LUNCHEON—Baked potato cakes with tomato sauce, endive with bacon dressing, raisin bread, caramel custard, milk, tea.

DINNER—Fricassee of chicken, buttered rice, creamed onions, fresh asparagus salad, meringues filled with fresh strawberry ice cream, milk coffee.

Two cups seasoned mashed potatoes, 2 tablespoons grated onion, 1 cup finely chopped nuts, 1/2 cup grated cheese, 1 egg, 1 cup sifted cornmeal, tomatoes, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon butter.

Combine potatoes, onion, nuts and cheese. Mix thoroughly and add egg well beaten. Mix and shape into flat cakes about 1 inch thick. Brush over with melted butter and brown on both sides in a hot oven. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add tomato pulp, stirring constantly. DINNER PARTY IN FAREWELL TO OLD SCOUT EXECUTIVE AND INTRODUCING NEW ONE TO BE GIVEN HERE TONIGHT

Gathering to pay a farewell to A. H. Watts, South Plains scout executive who yesterday resigned his position because of climatic conditions interfering with his health, and to welcome Hector Yates, of Dallas, who is here to succeed Mr. Watts, members of the scout board, scoutmasters, scouts and friends of the organization are to banquet at the Tech cafe Tuesday night at 7:15. All those wishing to attend the banquet are requested to get in touch with L. S. Harkey, scout commissioner, before one o'clock today.

Notice of Mr. Watts' resignation was officially announced yesterday, although it has been known for some time that he was leaving because of his health. He desired to leave in April, but because of the financial status of the council he stayed and completed his program officials say. He has completed an extensive campaign which has resulted in a well-rounded budget placed on a good financial basis.

Good Record Made
Since coming to the local council, he has added two counties to the area and a number of troops. He has worked up a feeling of close cooperation between the towns in the area in a very gratifying manner, his officials report.

Mr. Yates, the new executive, comes to Lubbock highly recommended. He is a graduate of the University of Tennessee and has been principal of the Forrest Hills high school at Dallas. He spent six months as special deputy regional executive, assisting in the organization of several councils and has served several years as scout leader.

THOMPSON GUILTY DISHONEST ACTION

GRAIN DEALER IS EXPELLED FROM BOARD OF TRADE BY GOVERNORS

CHICAGO, June 13—George E. Thompson, former general superintendent of the Armour Grain company, was found guilty of dishonest conduct by the Board of Governors of the Chicago Board of Trade, tonight.

Thompson was tried on charges made by a special committee of the board of trade authorized to investigate the failure of the grain marketing corporation.

Charges that the Armour company had misrepresented the grades of some of its grain caused suspension of the company's trading on the exchange. And later charges were made against some of its former officials including Thompson.

Thompson, a member of the board, was placed on trial May 28 and was prosecuted by L. F. O'Connell, former president of the board.

The Modern Miracle Mrs. Juddley Bull, had set out determined to obtain a magnificent gown which she had seen advertised in the morning paper.

"I like this frock," she said to the saleswoman in the World's Store "but it's too tight here and here. After it to fit me and I'll buy it."

The saleswoman regarded her a moment. "After it, madam, to fit you," she replied.

"After it, madam, to fit you," she replied. "Oh, no, madam, that is never done. But if you'd be good enough to visit our beauty department on the second floor they'll alter it to fit the frock."

WOMAN VICTIM OF GANGSTERS FOUND

BODY OF SLAIN OFFICER'S WIFE LOCATED IN OLD ABANDONED SHAFT

(By The Associated Press) MARION, Ill., Bearing out the confession of Art Newman, former lieutenant of Charles Birger, southern Illinois gang chieftain, the bullet-pierced body of Mrs. Ethel Price, wife of Lory L. Price, slain highway policeman, was found today in the abandoned coal mine shaft near here in which Newman declared Birger followers had thrown it.

Newman charged that Birger killed Price because he "killed too much" about the gang's activities and that his henchmen killed Mrs. Price the night of January 17, after both had been abducted from their home here. Price's body was found February 5 in a field near Dubois.

Mrs. Price's body was identified and claimed by her father, Dale Jackson, and by two relatives of Price, who recognized her purple dress, her outer coat, her gloves and her wrist watch. The watch, which was battered, had stopped at 1:19 about the time of the mid-night burial, according to Newman.

The body was brought to an undertaking establishment here where examination showed it was in good state of preservation, although the nose was bruised, possibly broken. There was seven bullet wounds in the back further supporting Newman's story. His hearsay testimony however, had mentioned only four shots fired in the back. The body was found shortly after noon at a point 24 feet below where excavation had begun more than fifty feet from the surface. It was immediately under a mass of debris, such as was thrown upon the body by the slayers, according to Newman's story.

A large concrete block also was immediately over the body which had been buried deeper by recent cave-ins. Three days of digging were required to uncover it.

LUBBOCK RECEIVES WIDE PUBLICITY

NEW YORK PAPER CARRIES STORY ON BLEDDING OF COTTON CROP

Lubbock broke into the columns of the New York Herald-Tribune recently. A clipping has just been received from E. H. Whitehead, publicity manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce of a story on cotton bleeding in the Plains of Texas. The clipping appeared in the New York Herald-Tribune on May 26.

