Kidney Offered

SAN FRANCISCO (AP(—A former postman from Texas has offered to give one of his kidneys to a Southern California girl, although her doctor says chances of such a successful transplant operation are remote.

Roy Donaldson, 61, said he was moved by a television newscast Friday which said 15-year-old Rose Marie Raymond of Tarzana might die in a few weeks of kidney failure unless her kidneys could be replaced or helped by a dialysis machine.

"I can't afford to give her a kidney machine, but I can give her a kidney," Donaldson said after making the offer Sunday.

"I can't afford to pay for the operation either," he said. "But I have two kidneys and I don't need but one."

Miss Raymond's doctor, who declined to be identified, said a kidney transplant would be possible, but that donors for such operations are limited to family members.

With outside donors, he said, the risk to the donor outweighs the chances of success.

Following news reports on Miss Raymond's plight, two dialysis machines were offered-one from New York Fire Commissioner Robert O. Lowery and the other from a Stockston, Calif., man with two sons using kidney machines.

The machine offered by Lowery was bought with money donated by friends of firemen and is not presently being used by his medical department.

Donaldson, who worked for 12 years as a letter carrier in Dallas, Tex., and later as a security guard, is dovorced and the father of a married daughter. He moved to San Francisco 10 years ago.

Funds Donated

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP(—A millionaire grocer who has three healthy teen-age daughters and a home next door to Disney World has donated $1,000 to help four brothers in Michigan who aren't so lucky.

Jimmy Pritchford decided to do something "really special" after reading of the plight of the Tauscheck brothers in an Associated Press story. The four boys, 7 to 15 years old are all stricken with muscular dystrophy and want to see Disney's new Magic Kingdom in Florida while they're still able.

But the brothers live in Kingsford, Mich., and Robert Tuascheck and his wife need to save more money before thy can afford the trip.

"I looked at my three healthy daughters and felt this was some thing I had to do," said Pritchford, who was the first to offer financial assistance to the Michigan family.

When an Orlando newspaper reporter called to tell the Tuaschecks of the offer, both parents broke down in happy sobs and weren't able to talk further. But the brothers had plenty to say.

"Great," said Paul, 7, who still can walk and doesn't understand about the crippling, fatal disease that has put his brothers in wheelchairs.

"Good going," added Joey, 12, and Billy, 9.

"God bless you all," said Robbie, 15, the oldest and most severely afflicted.

Pritchford,who owns 10 grocery stores in Central Florida, said he decided to help after a family discussion.

"The Tauschecks have suffered enough hard luck for 100 families," he said.

The Tauschecks said they hope to make the trip in a converted school bus in March, so they can also see the Apollo 16 moon launch, scheduled March 17.

U. S. Dollar Strengthens In European Dealings

By ANTHONY COLLINGS
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The American dollar strengthened in European currency dealings today as foreign exchange operators studied implications of the Washington accord ending four months of monetary and trade uncertainty.

American stocks improved sharply in the stock exchanges and prices of Eurodollar bonds soared.

Foreign exchanges were closed in most countries but the dollar was strong in bank-to-bank dealings.

Matching improvement of the dollar, free gold weakened in bullion markets, refleeting the end of uncertainty with the realignment of currency values decided late Saturday in Washington by finance ministers of the Group of Ten richest non-Communist nations.

There was no official gold fixing in Frankfurt but trading was going on at the rate of $42.525 an ounce, down 17½ cents an ounce from Friday's closing. In Zurich, it opened at $42.625, down 22½ cents, and quickly dropped another 10 cents an ounce. In London, the price was fixed at $42.40, down 35 cents from Friday.

This was gold on sale to dentists, jewelers, industry and speculators. Monetary gold backing currencies is excluded from this market and is traded exclusively between state banks.

With the devaluation of the dollar decided in Washington, the new price for monetary gold is $38 an ounce, up $3 an ounce over the price prevailing since the last devaluation of the dollar in 1934.

The London foreign exchange was tightly shut and interbank dealings were forbidden. But American Express and other tourist agencies began exchanging dollars at the rate of $2.62 for one pound. Within an hour the pound declined to $2.6025. Tourist agencies were changing dollars Friday at the rate of $2.55 to one pound.

American Express said business was normal and all tourist needs were being satisfied.

Money markets were closed in Paris.

North Viets Down Four U. S. Phantom Bombers

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese antiaircraft defenses shot down four American Phantom fighter-bombers along the border with northern Laos, the U.S. Command announced Monday. It was North Vietnam's biggest success in the air war in more than three years.

Two of the eight crewmen aboard the F4 Phantoms were rescued in a massive search operation by scores of planes. The other six Americans are listed as missing.

The U.S. Command said heavy rains and high winds hampered the search over the mountainous jungles 240 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

The North Vietnamese had reported the downing of four planes earlier, but the U.S. Command delayed its admission of the losses becaue the search for the crews was still on.

The Command said three of the $2-million supersonic jets were shot down Saturday and a forth Sunday while supporting Laotian government forces on the Plain of Jars.

North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao troops and tanks overran the town of Muong Suoi and attacked all Laotian government positions on the plain over the weekend. The government forces were reported to have suffered heavy losses, and U.S. air strikes were increased in efforts to avoid a rout.

North Vietnam reported today that the U.S. prisoners captured following the downing of the American planes are:

Lt. Kenneth Roth Wells, 34, Maj. Leland Louis Hildebrand, 33, Lt. Samuel Richard Vaughan, 36, and Maj. Kenneth R. Johnson, 33.

They were reported to have been presented at a news conference in Hanoi.

Prisoners Names Are Released

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam reported today the names of four U.S. prisoners it said were captured when four American planes were downed Saturday.

The names were given as:

Maj. Leland Louis Hildebrand, born June 3, 1938, serial number 391369024.

Nixon, Heath Meet Today

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath planned to urge President Nixon at their two-day meeting starting today to join in a crash program of international relief for the war-stricken millions of East Pakistan.

Authoritative sources said the British leader was certain American aid on a multimillion-dollar scale is essential for two reasons:

—With their food dwindling and their communications shattered the Bengalis need help direly.

—The United States must move fast to reverse the consequences of having backed the regime of President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan.

Heath is ready to pledge full British participation in an emergency program, a high-ranking British source reported. France, West Germany and other West European nations are expected to join in to reduce Indian reliance on the Soviet Union for relief.

Nixon's meeting with Heath is the third in a series he has arranged with allied leaders in advance of his journeys to Peking and Moscow. The President's aim is to reassure America's allies their interests will not be jeopardized by his talks with the Chinese and Russians.

But Heath means to use the occasion for a study in depth of the future course of interallied relations in a fast-changing world.

Intelstat Satellite Launched

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A new international communications satellite whipped around the earth on a great elliptical path today as a ground station prepared to send a signal to lock it in a stationary orbit above the Atlantic Ocean.

The second in a series of Intelstat 4 satellite was launched from Cape Kennedy by an Atlas-Centaur rocket Sunday night and achieved a preliminary orbit ranging from about 350 to 22,300 miles high.

Later today, a ground station at Andover, Maine, sends a radio signal to fire a small onboard motor to kick the 3,094-pound payload into stationary orbit 22,300 miles above the equator.

There, it will join the first Intelstat 4 launched last January. They will serve as switchboards to relay telephone, television and other commercial communications signals between North and South America and Western Europe.

BY NEW MONETARY RATES

US Employment, Products Boosted

By JERRY BROWN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new set of monetary values agreed upon by the Group of Ten richest non-Communist nations should boost U.S. employment and make American products more competitive with foreign goods.

But it will have little immediate impact on the average consumer—unless he is planning to travel overseas or buy an imported car, camera or other expensive foreign-made items.

The new monetary rates, agreed upon Saturday night, center around a U.S. agreement to change the official price of gold from $35 an ounce to $38 an ounce.

The net effect will be to make U.S. goods cheaper overseas and most imports more expensive in the United States. That, in turn, is expected to spur U.S. business production and produce more jobs.

Chairman Donald Rumsfeld of the U.S. Cost of Living Council predicted Sunday that the change would create a half-million to 750,000 jobs in the United States.

Foreign cars, cameras and other items will cost noticeably more. And Americans traveling abroad will find that they will have to spend more or see less, since foreign currencies will cost more.

But there should be little over-all impact on U.S. living costs, since imports account for only 4 per cent of American purchases.

The U.S. devaluation amounts to 7.89 per cent in relation to other currencies, such as the British pound, which are not being revalued; or 8.57 per cent in relation to gold.

