wasted little time in taking the lead in the crucial final tussle, punching across three tallies in the top of the first inning. The first three Lubbock batters—Jesse Fullerton, Bill Tatum and Charles Galey—drew walks, then Dorrance Guy slammed a long fly into right field that scored Fullerton. Bobby Brown, flashy shortstop, batted in the third run with a single after Tatum stole home.

Guy's double into right field in the fourth stanza, following bases on balls to Tatum and Galey, tallied another Lubbock run.

The Lubbock nine staged a four-run offensive in the top of the seventh frame to clinch the victory. Guy led off with a single, Brown's sacrifice bunt was booted by the Wichita infield and Jack Cook pushed across a run with a bingle. Fowler struck out, but Jimmy Richards connected for a single. Martyn reached first on a fielder's choice, Fullerton walked and Tatum and Galey flied out to end the attack.

Martyn, Fowler Star

Wichita Falls was able to score only in the third inning, when they capitalized on three walks and a single off Martyn to tally twice.

Martyn and Fowler were the stars of the tussle, however, Martyn hurled three-hit ball for the first three and one-third innings, striking out seven Wichita batters. Fowler, young right-hand ace of the mound staff, took over in the fourth and hurled no-hit ball for the remainder of the tilt.

The Wichita Falls boys had their big game of the area tourney in the opening setto of the twin bill. The visitors shelled Lubbock starter Jack McCabe for three hits and seven runs in two and one-third innings, then added three more runs off reliefer Jim Wilson.

Americans Disqualified In 400-Meter Relay Event

Yanks Win Track Titles

LONDON, Aug. 7 (AP)—America's Olympic valiants wrapped up unofficial team championships in two major sections of the games today—track and swimming—but their victory celebration was dulled by an unhappy incident in the 400 meter relay.

The stout American dash team, wound up by Mel Patton of Southern California, won the race with some ten yards to spare only to have the triumph nullified by disqualification.

Medals Go To British

So the gold medals in the race went to the British, who finished in :41.3 to beat out Italy and Hungary in that order.

Dean Cromwell, veteran U. S. track coach, immediately announced: "I have protested."

"I do not think I went over the line," said Ewell, who went over later to explain the case to Avery Brundage, president of the U. S. Olympic committee and a member of the board of appeal.

The American 1,600 meter relay team, composed of Art Harnden, of Texas A. and M., Cliff Bourland, Roy Cochran and Mal Whitfield, captured that event to give the United States a total of ten championships.

The Americans amassed a staggering total of 450½ points—189 in track and field alone—more than 200 better than the closest challenger.

Sweden followed with 239½. Then came France with 123 and Hungary with 117—the only countries able to crack the century figure.

The two relays and the marathon run were the championships decided on their eighth day of competition before 84,000.

The U. S. 1,500 meter quartet ran the distance, just ten yards short of a mile, in 3:10.4 to finish 50 yards ahead of France, with Sweden trailing in third.

Argentine Wins Marathon

The marathon—a grind of 26 miles, 385 yards — was won by Delfo Cabrora, a tireless Argentine, in two hours, 35 minutes, 7.6 seconds. Tom Richards of Britain rallied to overtake E. Gailly of Belgium for second place.

At the nearby Wembley pool the American water magicians clicked off three more championships and left two olympic records straggling.

These conquests—by Philadelphia's Joe Verdeur in the 200 meter breast stroke, Ann Curtis of San Francisco in the 400 meter free style and Jimmy McLane of Akron, Ohio, in the 1,500 meter free style—gave American splashers a sweep of the men's six swimming and two diving titles and the women enough points to take the team crown. The girls won two diving and two swimming events.

Unofficial team totals gave the men 122 points to 21 for runnerup Hungary and the women 68 compared with 37 for the crack Danish swimming team.

Next week when rowing, yachting, boxing and other specialties of the 17-sport program take the limelight.

Verdeur, who has been cracking the Olympic record on almost every outing, won the 200 meter breast stroke in 2:39.3 to beat the record of 2:40 he had hung up in a preliminary heat.

Miss Curtis also broke the Olympic record in outdistancing Denmark's favored Karen Margrethe Harup in the women's 400 meter free style. Her time of 5:17.6 cut deeply into the mark of 5:25.7 Miss Marup had registered yesterday.

To McLane, 17-year-old Andover Academy student, went the honor of scoring the last American victory and clinching the U. S. swimming "slam." His time for the 1,500 meter free style was 19 minutes, 18½ seconds.

It's All Hungarian To United States Athletes At Olympics

Yugoslav Helps In Language Barrier

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Sports Writer

LONDON, Aug. 7—Just before the Olympic games got under way, a delegation of Hungarian swimmers paid a social call on Bob Kiphuth of Yale, coach of the U. S. swimming team, and Bob's star pupil, Joe Verdeur, the butterfly breaststroke man from LaSalle of Philadelphia.

The Hungarians asked something in Goulash. The Americans answered in assorted U. S. dialects. After five minutes the boys were reduced to feeble gesturing, smiles and bows, Joe had tried out his high school French and correspondence school German and Polish without success. The Hungarians stuck doggedly to Hungarian.

Then a Yugoslav strolled by, stepped into the breach and offered his services as interpreter. Turned out that the Hungarians were asking Kiphuth for a list of the times turned in by various members of the American squad. Bob delivered the times and as he did (and it was strained through the Yugoslav) the faces of the Hungarians dropped lower and lowed.

"Phew" Said Hungarians

"Phew!" the Hungarians said, in Hungarian, and dejectedly walked away.

If the games are going to serve the purpose of bringing the young men and women of the world together, we've got to figure out some way of introducing them. We have 58 nations involved here and about 6,000 people speaking 20 diametrically opposed languages and perhaps that many more variations of those languages.

English Cricket Talk

If that's a little bewildering, permit me to let you in on a hot sports story which appeared in the Express here the other day. It has to do with the big test match (cricket) involving England and Australia and it is a good sample of the utter consternation this great event has aroused in the hearts of American sportspage readers now on hand. Take it away Brian Chapman.

"Some 39,000 people left the fourth test at Headingley moist with heat and limp with excitement. The end of it all is that Australia needs 401 to win tomorrow.

"Could any match be poised on a keener knife-edge of excitement?

"Should England declare?

"Will Australia go for the runs?

"Can they do it?

"How about the heavy roller first?

"Have we the bowlers?

"What if Miller goes mad?

"Myself, I hope that Yardley will declare at his overnight score. That would be a challenge Bradman could scarcely refuse. The wicket is bearing up well and even in a fourth inning his hitters cannot win the game for him. Even by moderate assessment this is one of the great tests of history. Let it finish, win or lose, as gallantly as it has been fought out."

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

Texas schoolboy football fans are due a "good" season this fall, if the opening tilt of the pigskin parade—the annual All-Star classic at Abilene Friday night—is any indication. Despite the unusual score, North 4, South 0, the game was filled with brilliant runs, hard blocks and vicious tackles. An overflow crowd of approximately 12,000 fans left the stands after the game satisfied that they had seen one of the best tilts in the fourteen-year-old series.

One of the interesting angles of the setto was the speed in which the clash was run off. There were no long huddles and few time outs, and both elevens clicked off plays in rapid-fire fashion. The game officials, (local officials please note), concentrated on producing a good, clean, fast game rather than on technicalities, and called exactly two rules violations in the entire tussle. Two offside rulings were called, but one of the penalties was refused.

That is not to say that the officials were lax. On the contrary, the top sports writers and coaches in the state agreed that the game was one of the cleanest and best-regulated that they had ever seen. But the point was that the officials did not call back plays just because a halfback shifted his foot a tenth of a second before the ball was snapped, or call an offside penalty because an end's little finger was across the line of scrimmage.

Just how well the system worked is shown by the statistics. The game got underway about 8:25 and the first half was ended at 9:07. The entire gas was finished a few minutes after 10 o'clock. The rapid-fire running of plays kept the fans awake and interested and contributed to the overall brilliance of the game.

There were some important surprises resulting from the game. Most of the "name" backfield stars failed to produce anything but mediocre performances, while some previously little-regarded youngsters came through in sensational style. Byron (Santone) Townsend of the Odessa Broncos lived up to his press clippings, much to the delight of the thousands of partisan fans, but many of the other "standouts" fell by the wayside. Probably the biggest disappointment was Rusty Russell, jr., former Highland Park of Dallas stalwart. Either Rusty had an off night or he is the most over-rated gridder of the last decade. He looked sluggish when he carried the ball, failed to make even a good try in blocking for his teammates and seemed to have an attitude of "I'm here, what more do you want?"

Actually, the South squad had the best complete backfield. Little Glenn Lippman of El Campo, highest scoring back of the state in 1947, brought the fans to their feet time and again with his twisting, darting slants into North territory. And in Gilbert Bartosh of Granger the South had one of the finest backfield men ever to perform in the classic. Bartosh, practically unknown outside his own area, slammed through the bulky North line for consistent yardage, returned punts in the best swivel-hipped style and did an amazing passing job. Henry Stollenwerck of Waxahachie, an all-state halfback, turned in a creditable performance, but he was overshadowed by Lippman and Bartosh.

The game also settled, to most of the fans' satisfaction, the question of Townsend's ability to go against top-flight competition. All last fall certain authorities declared that Townsend was not a good college prospect, and that he was just big and fast enough to look good against schoolboy elevens. "Just wait till he meets some boys his own size, or bigger," they chuckled.

Well, Friday night "Santone" played against what the experts described as the toughest line ever to play in an All-Star clash. The South forward wall averaged nearly 200 pounds per man, including all-state Center Don Menasco of Longview, End James Spencer of Breckenridge, and Guard Jerald Olive of Brackenridge of San Antonio. Yet the blazing Bronco star crashed through the center of the line for gains of three, five and eight yards per try, broke off left tackle for one gain of 22 yards and picked up 25 yards on a sweep of right end. It always took three or more tacklers to get him down and, even then, he was still driving forward when the whistle blew. Only once all night was Townsend really stopped cold—that on a center buck near the goal line when the whole South team had guessed the play and was pulled in extremely close. It is interesting to note that Townsend made more yardage rushing than did the whole South backfield.

Thomas-Sunbeamers Loom As Tournament Threat On Record

The Sunbeamers softball team, which will go to the state softball tournament later this month, where competent observers feel that they have an excellent chance of winning, has established a fine mark in play this season.

There is little question that their ace and mainspring in their success is Jackie Neel, the husky, blond pitcher. Neel has been little short of sensational the majority of the season and his record attests to his ability.

Neal, Warden Tops

For instance, he has averaged 13.5 strikeouts per game, racking up a total of 514 whiff victims in 38 games, 33 of which he has won. He has hurled 15 shutouts in these 33 victories, with six of them no-hit, no-run games. And one of these six games was a perfect contest in which not one runner reached base.

While most of the pitching burden has fallen on Neel, G. W. Warden of Texas Tech has held up his end of the dual combination in good shape. Warden has won 15 games while losing only three and seven of his victories have been shutouts, with two no-hit, no-run games to his credit. He has fanned 163 men, an average of nine whiff victims in each contest.

Team Hits Well

As for the power end of the team, Roy Butler had the most hits, 60, and Willis James had the most runs, 10. Ralph Earhart, who has left to play professional football, led the team in hitting with a season's average of .383. Most of the year Earhart hit over the .400 mark, but slipped slightly in the closing three weeks of the campaign.

Black Hubbers To Play Fort Worth

The Lubbock Black Hubbers will play host to the visiting Fort Worth Black Giants at Rosenthal Field this afternoon at 3:30, with the local club attempting to even the series.

The Black Giants hold a one-game margin over the local nine as a result of games played this year. If the Black Hubbers can even the series today, they could go ahead of the visitors in a game to be played here Monday night. Game time will be 8:30 p. m.

Manager James Roy Lewis said that H. S. Hutchinson, ace of the Black Hubber mound staff, would hurl this afternoon's game.

PIPE
Welders and Fitters
DO YOU MIND
The High Cost Of Living?

Of course you do, but what can you do about it? A lot of men have found one answer and they agree that it gets results.

Plenty of good Pipe Welders and Fitters have turned to work in oversea construction. They figured that this is a good opportunity to beat the high cost of living, and to build a firm future for themselves and their families. They are finding that it is really paying off, and they are turning an 18 month overseas hitch into a nice four-figure bank account. (How much will you save in the next 18 months?)

How Do You Fit In?

Like This: Middle-East, Inc., needs certified combination Pipe Welders and experienced Pipe Fitters for refinery and power house construction on the Persian Gulf Coast area of Saudi Arabia. This company will pay you top wages, plus a bonus, vacation allowance and livings expenses to those who can qualify. Welders must pass a hi-pressure pipe welding test, and fitters must be able to furnish a past employment record in heavy industrial piping. You must also be 25 to 50 years of age, have certified proof of birth, and be able to pass a rigid physical exam.

No Bed of Roses

This is no tourist or travel-for-adventure deal. It's just a good opportunity for farsighted men who are willing to sacrifice a little to get something they want. Sure, there's a swimming pool, movies, a fine club house, good food, and air cooled rooms, but it takes a good and determined man to put up with the terrific summer heat and 18 months of isolation. Think these things over before you inquire.

Wainwright Denies Statement Absolving Tojo Of War Crime

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 7 (AP)—General Jonathan M. Wainwright today denied he had ever made a statement absolving Premier Hideki Tojo of the treatment he received from the Japanese while a prisoner of war.

In a press dispatch from Tokyo, George Francis Blewett, a Philadelphia attorney serving as American counsel for Tojo, said Wainwright asked him to tell Tojo "as one general to another" he did not hold him responsible.

Wainwright said:

"To the best of my recollection I have sent no messages to Tojo. In fact I hold him responsible for the sneak attack on us at Pearl Harbor and in the Philippines.

POW Treatment Cited

"He was then chief of the Imperial Japanese general staff and undoubtedly approved the plans that were made for those attacks. I do not really think he had much to do with my treatment as a prisoner of war as those were delegated, I understand, to the local commanders and differed very much in different places.

"Sometimes we were treated most brutally, in other places not so badly. I think the army commanders were the ones that dictated the treatment of prisoners of war."

Blewett said he had talked to Wainwright at the Republican convention in Philadelphia and Wainwright gave him the verbal message to deliver to Tojo when he returned to Japan.

Tojo is now awaiting judgment of the international war crime court.

Methodist Children's Workers Camp Slated

Plans for a Northwest Texas conference-wide fifth annual children's workers camp to be conducted Aug. 16-20 at the Methodist encampment at Ceta canyon were announced by Mrs. Uel D. Crosby of Lubbock, Northwest Texas conference director of children's work, who will direct the camp.

Theme will be "More Time for Our Children."

Classes To Be Conducted

A series of classes will be conducted for workers in different age groups of children. Nursery and kindergarten teachers and other workers will be taught on a laboratory basis, with children from four to eight years of age in the laboratory classes; kindergarten classes will be taught by Mrs. John English of Baird; primary, by Mrs. Paul Eppler of Ackerly, and junior, by Miss Ruth Townes, Texas Christian university staff member.

Each night, a discussion will be presented by Rev. Jordan Grooms, pastor of the First Methodist church at Levelland, on "Bible Backgrounds for Children's Workers."

The camp will be open to pastors, children's teachers, and interested parents in any of the nine districts of the conference.

Federal Lunch Aid Sought For Schools

HOUSTON, Aug. 7 (U.P.)—A campaign to get the Houston school board to accept federal aid for the school lunch program was underway today, but a board member indicated the group would not reverse its opposition to federal aid.

Mrs. Olon Rogers, president of the Houston Parent-Teachers association council, said she was asking the many mothers who called her complaining of the school lunch system to express their disapproval to board members.

Mrs. Rogers said she would attend Monday's board meeting hopeful that the board would drop its plans for an Oct. 4 campaign to raise donations to provide lunches for needy school children.

C. W. McPhail, chairman of the board's lunchroom committee, said protests would not change the attitude of the board, only one of whose members favors the federal aid program.

J. Hall Sheppard, county school superintendent, said the 18 county schools participating in the federal aid program charged 20 to 25 cents for a hot lunch while Houston schools charge from 30 to 47 cents, depending on the school. He added that county schools serve superior food to Houston schools and that he received few complaints about the quantity.

New Republic Of Korea To Be Born Week From Today

SEOUL, Korea, Sunday, Aug. 8 (AP)—The American sponsored republic of Korea, with a hopeful name that ignores the threats and rival pretensions of the Russian-occupied north, is to be born in South Korea one week from today.

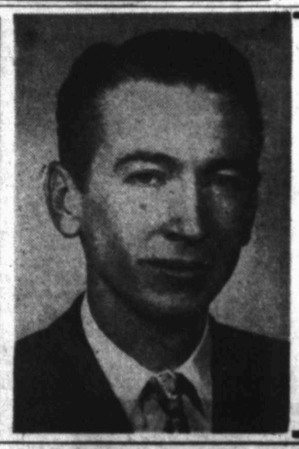

Communist violence may mark the occasion.

The new republic is to take from the American hands that intangible thing called sovereignty over half of the territory and two-thirds of the population of this sharply divided country.

It starts life with an unhealthy economy and a shaky defense. It expects Uncle Sam's help in bolstering both.

The date is the third anniversary of the liberation from Japan, whereupon the United States and Russia arbitrarily divided the country for occupation purposes along the 38th parallel of north latitude. That supposedly temporary division has hardened with the years.

Throughout the occupation, Russia has refused to join in any unification plan that would not have the effect of assuring a Communist regime for all Korea.

If Devil Does Exist, He Isn't Talking

Status Of Hell's Boss Man Is Debated On Radio Program

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 7 (U.P.)—Three ministers, a divinity student and a doubting hotel keeper gave the devil his due last night.

The hotel keeper, 64-year-old Alexander W. Andrews of Shadyside, Md. said that the devil is so repulsive he just couldn't exist. The four others agreed he was as repulsive as they come, but they said that, unfortunately, he does exist.

All quoted the Bible to prove their points during an hour-long radio debate on the subject.

Believers Quote Bible

Andrews prompted the discussion by offering to prove in 10 minutes that the devil and hell doesn't exist. He said in a newspaper advertisement last month that it is "high time to expose preachers who use hell and the devil to give little children nightmares."