The story is about a fourth of a column in length and is the story which was released recently by the feature service of the Associated Press to all the papers in the nation carrying this service.

The story carries a Lubbock date line and Whitehead was instrumental in securing the release by the Associated Press. The story was prepared by the publicity department of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce last fall.

In a letter to the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce which accompanied the clipping, Whitehead stated: "The story in the New York Herald-Tribune is quite a distinction. I am very glad to see this clipping from the New York paper because it shows that the Associated Press sent the story in their general service which covers the entire United States and numerous foreign countries. I was afraid it would be confined only to southwest newspapers. I believe we can safely say that the story has appeared in two thousand publications. The picture has appeared in the majority of them."

TWO ARE ARRESTED IN FLOGGING CASE

HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL AND FURNITURE MAN HELD FOR WHIPPING

(By The Associated Press) TOCCA, Ga., June 13—W. J. Arce, principal of the high school at Eastonville, near here, and T. R. Lowery, foreman of a local furniture factory were arrested late today on warrants charging that they participated in the flogging early Sunday morning of Mrs. Ansley Bowers and her 15-year-old son, Floyd.

Taken before a justice of peace, they made bond of $300 each for their release after denying unqualifiedly that they were members of the band of 12 hooded men who seized Mrs. Bowers and the boy at their home here took them in automobiles to an outlying district and lashed them severely.

Both were quoted as saying they knew nothing of the affair.

Two other men, Elmer Clark, a railroad conductor, and Charles Thomas, an employe of a railroad are sought on warrants sworn to by Floyd, who told authorities that he and his mother recognized some of the floggers.

Arce and Lowery probably will be arraigned at a preliminary hearing in justice court at a date to be set when the outcome of Mrs. Bowers' injuries is determined.

PLAYGROUNDS AND GOOD CITIZENS

"The Boy in the House." This was the caption of an article appearing in the last issue of the Rotarian. The article was timely. It was full of the most vital truths that one could dream of who is interested in the future citizenship.

This is certainly one of the vital things that people in a city the size of Lubbock have to contend with. Taking care of the young people is big problem. Providing the proper kind of amusement under the proper kind of supervision is a problem that wise minds must take hold of.

The matter of providing interesting and amusing playground equipment for the children in the various sections of the city, should not only interest the homes where there are children but every home should be so interested in the future citizenship of the city that even from where there are no children will come aid in carrying out the program of equipping the ground with the things best suited to the needs of the children.

TAXES WHICH ARE NOT YET AT A "CONSISTENT MINIMUM"

Addressing the semi-annual meeting of the Government's business organization, President Coolidge announced a tentative surplus of $626,000,000 in the Treasury at the end of the fiscal year, June 30. That is almost twice the prospective sum noted in his annual message, last December, as the basis for further tax-reduction.

Uncle Sam evidently has prospered beyond all expectations, and this circumstance may be taken as a sign of like good fortune for the country. At first glance that outcome would seem to justify a further tax-cut of a half-billion dollars or more annually; but Mr. Coolidge dilated upon the error of such an assumption. If tax relief is to be obtained, it must come out of future surpluses. The present sum will have disposed of—applied to reducing the war-debt principal. For next year a surplus of only $38 millions is in sight, half of which will be derived from the sale of capital assets.

would dictate giving first attention to the reduction or removal of the wartime schedules which have been carried over—notably the corporation tax, which still constitutes a burden on productive industry—the higher income-tax brackets, the inheritance levy, which is obnoxious double taxation; and all the "nuisance" taxes that can be spared.

THROUGH REASON, NOT THROUGH FEAR

A great American inventor, Hudson Maxim, who died a few weeks ago—a firm believer in the theory that war could be banished from earth by making it horrible—devoted the greater portion of his career to compounding and perfecting high explosives.

In art that school probably is best represented by Verestchagin. During the twenty years just preceding the Great War, that master's stupendous, ghastly and brilliantly-colored paintings attained a vogue throughout most of the civilized world.

This far-famed painting by Pierre Carrier-Belleuse and his associates, portrays the political and military leaders, the fighting men, heroes, heroines and martyrs, and characteristic scenes of the Great War.

"Lendemain de Vitvotre," first shown in the Grand Salon of 1919. A bit of gray marshland, a scarred stump, a dead horse and a battered fieldpiece—these are the fruits of victory as the artist saw them on the ground.

Little Avalanches

Governor Fields of Kentucky has passed a bar examination. He will learn, perhaps, the futility of some of the laws he is helping to pass.

Is it going to become necessary to appoint a permanent "welcome home" committee for returning Yankee non-stoppers? Most Panhandle towns are wishing for water, in the form of rain, but Sweet-water has not moisture for more than eating and bathing, if press reports are true.

SO THINK WE

We think the airplanes is doing a great deal toward making the whole world kin, as well as the radio.

We think now that the old weather is crying for sunshine. Already we heard one fellow say that it would be just as bad if the rain continued too long as it would be if it had not rained at all.

We think if there is anything to the statement that man's dangerous age is from fifty to sixty. Must be true for we find a lot of fellows trying to do a lot of things that they can't do, just to show their associates that they are really young.

