Four State Primaries Today Center Political Attention

Significance In Missouri Race Is Watched

Today's Primaries Likely To Be Curtain Raisers For Several Heated Races

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. — Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri, a foe of many administration measures, is bidding tomorrow for a thumping renomination majority and a chance at the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940.

A primary sweep for the son of the famous Democratic house leader, who came near winning the presidential nomination from Woodrow Wilson in 1912, would increase talk among anti-Roosevelt Democrats of putting him forward in '40 as a "compromise" candidate to stop the New Deal's man, whoever he may be.

POLITICAL CALENDAR AT GLANCE

Tuesday—
Missouri—Nominates candidates for senate and house.
Kansas—Nominates candidates for senate, house and governor.
Virginia—Nominates candidates for house.
West Virginia — Nominates candidates for house.
Thursday—
Tennessee — Nominates candidates for senate, house and governor.
Saturday—
Kentucky—Nominates candidates for senate and house.

Four States Vote

That makes the size of Clark's vote a matter of widespread interest in tomorrow's numerous elections, which include primary voting in Kansas, Virginia and West Virginia as well as in Missouri.

President Roosevelt has not entered the Missouri campaign, and Clark has the support of both Democratic factions which are fighting in the state for control of the party. Joseph T. Davis of St. Louis and Willis H. Meredith of Poplar Bluff are running against him as "100 per cent New Dealers."

Bitter Campaign Waged

In the neighboring state of Kansas, Sen. George McGill, a full-fledged New Dealer, and Gov. W. A. Huxman have had no organized opposition in their campaign for Democratic renomination. There has been a bitter campaign for the Republican senatorial nomination, however, in which one of the candidates, Rev. Gerald B. Winrod, has been opposed by National Chairman John Hamilton and other party leaders. Winrod, an evangelist, has been accused of religious intolerance and in turn has charged his accusers with spreading half-truths about him.

The only contest tomorrow involving direct intervention by an administration official is that in

Medicine's Fight Against Cooperatives Stirs Row That Promises Action

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The American Medical association, faced with a federal grand jury investigation because of its fight against a co-operative health group, virtually challenged the Roosevelt administration today to a court struggle which may have profound effects on the future of American medicine.

Replying to the charge of Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold that "organized medicine" broke the anti-trust laws while opposing the co-operative, the association said in a statement at Chicago:

Apparently it remains to be determined whether or not the federal administration can use the laws and the courts to mould the people of the United States to its belief in every phase of life and living, or whether or not fundamental principles of common justice which have prevailed in this country in the past are to be relegated into the limbo of forgotten things."

This was taken to mean that "organized medicine" would not abandon the fight against Group Health Association, Inc., a District of Columbia co-operative which receives fees from government employes in return for undertaking to provide treatment for them if they become ill. Arnold had charged that doctors of the cooperative had been excluded from Washington hospitals and threatened with expulsion from the District of Columbia Medical society.

At Milwaukee, Dr. Rock Sleyster, president-elect of the American Medical association, said Arnold's charges were unfounded.

"The American Medical association," Sleyster said, "has the right to enforce certain member-

Bottomland Searched For Desperado; Three Others Captured By Officers

(By The Associated Press)

GLADEWATER, Aug. 1 — State, city, and county officers searched Sabine river bottomlands today for Willie Umphress, fugitive from the Grayson county jail, who escaped in a hail of gunfire when an automobile in which he rode with three companions was wrecked.

Arthur Whitten and Jack Geesling, who with Umphress and Kidd Willis, broke from jail at Sherman Thursday, were wounded by state highway patrolmen and captured. Willis was taken later in a tree about four miles away after bloodhounds had been on his trail. He also was wounded.

Had Battle At Gladewater

The automobile, which officers said the captured men admitted taking near Gladewater from Mr and Mrs. Ben Terry, after binding the oil field couple, was riddled with 29 shots, but the men were only slightly wounded.

The four, riding in an automobile which officers said had been hijacked Friday from E. E. Hughes of Burkburnett, first had a brush with officers last midnight at Gladewater.

They lost their way as they were traveling toward Dallas from Longview and were attempting to find the correct route when they encountered Gladewater city auto patrolmen, George Duckworth and Earl LaRoe.

Blind Street Battle Scene

The officers chased the four into a blind street, then followed them when the fugitives ran their machine behind a church and doused the lights.

As the officers approached the men fled, firing as they went. Duckworth and LaRoe returned the

Harlan Case Is Ruled Mistrial

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Ky., Aug. 1. — The Harlan labor conspiracy jury was discharged as "hopelessly deadlocked" today and the government immediately moved for a retrial.

Judge Ford set Sept. 17 as the date to hear the government's motion, at Lexington, Ky.

He indicated he would order another trial, the only question to be decided being the place and time.

The department of justice prosecuted Harlan countians in an effort to bolster the three-year-old labor act with a criminal statute.

Significance "Nationwide"

The statute employed was passed in 1870 primarily to secure the civil liberties of negroes in the turbulence of reconstruction days. On conviction, the defendants would face possible maximum penalties of $5,000 fines and 10-year prison terms.

Brian McMahon, chief of the prosecution counsel, in asking the retrial as soon as possible, told the court:

"The issues to be decided are of nationwide significance, of interest to all the people of the United States, as well as those in Harlan county."

Seven For Acquittal

Judy Foreman L. F. Johnson, general store proprietor from adjacent Clay county, reported after nine hours and 48 minutes of deliberations that the body was divided 7 to 5.

Individual jurors later said seven favored acquittal and five conviction of the 21 former Harlan peace officers, 18 operators and 16 coal corporations charged with a criminal conspiracy to violate miners' rights under the Wagner labor relations act.

Cities Vie To Give Corrigan Honor

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—Manhattan and Brooklyn boroughs engaged in a polite war today over which should hold the parade in honor of Douglas Corrigan when he comes back to the United States.

Eighteen representatives of Brooklyn organizations went to the city hall to demand that the flier who flew the wrong way to California and landed in Ireland get his first official welcome in Brooklyn when he returns Thursday.

But a representative of Mayor La Guardia insisted that the mayor intended to greet Corrigan after a traditional Broadway parade with Manhattan ticker tape. There'll be more discussion tomorrow.

Republicans Move To Outline Statement Of Party Policy

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (AP)—The Republican program committee began an unprecedented study of national problems today as the first move toward drafting a comprehensive statement of the party's policies.

Chairman Glenn Frank, educator and editor assuming his first active major role in Republican affairs, outlined the tasks before the conferees at the initial session of the six-day meeting.

Assemblyman Would "Compete" In Australian Stork Derby

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 1. (AP)—A "stork derby" with sweepstakes prizes for prolific parents was proposed in the New South Wales legislature today to boost Australia's falling birth rate.

P. Burke, Socialist member of the house of assembly, suggested that the government sponsor such a race patterned after the Toronto derby which ended in October, 1936.

Legislators only laughed when a member of the United Australia party, A. Ross, asked the derby's sponsor, "will members of parliament be allowed to compete?"

Dispatch In Asking For PWA Grants Cautioned By Ickes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—Administrator Ickes cautioned municipalities today against further delay in applying for public works projects.

Ickes, in a statement prepared before he left for a vacation tour of Alaska, said PWA had passed the billion-dollar mark (the halfway point) of the present program and that there might be very little money left for laggard applicants.

Hilo's Worst Riot Results In 36 Persons Being Injured

HILO, Hawaii, Aug. 1. (AP)—Bloody fighting between police and waterfront strikers resulted in the injury of 36 persons today, five of them critically, amid showers of buckshot and the use of at least one bayonet.

Two women were among those slightly injured. A longshoremen was stabbed in the side with a bayonet. Several others were peppered about the head and face with buckshot. It was the worst riot in Hilo's modern history.

The disorder was precipitated by arrival from Honolulu of the steamship Waialeale, operated by the Inter-Island Navigation company against which longshoremen called a strike May 27 when contract negotiations collapsed.

Judge Whit Davidson Rebukes Counsel In Espionage Case

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson of Texas, presiding in district court here, today set the trial of four persons held on charges of espionage for Aug. 22.

The defendants, most of whom are of German parentage or birth, are Johanna Hoffman, Gunther Gustav Rumrich, Erich Glaser and Otto Hermann Voss.

Judge Davidson rebuked George C. Dix, attorney for Miss Hoffman, and Assistant United States Attorney Lester C. Dunigan after they engaged in verbal bickering in court.

Japs Say Five Soviet Ships Shot Down

New Tension Develops In Far East; Peace Up To Russia, Japanese Announce

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Aug. 1.—Fifty Soviet warplanes today twice bombed and machine-gunned Japanese positions on the Manchoukuo-Siberia frontier where repeated armed clashes have brought new war-tension to the far east.

The Japanese army declared five of the raiders were shot down, four of them inside the border of Japanese Korea.

Slight damage was done to railways of the district in which both the Soviet and Japanese-dominated Manchoukuo lay claim. The area is around Chankgufeng where the frontiers of Siberia, Manchuria and Korea join not far from the sea south of Vladivosostok, great Russian gateway to the Pacific.

Negotiations Secret

Domei (Japanese news agency) dispatches quoted the foreign office spokesman as saying it now depended on the Soviet attitude whether or not the border incidents grow into a major conflict.

General Kazushige Ugaki, foreign minister, disclosed he yesterday instructed the Japanese ambassador in Moscow to open new negotiations with Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff, but declined to divulge the nature of the new steps.

Japanese militarists called the attack a "face-saving" device by the Russians because of the loss of Changkufeng hill and other posts the Japanese claimed to have captured in the contested region.

The newest Soviet-Japanese friction commenced July 11 when the Japanese accused Soviet frontier guards of penetrating six miles within Manchuokuo and starting construction of fortifications.

Times Are Tense

Almost daily since then charges and counter-charges, many backed by diplomatic representations which were rebuffed, have flown back and forth between Tokyo and Moscow.

Though Japanese military circles indicated they viewed the newest incident gravely, Moscow reports said informed Soviet circles minimized the importance of the frontier friction.

The Japanese army declared Soviet troops were withdrawing northward from Changkufeng after a "terrible" engagement there yesterday.

The disputed territory, Japanese said, was regained in fighting which brought an estimate of 600 Russian casualties.

Only about 800 Soviet troops were said to have been left in the Changbufeng area, a statement which was assumed to mean outside the region claimed by the Japaneme.

"We do not want Soviet territory but we are prepared to prevent them from encroaching on Manchoukuo and Korea," said a foreign office spokesmen.

Memphis Politics Burning Under Threat Of Troop Supervision Of Polls

Loyalist Thrust Is Successful

(By The Associated Press)

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier), Aug. 1 — Gen. Jose Miaja's central Spanish government army stormed and captured the strategic "bluff of Camarena" 13 miles south of Teruel today, forcing insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco to hurry troops from other fronts to defend his Teruel lines.

Dispatches from both sides agreed that Miaja's moves were designed to capture the insurgents off guard at the moment they were using every available man to protect Gandesa, 100 miles northeast of Teruel, against government offensives from Catalonia.

Loyalists Near Teruel

In constant touch with his field commanders near Gandesa on the Ebro river front, Gen. Miaja ordered a sudden attack from the south which resulted in capture of the high promontory at Camarena dominating a dozen villages and hamlets a few miles to the north.