The three clerics and a student promptly accepted the challenge. They were the Rev. Robert C. Smoot of Baltimore, a Presbyterian; the Rev. James I. Smiley of Annapolis, an Episcopalian; Ben. H. Atkinson of Sunbury, Pa., a Church of Christ evangelist and Jerry Simpson, a young divinity student at Moravian college in Bethlehem, Pa.

The four devil-believers spoke first. As Andrews sat with his head in his arms and sighed audibly, they quoted verse after verse of the Bible in which references to the devil and hell were made.

Devil's Help Not Needed

Smiley told the radio audience that, on the basis of these verses, he and his colleagues believe "hell is a reality which is doomed to complete extinction on Judgment day."

After the clerics had concluded, Andrews took over the arguments. He said that to admit of the existence of a hell or a devil was to admit that God's power is limited.

"God has all the power he needs to punish wrong-doing," he said. "He needs no help from a devil or a place of eternal torture."

He said that when the Bible referred to devils, it only meant the evil in man himself. He said that "men are the only devils to be found."

Terry Discovery Well Flows 116 Barrels Oil

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 1. E. M. Hinson, northeast Terry county wildcat discovery from the Cisco lime section of the Pennsylvanian flowed a total of 116 barrels of clean oil in 14 hours, from pay at 9,405-55 feet, natural, and was still flowing to clean out and test further.

This project is eight miles southeast of Meadow, 10 miles northeast of Brownfield, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 91, block 4-K, psl survey.

During the first 12 hours of the 14 hours of flowing the well was on a one-half inch tubing choke. The opening during the last two hours of that period was a three-eighth inch choke.

No water showed. Tubing pressure was 100 pounds and casing pressure was 325 pounds. The flow during the 14 hours was at the average rate of 8.28 barrels per hour, or 208.72 barrels of oil per day.

The discovery is expected to yield larger amounts of oil when it is fully cleaned of drilling mud on and possibly in the producing formation.

Warning Of Possible Acute Shortage Of Milk Sounded

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (INS) — A warning of a possible acute shortage of milk this fall and winter was issued today by the director of the Illinois Agricultural association.

The director, J. P. Mason, blamed the possible decline on the fall and winter seasonal slump in milk production. He added:

"The condition will be nationwide, and the production goal of 120 billion pounds of milk will not be met. It is expected the total production will not exceed 112 billion pounds."

He said that the prices paid producers have risen more slowly than the cost of producing milk, thus accounting for the decline of production in the face of the highest retail prices in history.

Weather Man Becomes Popular Throughout Kansas These Days

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 7 (U.P.) — There wasn't a sign of hot weather on the Kansas meteorological chart today.

S. D. Flora, the state weatherman, jokingly said "maybe I should ask for a raise now, I'd have popular support."

In the last 24 hours the Kansas high was 81 degrees at Goodland, the low 60 at Hutchinson and Dodge City.

The weekend range was forecast to be from 62 to 84. Skies will be cloudy for the next 36 hours and a few light scattered showers may fall.

Western Germany

to the Americans, because they have no other place to live." There is a lack of entertainment in Frankfurt, because the Americans are not allowed to attend German parties, picture shows or dances.

"Probably the most important factor in the change of conditions is the recent change of the German mark." It has helped to stabalize the currency in Germany and also to do away with the black market. As a result of the new mark, people can now buy their clothes and food in the stores. Previously the black market controlled the sale of all items.

"After I had been in Germany for awhile, my son and his wife and I made a tour of Europe. The first place that we went was to Paris." Mrs. Carter said that Paris was in surprisingly bad condition. They had much less food than the Germans, and their crops were not nearly as good as those in Germany.

Switzerland has resumed her role as playground of peacetime Europe and since it experienced none of the bombing devastation shared by other countries seems almost in perfect state, Mrs. Carter said. There appears to be an abundance of luxuries and necessities, as in America, but the cost of living is high, since most of the country's income is from the tourist trade.

Saw Hitler's Home

In Berchteskaden, Bavaria Mrs. Carter saw Hitler's old home. "Although it was a picture of ruin and dilapidation, it was still quite a thrill to see it."

"Austria was about the prettiest country we saw on our trip, being full of scenic drives." While there Mrs. Carter visited the palace of King Ludwig. "It was one of the most interesting and elaborate places I have ever seen," she said. The entire palace is decorated in gold ornaments and Meissen china. In a bedroom used by Wagner, the composer, who was a close friend of the King, there is a dressing table, which runs the width of the room, made of Meissen china. The reception room in the palace is made almost completely of mirrors. "They are arranged so that when you look at them it seems as though you are looking down a corridor a million miles in length."

Mrs. Carter returned to Frankfurt from Austria from where she sailed for America.

Hardeman County Exes Plan Aug. Picnic

A picnic for former residents of Hardeman county will be held in Mackenzie State Park Sunday, August 22, at 6 p. m. Those attending are asked to meet directly north of the swimming pool and to bring a basket lunch and drinks for their family.

WEDS TODAY — Miss Reta Caddel, above, is to marry Orveda Lee Chisum this morning at 9 o'clock in a ceremony to be read in the home of the aunt of the bride, Mrs. J. O. Easter, 2123 Twenty-seventh. Story on page 1.

JOINS HOUSE PARTY

Mrs. Lillian Slay, 2422 Twenty-fifth, is leaving this week-end for St. Paul, Minn., where she will join the Brownell house party. From there the group will take a tour of Canada, including Winnipeg, Vancouver and Vistoria and will then take a five day cruise to Lake Louise and Alaska.

The traveler can safeguard her luggage from damage caused by spilling or leaking cosmetics by sealing bottles and boxes shut with a strip of scotch tape.

Put baking soda to work to help speed up household chores. A few tablespoons of soda added to dish water, for example, cuts through grease, gives glasses a fresher sparkle. After frying strong-smelling foods, pour off excess grease, sprinkle baking soda around the skillet to check the odor and to make pan easier to clean. To remove egg stains from silverware rub with a small amount of dry soda on a soft damp cloth.

Anne Ford's

Through the Coral Doors

Howdy Folks:

I really got put to work this time the moment I stepped behind those Coral doors. Anne was on vacation — Fredda was pouring over blue prints with a client selecting carpets, draperies and furniture. There were small pieces of tile and linoleum all over the place as Fredda really does the job completely, once she takes over.

Josie, Mary, James and even Beulah were all in different places helping brides decide on table appointments, and of course I would stick my nose into a huge barrel from Wedgwood. Josie pleaded so pathetically that she must have a service for twelve in Appledore out of that barrel—and just my luck I had to unpack three dozen Charnwood pieces before I got to the first layer of Appledore. Incidentally, if anyone wants a grand packing barrel, the Studio has this one for the asking, and I think there is one like it about once a week.

Before I left I heard Fredda call Anne and ask her if she would come back to help out and take out later on, when the crop of brides was a little less. So I think we will see Anne back on the job next week.

Fredda is all elated over a new face you'll be seeing soon behind those Coral doors (we hope for a long time). I'll let you in on who it is maybe next week.

Think Fredda & Lilie are getting pretty anxious to see Kaye, and I may be reporting a flying trip out to see how the Edwards' ranch is getting along under the management of Kaye and Daddy Pete—of course Alma does not count. She is just home with a hot meal when Kaye and Pete come in from working the cattle.

It's almost fall and let me remind you that if you expect to redecorate before the holidays, you should visit Decorators Studio, Broadway and "N," and get plans started.

Meet me next week at Decorators Studio and maybe I won't have to unpack (MUCH).

Grandpa Nosey.

P.S. The studio will be closed all day Saturday during August.

DEMO LEADER BLASTS DEWEY

Truman-Thurmond Referendum Proposal Now Appears Doomed

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 7—Submission of a Truman versus Thurmond (loyalist versus Dixiecrat) referendum on the run-off primary ballot apparently was doomed today, well in advance of Monday's decisive Democratic executive committee meeting.

Dixiecrats were hollering themselves hoarse publicly demanding the referendum and admitting privately they would lose just as they did June 14 when the committee turned them down 31 to 6.

Dixiecrats Plan Strategy

Loyalist forces, headed by Chairman Robert W. Calvert, had canvassed the committee. They were saying little but appeared confident of victory in this round of the scrap that will come to a final showdown at the Sept. 14 convention.

Dixiecrats thought they might pick up half a dozen more committee votes, but they weren't hoping for more than that. They were planning a campaign to win over county delegations that will go to the Fort Worth convention uninstructed.

Lloyd Price of Fort Worth, leader of the Dixiecrats, demanded that Secretary of State Paul H. Brown not certify any Democratic candidate for President until after the September convention.

To Propose Referendum

"Mr. Brown has no moral or legal authority at this time to accept Truman as the Texas nominee," Price said. Calvert has said he would certify the national convention's nominees within the near future. The Dixiecrats hope to gain control in September, then see to it the southern nominees are certified for printing in the Democratic column of the general election ballot.

The proposed referendum to be submitted to the executive committee meeting Monday would read:

"A. For Harry S. Truman and Alben Barkley as the Democratic nominees for president and vice president respectively.

Hill Urges Referendum

The voters in the Aug. 28 run-off primary could then indicate their choice of how the state's Democratic electors would ballot. The Loyalists say the referendum isn't legal. The Dixiecrats say it is.

Former state Sen. Joe Hill of Austin let loose a radio blast over station KTBC here today in behalf of the referendum.

He said Truman, the Republican party and the Wallace party are united on one point: Their hatred of the south. He called on his listeners to telephone, write or wire Gov. Beauford H. Jester and demand that the people be given an opportunity to vote on the Truman-Thurmond issue.

Price had this to say on the same question:

"Texas Democrats have the right to decide by referendum in the August primary whether the majority wants Truman or Thurmond, and after the September convention the name of the winner should be certified to the secretary of state.

Montana State Football Star Accused Of California Holdups

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7 (INS)—Don M. Yovetich, member of last year's football team and captain of the track team at Montana State university, was jailed today on charges of holding up two Long Beach, Cal., stores.

Identification of the 21-year-old youth as one of Montana State's star athletes was made by police at Missoula.

He is charged with the $300 holdup of a market on July 8 and a $75 holdup last Monday of a liquor store.

Texas States' Righters Plan Radio Answer To Demos On Presidential Referendum

HOUSTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—Texas States' Righters have contracted for radio time Monday night for the announced purpose of answering state Democratic executive committee action on a proposed August 28 presidential referendum.

The executive committee meets in Austin Monday and political observers predict the States' Righters referendum request will be turned down.

Referendum Ballots Ready

Southern Democratic leaders in Houston, busy arranging a Wednesday night rally at which Governor J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina will make acceptance of his nomination as the States' Righters presidential candidate, announced plans for the Monday broadcast.

The quarter-hour broadcast will be carried at 7:45 p. m. by stations KTRH, Houston, KRLD, Dallas, and KNOW, Austin.

Participants on the broadcast had not been determined late today.

Meanwhile, Harris county residents will begin marking referendum ballots here Monday with the opening of absentee voting for the August 28 runoff.

Harris county voters will determine whether the electoral college delegate from the eighth Texas congressional district is to be instructed to support Thurmond and his vice-presidential running mate, Governor Fielding Wright of Mississippi, or support President Truman and Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, nominees at the national Democratic convention at Philadelphia last month.

Networks To Carry Talks

Thurmond and Wright were nominated at a States' Righters convention at Birmingham immediately after the Philadelphia convention.

Arrangements have been completed with two nationwide radio networks to carry the Wednesday night acceptance speeches of Thurmond and Wright and negotiations are continuing with a third network.

The rally will be held in the big Sam Houston coliseum in downtown Houston.

Townes today announced members of his invitation committee for the rally. They are:

H. L. Long, Kilgore, Curtis Douglas, Pampa, E. R. Spencer, Columbus, Robert W. Milner, jr., Houston, Ward McCampbell, Corpus Christi, Horace Blalock, Marshall, Ed Clark, Austin, Hart Willis, Dallas.

Candidates Warned On Posting Placards

In a statement aimed primarily at candidates seeking election to public office, Chief of Police Lewis A. Kittrell said last night that the posting of political placards or any other similar matter on posts or other places within the city was unlawful and punishable under the terms of an existing city ordinance.

"Such practices not only cause considerable loss of time and effort on the part of the police department in tearing down such signs, but also are a definite hazard to telephone workers and others who must climb such poles in their work," Kittrell stated.

Ordinance Cited

Should the climbing spikes used by communication and electric workers strike a tack or other metal device used in securing the placards to the posts, a fall and serious injury might occur, it was pointed out.

City ordinance No. 425, upon which Chief Kittrell based his statement, fixes a penalty for violation of the ordinance at a fine not to exceed $100.

Briefly, the ordinance states that it is unlawful to post signs, advertising or other matter on posts or other places in the streets or alleys or other public places in the city.

FSA Chief Blasts Censor Charges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. (AP) — Federal security administrator Oscar R. Ewing, on the griddle for his dealings with a cook and a commissioner, told Congressmen Friday:

1. Said former Commissioner of Education John W. Studebaker used such poor judgement he had planned to fire him. But, said Ewing, he "beat me to the gun" by resigning.

2. Flatly denied Studebaker's charges accusing Ewing of poor administration and of suppressing Office of Education attacks against Communism.

Uses Government Cook

3. Acknowledged that he had used a government hospital cook to prepare meals at the FSA. But, he explained, the Budget bureau had assured him the procedure was proper and added it will continue.

His blast against Studebaker followed a letter from Studebaker released to newspapers last Sunday, accusing Ewing of interfering with the Office of Education program for promoting democracy in schools.

Ewing told a news conference that this was all "pure poppycock and irrelevant and irresponsible innuendo."

Studebaker said one of his staff member's speeches criticizing Communism had been censored. Ewing said today that Studebaker had failed to mention that another part of the speech had been deleted which called congressmen "miserable objects" and worse.

Planned To Fire Studebaker

"Where would we be if a thing like that got out?" he asked.

As to Studebaker, Ewing said he had planned to discharge him because he was absent from his post so often on personal business. He said Studebaker was in San Diego and Los Angeles for 121 days during the year April 1947 to April 1948.

Ewing said the Federal Communications commission granted a license Aug. 1, 1947 to Studebaker, his son and another person for a radio station in San Diego.

He said Studebaker was very resentful when questioned about his absence from his office.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP) — Wheat moved ahead for gains extending to around 2 cents on the board of trade today. Dealings were fairly active, including a good deal of short covering and some buying attributed to mills and elevator houses.

Wheat was aided by reports that the production and marketing administration was seeking floor offers as well as by a general belief that the market was entitled to a technical rally.

September corn was ahead most of the day, largely on short-covering.

Wheat closed ⅝-1¼ higher, September $2.24¼-$2.24, corn was 1 cent lower to 1 cent higher, September $1.65⅝-$1.65, oats were ⅝-¾ higher, September 73-73⅛.

Brock Is Named Special Judge

County Judge Walter Davies, after four straight years of declining to "take off" from his duties, quit his chambers Saturday for a week's vacation.

Whereupon, as provided by law, the bar elected a special judge to act during his absence.

Eleven members of Lubbock County Bar association unanimously named Ralph Brock, Lubbock attorney, for the position.

Steele Resumes Duties

County Attorney John Steele had resumed duties after a 12-day vacation he and Mrs. Steele spent in Old Mexico. A. W. Salyars, Lubbock attorney who had been appointed upon Steele's recommendation to act as assistant county attorney during the vacation period, returned to his general law practice. The county commissioners court Monday will act on Steele's appointment of Winston Brummett as his assistant.

The county attorney and Mrs. Steele saw their first bullfight in Mexico City, and visited in Monterey.

Steele said Judge Brock had signed the following judgments:

M. J. Dinkins, 23, a negro of 2315 East Ave. E, $100 fine, court costs and 15 days in county jail, for illegally carrying a pistol;

John Roy Pritchard, 42, of Lubbock, $75 and court costs and revocation of driver's license six months, on a drunk driving charge.

Shooting Is Admitted

Dinkins, officials said, admitted he shot Willie Coleman, identified as a negro, in the right arm below the shoulder. A bone was broken, a physician said. Coleman, was said to have had a knife. Officials were inclined to call the case "mutual combat." The arrest was by Carl Francis and John Barnett, deputies sheriff, early Saturday.

Pritchard, officials said, was arrested after his car had been in collision with a parked machine owned by William O. Flynn 2008 Twenty-seventh. Flynn, they said, jumped in his car and chased Pritchard, finally "curbing" him at Twenty-eighth and Ave. X. There was a scuffle, and officers arrived to make the arrest.

Bond of $500 was set for Joseph T. Willoughby, 36, of Lubbock, after a plea of innocent of drunk driving, officials said.

In the court of D. W. Robertson, justice of the peace, a $500 peace bond was set naming Roy Fitzgerald, 35, Lubbock man who, according to affadavit of Dora Fitzgerald, his wife, threatened her life. It had not been approved by the justice late Saturday.

W. J. Harris, 70, Former Resident Of City, Claimed

W. J. Harris, about 70, former resident of Lubbock, died Saturday morning in an Andrews hospital, relatives here learned.

His wife, Mrs. Donna Harris, was formerly a nurse at Texas Technological college. They had been living in Andrews for slightly more than a year, having left Lubbock in July of last year. They formerly lived at 2809 Thirtieth street.

The body is at Singleton Funeral home in Andrews, where it was reported last night that definite arrangements were pending arrival of relatives from California.

Survivors, in addition to Mrs. Harris, are six sons, J. B. Harris of Lubbock, W. R. Harris of the U. S. Navy in San Diego, Calif., Taylor Harris of San Angelo, Calif., Ernest Harris of Mineral Wells, and Jimmy Harris, Fort Worth; three daughters, Mrs. Charles Faught of Raton, N. M., Mrs. James Capps of Brownwood and a daughter in California; and two nieces, Mrs. Joe Reed and Mrs. Beth Veatch, both of Lubbock.

Assembly Group Okays Special Powers For French Cabinet

PARIS, Sunday, Aug. 8 (AP)—The finance committee of the French National assembly today voted approval of Premier Andre Marie's cabinet's request for emergency powers to cope with the nation's financial crisis.

The vote was 22 to 15 with the Communists heading the opposition.

The committee endorsed a major amendment to the bill which gives the cabinet powers to decree economic and financial reforms. The amendment cut out the cabinet's proposed bid for the right to levy taxes. This power was retained for the legislature alone.