We think a good many people are worried more than they ought to be about the weather than it would have taken to have planted the crop and maybe so have gotten it up, and ready to grow good since the fine rain.

We think that many people go to the trouble and expense of going elsewhere to buy their supplies, when they could get the very same stuff much cheaper in the home town, and would not have had to go to the expense of going after it.

We think America is possibly no so unpopular as some folks thought with the foreign countries. At least it does not look so from the way they pay tribute to the American flag as they have successfully made the trip over the pond to the European side of it.

We think now since it has rained and everybody is feeling better that we should enlarge our program of progress, and go forward with many of the things that are needed to make Lubbock a bigger and better city.

We think the absence of the wood shed from the homes in this country may be the reason some of the youths of this section are so bad. The youths of this section are really not as bad as those who have wood sheds, so there must be something else.

We think the fellows who prophesied that there would be no rain this year, and that there would be no summer will have to guess again.

We think that jury that placed a sentence of one straight year's time on that colored gentleman for the theft of thirteen chickens certainly thought he had instilled it in his mind, for he is still in the pen, and he must learn the lesson now, and others may profit by his mistake.

We think the girls that were recently arrested charged with being in the habit of using the "mules" to defraud.

We think the cash and carry plan is possibly to extend onto the farms. We heard a farmer say the other day that he had installed it on his farm. He put all the cash he could and carried the mortgage.

We think that possibly more women will appear in print this year than ever before in the history of our nation, as we understand that they are very stylish for the women this year.

We think that possibly the reason that congress will not concern to look into the Mississippi situation may be due to the fact that water does not specially appeal to the members of congress anyway.

We think if some of the business men of the city wish to adopt the habit of getting up early, in getting down to business soon in the morning, they might do like a Plainview business man and father of a grown daughter. He made arrangements with the daughter to wake him each morning when she comes home.

We think that even flyers encounter some obstacles. The men who recently succeeded in getting across the Atlantic, say they encountered fog, etc., that they had to go around.

We think possibly the flood will do one good thing in the Mississippi valley. It may have drowned a lot of boll weevils, or washed them into the middle of the ocean.

We think that the people of this section ought to feel better now. They have been blessed by a fine rain and the legislature has adjourned. So there is really nothing to worry about.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that wheat in the South Plains will yield much more grain than was expected. That is the case with the South Plains most every year. It nearly always produces more than expected.

It is reported that the poultry in the South Plains is one of the biggest there is. The only trouble we see ahead for the raisers of poultry is to maintain a good market for products of this kind.

It is reported that many automobiles were stuck in the mud and deep water in Lubbock Sunday, and water ran in many of the basements. It was a great rain for the ending of the drought.

It is reported that about ninety percent of the people in Lubbock who predicted the rain that came Sunday. We are willing for them to have the honor, but we tell you folks it was going to rain several times during the recent dry spell, and so there it is.

It is reported a few people got wet yesterday going home from church, and they declare they will never go to church again on that account. It seems to us after not having had any rain for so long that they would not mind to have gotten a little wet for the sake of having a rain.

It is reported that one man says that he is not surprised that it rained, for he paid the preacher Sunday. That's fine, and we imagine that he would be glad what they should do to the church that it would have rained a lot more.

It is reported that lightning struck a well that had been abandoned some time ago by a dry hole, and it came to a good producer. You can't never tell what oil drillers will do, or where lightning is going to strike.

It is reported that some of the people of Lubbock actually went boating Sunday afternoon in the streets of Lubbock. No such a good recommendation for the drainage system of Lubbock. But it indicates that it rains some time.

OPINIONS

THEY DIDN'T DO IT Governor Moody, in his official call asking the Legislature to meet in special session, mentioned four major items to which he directed the attention of the law-makers. They included the passage of appropriation measures, which were necessary, and attention to prison reform, highway reforms and the inauguration of a civil service commission. The Legislature, in thirty days of more or less arduous labor, finally passed the appropriation bills, but the administration's plans for prison relocation, establishing a definite policy for the highway commission, and providing for a state civil service system were decisively defeated. The civil service measure, which appeared to be a favorite with the Governor, drew the most decisive defeat of the three major items.

Governor Moody undoubtedly expected the Legislature to do something about all these matters which he submitted to the special session, else he would not have submitted them. But it isn't surprising after all that the end of the session came with little or nothing accomplished toward the administration's program, by the way, that has been well known and fairly well understood since the campaign of last summer when Mr. Moody made some very definite promises to the people of the state. It was significant, and discouraging as well, that the Legislature did not appear to be especially opposed to the Governor's reform program, but could not come to an agreement on how to carry it out. For instance there appeared to be a majority favoring relocation and reorganization of the prison system, and yet it was impossible to reach an agreement upon the details of selling the old prison plants and buying new ones. Likewise, both houses seemed to favor the preparation of an adequate highway policy, but there were a multiplicity of opinions as to what the policy should be, and an agreement could not be reached.

STAY IN DAWSON COUNTY

The sky is brass with the earth iron in the Lamson county. Many hearts are falling then and some contemplating leaving for keeps.

