

The other evening we attended a large banquet hosted by one of the International civic clubs. The activity was its annual Spring mini-convention and the club was able to obtain the services of the immediate Past President of the International organization.

This was an extraordinary big catch for a town the size of Clovis. Members came from all over the state of New Mexico to pay their respects to this outstanding speaker.

Unfortunately, the only facility was the local Holiday Inn, and it was the site of several other functions. Toward the end of the banquet the speaker had to compete with all sorts of other commotions. It greatly diminished the impact of the evening, and we are sure it caused the speaker some concern.

It is disappointing that a city the size of Clovis cannot in some fashion have a suitable convention center. It would be of value to everyone in town to a greater or lesser degree.

Farwell will soon have its community center to the point it can be used for area functions. We should be proud of it. It does need additional remodeling and the ready cash funds are nearing depletion. However, we feel sure that in the next months or few years we will finish it in a fashion to bring compliments to the Twin Cities.

Life seems to be difficult in a small town, but it ain't so hot in big towns either.

 We are beginning to believe that we are having hallucinations. It is looking more and more to our addled mind that our national news media is being scripted by Pravda, and that many of our politicians are running on a Moscow First ticket. One thing that gives us this obviously erroneous viewpoint is the furor going on over the disclosure that the Government of the United States has been covertly mining the entrance to the main harbors in Nicaragua.

The Government in general, the President, and the CIA in particular, are being castigated for defending the strategic interests of the country. Yes, in our opinion, other parts of the world can be lost to Communist aggression but not, repeat not, Central America. Central America is vital to the security of the continental United States. If Central America becomes as thoroughly communized as Cuba, it is certain curtains for this country.

This hemisphere could probably stand in a world of Soviet domination. This country cannot stand alone in a world of Soviet domination. This hemisphere, particularly everything North of the Panama Canal, must be in the hands of governments friendly to America. To consider any other alternative is sheer folly and national suicide.

Yet here we have the important opinion shapers of the country giving us hell for defending ourselves. We have politicians of national stature apparently willing to allow Soviet Russia to obtain and keep an expanding beachhead only several hundreds of miles from our southern borders.

To compound this madness, we now have a large segment of the citizenry seemingly quite willing to be Red than dead. We do not recall any great hue and cry among the people to become subjects of Hitler or Tojo. In fact, the vaunted Fifth Column that supposedly would work for their land of national origin never materialized. These citizens proved to be some of the toughest foes that Germany and Japan faced.

Today we have millions of people who, by their actions, would not fight to preserve freedom. They would submit to the yoke of almost unimaginable tyranny rather than perish in an attempt to preserve freedom for their posterity.

The only reasons these cretins have the opportunity to fritter

Farwell Chamber Sets Annual Banquet May 19

Farwell Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture has set its annual banquet for Saturday, May 19, at the Farwell Community Center.

A Dallas Cowboy football player, whose identity will not be revealed at this time, will be the featured speaker, but "the" Dallas Cowboy has been confirmed.

Reason for the non-identity of the Cowboy player is to promote the Chamber's advanced ticket sales. All advanced ticket purchasers will be given a chance to guess who this Dallas Cowboy speaker will be, on the stub of the numbered ticket.

A drawing will be held of all those ticket stubs with the correct guess, and the winner will receive two tickets to a Dallas Cowboy home game.

The banquet will begin at 7:30 p.m. CDT, and cost of the tickets will be $8.75 for adults and $6.00 for children under 12 years of age.

The dinner will be a catered affair, and tickets will be available soon from any chamber member.

Members of Theta Rho chapter of ESA sorority will decorate the community center for the event.

Another highlight of the evening will be the naming of Farwell's Man and Woman of the Year. Farwell residents are asked to submit nominees for

Farmers, Ranchers To Receive Crop, Livestock Questionnaire

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service will begin contacting farmers and ranchers across the state in mid-May for 1984 crop information and mid-year livestock inventories.

State Statistician Dennis Findley emphasized that information from these surveys is very important to the entire agricultural industry. "A good response on these surveys is essential so accurate figures will be available for each county and the state."

Results of the confidential consideration for these honors to the Chamber as soon as possible.

Next regular Farwell C of C meeting will be Tuesday, April 24, at noon at Luce's restaurant. All members are urged to attend to finalize the banquet planning and to pick up the banquet tickets.

interviews, conducted by mail or in person by field enumerators, will be published in late June.

"These estimates will help farmers and ranchers adjust their operations and plan their future marketings," Findley added.

To reduce survey costs, Findley is urging farmers and ranchers to return the mailed questionnaires as soon as possible. The reported information will be combined for state and county estimates.

Cable Company Extends Channels, Pay Service

McCaw Communications Companies, Inc. of Bellevue, Wash., is acquiring the holdings of Midwest Video Corporation, and the cable system will now be known as McCaw Midwest Communications, Inc.