Some other countries in the Group of Ten are revaluing their currencies upward, making the change even more dramatic.

For example, the Japanese yen is being revalued upward 16.88 per cent in relation to the newly devalued dollar and the German mark will undergo a 13.57 per cent upward revaluation in relation to the devalued dollar.

This will be softened somewhat by the U.S. agreement to lift the 10-per-cent import surcharge imposed Aug. 15 by President Nixon.

Lifting the surcharge will have the effect of returning import duties to their pre-Aug. 15 levels from the current 10 per cent across-the-board charge on dutiable items.

The change in the "official" price of gold—the price the United States will pay in transactions with other countries—requires congressional approval, which cannot come until next month at the earliest, since Congress is not in session.

But the practical effects of the agreement on commercial or personal transactions will be more immediate, since those transactions are not directly tied to "official" currency values.

Cease-Fires Announced

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu tonight announced 24-hour cease-fires for allied forces in South Vietnam for Christmas, New Year's and the Tet celebration of the lunar new year in mid-February.

Thieu coupled his announcement with an appeal to the Communists on the occasion of Christmas to "end the fighting immediately and completely" throughout Indochina so that prompt and serious discussions could be held to restore peace.

The Viet Cong announced nearly three weeks ago that its forces would observe cease-fires of three days each for Christmas and New Year's and four days for Tet.

Thieu did not announce the hours of the South Vietnamese cease-fires, but the Foreign Ministry said they would begin at 6 p.m. Saigon time on the eve of each holiday.

Good Adverse Neutral

Her 'prize' husband is no winner

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I'm not telling you this to boast, but just to give you some idea of my situation.

I am 25, my figure is 37-25-36 and I have won several beauty contests. Two years ago I married what everyone [including myself] thought was a prize. He was 30, college educated, good job, rosy future, etc.

Well, this "prize" has made love to me exactly five times since Jan. 1, 1970! [Twice he came right out and told me it was to shut me up!]

I have tried everything, including greeting him at the door in a seductive see-thru negligee. And he says, "Hi. What's for supper?"

I told him he should see a doctor, and he said I should see one to find out why I am never satisfied! Am I abnormal or is he? Any suggestions?

"PRACTICALLY UNTOUCHED IN TULSA"

DEAR PRACTICALLY: If he refuses to see a doctor, see a lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: I am enclosing a copy of a letter I've written to all of my three grown children who are married and have families. They all live out of town, and their idea of a grand summer vacation is to come with their children [each has two], and spend it with us.

I am 62. My husband is 68. We have a lovely modern three-bedroom home with a swimming pool.

This last summer has been hectic. Each family came and stayed two weeks. In some cases their visits overlapped, so we had more than one family here at a time.

My husband and I couldn't sleep nights as they stayed up late watching TV or playing cards and laughing and talking with friends, until 2 a. m.

My husband and I always get up at 7:30 a. m., and couldn't turn on our radio, sprinkling system, dishwasher, or carry out our routine chores as our guests wanted to sleep until noon. [These are only a few of the inconveniences, I am not even mentioning the extra work.]

By the end of this summer we were nervous wrecks. I broke out in a rash and had headaches. I would appreciate knowing if you think I should send the enclosed letter to our children. And if you have any suggestions, please send them along.

MRS. NO NAME

MY DEAR CHILDREN: I have just had a long talk with my doctor. He tells me that my rash and nervous condition are due to the strain of having so much company last summer. He says I absolutely must inform my family that their visits must not last more than a week. And I can have only one set of guests at a time.

Dad also gets upset and exhausted from too much commotion and excitement. And we are getting older and have to take it easier now.

We love you and the grandchildren, and we hope you will understand.

Our love,
MOTHER AND DAD

DEAR MRS. NO NAME: Yours is a legitimate [and not uncommon] problem and your approach to it is sensitive and fair. If the response to it is understanding and friendly, your "children" have matured. If it is not, they haven't quite grown up yet, so send the letter and stick to your guns.

DEAR ABBY: You suggested that people who didn't know where to register to vote should call the Democratic or Republican party headquarters.

Please! There is a better place to call. The County Board of Elections. They are listed in the telephone directory under the name of the county where one resides.—[signed] RUTH AT THE COUNTY BOARD OF ELECTIONS

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Ban On Tax Exemptions Affirmed

By DON MCLEOD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court affirmed today a decision banning federal tax-exempt status for private white schools set up to avoid public school desegregation.

The court made no comment in refusing to review a decision by a three-judge panel of the U.S. District Court here issued last June 30 and affirmed the lower court's decision.

The tax-exempt status was taken away initially by a preliminary injunction granted Jan. 30, 1970 to Negro public school children in Mississippi and their parent who charged exempting the private schools aided white efforts to skirt court-ordered integration.

The Negroes also claimed that private schools benefitting from the exemptions were draining away teachers as well as white students from the public schools their children attended.

In other court actions today, the court:

—Agreed to decide whether California can shut down bars that feature nude dancers and sex films.

—Denied a hearing to the Texas Gulf Sulphur Co., and nine officials and employes in a case that may set precedent governing the stock market trading of corporate insiders.

—Ruled that the constitutional guarantee of a speedy trial applies only after a person has been accused of a crime and not to delays by the government in seeking an indictment

BHUTTO NEW CHIEF

Power Shifts In Pakistan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan resigned today, and Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, West Pakistan's most powerful political leader, succeeded him as president and chief martial law administrator.

Yahya Khan resigned because of his army's defeat in the two-week war with India. His resignation ended 13 years of military rule in Pakistan, but the retention of martial law indicated that the army would continue to play a key role.

Bhutto was sworn in shortly after he returned from the United States, where he had argued Pakistan's case against India at the United Nations and conferred with President Nixon on Saturday. U.S. Ambassador Joseph S. Farland was in the large crowd that met him at the airport in Islamabad.

Bhutto said Sunday it was premature to speak of the future of Sheik Mujibur Rahman, the political leader of Pakistan's now independent eastern province of Bangla Desh, who is a prisoner of the Pakistani government.

He told newsmen in Rome that President Nixon, at their meeting in Washington Saturday, had reaffirmed U.S. support for the principle of Pakistan's sovereignty and unity.

"Pakistan is one single thing," Bhutto said. "The nation's unity must be safeguarded. India has forcefully occupied Pakistani territories and a lasting peace cannot be achieved if New Delhi fails to give back what it conquered with its tanks. We do not want to be involved in a war every five or ten years."

Bhutto's leftist Pakistan People's party is the largest in the National Assembly, with 82 of the 138 seats allotted to West Pakistan. Sheik Mujib's Awami League won 167 seats, all in East Pakistan, and that gave it a majority in the assembly, but Yahya Khan canceled most of the Awami victories when he ordered his army to crush the league last March.

Yahya Khan put Mujib on trial before a military court on charges of treason; sources in Rawalpindi said the trial has ended, but there was no word of a verdict. They added that Sheik Mujib had sought a meeting with Yahya after the two-week war started, but the president refused to see him.

After Indian forces invaded East Pakistan on Dec. 4, Yahya Khan named a minor East Pakistani political leader, Nurul Amin, prime minister with Bhutto as deputy prime minister and foreign minister.

Since the army's surrender in East Pakistan last Thursday and Yahya's proclamation of a cease-fire on Friday, there have been demonstrations throughout West Pakistan against his conduct of the war.

Texas Is Warming

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas started warming a bit today as the latest cold front came close to a standstill on a curving line from east to Amarillo to Wichita Falls and northward into Oklahoma.

Showers and occasional thunderstorms dotted the plains near the Middle and Upper Texas Coast, and there was early morning fog around Cotulla and McAllen in the south part of the state.

Skies were generally clear in other sections.

Temperatures near sunrise sagged to 26 degrees at Amarillo and 27 at Dalhart in the Panhandle. At other points the range was from the middle 30s into the 60s, with a 64 at Brownsville and 65 at Galveston.

AS KEY BLOCKER

Butz Enters '72 Political Scene

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz has burst onto the 1972 political scene as the key downfield blocker in President Nixon's race through the farm belt.

Charges that the administration is against small farmers and for huge, corporate interests will be challenged with a bang, not a whimper. Butz, 62, says he's a fighter and likes to punch.

Moreover, Butz said in an interview, he will stump the farm belt on behalf of Republican candidates "on our team" in 1972.

Butz said he expects 1972 to be a lively scrap for the hearts and votes of rural America.

