Shutdown Order Bars All but U.S. Chief Authority

Oklahoma Governor Sends Guardsmen Into Gusher Fields; Producers Plan Reprisal in Courts

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 4. (AP)—Martial law was invoked tonight by Gov. William Henry Murray to choke off the flow from 3,106 wells in prorated fields of Oklahoma.

His executive order, issued after national guardsmen had entered the Oklahoma City field and brought about the closing of many of its gushers, established martial zones for 50 feet around all but "stripper" wells in the state. It directed that the national guard maintain military control "against all orders whatsoever except an order from the president or the supreme court of the United States."

The drastic move was Murray's long-awaited answer to purchasers of crude oil who refused his demand to post $1 per barrel prices. The present top price is 50 cents.

Valves Closed as Troops Arrive

Mobilized on verbal orders of Adj. Gen. Charles F. Barrett of the national guard, troops were moved to the Oklahoma City field this afternoon. Detachments, accompanied by Cicero Murray, the governor's oil representative bearing a colonel's commission, visited field offices of producing companies and in a few minutes great valves were twisted and wells were closed.

About 100 officers and enlisted men were in the field late today. It was the first oil producing area of the state to see the troops.

No opposition to the closing of the wells was expected in the fields themselves. But the oil purchasers and others have indicated they will lose no time seeking injunctive relief from the courts.

The voluminous order declares the shutdown is necessary to conserve natural resources of the state. It includes a spirited attack on the Sinclair and Champlin companies, which have transportation, refining and marketing facilities for their production. It charges an intrigue by Sinclair to seek a means of impeaching Murray "because the governor blocked efforts to repeal the oil laws," allegedly made in order to depress the price of oil against the best interests of school children of the state who benefit on a price percentage basis from oil produced on state school lands.

Governor Murray had delayed the decree since Saturday night, the deadline he set for higher oil prices.

State's Principal Fields Are Included

Fields named by the governor in the order include:

Oklahoma City, Allen, Two Sands, Bowlegs, Earlsboro proper, Earlsboro townsite, Little River, East Little River, Marshall-Lovell, Maud, Mission, Sasakwa, Searight, Seminole, East Seminole, St. Louis, Carr City, South Earlsboro, Konawa, East Earlsboro, West Sher-Wanetta, West Seminole, Wewoka, Tatums, Chandler, West Perry and Orlando.

Praising the independent producers as having made possible development of the state natural resources the governor attacked the Sinclair Oil and Gas company, the Champlin Refining company, "and their associates and the pipe line companies" who he said had access to the courts "and have acted upon the assumption that they are superior to and possessed power beyond the sovereign power of the state of Oklahoma and its two and one-half millions of people."

Protection, "by judicial juggling, through injunction," has been denied the independents, Murray said. He asserted these companies have promised to keep men employed while "monopolistic companies have cut down wages and reduced the number of employed, . . . which has caused threats of dynamiting their pipe lines and other destruction of their properties . . . to the extent that a continuation of present conditions and markets is liable to produce mob violence unless all these well are at once closed down."

Quotes Oklahoma Conservation Laws

He quoted the state conservation law to the effect that taking of crude oil, when there is not a market demand at the well at a price equivalent to the actual value of the crude, is prohibited.

He said the state was obliged to conserve income from school lands for common schools and named the Sinclair company, leaseholder of oil producing school land.

Governor Murray said the price of crude oil "has been by such methods of the Sinclair Oil and Gas company, in combination with other monopolistic oil corporations, reduced to such a low price that the independent producer has not been able to obtain a price equal to the cost of production while the monopolistic purchasers and producers, who produce oil, control pipelines, own and operate refineries and filling stations . . . have through such monopolistic production and control increased their earnings and threatened utter destruction of the independent producers who own neither pipelines, refineries nor filling stations."

He spoke of the voluntary shutdown in the Oklahoma City field by numerous producers and said the Champlin and Sinclair companies had continued to take oil from their wells "to the detriment of the adjoining lands operated by the independent producers."

Shutting down of all but stripper wells, the order stated, "is a measure of conservation," and does not injure the wells. If closed down the stripper wells, however, would be ruined, it said.

The shutdown, it was alleged, "does not take from interstate commerce any oil because it has never reached the pipe line from the purpose of interstate commerce nor does it take from any owner any valuable property but in keeping with the law conserves the natural resources of the state."

Seminole Shutdown Slated Today

Cicero I. Murray announced tonight that he would go to the greater Seminole field tomorrow with Adjutant General Barrett and, using national guard units in that area, shut down wells affected by the governor's order and station guardsmen to enforce the order, as was done tonight in the Oklahoma City field.

Thursday, Murray said, similar action would be taken in the Chandler field of Lincoln county, the Marshall-Lovell field of Logan county and the Tatums field in Carter county.

One hundred national guardsmen, moving swiftly over the 13-square-mile area of the Oklahoma City oil field, closed down every completed well with only a show of opposition at two points—but they were not so omnipotent in an encounter with their mess sergeant.

Tonight those of Murray's "army" not on active duty milled about the dairy barn used as headquarters and beat with their tin mess kits on the walls and floors for food that was slow in arriving.

Field kitchen equipment came after a time, but numerous dents in metal plates and cups made their appearance first.

Lieut. Col. Cicero I. Murray, newly appointed by his cousin, William Henry Murray, governor of the sovereign state of Oklahoma, stalked to and fro and watched carefully over the darkened field to see that none of the mandates of the governor were violated.

HOOVER COTTON PLAN STIRS STORM

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

The Valley box and crate factory at San Benito is replacing a nail driving machine with five men. The change is being made as an employment relief measure. Is this a move backward or forward?

Newspapers which carry this unusual news item from San Benito print the likeness of Gandhi, the Indian philosopher and leader who is on his way to a conference in London that will directly affect the destiny of some hundreds of millions of inhabitants of India and indirectly affect the whole world.

Gandhi preaches that the restoration of handicraft will help make the people happy and will promote their material welfare. Gandhi, the dried up little Indian who would offer no physical resistance to anybody, is, without doubt, the most influential man of his day and generation—more influential than Mussolini, Stalin, Hindenberg, or any president, king or premier.

Directors of the United States Steel company vote to maintain wages and reduce dividends, and recommend a revision of salaries and bonuses of officials. The test of humanitarianism and sincerity is a willingness to reduce one's own income in order that another's may be maintained. The directors of the United States Steel company have shown a sympathy and understanding of labor that may easily be worth more to the stockholders of that company than would a larger dividend paid through a reduction of wages.

Members of the Wichita Valley Growers association have not yet received returns from their shipments of cantaloupes. It is probable that their returns will be less than hoped for a few weeks ago, yet this will not discourage the association from another trial. This season between 100 and 150 acres of cantaloupes were grown. Next season it is hoped to have 1,000 acres.

The county commissioners court votes to discontinue charity doles after Aug. 10. It is reported that the county has expended something like $100,000 since Jan. 1 in emergency employment and in charity contributions. It no longer has the funds to continue these expenditures.

Wichita county is probably no worse off in this respect than thousands of other counties scattered over the country which have attempted to provide some relief in the unemployment emergency. Counties and cities are finding themselves with depleted funds and with the prospect that the need next winter will be greater than ever. The situation presents a problem that will require the best thought of the community.

One of the lessons of our recent experience is that too many relief agencies in the field muddle things up and permit abuses of charity by those who would make a profession of mendicacy, and that all county, city, community chest and other agencies for relief ought to be handled through one central organization. It is not too early to call a conference of community leaders

Dempseys Scrap Over Possession of Town Car

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4. (US)—Estelle Taylor, film actress and estranged wife of Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, today planned a counter move by which she might regain possession of the luxurious town car given her as a Christmas present last year by Jack, but which was taken from her while she was visiting friends.

"Although the car is not registered in my name, it still is community property," Estelle declared today, "and you can just bet that I intend to get it back."

BOARD SALES TO GERMANY IS PROPOSAL

Southern States Denounce Move as Ruinous to New Crop

PARLEY AT AUSTIN

Conference Studies Acreage Cut and Fresh Uses For Product

By FRASER EDWARDS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (US)—"King Cotton" today ran up two flags—a white one of distress and a red one of rage—in response to President Hoover's proposal to sell the federal farm board's stabilization holdings of cotton to Germany on long-term credits.

The president's plan was promptly denounced by Senator Harris of Georgia, as a scheme to take "away the market which rightfully belongs to the current crop held by farmers." He was joined in this protest by Senator Smith of South Carolina, who asserted that such a step would be "disastrous to the cotton market."

Concerted Protest Planned

While Harris made a counter proposal from his office here, Smith started a movement to bring a concerted protest from the senators and representatives in the southern cotton states against the step suggested by Hoover for disposition of the farm board's holdings.

In his substitute plan, Harris recommended that the government should aid in the financing of the present cotton crop in sales to Germany on long-term credit. He insisted that the stabilization cotton should be kept off the market.

From his home in Florence, S. C., Senator Smith declared that "if there ever was a time to hold cotton off the market it is now." He asserted that the very suggestion that the farm board sell its cotton to Germany had already reacted unfavorably on the cotton market.

Watson Wired

Smith wired Senators Sheppard and Connally of Texas, Robinson and Caraway of Arkansas, Fletcher and Trammell of Florida, Democrats, and Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader of the senate, urging them to join in the protest to the president.

Meanwhile, delegates to the southern cotton conference were meeting in Austin, Texas, at the call of Gov. Ross Sterling, to consider the Texas cotton acreage bill as a means of meeting the cotton crisis.

Acreage Cut Endorsed

The measure, designed to cut down acreage, and now before a special session of the Texas legislature, would impose heavy fines for planting cotton two successive years on the same land. This drastic scheme, proposed for other states as well, was given a preliminary indorsement by the delegates.

At the same time, the president was asked in a resolution to call an international conference to determine whether world war debts and tariffs were having an adverse effect upon cotton prices.

DELEGATES URGE CROP CURTAILMENT

AUSTIN, Aug. 4. (AP)—Most of the delegates to the southwide cotton conference here today asked cotton states to curtail their production by law. They coupled with this a request that the south leave no stone unturned in increasing the use of its chief crop.

A bill has been introduced in the Texas legislature, meeting in special session, to prevent the planting of land in cotton two years in succession. Conferees asked that Texas, far the largest cotton producing state, take the lead by enacting this law and asserted they believed other states would follow.

A resolution endorsing laws to enforce cotton acreage reduction was among those adopted by the conferees just before they adjourned. They also requested President Hoover to "have careful study given to the question of general effect of

Traffic League Head Opposes Freight Jump

DALLAS, Aug. 4. (AP)—R. C. Fulbright, chairman of a national industrial traffic league committee, told shippers here today that industry is far worse off than it was nine years ago, while the railroads are in better condition than they were at that time.

Shippers met to discuss the railroads' petition for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates. Fulbright will represent the national industrial league when the Interstate Commerce commission hears the railroad proposal here Aug. 21.

"At first I was in sympathy with the railroads," he said, "but in studying the question, I found that railroads, backed by powerful financial interests, are exercising every known influence to prevent shippers from opposing their application for a rate increase."

Arkansas Farmers Send Trucks of Food to Hungry Miners

ENGLAND, Ark., Aug. 4. (AP)—Last year's drouth sufferers of this section who pulled through a hard winter to a summer of plenty, today shared their good fortune with needy neighbors, the unemployed miners of Henryetta, Okla.

Farmers and merchants loaded 15 trucks with vegetables and canned goods last night and sent them as a relief caravan to Oklahoma as a feature of Lonoke county's celebration of recovery from the drouth.

Peas, potatoes, corn, onions, cabbages, carrots, beans, okra and tomatoes were heaped onto the trucks by farmers, negroes and whites, who brought their donations to town from outlying communities.

A crowd of about 500 persons witnessed the start of the caravan on its errand of mercy.

FALL KILLS WICHITA MAN

Amos J. Ivy Fatally Hurt in East Texas

Falling 60 feet from the top of a derrick, Amos J. Ivy, 35, Wichita Falls rig builder, was fatally injured near Tyler at noon Tuesday. He died in a Tylor hospital a few hours later, according to an Associated Press dispatch to The Record News.

Ivy was employed with a crew in tearing down a derrick near Tornertown when he lost his grip and plunged to earth.

Landing on his feet the bones of both legs were shattered. Internal injuries also were inflicted with the force of his fall to the ground, resulting in his death.

Ivy had been a resident of Wichita Falls for about eight years, and had been employed during that time by J. E. Rumbaugh, Wichita Falls rig building contractor, for whom he was working at the time of his death. He had been in the East Texas fields since March. His wife had joined him there, although they still maintained their residence here at 401 Travis street.

Funeral arrangements had not been made Tuesday night. Surviving Ivy, in addition to his widow, are his parents and several sisters of Denison, Texas; a brother, J. L. Ivy of Tyler, but recently of Wichita Falls, and a sister, Mrs. Elgin G. Brown of 2408 Polk street.

Vanderbilt Hints Dire Results as Wife Gets Decree

RENO, Nev., Aug. 4. (US)—Mrs. Mary Logan Vanderbilt obtained an absolute divorce here today and Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. talked freely about himself and events leading to the decree.

He asserted that he is still out for revenge, and that he is "not through yet."

He predicted dire eventualities for "two of the principals" in what he termed his "drama."

Young Vanderbilt offered his utterances at his home, a mile from the courthouse where his wife was going through brief formalities that made her his ex-wife.

"I'm getting cynical," he asserted. "Girls are all the same. They've all got the same line."

Mrs. Vanderbilt, smartly garbed, entered the courtroom of Judge B. F. Curler, ignored the crowd that followed her from the courthouse and told interviewers:

"There is really nothing I can say. Goodbye."