The current franchise agreements between the cable company and the cities of Texico and Farwell will expire in July, and the company is seeking a new franchise.

The proposed new agreement is almost identical to the previous one, except the franchise fee will be raised to three percent, and the term is for 25 years. The previous franchise fee was two percent to the cities.

The City of Clovis granted McCaw Midwest Communications, Inc. permission to operate for 25 years with an option to renew for an additional 25 years on March 15.

For the past two years, Midwest Video has been rebuilding the cable system with the goals of improved reception in all areas of service, plus expanded channel capacity.

Both Farwell and Texico have brand new cable systems, with all the old cable and electronics replaced. Also, the underground trunk line, approximately seven miles long, was replaced.

Recently, nine new channels have been added: ESPN, Cable News Network, Lifetime, Nashville Network, USA, Financial News Network, Weather Channel, MTV, and the Spanish International Network.

The company is in the process of adding two more pay services, Cinemax and the Disney Channel, and it is also in the process of installing a computer addressable converter system. With this new system, all the pay services will be "scrambled," and only the converter supplied with the pay services will descramble them.

Converters with a remote control option will be available for those cable subscribers wishing to receive only the basic channels on a rental basis. Customers will have the option to rent a converter from the company, or they can buy their own converters or cable-ready sets and receive all the channels except the pay services which are scrambled.

The cable television channels received in Farwell and Texico are the same as those in Clovis.

The monthly basic cable rate will increase to $10.50 from the current $7.50 per month rate, and the pay channels will cost $10.95 per month in addition to the basic cable rate. The pay service converter will cost $2.00 per month, and the converters with the remote control option will cost $3.95 per month.

The McCaw operation has nearly 50 years of communications-related experience, with involvement in television and radio broadcasting, radio common carriers, as well as cable television. Until late 1981, the McCaw businesses were wholly owned by the McCaw family.

One of the important elements in McCaw's recent growth has been the participation of Affiliated Publications, Inc. as a partner in the company. Affiliated is the parent company of "The Boston Globe," and has extended its holdings into a wide variety of media including the radio broadcast industry.

Currently, McCaw is the largest cable operator in the states of Oregon and Alaska and the largest cable operator headquartered in the Pacific North-

Farwell Residents

Urged To Clean-Up

Next week, April 23-28, has been designated as "Clean-Up, Fix-Up, Paint-Up Week" in Farwell, and residents are urged to combine their efforts to clear their properties of clutter, weeds, junk cars, and other debris.

This special week has been planned by the Farwell Development Corporation and the City of Farwell, and city residents are asked to take advantage of this special time to spruce up their properties.

The city dump will be open all day Saturday, free of charge, for those residents who need to dispose of trash and debris.

The city will be divided into districts, and chairmen and block captains will be appointed to serve during this special project to improve the looks of the city.

Businesses are also urged to spruce up their places during this special week so that Farwell will be an attractive place to see.

Texico Clean-Up Week

Slated April 30 - May 5

April 30 through May 5 has been officially designated as Clean-Up Week for the City of Texico. Residents of Texico are urged to participate in the campaign and to clean up their properties as well as help in cleaning up areas in the city.

Volunteers will be available on Saturday, May 5, to remove trash and large pieces of debris from the alleys. Anyone who has large items or debris such as tree limbs which they would like removed, should contact Marie Christian at the city hall so that their name will be added to the pick-up list.

Volunteers are needed to work Saturday, and anyone who wishes to pitch in their services or maybe loan their truck is asked to be at the Citizen's Bank parking lot at 8 a.m. on Saturday ready to go to work.

Absentee Voting

Absentee voting in Parmer County for the Democratic and Republican Primary elections got underway Monday, April 16, and will continue through Tuesday, May 1.

Persons wishing to vote absentee may do so in the Parmer County Clerk's office during the regular hours of 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

No Republican candidates have filed for the county offices.

In Time For Easter

Three of Rita Dunsworth's first grade students at Texico just can't resist taking a peak into the incubator to see if the "Easter" eggs they've been caring for the last three weeks have produced any surprises. The "little darlings" were scheduled to arrive just in time for Easter, but on Tuesday two of the chicks had made their appearance. The incubator and

Farwell Schools Faculty - -

Signed Petition Sent To Texas State Officials

Earlier this year, the State Line Tribune reported on the opinions of Farwell faculty members on certain recommendations made by the Select Committee on Education to the Texas state legislature, particularly the longer school day issue.

It was reported then, that the majority of the faculty members at Farwell were strongly opposed to this issue, as well as others, and were very concerned about their effects on the students, family life, and the educational system as a whole.

As time draws near for the legislature to act on these issues, the faculty members at all three Farwell schools, are making sure that their opinions and feelings, which have not changed, will be taken into account.