An example of the fray ahead was signalled last Friday by Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, who told a National Farmers Organization audience Nixon "has turned his back" on farmers.

"Earl Butz stands for factory buying, which drives merchants out of business, small towns out of existence and families out of farming," Muskie told the NFO in Kansas City.

Butz, who had read a copy of the Muskie speech, said such claims were "totally wrong" and that farmers would be the judges of Nixon policies.

Butz says the opening gun of the 1972 political campaign in the farm belt was sounded during the stormy Senate debate over his nomination as successor to Clifford M. Hardin, Nixon's first secretary of agriculture.

During the debate, which ended with Butz being narrowly approved by the Senate on Dec. 2, the former Purdue University economist was chastised for past connections with agricultural business firms.

Butz said that while at Purdue he worked with farmers of every size and stripe: large and small, poor and well-to-do.

"And I also worked with those concerns that supply farmers with products they use in production and that process and merchandise their products," Butz added.

Two Men Hurt In Road Mishap

Jimmy Don Evans, 25, Dallas, and his brother, Bobby Evans, 21, Lubbock, sustained minor injuries in a one-car mishap 13.3 miles north of Snyder on U.S. 84 at 4:30 a.m. Sunday.

Investigating Highway Patrolmen said Jimmy Don apparently lost control of his 1972 Model Pontiac from a starting position and the vehicle went into a drain hole in the median. There was consierable damage. His brother was a passenger in the car.

Both men were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by private vehicle.

Funeral service will be held Tuesday afternoon at the Plympton Congregational Church, under direction of the Shepard Funeral Home of Kingston, Mass.

Mrs. Eldridge is survived by four children, Mary Guidoboni of Middleboro, Mass., Jody Russell of Snyder, Thayer Eldridge and Carolyn Fuller, both of Plumpton; a sister, Mrs. Pauline Blanchard, and 10 grandchildren.

Soviet Signals Brief

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union says the capsule it parachuted onto the surface of Mars sent television signals for about 20 seconds and indicated that the pictures sent were duds.

The disclosure Sunday by the Communist party newspaper Pravda was in a long analysis of the missions of the Soviet space probes Mars 2 and Mars 3.

Mars 3 soft-landed a capsule on the planet Dec. 2. Five days later, the Soviet news agency Tass reported that the "video signals ... were brief and suddenly discontinued."

"It is too early to say what stopped the transmission," said Pravda. "It could be due to the local peculiarities of the landing area, which are absolutely unknown, or to the strong dust storm taking place at the time."

Pravda said that during the brief transmission "a small part of a panoramic view was transmitted which does not reveal any noticeable differences in the contrast of details." This meant the picture was too blurred to show anything.

Easy-Care Houseplants

COLLEGE STATION—You can add beauty and enjoyment to your home with easy care houseplants—even if you don't have a green thumb, reports Pat Bradshaw, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist at Texas A&M University.

Feathery dracena marginata is a popular houseplant that suits any decor and is tops in adapting to various home conditions, Miss Bradshaw says. The plant is available as small single-stem specimens or as multi-trunked ones of most any height you want. The stems bend in odd directions as they grow. If you want a sculptural effect, select a tall plant with slow growth.

Water a feathery dracena twice a week or when the soil dries, depending on pot size, she suggests. This rule applies to all plants, though some (including the feathery dracena) can run drier than others. If the foilage feels soft or droops unnaturally, give the plant a drink of water.

Norfolk Island pine with its tiered growth is a good conversational piece for your home, Miss Bradshaw notes. Popular in Victorian times, the pine faded out of style but is now favored again for its unusual slow growth and tolerance of dry conditions in the home. The houseplant will thrive anywhere except in a totally dark corner, but will do better if moved occasionally into bright light—but not full sun—for a few days at a time.

Be careful not to kill the pine with kindness, Miss Bradshaw cautions. Water with one cup only every two or three days. If you skip a watering, the plant won't suffer.

Another good houseplant is thse sansevieria in rosette shape, the specialist says. The more common, taller growing variety is called snake plant. Hahn's variety is equally durable and is useful in limited space since it is small and low. And is doesn't have to be propagated; it propagates itself by sending out suckers to the side. When these suckers develop their own roots, they can be cut and potted individually.

Water sansevierias lightly once a week and no more, Miss Bradshaw says. Sansevierias can get quite dry without suffering. If you're going on a two week vacation, the plant will survive without any difficulty.

If looking for a plant that cascadesor climbs, the specialist suggests selecting devil's ivy. Devil's ivy can be grown in a loose soil mixture or in plain water; the roots are interesting in a clear glass container. The ivy's leaves can reach a tremendous size, except when grown in the house. The plant, then, won't grow out of proportion with interior surroundings. If it has grown too long or tall for the desired effect, cut off pieces with two to four leaves and root them in water, sand or a peat moss mixture.

A Story Of Naval Academy

THE NAVAL ACADEMY ILLUSTRATED HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES NAVY. By E. B. Potter. Thomas Y. Crowell Co. $12.95.

At a time when we are being told the U.S. Navy of the future may consist mainly of nuclear submarines that emerge only surreptitiously, and armed hovercraft that will flit over the surface like dragon flies with a sting, it is gratifying to have a one-volume history that describes the country's fighting ships from the beginning in a way that will appeal to nautical sentimentalists.

The book is written by E. B. Potter, professor of naval history at Annapolis. It is identified in the title as the "Naval Academy" illustrated history, by special permission of Vice Adm. James F. Calvert Jr., academy superintendent. Potter insists in his preface that this does not mean it is really an official history or that the inclusion of exclusion of material has the sanction of the academy or the Navy Department.

Nevertheless, it is obviously as near an official account from the academy viewpoint as we are likely to get.

Potter writes briskly and with affection. This, together with the numerous maps and illustrations contemporary with the events he is describing, gives the work much of the excitement of a film or television documentary. Since the whole production, from Revolutionary times to Vietnam, including illustrations and index, is covered in just under 300 pages, he must tell his story with the greatest succinctness. Even so it is remarkable that he is able to give as much theory and analysis in addition to straight narrative.

While Potter is not disposed to offer any revolutionary reinterpretations of events and personalities, he can come up with some shrewd thumbnail characterizations.

Bellard Is A&M Coach

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The Texas A&M Board of Regents today named University of Texas assistant Emory Bellard to replaced Gene Stallings as the Aggie head football coach and athletic director.

Bellard received a five-year contract but terms were not announced.

A&M President Jack K. Williams made the announcement and said, "We are indeed pleased to secure the services of such an outstanding man." Bellard was offensive backfield coach at Texas.

"His coaching record in the Texas high school ranks and as a college assistant are excellent," Williams said.

"We know that he will be warmly welcomed to Aggieland by students, alumni and faculty."

Bellard said he was "thrilled" to accept the offer of heading A&M's athletic program and football staff.

"My primary tasks now are to organize a coaching staff and to get busy recruiting," Bellard said. "I'm sure the young athletes of Texas will understand why Texas A&M is a bit tardy in contacting them."

Bellard, who will assume his duties immediately, spent 15 seasons as a high school coach in Texas.

Stallings was fired after a disappointing 5-6 season although the Aggies won four of their last five games, losing to Cotton Bowl-bound Texas in the finale.

Stallings was relieved of all duties following the loss to Texas on Thanksgiving Day and finished his seven-year reign with a 27-45-1 record.

The Aggies' big year under Stalling was 1967 when they lost their first four games, then won six straight to win the Southwest Conference title and beat Alabama 20-16 in the Cotton Bow. It was A&M's only winning season under Stallings.

He compiled a 32-3 record at Ingleside and was 45-14-1 at Breckenridge.

He also was at San Angelo where he had a 62-17-1 record.

Bellard joined the Texas staff as a linebacker coach in 1967 and became the offensive backfield coach the next year. He was instrumental in helping install Texas' Wishbone-T offense.

"From Thanksgiving to this time we have sifted through 50 names and reduced it to eight," Williams said. "The first offer of those eight was made to Emory Bellard and he accepted."

Williams also said no one from A&M had made other offers to any other coaches, referring to a rumored $1 million contract to Louisiana State coach Charley McClendon.

"We expect to win our share of football games and football championships," Williams said. "We look forward to a pleasant relationship."

Bellard announced that Marvin Tate would remain as associate athletic director.

"He's going to lend a lot of support to me in the next months," Bellard said.

Bellard said he will announce a decision on the rest of his staff as soon as possible.