Men who enjoyed just that harvest and had money to spare are now reminded that prosperity sometimes brings a reaction unless treated rightly. Luxury, needless indulgence and the like in the past have been upon us now with a vengeance, that is carrying its course of expanding and then contracting in every home in Dawson county.

Intensive farming is the surest farming that can be done, and when it is coupled up with the good conservative diversification success is almost certain. Especially is this true in the South Plains counties.

New Life Has Been Lengthened in Twenty-Five Years

By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN Editor Journal of the American Medical Ass'n and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Pharmacology today is studied by medical schools to throw light on the fundamental phenomena of life, to permit the study of disease by producing artificial disease, and to furnish more efficient tools for the treatment of disease.

In 1825 man's expectancy of life was 25 years. In the period of the Civil War it had increased by 30 years, so that a child born today may reasonably expect to reach the age of 55. The life expectancy after reaching the age of 50 one hundred years ago was for 21 additional years, whereas today the life expectancy after reaching 50 is for 27 1/2 years. If, therefore, all life expectancy is to be accomplished after middle age, it will have to come by overcoming the hazards of early heart disease, high blood pressure and other degenerative diseases that have been mentioned. Such control must come through the periodic physical examination.

The constituents of the human body have been analyzed down to their fundamental substances. The modern hospital is built about the pathological laboratory as its center.

Chief Tallfeather Grinding Along In Marathon Attempt

KENOSHA, Wis., June 13.—(AP)—Chief Tallfeather, fleet-footed Indian runner and veteran in many long distance races, nearly 70 years old, was grinding his way tonight towards Chicago in a non-stop run. He hoped to break the 10 year old record of Sid Hatch, the 47 year old Onondaga Indian, left Milwaukee at 12 o'clock noon today. He arrived here at 6:28 p.m. tonight on the Great Lap of his 83 mile run from Milwaukee to Chicago, making the first 35 miles in about six and a half hours, an average of six miles an hour.

He was running smoothly. His trainer, following in an automobile fed him beef broth occasionally.

TAKE NOTHING FOR GRANTED EVANS SAYS

"Take nothing for granted in baseball" is a long standing proverb of the national pastime. There never was a truer one.

On Decoration Day at Philadelphia, in a game between the Yankees and the Athletics, a most unusual play came up that proves fact is often stranger than fiction.

New York won the game, 5-5 in 11 innings. Philadelphia protested the game over the disputed play, claiming that the umpires rendered a ruling favorable to the Athletics, the contest would have been won by that team in regulation time.

While my attention is merely gleaned from the wire dispatches, which may not be just as the umpires on the ground saw it, I can well realize the many angles involved and sympathize with the official called upon to render a final decision.

MARION TURPIE LEADING GOLF CONTEST

TEXAS IS WHIPPED
NEW YORK, June 13.—Pat Silvers outpointed Frankie Pink of Texas in a slow six round bout here tonight at the Dexter Park arena, Brooklyn. Both boxers weighed 135 lbs.

Collins' homer from second and Cobb from first before Grabowski could convince his well-wishers that everything was all right and the ball back on the playing field.

Naturally, New York yelled murder at the very idea of permitting New York to score while Grabowski was in the Athletic dugout and his only means of coming out shut off by anxious players who feared he had been killed by the fall.

A big dispute resulted in which both sides presented many and varied arguments.

Philadelphia's strongest contention was the ball was in play and therefore the runners had a right to go the limit at their peril, that both Cobb and Collins should be out.

No doubt New York argued that the Athletic players who impeded Grabowski from returning at once to the playing field, even though he seemed to be in his aid with a desire to help rather than hinder, had secretly interfered with him.

Philadelphia claimed the ball was in play while New York argued interference. Unquestionably, the Athletics insisted two runs should score, while the Yankees probably held out for no runs, on the ground of interference with the player making the catch.

The umpires, realizing a most unusual play confronted them, went into conference and reached a decision which it seems to me was eminently fair but which has been protested.

BOBBY JONES AGAINST THE FIELD IS LINEUP FOR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

(By The Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 13.—(AP)—It will be "Bobby Jones against the field" in the battle of golfing giants that starts tomorrow over the Yellow Leaf and Hazards of the Oakland country club with the American open golf championship at stake.

The stocky Atlanta amateur, present open champion of Great Britain as well as the United States, faces a formidable international field, appropriately enough, in defense of his laurels, but he was nevertheless a top-heavy favorite among players and experts alike today after the last practice shot had been exploded from Oakland's eminent country club with the American open golf championship at stake.

And Reading just to be obstinate determined (on winning a ball game to spoil a "sturdy" world's loss-streak record of 42.

William Wright, who recently purchased the consistent Reading club, has been approached by agents of Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey shows—of memory serve correctly this is not the first time rumor has had Ringling breaking into baseball.

John Carr, in pole vaulting 14 feet said "it felt funny"—now if the A. A. U. persists in ignoring his records we presume it will be just a scream.

