Finns Take Another Red Stronghold; 500 Russians Killed

Annihilation Of Soviet Division Denied By Army

Defending Forces Await Next Major Development In War With Enemy; Equipment Taken

(By The Associated Press)
HELSINKI, Feb. 6. (Tuesday)—Finnish soldiers watched the Karelian isthmus and the Lake Ladoga regions today for the next major development in the war with Russia, but reports abroad that the entire 18th division had been destroyed were denied by a headquarters representative.

A spokesman said the report of annihilation of the division apparently arose from the fact that offensive development north of Lake Ladoga, in the Kitela area, had been awaited for days since the Russian offensive there had been halted and many Russians were cut off from their supplies.

From Another Angle

Some observers interpreted a new Russian attack at Summa, on the Karelian isthmus, as a Russian attempt to divert the Finns from the Ladoga region and relieve the Russian divisions reported stranded there.

Elsewhere, the Finns have been bombarding Russian positions north of Viipuri and yesterday's communique announced the taking of a new stronghold, the killing of 500 Russians and the capture of seven tanks and other war materials.

The Finnish populace hoped today that a repetition of yesterday's general snowfall which blotted out the battle-front air so successfully that air operations were restricted to a few scattered districts, chiefly along the southwestern coast.

Materials Taken

One woman was killed and seven men and children were injured when seven houses were destroyed and seven bombers attacked the Finnish village of Kaskinen on the Bothnian gulf, it was reported.

The village was of no commercial or military importance, officials said.

Tanks were reported killed in the battle of Kajaani in central Finland.

A communique yesterday said Finnish field guns, 30 automobiles and other war material fell into Finnish hands in the district North of Lake Ladoga after the repulse of heavily weak attacks on three Finnish positions, one of them on the shore of the lake and two others inland near the shore.

Other attacks were reported set at Summa, on the Karelian front, at Aittojoki, north of Ladoga, and at Markajarvi, on the Aunus front.

Heavy artillery exchanges thundered tonight along the Karelian battle front, fitfully lighting a battlefield strewn with Russian dead, slain in a fruitless soviet offensive which appeared to have

Snow And Sleet Fall In Parts Of Plains

Skies at midnight had cleared and the weather forecast for the area was for continued fair weather.

Heavy clouds hung over Lubbock during the night and in other parts of the plains rain, snow and sleet fell. There was no more than a trace of precipitation here.

Rainfall as far as Big Spring was heavy. Some conditions prevailed as far as Littlefield streets were dampened by sleet and snow Monday night but it melted as fast as it fell. Levelland reported a light snow and Brownfield had mist.

Stations reported clearing skies at midnight, when temperature at Municipal airport was 34 degrees.

Defendant Talks Himself Into Three Years Of Prison Life

DALLAS, Feb. 5. (AP) — Charlie Merry talked himself into 10 more years of prison today.

After pleading guilty to narcotic law violations, he told Federal Judge T. Whit Davidson "I have spent most of my life in prison and a few more sentence will kill me. I am addicted with dope and if you will give me the break that I need I will never be before you again."

The court gave him a three year sentence and a 15-year suspended sentence.

Officers said he was searched about an hour later, an ounce of narcotic was found on the prisoner.

Judge Davidson sentenced him to serve 13 years.

Senator Hill Asks O'Daniel For Proof Of "Rottenness"

(By The Associated Press)
FORT WORTH, Feb. 5.—State Senator Joe L. Hill of Henderson, in an address over a state radio network here today, called upon Governor O'Daniel to produce facts supporting his recent charge of "rottenness," in unnamed departments of the state government.

"If the governor's charge is true," Hill declared, "then certain public officials ought to be impeached. If his charges are baseless and untrue, then he ought to be impeached."

Hill declared also it was the "clear and unequivocal duty," of Senator Wilbourne Collie of Eastland, as its chairman, to call a meeting of the Senate general investigating committee to submit the charges made by Governor O'Daniel, and ask the governor to bring forth any proof he may have.

The governor's charge of "rottenness," Hill said, was made in a radio broadcast on Sunday, January 28.

Hill branded the statement as an "intemperate and unfair assault upon the integrity and character of every department head and employe of the state, and declared flatly that he did not believe it was true.

"We have reached an all time low in our state affairs when the governor has the effrontery to challenge the honesty, integrity, morality, virtue, and chastity of every public official and say that morality is a new thing in public life in Texas," the East Texas senator asserted.

Referring to Governor O'Daniel as "a recent immigrant to this state," Hill asked "what contribution has he made, either as a private citizen or public official, that puts him in a position to criticize everyone in public life, past and present?"

Hill also referred to the governor as "a self-annointed Moses," "a commercial nomad elevated by political accident with neither experience or qualification," and "a wandering minstrel who has brought Texas a brand of public service that has made him the nation's number one buffoon."

Gandhi And England At Outs

India Demands Independence; Action Delayed

(By The Associated Press)
NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 5—Mohandas K. Gandhi, and Viceroy Lord Linlithgow failed today to agree on Indian demands for independence, the third such stalemate since the European war started.

Gandhi apparently stood firm on the Congress (Nationalist) party demand for immediate consideration of India's independence while Lord Linlithgow reiterated Britain's stand to postpone final action until after the war.

Only One Agreement

The tall British statesman and the wry little leader of India's millions of Hindus conferred two and a half hours but a communique indicated the only point of agreement was "to defer for the present further discussions."

Wearing a shawl in addition to his usual light cotton robes as he left the conference called by Lord Linlithgow, Gandhi made it clear the British proposals did not meet the Congress party demands.

The communique said the viceroy repeated British assurances India's independence would be considered "when the time came"—presumably after the war—and suggested "the federal scheme act while at present in suspense afforded the swiftest stepping stone towards dominion status."

Demand Was Made

The federal scheme referred to the British plan of 1935 which granted Indian governments autonomy in the provinces and provided for the gradual setting up of a federal congress by which the Indians might eventually become self-governing.

Since the war started last September, the Congress party has demanded Britain enter into negotiations to grant India her independence in return for Indian support in the war against Germany.

U.S. Will Quit Sending Notes Of Protest

By ANDRUE BERDING
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—A decision to refrain as far as possible from sending any more "waspish notes" to Great Britain over neutrality questions has been reached by American officials in charge of foreign policy.

In the future, questions arising between the two governments are expected to be threshed out almost entirely through personal conferences between Washington officials and Lord Lothian, the British ambassador, or between Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy and British authorities.

Opinion Stirred Up

The series of strong notes sent from Washington to London in the last two months stirred up American public opinion to an extent alarming to some officials. They could see no advantage accruing to the world from an acrimonious debate between the United States and Great Britain. They envisaged it as a direct encouragement for Adolf Hitler, whom they have no desire to please.

They recalled the bad feeling engendered between Washington and London from 1914 to 1916 over the same type of questions: interference with the mails, British blockade of German exports, British searching of American ships in contraband control ports.

They had no desire to unleash the same forces of friction in the present conflict. They were disturbed by editorials in some newspapers following publication of the series of American notes.

Fortunately, they were met by a show of comprehension and compromise on the part of the British government. The British ambassador advances ways and means whereby the British would avoid taking American ships into the forbidden combat area, and offered to set up a control port at St. John New Brunswick, so as to avoid examination of American vessels in European waters. In a long conference with Secretary Hull many questions were gone into thoroughly with a spirit of at least partial understanding on both sides.

Mann Cited In Contempt Case

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Feb. 5—Attorney General Gerald C. Mann was cited today to show cause why he should not be held in contempt in two court cases.

The question involved was the validity of state appropriations to satisfy an $8,862 claim of the American National bank of Austin and a $2,800 claim of the Caledonia steel company.

Mann took the position the appropriations were invalid and advised the comptroller not to pay the court judgments. He said his view was supported by the state supreme court in an opinion last week.

Judgment Obtained

The Austin bank was attempting to recover $8,862 of $23,000 it advanced during the World war for construction of an auditorium at Texas A. & M. college. Mann ruled that the Legislature's attempted method of repaying the money was unconstitutional.

The Caledonia company obtained a judgment for steel sold to the highway department in 1926. In that instance, Mann held, the Legislature attempted to make an appropriation by concurrent resolution, which violated the constitution.

The attorney general was cited to appear Feb. 17 in the Caledonia case and Feb. 20 in the other suit.

"Madcap" Merry Gets Divorce From Count Cassini, No. 4

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—"Madcap" Merry Fahrney, patent medicine heiress, won a divorce today from her fourth husband, Count Oleg Cassini.

Supreme Court Justice Aaron J. Levy dismissed as "unworthy of belief" defense testimony that she had been guilty of misconduct with two men.

Merry accused the count of intimacy with a showgirl. Witnesses testified she and her first husband, Hugh Parker Pickering, watched the two in the count's hotel, through a peephole.

A Filipino cook formerly employed in Merry's household testified she had shared her attentions with other men. The count listed six men — most of them by initials—in his answer to her complaint.

Only three of the six were named in defense testimony. Justice Levy exonerated one of those, and his name was stricken from the papers.

Wife Of Baseball Player For Boston Bees Fatally Injured

LANCASTER, Ky., Feb. 5. (AP)—Mrs. Les Scarsella, 24, wife of the baseball player, and her cousin, Helen Vassil, 16, were injured fatally in a car-truck collision near here today.

Scarsella, a member of the Boston Bees, and his 2-year-old daughter, escaped with minor hurts.

The four were en route from Cincinnati, their home, to Bradenton, Fla., where the Bees are to train this spring.

Freak Wind Squall Sweeps Houston; Damage Is Slight

HOUSTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—A freak wind squall skipped through and around Houston this afternoon, showered the city with rain and hail, slightly damaged buildings and homes and blew down power and telephone lines.

C. E. Norquest, U. S. meteorologist, described the storm as a "line squall," saying that the wind in such storms travels in a straight line, rather than in a circular motion.

The wind reached 22 miles an hour at the downtown weather bureau and 38 miles an hour at the municipal airport.

Britain's Navy Suffers More Losses At Sea

Canadian Pacific Steamer Is Torpedoed Off Irish Coast After Minesweeper Founders

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Feb. 6. (Tuesday)— Britain counted new losses today in the relentless war at sea as the 9,874-ton Canadian Pacific steamer Beaverburn was reported torpedoed off the Irish coast a few hours after the minesweeper Sphnix, crippled by German air raiders, sank as she was being towed to port.

Mystery shrouded the sinking of the Beaverburn, which was announced in a terse bulletin by the authoritative British press association. No details on the number of casualties was immediately available.

Carried Big Crew

Shipping circles said it was unlikely that full details would be known until rescue vessels had picked up survivors.

Owners of the ship, a fast freighter plying between Liverpool and St. John, New Brunswick, said she carried a crew of between 100 and 200 men.

A competent source said there was reason to believe that all except one had been rescued.

Total Of 24

The foundering of the Sphinx, a vessel of 875 tons, brought to 24 the total number of British naval vessels sunk since the start of the war. The Beaverburn was the first Canadian ocean going ship reported sunk by torpedo since the start of the war.

Fifty-four of the 100 men aboard were feared lost. Five were known to have been killed by nazi bombers which ranged British east coastal waters Saturday attacking at least 11 ships.

The minesweeper's engines were disabled and as she was being towed into an eastern port the tow-line snapped and the Sphinx capsized.

Third To Be Lost

Built in 1938 at a cost of about $500,000, the Sphinx was the third minesweeper Britain has lost. The other two went down in November.

Naval observers regarded Germany's three air attacks last week on shipping off the exposed east coast as a prelude to sharper efforts to establish a real "bomb blockade" and to renewal of the nazi submarine campaign in an effort to offset allied maritime strength.

Britain said three raiders were shot down Saturday but in the first two raids, Monday and Tuesday, all the German warplanes escaped, apparently unscathed.

Approaching Tie

British military experts asserted, however, that swift expansion of the Allied forces and munitions industries had blacked out Germany's chances of winning a spring "blitzkrieg"—lightning war.

The land and air force of the belligerents, these experts declared, is approaching a tie — making the weapon of exhaustion the best bet for Britain and France to try to win the war.

The Allies are adjusting their national structures now for such an effort. Because of this British and French spring offensives were expected to be in the economic and propaganda fields with their military forces used for more defensive purposes than in big drives.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Yates of 3212 Harrison avenue on birth of son at 2:55 o'clock Monday morning at the residence. The infant was named Morris Lyle, Lubbock clinic reported. Yates is owner and operator of a service station.

Federal Probe Of Forgery Is Asked

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. — The Dies committee decided today to refer to the justice department for "appropriate action its charges that letters purporting to link its chairman, Rep. Dies (D-Tex), with the Silver Shirt legion were forged.

Announcing this action, the committee said it was presenting to the department "indisputable evidence and testimony showing that purported letters from William Dudley Pelley to D. D. Mayne, placed in the Congressional Record appendix of January 22, 1940 are forgeries."

Pelley Is Leader

Pelley is the leader of the Silver Shirts. The letters made it appear that there was some understanding between Dies and Pelley.

The committee's request for justice department action was the third received by Attorney General Jackson.

Rep. Hook (D-Mich) who put the letters in the Congressional Record, previously had asked a grand jury inquiry, and today a government official asked for an investigation to spike reports of a dinner party "plot" to end the committee on un-American activities.

Letter Guarded

"Charges that proceed from suppositions through inferences to erroneous accusations can be answered only through a finding of facts under the formal procedures of the law," said a letter sent to the attorney general by D. E. Montgomery, consumers' counsel of the agriculture department, who was present at the dinner.

The dinner was held Jan. 16 at the home of Gardner Jackson, of labor's Non-Partisan league. Montgomery said he saw no signs of a plot or agreement "on any course of action." While the Dies committee was discussed, he said, the "entire discussion was factual."