Benes Reported On Flight To London

PRAGUE, Aug. 7 (INS)—Unconfirmed rumors circulated in Prague tonight that Dr. Eduard Benes, who resigned as president of Czechoslovakia two months ago, left his Communist-dominated homeland in a London-bound plane today.

According to the rumors, both Benes and his wife boarded an international Red Cross plane at Prague enroute to England.

The 64-year-old Benes resigned his lifetime presidential term last June 7 after the Communists took power. He had refused to sign the new Communist constitution.

Claimed Reds' Prisoner

A statement issued at that time by Benes linked his resignation to ill health as well as the "political situation."

(Vaclav Benes, nephew of the former president, charged at the time that his uncle had been a "prisoner" of the Communists in Czechoslovakia.)

On July 6, during a parade by the Sokol Athletic organization in Prague, the marchers shouted "we want Benes for president."

It was regarded as the first demonstration against the regime since the Communists took power.

Benes in his resignation statement had called on Czechoslovaks to "live and work together" to assure freedom in his country.

Investigation Into 'Charity Party' In New York Continues

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (INS)—Investigation into the fancy society "charity party" at which gamblers trimmed wealthy socialites centered today on three key witnesses.

They were Mrs. Marion Weeks, secretary to Mrs. Vivienne Woolley-Hart, at whose apartment the July 28 party was held; ex-night-club press agent Chic Farmer, and John W. Krimsky, account executive of the institute of public relations.

Assistant District Attorney O'Connor questioned the three today and ordered them to return on Monday. In addition, he directed that Mrs. Woolley-Hart also appear.

District Attorney Frank Hogan's aides indicated that indictments will be sought from a grand jury later next week in connection with the fake charity party which allegedly was promoted by the missing William Buckner, cafe society playboy who once served a prison term for a Philippines bond fraud.

Buckner, through friends, was quoted as insisting he promoted the affair on behalf of the Medical and Surgical Relief committee, one of the accounts of Krimsky's institute.

But Krimsky, soon after he left Hogan's office, challenged Buckner to meet him "face to face" at 10 a. m. Monday in the prosecutor's chambers for a "truth telling session."

Krimsky said he rejected pleas by Buckner, Farmer and Mrs. Weeks for a letter from the committee thanking Mrs. Woolley-Hart in advance for use of her apartment for the party. Buckner was the first to make such a request, he added:

He said he told Dr. John Darr, president of the institute, and Gifford A. Cochran, the committee's executive director, about the incidents and they agreed he did the right thing. Later, he went on, he and Dr. Darr decided to visit the party, believing Buckner had found another sponsor.

In Grandma's day it was the fashion to hang a few samplers on the wall; they not only demonstrated the skillful handiwork of an industrious housewife, but they expressed major sentiments of the time. THERE is hardly a son or a husband in this world who has not had glorious examples of a mother's or a wife's fortitude. But that same mother or wife is likely to pass out on a moment's notice at the sight of a mouse or a harmless snake no more than eight inches in length.

No wonder the poets can't agree on the virtues and vices of women.

Take Kipling, for instance: "The female of the species is more deadly than the male." But Alexander Pope calls her "Woman, the last, the best reserv'd of God."

And I, not being a poet, agree with Richard Savage, who said: "Such, Polly, are your sex—part truth, part fiction; something about the situation on election day.

"Some thoughtt, much whim, and all a contradiction."

To win back control of the House the Democrats would have to increase their present total of 187 seats to 218, for a gain of 31 seats.

Only a comparatively small shift of sentiment toward the Democratic party would accomplish this. A total of 55 of the seats won by the Republicans in 1946 were won by a narrow margin of popular votes — between 50.1 per cent and 54.9 per cent.

If sentiment in those "marginal" Republican districts were to shift 5 per cent toward the Democrats, compared to 1946, it would give the party more than enough to win back control of the House ——provided, of course, the Democrats lost few seats elsewhere.

Of course, the Democrats have a number of "marginal" seats too, which they won in 1946 by the same narrow majorities. But the total is fewer, being only 35 as compared to the Republican's 55. The G.O.P. therefore stands to suffer somewhat more by an adverse shift of sentiment than the Democrats would.

Today's study embraces the whole nation since the entire House membership is up for election, and the poll results therefore do not apply to Senate races which will be held this year in 32 states. Political observers believe that the G.O.P. problem of holding the Senate is even more acute than that of holding the House, for the Republican majority in the Senate is a narrow one.

To keep their Senate majority the Republicans can lose no more than two of the seats they now hold which are to be filled in 1948.

Hollywood On The Loose...

Facts And Fancies About Cinemaland

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Jean Arthur's acting in "A Foreign Affair" is the slickest job of comedy I've seen on the screen in a long time. It proves again what Hollywood has always known — that Jean is the best natural actress in town. And what makes her great is that every time she plays a scene, it's different.

JOHNSON

John Wayne, who worked with Jean in "A Lady Takes a Chance," tells this story.

They were doing a scene together, and director William Seiter kept saying, "Let's do it again." Finally after the fifth take, Jean said: "Is there anything I'm doing wrong?"

"Not a thing," said Seiter. "It's just the opposite. You do it right, but different every time. I'm just curious to see how many times you can do it right differently."

Dane Clark and Warner Brothers have buried the glares and he's off suspension. . . UI wants John Payne for the lead in the story of Sam Bass, the western bad man.

KILDARE'S COW

PREVIEW audiences are howling at Lew Ayres' first scene as a doctor in "Johnny Belinda." The ex-Dr. Kildare's first patient is a cow. . . There's a new wrestler in Hollywood called Nature Boy. . . . Paramount is planning to film the story of Steinmetz, the electrical genius.

You-Can't-Figure-Out - Casting-Director's Department: Art Baker, who drips honey and cream on the radio, is playing a suspected murderer in the movie, "Cover Up."

That song, "All Your Charms," which Eddy Howard introduced on the air, was written by Linda Darnell. . . . Sequences featuring Sydney Greenstreet and Lucille Bremer in "Ruthless" have created so much comment that producer Arthur Lyons is looking for a story in which they'll co-star.

Alan Marshall's role in "The Barkleys of Broadway" is his first film role in four years. Doctors who ordered him off the screen shortly after he co-starred with Irene Dunne in "The White Cliffs of Dover" just gave him the green light on returning to work.

LONGER AND LONGER

RENE HUBERT, the 20th Century-Fox designer, is predicting that women's dresses will become even longer in coming months. . . . Promised and hoped for: Adele Mara in a flesh-colored bathing suit for a scene with John Wayne in "Wake of the Red Witch." . . . Another femme fatale role for Lizabeth Scott. She murders her husband for money in her next, "Too Late for Tears."

Janet Gaynor is talking about a film comeback. . . Benay Venuta's "Keep Up With the Kids" airshow will be filmed for a television series.

Colorado and Utah are having a quiet battle over the movie-location business. Colorado, burning because so many companies are going to Utah, has a representative in Hollywood with a briefcase full of Colorado scenery.

The economy wave head-chopping has started at M-G-M, where there are more executives than stars. Things are so tough there, I hear, that when a director wanted to take a big location trip to Arizona for some Sahara desert scenes, the front office told him: "Better shoot it at a sand trap at the Lakeside Country Club."

Movie Star Is Snubbed By Pig

BY PATRICIA CLARY
United Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 7 — A pig by the name of Genevieve provoked a motion picture crisis by taking an acute dislike to a movie star named Bette Davis.

Genevieve wrinkled her little snout with squawks and squeaks every time Miss Davis got near her.

Bette Davis

That caused no end of confusion, for, in the scene in Warner Bros. "June Bride," Genevieve and Miss Davis were supposed to frolic affectionately.

"I like her," Miss Davis said puzzledly. "Why doesn't she like me?"

"She is obviously boy-crazy," Robert Montgomery answered smugly. He tucked the pig under his arm and scratched her ears.

Miss Davis, Montgomery and the three-week-old pig were supposed to be going on a hayride.

The easiest way to shoot the scene, Montgomery pointed out, would be to send Miss Davis to the showers and let him and Genevieve go riding alone.

Perfume Resented

"Very funny," Miss Davis said coldly. "Doesn't this idiotic pig realize I was once president of the Tailwaggers and am a close friend of horses, dogs, cats, birds and an orangutang?"

Apparently not.

The pig's handler couldn't understand what was wrong with Miss Davis. He allowed that it might be her perfume.

"She isn't used to that kind of smell," he explained.

"Well, what kind of smell is she used to?" Miss Davis asked.

The handler laughed embarassedly.

Whatever it was, he said, it wasn't perfume.

So Miss Davis agreed to use plain unscented soap and wash away the perfume.

By that time, Genevieve was sleepy. She turned her back on Miss Davis and went to sleep on Montgomery's lap. That's the way they shot the scene.

Former Detroit Man Loses Savings In Sock At Dallas

DALLAS, Aug. 7. (AP)—Ned D. Shannon, 53-year-old former Detroit restaurant owner, took his savings—$1,051 in bills—folded them in a sock and fastened it securely with two safety pins.

He came here planning despite illness to invest in a small cafe in Dallas. Then he lost the sock. Friends said today he was left wtihout fare to return to Detroit.

This was the story behind a classified ad which appeared in the Saturday edition of the Dallas news: "Lost $1,051 in small bills by a very sick man, not able to work. All I have for doctoring. Liberal reward."

Tests Underway At Texas Tech To Cut Time Needed To Learn Cotton Spinning Value

Experiments to determine the spinning value of cotton in a short time are being conducted by the cotton textile research division of the Cotton Research committee of Texas and the cotton fiber and spinning research division of Chicopee Manufacturing corporation at Texas Technological college.

Through this cooperative project which is concerned with the effects of varying several textile engineering factors, the two committees hope to give the textile industry a new system of determining spinning value accelerated from one to two weeks to one to two days.

Many Advantages Cited

Mark Wood, in charge of Cotton Research work at Texas Tech, said such a system will allow many more cottons to be tested in a single season, and some instances may reduce the time required for developing a new strain from about two to three years to less than one year.

He said also that in addition to saving time in processing samples, as the new method of conducting spinning tests, there will be a great saving in the amount of cotton used for testing and in the cost of labor required for operating the machines.

The project is expected to be completed in about six months.

Funds Alloted For Research

The Cotton Research committee, composed of the president of Texas Tech, Dr. W. M. Whyburn, Chancellor of Texas A and M, Dr. Gibb Gilchrest, and Dr. T. S. Painter, president of Texas university, was created by the 47th Texas legislature on May 6, 1941. $153,244 is allotted to the committee each year for research. The committee was created to study means of alleviating the situation wherein Texas and American grown cotton was rapidly being displaced in the foreign markets of the world, thus creating an immense surplus which tends to lower the price of Texas and American grown cotton.

Experiments on cotton fiber are being made at Texas Tech, on cotton seed at Texas A. and M., and the economic branch of the subject is studied at Texas university.

President Whyburn will attend a meeting of the committee Aug. 9 in the Wooten hotel, Abilene.

The CHIROPRACTOR-and You

BLINDNESS and PARALYSIS

Case History No. 1953; young girl, age 5, symptoms; Unable to walk or even move legs or feet; almost completely blind.

ACCIDENT

This little girl fell out of a swing a few weeks ago and the next month she went blind. Her parents took her to various specialists to locate the cause of her blindness without results. Soon she developed paralysis in her legs, and could not move them.

CAME TO STEPHENS CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC

In the meantime, another patient referred her to this Clinic, stating that SPECIFIC CHIROPRACTIC has made it possible for other paralyzed cases to walk again.

After the CHIROPRACTIC EXAMINATION made in the STEPHENS CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC consisting of the X-Ray pictures of the spine and the Neurocalometer (nerve test) analyses, the primary CAUSE of her trouble were located.

WHAT CHIROPRACTIC HAS DONE FOR HER

From the very first specific chiropractic adjustment this child began to improve rapidly Her eyes began to improve and then she began moving her legs for the first time since her paralysis developed. In one month she began to stand alone and also to feed herself. In another month she began to walk alone and see things for the first time since her blindness occurred. At the present time she walks into the Clinic alone for her check-ups and her parents are so thrilled what scientific chiropractic has done for her that they are spreading the good news to the house-tops, as it were, and other people with whom they come in contact are thrilled for them. It would be rather difficult for anyone to tell this family that it wasn't anything to chiropractic: for they have investigated the merits of the science.

Free Men Can Cast Free Votes; President Truman Often Gets Lonely

"PARTY LOYALTY"

Not Always A Virtue

ALL THE clap-trap about "party loyalty," being heard these days in Texas and over the South, fades into the insignificance it deserves as the thoughtful peruse and assay the shameful news from Washington.

Instead of blind, subservient loyalty to an empty name—to a party which no longer exists—those who believe in the principles of Jefferson and Jackson had better lend their concern to national loyalty.

The Democrats of Texas and the South have sown the wind and now they reap the whirlwind.

Blind to the handwriting on the wall; blind to the warnings of the more wary over a long period of political brigandism during which nothing mattered except continuation and increase of power, the real Democrats have had a rude awakening. Now they know, beyond doubt, that the machinery of their party has been prostituted to serve not only those who thought solely of their own fortunes, but also to give comfort and aid to the enemy which would smash our government and make of every free American a totalitarian slave.

WHEN, in the name of "popular appeal," the Democrats of the South permitted their party to become the personal property of a crass, radical clique, they paved the way for the debacle of today. Not only welcomed into a then proud and responsible organization were respectable, independent voters honestly seeking a more liberal government. Also welcomed, and given front seats at the table, were the raga-tags and the tatterdemalions of every stripe—those who sought only to chalk up personal gain, or to deliver the nation to a foreign ism which has as its goal the enslavement of the world.

Today's leadership of what still is called the Democratic party is in the hands of the heirs and assigns of those who stole the party, stripped it of its respectability and who operated it under the theory that "anything is all right as long as it brings us votes."

It is to this leadership that some still thoughtless Texans and Southerners would have their neighbors be "loyal." It is to this leadership—which permitted Communists to get into high office—and then helped them stay there—that we real Democrats are told we "must" follow at the polls this year. We "must" follow our "leadership," we are told, or else we "wreck the Democratic party."

A GREAT many people, however, think the Democratic party already is wrecked—has been wrecked by desertion of its principles and by the infiltration of individuals and ideals totally foreign to the things for which the Democratic party always has stood.

Some of those people, recalling that it often is wiser to build a new house than to attempt to repair a tumbledown shack, believe that a new Democratic party must be built in the South. Whether the goal may be more quickly reached by voting for the unlovely Republicans, or by supporting the states rights wing of the party as recently organized in Birmingham, is a question in many minds. It is a question which will be decided, as it should be, by individual Democrats, themselves.

But this much is certain, regardless of the eventual decision of the individuals in the South:

Nobody has to vote in any way except the way he sees fit.

Nobody has to follow the radical wing of the party, the Southern wing, or the Republican party, unless he, in his own mind, thinks that is the best thing to do.

There is no power on earth which can make a free Southerner, a free Texan—or any other free American—vote for a principle, or a party, with which he does not agree.

The cry of "party loyalty" is a fraud and a deception—it is a trap for the thoughtless—when it is sounded in an effort to force the individual to vote as he prefers not to vote, and when it is in opposition to national loyalty.

One-Minute Sermon

And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the street, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, they have their reward. Matthew 6:5.

GOPS FACE BITTER BATTLE FOR CONTROL OF HOUSE

Demos Show Strength In Congressional Contests

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 7 — The battle for control of Congress in the November election will be far more closely fought than the Presidential batile.

The G.O.P. presidential ticket of Dewey and Warren has started off the campaign with a comfortable lead in the latest Institute poll, but voter attitude toward the Congressional races presents a far different story.

GALLUP

At the moment sentiment is evenly divided between the two major parties. If it were to remain that way in November, the Republicans would have a real battle on their hands to retain control of the House.

Fortunately for the G.O.P. the strength of the presidential ticket will help pull up the Congressional vote, but purely on the basis of popular sentiment in Congressional races, when divorced from the presidential race, the party score appears as follows in a poll by the Institute:

"As you feel today, would you be more likely to vote for the Democratic or for the Republican candidate for Congress from your district?"

Democratic candidate	41%
Republican candidate	41
Other parties	1
No opinion	17

TWO FACTORS, one favorable to the Democrats and one to the Republicans, must be taken into account in analyzing the above poll findings.

1. Henry A. Wallace's third party is a much less important factor in the Congressional races than in the presidential race. This factor helps the Democrats since it means that there will be comparatively few districts where a Wallace party candidate for Congress will detract from the Democratic vote.

The Wallace presidential vote was running to 5 per cent in the most recent Institute poll, as compared to a vote of only 1 per cent for all minor parties in today's survey on Congressional sentiment. Clearly the Republicans will find the Wallace forces less useful to them in dividing the Democratic vote for Congress than in dividing the vote for president.

Moreover, in Congressional races the G. O. P., will not be aided by the Southern political revolt which led to the States Rights Party. That revolt relates to the presidential race and is not expected to affect Democratic chances in Congressional races.

2. The factor favorable to the G.O.P. is that the typical American hesitates to split his vote for one party for president and another for Congress.

Today's poll divorces the Congressional race from the presidential, but such a condition does not exist, or exists to a less marked degree, in the minds of voters when they enter the booths to cast their ballots on election day. If the head of the ticket is popular, people tend to vote the straight ticket and that tendency will operate this year to the advantage of the G.O.P. in the struggle for control of the House.

The extent to which Governor Dewey's popularity outweighs the popularity of the Republican party in Congressional races is shown in the following comparison of today's poll results with the findings in the Institute survey on the presidential race:

For President
Dewey	48%
Truman	37
Wallace	5
No opinion	10
For Congress
Republican	41%
Democratic	41
Other	1
No opinion	17

However, it is quite possible that President Truman will rise in popularity as the campaign progresses. If he does gain strength, and the gap between his popularity and that of his Republican rival narrows, Democratic chances of carrying the House will be enhanced.

President Truman has thus far pitched his campaign on criticisms of the Republican-controlled Congress, calling it the "worst" Congress and inviting voters to do

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

A twenty-four-year-old chap, a very good-looking chap at that, boasted to me that he knew all about women.

"They can't fool me," he said "Women are an open book to me."

I have lived much longer than that twenty-four-year-old boy. I have met many women.

What do I know about women?

All I know about them is contained in a book a friend sent me while I was sick in bed.

