The University Interscholastic League has scheduled balloting on some proposed changes in athletic rules next month, and there is a hint of women's Lib in some of them.

One of the proposals is to add girls golf to the UIL program effective in the 1972-73 school year.

Also, there is a proposal to permit volleyball teams to play in three invitational tournaments, plus 24 matches in non-district and district play before district certification.

There are more proposed rules changes involving girls, but they are concerned with swimming, which few schools below Class AAAA classification have in their local programs. They also would limit girls basketball teams, which are mostly in Class AAA and below, to 24 games and three tournaments prior to district certification.

The only proposal involving football is one which would permit certain high school games to be televised. The proposal is to permit the televising of playoff games, by mutual consent of the schools involved, provided they are sold out eight hours prior to kickoff time. If this change is adopted, any school which wants to get its football team on TV will look for playoff sites where stadiums are on the small side. It would appear highly unlikely that such facilities as the Cotton Bowl, Texas Stadium, or even Texas Tech's Jones Stadium would be sold out eight hours in advance of any high school game.

The UIL state meet is going back to one big weekend this year.

Last year, the state meet was split into two weekends, but everything in all classes of competition will be held this year on the weekend of May 4-6, just as it was prior to 1971.

Dr. Rhea H. Williams, League Director, said that splitting of the state meet last year "was a tremendous problem for all concerned. It caused extra costs and loss of school time. Schools were forced to run busses to Austin on successive weekends."

Speaking of UIL competition, one of the longest standing records in the books undoubtedly is that of the Waco High School football team in 1927. It scored 784 points in 14 games. Spur scored 748 points in 1930, but nobody has come close to setting a new record since then.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, March 22, the 82nd day of 1972. There are 284 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1765, the English Parliament passed the Stamp Act to raise revenue in the American colonies.

On this date:

In 1622, some 350 Virginians were killed in the first Indian massacre of European colonists in North America.

In 1794, the U.S. Congress passed a law prohibiting American ships from supplying slaves to other countries.

In 1820, an American naval hero, Stephen Decatur, was mortally wounded in a duel with Commodore James Barron near Washington.

In 1917, the United States became the first nation to recognize a new provisional government in Russia.

In 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed a bill legalizing beer and wine with 3.2 per cent alcohol content.

In 1941, the Grand Coulee Dam on the Columbia River began producing electrical power.

Ten years ago: Right-wing French terrorists attacked government security forces in Algiers.

Five years ago: A high-ranking North Korean press official jumped into a U.S. car at the Panmunjon truce village and defected under a hail of Communist bullets.

One year ago: U.S. jets hit targets in North Vietnam for the second day in a row.

TEAVER BLAMES COLLEAGUES

Insurance Hikes Seen

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State Insurance Board Chairman Larry Teaver said today he was outvoted in a board decision that Teaver claims will boost building insurance costs by $27 million in a one-year period.

Teaver called a news conference to assail the board decision.

As the decision stands, many Texans actually will receive reductions in rates for homeowners policies but fire insurance and extended coverage rates will rise throughout the state.

The increases will not be as great as they might have been because of limitations imposed by the U.S. Price Commission. Except for those limitations, Texas homeowner rates would have gone up.

Ned Price and Durwood Manford, the other two board members, outvoted Teaver 2-1 in a decision last week to continue using an inflation trend factor in setting building insurance rates for the year starting July 1.

The factor is based on the rate of inflation for the past five years in both building costs and general consumer prices.

"The people of Texas are not gullible enough to sit back and accept the fact that the insurance industry has the power to dictate such irresponsible rate increases to the board, at the policyholders' expense," Teaver told his news conference.

He said the increase would be piled on top of a $55 million or 16 per cent—increase that resulted from the inflation factor last year.

"Inflation was not that high. If it was, we'd all be bankrupt," Teaver said.

"The price freeze has had a downward effect on inflation. In view of this, our present rates are much too high," he added.

Teaver said Gov. Preston Smith, who appointed him, backs him in his effort to scrap the inflation facter for a year.

"He wants to make himself look good," Price, whom Teaver succeeded as board chairman, said of Teaver's news conference.

Price said no final decision was made on actual rates.

"I don't know what the final rates will be. We told the staff to work the rates up for future conferences .... with the inflation trend formula ... We haven't signed any (rate) order yet. The board can still make changes and instruct the staff in the next few days," Price said.

The formula approved by the board would raise fire insurance rates an average of 3 per cent statewide on homes and 2.1 per cent on buildings other than dwellings.

Homeowners policy rates would dip 2.1 per cent in the Central Inland rating territory—which includes Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Austin, Waco and El Paso—and 5.9 per cent in the North-Northwest Territory. But they would jump 22.4 per cent in the "Seacost" territory, which includes Houston.

Statewide, homeowners rates would climb an average of 5.3 per cent.

Extended coverage rates would climb an average of 35.4 per cent in the Seacoast Territory, 5.5 per cent in the Central Inland Territory and one-tenth of 1 per cent in the North-Northwest Territory.

Teaver's proposed one-year suspension on the inflation trend factor would cut most of these rates, according to a board staff member.

Figures supplied by Teaver show a 5 per cent reduction in fire insurance rates on homes and 5.8 per cent on buildings other than dwellings.

Home owners' rates would dip 14 per cent in the Central Inland Territory and 17.3 per cent in the North-Northwest Territory, while rising 7.5 per cent in the Seacoast Territory.

Extended coverage rates would fall an average of 2.7 per cent in the Central Inland Territory and 7.7 per cent in the North-Northwest Territory while increasing 24.9 per cent in the Seacoast Territory.

Muskie Wins Illinois Primary

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, claiming in victory that he'll keep winning now, held a big lead over Sen. George McGovern today as the ballots were counted in their contest for Illinois delegate votes for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Muskie easily outdistanced Eugene J. McCarthy to win as expected Tuesday in an Illinois presidential preference primary, polling 63 per cent of the vote.

A slow count of the long ballots in the delegate selection contests, where Muskie also was favored, left in doubt the final lineup in the Illinois delegation. But it was clear the Maine senator would emerge with a substantial margin over McGovern.

The delegate contest was really 24 contests, with the 160 convention seats apportioned among Illinois congressional districts.

With 75 per cent of the 10,858 precincts counted, delegates committed to vote for Muskie's nomination led for 60 convention seats, McGovern entries for 14.

But there were more uncommitted delegates, 86, leading than the two campaigners could claim between them.

And that was about the only thing that went right Tuesday for Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, who will lead the uncommitted bloc when the Democrats convene July 10 in Miami Beach, Fla.

Daley's Chicago Democratic organization was jolted when two insurgents beat his chosen candidates to win nominations for governor and state's attorney.

"The people have spoken," said Daley. "It's always a good thing when the people speak."

In the presidential preference vote, with 95 per cent of the precincts counted, these was the totals:

Muskie 722,930 votes, or 63 per cent.

McCarthy 420,222 votes, 37 per cent.

"We're going to keep on winning, through all the primaries, through the Democratic National Convention and across the entire nation next November," said Muskie. "This is the message that the people of Illinois have just sent across the nation."

The Maine senator got off to a faltering campaign start, with a 46.4 per cent victory showing in the New Hampshire primary, and a battering in Florida, where he ran fourth and got only 9 per cent of the vote.

Muskie said Illinois gave him "a clear cut victory."

It came over a former Minnesota senator who is not among the real contenders for the 1972 nomination.

Banker Killed In Holdup

HOUSTON (AP) — A bank officer was killed and a policeman and another man wounded today in gunfire that followed a robbery of the South Park National Bank in Houston's southeast area.

Police Chief Herman Short said from his office there was indication the gunmen used a machine gun during the robbery.

The bank officer killed at the scene was identified as James Garbs, who was shot in the head.

Patrolman Tommy Morris was reported in good condition at City-County Hospital. He possibly escaped more serious injury when the bullet struck his police badge before entering his left chest.

One of the gunmen, a 27-year-old black man, also was wounded, apparently in an exchange of gunfire with Morris.

Witnesses said guards, armed with a shotgun, followed as three gunmen left the bank and Barbs was shot near a drive-in window at the rear of the bank.

Mrs. Garcia Dies At 85

Mrs. Lula Garcia, 85, of Hermleigh died at 10 p.m. Tuesday in Simmons Memorial Hospital in Sweetwater.

A native of Seguin, Mrs. Garcia had lived at Hermleigh since 1945.

Rosary will be said at 7:30 p.m. today and at 8 p.m. Thursday at Bell-Seale Funeral Home. Mass is set for 9 a.m. Friday at St. John's Catholic Church at Hermleigh, with Fr. Coleman officiating. Burial will be in the Hermleigh Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Antonia Perez of Dallas, Mrs. Juanita Salas of Loraine, Mrs. Rosa Orosco of Snyder and Mrs. Ernestine Dominguez of Waco; three sons, Tom Garcia of Marlin, Pete Garcia of Fort Worth and Frank Garcia of Hermleigh; 37 grandchildren, including Lucy Guajardo whom Mrs. Garcia reared; 75 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Also surviving are three sisters and one brother.

LULAC Council Is Organized Here

A League of United Latin American Citizens Council (LULAC) has been organized in Snyder.

Officers elected at the organizational meeting are Ted Martinez Jr., president; Ricardo Corrales, vice president, and Ruben Gonzales, secretary-treasurer.

The local council will be chartered by Froy Salinas, District Director of LULAC, of Lubbock. The LULAC Council of Snyder will conduct weekly meetings with guest speakers and other programs of interest.