Hook, who attended the dinner and who later made an attack on Dies, today declined to withdrew his attack and the letters from the Congressional Record. He asserted before a House hules sub-committee that his criticism was made in good faith and that he was not in a position to concede that docu-

Masonic Head Visits Here

Annual visitation of Lubbock Commandery was conducted by Burke Thomason of Denison, eminent grand sword bearer of the Grand Commandery of Texas, at a dinner in Lubbock Masonic hall.

Among 46 attending were 11 past commanders of the Lubbock Commandery and four from the Plainview Commandery.

Accompanying Thomason here was S. L. Brown, also of Denison. They will go to Memphis today for a visitation of the commandery there. Visitation formerly was termed inspection in Masonic lodges, Hugh J. McClellan, secretary of Lubbock Masonic bodies, explained.

Commanders Attend

Past commanders present from Lubbock were S. C. Wilson, Robert A. Sowder, Douglas F. Pounds, Dr. Jack M. Lewis, R. L. Stephenson, R. H. Hester, J. M. Denman, Fred E. Higbee, Neil H. Wright, A. D. Montgomery and K. N. Clapp. Clapp is eminent grand junior warden of the Grand Commandery.

Plainview past commanders who attended were R. P. Smythe, Arch Keyes, T. J. Boney and C. B. Morris.

Other out of town persons present were: D. J. Balch of O'Donnell, Rep. Alvin R. Allison of Levelland, and Jesse D. Cox and Terry C. Redford of Brownfield, all members of the Lubbock Commandery; and E. D. Bartlett of Levelland, whose membership is at Lineville, Ala. Hal Nelson of Lubbock, who holds a membership in Lawton, Okla., also attended.

Huntsville Prisoner Charged With Impersonating Officer

DALLAS, Feb. 5. (AP) — United States District Attorney Clyde O. Eastus today ordered the return to Dallas of Thomas Clayton Presler, in the Walker county jail at Huntsville, and charged here with impersonation of a federal officer.

Eastus said that his office, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the collector of internal revenue, had been plagued with calls from persons who had been urged to purchase books and forms for the filing of income tax and social security returns. The salesman, Eastus was informed, represented himself as a member of the federal income tax division.

Officers Ignore Rumors Of Money Buried Near Odessa

(By The Associated Press)
EL PASO, Feb. 5.—The U. S. secret service refused to get get excited today over "a wild story" of $100,000 in buried gold near Odessa, Texas.

Reports of such a hoard—in $10 and $20 gold pieces—were made by Riley and L. E. Smith several days ago to the Federal district attorney's office, and they were told to bring it on in."

"I have talked to the U. S. district attorney, and he has said that the government will not dignify such a wild story with an investigation," said J. W. Brownlow, secret service agent here.

"The U. S. district attorney doesn't believe there's any basis for such a tale of buried gold, and the government is not interested in the activities of the Odessa men."

The Smiths — no relation — claimed they had already turned over $18,000 of their find to the government, but this was denied by U. S. District Attorney Clyde Eastus at Fort Worth.

Whether the gold cache exists or not there already have been claims to ownership by several enthusiasts, Eastus reported.

Farley Will Set Date After GOP Plans Are Made

Houston, Philadelphia, San Francisco Also Make Bids For Democratic Gathering

By RICHARD L. TURNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—The Democrats chose Chicago, a center of pro-third term activity, as their 1940 convention city today and left it to National Chairman James A. Farley to set the date, presumably after he learns when the Republicans will meet.

These decisions were reached at an excited and sometimes turbulent meeting of the party's national committee, which saw Houston, in Vice President Garner's own state, vainly offer $200,000 for the convention, $50,000 more than Chicago's bid.

DECISION DELAYED

DALLAS, Feb. 5. (AP)—A decision on the site of the May 28 State Democratic convention to select delegates to the national convention will be delayed until March, state Democratic Chairman R. G. Germany said today.

The state Democratic committee will be called together to pick the convention city between March 1 and 15, he stated.

Philadelphia Next

Chicago's nearest competitor, in fact, was Philadelphia, which also offered $150,000. For a moment, it appeared that Philadelphia might win, but then members from western states who had cast their votes for San Francisco and, in some cases for Houston, switched to the Illinois city. The final count was Chicago 48, Philadelphia 38, San Francisco 7 and Houston 2. One of the last two votes was cast by Garner himself.

After the meeting, Farley told newspapermen that he understood President Roosevelt himself favored taking the convention to Chicago. He indicated he would announce the date for the big party meeting after the Republican national committee selects its time and city at a meeting here on Feb. 16.

Farley-Garner Greeting

Chicago, the scene of President Roosevelt's original presidential nomination in 1932, is also the home of the powerful Kelly-Nash Democratic organization which has taken a foremost position in the move to draft Mr. Roosevelt for an additional term.

Today's meeting was notable, too, for a warm exchange of felicitations between Farley, who is widely regarded as a presidential aspirant, and Garner, an outright candidate. Introducing Farley, Garner referred

Roosevelt Says He's Tired Of Being Harassed About Third Term Intentions

Figures Pumped At Aspirants

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Feb. 5—President Roosevelt used up the better part of an hour today to emphasize that he was weary of being harassed about his third term intentions.

Too, indirectly he pumped figures favorable to the New Deal at some of those who want to succeed him in the White House.

Attempts of newsmen to lure him into disclosing his stand on a third term, the president said at a press conference, have been awfully amusing and have produced some perfectly grand wise cracks on his part and theirs.

He Will Choose

Suggesting that they quit trying to draw him out, however, the chief executive declared that when anything was said it would be at a time chosen by himself and not by newspaper editors. After all, he asserted, you can drive a willing horse to death—both the press and the president.

While he said in no uncertain terms he was tired of all the third term antics at his press conferences it was by indirection that Mr. Roosevelt supplied an answer to critics of his domestic policies.

Formidable Statistes

Declaring his goal still was an annual national income of $80,000,000,000, President Roosevelt tossed a batch of what he termed pretty formidable statistics today at assailants of the administration's domestic program.

He cited at a press conference figures to show America's income had jumped 71 per cent between 1932 and 1939, from $40,000,000,000 to $68,000,000,000. Income now is running at a rate of over $70,000,000,000 annually, he said.

Figures Rattled Off

With an income level of $80,000,000,000, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, the budget would be a little better than balanced.

The president rattled off a list of figures prepared for him by various government agencies, which he said had no implications one way or another.

He omitted any reference to such persons as Senator Taft (R-Ohio); Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney; and Frank Gannett, newspaper publisher, who have taken swipes at the New Deal in their campaigns for the Republican presidential nomination.

Might Be Answer

Yet his remarks might be construed as an answer to any critics who have been sending verbal broadsides at the administration.

The statistics were designed to demonstrate that there had been big gains, since the New Deal took over in 1933, in wages and salaries, factory payrolls, cash farm income, non-agricultural employment, exports and industrial production.

Summing up the data, Mr. Roosevelt declared they were pretty formidable figures to take on and try to show that the country is bust.

Don't Like That Way

It seems, the chief executive went on, that there is no question at all that if we get up to an $80,000,000,000 income level we would have a little better than a balanced budget.

Of course, he said, a lot of people don't want to do it that way. They want to cut government expenditures immediately in such a drastic way, he said, that there would be a repetition of the recession that began in the fall of 1937 and lasted until the spring of 1939.

Mr. Roosevelt declined, however, to venture any economic forecasts for 1940 or to speculate on the possibility of achieving a national income of $80,000,000,000. There are too many coefficients in the situation, internationally, he explained.

Ray Chappelle Speaks To Tech Block And Bridle Club Members

Ray L. Chappelle, head professor of agriculture education at Texas Technological college, discussed his experiences with horses and mules during the World war at a monthly meeting Monday night of the Tech Block and Bridle club in the Aggie pavilion.

Two committees were named to nominate students to be submitted for merit awards by the national Block and Bridle club. Cleve Littlepage of Rotan, Lyman McGehee of Wayside and Claude Hoffman of Paint Rock are members of the number one committee. Number two committeemen are John H. Baumgardner of Wellington, Robert Henard of Plains and Robert Holloway of Tahoka.

A. C. Sears, president, was in charge.

Rechecking of approximately 100 farms on which wheat acreage allotment was exceeded, is being done by AAA supervisors, said C. T. Wasson, administrative assistant. Farmers were advised that if they wanted to receive wheat payment benefits they must comply with acreage requirements. Approximately 300 farmers have been alloted 166,300 acres for the 1940 crop.

A new telephone for the Agricultural Adjustment administration office in the county agent's office was installed yesterday, said C. T. Wasson, administrator. Number is 1089. Heretofore it has been necessary to call Wasson through C. G. Jobson's telephone.

Ten days in jail and costs was the penalty assessed Wallace Stark, 21, Monday in county court on a plea of guilty to theft. City officials recommended a clement sentence. The youth was accused of theft of athletic equipment from Texas Technological college and a watch from Ray Flusche, all of which was recovered. He was registered from Haskell as a student in Texas Tech during the fall semester.

Fire in the residence of E. C. Struggs, principal of Dunbar High school, had been extinguished when firemen arrived at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. The residence is at 2002 East Avenue C.

Harry Faulkner, former general manager of Lubbock Baseball club and now an assistant coach and scout at Texas A. & M. college at College Station, visited in Lubbock Monday. Faulkner twice showed motion pictures of the New Year's day football game between the Aggies and Tulane university teams in the Sugar bowl at New Orleans. Approximately 200 persons saw each showing at Texas Technological college and Senior High school. He left Monday night for Abilene.

Offices of the Texas State Employment service and Texas Unemployment Compensation commission have been moved to 1207 Thirteenth street, L. S. Morgan, manager, announced Monday. The offices formerly were in Lubbock National bank building. Morgan said the same services would be rendered at the new location.

Ralph Brock, Lubbock attorney, was speaker at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the pre-law club at Texas Technological college Monday night. He enumerated problems likely to be encountered in law school and in the early years of professional legal practice. Garth Thomas, president of the club, presided in a brief business session following Brock's speech.

Burglary of Boyd's Meat shop at 1515 Avenue B netted only 20 cents, police said Monday. For that amount the burglar had to break open a door and crawl over a motor that operates a refrigerator. Nothing else was missing.

Two bicycles were reported to police as stolen Monday. Jim Bob Karr said his was taken from the Karr residence at 2107 Fourteenth street and Billy Manley's was stolen from Senior High school.

Jewel Thief At Houston Nabbed

HOUSTON, Feb. 5. (U.P.)—Arrest of a "society burglar" and recovery of loot valued at $150,000 were announced today by Police Detective Chief E. H. Hammond.

The man had preyed on homes of the socially prominent since 1936 and had committed about 500 burglaries during the past four years.

Hammond announced that the stolen articles — mostly silverware, jewelry, household appliances and wearing apparel, including 32 expensive coats—were found in a two-story house on the banks of a bayou in the southeast part of the city.

Refusing to make a written statement, the man under arrest admitted that the loot had come from "a lot of places," the detective chief said.

Eight Carloads

Officers C. E. Marks and A. J. Millsap arrested the man last night after a resident reported a suspicious character in his neighborhood.

The man refused to tell Marks and Millsap his name or address, saying "you will have to find out all you want to know about me." He said he had a wife and an eight-year-old daughter.

"I kept track of families leaving the city on vacations or other trips," he told Hammond later. "While they were gone, I worked on their homes."

Police hauled eight automobile loads of loot away from the two-story house. Boxes and closets in various rooms had been filled with stolen articles.

As the officers searched the house, they found loaded pistols and shotguns placed near windows and doors.

He led police to his garage apartment, which was stuffed tight with stolen goods. Eight carloads of valuables were taken from the place to police headquarters.

Silverware, $25,000.
Fur coats, $20,000.
Perfume, $1,000.
Whiskey, $200.
Eight Rugs.
A check writer.
Five typewriters.
An electric sewing machine.
Three vacuum cleaners.
A bicycle.
Several electric razors.
Seventeen radios.
Four electric toasters.
Thirteen electric clocks.
Fourteen electric fans.
A hot water heater.
An electric lawn mower.

Police Chief Next

Sixteen pistols, a sawed-off shotgun, five rifles, and three automatic shotguns.

The man said he read the society columns for news of weddings in which valauble presents likely would be given, and for news of the departures of wealthy Houstonians on visits.

He kept a list of these homes, and burglarized them when he had the opportunity.

Included on his list, he said, were the homes of the mayor Oscar Holcombe, and the police chief. One planned robbery of the mayor's fine home failed, he said, because there were so many friends and relatives around the place. He had the police chief listed for a visit "soon."

No charges had been filed.

Square Dancing Replacing Jitterbugging In Lubbock

Might as well forget how to jitterbug and swing it on down, cause square dancin' has come to town.

In fact, Lubbock is way behind the times, because the craze already has struck many cities.

Jimmy Clossin of El Paso, who instructed 173 Lubbock persons Monday in the intricate steps of the square dance, predicted growing popularity for folk dancing.

Dancing "Monotonous"

"Present dances have become rather monotonous and too fast and they use too much energy," he said.

"Social" dancing may be all right for the youngsters, but the mister and missus of 35 or over particularly enjoy a type of dancing which gives them opportunity to mix and mingle with the crowd to a greater extent.

Largest class instructed by Glossin here Monday was that in the college gymnasium that night.

Much Promenading

Students, business and professional men, business women and housewives were included in the crowd.

C. E. Maedgen, president of Lubbock National bank, and Mrs. Maedgen, entered into the spirit of the occasion, as did E. L. Klett, lawyer, and Mrs. Klett.

George Langford was promenading with his wife, head of the Tech women's physical education department, which is sponsoring the course.

Among Those Present

Lawyer J. I. Kilpatrick and Mrs. Kilpatrick were on the floor. Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Porter were following the instructions of the "caller."

Miss Delia Wilkinson was in the midst of it, Mr. and Mrs. Maple Wilson were there.

Mrs. L. S. Mast was seen at two of the class periods.

Those were only a few of the faces seen.