Today's decree is the climax to the bitter feud between young Vanderbilt and Peter Arno, New York artist. In this respect Vanderbilt said:

"I hold Arno responsible for what has happened and he has brought upon himself responsibility for anything that may occur in the future."

Boost in Cigaret Tax Foreseen by Experts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (US)—In the next upward revision in federal taxes, cigarets may be given higher rates, according to economists of the Hoover administration today.

The administration is loath to sponsor a tax-increase bill at the next session of congress, not only because of the undesirable political effect upon the 1932 elections, but because the treasury can be financed easily through loans.

An increase in taxation would have a retarding effect upon business recovery, but once the pendulum swings toward better times a boost in taxes was believed to be certain.

Eyewitnesses Describe Slaying In Murder Trial at Montague

Special to The Record News.

MONTAGUE, Texas, Aug. 4.—Eight eye-witnesses to the slaying of V. A. Lyles on the streets of Nocona June 20 Tuesday testified that the victim was unarmed and motionless at the time Nightwatchman O. G. Robinson, on trial for murder, opened fire upon him.

As the last state witness, Mrs. Lyles, widow of the slain man, told of picking the wounded man up from the street and bringing him to Wichita Falls where he died. Mrs. Lyles said her husband had been drinking but was not drunk.

House Committee Votes Unfavorably On Sterling's Oil Production Tax

Minority Report on Proposed Levy Will Go to Floor; Vote On Commission Due Today

AUSTIN, Aug. 4. (AP)—The house taxation committee late today voted to report unfavorably the Satterwhite bill proposing a two-cent per barrel tax on crude petroleum.

Notice was given that a minority report favoring the bill would be brought to the floor. The vote was 8 to 3.

Gov. Ross S. Sterling, in a message to the legislature, had suggested the two cent tax.

The committee did not reach the West bill, which projects a graduated tax. Representative Lee Satterwhite, author of the bill voted unfavorably, said he had prepared an amendment carrying the graduated tax provision.

House Nears Vote

The house tonight neared a vote on the first of the oil conservation bills. The vote was expected early tomorrow.

Both supporters of the Wagstaff administration-approved bill and the bill offered as a substitute were confident of victory.

The Wagstaff bill would give the state authority to control the production of oil and would permit setting of an allowable production. The substitute bill, offered by Representative T. H. McGregor of Austin would give the state no control over production. McGregor said his bill would prohibit the state from prorating production and would give the conservation agency authority to deal only with physical waste.

Two Bills Similar

The two bills were similar in many respects.

MURRAY'S FIGHT WINS PRAISE OF INDEPENDENTS HERE

It's A Good Scrap Even If He's Wrong, Wichitans Say Of Oklahoma Governor

Alfalfa Bill Murray has the hopeful good wishes of most of Wichita Falls' independent oil industry in his fight for higher crude prices. And that goes even if the Sage of Tishomingo has bitten off considerably more than he can chew in his order for a general shutdown of the Oklahoma field.

Hopes were freely expressed here Tuesday night that Governor Murray's orders will aid the independent industry. Some were critical of his methods and were doubtful of Murray's ultimate success in maintaining his orders; but from almost every source there was recognition that the high-handed tactics of the fiery Oklahoma executive may bring about improvement in the industry, just as his dramatic opening of the free bridges across Red river forced to successful conclusion an issue that had been allowed to drag for months.

The rather passive tactics of Gov. Ross Sterling in regard to the industry's troubles drew unfavorable comment as compared to Governor Murray's active battle to aid independent operators and to protect his state's natural resources.

> Special to The Record News.
> AUSTIN, Aug. 4.—If the Oklahoma oil shutdown stays in effect any length of time it is sure to improve Texas prices, particularly in the Panhandle and Wichita Falls areas, R. D. Parker, chief oil and gas supervisor of the railroad commission commented Tuesday night.
> There has been some strengthening of demand for oil in those areas even since the Continental company raised prices to 40 cents, he said.
> Governor Murray's action could not be construed as an example for Texas to follow, the official in charge of proration declared.

Bob Windfohr, prominent Graham operator, found some definite reasons for good to come of Governor Murray's plan—in the event it works. Windfohr said:

"Governor Murray was pretty well advised in the bridge squabble and it is possible that he has the authority he is now assuming. If he has, the results will be tremendous.

"Oklahoma is producing about 20 per cent of the nation's oil output. This percentage certainly is large enough to govern the price structure.

"Even as badly as the East Texas producers want to give away their oil, lack of transportation facilities out of the East Texas field will prevent their supplying this one-half million barrels daily deficit."

T. O. Shappell, veteran operator of the Wichita field, probably expressed the hopes and the misgivings of independents generally when he told The Record News Tuesday night:

At Least He's Trying

"There is a chance the shutdown will do some good if kept in effect long enough. I hope it does. Governor Murray seems to be the only one trying to do anything about present prices.

"I think he's probably running a bluff; but if he does maintain the shutdown it is going to make the 'big boys' wake up."

A temporary shutdown, Mr. Shappell said, will do little good, although a long suspension, he declared, ought to effect prices in Northwest Texas.

A similar opinion was expressed by Wayne Hammon, who declared there is little, if any, over-production at present, and that purchasers "are simply taking advantage of the situation."

"If the governor of Texas had as much backbone as the governor of Oklahoma, Texas producers wouldn't be in the predicament they are in today," Mr. Hammon declared.

"Murray's plan is wonderful if he can get by with it. There has to be oil to supply the northern and eastern markets and if they can't get it without raising the price, the whole market is bound to be favorably effected. Of course it will cut down the overproduction, if there is any overproduction. Personally I doubt there is being more oil produced than is needed. There is less gas on hand now than there was at this time last year. Crude purchasers are simply taking advantage of conditions.

"In any case, I think Governor Murray's tactics, if sustained, are sure to help the industry. I'm for him."

If East Texas will meet Governor Murray's shutdown with strict proration, dollar oil is in sight within 60 days, according to Charles J. Tucker, independent oil operator.

"Murray is entitled to a lot of credit for trying to do something," Mr. Tucker said. "Sterling suffers by any comparison and I'd like to shake Murray's hand. But it won't do much good to cut out 200.000 barrels in Oklahoma while East Texas goes right on producing 600,000 barrels a day. The pipe line companies, I'm afraid, would simply switch to East Texas oil.

"Lucey, I understand, is really trying to get some cooperative proration down there and proration in East Texas with Murray in Oklahoma City would bring dollar oil in 60 days."

May Aid Gasoline Prices

Belief that Murray's shutdown of the Oklahoma field would have an immediate and stimulating effect on gasoline prices was expressed by D. G. Gray, president of the Dale Oil and Refining company.

"Oklahoma and Kansas refineries depend on Oklahoma fields for the crude to fill their gasoline demands, and if they can't get it in their own area, they will buy gasoline elsewhere.

"The shutdown, I believe, will not effect Northwest Texas crude prices but out-of-state refineries will buy a part of their gasoline needs from this section to fill their contracts.

"If Murray is unable to maintain the shutdown, there will be a fictitious increase in prices which will result in a harmful reaction when fields are thrown wide open again. Prices will return to the same level or go even lower.

"I do not believe there will be any greater demand for local oil. It is my opinion that East Texas will set the price basis for mid-continent crude as long as conditions in that field continue as they are at present."

East Texas Holds Key

N. H. Martin, president of the Deep Oil Development company and prominent operator, also expressed doubt that a shutdown of the Oklahoma fields would bring an advance in crude oil prices in this section.

"It is my opinion that East Texas holds the key to the entire situation," said Mr. Martin.

"A shutdown of production Oklahoma will result, however, in a quicker running off of flush production in East Texas.

"Of course if the Oklahoma shutdown is maintained long enough, it will ultimately help the price structure over the entire mid-continent field. The clearing way of the economic obstruction to the oil business—that of overproduction—is the only thing that will result in increased prices."

Approval of Governor Murray's course was expressed at Austin by Tom Hunter, Wichita independent and leader of the North Texas Oil and Gas association, who has appeared several times before the Texas legislature recently.

"It's a wise course and will help the industry in Oklahoma," Mr. Hunter told The Record News correspondent at Austin.

"I'm in favor of Texas going on a strike for better prices too. Governor Murray is to be congratulated on his action. We ought to close down in Texas, and when the wells are reopened, make production orderly over the entire state."

Claude Wild, executive vice president of the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas, said Governor Murray's order "means more drilling, more production, more pipe line connections, more cheap oil in East Texas," if the shutdown lasts.

Some additional oil from the East Texas field may trickle into the Oklahoma channels, but principally it will mean a further splurge of low-price East Texas production, Wild believed.

While believing that Governor Murray's action will help Texas oil prices, Representative Bob Long at Austin declared that Murray's order is "foolish" from a viewpoint of helping Oklahoma operators.

"They'll find when they open up again that Texas has taken their market away from them," Long declared.

WEST TEXANS CHEER MURRAY

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Aug. 4. (AP)—Gov. W. H. Murray's policy of shutting down all oil wells in Oklahoma met with immediate approval of a group of San Angelo independent oil operators and others interested in the industry in this section.

Late tonight the following telegram was dispatched to the fiery chief executive:

"We congratulate you for your courage and backing up your conviction in closing in oil wells in your state until a fair price is established and feel that if more oil producing states had leaders like yourself we would not be facing conditions like we are today. We wish you every success in your courageous stand."

by the guards while on duty in a field that saw no oil activity except the drilling of a few wells. Drilling was not not affected by the executive order.

At one well Otto Bradford, proration field umpire, was told that the order would be disobeyed.

"Try that and we'll tear down your separator," replied Bradford, whereupon the lease attendant promptly twirled the valves.

Another attendant, informed that the "army" was approaching the field, also changed his mind quickly about resisting the shutdown order.

7,500 WORKERS FACE UNEMPLOYMENT

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 4. (AP)—The Daily Oklahoman estimates that 7,500 oil employes will be thrown out of work as a result of Gov. W. H. Murray's shutdown order of today and that some companies will operate on half-time basis to prevent discharge of many more.

Of the 7,500, about 3,600 are in the greater Seminole oil area and 3,000 in the Oklahoma City field.

Approximately 1,000 employes in the natural gasoline business will be affected, the paper states. Included also are several hundred refinery workers and many pipe line employes. Largest unemployment, the Oklahoman says, will be in the production end of the business.

Average pay of those thrown out of work is $3.50 a day, the paper estimates.

Testimony Opens in County Road Trial

PANHANDLE, Texas, Aug. 4. (AP)—Hutchinson county's suit for recovery of $551,000 from the W. L. Pearson Construction company continued in court here today.

Records of the Hutchinson county commissioners' court, showing a road building contract with the construction company, were read to the jury. The contract was dated March 14, 1927.

The county alleged improper issuance of $201,000 in warrants and a $350,000 overcharge by the Pearson company in connection with the contract, which was made when W. R. Goodwin was county judge. The suit was filed a year ago.

HOUSE TO VOTE OIL BILL TODAY

Pipe Line Measure Brings Prolonged Debate

the state the right to set a ratio of the amount of gas that could be used in lifting a barrel of oil to the surface. This has been one of the main points in the controversy between the two factions.

A furore was caused in the house during a vote on a ratable taking amendment to the McGregor substitute bill. The voting machine showed Representative J. J. Olsen of Yoakum as voting for the amendmetn when Olsen was not in the house and had not been present all afternoon. The person voting Olsen's machine was not determined and the vote was cancelled and taken over.

The amendment, by Representative Bailey Hardy of Breckenridge carried 62 to 56 after being defeated this morning when offered as an amendment to the Wagstaff bill. The amendment would require pipe lines to take ratably from all producers and was aimed also at preventing discrimination between fields in different sections of the state.

Pipe Line Bill Voted

The senate committee's chief concern was the Pollard substitute pipe line bill, which was voted out favorably.

The bill would amend the present statutes to define as a common purchaser any purchaser of gas affiliated with a pipe line.

Severe penalties would be set up for violations of orders issued under the bill. An offending domestic corporation would be liable to forfeiture of its charter, a foreign corporation might lose its permit to do business in Texas. Receiverships could be asked for persistent violations.

The bill would empower the railroad commission, the present administrator of oil and gas laws, to order pipe line companies to make "reasonable" connections with wells in any field, thus giving the wells an outlet to the market.

The commission would be authorized to set pipe line rates.

Cut Production

Both bills would materially reduce production by requiring pipe lines to take ratably from all producers. If a producer could not obtain an outlet for his oil he necessarily would cut production to the amount of oil that would be taken by the pipe lines. With hundreds of producers hooked up with each line it would be impossible for the line to carry the capacity production from each well, it was pointed out.

The bills gave the conservation agency the right of injunction to compel compliance with its orders pending determination of their validity; the right to collect and impound penalties and to ask for appointment of receiverships for violation of its orders after held valid. Under both bills the orders of the commission would be deemed valid until proven otherwise.

Wagstaff charged the McGregor bill would deny the commission the right to consider storage and transportation and would provide no method for enforcing its orders. He also stated failure to give the commission authority to prevent gas wastage would be gross negligence.

Long Charges "Sneaking"

"Elimination of this clause is a sneaking provision to let the Gulf and the Sinclair blow away all the gas they want to in producing a small amount of oil," Representative Bob Long of Wichita Falls charged. "These companies care nothing for Texas and go into a field and take the cream of the production and waste the gas and then leave it for the stripper wells. In Reagan county alone the gas wastage was 60,000,000 cubic feet per day. It was so great it killed jack rabbits 10 miles away."

Long claimed neither of the bills was workable because they prevented the commission from considering economic waste in issuing its orders.

The Wagstaff bill was termed by McGregor as a "price fixing" measure, who claimed it embodied economic waste. Proponents of the Wagstaff bill denied the assertion and claimed it dealt only with physical waste.