BATTLE ON LOWER RATES NOW LOOMS

DECISION LOWERING THE CHARGES FOR PLAINS MAY BE FOUGHT

(Special to Morning Avantage)

CISCO, June 12.—The probability of an application for an injunction seeking to halt the decision recently handed by the Interstate Commerce Commission regarding common freight rates in the West Texas chamber of commerce, who said in a session of the board of directors of the organization here today that the decision will materially reduce revenues which railroads have been receiving for carrying of freight.
The decision as handed down was so changed from the recommendations of the examiner who heard the evidence that in the West Texas chamber of commerce will have been worth $100,000 to the West Texas chamber of commerce to have secured the decision as handed down against recommendations of the examiner.

Rates Cut Here

Citing an example from Lubbock he said that an average of 24 commodities from St. Louis to Lubbock showed an average of $1.20 per hundred under the common point scale while under the mileage scale as made effective by the decision, the rate is cut to an average of $1.10.

From Kansas City the rate to Lubbock formerly was $1.25 and under the new scale would be $1.19. Fort Worth and Dallas have not in Mr. Pawkett's opinion gained much, as the points where they can deliver commodities such as canned goods, have same rates as wholesale houses in Abilene, Sweetwater, San Angelo and Lubbock. The line of distinction was moved west only six miles.

That is, Fort Worth and Dallas wholesalers must begin to absorb higher freight rates into West Texas territory just six miles west of the former points where they had an equal division with West Texas wholesale houses that were shipping east. Texas wholesale houses that ship to the territories to the west and south all West Texas distributors have about the same ratio of advantage on freight rates as they have today.

To Oppose Injunction

The organization went on record as instructing the manager to cooperate with the carriers should they again attempt to hold common point rates as originally set out in their petition.
Led by W. B. Hamilton, a general discussion of the oil and gas situation in Texas was held in which Mr. Hamilton, former president of the Texas Oil and Refining company and the Mid-Kansas Seminoles and California combined, and that potentially, it was the greatest oil area in the nation.

Spencer A. Wells, president of the Lubbock chamber of commerce, representing his city and inhabit over the plains that have fallen in his part of the state; C. A. Dooze, Ballinger; C. W. Couch, Ozona; Leon Shields, Coleman; Walter Yaggy, and Houston Harte, San Angelo.

BULLETS PUT HALT TO PRISON BREAK

ONE MAN SLAIN WHEN FOUR MAKE DESPERATE TRY FOR LIBERTY

(By Associated Press)

JOLIET, Ill., June 12.—Overpowering three jail guards and kidnapping Sheriff Albert E. Markgraf, four of the 'k' convicts condemned to death for killing Sheriff Peter Klein, a deputy at the New State Prison, Joliet, May 2, 1925, in their original break, were turned back in their third attempt today by a shower of bullets from police and jail guards. The convicts, armed with a rifle, a shot gun and a pistol, taken from the jail room, never had an opportunity to use them.

Beaching the outer gate of the jail yard, with the sheriff, a pistol pressed against his side, driving his own automobile into which he had been forced, an ambush by guards hiding outside the wall, caused the death of one convict, Gregorio Rizo, his life already forfeited, died after bullets fired from the way scoured waiting to take his life and a window of Sheriff's residence fatally wounded him.

One Gains Freedom

On each of the other two breaks, one man gained his freedom, this time Charles Schader, youngest of the group and at voting time the slayer of three—his father, a policeman and Deputy Warden Klein.

In the convicts' second attempt Benard Ron escaped. Seven men were in the first break from the penitentiary. James Price, murdered, never has been recaptured.

Today's break bore the marks of spontaneity. Walter Staleski and Schader were being released from the cells for exercise in the "bull pen" when they seized a guard, from whom they took the keys to the cells housing Charles Dusehowski and Roberto Torres.

Torres started to go with the others but returned to his cell and sat down while his comrades in the other two desperate breaks left him for their flight.

Take Sheriff Hostage

The slayers hurried to the jail office on the first floor and opened the lockers where the arms and ammunition are kept, taking a rifle a shot gun and a pistol. Seizing the keys that opened the side door connecting the jail with the sheriff's residence, the men encountered Sheriff Albert E. Markgraf.

"Come on, sheriff," Staleski said, "I never shot anyone and don't make me shoot you."
Mrs. Markgraf, who saw the attempt to escape from a window of her home, rushed to the rescue of her husband, trying to push the convicts back. She was hushed out of the way, and fainted. Meanwhile the sheriff with them he hurried to the yard where Markgraf's automobile was parked.

Made Him Drive

Staleski forced the sheriff into the driver's seat, with a pistol aimed at the sheriff's side. Rizzo and Dusehowski climbed into the rear of the car.

Police arrived just as the sheriff was being hurried into the automobile. Fearing they might shoot the sheriff as the convicts used him as a shield, they withheld their fire. The policemen ran to the front of the jail and brought the guards to the rescue of the sheriff. Together they waited in ambush outside the jail gate as it crashed open, and Sheriff Markgraf, desperately scaling for time, drove his big sedan slowly through.

Amushed Convicts

As the car cleared the stockade a volley crashed. One bullet tore its way through the shiny back of the automobile and found its mark between Staleski's shoulder blades. He slumped just as a hail of bullets hit the car, the guards firing from either side, but carefully to miss the sheriff.

