NIGHT INTRUDER . . . Pictured above, the 1954 model Chevrolet trailer-truck, which crashed into the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. "Pat" McNeel on Highway 36, two blocks west of the traffic light here, about 10 p. m. Sunday night, shortly after McNeel had retired for the day. The truck narrowly missed his bedroom, and while glass shattered over his bed, McNeel escaped injury.

The truck belonged to Jack Berkley of Slaton and was driven by Herbert O. Glasscock of Lubbock. The driver had parked the vehicle in front of the Purvis Station and had gone across the street when the brakes released and it rolled free. It narrowly missed the gasoline pumps at the Lovell Service Station across the street and crashed into the front of the McNeel home. (Review Staff Photo)

Dr. T. R. Havins Is Recipient Of 'Oscar' At Brownwood

Dr. Thomas R. Havins, historian, author and scholar, who has been a member of the Howard Payne College faculty 35 years, recently was presented the first annual Howard Payne faculty Oscar—an award of $500—for outstanding work in the last year.

The presentation was made at a faculty awards banquet on the roof garden of Hotel Brownwood, with Dr. Willis Tate, president of Southern Methodist University, as speaker. Attending were approximately 110 HPC faculty members and trustees and their husbands and wives.

The $500, Dr. Havins said, will go into a fund to help poor boys and girls get an education at Howard Payne.

Announcement of the award recipient was made by Dr. Thomas H. Taylor, HPC president emeritus, friend and associate of Dr. Havins throughout his years at Howard Payne.

Dr. Havins was selected for the honor by his co-workers in a secret ballot of the teaching faculty of the college. He was one of seven nominated by the teaching faculty for the ballot because of outstanding service to the college. Other nominees were Dr. George M. Crutinger, Dr. Richard A. Eads, Dr. McDonald W. Held, Dr. Frances L. Merritt, Frederick Thibault and Charles F. Woodton.

Dr. Havins, praised by Dr. Taylor as one of the top Texas authorities on local history, was cited "for his book, 'Something About Brown,' a history of Brown County; for his able leadership of the steering committee of the Democracy-in-Action Week; for his wise and peerless guidance of the work of the discipline committee; as an outstanding contributor to each committee, program, responsibility in which he is personally or professionally involved."

A native of Cross Plains, he is a brother of Mrs. Henry Williams. He made his home here several years in the early 1900's. Dr. Havins came to HPC as a student in 1907 and started to work for the college in 1923. He served as librarian until 1931, when he started teaching in the social science field. He now is chairman of the Division of Social Science. He did his graduate work at the University of Texas, receiving his master's degree in June, 1941, and has written numerous articles in the field of Texas history.

Declaring that he was glad to be a part of an occasion honoring a teacher, Dr. Tate asserted that of all the services of a college, "the teaching function is the most important and good teaching, above all, is expected of a college."

This involves, he said, teaching students as individuals with individual talents and personalities, to grow and think with "objectivity, with the ability to see a situation as it is without bias, without prejudice, without rose colored glasses."

The only answer to how to teach, he concluded, is "to find, protect and encourage the great teacher."

The speaker and other guests were introduced by Dr. Guy D. Newman, HPC president, who was master of ceremonies for the award dinner. Music was provided by Francis Burke of the HPC music faculty, violinist, and Nancy Bryant, a student, pianist. The invocation was given by Dr. V. Cyrus Barcus, pastor of the Central Methodist Church. The benediction was given by Dr. L. L. Morris, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Midland and a vice president of the HPC board of trustees.

Decorations in blue and gold, featuring the lamp of knowledge, books and yellow chrysanthemums, emphasizing the theme, "The Truth Shall Make Ye Free." Mrs. W. S. Evans was chairman of the decorations committee and Dr. L. R. Daniel was chairman of the faculty awards committee.

Among the out-of-town trustees and their wives attending were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Havins of Abilene, son and daughter-in-law of Dr. Havins.

Runaway Truck Hits McNeel Home Sunday

The C. F. (Pat) McNeel home, one block west of the traffic light on Highway 36, had an unexpected visitor Sunday about 10 p. m.

A runaway 1954 Chevrolet truck crashed into the east end of the McNeel front porch. The truck stopped with the cab completely under the porch roof and missed a bedroom by only inches.