The advance brought government guns within 10 miles of Teruel, capital of the province of Teruel which the government seized and lost less than six months ago.

Two Dallas Men In Custody On Mississippi Abduction Charge

GREENWOOD, Miss., Aug. 1 (AP)—Federal officers today took into custody Melvin Chester Sides and James Lyle of Dallas, Texas, in connection with the alleged abduction here last Thursday night of Mayor G. L. Ray.

The men had been held here under state charges of kidnaping and robbery. The federal deputy marshal who took over the men did not give details of the federal charges.

BLAST ROCKS TOWN

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 1. (AP) — Explosions, touched off by lightning late today, destroyed two small storehouses at the duPont powder plant, at nearby Belin village, injured five workmen, and blew out windows in this city, four miles away.

(By The Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 1.—Gov. Gordon Browning defied before a cheering crowd of thousands tonight a federal court injunction to prevent his moving national guard troops into the city for Thursday's Democratic primary.

"The idea of letting a federal injunction deter me from handling the state's troops is silly and absurd," he said in his first speech of the campaign in the strong hold of his political foe and former ally, E. H. Crump.

Browning ridiculed attorneys employed by Crump and Mayor Watkins Overton for seeking the injunction when no troops were in Memphis. He said in a statement last night the troops, now concentrated in other cities for regular army maneuvers, would not be sent in unless he changed his mind.

Sarcasm Injected

The governor added the attorneys were "trying to sew up a place before it was ripped" and said his final decision on troop movements would "have no relation to any injunction."

Federal Judge John D. Martin issued the injunction earlier today. It was served on Browning shortly after he arrived in Memphis with a sound truck blaring forth the tune "I want to meet the bully of the town."

"It is my opinion that the remedy is in resistance of invasion ... does not concern the matter of a citation against the governor," Judge Martin said.

The petition, signed by 40 persons headed by Sheriff Guy Joyner, charged there was the threat of a violation of the 14th, 15th and 19th amendments to the federal con-

Great Central China Battle Rages; Chinese Stubborn

SHANGHAI, Aug. 2 (Tuesday) (AP)—One of the biggest battles of the Chinese-Japanese war in central China appeared to be under way today on both sides of the Yangtze river in the vicinity of Kiukiang, 135 miles downriver from Hankow.

The Japanese, whose forces are driving up the Yangtze toward the Chinese provisional capital, late last night said they had defeated eight Chinese divisions south of the river since July 23, date of the beginning of an offensive about Kiukiang.

Despite large-scale fighting in which Japan's combined land, naval and air forces hammered at the Chinese defenders, the Japanese admitted a fierce conflict still was continuing south of Kiukiang, with the Chinese line unbroken.

Terry Rejects Sale Of Beer

(Special To The Avalanche)

BROWNFIELD, Aug. 1—By a vote of nearly three to one Terry county refused the return of the sale of beer in an election today.

With returns from eight of the 11 voting boxes, the unofficial count was 1,029 against sale of beer to 378 for the sale. Returns had been received from the four boxes in Brownfield and boxes at Johnson, Meadow, Union, and Wellman. No reports had been received from Pool, Gomez or Tokio. The three precincts have an estimated voting strength of 150 to 200.

Bitterness Reflected

Campaigning on both sides was active and even bitter in some cases, with both sides predicting victory.

Ministers and several women's organizations took the lead against the return of legal sale of beer.

Commissioners court called the election after a petition bearing the signatures of 341 voters was presented.

Beer was voted in about four years ago but was voted out again two years later.

Ex-Kaiser Quiet On War Anniversary

DOORN, The Netherlands, Aug. 1. (AP)—The 24th anniversary of imperial Germany's declaration of war against Russia today found one of that drastic step's chief protagonists, ex-Kaiser Wilhelm II, an exile interested more in his family than in political reminiscence.

The anniversary of the fateful day—one of the steps which cost him his throne—passed without observance by the white bearded ex-kaiser who will be 80 years old Jan. 27.

Now one of his principal diversions is reading letters and clippings from the United States recording the progress of his grandson, Prince Louis Ferdinand, on his honeymoon trip around the world with former Grand Duchess Kira of Russia, member of a dynasty he once warred against.

Wilhelm II has survived most of the monarchs whose armies were sent to slaughter in 1914.

Bloody Fighting On Border May Set Off War

Russians Claim 400 Japanese Killed And Wounded; Grave Repercussions Possible

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Aug. 1.—Details of a sanguinary battle for possession of Changkufeng, on the Siberian-Manchoukuo-Korean border, in which Japanese hurled a whole division against Soviet Russian forces was discolsed in an official communique tonight.

Japanese losses were given as upwards of 400 killed and wounded in the bitterly fought attempt of

HSINGKING, Manchoukuo, Aug. 2, (Tuesday) (AP)—Reports from Changkufeng today told of three more clashes Sunday night as Soviet Russian forces sought to regain that strategic position of the Siberian border from which they were driven by Japanese early Sunday.

The three fights occurred within an hour and a half, the first occurring at 3:30 p. m. (3 a. m., Monday, EST) when four tanks attacked and were repulsed.

At 6 p. m., 300 Soviet Russian troops aided by five tanks launched an assault against Japanese positions but were thrown back with the disabling of two of the tanks.

The last attack was at 7 p. m., when the Soviets began an artillery bombardment from six batteries. Japanese said little damage was done.

Japanese to capture the strategic heights in the Possiet bay region which Russian forces began fortifying July 11.

Tanks, airplanes and artillery were brought into the battle for the disputed territory.

Pilot Believed Taken

One Soviet scouting plane was brought down, and the announcement said it was believed the pilot was captured after he took to his parachute.

The gravity of the situation was seen in instructions to the Soviet charges d'affaires in Tokyo to warn the Japanese government of "possible terrible consequences" of this invasion of Russian territory.

The battle ranks as the biggest clash on the Soviet-Manchoukuo frontier since the beginning in 1931 of the long series of boundary incidents, numbering hundreds.

Close Watch Maintained

Foreign military observers here who previously were inclined to view the situation as only another of these incidents were beginning to take a graver view of the encounter.

Thirteen Russian soldiers were reported killed and 55 wounded.

The Russians captured five artillery pieces and 14 machine guns, and lost a tank and a field piece themselves.

The official account of the battle said Japanese concentrated one division against Zaorzernaya (Changkufeng) after they were repulsed in an attack on a nearby hill last Friday, and on Sunday opened the battle unexpectedly with an artillery barrage. They were driven back.

Soviet troops did not cross the Manchoukuo border, it was explained, and so were unable to encircle the Japanese or make a flank attack upon them.

Patriotic Call Sounds Defense

Prior to the official announcement little mention was made here of the trouble with Japan as mass meetings of Soviet workers celebrated anti-war day and pledged resistance to any invader.

At Kabarovsk, 400 miles north of the tense border district where Japanese and Soviet troops clashed, a mass meeting of communist youth appealed to the populace of the far eastern area to perfect their military knowledge in preparation for

Former TCU Instructor Is Lost In Tragedy At Sea

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. — A tragedy of the high seas—the story of a young college professor who vanished 450 miles out in the dark Atlantic after attempting to hurl his wife overboard—was reported officially today by officers of the French liner Normandie when the ship docked here.

Dr. Robert Moore Duncan, 35, assistant professor of politics at Colgate university, disappeared from the wind-swept boat deck of the palatial ship Sunday night, said Henry Villar, the Normandie's purser.

His wife, Alice, 36, daughter of a longtime associate of John D. Rockefeller, jr., was torn from her husband's grasp by a seaman who overheard them in a violent argument, the purser said, as Duncan attempted to throw her over the side.

Bruised and cut about her head and face, Mrs. Duncan, mother of two small children, arrived in the ship's hospital at the end of a six-weeks' trip that started as a summer holiday.

WE'RE WONDERING

THERE are women who would make wonderful mothers who are denied that privilege and there are women like the one in a Lubbock department store Monday afternoon who slapped her tiny son who was restored to her, a trembling bit of humanity with flushed face and hysterical from the fright of being thought lost. Several men on the sidewalk in front of the store questioned the confused little boy who looked to be about four years old, in trying to discover his name and the place where he last saw his mother. A young woman volunteered to help him find himself. The first place they walked into was the store where the wee lad had become separated from his mother in the jam and rush of dollar day bargains.

Instead of comforting him and calming his fears the woman slapped him soundly, telling him in a loud voice "that's what you get for going off." The young woman could hardly refrain from striking the mother and when she came to see us to tell about it she was still trembling from rage. Wonder if the little fellow will want to go shopping with his mother again?

THE FOREST FIRES

MISS CAROLYN LANEY who is spending several weeks on the Pacific coast has written her mother, Mrs. J. A. Laney, of the devastating fires that have swept the vast forests in the northwest. Over 200 fires have started in an area scarcely 75 miles long, she wrote, flames threatening the redwood lane and destroying priceless beauties of nature.

The people are sick at heart as they survey the damage and 2,200 workers have fought day and night to get the flames under control. The people love those forests (and why shouldn't they?) and already they are hoping shrubs will be spared to replace the giant trees, even if it takes several centuries.

Miss Michie was complimented Monday afternoon when Mrs. Lonnie Langston entertained at home, 3122 Twenty-first street, with a linen shower.

Railroads Claim Intrastate Shippers Hold Advantage Under Present Setup

ICC In Hearing At El Paso

(By The Associated Press)

EL PASO, Aug. 1.—Texas railroad officials testified at an I.C.C. hearing today that shippers to points in differential freight territory "are favored over interstate shippers who must compete and pay higher freight rates at the same time."

At an I.C.C. hearing today Commission Examiner F. M. Weaver heard testimony from railroad officials and one El Paso shipper, M. S. Darbyshire of Darbyshire-Harvie Iron and Machine Co.

The commission will determine whether any undue or unreasonable advantage exists between shippers in intrastate commerce and shippers in interstate commerce.

Disadvantages Aired

Railroad officials attending the hearing included J. A. Lynch, Texas and Pacific general freight agent; H. H. Nye of Amarillo, Panhandle and Santa Fe railroad general freight agent; Robert Thompson, Texas and Pacific attorney; W. C. Bonds of the Texas and New Orleans railroad and V. W. McCloud of Galveston, Santa Fe railroad attorney.

Testimony by Nye attempted to show the higher interstate freight rate now in effect to differential territory places out-of-state shippers at a disadvantage over shippers in intrastate commerce.

Railroad officials testified in support of their petition to the ICC to compel the Texas commission to enforce the increases in freight rates in intrastate traffic similar to those authorized for interstate traffic.

Shippers To Testify

Shippers who will testify against the proposed increase in intrastate rates will include John Ketler of Pampa, Henry Bell of Ft. Worth, secretary of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Assn. and James H. Pierson of Momsen-Dunnegan-Ryan Co.

D. A. Bandeen, West Texas Chamber of Commerce manager, and B. F. Regain, chairman of the tariff committee, will testify in behalf of shippers tomorrow. Others include E. R. Tanner of the El Paso Freight bureau; J. C. Netts, Del Rio Chamber of Commerce manager; D. F. Pierce, Del Rio rancher; M. E. Frazier, Del Rio shipper, and J. C. Deal of San Angelo.

fire but there were no casualties. The men then commandeered the Terry machine and fled toward Kilgore. En route the second battle occurred.