Kidnapers Get Fortune In Gems From Merchant

CHICAGO, Aug. 4. (US)—Julius Dreyfuss, New York diamond merchant, reported to authorities here today that he had been kidnaped earlier from an interurban bus at Watertown, Wis., by three bandits who robbed him of $100,000 in unset gems and then threw him from their car at Des Plaines, northwest of Chicago.

He was able to give only a meager description of the three bandits.

Only $25,000 worth of the gems was covered by insurance, Dreyfuss said.

Next Move Is Majors' In Oklahoma Oil War With Hard Time Ahead

By PAUL S. HEDRICK
Record News Correspondent

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 4.—What will the major crude oil purchasing companies of Oklahoma do now, was the question being asked in Oklahoma tonight following the closing down of 3,106 wells in Oklahoma by executive order of Governor Murray, following failure of purchasers to post price of $1 a barrel for oil bought in the state.

It now is the move of the major companies and speculation was rife in Tulsa tonight as to what course their action would take. Since the governor issued his challenge to the major corporations, there has been a feeling prevalent among officials that it was a "bluff" and that the governor would back down when his demands were not met.

The shut-down order is the governor's answer.

At least this much is certain, there will be no physical resistance to the order of the governor. Practically every major company in Tulsa has wired its field superintendents to obey every order of the officers in charge of the national guard, indicating that the big battle will be carried to the courts.

Independent producers tonight on every hand lauded the action of the governor and assured him of their support in the shutdown movement, and in his fight to restore the price of crude oil in Oklahoma to a reasonable level.

No statement was forthcoming from the Sinclair Oil and Gas company, the focal point of the governor's attack, other than that the governor's orders would be obeyed. Officials of the company said they would have to give the matter their consideration.

Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the board of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, when reached tonight, refused to make any comment.

Officials of Standard subsidiaries also refused comment.

The independent producer is willing to take the brunt of the punishment which the present battle will bring about.

Many of the small companies need to sell each day's output in order to meet obligations. Many have crude oil contracts which did not take into consideration such an emergency as has arisen. Such problems will have to find their settlement in court.

Independents Hard Hit

Independent refineries will find themselves hard hit. H. F. Wilcox, president of the H. F. Wilcox Oil and Gas company, Tulsa, tonight reported the company had approximately 10 days crude supply on hand for the company's plant at Bristow.

"When that is gone we shall have to shut down the plant," said Mr. Wilcox. "Because of our extensive holdings in the Oklahoma City field, we have been depending on that area for most of our crude."

Winston P. Henry, chairman of the stripper well committee for Northeast Oklahoma, commended the action of the governor.

"The action of Governor Murray in mobilizing the state troops to enforce a shut-down of all prorated wells in Oklahoma, is startling if only because it is the first definite step towards a real control of crude oil production. In all the babel of Oklahoma City and East Texas there is at least one voice commanding the flood to stop. Whether the governor succeeds or not, at least he will have made the attempt. The action of the governor is spectacular, but no more radical than the action of the corporation commission in issuing the various orders in the past, in which it has limited production in every field in the state."

W. G. Skelly, president, Skelly Oil company, confined himself to the statement that his company would obey the order.

"Hard Times" Feared

A concensus of opinion is that Oklahoma may be in for a hard time. There exists a possibility that the governor's order may start a withdrawal from the state of all major purchasers of crude oil, leaving the state practically without a market. A paralell is drawn in the present case with the condition which existed in Kansas some years ago, when the purchasers left the state without a market because of a disagreement.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 4. (US)—Another prolonged run on the Banco Nacional featured the monetary crisis in Mexico today. A line of depositors more than a block long clamored all day for the return of their money.

Demands by the customers were met and the bank continued to stand up under the strain. The Bank of Mexico opened a credit account for Banco Nacional with 10,000,000 pesos. The demand for silver dropped but American money was at a premium.

Frederick Sheriff Chains Steering Wheels as Hint to Owners

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Aug. 4.—Several motor car owners were surprised the past few days upon returning to their machines to find a trace chain locked about the steering wheel in such a manner that the car could not be moved. Investigation revealed that this was a hint from Sheriff W. A. McAfee that a proper license is required before the car can be operated. Two cars were thus locked Saturday and a truck Monday on the streets of Frederick. Some other motor owners seeing what is being done called upon J. C. Johnson, special agent for the state highway department, and procured 1931 licenses.

McAfee says there are a number of parties living here who have procured Texas licenses because they can be obtained cheaper than here. Owners of those cars will be made to procure Oklahoma licenses, he said.

Favorites Survive In Meadow Tourney

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 4. (AP)—Two rounds of play today reduced the field in the annual Meadow club invitation tennis tournament to eight but left John Hope Doeg, the national champion from Newark, N. J., Ellsworth Vines Jr., Pasadena, Calif., youngster, and all other outstanding favorites except Wilmer Allison, Austin, Texas, still in the running.

Surviving the second and third rounds along with Doeg and Vines were Wilbur F. Coen, Kansas City; Berkeley Bell, New York; Gregory S. Mangin, Newark; Keith Gledhill, Santa Barbara, Calif.; George Lott, Philadelphia, and Clifford Sutter, New Orleans.

Doeg, after taking three sets to subdue Ed Yeomans, Washington, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, swept through Bruce Barnes, Austin, Texas, in straight sets to win at 6-3, 6-3.

Vines first eliminated the sensational Los Angeles youngster, Jack Tidball, 6-4, 6-3 and then had a fight on his hands to whip Eugene McAuliff, Yonkers, N. Y., 6-4, 10.8.

Gledhill, who scored the only real upset of the day in eliminating Allison in the second round, 6-4, 9-7, went on to eliminate Melville, Southampton, 6-3, 6-2.

by Lyles in the demonstration. Lyles had been drinking, witnesses testified, but there had been no disturbance in the store until the arrival of Robinson and a companion.

Lyles was advised to go home, they said, and agreed to do so as soon as the cooker cooled. Lyles insisted that Robinson get out of the store and leave him alone, the woman testified.

Other witnesses told of Lyles leaving the store to move his automobile. According to testimony Lyles approached Robinson on the street and the two walked to the corner together. Later they leaned together against a wall. Lyles was heard cursing Robinson, the testimony continued. The nightwatchman walked away a few steps, whirled about and fired twice, both bullets striking Lyles in the neck. The officer then replaced his gun and walked away, witnesses declared.

Robinson was quoted on the stand as telling Lyles he had done nothing calling for arrest but insisting that he, Lyles, go home. Witnesses said the victim carried no gun and made no move of offense.

The trial attracted a crowd that filled the courtroom and overflowed into the corridors.

TRIBUTE PAID W. T. DODSON

Former Frederick School Head Buried

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Aug. 4.—Funeral services for William T. Dodson, 60, at one time superintendent of the Frederick schools, who was found dead in his bed at Oklahoma City Saturday morning, were conducted at the First Methodist church of this city at 4:30 p. m. Sunday in charge of Rev. John D. Salter of Lawton, presiding elder, assisted by Rev. H. W. Stigler, Baptist pastor. Burial was in the city cemetery beside the grave of a son, Leland, 8, who died of a snake bit in 1908.

Pallbearers were old-time friends of the family, F. E. Moss, J. L. Newland, E. J. Cowen, Robert Plott, O. L. Phipps and R. H. Wessel.

William T. Dodson was born in Mountain Grove, Mo., Jan. 16, 1871. He attended the schools at that place and later obtained a degree from the Missouri university at Columbia. For about 10 years he taught school in or near Mountain Grove. He was married to Miss Katie Stephens of Mountain Grove in 1892 to which union nine children were born, seven of whom together with Mrs. Dodson survive.

The Dodson's came to Frederick in 1906 when he became the first superintendent of schools. During the five years he was here the schools had a remarkable growth. He was popular with pupils, patrons and the public generally.

Dodson took a prominent part in the Methodist Sunday school and church being in charge of the music committee. When in 1911 Dodson accepted a position on the faculty of the Southeastern State Teachers college at Durant, for which place he and family departed, many here felt that no one could be found who would be able to keep up the high standard he had set in the schools.

Dodson remained at Durant until 1919 when he joined the staff of the state board of education, serving as its secretary two years. Later he accepted a position with a school supply company. For the past few months he had been employed in the water and light department at Oklahoma City. He had visited Frederick numerous times since moving from here.

Prosecutor Files Forgery Charges Against War Buddy

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 4. (UP)—County Attorney Lewis R. Morris was called upon today to prosecute a man with whom he walked side by side across no man's land under heavy fire in 1918.

The man was his friend at the University of Oklahoma before the war and his "buddy" in training camp and at France.

Today, Morris charged Charles C. Diamond, former chief clerk for the state soldiers relief commission, with second degree forgery on two counts, totaling $567. The alleged forgeries were made in 1929 and 1930 and Morris claimed were revealed in a departmental audit authorized after a $12,000 shortage had been discovered.

Morris informed his wartime buddy he was filing the charges. Diamond came from his home in Holdenville today to face the charges. He was accompanied by his brother, Harry Diamond, wealthy oil operator, who posted $2,000 bond on each count when his brother pleaded not guilty at his arraignment before Peace Justice Joe Deupree.

Morris and Charles Diamond were in the same company overseas. Morris was company clerk. Diamond was a sergeant.

South Reports Employment Gain

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (UP)—Spotty employment improvements in the South, particularly in Arkansas where the drouth caused so much suffering last summer, was reported today by President Hoover's emergency committee for employment in making public reports from all over the country.

"In the smaller towns of Arkansas," the reports said, "it appears that every one who wants work is profitably employed on account of the abundant crops being picked, processed and marketed. This includes the various smaller crops which are absorbing the rural unemployed through the tri-state territory.

"The real encouragement comes from the rural districts and farming sections. A survey during the latter part of July in Central, Eastern and Northeastern Arkansas found many farmers, merchants, bankers and others quite optimistic and their optimism is based on actual results in some cases."

'Mike' Is Friendly to Mae But She Makes Faces at It

Dainty, blue eyed Mae Questel, radio mimic, songbird and double for Helen Kane, who impersonates well known celebrities of the stage and screen.

NEW YORK. (AP)—An aptitude for gesticulation made Mae Questel one of the outstanding mimics of the air.

Less than two years ago the dainty blue-eyed New York diseuse won a Helen Kane contest and with it a brief vaudeville tour and ultimately a radio contract. Her resemblance to the boop-boop-a-doop girl is remarkable.

Her success on the stage led to the microphone, where her repertoire of impersonations of stellar screen and studio folk resulted in a regular weekly series of appearances.

Mimicking is her art, and she loves it. As a child she pleased and taunted her playmates with her ability to "ape."

While her mother didn't want Mae to go on the stage at first, the young lady's training fits her admirably for theatrical work. She supplemented her public school work with private instruction in elocution and dancing.

She never took a singing lesson, but she always was warbling popular tunes. She does that now.

Impersonating Marlene Dietrich is her big moment.

She stands before the microphone and goes through a variety of gestures and facial expressions, throwing her arms about, a favorite habit.

"Sometimes I find myself making a face at the mike. I don't know why, because somehow I feel that the little black box is my friend," she says.

She still gets a tremendous kick out of her fan mail. Recently she received requests to impersonate Amos and Andy and Phil Cook.

Col. and Mrs. House, Wed 55 Years, Receive World's Congratulations

MANCHESTER-BY-THE-SEA, Mass., Aug. 4. (UP)—Col. and Mrs. Edward Mandell House observed their 50th wedding anniversary today, surprised that so many of their friends remembered the date and event.

The famous southern Democrat said he and Mrs. House, formerly Loulie Hunoer of Austin, Texas, began receiving congratulatory letters and telegrams last week.

"Some came from prominent persons in Europe," Colonel House remarked. "And I don't know how they learned of it over there, unless it was published."

No elaborate celebration was planned by the couple, whose marriage took place a few months after House completed his studies at Cornell university.

Wife Praised

"It is a great privilege to have lived a happy wedded life for 50 years," Colonel House declared. "Much of my success and happiness in life are due to my helpmate, who has been my constant companion for a half century.

"It is nice to be remembered by good friends who have been sending their felicitations to us and we both appreciate their thoughtfulness, but neither of us is young any longer and we must restrain our enthusiasm, much as we should like to entertain our many good friends."

They were luncheon guests of John Hays Hammond at his Gloucester estate. In the afternoon their daughter, Mona, now Mrs. Randolph Tucker of Brookline, gave a tea in their honor at "Overledge Cottage," the beautiful House summer estate here.

Backs Roosevelt

Colonel House, adviser and representative of President Woodrow Wilson in many of the negotiations attending American participation in the world war, has lost none of his zeal for success of the Democratic party.

A short time ago he announced he would do "everything possible" to secure the Democratic presidential nomination of 1932 for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York.

Colonel House observed his 73rd birthday anniversary last July 26.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas ranks third among the states in production of that useful mineral, fuller's earth, its 1930 production putting it ahead of Nevada, which had held that rank. Georgia ranked first, Florida second.

HELPING BUILD TEXAS

The time when "unimproved" highways in Texas will be extinct is getting appreciably nearer and 1931 construction will make a bigger hole in that classification than any previous year. Contracts were let at the July-August session of the state highway commission for improving nearly 550 miles, much of it with permanent paving, and nearly 40 new bridges, the lettings involving the expenditure of nearly $5,000,000. Notable feature of the session was the anxiety of bidders to get the work as reflected in the bids, work on which the engineers estimated a cost of $2,000,000 being let the opening day at $1,460,485, covering 150.2 miles of work . . . Completion of the $1,000,000 highway project connecting El Paso with the Carlsbad Cavern highway is announced. Work on state No. 137 from Odessa toward Lubbock is progressing with engineers establishing locations and grades from Seminole, in Gaines county, to the north line of Andrews. No. 137 connects with the Old Spanish trail on the south and at Lubbock, northern terminus, with important east and west and north routes, forming a new south and north link between the gulf and Panhandle.