Nevertheless, the sheriff tonight pointed to bullet holes in his hat as evidence of the narrowness of his escape.
After the second crash of gunfire, Dusehowski, Schader and Rizzo lifted their hands in surrender, and the sheriff signalled to the guards to cease firing. He reached into the back seat and collared Schader and Rizzo. Other hands snatched Dusehowski and Staleski from the machine and the four were herded back into the stockade, but not before 200 men tried to seize them and lynch them.

One Beaten Up

Dusehowski, who still showed a willingness to fight, was severely mauled before he was subdued and rescued from the crowd by other guards.

In the excitement Schader and Rizzo escaped again. Rizzo tried to fight his way out in a final desperate bid for liberty. Jailer Leo Land, firing from a window in the sheriff's home, sent a pistol bullet through Rizzo's head, at the same time E. A. O'Neill, motorcycle policeman, sent a bullet into his body. O'Neill stood upon the scaffold as he fired.

Schader had better luck and lost himself into the crowd. He was not missed until Staleski and Rizzo had been taken back into the jail.
It first was believed he had gone to the roof to hide until darkness, but a search proved he was not there.
Rizzo never regained consciousness and died within an hour.
Staleski was very weak from loss of blood but prison physicians expressed fear he would live.

LINDBERGH

New on his great adventure overseas, and behind him was a convoy of 21 singular planes, one of them piloted by Commander Byrd. At noon he dropped out the skies in his golden nosed plane onto Mitchell field, close by the Roosevelt field runway from which he took off May 20 for France.

While the escorting squadron circled above the field, Lindbergh transferred as a passenger this time to an amphibian plane which carried him to a landing in the waters of New York bay at Quarantine. There the city tax Macom was waiting and he went aboard, his welcome beginning with a din of steamer whistles as he climbed the tug's sides.

Craft Flow Whistles
On the way up the bay to the battery some 500 craft moved ahead, their funnels laying down smoke screens which almost hid the Macom from sight. Behind were lamost as many more and all had their whistles thud down. Other craft all over the harbor took up the greeting and so, with flags flying and fireboats spouting fountains of water in salute, Charles Lindbergh came back to New York.

An estimated 50,000 persons were jammed in the comparatively small battery park, on the ground, in windows, on roofs, and as the Macom appeared they all went wild. There was a great surge toward the pier in which women fainted and several thousand policemen had their hands put to maintain order. A pandemonium of cheering broke forth and Lindbergh, who had been in the cabin talking to reporters, mounted the Pilot house roof and waved his laughing reply.

He was wearing a dark civilian suit and he was hatless. His curly hair blew in the fresh breeze and he looked less than his 25 years. There was something very boyish in his appearance as he stood, the facing his surging sea of admirers who cheered again with delight.

Huge Parade Forms

The fier was placed in an automobile with Grover A. Whelan, chairman of the mayor's committee of welcome, and the car took its place in the apparently endless parade which for almost an hour past had been steadily marching by. The crowds in lower Broadway were such as police had never seen before.

They were waving and packed tight, all skyscraper windows were filled with heads as close as bunched grapes, heads peered over the roofs tops and adventurous youth perched on cornices and window sills.

Windows Barred

Many a window in the miles of plate glass must have eyed in before the pressure of the packed bodies but for the foresight of building owners who had boarded over practically the glass along the line of march.

The paper storm-torn with which New York greets its favorites had begun to fall while Lindbergh was still down the bay, but when he rode up Broadway it became a blizzard. Now confined to Broadway and Fifth avenue, over which the parade marched. At the signal of the harbor craft's whistles the air became full of paper over the whole city. Miles from the city Lindbergh could see the air thick with falling paper and colored the city.

Walker Greets Him

After passing through the canyons of the financial district Lindbergh was greeted at the city hall by Mayor Walker and was reunited with his mother, who had come from Washington by train. For the rest of the parade Mrs. Lindbergh rode in a car behind her son. She, too, was volunterously cheered. She comely smiling and was escorted by Mayor Walker presented a scroll and then complimented the fier on his deed. "We are not giving you the city," he said, "it is yours you have won it." The parade then continued to Madison Square, still through crowds and cheering, packed with men and women who waited since early morning now struggling for a glimpse of the aviator who had captured their imaginations and their hearts. At the "eternal light," in memory of the dead, in the square, there were brief ceremonies and then the fier continued onward to the Mall in central park.

Fifth avenue was as crowded as Broadway had been and Lindbergh rode its steady length as he passed through the narrow highway of the lower city, seated on the folded top of the open car and waving salutations to the crowd.

In central park he was presented with New York state's medal of valor, which never before had been given to any but a native New Yorker. Governor Smith made the presentation, saying that Lindbergh was hailed in the Empire state as "an ideal and an example for the youth of America."

Governor Presents Med-I

"New York is proud to bestow upon you her medal of valor," the governor said, "not only for your achievement, which is beyond the power of words to describe, but in admiration of the personality which your exploit and your daring has pointed for us."

week are highly elated over the rain and a good crop is assured them. Mr. Eaton and agriculturists of the county are of the opinion that the county state that there is ample time for a good crop in all the feeds and cotton can easily be made. A good stand is reported in those sections which have been planted despite the dry spell which has just closed.

