Lamesa Merchants To Stage Second Bargain Day

First Monday In June Date Set For Next Bargain Day In Lamesa

The big trades day is soon to be here again. Next First Monday, June 6th, is the day when all will be coming to town again to take advantage of the real bargains the Lamesa merchants will have to offer.

Last trades day there was a good crowd in town but it was the first one and of course not so many came as will June 6th. More and better bargains will be offered on this day and more liberal prizes will be offered for the many interesting contests that will be staged. Then too, more people will know about the day—those who were here last time will tell their neighbors and friends about it, and of course all will be coming in June the sixth.

Lots of trading will take place next First Monday. Most of the farmers will be through planting by this time and will have time to come in and bring their stock and tools they wish to trade. A good lot and auctioneer has been provided and lots of interest will be seen on the trading lots North east of the Court House Square June the sixth—NEXT TRADES DAY.

But the BIG attraction aside from the bargains that will be offered is the ladies NAIL DRIVING contest. Here it is: Plenty of two by fours will be furnished. Plenty of 16 penny nails will be on hand, but each lady who enters will be required to furnish her own hammer and do her own knocking and driving. Three nails will have to be driven heads flush with the surface of the piece of two by four into which the nail is driven and the nails will be placed six yards distance to where the nailing takes place. As the lady finishes driving each nail she must run for another nail and drive it and so on until she has driven three nails. In case of tie—the judges will have all the contestants to nail off the tie—the prizes will be divided.

PRIZES: For first winner in the ladies nail driving contest TWENTY DOLLARS IN GOLD. For all those who win their groups and who drive in the final contest a nice merchandise prize will be given.

Ladies get that hammer ready and practice a bit for you will have some real competition here next First Monday, June the sixth. Come determined to get that prize.

For the lady who comes from the furthest distance and drives in this nail contest a handsome prize will be given.

EVERY BODY BEGIN TO GET READY AND THINK ABOUT LAMESA'S TRADES DAY MONDAY, JUNE THE SIXTH. COME, EVERY BODY COME!

CHARITY

"Charity begins at home." True, and home, to us, is our nation... to the extent that it becomes our "Am I my brother's keeper?" Yes when in trouble. Such help is indeed duty to see that he helps himself of the right sort and worthwhile.

"Hark! Hark! The dogs do bark, and the beggars are coming to town; some in rags, some in tags, and some in velvet gowns." Some are worthy, and some are unworthy. Some merit the help they get, while others make it hard on those who are worthy. The fellow in "Velvet gown" is the fellow to watch.

"You may be entertaining angels unaware." Who knows the heart of those who seek charity? Better help many not so needy than to let one go hungry. Yet, the funds of charity must be protected and not permitted to dissipate among those who do not deserve it. But the sin falls on the party who knowingly takes charity and does not deserve it. The very person whom you help today may be helping you tomorrow.

Too many of us believe that we are doing a worthwhile and christian act if we dole and give out charity because we think it is needed at the time. We do not stop to overcome sympathy with good judgment. What can we do to help the beneficiary get on his feet and at the same time feel like a citizen should. The idea of requiring all able-bodied men and women to work for the help they get is sound, and should be practiced more. When such recipient of charity comes

NATIONAL COTTON WEEK MAY 16-21

Southern prosperity rests upon the production and profitable sale of cotton, and for the past few years, cotton has not sold at a profit to the producer, therefore, in an attempt to increase the use of this staple commodity, merchants and manufacturers over the country have inaugurated "National Cotton Week".

Many of Lamesa's leading merchants are co-operating in this National drive to further the use of cotton and are seeking the help of the communities in making this a worthwhile enterprise.

Cotton is cool, comfortable, and ideal for summer wear. Because it is made into many beautiful patterns, is economical, has sturdy wearing qualities, and laundries excellently, many women prefer cotton merchandise for summer, and women are asked to make special inspections and make purchases this week, "National Cotton Week".

Back this movement, and in your small way help the South to "round the corner of prosperity" for which it has been seeking.

Mrs. J. H. Cornelius Passes Away

After a short illness of pneumonia Mrs. J. H. Cornelius passed away last Saturday afternoon about three o'clock at a local hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius moved to Lamesa in 1920 from Prescott, Arkansas. For several years they were co-workers in their market and grocery business on South First St. and enjoyed a profitable business.

Mrs. Cornelius was a consistent member of the Missionary Baptist Church and contributed generously toward any cause for the help of humanity. She leaves her mother, Mrs. Travillian, her husband, and a daughter, Mrs. Cecil Westerman of her immediate family to mourn her loss.

Several grandchildren, all residing in Lamesa will miss her greatly. Her time was never too valuable for other causes where they were concerned. Her home was their home, and her counsel they always sought.