Terry, whose home is at Kilgore, is an oil lease watchman.

Willis, Whitten, and Geesling were taken to Longview. The men admitted, Gladewater Police Officer Ed Walsh said, to hijacking two places in Kilgore last night.

Arsenal Found In Car

In the wrecked Terry automobile officers found khaki clothes, hats, shoes; a quantity of cigarettes, candy, chewing gum, and ammunition and several rifles and pistols.

The four faked a fight to draw the Grayson jailer to their cell, slugged him, took his keys, and fled.

Missouri Officers Hunt Three Daring Bandits

KANSAS City, Aug. 1 (AP)—State highway patrolmen and federal agents were searching today for three bandits, two of whom they identified as Texas jailbreakers, who climaxed a series of holdups by kidnaping 17-year-old Robert Kalousek at Greenwood, Mo., near here.

Young Kalousek was released unharmed late last night east of Boonville, Mo., on the U. S. highway 40. The youth said the bandits, who drove off in his car, carried four revolvers and a sawed off shotgun.

Capt. W. J. Baxter of the highway patrol said he believed two of the bandits were Floyd Hamilton and Ted Walters who have crisscrossed the southwest with a trail of holdups since they broke out of the Montague county, Texas, jail in April.

Victims Slugged

The bandits slugged five of their victims. They first appeared about 10 o'clock Saturday night at a filling station, one mile south of Rich Hill, Mo. There they forced the attendant, E. McKinney, to fill their gasoline tank, robbed him of $50, knocked him unconscious with a blow over the head with a sawed off shotgun and tied him to a bed with wire.

The gang then held up a filling station at Harrisonville, Mo., taking $50 from Robert Arnold, the attendant, and knocking him unconscious. They also held up 15 patrons of the Red Onion cafe, near the station, and forced him to lie on the floor while they robbed the cash register of $10.

Take Cars At Will

The bandits next commandeered the car of Kenneth Bradley, Westline, Mo., one of the cafe patrons. Later they abandoned the Bradley car, set up a barricade and commandeered the car of Frank Hatton of Pleasant Hill, whom they slugged.

Shortly after this they kidnaped the Kalousek boy who had just entered the driveway at his home. His father is agent for the Rock Island railroad at Greenwood.

Twenty-Sixth Child Born To Man 81; Wife Is Only 21

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP) — George Boarman, 81-year-old steamship line employe, boasted today that his "twenty-sixth child," born yesterday, is "beautiful—just like all the others."

The baby, an eight-pound boy, was born to Boarman's 21-year-old wife, Edith Williams Boarman, at Providence hospital.

"But I've had 25 other children," Boarman explained at the dock where he helps berth steamers in addition to a nightwatchman's duties.

"They were all by my first wife—she died 20 years ago," he said. "About 10 or 12 of 'em are livin' but I don't just recollect where they all live. I've been married twice since then, but had no more children until this fine boy."

Potatoes can be cooked by at least 134 different methods.

Group Health

ship requirements and expel members who fail to comply with them. The charges of conspiracy to prevent doctors from practicing is ridiculous. Hospitals are private institutions and have the right to determine which doctors shall practice in them."

There was general expectation that, if the case is taken to the courts, the decision may have a major effect on the future of such co-operative ventures throughout the nation.

W. C. Kirkpatrick, president of Group Health association, said whatever the legal outcome of the grand jury investigation "it will undoubtedly have a remedial effect on the solution of the problem which brought the Group Health association into existence, namely, the providing of adequate medical care for the average man and woman within their means to pay."

The American Medical association statement, which took the form of an editorial for its weekly journal, intimated that the federal government was attempting to coerce the association into agreement with group health plans.

Opinions Vary

"The assistant attorney general apparently offers to the American Medical association and to the others concerned an opportunity to avoid trial by agreeing to consent decrees which will assure the co-operation of the medical association in the operation of cooperative clinics," it declared.

Some other medical opinion however, was critical of the A. M. A.'s stand. In Boston Dr. Channing Frothingham, president of the Massachusetts Medical society and one of the original 450 "rebels" in the AMA who declared last November that "the health of the American people is a direct concern of the federal government," said:

"Organized medicine is making an awful mistake by not following the trend of public opinion in medical and hospital insurance plans. The trouble is, doctors are independent fellows and think their rights are being taken away. They can't see that they'll be benefitted. I'm glad the whole thing is coming out into the open."

cruise.

"When Mrs. Duncan was revived," said Villar, "the first thing she said was, 'Get my husband, he is going to commit suicide.'"

The United States attorney was notified and will conduct an inquiry.

"Just before midnight," Villar said, "Mr. and Mrs. Duncan were walking on the boat deck on the starboard side. At a point just beneath the bridge they stopped and began an argument.

Tried To Throw Wife Over Rail

"Duncan grabbed his wife by the throat and hit her several times over the head," the purser continued, "and attempted to throw her over the side."

The purser said Joseph Marie Brouard, a seaman on duty on the bridge, heard the argument and interfered in time to tear Mrs. Duncan away from her husband.

"He carried her to a companionway, put her down and then went back to see about Duncan," Villar said, "but the man had disappeared. Brouard telephoned the surgeon, Dr. Joseph Bohec, and me.

"When Mrs. Duncan was revived the first thing she said was, 'Get my husband. He is going to commit suicide.' We used the loudspeaker system in an effort to find Mr. Duncan and organized search parties and went over the ship thoroughly, but he could not be found."

Villar said Mrs. Duncan could not explain her husband's actions.

Taught At TCU

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan were married seven years ago and had two small children, a boy and a girl, who did not accompany them.

Duncan was born in Savona, N. Y. He attended Mt. Hermon school in Massachusetts and was graduated in 1925 from Princeton. He received a PH.D. degree from Princeton in 1928.

Before joining the faculty of Colgate university at Hamilton, N. Y., in 1934, he taught at Texas Christian university, Fort Worth, and Yen Ching university, China.

Yes—

The mercury did some plain and fancy vaulting; but

No—

Neither Sunday nor Monday was the hottest day this year.

Weather observers recalled a Sunday in May when May records over a period of 25 years were broken. On that day, May 29, the official maximums were:

Lubbock Municipal airport, 102 degrees.

State agricultural experiment sub-station, 104 degrees.

Main line of the West Texas Gas company, 108 degrees.

But Monday Was Hot

Maximums Monday were:

Lubbock Municipal airport, 100.2 degrees, 1.8 less than the high for this year.

Experiment sub-station, 100 degrees, four degrees less than the year's high.

Main line station, 103 degrees, five degrees below the 1938 peak.

All three places recorded higher maximums Monday than Sunday.

Hot weather is needed, farmers state, for fast growing of cotton to overcome handicap of late planting. There is sufficient moisture over most of the South Plains to last three to five weeks.

Farmers are devoting most of their time to cleaning fields of weeds. Late July rains gave weeds a start of several days and prevented farmers from knifing them.

stitution. They charged an invasion by the militia would frighten women and negroes and violate rights of citizens to vote freely.

Crump Charges Governor

Crump charges he split with Browning because he "broke his campaign promises, added new taxes, and gave us the worst administration in history."

Crump's support two years ago brought Browning 59,874 votes in Shelby county to 825 for his opponent, Burgin Dossett. The Shelby leader now is supporting state Senator Prentice Cooper of Shelbyville against Browning. Roy Wallace, former state comptroller, also is seeking the governorship.

The senate race, second in state interest to the gubernatorial fight, finds Browning-appointed Sen. George L. Berry seeking nomination over A. T. (Tom) Stewart, supported by Crump and Senior Senator K. D. McKellar, Rep. J. Ridley Mitchell, running as an independent, Dr. John R. Neal of Knoxville and C. L. Powell of Hendersonville.

defense of the nation's borders.

Little attention was made of the trouble with Japan as the anti-war observances marked the 24th anniversary of Germany's declaration of war against old imperial Russia.

A brief announcement said Japanese had been "strongly rebuffed" at Lake Chanchi near the juncture of the frontiers of Japanese Korea.

No Apprehension Evidenced

Apparently Soviet circles were not apprehensive over the possibility of the outbreak becoming the signal for a large-scale conflict between the Soviet union and Japan.

(In Manchoukuo's capital, Hsinking, the Japanese army announced 50 Soviet warplanes had bombed the disputed frontier region but were repulsed by anti-aircraft artillery with the loss of five planes.)

At the Khabaroysk meeting the workers declared the title of citizen of the far east must become synonymous with fearlessness and must mean its bearer "is trained for military duty and is ready to defend the frontiers."

Press Fans Feeling

In Moscow the newspaper Consomol Pravda gave prominent space to a letter from young workers lauding the frontier guards "who died bravely defending the Lake Chanchi territory."

"We are a peaceful people," said the letter, "but our memory is good. We will remember the address of your murderers."

The Soviet army's mouthpiece, Red Star, declared "Fascists are organizing provocations on our borders.

"The insolent provocation of the Japanese reported by Tass (official government news agency) is one link in a chain of preparation for war against the Soviet union.

"We are not afraid. We are ready to answer this blow by incendiaries of war with such a destructive smash that they will be swept from the face of the earth."

Hughes And Men Arrive Home

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1. (AP)—Howard Hughes and his four record-breaking companions flew home today, returning to the air terminal where for months they prepared for their flight around the world.

The 38-year-old millionaire, arriving here ahead of schedule from Phoenix, Ariz., where he spent the night, circled the city twice in his silver monoplane before landing at Grand Central air terminal at 11 a. m.

Although the noon temperature rose to 88 and the high humidity made the day uncomfortable, thousands upon thousands of persons lined the downtown streets to see Hubhes and his men as they drove from the city hall, via a circuitous route, to a hotel for a luncheon. City, state and motion picture dignitaries were in attendance at the affair.

Important Motor Disclosure Is Made By Wright Corp.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—The disclosure that a new type engine, in which steel replaces the aluminum alloy in the crankcase to produce a marked increased in power, was used by Howard Hughes on his recent 'round-the-world flight was made today by the Wright Aeronautical Corp.

With one of the new motors, which have been on the government "secret list," on each wing, Hughes was able to obtain a total of 2,200 horsepower for takeoff with heavy loads. The same motor without the steel crankcase produced only 1,000 horsepower.

Though the engine weighs more, it weighs less per horsepower produced. The company explained that the heavier metal permitted greater combustion pressure in the cylinders.

Four hundred of the motors have been ordered to power the 200 high-speed bombers ordered from the Lockheed Aircraft Corp., of Burbank, Calif., by the British air ministry.

Primaries

Virginia between Rep. Howard W. Smith, four-term veteran of the house, and William E. Dodd, jr., son of the former ambassador to Germany.

They are contesting for the Democratic nomination to Smith's seat in the house—a nomination which, in Democratic Virginia, is tantamount to election.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes stepped into their campaign recently, charging that Smith was trying to "muscle in" on the popularity of the Public Works administration after voting against every PWA bill except one.

Excepting the Smith-Dodd race, there is little of national significance in the primaries in Virginia or in West Virginia.

More exciting primaries are on the calendar for Thursday, in Tennessee, and Saturday, in Kentucky.

Tension in the Tennessee campaign was eased somewhat today, however, by a statement from Gov. Gordon Browning that unless he changed his mind he would not send troops into Memphis for election day duty.