"I have some who are already committed to our staff," he said. "As to the present staff I would not like to comment at this time."

Cajuns Win Sun Bowl

By GREG MACALEESE
Associated Press Sports Writer

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Bert Jones has had more success on television this year than Marcus Welby.

Put him in front of a camera and Jones becomes a precise surgeon — with defensive secondaries his patients.

In his last two appearances on national television this year, the Louisiana State junior quarterback has been devastating. He completed seven of nine passes for two touchdowns in leading LSU to a 28-8 victory over Notre Dame earlier this year.

But Jones' surgical techniques were at their best Saturday as he sliced open Iowa State's defensive secondary with three touchdown passes and ran for another in LSU's 33-15 victory over the Cyclones in El Paso's 37th annual Sun Bowl.

49ers Defeat Lions, 31-27

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

A year ago, the Detroit Lions kept Los Angeles out of the National Football League playoffs by winning their final regular season game. This time they did it by losing.

The San Francisco 49ers edged the Lions 31-27 Sunday on John Brodie's 10-yard touchdown scramble with 10 minutes to play. That gave the 49ers the National Conference's Western Division crown and relegated the Rams, whose 23-14 triumph over Pittsburgh already was on the scoreboard, to another meaningless second-place finish.

Last season, the Rams beat the Giants in New York on the final day to stay alive, only to have the 49ers defeat Oakland and win the West while the Lions whipped Green Bay for the best second-place record in the NFC and the conference's wild card playoff spot.

Elsewhere, the Miami Dolphins trounced Green Bay 27-6 and won the AFC Eastern Division title by one-half game over Baltimore when the Colts bowed to New England 21-17. The Dallas Cowboys won the NFC Eastern crown Saturday by routing St. Louis 31-12.

The Super Bowl playoffs open next Saturday with Dallas at Minnesota and Miami at Kansas City. Sunday finds Baltimore at Cleveland and Washington at San Francisco.

Other results Sunday were Cleveland 20, Washington 13; Kansas City 22, Buffalo 9; Minnesota 27, Chicago 10; Atlanta 24, New Orleans 20; Oakland 21, Denver 13; New York Jets 35, Cincinnati 21; Philadelphia 41, New York Giants 28 and Houston 49, San Diego 33.

Brodie, who earlier threw scoring passes to Dick Witcher, Ken Willard and Gene Washington, pulled San Francisco from behind for the third time with his decisive gallop. He faded to pass, escaped two rushers and scrambled up the middle.

The 49ers took possession of the ball for their winning drive when Frank Nunley and Earl Edwards combined to stop Detroit's Greg Landry on fourth down when he tried to sneak for less than a yard at the Lions' 40.

Coach Joe Schmidt of the Lions admitted, "We would have played it differently" had Detroit been in position to make the playoffs. "We were going for the win. That's what we came here to do. I thought we had to play it that way to keep the momentum and maybe get in scoring position again."

The Rams, their backs squarely against the wall, scored the first three times they had the ball against Pittsburgh on a pair of David Ray field goals and Roman Gabriel's 20-yard pass to Jack Snow. But Gabriel said the players virtually had conceded the Western title to San Francisco.

"It was hard for us to play this game," he said. "I really don't think our team concentrated well at all. We all just thought San Francisco was not going to lose."

Miami, locked in a 6-6 struggle with Green Bay, exploded for three touchdowns within five minutes of the second half and then sat back to await New England's upset of Baltimore. The quick scores came on one-yard runs by Jim Kiick and Larry Csonka and Curtis Johnson's 47-yard spring with a blocked field goal attempt.

Green Bay's John Brockington ran for 73 yards to become the ground-gainingest rookie in NFL history with 1,105 yards.

"I'm sure the Colts played to win," said Miami Coach Don Shula, when asked how he felt about meeting 10-3-1 Kansas City in the opening round of the playoffs while runnerup Baltimore, the AFC's wild-card entry, goes against supposedly weaker 9-5 Cleveland.

Baltimore's Don McCafferty echoed that sentiment after New England's Jim Plunkett fired his second touchdown pass to Randy Vataha, this one an 88-yard bomb, to offset a late score by the Colts. John Outlaw ran 60 yards with an interception for the Patriots' other touchdown.

"You don't like to lose any time," McCafferty said.

Mike Howell's 68-yard interception return set up Bill Nelsen's tie-breaking four-yard pass to Chip Glass that boosted the Browns over the Redskins. Jan Stenerud's five field goals and Bobby Bell's 26-yard interception gave Kansas City its triumph over hapless Buffalo, which wound up with a 1-13 record.

Bob Lee passed to Bob Grim for two touchdowns to lead Minnesota over Chicago and Bob Berry's 22-yard pass to Ken Burrow with 34 seconds enabled Atlanta to turn back New Orleans for the Falcons' first winning season (7-6-1) ever.

Daryle Lamonica's 67-yard pass to Raymond Chester started Oakland to its victory over Denver although Raider fans booed their quarterback throughout the game.

Joe Namath passed for two touchdowns—and then announced he'd be back next year—and Emerson Boozer ran for a pair as the Jets downed Cincinnati. Pete Liske fired for three touchdowns in Philadelphia's rout of the Giants.

Hogs, Vols Vie In Liberty Bowl

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — "Their defense is not just good, it's outstanding," said Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas on the eve of his Razorbacks' Liberty Bowl confrontation with ninth-ranked Tennessee tonight.

"I don't recall seeing a defense with so much speed all across the board," Broyles said. "They don't stay blocked long."

Tennessee's drive to a 9-2 season that included a smashing 31-11 victory over previously undefeated Penn State was keyed to a big-play defense led by All-America safety Bobby Majors and linebackers Jackie Walker and Ray Nettles, each packing All-Southeastern Conference credentials.

The battle between the rugged Vol defenders and the explosive Porker attack is slated for a 9 p.m. (EST) kickoff before a sellout crowd of 50,100 in Memorial Stadium and a national television audience (ABC).

Bookmakers have pegged the game as the closest of the postseason struggles, establishing Tennessee as a one-point favorite to extend its winning streak to seven games.

The 18th-ranked Razorbacks, runner-up in the Southwest Conference, will provide Tennessee one of its toughest tests this year.

Quarterback Joe Ferguson, one of the nation's leading passers, piled up more than 2,000 yards in the air while a trio of running backs tacked on another 1,800—Dicky Morton 831, Mike Saint 501 and Jon Richardson 483.

Tennessee experienced offensive problems early in the season but began to stabilize behind fourth unit quarterback Jim Maxwell, a senior who hasn't tasted defeat since taking command six games ago.

SWC Is 30-20 Against Foes

Only the Texas Aggies play in a holiday basketball tournament this week as most Southwest Conference clubs scheduled a light round of activity because of the Christmas season.

The Aggies travel to Albuquerque to play in the Lobo Invitational Wednesday and Thursday.

The SWC has a 30-20 record against outside foes on the basis of a light round of games last week.

Western Rips Eastern 109-76

The Western Texas College Westerners brought their season record to a 5-7 here Saturday night with an impressive 109-76 triumph over Eastern New Mexico Junior College of Roswell.

The visiting Cougars were outclassed in virtually every phase of the game as Coach Sid Simpson of the Westerners employed 13 different players in the contest. Six Westerners and four Cougars were in double figures.

Jimmy Hill of Amarillo Tascosa and Joel Dyess of South Garland each meshed 16 points for WTC. James Houston of Charlotte, N.C., put in 15 points, Steve Sparks of Krum netted 13 points, and Ralph Jackson of Brownfield Union and Mark Pearson of Borger each tallied 10 points.

Hill was especially effective in the first half while Dyess did most of his scoring in the second half. WTC overcame an early deficit and never trailed after the first four minutes. The margin at halftime was 59-38.

Eastern's Joe Magill captured scoring honors for the game getting 24 points. He scored 16 of them in the first half. Ronnie Capps was runnerup with 17 points while Dib Andress and Benji Boydston roped 11 and 10 points respectively for the Cougars. Boydston and Mike Erwin fouled out.

At the line, WTC sank 23 of 35 while the Cougars connected on 24 of 37.

The Westerners will be off for the holidays and not return to action until Jan. 10 when they meet Frank Phillips Junior College in Borger.

Prep Titles Are Decided

ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Texas schoolboy football state title games were perhaps the most closely contested in history with San Antonio Lee, Plano, Jacksboro and Sonora and Barbers Hill reaping the glory and their opponents the heartaches.