Herbert O. Glasscock, 39, of Lubbock, said that he parked the truck in front of the Purvis Service Station and walked across the street to the Yarbrough Service Station looking for a piece of wire. While he was gone, the truck's brakes released and it rolled approximately 210 feet smashing into the McNeel house, according to investigating officers.

Damage to the house was estimated at $500 and damage to the truck was placed at $200.

The truck was owned by Jack Berkley of Slaton.

Highway Patrolmen I. F. Daniels and Marcos James were the investigating officers. Deputy Sheriff Alex Shockley assisted in the investigation.

BAYOU PHILOSOPHER DETECTS SURE SIGNS THAT RECESSION IS ABOUT OVER

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Bayou Philosopher, on his Johnson grass farm on the Bayou, apparently is feeling optimistic this week, his letter indicates.

Dear editor:
Last night I read an article in a newspaper which I picked up in town earlier in the day — it was blowing along the street and any time a man can help beautify the town and get a free newspaper at the same time he has to be mighty lazy not to do it — that convinces me things are now approaching normal.

According to this article, the Secretary of Commerce in Washington said he saw "some fairly rosy prospects ahead for the economy." He said the "economic picture will be much brighter later this year. Employment has been rising, business indicators are a bit better, and a spirit of revived confidence is beginning to appear."

In the same article, the Director of the Budget said beginning July 1 the government will go in the red about two billion dollars.

Everyone in the country has been wondering when things are going to get back to normal, and I wish to let you know I have now found

Meeting in regular monthly session in the basement of the First Methodist Church, Tuesday at noon, members of the Chamber of Commerce elected officers for the new year, as follows:

W. J. "Son" Sipes, president.
J. C. "Doc" Claborn, vice-president.

Doyle Burchfield, secretary-treasurer.

Directors elected were L. D. Bayless, Paul Whitton and Jack Tunnell, two year terms, and A. J. McCuin and Teddy Souder, one-year terms.

The new officers will be installed at the annual banquet to be held Friday night, June 13. L. D. Bayless is the outgoing president and in a short talk at the meeting he expressed his appreciation to the membership for the help and cooperation he had received during his tenure of office.

Banquet Program Planned

The program committee, composed of Fred Tunnell, H. McDonald and Alton Hornsby, reported that the program for the second annual banquet is almost complete and Paul Southern, Bible professor at Abilene Christian College, will be the principal speaker. Other features of the program will include installation of new officers and recognition of Cross Plains "Man of the Year," who will be chosen by a secret committee of the organization.

Program committee members state that Professor Southern is a forceful and entertaining speaker. Along with teaching Bible at ACC he also serves as student counselor and takes a very active part in programs to aid alcoholics and mental health patients. He has received two awards this year for his outstanding and unselfish work with mental patients in this area.

Paul Whitton, chairman of the banquet committee stated that the menu and other arrangements have been completed.

Tickets for the banquet will be $1.50 each and will go on sale here Saturday of this week. All citizens of this area are urged and urged to attend. as a green manure crop, grown as a cash crop
be used as a bean processed for cattle feed.

Other advantages in planting guar are that it requires no special equipment, it puts abundant residue and nitrogen into the soil and it greatly increased water intake and water holding capacity of the soil. Guar is drought resistant and thrives in hot weather and reduces the effect of root-rot on cotton following in rotation.

Guar should be planted when the soil is warm, "cotton planting time," when warm growing weather is assured. It has been found that guar produces the best results by planting in rows at the rate of five to six pounds per acre. It is generally recommended that a commercial fertilizer be put down with the seed that have been inoculated. Being a legume, it is important to inoculate the seed at planting time with "Urbana Special Guar Inoculant" or "Nitrogen Formula E Guar." Guar seed that are not inoculated will result in an unsuccessful planting.

The required growing season for guar as a green manure crop is entirely dependent on the amount of moisture. With adequate moisture available to the plant, the optimum green vegetative tonnage will be produced in 90 days for return to the soil for maximum soil conditioning and soil improving benefits.

There are three varieties of guar. They are Mesa, Grochler and Tex-sel. Mesa produces lots of foliage but not many seed. Grochler produces the most seed, however, Tex-sel is the most common variety and is the one that has been used in this area in the past.

For further information regarding the planting of this summer legume, contact your local Soil Conservation Service technician.

WHAT IS YOUR WATER SAFETY I. Q.?