Split In Tennessee

Browning, who is running for renomination and supporting United States Sen. George L. Berry, previously had ordered 1,200 militiamen concentrated in three camps "subject to duty for the state."

Memphis is the stronghold of E. H. Crump, national Democratic committeeman, who is allied with Sen. Kenneth D. McKellar in support of a rival Democratic ticket. Crump and McKellar are backing Prentice Cooper for governor and A. Tom Stewart for senator.

National interest centers in the final primary of the week, that in Kentucky. There Sen. Alben W. Barkley, the administration's senate leader, is engaged in a bitter struggle for renomination with Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler.

It was in behalf of Barkley that President Roosevelt made the boldest effort of his recent trans-continental trip to influence party primary elections. The outcome of the voting is certain, therefore, to be interpreted generally as a victory, or a severe set-back, for the administration.

Both sound and silent motion pictures have been ordered. The pictures will be rented to public schools for use in instruction. The library will be opened Sept. 1.

Plans also are underway for opening of an extension center in Childress this fall. Teachers and superintendents from vicinity of Childress have been invited to a meeting at 7:45 o'clock Wednesday night in room 210, administration building. They have been asked to make suggestions relative to the center. Dr. L. B. Ezell, who will live in Childress and have charge of the center, will be present.

Assault And Liquor Law Charges Filed

Three charges of liquor-law violation were filed Monday in county court naming two Slaton negroes and a Mexican.

Willie Lee, Slaton negro, was released on bond of $500. J. D. King, also a Slaton negro, entered a plea of guilty before Acting County Judge G. V. Pardue and was fined $25 and court costs. In lieu of bond he was committed to the county jail.

The Mexican Monday night had not been arrested, according to information from the sheriff's office.

Mexicans, whom officers described as being unable even to be arrested because of knife wounds, were charged in county court with assaults on each other. Other Mexicans swore to the charges.

Jim Florez was charged with an aggravated assault with a knife on Jim Henderson, and Jim Henderson was charged with an aggravated assault with a knife on Florez.

Bonds of $250 each were set and friends of both were expected to post bond for defendants, said Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff.

NYA Plans Jobs In Monday Meeting

In efforts to make arrangements whereby a National Youth administration project would be set up for repair of desks is rural schools of Lubbock county, A. V. Bullock, NYA district supervisor, Monday met with several superintendents of the county's rural high schools.

No action was taken, but it was indicated officially, further steps would be taken, probably this week.

Bullock explained that if the project should be adopted, the NYA would supply workers and the sponsoring schools the materials. Desks would be delivered by the schools to a workshop to be established. The project, he estimated, would give part-time employment to about 20 youths.

The work, as proposed, would involve sand-papering and refinishing of desks, including smoothing of roughened places with plastic wood.

A similar project is in progress for Lubbock city schools. Refinishing costs to the city schools has been done at an average cost of 27 cents a desk.

Information furnished at the meeting was that Cooper Rural school proposed to refinish approximately 500 desks and that the lowest quotation received for the work has been approximately 65 cents a desk.

Persons Named To Assist In Conducting Fair Accept

Three men invited to be department superintendents of the Panhandle-South Plains fair next fall sent their acceptances Monday, according to officials of the fair association.

Douglas Pounds, prominent farmer and swine breeder residing near Acuff, will serve once more as superintendent of the swine division, of which he has been head for more than 10 years. The department, according to plans of the association, will be further expanded this year after having been enlarged last year. However, the classes of competition will be the same, including separate divisions for Poland China, Duroc Jersey, Hampshire, Chester White and spotted Poland China breeds.

Others to accept appointments were C. C. Jobson, county farm agent, as superintendent of the agriculture division, and John Palmore, assistant county agent, as superintendent of individual exhibits.

The agriculture department will be the largest of any at the fair.

Planting Of Trees And Shrubs Told

The most lasting measures of the Soil Conservation service are accomplished by use of plants, James E. Smith, regional nurseryman from Amarillo, told a class enrolled for a soil conservation and soil erosion short course at Texas Technological college Monday afternoon.

Region 6 of the SCS plants approximately 1,000,000 trees annually. Shrubs, trees and grasses are propagated by seeds, cuttings, wild seedlings, and sods. Approximately 150,000 pounds of native grass seed are collected and distributed annually in the region. Most of the seed is from blue grama grass, which predominates in this area.

Myron T. Bunger, forester from Clovis, N. M., will speak this afternoon on "Woodland Management," substituting for H. D. Petheram, regional forester.

NEW SECURITY OFFICE

Franco In Tight Place

There was intense activity behind both fronts during the last 48 hours. The government was transferring men and material across the Ebro into the newly-conquered zone before Gandesa.

General Franco was trying to defend both the Teruel and Ebro sectors, at the same time pushing his own counter-attacks in the northern and southern Ebro zones.

August Building Is Off To Brisk Start

August building started off with a boom after July closed with reaching the million and a half dollar mark.

Nearly $15,000 worth of permits were issued Monday at the office of the city building inspector.

Specifically, a half-dozen permits were issued, authorizing construction and expenditures estimated to cost $14,510, sending the total for the year to $1,521,502.18.

The two permits for substantial sums were: Sweet Briar Shop, owner, and Jess Williams, contractor, to repair and alter business building at 1101 Broadway, $9,200; and D. N. Hatchett, owner, and Martin Bros., contractor, to construct a one-story frame residence at 1412 Twenty-fourth street, $3,360.

Grange Head Says Farmers In Dire Need Of 12-Cent Loan

AUSTIN, Aug. 1. (AP)—Ralph W. Moore of Granger, master of the Texas Grange, said today Texas farmers should receive immediately a 12-cent cotton loan if they are to benefit from the government subsidy.

He added planters were led to believe a 12-cent loan would follow their compliance with the current farm program and an amount less than 12 cents would be "economic suicide" for those who have planted less than half of their basic acreage in cotton.

Shallowater Boy In Sanitarium After Fall Off Horse

Cecil Ayres, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ayres of near Shallowater, still was unconscious and in a serious condition with a fractured skull in Lubbock sanitarium Monday night suffered when he fell or was thrown from a horse near his home Sunday, according to information given at the sanitarium.

Members of the family said they were uncertain how the accident occurred. First word it had occurred, they reported, was given by children who discovered the unconscious boy. Apparently, they added, the accident had occurred only a short while before.

He was brought to the sanitarium here about noon Monday.

Total Enrollment For Coaching School At Tech Passes 400-Mark Monday

More than four hundred followers of the football follies assembled in the gymnasium and on the gridiron at Texas Tech yesterday heard about modern trends of the pigskin pastime and to see and experience actual demonstrations and practice, as promoted by accepted leaders of the game.

Taking the stage before the sixth annual coaching school of the Texas High School Football Coaches association were Lynn Waldorf, learned professor of football at Northwestern university; Harry Stuhldreher, former "horseman" at Notre Dame, now head man at Wisconsin university; Frank Leahy, line coach at Fordham university, and John DaGrosa, of the Philadelphia Eagles, professional, staff of strategy.

325 Members Registered

Three hundred and 25 bona fide members of the state association, high school and college coaches of this and other states, were officially registered as "paid" students yesterday, said L. C. Wood, Cameron, president of the association. Football graduates of Texas, other college coaches, the instructor and promoters, friends and fans, brought total enrollment past the 400 mark.

The official attendance broke all former records for coaching schools sponsored by the state association. Largest enrollment heretofore was 287 at Fort Worth in 1936. Less than 280 attended the school at Waco last summer. Lubbock Chamber of Commerce officials, instrumental in bringing the coaching school here, were highly pleased at the registration figure.

Classes Start Early

Classes began early Monday morning, with Waldorf first instructing in field and theory in the gymnasium. Stuhldreher followed in the same vein, but on the Notre Dame system. Leahy gave a lengthy demonstration in line play on the practice field in the afternoon, then Da Grosa ed the defensive huddle back in the gymnasium. Classes will begin this morning at 7 o'clock. F. Cramer will join the faculty later in the week as instructor in treatment of injuries.

After conclusion of classes Monday afternoon most of the coaches moved to the practice fields where Stuhldreher and Waldorf were directing workouts of the all-star teams.

Grid Squads Go Through Heavy Drills Monday

Strenuous exercises were included in the first day's routine of the all-star teams preparing for the game at Texas Tech stadium Saturday night.

A two-a-day schedule will be followed throughout the week, with Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin university directing the Northern squad and Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern coaching the Southerners. Standard Lambert of Austin is assisting Stuhldreher and Bill Meyers of Paschal High, Fort Worth, is helping Waldorf.

Teams Hold Scrimmages

Long scrimmages went beyond the dummy stage as bodily contact marked Monday workouts. The Northern squad, garbed in Texas Tech practice uniforms, took the harder shakeups, with tackling on punting drills and running of plays through scrimmage.

Stuhldreher said the strenuous take-off would better accustom his boys to the feel of the game after a long layoff since last fall.

Strictly different to Stuhldreher's Notre Dame style of attack was that being taught the Southern team on another practice field at Tech. Waldorf primarily was content to smooth out rough places in offensive plays given his charges during the day.

Scrimmage for the latter eleven was less strenuous. Waldorf used one backfield lineup of Bob Brumley of Edinburg, Cam "Powder" Harrell of Conroe, Fred Hall of Waco, and Noble Doss of Temple to advantage in his long drill. Euel Wesson of Temple and J. M. Russell of Cleburne were paired at end positions.

Most of the fence birds were eying Harold "Preacher" Fleming as he went through his paces for the North.