Brown county is rapidly ridding itself of the stigma of unimproved roads. It celebrated in a big way completion of the concrete paving of No. 10 from Brownwood to the Comanche county line, giving an all weather connection with Fort Worth. Contracts are to be let presently on No. 128 from Brownwood to Rising Star and on No. 7 to the Coleman county line on the west, to the Mills county line on the east and on No. 10 from Brownwood to the McCulloch county line on the south . . . District No. 1, Callahan county, votes Aug. 15 on $15,000 bonds for widening state No. 1. Kinney county voted $150,000 road bonds, Jackson county $1,150,000.

Hoboes Set Limit To Stay in Cities

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Aug. 4.—Every third day a new crop of hoboes arrive and those who have spent three days working the town leave, according to trainmen and those who have watched the transients at their loafing and sleeping places. It is stated that this seems to be the generally understood "rule of the road" among this class of travelers.

Seventy-five per cent of those "riding" the freight trains are said to be boys under the age of 21, and a large per cent of these are more interested in traveling and seeing the country than in actually seeking work. The chief objective of migration is towards the oil fields and to any town where there is road work where rough labor is employed.

Not Quite Accurate

THE EXPRESSIONS we use in everyday speech are often rather inexact.

A few days ago the papers told of an accident at a Pennsylvania camp for poor children.

A young man had taken seven youngsters out into a lake in a boat. Through some accident or other the boat was upset. None of the seven children could swim. The young man managed to keep all seven of them afloat, however, until another boat could come out and take them aboard.

Then, because there was no room for him in the rescue boat, he set out to swim ashore; but his work of saving the children had exhausted him; and he drowned before help could reach him.

The headlines, naturally enough, reported that he had "lost his life"; and when you stop to think about it you will find that there is something a little bit inexact about that expression.

Most of us are generally more or less confused about the underlying purpose that is concealed back of being born and living and dying. We have grown a bit shaky on some of the old certainties, and we sometimes have a hard time trying to figure out why we are here and where we are going. But there is one point on which men of all times and places have been able to agree.

Whatever life and death may mean, humanity has concluded that the man who gives up his life for the sake of someone else has put himself in harmony with the spirit and the plan that are above and beyond the things of the visible world. He has not, in any real sense of the word, "lost" his life; he has paid it out voluntarily to serve another, and it is impossible to believe that he has really lost anything worth keeping by his action.

So, with this lad in Pennsylvania, who died in order that seven children might live—has he, really, "lost his life"? Has he not, rather, gained something; something more than most of us will ever gain, though we live to be 80?

A Ridiculous Proposal

NOTHING more sublimely ridiculous than the proposal that Cornwallis' surrender be omitted from the Yorktown sesqui-centennial pageant has been broached to the people of the United States for a good many years.

This fall marks the 150th anniversary of the siege of Yorktown. A great ceremony is being planned. The French and American governments will have official representatives present. The mighty events of 1781 will be re-enacted.

But some one in Washington has urged that the actual surrender of the British army be omitted. There will be Englishmen present at the celebration, and it is feared that they might be pained if they saw a representation of a British general surrendering his command.

Just what would be left of the celebration if the capitulation were left out has not been explained. The whole incident proves that America still has its quota of Anglomaniacs.

Baking Square Pies

MEMBERS of the Ohio Bakers association, convening at Toledo recently, are discussing plans for the baking of square pies. This, they say, would make it possible for more pies to be baked in one oven and would result in welcome economies.

Consumers of pie really ought to get behind the movement, too. The square pie is really not new. There have been rural housewives in various parts of the country who have baked square pies for years; and any one who has ever eaten one will testify to the advantages which the square pie offers.

The real pie enthusiast knows that the tastiest part of the pie is the knobby, flaky portion where upper and lower crusts are joined together; and in the square pie there is just about twice as much of this as in the round one. If the bakers are going to promote square pies, pie-eaters will be owing them a vote of thanks.

All Prosper—or None

THE WAY in which the prosperity of one nation depends on the prosperity of all the rest is emphasized in a current industrial bulletin from the Union Trust company of Cleveland, which points out that "while some favorable signs are appearing in the domestic business picture, the general outlook is colored by European developments."

It adds:

"So closely are conditions in America interwoven with those abroad that the outlook cannot be considered independently of the international situation."

All the nations are tied together these days, and the well-being of one depends on the well-being of all. Our old boasts about "magnificent isolation" do not sound quite as authentic as they used to.

Quotations Worth Noting

Americans do not need drink to inspire them to do anything, though they do sometimes, I think, need a little for the deeper and more delicate purpose of teaching them how to do nothing.—Gilbert K. Chesterton.

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down a Few Notes

Dear W. W.: Mr. Ziegfeld just phoned . . . To say that the "Follies" extra matinee on Aug. 11, in memory of Helen Walsh, is going along fine, already . . . The stage hands, musicians and other attaches, besides the "Follies" cast, of course, will work sans wages, so that no expenses will be deducted and the gross will go to Helen's mother . . . Mr. Ziegfeld says the "take" should be at least $4,500 . . . Harry Richman will turn over the insurance to her mother, too . . . And what with this fellow and that sportsman phoning you all day to say that they each will buy at least $100 worth of tickets, the proceeds should be very heavy . . .

Rene Racover, who started that idea about the American Mayors going to Europe, is planning to bring 100 American newspaper men to Paris as guest of the Frenchies . . . Wanted to know if you would come along . . . I said, I was sure you wouldn't be able . . . Theater Mag plans to resume in the fall, I hear . . . Two newspaper women from the Dallas News were in . . . A Mr. Dwyer of the Times wants to know what the radio people intend doing to the press by way of reprisal . . . Music lovers might be interested in learning that the music library at the Capitol theater is valued at over $300,000 . . . Philly papers want to know more about that fraud action to be brought against city officials . . . Shall I tell them?

That simile you used a few days ago: "Busy as a xylophone player two bars behind" contributed by M. B. J (whoever he is) was thefted from Ted Cook, so clear yourself . . . Also the gag about wages of sin being steady which the Morntelly boxed on page 1 as reported from Judge and was authored by David Murray . . . I see the line you had about Mayor Walker planning to go to Germany was confirmed this morning in the other rags . . . And that Miss Barrymore is acting up again . . . And gave one of "those" not-so-well-known performances in the West, but which you knew all along! . . . Your daughter Walda just phoned to tell you to be sure and buy some money, as she saw a present she would like to get for you . . . Phil Baker dropped in. He's sailing Saturday . . . Did you know that "Hucklebery Finn" was once barred for children in a Brooklyn library because its slang was "obnoxious?" . . . And they kill time!

When you see Clifton Webb tell him there's a barber in the Greeley Arcade who looks just like him . . . Georgia Sands says her little daughter Dorothy became a bride on July 17. Imagine! . . . Did you know, too, that when it rains, motorcycle cops won't chase you for speeding? . . . Too risky, they can't control the cycle . . . Also that the reason most of the lunchrooms do not permit ciggie smoking is to get the patrons out as soon as possible to make room for new diners . . . They sell cigarets in them, however! . . . Noel Pierce called . . . Wasn't she once one of your pet poets? . . . Here's something you never k. t. n.—that the newest fleet of rum-runners, all 3,200 horsepower, are radio shielded so that the coast guard boats cannot pick up the ignition sparks . . .

Understand the Roger Wolfe Kahn is shelving America and has bought a house in London, which the Mrs. (that cheerful little earful girl) furnished with stuff from Paree . . . One of the boys is calling it "Brokeway" . . . There are two children, one 6, and the other 4, of Cleveland, who will be famous soon . . . They jump out of balloons with parachutes already! Clarke says to tell you that the Post-Gatty 'round the world record won't be broken for at least a year . . . Manya Roberti, whom you keep referring to as Lyda's kid sister, is two years older than Lyda . . . Manya was married to Russel Diebert, a musician, while in Shanghai, China, and has a daughter, 6, and was divorced from Deibert about six months ago . . . The Press club in Washington, I understand, is trying to blame "Washington-Merry-Go-Round" on George Abel . . . On the grounds that it was written by a smart Aleck, which Abel is alleged to be.

That story about the chorus boy and chorus girl in "The New Yorkers" show, which you columnists helped, because he had lost the only money they had, and a baby was coming, has turned out peaches . . . The stork arrived successfully in San Francisco and all are well and happy . . . That lovely Louise Brooks girl, who was here recently and posed at Atlantic Beach with Mr. Walker, is the daughter of the present Mrs. Lionel Atwill, or did you know that? . . . Is it true that "Jimmy" is ailing more than a lotta people think? . . . That line about Wanda Stevenson disappearing has another side to it . . . I don't know if she returned to her parents yet, but I do know she was being courted by a guy who was supposed to be in the money—and he simply isn't . . . Carroll, by the way, is hiring the same girls he used in his "Vanities" of five years ago . . . Did you know that Princess Ileana, who became a bride the other day, was wooed while here by Lieut. Wm. J. Glasgow, her guide? . . . He's a New Yorker and is now stationed with the 15th Infantry at Chinwangtao, China, trying to Forget The Incident, as one always says, when one really can't.

I looked up the first report on the Tibbetts telling it to a judge and found it in the column as far back as December . . . I really had forgotten it . . . If you'd make a hit with a lot of sufferers, then tell them that a dab with a drop of ammonia immediately takes the sting out of mosquito bites . . . Morton Downey, I hear, has more gold badges for singing at police benefits and press passes than anybody—but his car won't go fast! . . . What luck! . . . On the other hand, look at all the red lights he can whizz by, huh? . . . I don't quite understand why they are panning Broun that way in the theatrical papers . . . What did he ever do to anybody? . . . I see they've run the gangsters out of the night clubs and have sent them back to the streets where it is easier to kill babies with machine-guns . . . Before Russell Boardman took off for Turkey the other day someone thefted his helmet, so he borrowed Teddy Stuart's, the flying reporter . . . Since Russ landed safely at Istanbul that helmet is now worth $50 . . . When the King of Siam was scheduled to visit this country, the station at Scarborough was freshly painted, but only one one side! . . . This is the station for the Whitelaw Reid estate . . . Well, when the locals heard that the king was leaving the other day, they had to scurry around and get the other side painted! . . . By all means tell Mr. Wilstach about the grand simile in Judge—as dizzy as a Scot after dropping a dime in a revolving door!—R. C.

"MARY FAITH"

by Beatrice Burton

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

Mary Faith and Kimberly Farrell, have been engaged for some time. Mary Faith, beautiful, young orphan, gives up her position as secretary to Mark Nesbit when Kim sets their wedding date. His attitude changes brusquely when his mother objects. The latter treats Mary Faith coldly. Heartbroken, Mary Faith returns to her office and breaks the news to her co-workers. Mark, taken ill, has Mary Faith driven to his country home, daily, for two weeks. He tells her of his love for her. She halts him saying she will never love anyone as she did Kim. While in a jewelry store with Mark, selecting a Christmas ring for his sister, Mary Faith meets Kim with a girl. Next morning, Kim calls at Mary Faith's boarding house. He assures her of his love and proposes immediate marriage. Mary Faith melts in his arms.

Mary Faith tells Mark she is leaving to marry Kim.

After a hasty marriage, Mary Faith and Kim drive to his aunt's house in a neighboring town.

CHAPTER XV

For two weeks both of them were gloriously happy with a happiness that Mary Faith had never dreamed of. The days were gone before they knew it, and yet all of them were pretty much alike.

Every morning Mary Faith went downstairs as soon as it was light and made the coffee. She made it as she had learned to make it at the Business Woman's club cooking classes, with hot foamy milk, and carried it upstairs on a tray. She and Kim would sit up in bed in their bathrobes and drink it, telling each other with great contentment that this was the life!

It was indeed the life . . . There were no outsiders to bother them, no ringing of the telephone, no necessity of getting to the office at 9 o'clock every morning, or of getting anywhere at any time. They were in a hushed snowy world of their own where they could do exactly as they pleased. It was wonderful.

"We're like Robinson Crusoe and his good man Friday on their desert island," Mary Faith said one morning. She was on her knees, raking out the ashes from the fireplace in their big sunny bedroom.

"You work all the time as if you thought you were man Friday," Kim answered her. "I ought to be ashamed to lie here in bed and let you build that fire."

Propped against the fat pillows of the bed he lay smoking his first cigaret of the day and watching her with half-shut gray eyes.

While he bathed and shaved and dressed, Mary Faith would cook breakfast—a real country breakfast of eggs and sausage, creamed potatoes and coffee. They always ate it before the fireplace in Aunt Ella's parlor with its Battenberg lace curtains, its family albums, and green plush curtains.

Sometimes they stayed at home all day. Mary Faith would curl up at one end of the wide sofa, and Kim would lie with his head in her lap while she read to him and stroked his thick blond hair with slow gentle fingers.

Sometimes they drove down into Garrettsville to buy groceries or newspapers or tooth paste. Sometimes they went for long tramps through the snowy fields and woods that lay behind the house and came back with bunches of mistletoe and evergreen branches in their arms.

They went to church on both Sundays and sat in Aunt Ella's pew with its seat of wine-colored velvet. On Christmas morning Mary Faith presented Kim with two French brier pipes that she had bought in "Ye Old Smoke Shoppe" in Garrettsville, because he was smoking too many cigarets, so she told him.

"You embarrass me with your gift. I forgot to get one for you," he said.

"You embarrass me with your gift—I forgot to get one for you," he said when she gave them to him. "And that reminds me—I haven't bought you your wedding ring yet, have I?"

"No. And I would really like one, Kim. Just a plain white-gold band. We'll walk into town one of these mornings and get one, won't we?"

