COTTON DISPLAYING HERBICIDE EFFECTS

Cotton plants in a field near the Rolla community show three kinds of leaves on a plant that has apparently been affected by herbicide 2,4-D or 2,4,5-T. Top leaves are long, thin and stringy. Middle leaves are flatter but have curled and twisted edges. At the bottom of the plant leaves are nearly normal. The question now is whether the severely affected plants will be able to produce a crop.

Herbicide Investigation Continues Here

Texas Department of Agriculture officials think they have determined which chemicals have affected several thousand acres of Collingsworth County cotton crops, but they are not yet ready to say what property is the most likely source of those chemicals.

2,4-D, a weed-control herbicide, and 2,4,5-T, a brush control herbicide, both cause the effects shown by Collingsworth County cotton plants, and TDA officials say both chemicals are probably responsible.

TDA entomologist Dennis Maloney said he expected to finish next week the on-site investigation of 75 complaints he has received from local farmers. Each complaint lists from 1 to 15 fields affected.

Maloney said that he would compile the reports on the complaints that he and 3 other TDA officials have investigated here, and then issue a written report. He said he expected to finish his written report about two weeks after the local investigation is completed.

CC Hunts Leader For History Work

Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce is asking for volunteers as chairman or co-chairmen of the county history project which is being offered.

"If someone cannot be found to take over and be responsible for the work, we will have to scrap the project," said Tommy Hudson, president.

The chamber is discussing publication of a county history with Ronald Peters, president of Craftsman Printers, Inc., Lubbock who has worked with many groups in the publication of county histories.

"We just don't have anyone coming forward to take the lead," said Hudson. "We believe there will be a lot of our history lost if we do not get it done now."

FLAG GIRLS

Approximately 30 high school flag and rifle teams participated in the annual Southwestern State University Flag and Rifle Camp held on Southwestern's Weatherford campus, July 17-21. The camp, sponsored by the Southwestern State Department of Music, taught the squads new routines and drills for their use during the upcoming school year. Pictured is the squad from Wellington, (l-r): Julie Caldwell, Nicole Keller, Mandy Morgan, Lisa Powell, and Lisa Cochran.

TMTA Awards Highest Honor to Cudd

Wayne T. Cudd, president of Cudd Brothers of Wellington is the TMTA Leader of the Year, the highest honor the Texas Motor Transportation Association can bestow on one of its members.

Governor Mark White gave the keynote address at the luncheon that honored Cudd Thursday, June 23, in the Convention Center Ballroom I in San Antonio during the 1983 TMTA annual convention.

Gov. White was escorted by the Ross Volunteers from Texas A&M University, the official Honor Guard for the Governor of Texas.

The announcement was made earlier in the year that Cudd would receive the TMTA Leader of the Year Award, with the presentation to be made during the convention.

Members of his family present were his wife, Jean; Carolyn Sanford and Tammy of Palo Alto, Calif.; Nancy Samuel and Beth of Redondo Beach, Calif.; Jan and Glenn Stallings with Chad and Tatum of Lubbock; Jim and Cheryl Lindsev and Terry Lynn, and Ineva Bowen, Judy and Dennis Cudd, all of Wellington; Mr. and Mrs. E.E. Cudd of Memphis; Joe Bob and Mary Cudd, with Karen, Robert and Rebecca of Orinda, Calif.

Wayne Cudd is also observing 40 years as a member of TMTA, joining the association just 6 years after he and his brother, the late Hiram Cudd, formed a partnership creating Cudd Brothers in Wellington.

They had less than $2,000 invested in equipment when they hit the road in 1937. Both were only three years out of high school. The Great Depression was a long way from being over.

They ran their fledgling company out of their father's station on 8th Street, using part of his garage as their office.

Their first load was baled cotton going to Houston.

Forty-six years later, Cudd Brothers of Wellington is still hauling cotton for its customers.

"When we first started out we both drove, and we kept our books in our heads and what money we had in our hip pockets," Wayne Cudd recalls the early days. They had spent $1,100 on their first truck.

That amount of money will not buy the 18 tires for a truck now.

The first trailer cost $660 and would hold 39 bales of cotton. Freight was $2 per bale and fuel was 12 cents a gallon.

In paying tribute to Cudd, the Steering Wheel, TMTA magazine, wrote:

"Their profit margin was slim, but the Cudd Brothers had discovered a need and their business proved successful. It wasn't long before the brothers added a 1938 Chevrolet truck and a 22-foot trailer (custom built in Wellington by a local blacksmith) to their 'fleet.'"