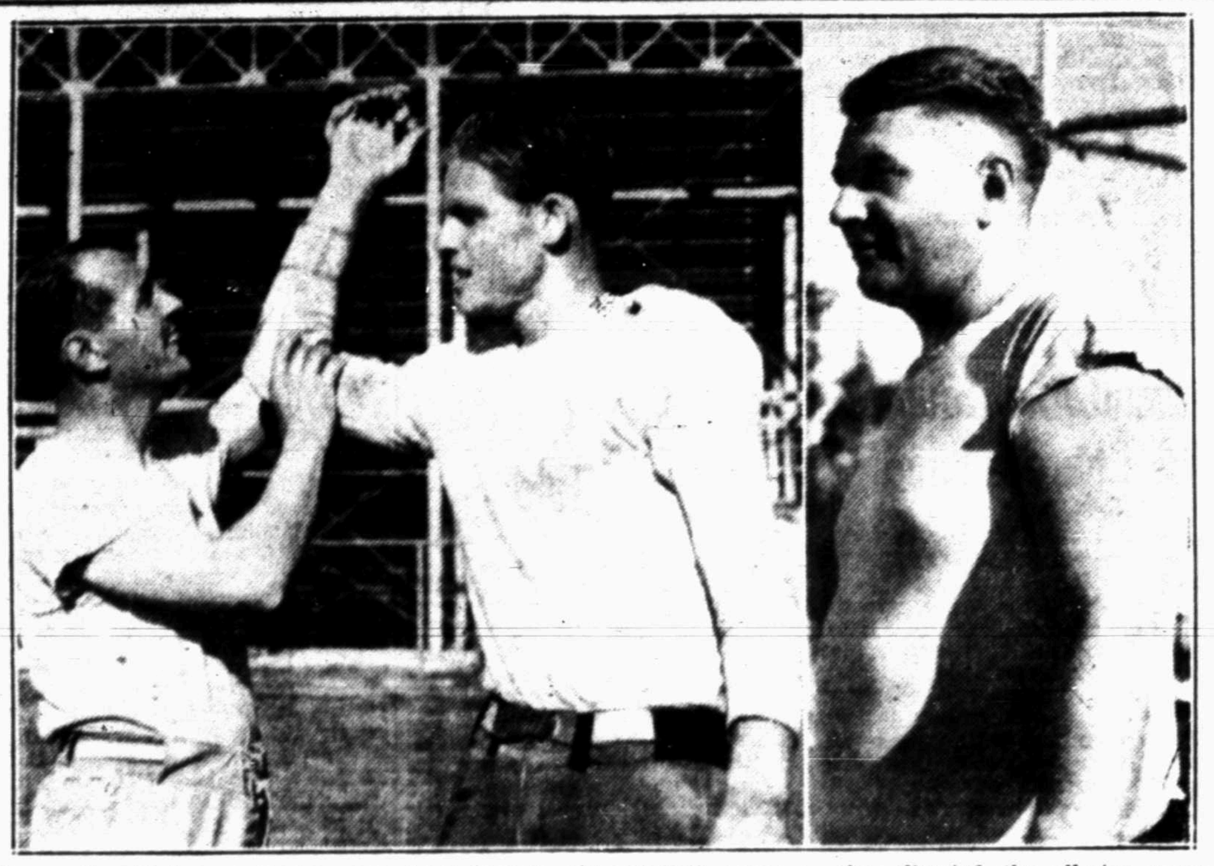

Jersey Golfer Paces Lefties In National Tournament

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 1. (AP)—Alex Antonio of Linden, N. J., led a small field in the 36-hole qualifying round of the National Left Handed Golfers association's third national championship at the Westchester Country club today.

Antonio shot rounds of 75-81—156 over the par 72 west course to lead Alvin Everett of Rome, Ga., runner-up last year at Chicago, by one stroke. Everett had 73-84—157. Spencer Brainard of New Haven, Conn., placed third with 80-72—158.

Only 29 players entered the championship division, and as a result they all qualified for tomorrow's first round of match play even though scores ranged as high as 190.

Snapshots Of The Coaching School

Sideline Snoops At Texas Football Coaching School

By COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

VISITING mentors are lending attentive ears and keeping pencils busy during lectures and demonstrations of Waldorf, Stuhldreher and Leahy, and no doubt getting much good out of the classes. But the "show stealer" so far is Heavyweight John "Ox" Da Grosa, of the Philadelphia professional Da Grosas.

A fast talker and a natural wit, Da Grosa keeps the class on the edge of its seats, fearful of missing something, and he gets many a laugh. Sometimes his tongue gets too fast and he has to back up, but the darkly handsome gent puts over his points in clear fashion.

Majority of the "students" are quartered at the Tech dormitories, some at the men's lodge, some across the way at the women's dorm. They're satisfied with the living and sleeping quarters, but some have voiced objection to the meals.

They haven't come right out and kicked in public, but in private huddles over the field they have compared the meals with those provided at previous schools, and consensus is that Lubbock falls a bit short. This little thing probably will be corrected at an early date.

Longhorns Well Represented

Not many college coaches have appeared yet, but those here are having a big time meeting and greeting old friends.

Lubbock citizens and his former Texas friends gave John O'Dell Morgan, former Texas Tech line coach, now in that position at Auburn, a busy time yesterday. Looking fit as a fiddle and apparently having a big time, old Dell is here to look out for Auburn's interest when it comes to parceling out Texas high school graduate gridders.

A popular man on the campus was Ray Morrison, Vanderbilt's welterweight mentor who gained fame at Southern Methodist university. Morrison enrolled as a regular "student" yesterday, and is taking in the classes like a beginner. Numerous former Morrison pupils at S. M. U., now coaching in Texas high schools, were hanging on his shoulders yesterday.

Other college mentors registered in the school include a full quartet from University of Texas, headed by Assistant Coach Blair Cherry. Ready to carry on arguments in favor of Texas when Blair wears himself out are Bully Gilstrap, Jack Gray and Ed Price. Bill Henderson of Baylor is here, and Fuzzy Douglas is expected tomorrow. Bo Rowland, former Oklahoma University mentor, now line coach at Cornell, accompanied Lynn Waldorf to Lubbock, and will appear in a lecture before the week is out. Frank Kimbrough of Hardin-Simmons, Lou Hertenberger of Rice institute, W. C. Weir of Schreiner Institute and Vaughn Corley of New Mexico State are other college coaches here. Jap Haskell of O. U. wired yesterday that he would arrive soon, and Lou Hassell, who has a big hand in handing professional and all-star teams, is here.

Hertenberger, line coach of the Southwest conference championship Rice Owls, and Cherry of Texas were exchanging opinions regarding the coming conference race, and trying to outdo each other in pessimism. Both agreed that Texas Christian university, with its behemoth line, was the team to beat this fall.

North All Stars Heavier

Coaches find it hard to settle down at the field demonstrations, where Waldorf and Stuhldreher and their assistants are whipping their squads of all-stars in shape for Saturday night's game. Waldorf was on the regular schedule yesterday afternoon, and was getting his Southerners right down to business, at the same time illustrating fundamental points introduced in lectures; simultaneously, the Stuhldreher squad was working out on the practice field west of the grandstand, an unofficial drill so far as the coaching school students were concerned. But the crowd was nearly equally divided, and there was a steady movement between camps.

The critics and coaches began picking favorites even yesterday. Most agreed that tonnage favored the Norths, who, dressed in Texas Tech's scarlet breeches and practice jersies, looked much bigger than the Souths, wearing Lubbock High school suits. Some looked over the squads and chose the Norths because of their size, while others lingered over the decision, suggesting that the Souths, with a gang of natural ability and under the easy going coaching of Waldorf, would be ready with bells on for the heavier Northerners.

Whizzer White To Turn Pro

By LOUDON KELLY
Associated Press Sports Writer

DENVER, Aug. 1.—Whizzer White, who toyed for months with the choice between playing professional football for $15,000 in one saeson or traveling to England and Oxford on a Rhodes scholarship, is going to do both.

Colorado university's all-America football star informed newspapermen today he would play this fall with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Once the football campaign is over, he will sail to England and enroll at Oxford in January. The 21-year-old giant said he reached this decision only after "a certain group of English authorities" had assured him he could defer his entrance until midyear.

Just Changed His Mind

Blond Byron, stripped to shirtsleeves for rehearsal as master of ceremonies of a radio program tonight, said it "wasn't a case of changing my mind.

"If it was still a choice between the scholarship and pro football, my decision would be the same as it was in June when I picked Oxford. But now that it's definite I can play football and still go to England—well, what would you do?"

White, who led the nation's grid scoremakers last season with 122 points, said he has not yet signed a contract with Pittsburgh and would not sign until he goes east.

Hasn't Signed Yet

He said "I don't believe I will" when asked if he intends to play in the game between the all-star college team and the Washington Redskins, 1937 pro champions, at Chicago Aug. 31.

At Pittsburgh Coach Johnny Blood of the Pirates said White had agreed to report to the team's Pennsylvania training camp Aug. 10 and was denied permission to appear in the charity contest.

A newspaperman suggested White may be "on the spot" as a freshman in professional ranks with such a salary. The Whizzer grinned and commented: "Well, I've been in tight spots before."

U. S. Trackmen International Meet Monday

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 1. — America's picked athletes dominated the international track meet in White City stadium today in spite of the combined opposition of rivals from 16 other nations.

A crowd of 33,500 saw the American team of ten romp off with seven of the 14 events and pile up an overwhelming margin over all rivals in total points although no team title was officially at stake.

Perrin Walker, former Georgian who now runs in the colors of the New York A. C. was the only double winner—winning both the 100 and 220 yard sprints. He whipped the fleet Hollander, M. B. Osendarp, by a yard in the century in 9.9 seconds and then took the 220 by inches from the same rival in 21.7 seconds.

Patterson Sets Record

Other American victories were hung up by Jack Patterson of Rice, Allan Tolmich of Wayne university, Chuck Fenske of Wisconsin, Cornelius Warmerdam of the San Francisco Olympic club and Mel Walker of Toledo, the Ohio State negro jumper.

Patterson made a new British record of 53 seconds flat in winning the 440 yard low hurdles while Tolmich sprang a mild upset in conquering the British timber-topping ace, D. O. Finlay, in the 120 yard high hurdles in 14.6 seconds.

Fenske, robbed of a chance to match his speed with Sydney Wooderson, the world mile record-holder, easily won the mile event in 5:19. Wooderson established a new British mark of 1:50.9 in winning the half mile event but did not run in his specialty, the mile.

Americans Fail At Record

Warmerdam cleared 14 feet to beat his teammate, Richard Patterson of Princeton, by nine inches in the pole vault while Mel Walker, clearing six feet five inches, captured the high jump with five inches to spare. Both Warmerdam and Mel Walker failed in efforts to break the British records for their specialties.

Most of America's set-backs came in the field events although Jim Herbert of New York university finished third to Great Britain's Arthur Godfrey Brown and Canada's W. Fritz, in the 440-yard run in which Brown set a new British record of 47.6 seconds.

Francis Ryan of Columbia was beaten by 6 1/4 inches in the shot put by the Estonian, A. Kreek, whose best heave measured 52 feet 1 4 inch. G. Oberwerger of Italy won the discus throw by more than two feet from Phil Levy of San Francisco Olympic club. Oberwerger's winning toss of 164 feet 11 3/4 inches beat Levy by two feet two inches. Anson Perina of Princeton finished third in the broad jump which was won by N. V. Hansen of Norway at 23 feet 9 1/4 inches.

The Hungarian, J. Varszegi, hung a new javelin mark of 237 feet 2 3/4 inches.

Lewis Jones To Play Against Redskins

DALLAS, Aug. 1. (AP) — Coaches Jimmy Kitts of Rice institute and Fred Thomsen of the University of Arkansas will have plenty of strength at the guard positions when their Southwestern collegiate all-stars clash with the Washington Redskins, National pro champions, in the third annual dream game in the Cotton Bowl on Labor Day night.

Game Director James H. Stewart announced today that Virgil (Brahma) Jones of Texas A. & M., Glynn (Bull) Rogers and Mason Mayne, both of Texas Christian university, and Lewis Jones, line captain of last year's Texas Tech Red Raiders, all had agreed to play here with the collegians.

All of these players were outstanding linemen last season.

MIDGETS BEAT CUBS

The Midgets trounced the Cubs, 27 to 2, Monday afternoon at Twentieth street and College avenue in a Cub Scout softball game.

An orange tree may yield 3,000 to 4,000 oranges a year, and live to an age of 100 to 150 years.

Hubs Go Ahead In Wink Series, 13-4

From a mixture of good and bad, brilliant and pitiful baseball the Hubbers emerged with a decisive 13-4 victory and a one-game margin in the series with Wink here last night.

Except for a rough start and a bouncing eighth inning, Marv Gramly turned in a neat pitching exhibition for visiting coaches and regular fans who virtually filled the grandstand.