Some of the women confessed they had difficulty persuading their husbands to go.

Women Mostly

The daytime classes were filled mostly with women.

Sessions were held from 8 to 9 a. m., in the college gymnasium; 9 to 10 a. m., Lubbock hotel ballroom; 2 to 3 p. m., gymnasium, and 4 to 5 p. m., Lubbock hotel. Sessions will be conducted the same hours each day through Friday, except that the 4 o'clock class will not be conducted Thursday.

Some who attended Monday were experienced in the type of dance, because of their affiliation with dancing clubs which prefer the old-fashioned dancing.

No More Room

Clossin, in discussing the renewed popularity of folk dancing, said he had seen seven columns on the subject in a New York newspaper and that interest in square dancing was sweeping the Middlewest. Old-fashioned dances have replaced "social" dancing to a large extent in El Paso.

Mrs. Clossin is her husband's partner.

Registration fee for the course is $1. Persons registering may attend as many class periods as they wish to attend. Additional registrations will be accepted today. No additional students can be accepted in the night class, however, said Mrs. Langford.

Cotton Contest Prizes Arrive

Checks and ribbons for winning honors in a cotton contest at the recent Chicago International Livestock show, were received at the county agent's office Monday for Lubbock county boys.

Melvin Johnson of Posey received a blue ribbon for his exhibit; it was one of three blue awards made. George Kveton of New Deal received a red ribbon award, also one of three made.

The county placed second in the entire contest and was awarded a second place red ribbon.

Checks were given to each member of the county team, Johnson Kveton, Joe Doyle, Shallowater; Winifred Medlock, New Deal; and Edwin Earl McWilliams, New Deal. Each was for $1.60. In addition Johnson received a $1.50 check and Kveton a $1.25 check for their placings.

Lubbock team last year won the state contest and represented the state at the international show. "If we get a chance to represent Texas this year I believe we can win first place," said Monroe U. May, assistant county agent and coach of the team.

Fishermen Bag Whale But Don't Know What To Do With It

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 5. (U.P.) — Fishermen at Peggy's cove caught themselves a whale today but are having trouble trying to figure out how to get rid of it.

The ebb tide left the whale stuck fast beneath a private wharf.

Fishermen were attracted to the scene when, in attempts to get out of its prison, the whale began loosening wharf timbers with swipes of its tail.

Armed with axes, the fishermen attacked and killed the whale.

Now they don't know how to get the 20-foot carcass out from under the wharf without taking the wharf down.

Two Lamesa Places Burglarized Sunday

LAMESA, Feb. 5, (special)—Caldwell Harness shop and Dewey's Bargain Center were burglarized Sunday night.

The bargain center reported from $40 to $50 in money had been taken, as well as boots, shoes, a suitcase and much haberdashery.

The harness shop's proprietor, S. S. Caldwell, said his loss would be approximately $50 in merchandise.

Billy Johnson and Henry Robertson, of the state highway patrol, and Aubrey Fawver, police identifications officer, all of Lubbock, assisted in investigations.

Entry in each burglary was through a rear window, they said.

...Plans To Oppose Cole Bill For Federal Control Of Oil Industry Mapped

...Gov. Phillips Heads Group

...WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP) —...ology for opposing the Cole oil-...y was formulated today by gov-...ors of oil producing states.

...overnor Phillips of Oklahoma, ...hairman for the group, said the ...e executives would contend be-...e a House subcommittee hearing ...s week that the bill, which would ...e a commissioner to coordinate ...e production in the interests of ...nservation, would create an un-...essary government agency.

To Offer Objections

...Phillips said the group would of-...these general objections:

...hat it would constitute federal ...terference with state rights; that ...e states were in a better position ...conserve their oil resources than ...e federal government; that there ...ld arise a tendency to upset the ...ance in state oil production, and ...at federal control would upset the ...ter methods of prorating pro-...tion among operators.

...There are more oil reserves in ...t in the United States right now," ...Phillips said, "that ever before in ...e history of the government. State ...nservation has resulted in the de-...elopment of a better product at a ...ower price."

Would Be Hardship

...The "autocratic" federal control, ...hich Phillips said would be estab-...shed by the Cole bill, would work ...n eventual hardship, he argued, ...n the consumer.

..."exas Railroad Commissioner ...ry Sadler said he and the two ...ther members of the commission ...ould defend their state against ...ny "pot shots" the interior depart-...ent might take at their petroleum ...onservation program.

..."We don't have any testifying to ...o unless they try to besmirch our ...wn record," said Sadler. "The de-...artment itself previously found our ...production waste was only 1.8 per ...cent. We have an idea they may ...try to contend now that the waste ...is considerably more."

Other Hearings Held

...Sadler called the Cole oil bill "a ...little first cousin to Ickes' third ...New Deal baby." He said he and Com-...missioners Ernest O. Thompson and ...Olin D. Smith were against the Cole ...bill "because it would be putting a ...new foot in our front door."

...Hearings by the petroleum investi-...gating committee, a subcommittee ...of the House committee on inter-...state and foreign commerce, were ...to have begun today, but were post-...poned until tomorrow to permit the ...members to meet today.

...Governors here in addition to ...Phillips were Ratner of Kansas, ...Miles of New Mexico, Bailey of ...Kansas, Smith of Wyoming and ...Carr of Colorado.

...Opponents of the measure testi-...fied at previous hearings here.

...Corpus Christi Physician Is Convicted In Narcotics Case

...CORPUS CHRISTI, 5 (AP) —Dr. ...Edward Peal, Corpus Christi physi-...cian, was sentenced to 39 months in ...federal penitentiary today on his ...plea of guilty to charges of illegal ...possession of narcotics. The plea was be-...fore Federal Judge James V. Allred. ...A federal grand jury had not ...acted on the cases of five other lo-...cal physicians who are under com-...plaint on narcotics charges.

...Robert Goforth, son of H. W. Go-...forth, American consul at Mata-...moros, charged with being a juve-...nile delinquent, was paroled to his ...father after a hearing before Judge ...Allred. The boy had been arrested ...in connection with a marijuana ...smuggling charge. "I hope to wipe ...the record clean of this case within ...a year or so," Judge Allred remark-...ed.

...Authorities Consider Non-Military Loan Legal

...WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—State ...Department authorities were quoted ...by members of the Senate foreign ...relations committee today as hold-...ing that a non-military loan to Fin-...land would not violate international ...law.

...In view of this testimony, by ...Senator R. Walton Moore and ...Senator Green H. Hackworth, it ...appeared probable that the com-...mittee would vote to increase the ...capital of the Export-Import bank ...from $100,000,000 to $100,000,000.

...Such an increase would pave the ...way for a new loan to Finland and ...possibly increase the credits China ...might obtain, to help them in their ...struggles with Russia and Japan, ...respectively.

Little Girl Calls Her Grandmother Across Continent; Bill To Cost Her Daddy $20.50

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 5. (U.P.)—When the telephone rang and Mrs. Fred Blum answered a child said:

"Hello, is this Grandmother Blum?"

"Grandmother Blum?" repeated Mrs. Blum. "Is somebody making a joke with me?"

"It's your granddaughter in California," said the voice. "It's Gloria."

Mrs. Blum's son, Carl Blum, lives in Inglewood, Calif., so Mrs. Blum asked where he was.

"He's at work and mother is away for the afternoon," Gloria explained. "I just thought I would call you up."

The call will cost Gloria's father $20.50.

Plumbers Work Three Days To Thaw Out Water Pipes Only To Learn Valve Was Cut Off

SNOW HILL, Md., Feb. 5. (AP) —For three days two forces of plumbers labored to thaw out water pipes leading into the home of Mrs. Linda Price, Norman Hall and Dewey Pusey.

Lead-in pipes were unearthed and heated, trenches dug, and blow torches flamed hours on end. But—no water.

Then Herman Truitt, a workman, walked over to the city's main water line and turned a valve. Water spouted at disconnected pipes all around the three yards.

How the valve got shut off still is a mystery.

Pull the Trigger on Constipation, and Pepsin-ize Acid Stomach Too

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste, and bad breath, your stomach is probably loaded up with certain undigested food and your bowels don't move. So you need both Pepsin to help break up fast that rich undigested food in your stomach, and Laxative Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels. So be sure your laxative also contains Pepsin. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative, because its Syrup Pepsin helps you gain that wonderful stomach comfort, while the Laxative Senna moves your bowels. Tests prove the power of Pepsin to dissolve those lumps of undigested protein food which may linger in your stomach, to cause belching, gastric acidity and nausea. This is how pepsinizing your stomach helps relieve it of such distress. At the same time this medicine wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your bowels to relieve your constipation. So see how much better you feel by taking the laxative that also puts Pepsin to work on that stomach discomfort, too. Even finicky children love to taste this pleasant family laxative. Buy Dr. Caldwell's Laxative—Senna with Syrup Pepsin at your druggist today! Adv.

Pastors, Laymen Attend Meeting

Lubbock Baptist laymen and ministers are participating in the annual Panhandle Baptist Pastors' and Laymens' conference which opened Monday at Wayland college, Plainview. The conference will close Wednesday afternoon and an attendance of 500 is expected.

J. A. Fortenberry of Lubbock is second vice president and he and Dr. F. B. Malone, layman, attended Monday. Dr. Malone talked on "Fields of Service for the Layman." Broughton Morgan, who recently came here from Plainview, was in charge of special music.

Dr. C. E. Hereford, pastor of the First church, spoke on "The Pastor a Divinely Called Prophet." His address and that of Dr. Malone were set for the afternoon program.

Dr. R. C. Campbell, Dallas mission secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Texas and former pastor here, spoke on evangelism Monday. He arrived here Sunday morning by train and was met by Dr. Hereford.

Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor of Calvary Baptist church and Leo E. Waite, educational director of the First church, also attended Monday.

Several well known pastors and laymen of this section are on the program. A. O. Thompson of Hereford is president; Rev. George A. Dale of Tahoka first vice president; Rev. J. C. McKenzie of Amarillo, third vice president and Rev. C. E. Roark of Idalou, secretary and program chairman. Districts 9 and 10 are included in the conference area.

Cannon were employed in the siege of Adrianople in 1453 by Mahomet II.

Two New Stamps Go On Sale Monday

Two of Postmaster General Jim Farley's new stamps went on sale Monday and another one will be sold beginning today, said Amos Howard, postmaster.

The green one-cent stamp, with a likeness of Washington Irving and the two-cent stamp with the likeness of James Fenimore Cooper are now on sale.

Howard said the office would have other new issues "as soon as possible." The department will issue a large number of stamps honoring prominent American authors, writers, artists, etc., during 1940.

During the reign of Queen Elizabeth of England, London apprentices were obliged to wear blue cloaks in summer and blue gowns in winter.

ESSAY ON MAN

QUOTING the Wichita Falls Daily Home Town Talk column which was quoting "The Family Circle" in an essay on man:

"If you wear gay colors, rouge and startling hats, he hesitates to take you out. If you wear a little brown toque and tailor-made suit, he takes you out and stares all evening at a woman in gay colors, rouge and a startling hat."

• • •

ON WEARING GLASSES

PERC WESTMORE, makeup director, says girls who wear glasses, if they follow a few makeup and fashion rules, can be as attractive as their unspectacled sisters. We doubt it but who are we to argue with Mr. Westmore. Here are his suggestions:

Wear the hair completely off the brow and away from the ears. A long bob looks good if brushed up from the face off the forehead in soft waves with no top curls.

• • •

Eyebrows should follow the line of the glasses and lashes should be heavily made up, especially for evening. Don't put mascara on the lower lashes.

Never wear hats that hug the forehead. Profile berets or chic sailors that expose hair and brow on one side are good.

Refrain from decorating the hair with bunches of flowers or plumes. A simple bow is permissable.

Keep a neckline simple. No heavy ruffles, heavy necklaces or earrings.

MIDDLE AGE ILLS

DR. VICTOR G. HEISER, noted health authority and writer, in a recent talk in Chicago at the celebration of the 21st anniversary of the founding of the National Dairy council emphasized a fact that could be a watchword in every household.

"Every person must be made to realize," he said, "that the diseases of middle age and old age from which we suffer today can be very largely avoided. We have been able to achieve great successes in public health largely because we only had to deal with environment. But the next big victories will depend upon persuading the individual to alter his eating habits and that is difficult.

Doctor Heiser cited a feeding experiment at Pennsylvania where two boys from birth to 16 years of age had nothing but a good diet containing plenty of milk and other protective foods. Not only were the bones, teeth and organs in perfect condition but the boys carried off the highest scholastic honors in all schools, even when transferred from one to another during the test.

REALLY GOOD SHOPPERS

MRS. Roy Fleming of Hot Springs, Ark., recent winner of the National Retail Dry Goods Association's "Typical Customer" contest, pointed out, the smart shopper makes as careful a plan before redecorating any room in her house. She doesn't buy pink curtains because they are so pretty, then get them home to discover that they are too dreadful against the old gold rug.

• • •

Mrs. Roy Fleming

Instead, she chooses the print which is to be used for curtains or on a chair or divan. She takes home a large sample of this and makes sure that the pattern and the colors in it harmonize perfectly with her rug and the walls of the room. Then back she goes to the store and asks the salesman who gave her the sample to show her plain and striped fabrics in colors which match or at least harmonize beautifully with those in the print. Samples of these and the original sample are taken home, considered in every light from every angle. If they seem to be a happy choice, slipcovers, curtains and so on are ordered.

• • •

In other words, she doesn't spend weeks ordering and returning this and that.

In addition, she tries to remember the name of at least one sales person in each department of her favorite store. She shops early in the morning, even if this means leaving the housework until later. She shops alone. And she shops seriously but not hurriedly.

Thirty-eight members attended a meeting of the Asbury Methodist W.M.S. Mrs. W. F. Bonds taught the Zible lesson. A short business session was held.