BRANDEIS

"This book will be very easy to read," he wrote, "and it deals with a most interesting subject."

The book was entitled: "What Men Know About Women."

I opened it with anticipation.

I leafed through it.

It contained a couple of hundred blank pages — and not a word of text.

And that is what men know about women!

For instance:

Did you read about the young woman who sued her husband for divorce and then asked the court to reduce her alimony so that she could afford to go through college?

On the radio the other evening I was listening to one of the quiz shows.

A young woman won something like four thousand dollars (I forget the exact amount) for correctly answering a question which I also forgot.

She was overjoyed. She told the Master of Ceremonies that now she and her husband, who was sitting in the audience, could at last build that home of which they had been dreaming.

Then, in front of the entire studio audience and millions of listeners, she busted out crying and could talk no longer.

In Taunton, Mass., a 63-year-old housewife, confronted in her kitchen by three holdup men carrying a shotgun, snatched the first thing handy, an insecticide sprayer, and shot the bug juice all over the trio, making them

STICKS BY FRIENDS

Some Turn On Him

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — On the first night of the recent Democratic convention in Philadelphia, a close friend of President Truman dropped in at the residential part of the White House at about 10 p. m.

PEARSON

It was a hot night. He found the President of the United States in his pajamas, sitting cross-legged on his bed, like a tailor, watching Senator Barkley's speech on television.

The President rested his chin on his hands, his elbows on knees. Many Democratic leaders had been blasting him and he looked tired and lonely.

"Why," he asked, as the friend stepped into the room, "do they hate me so? I've tried to do the right thing. I've done everything I could. But they just don't seem to appreciate it."

The friend was surprised to see the President all alone at a time when he faced one of the crucial tests of his life—renomination. Mrs. Truman and Margaret were not to be seen. There were no house guests.

When FDR occupied the White House he sometimes had so many house guests that his children had to stay in hotels. At convention time he always gathered round him the men who had been with him in earlier campaigns—just for luck.

But Harry Truman sat in his pajamas, cross-legged, head on hands, watching the television, wondering why men hated him, and all alone.

A long talk followed, during which the friend assured the President that people did not hate him, on the contrary considered him a nice guy with too many stumblers around him. When he named some of the stumblers, however the President protested:

"Nobody knows how much John and Vaughan have done for me when I was in trouble before. They stood by me when everybody in Missouri was against me for re-election, and I never turn on a friend."

NOTE — Truman was referring to John Snyder, Secretary of the Treasury, and Gen Vaughan, White House military aide.

Navy's Potential Air Lift

The vitriolic battle over the 70-group Air Force has now been pretty well forgotten. However, biggest proof that Secretary for Air Symington was right and Secretary of Defense Forrestal wrong about the importance of air power is being demonstrated around the clock in Berlin today.

However, without detracting from the magnificent job being done by the Air Forces over Berlin, now might be a good time to demonstrate Army-Navy coordination. It happens that the Navy has the biggest air freight carriers of either branch of the service — the Mars flying boats. Now operating to Hawaii, they carry 35 tons each, about ten times the cargo of the DC-3S, mainstay of the phenomenal air lift into Berlin.

Flying the short, 200-mile hop from Hamburg to Berlin, the Mars boats would need little gasoline, therefore could carry more than 35 tons of freight. They would also have the following advantages: 1, greater life per gallon of gas; 2, fewer planes in the air corridor with less traffic congestion; 3, the trip from Hamburg to Berlin (200 mi.) is less than the present flight from Frankfort to Berlin (300).

So the Navy might get a little practice at unification by augmenting the Army over Berlin.

CALIFORNIA'S forthright Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas has a picture on her wall, autographed by Henry Wallace. It reads: "To Helen Gahagan Douglas, a liberal who holds fast. Sincerely, Henry Wallace." Yet the Wallaceites are doing everything possible to defeat the lady who has waged such a valiant battle for public housing . . . "The reason why I do not desire to remain in the Senate," writes Senator "Pappy" O'Daniel to constituents, "is because I can see slight hope of saving our nation from going entirely Socialistic or Communistic. There are less than a dozen men in the United States Senate who consistently vote to maintain the American form of government willed to us by our forefathers." . . . Maybe the real reason is that O'Daniel couldn't have been re-elected.

Barkley's 3 a. m. Break

All political observers agree that the choice of statesmanlike Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky is the happiest that could have been made for vice president on the Democratic ticket. But political observers do not agree about one interesting incident in the past life of Senator Barkley, namely how he became majority leader of the Senate.

All remember the vigorous battle between him and the late Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, ending in a one-vote victory in favor of Barkley. But most people attribute this slim margin to Senator Bilbo, who voted against his fellow Mississippian.

However, Bilbo, who hated Harrison would have voted against him anyway. It took no persuasion to influence him. And the inside fact, hitherto untold, is that this one vital vote was influenced by some midnight telephone calls started by FDR himself. Here is the inside story.

At 2 a. m., just before the Senate vote, the White House telephoned Howard Hunter, head of WPA, instructing him to get Senator William Dieterich of Illinois to switch to Barkley.

Hunter then telephoned Mayor Ed Kelly of Chicago, reached him at Eagle Lake, Wis., at 2:30 a. m. Kelly owed a lot to the WPA and expected more. He routed Senactor Dieterich out of bed at 3 a. m. to tell him he must vote for Barkley.

Dieterich had made a public statement just one day before that he would vote for Pat Harrison. However, he knew what Mayor Kelly's support meant in his re-election campaign. So he swallowed his pride and switched. Barkley was elected.

One year later, Kelly and Governor Horner of Illinois decided to get rid of Dieterich, anyway. They dumped him in favor of Scott Lucas.

Kindly Alben Barkley had nothing to do with it. But it remains a fact that politics is a cruel game.

"WHAT THE PEOPLE WANT"

Arnall Describes National Scene

"WHAT THE PEOPLE WANT," by Ellis Gibbs Arnall; (Lippincott).

ELLIS GIBBS ARNALL, former Governor of Georgia who has received nation-wide recognition as one of the South's leading liberals, has told in a new book, "What the People Want" what he learned about the American people and their problems during a 75,000 mile lecture tour of 47 states.

ARNALL

He visited Lubbock on one of his lecture journeys.

What do the people want? Arnall found that most people want the same things, better housing, lower taxes, more education.

He sees little real threat, in this election year, to the actual solidarity of the South. He points out that the South traditionally gives signs of splitting away from the Democratic party prior to presidential elections, but seldom has gone all the way to vote for the opposing ticket.

Some of Arnall's report is unevenly written and some of it bogs down in data that could be found in a guide book, but he writes brightly about Franklin Roosevelt, Harry Truman, the La Follettes, Henry Wallace, "Big Jim" Folsom, Senator Wayne Morse and others on the national scene. And he has a wry humor that sustains the book, such as when he compares the intolerances of the South with those of Boston.

Briton's Viewpoint

"THE AMERICAN DEMOCRACY," by Harold J. Laski; (Viking).

ANY attempt to convey here an idea of the depth and magnitude of this work, with its numerous brilliant observations and frequently scintillating phrases, is almost certain to fail. for Laski's 760 pages can't be reduced to 350 words.

But the publisher's suggestion that this is a worthy successor to the Tocqueville and Bryce classics is not unjustifiably immodest, for this is a large-scale survey of our country, what it came from, where it has arrived and what it may become, and if Laski took on a formidable task, the achievement is beyond question formidable, too.

Capitalism Usurps Powers

The author, a leader in the British Labor party and thus well to the left of considerable bodies of American opinion, looks benevolently on political democracy, as did the two previous French and British observers, but he feels that capitalism has usurped democracy's powers and cancelled its privileges.

He examines our traditions, spirit, political institutions . . . impressed by the Senate, appalled by the House; our phenomenal business enterprise and our unions, which he finds naively free of any desire to enter politics; our education, culture, religion, press, movies, radio, and finally our dominant world position and our chance of making the best use of it.

The 1929 depression, he says, was not unlike a "decomposition of democratic institutions," but in a sense that was merely a particularly striking dramatization of what had been happening to us since the Civil War. He explains that Americanism is now much like Europeanism in the "accumulation of wealth and decadence of men." We are now less concerned with what a man is than with what a man has. If we are unhappy and fearful, as our writers indicate, it's because we have lost our way. While he has the highest praise for Roosevelt, he regrets that the President did not make it plain to the country . . . and maybe didn't believe himself . . . that "a new social order" was necessary, that reform was not enough.

Laski attacks "the free enterprise system—the American business man's euphemism for a capitalism from which most of the world is seeking to free itself," and says that it will lead to war.

World Without Visa

"WORLD WITHOUT VISA," by Jean Malaquais, translated by Peter Grant, (Doubleday).

FIFTEEN years ago, this big novel might have been laughed off as ridiculous melodrama, filled with incredible brutalities and bestiality, impossible lovalties and love, unbelievable suffering and treachery. During and since the war, the press has inured us to extremes of this sort, and taken some of the fire out of wartime fiction.

But here is a novelist who makes you accept the incredible and impossible in the brutalities and lovalties, and inspires the familiar with a fresh, tingling thrill.

Scene In Marseilles

It's a story of a society to which violence has been done by every imaginable means. The scene for most of the way is Marseilles, with occasional trips to Vichy and Paris; and the time, from the defeat of France until after the Anglo-American invasion of Africa.

The cast of characters is as long as your arm; there aren't 40,000,000 Frenchmen here literally, but they seem to be here in effect. Some are wrong, some right, and some come in between, since periods of maximum stress tend to heighten what's good in a man and also to intensify the evil in him. There are girls in love, and girls who just want a man; there are Karen alias Gervaise, the colonel alias the professor, Wolfgang alias von Lodevijck; there are corruptible and incorruptible Yours, consecrated Marc Laverne, Espinasse who tempers his tortures to the hostage held by Vichy's foes, Emilio Lopez who can paint a Duerer, Pontillac, Papaky, Hirsch, Futeau, Melodie, Matthieu, and hosts of others.

It was a time of fantastic and horrible melodrama, and that's in the book. You accept it, too, the brave talk and cowardly deed, the pettiness and grandeur, odor and malodor, all the abandon, frenzy and terror. It's as hard to wait for the next page as it was, in wartime, to wait for the next headlines.

About Black Peoples

"NEW SONG IN A STRANGE LAND," by Esther Wagner; (Houghton Mifflin).

ACCOMPANYING her husband, a botanist who went to Liberia for Firestone, Mrs. Warner lived for a time in Monrovia and penetrated the interior in pursuit of what she supposes is her calling: Sculpture.

This is a vivid, moving, intimate account of black peoples who are wise though they are uneducated, virtuous though they are not Christian, artistic though they don't know the rules of art, and civilized though ignorant of our civilization.

Mrs. Warner finds fault with government officials, with the treatment of natives by black and white overlords; with bugs in the flour, termites, cockroaches, marching ants, snakes, a chimpanzee outside the kitchen door.

But she doesn't complain when Poor Boy puts a hair in her soup so that she will grow fonder of him, or when Sammi cooks rice his way instead of hers. And she learns to love the genuine simple people, the wind chime that reminds her of a Calder mobile, the beauty of a mud hut, the perfection of the carved native bowl, the passion in the dances. She tells many delightful stories, among the best the one about Wheager who posed while she modeled his head, but who insisted on wearing his new pants, though she scoffed at the idea since, she explained, they would not show. He answered:

"When a boy got new trouser, the heart can grow big with glad. And when the heart be glad, the glad can show in the face. So, you see, the trouser can show."

"City Of Opportunity" Is Seminole Slogan

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

SEMINOLE, Aug. 7. — It could be said with some accuracy that opportunity hasn't had a chance to knock for several years in Seminole, for the unusually civic-minded people here have made a noteworthy effort to reach out and greet the elusive lady before she raises her knuckles to the door.

Simulated by a fantastic oil development which began in 1936, Seminole has undergone a 100 per cent face lifting that continues unabated, pushed by its businessmen. Gaines county cattle lands that could seldom be sold for any price in the early 1930's are now known to lie over 10 separate oil fields which oil men say will justify extensive drilling for perhaps another 50 years.

Story is Recalled

The story goes that a Midland man was invited to speak at a Seminole dinner several years ago. He admitted during his talk that he had never known Seminole Texas, existed. He had interpreted references to Seminole to mean Seminole, Okla.

Shocked by this statement, Seminole businessmen took immediate action. They cooked up a stunt which they called "Seminole Entertains Seminole."

They invited the residents of Seminole, Okla., to visit Seminole Texas, en masse. The response was successful and the exchange of visits has become annual, to the great satisfaction of publicity-minded Seminole, Texas.

Growth Has Been Steady

It is largely due to such aggressiveness that Seminole has since 1940, grown from an official population of 1,760 to an unofficial estimate of 5,000. And the growth is apparently due to continue, in spite of certain obvious handicaps.

Called "the opportunity city" by its own residents, Seminole makes the best of its assets. Just recently one official discovered that Seminole has not had a traffic fatality in 26½ years. In typical fashion that news was spread to the four corners of the earth, along with the proud claim that Seminole is one of the safest cities ofits size in the nation.

Semiqole's appearance is still undergoing rapid changes, and these changes have as last shifted from an oil-field type of temporary building to solid, permanent developments, most noticeable in the central business district, in the schools and in the city's park area.

Buildings Under Construction

A number of brick buildings are currently under construction, with plans made for more. Raymond Barrier is constructing a department store building which will house a large retail outlet. Forrest Lumber company has replaced a frame building with a modern retail store.

A common school district, Seminole has unusually fine system, thanks to the major oil companies active in Gaines county, which have financed a large part of the program. The last school census showed 1,300 students.

School Buildings Modern

All the school buildings are modern. Just completed is a shop building which would be a credit to a metropolitan school. A new high school and elementary school buildings add much to the city's appearance.

Two city blocks in the northwest part of town have been dedicated as a city park, and a full-time caretaker is now at work to beautify it. The park is flanked by other recreational facilities, including a $75,000 agricultural exhibits building which will be ready for occupancy by the time Gaines county holds its annual fair; a stadium that seats 6,000 persons; a swimming pool with bath house which opened last Monday.

VFW Has Clubhouse

The Veterans of Foreign Wars post purchased one of Seminole's oldest frame buildings, placed it on a lot overlooking the park, and are currently making extensive alterations to it as a clubhouse.

Deposits at Seminole State bank only one in Seminole, total $2,393,262. The bank was organized in 1940 with capital structure of $30,000 and since that time has been able to erect one of the most modern small bank buildings in West Texas. L. G. Daugherty is president.

Postal receipts doubled in the period between 1940 and 1947, records at the office of Mrs. Jewell F. Cobb, postmistress, indicate.

Postal Receipts Jump

In 1940 the post office showed receipts of $9,954. By 1947 receipts had jumped to $18,385. Money order sales for 1947 were the largest in the history of the post office, totaling $281,526. That most of this is due to oil field personnel in the area is shown by the fact that in 1942, when the war nearly halted drilling operations, money order sales dropped to a low ebb of $33,317.

Highways radiating in six directions from Seminole provide the chief means of communication, since the town has no railroad.

U. S. Highway 180 provides an east-west artery from Fort Worth to El Paso by way of Carlsbad Caverns national park. Highway 214 provides a direct route from South Texas to Clovis, N. M. Highway 51 extends from Lubbock to south Texas.

Ranching Still Major Operation

Gaines county has never been a strong farming area, and some oldtimers doubt that it ever will be.

Ranching continues to be of high importance, and many large ranches still exist nearly as they did 30 years ago.

A. L. Duff, a Seminole abstractor who probably knows more about Gaines county oil than any other resident, doubts that Gaines county will ever become a highly developed farm land. He admits that other pioneers, notably R. W. Pittman, disagree.

First Leasing in 1912

It is paradoxical that farming on a large scale has been successful in Gaines county in several instances, where the average small farmer has had less luck.

Although Gaines county was organized in 1905, little development took place until the oil fields were recognized.

Duff recalls that the first leasing for minerals took place in 1912, when Lyon-Mathews company leased to the Sun Oil company 26,974 acres in the eastern part of the county. No action was ever taken on the lease.

Heavy Leasing Began in 1936

Land values remained low, and few transactions were made. In the early 1930's mineral values increased more rapidly than land values, and mineral rights frequently sold for more than the land itself, less mineral rights.

Heavy leasing by oil companies began in 1936 and the first well in Gaines county was drilled in 1936.

There are now 825 producing oil wells in the county, Duff estimates. The oil valuation last year was $20,000,000 and it will be increased to $26,000,000 this year, Duff said. The taxable valuation of the county is $5,000,000, bringing the county's total valuation to approximately $31,000,000.

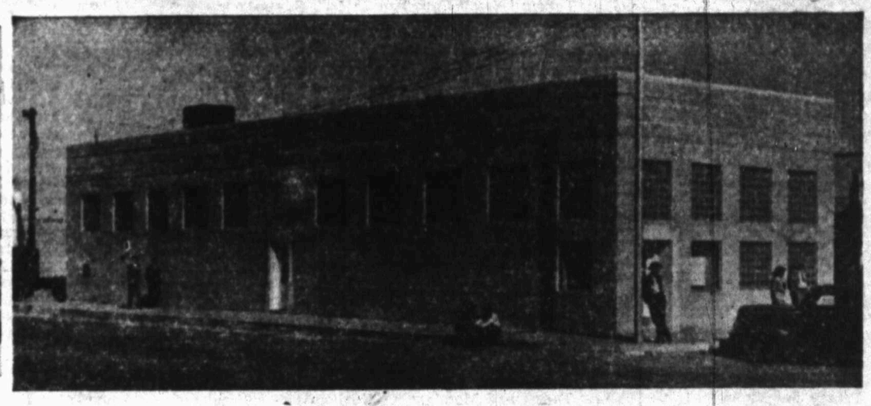

The county has 2,371 automobiles registered, as well as 464 commercial trucks and 164 farm trucks, records of H. S. Birdwell, sheriff and tax assessor-collector show.

Seminole is served by two hospitals, the Gaines Clinic-Hospital and the Tomb hospital. The latter of these has an unusual "alcoholic annex" operated by Dr. Andrew S. Tomb, where chronic alcoholics are treated for $125 a week.

Seminole's oldest business establishment is its newspaper, the Seminole Sentinel, which was founded in 1907. It is now operated by Col. D. L. Watson, who bought it in April, 1946.