LADIES NIGHT TONIGHT

The teams meet again tonight at 8:45 o'clock to conclude the series. It's "ladies night" at the ball park, and all feminine fans will be admitted free as guests of the management. Youngsters who ordinarily get in at the kid price also will be free fans tonight.

Nearly an hour was needed for the first two innings last night, after which the Hubbers and Spudders settled down to better defensive ball and ran through the last seven frames in double quick time, considering the constant barrage laid down by Hubber batsmen.

Ferguson In Trouble

Lubbock drove Pitcher Molly Ferguson from the hill in the second frame, Manager Miller's first of two doubles scoring two runs and giving the Hubbers a 6-3 lead. Ray Lucas offered his southpaw slants from then on and was in trouble every inning except the third and fifth.

The Spuds scored twice in the first on Spangler's lead-off single, a passed ball and Chief Wano's single, followed by Stevens' boot at second and Sweet's single. It was a half inning, and the Hubbers made the rest of the frame slow by batting eight times, a fancy double play finally cutting them down after Lucas had filled the bases with a walk and forced in a run with another walk.

Skipper Miller presented a changed batting order last night, moving himself up to clean-up position, and making good in a large way with two doubles and a prodigious home run clout that almost hit the lights in left field before clearing the railroad right of way. Watkins, who had singled, scored ahead of Miller, who drove in five runs with his three hits. Watkins batted in second place, Stevens in sixth, Mosel in eighth. Eteve hit thrice, walked once, driving in three runs. He tripled to lead off the last of the eighth, but died there as Hillin, Mosel and Gramly fanned in succession.

Paul Reeves led Wink's swatting with three singles.

Golf Tournament For Coaches Is Slated

Visiting coaches will be guests Thursday and Friday of Meadowbrook Golf club in a tournament, Manager W. G. McMillan has announced.

The event will consist of two rounds of 18 holes, medal scores to determine winners in each flight. There will be as many flights as the field justifies. Thursday's 18 holes will serve as a qualifying round, deciding into which flight the players will fall for the second 18 holes on Friday. Totals of the 36 holes will decide winners. Attractive prizes in the form of golf equipment, provided by sporting goods companies represented at the school, will go to the winner in each flight.

A "spread" of not more than five strokes will separate players in each flight. The coaches, who will be expected to pay a slight fee, which entitles them to use of the course every day this week, may do their tournament playing at any time Thursday and Friday. Play will be in threesomes.

Politics In Old Kentucky

MANY of the political commentators seem to be placing an evaluation upon possible significances of the approaching Democratic senatorial primary in Kentucky which is wholly unwarranted by the facts.

In that state, the Democrats are to choose next Saturday between Senator Alben W. Barkley, whom President Roosevelt has strongly endorsed; and Gov. A. B. Chandler, for whom the national administration has demonstrated most positive opposition.

Many commentators argue that a Barkley victory will be an endorsement of the administration; that his defeat will be a condemnation. The publicity division of the Democratic party encourages that line of reasoning.

But common sense does not support those evaluations. It is true that a Barkley defeat would be a slap in the face for the President's policies too obvious for any misinterpretation. But there will be nothing in a Barkley victory of real import. At the most, it could mean no more than that the administration has not lost ground in a state where federal monies have been spent on a lavish scale.

There are many reasons why it appears good strategy on the part of the administration to create a false value for a Barkley victory. In the first place, Barkley is a favored candidate. He still would have been favored had the President not been so outspoken in his behalf. But had he won without Presidential endorsement, his victory would have reflected no credit on the administration influence. But should he win now, the administration will take the credit without mentioning its own good judgment in having selected a probable winner for its ride.

Had the President sought a positive, unquestioned test of his leadership, he would have found it in Missouri. A senator is to be nominated there. The favored candidate is Champ Clark, who has been a vigorous critic of the administration and its policies. It would have meant almost as much to Presidential policies to be rid of Senator Clark as it will be to continue Senator Barkley in office. Yet the President has kept clear of the Missouri conflict. In that, his judgment was good because Clark is the probable winner, regardless what administration wishes might be.

This, of course, does not deny that Mr. Roosevelt has crawled out on a limb, so to speak, in the Kentucky primary. But all politics involves the element of chance taking. In such cases, the best strategy is to take as little chance as possible while magnifying the apparent risk.

The President seems to have been guided by that strategy in Kentucky.

Welcome, Visiting Coaches!

LUBBOCK citizens as a whole are keenly appreciative of the honor and the opportunity conferred upon them by being privileged to entertain the coaching school sponsored by the Texas High School Coaches association.

It should be a source of pride that registrations were so numerous and were representative of so large an area in advance of Monday's opening.

The school brings to Lubbock the highest type of physical educators—men who hold places in their respective school systems wholly apart from those of any other men. They have positions that only high type men can fill. They not only must know athletics, but must possess the gift of inspirational leadership. Their influence upon the young men and women with whom they come in contact is more lasting than any other member of the school faculty.

They are the type of men whom Lubbock wants to impress favorably for the very selfish reason—if there was no other—that their opinions will carry weight where ever they go.

Every citizen should consider it something of a civic duty and a privilege to do what he can to make them want to return here in future.

With Our Contemporaries

"No wonder the railroads are in hard shape," points out John A. Price in Littlefield's County-Wide News. "They are forced by the brotherhood rules to pay their negro train porters on main line trains $270 per month."

The One-Minute Sermon

Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man.

For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil.—Ecclesiastes 12; 13 and 14.

The Greek philosopher of Elea became involved in a conspiracy against the life of the tyrant Nearchus. He was put to torture to compel him to reveal the names of his fellow conspirators. At first he mentioned the personal friends of the tyrant. But seeing that he was disbelieved and fearing that he might weaken in the end, he suddenly bit off his tongue and flung it in the tyrant's face.

The last Romonoff, Czar Nicholas II, was deposed in March, 1917, and transported to Siberia with his family. They were finally taken to the Ipatieff mansion in Sverdlovsk, Siberia, in the cellar of which the Czar, the Czarina, and their 5 children were shot to death July 17, 1918.

The Story So Far

Trouble is brewing on the Rafter T. Quick-fire "Blur" Ankrom, under the name of Abe Streeter, takes a job on the ranch to help lovely Lee Trone. He has a run-in with the range boss, Mose Hackett, and meets Ratchford, the sheriff, and Claydell, a neighboring rancher. Colonel Struthers and his daughter Betty arrive for a visit, and Ankrom recognizes Struthers as Kelton Drean, cousin of the man he killed to avenge his father's death.

Chapter 11

Licking Flame

Ankrom threw away his cigarette and yawned. "You boys goin' to the dance in Peso Pinto?"

"Might—if they hev good likker."

His pardner grunted. "I don't like that town. Too crowded an' too partial tuh dudes. I get in a fight ever' time I get within gunshot of the place."

Ratchford's lips moved faintly, sardonically, in the gloom. One of the punchers said, "Either of you two gents wanta sit in on a game of stud?"

Ankrom shook his head. Ratchford said: "Not me, fella. I've played cards with you before."

The two men got up and tramped inside. A moment later Ankrom heard the scraping of a match. A flicker of light came through the window, grew steady and brightened. He heard the men dragging chairs and, a little later, the flap of cards.

"Funny Trone never wired any of these buildings but the ranchhouse an' stable."

"Yeah. Where does he get his juice?" Ankrom asked.

"He sent to El Paso for a generator an' some other doo-hickies couple years back. Said he might's well keep up to date. I reckon it was Lee put the idea in his head. He'd just about cut his neck off for that girl an' she for him," Ratchford sighed. "They're pretty close, them two."

"Seen Trone yet?"

"No," the sheriff answered. "Reckon it's about time I sauntered over to the house an' had my talk. I been hopin' them friends of his would drift off to bed. I'd prefer to see the Ol' Man alone."

"You'll have a long wait if you're waitin' for them to go to bed. City folks sit up all night. They go to bed with the owls," Ankrom said. "Do you think there's anythin' in this rustling talk?"

Ratchford fingered his chin. "Don't seem to be any other outfits losin' critters. They might be keepin' it to themselves, of course. Again, there might really be some stealin' going on an' Trone be the only gent that's gettin' hit." With a grunt he rose to his feet, peered down at Ankrom. "You heard what that puncher said."

The sound of voices came to Ankrom from the card players. Now that Ratchford was standing, radiance from the lamp illumined his face. Weariness was written there; in the creases of the jowls, in the maze of criss-crossed lines about the eyes. His gaze was melancholy. "You see, it all ties up with that damn gab that's going round 'bout me bein' out to break the Rafter T."

"Well, there would seem to be some substance for the rumor," Ankrom murmured gently.

The sheriff stiffened. "Yeah—that's why I'd like to get my hands around the neck of the gent that's backin' it. Because my ol' man an' Trone burnt gunpowder years ago folks are willin' to swaller any kind of hog-wash that tends to picture me lookin' for revenge. Damn 'em! I believe in lettin' sleepin' dogs sleep!"

Sense Of Evil

Ankrom watched the sheriff strike out across the yard to where lights revealed the uncurtained windows of the ranchhouse. As he watched Ratchford's broad back, sharp and black against those lights, conflicting thoughts struggled to adjust themselves upon his mind.

There was much about this sheriff he did not understand, he told himself. A vital, magnetic figure, there was yet something about him, some latent force, some indefinable sense of evil, that made a man hesitate to trust him far or to put faith in his words.

Just why this was, Ankrom could not say. But the feeling lingered. He could not shake it. Some way, big and magnetic as he was, Tom Ratchford measured short in Ankrom's estimation.

He wondered if Ratchford had been trying to talk him into something; if Ratchford in springing Bandera's name had hoped to take him by surprise. How much did this sheriff suspect? How much did he know? Did he really connect Abe Streetar with the Arizona smokeroo, Blur Ankrom? Or was he—?

"Shucks," Ankrom muttered. "Looks like I'm tryin' to develop a case of nerves."

Then he chuckled softly as he recalled the sheriff's statement that Bandera was lined up against the Trones. That would mean that Bandera either was in the country now or would shortly be coming in. It had been well over a year since his and Bandera's trail had crossed. In old Nogales it had happened. He remembered the circumstances well. He had taken malicious pleasure that night in upsetting a little deal the Mexican had been striving to bring off. An amusing case of "bitter-bit" he'd made it, leaving Bandera seething with fury, swearing revenge by every saint in the calendar.

With another chuckle Ankrom rose to his feet, lounged against the shadowed wall while he fished the makings from his pocket and rolled a cigarette. He would have a final smoke, and then go hunt his bunk. His left hand rolled the quirly while his right sought the band about his hat, procured a match and struck it. The bursting flame illumined his face and brought out the sharp angles of it.

Even as the match burst into flame, another flame licked out from the shadows beneath an ancient pepper tree thirty yards away. The cigarette ripped from Ankrom's mouth, so close had been the miss. A report smashed loudly on the stillness, flattened out across the yard, beat up against the buildings. And on its heels another, even as Ankrom whirled, his hand streaking to the waistband of his trousers. A blur of motion stirred the shadows beneath the foliage; something dropped heavily in the dust.

With gun held ready in his hand Ankrom sprinted forward. He jerked to a stop before the tree as a vague white figure snapped up from the ground to confront him. It was the figure of a girl.

'Duck Out Of This'

"Who—who are you?"

"Abe Streeter, ma'am. Was that you doing that shooting?"