LOOK AT TWO SPRING HATS—In spite of all the talk about the return to sanity in hats, look what's happened. Consider, for example, the model at left. You think it's a geometric problem or the results of a child's effort to build something with his blocks, don't you? Not at all. It's a hat. And it's made entirely of folds of buckram. Notice the elaborate ear clip shown with it. At right is a little something alleged to have been inspired by the bonnets Marie Antoinette wore. Anyway, it's of layers of pink and blue tulle with false curls of pink tulle across the forehead.

Plainview Wedding Held Recently

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 5.—The marriage of Miss Ernstine Johnson and Harold H. Poole took place Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the First Christian church with Rev. W. P. Jennings officiating.

The bride wore a street-length frock of midnight blue with heaven pink trim and accessories. She wore a corsage of talismen roses and lilies-of-the-valley. For "something borrowed" she carried a prayer book showered with valley lilies that belongs to Mrs. Jennings. She also wore a watch that her father had given to her mother before their marriage.

Mrs. Poole is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Johnson. She is a graduate of Plainview High school and Wayland college. She attended Texas Technological college where she was a member of Las Vivarachas social club.

Mr. Poole is the son of Mrs. Carrie Poole of Flint, Mich., and is a graduate of the high school there. He also attended Santa Monica college in California. He employed with Clowe and Cowan in Plainview. The couple will make their home here after a short wedding trip.

Trans-Shipment Of Copper To Soviet Vessel Is Described

MANZANILLO, Mexico, Feb. 5. (AP) — Authoritative sources described today the trans-shipment of 5,000 tons of copper from United States freighters to a soviet Russian ship which started for Vladivostok Saturday.

The freighter Mayakovsky, it was asserted, met the American ships in this port last week to effect the transfer.

Along the waterfront it was rumored, without confirmation, however, that the copper is destined for Germany by way of the trans-Siberia railroad.

THIS IS NO TIME TO TAKE CHANCES WITH COLDS

With Contagious Colds Increasing Take These Precautions For Your Family's Sake and Your Own

Keep out of crowds as much as possible. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Eat simple food. Drink plenty of water. Keep elimination regular. Don't take needless chances. Don't experiment with untried medications. And be sure to have these two time-tested home-approved treatments on hand, ready to use.

At the First Sign of a Cold

Be ready to help prevent many colds from developing. At the first warning sneeze, sniffle, or irritated feeling in your nose—use Vicks VA-TRO-NOL. Just a few drops up each nostril. Right away you can feel Va-tro-nol stimulating Nature's own cold-fighting defenses. It actually helps to keep many colds from developing—or to throw them off in the early stages.

Also use VA-TRO-NOL for swift relief from the suffocating stuffiness and congestion of a head cold.

If a Cold Develops
(Some colds get by all precautions)

Thoroughly massage throat, chest, and back with Vicks VAPORUB, then spread on a thick layer of VapoRub, cover with a warmed cloth, and go to bed. VapoRub brings wonderful relief and invites restful sleep. Then hour after hour it keeps working—stimulating the skin like a warming poultice, while its medicinal vapors are breathed into the cold-irritated air passages of nose, throat and chest. Often when morning comes, most of the cold's discomforts are gone.

Now Be Prepared—Get a bottle of Vicks VA-TRO-NOL and a jar of Vicks VAPORUB today and take the above precautions. They may save you a lot of sickness and worry.

"Build-Up" Good News For Suffering Women

A simple method has saved many women a lot of suffering!

It is based on the fact that headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain are often symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition.

Help for this condition so often follows the use of CARDUI, because it usually increases the appetite and the flow of gastric juice; thus aids digestion and helps build physical resistance. Usual result is less periodic distress.

Many who take CARDUI a few days before and during "the time" have found this also helps ease periodic discomfort. Women have used CARDUI for more than 50 years! Adv.

Laska Is Disbarred By Colorado Court

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 5 (U.P.)—The Colorado supreme court issued an order today permanently disbarring Ben. B. Laska, now in prison, "because the public safety demands it."

Laska, Denver attorney, is serving a ten-year sentence in the Leavenworth federal prison for accepting $10,000 of the ransom money paid for the release of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma oil man. He took the money as a fee from Alred Bates, one of the kidnapers.

The Colorado court issued a disbarment order against Laska in 1937 and when he petitioned for review of the order, the court commanded him to show cause why the disbarment should not be made permanent. The six-to-one decision today was its answer.

Laska will be released sometime this year. He was convicted in federal court at Oklahoma City in 1935 and the supreme court declined to review his case. He went to prison in 1937.

He was released from Leavenworth under guard last summer to come to Denver and argue his disbarment case before the Colorado supreme court.

Don Jones Believes He Will Take West Texas Every Time

East Texas may be all right, but give Don Jones of the state experiment sub-station West Texas every time.

Jones, who arrived home late Sunday from College Station, where he had conferred with Director A. B. Connor, said he drove in rain and snow all the way from Bryan to Fort Bliss.

"I never saw the sun until after I had passed Fort Worth," Jones added. "They can have all the black land they want in East Texas—I'll take this section every time."

Jones conferred with R. E. Karper, vice-director, who is being transferred here to direct grain sorghum development.

The Canary Isalnds were known to the ancients as "The Fortunate Isles."

Politics In Georgia Hot

ATLANTA, Feb. 5 (AP)—Georgia's controversy over a Democratic presidential primary was enlivened today with threat of an independent delegation to the national nominating convention.

Chairman Edgar B. Dunlap of the Presidential Preference Primary committee, identified as friendly to the candidacy of Vice President John Nance Garner, said the group would sponsor a state convention if the state Democratic executive committee undertook to name uninstructed delegates.

To Hold Meeting

Governor E. D. Rivers, New Deal advocate, and Executive Committee Chairman James L. Gillis have publicity advocated an uninstructed delegation. The governor contended Georgia's influence would be increased by leaving the group free to bargain for its support of a candidate.

Dunlap, a spokesman for anti-New Deal forces in Georgia, declared his group would "hold mass meetings in every county in Georgia and elect delegates to a state convention, and let them name delegates to the national convention."

Appearance of two delegations at the Democratic National convention, each claiming to represent Georgia Democrats, would place the contest before the convention's rules committee, Dunlap said.

Dunlap said Garner's name would be offered as a presidential candidate if a primary is held.

No Need For Increase In Fruit Prices Seen By Commissioner

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—William Fellowes Morgan, jr., city market commissioner, said today there was no reason for the current increase in dealers' fruit and vegetable prices because he said "the wholesale market shows no sign of rise due to fear of shortage."

Dealers have said the unusual wintry weather in the nation's supply areas caused the increases, one of which was in beans, from 8½ to 23 cents a pound.

"The New York City market is supplied by products from Mexico to Canada," Morgan said. "Even if one farm area is hit by frost there is little fear of any shortage in fruits and vegetables, or even a sharp general increase in price unless crop damage should be nationwide."

While citing lower wholesale prices in meats and poultry, Morgan said his department noted only increases in prices for strawberries, snap beans and spinach.

It's Just Overnight Jaunt From Florida To Europe

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 5 (AP)—It's just an overnight jaunt now from Florida's resort area to Europe.

The American clipper of Pan-American airways' trans-Atlantic service took off at dawn today and was scheduled to reach Lisbon, Portugal, early tomorrow morning.

The trans-Atlantic service started last June, and the 100th crossing was completed a week ago. More than eighteen hundred passengers and many thousand pounds of mail have been transported.

In the past, flights have required 27 to 30 hours, with stops at Bermuda and at Horta, the Azores, on the way from New York to Lisbon.

Now, with seven months' experience, Pan-American has arranged for heavier gasoline loads and will omit Horta from the itinerary. The handling of passengers and mail was speeded. These innovations are expected to reduce the flying time to 24 hours in good weather.

Question Of What Became Of Ship's Crew Is Unanswered

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 5. (U.P.)—Coast guard officials said today they had no indication as to what had become of the crew of the storm-battered West Indian schooner Gloria Colita, found derelict in the Gulf of Mexico.

The coast guard cutter Cardigan found the schooner about 150 miles south of Mobile, advices at coast guard headquarters said. The Gloria Colita's deckhousing and her mainsail rigging and steering gear gone.

There was no one aboard.

The schooner is registered out of St. Vincent, British West Indies. It was taken in tow by the Cardigan.

Smith Officer Pleads Guilty

ATHENS, Feb. 5. (U.P.)—Horace Mills, former tax assessor and collector of Smith county, pleaded guilty today to charges of embezzling county funds.

Judge Sam Holland sentenced him to five years in prison. The sentence will run concurrently with a two-year sentence previously given him after a trial here. Mills appealed the previous conviction but later withdrew the appeal.

Seven additional cases are pending against Mill sin connection with alleged embezzlements of county funds, but state attorneys indicated today that these probably would be dismissed.

Mills also is scheduled to go on trial in Travis county on Thursday on a charge of embezzling $26,000 of state funds.

The various indictments accused him of embezzling a total of $92,000 of state and county funds.

SPORT NEWS — Lubbock Morning Avalanche — FIRST ACCURATE COMPLETE

Golden Glovers Primed For Twenty-Four Fights Tonigh

Second Round In Biggest Tourney Of History Here Begins Tonight At 8 O'Clock; 21 Boys Fade Out

Twenty-one hustling young amateur boxers progressed through the first round of the Fourth Annual Avalanche-Journal District Golden Gloves tournament last night in a three-hour program that kept most of the 900 spectators yelling and cheering loudly at the Merchants Building on the Fair Grounds.

These twenty-one join 27 others, who drew byes in the first round, to resume fighting tonight in the second round of the largest tournament of its kind ever staged here.

No less than 69 fighters reported yesterday and 42 of them engaged in fisticuffs last night. It was the largest field in the history of the event here, and the boys produced some of the best fighting.

The first night's fighting passed without loss of a single 1939 champion, although some of them had some close calls. Flyweight Champion Curtis Lebow, Lightweight Titlist Pete Nachlinger, fighting in the welterweight group, won his first fight; James Stotts, the Slaton slugger who won the welter title last year and is back to defend it, came through a tough brush with Ed McClendon of Frenship.

Others Draw Byes

Three other defending champions drew first round byes—Heavyweight Pats Mitchell, Lightheavyweight Herman Dirickson of Littlefield, and featherweight Harry Bell of Slaton.

PLENTY DOING TONIGHT

The wars continue at the Merchants Building, which will be better heated and ventilated, tonight starting at 8 o'clock with a program as long or longer than last night's 21-bout show.

Twenty-four fights are scheduled for tonight, the program entering the semi-final round in many cases and going as far as the finals in three divisions. Other semi-finals and all championship finals, or about 18 or 20 bouts, will wind up the tournament Wednesday night.

The Card For Tonight

Following are the pairings for tonight's fights, in order of their appearance in the ring:

1. W. D. McCarty, jr., Littlefield, vs. Rex Berry, Lubbock, bantams.
2. Ed Sutterfield, Plainview, vs. R. R. L. DeBusk, Slaton, middleweights.
3. Harry Bell, Slaton, vs. Olan Harper, Tahoka, featherweights.
4. Tom Bell, Slaton, vs. Jack Cox, Shallowater, featherweights.
5. Herman Dirickson, Littlefield, vs. David Coats, Tech, light heavyweights.
6. Herbert Lamb, Tahoka, vs. William Warren, Littlefield, heavyweights.

Thompson vs. Crawford

7. D. A. Thompson, Tech, vs. Benny Crawford, Floydada, lightweights.
8. Dan Daniel, Tahoka, vs. Dale Odom, Lubbock, lightweights.
9. Jimmy Ortiz, Tech, vs. Ray Belk, Plainview, lightweights.
10. Junior McLaurin, Tahoka, vs. Dalton Maner, Lubbock, lightweights.
11. Linard Buck, Morton, vs. Roy Bush, Slaton, heavyweights.
12. Rodney Boykin, Abernathy, vs. Eugene Heath, Hale Center, featherweights.
13. Jack Noble, Plainview, vs. Clayton Kinchen, Slaton, featherweights.
14. Wayne Townsend, Slaton, vs. R. C. Brackeen, Slaton, flyweights.
15. Howell Steen, Tech, vs. Hollis McLain, Tahoka, welterweights.
16. Sigie Tomlin, Levelland, vs. Pete Nachlinger, Tech, welters.
17. Curtis Lebow, Abernathy, vs. Johnny Carmona, Lubbock, flyweights (semi-finals).
18. Lee Bickerstaff, Slaton, vs. Buck Slatter, Post, bantamweights.
19. Lewis "Mutt" Sessums, Tahoka, vs. winner of No. 1 fight, bantamweights.

Buck Meets Compton

20. Lonnie Lewis, Abernathy, vs. James McCasland, Lubbock, middleweights.
21. Lloyd Richardson, Plainview, vs. Robert Crouthers, Plainview, middleweights.
22. B. L. Brown, Lubbock, vs. Raymond Abbott, Morton, middleweights.
23. John Buck, Morton, J. W. Compton, Littlefield, light heavyweights.
24. To be decided.

Advance To Semi-Finals

This program will see all divisions advanced as far as the semi-final rounds, and will see three of the eight groups move into the finals.

Finalists will be decided tonight in the flyweight, bantamweight and light heavyweight divisions. In all others, semi-final and final rounds will be fought Wednesday night, necessitating the appearance of some fighters twice on Wednesday night. The draw was so arranged, however, that no fighter was forced to compete more than once, with one exception, on any one night up to the finals.

It would be difficult indeed to pick the "feature" fight of last night's program. The crowd yelled for every fight. Luck of the draw put quite evenly matched boys together in the first round, and there was a surprising lack of knockouts. In fact, there was not one single clean knockout all night. There were several technical knockouts, a number of knockdowns, and a few well-razzed decisions, although on the whole the decisions of Judges Bill Parker and Benny Lynch and Referee Bo Sexton were taken in good humor.