They have, therefore, composed and sent the following letter in the form of a petition signed by faculty members in all three schools to Governor Mark White, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, and State Representatives and State Senators in an effort to be heard:

"We, the undersigned, wish to express our deep concern regarding the overall pattern underlying the recommendations of the Select Committee on Education. Our concern springs not from those items which address us - as educators - in a personal manner, but rather from those items which address - and indeed, threaten - the basic tenets of the educational system itself.

"Texas has historically given local districts major control of their schools. Control was maintained through school board elections, local taxes, bonds, etc. Too much of this local control will be usurped by the state if recommendations of the Select Committee on Education are instituted as policy.

"Education is the primary cornerstone on which we build a sound future for Texas and Texans. It must be dictated by a centralized agency which is political in origin as the State Board of Education would be if appointed by the Governor for purposes of patronage.

"We are alarmed at the ever-increasing socialistic trend so subtly defined in these recommendations. If the state sees fit to 'develop minimum learning standards for children in day care centers' (#54), then proceeds to legislate 'mandated compulsory school attendance starting at age 5, (and) optional attendance at age 4' (#56), plus 'provide pre-kindergarten thru grade 12 with a 7-hour academic day plus 2 hours of T.E.A. approved enrichment programs or optional tutorial work' (#55), then the state is not only encouraging removal of our children from a home/family-oriented environment for the majority of their waking hours, but is further dictating precisely what they must learn during those hours. In short, the state, in its omnipotent wisdom, will wield total control over the thinking of our youth.

"Our express fear is that such control could result not only in total destruction of our educational system as we have historically defined it, but also in total destruction of family and religious values as well.

"While we find other areas of singular concern within the recommendations, our primary concern is state political control of education and the evolutionary results of such control.

"Russia has proven such a system of educational control is flawless if the ultimate goal of education is ultimate control of the minds of a nation. Political control of the educational system is the first step. The future of our youth must not be included in the political patronage package. The risk is much too great.

"We therefore solicit your unequivocal support in this area of concern."

In addition to sending the above signed petition, the Farwell school teachers urge that all school patrons take the time to write their State senators and representatives and other Texas officials, and give their opinions on the proposed recommendations for Texas schools.

FIRE CALLS

Farwell Volunteer Fire Department beat a good path around town this past week with six ambulance and two fire calls. Texico and Pleasant Hill volunteer fire departments reported no fire or ambulance calls this week.

On April 11, the ambulance was called to Third Street where a resident was transported to the Muleshoe hospital.

On April 12, the ambulance was called to a Second Street residence, where a resident was transported to the Amherst hospital.

The ambulance was sent that same day to Avenue A to transport a resident to the Friona hospital.

Also on the 12th, the fire trucks were called to an Avenue G residence to extinguish some burning debris in an alley.

On April 13, the ambulance was sent 1½ miles east of the Oklahoma Lane crossroads to transport an accident victim to the Clovis hospital. A horse had fallen on the man.

On April 16, the fire truck was called to a 9th Street residence to extinguish a small fire.

Also on the 16th, the ambulance was called to 4th Street where a resident was transported to the Clovis hospital.

On April 17, the ambulance was sent to Avenue H to transport a resident to the Clovis hospital.

Sheriff's Report

Vandalism, theft, and three arrests were reported by the Parmer County Sheriff's department during the past week.

James Craig, Farwell elementary school principal, reported that during the night of April 12, two windows were broken at the elementary school and one window was broken at the school cafeteria.

Jerry Glover of Lazbuddie reported on April 17 that his rent house was entered and taken were a TV antenna, bedroom suites, a rocking chair, and three mattresses.

Muchiri Mwaniki, 33, of Canyon was arrested on April 11 by Friona police officers and was charged with driving with a suspended license. He was fined $200 plus court costs, given three days, waived.

Noble Glover of Clovis turned himself in to sheriff's officers on April 13, on a burglary charge. His bond was set at $5,000.

Dennis McCracken of Portales was arrested by Friona police officers on April 13 and was charged with driving with a suspended license. He appeared before Parmer County Judge Porter Roberts on a plea of guilty, and was fined $50 plus $96 court costs for a total of $146.

Post Offices-On-Wheels Gear For 'Spring Fever'

Area residents may conduct postal business outdoors this spring, Postmaster Weldon Smith of the Texico Post Office said.

"Our rural delivery vehicles function as post offices-on-wheels," explained Smith. "As rural customers catch 'spring fever,' we'll be there to serve them."

Rural carrier services include stamp and money order sales, parcel pickup, and acceptance of registered and Express Mail. Business transactions are completed on-the-spot, at delivery stops along each route.

"These 'open-air post offices' are a world apart from their city counterparts," said Smith,

"yet they bring a wide range of postal services right to your door."

"Rural delivery developed a personal touch in its early days," he said, "bringing families food, newspaper, tobacco, dry goods, and items that were otherwise difficult to get."

"Today for some older residents who live in secluded areas, rural carriers serve as a lifeline to the outside world, bringing food to shut-ins during emergencies or alerting the telephone company when a storm interrupts service."