The Red Cross says "there's no better sport to save your life" than to enjoy swimming and boating—with safety. From its 40 years' experience in this field the Red Cross offers the following check-list to allow you to grade yourself on how waterproof you are:

1. You are swimming in open water and get a severe cramp in your leg. You should:

- Roll over to a face-down position and massage the aching part.
- Swim to shore as quickly as possible.
- Tread water and call for help.

2. You are in a boat in rough water and the boat capsizes. You should:

- Get away from the boat, tread water and call for help.
- Try to swim to shore.
- Hang onto the boat.

3. You are swimming in heavy surf and find your self being carried out to sea. You should:

- Swim towards shore at an angle.
- Swim to one side and not against the current.
- Stop swimming and float with the current.

4. You are walking out into the water and you step into a deep hole. You should:

- Drop your head forward and move arms under water dog-paddle style.
- Throw up your hand and yell for help.
- Sink to the bottom and push off with your feet to bring yourself up.

5. You want to test your endurance with some distance swimming. You should:

- Ask the lifeguard to keep an eye on you.
- Swim parallel to shore.
- Arrange for a boat to accompany you.

6. You are climbing up a pool ladder when you notice someone in trouble behind you, about four feet from the side of the pool. You should:

- Hold onto the ladder and extend your leg back for him to reach.
- Call the lifeguard.
- Swim out to him and bring him back to the side.

Scoring:

Give yourself 2 points for each correctly checked blank. The maximum score possible is 16. If you scored less than that, better investigate your Red Cross chapter's water safety classes! If you reached the top mark, you might qualify for water safety aide or instructor courses.

Answers:

- (a) The face-down position enables you to float while you are relieving the cramped muscle.
- (c) Boats usually float.
- (b) This maneuver takes you away from the current and conserves your energy so you can swim back to shore in a straight line.

- (a) and (c) Either way will take you out of a hole. If you use (c) you will continue to push up and down in a bobbing manner, until you are clear.
- (b) and (c) Even if a lifeguard could concentrate on a single individual, if you swim out, you must get back. This might over-tax your ability.

- (a) The easiest and safest rescue technique is to extend your reach, whether by an arm, a leg, or a reaching pole. Time is the important factor, therefore (b) would be a secondary answer. Swimming rescues should be a last resort unless a person is trained.

The following 10 safety precautions will prevent most drownings:

- Learn to swim. To save your life, you can't think of a better sport.
- Always swim with another person. Make sure someone is nearby to help if you get into trouble.
- Swim in a safe place. The presence of lifeguards usually indicates the area is safe for swimming.
- Know the area. Before diving, make sure the water is deep enough and that there are no hidden objects such as submerged rocks.
- Respect the water and know your limitations. Water can be a good friend or a deadly enemy. Don't go beyond safe limits or your ability.

6. Use discretion. Don't swim right after eating or when overheated or over-tired.

7. Try to remain calm in case of trouble. Assume a face-up floating position, keep your hands under water and slowly move your hands and feet.

8. Keep safety equipment in your boat or canoe. Unless you're really an expert swimmer, it is wise, when riding in a small craft, to wear a life vest.

9. Stay with your boat or canoe. Most small craft will float, even when filled with water or overturned.

10. Don't overpower your boat. A motor too powerful for your boat makes it difficult to control and may cause upsets or other accidents.

Don't Guess on Social Security Claims Matters

Residents of Callahan County were urged this week by R. R. Tuley, Jr., district manager, to get in touch with the Abilene office of the Social Security Administration for information regarding payments under the old-age and survivors insurance program.

Tuley stated that this office encounters numerous instances of applicants for benefits who have relied on erroneous or misleading advice received from friends or relatives. As a result they have mistaken ideas about requirements for social security payments and the amount of the payments which they will receive. In several recent cases, failure to obtain correct information before reaching retirement age has had serious effects on the applicant's plans for retirement, he added.

The Abilene office of the Social Security Administration receives all applications for retirement and survivors payments from residents of 15 counties. In addition the office receives applications in and around Taylor County for disability payments from qualified workers 50 years of age or more and applications to "freeze" the wage records of disabled workers under age 50. As of May 8, in 1958, the Abilene office had forwarded 2,513 applications for retirement or survivors payments and 257 applications for disability payments.