"No—yes! No! No, of course not!"

Despite the agitation in her voice Ankrom realized that this was not Lee Trone. Therefore, he reasoned it must be the golden-haired creature posing as Betty Struthers. What was she doing here? What was that thing in her hand? Ankrom leaned closer and saw that it was a pistol; he saw also that with her other hand the girl was pressing something to her breast—something that looked like folded papers.

"What are you doing here?" he whispered. "What have you got in your hands?"

She drew back. The hand with the papers disappeared inside the neckline of her dress and came out empty. Ankrom heard the sound of running footsteps. People would soon be upon them, hurling questions.

"Duck out of this," he said. "I'll see you later."

She peered at him strangely. Then suddenly she turned and ran.

A man came pounding up, grabbed Ankrom by the arm. "What's goin' on?" he growled. "What was all that shootin'?" Before Ankrom could answer, the man turned his head, bellowed across his shoulder: "Get a lantern, somebody! We got to have a light here!"

Ankrom saw one of the running figures whirl and retrace its steps. The other came on and grouped themselves about Ankrom and the burly man who held him. A hand felt down his wrist and closed upon the barrel of his gun. "I'll take this," the heavy voice said. Ankrom, recognizing now the sheriff in the man who held him, relinquished his weapon.

"Speak up, you. Let's hear your name."

Ankrom said, "Abe Streeter."

He felt the sheriff's grip relax. "Oh—well, who in hell was you shootin' at?"

"I wasn't. Somebody else was doing that shooting, Ratchford."

Ratchford showed impatience. "Is the fella's name a secret?"

"Reckon so—leastways, he didn't leave me any card."

"Where was you standin'?"

"By the bunkhouse," Ankrom said. "I was lightin' a cigarette. That shot came along an' snicked it right out of my mouth."

"Kinda close, eh?"

"Well, I don't know. The fellow might have been aimin' to have some fun with me. I mean he might have done it on purpose—"

"Ain't no one round here could shoot that good." Ratchford grunted.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

JAPAN—supposedly a first-rate power militarily and economically—faces a crackup. She will be lucky to escape inglorious defeat on the battlefield, a humiliating surrender at the peace table, a revolt at home. Her China venture will strip her of prestige and power for years.

Those are the highlights of confidential memos which have been forwarded from Tokyo to every world capital. Internal conditions are rapidly growing acute—a gold shortage, high cost of living, popular dissatisfaction all the more violent because suppressed. Though the war lords hide economic and military losses from the natives—newspapers are rigidly censored and colored—they cannot conceal the facts from foreign observers.

Outright war between Moscow and Tokyo is not predicted, though always a possibility. The Soviet will probably tantalize the Japs along the border, revenging itself for past slights that could not be resented and inflaming the home folks with pride. Moscow will continue to supply China with war materials, scheming to force a long winter stalemate that will further deplete Nippon's resources of men and money.

UPTURN: The administration's economic aces — Leon Henderson, Adolph Berle, Marriner Eccles—figure that their theory of "compensatory spending" will get its first real trial in the current recovery drive. Its basic principle is that government expenditures will prevent a violent cycle of ups and downs if applied opportunely. (Waddill Catchings and William Trufant Foster fathered the idea 10 years ago.)

It is the aces' argument that the theory did not receive a fair test in 1933 and has not yet been given a real chance. Every vital industry and financial institution—banks, steel, automobiles, the railroads—was then so prostrate that Uncle Sam could simply perform a first aid rescue job. An offsetting factor, too, was the disturbances caused by F. D. R.'s reform demands.

Now they believe that conditions are fundamentally sound—or sounder. The banking structure seems safe, more than 40,000,000 people are employed (6,000,000 more than five years ago), bankruptcies and losses of homes have decreased, general psychology is better. Mr. Roosevelt has only a few more reforms in his bag, and most have been discounted by the business and industrial community. For these reasons they forecast that the government's outlay—PWA, WPA, AAA, Social Security payments—will bring a slow but steady upturn. They decline to guarantee its permanence, however.

ATTITUDE: The third term talk-it-uppers are furnishing America's finest example of political backseat driving. The psychology behind it is personal. they want to keep the Roosevelt car rolling along with themselves as passengers.

Hardly a key member of the President's family would remain in office if the 1940 convention falls into the more conservative Garner school. The heads would roll up and down Pennsylvania avenue in the first few weeks after Jan. 20, 1941—inauguration day. Not even the election of a New Dealer—Ickes, Wallace, Jackson—would please the third term criers, for factional and personal jealousies are rooted so deeply that none of the topnotchers would endure elevation of a rival.

None of the trial balloonists profess to know Mr Roosevelt's own views. But when one of the leading apostles of a more abundant political life for the President was asked his opinion of F. D. R.'s attitude, he replied with a wink: "Well, he hasn't asked me to pipe down." Note: Most observers on the presidential train concede that, as of today, Mr. Roosevelt could be reelected.

COACHING: Executives of the nation's greatest corporations have already gone into rehearsal for the Senate investigation season. Under the prompting of their lawyers, lobbyists and publicity experts they are learning the proper lines and attitude for their appearance before the monopoly committee.

The "prepping" of witnesses has become a fairly profitable industry at Washington, though comparatively new. The Morgans, du Ponts and the shipbuilding companies developed the dodge to a high degree of excellence during the Nye munitions inquiry. They obtained in advance a detailed report on the investigators' peculiarities, idiosyncrasies, prejudices, and they played on them. They parried savage thrusts with politeness that mollified senatorial questioners. Now they're repeating the stunt.

At a du Pont rehearsal the atmosphere became too realistic for one member of the family. When the lawyer-coach probed and prodded in imitation of Chairman Nye, the "economic royalist" rose up and roared: "Listen, you can't talk like that to me—even if it's only stage talk!" The prompter replied in the general laughter: "That's nothing to what you'll get when you go before Nye."

REMARKABLE: Washington politicos regard the primary defeat of Maury Maverick as the most sensational (and significant) event of the 1938 calendar. His New Deal buddies privately consider it their worst setback so far, overshadowing reverses in Pennsylvania and Iowa.

The young Texan, besides heading Roosevelt Progressives in the House, was always begging the President to plunge even deeper into reform. He frequently derided southern colleagues as "reactionaries." On his recent trip F. D. R. praised his young friend's record, and New Dealers threw funds and grants into his basket. But the Vice-President's fellow-Texans refused to heed these hints.

While his hand did not appear, Mr. Garner has never been politically friendly to the liberal legislator. For another thing, Mr. Maverick had the backing of the V. P.'s personal peeve—John L. Lewis. Thus the result represented, in the capital's opinion, a direct and distinguished rebuff to one of the party's leading jousters. Note: In one sense the outcome probably pleased Messrs. Farley and Joe Kennedy. The victor in the state that swamped Al Smith is a Roman Catholic, which makes it the more remarkable in its political implications.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

EXCEPTIONALLY informed New Yorkers get word that the recent border incident which led to renewed Russo-Japanese friction was provoked this time by the Russians. They wanted to find out how firm a stand the Japanese were prepared to take.

The clue to this development lies in Europe. Litvinoff's efforts to prod the democracies into a war with the fascist countries have failed. Their only effect has been to bring about better relations between London, Paris, Berlin and Rome. All four western nations realize that such a war would play directly into Soviet Russia's hands. Stymied in the west, Stalin and Litvinoff naturally turn to the east.

The dictator is having plenty of grief at home. Despite rigid censorship, there is strong evidence that the Soviet economic machine is breaking down and that secret disaffection is spreading regardless of "purges." A nice little war with Japan might divert the people's attention from their troubles and restore discipline. The moment seems opportune, with a large proportion of Japan's military and economic resources bogged down in Chinese mud. Developments are worth watching from this angle.

There is, however, one risk that may deter Stalin from casting the die for war. He cannot be too sure of the loyalty of his Siberian army—and especially of its commander, Gen. Vassily Bluecher.

SILLY: The CIO seems determined to make every mistake in the political calendar. John Lewis allowed himself to be lured out on a limb in the Pennsylvania Democratic primaries—and the limb was promptly sawed off. The CIO backed American Labor party in New York has a badly divided leadership and is running around in aimless circles. Its designation of Sidney Hillman to run against Herbert H. Lehman for the Senate was an absurdly amateurish blunder.

But the prize exhibit of political ineptitude was the famous "blacklist." Five Texas Congressmen were marked for slaughter by the CIO—and all five of them won. The candidate it especially favored—Maury Maverick—was licked. Silliest of all, the blacklist demanded the defeat of Congressman Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina—and Doughton had been renominated (equivalent to reelection) a month before the list appeared!

Side Glances---By George Clark

Texas Topics---By Howard Marshall

AUSTIN, Aug. 1. (AP) — Monthly hearings of the Railroad commission for taking evidence on which to base statewide oil production orders seldom are without a laugh.

The July hearing produced a nifty.

It came when Ernest O. Thompson, a commission member, in discussing the production of gas saturated oil, asked the chief engineer, V. E. Cottingham, if the principle wasn't the same as that of foam on a glass of beer.

The engineer paused, cast his eyes ceilingward, stroked his chin and answered:

"I wouldn't know about that, but it's the same as carbon dioxide in a soft drink."

Planned Heckling

Now it can be told:

A candidate (and a successful one, too) in Democratic primaries of past years reveals he arranged with several friends to heckle him at various political "speakings." The catch was the audience did not know the hecklers were planted.

Sometimes his listeners became so infuriated by the discourtesy that the hecklers were in danger of physical violence. The net effect was sympathy for the candidate who warmed up to his subject under such favorable conditions. Usually he felt pretty sure of his audience when the meetings ended.

Good Turn Nets Good Job

A GOOD TURN lost him his seat in the legislature but Bill Carssow of San Antonio, one of the younger members of the Texas House, is not sorry.

When he began his current and first term he found that most every house member had some pet cause to support. In his own words he cast about and decided without conferring with anyone to sponsor a statewide bar bill, a measure that would provide for an integrated or all-inclusive bar in Texas. The bill was not passed but his action won approval of the state bar association which lately made Carssow its executive secretary. He did not stand for reelection.

New Guessing Game Seen

The newest guessing game in capitol corridors is when—and if—Gov. James V. Allred, who can become a federal district judge anytime he chooses, will quit his present office.

Popular opinion is that he will turn it over to Lieut.-Gov. Walter F. Woodul about Sept. 1. On the basis of a memo Allred recently sent the press corps, however, some correspondents believed he had tipped them he would not relinquish the office before October.

The memo was a copy of invitations he sent the governors of Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and New Mexico to attend the Tyler Rose festival which ends Oct. 1. He asked his contemporaries to be his personal guests on the occasion, indicating he intended to be in office at that time.

Allred explained when questioned, however, he had accepted an invitation long before President Roosevelt appointed him to the judgeship and the date didn't mean a thing.

The guessing goes on.

Duties Are Explained

GAME WARDENS have been told their duties include more than arresting violators of game and fish laws.

It's part of a revitalization of the game department, said one official. Hereafter wardens will be expected to participate fully in a game management program. This involves keeping extensive notes on field conditions and general research aimed at finding ways to conserve and restore game and fish supplies. They will cooperate with 10 regional game managers who are being assigned to districts. The managers will be key men in the restoration activities and will cooperate and guide the efforts of wardens, ranchmen, farmers and sportsmen groups interested in the work.