Likewise, on a clear spring day, the rural carrier's post office-on-wheels makes sure some of that personal touch remains, the postmaster said.

Emergency Farm Loan Allocations Increased

Texas' allocation of funds for direct loans in the economic emergency farm loan program has been increased from $5,890,140 to $18,415,000, State Director J. Lynn Futch of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) announced recently.

The increase will be distributed through State Offices of the FmHA, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's farm credit agency. Nationally, the direct loan portion of the $600 million economic emergency program was raised to a $310 million share.

Interest rates for direct loans obtained from FmHA county offices are 10.25 percent on loans made for operating purposes, and 10.75 percent on loans made for real estate purposes.

Economic emergency loans are authorized for bona fide farmers and ranchers who are directly and primarily engaged in, and expect to continue in, agricultural production, are unable to get sufficient credit from their regular lenders, and need credit to maintain viable farming operations. FmHA can loan up to $400,000 to any one borrower under the economic emergency program.

Permitted use of loan funds include financing of 1984 crop production, purchasing essential livestock, feed and equipment, and paying delinquent installments on farm and real estate debts if a lender is demanding payment.

Farwell Elementary, Junior High To Compete At UIL Literary Meet

A combined total of 78 students, grades two through eight, from Farwell elementary and junior high will be representing their schools at the upcoming district UIL literary competition to be held in Olton.

Forty-one students from the elementary, and 37 students from the junior high will compete in nine events which include number sense, spelling, ready writing, music memory, oral reading, modern oratory, impromptu speaking, picture memory, and story telling.

District competition is set for Tuesday, May 1, with the exception of the district ready writing competition which was held Tuesday in Springlake-Earth. Results of Tuesday's competition will not be announced until May 1, along with the results of the other events.

Three students, or three teams in some cases, from each grade will be allowed to compete in each event. However, not all events include two levels of competition, and will be held exclusively for the elementary or junior high division.

For example, while most of the events are set up to include both age groups, impromptu speaking and modern oratory are strictly geared toward the junior high age level. On the other hand, story telling and picture memory will exclude the junior high competitors, and focus on students in grades two through five.

Number sense competition will include both levels. In this competition, students will be given ten minutes in which to solve several math problems through mental calculations. No paper or pencil for figuring will be allowed. Problem solving difficulty will depend on age level.

The spelling competition will also enlist the abilities of both age levels. Both levels will be given a list of words by an announcer which they are to write down. The elementary students will be given 90 words, the junior high 120. Difficulty of spelling words will depend upon the age group. Work will be judged on correct spelling, of course, and on neatness and legibility.

Competing in this event for the elementary are Kaci Stephens, Darren Haseloff, Sheron Spence, Bruce White, Stephen Ketcherside, and Angie White.

Junior high competitors are Kristi Stephens, Jeff Atkinson, Janel Lovvorn, Laura Wolfe, Robbi Fly, and Kelly Foster.

Both levels will compete in oral reading, although presentations will differ slightly. Elementary contestants will be required to recite a poem, a cutting from a poem, or a combination of several poems. They will be judged upon their selection and presentation.

Junior high contestants may choose between reciting a poem or prose, and like the elementary, they may choose one poem or prose, a cutting from either, or a combination of several from one or the other. They too will be judged on their selection and presentation.

Competing on junior high level are Dustin Hardage, Richard Turner, Kendra Stephens, Michele Stover, Robbi Fly, and Joanna Castner.

The ready writing competition, which was held earlier this week, also included entrants from both levels. In this category, contestants from each group were given a list of three topics from which they could choose one on which to write their composition. The topics were based on the average student from each grade level's studies, observations and experiences. Compositions were to be 550-750 words long for junior high competitors, and 300-500 words in length for elementary competitors.

Competing for the elementary were Shelly Bethel, Mark

Chandler, Clint Austin, Tuck Traynor, Angela Dotson, Kirk Lingnau, Isela Mendoza, Jaime Jamison, and Brandy Martin.

Junior high competitors were Sonya Curtis, April Haseloff, Lisa Gerles, Amy Johnson, Brian Haseloff, Terri Hillock, Dee Anne Ray, Kellie Anderson, and Shelly Landrum.

The final event which will include participation from both age groups is music memory. Although the elementary has entered a music memory team, the junior high will not compete this year. In this event, members of each team are to listen to 20 musical selections and identify the name of the song and the composer. Each team will consist of five members. Competing for Farwell are Tina Ortiz, Bobby Hammit, Monty Delgado, Shawn Stewart, and Richie Guiley.

Modern oratory is strictly a junior high event. In this event, students will be given five subjects from which they may choose one. The students will be given the subjects several weeks in advance so that they may have time to prepare their speech.

The speeches are to be four to seven minutes long and will be judged on delivery, research, how well the contestant defined the problem, determined the pros and cons, and was able to look at both sides of the issue. He will also be judged on the conclusion he reached on the subject he chose, and how well he supported it with his speech.

