Anti-Lynching Bloc Ready To Give Up

New Cold Wave Swept Across U. S.

False Spring Is Frozen Out By Chilly Prelude

Temperatures Drop Below Zero In Many Areas; Floods To Be Halted By Freeze Shortly

(By The Associated Press)

ALL ACROSS the nation temperatures fell last night in a chill prelude to a great new cold wave, freezing out a touch of false spring that had brought damaging gales and widespread menace of flood.

In every section — from the drenched, and in some cases dust swept, prairies of the Middlewest to the southern bottomlands — colder weather was on the way.

Mercury Below Zero

In North Dakota, Minnesota, Nebraska and Iowa the thermometer dropped below zero—to 18 below at Devils Lake, N. D.

Some roads were blocked by snow in Wisconsin and southern Minnesota; a child of seven froze to death near Crocker, S. D.

Along the Mississippi's lower reaches, the Ouachita, White, St. Francis and Cache tributary rivers continued to rise. There was a prediction the Ouachita would reach 17 feet above flood stage at some points by Friday.

Freeze To Halt Floods

But in that area, as in the northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin middlelands—where hundreds of families already had pulled out to higher ground—the prospective hard freeze had promised alleviation of flood conditions.

High winds, whipping warm rainfall, were subsiding along the Atlantic seaboard after causing much minor damage.

Metropolitan New York was hit by 52-mile winds; incoming liners were delayed for hours by heavy seas. Several westbound flights were cancelled by airlines.

A 14-passenger transport plane came through a seven-hour contest with high wind and rain on a scheduled trip from Washington to Newark, N. J., landing at last at Hartford, Conn., with all safe.

A cold wave, preceded by slow flurries as far south as Macon, Ga., rode into Dixie.

Leasing Board Is Advocated

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 25.—A board of possible three members to lease public school lands was advocated here today by Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, chairman of a senate committee which tomorrow begins an investigation of state land leasing policies.

Holbrook expressed opinion responsibility of leasing such valuable property was too great for one man—it now rests with the land commissioner.

Favors Public Auction

He suggested the board be composed of the land commissioner, the comptroller and the treasurer. He also favored leasing by public auction to the highest bidder as is done with lands owned by the University of Texas.

University lands are leased by the land commissioner and two members of the school's board of regents.

Holbrook criticized some leases by Commissioner W. H. McDonald, expected to be a witness early in the inquiry, asserting he believed the state had lost considerable sums because higher cash bonuses had not been required.

Allred Also Criticizes

Governor James V. Allred, who has had a big force of auditors examining land office records for data to be presented the committee, also has sharply criticized McDonald.

McDonald said he was ready to answer any questions the committee wanted to ask and reiterated his records were open to inspection.

Industry Is Warned Not To Cut Wages; Said 'Suicidal'

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—A warning to industry that wage cuts would depress business further and force the government to "consider other means of creating purchasing power" came today from President Roosevelt.

Calling also for prices low enough to be within the reach of the public,

LEWIS ISSUES WARNING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. (AP)—Whistling, cheering miners in convention assembled heard John L. Lewis warn government and industry today to keep the wage scale up.

If wages and prices are allowed to collapse, there will be "a complete economic, social and political debacle," Lewis told 2,000 of his United Mine Workers.

he said in a formal statement issued at his press conference:

"Industrialists kill the goose that lays the golden egg when they keep prices up at the expense of employment and purchasing power. Industrialists kill the goose that lays the golden egg when they cut wages and thereby reduce purchasing power. Either policy is self-defeating and suicidal."

Mr. Roosevelt declared his opposition to wage reductions "because the markets of American industry depend on the purchasing power of our working population."

"And," the president added, "if we want to restore prosperity we must increase, not decrease, that purchasing power."

Should Ask Right Prices

The president at the same time asserted mass production industries in their own interest should ask prices for their products that "the people can afford to pay."

"But that does not mean," he continued, "that such price reductions can come out of wages."

The president's statement was given in answer to a question which he had anticipated. It read:

"Do you agree with Mr. Fairless that steel prices can't be reduced

Irvin Awarded Contract For Three Years

Lubbock independent school district trustees Tuesday night awarded W. B. Irvin a three-year contract as superintendent of the system and gave A. C. Jackson a similar contract as business manager and tax assessor-collector.

Superintendent Irvin had agreed to a one-year contract executed with the board after recignation last school year of Dr. Kenneth E. Oberholtzer to assume direction of the Long Beach, Calif., public schools.

In System 12 Years

Jackson has been associated with the system in his present capacity more than 12 years, through the administrations of three superintendents.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Robert Myrick Richardson of the Dupre school and elected to replace her Miss Betty McCown, teacher of Mart. It approved appointment of Miss Mary McGee as a teacher in Junior High school and Miss Ardath Byrd as teacher in the Hunt school, the last two places having been required because of increasing enrollment.

Came From Perryton

Superintendent Irvin came to Lubbock in July after having been superintendent of the Perryton system 12 years, prior to which he was superintendent two years at Pampa, where for two years earlier he had been principal.

Award of his doctor's degree by the University of Texas is recognized by educators to await a "mere formality," completion of a dissertation on The Sociological and Economic Status of Members of Boards of Education in Texas. Toward preparation of that paper he has sent out approximately 4,000 questionnaires, each containing from 50 to 60 items. He expects to complete

Jobless Insurance Checks Start Today

AUSTIN, Jan. 25. (AP)—The postman's whistle will signal the beginning of cash payments to Texas' jobless tomorrow.

And he's likely to stop first at the home of James G. Wilson, unemployed Austin electrician, whose name was on the first unemployment compensation commission check written today.

In all, 36 checks were mailed and others will follow daily as eligibility of some 31,400 applicants is established.

Wilson filed a claim for benefits Jan. 3, the first day applications were accepted. He lost his job Dec. 22 and will receive a $15 check each week for 13 weeks providing he does not find a new job through the Texas employment service or other means. All recipients are required to reregister weekly at employment service offices.

Army May Be Strengthened In Program To Bolster Defense

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. (AP)—The United States army may be greatly strengthened at the same time the navy is being built up, it was indicated tonight.

President Roosevelt conferred this afternoon with the chairmen of five house committees dealing with national defense, and it was disclosed both branches of the fighting service are under consideration for supplementary appropriations.

Joseph N. Spikes Of Lamesa Wins Beaver Award For Scout Work

JOSEPH N. SPIKES of Lamesa was announced as winner of the Beaver award, the highest possible honor for any volunteer leader in scouting, as a feature of the 12th annual councilwide Boy Scout banquet at Lubbock hotel last night.

The award, emblem of which is a silver beaver upon a ribbon to be suspended about the neck, can be made only by the national Boy Scout council on the recommendation of a local council beaver committee K. N. Clapp, South Plains council commissioner, made the presentation.

Banquet Is Successful

Announcement of the honor for Spikes was one of the several events contributing to an annual banquet described as the most largely attended and most successful since South Plains council was organized. Twenty-two towns and cities having scout troops were represented. Approximately 275 persons attended.

Some of the other features of the program included an address by Charles E. Paxton of Sweetwater, president of Buffalo Trails council for eight years; the inauguration of Dr. F. B. Malone as president for the fourth consecutive year of the council—the first to whom that distinction has been accorded; the presentation of other officers, executive board members, standing committee chairmen and district chairmen for 1938; presentation of certificates to denmothers in cubbing and of five-year certificates to scout

Pitts Speaks At Slaton Banquet

By DAN TARPLEY
Avalanche Staff Writer

SLATON, Jan. 25.—More than 100 persons tonight attended the sixteenth annual banquet and resume of the board of city development and chamber of commerce at the community clubhouse. The banquet was served by the women of the Slaton Catholic church.

Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court, chief speaker on the program which lasted longer than an hour and a half, complimented both the chamber of commerce and the board of city development as well as other civic, social, business, and church organizations. He commended the organizations on their progress in the last year and the development of the City of Slaton.

Visitors Are Introduced

Presiding was C. F. Anderson, president of the two organizations, who also introduced guests from out-of-town and the guest speaker. Others who spoke briefly were J. H. Brock of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Robert J. Allen, count attorney.

The meeting was opened with group singing of "The Eyes of Texas" and "America." Rev. J. O. Quattlebaum, jr., pastor of the First Methodist church, offered an invocation. Music was by the Kitten

Skellytown Oil Worker Found Dead Beside Car Near Rotan

ROTAN, Jan. 25. (AP) — Body of Archie H. Stumpner, 47, of Skellytown, was taken this afternoon to that place for burial. He was found dead this morning on the bottom of a clay pit two miles from here, beside his wrecked automobile.

Stumpner had started to work Monday midnight on an oil rig near here. His car had failed to make a road turn. It plunged through a fence, over a bank and into the pit, ten feet deep and thirty feet wide. A cattle buyer found his body lying on a blanket, where he had dragged himself before losing consciousness. His skull and jaw were fractured, his ribs crushed.

Plans To Limit Payments Out

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Proposals to place rigid limits on the size of subsidy checks going to large-scale farmers have been discarded legislators working out a new farm program announced today.

Instead of slicing the much-criticized payments to the "big fellow," it was decided payments to the "little fellow" would be increased somewhat.

Scaledown Proposed

The original senate and house bills which legislative conferees are trying to reconcile both provided for limitation of large payments. The senate measure proposed for scaledown of 95 per cent on payments above $2,500 and the house a flat top of $7,500.

Senator Pope (D-Ida.) said there had been concern that the limitations might prevent cooperation of big landowners in crop control programs. He added the legislators hoped to lessen criticism of large payments by an increase in those to the Attack On Meat Packers Made By Wool Growers At Salt Lake

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 25. (AP)—A vigorous attack against the nation's leading meat packing plants presaged today discussion likely to crop up tomorrow when the 73rd annual convention of the National Wool Growers' association opens here.

Addressing the Utah State Wool Growers' association, meeting as a prelude to the national convention, F. R. Marshall of Salt Lake City, secretary of the national association, charged that the country's biggest meat packers have "too much control" over meat prices.

"The four leading packing concerns don't really compete," Marshall declared. "Their system is to divide livestock receipts. They dominate the little packers. They eleminate bidding that would raise livestock prices."

Fourth Man Is Held In Money Theft Case

J. T. (Buddy) Morris Arrested Tuesday In Kerrville; Charge Had Been Filed In Lubbock

THE fourth man charged in federal court in connection with the mysterious disappearance early in November of a mail pouch containing more than $28,000 in currency and coin sent by registered mail to an O'Donnell bank by the Dallas Federal Reserve bank was arraigned at San Antonio Tuesday, according to an Associated Press report.

J. T. (Buddy) Morris, 38, Kerrville hide buyer, was arraigned before United States Commissioner P. A. Lockhart and bond of $2,500 set, according to the report. He was held in lieu of bond.

Morris was the fourth man arraigned in less than a week in the midst of investigations by postal authorities and other federal officers into the theft of the mail sack and rifling of its contents.

Arrested In Kerrville

The defendant was arrested in Kerrville by Deputy United States Marshal J. S. McNeel and taken to San Antonio. He will be given a preliminary hearing before Lockhart today, it was indicated.

According to the complaint, Morris was charged with conspiring with Oscar Petty to steal a United States mail pouch containing a valuable registered shipment of currency and coin.

Filed Here Last Week

The complaint against the man was filed with Mrs. Olive Fluke, U. S. commissioner, here last week.

Petty, about 50, of O'Donnell, was arraigned Thursday and transfered to Fort Worth in lieu of $7,500 bond.

Joe Cathey, about 27, of west of O'Donnell, Saturday was arraigned on a charge of theft of a mail pouch containing a valuable registered shipment of currency and coin. He was committed to the Potter county jail at Amarillo and held under bond of $7,500.

First arrest in connection with the alleged theft was of Carl E. Williams of Brownwood who was arraigned at San Angelo on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen government property, specifically currency and silver addressed to the O'Donnell bank.

New Highway Is Designated

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 25.—Road improvements costing $648,317 neared construction today.

The highway commission announced low bids on nine scattered projects costing that amount and indicated contracts would be let soon.

New Route Designated

In addition, it completed its monthly hearings for road betterments by designating a state highway from Lamesa to Brownfield at the request of Dawson county residents. The county agreed to drain and grade the thoroughfare.

Spokesmen said the road was the most direct route from the south to the Yoakum and Hockley county oil fields.

It also agreed to set up a relief project for completing a seven-mile unimproved gap in highway 120 in Haskell county near the Throck-

Japanese Driven Back Along Yangtze As New Offenses Launched Simultaneously

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 26. (Wednesday) Heavy casualties were reported today in hand-to-hand fighting along the Yangtze river above Nanking as reinforced Chinese and Japanese armies launched new offensive simultaneously.

Chinese said both sides suffered severe losses as they fought for hours near Wuhu, with Japanese warships shelling Chinese positions.

The Chinese reported they had captured Hohsien, 25 miles down the river from Wuhu, near the scene of the bombing of the United States gunboat Panay December 12.

Driving Japanese Back

Along the Tientsin-Pukow railway north of Nanking Chinese forces reported they were driving back Japanese near Pengpu, advance point of the invaders' northward drive toward Suchow, strategic rail junction 320 miles northwest of Shanghai.

The big Japanese offensive in south Shantung, according to Chinese advices, was being held up until reinforcements arrived.

(Japanese warships were said to have fought a one-hour artillery duel with Chinese batteries on Nantao, across deep bay from the British crown colony).

China More Determined

Hsu Shih-Ying, China's ambassador to Japan, stopped in Shanghai on his way to Hankow, temporary capital, with a declaration "I bring no peace terms."

"I am convinced," he said, "that the invasion by foreign forces can only make China more determined to maintain its integrity . . ."

Rate Increases Granted Rails

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 25. — The railroad commission granted increases today in intrastate freight rates on a large number of commodities.

The increases were asked by the railroads on grounds of mounting operating costs and were in line with others on interstate traffic authorized by the Interstate Commerce commission. Evidence to support the application was heard in Austin, Jan. 3.