Informational material regarding all phases of the social security insurance program is available and a representative of the office is normally available to meet with groups desiring a speaker.

Tuley suggested that all students who plan to work during the summer vacation, and who have not obtained a social security card, do so immediately. Application blanks for cards can be obtained at the Abilene post office or at the post offices nearest their homes.

PROVISION FOR 1958 MOHAIR SUPPORT PROGRAM MADE

Incentive payments may be made to mohair producers in 1958 for the first time.

No payments were required on mohair sales during 1955 and 1956 and none are indicated for 1957. Recently, however, prices reported in Texas ranging from 46½ to 81½ cents for kid mohair indicate that the national average price for mohair sold in 1958 marketing year will probably fall below the 70 cent per pound support price, thus requiring payments. The 70-cent-per-pound price reflects 75 percent of the current mohair parity.

Payments would be made on mohair marketed during the period, April 1, 1958 to March 31, 1959. Applications for payment should be filed not later than April 30, 1959, with county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Offices. Sales slips received by growers on mohair will provide the information needed to determine payments, and growers are urged to keep them in a safe place.

Growers should carefully consider the possible course of mohair prices during the entire marketing year because they have a two-fold reason for getting the best possible price for their mohair. First, they will net more money at the time they sell. Second, they will get a larger payment, if made, because of the percentage method of determining payments. This method is designed to encourage growers to do a good job of marketing their mohair.

Pat Moore and Mrs. Ray Plumlee and son returned to Portland during the week end after a week's visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Moore. Pat will attend Del Mar College in Corpus Christi this summer.

REA Borrowers Now Serving Five Million

Members of local rural electric systems now have five million "neighbors" across the country.

REA has announced that loans made last week will provide service to the five millionth consumer. The distinction will go to a new member in either Maryland, Florida, Nebraska or Texas.

The amazing growth of the rural electrification program since 1935 has resulted in the extension of service to over 95 per cent of America's farms. When REA was started only about 10 per cent of the farms were electrified.

REA has loaned a total of $3.6 billion dollars to local electric systems, most of them rural electric co-operatives. The interest payments on these loans has resulted in a profit of $50 million for the U. S. Treasury.

The rural electric systems operate in every state except Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Is-

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

During the past few years Congress has passed laws providing Social Security benefits for almost every occupation except doctors. Taxpayers who earn wages don't have to worry about Social Security taxes since their employer withholds the proper amount of the tax and pays both the employee's part and the employer's part to the government. During the past few years, though, a large number of farmers and business men and others have been required to pay self-employment tax. If you are self-employed and earn more than $400, you are required to pay this tax. The payment of self-employment tax is not optional. It is a very important subject for older taxpayers who are approaching the age of 65 for men and 62 for women since the amount of self-employment tax you pay determines in land. There are also systems in Alaska.

large part the amount of security benefits you will receive in determining your employment tax to assure your security benefits.

By now you are making summer vacation plans. Why not vacation in Texas.

Texas has much to offer on the coast, on its fine lakes, and in its mountains.

Last year travel in America broke all records so says the National Park Service, which has figures on some 180 areas.

Visitors to these national installations totaled 59,300,000, in 1957. This was an eight per cent increase over the previous year.

An interesting fact was that camp facilities of the park areas were used more last year than any other previous year. Camper days jumped to a total of 3,189,000.

"The reawakened interest in camping in these places, far removed from the tensions of modern urban life, reflects the appreciation of our people for their national parks," says Director Conrad L. Wirth.

It might be interesting to note that the greatest number of visitors to a national park was the 2,943,732 who were clocked at the Great Smoky Mountains in North Carolina and Tennessee. Smallest was 16 Isle Royale in Michigan.

In Texas the only national park installation is the Big Bend National Park in Brewster County. Last year 74,960 persons visited the park. Right now figures are not available on those who went to the various lakes in Texas. However, the Corps of Engineers say more persons visited Lake Texoma in 1957 than visited any other similar national installation.

LICENSE SALE UP—Popularity of sport fishing and wild game hunting took a big upward swing in 1957. A total of 34,165,183 licenses were sold, representing an increase of 1,031,352 over 1956.

There are more fishermen than hunters, with 19,009,000 buying the sport fishing license.

Total cost to hunters and anglers—for licenses, permits, tags and stamps (not including the federal duck stamp)—was $90,617,093. On the other hand, hunters paid more for their privilege, $47,000,000 against $42,000,000 by fishermen.