Contestants are Jimmy Singer, Chris Aycock, Kristi Stephens, Brian Haseloff, Richard Turner, and Tonya Stehle. Six junior high students will be competing in impromptu speaking. They are Lance Castleberry, Wayne Pierson, Scott Childers, Paul Longley, Steve Gerles, and Joanna Castner.

In this event the speakers will choose from three subjects. Topics may be humorous or serious. Contestants will be judged on their overall effectiveness in delivering the speech, the organization of thoughts, and overall impression.

Story telling, like the name says, is story telling. This event is geared toward the younger elementary students, grades two and three, so that they may participate in UIL along with other classes.

In this event, contestants will be read a story by a UIL director. It will be up to each contestant to re-tell the story to a group of judges who have not heard it before. They will be judged on spontaneity, originality, and naturalness of delivery.

Contestants will be Jill Atkinson, Melinda Landrum, Kristy Stanton, Amanda Riley, Mark Chandler, and Ryan Williams.

Fourth and fifth grade students will be participating in the final UIL event, picture memory. In this event contestants are shown a certain number of famous paintings which they are to identify. Along with identifying the painting, contestants will be required to name the artist and his nationality.

Rather than competing individually, this event calls for team competition. Teams consist of two persons each, and competing for the elementary are Robin Ray, Steven Vidana, Chad Byrd, Britt Mitchell, Brandy Martin, Isela Mendoza, Jennifer Nelson, Amy Jo Murray, Ruby Sanchez, and Melissa Meeks.

Although these students will compete in district competition, they will not compete in regional or state, as there is no competition for these age groups.

B & J Enterprises Opens In Farwell

B & J Enterprises opened offices at 106 Third Street in Farwell this week. The new company will manufacture and sell a kit designed to strengthen storm doors where the door jamb and the door return fasten to the door frame.

The new business is owned by O.F. Boyd and his wife Joyce. The Boyds currently reside in Clovis where Mrs. Boyd is a civilian employee at Cannon AFB and Boyd is a retired military person.

Boyd has obtained a patent on his device and plans to market his product nationwide as soon as facilities warrant. The kits will be manufactured in the present building until demand calls for an expanded plant. Boyd, a longtime Texan, wanted to establish his new business in Texas and found that Farwell suited his requirements.

The company plans to have representatives calling on homes in the Twin Cities soon to sell and install the kits. Several local homes have already installed the device and report satisfaction with the system.

USDA Announces New Signup

Period For 1984 Wheat Program

WASHINGTON, April 10—Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block today said wheat farmers will be permitted to enter the revised 1984 wheat program during an April 16 - May 4 signup period. President Reagan signed the new program provisions into law today.

"I encourage wheat farmers who have not already signed up to take advantage of the revisions in this 1984 program," Block said. "A strong additional signup once again will prove that wheat farmers are willing to play a major role in solving many of their immediate problems."

Farmers with wheat bases who previously had not signed up for the 1984 wheat program are eligible to participate in the revised program, Block said.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture had held an earlier signup from Jan. 16 through March 16 during which time nearly 240,000 farms - representing over 50 percent of the total U.S. wheat base acreage - signed up.

Farmers who previously signed up for the 1984 program need take no action unless they wish to change their level of participation in the revised program, Block said.

To be eligible for the increased yield guarantees and reduced premium liability, a producer must file a revised acreage report with USDA's Federal Crop Insurance Corporation by May 8. The revised report must designate acreage to be destroyed in order to comply with the new program. The producer must give FCIC a notice of intention to destroy such acreage and must have received written consent from that agency.

If a producer fails to take advantage of the opportunity to revise his acreage report, FCIC will not give consent for insured acreage to be destroyed and the producer must care for the acreage until harvest to receive an indemnity.

The Creative Woman

BY SHERYL BORDEN

Topics to be presented on "The Creative Woman" show on April 24 and 28 include tailgate meals and English smocking. Connie Moyers, marketing representative for home economics with Southwestern Public Service Co. in Clovis, will discuss and demonstrate several recipes for quick meals.

She will emphasize how important organization is for meals at home or for meals that are to be transported to another place. Convenience and packability are the important points to remember in planning meals to be carried outside the home.

Thelma Craig, Janelle Brock and Lillian Rozelle, all homemakers from Albuquerque, will demonstrate how to do English smocking. They will talk about where this sewing technique originated, show the different types of smocking, show how a gathering machine works, and display several items featuring English smocking.

On April 26 and 29, topics will include monster cookies, shadow applique, and cooking for two. The segment on monster cookies will be especially interesting to kids. They're delicious and easy to make and this will be presented by Nina Swan, director of consumer relations with the National Oats Company in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Kathy Albright is a quilting instructor with The Quilt Works in Albuquerque, and she will demonstrate how to do shadow applique by making a Victorian needlecase. This is a quick, inexpensive, and very pretty gift idea.