San Antonio Lee's quarterback Tommy Kramer as the last-second hero as the Volunteers edged Wichita Falls 28-27 for the Class AAAA title. Kramer threw a 29-yard touchdown pass with less than three minutes left and then kicked the winning point. He returns again in 1972. The victory was revenge for a 28-20 loss to the Coyotes in the 1969 title game and was Lee's first championship.

Pat Thomas kicked the winning extra point and Plano shaved Gregory-Portland 21-20 in another chiller. The Wildcats had to survive a last-second 35-yard field goal try to outlast an excellent Gregory-Portland outfit for the AAA title.

In Class AA, Jacksboro overcame scrappy Rosebud-Lott 20-14 to win by the widest point margin in any of the title games.

Defending champion Sonora and Barbers Hill shared the Class A title after their wild game ended tied 3-3.

Battle Of Cats Slated Tuesday

The Snyder Tigers will open the District 3-AAA basketball campaign tomorrow night in the Scurry County Coliseum. The program will begin at 6:15 p.m. with the B team game. Lubbock Dunbar will provide the opposition.

Snyder defeated Dunbar 74-57 in the finals of the Canyon Reef Tournament, but the contest Tuesday will count in the district standings and the panther's could be more difficult to beat.

The Tigers, with a 10-2 record, are one of the best teams in West Texas. Four starters in tomorrow night's game made the All-Tournament team in the Canyon Reef Tournament—Tommy Washington (5-11), Dub Preston (6-5), Jerry Brooks (6-2) and Kent Horsley (6-8). The other starter, Fred Liner (6-2), also looked good in the tourney.

Coach Bob Moore probably will start Brooks and Horsley at forward, Preston at and Washington at wing, and Liner at guard.

Several other talented lads are ready for action, including forwards Gary Brooks (6-3), Jimmy Don Dyess (6-2) and David Thompson (6-1), center Kevin Jones (6-4), and guards Charles Anderson (5-7), Mike Hinton (5-10), and Jackie Murray (5-10).

Defense and good all-round shooting has been the key to the Tiger success this season.

Dunbar had two boys on the All-Tournament team. They are Gary Howard (5-11) and Larry Collins (6-3). Howard is a fast guard and a senior. Collins, a post man, scores well inside. He's a junior. Both are one-year lettermen.

Other probable starters for Coach Van Cypert's Panthers are George Smith (5-10), Don McGraw (6-3) and Calvin Walker (5-10). Smith and McGraw are senior lettermen. Walker is a sophomore.

Possible starters for Coach Jim Bartlett's Bengals include post men Robert Braziel and Moell Blalock, wingmen Richard Gorman and Darrell Morgan and guard Henry Ramos.

Family Of Captains

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Tommy Yearout is the third member of his family to serve Auburn as a football captain. His brother Gutsy captained the 1966 and 1967 teams while Vic Costellos, an uncle, was 1942 captain.

Highlights Of No-Fault Auto Insurance Clarified

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — An almost inevitable result of a lot of talk is a lot of confusion, and such is the current state of knowledge with regard to no-fault automobile insurance.

Despite the talk, only one state has a plan in action. In Massachusetts, regardless of who is at fault in an accident, the insured's company makes the payments for liability claims up to $2000 out of court.

But, while some states haven't even considered no-fault, a dozen others have at least studied them and four—Illinois, Delaware, Oregon and Florida—join Massachusetts with plans of their own by the first of the year.

Moreover, Congress is interested in the concept, which is designed to speed payments, end long law suits and eliminate "windfall" profits from "pain and suffering" claims.

To clarify some of the highlights, Aetna Life & Casualty has presented a list of some commonly held attitudes about no-fault. Aetna backs such plans, and to that extent its viewpoint may represent advocacy rather than neutrality.

1. Statement: No-fault means there really will be no waiting for claim payments. Reply: True. Under no-fault, payments are made automatically by a victim's own insurance company as expenses come up.

2. Statement: Under no-fault, accident victims cannot sue for injuries. Reply: True, to a point. Under the better laws you can't sue for minor injuries or financial loss—nor is there a need to since medical and repair bills and lost income are taken care of immediately by your insurer. However, all no-fault laws permit suits for serious injury or major monetary loss.

3. Statement: If you're paid by your own insurer, you have no recourse if you disagree about the amount of payment. Reply: False. All current no-fault laws allow legal remedies if an insured is dissatisfied. But, when expenses are paid and lost income replaced, there's little room for disagreement.

4. Statement: no-fault will put an end to suits for "pain and suffering." Reply: True and false. Suits are allowed but limited to cases of serious injury or large dollar losses. Under the current system, it's the people with minor losses, not those with serious losses, who are benefitting.

5. Statement: If no-fault pays all victims, not just some, auto insurance is going to cost more. Reply: False. Premiums go down because no-fault eliminates unnecessary claim investigations legal fees and unreasonable awards.

6. Statement: If insurance companies have to pay everyone under no-fault and lower prices at the same time, they are going to cut benefits. Reply: False. Benefits under no-fault won't be any less except for those who would have made profits out of a minor accident.

7. Statement; Lawsuits take time, often years, but for major accident cases it's worth the wait. Reply: False. The larger your losses the poorer are your chances of recovery. It's a fact According to the Dept. of Transportation, 55 per cent of those with serious cases never get a cent from current auto insurance systems.

8. Statement: Under no-fault, negligent and irresponsible drivers will go unpunished. Reply: False, Under no-fault, these negligent and irresponsible drivers will be dealt with as they are, or should be—by the criminal law.

9. Statement: The fault system, as exists now, cuts down on accidents because wrongdogers know they will have to pay for their actions. Reply: False. Give yourself two wrong answers if you swallow this argument.

First, the lawsuit system actually relieves a wrongdoer of his responsibility by transferring his liability to the insurance company. He doesn't pay—the company does, using premium payments from all policyholders.

Second, it is not the fear of a lawsuit that discourages reckless driving, but the fear of injury.

Language Difference Is Problem

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Trying to cope with the intricacies of modern double talk in a foreign language is almost impossible.

So we discovered on a recent trip to France when my husband lifted a suitcase, strained a muscle and wound up flat on his back in a small town called Chalon-sur-Saone.

Wracking my brain to recall my college French, I ventured to the hotel desk and explained my husband had hurt his back. Actually, I couldn't remember the word for hurt so it came out that he had wounded his back.

Encouraged by sympathetic nods, I asked if there was a doctor nearby who spoke English. A hurried consultation between the desk clerk and the manager and a quick telephone call resulted in the announcement that just such a doctor would arrive two hours hence.

Triumphant, I returned to the hotel room to reassure my husband, still unable to stand.

Finally the doctor arrived, greeting us cordially-in French.

After two rounds of hellos, I ventured a timid question: "Vous parlez Anglais, oui?"—You speak English don't you?

"Non."—The answer was clear in any language.

How the mixup occurred, no one knew, but the situation was getting desperate, so I agreed to translate for my non French-speaking husband.

The only problem was: how do you explain where it hurts when you're not the one who's sick and you only understand one word out of every three the doctor uses?

Pointing helped a lot. We managed to isolate the area of pain. When the doctor jabbed hard and my husband screamed there was a satisfied "ah."

Now the problem was to explain what the trouble was. This sort of thing had happened once before and it turned out to be a torn muscle. Getting the idea of muscle across wasn't two hard—the words are almost identical in English and French. Torn left me stumped. Finally I picked up a piece of paper, ripped it and elicited another pleased "ah" from the doctor.

Out came a hypodermic and in went a pain-killing drug—or so my husband and I somewhat apprehensively hoped. A prescription was written—much more legibly than the ones doled out by American doctors—and given to the bellboy to take to the pharmacy.

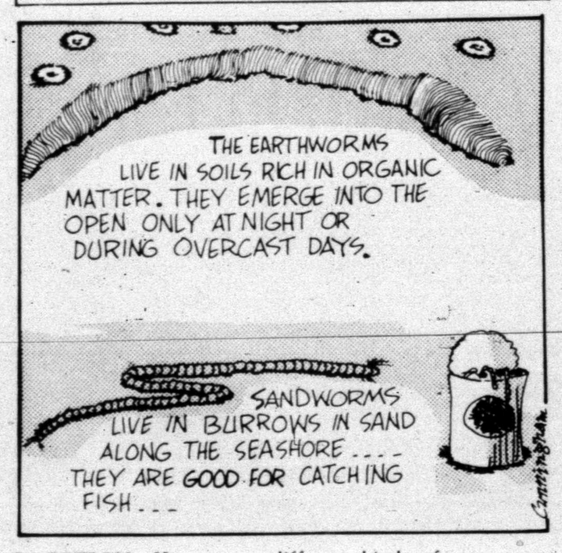

Then came another surprise. It seems that in France, particularly in the country, there's something known as an infirmarian—sort of like a visiting nurse. After about half an hour of explanations, we finally understood—the infirmarian would return for two days, morning and night, for further injections.