Texas was in the top ten in hunting licenses, with 412,961 sold in 1957. Michigan was first with 1,250,004. For fishing licenses 417,620 Texans and 9,416 non-residents spent a total of $427,036, which put Texas in fourteenth place in the United States.

There'll be another jump this year. Texas licenses have increased from $1.65 to $2.15 for either resident or non-resident. All salt water Fishermen are required to have licenses sold in 1958.

Ownership of a hunting or fishing license is a privilege in Texas, where there is so much fine hunting and fishing available. It will continue that way as long as we proceed in an orderly manner to manage our land, to get the best advantage of wildlife.

An abundant crop of game or fish is no more accident than a good crop of cotton or grain. You have to work for it. That is being done in Texas, but more and more help is needed, in view of the tremendous increase in outdoor interests.

highest ethical considerations." But it said it would recommend a "de-clarator of principles which will insure . . . majority determination" at state conventions.

A "fair play code" has been a rallying cry for liberal Democrats of Texas led by Mrs. Frankie Randolph of Houston.

Anti-Trust Inquiry. When a city or county needing supplies or equipment gets sealed bids identical to the fraction of a cent, there's a possibility the bidders got together beforehand and agreed on a jacked-up price.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson says that his office has had several reports of identical bidding. He is making an intensive investigation. Suits will be filed after evidence is complete, probably within six to eight weeks. Sales of electric transformers, chlorine for swimming pools, and lime and oyster shell for street topping.

A conspiracy among bidders to raise prices can cost taxpayers in the multi-millions, Wilson commented.

Holes in the Net. With the state facing a sizable deficit net year, the Senate general investigating committee is seeking to discover if the state is getting all the tax money due it.

Members of the State Comptrol-ler's Department, chief collecting agency, told the committee, in ef-fect, that the collecting net was a little skimpy for the potential catch.

They're way behind in their audits of large companies, said Houston area supervisor Harvey J. McKin-zie. Reason, he said, is that low state salaries have caused the staff to dwindle from 14 in 1948 to 5 at present.

An audit, said McKinzie, some-times results in recovery of large sums of additional tax money.

Back Again. Texas officials are making an-other attempt to get the Supreme Court to say who's "boss" of insur-ance liquidation.

Both the State Board of Insur-ance and the judge of local dis-trict court handling the liquidation cases have had a hand in selecting liquidation attorneys during the past few years. In a recent test case the Supreme Court said the Board had the first responsibility for naming the attorneys and set-ting their salaries, but that if it failed to act, the judge could step in.

Now, the attorney general is pres-sing for a more definite ruling. Act-ing on behalf of the Insurance De-partment, he has asked the court to set aside a recent order by Dist. Judge Charles O. Betts raising the salaries of three liquidation attor-neys.

Wilson's petition contends that, in changing the salaries of men already appointed by the Board, the judge is overstepping his au-thority.

All or Nothing. A farmer or rancher cannot get a refund on state gasoline taxes if he uses his "agricultural gasoline" for any other purpose.

This opinion by the attorney gen-eral was given at the request of State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, who said that a farmer wanted to correct a previous claim and get a partial refund for gasoline used partly for farming.

A farmer using gasoline on which he receives a tax refund may not drive the vehicle on a public road.

Fewer Jobs.

Texas Employment Commission's latest report on Texans out of work is cheerful.

For the second consecutive week, the number claiming unemployment benefits dropped substantially—from 86,528 to 83,099.

Optimism is tempered by the ex-pectation of a new flood of job-seekers when the schools and col-leges turn out graduates and sum-mer workers this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McMillan and Mrs. Patsy Hunt and son of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Smith of Abilene visited with relatives in Andrews over the week end. Mrs. Hunt and son remained in Andrews and will visit there and at Port Stockton for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Tunnell and Tommy of Dallas spent the week end here with Mrs. John Brown-ing and Betty, and visited his father, Fred V. Tunnell, and Mrs. Tunnell in Rising Star. Tommy re-mained here for a two-week visit with Mrs. Brownning and Betty.

Auto Accident Rules Should Be Memorized

Vacation time is near. Soon mil-lions of people will be driving about the country, and automobile ac-cidents will occur with increasing frequency. What should a person do when involved in an accident?