Communities Are Listed

Commodities on which increases were granted included bagging, paper articles other than newsprint, glass, fertilizer, potash, soda products, acids, brick, coal, Fullers earth, plaster and plaster articles.

The commission reserved decision as to rates on sewer pipe, salt, lime, iron and steel articles, gasoline, crushed stone, sand and gravel and tin cans to points in the Rio Grande valley, because opposition to these had been raised at the January 3 hearing.

As to cement, higher rates on which also had been opposed, an increase of one cent per 100 pounds

Italians Land After Atlantic Crossing

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 25. (AP)—Two Italian trans-Atlantic planes, one piloted by Premier Mussolini's son, Bruno, landed here today after a non-stop flight from Dakar, French West Africa.

The two planes reached Rio de Janeiro at 6:59 p. m., (3:59 p. m., CST), completing the 3,200-mile flight across the South Atlantic and down the Brazilian coast from Natal where a third Italian plane landed.

Colonel Attilio Biseo, flight commander, was at the controls of one plane, and young Mussolini the other.

Twelve Brazilian army planes escorted the Italian fliers on the last stretch of their flight.

A large crowd gathered at the Rio de Janeiro airport to greet them.

List Of Potential Presidents Of University Is Boiling Down

AUSTIN, Jan. 25. (AP)—The list of potential presidents of the University of Texas had boiled down to 30 or 40 today with small prospect of a final selection before hot weather.

AUSTIN, Jan. 25. (AP)—More than 3,200 young men want jobs as highway patrolmen. That number of applications were on record at the public safety department today a few hours before the midnight deadline after which no more would be considered.

Applicants seek 75 positions with the patrol and driver's license bureau and must take written examinations about February 2.

Dixie Filibuster Is Apparently Victorious

Three Supporters Of Measure Announce They're Willing To Lay It Aside; Work Delayed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Three supporters of the anti-lynching bill announced today they were willing to lay it aside in view of the prolonged Southern filibuster.

Leadership of the opposition to the bill predicted others would take this same attitude with the result the measure would be shelved before the end of the week.

Senators Wheeler (D-Mont) Burke (D-Nebr) and Herring (D-Iowa) were the supporters who announced willingness to give up the bill.

"Things Look Rosy"

"Things look rosy," said Senator Connally, (D-Tex) chief strategist for the Southerners.

He and his colleagues were counting on the pressure of two circumstances to end debate on the bill.

The first was the fact important legislation is now, or soon will be, awaiting attention of th senate. This includes the housing bill, the farm bill and several appropriation measures.

Don't Like Night Sessions

The second was that senators don't like night sessions and in an effort to end the filibuster, the administration leadership has ordered such sessions.

As for the actual filibustering, Senator Pepper (D-Fla) continued the oratory, while supporters of the bill watched closely for an opportunity to catch him up on the few senate rules which may be invoked in such instances.

At the outset, Vice-President Garner ruled Pepper already had made two speeches on a pending amendment, all the rules allowed him. So, Pepper offered a minor amendment to the pending amendment, and so became entitled to two more speeches of indefinite length.

Hasty Approval Is Given Reed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Solicitor General Stanley Reed, chief defender of Roosevelt legislation before the Supreme court, won unanimous senate confirmation today for a seat on the tribunal.

The 53-year-old Kentuckian is expected to assume his new duties Monday. He will be the 77th person to sit on the high tribunal.

So quickly was the nomination approved that few persons in the galleries knew what had occurred.

As soon as the clerk read the name of Reed Vice President Garner sang out:

"Without objection—"

By that Garner meant that, in the absence of any pretest, the nomination was confirmed.

Reed was appointed to succeed Justice George Sutherland, 75, Utah, who retired January 18.

Employes Over 40 Found To Be Happier On Their Jobs, Labor Survey Reveals

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Employes over 40 were found happier on their jobs than those under 40 in a study "on the causes of labor unrest" made public today by Charles C. Stech, research and labor relations specialist.

In one respect only were the young and old equally satisfied, and that was the extent to which their job security was based on merit.

The studies were made on 7,500 department store employes of all classes, in six states—California, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York and Massachusetts.

More than one-third of the persons questioned were 40 or over.

Following are the conditions which the older employes found more satisfactory than the younger, given with the percentage of increased satisfaction.

Recognition for phases of good work which are easy to overlook—20 per cent.

General wage fairness—15.

Physical working conditions —12.

Wages compared with other companies—12.

WEDDING WRITEUP

THE tactless Texan, who thinks nothing of writing society news in his unusual column, informed his readers this week of the marriage of Bill Wilson, who writes a theater and social column, "Goin' Places" for the News-Globe, and Miss Irene McCoy of McLean, former beauty at West Texas State college and who attended Texas Technological college. Quoting Old Tack, "Mrs. Wilson is one of the sweetest, nicest, prettiest persons imaginable. She is most, most good to look upon. Mr. Wilson is very popular in Amarillo and throughout the Panhandle and is a good old boy, a youngster in fact.

"The newlyweds are just about as fine a young couple as the sun ever shone upon."

How's that for giving newlyweds a sendoff? Had the society editor written it she couldn't have done more than tell the details without editorializing. This way the young people are complimented and Bill learned what his boss thinks of him.

MATCHING THREAD

WE were talking recently to Mrs. F. P. Eskin, who has opened the Lubbock Knitting Shop and sells yarns and matching fabrics. If there ever was a place where women take their knitting seriously it is Lubbock where we have noticed needlers at football games, lectures and even the picture shows.

Mrs. Eskin said her yarns remain in stock and colors may be matched years after the initial skeins are used. This will come as a welcome note to those who have started a garment, laid it aside when the yarn was depleted, and later found themselves unable to match it.

ON SAFETY MEASURES

MRS R. A. TYNES, who is chairman of safety in the home for the seventh district, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, worries sometimes because when she broaches the subject to a club companion or some other friend she is met with; "Yes, safety in traffic is a good thing, but aren't the officers and public spirited citizens doing about all they can in that line?"

The chairman believes the traffic officers and their aides are concerned with the highway traffic situation but that isn't her lookout. She wants to concern people with the idea of preventing accidents such as slipping on rugs, throwing yourself in the back yard when you pitch the dish water out and sliding on the soap in the bathroom. She wishes parents wouldn't let their small children play with BB guns and that women wouldn't use such a high polish on their floors. The latter gives the floors a beautiful appearance but have you noticed statistics on the number of persons who measure their length on floors or those who slide on little rugs that look so neat in the hallways?

"I'd like to cause people to think," she said the other day. Okey Mrs. Tynes. We're for you and any suggestion you have along that line would be appreciated.

Officers Elected At Forum Meet

Five federated clubs and a child study club met Tuesday afternoon for programs that varied in scope from religion, reviews of two books, architecture, a current magazine study and government.

The Lubbock Woman's Forum, meeting in the home of Mrs. Pope Pool, 2211 Main street, elected the following officers for a term beginning in September:

President, Mrs. R. H. Hester; vice-president, Mrs. Henrie E. Mast; secretary, Mrs. Mark Allen, and treasurer, Mrs. Turner Adams.

Guest speakers, Rev. J. Hodges Alves and Mrs. C. E. Hereford, spoke respectively on "Religions of Canada" and "Music in the Bible." Miss Ruth Dupree of the MacDowell club played two piano numbers, "Whims" (Schumann) and "Scotch Poem" (MacDowell).

The hostesses, Mesdames Pope and W. B. Pool and P. H. Polk, served refreshments, Mrs. W. B. Pool presiding at an attractive tea table covered with a white mosaic cloth. Thirty women were present.

Mrs. Evans Talks

Mrs. A. W. Evans was guest reviewer of "And So — Victoria" (Vaughan Wilkins) at a Sorosis club meeting in the home of Mrs. T. C. Root, 2629 Twenty-second street. A social hour followed the program. Twenty-two members were present.

Architect Speaks

The story of American home building and the future American home were discussed by O. R. Walker, architect, at an Athenaeum club meeting at Hotel Lubbock. Mr. Walker discussed some of the features in his new residence at 2003 Seventeenth street which is purported to be one of the most modern houses in West, Texas. Twenty-one women attended.

Article Discussed

A lively discussion of the current Atlantic Monthly magazine article, "The Collapse of Conscience" by J. Donald Adams, New York Times Book Review section editor, was conducted by Mrs. H. D. Woods at a Twentieth Century club meeting at Hotel Lubbock. She was assisted by Mesdames Roscoe Wilson, T. R. Prideaux, H. L. Allen, C. M. Ballenger and George W. Dupree who discussed various phases of the article and reviewed other magazine articles on the same subject.

The article described collapse of the individual conscience under influence of a social conscience. About 20 members attended.

Pender Is Speaker

The second of a series of three general lectures on government was given by H. C. Pender, acting head of the Texas Technological college department of government, at a meeting of the Junior Twentieth Century club in the Tech engineering building.

They discussed the powers of congress regarding the constitution and described current labor troubles, telling the functions and current troubles of the Committee for Industrial Organization and the American Federation of Labor. Twenty-two members attended.

Be Extra Careful about STUBBORN COLDS

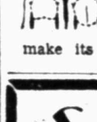

Relieve Their Misery this PROVED Way

TOO often, the cold that "hangs on" is a result of neglect . . . and neglect is always risky. Be extra careful of a stubborn cold, of course. But the safest course is to be careful of all colds. Don't experiment. Relieve their misery this doubly proved way.

Here's What To Do: It's best to stay in bed and get lots of rest. Eat lightly, drink plenty of water, and keep elimination regular. And use Vicks VapoRub without delay.

VapoRub has been proved by everyday use in more homes than any other medication of its kind—further proved by the largest clinical tests ever made on colds. (Full details in every VapoRub package.) Only Vicks give you proof like this.

No Long Waiting for Relief to Begin . . .

VapoRub is direct external treatment. No "dosing"—no stomach upsets. Just massage it on throat, chest, and back. Then—to make its long-continued double action last even longer—spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth.

Relief starts almost at once. You begin to feel warm and comfortable as VapoRub goes to work direct through the skin like a poultice. At the same time its medicated vapors, released by body warmth, are carried direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath.

This double action loosens phlegm, eases irritation and coughing, helps break local congestion. And long after restful sleep comes, VapoRub keeps right on working.

NOTE: If there is much irritation and coughing, or the air-passages feel clogged with heavy mucus or phlegm, even stronger vapor action is helpful. Pour boiling water in a bowl, melt a teaspoonful of VapoRub in it, and inhale the steaming vapors for several minutes.

Modern Fire-Proof, Dust-Proof Masonry Structures Planned At Fair Grounds

Merchants Unit May Be Built

First step toward replacement of present antiquated exhibit buildings at Panhandle-South Plains fairgrounds with modern fireproof, dustproof and masonry structures of sightly appearance was taken at the chamber of commerce here Tuesday.

Tentative plans as outlined at two group meetings of business men who have exhibited at previous fairs found them so enthusiastic in support of the project that one immediately tendered his check for two exhibit spaces in the new building and several others invited fair association officials to "come and get them" whenever checks are desired.

To Take More Space

Without an exception they agreed they would take as much or more space as was done last year in the present ranshackle building, and without exception, they agreed to pay for exhibit space as soon as plans for the new structure are approved and the contract has been let. The early payment for space was explained as necessary to aid in financing the proposed construction.

The two meetings held Tuesday were the first of several planned within the next few days. Invited to them, officials of the fair association announced, will be exhibitors who have reserved space in the past as well as every prospective exhibitor known to the association. In addition, a blanket invitation to others who may want space to communicate with the chamber of commerce was extended.

To Hold Group Meetings

The group meetings were decided upon instead of one general gathering, it was explained, in the belief that a few at a time can discuss plans more thoroughly.

Immediate plans, which were emphasized as being wholly tentative, call for the replacement this year of only the Merchant's building. Others of the exhibit buildings will be replaced as rapidly in the next few years as a conservative financial policy will permit.

As now planned, however, the Merchant's building will be the key architectural structure. Others will be modeled after it so the group as a whole will fit into a design of landscaped beauty for the grounds. Expectation is that the first building, and others to follow, will be of brick and tile, with concrete floors and composition roof. They will be fireproof with exception of the necessary interior partitioning to separate the exhibit spaces.

To Contain More Space

The new Merchant's building, if plans are carried out, will be a structure approximately 75 feet wide by 140 feet long. That compares with 60x100-foot dimensions of the present structure. As in the present building, exhibit spaces will measure 10 feet square. However, the new building will contain only eight more display spaces than the present building because most of the additional space will be used in widening the aisles.

The building will contain a total of 10,500 square feet of space, compared with 6,000 in the present structure. But of the space in the new building, 5,700 square feet will be for the public as compared with only 2,000 at present. Aisles will be 17 1-2 feet in width instead of slightly less than 10. The display spaces will be 48 in number, as compared with 40 now.

Most of the preliminary group meetings which must precede approval by the fair board of directors and attempts then to finance the structure probably will be held this week, officials of the association said.

Twenty-Eight Persons From 27 Cities In Six States Behind Bars In City Jail Here

Nomination for the most cosmopolitan group in confined restrictions hereabouts: in city jail.

A cursory check this morning revealed that, whether on the inside looking out or on the outside looking in, it wouldn't be difficult to go to the police station and learn what happened to that youngest Bohannon girl or whether Uncle Ezra back in the old home town still walks with the cured apple stick.

Salted away behind steel was a representation from Amarillo, Singer, Tom Been, Corsicana, Idalou, Abernathy, San Antonio, Lubbock, Eastland, Denton, Cleburne, Bryan, Gatesville, Slaton, Crosbyton, Ralls, O'Donnell, Midland, Hardy, and Littlefield in Texas; Oklahoma City, Seminole, Altus, and Blackwell in Oklahoma; and Roswell in New Mexico, Lusk in Wyoming, Mountain Home in Arkansas, and Birmingham in Alabama.