Salinas said that LULAC was born in 1929 when a group of dedicated Americans met for the purpose of uniting their efforts to help a deprived segment of citizens whose only fault was being bilingual and having Spanish surnames. The strongest efforts of LULAC have been directed at education, since the league feels that education is one of the keys to the solutions of many problems. LULAC is a patriotic, civic and service organization, dedicated to the principle that all men are created equal and that all have an inalienable right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and to this goal the league has dedicated itself, said Salinas.

First activity of LULAC in Snyder was a successful voter registration drive Sunday morning at Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church.

Other activities planned are: 1. To conduct a scholarship fund-raising drive, 2. to establish a cooperative relationship with other civic organizations and agencies in the fields of public service, 3. to serve as an information center for the Mexican-American community, and 4. to actively work in the area of improvement of education for the Mexican-American community.

Gus Mutscher Is 'Stepping Aside'

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gus Mutscher, the highest Texas official ever convicted of a felony, says he is stepping aside as House speaker.

Mutscher, however, avoided the word "resign."

He went before his staff and other House employes Tuesday afternoon and later talked individually with newsmen who sought clarification of his statement.

"I am stepping aside and will not preside over a special session of the legislature," Mutscher told a newsman.

Since only special sessions remain before Mutscher's two-year term as speaker would end in January 1973, that means he will not preside over the Texas House again.

Asked if he was saying that he was resigning, Mutscher said: "I'm not saying I'm not and I'm not saying I will. ... A number of alternatives are here, but I will speak of those later on."

Mutscher, 39, Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth and speaker's aide Rush McGinty were convicted at Abilene last Wednesday on charges they conspired to accept a bribe from Houston promoter Frank Sharp.

All three received five-year probated prison sentences.

McGinty said possibilities include Mutscher's designating someone to fill the presiding officer's chair in his place.

Most House members believe Mutscher would be removed by a vote of the House if he did not step aside. There likely will be a fight for the interim speakership between forces of Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine, an active candidate for 1973 House speaker, and those who want Rep. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi as temporary speaker.

Mutscher's resignation has been expected since he was convicted.

"You all understand. I'm sure, how sad and disappointed I am at the outcome of the trial. There is no justice when innocent people are convicted. I am innocent, and God knows I am innocent," Mutscher told his staff and House employes.

Panel Suggests Decriming 'Pot'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse today recommended repeal of all jail terms and fines for private pot smoking, but not for its cultivation or sale.

After a year's study, chartered by Congress, the conservative panel unanimously proposed a national policy of using "persuasion rather than prosecution" to discourage smoking of marijuanam.

But it stopped short of recommending outright legalization, expressing the hope that marijuana is a fad that will lose favor if de-emphasized.

It said marijuana is far less dangerous than the American public thinks. It found little or no evidence that marijuana can kill, cause addiction, brain damage or birth defects, or lead to crime, violence or necessarily to more powerful drugs.

But it did find that long-term, daily use of marijuana by adolescents sometimes contributes to a general lack of motivation, concluded that anyone driving under the influence of marijuana is a serious threat to public safety and said that heavy, daily use over a number of years may cause some damage to heart and lungs.

"In general, we recommend only a decriminalization of possession of marijuana for personal use on both the state and federal levels," the commission said.

Specifically, it recommended:

—Elimination of fines and jail terms for smoking marijuana in private or possessing one ounce or less.

—Retention of felony penalties for growing marijuana, selling it for profit or possessing it with intent to sell.

—Fines of up to $100 for smoking in public, public possession of more than one ounce, or not-for-profit distribution of small amounts in public.

—Jail terms of up to 60 days and a $100 fine for disorderly conduct linked to public marijuana use or intoxication.

—Penalties of up to a year in jail, a $1,000 fine and suspension of operator's permit for driving a vehicle or operating any dangerous instrument while under the influence of marijuana.

—Classification of marijuana as contraband that could be confiscated by police wherever found outside the home, even if the possessor were not liable for criminal penalties.

The 13 commissioners were not unanimous in all their recommendations. Reps. Tim Lee Carter, R-Ky., and Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., recommended noncriminal fines for possession of any amount of marijuana in public or in private. Former Illinois chief investigator Mitchell Ware recommended noncriminal penalties such as mandatory drug-education classes or civil fines. Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, opposed making marijuana contraband and urged some other points in the direction of greater civil liberty.

3 Labor Members Quit Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three AFL-CIO members of President Nixon's Pay Board resigned today, saying they could no longer cooperate in a control program they viewed as slanted against the nation's workers.

The source, a member of the AFL-CIO executive council said the council voted in favor of the withdrawal of AFL-CIO President George Meany, United Steelworkers President I. W. Abel and Machinists President Floyd Smith from the Pay Board.

Meany reportedly was seeking to persuade the two other labor members of 15-man Pay Board to join the AFL-CIO in quitting. The other two Pay Board members from labor are Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons and Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock, whose unions are not affiliated with the AFL-CIO.

Fitzsimmons and Woodcock, who have been described as reluctant to quit the board, did not attend today's AFL-CIO meeting.

Husband's scheme may go up in smoke

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a farmer, and he is planning to plant some marijuana along with corn and other crops.

He says if he gets busted and goes to jail, he won't mind serving a year because he could make so much money off the marijuana, it will be worth it.

We have five kids, and things have been rough for us financially. I've told him I think he's foolish to take a chance, but he says he loves me, that's the reason he wants to get rich quick. Then he can give me and the kids a better life.

Abby, I don't like his idea at all, but he says if I loved him I'd go along with it. I do love him, but I still can't. Any suggestions? FARMER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Your husband's get-rich-quick scheme could go up in smoke faster than he thinks. And he stands to serve a lot more than a year if he's caught. Tell him that if he loves YOU, he'll stick to corn and other crops, and forget the marijuana.

DEAR ABBY: A woman signed "Quietly Burning" complained because her husband always called her "Hey," or "Say, there."

I'll bet anything her husband was of Scandanavian descent. My husband never called me "Honey," or any other endearing name, and we have had over 40 years of the most successful marriage possible. He's a Swede, and Swedes are naturally very cold, undemonstrative and nonverbal. But once you thaw out a Swede, watch out! MARRIED ONE

DEAR MARRIED: Okay. So exactly how does one go about "thawing out" a Swede?

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to correct the thinking of "George," who had qualms about his daughter's marrying a conscientious objector because in his view, a conscientious objector would not fight to protect his family.

A conscientious objector is one who, because of a deeply held moral or ethical code, or because of religious beliefs, cannot engage in any war without betraying the principles most influential in his life. There is no requirement that he be completely nonviolent or unwilling to defend his family.

There is an enormous difference between defending oneself from personal attack, and participating in the undiscriminating mass killing and destruction of modern warfare, which finds most of its victims among innocent civilians, and drops bombs from six miles in the air with a killing range of a square mile, defoliating, and destroying food supplies.

I would be very happy if my daughter were to marry a conscientious objector, for it shows concern for humanity and conscience which can only help in human relationships, marital and every other. Yours,

LEONARD M. LAKE, HARRISON, N. Y.

DEAR MR. L.: Yours was only one of many, many responses echoing the same sentiments.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ROBERT P. IN N. Y. C.: Your cats are NOT homosexual. A true homosexual will, when given a choice, choose a partner of his own sex, but in the absence of his preference, he will "make do" with whatever is handy. [As some humans do.] Dr. Herman Salk is not in error. There are no four-legged gay cats!

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Singles Allowed Contraceptives

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Single people have a right to freely obtain contraceptives if married people are permitted to by the state, the Supreme Court ruled today in upsetting a conviction of birth control crusader Bill Baird.

"If the right of privacy means anything, it is the right of the individual, married or single, to be free from unwarranted governmental intrusion into matters so fundamentally affecting a person as the decision whether to bear or beget a child," said Justice William J. Brennan Jr.

Brennan, the court's only Roman Catholic, delivered the 6 to 1 opinion that Baird could not be punished by Massachusetts for lecturing at Boston University on birth control and handing a package of vaginal foam to an unmarried woman.

The court was less firm in barring the states from banning contraceptives to single people while permitting them for adults. This holding was on a vote of 4 to 3.

Massachusetts, like 24 other states, restricts single people's access to birth control devices. The state permits married people to obtain contraceptives to prevent pregnancy but allows single people to obtain them only to guard against disease.

Brennan said: "Whatever the rights of the individual to access to contraceptives may be, the rights must be the same for the unmarried and the married alike."

Pleas Entered In County Court

Several pleas were entered in county court Monday.

Gilbert Gonzales and Raymond Gonzales both pleaded innocent to charges of malicious mischief. The offenses allegedly occurred on March 19. They were released on $500 bond each.

Millard Childress was charged with aggravated assault, and he also entered a plea of innocence. He was released on $750 bond and jury trial was set for April 11.

E. C. Bourn pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated. He was handed a $100 fine plus court costs and a 3-day jail term. The offense occurred March 17.

The University of Northern Colorado is located in Greeley.

Easter Rock Fiesta On Again

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — An on-again, off-again Easter rock festival at South Padre Island apparently is on again as promoters make plans to use an isolated section of beach in Wallacy County.

Wendy Maloy of Harlingen, one of the promoters of what he calls the "Easter Rock Fiesta," said Tuesday it will be held Saturday April 1—the day before Easter.

South Padre Island Chamber of Commerce president Robert McCausland said a day earlier there would be no rock festival on the resort island Easter weekend.

South Padre Island is a popular gathering place for college students during the holiday weekend even without a rock festival or fiesta. Last year an estimated 65,000 persons gathered there during Easter weekend for a surfing contest and other events.

Cameron County Judge Ray Ramon rejected a proposal by Cecil McDonald of Pharr to stage a rock festival at the island last year. Under Texas law, such a festival can be halted by a county judge if it comes under the mass gathering statute.