The final segment, cooking for two, will be presented by Diane Duncan, home economist and spokeswoman for the Rice Council in Houston. When you're used to cooking for a large number of people, it's sometimes hard to readjust cooking habits. She will share several ideas and recipes for cooking for one or two persons.

Topics to be presented on "The Creative Woman" show on April 21 include main dish salads and body language. One guest, Mae Martha Johnson, food-nutrition specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service at NMSU in Las Cruces, will show how to create a main dish salad. As she'll explain, a main dish salad can be a creation or it can be a last minute dish that saves the day.

Frankie Clemons, assistant Dean in the College of Business Administration and Economics at NMSU, will discuss body language. Do you always know what feelings or emotions you convey through your body language? She will share her insight concerning this topic.

Color analysis and cooking for one or two persons will be the topics to be presented on April 22. Lynne Griffith is a color and wardrobe consultant with Color One Associates in Lubbock. She will discuss color analysis, tell how a personal color chart and pocket size shopping guide are formed, and tell how these charts can be used for the selection of clothing, accessories, furs, jewelry, all make-up, hair coloring, and interior decor.

Another guest will be Christy Kirk, home economist with Reynolds Metals Co. in Los Angeles, and she will discuss cooking for one or two. Statistics show that half of our population is made up of one or two member households.

She will share shopping tips, quantity cooking ideas, "double-batching," and will demonstrate how oven cooking bags can be utilized to advantage for cooking for smaller member households.

"The Creative Woman" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show airs at 12 noon MST on Tuesday and Thursday, at 2 p.m. on Saturday, and at 7 p.m. on Sunday on KENW-TV.

Roast An Easter Turkey

Turkey is quickly becoming a fowl for all seasons - even Easter.

Many more "convenience" products like pre-basted turkeys, turkey roasts, parts, and luncheon meats are on the market now, says Dr. Alice Hunt, a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service food and nutrition specialist. Also, more people are eating turkey because it's a nutrient dense, low-calorie food, she adds.

If you're planning a traditional roasted turkey dinner for Easter, or just an everyday meal, a recent poultry research study can help you achieve the perfectly cooked bird.

Findings of this study indicated that temperatures recorded in a turkey's thigh during cooking ranged from 10 to 15 degrees higher than in the thickest portion of the breast, says Dr. James Denton, an Extension poultry specialist.

This shows the importance of placing the meat thermometer in the deep breast muscle to determine whether or not the turkey is cooked throughout, he says.

The study also showed how initial meat temperature affects cooking time.

A 15-pound turkey with a breast meat temperature of 28°, which is the normal temperature found in a supermarket refrigerated meat case, required 40 to 60 minutes more roasting time than a 15-pound turkey with a breast meat temperature of 37°, or normal home refrigerator temperature, Denton says.

A frozen turkey, has a temperature of 25° or less and is, of course, usually partially or completely thawed before cooking.

Total roasting time for stuffed turkeys was about one hour more than for unstuffed ones because of the additional weight of the stuffing, notes the specialist.

Cooking losses ranged from 25 percent to 28 percent for the turkey meat while the stuffing cooked inside the turkey showed a weight gain of about 20 percent during cooking, Denton points out.

Cooking losses are one reason why you should plan to buy three-fourths pound per person or one pound per person if you want leftovers, adds Hunt. But turkey is still one of the most economical meats available, especially when you buy a large bird and store the leftover meat for later use.

Turkey For Easter Egg Hunters

by Martha Logan

Did the bird come first or did the egg? The special Easter dinner offers an easy compromise when a golden roast turkey is filled with egg stuffing.

Tender, juicy Butterball Swift's Premium Turkey is a family favorite all year because of its good flavor and high nutritional value. It's a cook's favorite too since the beautiful turkey is easily prepared. Complete directions are in a little folder that comes with each turkey.

Roast turkey means stuffing, and Easter means eggs, so adding chopped, hard-cooked eggs to the stuffing makes it Easter special. It's a flavorful way for Easter egg hunters to end their search.

Food Fit For A Queen Planned For Banquet

PORTALES-That's what is planned for Queen Elizabeth's Banquet-food fit for a queen. The Banquet, one of many events in the Living History Renaissance Festival, will be held Saturday, April 28, at 8 p.m. at the Goodrich Castle, 320 S. Ave. D.

Served in four courses, or removes, as they were called then, the royal feast will begin with leeks and walnuts simmered in beef broth. This onion-like bulb plant was a popular appetizer of Elizabethan times because it was believed to be a strong aphrodisiac. True or not, the combination of the leeks and walnuts, a lusty serving wench or two and some Renaissance tomfoolery should get things going quite nicely.

The second remove is Sallet of Celery. The steamed, tender celery is topped with a spicy vinegar and mustard dressing.