Twenty-eight persons from six states! Twenty-seven cities!

And that is not unusual in city jail.

A. B. Tarwater Announces For His Sixth Term In Legislature

PLAINVIEW, Jan. 25. (Special)—A. B. Tarwater, veteran member of the Texas legislature, who is completing his fifth term from this district, has announced his candidacy for another two-year term.

The district is the 120th district. Included besides Hale are Bailey, Parmer, Lamb, Castro, Swisher, Floyd and Deaf Smith counties.

Tarwater has resided here for many years. He is president of Plains Cooperative, Inc., largest creamery cooperative in Texas and has also been active in agricultural and cooperative fields for many years.

There are 3,500 Negro Jews living in the Harlem section of New York.

School Officials Meet Tonight

Fantastic Story Of Two Asserted 'Ex-Cons' Is Unfolded; Two Carried To Brownfield

A fantastic story of two asserted ex-convicts holed up in a "straw stack machine gun emplacement," a drunken revel and of a sardonic gesture that caused one to tie up the other and deliver him to peace authorities was unfolded in Lubbock late Tuesday by Sheriff Ches Gore of Brownfield.

The tale included a futile hunt for a sub-machine gun, a sawed-off shotgun, two .30-.30 rifles, and smaller armament.

Related Of Prison Escape

It related of a prison escape, a charge of rape and of indictments charging horse theft.

Sheriff Gore, en route from Graham to Brownfield with Jerald Hoffman, about 24, alias Jack Davis, stopped at Lubbock county jail to accept custody of Harvey Lee Ferguson, about 26, alias J. B. Crone, who had been arrested at Shallowater Monday night by Lubbock officials.

He said the two men up to approximately a month ago had worked for George Lindley of Brownfield and assertedly stole two horses, selling them and purchasing an automobile at Big Spring. Horses and the machine since have been recovered.

Hollowed Out "Large Room"

Then went to a place 14 miles from Olney, said the sheriff, and hollowed out a "large room" in an oats stack, "simply piling enough straw in the entrance to prevent anyone from discovering their hideout."

Up to Monday, said Sheriff Gore they remained in the stack, drinking and hiding.

Then something happened.

Another man held a gun on Davis, whom Crone tied with a rope. Together the men drove him into Olney and delivered him to authorities, explaining Davis had raped the 14-year-old daughter of the third man.

Davis was placed in the Graham jail and Crone and the other man drove to Shallowater, the other man and a relative first visiting Lubbock county officials to ask procedure in charging Davis in Lubbock county with rape.

Created A Disturbance

Then Crone drank too much Tuesday night at Shallowater and created such disturbance a sick woman was being bothered. Authorities in Lubbock were informed and Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff, and Don Reeder, chief of police, went there and arrested him.

He was nabbed despite his offer to fight the two officers, "one at a time or both of you at the same time," and one source said he did not "bar them using their guns."

Crone, described as an ex-convict, sneeringly laughed when James P. Posey, Lubbock deputy sheriff, placed handcuffs on him for Sheriff Gore to take away.

He is a swarthy, powerfully-constructed man with a livid scar running obliquely from a matinee-idol mustache. He is jaunty in dress and his eyes are shifty.

Davis, said by Sheriff Gore to be an escaped convict, is slender and blond. He treated the incident of his meeting with Crone as a joke, grinning slyly at intervals.

Particularly broad was his grin when the shackles were snapped on Crone.

Lions Entertain Ladies With Dinner Program Last Night

Eighty Lions and their ladies attended the annual ladies night program of the Lubbock club at a dinner last night in the Hilton hotel, with H. C. Pender, past president, as toastmaster. President W. H. Evans opened the meeting but gave the gavel to the toastmaster for the program.

During the meal and later, a local radio quintet played several numbers.

Rev. H. O. Gantz, new Christian church minister, was introduced by Sam J. McFarland.

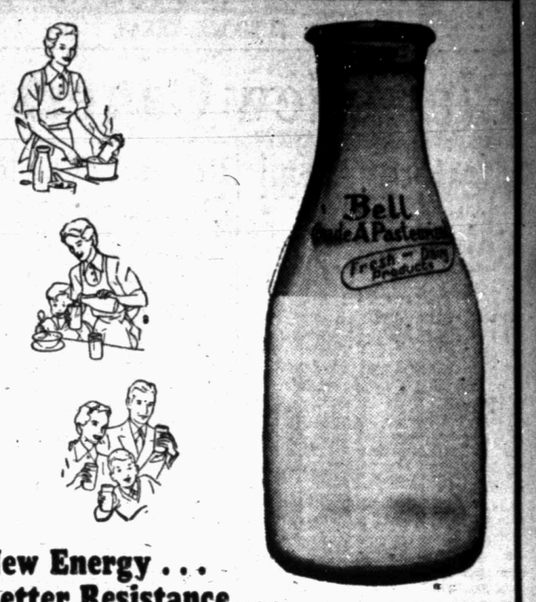

Using a Charley McCarthy dummy, Henly and John Toles, winner in the attendance contest, entertained with attempts at ventriloquism. Arlie Crites was technical advisor. Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt and Miss Adeline Ziegenhals also performed.

Pender, at the request of C. A. Sanford, discussed briefly an economic problem, the outcome of a "crisis in the Far East," namely, "Should Ladies Wear Silk Hose."

State Representative Davison Of Rotan Is Visitor In City

Howard Davison, Rotan attorney and now serving his second term as state representative of the 117th district, was in Lubbock yesterday. A former Texas Technological student, he was one of the few local college men to get into the legislature and he has been a strong supporter of the school.

Davison said he had not announced whether he would be a candidate for a third term, or not. Nolan, Mitchell and Fisher counties comprise the district. Davison indicated he would announce his plans soon. So far no opponent has appeared.

Plainview Cagers Show Good Form In Defeating Lubbock Westerners, 32 To 21

Westerners Fall Behind Early In Contest

By TOM MILLER
Avalanche Sports Writer

Lubbock High school's razzle-dazzle offense fizzled out and its defense crumpled last night at Senior High gymnasium, Plainview walking off with honors in a Big Five game, 32 to 21.

The teams meet again tonight on the Plainview High school court.

The Westerners started well enough matching the Bulldogs goal for goal until midway in the second period. Some good goal shooting was displayed on both sides, then shot after shot sailed widely from the Westerner players' hands.

Frequent fumbles of the ball under the basket helped the visitors' cause no end. L. D. Venable, usually dependable in caging his shots, was far off form, shooting aimlessly and getting nowhere with it. Robert Allen missed numerous crip shots while bagging nine points for second scoring honors.

It was mostly Sigmon and little Tom Cook who showed the way for Plainview. Sigmon accounted for 11 markers and Cook tossed in eight in the second half.

The victory definitely established the Bulldogs as favorites in the Big Five loop and entrenched them in a favorite spot for the district title. They displayed a good passing and floor game that will be hard for other teams in the district to overcome.

Plainview led at halftime, 14 to 11, then increased the lead on deadeye shooting of Cook and Sigmon after the rest period. Lubbock did not threaten after the first quarter never being nearer than three points to the leaders.

After the game Assistant Coach Ross Ayers presented letter sweaters to Westerner football players, and Coach Walker Nichols presented his Cowhands with sweaters.

Westerner awards went to L. D. Venable, Herb Leaverton, Coulson Paxton, Melvin Cooksey, Henry Ford, Jack Ware, Joe Bob Foster, Leete Jackson, Wayne Johnston, Ernest Winter, Harold Parsons, Howard Ulford, Jerry Nash, Lloyd Sanders, and Joe Pytell. Captain-elect Walter Webster was absent. Managers Charles Purcell and Oscar Halsell were given sweaters.

Cowhand awards were presented to Captain Billie Phillips, Howard Martin, Luther Tate, R. E. Jones, Earl (Whimpy) Jones, Jack Lovin, Pat Farris, Gerald Brown, James Barber, Joe McCraw, James Merriman, Walter Daniel, O. B. Southard, Armond Sampson, and Mgr. H. A. Clark.

Between halves, boxing matches were presented between Melvin Robertson and Howard Gregory, and Clyde Catching and Dumas Carter.

Kathryn Hemphill And Patty Berg Easy Winners

PUNTA GORDA, Fla., Jan. 25. (AP) Easily outclassing their opponents, Kathryn Hemphill, Columbia, S. C., and Patty Berg, Minneapolis, moved today into the second round of the women's winter golf tournament here.

Miss Hemphill, last year's winner, defeated Mrs. Terry Dolson, Fort Myers, 8 and 6, while the Minneapolis red head found little difficulty eliminating Katherine McCloskey, Pittsburgh, 8 and 7.

Other favorites also swept through their matches. The only close matches were those between Mrs. Leo Walper, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. William Hockinjos, Lake Hopatcong, N. J., which Mrs. Walper won 2 and 1, and Marion McDougall's victory over Sarah Guth, Webster Groves, Mo., by the same figure. Miss McDougall is from Portland, Ore.

Other results:

Jean Bauer, Providence, R. I., defeated Mrs. George Chambers, Fort Myers, Fla., 6 and 5.

Louise Garner, Winnetka, Ill., beat Mrs. E. F. Carey, Indianapolis, Ind., 3 and 4.

Mrs. Jane Cothran Jameson, Palm Beach, eliminated Mrs. J. J. Lawlor, New York City, 6 and 5.

Audrey Phipps, Palm Beach, won from Eloise Briese, Portland, Ore., 4 and 2.

Romance On Rocks, El Goofy Sours On Yank Offer; Joins "Holdout" Club While Awaiting Divorce

RENO, Nev., Jan. 25. (AP)—Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, world champion New York Yankees' ace pitcher, became an official member of the major baseball leagues' "hold-out" club today.

He announced in no uncertain terms that he was dissatisfied with a $15,000 salary offer sent him by the Yankees for his services next year.

"That's only a raise of $1,500 over last year," Gomez pointed out.

To Sponsor Golf Joust

"I led the league in shutouts, strikeouts, earned runs and games won. I won 21 games and had only 10 losses. Many younger pitchers are getting better offers."

Gomez, who came here three weeks ago ostensibly to establish residence for divorce proceedings against Actress-Singer June O'Dea of New York and Lexington, Mass., said "the next move will be up to the Yankees."

He said he would sponsor a

Mr. and Mrs. Gomez

golf tournament exclusively for left-handed golfers here Feb. 13, forgetting about baseball in the meantime.

Here's A Southpaw Tourney Gomez Missed But Brown, Waner, Goslin Doing Well

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Jan. 25. (AP)—Lloyd Brown, Cleveland Indians pitcher, served notice today he was out to stop favored Paul Waner, Pittsburgh outfielder, in the Miami Biltmore lefthanders golf tournament.

Brown scored a nine-hole 38 two over par, in the face of a brisk wind today as he marched into the semi-finals with a 4 and 2 victory over John T. Rogerson of Miami Springs.

Waner, medalist and two-time winner of the tournament, could do no better than 41 for the first lap of a 4-3 win over S. H. Ivison of Clearwater, Fla.

Tomorrow Brown meets another baseball rival, Leon "Goose" Goslin, former Detroit outfielder, who defeated John Myers of Coral Gables today, 5 and 4.

Waner is bracketed next with J. L. Matthews, Miami printer, a 4 and 3 winner today from S. J. Dicketts of New York.

Idalou Cage Tourney Opens With Four Games Tonight

IDALOU, Jan. 25. (Special) — First round competition in the Idalou High school invitation basketball tournament gets underway at 6 o'clock Thursday evening when girls teams of Idalou and Crosbyton raise the curtain.

Other games scheduled Thursday are: 7 p. m., Ropesville vs. Roosevelt (boys); 8 p. m., Ropesville vs. Roosevelt (girls); 9 p. m., Idalou vs. Cooper (boys).

Twenty-three teams have entered the tournament, Superintendent G. A. Lowrey said, and some fast basketball is forecast for the three days of competition.

Among other teams entered are Roaring Springs, Jayton, Robertson, Anton, Spade, Dickens, Ralls and Tahoka.

Ralls Basketball Enthusiasm Grows Over Coming Pro Tilt

RALLS, Jan. 25.—Basketball enthusiasm, never very dull here, is approaching a high pitch with anticipation of a "special attraction" here on Saturday night, Feb. 5, featuring a couple of barnstorming professional teams.

The well-known Olson's Terrible Swedes of Cassville, Missouri, and an equally famous negro team, from Harlem, said to "take up where the House of David leaves off" when it comes to dribbling and passing the basketball, are meeting here. Largest crowd ever to see a basketball attraction here is expected to jam the high school gymnasium for the contest.

Ralls Wins First Play-Off Game With Littlefield

LITTLEFIELD, Jan. 25. (Special) The Ralls High school Jackrabbits went one up in the play-off with Littlefield for cage honors in the District 5, Class B race with a 30 to 15 victory here tonight.

Beans Reed, with 17 points, led individual scoring.

The teams play in the second game Friday night, at the Ralls gymnasium. If a third game is necessary, a neutral court will be selected.

REPORTED FAVORABLY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. (AP)—The senate banking committee reported favorably today the nominations for reappointment of five directors of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, including Jesse H. Jones of Texas, chairman.

Dreyfuss Takes Full Charge At Dallas

DALLAS, Jan. 25. (AP)—Operation of the Dallas Baseball club of the Texas League had been vested today in Sol Dreyfuss, majority stockholder, as sole owner.

John L. Cottingham, secretary of the club, announced last night the Dallas Athletic association had been dissolved as a corporation, and all stock in the club assigned to Dreyfuss.

He said there would be no changes in the club's officials or policy of attempting to put a first class team in the field.

Reasons of economy led to assignment of the club to Dreyfuss as individual owner, Cottingham said.

Pro Boxing Returns To Brownfield On Thursday Night

BROWNFIELD, Jan. 25 (Special) —Box-fighting returns to Brownfield after a several months lapse Thursday night with Promoter Cye Tankersley presenting 24 rounds or less of professional scrapping at the Venetian Auditorium.