Maloy told Wallacy County Judge Bill Rapp and newsmen Tuesday he has studied the law with a Harlingen lawyer and thinks he can conduct the fiesta without violating it.

Rapp said Maloy told him 5,000 tickets are being sold at $6 each. He said the fiesta would last only four hours, making it fall within the statute which governs gatherings of 12 hours or more.

Rapp said he foresaw many difficulties involved in such an undertaking. Maloy was able to give newsmen at least verbal solutions to some of the problems.

2 Snyderites On NTSU Honor Roll

DENTON — Anne Alexander and Donna Hendrix of Snyder were among 1,050 named to the honor roll at North Texas State University last fall by Dr. Gus Ferre, vice-president for academic affairs.

Some 186 students earned all "A's" to make the 4.0 honor roll during the fall semester, and 864 achieved the 3.5 listing, which includes students whose grade average was midway between an "A" and a "B." Both of the Snyder students are on the 3.5 honor roll.

Miss Alexander is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle M. Alexander, 2704 Thirty-fifth St.

Miss Hendrix is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvis T. Hendrix, Route 3.

USDA Supports VEE Program

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department, caught off guard two weeks ago by a Pentagon public relations maneuver, has finally brought up the rear and is lending support to a coordinated government battle plan against horse sleeping sickness.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird announced March 10 that military outposts will cooperate this year in a "surveillance and alert system" to help give warning on another outbreak this year of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE). A reporter asked the Agriculture Department about the program and a spokesman said "nobody knows anything" about it. The Pentagon news release said USDA would analyze samples from horses this year to diagnose if they were suffering from VEE.

But this week the Agriculture Department, after picking up the loose ends left by the Defense Department, announced officially that a surveillance program was going to be conducted this year. The project will be operated in Texas, where the outbreak began last year, and nearby areas. The departments of Health, Education and Welfare, and Interior also will be involved, along with state agencies in the "high risk" areas.

Millions of horses were vaccinated last year after VEE invaded South Texas from Latin America. An estimated 1,500 horses died in Texas, the only place where confirmed deaths were reported, a USDA spokesman said.

"We had a call from the Pentagon that they were going to put something out (a news release) on it," the spokesman said. "but it was too late by then for us to do anything."

The Defense Department announcement said "veterinarians at 19 Air Force bases, 10 Army posts and two Navy and Marine installations across the southern United States from California to South Carolina" will be involved in the VEE watch this year.

At USDA the spokesman said the military bases use veterinarians primarily for meat inspection since the Defense Department handles its own meat purchases. But also, he said, veterinarians at the bases keep up on horse health because of riding stables at many of the installations.

Entomologists, scientists who study insects, also are employed by the services in tropical and subtropical areas where insect-borne diseases can be a problem. VEE is transmitted primarily by mosquitoes. Those will be enlisted in the surveilance, too, the Agriculture Department spokesman said.

'Wagon Boss' For Roundup Is Appointed

Buck Owens, 1972 Roundup Chairman for West Texas Boys Ranch, has announced that W. C. Hart has been appointed Wagon Boss for Scurry County. Owens said, "We are very fortunate to have a man like W. C. Hart working for the Ranch in Scurry County. West Texas Boys Ranch is presently caring for 72 boys who need our help, that's why we are so pleased to have Mr. Hart working with us on the Annual Roundup."

West Texas Boys Ranch has served over 700 boys since it was organized in 1947. Of that number 7 boys have been from Scurry County.

West Texas Boys Ranch is supported entirely by tax-deductible donations by the public and Annual Roundup is one of the most important money-raising events undertaken by volunteers for the Ranch. All proceeds from Roundup go into general operating funds to purchase bread and butter, shoes and socks, and to meet the operating expenses of the Ranch. Through Roundup livestockmen are invited to donate livestock or cash to help maintain the Ranch as a home for the dependent and neglected boys of West Texas. The spring phase of Roundup was kicked off at a Wagon Boss meeting held in San Angelo, March 11. Arrangements to haul donated livestock will be made by local Wagon Bosses or the Roundup Chairman. Most area Livestock Commission companies do not charge commission on livestock donated to West Texas Boys Ranch.

Spacemen Earn Collier Trophy

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Apollo 15 astronauts and Dr. Robert R. Gilruth, space program leader, today were named winners of the Robert J. Collier trophy.

They are to receive identical trophies from President Nixon or Vice President Agnew May 31.

The trophy is awarded annually by the National Aeronautics Association. Selection of the winners was announced by former Oklahoma Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, NAA president.

The three air Force officers—Col. David R. Scott, Col. James B. Irwin and Lt. Col. Alfred M. Worden—rode the Apollo 15 spacecraft off the Cape Kennedy launch pad last July 26. Scott and Irwin landed the lunar module Falcon on the moon July 30, the fourth Apollo team to visit the lunar surface.

The spacecraft splashed down in the Pacific Aug. 7.

On the basis of lunar surface explored, geological samples collected, photography and visual observations, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration labeled it the most significant and scientifically productive lunar mission yet flown.

Gilruth became an engineer with the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, predecessor to NASA, in 1937.

In the mid-1950s he was appointed leader of the research team assigned to develop a program for manned space flight, and in October 1958 he became director of Project Mercury, designed to send a single astronaut into orbit around the earth.

In 1961 President John F. Kennedy and the Congress set as a major national goal a manned lunar landing and safe return before the end of the decade. Gilruth was given responsibility for the design and development of the spacecraft and for planning and controlling missions and training crews.

NASA credits Gilruth also with conceiving the Gemini two-man spacecraft program as a progression from Mercury to a lunar landing venture.

As director of NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston, Gilruth also led the Apollo program.

The Collier trophy was established in 1912 and is awarded annually for the greatest achievement in aeronautics or astronautics.

2 Mishaps Are Reported Here

Minor damage resulted from two motor vehicle mishaps in the city yesterday.

The first one occurred at 9:12 a.m. at Thirty-fifth Street and Avenue V. Involved were a 1972 Model Lincoln operated by Mrs. Carl Dillaha, 2612 Thirty-second Street, and a 1971 Model Chevrolet driven by Avis Lofton Berryhill, 3789 Sunset.

The other one occurred at Twenty-sixth Street and College Avenue at 2:42 p.m. Involved were the 1970 Model Plymouth of Arlen Roscoe Vandriver, 4202 Avenue U, and the 1968 Model Ford of Johnny Leon Brooks, 2703 Twenty-sixth Street.

Chance Of Buying WS Ranch Slim

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Dr. Thomas Nelson, the U.S. Forest Service's deputy chief for programs and legislation, said Monday the possibility of the government buying the huge WS Ranch is "very slim."

Nelson said too many priorities probably will keep the government from buying the property, also known as the Vermejo Ranch, in northeastern New Mexico.

He said priorities stacked against acquisition of the ranch include development of wilderness areas, building of recreational areas, trail building and resource development.

The 480,000-acre ranch has a $26.5 million price tag on it.

BRIDAL SHOWER — A bridal shower honoring Mrs. C. H. Satcher, the former Donna Blythe, was given March 20 at the West Texas State Bank Community Room. The brides chosen colors of white, lavender and purple were carried out in corsages and table settings. Hostesses for the affair were Mmes. Lawrence Barnes, Billy Blythe, James Orange, Jr., David Shifflett. Pictured are (from left) Mrs. Bill Blythe, grandmother of the bride, Mrs. V. E. (Hap) Blythe, mother of the bride and Mrs. C. H. ACS Volunteers Plan For Crusade

The Scurry County Unit of the American Cancer Society met March 18 in the auditorium of Snyder High School to make plans for the Cancer Crusade which will be held in April. Mrs. Wraymond Sims is Crusade Chairman for the drive this year.

Mrs. Travis Rhoades, president, expressed appreciation for all concerned volunteer workers. She said that over 450 volunteers helped to collect more than $10,000 in Scurry County last year. She urged others in the community to join in the cancer crusade.

Mrs. Rhoades noted the achievements that cancer research has made in the past 10 years, saying that today one out of every three cancer patients are cured of the dreaded disease and only ten years ago only one out of every ten were cured. She also called attention to the fact that more men die from the disease every year than women. This is partly true because women are more aware of the need for annual check-ups than men.

Mike Dabbs, Field Representative from Abilene, talked to the group about how cancer money is spent. Out of every $1 in the Texas Division, thirty-six cents is used for research; ten cents for professional education and fellowships; eighteen cents goes for distribution of public education information in Texas with the seven warning signals of cancer; twenty-three cents is used for service to patients (comfort items, dressings, sick room equipment, etc.) only five cents is used for program development and administration such as paid staff etc.; and eight cents is spent toward campaign expenses. Mr. Dabbs said that the ACS is the only organization where less than 20 percent of monies collected is used toward expenses.

Mr. Dabbs emphasized that ACS is the only means by which the public will be reached and informed about cancer. He said the need for the ACS will cease only when cancer is cured.

Mr. Dabbs showed a film about singer Marqueritte Piazza, who is suffering from cancer. Miss Piazza was chairman of the 1971 Cancer Crusade and has been given the courageous person award. The film was very inspirational to the volunteer workers.

PLANS DISTRICT MEETING — Iota Psi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha will host the District VIII meeting at the Scurry County Coliseum April 16. History Of Scurry Co. Courthouses Is Told

The Altrurian Club met Friday afternoon March 17 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club with Mrs. Clyde Hall as hostess.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Dewey Odom. The meditation was given by Mrs. Travis Rhoades.