Among newest projects undertaken at Seminole is the formation of a new Baptist church. A building fund has been started and Rev. Sam Malone, who was ordained by the First Baptist church of Seminole and served his first pastorate with that church over 30 years ago, will be pastor temporarily. Mr. Malone formerly published the Seminole Sentinel.

By RUTH BRIGHAM
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 7 — Dick Powell and June Allyson have come up with the best idea of all to bamboozle or baffle, to say the least, Hollywood.

Dick's taking a six-months vacation. Now, that could be just a six months vacation. Or it could be a trial separation. Or it could be a very clever way of putting over a definite separation, and telling nobody nothin' for six months.

June Allyson

All we know is this: Dick has never allowed Junie far from his side. He's considered a devoted if jealous husband. She's always enjoyed being the "sweet little girl bride."

And all of a sudden this long trip. If it is not a "separation" it's a darn good imitation of one.

Her story: "Dick likes the water. I get seasick. He said he'd stay home if I asked him to. But I told him to go . . ."

Denies Stork Rumors

And Esther Williams, pitching ball like a boy on the "Take Me Out to The Ball Game," set, is denying the stork rumors. Her husband, Ben Gage, isn't. He's just grinning.

Ben gifted Esther with a perfectly charming bracelet on her 21st birthday. That's what the inscription says. Anyway, it's Ben's way of going along with his wife on no more birthdays after she hit 21.

You'd never guess it, but the MGM star who has made the most money in pictures during the past 10 years is Wallace Beery. The veteran actor is the only MGM star who has a share-the-profits contract. His pictures have made more money and he has made more pictures than any other actor—consistently, says the studio. Which shows that beauty isn't the only thing that pays off in Hollywood.

Elizabeth To Star

Dore Schary will soon be on the ball at MGM, after a European vacation, and one of the first pictures to be made under the new setup will have an anti-Communist tinge. It will star Elizabeth Taylor in her first real grown-up and married role—in which she is duped into marriage with a Soviet spy. Ray Milland is being considered for the male role, not the spy, but as the British officer who catches him and who falls for young Liz.

The picture, to be made in England, awaits further word of the outlook of possible war.

Queen Bess, in which Elizabeth was slated to star, has been temporarily shelved.

Capsule Comments

Judith Anne Donlevy, recent victim of a custody tussle between the now divorced Brian Donlevys, wearing a handmade organdy dress and a wide-eyed, wondering look as she lunched with her father, Dorothy Lamour and Marjorie Rambeau at the Brown Derby.

Margaret O'Brien, cute as a bug in a rug even now that she's at the "awkward age," is more excited over her long dresses than anything else about "Little women."

Irene Hervey, the better-half of one of Hollywood's happy-thomarried for 12 years couples, is anxious for Allan Jones to hurry back from Europe for their second honeymoon. This time, says the pretty actress, they'll charter a boat and "just drift." . . .

Warner brothers will probably pay up to $100,000 for screen rights to "Beyond The Forest" for their newest attraction, Patricia Neal, now playing opposite Gary Cooper in "The Fountainhead."

Gene Kelly, clowining with Frank Sinatra on the "Take Me Out to The Ball Game" set, yelled "Yeah, and you can tell that to Mr. Mayer." It wasn't necessary, about that time the old man came in. . . .

Power Lines Criss Cross County

Rural Electrification Is Seen As Boon To Floyd Farmers

FLOYDADA, Aug. 7 (Special) —Nowhere on the South Plains can the results of rural electrification be better observed than in Floyd county, where, in little more than 10 years, the entire area has been criss-crossed with hundreds of miles of power lines to bring the convenience of the city to farm life.

L. W. Chapman, manager of Floyd county's rural electric co-operative, The Floyd County Electric Co-operative, Inc., has seen the development from the start.

Started In 1938

"Rural electrification has literally lifted farm life from drudgery to one of convenience and modern living," Chapman said. "I don't know of anything that has helped so much to raise the standard of living of the farmer."

Floyd county's first rural electric line was energized in 1938. Since that time the co-operative has completed 868 miles of line serving more than 1,600 users.

Not all of these lines are in Floyd county, however. The co-operatives also serves portions of Crosby, Dickens, Hale, Swisher and Briscoe counties.

"We are on the way to serving all farms with electric power," Chapman explained. "It may be six, eight or ten years, but eventually there will not be a farm in Floyd county that does not have access to cheap electric power."

More Funds Allotted

A big boost toward this goal was recently given in an allocation of $540,000 from the Rural Electrification administration for construction of 237 miles of additional lines and three additional substations. At present the Floyd county co-operative's system has three sub-stations.

The Floyd county system is one of the few in the South Plains that is able to provide power for irrigation wells. Chapman says 110 irrigation wells are served by its lines. Farmers generally consider electric-powered irrigation, pumps a boon, since less labor is required for their irrigation, and fuel problems and many repair difficulties are eliminated.

The co-operative is working on plans for a new office building in the southern part of Floydada's business district.

Under construction at present are 120 miles of lines. Poles are in the air, and wire is awaited Chapman said, to serve 200 additional users, ranging from ranchland to intensely irrigated truck farms.

The cooperative is also serving oil wells in the Petersburg field.

ONE WAY TO GET A SUIT

PORTLAND, Me. (U.P.)—A young man tried on a brown striped suit, size 36, in Morris Raddin's store, decided it looked perfect and dashed away, leaving his old one behind.

It takes 3,000 cocoons to make a pound of raw silk. The worm which spins each cocoon eats fifty times its own weight in mulberry leaves.

Traffic Lights To Be Installed At Tech

Installation of eight traffic lights on Texas Technological college campus is underway and it is hoped that the work will be completed by the opening of the fall semester in September, W. T. Gaston, business manager at the college has announced.

The $6,500 contract for the installation was let to the American Electric company of Lubbock. One of the lights will be located at the intersection north and west of the campus Bookstore, while the other seven will be placed at various intersections around Memorial circle, Gaston said.

Vets Planning To Attend Tech In Fall Asked To Sign Papers

Veterans of World War II who are in college under either part VII1 or Part VIII who plan to attend school at Texas Technological college the fall term should report to the office of the Coordinator of Veterans affairs, Room 109, Administration building at Tech, according to Hugh A. Anderson, coordinator of veterans affairs.

By filling out necessary papers in advance, the veteran can help himself get his checks on time, and help the Veterans administration avoid a September rush, Anderson said.

Communist Party Will Support Henry Wallace For President

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. (AP) — There'll be no Communist candidate for president this fall.

Instead the Communist party will support the third party candidacy of Henry A. Wallace and his Progressive party. Support of the new political group will be given without the Communists seeking any "special interests" in it, leaders said.

These plans were disclosed yesterday when the Communist party adopted a 3,000-word platform at the final session of its 14th annual convention.

Foster Reelected Head

Besides passing the platform, the Communists re-elected William Z. Foster, as national chairman. They also returned to high party posts 11 other party officials who were indicted recently by a federal grand jury with Foster on charges of advocating the violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

The platform:

1. Denounced both Democrats and Republicans for what was described as their "bi-partisan war program" and "runaway inflation."

2. Called upon Americans "to help explode the myth that Communists are foreign agents or advocate force and violence."

3. Called on all Americans "who hate Fascism to defend the rights of Communists."

4. Pleaded for a "return to the peace policies of Franklin D. Roosevelt, based upon friendship and cooperation with our great wartime ally, the Soviet Union.

The indictments against Foster and the 11 others, returned two weeks ago, charged them with advocating and teaching the overthrow of the U. S. government by force and violence. All now are free on bail.

The convention asked that the indictments be withdrawn, called for an end to what it described as "phony spy scares," and urged the voiding of contempt citations against "the anti-Fascist victims of congressional inquisitions."

Reelected as general secretary of the party was Eugene V. Dennis. The other indicted leaders reelected were:

Benjamin Davis, New York City councilman; John Gates, editor of the Daily Worker, official Communist party organ; Gilbert Green of Chicago, Illinois party chairman; Gus Hall of Cleveland, Ohio Chairman; Irvin Potash, international vice-president of the CIO Furriers union; Jack Stachel, national education secretary; Robert Thompson of New York, state chairman; John Williamson, national trade union secretary; Carl Winter of Detroit, Michigan state chairman, and Henry Winston, national organization secretary.

All were returned to positions on the party's national committee, which it was announced is replacing the party's 50-member national committee. The 50-member committee previously had elected a smaller board to run party affairs.

Convention sessions were closed. The platform and election results were made public by a party spokesman.

Scholarship Awards At Tech Announced

Five scholarships of $200 each have been voted Texas Technological college by the board of trustees of the alumni and ex-students Loyalty Fund effective Sept. 1, 1948.

One scholarship will be available to one student from each of the five undergraduate divisions who attained the highest grade point average on a minimum of 30 semester hours and whose father or mother has completed at least one semester in-residence at Texas Tech.

The scholarship is to be administered by the committee on scholarships and awards. The student winning the scholarship must have attained a 1.5 or better grade average on a minimum of 30 hours during the preceding academic year, and the recipient must maintain a 1.5 grade average to be eligible for the scholarship the second semester.

No student holding another scholarship of comparable or greater vlaue will be considered eligible for the Loyalty Fund scholarships.

HORSESHOE THAT FAILED

FORT WORTH, Tex., (AP)—The horseshoe on the wallet of J. D. Jackson wasn't as lucky as it might have been. A thief took the wallet, $25 in it and a $115 watch from Jackson.

TWINS, THRICE, IN 27 MONTHS—It's the same old story for Mrs. Charles E. Summers, 30, of Doylestown, O. Yep, twins again. It's the third set in 27 months for the Summers family—on May 26, 1946, Suzan and Patricia; on Sept. 2, 1947, Michael and Paul; and her are the latest, Charles, Jr., and Jorn, born Aug. 1. Mrs. Summers, a former WAC, married her husband, Charles, in New Guinea, where both were stationed.

A new vacuum tube for changing alternating into direct current, applicable to 110-volt supply such as used in ordinary commercial service, has been announced. The rectifier uses cesium metal both as coating for the hot cathode and as current-carrying vapor.

Human ears can seldom hear the incessant clamor of the bat as he flits about overhead because the bat's signaling voice lies in the wave band of about 50,000 cycles or vibrations per second. Human ears can only detect sound in the band from 20 to 20,000 cycles.

Will Rogers Statue Arrives At Tech; Unveiling Set Later

The life-size statue of Will Rogers which was given to Texas Technological college by Amon G. Carter, publisher of The Fort Worth Star-Telegram, arrived on the campus this past week and awaits only the arrival of the base for its unveiling.

The statue, entitled "Riding Into The Sunset," was done by Electra Waggoner Briggs of Vernon and New York, and will be placed on the west end of the esplanade of the main entrance to the campus. The statue depicts Rogers riding his favorite horse, "Soap-suds," and weighs 3,200 pounds. It stands 9 feet 11 inches high, and is valued at $25,000.

Carter, a member of Tech's first board of directors, was a close friend of Will Rogers, and gives the monument in tribute to the celebrated philosopher.

Woman Gets Divorce After Husband Complains Of Food

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 7 (AP) — Mrs. Sarah J. Munro wanted a divorce because her husband refused to eat leftover food.

And she got it.

Advisory master William R. J. Burton in New Jersey chancery court agreed with Mrs. Munro's argument: Throwing away uneaten food "can become very expensive today with the price of food as it is."

Mrs. Munro said she and her husband, Oliver, quarreled constantly over the leftover food. She called it cruel.

Burton agreed and granted the Collingswood, N. J., housewife a divorce.

Oil Industry Turns In Healthy Report For First Half Of Year

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, Aug. 7 — The oil industry, despite its problems of supply and demand, steel shortages and transportation, turned in a healthy report card for the first half of 1948.

There is little gloom to be found in the mid-year reports on the industry's activities as printed in current issues of two pretroleum publications, World Oil and The Oil and Gas Journal.

World Oil says approximately 15,000,000 barrels of refined products added to storage from January through June illustrate "The improvement achieved by the industry in catching up with growing demand, for in the initial half of 1947 stocks were reduced more than 10,000,000 barrels."

Drilling Activities Up

The Oil and Gas Journal says drilling activities for the period were 9.8 percent over original forecasts and "represent a goal which six months ago would have been considered impossible if not ridiculous!"

Between January 1 and June 30, World Oil says, the industry supplied a total demand for all oils in the amount of 1,127,272,000 barrels, a daily average of 6,194,000 barrels, 7.2 percent above the 1947 first half average.

Crude and condensate production for the six months were totaled by The Oil and Gas Journal at 998,157,000 barrels, an increase of 103,431,000.

World Oil says strict wildcat drillings totaled 2706 as compered with 2084 for the first half of 1947. During the six months 312 oil, condensate and gas field discoveries were made as compared with 249 last year.

Wells Are Completed

The first half of 1948 saw completion of 17,837 wells, Oil And Gas Journal reports, an increase of 19.1 percent. Included were 10,287 oil wells as compared with 8,269 for 1947's mid-year report.

Both publications predict the record breaking trends for production and exploration will continue through the second half of the year.

Current production:

Crude oil production and runs to stills continue to increase as gasoline production and stocks decline.

American Petroleum institute figures place crude production for the week ending July 31 at a daily average of 5,455,450 barrels, 7650 higher than the previous week. Refineries operated at 97.5 per cent capacity, running 5,718,000 barrels of crude to stills daily as compared with 5,591,000 barrels a week earlier.

Production Average Given

A year ago crude production averaged 5,087,600 barrels daily, with still runs totaling 5,309,000.

Gasoline processing for the week ending July 31 totaled 17,646,000 barrels as compared with 17,879,000 a week earlier and 16,558,000 a year ago.

Gasoline stocks declined to 99,116,000 as compared with 100,641,000 the previous week and, 86,032,000 for the same period last year.

Industry quotes:

Robert H. Colley, president, Atlantic Refining company: "Customers want still more oil—on the average, every day, about 1350 barrels more than the day before."

Mexican Gas:

Mexico's first home made high test gasoline, super-Maxolina, and 80 octane product of Pemex, the government monopoly, went on sale Wednesday in Mexico City.

Sale Price is Stated

Sale price is 35 centavos a liter, about 21 1-2 cents a gallon at the current peso-dollar rate.

Previously Pemex produced only a 70 octane gasoline and a very low quality fuel, selling at about 17 and 13 cents per gallon, respectively.

The Texas company plans to shut down its small refinery at Galena Park effective October 1, the plant to be maintained as a crude oil terminal.

Overturned Circus Truck Sets Off Fight, Lone Witness Flees

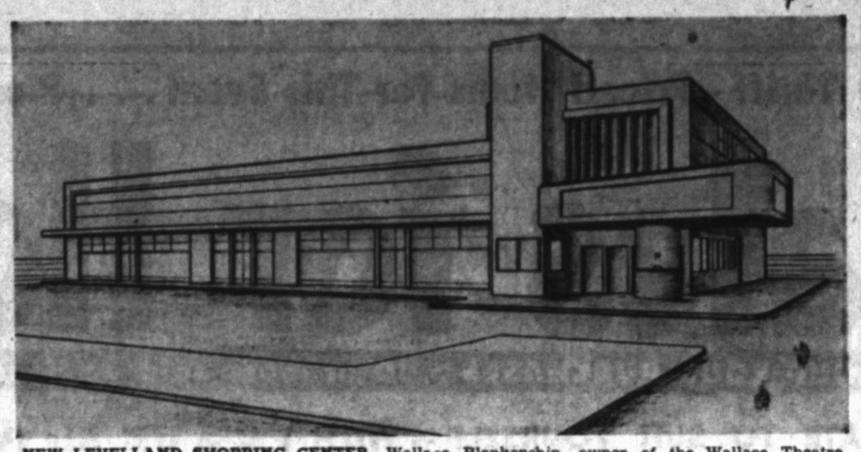

LYNCHBURG, Va., Aug. 6 (AP) — Leo the lion retained his title as king of beasts in an impromptu bout just north of here yesterday.

But the title defense cost the King Brothers circus one full-grown leopard valued at about $450, a gaily painted circus truck and the services of one of its drivers.

The large, compartmented truck housing the two circus beasts overturned on a steep incline when brakes apparently failed. As wreckers attempted to right one truck, the door between Leo's cage and that of the leopard swung open.

Leo pounced on his smaller adversary and won with a sharp clamp of the teeth on the leopard's windpipe.

When last seen, the truck driver was hitchhiking northward.

NEW LEVELLAND SHOPPING CENTER—Wallace Blankenship, owner of the Wallace Theatre circuit on the South Plains, Saturday announced construction of an ultra-modern theater building and shopping center for Levelland. The new theater and shopping center will be located on a quarter block on West Houston street and will cost an estimated $150,000. The theater will seat 1,200 and will have the latest in sound equipment, air-conditioning, etc. Blankenship plans the theater as one of the most modern in Texas. Ample parking space will also be available for shoppers at the center. Construction of the project is to begin as soon as new Wallace theaters are completed in Andrews and Morton. Plans for the shopping center and theater were drawn by Harvey Allen, Lamesa architect.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. (AP) — Broadway's hit play, "Mister Roberts," has been "toned down," at the request of the police department.

Leland Hayward, producer, said yesterday the changes involved eliminating profanity and ribaldry where it was possible to do so without changing the substance or impact of the dialogue.

The play, by Thomas Heggen and Joshua Logan, won unanimous acclaim by the critics when it opened here Feb. 18.

Springfield's Champ Tagger Of Cars Leaves On Vacation

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 7. (INS)—There was a lot of behind-the-wheel cheering in Springfield today. Seems Patrolman Christopher J. Aspall is going on vacation.

Patrolman Aspall is Springfield's champ car-tagger. He issued 30,000 summonses for parking violations last year and says he's ahead of that record this year.

When he comes back from vacation, he says, he's going to "work harder than ever."

Man Pleads Guilty Of Stealing Navy Material To Use On House

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP) — Arthur A. Hlavin built himself an eight-room house for about $600.

Then he told a federal judge how he did it. He pleaded guilty to charges of stealing a little of this and that while he was in charge of the Great Lakes Naval Training station's reclamation yard. He was a civilian storekeeper there from 1943 to 1947.