It must be understood that in the time of King Henry VIII and Elizabeth I, eating utensils were not used. Forks were considered something of a fad and the use of them was a bit effeminate. A man of the cloth is reported to have preached that it was somehow impious to handle God's providence with other than one's own hands! Be that as it may, authenticity may be bent for Queen Elizabeth's Banquet on this particular time -oops I mean point.

Vegetables, meats, and bread formulate remove number three. Carrots, cauliflower, zucchini, turnips and broccoli steamed to tender perfection will be served on a bed of spinach. Large platters of suckling pig, beef tenderloin, and smoked turkey breast carried aloft by handsome stewards will tempt each guest. Hunks of light and dark bread with herbed butter can be eaten under the meat slices-Henry VIII-style or as an accompaniment.

Each place at the board or table will be set with a trencher, napkin and goblet. The napkin is placed over the right shoulder and should be used frequently to clean the fingers. Fingers should not be licked or cleaned on the table cloth!

The trencher was originally made from a large piece of bread with a hard crust which when scooped out made a trench or bowl. One put any food one couldn't handle in two hands in the trencher. It also sopped up all the juices and made a good "finisher" for the meal! Some people will go to great lengths to get out of washing dishes! The trenchers for Queen Elizabeth's Banquet will be made of a wheat flour pastry and are similar to a rough pie shell.

Last, but certainly not least, comes the remove moderns know as dessert. Today this dish is considered "very English." Interestingly it was introduced to England by Philip II of Spain who was the husband of Mary I, also known as Bloody Mary and Mary, Queen of Scots. In Spain the confection was called "bizcocho borracho" or "drunken cake." Sponge cake soaked with sherry was topped with a creamy pudding, sugar and cinnamon. Early on it was Topsy Cake, today it's known as Trifle.

Much toasting and "hail welling" and "here hering" will accompany the fruited punch and wine. Queen Elizabeth, may herself, raise the glass to some noble guest. The nearer one sits to the Queen, the higher the social class and the more important. The salt trough or salt box was placed so that the nobles could reach it. All others simply had to stretch or do without. One who sat below the salt was of an inferior rank.

They also tended to be rather rowdy and boisterous. No doubt there will be present some noisy knaves to raise a ruckus. Queen Elizabeth's Banquet is not a spectator sport. Everyone is to get involved.

Guests may choose to come in costume. An updated list of some commercial patterns which would work nicely will be available at local fabric stores. The Banquet will not simply be a meal, however. Musicians, dancers, actors and jesters will entertain the Queen and her court. Guests may even find themselves dancing a jig or humming a tune!

Tickets for this sumptuous feast are $12.50 per person and are available at the Fine Arts Box Office in the ENMU Theatre Lobby at (505) 562-2710. Box Office hours are 10:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. M-F and 1-5 on production Saturdays. Seating is limited and reservations will not be taken. Tickets must be paid for and picked up.

Easter Egg Hunters Swarm Community

Eager Easter egg hunters have already been busy around town this week attending the various egg hunts sponsored by local kindergarten and elementary school classes, churches, and organizations.

As of press time, most of the hunts had already been conducted, but the Easter egg hunt at Farwell Convalescent Center will take place this Saturday at 3:30 p.m.

Farwell Convalescent Center Auxiliary will help the Center residents decorate the eggs on Friday for the hunt, and will also provide punch and cookies for the event.

Children around the community are invited to come and enjoy the hunt Saturday afternoon.

Composite Restoration Project Beginning To Take Hold

By now, it should be well-known throughout the community that the Farwell High School sociology class is attempting to locate and restore all of the past Farwell graduating class composites so that they may be put into a multiplex and preserved forever.

According to Lucille Franse, project director, the project has begun to peak the public's interest, and the class has started to receive some information on the whereabouts of missing pictures. Last week, the class received a picture in the mail that had been missing from the 1943 class composite. The owner of the picture claimed not to know how she ended up with the picture, but would be glad to return it.

Mrs. Franse said that she hoped that project interest would build and that they would be able to recover the missing composites of 1967-68, which have not been located. She also said that they were still curious about the identity of the man in the center of all the 1940s composites.

She added that, to date, no donations have been received toward purchasing the $800 multiplex but they were still encouraging past graduating classes with money left in their treasuries or individuals to help with the cause if possible.

Anyone who wishes to make a contribution or who has information on the missing composites or pictures, or who knows the identity of "the man in the middle" is asked to contact Mrs. Franse or high school principal Lynn Burton.

Joan Edwards Represents TEA At Spring Council

Joan Edwards, vice-president/president-elect of Texico Education Association, represented the group at the Spring Delegate Council held in Silver City Saturday, March 31.

Voting on amendments to the bylaws and on resolutions made up a part of the delegates' responsibilities. One resolution, which was passed with little opposition, stated that the Department of Educational Finance and the State Department of Education should be combined. However, a related resolution supporting the appointment of the State Board of Education sparked heated discussion. After lengthy debate, the group voted not to adopt that resolution.