Rain At Slaton

SLATON, June 13.—Rain began falling here Sunday afternoon continuing through the night and by 3 p. m. Monday amounted to more than two and one-half inches. Added to the one inch rain which came a week earlier, a most excellent moisture supply is now provided for the entire Slaton territory. The rains came slowly soaking into the soil rapidly. The ground was not packed over cotton recently planted and replanting is not likely. Farmers will proceed at once to finish planting cotton and other row crops. As a result of the rains business conditions and farm prospects are excellent.

Lindy's Friends Go to Meet Him

Lamesa Favored

LAMESA, June 13.—Lower South Plains drenched from one and one-half to three and one-quarter inches which fell today and last night. Still cloudy and rainy. Reports from Call, Ackley, Spurgeon, Patricia, Seminole, Florey, Seagraves, Brownfield, Tahoka and O'Donnell indicate the rains were generally heavy on the lower South Plains. It fell slowly with no damage. All cotton and feeds planted will be greatly benefited and much planting will go forward at once for the next ten days. At the best it is estimated that the acreage of cotton will be cut in Dawson county by one-third. Better than two inches fell in Lamesa. Business conditions are predicted to pick up.

Rain At Amarillo

AMARILLO, June 13.—(AP)—With a cold heavy mist falling tonight Amarillo and vicinity had received a total of .40 inch of rain during the past 24 hours. The downfall Saturday was accompanied by considerable wind and electrical disturbances.

Reports from outlying districts and neighboring towns throughout the county and surrounding districts indicate that the rains were general and farmers are elated over the prospect of being able to start rain the temperature tumbled a minimum of 48 degrees, the coldest for 100 days of the year experienced here for several years.

Abilene Reports

ABILENE, June 13.—(AP)—A drenching rain fell over all of West Texas Sunday night and Monday, reports here indicate. The precipitation here was .48 inch. The lightest recorded in any of the area surrounding Abilene. While the added moisture will aid crops in this section, it was not especially needed, as rains of the past two weeks had put crops in excellent condition. The rain extended as far west as Harston, according to reports received here.

GENERAL RAINFALL AID TO FARMERS

PRECIPITATION IS WORTH QUARTER MILLION TO THE PANHANDLE

(By the Associated Press)

What was forecast Sunday night by the weather bureau as "local thundershowers," over West Texas proved Monday to be the most general rain for many weeks, varying from a few hundredths of an inch to more than five and a half inches. Three persons were killed by lightning.

On the heels of the drouth-breaking precipitation in the Panhandle plains territory Sunday and accompanied by severe electrical disturbances in numerous localities came a rain which probably was worth quarter billion dollars to central and north Texas, extending as far west as San Angelo and almost to the coast on the south.

A general drop in temperature about 30 degrees on the average accompanied the rains.
Five Inch Downpour
Wagon freighted 544 inches of rain, the one inch from San Angelo to Elgin 15 to 2 inches, Cisco half inch, Memphis 44, Miami 30, Nacoches 18 and Albany 14.

All of the Texas League game except the one at Shreveport were rained out and all in the Lone Star League except at Valentine were likewise called off.

The precipitation at Waco amounted to a cloudburst, and considerable damage was done to crop streets were flooded temporarily and an automobile was reported to have run off the road into Katy lake during the downpour.

THREE PERSONS DROWNED AT SEA

WOMAN GOES OVERBOARD AND TWO SAILORS SWEPT AWAY

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, June 13.—The story of the loss of three lives at sea from the Steamship California bound from New York was told today by the correspondent of the Westminster Gazette by passengers arriving at Glasgow.

The steamer was 600 miles from Ireland on Saturday when the "woman overboard" was raised. Life belts were thrown into the water and a life boat with an officer and five sailors was launched but it immediately shipped a heavy sea. Two sailors, Gilbert and Melman were carried away by the heavy swell and neither the woman nor the men were seen again.

American Is Victim

The woman was Mrs. Louisa Traynor, who board was in United States ship. She was on her way to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers, who reside at Kirkcubbin, Dunbarton. A passenger Mrs. Harrison, returning from New Jersey to Paisley said she saw Mrs. Traynor standing on the deck of the ship's rail with her hair over her head; she suddenly turned and lurched into the water. Cabin companions of Mrs. Traynor said she had been bright and cheerful the first three days of the voyage and talked expectantly of the ship's rail with her hair over her head; she suddenly turned and lurched into the water. Wheat Not Only Thing That Does Well in Floy County Is Finding Of Officers

FLOYDADA, June 11.—Wheat is not the only crop being harvested in Floyd county. One hundred and twenty bottles of "home brew" beer were uncovered when G. R. May was cutting the wheat on his land near Floydada. Three townships and a box was used to store the illegal dispenses of beer, which was discovered before the combine succeeded in threshing it. Mr. May immediately notified Sheriff P. C. Stegall who proceeded to store the beer not for better prices but for better evidence. General opinion is that some wheat land near here will yield as much as 100 bottles per acre.