They began transporting hogs, cattle and sheep, as well as cotton. They traveled not only to Houston but to

Wellington Schools Register August 15

The registration schedule for Wellington Schools has been announced by Kenneth McKay, superintendent.

The first day of classes will be Tuesday, August 23, he said.

This year, high school students will begin work in cooled comfort, as individual window unit evaporative air conditioners are being installed this week. Cost of the installation will be approximately $5,500, the superintendent reported.

Wellington High School registration will begin on Monday, August 15 at the high school, with the 1984 seniors registering at that time. Hours will be 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 3 p.m.

Juniors will register Tuesday, Aug. 16, from 9 to 12 and 1 to 3.

Wednesday, August 17, will be used for the sophomore class, and hours will be the same, according to Eddie Hankins principal.

Freshman registration will be held Thursday, August 18, and again hours will be the same.

New students to Wellington High School may come at any time on any of the four days of registration.

Teachers and aides will report on Friday morning, August 19, at 8 a.m.

Junior High Students will register Wednesday, Aug. 17 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., according to Bob Allen, principal.

All Elementary students will enroll on Thursday, August 18th at the Elementary School from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 a.m. and from 1:15 p.m. to 3:00 p.m., Melvin Cardwell, principal, announced.

Kindergarten students who did not register in May will need to bring a copy of his/her birth certificate and a copy of immunization records.

The temperature says mid-summer.

The calendar says the Wrecking Crew of '82 will begin its 1983 season in just one more week.

Head coach James Williams has announced that Skyrockets will be issued their shoes Wednesday, August 3.

They will begin two-day workouts on Monday, August 8 and work in shorts until Friday, August 12, when they will go into pads.

There will be two scrimmages, but both dates remain tentative, Williams pointed out.

The first will be with Wheeler and will be held here, August 18 or 19.

The Skyrockets will scrimmage Hale Center on either August 25 or 26.

Dates of both scrimmages are due to be announced after coaches return from coaching school at the end of this week.

Striping the football field is scheduled then.

This year's coaching staff will include one new member, Carl Taylor, a former Skyrocket and graduate of West Texas State University. Other members of the coaching staff are James Williams, head coach and athletic director; Ronny Williams, 1st assistant football coach; Tom Johnson and Dale Morris.

The season will open Friday, Sept. 2 with Hollis on the Tiger's field.

Band, Band Parents Open Year August 8

A meeting of That Skyrocket Band members and another meeting of the Band Parents Club are scheduled for Monday, August 8, the director, Frank Aue, has announced.

Those who will be coming in the High School band this year will meet at 6:30 p.m. to organize and determine practice hours.

The Band Parents will meet at 8 p.m. with Howard Murdock presiding. They will make plans to repair and clean the football field concession stand and have it ready for the opening of the football season. A considerable amount of work needs to be done it was pointed out.

Aue said that at the August 8 meeting, the band students will be issued instruments and actual practice will start Tuesday. This will give the students almost a month before the start of football season and also before the band appears in the Collingsworth County Fair Parade.

The band has an opportunity to make an even earlier appearance. As many who can go are invited to play in the Greenbelt Bowl band, made up of band members from this area.

The band will play for the Greenbelt Bowl Football Game which starts at 8 p.m. Friday, Aug. 5.

They will meet in Childress for practice from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 3 and 4, and all day Friday.

A player does not have to be a current member of That Skyrocket Band, but may have graduated from high school this spring or a year

WAYNE AND JEAN CUDD

Oklahoma City and Ft. Worth.

In 1941, Cudd Brothers hired their first employee. The same year they added another truck and trailer to what was truly becoming a fleet.

But World War II intervened about this time. Hiram Cudd and youngest brother, Noel Cudd joined the U.S. Navy, and Wayne on his way right behind them to serve his country.

But a group of farmers and ranchers from the Panhandle went before the draft board to request an occupational deferment for him, because Cudd Brothers was the area's only trucking firm and it was imperative that it stay alive.

When the war ended, Noel Cudd returned to college and Hiram returned to Wellington and the family business. During the war years Wayne had lived through the nightmare of trying to keep his company running at the mercy of the local ration board which jealously guarded the supplies of fuel and tires. Despite these problems, he had added three more units. One of them was a Dodge Truck.