Mrs. Henry George introduced Mrs. Virginia Whitson, music teacher at Stanfield Elementary, who directed her pupils in several Texas folk songs. Included in the selections were "Cowboy's Christmas," written by an Anson man; "Leavin' Old Texas," sung by cowboys on the cattle trail; "All Day on The Prairie," by a negro composer from Ballinger; "The Ballad of The Boll Weevil," sung by farmers making fun of their plight; "The Yellow Rose of Texas," sung at the time of the Texas Revolution; and "The Other Shore" a spiritual type song sung at brush arbor camp meetings.

The young people who took part in the delightful presentation were Mary Margaret Womack, Amelia Grant, Sheryl Burk, Laurie Bethel, Ricky Bowden, and Clay Peterson.

In bringing the "Local History" program Mrs. M. K. Stevenson gave a talk on the Scurry County Courthouse.

"This Area," she said "was originally attached to Bexar County. Later to Shackelford and then to Mitchell County."

"Nearly all the people who first came here were buffalo hunters.

The most famous being J. Wright Mooar and John Mooar.

By 1876 the local buffalo supply had been depleted but the people had decided to form a settlement in the Deep Creek area, where Pete Snyder, from whom the town was named, had established his trading store.

The Texas Constitution of 1876 required that a settlement should have 150 legally qualified voters before a county could be formed. When this requirement was met fifteen citizens submitted a petition to the Commissioners Court of Mitchell County. The election creating Scurry County was held July 23, 1884.

At the first meeting of the Scurry County Commissioners Court they were authorized to let a contract for a calaboose, an 8x10 foot frame building.

Two months later the citizens began agitating for a court house. Lots were given by eight landowners to be set aside as courthouse square.

The first courthouse was completed Sept. 10, 1886. It was placed in the northeast corner of the square.

Snyder's population began to grow. The R.S. & P. Railroad came through and the economy improved.

By 1911 it was necessary to build a new courthouse. This one was placed in the center of the square, astride the old buffalo trail.

In 1949 the oil boom came. The population grew from 4,000 to 14,000 in a short time. The courthouse was remodeled in 1950.

The oil boom faded. Snyder suffered some bad times, but through their own efforts another period of prosperity was brought about.

The Industrial Foundation encouraged a number of new industries to come here. The oil companies began some renovation projects and through a renewed effort a junior college was established.

Again it was thought best to bring the Courthouse up to standard. A remodeling project begun June 14, 1971, is due to be completed in July or August. It now has a space age look. The exterior is concrete with red granite panels and the interior, is having a thorough re-doing."

Mrs. Clyde Hall, the hostess, served refreshments with a St. Patricks Day theme, to eighteen members.

Burtons Give For Oxford Theater

OXFORD, England (AP) — Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor have given 100,000 pounds—$260,000—to Oxford University to build a theater where the Welsh actor plans to play "King Lear."

Francis Warner, playwright and close friend of Burton, said Friday that the gift will go to set up a charitable trust to finance the theater to be designed by architect Buckminister Fuller and named for Irish playwright Samuel Beckett.

Warner said Burton plans to live near Oxford and take an active interest in the theater.

Some Newborn Addicts

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston doctors report some babies of women who take barbiturates during pregnancy are addicted to the drug at birth and suffer withdrawal symptoms at one to two weeks of age.

These infants exhibit the same problems as babies of heroin addicts, said Baylor College of Medicine doctors working at Jefferson Davis Hospital.

The babies wail constantly in shrill voice, the doctors said, their arms and legs tremble and they cannot sleep. The slightest noise triggers trembling and screaming. The infants seem hungry but suffer from vomiting and diarrhea.

However, the doctors said the symptoms disappear in two to four months.

The doctors studied 15 babies found to be addicted to barbiturates. Up to a year after birth no major problems have yet been detected, they said.

The doctors said the treatment is the same as for newborns addicted to other drugs.

The baby must be kept in a warm, quiet, darkened room since sound and light increase excitability. They must be fed tiny amounts of food frequently, swaddled tightly in blankets and handled gently.

All the babies born at Jefferson Davis were healthy when diseharged, doctors said, and their difficulties came to light in City Health Department and Jefferson Davis baby clinics.

The problem has gone undetected for so long because the babies already are discharged from the hospital when they become ill, the Baylor group said. Infants of heroin addicts, for example, get into trouble 10 minutes to 48 hours after birth when they are still in the hospital nursery.

DJIA Still Striving To Reach 1,000-Points

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In the decade of the 1960s the vigorously growing U.S. economy thrust the Dow Jones Industrial Average to 995 points, the equivalent of a bursting young earth heaving up the Himalayas.

Now, six years later, that peak is still unconquered. No amount of economic upthrust has been enough to pierce the sky, which in this instance is the 1,000-point "barrier."

To call it a barrier seems trite until you consider that somehow there is indeed an obstacle there—psychological, statistical, actual or imaginery.

Since the 1960s the economy has grown. Corporate profits have continued to rise.

Early this week the DJIA was above 940, a level reached several times since 1966, a level that is always referred to as one where forces are regrouped, energies replenished for an "assault" on the top. Will it be done?

A clue to the curious behavior of the DJIA was found in a comparison with some other averages. In the past 10 years, for example, the DJIA has failed to double, but the American Stock Exchange Index has more than quadrupled.

Amex stocks generally are of smaller, faster growing companies. The DJIA is made up of 30 companies that already have had great growth and now are huge. They represent nearly one-third of the nation's industrial output.

Companies of that size are not mastadons or dinosaurs or creatures whose futures is dead. But they are elephants. Strong and healthy as they are, they are no match in speed to smaller competitors.

The DJIA is also a weighted measure. In fact, it is an index rather than an average. The relative weight of a stock is proportional to its market price. A big decline in a high-priced stock has greater effect than a similar decline in a low-priced stock.

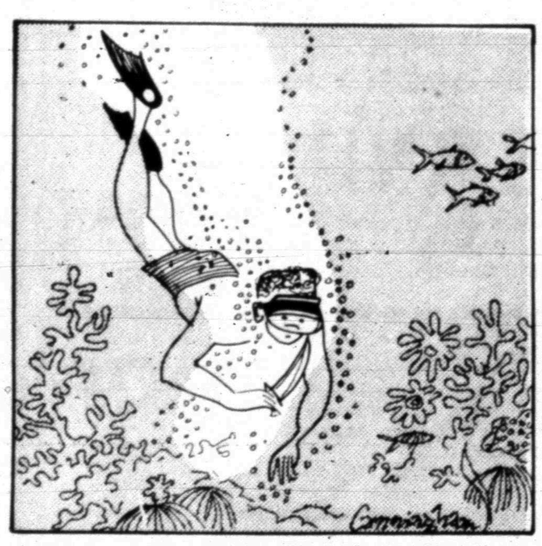

Tending also to act as a depressant is the fact that expanding companies often split their stocks. When this happens, the stock then has only a fraction of its previous weight, or influence in the over-all index.

John Wright, the statistics minded founder of Wright Investors Service, notes that in the 1966-1968 period the DJIA fell 2.6 per cent from 969 to 944, but that the market price of the 30 component stocks, individually adjusted, showed an average gain of 21 per cent.

In 1939, American Telephone & Telegraph, largest service corporation in the world, replaced a lesser known company in the DJIA. Since then, the smaller company has grown to one of the largest in the world.

Had International Business Machines, the premier growth stock of our time, remained in the computations the DJIA would, so to speak, be in the space age itself.

Junior Editors Quiz on SPONGES

QUESTION: What are sponges?

* * *

ANSWER: The real sponge comes from the sea, not from a factory or chemical laboratory. Sponges are usually found on the bottom of the ocean and were first thought to be a form of marine plant life similar to sea weed. Scientists after much study found the sponge to be a water animal. Most sponges live in the ocean, but there are a few fresh-water species. Sponges have been found in shallow and in deep water. They inhabit all the seas, but most sponges live in warm and tropical waters. Paleontologists have found traces of sponges in rocks dating back to early times.

Zoologists classify the sponge as one of the lowest forms of animal life. It is made up of many pores through which it feeds. Sponges assume many shapes and colors. They are usually collected by divers along the coast; sometimes, the hooking method is used. Fishermen sail in a glass bottomed boat and when they spot the sponges they bring them to the surface with a hook. After the sponges are collected, they are dried. It is really the skeleton of the animal which is valuable.

Joe Noted For Song, Whistles

By WILLIAM L. CHAZE
Associated Press Writer

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP) — It was raining outside the combination cafe and restaurant. The counter man had a hangover and the owner's mynah bird, a small one named Joe, was singing "On Top of Old Smoky."

The bird was also practicing his wolf whistle and generally amusing himself on a cold winter day. Every time the black and yellow bird hit a high note the counter man would shrug and roll his eyes and gaze at the ceiling.

"That little bird is seven kinds of hell on a bad head," said the counter man, who was pale, graying and in his late 30s.

"I'm standing here telling you, mister, that you wouldn't believe the things that whistle can do to the inside of a man's head. It's something. I'm telling you."

He popped open a can of beer for a customer, looked longingly at it for a long second or two, then handed it over. He volunteered that the bird was regarded by many as the most talented mynah in the state and had been bought by the cafe's owner for $35. His cage, he said, cost more than the bird.

"People drive from all over to see that bird sing Smoky," said the man. "A few weeks ago, this bunch of salesmen, from up at Atlanta, drove down just to hear him sing Smoky. But when they got here, Joe wouldn't let out a peep. He's got an independent mind."

The counter man used to live at the place but the mynah bird, not a heavy sleeper, began to bother him. "That bird was like an alarm," said the man, carefully arranging a few cellophane bags of corn chips on a bar rack.