Lightweights and middleweights dominate the card, which includes a double main event, each of eight rounds or less. Woodie Windham, at 138 pounds, is ticketed to clash with Nick Santos, popular Fort Worth scrapper, in one of the main spasms, with Cliff Caraway of Lubbock meeting Harold Fulguen of Prescott, Ariz., in the other.

Tankersley Meets Cotton

Bert Tankersley of Brownfield and James Cotton of Seagraves are billed for a 4-round special. Another 4-rounder will be announced at the ringside.

General admission is 40 cents, ringside seats, 75 cents each, and children get in for a quarter. Tickets are on sale at the Palace drugstore here.

The Thursday night show starts at 8:15 at the popular Venetian Auditorium.

Perry And Vines To Display Net Prowess For Folsom

FOLSOM, Calif., Jan. 25. (AP) — Folsom penitentiary is already for its first tennis match Friday afternoon when Fred Perry and Ellsworth Vines, professional stars, meet.

Warden Clyde I. Plummer said the court, built on the baseball grounds by the prisoners, was about ready.

Perry and Vines, Plummer said, volunteered to play without charge.

PERRY WINS

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Jan. 25. (AP) Fred Perry of England advanced another step in his quest for the supremacy of the professional tennis ranks by defeating Ellsworth Vines, world's pro titleholder, two straight sets, 6-4 and 9-7, in the feature match of an exhibition here late last night.

Terrible Terry Out In Print--- And It's War

By PAUL MICHELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Terrible Terry has met his enemies in print—and it's war to the finish.

His article in the Saturday Evening Post touches off a bomb that's sure to blow something or someone to bits. To the general reading public, it's just an innocent success story about Terry the "martyr" but it's a bristling challenge to baseball writers.

Writers "Warm Up"

To fans who do not know the "inside" of the New York Giant manager's triumphs and temper, it was merely a piece about a ball player who overcame more obstacles than Abraham Lincoln on his march to greatness. It featured digs at baseball writers whom he did not have the courage to name.

The whole article might have been passed over by the baseball writers as so much pop-off if Terrible Terry hadn't cast aspersions on the honesty of the writers who did the Giant beat during the stormy days when Terrible Terry broke all rookie rules by holding out for more money. Terry claimed the writers worked hand in hand with John MsGraw by telling the world Terry was just another ball player. He didn't come right out and say the writers were "bought" by McGraw and maybe he didn't even mean that. But the writers think it was a blow of the foulest type.

And Telephone Numbers

Terry, in his article, writes on the effort of a New York sports editor to get his telephone number. Giving sports editors home telephone numbers is common in the trade. Such numbers are not wanted to get "exclusive" stories as Terry claims but for checking purposes. All too often, a prominent man is attacked in print and newspapers figure the man attacked certainly deserves the right to answer.

Another irritation to New York sports writers is his story of the chasticement of Clydell Castleman, the pitcher. Terry says he knew the only way to break Castleman's lazy ways was to make him pitch a full game, come what may, and he protests because baseball writers with the club criticized him for making Castleman "take it" for nine blistering innings that hot day in Cincinnati. Yet, the truth of it is the writers asked Terry for an explanation of the strange procedure and he told them to "get the hell out of my way."

Terry, long contended newspapermen, who traveled with the team at the club's expense, were chislers, but he changed his tune when a certain newspaper offered to pay its writer's way if the Giants paid for all the advertising they can get daily in the newspaper involved.

What the end will be is hard to conceive. Terry is set with a five-year contract but the contract can be broken. Surely, he's a fine manager but it's hard to believe everybody can be out of step but Terry.

British Poloists Open Big Campaign To Beat Yankees

LONDON, Jan. 25. (AP) — Great Britain started a two-year, $150,000 campaign today to regain the Westchester polo cup from the United States.

The Hurlingham Polo association, which will challenge the United States in September, 1939, announced it already has bought 18 ponies for the cup matches. It will purchase thirty more before the 1939 season starts.

The association has two agents looking for ponies, Robert Skene in Australia and Major Orbert Leaf in the Argentine. The championship stables already are in order and the ponies are being trained at Osmaston.

Clingman And Moran Resume Grappling Feud At Auditorium Here Tonight

TONIGHT'S LINEUP

Curtain raiser — Dairam Bey, Turkey, vs. Tex Hager, Portland, Ore. One fall or 20 minutes.

Semi-final — Benny Wilson, Fort Worth, vs. Otto Ludwig, Hamburg, Germany. One fall or 30 minutes.

Main event — Otis Clingman, Amarillo, vs. Sailor Moran, Little Rock, Ark. Two out of three falls or 2 hour time limit.

Place and time—The Auditorium, 8 o'clock.

Wrestlers may come and go at the Auditorium here, and many of them are more or less respectable gentlemen who turn out a pretty fair job of grappling, and pleasing the customers.

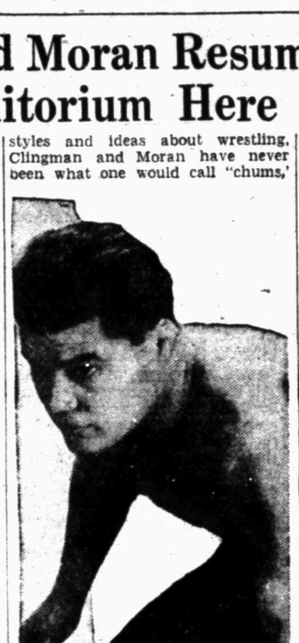

Popularity of wrestling around here is due, in a large way, to the industry of a few faithful old standbys who never fail to come through with "the goods." Two of these are Otis Clingman of Amarillo and Sailor Moran of Arkansas.

They're Not "Pals"

Clingman and Moran, who have been wrestling for Sled Allen here since the ring went up in the Auditorium nearly five years ago, come back tonight and meet each other.

It will not be their first meeting. Rather, it will be a continuation of a "feud" that has burned between them for years.

Of directly opposite temperaments, styles and ideas about wrestling, Clingman and Moran have never been what one would call "chums," although they have known each other a long time.

OTIS CLINGMAN

For the boys themselves, it's a bad situation perhaps, but for the fans it's an idea set-up for a good scrap, a "natural," what with Clingman leaning toward the "gentlemanly" style of fighting, Moran openly refusing to be anything but a "villain." The two types, when thrown together, always provide an interesting show, and one in which fans have no trouble taking sides.

Although his style is fundamentallly clean, Clingman is no pansy when it comes to defending himself. He can sling fists with the best of them. As a rule, however, he finds occasion to win his points—and most of the falls—by employing standard, legal equipment. When the opposition gets too rough, Otis has numerous methods of evening up the score, most of them strictly legitimate.

"Terrible Turk" In Debut

Tonight's supporting card promises action—and a new face. Big Otto Ludwig, who likes to play rough, won't have trouble picking a fight when Benny Wilson, quite a roughster who is very unpopular with the customers, opposes him in the semi-final. The bout promises to develop into a slugfest, with Ludwig slightly favored.

The newcomer is Dairam Bey, who claims Turkish ancestors and ability to wrestle. He is a stranger in these parts, and nothing definite is known of his plans, his style and his method of execution. He takes on tough little Tex Hager, a good preliminary boy from Oregon, and the result may be interesting.

Golden Glovers Pointing To District Tournament; More Entries Welcome

The thud of Golden Gloves leather which beat out artistic tunes in the recent City tournament will reach a climax in Lubbock on the nights of Feb. 7 and 8 when amateur sluggers and clouters of the South Plains territory come together in the District tournament at the Auditorium here.

Prospects of upwards of 100 rounds of boxing during the two nights are bright, with entries coming in every day from fighters all over the section. Approximately 50 entries have already been counted, these including winners and runners up in the City tournament, and others who showed enough stamina and form to warrant invitations to the District joust.

If entries continue to pour in—and there is no limit to the number invited — approximately 40 bouts will be necessary before champions are crowned in the eight weight divisions.

Boxers who have not already sent in district entries are requested to do so at once, so that official membership blanks may be mailed and returned before the tournament starts. Entries will be accepted up to Saturday, Feb. 5, but Golden Gloves officials urge that fighters send them in as early as possible. The entry blank on this page may be used for that purpose.

As in the case of pre-City tournament days, boxers are invited to work out any afternoon at the Texas Tech gymnasium, which is outfitted with suitable equipment for training purposes and where intelligent instruction is available without cost.

Tickets for the District championship tournament are on sale at the Hilton lobby and Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers. Choice tickets have started moving, although the fights are nearly two weeks away, and fans seeking first or second row ringside seats are advised to act quickly.

DARE WINS AT ABILENE

ABILENE, Jan. 25. (AP)—Babe Ritchie, Lubbock, state Golden Gloves heavyweight champion and winner of the recent Lubbock city Golden Gloves tournament, slugged out a decision over Truett Fulcher, popular Abilene heavy, in a feature attraction here tonight.

Only one knockdown was scored, that by Ritchie near the end of the second round. Fulcher recently won from Julian Alvabrook, who until then held heavyweight honors hereabouts.

Lockney Team To Be Selected Thursday

LOCKNEY, Jan. 25. (Special)—Amateur boxers from Floydada, South Plains, Silverton, Flomot and Lockney will provide an "added attraction" at Horace Gearhart's theater Thursday night, winners of the "fight night" program to represent this section in the Lubbock District Golden Gloves tournament February 7 and 8.

Gearhart said that "champions" would be selected in all but the heavyweight division here Thursday night. So far, no heavyweights have been entered for the program. More than a dozen bouts are expected, however, in the other divisions.

All boxers of the section over 16 years old who can qualify according to amateur rules are invited to register for the program here. Both winners and runners up in the Lockney show will be eligible to compete in the District Golden Gloves tournament at Lubbock, Gearhart said.

Lamesa May Go With District One Today

A meeting of the athletic executive committee of District 1, Class A, Texas Interscholastic league, has been called today at Plainview for the purpose of making arrangements for enlarging the district membership and electing a successor to Chairman R. B. Fisher of Pampa.

The meeting, to convene at 10 o'clock this morning at the Hilton Hotel, Plainview, probably will be attended by superintendents and coaches of each of the present member schools and Lamesa.

Indication that Lamesa would become a member of the district came yesterday from the interscholastic league offices at Austin, although suppositions fo that effect have been entertained for several months.

Against Lamesa Wishes

Lamesa, a power in Class B football for several years, becomes a member of the Class A organization after having passed the 500 enrollment mark. A school automatically comes into Class A when the scholastic enrollment passes 500.

The question has been: Into which district would Lamesa be placed?

Lamesa school authorities, it is believed do not wish to enter District 1, would prefer to become aligned with District 3, to the south, or even with the far west district, No. 4. From the office of Ray B. Henderson, mogul of interscholastic league athletics, came notification, however, that Lamesa would be placed in District 1, with Lubbock, Plainview, Amarillo, Borger and Pampa. The district has invited Lamesa officials to attend today's meeting, at which time the football schedule for 1938 will be rearranged, if necessary, to take care of Lamesa.

The regular winter meeting was held early in December, and schedules arranged for the five member teams.

Superintendent Fisher of Pampa, chairman of the district executive committee, is to be replaced today by Ben has resigned at Pampa to accept the superintendent's office of Corpus Christi schools.

Lubbock Junior High Cagers Play Plainview Tomorrow

Lubbock Junior high school Cowboys return to basketball action Thursday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock, with the Plainview juniors offering the competition.

The game will be played at the local junior high gymnasium.

Coach Lovic Liston's Cowboys, who have defeated junior teams from Idalou, Crosbyton and Brownfield, will be after their fourth straight victory.

Ninety-Nine Years Ago Mirabeau B. Lamar Gave Texas Public Education Start

Public Domain Was Set Aside

By RAY NEUMANN
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 25 .— Ninety-nine years ago Wednesday Mirabeau B. Lamar, president of the Republic of Texas, signed an historical document which started a flow of inestimable millions into public education in this state.

Responding to the soldier-statesman's eloquent plea, the congress of the infant nation passed the first of a number of acts which set apart vast areas of unclaimed land to the benefit of a "system of mental and moral culture."

Land Still Owned

The public domain, retained by Texas on joining the union, largely has been converted into permanent funds, but the state still owns about 000,000 acres and a few counties have not sold their grants.

Lamar's foresight has brought public education more than $200,000,000 in moneys accounted for, plus millions which counties realized through sales. The permanent school fund alone now stands at more than $53,000,000.

Assuming the presidency in December, 1838, Lamar found a poorly organized country overwhelmed with debt, harassed by hostile Indians and threatened with Mexican reconquest.

Led To Free School System

His achievements, in the face of this, are only partly attested by the acts which led to establishment of the free school system.

"The influence of education in the moral world is like light in the physical, rendering luminous what before was obscure," Lamar told the assembled lawmakers.

"A suitable appropriation of lands for the purpose of general education will be made at this time without inconvenience to the government or the people, but defer it until the public domain shall have passed from our hands and the uneducated youths of Texas will constitute living monuments of our neglect and remissions. It can now be effected without the expenditure of a single dollar."

Congress Passes First Act

Impressed, the congress passed the first act which gave three leagues (13,284 acres) to each of the then established counties and 50 leagues to what became the University of Texas. Later, another act added a league each to the counties' share.

In the aggregate, the counties received an average of 17,712 acres each with the exception of 16 created many years later.

When Texas won her independence from Mexico some 26,000,000 acres had been granted individuals by the Spanish and Mexican governments.

In 1853, after the nation had become part of the union, the state continued Lamar's policy by granting half the land surveyed for railroads and other utilities to the public schools, a practice continued until 1876.

Set Apart All Domain

Former Land Commissioner J. H. Walker, authority on Texas land history, says at that time, when the constitution was adopted, legislators set apart all remaining public domain to the school fund.

"About 28,000,000 acres went to the schools by that act," the 78-year-old former commissioner explained, "in addition to 16,000,000 previously granted. Of this, all but 500,000 acres have been sold. The school fund also benefits by oil and gas rights on submerged areas, islands and riverbeds in the coastal areas."