"You know, I didn't particularly want that truck, but a new Dodge is a whole lot better than a worn out Chevrolet," he recalls. "I remember the first time I had to pay $5,000 for a truck. I didn't think I would ever see it pay for itself."

A few years after the end of the war Cudd Brothers opened a branch office in Memphis.

Noel Cudd graduated from college and played professional football a few years before becoming operator of a trucking company Cudd Brothers had bought in Clarendon in 1954. Later he moved to Corpus Christi to open an insurance company, but continued helping with Cudd Brothers trucking business during the three or four months each year that Cudd Brothers kept trucks in South Texas.

Cudd Brothers operates in Texas under Railroad Commission permits to haul livestock, livestock feed-stuff, cotton and cottonseed. In 1939, Wayne Cudd made his first business trip to Austin to apply for his first permit. Since that time, he has made the long drive from Wellington to Austin many times. Most of those trips were made at the request of the Texas Motor Transportation Association because Wayne Cudd is an excellent spokesman for the industry.

He has served on the TMTA Board of directors since 1947 and has held every position on the TMTA Executive Committee, including the chairmanship in 1951-52. In addition he worked on many of the association's committees. He is currently a member of the TMTA advisory committee and serves as chairman of the ATA Board of Livestock Carriers Conference.

In 1949, 1951, and 1953 he worked with TMTA in lobbying efforts with the Texas Legislature. For 5 months each session he stayed in Austin working for his industry, trying to get the load limits increased and fighting punitive legislation.

Wayne Cudd has served his community well. He twice was president of Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce, served as fire chief four years and several terms as a member of the city council. He is a director of City State Bank.

He is a member of I.O.O.F. Lodge, BPOE and 1st United Methodist Church, where he has served on the official board.

Cudd Brothers has always supported youth projects, including the Little League program sponsoring teams, buying uniforms, furnishing trucks and drivers to haul old newspapers to recycling center to raise team money, and donating equipment.

For many years they hauled 4-H calves to the State Fair of Texas Livestock show. They also supported Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Boys Ranch and Girls Town.

What Wayne Cudd calls "a perfect partnership" ended on August 11, 1980, when Hiram Cudd died of a heart attack. Since then, Hiram's son, Dennis, has followed his fathers footsteps in the Cudd Brothers Partnership.

Cudd Brothers currently has 16 employees at the Wellington and the Memphis locations. Kenneth Dale, Memphis office manager, has been with the firm since 1950. Eddie Saldana has been working with Cudd Brothers in Wellington since 1954.

The Steering Wheel pays this further tribute: "Throughout the 46 years that Cudd Brothers has been in business the company has remained as important to the economy of Wellington and other small towns in the Panhandle as the cattle grazing on the grassland and the cotton growing in the fields."

Wayne Cudd continues: "We had no more than $100 in cash between us when we first started out.

But our philosophy has always been that we have nothing to sell but service. We have never cared about being the biggest—we just want to be one of the best."

There is another side of the Wayne Cudd story—his wife, Jean, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Light.

She sees to it that the Wellington office operates as a highly efficient unit. She is active in TMTA Auxiliary. Their purpose is to raise money for scholarships to be given to students interested in transportation. Since the women organized the TMTA Foundation, they have given scholarships to four boys and one girl.

pleted. Maloney said the written report would state the most likely source of the herbicide, although he said that it would be up to a court of law to make a determination of responsibility.

Maloney said between 5,000 and 6,000 acres of cotton crops, centered in the Rolla community are severely affected.

"Cotton in the outlying portion of the affected area with moderate or slight effects looks pretty promising," Maloney said. "It is showing normal growth now."

"But it is still to early to determine with crops around Rolla," Maloney said. "People are putting water to it, and it may come out of it, but it will still have a reduced yield. If we could get some rain it would really help them."

"We can't tell what kind of yield reduction anyone will have until they harvest and weigh it out," he said.

Maloney said 2,4-D, even in a "LV" or low volatile ester form, can drift, depending on temperature, time of day, and wind. 2,4,5-T, the active ingredient in several name-brand products, has a good potential for drift, Maloney said.

"This stuff is unusual—it will react differently under different climatic conditions and at different times of the year," Maloney said. "It's hard to say how its going to affect a crop."