For no apparent reason, the bird chose that moment to let loose with four piercingly sharp wolf whistles.

"That peach wine isn't half bad," said the man suddenly, ignoring the bird. "That blueberry is okay, too, though most of the people around here prefer the strawberry. It has this sort of sting to it on your tongue."

Joe, the bird, moved his head back and forth, then steadied it before emitting another wolf whistle, which was even louder than the others.

The counter man sighed and ran his eyes over the wine bottles.

Pronghorn Sets Record

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — A pronghorn from Texas, shot by a Texas hunter, is destined for a place in the records of the Boone and Crockett Club, says Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials.

A preliminary measurement gave the animal almost 84 points, well above the 82 required for the record book.

The right horn measured 18½ inches, the left 19⅛. The circumference at the base of each horn was more than six inches.

To date the record book contains only five pronghorn heads harvested in Texas out of 260 listed since 1878.

Information and Education field officers of the department are official measurers for the Boone and Crockett Club, which is the official tabulator of North American big game animals.

Project To Aid Junior Colleges

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Improvement of science teaching at two-year colleges in the state is the objective of a new project at The University of Texas.

The university's Austin Department of Geological Sciences has a $68,900 grant from the National Science Foundation to develop the program, according to Dr. Robert E. Boyer, department chairman.

Primary objective will be updating junior-college teachers' knowledge of geology and related earth sciences, with emphasis on the applications of geological sciences environmental studies.

The project, co-directed by Donald H. Lokke of El Centro College in Dallas, also will include an opportunity for the teachers to use new instructional materials. Self-paced audio-tutorial laboratory work, computer-assisted instructional programs, multi-media audio-visuals, and contract-teaching and micro-teaching techniques will be utilized.

Bentsen, Tower Vote With Majority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., and John Tower, R-Tex., voted against an amendment to exempt women from the military draft under a proposed equal rights amendment to the Constitution.

The amendment was rejected Tuesday on a 73-18 roll call vote.

LAFF-A-DAY

"It's a good story, but not as good as the one you told Mom when you dragged in at two this morning!"

RECEIVES CONGRATULATIONS — Snyder High School's David Thompson bats cleanup on the baseball team. He did just that yesterday afternoon in Towle Park, knocking a two-run home run over the left-centerfield fence in the 3rd inning. The Tigers beat Andrews 5-3. Here, Thompson strolls down the third base line after his big blast and receives congratulations from his teammates.

Tigers Rip Andrews 5-3

Snyder's Tigers clipped Andrews' Mustangs 5-3 in a baseball clash in Towle Park yesterday afternoon, boosting their season record to 10-1.

The Tigers were never behind. They took a 3-0 lead in the 1st. The Mustangs scored one run in the top of the 3rd, but Snyder tallied two in their half of the inning. Andrews got the last two runs of the game in the 7th, but their rally fell short.

With two away in the second, James Hood reached first on a throwing error by the third baseman. Marvin McClanahan rapped a single, then Louis Loyd clouted a single, driving in Hood.

Tim Holder, the winning pitcher, slashed a double to left field and McClanahan and Loyd both came in.

In the top of the 3rd, Andrews' Roberts singled, went to second on a wild pitch, and scored on a single by Randy Wiley, the losing pitcher. The Mustangs made a serious threat during this inning, loading the sacks, but Holder cut down Matthews on a third called strike to end the threat.

Butch Buchanan stroked a triple to open the bottom of the 3rd for the Tigers. The ball landed about a foot inside the left field foul line and rolled to the fence as Butch rounded the bases and headed towards third. He slid in safely. The next man up, David Thompson, stepped into an o-1 pitch and sent the ball sailing high over the left centerfield fence. It was a two-run homer.

Andrews threatened again in the 7th. Jones walked and Holman singled. A throwing error enabled Jones to scamper all the way home and the Tiger lead was cut to 5-2 with the tying run at the plate. Shoemaker responded with a single to left and Holman scored, making the count 5-3. Holder walked the next man, and with only one away and two ducks on the pond he faced real trouble. But, Tim bore down and got Wiley out with a fly to right field and Neibors, pinch-hitting, popped out to the second baseman for the third out.

Tim, in winning his fourth game, had superb control most of the way. He struck out eight. Wiley, the loser, fanned seven.

Both teams left four men stranded. It also was a good defensive game with the Tigers commiting only one error and the visitors making just two bobbles.

The Tigers meet Kermit at 8:30 p.m. Thursday in the first round of the Eunice, N. M. Tournament. Other pairings pit Eunice against Brownfield at 1 p.m., Crane against Monahans at 3:30 p.m., and Hobbs against Portales at 6 p.m. If Snyder wins its first game, then they play the Hobbs-Portales winner at 8:30 p.m. Friday. If they lose, they play at 3:30 p.m. Friday. Other games are scheduled for 1 p.m. and 6 p.m. Friday with the consolation game on tap at 2 p.m., the third place game set for 5:30 p.m. and the championship match at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Snyder Girls Can Clinch Tie For Title

The Snyder High School girls volleyball team defeated Colorado City here yesterday 15-3, 15-4. The junior varsity girls also won 7-10, 15-3, 15-4.

Marylou Moore tallied 15 points, Mary Ann Richardson and Shirley Sneed each scored seven and Terri Watson collected five for the junior varsity girls. Christy Suttle, Penny Jones, Marcia Shields and Sue Jane Sullivan scored nine, eight, six and five points respectively in the varsity contest.

The Tigers can clinch a tie for the district title with a victory over Sweetwater there Friday night. The program begins with the junior varsity match at 6:30 p.m., followed by the varsity match at 7:30 p.m.

Hot Suns Score 160

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arizona is a desert state that is supposed to get cool at night. The Phoenix Suns are a basketball team that likes to get hot at night.

Tuesday night they were hot. The Suns broke a team scoring record in whipping the Portland Trailblazers 160-128 in their National Basketball Association game.

It was, in the venacular, "a balanced attack." Clem Haskins scored 28, Paul Silas 24, Connie Hawkins 23, Neal Walk 19 and Charlie Scott and Dick Van Arsdale 18 each. They scored 83 points in the first half, a team record, then broke the old point total of 146 points, which was set in 1969 against San Diego.

In all the scoring, Portland forward Sidney Wicks became the eighth NBA rookie to score over 2,000 points in a single season. He led the Trailblazers with 31 points.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Atlanta defeated Philadelphia 117-111, Buffalo topped Baltimore 114-100, Los Angeles trimmed Chicago 109-104, Detroit beat Cincinnati 120-117 and Milwaukee whipped Houston 111-94.

In the American Basketball Association, it was Indiana 139, Pittsburgh 116; Kentucky 102, Memphis 99; Dallas 107, Floridians 90 and Utah 132, Denver 120.

Atlanta clinched a Central Division playoff berth with its victory. The Hawks trailed Philadelphia by 17 points in the second quarter but came back behind the shooting of Pete Maravich and Lou Hudson, who hit 26 and 36 points, respectively. Billy Cunningham had 29 for the 76ers while Bill Bridges added 20.

Rookie Elmore Smith and Randy Smith pounded Baltimore in Buffalo's victory. Elmore scored 29 points and got 22 rebounds while Randy got 25 points. Veteran Bob Kauffman got 25 for the Braves. Mike Riordan and Dave Stallworth each had 18 for the Bullets.

Gail Goodrich scored 29 points and Jerry West 26 for Los Angeles, which trailed Chicago most of the first half. A Bulls' rally cut the Lakers' lead to one point with 2:41 remaining but Happy Hairston's free throws and West's jump shot clinched the victory. Bob Love finished with 28 points for Chicago.

Bob Lanier's 33 points and 22 rebounds paced Detroit but it was a field goal and two foul shots by Jimmy Walker that finally downed Cincinnati. Lanier needs 28 points to reach 2,000. Nate Archibald, the league's second highest scorer, fired in 37 points. He has scored over 30 for 10 straight games. Dave Bing had 27 and Walker 21 for the Pistons while Tom Van Arsdale scored 22 for Cincinnati.

Milwaukee ran up a 32-point halftime lead then had to fight to win against Houston. The Rockets' surge carried them within six points, 89-83, with six minutes in the game.

Johnnies Clip Oral Roberts

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — St. John's played the first half for the Rev. Henry Honsberger and the second half for Mel Davis.

The double dedication was disastrous for Oral Roberts' basketball team Tuesday night.

"I know it sounds corny, but we played the game for those guys," said St. John's Coach Frank Mulzoff after his New York favorites slammed the high-scoring Titans 94-78 in the quarter-finals of the 35th National Invitation Tournament.

The Redmen made it into Thursday night's semifinals at Madison Square Garden on an emotional high after Niagara upset Princeton 65-60.

Mulzoff said the contest was at first dedicated to Rev. Honsberger, who was very sick in a New York hospital.

Davis, the team's top player, started strongly but suffered a pulled tendon in his right knee deep in the first half and had to be carried from the game on a stretcher.

It was then that the team decided to dedicate the second half to their fallen star.

"It was one of Mel's best games until that point," said Mulzoff. "I've never seen him jump higher in a game."

The powerhouse forward scored 12 points and had 12 rebounds in just about 14 minutes. His last bucket was a crashing lay-in that gave St. John's a commanding 37-23 advantage.

Davis spilled to the floor, his face snarled in pain. He was taken to a hospital, where it was revealed that he would be a "doubtful" starter for the semifinal match against Niagara.

The two Vincentian schools will play the nightcap of Thursday's doubleheader after Jacksonville meets Maryland in the opener.