Walker said the university was granted 1,000,000 acres by the constitution in addition to that set aside by the original Lamar act, supplemented by 1,000,000 more in 1883 and 50,000 in 1897.

All But 500,000 Acres Sold

The county school grants amounted to approximately 4,250,000 acres, all but about 500,000 acres of which have been sold.

"State school lands have contributed more than $1,000,000 annually for at least a quarter of a century to the available school fund," Walker said.

Discovery of oil in the trans-Pecos, South and East Texas areas has poured the yield of more than 800 wells into the school fund while the university permanent fund has received the profits of 600 wells.

The public school fund also owns all vacancies—areas found between inaccurate old surveys — which are estimated in the thousands of acres.

FORGED DRAFTS PASSED

LITTLEFIELD, Jan. 25. (Special) Several Littlefield merchants reported they were the victims of forged cotton drafts, during the Christmas season.

The party passing a forged draft usually bought merchandise of a store and presented the draft, to get the change in cash. Several were reported to be as large as $35. They were drawn on Lubbock banks.

Saxette Bands To Be Heard In Programs Today, Thursday

A free concert featuring the Senior High school band and presenting saxette bands from Dupre and Central Ward schools will be presented Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the Senior High school auditorium, H. A. Anderson, director for both Senior High school band and saxette groups in each school in the city, will be in charge of the concert.

In addition, the band will present a special program at Senior High assembly this afternoon, assisted by the boys and girls glee clubs, directed by Mrs. Waldo Trotter. The Rev. Jeff D. Welch, pastor of the Central Baptist church, will read the scripture and give the benediction.

The program in assembly today will open with "Hall of Fame March" by J. Olivadoti. "Three Bears", a comedy sketch, with Jack Giles the narrator, and a special arrangement of "Marie" by Neil Armstrong for the band featuring the glee clubs and Ed Armstrong playing the trombone and Jack Delahunty the cornet will be presented. Other numbers on the program are: Largo from New World Symphony by Dvorak; "Roll Em Up Drums," a drum solo featuring Gordon Flenniken, Jack York and Elmo Morrison; "Wabash Blues", a special arrangement by Neil Armstrong; "Rhythm Medley" by Yoder; and "Evening Star" by R. Wagner and arranged by Yoder.

The program Thursday evening will last one hour. Other numbers to be presented besides those on the program this afternoon will include "Trees", a trombone solo played by Jack Boone by Rasbach; "Glow Worm Selection" by Paul Lincke; "Diane Overture" by G. E. Holmes; "Romance Duet Two Cornets" by F. H. Losey, played by Prentice Sylvester and Adair Gossett; "Slavonic Dance No. 111" by Dvorak.

The saxette groups will play three numbers: "Soft Music Is Stealing", a German folk song; "Saxetta Polka Duet" by Vitello; and "Home Sweet Home" by Bishop.

J. H. Watkins, Employe Of Santa Fe, For 31 Years, Has Retired

SLATON, Jan. 25. (Special)—J. H. Watkins, an employe of the Santa Fe since 1907, has retired. He started work for the Santa Fe at La Junta, Colo., as a brakeman and later transferred to Amarillo, where he was promoted to be conductor.

In 1915 the family came here. In his years of service he has never figured in a wreck or even minor accidents.

Property Valuation Increase Is Reported For Andrews County

ANDREWS, Jan. 25. (Special) — Winfield Oglesby, Austin accountant, has audited the books of Andrews county and in a report to the commissioner's court reported a valuation increase from $4,567,293 to $4,853,538, from 1936 to 1937.

Collections for state and county taxes dropped from $55,134.91 in 1936 to $49,679.87. Decrease was due to heavy delinquency tax collections in 1936. County officials believe the 1938 valuations will exceed the $5,000,009 mark.

Poll Taxes Short Of Record Here

Issuance of poll tax receipts Tuesday in the office of H. B. Bryan, county tax assessor-collector, shoved totals past last year's mark of 4,237, but was 4,262 short of the record set two years ago at 8,517.

In the five remaining days before the midnight deadline Monday more than 850 poll taxes must be issued each day to make a new record.

Four thousand two hundred fifty-five receipts had been issued at close of Tuesday's business, said Bryan. Two hundred seventy-four receipts had been made out that day at Lubbock, 37 at the Slaton sub-office.

Bryan estimated the brisk rush of the public had boosted the collection percentage of state taxes to $52,687.97, or 61.5 per cent of the assessment total, and that of county taxes to $70,839.17, or 62 per cent.

Bryan said his office could better serve the waiting line if the public would "hurry to pay assessments and purchase poll taxes without waiting until the last minute. However, we could take care of two thousand persons in a day if they remained in line long enough," he said.

That has been done before, he said.

The tax payment rush also had begun at Lubbock independent school district office, 1007 Texas avenue, and at the city hall, with indications the volume will increase steadily until the deadline. On Feb. 1, penalty and interest will be added to the regular taxes.

Funeral Services Are Held On Tuesday Here For J. E. Taylor

Last rites for J. E. Taylor, 63, were read by Rev. Ben D. Johnson Tuesday afternoon at Tabernacle Baptist church. Taylor died Monday night at the home of a brother, Guy Taylor of 1911 Fifth street, after an illness of several weeks.

He had lived in Lubbock 18 months. Burial was in Memorial Park cemetery in charge of Sanders Funeral home.

He is survived by four brothers, George and Guy of Lubbock, J. H. of Paducah, and Claude of Abilene.

Confined To Bed Before The Gly-Cas

New Herbal Remedy Again Unfailing: Kidneys, Bowels Regulated Easily, Indigestion Gone; Feeling Fine

"After all other medicines had failed to give me any satisfactory results I was given new health by Gly-Cas," said Mrs. G. H. Priem, 1615 Navasota St., Austin, Texas.

MRS. G. H. PRIEM

"For four years I had suffered severely with a kidney disorder, my back pained almost constantly. Since childhood I had also been a constant sufferer with constipation. My stomach was affected and regardless of my diet I was sure to suffer dreadfully after every meal. I could not sleep or get my rest and was most miserable at all times. I was not completely sold on Gly-Cas until I gave it a trial and then I found it wonderful."

"I was confined to bed at the time I heard of Gly-Cas but once I began taking it this new remedy soon changed all of that," continued Mr. Prim. "Today I am feeling like an entirely new person. That dreadful kidney disorder has been corrected, bowels are regulated and even my stomach is now functioning normally again. I can eat the foods I wish, without distress afterwards, sleep good and really enjoy good health again. It is wonderful that suffering people can get just such a medicine as Gly-Cas for it does its work—and does it well."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns. Adv.

District Meet Dates Set For April 8-9

Annual district interscholastic league contests at Texas Technological college have been set for Friday and Saturday, April 8 and 9, Dr. A. W. Evans, head professor of education and psychology at Tech and director general of the meet, announced Tuesday.

The dates were set, he announced, at a meeting of the district executive committee composed of R. A. Mills, director of ready writing; Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, director of one-act plays; Dr. D. D. Jackson, director of declamation; J. W. Jackson, director of debate; Miss Bonnie K. Dyzart, director of extemporaneous speaking; Mrs. J. W. Jackson, director of typewriting; Dr. C. B. Qualia, director of Spanish; and G. Berl Huffman, director of athletics. All are members of the Tech faculty.

Approximately 20 counties are included in Lubbock district, Dr. Evans said.

The sun's distance from the earth has been computed by three entirely different methods, and the result was the same in each case.

New Fair Buildings Here

DISCUSSION by prospective exhibitors of plans for a new Merchant's building at the Panhandle-South Plains fairgrounds deals with a need too obvious to require extended comment.

Any casual visitor to the grounds can see instantly that the exhibit buildings, with exception of the livestock barns, are structures not likely to stir civic pride. They are frame structures which already have seen long service and which, without exception, suggest replacement. These statements are made without criticism of those to have had to do with operation of fairs. Rather they have rendered conspicuously meritorious service because, for the last several years, they have "gotten along" when bigger and older fairs throughout the nation have had to suspend speaks for itself.

Now that the economic outlook has improved somewhat, it will be part of the conservative policy directors of the fair have followed to make needed replacements of out-moded buildings as rapidly as can be done. This does not suggest any extensive building policy immediately. Rather, a constant vigil must be maintained against an overly-ambitious program which may mean future and expensive regrets.

But any building policy may safely take cognizance of one or two factors. One is that we should regard the fair as a permanent institution. If Lubbock fails to sponsor an exposition for the entire region of which it is the metropolis, some other town will. Such an eventuality would mean only that Lubbock would suffer in prestige and in trade.

Therefore, being a permanent institution, any building now undertaken should fit in with a permanent scheme. It should be of architectural type and material which will be pleasing to the eye as well as being efficient for its purpose. It should set the style for the several other exhibit building replacements which must be erected before very long. It should be the key to a certain uniformity which must prevail if the grounds are to have a landscaped beauty.

The New Justice's Position

WHEN any legislative body made up of men as positive and divergent in their opinions as the United States senate can agree unanimously on the merits of any legislation or any individual, the rest of the nation need have little cause for suspicion.

Thus, the nation can be amply satisfied that Stanley F. Reed measures to the most exacting standards as an associate justice of the United States Supreme court. If he did not, you may be certain that some among the senators who lose no opportunity to condemn the administration, would have given loud and prolonged voice to any objections they may have felt. Instead, they were unanimous in their confirmation of his nomination.

The action is an indication that some of the most stalwart of the senators are convinced that Justice Reed will not be putty in presidential hands; that he will not let the feeling of natural gratitude for the high honor accorded him sway him from his honest convictions.

Indeed, there is the possibility that his career may become a parallel of that of Salmon P. Chase who, as Civil war secretary of the treasury, was chiefly instrumental in securing the passage by congress of certain currency legislation. Subsequently, he was appointed to the Supreme court before which the constitutionality of the very measures he had advocated was tested. As a member of the court he joined in holding the legislation invalid.

This, of course, is no forecast as to how Justice Reed may vote on any controversy. But it is recognition of the fact that men in position to be best informed are convinced that whatever his vote may be, it will represent an able and honest belief.

The One-Minute Sermon

If a false witness rise up against any man to testify against him that which is wrong;

Then both the men, between whom the controversy is, shall stand before the Lord, before the priests and judges, which shall be in those days;

And the judges shall make diligent inquisition: and, behold, if the witness be a false witness, and hath testified falsely against his brother;

Then shall ye do unto him, as he had thought to have done unto his brother: so shalt thou put the evil away from among you.

And those which remain shall hear, and fear, and shall henceforth commit no more any such evil among you.

And thine eye shall not pity; but life shall go for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.—Deuteronomy 19, 16 through 21.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
LINDA BENTON — Heroine, daughter of a famous singer.
CAPT. BARRYMORE TRENT—Hero, flying "daredevil."
MIRANDA TRENT — Barrymore's grandmother; a "strong woman."

Yesterday: Barrymore's plane is reported forced down at sea. It is a crisis for Mrs. Trent and Linda. They are about to retire after that first agonizing day when suddenly the telephone shrills.

CHAPTER XI

At the sound of the telephone bell, Barry's grandmother settled back again into her chair.

"Will you please see what that is, Miss Benton?" she directed.

Linda took down the receiver and said, "Yes. This is Mrs. Trent's secretary speaking."

"Oh," said a man's voice at the other end of the line. "Well, this is the United Press. We should like Mrs. Trent to affirm or deny a story we have here. Shall I read it to you?"

"Read it," said Linda, "and I will consult Mrs. Trent."

"'Miss Magda Shirley,'" the voice read, "'thrice married, thrice divorced darling of the silver screen, let it be known tonight, friends say, that she was to have been married next month to Captain Barrymore Trent of the United States Naval Air Force. Captain Trent has definitely been given up as lost since his wrecked plane was found floating in the Caribbean Sea after his recent dash to the rescue of the ill-fated aurelius expedition.

"'The names of the glamorous Miss Shirley and the daring young flyer were often bracketed when Captain Trent was stationed in California six months ago. Miss Shirley, friends say, is at present in a sanitarium, prostrated at the news of Captain Trent's disappearance.'

"Now what we want to know is: is this the truth of press-agent ballyhoo?"

Linda stood for so long a time silent that old Miranda said tartly, "Well? Well, what is it?"

"I think," said Linda from the blanket of fog that was closing in about her, "that you had better speak to Mrs. Trent."

She handed the instrument to old Miranda.

The old lady listened, her lips drawing to a dangerous line. When the sputtering over the receiver stopped, she spoke, her clear, cool voice very contemptuous, very sure.

"You may say," she directed, "that this story is a brazen, impudent lie. That is all. Goodnight."

Linda asked, in spite of herself, "How can you be so sure?"

"Because my grandson was born with the tastes of a gentleman. He may have paid the creature some attention. She has a pretty face, she is notoriously accessible, and he is a man and young," snapped old Miranda with that unbiased acceptance of the facts of life that had so often reduced her grandson to shouts of laughter; "but he would not consider marrying her is she were the last woman in the world. When my grandson brings a wife into this house, she will be a gentlewoman, born and bred to uphold the dignity of his name."

"Then," cried Linda, "how did she dare?"

"Because, my dear Miss Benton, she is shrewd anough to know that any denial I make will be discounted as the inevitable gesture of a doting and deceived old woman. . . . And she will accomplish her purpose. To-morrow the papers will be full of her. . . . I'd sell my immortal soul to be able to prove that that huzzy is lying."

"Would you?" thought Linda. "I wonder."

The day he went away, Barry had said in those last crowded moments, "if—of course I'll be back soon, darling; but—well, some one might drop a brick on me, you know—you muts promise me to tell grandmother as soon as—as you're sure. She's really fond of you, Titania. Promise me you'll tell her."

"Barry, don't!" Linda had cried. "If anything happened to you, nothing else would matter."

But in the end Linda had promised.

"Mrs. Trent," Linda began impulsively — but at that moment the doorbell rang.