"Sure; we'll do it tomorrow without fail," he promised.

But the next day there was a blizzard and they stayed in the house and hugged the stove.

"Our friend Claire Maldon is all wrong about honeymoons, Kim," Mary Faith observed one night as they sat on the big white bearskin rug that lay before the fireplace in the parlor, listening to the dance music that came pouring into the room from the wheezy radio. "We have been married for almost two weeks and I haven't been bored for a single second, have you?"

"You haven't seen me yawn, have you?" Kim's eyes twinkled. "Claire said we'd be so bored after the first week that we'd yawn every time we looked at each other. Remember?"

It was their second Friday night in the little house. In the morning they would have to think about setting it in order for Aunt Ella, and on Sunday they would have to lock it up and go back to town.

"The thought of packing up and leaving gives me the blues, as a matter of fact," Kim said, stretching his long legs out toward the fire. "I could stay right here with you until next summer and like it. I've never been so contented in my life as I've been the last couple of weeks."

Mary Faith knew that she had made him happy and comfortable. She had worked at it. She had cooked the things he liked. She had darned his socks and pressed his neckties. Every morning she had filled his tub and laid clean towels out for his bath. On Monday she had gone down into the basement, while he was taking a nap, and laundered his shirts. . . . And she had loved doing it. She loved taking care of him.

"I've had the time of my life, Kim," she said, "and I'm still having it. It's heaven to be here together, isn't it? Listen, there's the Morrow hotel orchestra. They're playing our song."

With their eyes on the fire they sat listening to a blues song on the radio.

All last summer they had danced to that music—the song hit of 1927. They had fallen in love with its melody and had asked orchestra leaders to play it for them. They had called it their song.

Kim got up. "Let's see if we've

The Record News Offers A Booklet on Grape Juice

Grape juice can be made easily and cheaply in the home. It has many uses. In the old days it was used in making wine, but in its unfermented state it may be pasteurized and preserved for use by itself as a refreshing hot weather drink or in the preparation of a wide variety of culinary products, including grape nectar, punches, sherbets, ices and ice creams, lemonades, sillabub, gelatins and custards. Therefore it is worth while knowing how to make it, and this official government bulletin tells all the methods.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

MOTHER PROMISED

Little Helen was staying with grandmother for the week-end because mother had to go away for that brief time. Monday morning the sky was overcast and the rain was coming down in long silver streaks that meant a prolonged and dreary wetness. Grandmother peered through the streaming window panes. "I am afraid that mother will not be able to come today, Helen."

"O yes, she will. She promised."

"But she did not know it would be raining like this."

"No. But that won't matter, she promised."

"Surely you wouldn't want mother to come out and get all wet. You'd rather she would stay home and keep dry until the sun comes out."

"No. She won't mind it. She won't get wet. She will be in the car, and she has rubbers and everything. Besides, I know she will come because she promised."

Grandmother's heart sank. In this downpour? Suppose Helen's mother could not come? What was to be done with this child whose faith was firmly founded upon "Mother promised."

There was a sound of wheels and a brake screeched. "That's mother. She had to take a taxi 'cause it rained so. Hurry, Gran, and open the door. It's mother, I know!"

"Think I wasn't coming?" asked mother.

"O, no. I knew you were coming, 'cause you promised. Gran thought maybe you couldn't 'cause it rained, but I knew you would come because you always keep a promise."

Some children are not so happy as to be able to rest on the strength of a grown-up's promise. They have known what it meant to wait for a promised arrival, for a treat, and to meet disappointment. There is more in this keeping a promise to children than the moralities, important as they are. There is the tonic feeling of security, that feeling of sureness that is born in the child who is unafraid, illumines his whole being. His thinking is clearer, his actions more reasonable, his attitude happier, than that of the child who is in doubt. Doubt breeds fear and fear is the enemy of all growth.

When we find a child wavering, moody, uneven in development, we suspect that his mind is not serenely poised. For some reason or other he is not sure of what is going to happen to him, cannot be certain of the outcome of his actions. The first thing we do is in an attempt to give him a feeling of well being and power. We feed him well. We praise him. We work to make him feel that we are standing by like the Rock of Ages. Once he gets to believe that he cannot fail, he has taken the first step toward success.

Keeping your promise to him, teaching him through experience that you are to be counted on unfailingly, is one of the big steps in training a child to independent, intelligent behavior.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Bread lines are ceasing to function in some places because they're not needed and in some because they've run out of bread. Many people are out of work and many refuse to work because they can't get as much money as they think they are worth, (the nerve of some people); announcements of highway and drainage ditch work to be done in this vicinity cause one to think there may be some work for those who will take it.

There's no denying that times have been tight for every one for the round of this man who pays that man who pays the next man who pays the next is like the house that Jack built.

But in spite of that, we have heard of two or three things that make us realize that there are people who in the face of loss keep on trying to help others.

We know of a doctor who picked up a crippled waif, healed him of drawn shoulders and wrecked body, made acquaintance with a lonesome spirit and found beauty in it, then refused to accept pay and managed to help the lad into fit clothing to go to a better job in another town.

We know of a woman who watches through her own vicinity, (she lives near town), for cases of want. We have know her to sew for entire families who had not proper clothing. She has taken these people on her own responsibility and though she has a family, she looks after "the least of these."

That's just about as far as we can think today; when one really has no thoughts, it is time to stop writing, but we wish to discuss the matter a little longer.

Yesterday en route to the office, we had a brilliant thought for a column when we were just half way to our destination. We followed the train for a moment or two and said to ourself, "Well, so and so, (our most esteemed critic) will like that column."

Then when we had done a few other bits of work we had to finish first and put paper in our typewriter, lo our idea had taken wings. We pursued the trail in every way we had at times found successful, but to this time have not recovered it.

So lost, out on Seventh street, is an idea that might on an uncomfortable day, promote a laugh. There's nothing better for mankind than laughter.

The human brain in concrete form, is to us just like the pictures in the old school books we studied so many years ago. We vaguely remember a crumpled, wrinkled mass. At times, we have started through our gray wrinkles with just a letter to find if we could get a name, and it would eventually come back.

We wonder if we go out on Seventh and drive along just as we were when that idea hit us, might we find it again?

Eighteen countries have a total of 47,000,000 workers with unemployment insurance.

SALE OF LAND FOR TAX ASKED

Small Proposes Elimination Of State Suits

AUSTIN, Aug. 4. (AP)—The elimination of the foreclosure by-suit method of collecting delinquent taxes was proposed in the Texas senate today, when Senator Clint Small of Wellington introduced a bill to empower the tax collector to advertise and sell real property for delinquent taxes without the necessity of suits.

The bill said there was an urgent need to end the "exorbitant costs of the present method of collecting delinquent taxes."

Delinquencies from 1915 to 1930 inclusive would be affected. An owner could redeem his property in two years by paying double the amount received by the collector in the sale.

The state comptroller, the tax commissioner and the attorney general would constitute a tax board to determine in what instances property adjudicated to the state should be relinquished and not sold. The bill was sent to committee.

AUSTIN, Aug. 4. (AP)—A bill providing for use of summary property sales to collect delinquent taxes was introduced in both houses of the legislature today. The bill would eliminate court proceedings in collection of delinquent taxes, materially decreasing the cost and accelerate the procedure, its authors claimed. A similar bill was killed in the regular session.

Quanah Adds Water Pumps

New Equipment Doubles City Pressure

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Aug. 9.—New pumps installed by the Cities Water company at the plant on Red river and at the wells have doubled the capacity pressure to two gallons instead of one, as formerly.

Quanah's water problem has been solved by the ample supply produced from the new wells drilled by the Cities Water company after they purchased the municipal water plant last year.

Several thousands of dollars are being expended by this company in repairing mains, extending lines and fixing leaks in lateral lines. In the residential section small lines serving several homes are being taken up and relaid with larger pipe to give additional pressure.

Connection was made last week with the six-inch line recently completed to the Denver railroad tank which will supply that railroad with water from the city waterworks.

Marantz Assets Sold At Auction Tuesday

Merchandise and fixtures of the Busy Bee Fruit store and of Marantz Grocery company's stores Nos. 1 and 2 were sold at public auction at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by H. L. McGregor, trustee and receiver under Walter Nelson, referee in bankruptcy in this district.

Stocks and fixtures of the two grocery establishments, 706 Indiana avenue and 1502 Eleventh street, were sold to C. H. Parker of this city for $7,750, and those of the Busy Bee Fruit store at Seventh and Indiana to Mrs. Alex Kahn for $1,300. Merchandise sold to Mr. Parker showed an inventory value of $6,568.50, and the fixtures $14,377.98, according to statements prepared by Mr. McGregor. The Busy Bee Fruit store stock was appraised at $1,190.46, and its fixtures at $2,500. All sales were made subject to the approval of the referee in bankruptcy.

Numerous out of town bidders were among the two-score of business men who attended the sales.

Assignment of the assets of N. Marantz followed the filing of an involuntary petition in bankruptcy by creditors several weeks ago. The assignment and a voluntary petition by Mr. Marantz followed that action, it was said.

Messages Fail to Reach 'My Home Town' Orator

Joe P. Witherspoon Jr., twice winner of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce "My Home Town" oratorical contest, will be unable to accept the invitation to deliver his talk before the Texas senate Friday morning, J. P. Witherspoon, his father, announced Tuesday.

Mr. Witherspoon's attempt to communicate with his son, who is on a Boy Scout tour of western states, proved futile both Monday and Tuesday. The invitation of the senate was received here Monday, and the time now remaining until Friday will not allow young Witherspoon time to return to deliver his "My Home Town" oration before the legislative body.

Equalization Board Completes Hearings

Completion of the work of the equalization board for city taxes for 1931 was announced Tuesday by John T. Young, chairman, after several days of overtime duty. All hearings and adjustments have been made with the exception of a few inspections of property, Mr. Young said.

Members of the board complimented local taxpayers for the agreeable and pleasant attitude displayed toward the arbiters. Property owners expressed pleasure at receiving a 10 per cent cut in valuations, it was said.

It's Fashionable To Appear In Print

By BETSY SCHUYLER
NEA Service Writer

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 4.—A yellow streak is showing up in Newport clothes these days and it is a positive relief from too much too pure white.

At the Casino theater Tuesday night—that is the night the program changes and all the boxes and half the orchestra is filled with elegantes who are regular attendants—daytime yellow burst forth in all its popular tones, lime, gold, mustard, lemon.

Mrs. Daniel Fearing wore a lovely, graceful print of different yellows flowered against white chiffon. The Countess Szechenyi wore an opaline yellow chiffon with a beautiful ruching finish here, there and everywhere of the chiffon. The dowager Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt wore a rich printed gown of great dignity, yellow and soft pink and green flowers against black.

Prints are running riot for both daytime and evening now. Sheer prints take rich colors, crepes and other silk prints are likely to have color against a background of white, for coolness' sake. Mrs. J. Theus Munds, who by the way gave a smart, exclusive little dinner at Sonnenhof last night, wears a brown and white printed frock daytimes at Bailey's beach that has its big, interlocked line circles of brown against white. It has its shoulders extending to form short sleeves cut in one.

Tiered skirts are in again, but they reverse order, having the width in the form of a flaring peplum and then a sleek, slender silhouette beneath. This silhouette was sponsored by Rose Davis in a little daytime frock of brown and white polka dotted crepe, and the other evening at a dinner by Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James, her choice being a dark red lace gown, with the skirt in three tiers.

There are numberless parties these days, making it a rush business to change for garden parties, exhibition horse shows, weddings, dances, golf, church bazaars, tennis tournaments, yacht races and dinner parties, not to mention backgammon and other interesting, newly popular games.

Muriel Vanderbilt Church's wedding, set for Sept. 5 at her mother's home, Fairmont, at Manhasset, L. I., is the big event of the season. She will have no attendants. The Count de Turin's golf tourney, scheduled for Aug. 28, will be out of the way just in time for society to trek to the wedding.

At a lunch given for the bride, Mimi Kountze wore a sweet little hand-tailored white frock suit, with silver beads, silver buckle and clip in her white hat.

Three-quarters coats are replacing the very short evening wrap to some extent. Mrs. Charles Childs wore a three-quarters fitted gold lame coat the other night at the theater that was the richest looking garment there. Gladys Szechenyi wears a pink and gold metallic brocade evening wrap that is handsome.

Sheer black lace is in good standing these hot nights. Mrs. Alexander Hamilton Rice wears over such a gown a ravishing bright green velvet wrap with Russian sable collar and deep puff cuffs.

The much-touted taffeta for summer hasn't materialized, for satin, chiffons and lace or novelty cotton materials seem much more popular. But I did notice one lovely taffeta dress that made me wonder why more women didn't take to the momentary vogue. Mrs. Henry Clews wore a pastel blue taffeta topped b ya lovely little jacket of sheer black lace and thereby made a real picture of unusual charm.

Tomato Pickles and Peach Ice Cream

Favorite Recipes of Wichitans Sought

By MRS. L. M. CASON
Record News Society Editor

Housewives in Wichita Falls, as in probably all other parts of the United States, have two projects dear to their hearts in the midsummer season. First to prepare food suitable to the warm weather and appetizing because of its beauty for their families; second, to prepare everything possible for the store pantry shelves; to take advantage of low summer prices on vegetables and fruits and can, preserve and pickle them.

An old yellow cook book that has been in our family for probably 100 years has a recipe that I have used often enough to be sure of its worth. Little half pint jars of this succulent dainty, wrapped in bright red tissue paper with a gay ribbon round the top, make a cheerful Christmas present and always find a taste to which they are suited. We call them: green spiced tomato pickles and the time to put them up will soon be here.