The delegates elected three at-large members to the NEA-

New Mexico Board of Directors, and heard speeches by candidates running for NEA-NM state offices. Actual balloting for these offices will be done on the local level in coming weeks.

The state budget for 1984-85, as recommended by the Budget Committee, was approved by the assembled delegates. Membership dues will increase only minimally next year as there was no noticeable increase in salaries in 1983-84. Both national and state dues are based on a percentage of the average national/state teachers' salaries.

Emphasis on "grassroots" involvement and a desire to increase accountability of the National Assembly on those they represent was reflected in directions to NEA-NM. The delegates voted for the NEA-NM to poll the entire membership prior to concurrence with NEA support of a Presidential candidate. In this way, each member may express his opinion regarding NEA support of a candidate for President.

In addition, each local will poll its membership before the national Representative Assembly to provide direction to the local delegates who will vote on a Presidential endorsement.

Local and county Political Action Committees will be seeking to identify and recruit qualified candidates for the New Mexico State Board of Education. Such candidates will be responsive to the needs of education in New Mexico, says the local delegate.

The first Easter trail Peter Cottontail hopped down was in Pennsylvania, and that first trip took place in 1728, long before commercial egg dyes became popular.

Back then many Pennsylvania Dutch children used natural dyes from herbs and foods to dye the eggs that were then exchanged as tokens of good times to come.

This Easter your children might enjoy making their own dye (with your help) as well as coloring the eggs. They might even learn something about the many uses of foodstuffs along the way.

For softer, lighter shades, prepare the dye and strain it to remove the herbs, roots or foodstuff used to obtain the color. Then, dip and turn pre-cooked eggs in the dye until you get a pretty shade. To create a deeper shade, simply make the dye and cook the eggs at the same time, allowing the eggs to simmer for as long as 20 minutes to reach the deepest hues.

Another method of dyeing eggs is to wrap raw eggs in bits of the dye-making plant or food, and then tie them in cheesecloth. When the eggs are boiled the dye is transferred directly to the eggshell, leaving a unique mottled effect.

Adding vinegar or alum to the dyeing mixture will increase the strength of the dye.

Here are some "recipes" for various colors:

For yellow dye use chamomile tea or dandelion blossoms, pour boiling water over the tea or blossoms, cover and let stand for half an hour. Strain the liquid and add a teaspoon of vinegar and the dye is ready.

Make gold dye by simmering two tablespoons of turmeric for 20 minutes. Add a teaspoon of vinegar before dyeing eggs. Since turmeric does not dissolve, the coloring will be slightly marbled.

A brass-brown shade results from onion skins, even red onion skins. Place the skins in a pan of water and simmer until the desired shade is obtained. Strain the liquid and add a teaspoon of vinegar and the dye is ready.

Lavender-blue eggs can be made with blueberries or grapes. Crush the berries or grapes by hand or in a blender. Add water and simmer for a few minutes. Strain the mixture and add a teaspoon of vinegar to complete the dye. Use a similar method to make robins-egg blue from cabbage.

Mint leaves will make pale green Easter eggs. Pour boiling water over mint leaves, cover and let simmer for half an hour. Strain the mixture and add a teaspoon of vinegar to complete the dye.

Any of the dye-stuffs can be wrapped around or folded against a raw egg and enclosed in cheesecloth and then boiled to obtain unusual patterns of color on the egg.

girls. Teams from all 50 states are now competing for a berth in the National tournament, and will soon be on the road to Clovis.

This is the first time this event has ever been held west of the Mississippi, and never before has an event been held that has attracted 2,000 persons to Eastern New Mexico.

Jim Martin of Clovis has been elected as chairman of the Steering Committee, and other groups in Portales, Texico and Farwell are also putting in long hours preparing for the National AAU Tournament.

The Steering Committee admits it has encountered several interesting challenges such as housing for 2,000 persons, gyms for practice, ground transportation, and gathering items to put into 750 gift bags for the girls in these 50 teams from all over the United States.

Martin urges all individuals and companies to cooperate when called upon by the Committee. For this to be a successful endeavor, all of Clovis and the surrounding areas will have to pull together and work hard to accommodate the many visitors and make them feel welcome, says Martin.

LIQUID FERTILIZER

Availability is the key when you talk fertilizer. And that brings up USA Liquid Fertilizer.

USA is an acid based material. It actually lowers the pH of the moisture in the soil... thereby making all the nutrients more available — its own nutrients and those already in the soil. (All micronutrients except Moly are more available for plant uptake in acid conditioned soil moisture.) USA is particularly beneficial in releasing Phosphate — therefore you apply less and get more! And you know the importance of available P for wheat and other grain crops.

USA Liquid can be placed earlier and better, below and to the side of seed than dry fertilizers. Actually, with USA, you can put down a year's fertilizer at planting — save labor, save moisture, avoid later root pruning. It's a natural for no-till or conservation farming.

Think Availability. Buy USA.