Judging is based on "points," and a knockdown, for instance, does not necessarily mean loss of a round, or a bout. Boxers are judged closely on offensive and defensive points. This is a Golden Gloves rule, used in the state and national tournaments, and not necessarily a local regulation.

Night Starts Fast

First fight of the evening saw W. D. McCarty, jr., a tough little fellow from Littlefield, score a technical knockout over Isidro Casillo, of Lubbock, in the third round. Only five seconds remained, but Casillo told Referee Sexton he had enough. They were bantamweights.

Benny Crawford of Floydada was awarded a close decision over Wendal Rose of Littlefield. They fought in the lightweight class.

Dale Odom, Lubbock, decisioned George Youngblood, Lubbock, in a lightweight fight.

Dalton Maner, Lubbock, won a decision over Tibe Cadena, in the lightweight class.

Buddy Slatter of Post lost an un-

Tech Invades Lobos' Court Friday Night

Coach Berl Huffman will take his Texas Tech basketball aggregation to Albuquerque Friday and Saturday nights for a second meeting with th University of New Mexico Lobos. In a recent two-game series here, the Red Raiders triumphed, 43 to 28 and 40 to 31.

Fresh from their impressive 44 to 25 and 41 to 22 decisions over the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys the Red Raiders are confident they can repeat over the Lobos but frankly admit they expect a tougher series than the previous one.

Receiving National Attention

Victorious in 15 of their 20 games this season, the Red Raiders are getting national attention and are keen for another pair of wins over the Lobos.

Black-haired Marshall Brown, forward, is leading the Crimson scoring parade with 79 field goals and 34 gratis shots for 192 points. Bauman Roper, center and an expert with the shove-shot, ranks second to Brown with 80 field goals and 24 free shots for 184 points. T. L. Gilley, brilliant but small guard, is third with 37 field goals and 35 free shots for 109 points. These are the only three Raiders who have scored more than 100 points this season.

Defense Impressive

In their score of contests this season, the Huffman-coached basketeers have netted 287 field goals and 153 gratis shots for a combined scoring mark of 727 points. The Scarlet and Black aggregation have allowed their opponents 620 points.

Only one team, the University of Texas, has scored as much as 40 points on the Red Raiders and their spider-web defense. Huffman and his crew will leave here Friday morning and expect to arrive in Albuquerque about mid-afternoon of the same day.

The Texas Tech scoring parade follows.

Griffith Attacks Landis Proposal With Big Blast

(By The Associated Press)

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 5— Clark Griffith, shrewd owner-president of the Washington Nationals, agreed today with Kenesaw M. Landis that the present baseball farm system often is an "evil," and then lambasted the commissioner's methods of meeting the problem.

He defended the system's right to existence and asserted emphatically he would fight to the last ditch against any attempt to kill Class C and D leagues, the "life's blood of American baseball."

Landis Didn't Realize

"I agree with Commissioner Landis that the manner in which some farm clubs are run can be, and is, an evil. But until Landis can advance some concrete proposal that will allow the Class D leagues to flourish, I'll fight to the last breath," the 70-year old Griffith said.

"I do not believe that Mr. Landis realized fully the far-reaching effects of point five in his first declaration. I believe that he will further modify it and that, in time, some proposal will be brought forward to clear the picture.

None Self-Supporting

(Point five covers working agreements. The essence of its wording would prevent Charlotte, a Washington farm, from giving aid to the Orlando Class D club unless Charlotte owned Orlando outright.)

"That point five in the proposal got baseball up in the air, for there is no minor league team that is self-supporting. Even the Class AA clubs have to get help from the majors once in a while.

Moseley Heads East Texas Loop; New "Dream" Game Plans Made

LONGVIEW, Feb. 5 (AP)—C. P. Moseley of Jacksonville, newly elected president of the East Texas league, took over the duties of office today.

His election was unanimous yesterday after seven ballots on the previous Sunday resulted in a tie between Moseley and Walter Morris of Fort Worth.

Under a new plan adopted by club owners, the team leading the league on July 4 will play stars selected by sports writers from the seven other teams in the league.

Dodgers Give $25,000 For Cullenbine

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Harvesting of the major crop of free agents created by Baseball Commissioner Kennesaw M. Landis in his Detroit decision was completed today as the Brooklyn Dodgers signed Outfielder Roy Cullenbine for a bonus of $25,000.

He was one of four major leaguers in the list of 91 players freed from Detroit and affiliated clubs last month. Previously the Philadelphia Athletics had obtained Second Baseman Benny McCoy for $45,000 and a two-year contract at $10,000 a year; the Cincinnati Reds had nabbed Pitcher Lloyd Dietz for an undisclosed sum and the Dodgers signed Steve Rachunok for a reported $7,500.

Majors Pass Up Seals' Top Star

By RUSS NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5.—Did you know? Scouts of the 16 major league baseball clubs passed up a draft-tagged player who last season cracked a Pacific league record of 26 years standing.

The player is Brooks Holder, San Francisco Seals outfielder. He hit 24 triples last season. The old record was 23, established jointly in 1913 by Ivan Howard and Harl Maggert of the Los Angeles club and tied in 1923 by Pete Schneider of Vernon.

Price Tag Reasonable

In 173 games Holder hit for an average of .314. He knocked in 87 runs, had 89 bases on balls, stole 14 bases, hit 16 sacrifices, five home runs and 34 two-baggers.

Young, useful and fast, Holder could have been had for $7,500. Charley Graham, president of the Seals, was more surprised over the fact Holder wasn't drafted than he would have been if Dominic DiMaggio hadn't been sold.

Davis Cast Two

The case of Holder recalls to Graham those of two earlier coast league stars. One was Ray "Wiz" Kremer, who pitched for Oakland for ten years in full view of a parading army of big league talent detectives.

It remained for Joe Devine, on his first assignment as a Pittsburgh scout, to pick up Kremer. The big right hander helped the Pirates win a Pennant and was valuable for years, meanwhile aiding the rookie ivory hunter Devine (now a Yankee expert) establish a reputation.

Case No. 2 involves Curt Davis, who pitched five years for the Seals in colorless but decidedly effective fashion. Finally drafted by the lowest club in the National league—Philadelphia—he became the twirling star of the Phillies.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—The Illinois State Athletic commission approached the end of its investigation of "fixed" fight charges by heavyweight Harry Thomas today without any indication of what—if any—action would be taken.

The commissioners had planned to announce their conclusions this afternoon, but instead issued a formal statement saying "last minute developments" made it necessary to study the whole transcript of four previous hearings and to consider all possibilities of jurisdiction and power of subpoena.

Thus, a decision in the case involving affidavits Thomas made to the Chicago Tribune on Oct. 30 that he "laid down" in fights with Max Schmeling in New York and Tony Galento in Philadelphia was delayed indefinitely.

During four earlier sessions of the investigation, conducted by Edward T. Breen, assistant attorney general of Illinois, only one of the principals, Nate Lewis, former manager of Thomas, testified. Lewis made a sweeping denial of Thomas' charges, but was placed under suspension in Illinois, along with Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling and Galento, and the two boxers. Neither Lewis nor Jacobs hold licenses to manage or second boxers in this state.

LEANS TO OFFSIDE

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—Although selling was exceptionally light, and scattered issues exhibited quiet strength, the stock market today generally leaned to the offside.

Declines were mostly in small fractions, but a handful of "blue chips" conceded 1 to 3 points. Steels, motors, aircraft and rubbers were easier throughout, while a few rails, utilities, coppers and specialties managed to close on a mildly rising note.

The turnover of 413,045 shares was the smallest for any full session since July 10, and compared with 514,320 last Friday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .2 of a point at 49.2, a new low for the year to date. ¼ ⅛

U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Youngstown kept reactions to minor amounts. Ggeneral Motors was off ⅜ at 52½, and Chrysler unchanged. After the close "ON" directors voted a dividend of 75 cents a common share. In 1939 three similar payments were declared in addition to a year-end isbursement of $1.25 a share.

Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit an Brooklyn & Queens Transit stocks touched new 1939-40 peaks on further unification hopes. International Paper preferred edge forward, along with Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Consolidated Edison, Anaconda and Commercial Investment Trust.

Eastman Kodak sloughed off 3 points. Losers of 1 or so included Douglas Aircraft, American Can, Dow Chemical, Johns-Manville and Monsanto Chemical. Loft was a soft spot, Loew's eased as 12 week's earnings of Nov. 23, were off substantially from the like period the year before.

Bonds were narrow and almost at a standstill.

American Export lines, one of the liveliest of curb issues, rose 1⅝. Niagara Hudson Power advanced a minor fraction. On the loosing side by as much as a point were Jones & Laughlin, Bell Aircraft, Electric Bond & Share American Cyanamid "B" and Nehi Corp. Turnover of 125,000 shares compared with 114,000 Friday.

Two Pieces Of Jewelry Which Belonged To Victim Missing

DENVER, Feb. 5. (AP)—Two pieces of jewelry valued at $25,000 were believed missing in the airplane crash which snuffed out the lives of five Denver residents in Louisiana last night.

Max D. Melville, attorney for Mrs. Elizabeth McSweeney Powell, one of the victims, said today she had $100,000 worth of jewels with her.

All of these were found, he said, except a platinum-diamond bracelet and a platinum-diamond ring. Melville expressed the belief a closer search of the crash area would turn up the jewelry.

Mrs. Powell's will, naming the International Trust company of Denver as executor, was filed in the county court. Her estate was estimated at about $1,000,000.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 5. (AP)—The average price of middling 15-16 inch cotton at 10 designated southern spot markets today was 9 higher at 10.60 cents a pound. Average for the past 30 market days was 10.81. Middling 15/16inch average was 10.42 cents a pound.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—Cotton futures advanced early today and stayed at the higher levels throughout the session. Final prices were 3 to 11 points up.

There seemed to be little determined effort to force the price list one way or the other.

Converters and printers took only fill-in lots of standard print cloths, Worth street reported. Mills resisted efforts to obtain price concessions.

Exports Saturday 50,280 bales; season so far 4,290,135. Port receipts 42,058; port stocks 3,070,511.

Man Who Tried To Telephone Hitler Sentenced For Fraud

DALLAS, Feb. 5. (AP)—Frank G. Beaudoin, pictured as a man who once tried to telephone Adolf Hitler, was given a 13-month suspended prison term here today on mail fraud charges.

Beaudoin pleaded guilty to the fraud charges.

Assistant District Attorney Joe H. Jones told Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson "this man is charged with use of the mails in connection with the promotion of oil wells and leases.

"He is also the man who once got into an argument about the European situation, while in a beer tavern, and stepped to the telephone to put in a long-distance call to Hilter to prove his point."

Jones said he understood the call was never completed.

Total Of $191.60 Is Netted From Flower Sale At Tech

Carnations and roses sold at Texas Technological college Monday totaled 1,916, O. B. Howell, professor of horticulture said Monday night.

A total of $191.60 was collected.

Approximately the same number of flowers was sold as on the first annual flower day last year.

The Plant Industry club sponsored the sale to raise funds to send a flower judging team from Tech to the National Flower show at Houston.

Jimmie Davis Wins Contest For Eradification Of Pests

IDALOU, Feb. 5—Jimmie Davis of the Idalou F.F.A. chapter won a chapter pest eradication contest recently staged by the group and was awarded a knife.

The contest lasted a week and farmers in the several communities were assisted in rat killing and other work. A bonfire and pig roast marked the close of the contest, with members of the homemakers group invited as guests.

New Smith County Oil Field Is Assured By Deep Test Well

TYLER, Feb. 5. (UP)—A new Smith county oil field was assured today when the Shell No. 1 Campbell deep test in the Chapel Hill area began flowing 15 barrels an hour through a 5-64 inch choke after swabbing operations yesterday.

The test is two miles northeast of the Hunt discovery well, which made gas and distillate. Production is from 8,058 to 8,068 feet through perforations.

The new well marks the first production in the petit zone west of Shreveport.

Grain . .

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Feb. 5. (AP)—Wheat and corn prices rose a rent a bushel or more in a moderately active trade today, imparting strength to the entire grain market.

Pessimistic reports regarding northern hemisphere winter crops, with European advices stressing cold weather damage, inspired phrchasting of wheat. Export business and the country holding policy strengthened corn. Processors participated in both markets although demand from this direction was limited mostly to hand-to-mouth purchasing.

Reversing an early downward trend, wheat erased opening fractional losses and advanced as much as 1⅜ cents from the day's low. Part of the gain was lost just before the close but final prices were ⅝@⅞ higher than Saturday, with May at a 97⅛@97¼ and July 94⅝@95¾.

Corn closed ⅛@1⅛ higher, May 56@55⅞, July 55¾; oats ⅛ up; rye ⅛@¼ up and lard ⅝ higher.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Feb. 5 (AP) — Demand was slow for grain on the cash market here today.

Airplane On Way To Mardi Gras Crashes; None Is Injured

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 5. (AP)—An airplane en route to New Orleans for Mardi Gras crashed into the airport administration building here today but the pilot and two passengers escaped with a scratch.

The three were Al Lary, Orville Rogers and Ross Hadley, all three of Hollywood, Calif. Hadley owned the plane which was damanaged approximately $12,000 in the crack-up.

The party left Los Angeles yesterday morning. Weather conditions near New Orleans proved so hazardous they turned back to Waco, Tex. Leaving Waco this morning, they visited Houston and then came here.

The trio planned to continue to New Orleans by bus.

Wage-Hour Law To Be Applied On Weekly, Not Hourly Basis

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—A weekly, rather than an hourly, basis of determining whether an employer has complied with the wage-hour law has been adopted for enforcement purposes, the wage-hour division announced today.

The weekly system of determining compliance is not binding on the courts, the announcement noted.

"The courts may hold, for example," it said, "that it is unlawful to set a time (hourly) rate of less than 30 cents an hour for any hours during the work week even though higher earnings during other hours in the week might bring the total weekly earnings to $12.60 for 42 hours."