It was a messenger with a letter for Mrs. Trent. She opened it and read it, the fingers of one hand tightened slowly about the arm of her chair.

It seemed to be very brief. She read it again and yet again. Then she rose, and glancing briefly at Linda, went slowly out of the room and upstairs.

All through breakfast next morning old Miranda was strangely silent. From time to time she glanced at Linda as if she were about to speak, but uncertain how to phrase something she had to say—as if that something might be unpleasant.

"Perhaps," Linda thought, "she's getting ready to tell me she doesn't want me here any more. . . . How am I to tell her about—Barry and me, if she feels like that? But I promised Barry."

So she vacillated all day, debating, dreading. She had almost summoned her strength for the ordeal that evening after dinner when old Miranda said, "Judge Baldwin's death has been a shock to me—why I do not know; for he has been ill for years. He was one of my oldest friends."

"Judge Baldwin?" echoed Linda blankly. "I—I hadn't—"

"He died this afternoon. Miss Chattam phoned me."

It was at this moment that Jefferson appeared to announce Mrs. Rita Blanchard. Before old Miranda could speak, Rita was on the threshold behind him. For a moment she poised there, one hand resting against the door frame, the other against her throat, as if to control an overwhelming emotion.

Then she cried, "Oh, poor dear Mrs. Trent!"

With a swift rush she crossed the room, and sinking to the low stool by the older woman's chair, she caught one of her hands in both of her own and pressed it against her cheek.

"I had to come," she burst out when old Miranda did not speak, but continued to sit motionless, looking at her fixedly. "I thought perhaps—can't we comfort each other? I—I can hardly realize yet that we have lost him. . . . Oh, but you—you don't know yet, do you? . . . You must not blame Barry. He wanted to tell you before he went. . . . He begged me to marry him last night. If I could have guessed—"

Then old Miranda moved and broke her silence.

"My dear Rita," she said, a mirthless amusement in her old eyes, "you must forgive me if I seem unresponsive. But there seems to be an epidemic of this sort of thing. Is it possible that you have not read the morning news? If not, this will doubtless interest you."

Reaching behind her, she picked up the morning paper and spread it before Mrs. Blanchard's startled eyes.

Old Miranda had been right. The paper had made a noble display of Magda Shirley's story. Headlines blazoned:

Magda Shirley Says Engaged to Wed Lost Navy Flyer

and just opposite:

Grandmother of Captain Trent Denies Pilot Planned to Marry Screen Siren

There were pictures of Barry and Magda—that of Barry caught as he stood by his plane that last night; that of Magda in one of her most insinuating poses.

When Rita had gone, Barry's grandmother said dryly, "She really made a magnificent entrance. The Shirley, herself could not have been more convincing. . . . Too bad I had to spoil the act. . . . Well, Well! I wonder who will be the next!"

"Not I," thought Linda. "Not I!"

For after all, what proof had she that either Magda Shirley or Rita Blanchard had lacked. She had no papers. Barry was gone. Judge Baldwin was dead. The only witness to that hasty ceremony had been that chance visitor, already, no doubt, steaming toward England.

No, Linda thought, promise or not, she could never tell old Miranda now.

All that long evening as she and Barry's grandmother sat—speechless for the most part—in that silent, empty house, she made plans in the back of her mind—incoherent, stupid plans, born of a numbed, despairing mind. All evening she was aware that old Miranda was watching her under veiled lids, a baffled, speculative look in her tired, shrewd old eyes.

And all about them was the fresh, spicey odor of balsam from the tree that stood, stark and bare in the front parlor. . . . To-night, Barry was to have been here to trim the Christmas tree.

Supervisors Of Women's WPA Projects To Gather In City

A two-day course to be conducted by Mrs. Grace Williams of San Antonio, state field supervisor for women's and professional projects, will be attended by supervisors of women's projects in 24 counties comprising Lubbock WPA district Thursday and Friday in Lubbock.

Sessions will be held, according to Miss Evelyn Richter, district supervisor of those projects, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. each day on the mezzanine floor of the Hilton hotel. Miss Richter will assist.

The course, she explained, is designed to train supervisors of such projects as sewing rooms, renovating, library, ground water and tax survey.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S capture of the Supreme court has shifted the center of political gravity at Washington. Lobbyists good and bad concentrate their charms on Congress on the theory that it's useless to appeal to the places where Mr. Roosevelt and Chief Justice Hughes preside.

Business men in droves have recently button-holed their legislative representatives, singly and in bevies. A blue-ribbon delegation came on from the Middle West to warn their Senators and Representatives that the deliberate moves to destroy faith in the structure and ethics of private economy were spreading class hatred and menacing recovery. "One inflammatory speech by a responsible government official," they moaned, "may cost 10,000 jobs. . . . Even children coming home from school lecture parents on the sins of retailers and manufacturers."

Personal picketing of House and Senate impresses the honorables more effectively than the old-fashioned chain telegram form of propaganda. It accounts for the more conservative attitude which Capitol Hill shows toward the 1938 model of the New Deal.

DIFFERENCES: A steady shift in foreign long-term investments in the United States will soften the shock which another World War might otherwise precipitate in our financial markets. Preliminary reports of an uncompleted survey conducted with great secrecy cheer Messrs. Roosevelt and Hull.

The only major nation with large direct holdings that also faces the prospect of conflict is Great Britain. Runners-up are such potential neutrals as Canada, the Netherlands, Switzerland. German, Japanese and Italian investments have slowly dwindled until they are almost negligible, whereas Germany had sunk a billion dollars in American properties by the eve of the 1914 outbreak. The dictators' nationals are selling instead of buying.

Another factor may mitigate against a new rush to unload these holdings when the bugles blow. Foreign money today is invested largely in textiles, chemicals, foods, mining—essential products which foreign nations would want to control in wartime. Chief sufferers would be railroads and public utilities, whose bonds and common stock ranked high in popularity abroad during the post-depression period.

REVIEW: President Roosevelt's collection of official memoirs and documents will reveal his mistakes—his shortcomings—in office as seen by himself in retrospect. His footnote confessions will excite more interest than his state papers during this critical period of world history.

The President will take the people into his confidence on almost every move he has made while in the White House. He will give the origin and purpose and results of every executive order from the closing of the banks to the crackdown on the Supreme court. Time and again he will write, if he carries out his present notions: "Somebody slipped me a bad idea on that. I should never have fallen for it." Or—"Cordell Hull was responsible for that scheme. It worked brilliantly." There will be bouquets and brickbats for many advisers officially dead and alive.

The newspapers, as always, will get their share of attention—mostly adverse. The state volumes will include clippings dealing with historical happenings of the period as seen by reporters and by the President. "Here is what the So-and-So Newspaper said," Mr. Roosevelt has written, "but here are the facts." Publication will produce many red faces inside and outside the administration.

ILLEGAL: Army officers are complaining publicly against Acting Budget Director Bell's indifference to their pleas for more funds, but privately they blame the man in the White House, contrasting the treatment he hands them with his billion-dollar generosity to the navy.

Mr. Bell's freshest rebuff knocked out Secretary Woodring's elaborate program for creating a United States reserve of enlisted men comparable to the officers' corps. With the inspiration of the general staff, Mr. W. proposed that all new recruits be asked to join a reserve corps on the expiration of their enlistment. They would be expected to drill once or twice a month with regular units, and to spend two weeks in training during the year. In return they would receive a small monthly payment, probably $5.

The plan contemplated organization of a trained, experienced second line army of 400,000 men. Total costs would have amounted to about $50,000,000 annually. Together with the regular army of 165,000 and a national guard of 200,000, it would have furnished a modern fighting force ready for any emergency. But smiling "Dannie" Bell turned thumbs down—for the present at least.

HERO: So many statesmen have spoofed for circulating radio records of speeches never delivered on the floor that Senator Henry Ashurst abruptly declined when an old-established firm offered him the same facilities. But the salesman apparently sensed the Senator's susceptibility to circus stuff.

"I have transcriptions of the speeches of many distinguished men, Senator," he persisted, "including P. T. Barnum."

"I'll be right down," promised the Arizonian, to whom the supersalesman of the circus has always been a hero. Indeed, Mr. Ashurst gladly admits that sometimes he emulates the promoter of the sideshow and the top. "He would have made a great Senator," vows the chairman of the Senate Judiciary committee, who ought to know.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE committee appointed to study the organization of the New York Stock exchange is slated to turn in a report early in February. Exceptionally informed sources predict that it will offer the following recommendations.

1. That the Exchange should hire a full-time paid president. The committee will probably not express an opinion on the red-hot controversy as to whether the president should be a member of the exchange or a non-member.

2. That the Board of Governors, now composed of 50 members, should be reduced in size.

3. That some of the existing committees should be abolished and their work transferred to a paid administrative staff.

4. That the revised Board of Governors should include several "outsiders" to represent the public and the companies whose securities are listed on the stock exchange.

CONVERSION: The above alterations in the management structure would fit neatly into the reform program which the Securities and Exchange commission wants the stock exchange to adopt. The exchange "old guard" realizes that some concessions must be made. Instead of trying to salvage the paid presidency for one of their own and to retain as much inside power in the new set-up as possible.

Probably the present governors will accept the recommendations of the study committee and submit them to the whole exchange membership for a vote of approval in March. If the members okay them, the regular May election will be confined to the selection of a new and smaller Board of Governors, who will in turn choose the paid president.

If events work out as indicated, a long step will have been taken towards converting the stock exchange into a quasi-public institution. But it is not yet certain that the moves described would break the backstage grip of the ruling "old guard" faction.

Side Glances---By George Clark

"He's never been known to buy a book, but the manag thinks he helps to sell them in this department."

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says you can't kiss a woman unexpectedly; the best you can do is kiss her sooner than she thought.

Mrs. M. H. Vardeman, of Acuff, sent this in:

Democracy is funny sometimes: this is the month in which we pay a tax for the privilege of voting for somebody who will make us pay more taxes!

WELL, The Plainsman has been browsing around up in Oklahoma for the past several days, engaging in oratorical acrobatics before the lads and lassies of his Alma Mammy, the University of Oklahoma, and before a lot of his old sidekicks in the Oklahoma Press association.

While in Oklahoma, The Plainsman ran across a couple of items which should be of interest down here.

Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, told the writer that he has no intentions of running for office in Texas any time soon and as far as he knows now, he will not enter public life at any time.

Alfalfa Bill Murray, former Oklahoma governor, one-time aspirant to the Democratic presidential nomination, storm center of many a political struggle and the Sooner state's counterpart of "Sockless Jerry" Simpson, says he will be the next governor of Oklahoma. (And you'd be surprised how many people who are against him are saying that he will be the next governor!)

YOUNG Mr. Roosevelt was one of the speakers on the press association program and it so happened that The Plainsman was thrown with him upon several occasions.

We joshed back and forth about the rumors which had been flying around to the effect that Elliott would run for lieutenant-governor of Texas; that whomever happened to be elected governor would be given a big federal job so Elliott could succeed him—and that the New Deal thus would have Texas patronage in its hip pocket. Elliott is very goodnatured about the whole thing, yet seriously insists that he's not interested in politics from a personal angle.

"I'm neither a Democrat nor a Republican," he says with a contagious grin very similar to his dad's. "I'm just a business man trying to get along!"

While he recently has earned a big promotion in the Hearst radio chain and his office has been moved from Fort Worth to New York, he is keeping his residence in Fort Worth. He says he'd rather live in Texas than anywhere under the sun; that he likes Texas people and he hopes they like him.

To tell the truth about it, The Plainsman was struck by the way young Roosevelt handled himself in several public appearances in connection with the Oklahoma newspapermen's meeting.

The young man has a fine appearance, makes a dandy extemporaneous speech with a lot of spontaneous humor mixed in, and ducks out of corners with a dexterity which one cannot help admiring.

He is forever "on the spot," simply because people either admire or dislike his father and the Roosevelt family as a whole and for that reason are either expecting Elliott to make a big hit—or are hoping that he flops.

To his credit it must be said that Elliott Roosevelt—judging from his Oklahoma activities—is both a bright and affable young man who gets over with people in a big way. And that includes people who, to say the least, do not care for his father's administration.

INCIDENTALLY, Elliott plans to be out here with his mother March 8, when Mrs. Roosevelt will speak in Lubbock at the senior high school, under the sponsorship of The Avalanche-Journal.

He has been here, incognito, several times, in connection with some oil holdings he has in Yoakum and Gaines counties and his knowledge of this section of his adopted state is quite broad.

* * *

The Plainsman also had a pleasant session with Alfalfa Bill Murray, by whom he chanced to be sitting at the annual Oklahoma Gridiron banquet in which the state's great get the pants kidded off them every year.

The event is similar to the national gridiron and of course everybody from all over the state who can wangle a ticket rushes up to howl at the various skits and parodies.

Mr. Murray, who is 68, was, of course, one of those pilloried. But like all the rest of the razzed bigwigs present, he got a big kick out of it.

* * *

STILL wearing the handlebar moustaches of early Oklahoma statehood, this grizzled, backwoods genius confided that 200,000 votes will win the governorship now that the runoff primary has been eliminated in Oklahoma.

"I've got 125,000 votes right now," he said and a lot of people—including his political enemies—agree.

Murray in Oklahoma is very similar to Jim Ferguson in Texas, politically speaking, in his tremendous popularity with "the boys in the forks of the crick."

He does not have Mr. Ferguson's polish, however, although he probably is in Farmer Jim's class as a mass psychologist and a state political power.

The visiting evangelist had just finished a sermon on the duties of wives to husbands.

"I want," he caroled, in best evangelistic style, "every woman who will promise to go home and mother her husband to stand up!"

One little woman who was known to be a trifle deaf promptly leaped to her feet.

"Ah," cried the preacher, "there is one woman here who will mother her husband."

The old lady's expression immediately changed.

"Mother him," she cried, sitting down, "I thought you said smother him!"