SIGNS SCHOLARSHIP — Kent Horsley (seated, center) is flanked by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ches Horsley, 217 Thirty-sixth Street, as he signs a full basketball scholarship with Western Texas College. Other interested observers are Sid Simpson, athletic director at WTC (left), and Coach Bob Moore (right) of Snyder High School. The signing took place yesterday afternoon in the Horsley home.

Horsley Signs With Western

Kent Horsley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ches Horsley, 217 Thirty-sixth Street, signed a full basketball scholarship with Western Texas College yesterday afternoon.

He was signed by Sid Simpson, athletic director and head basketball coach for the Westerners. Horsley is the first prospect to be signed by WTC this year.

Others present for the signing, which took place in the Horsley home, were Kent's parents and his high school coach, Bob Moore.

Both Coach Moore and Coach Simpson said they were pleased with the signing of the Snyder High School athlete and both expressed the belief that he will be able to help the Westerners next season.

Horsley is a two-year letterman with the Snyder High School basketball team. He made second team All-District this season as a post man. He averaged 10 points per game with nine rebounds per game. With 6-8 height, he has good potential as a college player.

The Tiger team Kent was a member of his senior season posted the best record in the school's history, winning 28 and losing only four.

SWC Teams Win Five Of 6 Tilts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southwest Conference baseball teams won five out of six games Tuesday against non-conference foes.

Texas Tech swept a doubleheader from Hardin-Simmons 5-0 and 14-3 and the Texas Aggies twice nailed Minnesota 4-3 and 8-0.

Southern Methodist dropped the opener 6-2 to St. Edward's but captured the nightcap 7-1.

Cecil Norris had a banner day for Tech, going five-for-seven at the plate. He drove in eight runs and scored three times. Norris accounted for 10 of Tech's 14 runs in the nightcap with four-for-four at bat, driving in seven runs.

Tech is now 15-7 going into its SWC baseball opener with Texas Christian in Fort Worth Friday.

Karl Bystrom singled home the winning run in the fifth inning of the opener and the Aggies took the second game against the Gophers on Bobby Wittkamp's five-hit shutout.

A&M is now 11-6 for the year.

Ron Toenjes pitched a six-hitter to down SMU in the opener. Sam Cangelosi and Kris Silverthorn hit homers in the nightcap for the Mustangs, now 9-8 for the season.

The Pittsburgh Pirates and Baltimore Orioles will play an exhibition night game in Washington, D.C., May 22.

Move Seen As Step Toward Resignation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Speaker Gus Mutscher has announced that he does not intend to preside over the Texas House again, but his announcement stops short of a resignation from the post.

Mutscher, who was convicted in Abilene last week of conspiracy to accept a bribe, refused to use the term "resignation" when he said only that "he cannot discharge the duties of his office and he is "stepping aside."

Mutscher has appealed his conviction to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

But the carefully worded announcement, Tuesday by the Brenham legislator was unanimously interpreted as a step toward resignation.

Gov. Preston Smith, campaigning in Fort Worth called Mutscher's move a "resignation" and termed it a "wise decision."

At the same time the governor said that the speaker's resignation "will remove the clamor of ambitious politicans for an immediate special session of the legislature."

Another candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, Rep. Frances Farenthold, repeated that she had asked Mutscher to resign last September.

Mutscher's announcement was the most important development in Texas politics Tuesday.

In Wichita Falls, Lieut. Gov. Ben Barnes told students at Midwestern University he is against "mass busing from one sorry school to another sorry school."

Barnes said if elected governor, he will appoint "black, brown and young people" to some 1,100 vacant posts.

He drew some laughter when, in an obvious reference to his opponent, Mrs. Farenthold, he said: "I might even like to see a woman governor... some day."

Tom Cartlidge, a 29-year-old Vietnam veteran running in the Democratic primary for the U.S. Senate, announced he will take off Monday on a 500-mile walk from Denison to San Antonio that will take six weeks.

Cartlidge said he will walk 15 miles a day, spending the nights in a camp trailer or nearby motels.

In Austin Sen. Joel Christie, a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, revealed his plans for a canoe caravan down Harris County's Armand Bayou on April 8.

Cristie said the purpose of the trip is to get the scenic area declared a state park.

Christie also launched an attack on one of his opponents, Sen. Wayne Connally of Floresville, whom he accused of being opposed to education.

Bill Jones, another Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, also took a swing at Connally. Jones said in Austin that Connally "is saying he is in favor of continued increases in sales taxes, and sees no reason why the state should stop at any particular amount."

Jones broadened his attacks to include Christie, who he said favored a corporate tax, and Bill Hobby, another candidate, who according to Jones, "prefers a transaction tax which is worse than a sales tax."

Republican gubernatorial candidate Dave Reagan campaigned in Dallas, where he said that "the Republican candidate should be capable of attracting widespread support and not be tied to narrow appeals or intra-party fights."

With the announcement that Mutscher is stepping aside, the battle for his position heated up with Rep. Rex Braun of Houston charging in Austin that Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine is "clearly unqualified to be speaker of the House."

Braun, a member of the "Dirty 30," said that Price is unqualified on three major issues: "integrity in government, equal rights for women and air and water pollution control."

Morton Still 'Open Minded'

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton says his mind is still "wide open" on the proposed trans-Alaska oil pipeline.

If anyone applied to build a pipeline through Canada to the Midwest instead of through Alaska to a tanker port, Morton said Tuesday, "we would have to consider it as a possible choice" also.

The Alyeska Pipeline Service Co., a consortium of seven oil companies, is seeking permits to build the line from Prudhoe Bay on the state's North Slope to the ice-free port of Valdez on the Alaskan south coast.

Morton said Tuesday he has no indication anyone else is planning an alternate application.

Although he must recommend action, Morton said, the final decision on the pipeline will be up to President Nixon. Morton said he wants to consult with the President's staff and the Office of Management and Budget before bringing recommendations to Nixon.

Morton has stated he will not announce a position for at least 45 days and said Tuesday he might take even longer to make up his mind.

The secretary said it might be possible to grant pipeline permits in time for construction to begin this year, but if that were the decision it would have to await the lifting of a federal court injunction.

The Interior Department Monday issued a nine-volume environmental-impact statement on the pipeline proposal. The statement was required to satisfy the injunction won in 1970 by three environment-protection groups.

Asked if he has drawn any general conclusions from the weighty document, Morton said, "No, I haven't yet. I'm still studying it myself."

He said he thinks the department "will be ready in a couple of weeks" to discuss the matter with Nixon's staff, the Office of Management and Budget, and then Nixon himself.

"I'm probably going to have to recommend a decision," Morton said. "I don't think I can get off the hook that easily. I'll have to put up a pretty dog-goned good recommendation ... Once this pipeline is down, wherever you put it, you're committed.

"There are some serious problems with any alternative. An alternative route through Canada presents—for them—some very serious problems which they would have to solve."

Morton said he still considers the permit situation wide open. "For instance, some other group might come in here and make an application for some other route."

"It's a very complex decision in which the environment is only one aspect," Morton said. "The environmental-impact statement is final. But if anyone wants to discuss the social, economic and national-security aspects, we want to do it. We don't want to close the doors on this kind of comment."

He said no more public hearings on the environmental issues are planned.

"We feel we've done a fine job on this thing," he said. "It's a very complete, well-organized document."

Communication Project In Research Stage

COMMERCE, Tex. (AP) — Dr. J. Bee Bednar, assistant professor of mathematics at the University of Tulsa, said in a recent interview at East Texas State University that communication with other life forms in the universe could be possible within the next 20 years.

The assistant professor of mathematics is engaged in a scientific study called Project Cyelops, in which he is studying the feasibility of extra-terrestrial civilization and communication. He was on campus for a program sponsored by the East Texas physics department.

"I have always had an interest in science fiction," Dr. Bednar said, "and have done some work in systems analysis to detect if we were technically capable of such communication.

"What we're trying to find out," Dr. Bednar said, "Is not only if there are other planets with life, but if these civilizations are far more advanced than ours and how we could benefit from their technology and their solutions to problems."

He explained Project Cyclops as a "gigantic" system of radio telescopes penetrating deep into space to see through signals from 150-1,000 light years away at planets which might have life and highly ordered civilizations.

He added that the project is still in the research stage and is meant only to look at the possibility of building such a system and what would have to be done to communicate with other life.

Counselors Can Help Jobless

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

Dear Joyce: I dont read the paper to much but I have been looking in the paper for a job, and mostly all the job trainee program for men are approved for veterans an they get paid to learn. I am not a veteran or a person with a trade, but at least I am interested in taking up something beside setting around the house doing nothing. I am even willing to go to Job Corp but I cant find the right person to talk to. I have went to about one hundred places looking for a job and I even kept going down to the state employment office but no job have I got.

Every time I go down their they tell me sorry we dont have nothing today. And people wonder why people break the law. I cant get on aide because I dont have any defects. I dont have any kids but I do have a wife and its just a depressing feeling to have and I cant take to much more of it. I cant get unemployment compensation because they said I have a misconduct in loosing my last job so I have no income comihg in. Could you please tell me what can I do. -- DESPERATE IN CHICAGO

Your unedited letter is another to clip and save by parents and educators as a telling, irrefutable argument for staying in school long enough to gain work skills.

You are in a rotten spot, no denying it But rarely is a problem so severe that it cannot be solved in some way. This is not mushy, apple-pie optimism, but a fact to hold on to in difficult days ahead. Now, the immediate solution may not be entirely to your liking (such as dishwasher, animal caretaker, etc.) but there is an answer more attractive than your present situation somewhere, and here's one practical suggestion on how to find it.