SUICIDE VERDICT

DALLAS, Feb. 5. (AP)—A woman registered in a hotel as Mrs. L. Prince of Houston was found dead of a bullet wound here today. A pistol lay near her. Justice of the Peace Tom King gave a verdict of suicide.

Chicago Picked By Democrats

to him as the most efficient national chairman in fifty years and praised him as "the most agreeable fellow to work with" he had ever known.

Roosevelt Outburst

Farley returned the compliment in a nationally broadcast radio address. In thanking the members of the committee for past assistance, he included "sturdy stalwart John Nance Garner, vice president of the United States," Applause followed the remark.

The exchange inevitably aroused speculation as to political implications. Some have been predicting the eventual emergence of a Garner-Farley working alliance, aimed at preventing a third-term nomination for President Roosevelt.

The third-term possibility was, of course, on everyone's tongue, and just as the meeting closed, word spread that at Hyde Park, Mr. Roosevelt had said he was tired of attempts to sound him out on the question and that any announcement would come at a time of his own choosing and his alone.

Deals And Rumors

Deals and strategy and rumors of deals and strategy were also much discussed by the members. One of these reports had it that Charles Sawyer would enter the Ohio preferential primary, for the purpose of swinging the Ohio delegation to President Roosevelt. Whether he would be opposed by Senator Dohahey (D-Ohio), who has been suggested as a favorite son nominee, remained undisclosed. Sawyer was the Democratic nominee for governor of Ohio in 1938.

It was learned, too, that a full slate of Garner delegates would be entered in the coming preferential primary in Wisconsin. Garner was informed of this in a telegram from state Democratic leaders to which he replied:

Taft To Decide

"This is in keeping with my public statement in which I said I would accept the nomination. In that statement I expressed the opinion that the people should decide and that the candidate should be selected at primaries and conventions as provided by law."

And, sifting in from the Republican camp, came word that Senator Taft of Ohio was expected to decide by tomorrow whether he would enter a preferential primary contest in his neighboring state of Illinois.

The selection of Chicago for the convention city was more or less unexpected. When the committee reconvened for an afternoon session, the word was that Philadelphia would win easily, but that Mayor Kelly would have a "surprise offer" on behalf of Chicago.

Chicago Has Bid Ready

His "surprise" was that Chicago had $125,000 ready for the party, would match any "reasonable offer," but would not attempt to meet any that were "ridiculous."

"We are not here to be put on the auction block," he said. "We want the convention in Chicago. We want it as Democrats."

Later Senator Guffey (D-Pa) arose and on behalf of Philadelphia offered $125,000, plus $20,000 worth of services in preparing the convention hall and Franklin field for an acceptance speech, and $5,000 which he guaranteed to raise—he almost said "contribute" but caught himself in time. Kelly promptly matched the bid.

Many Switched

This was not the case, however, when Jesse H. Jones, the chairman of the RFC, later offered a certified check for $200,0000 on behalf of Houston. One report that circulated was that Jones was making the offer for the purpose of pushing the bids upward. If that was so, Kelly was not entrapped by the strategy.

The first roll-call showed Chicago and Philadelphia very close together, but with both lacking a majority of the votes cast. Then, while Mayor Kelly, flushed and anxious, strode up and down the center aisle acting as his own floor marshal, many western votes which had been cast for San Francisco were switched to Chicago.

Mayor Maverick Will Serve As Ringmaster Of Amateur Circus

GAINESVILLE, Feb. 5. (AP)—Mayor Maury Maverick of San Antonio will don top hat and tails to act as honorary ringmaster of the Gainesville community circus, when the unique home talent show opens its eleventh season here April 24 for a three-day engagement.

Maverick is a member of the Circus Fans association of America.

A circus roundup and homecoming event will be staged by the chamber of commerce.

A homecoming parade with Capt. Tom Hickman, former head of the Texas rangers in charge, will have 15 bands for Texas and Oklahoma colleges and high schools. A queen's coronation and ball, and a future farmers fat stock show, will be included.

Worker Not Seriously Injured In Cave-In; Paving Blamed

N. C. Stokes of 707 Avenue L was not seriously injured Monday morning in a cave-in of earth and concrete in the basement of the new Lubbock National office building in 900-block Main street.

Authorities at Lubbock sanitarium, where Stokes was admitted for treatment, said he was resting well at midnight. He suffered body bruises.

He is second workman to have been injured since excavation for the building was started. Stokes was erecting reinforced steel for pillars in the basement when paving in the alley at the north end of the basement apparently caused the avalanche.

Jesse James, notorious outlaw, was killed April 3, 1882.

Shattered Romance Blamed In Death Of Roswell Girl

(By The Associated Press)

RUIDOSO, N. M., Feb. 5.—Penning the words, "I'll be waiting for you across the divide," Ann Rodgers, 35-year-old transportation company executive, shot and killed herself in her car in lonely Ruidoso canyon, a Lincoln county coroner's jury found today.

Miss Rodgers' body was found yesterday by a passing motorist. She had been shot through the head and the pistol lay at her feet in the car.

"She evidently killed herself because of a shattered romance," said Sheriff S. E. Greisen of Lincoln county.

Miss Rodger's last words were written at the end of a poem which ended: ". . . There's nothing left but this." The note added she was "tired of life—and nothing to look forward to."

The woman was secretary-treasurer of the New Mexico Transportation company at Roswell, where she lived several years.

She had parked her car in a lonely stretch of road in the canyon, about a mile and a half below the Mescalero Indian reservation line. A book of poems, the note and the pistol were beside her in the car.

AFL Business Agent Rapped

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 5. (AP)—Assistant U. S. Attorney General Neil M. Andrews today described an American Federation of Labor union business agent as the "complete dictator" of the electrical contracting business in the Pittsburgh area and asserted conditions were "no worse here than elsewhere."

Andrews made the statement in federal court in reviewing the cases of Michael P. Gordon, business agent of Local 5 International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, 43 other individuals and 13 corporations arraigned for sentencing on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government through collusive bidding on public works. One of the corporations is the electrical contractors association, an organization of employers.

All of the defendants, who pleaded no defense, were indicted by a grand jury investigating building costs in Pittsburgh in connection with the government's nation-wide anti-trust drive. Sentences were withheld until the review of the cases had been completed.

Andrews told Judge F. P. Schoonmaker he believed the conspiracy defrauded the governmnt of "at last $500,000."

Monopoly And Government In Business Cause Protest

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Senator White (R-Me), Newly appointed member of the federal monopoly committee, said today he was opposed to monopoly in business but that he believed government had no place there either.

"I don't think there should be an economic power able to impress itself on the people to their prejudice, or that is free from the eye or hand of government," he declared.

"In some fields there must be monopoly because of the practical impossibility of competition, but where economic or other conditions justify monopoly, there must be government regulation and supervision.

"Regulation ought to be general, however, and government ought not to invade the field of management and operation."

Allied War Chiefs Apparently Discuss Plight Of Finland

LONDON, Feb. 5. (AP) — The authoritative British press association's diplomatic correspondent tonight said "it can be assumed that the war in Finland took a prominent place in the discussions of the Allied war chiefs" in France today.

"This would undoubtedly be one of 'the various factors of the present situation' mentioned in the official communique as affecting the general conduct of the war," the correspondent added.

Playwright Asks Half Of What "She Done Him Wrong" Made

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 5. (UP)—Playwright Mark Linder today sought a court judgment for half the $2,500,000 he said Mae West profited from his story "She Done Him Wrong."

He said she agreed to share profits with him but that she led him to believe she received only $25,000 for the play and that actually receipts amount to $350,000 in the first year of its production, 1934, and more than $2,000,000 subsequently. He asked $1,000,000 damages and an accounting of profits.

TRAFFIC DELAYED

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 5. (AP)—A landslide delayed traffic today on the Mexico City-Laredo highway near Tamazunacuale, San Luis Potosi state. Reports to the communications department said traffic was restored after four hours.

Experiences Of John Barrymore May Serve As Basis For Movie

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 5. (UP)—Producer Darryl Zanuck wants to put John Barrymore's much publicized experiences of last week into a movie, with Barrymore as the star. His telegraphed offer was in Barrymore's hands in New York today.

The movie would be called "The Great Profile." It would be the story of a famous actor, such as Barrymore, who became involved in difficulties with his fourth wife, as Barrymore did last week with Mrs. Elaine Barrie Barrymore, and the daughter of his first wife, as Barrymore did with young Miss Diana Barrymore.

"It's very obvious," commented Zanuck, "where the idea came from."

He did not say whether he might further complete an authentic cast by hiring Elaine and Diana to put on their scene in a night club wherein the wife won Barrymore back for "24 hours of bliss" and perhaps a role in his stage play.

December Snows And January Sleet Equal .42 Of An Inch

Two December snows and one January sleet storm resulted in only .42 of an inch of moisture, according to a statement yesterday by Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment sub-station yesterday.

Snow Dec. 25 was 3 inches and amounted to .21 of an inch; an inch and a half snow Dec. 28 represented .15 of an inch of rain and January sleet was .06 of an inch.

Robbery Charges Grow Out Of Crimes In Ft. Worth, Dallas

DALLAS, Feb. 5. (UP)—Robbery charges were filed today in peace justice court against Howard Davis, 16, and Bobbie Myers, 18, both of Fort Worth, two of five boys accused of three robberies in Dallas Friday night.

They were arrested near Grand Prairie after being forced out of an automobile by officers. All five youths have been charged with car theft in Fort Worth.

The two charged here were accused of the holdup of a street railway bus driver.

Second Old-Time Press, Broker Telegrapher Dies Within Week

DALLAS, Feb. 5. (UP) — Jack J. Schmitz, 48, today became the second old-time press and broker telegrapher to die here within a week.

Schmitz died in a hospital following a lingering illness. The body will be sent to Houston for burial.

Joe Fitzgerald, another of the diminishing ranks of well known Morse operators, died here last Thursday, of a heart ailment.

COTTON IMPORTED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—The customs bureau reported today that imports of cotton staple one and one-eighth inches or more between Sept. 20 and Jan 27 filled 15,238,101 pounds of the 45,856,420-pound quota for the year ending next Sept. 20.

Make 'Em Prove It First!

RECENT attempts to discredit work of the House Committee Investigating un-American Activities through personal attacks upon its chairman, Congressman Martin Dies of Texas, were inevitable.

Those suspected of being actuated by unpatriotic motives already had tried in many ways to throttle the committee. They attempted to cut off appropriations necessary to its continued existence. They have been defiant. They have attempted to hold the committee and its chairman up to ridicule. Thtey have attempted to withhold, conceal or destroy information the committee sought—information which could not have been dangerous to those it concerned unless it was incriminating. There have been proved attempts at perjury, and suspected attempts at bribery.

All of those efforts have failed. The committee has gone right ahead with its work and as the result, numerous malcontents are faced with prison and many hundreds of others have been frightened into silencing their un-American utterances.

Now the enemies of America have resorted to one of the oldest tricks known to politics in an attempt to discredit the chairman, and through him, the entire committee. They are attempting to suggest that Dies, himself, has been guilty of unpatriotic practices.

Quite properly, any charges that any citizen may want to make against the chairman should be heard, if those charges are brought in the legally prescribed manner. It is the right of every citizen to be heard in such matters. But not an atom of credence should be placed in such charges unless they are supported by proof.

Charges of a questionable nature from questionable sources should not be permitted to weaken the work of the committee and its chairman.

He "Gets By With Murder"

REGARDLESS what one's personal views may be of Actor John Barrymore, none can deny that he is in a class by himself when it comes to keeping his name before the reading public.

He is one figure in the world of entertainment who is a problem in reverse for his publicity men. They never have to worry about keeping his name in print. Their very frequent and very fervent anxiety must be to keep it out of the headlines—in which endeavor they must have become reconciled to the almost certainty of disappointment.

The amazing fact of Barrymore is that he has escaped with such slight harm from types of publicity and notoriety which would destroy the professional careers of almost any other star of stage, screen or radio. He is pictured usually as being intoxicated. His language in the course of ordinary conversation is suggested as being of the kind to make a drunken sailor blush. The notoriety for which he alone is responsible does not permit the assumption that he recognizes any barriers of morality in association with woman-kind. He recognizes no conventions. He insults his audiences.

Yet, he has suffered not in the least, apparently, as a drawing card on the professional sense. On the contrary, there is every reason to believe that the notoriety has paid him box-office dividends. People may be amused, disgusted, angered, irritated or otherwise affected by the Barrymore antics. But they still pay their hard-earned cash to see and hear him.

One reason for that fact is that Barrymore is a great actor. His family heritage is undoubtedly the greatest in the history of the American entertainment world. Yet probably the more important reason is that there is something in his personality which causes the public to excuse his insanities with, "Oh, that's John Barrymore," and let it go at that.

That, as a matter of fact, is about the only possible explanation for his survival in stardom.

MARIE LA PORTE — model in exclusive dress shoppe, lives on a barge.

DAN DONOVAN—playboy son of a rich Irishman, in love with Marie.

TOMMY RYAN—leader of the truckers fighting Marie's father.

LYNDA MARTIN—society debutante, wants to marry Dan.

BAPTISTE LA PORTE—Marie's father, owner of a fleet of barges.

Yesterday: Dan practically kidnaps Marie, takes her to Larue's for cocktails. She finds herself strangely attracted to this unpredictable young man. When she starts home he insists upon accompanying her.

CHAPTER VI

Bat La Porte put down his pipe and reached for his hat.

"I hear strange noises on the dock," he told his wife.

"You're always hearing funny sounds," she protested. "First you suspect Tommy Ryan and now I don't know what you imagine."

He growled. "I still suspect Tommy Ryan. Jerry McGuire tipped me off."

Shuffling across the linoleum-covered floor, he lifted the hatchway. "What time is Marie coming?" His voice began fading as his head disappeared through the hatchway.