Take seven pounds of green tomatoes, slice medium thick and soak for 24 hours in two gallons of water with two teacups of lime well dissolved. Pour off water, wash thoroughly and soak for two or three hours in fresh water. Bring to a boil five pounds of sugar, three quarts of vinegar, one teaspoon ginger, two teaspoons whole cloves, one teaspoon ground spice; pour over the drained tomatoes and let stand 24 hours. Put on in large granite vessel and when it comes to a boil, add two cups of raisens; let boil an hour and a half and when cool put away in jars.

Mrs. Maer's Ice Cream

There is nothing more delicious than ice cream in summer time and Mrs. Newton Maer, president of the Woman's Forum, gives as the favorite summer recipe of her family, peach ice cream.

As a small foundation, Mrs. Maer says, make a custard of one egg, one pint of sweet milk and a half a cup of sugar.

Take a small basket of peaches, pulverize thoroughly, running through sieve if possible and sweeten to taste. Mix with the foundation custard and add one and one-half pints of pure cream and freeze.

Send in your favorite recipe to The Record News Woman's page editor, so that the women of Wichita Falls may learn the "ethics" of food from one another.

CITIES BID FOR BIG POW-WOWS

National Political Conventions Widely Sought

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (INS)—Bidding for next year's major political conventions is becoming general.

Atlantic City, the big playground on the Jersey coast, notified the Republican national committee today that it is sending a committee to Washington next week to formally present his claims for the 1932 meeting. Philadelphia put in its bid ten days ago. Chicago has served notice of intention of outbidding all competition at the proper time. Cleveland, Detroit, Kansas City, San Francisco and other cities are in the field for one or both conventions.

The Atlantic City contingent will be headed by Representative Isaac Bacharach, one of the Republican leaders of the house.

Political leaders could not recall today when there has ever been such early interest in staging the two big conventions. In other years, bids usually have not been made until the committee meetings in January. But the cities are getting in their bids this year six months in advance of the committee meetings and 12 months in advance of the conventions.

Cold cash considerations are likely to play a greater part in the selection of convention sites next year than ever before. Both the Republican and Democratic organizations are "broke."

Paving Nears Memphis Goal

Highway Link to Be Completed Soon

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, Aug. 4.—Approximately four and one-half miles of paving have been completed on the new highway from Memphis to Mulberry bridge by way of Lakeview. The paving is completed within about one mile of the city, and the mixer has been brought in to where the highway connects with Noel street. It will likely be the latter part of next week before the paving is completed from Eli to Memphis, according to Sam Riza, general superintendent. The mixer was moved to Noel street Friday, Riza said, but some delay in completing the paving was caused due to some hand finishing work which had to be done on the curves.

After paving is complete from Eli to Memphis the mixer will be moved to Lakeview, and paving will be laid from that place to connect with that started from Eli.

Psst, Democrats! All-Day Suckers Are More 'Human'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican national committee, caters to one of President Hoover's weaknesses.

Each time he comes to Washington from his Cleveland home he brings with him a small package.

Questioned today when he called on Mr. Hoover as to what the box contained Nutt said:

"It is something the president likes."

Finally, replying to another question, he said:

"They are gumdrops. The president likes them."

Toxic Goitre

In function the thyroid gland may be compared to the carburetor of an automobile. When it is overactive, the body consumes the heat-producing foods too rapidly; if underactive, the combustion does not take place fast enough. Should the thyroid gland not function properly, it should not be cut out, rather it should be adjusted so that it will properly regulate the metabolism.

Many theories have been advanced as to the cause of goitre, and for a long time it was supposed that the absence of iodine in food was responsible, and this idea is still popular among many people, even among physicians. I do not believe that it can be considered the principal cause of goitre, since this disease is present in the female sex about six times as frequently as the male; both sexes presumably consume about the same amount of iodine. The fact that goitre is very prevalent in Switzerland and other mountainous districts where people do not obtain much iodine in their drinking water and food has frequently been used to prove the iodine deficiency theory. However, along the Jersey coast and in many parts of Japan, where iodine is plentiful in both food and drinking water, goitre is frequently found.

There is no doubt but that iodine is an important element necessary to the normal functioning of the thyroid gland. The proper amount of iodine is found to be lacking in all forms of simple goitre. In my opinion this is ordinarily not because the patient does not use enough foods containing iodine, but because he uses too many other foods, which either destroy or interfere with the action of the iodine in the thyroid, or he may have a toxic condition, which prevents the proper absorption of the iodine from the food which he eats. I have seen numerous cases where goitres developed with one person in a family where the diet of the group was an ordinary mixed diet found on the average table and where plenty of foods contained iodine, but for some reason this one member and not the others developed a goitre. From such observation it seems to me that this one persons grows a large thyroid not because of receiving an insufficient amount of iodine, but because for some reason the iodine contained in the food is not carried to the thyroid, or its action in the thyroid is interfered with.

Just what this toxic substance is which destroys the assimilation of iodine is not known. Many doctors are of the belief that focal infections are responsible. I have observed thousands of cases closely, and I have noticed that, whenever the starches and sugars are entirely eliminated from the menu, there is immediate improvement even if the individuals continue to use all the other foods to which they were formerly accustomed. After putting the patient on a carbohydrate-free diet for a few weeks, the metabolism is improved so that he can then resume the use of a small amount of carbohydrates without a subsequent enlargement of the thyroid. It seems from such observations that in simple goitre at least the person has become so stuffed with starches and sugars that their action in the blood interferes with the work of the iodine in forming the normal secretions of thyroxin, the valuable fluid absorbed by the blood from the thyroid. The use of a larger amount of iodine in the daily food undoubtedly relieves the condition because there is a greater chance that some of it may be utilized.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

X-Ray of Kidneys

Question—D. C. writes: "Please advise if an X-ray examination of the kidney will show a diseased condition when the urinalysis does not."

Answer—An X-ray examination of the kidneys will often show diseased conditions which will not show in the urinalysis. Kidney stones and tumors may show in this manner.

Raw Egg Yolk

Question—C. P. asks: "Do you approve of the eating of the yolk of raw egg for gaining strength. If so, which are the better, fertile or unfertile eggs?"

Answer—The eating of the yolk of raw eggs would have no particular effect one way or the other. There is no difference in the food value of a fertile or unfertile egg. An article I have for free distribution called "Gaining Strength" would be helpful to you, and I will be very glad to forward it if you will send a large self-addressed stamped envelope with your request.

Indication of Brain Pressure

Question—Mrs. H. writes: "Several years ago my son received a slight head fracture, resulting in paralysis of his left side. Just lately he seems to be losing his power of speech, although his intellect seems unimpaired, and he has a remarkable memory. What is the best thing for me to do for him at this time?"

Answer—It is quite likely that your boy is suffering from some brain pressure as a result of the fracture and I would advise you to have a competent surgeon examine him. In addition, I believe a "Cleansing Diet," as outlined in my article of this title, would produce favorable results in general improvement in health.

Crops Boosted by Hardeman Showers

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Aug. 4.—Scattered showers over Hardeman county during the past several days will prove of great benefit to crops in the sections visited, according to farmers. Monday afternoon, in two sudden downpours in Quanah, .81 of an inch of rain fell. Each shower only lasted a few minutes. East of Quanah about three miles, a light sprinkle only was reported; southwest no rain at all beyond city limits, while good rain west past Goodlett and north several miles varying reports from sprinkle to heavy downpour.

Cotton and feed are looking fine over the county, and practically all sections have been visited by these scattered showers so that no part of the crops are suffering for lack of moisture.

HOUSTON WINS FOURTH STRAIGHT FROM SPUDDERS, 10 TO 4

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Well, we have a new starting pitcher.

He's Dick Florrid.

He starts warming up as soon as the game starts, so he'll be ready to start when the starter starts weakening.

Including Monday's game, Florrid has been called on for relief four times during the present home stay. Each time but one he came through in great style, bringing matters to a climax Monday when he pitched eight and one-third innings of shutout ball against the Houston Buffs, allowing only four hits.

As testimony that Milton Steengrafe, though a great pitcher on the road, had just as well not be started in home games, Florrid had to relieve him three times. The fourth game he relieved Pressnell, in the late innings.

Florrid relieved Pressnell in the sixth inning of the first game with Shreveport, Sunday, July 26, pitching two frames of shutout baseball, and weakening only in the ninth to allow four hits and two runs. At that, though, he saved the game, for the Spuds won it, 11 to 4.

Then started his steady march to the mound to get Steengrafe out of trouble. On Tuesday, July 28, Cooney was injured in the second inning of the game with San Antonio. Steengrafe went in at the start of the third inning and in that frame alone five runs were scored, four of which were charged against Steengrafe. Florrid worked the next five innings, allowing seven hits, but only one run.

Steengrafe started against Galveston last Thursday but was relieved by Florrid in the sixth. That was Florrid's only bad game of the home stay thus far. In two innings the Pirates got five hits and five runs from his delivery, and Pressnell had to finish the game.

But Florrid more than made up for that by his great job Monday. There was considerable speculation after the great contest between young Florrid and old Gawge Payne, as to what would have happened had Florrid been allowed to start against the Buff ace.

Florrid was right that day, and we believe he would have won it.

As to Steengrafe

Old Maul 'Em Milt is suffering from a mental handicap, and until he rids himself of that, we don't believe he'll ever be effective at Athletic park again.

Steengrafe believes the fans are "down on him." A pitcher who knows the game as well as Steengrafe should know that even the greatest pitcher cannot please all the fans all the time. And he should know, too, that the thing to do when the fans start extracting the razzberry, is to bear down, and start pitching baseball—to prove that the razzberry artists are all wrong.

Steengrafe hasn't pitched a really good game at Athletic park this whole season. If he would go in there with a show of fight and hurl the Spudders to one grand and glorious victory, he would find that the fans forget the past easily, and would be eager to join the ranks of his supporters.

An Unsigned Letter

It is not the policy of this corner to print letters condemning baseball players, or other athletes, when the writer of the letter does not sign his name. Many times we have published anonymous letters, but their contents were not of a serious nature.

We received a letter from a Wichita Falls fan Tuesday morning, that dealt with Monday's game. The fan, in addition to having something to say about our pitching staff, poured it on the Rambler for the way he has been writing of the pitchers.

Now if the author of that letter has got the courage to back up his statements with his signature, we'll be glad to print the thing in full. Otherwise it will go to the wastebasket along with scores of others that come to this desk.

One reason we would like to publish it is that it pays a high compliment to Dick Florrid, and if any pitcher on the staff deserves the compliment, little Richard does.

EULLER HITS TWO HOMERS

Buck Stanton Also Gets One; Gerken Stars at Bat

By FRED THOMPSON

Those Houston Buffs never lose!

Now you know everything but the score, and after giving that, this story might as well come to an end.

It was 10 to 4, marking the Buffs' fourth straight victory at Spudder park.

The Buffs left last night, thank heavens, and the Beaumont Exporters, who have been known to lose a few games, move into camp today for a three-game series.

Bo Euller, great third baseman of the Spudders, hit two home runs yesterday; George (Sweet Pickle) Gerken hit three doubles and a single in five trips to the plate, and Buck Stanton slammed one over the fence. And yet the Spudders couldn't win. Euller, Gerken and Stanton got seven of the 10 Spudders' hit off Lefty Fowler, Scharein socking a double and Allday poling two singles.

Both of Euller's home runs and Stanton's circuit blow came with none on. The breaks just weren't with the boys.

Ineffective pitching at the start by old Stormy Vincent, who didn't have his usual stuff, and five Spudder errors helped the Houston cause over the hill. Ash Hillin did a creditable job of relief pitching.

Buffs Start Strong

The Buffs got off to an early lead. Hock walked. Smith doubled to left, advancing Hock to third. Selph singled to right, scoring Hock and advancing Smith to third. Peel singled to right, scoring Smith and advancing Selph to third. Medwick forced Peel at second, Scharein to Allday, Scharein making a great stop bare-handed. Selph scored on the play. Sturdy flied to right and Fuss, with a great throw, doubled Medwick off first.

In the home half, Gerken was safe on Selph's error. Allday forced Gerken at second, short to second. Stanton lined out to short and Allday was doubled off first, short to first.

In the second, Carey was hit by a pitched ball. Carey was thrown out stealing, Bradbury to Allday. Funk grounded out, pitcher to first. Fowler walked. Hock flied to right. In the home half, Medwick made a great run to catch Badgro's fly to short left center. Bradbury flied to right. Fuss flied to center.

Three More Runs

In the third, Smith flied to left. Selph singled to left. Peel's grounder went through Euller's legs, Selph took second. Medwick singled to center, scoring Selph and advancing Peel to second. Sturdy singled to right, scoring Peel and Medwick also scored when Bradbury let Fuss' throw-in go wild. Sturdy drew up at third. Carey hit to Scharein and Sturdy was out in a chase, Scharein to Bradbury to Euller. Funk grounded out, Euller to Stanton.

In the home half, Scharein flied to left. Euller hit a home run over the center field fence. Vincent flied to left. Gerken doubled to right. Allday dropped a Texas leaguer in center, Gerken scoring. Stanton flied to left.

Fowler singled past second in the fourth. Hock popped to third. Smith singled to left, Fowler taking second. Hillin replaced Vincent on the mound. Selph walked, loading the bases. Peel flied to Gerken, who made a great catch in short left center. Medwick walked, forcing in Fowler. Sturdy grounded out to Stanton, unassisted.

In the home half, Badgro flied to left. Bradbury walked. Fuss flied to center. Scharein walked, Bradbury taking second. Euller flied to center.

Error Hurts

Carey walked to open the fifth. Badgro dropped Funk's line drive to left, Carey taking second. Fowler sacrificed, Allday unassisted, Carey taking third and Funk second. Hock grounded out, second to first, Carey scoring and Funk taking third. Smith doubled down the left field foul line, scoring Funk. Selph grounded out, short to first.