True to the doctor's word, the infirmarian—a red-cheeked country woman of about 60—arrived promptly the next morning, gave the injection with a no-nonsense air and promised to return.

Two days later, my husband was walking—slowly and stiffly to be sure, but at least he was on his feet.

During a stop in Paris later we recounted the tale to an English-speaking friend. "You should have called a veternarian," he said in all seriousness. "They're used to patients who can't talk."

A Junior Editors Quiz About WORMS

QUESTION: How many different kinds of worms are there?

* * *

ANSWER: Worms are a large variety of crawling animals with soft bodies. They are composed of many cells without a backbone. Zoologists have had difficulty in classifying worms. In the latest classification, worms are divided into four large groups. They are the flat worms, the round worms, the ribbon worms and Annilida. These latter are the most highly developed worms and include leeches and earthworms.

Worms range in size from microscopic forms to the tapeworms which may grow to 30 feet. The eelworms are among the most numerous. Some of these small worms (almost microscopic creatures) live by the millions in water, soil and decaying material from plants and animals.

Many worms live as parasites of man and animals. The important parasitic forms include flukes, tapeworms, pinworms, hook worms, trickina, ascares and filariae.

We are all familiar with the earthworm which moves through the soil, feeding on decaying leaves and other vegetation buried in the soil. The earthworms are beneficial to the soil since they loosen it and let in air and water.

1972 Tax Cuts Should Boost Spending Power

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuts in federal income taxes that take effect Jan. 1 will put more cash into the pockets of most Americans.

Families with just one wage earner will benefit the most, but there's good news for almost all taxpayers.

Some of the decrease in federal deductions from paychecks may be offset by higher state and local taxes. There's also an increase in the income lid for Social Security taxes, though the 5.2 per cent rate of deduction probably will remain the same.

The ceiling goes from $7,800 this year to $9,000 in 1972, meaning deductions will continue for a longer time next year.

But the changes in federal tax exemptions and allowances should boost American spending power to levels never seen before, according to Internal Revenue Service officials.

A generous 92nd Congress has sped up the impact of tax-reform laws passed in 1969 and raised the standard exemption for individuals and their dependents from $675 in 1971 to $750 in 1972. That means the IRS will count on bigger personal exemptions next year and so will take out a smaller chunk of each paycheck.

Then there's the standard deduction for taxpayers who choose to claim an estimate of items like medical expenses, moving costs and local and state taxes, rather than taking the trouble to figure them out item by item.

Next year's standard deduction will be 15 per cent or $2,000, whichever is lower, compared with 13 per cent or $1,500 this year.

The government is in the third stage of an effort to lift the federal tax burden from their backs. A special low-income standard deduction built into the tax tables goes up from $1,050 in 1971 to $1,300 in 1972.

IRS officials say there is a potential snag developing for married taxpayers with one wage earner in the house, because of an attempt to find a more equitable tax rate for single persons.

The IRS this year tried to assure that single people would not pay more than 20 per cent above the tax paid by couples in the same income bracket. It succeeded, but in the process took out too little money from singles' paychecks and for similar reasons from those of husbands and wives who both work, leaving both categories with hefty tax bills to pay in April.

Congress reacted by passing a law allowing higher deduction rates across the board next year. It won't help in April, but to offset the effect on families with a single wage earner, the IRS urges they claim one more exemption than really exists for tax year 1972.

That way, the IRS says the taxpayer in such a household won't reduce his spending power during the year by having more deducted from his check than is necessary.

Here are a few examples of how the new deduction rates will affect taxpayers at various income levels in 1972:

A man who earns $8,000 annually, while his wife stays at home taking care of their two children, had $15.70 deducted from his weekly paycheck in 1971. In 1972, if he claims the additional exemption, $11 will be deducted. If he doesn't, $13.30 will be taken out.

A man earning $12,000 annually in similar status, had $31.60 taken out of his weekly check in 1971. If he claims the special allowance in 1972, the amount deducted will be $23.80. If he does not, $26.50 will be taken out weekly.

And finally, a man earning $15,000 in the same status in 1971, had $42.80 taken out. In 1972 with the special exemption the amount will be $33.90. Without the allowance, the deduction will be $37.30 weekly.

Generally speaking, taxpayers earning less than $30,000 will benefit from the higher exemption rates an IRS official said. It all varies, of course with whether he is married, single, has children, or a variety of sources of income.

Sherley Wed In Cash's Home

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Glen Sherley, the ex-convict turned singer, is a married man again.

He was married to Nicki Robbins in weekend ceremonies at the home of Johnny Cash, the singer who gave Sherley his big break.

Cash also provided a surprise for Sherley and his bride. He had Sherley's children by a previous marriage—Rhonda, 12, and Bruce, 14—secretly flown in from California.

"I can't believe it. I'm so glad to see them," Sherley said.

Sherley, who served 10 years for armed robbery and second-degree robbery, met Cash at Folsom Prison, where the entertainer was visiting. An official at the prison asked Cash to take a look at songs written by Sherley. One song, "Greystone Chapel," gave Sherley his start.

Cash sang it at the wedding.

Panel Eyes Rent And Insurance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission hopes to rule this week on rent controls and insurance rate increases, two major fields in which no decisions have been handed down since the wage-prize freeze gave way to Phase 2 of President Nixon's economic policy.

The Pay Board will review several aerospace labor contracts that will provide the first test of some tough-sounding new wage rules that would set a firm 7 per cent ceiling on raises even in special cases.

During the weekend Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr. said as many as half the nation's largest retailers and wholesalers may be violating the law if they've raised prices.

Grayson said he had asked the Internal Revenue Service to check on the firms to determine whether any of them have hiked their prices without permission.

He pointed out the Justice Department may seek court orders for price rollbacks if the firms are found in violation.

Under Price Commission rules, firms with more than $100 million in sales must seek commission approval before raising prices and must post the original prices.

Half of the 1,500 firms covered by the rule have not asked permission to raise prices, Grayson said.

He released a list Saturday of 148 retailers that have, including: Sears, Roebuck and Co.; J.C. Penney Co., Inc.; F.W. Woolworth Co.; Kroger; A&P; Food Fair; Giant Food, Inc.; Grand Union Co.; and Safeway Stores, Inc.

Missing were such well-known stores as Montgomery Ward, Macy's and Gimbels. Grayson said some firms might inadvertently have been left off the list.

Plenty Of Abortions

LONDON (AP) — More than 175,000 women had legal abortions in Britain between April 1968, when the Abortion Act was passed, and the end of 1970. More than half of 92,000 abortions in 1970 were performed on unmarried women.

Teenage Shoplifters Plaguing Businesses

CLARKSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Patty, Ann and Kathy are teenage shoplifters, part of a growing army of such youngsters plaguing businesses around the country.

The three, all seniors at southern Indiana high schools, have never been caught, don't expect to be, and only one of them seems to regret what she's doing.

Patty, Ann and Kathy—the names are ficticious-reflect a new kind of antisocial behavior among teen-agers. The shoplifting phenomenon cuts across racial and social lines drawing recruits from among the middle class and poor, urban and suburban families.

Why did Patty, Ann and Kathy become thieves? The girls agreed to tell their stories to the Louisville Times after being assured their identies would not be divulged.

Patty, a dark haired, 17-year-old, comes from what she calls a " disgustingly solid middle-class family with a nice house in a nice subdivision and more plastic neighbors than you can shake a stick at."

She brags at having stolen about $100 worth of goods from various stores so far this Christmas season and intends to keep most of it for herself.

A veteran of almost two years of shoplifting, Patty sees no reason to stop. She estimated that since she was dared by two friends to take a pair of $10 gloves, she has obtained more than $300 in merchandise.

"I've gotten away with everything from a can of mushrooms in a grocery to half a stereo from one of the discount stores in Clarksville," she bragged.

Ann is an attractive black whose ready smile can't hide a sadnes in her eyes. She is the oldest child of a seven-member family.