"About 7. It's half-past five." Mrs. La Porte stepped toward the kitchen. "What do you want for supper?"

Bat never heard the question. He was too occupied by another problem. A shadowy group of figures swarmed about three trucks parked close to a dark-bodied barge. As Bat peered through the growing twilight, the figures resolved themselves into the forms of men. The only two he recognized were Tommy and a fellow named Derry, who pinch-hit as pilot on motor barges. If there was one thing Bat hated worse than a truck, it was a motor barge.

Bat let out a yell and cleared the distance between the deck of the Molly and the dock with one leap.

"What stuff is this that you cowards are loading?" he screamed. "I say cowards and I mean it. You wait till dark to do your dirty work."

He moved menacingly toward the trucks, fists clenched. Tommy dropped a box he had been lifting from a truck.

"It's no use, Bat," he said, not unkindly. "You're outnumbered. If you'd gone a little easier on me last night, I might not have done this."

Bat's face twisted with anger. "You're stealing the cargo meant for my boat tomorrow."

Tommy spoke up sharply. "Go easy on that word 'stealing.' I prefer shifting. We're trucking it from the West Side. The guys that ordered the stuff will get it a lot quicker than if you'd toted it for them."

Bat sprang at Tommy. "You try to steal my cargo the way you would my daughter."

The truckman dodged him. "Careful, Bat. I haven't lost my temper yet. I might be mean if I did." He half-turned toward the sack he had put down, then stopped. "All of which gives me an idea. This cargo of phosphate means a lot to you, doesn't it?"

Bat shrugged his shoulders. "What do my private feelings count for?" His continued antagonism was apparent.

"Only this." Tommy spoke eagerly. "I'll call the fellows off this deal and let you pack the phosphate on the Molly if you'll bury the past and give Marie'n me your blessing."

"Are you out of your mind?" shrieked Bat. "The fellow doesn't live who's good enough for my Marie. I'd rather see her dead than married to you."

Lowering his head, bull-like he grabbed Tommy round the middle and prepared to throw him bodily off the dock.

Tommy gave a yell. The other men dropped their loads and ran toward the two, shouting.

• • •

The noise of a fight had aroused other barge people. Heads poked out of hatchways from boats on both sides of the dock.

"Bat La Porte needs help," cried a big Irishman on a barge nearest the fray. "It's them dammed truckmen again."

"And they're stealing my cargo and trying to load it on a pirate barge," roared Bat, falling back as Tommy pried himself loose.

All the old rivalry between the canalboat people and the truckmen flared up again. It had been seething ever since ice had begun to break in the river. Now, the feud, which dated back to the World war when trucking started cutting in on barge-hauling, was on in earnest. Last night's skirmish was as nothing compared to the battle this evening.

Tommy, struggling to his feet, as Bat flung him to the ground, put his fingers to his lips and gave a shrill whistle. What seemed to Bat an army of truckmen closed in on Pier 6 from South Street. The men carried barrel staves and they swung them right and left. Women looked out of the barge cabin windows and screamed. Children woke up and cried. In the growing darkness it became increasingly difficult to see who was hitting whom.

In the confusion Tommy and his men finished loading the pirate barge. It slipped silently out while Bat and the other bargemen were still fighting. Bat turned in time to see its black hulk disappear down the river under its own power.

"We're all fools," he bellowed. "They finished loading that cargo while we were fighting these idiots."

Bat prepared to fling at them every word of abuse he knew in French as well as English. But before he could form a single phrase, the truckers fled down South street. The cause was apparent. A police siren shrieked. For a few moments it seemed to be heading straight for Pier 6, then it grew fainter and finally faded entirely.

• • •

Bat felt of his left eye. It was swollen shut. He lumbered toward the Molly. If it weren't for his black eye he might have recognized Marie turning into the pier from South street. He might have wondered who the fellow was with her. He also might have wondered why she was arguing with him.

Tommy Ryan, feeling his bruises in the shadow of an empty truck, didn't wonder, he asked.

"Who's your boy friend, Marie?" he inquired, strolling casually toward the pair as they paused under the arc-light.

Dan grabbed her by both arms. "Are you this fellow's girl?"

Marie turned her back on Tommy. "Please go, I beg you," she pleaded with Dan. "I'm afraid you'll be hurt."

Tommy, hands in his pockets and cap pulled down over his eyes, stood silently by, a sinister figure in the half-light from above.

Dan gripped Marie's arm till she winced. "Do you belong to this man?"

"No, but for God's sake go," she begged.

"Leave this girl alone," Dan said, turning to Tommy, "and that goes for all time. I know you won't mind."

He spoke as one accustomed to giving orders.

"But I do mind." Tommy's tones had an edge. "I take orders from no one, least of all from a guy like you."

He swung a fist upward.

"Tommy," Marie screamed. "You're acting like a caveman."

Dan dodged and laughed. "I don't fight before ladies. See you later."

Half-hysterical, Marie caught Dan by the hand and led him toward the Molly, with but one idea in mind, to get him out of Tommy's reach.

"Here's my home," she said. "Will you come aboard and meet my people?"

"Don't be a ninny, that's what I've been pleading with you to do all evening."

The tide was going out and the barge was far below the dock level. Marie jumped to the Molly's deck. Dan followed her toward the hatchway. It was shoved back. Bat's head appeared in the opening.

"I've got company, pop," Marie called.

Bat turned one eye on Dan. His other eye was swollen shut. "Bring him in and let's look him over."

As Dan and Marie disappeared down the hatchway with Bat, Tommy Ryan left the sheltering truck and walked slowly toward the Baptiste barge.

Course For Co-Eds On Selection Of Clothes For Men Conducted

WACO, Feb. 5 (AP)—A wife would buy her husband's clothing along with all other family purchases if the theories of Mrs. T. C. Cardwell, chairman of the Baylor University Economics department, prevailed. She is seeking to substantiate her ideas through a course for co-eds on scientific selection of clothes for their men.

Mrs. Cardwell contends that if women were taught to realize responsibility in buying they would purchase more serviceable clothes for their husbands than would the husbands, because women consider many items a man would think trivial. Such details as proper types of buttons, correctly fitted collars, well sewed seams, effects of laundering and other factors which mean the life of the article, are being studied, Mrs. Cardwell said.

It is suggested that a man in action after receiving a badly fitted suit should be added to the course.

Workers In Mexico Will Take Holiday To Support Leader

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 5. (AP)—The powerful FROC (Regional Federation of Workers and Peasants) announced today that all work should be suspended in Mexico City next Wednesday while its thousands of members paraded through the capital's streets to demonstrate Mexican labor's solidarity with Vicente Lombardo Toledano's leadership.

The city-wide walkout was called by the FROC in condemnation of a turbulent meeting of the Railroad Workers' union Thursday night at which Lombardo Toledano was hissed when he asserted some "reactionary" factions of the union were "traitors" to the revolution and President Cardenas.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

HENRY Wallace is writhing over the hammering his farmers are taking from the American Congress and the British Ministry of Economic Warfare. He has charged that the legislators are "scuttling agriculture", and he would voice the same complaint against London if Cordell Hull would permit.

The British have announced that they will buy only 100,000 bales of cotton from the United States each month, as against a far higher volume in normal times. And they may revise that quota downward at the end of the cotton year in August. Now Mr. Wallace hears from his foreign scouts that the British will soon impose sharp quota restrictions on the amount of farm and other food stuffs which we may export to European neutrals. The ration will be based on our normal shipments under the assumption that any marked increase will be evidence that the extra supply is slipping through to Germany.

Henry's people have had quiet talks with the British blockaders, but to no avail so far. He has been given to understand that if the United States wants to retain the Allies' market for our agricultural products, the Johnson Act barring loans and credits to debt-defaulting nations must be repealed. Otherwise, England will continue to conserve her resources by trading within the empire and obtaining supplies from other neutrals by the barter process.

• • •

REALITIES: Adolf A. Berle's Yale university suggestion that Uncle Sam may have to give away his gold stock in order to reestablish a sound economic system after the war was the most important diplomatic utterance delivered by any American statesman since the war's outbreak. It had the full approval of the White House and the State department.

Here is the off-the-record background: The British and French governments have made clear that they do not want the United States to have any part in the peacemaking process, if the Allies win. London and Paris, though concealing their ultimate aims, are set to smash and carve up Germany if they emerge victorious. They don't want their strategy to be spoiled by the same sort of "silly western idealism"—their expression—which Woodrow Wilson introduced at Versailles.

Unless the United States becomes an active participant, as in 1917, the Allies will probably have their way. The idea is naturally repugnant to the Roosevelt administration, which fears the long-time worldwide effect of such a Carthaginian peace. So Mr. Berle's speech was a gentle reminder that this country owns most of the gold chips, and therefore has a powerful claim to a seat in the prospective poker game. It also reflects the growing fear here that the post-war world may discard gold as a basis of trade and currency, and leave us holding an eighteen-billion-dollar bag.

• • •

RECKONING: Resentment against the White House—not a desire for economy—lies behind the Congressional slashes in the farm appropriation bill and the navy authorization program. The legislators suspect that FDR tried to put them on the political spot, so they simply moved over to make room for him.

When President Roosevelt, through Henry Morgenthau, asked Congress to increase the public debt limit from 45 to 50 billion, he got a terrific turndown. The boys and girls figured that it would be a fatal move in a reelection year—a confession of extravagance and virtual bankruptcy they could not afford to make. Then, in order to keep under the 45 billion figure, Mr. Roosevelt submitted a budget reducing or eliminating funds for the politicos' bread-and-butter projects—roads, reclamation, PWA, WPA. He expected that this sort of pressure would force them to hike the public debt maximum.

Instead, they lopped 75 per cent off his two-ocean navy proposal—a program sponsored by FDR personally—and cut his farm-financing arrangement to ribbons. The White House grew so alarmed that it rushed Secretary Edison to Capitol Hill to intercede "in person". It also permitted Secretary Wallace to utter the most serious indictment of the legislative branch since Herbert Hoover charged Congress with "playing politics with human misery"—namely, that a Democratic House was "scuttling agriculture".

• • •

DRIVE: Cordell Hull's sudden bound into the front rank of Democratic Presidential candidates has provoked a new line of attack against the Secretary of State. Ironically, it was the President's frequent mention of his foreign minister as a bright prospect which sparked this burst of anti-Hull chatter from his rivals' benches.

The new argument is that New England, New York, Pennsylvania, the middle and far west will not vote for Mr. Hull because he hails from too far South. His views on the tariff and income taxes, which are supposed to reflect his Southern heritage and background, are cited as factors which will count against him. The Republicans, according to this argument, will be able to make the claim that his election would place the South in the saddle. It now has Garner of Texas and Barkley of Kentucky bossing the Senate, Bankhead of Alabama and Rayburn of Texas running the House. The majority of House and Senate committee chairmen also come from below the Mason and Dixon line. Three Southerners—Messrs. Black of Alabama, Reed of Kentucky, McReynolds of Tennessee—sit on the Supreme court.

Nobody pretends to know whether these arguments would injure Mr. Hull with the voters. But that isn't the point now. They are being hurled at his silvery head in an attempt to prevent a stampede to him in advance of the convention. And they will be revived more violently when the key politicos gather in a back room to name a winning candidate.

NEW YORK
By Richard Waldo

THIS country's campaign to save Finland shifted into high this week. In the move Manhattan's diplomatic colony sees American involvement far beyond the expectations of the contributors to the Finnish cause. The Hoover drive for civilian relief has become a vaster project than was thought possible publicly by backers or critics. A parallel organization to provide Finland with war equipment is already functioning throughout the states. Eventual Congressional grants—for relief, and by indirection for military equipment—will dwarf both private setups. This global U.S. quota plus that of England, France, Norway, Sweden may halt the cumbersome Russian machine for months.

But New York's colony of foreign financiers sees this defense of Finland operating greater European changes than is foreseen by the check-writing public. Whether right or wrong on their information, it can nevertheless be revealed as fact that financial groups are preparing for an economic invasion of Russia—after Stalin is out of the Kremlin.

The removal of Stalin—the consequence on Russia—the ensuing role of the Reich—in fact, the direction of the European war—is all part of a political analysis that has sizeable U.S. money ready to play its role if and when.

• • •

STEPS: Manhattan's group of White Russians has a solid representation in the big banks, foreign trade houses and in political circles. Within the limitations of censorship they still maintain close ties with the Prussian families of Germany who have long stood for Russo-German alliance. Their analysis of the present tieup is that the Russo-German unity is solid—that the Stalin-Hitler unity is a myth. The distinction is explained in the fact that Hitler wants to weld the Reich and Russia into one economic system—once Stalin has lost control of soviet policy.

The Russian dictator has maneuvered himself—not Russia—into a trap that has already sprung. To prosecute the war—in the face of the munitions caravan pouring into Finland—it to repeat the military fiascos for many months. To withdraw is to abdicate. A palace guard held together on the strength of purges will not follow a leader who gives the country a defeat.

Here And There In Texas

By C. A. PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer

OLD Man Texas, who always plays for big stakes, is outdoing himself these days to help Uncle Sam take the census of business and manufactures in his vast domain.

The stakes are Texas' dream of record-breaking industrial development in the 1940's. Old Man Texas has watched more and more factories come into his state in the last decade, and he's firmly convinced that the rate at which they continue to come the next ten years will depend largely on the kind of showing he makes in Uncle Sam's census of business and manufactures. That's why the Old Man and some of his strapping sons, like Dallas and Houston, are working so hard to make certain that the census gives them full credit for their commercial and industrial growth.

• • •

Value Climbs

In the 1900 census, which covered the business year 1899, the total value of Texas manufactured products was $92,894,433. That total included many home industries and a number of semi-processing industries, and a number of semi-processing industries, such as cotton ginning, which are no longer included.