ROADS ARE BEING PUT IN CONDITION

HIGHWAY FORCES BROUGHT TO LUBBOCK TO WORK FROM THIS CITY

Seventeen outfits, including tractors and teams with "road razers" will be in operation in Lubbock county today reconditioning highways leading in each direction from this city, following a concentration of forces here effected yesterday afternoon. It was announced at the highway office, city and county implements have been borrowed and every facility will be used that is available.

The newly constructed highway grade in Lynn county is also being reconditioned by a gang of workmen. The rain, while temporarily hampering work, will be of great benefit in the long run, in putting highways of this district in proper shape.

Fast action in rebuilding the bridge on Highway No. 9 north of the city, which was washed out when the Yellowhouse canyon became a raging torrent Sunday evening, was shown by officials and workmen of the highway department here, who had another bridge and approach constructed in a little over two hours time after the washout.

Construction work on a bridge on the Plainview road to cost approximately $10,000, will be started today. The structure will be 42 feet long.

With many of the roads in impassable condition over certain stretches the department is co-operating in arranging it so that motorists may be pulled through the bad stretches where possible.

When the Yellowhouse canyon east of the city became impassable following the rain Sunday, the national guardmen volunteered and offered their teams in dragging cars across while the water was high.

Mr. Hector Yates, of Dallas, arrived here yesterday to assume his duties as scout executive for the South Plains area.

It will keep a whole room cool—and by room we don't mean kitchenette. It is full-oscillating, which means it turns through a 90 degree arc. The oscillating mechanism is entirely enclosed. The fan has three speeds. It doesn't sound like a swarm of bees when it runs.

At the job of keeping you cool, the Home Fan, like all fans made by Westinghouse, moves a greater volume of air per unit of current.

DAILY MARKETS

COTTON PRICES SLUMP

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Reports of rains in the drought-stricken West Texas were followed by a break of about 50 to 60 points in the cotton market today. October contracts sold off to 16.50 and closed at 16.25, the Saturday market closing barely steady at net declines of 55 to 57 points.

The market opened easy at a decline of 19 to 25 points in response to weak Liverpool cables and private reports of rains in West Texas over the week end. Selling was extremely brisk and active months showed net losses of 47 to 55 points. There was trade buying and covering on scale down orders and with the first lull in the pressure, prices rallied a few points, but the forenoon market weakened under renewed liquidation.

July sold off to 16.27, December to 16.79 and January to 16.90, net declines of 15 to 22 points on the general list. The close was within a few points of the lowest on most positions. The selling brought in by the private rail news was probably made more urgent by the fact that the market closed at mid-day, or before publication of the detailed weather reports. There may have been some uncertainty as to whether the latter would indicate that the west Texas drought had been completely broken, but the private advices received here reported con-

COTTON DECLINES

NEW ORLEANS, June 13. (AP)—Cotton prices declined $2.50 a bale today in an excellently active session. The main incentive behind the decline was the relieving of the drought in West Texas. October after opening at 16.72, traded up to 16.82 near mid-session but dropped to 16.45 in the late trading and closed at that figure. The general market closed barely steady at a net decline of 71 to 73 points.

Liverpool was lower than due, the easier tone probably being induced by reports of rain in Texas reaching that market. First trades here showed losses of 22 to 42 points below the previous close. Prices continued to ease off during the morning with little or no disposition to rally until near mid-session; July traded to 16.37, October 16.52, and December 16.72, 61 to 62 points below Saturday's close.

After the New York market had closed at noon the local market quieted down and in the early afternoon prices gained 3 to 4 points on covering by satisfied shorts.

In the late trading, however, reports of additional rains in Texas caused another slump in prices and all months made new lows with July at 16.27, October 16.45 and December 16.65, or 77 to 73 points net down.

Exports for the day totaled 15,512 bales.

YARNS BARELY STEADY

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Primary goods markets generally were closed at noon today on account of the Lindbergh celebration. Yarns were barely steady affected by a decline in cotton. Durkas markets were steady and quiet. Silks were quiet.

COTTON OIL DULL

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Cottonseed oil was dull and easy today under commission house liquidation owing to the decline in cotton and reports of beneficial rains in the southwest, which offset the

CORN HIGHER

CHICAGO, June 13. (AP)—Corn prices ran up fast today as a result of heavy rains which halted field work. When we helped upward by corn, closing quotations for corn were strong, 3 1/4 cent in 4 1/4 cent net. Other, with wheat unsettled at 1 cent to 1 1/2 cent gain, only showing 3-8 cent to 5-8 cent advance, and provisions a rise of 7 cents to 20 cents. An advance in big values gave strength to the provision market.

WOOL SLOW

BOSTON, June 13. (AP)—Dealers are somewhat indifferent toward pushing sales of new clip domestic wool arriving on this market. In fact a majority of the trade are contenting their greatest efforts to opening up and grading the new supplies in preparations of offerings of mills, the increased offerings has halted a strong sentiment, although sales continue of moderate volume.

LIVESTOCK STEADY

FORT WORTH, June 13. (AP)—Generally steady trading conditions featured the live stock market here today with some advance in piglets to 20 cents. The count called for 2,500 steers, 15,000 calves, 1,500 hogs and 1,500 sheep, 3,200 of which was on through, billing.