Prosecutor Robert C. Eardley said Hlavin admitted taking 233 different types of material—including nails, used lumber, hinges, screws, fittings, conduit, tools, electrical equipment, etc., etc. . . Eardley said Hlavin's only cash outlay for the house was about $600 for lumber.

Judge Philip L. Sullivan set Sept. 24 for disposition and released Hlavin on $500 bond yesterday.

South Plains Oil Activity Stimulated By The Reports Of Locations In Gaines, Hockley And Garza Fields

LOCATIONS for new wildcat petroleum prospectors in northeast Gaines county, in east-central Hockley county, and in northwest Garza county, were reported during the past seven days.

A new discovery in northeast Terry county had kicked off after swabbing, and was flowing to cleanout, test, and complete as the opener of a new field from the Cisco section of the Pennsylvanian lime.

The northeast Gaines county venture is to be drilled by R. S. Brennand, Jr., of Midland, and associates, as their No. 1 Riley.

Between Two Fields

It will be between the Adair and the Cedar Lake fields, and is located at the center of the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 35, block H, D&W survey.

Drilling with rotary tools is to be started immediately. It is to go about 5,250 feet to explore into the San Andres-Premian formation.

Woodley Petroleum company No. 1 J. J. Alderson, et al, is the new exploration for east-central Hockley county. It is three miles northwest of the town of Smyer, about one mile west of the nearest completed oil wells in the original Smyer field, and three miles east of the recently opened Spade field.

It is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 10, block A, R. M. Thompson survey.

Drilling with rotary tools is to get underway immediately. The exploratoin is to go to between 6,000 feet and 6,200 feet, to test into the Glorieta section of the middle Permian, the producing formation in both the Smyer and the Spade fields.

New Wildcat Scheduled

Honolulu Oil corporation No. 1 Shelby County fee, in northwest Garza county, and three miles southeast of Southland, is scheduled as a 5,400-foot wildcat.

It is located 440 feet from east and 3,360 feet from north lines of the Shelby county school lands survey, Abstract 397.

The project will be about three and one half miles north of the nearest producing oil wells in the PHD field of Northwest Garza county.

Terry Well Completes

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1. E. M. Hinson, northeast Terry county discovery from the Cisco-Pennsylvanian lime, was flowing to clean out, test and complete as a new field opener.

It is 10 miles northeast of Brownfield, eight miles southwest of Meadow, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 91, block 4-X, psl survey.

On last report the wildcat had kicked off, after having been swabbed for about 40 hours, and was flowing an average of nine barrels of fluid per hour, through open two inch tubing.

No formation water was showing, but the oil contained from ten per cent to 20 per cent drilling mud, and sediment. The remainder of the fluid being flowed out was oil.

Production At 9,400 Feet

The production is coming from the lime zone between 9,405 feet and the total depth at 9,455 feet, and was natural

Operator likely will wash the pay zone with a small treatment of acid, to clean off the open hole, and stimulate the oil and gas yield.

On preliminary tests, before 7-inch casing was cemented at 9,400 feet, this important development produced 91 barrels of clean oil in a two hour drillstem test at 9,401-39 feet.

Operator is expected that the well will get back to that rate of production as soon as it is fully cleaned up and all the drilling fluid recovered from the pay horizon.

Plugged And Abandoned

Bankline Oil company No. 1 Ray, southeast Terry county, wildcat, about three quarters of a mile southeast of the same company's No. 1 Butler, a small discovery from the San Andres, drilled to 5,025 feet, in the San Andres-Permian lime, and had only slight signs of oil, and considerable salty, sulphur water.

It has been plugged and abandoned. The development was 2,310 feet from south and west lines of section 12, block C-39, psl survey

Bankline No. 1 Butler, 660 feet from north and west lines of section 12, block C-39, psl survey, is shutin, waiting for orders. It has pumped small quantities of oil, and some salty water from the pay at 4,910-67 feet.

Interested observers do not think the project is capable of making sufficient oil to pay the expense of operating, and it probably will be abandoned in a short time.

Drilling In Dawson

Seaboard No. 2 Lee, southeast Dawson county prospector to 10,600 feet, to test into the Ellenburger, had spudded to 315 feet in shale, and redbeds, and will drill ahead as soon as the plug is cured on a string of 13⅜-inch casing which had been cemented on bottom.

It is 15 miles southeast of Lamesa, and 440 feet from north and east lines of section 47, block 34, TP survey, T-5-N.

In southwest Gaines county, about 15 miles southwest of Seminole, and 662 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 4, block A-25, psl survey, bottomed at 11,705 feet in granite, after drilling through a barren Ellenburger section.

It plugged back to 9,272 feet in the Devonian and set casing near that point.

The pipe was perforated at 9,220-70 feet. That interval was treated with 1,000 gallons of acid, and at last report it was swabbing an average of 20 barrels of black sulphur water per hour, with a slight show of gas The water was standing 600 feet below surface.

No. 1 Riley Drilling

No signs of oil had been developed from the section being tested, which is in the Devonian lime and chert.

Operator may ssueeze off the current perforations and perforate and test higher in the Devonian.

W. H. Black Drilling company No. 1 Riley, in west-central Gaines county, five miles west of Seminole, and 680 feet from north and west lines of section 259, block G, WTRR survey, had reached 3,686 feet in dry lime and anhydrite and lime, and was making more hole.

In south-central Ganies county, about 13 miles south of Seminole, Shell Oil Company, Inc., No. 1 Hawkins, slated 12,000-foot wildcat, located 1,983 feet from north and 665 feet from east lines of section 8, block A-23, psl survey, had cleaned up a fishing job, which had delayed drilling for about three weeks, when total depth was at 6,010 feet, and it is now making new hole below 6,030 feet, in middle Permian lime.

Gaines Wells Going Ahead

This project has logged some slight shows of oil and gas, but none of those so far encountered have been sufficient for making any sort of an oil well.

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Hicks, in extreme southeast Gaines county, and 660 feet from north and west lines of tract 16, league 273, Loving county school land survey, had drilled below 4,500 feet, in shale, and annydrite, and was boring ahead. It is contracted to 12,500 feet.

Honoluku Oil corporation No. 1 Riley, in central-northeast Gaines county, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of the southeast quarter of section 123, block G, WTRR survey, had penetrated blow 7,112 feet in dry lime and shale, and was going on down. It is contracted to dig to at least 7,500 feet.

Drilling Ahead

Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1 San Salvador Development company, a slated 5,250-foot wildcat in northeast Gaines county, 17 miles east of Seagraves, and 660 feet from south and east lines of the south half of section 4, block G, C&MRR survey, had reached 4,295 feet in anhydrite and gyp. It is continuing to make hole.

In northwest Gaines county, 10 miles southwest of Denver City, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 496, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, Argo Oil corporation No. 1-N, Jones, had progressed below 10,428 feet in dry chert and lime, and was boring on down.

Texas Gulf Producing company No. 1 Oil Development company fee, ten miles northwest of Seminole, in northwest Gaines county, and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 315, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, had reached 6,636 feet, in lime and shale, and was drilling ahead.

Drilling Continues

Cities Service Oil company and The Atlantic Refining company No. 2 Proctor, about ten miles west of Seminole, and 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 355, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, was drilling in dry lime past 3,525 feet.

J. W. Murchison, et al, No. 1 Ellwood Fouts, in central Yoakum county, six miles southwest of Plains, and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 575, block D, John H. Gibson survey, had progressed under 7,238 feet in lime and shale, and was continuing.

In southeast Cochran county, two miles west of the closest completed oil wells in the southwest side of the Slaughter field, and 660 feet from north and west lines of the west 471.75 acres of the east three-quarters of league 89, Lipscomb county school lands, Honolulu Oil corporation No. 11-B Dean, scheduled 5,000-foot wildcat, had reached 4,284 feet in lime and was making more hole.

Digging On Down

Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 Birtie Brown, contracted to 11,600 feet to test into the Strawn section of the Pennsylvanian lime in the Landon-Deep area of south-central Corchran county, and 2,655 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 4, block L, psl survey, had penetrated past 8,839 feet in lime and shale, and was digging on down.

Sunray Oil corporation and Skelly Oil company No. 1 Kimbrough, in southeast Parmer county, 15 miles northeast of Muleshoe, and in section 23, Doud & O'Keefe survey, had reached 6,200 feet, in lime and shale, and was drilling ahead.

Sun Oil company No. 1 Harber, slated 10,000-foot wildcat in southwest Castro county, location for which was announced several weeks ago, is still waiting for a rotary drilling rig. That equipment is due to be moved into the drillsite in the near future.

Hockley Well Continues

In southeast Hockley county, four miles north of Ropesville, and 660 feet from north and west lines of labor 24, league 5, Wilbarger county school lands, Honolulu and Signal Oil & Gas company No. 1-24 Ellwood, had reached 10,948 feet in dry lime and chert, in the Mississippian, and was continuing to drill.

H. L. Hunt No. 1 Schwab, in northeast Hockley county, and 660 feet from south and west lines of labor 17, league 735, state capital lands, had dug below 6,339 feet in lower Permian lime, and was continuing.

Honolulu No. 1-B-13 Ellwood, three quarters of a mile southeast of the discovery well for production from the Glorieta lime, to open the Spade field three and one half miles northwest of Smyer, in east-central Hockley county, had reached 5,920 feet in lime, and was making more hole.

This project had more than 2,200 feet of clean oil in the hole, and should be completed in the near future as a producer and an extender to the field. It is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 13, block A, R. M. Thompson survey.

Lubbock Well Progressing

In northeast Lubbock county, Amerada No. 1 Stribling, three and one half miles northeast of Idalou, and 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 9, block D-7, psl going on down. It is slated to go to at least 10,000 feet—and may be carried below that point.

W. O. Woodward, trustee, (H. L. Hunt interests), No. 1-B Williamson, in central Dickens county, two miles south of Spur, tested for only water, from perforated section at 7,025-55 feet and at 5,920-50 feet.

No signs of oil or gas were developed. A retainer has been set at 5,880 feet, and cement has been squeezed in the hole below that point.

New Location In Hale

Operator will shortly perforate the casing and test above 5,880 feet. The section to be investigated had some slight indications of possible production, according to an electric log survey.

Only one new location was reported during the past week for the Anton-Irish field in southwest Hale county and southeast Lamb county. No new producers were reported as having been finished in the latest seven-day period.

The new prospector for the two-county region is to be Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 4-A John Harral. It will be 660 feet from north and west line of the northeast quarter of section 13, block DT, HE & WT survey.

Strangest Special Session Of Congress Packing To Go Home

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The strangest special session of Congress today rushed to finish up by nightfall and go home.

There never was a special session like this one. Although it was the 26th in Congressional history. The first was in 1797.

It started with name-calling. Everybody expected the arguments over inflation to be the big news.

But the Southerners edged in and put on an almost week-long filibuster to kill an anti-poll tax bill.

The members thought they were all done for 1948 when Congress adjourned late in June. Most of them wanted to begin campaigning for their own re-election.

Session Call Surprise

It staggered them when President Truman suddenly announced in mid-July he was calling them back into special session, starting July 26.

Even the way that happened was different from anything that had gone before.

President Truman might have done what other presidents have done: called the session from the dignified quiet of the White House.

He called it at 2 o'clock, one morning last month, near the end of a speech accepting the Democratic party's nomination for president at its convention in Philadelphia.

Why?

To fight inflation, he said.

Hadn't Congress done that before it quit in June?

No, he said.

He blamed the inflation on the Republican-controlled Congress. It was a startling way to begin his campaign for the presidency.

And he already had jabbed a quivering needle into the Republicans by calling this Congress the worst in history.

Living Costs Big Problem

Fighting mad, the Republicans punched back. They said the president's call for the special session, and the way he called it, were political humbug.

But between the time he issued the call and Congress came back into session, the government produced figures showing living costs were at an all-time high.

The Republicans couldn't shrug that off, politics or no politics, although some of them—and some Southern Democrats—wanted to adjourn the day the special session began.

Mr. Truman laid down an 11-point program he wanted Congress to okay. The Republicans promptly kicked most of it out the window.

They said there was no emergency. They said the President was playing politics, making a bid for votes. They said the voters would decide between Mr. Truman and the Republicans in November.

The President had asked, among other things, for an anti-poll tax bill. The Republicans made a move to bring one to the Senate floor for debate.

Probes Steal Show

But the Southern filibuster started and the Republicans sat back, with all action at a standstill.

With a week and a half of the special session gone, the Republicans surrendered to the Southerners, abandoned the anti-poll tax bill and went on with other work.

They finally agreed to shove through a bill on housing—not the kind Mr. Truman wanted—and a bill to do something about inflation. That also was far less than the President wanted.

But it was the congressional committees—one in the Senate, one in the House—which all the while were stealing the headlines.

Ex-Communists went before the committees and rattled off the names of former government employes, some of them high up, who, they said, were Communists or Communists' helpers in stealing American secrets for Russia.

Some of the Republican leaders said privately they were pretty happy that the spy hunt was taking the public's mind off the do-little Congress, at least for a while.

Mr. Truman chimed in and said the spy hunt was a "red-herring" to turn the public's attention away from what Congress wasn't doing.

Cochran Farmers Ask Conservation Work

MORTON, Aug. 7 (Special)—Nine new applications have been received recently from Cochran county farmers for conservation work in the Cochran-Yoakum-Terry soil conservation district, and 11 new cooperators have worked but soil and moisture conservation plans on their farms, it was announced at the district office here.

The nine who have recently filed applications for work are Willie McCulloch, A. M. McBee, Keith Kennedy, Arnie Todd, Ken Coffman, R. T. Morris, C. E. Buchanan, J. T. Porter, and N. H. Steed.

New cooperators are W. P. Huston, W. B. Cook, Ralph E. Gardner, Paul E. Byrd, M. R. Chandler, A. L. Hicks, N. H. Steed, M. C. Millsap, Hood Wise, W. G. Yates, and Arnie Todd.

Shelterbelt tree planting is gaining wide popularity, buoyed up by a meeting in July attended by 44 farmers and speakers when advantages and disadvantages of windbreak plantings for farmsteads and fields were discussed. The meeting was held at Lehman.

A total of 36 cooperators have placed orders with the district service for trees to be planted next fall, the announcement said, but no details were given as to number of trees involved.

Those ordering trees were A. L. Hicks, N. M. Steed, W. C. Millsap, W. C. Key, R. E. Gardner, E. C. Wynn, M. D. Sides, Fred Elmore, Zeke Sanders, G. Holloway, C. Taylor, H. H. Rosson, L. L. Morin, S. NBC Holds Up New Give-Away Shows Pending Legal Ruling

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. (AP)—The National Broadcasting company says it won't start any new give-away shows until it is sure they're legal.

The company made the announcement yesterday—a day after the Federal Communications commission disclosed it was studying the legality of such shows under federal lottery laws.

NBC said it will "accept no additional programs of the type questioned" pending outcome of the commission's study.

The network said legal uncertainties arising from the federal communication act's ban on lotteries "have troubled the industry since its enactment," and that clarification would be welcome.

Reaction To Rule Given

An American Broadcasting Co. spokesman said all of its prize contests "have been examined by counsel and are in full accord with provisions of the communications act."

Mutual broadcasting system said it believed that "very little of our programming would be affected in any respect" by the new rules being considered by the FCC.

The commission said the rules were planned as a guide in determining whether the give-away shows violated the lotteries ban.

The pending FCC action also brought reaction from masters-of-ceremonies on the radio contest shows.

Bill Cullen, who handles "Winner Take All," "Hit the Jackpot" and "Give and Take" for the Columbia Broadcasting system, said:

"I think that on the basis of our audience ratings, they are going to find out listeners are with us."

He said he was going ahead with plans to start a new give-away show on Mutual next week.

Show Changes Possible

Bert Parks, master of ceremonies of ABC's "Stop the Music," commented: "It came awfully sudden didn't it. I just haven't had time to crystallize my thoughts."

Bud Collyer, who runs Mutual's "Three For the Money," said he thought the contest shows could be altered to meet any FCC requirements.

Theodor Streibert, president of station WOR in New York, Mutual's key station, said the station "welcomes a clarification and interpretation of the law . . ."

"There is no question," he added, "but what the give-away craze and large prizes have begun to overshadow the entertainment value of such programs. Such overemphasis is not healthy for radio and if it reached undue extremes, it would kill itself off in any events."

Pittsburgh Mother Finally Graduates

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 7. (AP)—A 32-year-old mother of four children finally graduated from Duquesne university—but it took her 13 years.

In between the years of night school study and the diploma she received yesterday, dark-haired Mrs. Virginia Geary worked as a stenographer, married a young law student and did housework and baby-tending.

Proudest of the graduation spectators was Mrs. Geary's four-year-old son, Kevin. The 11-month-old twin girls and Mark, 8, stayed at home.

"Mark said he'd rather play tiddley-winks," the mother with the new bachelor of science degree explained.

Mrs. Geary said she hopes someday to work in foreign trade. But—not for a while.

"I'm going to concentrate on raising my family," she says.

Col. Abbott Is Due Here For Conference

AUSTIN, Aug. 7. (Special)—Lt. Col. Leonard J. Abbott of the Texas Military district will arrive in Lubbock Sunday to confer with the assistant Organized Reserve corps instructor, Capt. Louis Sanders, and Maj. Harold Fulghum, U. S. Army recruiting officer.

ABBOTT

His conferences will concern initiation of a program to discharge and reenlist members of the Enlisted Reserve corps of the Lubbock area. There are 28,000 enlisted reservists in Texas due for this discharge and reenlistment in the next eight months. Most of them volunteered into the ERC when separated from service after V-J day.

Col. Abbott was born in San Antonio and attended the Main Avenue High school there. He completed his education at the American university and the Washington College of Law in Washington, D. C. Commencing his military career as an enlisted man in the 9th infantry in Fort Sam Houston, he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the reserves in 1939. He rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel during the war, serving as an intelligence officer on General Eisenhower's staff in England and in the joint chiefs of staff office in the War department. He is now in charge of the enlisted reserve section of the Texas Military district.

Col. Abbott probably will be here three days.

$47,600 Income Is Said To Be Not Enough For Woman's Needs

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7 (AP) — Mrs. Natalie Kalmus, 66, will have to manage awhile longer on her annual salary of $32,000, plus a monthly expense allowance of $675 and temporary alimony of $7,500 a year.

So ruled superior judge Elmer Doyle yesterday in continuing her plea for an increase in alimony to $3,000 a month until Oct. 25.