In the home half, Hillin fanned. Gerken doubled to left. Allday popped to second. Stanton flied to left.

Peel lined out to left in the sixth. Medwick popped to second. Sturdy flied to center. In the last half, Badgro fanned. Bradbury fouled out to the catcher. So did Fuss.

Carey grounded out, third to first. Fowler fanned. In the home half, Scharein bunted out, third to first. Euller hit a home run over the left center field fence. Hillin flied to left. Gerken doubled to center. Allday grounded out, third to first.

Peel Trapped

In the eighth, Hock was safe on Scharein's error. Smith sacrificed, pitcher to first, Hock taking second. Selph singled to center, scoring Hock. Peel singled to left, Selph taking second. Trying to pick Selph off second, Hillin threw badly, Selph making third and Peel advancing to second. Medwick hit to Hillin, and a play for Selph between third and home was started. Selph got back to third, but Peel was trapped between second and third for Medwick had continued to second on a fielder's choice. Euller threw to Scharein to retire Peel. Sturdy grounded out, second to first.

In the home half, Stanton hit a home run over the right field fence. Badgro fanned. Bradbury fouled out to the catcher. Fuss walked. Scharein doubled to center, but Fuss was thrown out at the plate, center field to second to catcher.

In the ninth, Carey flied to right. Funk was hit by a pitched ball. Fowler fanned. Hock grounded out, second to first.

Gerken Hits Again

In the home half, Euller grounded out, short to first. Hungling batted for Hillin and grounded out, short to first. Gerken singled past second. Gerken took second as a "gift." Allday beat out an infield hit to second, Gerking taking third. Allday stole second. Stanton flied to left.

Northwest Motors Beat Snooters, 7 to 6

Southpaw Lowell Watson Tuesday pitched the Northwest Motors to a 7 to 6 victory over the Smooth Snooters on Scott street diamond in the first game in the second half of the Twilight league race. The fielding of Banner in left field for Northwest Motors featured the game for the winners. Guy Bailey hit a home run for Northwest Motors with no one on the bases.

ZIGGY SEARS IS SUSPENDED

Ump Scolded for Talking Back to Fans

J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas league, shows no favorites, and will discipline an umpire as quickly as he will a player, when a breach of etiquette demands it.

This was demonstrated Monday, when the league president announced he had suspended John W. (Ziggy) Sears for five days, and in addition had fined the blue-coat for talking back to the customers at Fort Worth Sunday.

The action was not arbitrary or hasty, Mr. Gardner pointed out. He had written Sears three letters warning him that something would be done if the umpire persisted in his habits. Sears talked back to the crowd at the last San Antonio series also, Mr. Gardner said.

According to local versions of Sunday's fracas at Fort Worth, Sears and Skipper Phelan of the Cats had a run-in, and Phelan was ordered out of the park.

Skipper Phelan started out, but at the gate turned and made a choice assortment of faces at Ziggy. The crowd, of course, whooped with glee. Sears unloosed a verbal volley at Phelan, and then at the crowd, one particular member of which received a generous portion of Sear's opinions.

Sandlot Tie Game to Be Played Off Thursday

The famous 25 inning 3 to 3 tie game played by the Sullivan Grocery and the Star Transfer teams of the City league will be played off Thursday afternoon at Katy park, starting at 5 o'clock, it was announced Tuesday.

Lefty Marvin Robertson, of the Star Transfer, and Steve Franklin of the Sullivan team, who pitched the route in the tie game, were scheduled to again be on the hill for their respective teams in the play-off game.

Since their famous game, Robertson has pitched twice, winning one game from Bailey-Moline in the first half play-off last Saturday and losing a well pitched game in the second Sunday battle. Franklin has worked but one inning, this in a game with Star Transfer when he set them down in one-two-three order after going to the rescue of Flip Hoskins last Wednesday in a play-off of the second game postponed from the day of the tie game.

Rosenbloom Meets Slattery Tonight

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—Whatever the training faults of Maxie Rosenbloom, it can not be said the clowning king of the light heavyweights was picking his spots when he signed to meet Jimmy Slattery, the Buffalo mixer, in tomorrow night's 15-round go at Ebbetts field.

In Slattery, the champion meets the one man of his own weight who has been able to beat him with fair consistency over a period of years. Before he won the title, Rosenbloom dropped four decisions to the Buffalo fighter.

Meet Mr. Evers

Remember the famous line in the box scores of old: Tinkers to Evers to Chance?

Johnny Evers, of that famous double play combination of the old Chicago Cubs, is in Wichita Falls, looking over the Spudders. Evers for several years has been a scout for the Boston Braves of the National league. After his playing days he managed the Cubs, and later the Braves.

Last night Mr. Evers had dinner with William A. Maloney, 1815 McGregor street. Maloney and Evers played together with the Cubs years ago. Maloney, in his prime, set a league record for stolen bases. J. Alvin Gardner, Texas league president, was at the dinner last night. Evers expects to be in the city several days.

Commercial League Play-Off Opens Thursday

Final plans for the Commercial league play-off for the championship between the Malones Beauty Shop, winners of the first half, and the Presbyterians, winners of the second half, were announced Tuesday night by Manager John "Babe" Horsley, manager of the Presbyterians.

The opening game will be played Thursday afternoon on Debus field, the second Friday at Katy park and in case the third is necessary it likely will be played at Debus field.

Horsley announced also that Willard Hillin would be on the firing line for the Presbyterians in the opening game. Just who will be on the bill for Malones was not known. Harry Geyer, the fireball ace of the club, is the most likely starter. Unofficial records show Geyer with a season's string of strikeouts somewhere in the neighborhood of 180 while Hillin's sensational pace in this department in his more recent games placed him a possible second.

Albert Biedenharn Wins Junior Net Crown

By BILL JENKINS

Bill Powers, favorite to win the singles championship in the city tennis tournament in progress here, swept to the semifinal round Tuesday with a sensational victory over Ed Bebb, capable veteran of the Wichita Falls courts.

Powers defeated Bebb in one of the best matches of the day, on the Junior college courts. The scores were 6-4, 6-3. Bill was the only one of the three Powers brothers to go through Tuesday's play undefeated.

Oscar Powers was defeated by Tom McCarty, city champion of 1930, in three gruelling sets that ended 7-5, 4-6, 7-5. Steve, the youngest of the trio, lost his chance at the championship of the juniors by losing to Albert Biedenharn, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2, in the finals of the junior singles.

Cheshire Forfeits

There was only one match scheduled for the class B singles. H. C. Cheshire forfeited to Jerry Donaldson, to send Donaldson against John Graham in the semifinals Wednesday.

In the class B doubles, H. C. Cheshire and W. W. Riley forfeited to Dave Denton and Jimmie Ford, while H. F. Hawkin and C. R. Cowles forfeited to Andy Anderson and Buddy Hickman.

Electrics Win Final Game of Season, 7 to 1

Big Everett Blue pitched the Texas Electric Service company Frigidaires to a 7 to 1 victory over the Empire Paper company team Tuesday afternoon on Harrison field in the final league contest of the Commercial league season.

Blue gave up only four well scattered bingles, and after the first inning was never in danger. Of the four hits off Blue, half of them went to Clingman. Blue led the attack with two bingles. Coolidge turned in a great catch in the fourth of Clingman's short fly to right, and another when he took McKee's line drive over second and doubled a man off first.

Sid Stanfield, veteran Commercial league catcher, worked for both teams. Stanfield worked the complete game for the Frigidaires, then went to Holmes relief in the last two innings for the Empire Paper, doing a neat job for both teams. Stanfield was never charged with an official time at the bat, drawing two walks and a sacrifice in three trips. Score:

REDS LOSE PAIR

CHICAGO, Aug. 4. (AP)—Cincinnati finally broke its string of scoreless innings at 45 today, but couldn't score enough runs to avoid losing both games of a double-header to the Cubs, 4 to 2, and 7 to 3.

The batting of Vincent Barton, recruit outfielder, who hammered out two home runs was the decisive factor in the second game, while Guy Bush pitched effectively in the opener. Scores:

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—An early decline in cotton was followed by rallies today.

December contracts closed at 8.46, with the general market closing steady, net unchanged to 3 points higher.

A steadier undertone with October selling up to 8.25 and January to 8.56 in the late trading. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the best.

Two private crop reports were published during the day, one of them made the condition of the crop 73.8 and the indicated yield 14,150,000 bales. The other placed the condition at 71.0 and the indicated crop at 14,218,000 bales. Within the past few days seven of these private end-July crop reports have been issued with the condition figures averaging 71.6 per cent and the figures on the indicated crop 14,022,000 bales.

Liverpool cables were about as expected following the action of the market here on Saturday and Monday, with the declines there attributed to hedging together with Bombay and continental liquidation. Exports today, 2,510, making 8,812 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4. (AP)—There was only moderate activity in cotton here today and although prices started 3 to 4 points higher they soon turned easier. The decline was due to two rather large private crop reports, one of 14,150,000 bales and the other of 14,218,000. After declining 13 points on this selling, the market rallied 8 to 9 points on a report that the farm loan board proposed to sell a million bales of cotton to Germany on long credits. The close was at or near the top, showing net gains for the day of 2 to 5 points.

Liverpool cables came in as due to 3 penny points better than due, and private cables stated that there was hedge selling and Bombay and the continent liquidated. Manchester cabled that the cloth and yarn markets were disorganized and there was a small turnover. October closed at 8.23 up 2 points net for the day and December closed at 8.46 up 4 points net.

Market Yields to Lower Trend For Lack of Trade Stimulus

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (US)—The stock market continued to wallow around today seeking a stimulus to higher price levels but, finding none, closed lower on the day.

Railroad shares were poorest performers but their setback, suspiciously attributed to short-selling, failed to affect in material fashion the remainder of the list, although moderate declines were the rule throughout the market.

Commodity prices were lower, with wheat, cotton and rubber at new lows during the day. Foreign news was rather quiet, the German situation still being uncertain as the reopening of all banks was awaited.

Trading in stocks was highly professional, and several pools endeavored to revive interest in their pets without much success.

It was rumored in the afternoon that the bull forces were organizing for a demonstration against shorts but the more impressive buying is taking place only on price reactions.

In this connection, it was stated that rather sizeable orders have suddenly appeared for Consolidated Gas. A good deal of such demand originates from quarters close to the speculative bull leaders anxious to inspire public confidence in the general market.

As a matter of fact, Consolidated Gas has been favored by considerable quiet shifting from stocks whose dividends are endangered. Yield on gas is less than 4½ per cent, but investment purchase of the stock are predicated on safety of the $4 dividend, covered last year by a margin of more than $1.

Gas, of course, ranks among the highest-grade investment issues and an advance in its price might reasonably effect at least a temporary improvement in the entire market's sentiment, since bulls could then argue that the investment issues are being favored by strong buying.

Some shifting is understood to be going on into Gas from American Can, selling near the same price. Can today reacted to a new low for the present movement, a new low for the year and the lowest price since the panic of 1929.

Weakness in the railroad stocks was blamed on an important old-time bear, but undoubtedly a good deal of the selling was based on nervousness over dividends. Northern Pacific was especially active and fractionally lower. The $5 payment obviously is threatened, as indicated by the yield of more than 14 per cent, but the stock even on $3 basis would yield close to 9 per cent. Atchison was down over 4 points and Union Pacific five. Decrease of 15,000 cars in railroad loadings for the past week was above average of recent years for the same period.

Concentration of interest in relatively small group of stocks was well illustrated in today's market. Out of the total volume of 700,000 shares, 15 issues involved a turnover of almost 50 per cent.

It is quite evident, as already pointed out here, that speculative revival will be attempted by the bulls through activity among the lower-priced issues, with perhaps a limited number of highest-grade "sure-dividend" stocks such as Consolidated Gas receiving vigorous sponsorship to add "investment flavor" to such a campaign.

Emphasizing desire of the speculative leaders to maintain activity in the relatively lower-priced stocks, average price of the 15 most active stocks today was below $50.

More encouraging general market action, it is understood, would stimulate active sponsorship for many stocks. Among these are Chrysler, (whose large activity last week now appears to have permitted considerable liquidation by the pool to consolidate its position), Montgomery-Ward, Radio, International Telephone, Bohn Aluminum, and others.

Steel common closed down a point, but its principal support seemingly still comes from shorts. Maintenance of ⅛ per cent premium for borrowing the stock discourages renewed short-selling, but this weakens the stock's technical position. American Telephone was in supply, declining almost two points net.

Speculative interest tomorrow will be centered on action of the London market and the German banking situation.

DRYGOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—Cotton goods showed a slight gain in demand in finished lines today. Gray cloths continued quiet and weak. Large rayon producers have few lines of inferior qualities to sell in substantial lots. Silk showed some indications of strengthening and some houses are doing better on merchandise sales. Worsted dress goods were in demand for prompt use.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Aug. 4. (AP)—Cash grain demand slow.

Milling wheat was quoted as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, and Galveston according to billing: No. 1 ordinary hard, 44½@45 1-3; No. 1 hard, 14 per cent protein, 45¼@46¼c; 15 per cent, 45¾@47¼c; 16 per cent, 46¾@48¼c.

Quotations on coarse grains ranged as follows basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed, 61½@63½c; No. 3 white or yellow, 63½@65½c.

Oats—No. 2 red, 24½@25½c.

Barley—No. 2, 33@34c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 lbs., 95c@$1.00.

Receipts included: Wheat 120 cars, corn 6, oats 4 and sorghums 5.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 4. (AP)—New smashing of all time low price official records for regulation contract grades of wheat carried the Chicago market down today to 27¾ cents abushel. Thee latest previous official minimum here was 48 cents on July 31 last.