That Man on Avenue Q says a car parked on a lonely road is on two generations removed from the porch swing or the parlor sofa.

* * *

Two women were chatting across the back fence.

"I got so bighearted this morning," said one, "that I gave $5 to a bum."

"Gee," ejaculated the other. "What did your husband say?"

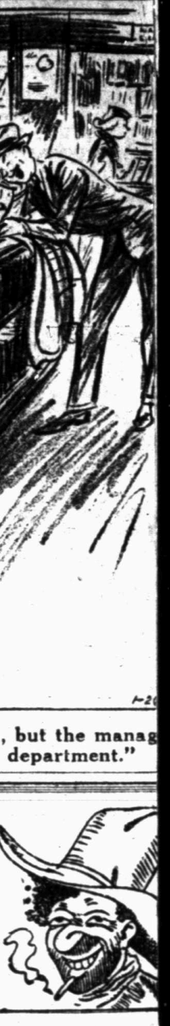

"Thanks!"

* * *

HERE AND THERE: Add to the usual vocations, that of Ed Orsag, 19-year-old cripple of Buellholts, Texas . . . He carves violins of excellent quality from railroad ties and telephone poles with his pocket knife and a rasp his only tools. . . . Roy Hayes was declared "legally dead" 10 years after he disappeared from his wife and family . . . Then he returned. The widow filed a desertion charge against him at San Francisco and the judge said "six months"

MOTHER-IN-LAW'S DAY

Editor, The Avalanche: Why couldn't mother-in-laws of Lubbock rise to the colors of Mother-in-law day, March 9th? It was originated in Amarillo three years ago by the efforts and forethought of Mrs. Howe, editor of the Amarillo News.

Why not storm Amarillo on Mother-in-law day with the greatest number and the prettiest mothers-in laws in Texas and go with the intention of bringing the 1939 Mother in law celebration to Lubbock?

Miss Fronia S. Johnston,
Lubbock.

...ye Movements ...re Recorded

...ES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 25. (AP)—Herman F. Brandt, Drake university professor of psychology, explained today his new bi-dimensional camera which records the movement of a person's eyes.

The camera shows the path the eye take over a written or printed page, both horizontally and vertically. It shows what attracts the eye's attention first—whether an advertisement is read first of whether the big type and pictures claim all the attention.

Can Tell Whats Wrong

The device can trace a student's eye movement as he pores over his text books. By depicting such movements the camera can give a fair account of when his attention wanders and what is wrong with his technique of study.

"Advertisers are making use of it, Dr. Brandt said to tell how well their copy claims attention, and which parts of it the average person doesn't bother to read.

The camera directs a beam of light into the cornea of the reader's eye as he scans the book or magazine before him. The reflection of this beam is focused through lenses onto a motion picture film. The film, by an ingeneous method, moves both vertically and horizontally so that the directions of the eye's movement are recorded.

After the film is developed, it is projected on a screen and the eye's path is traced and plotted on the page of the book or magazine before the reader.

TARZAN THE MAGNIFICENT No. 9 — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The prisoners and their captors came finally to a great walled town on a high plateau. In the streets Amazon warriors strutted and hurled taunts at the captives. The men of the town were working laboriously. It was obvious that the women were masters here.

Still in a daze, the captives were led to a mammoth castle, then through vaulted corridors to a vast room. A warrior struck the floor with a spear and called out: "We bring captives to Gonfala, our Queen, and to Mafka, ruler of the powers of darkness!"

Wood gasped, for now a vision swam before his eyes, the vision of a girl enthroned—the most beautiful creature he had ever seen, fair of face and perfect in every detail of her delicate features. But her brooding eyes were clouded with a cruel hardness.

His gaze was drawn then to the man who sat beside her, a wizened, leathery creature as hideous as the girl was beautiful. A satanic laugh rattled from his thin lips as he said: "Speak, Gonfala, my daughter. The prisoners are impatient to know their fate."

How to obtain Love, Happiness, Success, being loved and admired for yourself alone, capturing the hearts and friendship of all about you, can bring you more happiness than all the jewels and fine clothes you could wear than all the wealth you could spend in a lifetime. Without friendship and love, life would not be worth living, for admiration and affection are the breath and heart beat of all human happiness. Within you is a power that controls your destiny. It is in every woman and man, but few discover it. Those who do are blessed with the key to Life's Happiness. With all my heart I urge you to bring forth this innate charm that is yours Develop it, and you will attract to yourself those things that make life worth while. You are helpless in the hands of women who have learned how to use their hidden powers of attraction. You have these powers You can discover and develop them and swiftly make yourself irresistible to men . . even in competition with women far more attractive-looking. You can win and hold the love of the one you want. So if in doubt, ask the man who knows.

Austin Man Facing Extortion Charge

AUSTIN, Jan. 25. (AP)—B. A. Pool, 40-year-old Austin contractor, today faced charges of using the United States mails with intent to extort money from Mrs. L. F. Benckenstein of Orange, wife of a wealthy oil man.

Postal Inspector Carl Besserer signed a complaint before Commissioner Bruce Bledsoe who set Pool's bond at $1,500 and ordered a preliminary hearing Friday.

Pool had been held in jail here since last week in connection with an asserted plot to obtain $5,000 from Mrs. Benckenstein or harm her son, Carroll Sneed of Austin.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney Henry W. Mourbund said the case had not developed to the state where it might be submitted to a grand jury.

ATTRIBUTED TO SUN SPOTS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25. (AP)—Interruptions in radio, telegraph and telephone transmissions today was attributed by astronomers directly to sun spot activity.

LEADERS BEND BACKWARD

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (AP) — Offerings dribbled into the stock market today and leaders bent backward fractions to 2 or more points generally.

The turnover was smallest for a full day since Aug. 31 last, totalling $35,430 shares compared with 537,130 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 issues was down .7 of a point at 45.2.

Steels, motors, aircrafts, coppers and specialties led the downward drift.

Cotton . .

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 25. (AP) — Cotton traded slightly higher throughout most of today's session but encountered commission house selling and liquidation in late trading and closed unchanged to 1 point higher.

For most of the morning session the market barely moved with operators preferring to hold off pending Washington developments. In late trading lower stocks induced tired longs to liquidate and brought out some commission house evening up.

Closing prices were at the bottom with March at 8.63, May at 8.69, July at 8.74, Oct. at 8.83 and Dec. at 8.87. Spots were steady and unchanged with middling at 8.72.

Private reports from Washington were more favorable and served to hold the undertone steady throughout the day.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (AP)—Cotton moved aimlessly today in quiet trading. May sold off from 8.60@8.55 and closed at 8.56, with final prices 1 point net higher to 4 lower.

The market opened unchanged to 3 points higher but there was enough hedge selling and scattered liquidation to check advances after prices had rallied a few points further immediately after the opening. When Liverpool support let up prices sagged about 4 to 7 points. There was a little more hedging toward the close in addition to March liquidation.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 25. (AP)—Reports of Kansas and Nebraska dust storms so thick motorists and railroaders kept headlights burning did much today to make wheat prices average higher.

There were estimates also that export purchases of North American wheat had enlarged, totaling 400,000 bushels, and that Portugal was a potential buyer of 2,500,000 bushels.

Increased offerings, however, developed on fractional upturns of wheat values, and for the most part the market hovered at around yesterday's closing figures. An increase of 117,000,000 bushels in domestic stocks held by interior mills and on farms as compared with last year was no surprise, but served to check enthusiasm of buyers.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were unchanged to ¼ cent higher than yesterday's finish, May 96@96⅛, July 91@91⅛, corn also unchanged to ¼ up, May 60⅞, July 61⅝@61¾, oats unchanged to ⅛ off, rye unchanged to ⅛ advance, and provisions varying from 2 cents setback to 7 cents bulge.

was granted, except on cement to be used in the Marshall Ford dam on the Colorado river 20 miles from Austin.

The increases are effective Feb. 3.

A hearing will be held at Dallas Jan. 28-29 on rates for cotton seed products, packinghouse products and sand, gravel and crushed stone.

On Jan. 31 at Dallas and at Harlingen Feb. 5 the commission will hear application of the railroads for a further increase of 15 per cent in all freight rates. Similar hearings on interstate traffic are in progress.

On Feb. 1 there will be a hearing in Dallas on application of truck lines for a 15 per cent increase in all freight rates.

Blantons Case Is Pushed Into Politics; Son Seeking Office

RAYMONDVILLE, Jan. 25. (AP)—The 14-months-old case of the missing Blantons was pushed into politics today when Frank Blanton, son and brother of the missing hunters, started his campaign for the office of Willacy county's tax collector-assessor.

Frank Blanton joined with a band of six men who formed a ticket seeking the tax collector-assessor, county judge, district clerk, county clerk, sheriff and treasurer's posts.

Luther and John Blanton, father and son, went duck hunting 14 months ago. They never came back. Countless investigations and searches have failed of determining their fate.

Treasury Efforts Rebuffed By U. S. Board Of Tax Appeals

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. (AP)—The United States board of tax appeals rebuffed today treasury efforts to increase the tax liability on the estate of Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury.

The board denied motions to reopen the case and also denied the claim of the treasury for a different interpretation of part of the recent division in which the board absolved Mellon of income tax fraud.

The treasury's new motions would have added $143,627 to Mellon's tax liability.

day as the weather bureau predicted frost to the Gulf coast, except in the Rio Grande.

Heavy flurries were reported in southern Ellis county; a light fall at Corsicana, and freakish fine snow at Tyler and Crockett while the sun shone brightly.

Dallas and Ennis also reported light snow flurries.

Flood Threats Diminishing

While flood threats from recent rains were generally diminishing, the state highway department at Tyler reported washouts on highway 10 both east and west of Mineola.

Washouts also had closed highway 80 from Mineola to Big Sandy and Mineola to Grand Saline.

A dust haze which spread over the state from the Panhandle and extended into the Rio Grande valley, was reported clearing rapidly. Visibility was unlimited at Amarillo.

Break-In Of Cafe Is Reported Monday

Break-in of College cafe Tuesday, seventh such offense in Lubbock since Saturday morning, was reported to city police.

Employes of the place said, however, the intruder evidently obtained only approximately three pounds of roast pork and possibly a few packages of cigarets.

A cash drawer had been gone through, but no money had been left there.

Entrance had been made through the roof after tearing away of a ventillating pipe. Exit was made after a hasp had been torn from a rear door.

The location is at 1105-A College avenue.

Two brothers were in a jam. One, of Tahoka, offered to be surety for a drunk fine assessed against the other, of Gatesville. Rather, police said, he went out and got drunk and "got tossed in himself" two hours later. The Gatesville man went to bed and came down Tuesday morning to explain he had been unable to get money for his fine.

He was "thrown in, too." Neither had paid a fine late Tuesday night.

One person was sought for asserted forgery of a $12 check, after charges had been filed in the court of Walter Davies, justice of peace.

A negro was turned over to Red River county authorities, Sheriff J. N. Geer and a deputy, to face a grand jury indictment charging wife desertion.

Tanner, Lloyd Tucker, W. E. Smart, W. P. Layne, V. G. Browning, Hershel Crawford, and Henry Jarman.

Late tonight votes had not been tabulated.

Present officers are C. F. Anderson, president; Fred H. Schmidt, vice-president; Fagan Genn, treasurer; and A. J. Payne, manager. Other directors are David Lemon, K. L. Scudder, Dr. W. E. Payne, Carl Evans, M. J. Nelson, M. A. Pember, E. N. Pickens, C. W. Taylor, Ben Mansker, O. O Crow, and Webber Williams. Retiring directors and ineligible for re-election this year are Lemon, Scudder, Dr. Payne, Mansker, and Martin.

Out-of-town guests, other than the speakers, were Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Coward of Ralls, and Ethridge W. Eagan, Mrs. Pitts and Mr. and Mrs. Gradie W. Bownds all of Lubbock. Coward is associated with the Ralls Chamber of Commerce.

Has Cash Ballance

According to information given on the official programs, the chamber here has a cash balance of $726.64. The year's receipts totaled $3,889.72 and the disbursements, $4,003.16. Among the disbursements were: $1,000 to the band; $105 for basketball; $50 for softball; $25 to Boy Scouts.

Other accomplishments listed on the program were—

Civic department, under direction of Williams, chairman; and Mesdames J. H. Brewer, K. L. Scudder and Dick Ragsdale; lighting of Slaton in Christmas holidays; launching of plans for organization of a park board and beautification project for city and grading and paving. A committee, appointed by Madison Rayburn, Slaton attorney who originated the park board plan, consisted of Mayor John W. Hood, Mansker, Schmidt, Scudder, R. H. Todd, C. W. Taylor, Kessel, C. W. Young, and C. W. Tanner.

Industrial department, under Mansker, chairman, O. O. Crow and J. T. Pinkston; supervised sale of first bale of cotton; and cooperation with county home demonstration agent, agricultural agent, and vocational agricultural teacher.

Financed Basketball Trip

Recreation and athletics, under direction of Genn, chairman, Taylor and R. D. Hickman: worked with athletic council in football games; financed basketball team to Kansas City, helped organize a softball league; assisted Boy Scout organizations.

Highway and tourist department, under direction of Scudder, chairman, F. G. Stokes and Leonard Harral: worked with County Commissioner Mansker on road south from city limits to county line.

Publicity department, under direction of Schmidt, chairman, Willard Donald and Kessel: mailed 1,960 letters, booklets and cards; corresponding for daily papers and with Slatonite; and communicated with organizations in interest of City of Slaton.

Education, public health and welfare department, under direction of Lemon, chairman, and Dr. George Scott Allen, sent out committees and aided persons in need through charity funds, organized Red Cross drive; cooperated with welfare and relief organizations.

Convention department, under direction of Evans, chairman, Smith and Brewer: arrangements for attending necessary conventions, including WTCC meeting at Brownwood and TCCM convention at Kerrville and financed band trip to Oklahoma City.