Her attorney said she can's live on her income of $47,000 a year and has had to pawn her jewelry.

The court continued her plea when the attorney for Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, millionaire founder of Technicolor, Inc., said he is seeking proof the couple has not been married since 1921. Mrs. Kalmus receives her $32,000 a year salary as technical adviser to Technicolor.

President Truman Facing Busy Campaign In Drive For Votes

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — Democratic party strategists were reported lining up for President Truman today one of the busiest political campaigns a President ever engaged in.

The decision to make an aggressive two-month campaign swing—with heaviest fire centered on the GOP record in Congress—was said to have been confirmed at the first of what may be a series of White House strategy meetings.

Serve As Advisors

The former Democratic national chairmen who attended have been asked by J. Howard McGrath, the present party chieftian, to serve as his advisors throughout the election drive.

They include George White of Ohio, former Postmaster Generals Frank Walker and Robert Hannegan, former Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, and New York national committeeman Edward J. Flynn.

James A. Farley will be included when he returns from abroad. James M. Cox, publisher and former presidential candidate, has been invited to join the group. Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull was asked, but has been too ill to take part.

Must Strike Hard

These advisors were said to have agreed that the way for Mr. Truman to win in November is to try to keep the Republicans off balance by striking first—and hard—at their legislative record.

The President will have a fresh opportunity to blast at his GOP foes when the Republicans complete their special session scorecard.

Mr. Truman's friends said he probably will accept the housing measure, objecting meanwhile because it carries no provision for government-financed low-rent and slum clearance projects as he requested.

If the final version of the GOP anti-inflation bill raises gold reserve requirements for federal reserve banks, the President's friends think he will veto it in blistering language.

In any event, Mr. Truman is expected to start arguing right away that the GOP-dominated congress failed to give him power to impose price and other controls which he said are needed to help keep the cost of living down.

Challenge To Dewey

McGrath indicated this line of attack with a challenge last night to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to call on Republicans in Congress to vote stronger anti-inflation legislation.

The Democratic chairman said Dewey's spokesmen have indicated the GOP nominee intends to make inflation a campaign issue. That, McGrath said, "amounts to a proposal to debate the issue of who failed to lock the stable door after the horse was gone."

"The Republican party is to blame for today's dangerously high cost of living," McGrath said in a statement. "If Governor Dewey permits this Congress to go home without enacting a workable anti-inflation program, it will be the most expensive silence in American history."

To Emphasize Silence

The Democrats obviously hope to emphasize by plenty of talk any silence Dewey may maintain on issues they have brought up.

The President himself is scheduled to take part in this in a big way. Under present plans, he will campaign by train with plenty of whistle stops.

Beginning with a Labor day speech at a site not yet picked, Mr. Truman is expected to made a midwestern tour, visit New England and possibly again to the west coast.

There has been talk of major speeches at Denver, Chicago and Minneapolis. He expected to make another in New York while on the New England visit.

Mr. Truman has been invited to come South, where the Dixiecrats are after his political scalp, but friends said he hasn't decided whether to go there.

Many Alleged Heirs Make Claim For $100,000 Estate

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 7. (AP)—Mrs. Julia C. Kearney once told her neighbors, "I'm too mean to have relatives or friends."

Court-appointed curator George Meister said yesterday he had received numerous letters from would-be heirs but so far "none of them have come through with any information that will back up that belief."

Mrs. Kearney's body will be placed in a receiving vault for identification by possible relatives or heirs, he said.

Floundering Bass Makes Good Meal After Jumping On Shovel

QUINCY, Mass., Aug. 7. (INS)—"We shoveled 'em in," is a frequent fisherman's boast.

Well, Mrs. George Hodgkinson said today she was on the beach at Gull Cove and spotted a bass floundering around near shore.

It jumped on her shovel, she said, neat as you please. Weighed three and a half pounds, and made a delicious supper.

SPEAKS TUESDAY—E. C. House, above, sales consultant and lecturer, is to speak Tuesday at the Lions club luncheon at the Hilton hotel on community stability, which he calls the vital problem of today. Representatives of other civic and service organizations are invited to attend, but reservations must be made because of limited space, according to Ray Wells, program committee chairman.

Woman Is Hurt By Suitcase When Car And Taxi Collide

MOORHEAD, Minn., Aug. 7. (AP)—A pedestrian was injured by a flying suitcase when two cars collided yesterday.

Mrs. Walter Tibbets, 35, Moorhead, suffered ankle and elbow injuries when the suitcase flew out of a car when it and a taxi came together.

There were no other casualties.

Trials Due In Death Of King

BANGKOK, Aug. 7. (U.P.)—Five prominent Siamese political personalities have been ordered placed on trial in connection with the death of King Ananda of Siam, who was found shot to daeth in his bedroom on June 9, 1946, the government announced today.

The public prosecutor has been ordered to begin criminal prosecution against the five on charges of "an act of violence against the King and making false evidence to conceal a crime," the government statement said.

Three of the five, who have been held since last November's coup when the government of Premier Luan Thamrong Nawasawat was overthrown, will be placed on trial immediately.

Three Are Identified

They are Chaleow Patumrot, private secretary of the late King, and two royal attendants, Nai Chit and Nai But. In an inquiry shortly after the King was found dead, Nai Chit said he was first to reach the King's side after the shot was heard.

Two others wanted for trial are now fugitives, the announcement said. They are Pridi Banomyong, senior statesmen and premier at the time of the King's death, and his aide, Naval Lt. Vajarachai Chaiyasithiwet.

The announcement climaxed two years of continued investigation of the death of the 20-year-old King. The investigation has been shrouded with secrecy and associated with violent political upheavals.

Convict's Affidavit Might Clear Others

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. (AP) — A man facing the electric chair has signed an affidavit that may clear two others who would have shared his fate.

In the death house at Sing Sing prison, Andrew Sheridan, 45, of Jersey City, N. J., is awaiting execution for the slaying of Anthony Hintz, a boss stevedore.

Also slated to die for the January, 1947, killing are John Dunn, 36, and Daniel Gentile, 40.

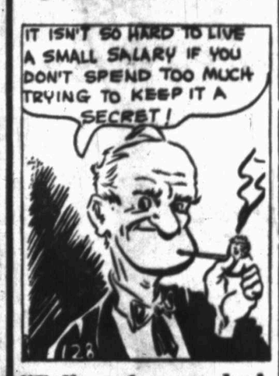

Dunn and Gentile had contended throughout their trials that they were not present at the killing. Two appeals had been unsuccessful.

Yesterday Sheridan signed an affidavit saying that he alone planned the ambush shooting of Hintz at his home, and that three other men carried it out. Two of the three he named are dead, and the third disappeared a year ago.

Dunn and Gentile, his affidavit said, were innocent of the slaying.

Peace Dove Circles Hopefully Over Strife-Torn Middle East

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Even in the days of the great deluge the dove of peace found a resting place on Noah's ark, and so perhaps it isn't strange—though startling — to find her circling hopefully in search of a landing spot in the strife-torn Holy land.

If anyone had predicted a few weeks ago that both Arabs and Jews today would be guardedly offering refuge to the weary bearer of the olive branch, his rating as a prophet would have hit zero. Yet the impossible has happened—and it came about like this:

King Makes Declaration

On August 4 King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan, key figure among the Arab nations at war with Israel and generalissimo of their armies in the field, declared that his country didn't "exclude any possible compromise that secures justice and prevents unnecessary bloodshed." This was the first public statement by any Arab leader indicating a willingness to compromise.

The next day the government of Israel made its first direct overture for peace negotiations with the Arab states. Foreign Minister Moshe Sertok placed the proposal before Count Bernadotte, United Nations mediator, who had to pass it on to the Arabs through the U. N. The response remains to be seen.

Bitterness Is Deep

Now of course it would be foolish to think that this necessarily means peace is just around the corner, for the bitterness between the combatants is too deep to be removed easily. However, it would be equally unwise to discard the possibilities of achieving a compromise

The situation is complicated by the fact that the Arab nations are divided among themselves. Abdullah, who long has been a protege of the British, stands to gain the most of all the Arab leaders in any compromise settlement with the Jews. This rankles with the rival Arab states of Egypt, Syria and Iraq, which won't want to give in to Israel.

Abdullah Is Mighty Man

However, Abdullah is a mighty man among the Arabs, not only because of his relations with England but because he has the most powerful army of all the Arab states—an army made possible by British subsidy and training. His will is bound to have great weight with the other Arab nations. The King has been less extreme towards the Jews than have his allies, and this fact in itself might make it easier for him personally to reach an agreement with Israel.

Many observers believe Abdullah is maneuvering for a solution which would carry out the original partition plan of the United Nations, whereby the Jews and the Arabs would have separate states. This having been done, the new Arab state might join with Abdullah's Kingdom of Trans-Jordan, which itself was carved out of Palestine.

Such a program undoubtedly would meet with fierce opposition from the other Arab states, but might suit the Palestine Arabs and the new Jewish state of Israel very well In any event, that is one of the possibilities, and it certainly would receive serious consideration, especially if Britain should give it her support.

Attack Victim Found By Posse

KIRKWOOD, N. J., Aug. 7. (AP)—New Jersey police today sought a "short, skinny man" as the assailant who brutally beat an eight-year-old girl and left her unconscious in heavy underbrush 100 feet from her home.

The girl, Jacqueline Davis, was found last night by a posse of volunteer firemen six hours after her disappearance.

Investigators said they had only the slimmest clues to work on in their search, supplied by the girl after she was admitted to Audubon hospital in critical condition.

Police said Jacqueline told this story:

One Clue Given

She was walking to a playmate's home when the assailant accosted her. He beat her violently on the head.

"That's all I remember until I woke up in the bushes," she said.

Slim clues handicapped police but the youngster did point out her attacker "was wearing shoes that don't have any laces."

Firemen William Watkins and Eugene Labor found the child in the underbrush.

They said Jacqueline's eyes were blackened, her head cut and they thought she had been struck by a hit-run driver and dumped in the bushes.

At Audubon hospital the child's injuries were described as a possible skull fracture, a severely injured right eye, a severe scalp cut, multiple cuts and bruises of the entire body and shock.

Coroner Decides Accidental Bullet Wounds Cause Death

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 7. (AP)—Coroner J. W. Lewis yesterday reconsidered an earlier verdict and ruled that W. E. Elstermier died of accidental bullet wounds.

Lewis' first verdict yesterday was death by self-inflicted gunshot wounds.

Elstermier was found dead on the floor of the Plainview Hog Co. office Thursday. A .22 rifle lay near the body. He had been shot in the right temple.

Two Bearded Students Find Mark Twain's Adventure Loses Charm During Long Trip

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 7. (AP)—Mark Twain's adventure lost its charm for two bearded students after they had paddled a canoe 1400 miles down the Mississippi to New Orleans.

"To hell with Mark Twain," said Thomas Lyman of Chicago. He and Eldred Mowery of Cambridge, Mass., arrived here after fighting swarms of mosquitoes and sleeping on sandbars four weeks on their trip.

Lyman is studying art at the University of Illinois. Mowery is majoring in English at Harvard university.

The paddlers decided to make the river trip while they were buddies in the Navy, they said. "It was Mark Twain's story, which made us decide on the Mississippi," said Lyman.

The young adventurers, left Chicago on July 9 and tied up their canoe in New Orleans yesterday. They grew their beards enroute to keep from having to shave, they said.

Former POW Who 'Talked With God' To Be Orient Missionary

By ELDON BARRETT
United Press Staff Writer

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 7.—Jacob DeShazer, 35, who "talked with God" while locked in a Japanese prison cell after taking part in the first air raid on Tokyo, will return to the Orient this fall as a Christian missionary.

The former bombardier with Lt. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle's raiders vowed to return to Japan in the cloth of the clergy while he was in solitary confinement.

"It was after I talked with God," he explained when he returned to the United States at the war's end, "that I decided to become amissionary. It was just as if he was in my cell and sitting beside me. He was talking to me in plain,understandable language."

Working In Ohio

DeShazer and his wife, Florence, were graduated from Seattle-Pacific College recently. They will be Free Methodist missionaries. With their baby son, Paul, they will leave for Japan in November.

Meanwhile, DeShazer is in Ohio, conducting a series of church meetings for the Bible Meditation League.

DeShazer said he hated the Japanese when he flew in the Doolittle raid.

"I don't hate them anymore . . . God has given me new spiritual eyes," he said. When DeShazer returned to the United States, he told his mother:

"I want to serve my Lord. The Japanese didn't understand. It's up to us who understand the real meaning of decency to show them the way."

Last To Take Off

He was 30 when he flew in the Tokyo raid. His B-25 was the last bomber to take off from the aircraft carrier Hornet on April 18, 1942.

He bailed out over China in a heavy fog after his plane ran out of gas. He landed on a graveyard and Japanese disguised as Chinese captured him and a companion.

He was taken to Tokyo for questioning, sentenced to life imprisonment and then was transferred to Shanghai's notorious "Bridge House" prison. Japanese guards beat his head with a bamboo cane one time for an hour and a half while making him kneel at their feet. He was one of the more fortunate Doolittle raiders. Some were beheaded.

Forty-one months after his capture, Strategic Service parachutists freed him from a filthy prison camp near Peiping.

Inflation Becomes Serious When Drop Of Sweat Buys And Produces Less And Less

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 7—Inflation can be reduced to a mathematical formula.

And some day the field of economics will come up with an Einstein who will write social history by figuring out that formula.

It will be a big help both to the politicians and the people.

Inflation can be measured in terms of sweat and fear, faith and production. Any rise in the cost of living is an "inflation." But when does it become dangerous?

Judging from rent inflations in Europe and China, they become dangerous when a drop of sweat buys and produces less and less, faith in the nation's economy falls and fear of its money rises.

U. S. Inflation Mild

By these standards the present inflation in the United States is mild. Mild indeed compared to the rampaging inflation which destroyed the currency of Hungary in 1946 and is now straining the printing presses that turn out the money for nationalist China.

Rising production, faith and a high value on sweat are the three anchors that keep the inflation balloon from skyrocketing.

Sure, prices have gone up steadily here. But so have production and the value of labor. Economists say that despite the high cost of living and the fall in the value of money a drop of sweat will buy more in the present market than it did ten years ago.

An dthat is what really counts in any peacetime system—what sweat will buy. When sweat brings back less and less, when men work harder and harder to produce fewer and fewer goods, hope dies and panic is born—and the wild horse of inflation runs through the land.

Dollar Prices Soar

When a country is saddled with true inflation you can read that fact in the people's faces. They mirror each other's fears of the present and the future. That was true in Hungary in May, 1946. The pengo, normally worth about 20 cents, fell to nothing. The government printed a 1,000,000 pengo note which it hoped was worth $4.

It was in Shanghai in the fall of 1946 and one American dollar brought about 13,000 Chinese dollars. Three weeks ago a new Chinese 5,000,000-dollar note was worth sixty-two American cents in the black market. And when inflation reaches that point the black market is the only real market.

Today a souvenir continental or Confederate bill is worth more than the Chinese dollar.

GIVEN HOT SHIRT

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (U.P.)—Clyde Hinchliffe felt a stinging sensation on his back as he was walking to work. He ripped out his shirt tail. A lighted cigarette fell to the ground. Apparently someone had flipped the cigarette from the upper floor of a building inside his shirt.

Children Strangers To Their Mother

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. (AP)—After a separation of 30 to 40 years, children become strangers — even to their mother.

So when 86-year-old Mrs. Asmar Mar Elia alighted yesterday from a plane which brought her from Iran she stood mute and bewildered even when met by five of her children.

She had been reluctant to give up her travel credentials to custom officials. She didn't understand the procedure. She didn't recognize her children.

A son, Ephiran, rushed to her aid. He spoke to his mother for some time in their native tongue, then turned to his brothers and sisters and said:

"She says my voice is like my brother's in Iran and now she knows who we are."

Shell Chemical Corporation To Open Two Houston Plants

HOUSTON, Aug. 7. (U.P.)—B. M. Downey, manager of the Shell Chemical corporation, announced today that two of the firm's Houston ship channel plants would begin operation before the end of the month.

The plants will be the $8,000,000 synthetic glycerin plant, which will give the world its first supply of glycerin produced from petroleum, and the $12,000,000 ethyl alcohol refinery, which will pay $24,000,000 annually in federal taxes alone.

The two new plants are part of a $43,000,000 chemical construction program underway on Shell's 2,200 acres along the channel.

Error Change Drops Champ Bridge Team

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (U.P.) — A scoring error dethroned Charles Goren's defending championship team today in the American Contract Bridge league's annual summer tournament.

Goren's team admitted a first round loss when an official committee declared a 420-point error in addition in team-of-four championship play.

The victors were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Skinner, Jackson, Mississippi, Tom Hughes, Meridian, Miss., and A. M. Byrd, Evanston, Ill.

S. Garton Churchill, Great Neck, New York, and Cell Head, New York City, are maintaining a secure 60-point lead in the tourney, which ends Tuesday.

Ben Fair, San Antonio, and Harry Teles, New Orleans, were in tenth place in the two-man competition with 377 points. P. Y. Barret, Houston, and A. J. Bugge, San Antonio, were in fifth place in the first round with 202 points but slipped far out of sight in yesterday's play.

Approximately 96,000 Workers Busy On Texas Cotton Harvest

AUSTIN, Aug. 7 (U.P.)—An estimated 96,000 Texas farm workers are busy on the cotton harvest, the Texas Employment commission reported today.

Most of the workers, the TEC said, were in the Rio Grande valley, coastal bend and Houston areas, with other activity around Taylor.

The commission expected "heavy migrations" out of the coastal bend and valley areas this weekend, to meet labor shortages in other areas.

Valley Setting Record

However, the coastal bend farm labor supply was reported sufficient at the present peak of the cotton harvest. And in the Corpus Christi and valley areas, cotton was being picked and moved to the gins so fast that new records in number of bales ginned were being set.

Corpus Christi gins last week ginned more bales than during any week in the last five years.

Cotton in the coastal bend area Houston region, and some Austin area counties such as Williamson was opening three weeks in advance of normal.

Early opening of the bolls in these areas resulted in an accelerated need for farm workers in advance of the normal arrival of migratory labor. Consequently, the TEC said, the whole cotton harvest movement of labor was being stepped up.