At such times it is hard to keep your wits about you and know just what to do. It is therefore a good idea to plan in advance just what you would do in event of a smash-up. Here are a few simple rules that every driver should commit to memory.

1. Stop! Failure to stop can re-sult in serious criminal consequen-es.

2. Render Aid. If anyone is in-jured: (1) Render aid first. (2) Stop bleeding. (3) Call a doctor or an ambulance or both. (4) Do not move an injured person in any way that could possibly add to his injury.

3. Protect the Scene from Fur-ther Damage. You may be liable for damages to approaching driv-ers, unless they are properly warn-ed. If the highway is obstructed at night, have someone turn his head-light beams on the wrecked ve-hicles.

4. Call an Officer. Policemen, Highway Patrolmen, Sheriffs and their deputies are trained accident investigators whose testimony may be invaluable in establishing your civil claim for damages.

5. Gather Information . . . Write it Down. Don't trust your memory. Don't guess—be specific. Measure skid marks. Step off distances. Be sure to obtain names and addresses of witnesses. You are required by law to exhibit your driver's license to the other driver—and he must do the same.

6. Be Careful What You Say. Even if you feel you probably are to blame, it is best to make no ad-mission. You may learn later that the other driver was equally at fault, or more so. Emotional com-ments can be misconstrued by others, or may be misquoted. What-ever you say, make it factual.

7. See Your Doctor if there is the slightest chance you may be injured. Serious injuries do not

FINAL PLANS MADE FOR ANNUAL 4-H ROUNDUP

College Station—The chuck-wag-ons have been greased and the cooks have their equipment in top shape to handle the feeding of an estimated 2,200 4-H boys and girls, their supervisors, leaders and friends who will attend the State 4-H Roundup at Texas A & M on June 10-12.

The chuck wagon supper, always a program favorite, will take place the evening of June 11 and will be a fitting climax for the hard day the 4-H club members will have devoted to judging and demonstra-tion team contests.

The evening program on June 10 will commemorate 50 years of 4-H club work in Texas. President M. T. Harrington of the Texas A & M College System will welcome the 4-H members to A & M and Di-rector John E. Hutchison of the Texas Agriculture Extension Service will speak on "Where From Here." Several 4-H members of the past and present will also have a part on the program.

On June 11 State winners in 22 different judging and team demon-stration contests will be deter-mined. Winners in several contests will qualify to represent Texas in national events later in the year.

In commenting on 4-H club work, the youth phase of the Agricultural Extension Service, Director Hut-chison said an estimated 2,000,000 Texas rural boys and girls had always result in immediate pain or bloodshed.

8. Consult Your Lawyer Im-mediately. The sooner your lawyer is brought into the matter, the bet-ter he can advise you and protect your rights. He can obtain state-ments from the witnesses while their memories are fresh, and do many other things to insure that the true facts are preserved. Get your lawyer's advice before giving any interviews or statements to in-vestigators or adjusters for the other side.

9. Inform Your Insurance Com-pany Promptly. Failure to do so may void your policy.

10. Report the Accident to the Department of Public Safety. This is required by law if there is any injury, death, or total damages ex-ceeding $25.00.

An official accident report form may be procured from the Police, Sheriff's Dept., Highway Patrol, or State Dept. of Public Safety.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should every apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

been 4-H members during the past 50 years. "We have letters from some of the first clubs in the State," he said, "and they have recalled for us how valuable their 4-H training has been through the years. We know that present day clubs are different from those of half a century ago, but then as now, our major effort was to help the boy or girl to help them-selves." Members of 50 years ago will attend the Roundup and par-ticipate in planned activities.

Marie Harrell of Odessa visited over the holiday week end with her mother, Mrs. Martin Neeb, and the two were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Webb and family, while Marie was here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Walker of Rankin visited here a few days last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Walker.

Their oldest son, J. W., who now lives in Abilene, received his B.S. degree from Texas A&M College in 1949.

MINISTERS TO SWAP PULPITS

Due to a death in his congregation at Bronte, Melvin Placke, Minister of the Bronte Church of Christ, was forced to postpone his planned visit to Cross Plains last week end, when he planned to attend to business matters here and preach at the local Church of Christ at both Sunday services.

He expects to be here this week end and will preach at both Sunday services, while H. McDonald, local minister, will fill the pulpit at Bronte.