Two sisters and a niece from Oklahoma attended the funeral.

The chancel rail of the First Methodist church was one mass of beautiful floral sprays. These bespoke friendship and the high esteem in which the family is held.

Rev. W. B. Wages, a former beloved pastor of Mrs. Cornelius and Rev. Shuttleworth, pastor of the First Christian Church, conducted the funeral services at ten o'clock Monday morning, May 16th, at the First Methodist church. Interment was in the Lamesa Cemetery.

Negroes Rob Pierces' Toggery

At noon Wednesday two negro men went into Pierces' Toggery asking to see some socks that were in the window. Miss Minnie Cope being the only one in the store at that time, left the men alone as she went to get the socks.

After the negroes left it was discovered that seven pairs of ladies' silk hose had been taken from the boxes on the counter. The negroes being the only persons in the store for some time, they were at once suspected and the sheriff notified. In less than thirty minutes the negroes were identified and put in jail. When discovered they still had the hose in a sack with other goods which were believed to have been stolen from other merchants.

THIS AND THAT by JIMMINY

"You prohibitionists sent this state to hell in 1928, but you are not going to do it this year," yelled John H. Kirby at the county Democratic convention in Houston. Kirby was pleading for a wet plank in the Democratic platform. The resolution was adopted.

The prohibition laws came in for some caustic criticism at the Harris county meeting. In 1928 the people were exceedingly dry. This year the delegates were preponderantly wet. Now the good citizens don't know whether the majority has been on a jag since that time or whether the machine was just "oiled up" for the occasion.

But regardless of what happened, Harris county is one of the many Texas counties that are "conventionally" wet.

Kirby was sincere, he meant business. The prohibitionists are not going to send the state to hell this year—the satis are going to do it, or bust a draw string saying.

"I prefer to take my religion from the Sermon on the Mount and not from the Anti-Saloon League," he continued. "And my democracy from Thomas Jefferson rather than from Thomas Love," he shouted amid applause that shook the rafters. The crowd was with him. The drys were at home attending their knitting.

To some, it seemed to be a strange way for Democrats to act; but these are strange times. And strange things are happening. If you don't believe it ask John Henderson of Kerr county. If news dispatches are correct Mr. Henderson has uncovered another reason why we must rout depression.

According to newspaper accounts, Mr. Henderson had been losing a lot of young turkeys—for no good reason at all. The losses were becoming so regular that Mr. Henderson decided to investigate. With a shotgun under his arm he set out to follow his birds and kill the kidnaper, murderer or whatever it was.

As the old turkey hen led her brood to the banks of a creek Henderson following close behind, saw a bull frog leap out of the water, swallow one of the youngsters and dive back into the creek.

That may not be important, but it does seem that when bull frogs start eating turkeys it's about time to take some action to end the depression. Bulls, bears, and frogs. Whatta world! Whatta world!

Lesson for May 22

JACOB AND ESAU RECONCILED

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 33:1-11. GOLDEN TEXT—And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Two Brothers and a Quarrel.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Esau Forgives His Brother.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Righting a Wrong.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Cultivating Peace at Home and Abroad.

From Bethel, Jacob went to Padanaram to his mother's people. Here he served Laban, his uncle, for twenty years; fourteen year for his wives, Leah and Rachel, and six years for certain wages.

1. Jacob Departs for Canaan (31:11-21).

The time had come for Jacob to go back to his kindred in the Land of Canaan. This he did according to the Lord's instruction to him (v. 13). Though going forward under divine direction, his Jacob nature caused him to take clandestine leave of Laban. When Laban realized the situation, he went in hot pursuit of him, but God appeared unto him in a dream and warned him against any act of violence toward Jacob. They formed a compact and Laban returned home.

11. Jacob's Experience on the Way (ch. 32).

Laban's return freed Jacob from the enemy who was pursuing him, but he faced a more formidable enemy in the person of Esau from whose wrath he had fled twenty years before.

1. Jacob meeting the angels (v. 1-8). Two camps of angels met him to give him the assurance that God would be with him according to promise. Notwithstanding this, Jacob continued to scheme. He sent a deputation before him with a message of good cheer to Esau.

2. Jacob praying (v. 9-12). Esau made no reply to Jacob's message, but went forward with an army of four hundred strong to meet Jacob. In his distress, Jacob cast himself upon God in prayer, short, direct, and earnest.

a. He reminded God of his command issued for his return and also of the covenant promise (Gen. 31:3).

b. He pleads God's promise as to his personal safety (v. 9, cf. Gen. 28:13-15, 31-33). In praying to God he should definitely place his promise in the Word on the ground of covenant relationship in Christ.

c. He confesses his unworthiness (v. 10). In this is shown the proper spirit of humility.

d. He presents definite petitions (v. 11). He laid before the Lord the definite request to be delivered from the wrath of Esau.