TARZAN UNDER FIRE No. 74 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Dick lay quiet upon the fatal altar, for he knew that attempts to escape would be futile. The sacrifical knife trembled in Yvonne's hand as Gulm explained how she must strike. Then he began to intone the death prayer. "No, no!" the girl cried; "I cannot!"

"You cannot?" screamed Gulm; "but you will! Our law provides a horrible fate for a high priestess who refuses to make an offering to the Flaming God. Your refusal cannot save this creature, for if you refuse to do your duty, then both of you shall die!" . . .

. . . While death hovered over these two, Tarzan of the Apes, mightiest fighter of the jungles, was on his way to save them. He dropped down from the trees to make sure he was on the right trail. Then fate intervened once more to block his mission of mercy.

Unfortunately, the wind was blowing in the wrong direction, and it did not reveal the menacing ambush to his sensitive nostrils. Tarzan was caught completely unaware when a score of savage warriors burst out of the brush and trapped him in a circle of spears!

19—Livestock For Sale

Lubbock Auction And Commission Co.
AUCTION SALE EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY

LUBBOCK AUCTION & COMMISSION COMPANY can't refrain from singing its praises of the name it is making for itself as the Center Livestock Market of West Texas.

Volume continued to expand in the local cattle market. We sold over 1700 head of cattle this week—still we did not meet the urgent demands for stocker and butcher cattle of our many buyers. The only discouraging factor in the whole setup was that the demand exceeded supplies.

All Classes of cattle assumed the upward trend and sold fully steady to strong.

SELLERS & CUSTOMERS—If you have cattle to sell—we believe now is the time to sell for best results.

If you have no way to get your cattle in, wire or phone us for trucking service. WE WANT YOUR BUSINESS!

We are bonded for your protection!

SLOW TRADING REPORTED
By FREDERICK GARDNER

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—In the sleepiest session for more than six weeks, the stock market today drifted fractions to more than a point lower.

Trading forces, on the whole, ignored "good" news, most standing aside on the belief a more sizeable "correction" than has yet been witnessed was in the offing.

There was a half-hearted attempt at a rally in the afternoon when the American Iron and Steel institute estimated this week's steel mill operating rate up 2.8 points at 39.8 per cent of capacity, a peak since last November and the fourth consecutive weekly upturn.

The day's volume of transfers amounted to 586,510 shares, the smallest for a full session since June 17, just preceding the start of the "baby boom." The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .4 of a point at 48.7.

General Motors directors, after the close, fulfilled Wall Street's expectations by declaring the regular 25-cent common dividend.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 1 (AP)—Cotton futures prices eased off 12 to 13 points here today under bearish end-of-the-year figures, a large private production estimate and lower stocks.

The Oct. contract closed barely steady at 8.60-61. Dec. at 8.66-67. Jan. at 8.68, March at 8.73-74, May at 8.76-77 and July at 8.80. Spots closed dull with middling 11 points lower at 8.66 cents a pound.

Attracting major interest was the New Orleans cotton exchange year-end report. It estimated lint carryover an all-time high of 12,955,000, consumption at 11,177,000, exports at 5,953,872 and the commercial crop at 13,562,070. The amount in the government loan was set at 6,796,780.

A Dallas report stated the prospective Texas crop would be smaller than expected because of the spread in recent weeks of boll and leaf worms and weevils as a result of rainy humid weather.

AVERAGE PRICE
NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 1 (AP) — Average price of middling cotton at 10 southern spot markets today was 10 points lower at 8.58 cents a pound; for the past 30 market days it was 8.86 cents a pound.

Thrills Promised In Olton Rodeo

OLTON, Aug. 1 (Special) — The eighth annual Olton Stampede rodeo Thursday, Friday and Saturday will surpass all others attempted here according to promise Monday by Curley Daugherty, who again will manage the event.

According to Daugherty, the Brahma bulls are grain fed and will be plenty tough for the best of the punchers to try to ride. Regular old long horn Mexican steers, direct from Old Mexico, will be turned loose for the boys to "try to bulldog" in the usual number of seconds. The bulldogging is a new feature of the rodeo, being added only this year. The wild cows and roping calves are fat and ready for the contestants.

Bronc riding gives most of us the biggest thrill. The bucking horses for this year's rodeo will be furnished by the rodeo committee of Dumas. All of these horses have been picked for their bad reputation, so you may expect many thrills and spills.

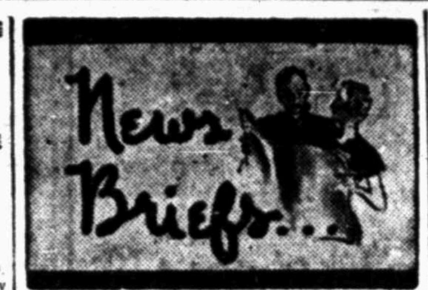

Daugherty has already received word from some of the best cowboys in the west that they will attend and participate in the various contests.

Today Deadline For Candidates

Only a few Lubbock county aspirants to public office late Monday had not filed campaign expense accounts at the office of Ed D. Allen, county clerk, according to information received from that office.

The four who filed accounts Monday, along with the office for which they ran and the total expenditures, were: Charles Middleton, sheriff, $211.55; S. E. McMillan, district clerk, $176.95; P. B. Penney, county commissioner, $82.62; and Eastin Wolffarth, hide and animal inspector, $29.

Today Is Deadline

Today is the last day for filing accounts. It was explained by officials that only one account has to be filed at this date. Candidates who were eliminated in the first Democratic primary must file their final account before tonight. Those who were not eliminated and who are in the run-off in the second primary must file an account giving the combined expenditures of the first primary and the expenses to date in the second race. It was pointed out that a few of the candidates in the run-off had filed separate accounts, one for the first primary and another for the expenditures for the second primary.

Veterans Hospital To Be Discussed

Steps looking to the procurement for West Texas of a $1,435,000 Veterans hospital to be erected somewhere in Texas in the near future will be discussed at a special meeting of the veterans hospital committee of the chamber of commerce at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The recommendation will be that of the executive committee of the hospital group. George P. Kuykendall is general chairman.

The proposal will be made, it was added, that the towns and cities of West Texas unite in attempting to impress the proper officials that a Veteran's hospital in any other section of Texas will leave veterans of the area in the same position they are now—that of being more distant from such facilities than any other portion of the United States.

Several other matters of importance also are scheduled for consideration. Chief among them will be a review of the efforts already made in support of Lubbock's application for the hospital and discussions of what still may be done in the city's behalf.

Mexicans Attempt Strike But Tire Quickly; Support Lacking

LAREDO, Aug. 1. (AP) — Soldiers guarded industrial establishments and streets at Nuevo Laredo, Mex., today, when members of an electrical union and sympathizers staged a short-lived strike.

Strikers returned to work when railroad and commercial unions' members did not join the walkout.

Crosbyton Host To Big Crowd

CROSBYTON, Aug. 1. (Special)—Crosbyton was host here Monday to one of the largest Monday Trades' day crowds it has entertained, according to report by Frank E. White, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

The program, which started at 10 o'clock this morning, included races and other athletic contests for merchandise prizes in the forenoon, music and speeches at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon and a free baseball game in the afternoon.

Congressman Does Not Speak

Congressman George Mahon of Colorado, who was to have spoken, telegraphed he could not appear because of the death of his wife's brother. The message contained no other information.

Substituting for him was his secretary, Lloyd Croslin, who assured of Mahon's desire to cooperate to the fullest in furthering the projects of interest to Crosby county and West Texas.

County Judge Alvin Allison of Levelland also spoke briefly, urging cooperation among counties of the South Plains in working for their common good.

County Attorney Bob McKee of Crosbyton was master of ceremonies.

Commissioners Have Important Schedule

Three important meetings are on the August schedule of the county commissioners court.

Next Monday they are to hold their semi-monthly session when matters of important routine will be scheduled for chief consideration.

Up until Aug. 12 bids will be received on proposed courthouse improvements, most important of which are installation of an elevator and the conversion of space now used for the main stairway into office quarters. Work must be started on the improvement before Aug. 19, officials said, or the county will lose a $9,000 grant which the Public Works administration has made for that purpose. Cost of the improvement to the county will be $11,000 if the full amount of the grant is to be obtained.

Then, shortly after Aug. 15, the county commission will meet for public hearing on the new budget and to set the new tax rate. Exact date of that meeting has not been set. However, the tax rate may be fixed any time after Aug. 15 and last year, the meeting was held on Aug. 16.

The present county tax rate is 50 cents on the $100 of valuation. The general prediction of courthouse observers is that the new levy will be the same.

Presbyterians Will Hear Dr. Robertson Of San Benito

Preacher at services in the First Presbyterian church here the next three Sundays will be Rev. Hugh Robertson, pastor of San Benito Presbyterian church, who is vacationing in Northwest Texas, according to Dr. Jack M. Lewis, local pastor.

He is an outstanding minister of the Rio Grande valley, Dr. Lewis said in announcing the supply and is one of the popular ministers of the state. The family, including a son and daughter, will arrive here about the middle of the week and they will occupy the manse, 1310 Avenue N.

Dr. and Mrs. Lewis and daughter will leave Tuesday for Kerrville, where they will spend several weeks on a vacation.

"Excepting maybe—Claydell. An' Claydell hasn't got here yet. Probly changed his mind an' decided to postpone his visit till tomorrow," he cleared his throat. "This where you figured them shots come from?"

"One, anyway. First one, I think. I ain't sure about the second. When that cigarette went skally-hootin' I whirled an' saw a blur among the shadows here under this tree an' came pelting over. Hadn't hed a chance to make out anything when up comes you an' these others."

A bobbing light showed Ankrom a man running toward them with a lantern. Ratchford took the lantern from him and held it high above his head. In the sand a short three feet away a shape lay motionless.

Ratchford swings into action, tomorrow.

Lubbock Surgeon Back At Work As Though Hadn't Suffered Shock When Hit By Ball

Dr. J. T. Krueger, prominent Lubbock surgeon, apparently was little the worse for his experience as he went about his job as usual at Lubbock sanitarium Monday after having been hit on the head with a golf ball Sunday.

Playing with a party of friends at Lubbock Country club, Dr. Krueger was struck in the back of the left side of his head by a ball driven by John Crisler, of Lubbock. The ball "sliced" sharply before striking Dr. Krueger who was not in line with the shot as it normally would have been made.

The surgeon dropped unconscious but regained senses after first aid given by Dr. J. H. Stites, an associate, who was a member of the foursome in which Dr. Krueger was playing. The injured man was taken to Lubbock sanitarium, where an x-ray picture showed no serious injury, and then repaired to his home for the rest of the day and night.

Subsidy Payment Move To Begin

Applications for payment of subsidy on 65 per cent of the base acreage of cotton in 1937, will be received beginning this morning, in the county agent's office in the federal building, C. C. Jobson, agent, announced Monday.

"Farmers who apply are asked to bring a letter sent them recently, giving the serial number of their work sheet as well as their acreages," Jobson explained. "If they do this, it will help us a lot, as we would have to look through all our records to get their correct number."

The state AAA office is anxious to get the applications filed as quickly as possible.

Farmers also are asked by Jobson to bring with them their total cotton crop last year, in pounds.