Temporary shortages of workers were reported in eight areas, but farm labor representatives were routing migrants to these locations to meet the excess over normal demand.

Shortages, the TEC said, were temporary and in all cases no more than a day or so delay would be experienced in filling them.

Mid-week excess of demand over immediate supply of workers were reported at the following points.

Victoria and Port Lavaca each asked for 500 more pickers. In the immediate vicinity of Victoria 3,000 workers were reported picking.

Taylor was requesting 900 workers in addition to the 5,000 already on hand. Sealy farmers asked for 200 more pickers. Palacios area farmers wanted 750 more pickers. Rosenberg and El Campo needed 300 more each, and at Rosenberg 2,300 cotton pickers were already in the fields.

Prisoners Drop Decision In Tilt With Fort Worth Police

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 7 (U.P.)—City police had a rough time of things early today in booking three separate prisoners within 2 hours.

All lost their bouts and were placed in cells.

DIES OF INJURIES

HOUSTON, Aug. 7. (AP)R. D. Easterling, 32, Chickasha, Okla., furniture salesman, died in a local hospital at 5 a. m. today from head injuries received early yesterday when struck by an automobile as he walked across a highway near here.

Myrrh, one of the gifts of the Wise Men to the Christ Child, is still used as a drug in the United States.

Current Lamb Crop Smallest In Years

AUSTIN, Aug. 7 (U.P.) — Texas' current lamb crop is the smallest in 13 years, the United States Department of Agriculture reported today.

In its report, the USDA said the lamb crop was the smallest since 1935, dropping 14 per cent under last year and 29 per cent below the 10 year average.

The crop is the smallest, the department noted, both in numbers and in the per cent of breeding ewes.

Ewes, the report said, were "in generally poor condition" at lambing time.

The condition was blamed on "short, dry range feed over much of the sheep country through the fall, winter and early spring."

Losses among ewes and lambs were reported to be heavy despite continuing supplemental feeding.

The department, in a mid-month local market price report, announced that the index of prices received by Texas farmers remained pegged at 329 on July 15, the same as the previous month.

Although there were sharp declines in prices paid for grains, hay and cotton, sharp advances in prices paid for meat animals, poultry and eggs, cottonseed, fruit, potatoes and sweet potatoes offset the drop.

Redecoration Job Might Save Tempers If New Tenants Take Over White House

By MARTHA KEARNEY
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—It's hard to imagine the two husky young Dewey sons stowing away their football wear and baseball bats in a dainty, blush pink bedroom.

So if the voters decide not to renew President Truman's lease on the White House they will almost certainly have to re-decorate to suit the new tenants.

Boys Might Be Bitter

And pretty Frances Dewey might find lavendar walls cruel and inhuman punishment.

It's a cinch that the two sturdy Dewey boys would be bitter about being assigned to Margaret Truman's girlish pink bedroom.

If elected in November, Governor Dewey may decide that it's time for a change that would make the executive mansion a house of a different color.

Inside, anyway.

India Girl Modern

In a basic black dress or a soft, chiffon sarion a career girl is a career girl the world over.

She is dark-haired, 25-year-old Santha Rama Rau, daughter of Sir Benegal Rama Rau, the new Indian ambassador to the United States.

Santha is the most career-minded of the diplomatic daughters in Washington. And she can give cards and spades to her contemporary Western sisters in the way of achievement.

A graduate of Wellesley college, she is the author of a book about India which was praised enthusiastically upon its publication last year.

During the war she worked long and hard for the OWI. Afterward, she served as her father's hostess in Tokyo where he held a diplomatic post.

She is nominally her father's hostess now, since her mother has not yet arrived in the United States.

But, since there is absolutely no social activity stirring around the nation's capital now, she has taken off to visit friends in Madison, Wisconsin.

All of which goes to prove that the high-heeled, lipsticked, budget-bound career girl in New York has a lot in common with her shy, soft-spoken, sari-clad sister in Bombay.

Wedding Is Read In O'Donnell Church

O'DONNELL, Aug. 7, (special)—Miss Barbara Elaine Merrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Merrick, recently became the bride of Leon LaGrone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer LaGrone of Clovis, N. M., at a service in the First Methodist church in O'Donnell.

Dr. J. Ralph Grant performed the single ring ceremony before an embankment of greenery, flanked by baskets of pink and white gladioli.

Mrs. Elmer Sumrow, pianist, played the wedding marches and during the ceremony and accompanied Miss Wanda Huffines as she sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white wool gabardine suit, pink blouse and black accessories. Her flowers were a bouquet of pink roses. She wore a two cent piece, minted in 1890, in her shoe and carried her paternal grandmother's handkerchief.

Miss Leola LaGrone, sister of the bridegroom, attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a pink suit with brown accessories and carried a bouquet of white roses. Misses Louise Pierson and Virginia Vandiver, bridesmaids, wore blue suits and corsages of pink rosebuds.

Olen McKenzie served as best man. Ushers were Derrell Merrick and Brian McLaurin. Elaine Hohn and Sue Franklin lighted candles.

After a honeymoon to Yellowstone National Park, the couple will be at home in the Wells community. The bride is former football queen at O'Donnell High school from where she was graduated in 1948.

MRS. LEON LAGRONE

Grass stains on white summer shoes may be removed, say clothing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, by first brushing or sponging off the old polish, then brushing the stain with a solution of sodium perborate or peroxide. Rinse, apply fresh polish. Work rapidly, caution the specialists, to avoid wetting shoes unnecessarily.

Director In State Explains Draft Law

AUSTIN, Aug. 7 (AP) — Men, now under 26, who registered under the selective service law in 1940 will have to register again in 1948, Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry, state director of selective service, announced today.

The selective service head said "some men are under the impression that if they registered in the 1940 operation, they will not be required to register at this time."

However, he explained that the new law requires all males 18 through 25 years of age to register unless they are specifically exempted by law.

Few Will Be Exempt

"Many will be exempted from training," he said, "but . . . few will be exempt from registration."

The only groups exempted from registration, Berry said, are:

Members of the armed forces on active duty, including members of the coast and geodetic survey and public health service

Midshipmen of the U. S. Naval academy.

"Good Girl" Flowers On Screen Once More Because Of War Change, Actress Declares

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 7.—Because of the war, the good girl can again flower on the screen, says that ace good-girl portrayer, Olivia De Havilland.

The dark-tressed, Tokyo-born actress has an opinion on nearly everything and she's vehement on the belief held in some quarters that badness makes a girl interesting, but goodness not so. To this theory she delivers the ultimate in Hollywood criticism: "How corny!"

"During the 30's," she continued, "it became a fad to portray bad girls on the screen. There seemed to be a feeling that a destructive personality was automatically interesting. It's really dangerous to civilization to think that way."

Accusation Is Made

Olivia accused the over-sophisticated society and Hollywood of proposing such a view.

"It was a perversion of values," she opined. "In reality, the bad people are often the dull ones; lawbreakers are usually a dreary lot. Yet they have remained popular on the screen."

The war changed the tide, she added: "It made a number of old-fashioned virtues important again. The men in service realized more than ever the kind of girl they preferred."

Needless to say, Olivia is currently portraying a good girl in "The Heiress." In fact, about the only bad girl she has played was in "The Dark Mirror." Half of her role was as Terry, the twin with a hobby of sticking sharp objects into gents' backs. "I didn't like to live with her," she remarked about the disturbing part.

Texas GOP Set For Vigorous Campaign

FORT WORTH, Aug. 7 (AP) — Texas Republicans were set today to embark upon their most vigorous campaign yet waged in the state.

Henry Zweifel, Fort Worth attorney and state campaign manager, said his headquarters here would direct 17 "command posts" which will "blanket the state."

Zweifel named assistant campaign managers in eight towns and said nine more would be named soon. The entire state will "be organized down to the last precinct." The Fort Worth attorney said, adding that it was planned to stump the state "from one end to the other" until the night before the Nov. 2 general election.

Assistant campaign managers named included: Walter Rogers, Dallas; Herman Duncan, Kaufman; Raymond Tollett, Big Spring; L. J. Benckenstein, Beaumont; John Vickers, Lubbock; R. B. Ridgeway, Austin; Taylor Cole, Midland and Dudley Lawson, Alto.

Assistants will be named in El Paso, Waco, Paris, San Antonio, Amarillo, Wichita Falls, McAllen, Corpus Christi, and Victoria, Zweifel said.

LARRYMORE DANCE STUDIO
1905 Ave. R Dial 2-9254

Washington, D. C,
August 8, 1948

Dear Buck:

Here I am at the Dancing Masters of American Convention. I could write you pages about it all. The convention is being held in the Shoreham Hotel here in Washington, and it is the most beautiful hotel I ever saw. Everything is in full swing. Classes of all kinds in all types of dancing are being conducted from 9:00 A. M. until 11:00 P. M. Discussions, Forums, etc. of everything pertaining to dancing or the Dancing School are being held. Then, there is all kinds of entertainment, such at teas, moonlight boat rides, sightseeing trips, banquets and balls. Now, how am I gonna write you about it all—a dancing teacher's convention is so different to any other kind of convention that I ever went to. No drinking or wild parties. Lots of hardwork and they love it. You should see all the new dances being taught. This is really their market week. Speaking of Market Week—all the large costume Houses have displays which is a good show of its own.

We, (Lewis, Worley, Jimmy and I) saw Billie Hutching take her last few lessons in the teacher's course she has been taking here in Washington. She sure has worked hard this summer, and am sure she will do a wonderful job of teaching this fall. She is now attending the convention, too. So, you see the Larymore Dance Studio is well represented. I don't see how a "step would get by with Worley's main interest going for tap and ballroom—Jimmy Carteer getting all the acrobatic and ballroom—Billie taking all the ballet and Lewis shopping for anything new and different.

You should see the excitement the "program" from the Larrymore show caused. Everyone wants one. I hope Lewis brought enough.

Guess what—I'm coming to Lubbock with Iewis, Jimmy and Worley. I hope they let me sleep some on the bed they have fixed in the station wagon. Billie is flying back next week. I'll see you in a few days.

Wing.

MISS EVELYN NADINE HART

MARRIES — Mrs. Thomas C. Williams, above, was Miss Mary Sever, daughter of Mrs. Eva Mae Sever of Indianapolis, Ind., before her marriage read in the First Baptist church in that city July 31. She was given in marriage by her brother, David Sever, and Mrs. Sever was matron of honor. Sgt. Williams is a son of Mrs. Guy F. Bennett of Guyman, Okla., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Posey of Lubbock. His brother, John E. Williams, was best man. The couple left by plane after the ceremony for Camp LeJeune, N. C., where the bridegroom is stationed with the Marine corps.

YUMMY FRUIT BAR

The popular dried fruit bar which showed up in the Army's K-ration has been remodeled by technologists of the California Experiment Station into a confection for civilian consumption, announces the Department of Agriculture.

The new bar can be made at home. The GI recipe was about half raisins and the rest prunes, apples, figs and apricots with a little ground candied orange peel for flavor. California scientists added chopped toasted almonds, and honey or corn syrup for sweetness and moisture. They cut down somewhat on the dried fruit.

After taste-testing, the following recipe was reported most delicious: 20 parts seeded Muscat raisins, 20 parts Calimyrna figs, 20 parts chopped toasted almonds, 20 parts honey or corn syrup, 15 parts dried apricots and 5 parts candied orange peel.

Make it at home by grinding the fruit and peel two or three times in an ordinary food grinder or sausage grinder. Mix well. Add chopped nuts and syrup and mix thoroughly with ground fruit. Cut mixture into bars or roll it into balls. Then roll in powdered sugar or chopped coconut.

Miss Alice Barrett Marries In Chapel

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Barrett of Lorenzo announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alice Lee Barrett, to Thad Wilson Corkins of Port Arthur, a ceremony read Aug. 1 at the Texas State College for Women's Little Chapel-in-the-Woods. Rev. Joseph Copeland read a double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white taffeta faille gown fashioned with a round neckline, three quarter length sleeves and a ballerina skirt. She wore a white lace hat and carried an orchid bouquet. Miss Virginia Johnson of Slaton, maid of honor, wore a dusty rose faille gown and carried wine carnations. Bob Corkins of Alpine was best man.

After a reception held at the TSCW tearoom, the couple left for a trip to Ruidoso, N. M. They will be at home in Alpine where the bridegroom is employed.

Mrs. Corkins, a graduate of TSWC, was a class beauty there and formerly was employed as dietitian at Southern Methodist university, Dallas. Mr. Corkins is an August graduate of SMU. He is a so nof Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Corkins of Port Arthur.

FREEZING UNDER GLASS

Specialists of the Department of Agriculture suggest these advantage of glass jars to be used as freezing containers: They are moisture-vapor-proof; can be reused; need no heat-sealing as paper containers do, and, though food must be thawed for removal, there is no leakage from the container in thawing. Disadvantages are: they are breakable; because they are round, they take up more space in freezers than rectangular paper containers; they become frosty on the surface when removed from the freezer so are slippery to handle without tongs.

BAKED SHERRY

Good cooks know that sherry is used in baking numerous food delicacies, but few cooks know that baking is a stage in making sherry, says one expert. This type of wine is matured in hot rooms or stored in casks subjected to the direct rays of the sun.

New household aid is a transparent plastic bag filled with a chemical solution which may be heated up in boiling water for use as a hot water bottle or chilled in the freezing compartment for use as an ice bag. Chemical solution is electrically sealed in the bag.

HOLD THAT LINE!

IF you have despaired of new ways to lengthen your fall dresses and suits, take heart. Christian Dior, the Frenchman who started this "new look" business last year is making fall skirts two to three inches shorter than the old "new look."

At a showing in his Paris salon, skirts designed by Dior ranged between 13 and 16 inches from the ground, or between mid-calf and two inches below the kneecap.

SCATTERINGS

ONE of the speakers at a city-wide youth revival attended by thousands in Houston last week was Howard Butt, Baylor graduate and son of a Corpus Chrsti millionaire, who addressed a youth gathering at First Baptist church last year. In his message Howard told the Houston group that most young people today are not happy because they are bored with themselves and with their friends. "They live from week end to week end and from thrill to thrill, trying to find happiness," he said . . . Appearing in "Two Guys From Texas," movie current at the Lindsey theater, is a tall, slim, hazel-eyed starlet named Dorothy Malone, who was discovered by a Hollywood talent scout when she was going to school at Southern Methodist university . . . Water expert W. L. Broadhurst of the US Geological Survey spikes the theory advanced by some people that the High Plains is supplied by an underground river flowing down from the Rocky Mountains. It is the accumulated rain water seepage of thousands of years, he says.

The 52-voiced Amarillo A Cappella choir which took New York by storm in appearances at the Lions convention and who appeared in concert in Madison Square Garden, in radio broadcasts and sang in hotel lobbies, is to be presented by the Lubbock Symphony orchestra in December. Fred Waring said it was the finest high school chorus he had ever heard. Mrs. Julia Dean Evans is director . . . Dr. Bill Alexander, dynamic, red-haired pastor of First Christian church in Oklahoma City, who addressed Tech graduates in June, is to be Labor Day speaker in Amarillo . . . We are in favor of nicer manners for children who insist in answering the telephones. Checking last week we noticed one morning's calls brought responses such as "Yeah," "Naw," and "she ain't chere."

MRS. HAROLD BALL, secretary of the Heart of the Plains Kennel club, is interested in mention of an ASPCA chapter in Lubbock. She said she does not have time to take the initiative in such a movement, but will be glad to assist. Interested people formed a chapter in Midland recently . . . Lawns of corner homes in Lubbock often are blotched by tin cans and bottles tossed by careless occupants of passing cars . . . There is nothing more disconcerting to your day than to be swept on as you pass a downtown store about eight o'clock in the morning . . . WFDR will be NY FM station call letters, since the former president's family had given permission for his initials to be used.

COURTEOUS DRIVING

WHAT can drivers do to reduce their chances of collision on the highway? In a single word the answer would be COURTESY. That's the belief of George Clarke, managing director of the Texas Safety association.

All rules of the road boil down to this fundamental concept—courtesy, says Mr. Clarke. The biggest collision-maker on the highways today is the fellow who refuses to yield the right-of-way. Yet the simple exercise of courtesy would prevent most mishaps.

HERE are rules for life-saving on the highway presented in an acrostic:

Offer hand signals before stopping or turning.

Understand both local and state traffic laws.

Rely not on HIS brakes, but on your own.

Take time to reach your destination safely.

IN THE MAIL

FROM Cambridge, Mass., Mrs. Robert H. McCarty writes:

I went to a vegetable and fruit stand the other day and the owner asked me what part of the south I was from and when I said Lubbock, Texas his eyes got as big as saucers. He exclaimed, "Lady, that's the most beautiful town from the air I have ever seen!"

He used to pilot gliders from California to SPAAF in the war years. I have been trading with him since., Thought you might like to pass this on to the chamber of commerce.

Return To Normalcy Seen By Lubbockite On Visit To Western Germany

BY JOAN PROUTY
Of The Woman's Staff

"CONDITIONS in the western zone of Germany are surprisingly good and the people look well fed and appear to be happy for the first time since the war." These are impressions gained by Mrs. Cora Lee Carter, 2707 Twenty-fifth, who has just returned from a month spent in Germany, where she visited her son and his wife, Lt. and Mrs. E. J. Carter.

Mrs. Carter says that everywhere she went in Germany people were working in the fields harvesting their crops of rye and wheat, which are abundant this year. Fruit is gradually becoming plentiful, which is certainly a blessing to the German people, for the majority of them have not even seen any since before the war. Potatoes, meat and a few other items are still rationed, but the rations are relatively large so that the people in general are not hungry. "I was surprised to see that most of the Germans were fairly plump, because I had supposed they were almost starving."

Many people probably feel that the Germans are despondent and also feel hostile to the Americans. "On the contrary," said Mrs. Carter, "They appear quite happy, and I have never had as courteous treatment as I received from them. When I landed in Frankfurt, every German that I saw went out of his way to be nice to me and to help me." The only hate and feeling of hostility they feel now is toward the Russians. "When one asks them about the Russians, they at once become very bitter."

Frankfurt Not Repaired

"I spent most of my time in Frankfurt while I was in Germany, as my son is stationed at the large air b[illegible]. "Frankfurt is still in quite a state of ruin, as no effort has been made to rebuild it. The Americans there live in the old German homes and usually the owners serve as maids or housekeepers