2. The angel of the Lord wrestling with Jacob (v. 24-32, cf. Hos. 12:3, 4).

In God's school of discipline Jacob was making some improvement, but he was still under the sway of self-will and self-trust. Though he had laid his matter definitely before the Lord, he thought that his scheming would render God some assistance. Accordingly, he sent presents ahead to appease the anger of Esau. While on this journey a man met him and wrestled with him, but Jacob knew not who he was. He exerted every ounce of strength in what he thought was the struggle for his very life. The morning was approaching and still the wrestlers continued, Jacob not knowing that it was the Lord manifest in human form. He did not dare enter the promised land under the control of his self-sufficiency. His self-will must be broken—his Jacob nature must be changed. He was humbled by the dislocation of his thigh. When thus humbled, he quit wrestling and clung to God.

4. Jacob gets a new name (v. 28). He was no longer Jacob the "supplanter," but Israel—a "prince with God." Jacob had an experience at the Jabbok which wrought a mighty change in him. His new name was given him after he had a new nature. Jacob came to realize that he had been struggling with God, for he called the place "Peniel," which means "face to face with God." Jacob wrestled most of the night with God, but it was only when he yielded and laid hold of God that he got the blessing.

111. Jacob Meets Esau (33:1-11). God had evident wrought with Esau for when Jacob approached him the sting of bitterness was gone. It was not Jacob's scheming that removed Esau's anger, but the action of God upon his heart. At Jabbok, Jacob got right with God, so when he met Esau it was an easy matter to get right with him. It is easy to get right with our brother when once we are right with God.

RADIO LECTURER DISCUSSES NATIONAL PARK SUNDAY

Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado's most wonderful scenic wonderland, where rare mountain sheep graze amid fields of Columbine, Colorado's state flower, is the scene of Carveth Wells' 25th radio program in his series "Exploring America," over the N. B. C. network Sunday, May 22nd, at 9 a. m. CST.

Cut half in two by the Continental Divide, the "roof-tree of America," Rocky Mountain National Park offers one of the most accessible of America's scenic playgrounds, according to Wells. Leaving Denver, he takes his radio audience to Estes Park, through Loveland and Big Thompson Canyon. On every side there are natural wonders familiar to most Americans, such as Long's Peak and Chasm Lake, which is frozen 11 months of the year; and sky-high golf courses and tennis courts. Outdoor sports have a perfect setting in Estes Park, and there are trout streams stocked every year, horse-back riding, mountain climbing and hiking. Visitors can enjoy snowball battles in mid-August, and collect wild flowers or butterflies the same day. At Fall River, 12,000 feet up, there is a marvelous display of geological data bared by the age-old glaciers. And descending on the Pacific slope, the visitor comes to Grand Lake, which boasts the highest yacht club in the world with all water sports popular throughout the summer.

A question and answer period concerning natural wonders, scenery and other subjects interesting to travelers and motor tourists features each of Wells' broadcasts, which are sponsored by the Continental Oil Company.

The Wells' programs are broadcast each Sunday over the N. B. C. network at 9 a. m. CST, including the following stations: WBAP, Ft. Worth; WOAI, San Antonio; KOA, Denver.

GANE
By Pearl P. Gibson

Have you ever analyzed the hunter's thrill upon the sight of game birds or animals? Why is it that the powerful whir of the wings of the Bob-white or the sight of the proud blue quail sends a racing thrill thru the body? Have you ever realized why the catch of certain fish, and the fight they put up has been told and retold in the annals of sportsmanship?

Do you realize why the awful tragedy has come to that splendid young family there upon their isolated mountain top? The answer to it all is about the same.

They were game. Game and proud and fine.

Interest is soon lost in that which offers no resistance. That with which the mob may sate their curiosity at any time soon ceases to have curiosity value. It is the game that puts up the fight that is able to offer the greatest resistance which holds the interest, whether it be animal or man. It arouses the primitive instinct to subdue, gives the feel of power to the lowly. There is little thrill in subduing the inferior, only small interest in the mediocre, but our proud young Eagle and his mate represented the unconquered, the unsubdued, and upon them the greatest blow has fallen.

Only the gently grace of a loving Christ can assuage the grief and bring peace to the tortured souls of those young parents, and heal the sorrows that have been inflicted upon them by their fellow man.

★ One of the largest magazine publishing houses published a survey which they recently made to find out the tire buying plans of car owners for this year.

In this survey they covered twelve states and interviewed 1,408 of their subscribers. They found that 68% of those interviewed are going to buy tires this summer, and that 27.2% of these car owners are going to buy Firestone Tires—the next highest is only 20.6% which shows the demand for Firestone Tires is 32% more than for any other make.