YOU MUST GET THE EAR of an employment counselor who is aware of community resources as well as job openings. Your best bet on this is to return to your state employment service office and ask to see a counselor. I am assuming you have seen a job technician, not a counselor. If you have seen a counselor and haven't had adequate attention, you can write or visit the office manager of the public employment service office and ask to be reassigned to another counselor. (If you still aren't satisfied, you can write to your U.S. Representative or Senator with a carbon to the director of the state employment service headquarters -- this will usually cause a review of your case to determine if all that can be done has been done.)

THERE ARE MANY areas a public employment service counselor can explore with you that I cannot in a newspaper column. For instance, your age -- you may be too old (those 22 and older are not eligible) for Job Corps. If you are a minority group member, special job and/or training help may be available through the Urban League or other community groups. You may or may not be eligible for emergency welfare or unemployment compensation -- I don't know the particulars of your case, but a counselor working with you face-to-face could find out. The reason you can't find work may be beyond the general employment picture -- such as poor appearance, inability to fill out application forms, failure to put your best foot forward; a counselor can help you discover what positive steps you can take to make your future better. The community resources available to those in your shoes vary between cities and that's where a public employment service counselor can be of special help.

Aid Sent To Quake Victims

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Already hit by the worst floods in 47 years, Peru rushed aid Tuesday to victims of a new disaster—an earthquake which leveled communities on the eastern slope of the Andes.

Consuelo Velasco, wife of President Juan Velasco, flew to the flood-stricken northern state of Piura with a team of ministers to survey damage and speed help to homeless victims.

An estimated 30 persons were killed and about 150,000 left homeless by floods which swept through valleys the length of Peru's Pacific coast the past two weeks.

Bad communications hampered efforts to determine damage caused by the quake. It hit the sparsely populated states of San Martin and Amazonas—about 500 miles northeast of Lima—on Monday morning.

Unofficial reports from the area said the quake killed between seven and 30 persons.

The crew of a Peruvian air force plane which circled the area Monday said the tiny communities of Mercedes, Huacho and Churusapa appeared leveled and a main highway was blocked by slides in three places. The government gave no official estimate of the number of victims.

Flood waters continued to threaten communities and crops in the state of Piura, 620 miles north Lima. Local officials asked that the area be declared an emergency zone.

A spokesman for the Ministry of Aeronautics said water covered 20 per cent of crops in the cotton and fruit-growing area and the remaining 80 per cent had been damaged.

Student To Run For Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — James E. Lendall, 25, of Little Rock, a bearded student at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock, said Tuesday he would run for governor even though he does not qualify for the office because of age and residency requirements.

Lendall said he was running whether he is on the ballot or not to bring out social issues that he said Arkansas politicians were ignoring.

The secondary education student said he would run as the candidate of his Don Quixote party, taken from the fictional character who tilted at windmills.

"Anyone who has tried to effect any social change always runs up against windmills," he told a news conference at a local park where he made his announcement.

Rent Suit Is Filed

HOUSTON (AP) — A four-count civil suit charging violation of rent control regulations has been filed by the Justice Department against a Houston housing developer.

The suit, filed Tuesday in the court of U.S. District Court Judge John V. Singleton, asks a $2,500 civil penalty on each of the four counts.

In the suit, Simco Developments Inc., and Charles Simmons, president of Simco, are accused of improperly issuing rent increase and eviction notices to tenants of the Aldine Meadows Subdivision just southwest of the Houston Intercontinental Airport.

The suit charges that Simco purchased the low-rent homes June 1, 1971 and issued rent increase and eviction notices in January despite two warnings from the Internal Revenue Service.

Welfare Costly

HOUSTON (AP) — The state welfare commissioners say more money was spent on welfare programs in Harris County last year than the state is allowed to spend in all counties.

Judge Orders TCTA To Withdraw Sanctions

GRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP) — In what a lawyer called a landmark decision, a judge has ordered the Texas Classroom Teachers Association to withdraw its sanctions against this town's Mexican-American controlled school district.

Judge Howard Green of Cuero ordered the TCTA to notify all its chapters of withdrawal of the sanctions. The judgment was entered after a hearing here Tuesday.

Green also ordered the teachers group to pay $500 in damages to the school district, which claimed the sanctions had hampered efforts to recruit and keep teachers.

The TCTA invoked the sanctions last May in the wake of turmoil that developed after the Mexican-American Raza Unida Party gained majority control of the school board.

Urging teachers not to accept jobs here, the TCTA said it found "deplorable teaching conditions" after a team conducted an investigation at the request of the local TCTA chapter.

Jesse Gamez of San Antonio, one of the lawyers handling the case for the school district, said the judge's decision is a landmark ruling that will have broad implications if the TCTA appeals and loses.

"If the TCTA loses its power to invoke sanctions, it would be the end of the TCTA," Gamez declared.

Crystal City has been split by controversy for months with the Raza Unida takeover of school and city politics.

Changes under the Mexican-American party's leadership have led some residents to establish a private community school and others to leave Crystal City so their children would not have to attend school here.

The TCTA charged that its probe turned up violations of regulations involving failure to renew certain teachers' contracts.

School officials said some contracts were terminated for such reasons as mistreatment of a pupil, mandatory retirement at age 65, or lack of academic requirements.

When the sanctions were invoked, School Board President Jose Angel Gutierrez, Raza Unida founder, said the TCTA's report on Crystal City was "another malicious document trying to discredit the Mexican-American control of the school district."

Among those testifying Tuesday was Doranda Byrd, a former school district teacher who now works at the private school here.

Mrs. Byrd, president of the local TCTA chapter last year, confirmed that she had asked the TCTA headquarters in Austin to conduct the investigation.

Judge Green presided in the case in place of State District Court Judge Ross Doughty of Crystal City.

While the case was pending, some observers said that a decision in the school district's favor could seriously affect the practice of teachers groups' invoking sanctions against schools.

Houston Man Is Acquitted

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston longshoreman has been acquitted in the stabbing death of Lynn Cecelia Eusan, the 1968 University of Houston homecoming queen.

A district court jury found Leo Jackson Jr., 26, innocent Tuesday.

Miss Eusan, 23, died Sept. 10 of stab wounds after she was found inside Jackson's car which had been involved in a collision with a police car.

Jackson testified he was taking the woman to a hospital after witnessing a man attack her on a street.

Redistricting Appeal Filed

DALLAS (AP) — A notice of appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court was on file here today in the congressional redistricting case in which Texas Secretary of State Bob Bullock seeks reversal of a lower federal court ruling.

A federal court ruled in Dallas Jan. 22 that a plan approved by the Texas Legislature was unconstitutional and the court ordered implementation of its own plan.

Six days later, however, the Supreme Court issued a temporary stay of the federal court ruling. The entire court acted on the matter without comment and without indicating immediately how long its stay order would be effective.

The court's docket is filled through the spring session and it seemed unlikely the high court could again consider the matter until autumn.

Bullock's appeal seeks an immediate ruling by the Supreme Court to reverse the lower court ruling.

Four Council Members Named

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith named today four members of the Texas Council on Marine-Related Affairs, an advisory committee set up by the 1971 Legislature.

Eight other members will be named by Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Speaker Gus Mutscher.

The members appointed by Smith included Dr. John C. Calhoun Jr., vice president for academic affairs cof Texas A&M; John J. Pepe, Houston consulting engineer; James J. Flanagan Jr., of Port Arthur, president of several shipping corporations, and Joe B. Harris, Austin, of the governor's staff.

Agencies To Help El Paso

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least two federal government agencies reportedly have decided to help the city of El Paso in determining the number of children suffering from blood poisoning.

The city claims the poisoning, confirmed in at least 72 cases, is caused by emissions from the American Smelting & Refining (ASARCO) plant in El Paso.

The city is suing for $1 million in damages for violation of anti-pollution laws and a shutdown of the smelter for cleanup operations. The suit is in its fourth week of testimony in El Paso.

Officials of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) offered help to El Paso Mayor Bert Williams in Washington Tuesday.

Williams came here to request help in administering to the city's children highly technical blood tests for lead poisoning.

At least 35 children from the residential areas near the smelter have been hospitalized for treatment of blood poisoning due to lead.

ASARCO officials said the company is paying the medical bills, but maintained the blood poisoning was not caused by the smelter's emissions.

An EPA official who declined to be identified said that no decision has been made as to the kind of specific help the federal government would provide, but said that HEW would be probably in administering the blood tests.

The official added that the EPA assistance would come in the form of systems to trace the lead source and cut down its pollution.

MANY FINDING FAULT

Chances For Prompt Action On Busing Dims

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A closer look at President Nixon's antibusing proposals by House and Senate members has dimmed chances for prompt congressional action.

Opponents and supporters of busing are finding fault with the President's program. The prospect now is for full-scale hearings and long floor fights on the legislation.

The administration had hoped that at least the first part of the program—a moratorium on new busing until July 1, 1973—would be agreed to by House and Senate conferees who are trying to work out a compromise on a huge education bill.

But strong opposition from civil-rights groups and a lack of enthusiasm for the proposal by several members of Congress are slowing the administration's push.

AFL-CIO President George Meany issued a statement Tuesday calling Nixon's moratorium proposal "a cynical attempt to reward those who said 'never,' and to undermine the moral leadership of those citizens who endeavored to comply with the Constitution and the Supreme Court's 1954 decision."

Meany noted that Nixon in 1970 vetoed two bills increasing federal school aid.

"Now the President is back on national television trying to convince the American people that he has changed his opinion on improving the educational opportunities of disadvantaged children," Meany said. "This is political chicanery."

Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the NAACP, vowed an all-out fight against the Nixon program in a telegram Tuesday to Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., chairman of the Senate conferees.