Today's bottom record was reached on a sale of No. 2 red winter wheat to be delivered at once, and the immediate depressing factor was announcement that wheat from countries along the Danube river was offered in Liverpool at equal to 50 cents a bushel, including costs, insurance and freight. Severe pressure of such cheap offerings of wheat on the British market was ascribed to difficulties of the financial situation abroad.

Wheat in Chicago closed nervous, future deliveries ⅛@¾ cents lower than yesterday's finish, corn ⅝c off to ⅛c up, oats ⅛@⅜c down, and provisions showing 2 cents to 20 cents drop.

Corn and oats receded with wheat. All deliveries of oats outdid the season's bottom price record, with September oats the lowest since 1900.

Provisions reflected downturns of cereals.

Closing indemnities—Wheat: Sept. 48⅝c. 49⅝@⅞c; Dec. 52⅞@53c, 53¾@⅝c; May 57⅞c, 58⅝c. Corn: Sept. 51⅝c, 53⅝c; Dec. 43, 43⅝c; May 48⅝@½c offers.

Boy Shot by Pal At San Antonio Dies

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 4. (AP)—Roger Dahl, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Dahl, who was accidentally shot by his companion, Jack Rayburn, 10, died at a hospital here today.

In a statement to police, the Rayburn boy said he and Roger were in the Rayburn home eating, when a sound was heard which frightened them. Jack picked up a .22 caliber rifle and went to seek the source of the noise. Roger went with him. Becoming excited, Jack fired the gun. The bullet entered Roger's chin, and according to hospital attendants, the lead split, going two ways through his head. Both fragments of the bullet lodged in the back of his neck, paralyzing him.

The boys had been friends for several years.

A person's pulse rate over a period of time may vary 10 to 15 beats a minute without causing particular reason for considering him abnormal.

forgotten how to dance together, Mary Faith."

They hadn't.

They moved across the little room like one swiftly moving figure, crooning the silly wistful words of the song as they danced.

Long afterward, whenever Mary Faith heard it, she would remember the smell of pine logs in the fireplace, the sound of the wind rattling the shutters of the little house, and the comfort of Kim's arm around her, the warmth of his hand on her waist.

She would remember how light-hearted they had been that night.

They came back to town at dusk on Sunday. The grayness and the noise, the misted street lamps and the cars packed with tired looking people depressed Mary Faith. She remembered suddenly that Kim's mother would have to be faced in a few minutes, and that Kim would be gone all day tomorrow.

A line of Robert Browning popped into her head. "'So we lose our Eden—Kim and I'," she said to herself, leaning back in the crook of his arm as the roadster nosed its way through the crowded downtown streets.

"Well, here we are, back to the old every day existence," Kim said, as if he read her thoughts. "Only it won't be dull and every day for us now, will it?"

The windows of the flat were in darkness when they drove up in front of the apartment house on Wilton street.

"Looks as if the sisters Kimberly have gone to church, doesn't it?" Kim asked, switching on the lights in the living room as they came in. His mother and his aunt had been the Misses Kimberley when they were young.

"Hello! Anybody at home?" he called, and almost at once Aunt Ella answered him from the rear of the flat.

"Kimberley, is that you?"

She came trotting into the room, her finger on her lips.

"Let me talk to you," she whispered and waved them back into the hallway.

"Your mother's sick in bed with a little cold," she said to Kim softly. "She's been all upset about you for two weeks, and I think she's just worked herself up into a sickness. You know how high-strung she is. . . . So I thought maybe you'd better go in alone and speak to her, Kimberley."

"No, we'll both go in to see her," Kim answered firmly. "Come along, Mary Faith."

Aunt Ella paddled along behind them.

Mrs. Farrell was sitting up in bed, eating milk toast from a large soup plate. She had on a pink wool hug-me-tight. Her cheeks were pink and Mary Faith thought she had never seen her looking so well.

Kim sat down on the edge of her bed.

"Well, mother, I'm sorry to find you sick like this." He reached for her hand but she drew it away.

"I'm sorry about a few things, myself," she said bitterly. "I'm sorry that you thought you had to sneak away to get married. . . . Just think of it—my only son telegraphing me to say that he had just been married! If that wasn't an insult, nothing was ever an insult!"

She shot a glance at Aunt Ella who was standing at the foot of the bed beside Mary Faith.

COTTON PLAN STIRS STORM

States Protest Hoover's Sale Proposal

tariff barriers and of war debts on the cotton industry." Speakers had contended the tariff and intergovernmental debts had crippled the export market.

Another resolution asked the federal farm board to make one of its activities the finding and promotion of new uses for cotton. The confernece expressed its "hearty dissent" from the request of the railroads for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates.

Industrialization of the South and "all sane forms of effort in the direction of cooperative marketing" were other recommendations. The conference asked the governor of each of the cotton states to appoint a member of a committee to continue the work of "this convention."

The only discordant note was sounded when Representative Lawrence Westbrook of Waco offered a resolution to request the farm board to withhold its three and a half million bales from the market until after Jan. 1, 1933, and then dispose of the cotton in small amounts. The farm board would have been allowed to dispose of some of it only by replacing it immediately from the current market.

The resolution was voted down 16 to 14 notwithstanding the support of Gov. Ross S. Sterling, who called the conference. Opponents took the view that such a resolution would be an attempt to tie the hands of the farm board and might interfere with the board's contracts.

Advertising Suggested

T. Arthur Edwards of Lake Charles, the Louisiana governor's representative, suggested that a campaign advertising the possible uses of cotton be carried on. He said the farmer could afford to advertise a product as valuable as cotton if manufacturers found it profitable to advertise commodities worth 5 or 10 cents.

Edwards told of a railroad substituting cotton table cloths for linen cloths in its diners as an example of what might be accomplished by concerted advertising and salesmanship.

Following the same line of reasoning, Dr. H. L. Kent, president of New Mexico Agricultural college, said that cement manufacturers were using paper bags in their shipments whereas they could just as easily use cotton bags and at no additional expense to the consumer.

Cotton Raised Abroad

Dr. Kent stated that the South would have to look more and more to the American market for disposal of its crop. He said other nations were finding places in their confines or in their colonies where they could raise the cotton they needed.

C. O. Moser of New Orleans, vice president of the American Cotton Cooperative association, asserted that "everywhere agriculture has touched industry, agriculture has been the sufferer." He stated that was because industry was organized and agriculture wasn't.

He stated the burden of the proposed 15 per cent increase in railroad freight rates would fall on the farmer because it would increase the expenses on the products he sold and the goods he used. "Ginning costs are as much as when cotton was bringing 30 cents a pound instead of 8 or 9 cents," Moser said.

Taxes have increased, Moser said.

and public officials and begin to plan how the relief work will be handled during the coming winter.

One thing is certain, there will be less money to carry on this work in Wichita Falls and in this county than last year and the line which will divide those entitled to help from those who are not will have to be drawn much tighter. Those who have made a profession of unemployment and improvidence will no longer find Wichita Falls a haven of refuge.

There is some encouragement in the quarterly reports of a number of large corporations. The reports of many of these corporations for the second quarter show smaller losses than for the first quarter of the year. Some of them show smaller losses than for the corresponding period in 1930. They are making this showing in the face of smaller sales. That means there is less waste and more economy. While they have not yet made the turn from loss to profit, many corporations have made the turn from increasing losses to lessening loss.

WTCC HONORS SEEDS BAND

Los Caballeros Musicians to Represent Area

Designation of the Los Caballeros band of Wichita Falls, directed by Paul Seeds, as the official band of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for the year ending next May, became known here Tuesday when a belated letter containing that information reached Mr. Seeds.

According to Maury Hopkins of Plainview, assistant manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, from whom the message was received, the local band was so designated shortly after the close of the annual convention held at Lubbock in May. Official notification of the action miscarried in some way, Mr. Hopkins said.

The Los Caballeros band, familiar throughout this section of the state not only for their musical performances, but for the brilliant and picturesque costumes which they effect, went to the Lubbock convention aboard the special train which carried about 150 Wichitans. They intended entering the annual band contests usually sponsored by the convention, but that event was not included in the 1930 program.

"We still are mindful and appreciative of the wonderful service which your band rendered during the 13th annual convention at Lubbock," Mr. Hopkins' letter reads. "We shall look forward to using the band on appropriate occasions, taking it up with you far enough in advance to make proper preparations."

Boy Evangelist, 18, to Assume Leadership of Revival Here

Evangelistic preaching by J. Paul Fountain, age 18, one of the youngest evangelists of the present day, will begin Wednesday night, Aug. 5 at the revival meetings now being held on Keeler avenue near Holliday street, and will continue for 10 days, according to information given The Record News Tuesday.

Young Fountain was said to have begun his ministry at the age of 10, and to have given himself constantly to such work until about one year ago, when he accepted a student pastorate in order to attend college. High school work was completed under private tutors and by correspondence, it was said.

Pastors of the Wilson Memorial Methodist, South Side Baptist, and Yale Avenue Evangelical churches, which are conducting the revival, are urging young people of the city particularly to hear the young evangelist. Rev. A. W. Fountain, father of the youthful minister, has been conducting the revival meetings during the past two weeks.

J. Paul Fountain is credited with having gained approximately 9,000 converts to the Christian faith during the period of his preaching. Of him the pastor of the First Methodist church in Pittsburg, Kan., was quoted as saying:

"He was entirely at ease before a large audience of more than 3,000 persons, where all churches of the city were cooperating. His sermon was clear, to the point, and held the interested attention of his hearers. There is no attempt on his part to be other than he is."

The younger Rev. Fountain will speak each evening at 8:15 o'clock, beginning Wednesday.

Jackson County Irrigation Plan Studied by Altus City Council

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., Aug. 4.—A proposed irrigation project by which several thousand acres of Jackson county farm land may be irrigated, is being considered by members of the city council and Mayor L. A. Pelley.

Councilmen have drawn up a tentative agreement which will be submitted to E. E. Blake, attorney from Oklahoma City, who is attempting to complete a contract with the local officials.

A project may be perfected by which approximately 10,000 acres of Jackson county farm land may be irrigated, city officials believe.

It is proposed that the city of Altus grant Blake permission to use all of the city's surplus water for irrigation purposes.

Although the excess water supply is now sufficient to irrigate only a small acreage it will be substantially increased by building several smaller reservoirs above the reservoir now in use to store water and make it immediately accessible. A flume or conduit would have to be installed to convey water from Lake Altus to the city reservoir.

Sufficient water for the use of Altus will be protected at all times, the mayor explained, if an agreement is reached. Only water in excess of the city's needs may be used for irrigation purposes.

Approximately 600 acres of Jackson county farm land have been profitably irrigated for the past several years and it is believed that if a contract is entered into by the city it will mean thousands of dollars to Jackson county each year.

GETS LIFE

Armadillo Bent Upon Seeing City Lands In Zoo Pen

FORT WORTH, Aug. 4. (UP)—An armadillo, strange hard shelled creature indigenous to the hills of Texas, started toward town last night to have a look at the bright lights.

Unfortunately—or perhaps fortunately, in view of what happens to some pedestrians—the armadillo paused to inspect a creamery, with the result that employes captured him and turned him over to the police.

Today the armadillo faced life imprisonment in the municipal zoo.

BRUMBALOW TO SUCCEED GLASS

School Board Names New Zundy Principal

Maximum assurance that Zundelowitz Junior high school will continue to prosper academically under the same principles successfully developed by H. A. Glass, its principal during the past five years, was given Wichita Falls citizens Tuesday when the board of education elected Ted W. Brumbalow principal of the school.

He has been particularly active in student activities, and has had much to do with the promotion of successful athletics in the school. Mr. Brumbalow holds a B. A. degree from Baylor university, and has done postgraduate work at the University of Texas.

Miss Roberta M. Ryan was named librarian at the junior college and high school, succeeding Miss Glieth Henderson, resigned.

Revision, and approval for printing, of the policies, rules, and regulations governing this city's schools by a committee headed by Rhea Howard also was announced at Tuesday morning's meeting. It was said that this is the first revision made in 16 years. The board met in the directors room at the City National bank.

Anita Louise at Sweet 15 Is 'Grown Up' Film Heroine

AP

Anita Louis, at 15, looks back on a 10-year career in motion pictures and finds herself now a full-fledged leading woman.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Anita Louise, playing romantic leads at 15, has 10 years in pictures behind her, while ahead a five-year contract promises financial independence before she's 20.

Slim, frail and fair, she'd seem to be at home playing a harp and studying classical dancing—all of which she does—or perched on a cushion sewing a fine seam.

Her golden hair is waved in an old fashioned coiffure and her gowns, stylish in the now fashionable mode of an earlier day, suit her demure ways.

When she was 9 she played the role of a 15-year-old girl, and before she was 15 she was playing nearly adult characters.

Lew Ayres, opposite whom she appeared in "Heaven and Earth" rather resented the idea of such a young leading lady, but her acting converted him.

Her name is Anita Louise Fremault and she was born in New York. Her chaperon and companion in their modest Hollywood home is her mother.

Mrs. Fremault once had dramatic aspirations herself, thwarted by her mother, who still lives in Alsace-Lorraine and disapproves of a picture career for Anita.

Classes will be held Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 6 p. m. by life guards certified by the American Red Cross.

The course of instructions will end Aug. 28. Examinations will be held Aug. 29, and to those passing the tests Red Cross lifesaving insignias will be awarded.

Free swimming lessons will also be provided patrons of the pool each Tuesday and Friday mornings at 9 o'clock, it was announced.

Everybody complains about it!

YET, as Mark Twain says of the weather, "nobody ever does anything about it."

But when it comes to financial weather, then we can do something—you and we together.

Let us remind you that Trust Funds are a sure regulator of financial weather for a man's family.

When you make your will we suggest that you leave some of your money in trust. This will keep your family supplied with an even flow of income. And it will provide protection against the gray days of unforeseen emergencies.