In 1910 the total increased to $272,895,635; in 1920, to $999,995,796; and in 1930 (for 1929) to $1,450,246,431. Then came the depression years and Texas industry lost more in total value of products, from 1930 to 1933, than it had gained from 1920 to 1930. It quickly recovered, however, and in the 1937 census of manufactures (incomplete because it was not mandatory) the value of Texas manufactured products had climbed above the 1929 peak and reached $1,581,422,401.

• • •

OLD Man Texas' belief that he's playing for high stakes in his effort to get a complete 1940 census is based on the trend in American industry toward industrial decentralization in the last decade. Big companies discovered it better business to serve their regional markets from within, rather than from a single plant in one of the congested industrial centers. Geographic factors, plus growth in population and buying power, inevitably put the Southwest in line for many of the new branch manufacturing plants and distribution facilities.

Much of the southwest's recent growth can be traced directly to the breaking up process which has started in the country's big industrial centers. Industrial experts believe that the pace at which this trend continues will depend largely on what the census reports about the volume, the type and the population of the west's regional market.

• • •

Towns Are Mobilized

Texas towns and cities, through their chambers of commerce and other civic organizations, have mobilized to help the census bureau make a complete commercial and industrial inventory complete and accurate. Both Dallas and Houston, for instance, have organized citizen's census committees to assist the enumerators. Considerable rivalry been generated between the two big cities.

The citizen's committees are conducting educational and publicity campaigns to get business men's cooperation in taking the census, because census bureau officials have warned that the full cooperation of business men is needed to obtain a complete and accurate inventory.

• • •

ONE of the chief obstacles to a complete census of business and manufactures is that in many of the faster-growing communities the census bureau does not have a complete list of the business and manufacturing establishments. In Dallas, the census bureau has listed on nearly 9,000 establishments, but conservative authorities there are between 12,000 and 15,000 establishments in the county and should be included in the census.

The Dallas Chamber of Commerce has assumed responsibility for compiling a list of business establishments within the city and little. It will turn this list over to the district supervisor of the census so he can check against reports his enumerators make and then send them back with data from those establishments. No doubt other Texas cities will adopt similar plans.

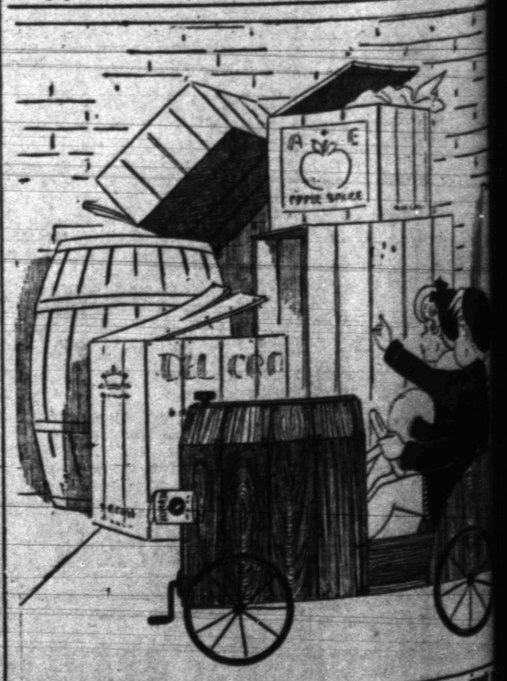

• • •

Scope Is Wide

The scope of the census of business and manufacturing reaches retail stores and service establishments including service businesses such as hotels, theaters, laundries, etc.; all wholesale manufacturers' sales branches or sales offices, commission merchants, brokers and assemblers; and all manufacturing establishments. In fact, the census includes every line of business except those on which separate reports are available through other agencies except on which duplicate records are available through other agencies, such as banks and insurance companies.

Enterprise Started By Baylor Co-Eds Is Proving Successful

WACO, Feb. 5. (U.P.) — Business note: the co-ed firm of "Finch-Simonton Enterprises, Inc." reported today that "business is great."

Finch-Simonton Enterprises is the partnership of two Shreveport, La., co-eds at Baylor university—Inez Finch and Mary Stewart Simonton.

Their business is doing favors for their co-ed housemates—and charging for them.

The girls started out with Inez, who sews well, mending runners in silk hose, charging by the inch, and Mary, who arises early to study, assessing a weekly fee for lighting fires in girls' rooms.

Later they expanded their personal service business and now the things they charge other girl students for include: waking girls for classes, helping girls dress for dates, searching for lost items, errands to the nearby drug store, library, shoe repair shop, campus cleaners and postoffice.

Business is so good, the two girls said, that they're thinking of enlarging the firm.

Grazing Service Is Directed To Lease From Private Owners

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Secretary Ickes today directed the U. S. grazing service to lease grass lands from thousands of private owners within public domain areas of ten western states.

He acted under authority of the Pierce act of 1938 which for the first time permitted the federal government to lease privately owned lands and rent them to cattle and sheep grazers.

Grazing service officials said Ickes orders would add millions of acres to the ten-million acres of public domain annually rented to stockmen.

popular decision to Hollis McLain of Lubbock in the first welterweight fight.

Pete Nachlinger, defending champion of lightweights, now a welter, won a technical kayo over Calloway Jolly of Tahoka in the third.

James McCasland, Lubbock, stopped Lowell Thompson, Tahoka, in the second. They're middleweights.

B. L. Brown, Lubbock, outpointed Joe White, Plainview in another middleweight clash.

Raymond Abbott, Morton, decisioned T. A. Solly, Slaton, middleweight.

Lebow Decisions Kirk

Robert Crouthers, Plainvew, stopped Amos Fincher, Girard, in the second, also middleweights.

J. W. Compton, Littlefield CCC, decisioned Jackie Smith, Lubbock, in the only light heavyweight contest last night.

Eugene Heath, Hale Center, decisioned Gerald Fincher, Girard, although Fincher had Heath on the floor under a fine knockdown punch in the second. They were featherweights.

Clayton Kinchen, Slaton, decisioned Blain Cowan, Littlefield.

Curtis Lebow, Abernathy, defending flyweight champion, decisioned Billy Kirk, Littlefield.

Brackeen Wows 'Em

Johnny Carmona, Lubbock, outpointed Max Kersey, Slaton, in another flyweight fight.

R. C. Brackeen, Slaton, and Al West, Lubbock CCC, featured the flyweight division with three rounds of rough and bloody going, Brackeen winning the decision and moving into a favorite's position.

Buck Slatter, Post bantamweight, decisioned John Holt, Ralls.

Lewis "Mutt" Sessums, Tahoka, won a decisions over James Seideman, in a slam-bang, unorthodox affair that had the crowd cheering all the way.

Stotts On Spot

James Stotts, Slaton, defending welter champion, decisioned Ed McClendon, Frenship, but was roundly booed during the proceedings when he forgot to "break clean."

In the final fight, Wayford Cooper, Girard welterweight who may go places, stopped B. L. Hatchell, Tahoka, with a technical knockout in the first round.

Lee Bickerstaff, Slaton featherweight, won the only default of the evening when his scheduled opponent, James L. Randolph of Lubbock, failed to put in appearance.

Livingston High Faces Class AA Expulsion

LIVINGSTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Livingston high school may not play Class AA football in the Texas Interscholastic league next fall because it did not show the necessary enrollment during the past year.

Livingston's application for retention of membership in District 14-AA was denied by vote of the executive committee.

Superintendent J. W. Summers said he would exert every effort to get a Class AA berth and indicated the school would seek to rejoin District 12 in which Livingston played in 1938.

Otherwise the school will go into district 25-A, to which athletic Director R. J. Kidd said it had been assigned.

As Last Resort

Kidd said the Interscholastic league bulletin of the previous summer was used in determining classification and as the last bulletin showed the enrollment of Livingston as 453 for 1939, it did not have a sufficient number to go into Class AA unless voted in by a district committee.

Summers said Livingston would play in District 25-A only as a last resort, "They don't want us because it isn't fair for a school of 500 enrollment to compete against a school with only 200 or 300," he asserted.

Dixie Howell Signs To Play Next Season With Oklahoma City Nine

TEMPE, Ariz., Feb. 5. (AP)—Dixie Howell, football coach at Arizona State Teachers college here, announced today he had signed a one-year contract to play baseball with Texas league.

For the last two seasons he has been playing with Beaumont, in the same league. Howell, property of the Detroit Tigers of the American league, recently was declared a free agent by Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball commissioner.

Howell said the Oklahoma City club would allow him to return here in September to coach football. His Tempe team won the Border conference championship last fall.

Letters Sent To Parents

Letters explaining the relation between school, parents, and guidance teachers, and the new "staggered" schedule of class work at Senior High school were sent to all parents of juniors and sophomores Monday afternoon. The letters were sent by Miss Grace Padley, coordinator of guidance, and Principal R. W. Matthews.

"Since our school has grown to such proportions that it is difficult for teachers and parents to become acquainted, we are taking this means of discussing with you matters pertaining to the welfare of your child," the letter says.

The letter explains that there are 44 guidance teachers in Senior High who council with students concerning their schedules, vocational plans, and personal problems. It urges parents to seek conferences with guidance teachers concerning any problems of adjustment of the pupils.

The schedule given shows that one group of students will be in school from 8 a. m. to 1 p. m.; another group from 12 o'clock to 5 p. m. and the third and largest group will follow the present plan of reporting at 9 a. m. and leaving school at 3 p. m., with one hour's recess for lunch.

War Leaves Its Mark On Hitler; He Is Almost A Recluse In Huge Chancellory

By HOWARD SMITH
United Press Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Feb. 5 — The war has made Adolf Hitler almost a recluse in his huge Wilhelmstrasse chancellory.

Hour after hour he is alone, walking or sitting at his desk making copious notes, the nature of which nobody knows.

He has grown noticeably slimmer and more nervous, but seems healthy. He works 15 or 16 hours a day; his diet is severe; he gets little or no sunshine or exercise and seems to have no diversions.

Out Of Berlin Twice

He has been out of Berlin only twice since the conquest of Poland. The first time he went to Munich and escaped death by only a few minutes in the beer cellar bombing there. On Christmas he visited his troops on the Western front. The rest of the time he has stayed in the chancellory, almost a voluntary prisoner. He works, eats and sleeps there.

He limits his food to the official rations but that hasn't altered his diet. His meals have been always of vegetables, fish, zwieback and fruit. His strongest drink is beer of 1 per cent alcoholic content, brewed for him especially.

Has Kept Promise

He has kept his promise of the first day of the war, to wear nothing but an army uniform. It is a special shade of gray which nobody else is permitted to wear and entirely without braid or embroidery, except for a gold eagle and a swastika emblem on the left sleeve. His only decorations are the iron cross, first class, which he won as a lance corporal in the World war, his gold party badge and his wound badge.

His work day begins with conferences. Field Marshal Hermann Goering is the only high official who sees him every day. Frequent callers are Col.-Gen. Walter von Brauchitsch, commander-in-chief of the army; Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, commander of the navy, and Col.-Gen. Walter von Reichenau.

It also is noteworthy that industrial leaders have been taking a bigger part in these morning conferences, and there are other evidences that Hitler is showing more interest in economic affairs, as contrasted with political and military affairs which formerly monopolized his time.

Uusually Lunches Alone

Hitler usually lunches alone. The meal is simple in the extreme, generally one of "eitopfgericthe,"—(single dish meal)—to which the German people are limited on "sacrifice Sundays."

After lunch he returns to work, and stays at it until 7 p. m. Then he spends 20 to 30 minutes over a small vegetarian dinner. From then until midnight he reads reports from the front and from various ministries, sees special films from the front, and puts his advisers through exacting cross-examinations.

He ends the day in a private room on the top floor of the chancellory writing more of the notes from which may some day come laws for 100,000,000 people.

Nine South Plains Young Men Complete Enlistment In Army

Nine South Plains young men have enlisted in the U. S. army and have completed their enlistments and were assigned to posts said Sgt. Ernest O. Slater, recruiting officer, yesterday.

Two brothers, William N. Bass and Ernest W. Bass, of Baileyboro, Bailey county, were assigned to an infantry outfit at the Presidio, San Francisco, Calif. Others assigned to the same place were, Roy E. Grubaugh, Crosbyton. Orville D. Jones of 2203 Thirty-fifth street was assigned to the cavalry at Fort Bliss.

Five men were assigned to the William Letterman General hospital, San Francisco: They were, Curtis R. Pike, route 1, Sudan; Walter E. Fletcher, 1904-A Avenue N, Lubbock; Woodrow W. Haney, 705 B. Fifteenth street, Lubbock; Walter L. Glaze, 1905 Texas avenue, Lubbock and Edwin R. Terry, route 4.

Extension Work For Electric Cooperative Is Progressing

Poles are being placed and lines strung for a 217 mile extension of South Plains Electric Cooperative, Inc., chiefly in Hale, Crosby and Lubbock counties by Reinhart & Donovan, Oklahoma City, general contractors.

Labor and material costs will be $99,750.53, the announcement from Washington said. Thirty-nine car loads of poles; 537 miles of wire and 389 transformers are to be installed.

W. G. Newton is superintendent of the cooperative and Midwestern Engineering & Construction Co., of Tulsa the engineers.

The lines, mostly extensions of present lines, will serve 463 members. Total cost of meters and overhead added to the contract will be $115,871.71, an average of $458 per mile.

A total of $560,000 has been allotted the cooperative by Rural Electrification administration. There will be 678 miles of high line and 1,613 members to be served.

Lines are in Lubbock, Crosby, Hale, Hockley and Lynn counties.

Actresses appear to have been unknown to the ancients. Female parts were performed by men or eunuchs.

Program Complete For Scout Dinner

H. L. Manire, chairman of program had been arranged Thursday night pot luck dinner serving Boy Scout Anniversary week.

The dinner will be in the ants building at the fair Principal speaker will be Baugh of Sweetwater, all star formerly of Christian university and the professional Washington skins. Collier Parris, sports the Avalanche-Journal, will duce him.