Abandoned Baby Is Found On Waiter's Service Tray On 7th Floor Of Dallas Hotel Tuesday

DALLAS, Jan. 25. (AP)—Nestled on a waiter's service tray, a crying, two-weeks-old infant girl was found on the seventh floor of a large hotel here early today.

An employe of the hotel found the infant, wrapped in a pink blanket, brown wrapping paper and sugar-sacking. Inside the dress was found this note:

"Here is my baby. Take her and feed her. She is hungry and I have no money. She was born Jan. 10-38. Her name is Joy. God bless her and protect her.—Her heartbroken mother."

Hotel officials sent the baby to an infants' home. Night Officer E. E. Laning wants to adopt it.

Officials believe the mother walked seven flights of service stairs to abandon the child.

without cutting wages?"

B. F. Fairless is president of the United States Steel corporation. He wrote the senate unemployment committee last week-end that steel prices cannot be reduced "without a corresponding reduction in costs of which wages is the most important part."

The president said there may be "a special hourly wage situation in some building trades in some localities which so far as the total yearly earnings are concerned may call for different treatment, but even there our primary purpose is to increase and not decrease the total of the annual pay of the workers."

Volume Determines Profits

As to prices, Mr. Roosevelt said a mass production industry depends on volume for profits and no such industry could expect to make a profit when volume is small. The steel industry cannot make a profit at 30 per cent capacity but it can at 50 per cent or 55 per cent of capacity, he said, adding:

"The only way to get volume up is to produce goods for a price the public will pay."

Improvement on Texas state highway 3 connecting with the Carlsbad Cavern highway in New Mexico neared reality. The commission announced low bidders on two projects and indicated formal awards would be made shortly.

Ernest Loyd of Fort Worth was low at $183,931 for constructing a flexible base and preservative from Valentine to Conejo in Jeff Davis and Presidio counties.

Lee Moor construction company of El Paso was low with a bid of $58,841 for grading and drainage structures on highway 130, U. S. 62 from a junction with highway 54 to Pine Springs.

Other low bidders, by counties, on projects included:

Hemphill, 5.3 miles of grade revisions, flexible base and double surface treatment on Texas highway 4, U. S. route 83, from 8.4 miles south of highways 4 and 33 south, Cocke & Braden, Amarillo, $40,334.

Terrell, 1.1 miles of cutting down hill and reconstructing base course on highway 3, U. S. 90, from nine miles to 10.5 miles west of Sanderson, T. M. Brown & Son, Lubbock, $9,182.

Everybody Had Idea

Chairman Jones (D-Tex.) of the house agriculture committee commented "everybody had a different idea about adjusting large payments."

Pope said details had not been worked out, but there was agreement on the principle of giving preferential treatment to farmers who otherwise would receive less than $200 a year in farm benefit payments.

He said about 85 per cent of the farmers who participated in crop control programs had received less than $100 and about 30 per cent less than $20.

Pope said the conferees had provided for appeals by farmers dissatisfied with the marketing quotas fixed for them by county committees.

Resources Of State Banks In Texas Increased $11,045,413

AUSTIN, Jan. 25. (AP)—Resources of state banks increased $11,045,413 to a total of $211,750,288 from June 30, to December 31.

This and other facts revealed in a statement of comparative condition today indicated, in the opinion of Banking Commissioner Zeta Gossett, "a most healthy condition."

"I believe the recession which may have slowed down business among Texas merchants in the fall months is definitely over," Gossett said. "This also is the opinion of many bankers."

The commissioner said the statement showed total deposits had increased $12,201,060 in the six-months period, loans $1,631,931, investments $6,481,750 and cash $3,661,252.

Savings departments deposits amounted to $5,602,664, a decrease of $668,895.

Houston Selected As Site For 1938 Episcopal Diocese Meet

AUSTIN, Jan. 25. (AP)—The council of the Episcopal diocese of Texas today selected Houston as the site for its 1939 meeting.

Diocese officers elected were: Rev. L. T. DeForest of Houston, secretary; H. M. Elkins of Houston, treasurer; Rev. L. L. Brown of Longview, registrar; S. S. McClendon of Houston, chancellor, and Thomas D. McGown of Houston, assistant chancellor.

Clergy on the standing committee are Rev. E. H. Gibson of Galveston, Rev. T. N. Carruthers of Houston and Rev. G. F. Cameron of Beaumont. Laymen include M. H. Royston of Galveston and Dr. John Trible of Houston.

U. S. Steel Has Drop In Income

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. — United States Steel corp. for the three months ended Dec. 31 reported today net income $4,577,983 compared with net income of $20,650,780 in the comparable period of 1936, and with $30,617,638 for the three months ended last September.

Directors declared a regular dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred stock, but took no action on the common dividend.

Earnings for the fourth quarter amounted to $1.27 on the preferred stock, compared with $1.65 a share on the common in the comparable 1936 period and $2.79 on the common in the third quatrer of last year.

Distributed $99,930,836 In '37

For the full year net income before allowing for federal surtax on undistributed profits totalled $99,930,836 of $8.58 a share on the common stock. This compared with $50,525,684 or $2.90 a common share in 1936.

In a statement accompanying the earnings report, Myron C. Taylor, chairman, said: "a declining demand' for steel products continued in the last three months of 1937, reaching the lowest level in December when production for the month fell to 32.3 per cent of capacity.

Created Dislocations

"This serious interruption in activities of the mills, he added, "created many difficult operating dislocations and intensified the falling off in earnings arising wholly from lesser volume."

The corporation reported its employees at the end of the year numbered 236,000, the low for 1937, compared with a peak in August at 278,000.

Wilson & Co., Directors Take No Dividend Action

CHICAGO, Jan. 25. (AP)—Wilson and Co., directors took no action today on the common stock dividend due March 1.

The stock had been on a 50 cents annual basis since March, 1935. The last quarterly payment of 12 1-2 cents was made December 1.

Consideration of the common stock dividend previously had been postponed from a directors meeting in December. The meat packing company's earnings for the fiscal year ended October 30 equaled, after provision for preferred dividends, 28 cents a common share.

Nine Small Permits Are Issued Tuesday

Nine small building permits, largest of which was for $850, were issued Tuesday by City Building Inspector Jim Reid authorizing construction estimated to cost $3,110.

The week's total climbed to $5,724 and the month's to $91,987.50, according to tabulations after closing hours Tuesday afternoon.

Permits were to: J. A. Hodges to repair and alter garage at 1515 College avenue, $200; Jess Belcher, owner, and W. E. Allen, contractor, to construct a one-story frame residence at 1110 Thirty-third street, $850; Tom Johnson to erect one-story residence at 2107 East Avenue D, $240; A. W. Jackson, owner, and Lydick Roofing company, contractor, to reroof business building at 1702 Broadway, $660; Mrs. Lottie Pinkston to repair and alter garage and build addition at 1802 Avenue C, $125; L. H. Redwine to construct a one-story residence at 2511 Avenue J, $400; Redwine to construct a one-story residence at 2509 Avenue J, $400; 555 Service Station, owner, and West Texas Neon Distribution company, contractor, to erect an all-metal neon sign at 1316 Main street, $225; and H. C. Trammell to build foundation to house at 1715 Avenue C, $10.

SUSPENSION ANNOUNCED

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP) — The New York stock exchange today announced the suspension for a period of three years of T. Gaillard Thomas, 2nd, a member of the firm of Thomas & Griffith, for violation of rules of the exchange.

Hearing May Be Extended Here

Forced into a night session last night by unexpected number of witnesses the two-day session of the Railroad Commission of Texas which opened Tuesday, may extend into Thursday, Examiner H. Eugene Wassell said last night. A large number of witnesses in the case of application of Dalby, Fadel and Saunders were heard during the afternoon and at night.

Jess C. Levens, examiner, disqualified himself in the case at the morning session, after having heard a number of other cases. He is to conduct the remainder of the hearing. About 50 persons were here yesterday.

Seek Truck Line

The application is to operate a truck line from Clairmont to Stamford by way of Roby, Rotan and Anson. Clark M. Mullican and G. H. Nelson represent A. L. Dalby, one of the applicants; Herbert L. Smith, Austin general attorney of the Texas General Managers association, represents railroads opposing the application; Durwood H. Bradley the Snyder Transfer Co., and Howard Davison, Rotan, the W. F. Johnosn Truck line, also opposing the granting of a permit.

Dalby was on the stand from the opening in the afternoon until 4 o'clock. Other witnesses included E. C. Henley of Axtell & Co.; J. C. Rigney of Rigney-Ferguson Co.; William Dean of Dean Supply Co.; Edzar G. Lewis of Lubbock Steel Works; Russell Morrison, Russell Morrison Co.; and M. C. Lewis of Behrens Drug Co.

George Britton, mayor of Roby, appeared for the W. F. Johnson Truck line to favor present service.

Today's Docket Full

Twenty-four applications are on today's docket. Two cases were carried over from Tuesday's docket; application of Doak Hearne, Seagraves Truck line and Claude B. Olney, Lordsburg, N. M.

Three applications for permission to operate truck service between Dallas and Fort Worth and Lubbock, and on the commission's docket for many months, were dismissed when applicants failed to appear. Examiner Levens explained that the commission felt an applicant should be willing to appear when his case was docketed.

Applications were by: Jay Rountree, of Ozark Motor Lines, Dallas; G. C. Abbott and A. R. Dalby, Lubbock, and J. H. Whiteside and J. H. Whiteside, jr., Lubbock. H. L. Smith, Austin, representing the Texas General Managers association, made the motion in each case. He was joined in by G. H. Nelson for Dalby Motor Freight lines; C. C. Calhoun of Amarillo for Deshong Motor Freight lines; Otis Nelson for Miller & Miller, Wichita Falls; J. P. Terry Co., Plunkett Motor Freight lines.

Application Is Passed

Application of Bessie Ida Bridgeman, Snyder, the Snyder Transfer Co., to operate common carrier service from Lamesa to Brownfield, was passed until later in the hearing.

D. B. Witt is the stenographer reporting the hearing. A large number of witnesses was here for the hearings.

Peabody To Inaugurate New President

Dr. S. C. Garrison, dean of the graduate school of Peabody college, Nashville, Tenn., will be inaugurated as president of the institution in ceremonies to be held on Feb. 3, 4 and 5. Dr. O. C. Carmichael will be installed as third chancellor of Vanderbilt university during the exercises. Educators from all sections of the nation are expected to take part in the three-day program. Doctor Garrison is shown above with a group of his former students who will participate in his inauguration.

Middle West Is Hit By Malady

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Infantile paralysis struck hard in the Middle and Southwest states during 1937 and swept northeastward into Canada, public health service records disclosed today.

Texas, with 656 cases reported, was one of the hard hit states in the last year's wave. The rate of about 11 per 100,000 population, however, was not as great as in several other states.

Colorado Is Highest

Colorado was reported to have had the highest percentage of any state with 20.7 cases per 100,000 population. There were 215 cases reported. Oklahoma had 466 cases, a rate of about 17.9 per 100,000; Arkansas had 352, or about 19 per 100,000; Mississippi, 330, or 16.4 per 100,000. New York was shown with 685 cases, or 5.4 per 100,000, while Louisiana had 133 cases, or 6.3.

There were some 700 cases in California, 782 in Illinois, 535 in Ohio, 338 in Pennsylvania and 355 in Massachusetts.

Officials said it was a bit unusual for the wave to start in the Southwest, but the disease map is spotty and the health service does not believe it follows any sectional lines. It started in the northeast section of the United States at one time, they explained. There were spotted waves of the disease in the nation in 1916 and again in 1931. It is considered a disease of late summer and fall and only in the last two years became heavy in the South.

Occurs In Every Climate

"It is a disease that occurs in every climate, but usually is more pronounced in temperate zones," said one health service official.

"A virus which can pass through the finest filter is believed to cause the disease."

In 1936, he explained, there was an outbreak in northwestern Alabama extending into Tennessee and northeastern Mississippi. The year before there was one in part of North Carolina extending into Virginia and other cases were reported in eastern Massachusetts, New York and Cape Cod.

Dr. L. L. Lumsden, medical director of the public health service, and Dr. C. C. Dauer of the District of Columbia health department, are studying distribution of the disease by counties while research is under way by the Institute of Health.

The health department, one doctor said, sends government doctors into a state to assist only when requested to do so.

METHODIST MINISTER DIES

GULFPORT, Miss., Jan. 25. (AP)—The Rev. J. L. Power, presiding elder of the Seashore District of the Mississippi conference, Methodist Episcopal church, South, died today at Kings Daughters hospital here after a major operation.

He was born in Glenworth, Ark., April 24, 1877 and entered the ministry in Texas in 1907. He served as pastor or presiding elder in churches in Texas, Arizona and Mississippi.

New Demand Is Made In Case

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The United States made a new demand on the Soviet government today for permission for a member of its embassy staff in Moscow to see Mrs. Ruth Marie Rubens, an American woman being held there in connection with an 'espionage investigation.

The Soviet foreign office on January 21 refused this permission for the time being on the ground that its investigation of Mrs. Rubens was not completed.

Unable To Accept Delay

Secretary Hull instructed Loy Henderson, American charge d'affaires at Moscow to address a formal note to Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, asserting that the United States is "unable to accept" further delay in allowing diplomatic representatives to interview the woman in prison.

In his note, Henderson was directed to call to Litvinoff's attention the foreign commissar's letter of November 16, 1933, to President Roosevelt in which Litvinoff promised that nationals of the United States would be granted rights, in the Soviet union, of legal protection which would not be less favorable than those enjoyed by nationals of the nation most favored in this respect.

Part Of Agreement

Litvinoff's letter was transmitted to the American chief executive as a part of the agreement whereby the United States extended diplomatic recognition to the Soviet regime.

Mrs. Rubens went to Moscow under the name of Mrs. Ruth Norma Robinson accompanied by a man giving his name as Donald L. Robinson. He also is under arrest but the United States authorities have made no effort thus far to see him because it has not been established he is an American citizen.

Lincoln left an estate with a value of $110,295, which was shared equally by his widow and two sons.