Her father, with a limited education and lack of skills, has been unemployed more than a year and her mother takes in washing and does some housecleaning.

Ann had never done any shoplifting until November. "I don't like doing it," she said. "I feel I've got to."

There haven't been many really good Christmases in her almost 18 years and she says she is determined to make this a holiday the family can remember.

So far, she has taken more than $60 worth of toys and clothes for her brothers and sisters and more than $30 in merchandise for her parents. She said she hasn't taken anything for herself and doesn't intend to.

Kathy, 18, from a middle class family, became a thief on a dare a little over a year ago and says she has continued for the thrills involved.

She has been concentrating on a store which didn't give her back the Christmas job she had last year.

She says she hopes to steal enough from the store to make up for the money she is losing by not having the job. So far, she's taken $60 in goods and has one Christmas present to get yet.

One Killed In Wrong Way Crash

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — A Fort Worth woman died and five other persons suffered injuries about 11:45 p.m. Sunday in a crash involving a car which police said was traveling the wrong direction on a divided highway.

Patrolmen said they gave chase at speeds topping 100 miles per hour and the pursued car halted under their spotlight only a moment before the collision with a vehicle moving the opposite direction.

They reported Patricia Lee Guram, 29, of Fort Worth died in the auto following its proper eastbound lane.

Officers listed the injured as Alfred Vigil, 24, of Amarillo, whom they identified as driving the car in the wrong lane; the dead woman's husband J. S. Guram, 39, and three children of the Gurams.

Hospital attendants said Vigil and Monjit Guram, a son of the Fort Worth couple, were in critical condition. They described the condition of the elder Guram and his daughter Sonja, 4, as serious, and said Pritia Guram, 6, was in satisfactory condition.

Among the selections presented was "Glorious Christmas Day," an original composition with lyrics by Mrs. Darlene Sims of Winters and music by Mrs. Kirke McKenzie.

Dr. Bruce Johnson, president of Loraine Lions Club, displayed an award received recently from Lions International for signing up 100 Lions Club members.

Careers In Insurance

Career Corner
by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce I would greatly appreciate it if you could discuss insurance careers, and advise where I could obtain publications
A L G., San Jose, Calif.

Everybody knows there are sales and clerical jobs in the insurance business -- but did you know there are also dietitians, financial experts, medical technicians, physicians, computer experts, psychologists, systems analysts and social scientists?

ALSO LAWYERS, actuaries, managerial generalists, claims men and women, underwriters, operations researchers, accountants, marketing researchers, advertising and public relations specialists, technical writers, consumer affairs personnel, safety engineers, statisticians, key punch operators, rehabilitation nurses and technicians of many kinds. These are only a few representative occupations found in the surprising array of insurance positions today.

BECAUSE the insurance industry is so broad-gauged and employs so many people, I'll focus this column and the next on the upbeat story insurance has to tell -- facets which are not commonly known. In round figures, a million-and-a-half people are employed in all branches of the insurance business; about two-thirds hold non-sales positions. Salaries are becoming competitive with other industries. Job security and fringe benefits are excellent.

FOR YOUNG PEOPLE, the insurance industry has some special rewards including a large potential to serve others and to build a better environment. For instance, insurance offers an ecologically "clean" product, and insurers were among the first to attack pollution. A large number of insurance companies now refuse to insure polluters, and send out their own safety specialists to help uninsurable clients eliminate the causes of pollution. To illustrate, an insurance company safety engineer might study how a company handles dangerous chemicals, what controls they use, how they are monitored, and suggest ways to eliminate hazards -- thus qualifying the company for insurance coverage.

AS A PRACTICAL matter, litigation resulting from environmental damage costs insurance companies too much money not to take preventive action, a factor which seems likely to increase opportunities for safety personnel.

For the same reasons of enlightened self-interest, insurance firms are also involved in such efforts as improving the nation's healthcare system, crusading for safer autos and rehabilitating the disabled. An example of the latter is Sandra Goldstein, one of a growing number of rehabilitation nurses employed by CNA, a big insurance group. Sandra works with disabled clients to help them return to work as soon as possible, or to aid in their retraining for less physically demanding occupations.

AN ADDITIONAL ATTRACTION to this field is a generally pleasant work setting; because of rapid expansion, many insurance companies are bursting at the seams and moving into larger modern buildings. Moreover, because of their solid financial foundation, insurance employment offers a stability not found in many industries.

THEN TOO, there's often a built-in social life, a not unimportant aspect to the many young people who work in insurance offices. As one insurance executive said as he looked over the mid-20s office personnel, "Insurance broker? I sometimes wonder if 'marriage broker' wouldn't better describe my position here!"

Caroler Killed By Car

BOYD, Tex. (AP) — A car plowed into about 20 child Christmas carolers and killed one of them Sunday night. Eight others suffered injuries.

State patrolman Harold McFerrin said the driver was Jimmie Dale Mosley, 19, from nearby Rhome, Tex. The officer quoted Mosley as relating he pulled onto the shoulder of Texas 114 and could not see the youngsters in time to stop.

Carolyn Blevins, 9, died of her injuries about three hours later at a Fort Worth hospital.

The children were from the Trinity Baptist Church in this North Texas town. They had sung outside a number of homes and were walking to carol at other spots.

Among the injured taken to hospitals were Barry Arrington, 10, and his sister Robyn, 11; Terry Dean Davis, 9, and his brother Jimmy, 11; Scotty Hightower, 8; Pat Bramlett, 13, and Gwen Hatley, 8.

Susan Pitts, 18, was treated and dismissed.

Check Is Ordered On Bones

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Authorities sought to determine today whether bones found in a pasture west of Amarillo were those of a Lubbock woman who disappeared Sept. 28.

They ordered a dental check to see if the skeleton was that of Elizabeth Steffans Perryman, a waitress who vanished after calling a taxicab to take her home from the cafe where she worked in Lubbock.

"We know it's a homicide," Potter County Sheriff Paul Gaither said.

Officers found the woman had been shot in the head at least twice and possibly once more in the back. Two slugs were recovered.

L. A. Bernard summoned the sheriff after coming across a skull Sunday. It lay about 225 yards north of Ranch Road 1061 at a spot nine miles west of town. Other bones were scattered in the same vicinity.

It was Bernard who also discovered the decomposed body of Kathryn Deweese Sands, 41, at a point 2.5 miles farther west last Aug. 25.

Mrs. Sands and Linda Kay Simmons, 24, of Amarillo were found dead under similar circumstances near Amarillo last summer. Both bodies were nude. That of Mrs. Simmons turned up in a field northeast of the city July 13.

Mrs. Perryman's husband, a cab driver, answered her call for a ride the night of Sept. 28. He found the restaurant where she worked had been locked and there was no sign of a struggle.

Officers learned that $86.25 had been taken from the cash register and Mrs. Perryman had not cleaned the coffee pot as she customarily did before leaving for the night.

Rhodes Scholars Announced

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (AP) — Thirty-two U.S. college students have been tapped for Rhodes Scholarships, which carry annual stipends of $3,600 for study at Oxford University in England.

Two of the scholars are from Texas, the Rhodes Scholarship Trust announced Sunday.

The scholarships were established in 1902 by the will of Cecil Rhodes, a British philanthropist and colonial pioneer who said he hoped the scholarships would contribute to world understanding and peace.

U.S. winners will join Rhodes scholars from 16 other countries for the two to three years of study at Oxford.

The 1971 winners of the scholarships, their hometown and colleges include:

Gregory Alan Hicks, Austin, Tex., Yale.

Lane P. Hughston, Dallas, Princeton and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Pleasant Walk

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — U.S. Magistrate Robert W. McCoy will receive his federal income tax refund—thanks to a newspaper story.

The IRS had given The Albuquerque Tribune a list of New Mexico residents due income tax refunds, people the IRS couldn't locate.

"It shows you how obscure I am," McCoy said after he was told the IRS had been trying to locate him for the tax refund.

McCoy walked out of his office and across the street to the IRS office to file a claim for his money.

Miss Neal Dies At 96

CARTHAGE, Tex. (AP) — Margie Neal, Texas' first woman state senator, died Sunday at the age of 96.

The funeral was set for 3 p.m. today.

Miss Neal, a Carthage native, served four terms in the Senate, first winning election in 1926.

Later she worked in Washington for the National Recovery Administration, the Federal Sercurity Administration and the War Manpower Commission.

She returned to Carthage in 1945.