Mitchell withdrew the NAACP's support for the administration's $1.5-billion desegregation bill, which is part of the Nixon proposal and is included in the legislative package before the conference committee.

"The President's speech and proposals have done so much damage it would be far better to have no legislation in this field at this time," said Mitchell.

Southerners who have been leading the fight against busing for years see nothing to help them in Nixon's plan to halt only new busing.

Rep. Joe D. Waggonner, D-La., one of the most influential Southern congressmen, said he would not support the moratorium unless it was amended to cut off current busing, too.

In even more trouble is the second part of Nixon's program, a bill designed to improve the quality of education by earmarking $2.5 billion in federal aid to schools with high concentrations of poor and minority pupils.

Nixon is not proposing to spend any new money but to redistribute funds already budgeted for the desegregation bill and the Elementary and Secondary School Act, a popular program aimed at upgrading the education of disadvantaged children.

Congressional supporters of ESSA, backed by educators, are unwilling to accept Nixon's unilateral rewriting of the measure to accomplish the goals in his equal-education bill.

As an indication that the administration realizes it has little chance of getting its proposals adopted in the current House-Senate conference, separate moratorium and equal-education bills were introduced in the House Monday by key Republicans. Extensive hearings on the proposals have already been planned.

Snyder Record On Housing Is Praised

Don Earney, regional director of Housing and Urban Development in Lubbock, told members of the Snyder board of realtors that Snyder has the second lowest number of repossessed houses in his 72-county area and ranks fifth lowest in repossessed houses in the nation.

He spoke at noon at the American Restaurant.

"Snyder is the cleanest and most prosperous city of its size in our entire region," he said.

The speaker also declared the future for the nation's economy is brighter. He was introduced by L. A. McClanahan, program chairman.

It was announced that there will be a regional meeting of realtors in Big Spring April 10 when the Texas Association of Realtors' president will be the guest speaker.

Anita Arnold, the membership chairman, recognized one new member--Elizabeth Potts, an employe of Jack & Jack Realty Co.

Wenona Evans was a guest of the board. Malven Stevenson, president of the Snyder Board of Realtors, presided over the meeting.

Mexico Seeks More Exports

NEW YORK (AP) — The Mexican government is launching a vigorous campaign to export more fish to the United States, hoping to double the country's fish output within five years.

Preventing Spills Best

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal pollution official says the surest way of controlling spills of hazardous materials is to prevent them.

"Although we are putting a lot of emphasis on cleanup, prevention is eventually going to be the key to the problem," said Eugene Jensen, a deputy assistant administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency in Washington.

Jenson spoke Tuesday at the opening session of a three-day conference on combating spills. Some 200 government, industry and transportation officials from around the country are attending the spills conference, which is sponsored by the EPA and the University of Houston.

Jensen said the nation now is having up to 25 or 30 major spills a month, including two in recent days on the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers.

Record Set In Forfeits

DALLAS (AP) — A record $472,126 in bond forfeitures was collected by Dallas district and county criminal courts during 1971, according to Asst. Dist. Atty. Robert Stinson.

Stinson said Dallas County forfeited more bail bonds than did all the other 253 Texas counties put together.

Bonds were forfeited on an estimated 350 defendants charged with felony coffenses and 750 charged with misdemeanor offenses in the criminal courts.

ON FINANCING APPEAL

Twenty States To Back Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — At least 20 states will support Texas with friend-of-the-court briefs in its appeal of a ruling that declared the state's school financing system unconstitutional, it was disclosed here.

Executive Asst. Texas Atty. Gen. Alfred Walker revealed the development in a speech Tuesday before the Southern Attorneys General Conference.

Walker noted the Texas case will be the first involving school financing to go to the U.S. Supreme Court and is expected to affect 48 of the 50 states.

A three-judge federal panel rendered the decision here last December in a San Antonio case, ruling that the Texas public school financing system discriminates on the basis of wealth of individual school districts.

The court gave the legislature two years to revise the system, which is currently based largely on ad valorem property taxes.

Atty. Gen. Francis Burch of Maryland said Tuesday that Baltimore lawyer George Liebman has been coordinating the approaches of several states in the filing of friend-of-the-court briefs in the San Antonio case.

Burch urged members of the attorneys general conference to file individual briefs for their states, if at all possible.

Discussing the Texas case, Walker noted that if the state does not comply satisfactorily with the court's order, the court will "take such further steps as are necessary."

"If the case is affirmed by the Supreme Court and the Legislature fails to act," Walker said, "we see the court cast in the almost unbelievable role of assessing, collecting and administering taxes."

Bluebonnets Hurt By Drought

MARBLE FALLS, Tex. (AP) — There are fewer bluebonnets this year because of winter drought but there will be plenty for the Highland Lake's Bluebonnet Trail, April 8-16, sponsors said today.

The trail circles the seven lakes of the Highland Lakes chain and can be entered at Austin, Marble Falls, Llano, Mason, Bertram or Lampasas. Other cities on the trail are Burnet, Kingsland and Buchanan Dam.

Recent reports indicate the areas near Kingsland and Buchanan Dam will have more bluebonnets than other areas.

AT HIS BEDSIDE

Adam's Wives Fight For Body

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell, once a powerful congressman from New York, lay critically ill today in a hospital room where guards have barred newsmen from entering.

Powell's third wife as well as a woman he was introducing in recent years as his fourth wife were both near his bedside Tuesday, while a medical spokesman explained, "The family has expressly requested that there be no press interviews."

Earlier this week third wife Yvette Powell, 40, asked Circuit Court Judge Jack A. Falk to "determine who is the lawful wife" of Powell, 63. She filed suit claiming Darlene E. Powell had told Jackson Memorial Hospital officials she was the former lawmaker's wife, but hospital officials refused to confirm this.

Newsmen who visited Powell at his Bahamian island retreat on Bimini last year were introduced to Darlene by Powell, who said she was his wife.

As the controversy over who was entitled to claim his body and possessions in event of his death continued to swirl around him, the first black U.S. House member from the East was in a coma at the hospital's intensive care unit.

A spokesman said he did not know who was keeping a vigil at Powell's bedside, adding, "I would presume members of the family are making daily visits, but we don't keep track."

Darlene accompanied the former lawmaker to the hospital after he was airlifted from Bimini March 7 by the Coast Guard following apparent complications arising from recent prostate surgery.

Judge Falk granted a temporary injunction Monday forbidding hospital officials to release Powell's body or possessions to anyone and Darlene was served notice of Yvette's suit outside the intensive care until after an emergency court hearing.

In her suit, Yvette said that any marriage claim by Darlene "is void, voidable or bigamous in as much as your plaintiff is the lawful wife of said congressman."

Yvette married Powell Dec. 20, 1960, after working as a secretary in his Washington office. They had one son, Adam Diago, who is now 10. She lives in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Darlene is another former Powell secretary and has been living with the onetime "King of Harlem" on Bimini since 1970.

Prior to his marriage to Yvette, Powell had been married for 15 years to Hazel Scott, a pianist who bore his first son, Adam III.

Powell's first wife was Isabel Washington, a musical comedy dancer whom he married in 1933. They were divorced in 1945, the year he married Miss Scott.

Letters To Editor

To The Daily News:

I am like Hazel on TV — when I think something is wrong, I stick my neck out trying to defend it.

When the community centers were being built, WE, the people were not consulted about the by-laws. If we had been, I would not have worked as hard as I did trying to get the one built in our Knapp Community.

One of the main reasons I did was because I felt sorry for the younger generation about having to go to the Catholic Church to dance. I still mean what I said then — I have nothing against the Catholic Church or their dances — I know nothing about them. But I do think it is a shame that that is the only place that youngsters can dance.

I danced every time I could when I was young; not one time have I been ashamed of it. I have many happy memories of the evenings spent that way.

The worst two things that ever happened in our community were at a play party and a Sunday School party.

Children are going SOMEWHERE to have a good time, and I think drive-in movies or even (from what I've heard) most other movies are about the worst things they can go to. Even most TV shots won't purify their morals much if they like them.

If square dancing were so bad, why would the public always be invited to come and watch? While square dancing, people are ACTING OUT the music, just like when people are singing one wants to join in.

People who dance pay taxes, too, remember? I would like to correct Mr. Vestal on his belief about square dances of long ago (if I may). The image he has of people "taking their jugs and having a square dance in the barn" is brought about by TV.

We often wished for larger rooms to dance in and did dance in barns a few times because of size. But NEVER did I see anyone take a drink out of a "jug" or anything else, (liquor, that is) at a dance.

If anyone was drinking, he was taken outside or sent home.

I daresay there are very few women my age who have seen less drunken people in their lives than I have; even if they've never had the pleasure of dancing.

Mrs. J.E. Sorrells

To The Daily News:

As concerned citizens of Scurry County, we are interested in organizing a YMCA (Young Men's Christian Association). Many of you would ask, "What is the purpose of this organization?" The YMCA would provide continuing family-type programs in recreation as well as education. YMCA programs are set up to satisfy varied interests of all people.

The aim of the YMCA is to develop high standards of Christian character through group activity and citizenship training. Some of its programs include physical education, year round swimming and many family programs. The aim of establishing the YMCA is to provide a family recreation for all family members.

Beef Not Plentiful Food

WASHINGTON (AP) — According to a consumer-oriented promotion campaign operated by the Agriculture Department, beef has not been a "plentiful food" since June 1967.

A spokesman said that was the last time beef was featured on the department's monthly "plentiful foods list," which is aimed at promoting items considered in superabundance and in price trouble at the farm level.

Cattle prices have risen since then and recently have averaged the highest on record. Supermarket beef prices, too, have been at record peaks.