Miss Neal's first Senate campaign platform called for better schools and roads, especially in rural districts, and programs to help farmers.

Three nieces and a nephew, all of Carthage, survive.

National Guard Strength Drops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The strength of the Army National Guard has fallen to its lowest point in about six years, even as the guard is being assigned important new missions in the nation's contingency war plans.

Latest reports reaching the Pentagon from the 50 states indicate guard strength at the end of November had slipped to about 384,000 men.

This is about 16,000 men below it's authorized manpower level of 400,000 and the smallest number in guard ranks since 1965 when young men began flocking to the National Guard in preference to being drafted for the Vietnam war.

The National Guard is mounting a major recruiting campaign, having trained several thousand new recruiters to "go out and beat the bushes" for recruits, as one official put it.

But the steep decline in draft calls and Nixon administration's promises to try to end the draft in about 18 months is making it harder to attract young men into the guard.

The difficulties come at a time when Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has made it clear he expects the guard to fill a major front-line role in U.S. preparedness.

This is because the size of the regular Army is about half a million below what it was at the Vietnam war peak in 1969 and is due to fall even lower. The Army now totals about one million men.

Maj. Gen. Francis S. Greenlief, chief of the Pentagon National Guard Bureau, said recently that "National Guard units are tasked with wartime missions which a few short months ago were active-force missions."

Greenlief said Army Guard units "are expected to be overseas in combat in the same short time as the active units which we have replaced in the war plans."

"It's ironic that we are getting new equipment in quantity, but we are falling short of people for the first time," a Guard Bureau official said.

Greenlief predicted that by the end of the coming fiscal year all guard units will be equiped with top-grade military arms and gear, in contrast to the past when the guard had to make do with hand-me-down material from the regular forces.

Peace Corps Faces Reduction

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps faces a one-third reduction in its volunteer force and possible cancellation of programs in 15 nations because of congressional action.

In its last hour Friday, the Congress passed a continuing resolution that would give the Corps a budget of $72 million, $10 million below the administration request.

The continuing resolution was necessary because the Senate did not act on the appropriations bill passed by the House. Both Houses passed an authorization bill giving the corps $77.2 million, but the House appropriated only $68 million.

The corps hopes that when Congress reconvenes Jan. 18, the Senate will approve the full $77.2 million, and that a conference committee would accept that figure. It appears unlikely, however, that the House would approve the full amount.

In the meantime, the corps must make decisions based on the $72 million appropriation in the continuing resolution, which expires Feb. 22.

Affected by the low appropriation are some 600 highly specialized volunteers who were to be sent overseas. One informed source said they now "will be disinvited and the countries will be told they are not coming."

The volunteers included construction engineers and diesel mechanics who were to go to Africa for a road-building project, a forestry expert who also was to work in Africa and public administrators going to Latin America.

Also, the corps will not accept some 4,000 new trainees it expected to take on during the next six months.

Depending on the amount of money the corps receives when the Senate completes action on the appropriations bill, the corps could accept new trainees, but it also may have to cut by 15 the number of countries in which it has programs. This would eliminate some 2,000 volunteers who could not be transferred.

The corps now has 8,000 volunteers and trainees in 55 countries.

One Peace Corps official said, "officials were greatly distressed by the implications of the appropriation. Under any of the options open, the Peace Corps will be harmed."

Reedy Named University Dean

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — George E. Reedy, veteran journalist and long-time assistant to former President Lyndon B. Johnson, has been named dean of the Marquette University College of Journalism.

Reedy, 54, will serve as Nieman professor of journalism in addition to being dean, the university announced Thursday. He will assume his post Sept. 1, 1972.

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

BY CRAWFORD C. MARTIN
Attorney General of Texas

When you receive unordered merchandise through the mails, do you know your legal rights? A law passed by the Sixty-first Texas Legislature in 1969 provides that where unsolicited goods are delivered to a person, he has the right to refuse to accept delivery of the goods and he is not bound to return the goods to the sender. If such unsolicited goods are either addressed to or intended for the recipient, they shall be deemed a gift and the recipient may use them or dispose of them in any manner without any obligation to the sender.

There are three exceptions to this law - first, when the goods are sent due to a bona fide mistake, and the sender has the burden of proof to show the error. Second, the law does not apply to goods which have been substituted for goods ordered. Finally, the act does not apply to goods ordered by the recipient.

In summary, if a consumer received merchandise which he did not order he can refuse the goods or treat the goods as a gift. The consumer is under no legal obligation to pay for the merchandise received in this fashion.

A related area is the negative option plan employed by Book and Record Clubs whereby an individual signs a contract with the club and items are automatically sent to him. Under this negative option arrangement, the consumer is obligated to pay for all items received unless he returns a card to the company indicating his refusal to purchase the item. The common complaint with this plan is the failure of the consumer to realize his legal obligation if he fails to periodically notify the company of his wishes. In addition, some companies do not allow a sufficient time period to receive the option cards prior to mailing the merchandise. The consumer who signs up with one of these companies should understand his legal obligations under the contract and be alert when the option notices are received so that merchandise is not inadvertently ordered.

Lennons Going To Court

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — John Lennon and his wife Yoko Ono planned to go to court today as part of a continuing dispute over visiting Miss Ono's daughter by a previous marriage.

The Lennons arrived Saturday to see Kyoko, 8, Yoko's child by her marriage to Anthony Cox, a documentary film maker who has temporary custody of the child. The Lennons charged that since their arrival they had been unable to visit Kyoko.

The couple said that Cox has put up roadblocks every time they attempt to see her.

"We got so desperate we're putting messages on records," said Lennon. "We've got a record out that's a Christmas song and on the beginning of it we say, 'Happy Christmas Kyoko.'"

Ions Used To Treat Cancer

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Neon ions excited to almost two-thirds the speed of light have the potential to destroy cancer cells without harming healthy cells nearby, scientists at Princeton University say.

A report issued Sunday by the Princeton Accelerator Laboratory said tests begun last summer have yielded evidence that the ions can be raised to a speed high enough to be greatly superior to X rays in treating cancer.

"We're using heavy ions to treat cancer cells in mice and we should move on to larger animals shortly," Dr. Milton G. White, project director of the laboratory, said. "If the experiments are successful, I would anticipate that patient trial may get under way in a year or two."

White said early work by Dr. Cornelius Tobias of the University of California and Dr. Paul Todd of Pennsylvania State University indicated that heavy ions able to enter the body at high speed could focus on destroying cancer without harming surrounding tissues as X rays do.

Several heavy ions—atomic particles with an electrical charge—might be applicable, White said, but he suggested that the neon ion would be the best because it is the heaviest so far to have been accelerated to a high enough speed.

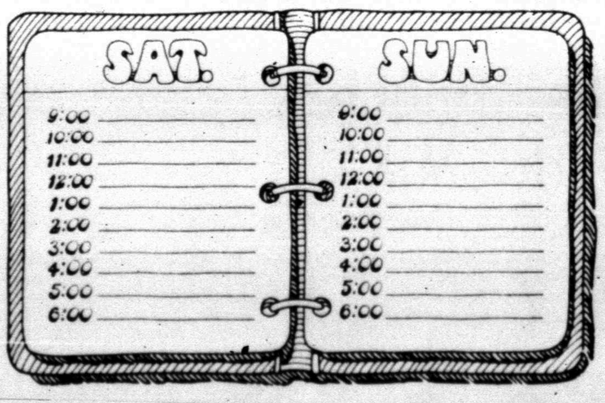

The 747 plane, with a capacity of 305 passengers, has three smartly furnished lounges.

What's Texas Doing This Weekend?

On the average, every man, woman and child will use three gallons of oil on Saturday, another three on Sunday. So will every other American.

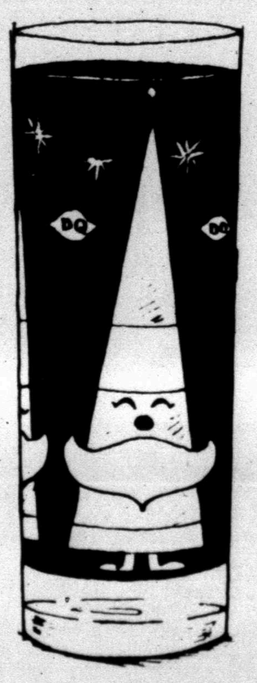

The United States uses 600 million gallons of oil every day. Oil and natural gas supply 75 percent of all our energy needs.

A country that runs on oil can't afford to run short.