"In the most severe cases, cotton plants will continue to drop any kind of boll set," Maloney said. "Flowers will come on and then fall off until it starts growing out normal leaves again. Some of the bolls that set will be okra-shaped. I've seen some that are almost pecan shaped. It's hard to say at this point what the final effect will be on cotton here."

Maloney said that farmers first began noticing effects here around June 27, and that it usually takes 3 or 4 days after cotton has received a dose of herbicide before effects are noticeable, so TDA has a fairly good idea of when the herbicide would have been applied.

Maloney said that he had hoped to be finished with the local investigation this week, but that two of the TDA officials who had been helping here had been assigned to other duties, so he now expected to finish next week.

GTE Assigns Gayle Gilreath

In an effort to improve customer services and relations, Gayle Gilreath, installation and maintenance supervisor for General Telephone for Memphis, Lakeview, Estelline, Turkey, Silverton, Quitaque, Paducah, Wellington and Dodson, has been assigned the additional responsibilities of small business systems sales, according to Jimmy Bennett, Operations Manager in Memphis.

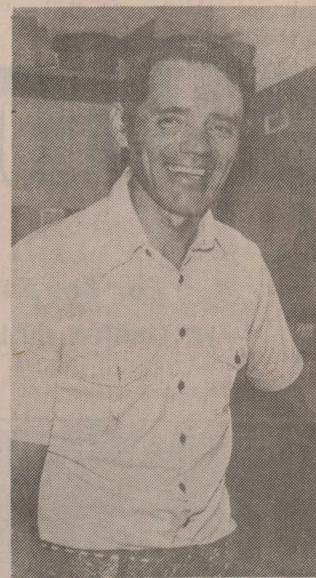

The installation and maintenance supervisor concept is part of General Telephone's plan to return responsibility for customer service to the local area.

Operations Manager, Jimmy Bennett, describes it as "...Part of an overall plan to improve our relationship with our customers and provide them with the kind of service they request. The installation and maintenance supervisor initially was responsible for quality service to our customers locally and were to resolve problems that could not be taken care of through normal Company channels.

"The sales responsibilities opens up a whole new area for the installation and maintenance supervisor. He is now commissioned with not only servicing customer equipment but insuring that the customer receives the correct equipment for their particular needs. The challenge of creating the correct customer/equipment mix is difficult, but I'm sure they'll meet the challenge."

returned to Collingsworth County in 1977. He had lived here previously from 1931 to 1939.

He is a member of First Baptist Church here and in Borger was a member of the Adobe Walls Masonic Lodge. He and his wife, Agnes, have one daughter, Mrs. James (Virginia) Graham of Lewisville.

Ewing will be sworn in at the next regular meeting of the board.

In another special meeting Tuesday, July 26, the board voted unanimously to buy out the lease on the hospital's Burroughs computer at a cost of $32,748.55. The lease was at an interest rate of 17.5%. Board members concluded that if the computer needed to be financed, a lower interest rate could be obtained from a local bank.

Shamblee Recalls First Black Parade

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER
Thursday, July 28, 1983

The Booker T. Washington parade through downtown Wellington recently brought a flood of memories to 93-year-old Earl Shamblee, who organized and staged the first parade of blacks in Wellington's history.

He remembers many of the facts clearly, but the year in which it was held escapes his memory as it does from some of those much younger than he who also remember standing on the sidewalks to watch.

This parade was probably in the mid-1940s, Judge R.L. Templeton remembers it was after he came home from World War II. Shamblee also remembers 1 as spectators several people who were not here after that period.

SHAMBLEE

Blacks had been living and working in Wellington and Collingsworth county approximately 20 years at that time. Shamblee recalls that when he first visited Wellington in 1920, he was told to get down on the car floorboard as they came into town, for Wellington did not like blacks.

When he returned to live in 1926, blacks were an accepted part of the working community.

Probably no man in Wellington has worked harder to improve the image of blacks than Earl Shamblee.

"They called us 'niggers' then, and they thought we weren't reliable," he points out.

And this ties in with Shamblee's fame in this part of the Panhandle as a baseball coach.

He recalls he had a winning team and felt they should have uniforms, but there was no money to buy them. He was unable to find a bank that would loan the money.

The next season he was able to buy the uniforms for his team through Fred LeDerer of LeDerer Hardware and paid them out a little at a time...Proving his word was good.

Shamblee changed the subject a little.

"The first ballgame Booker T. Washington School played (when it went to UIL competition), I loaned them our uniforms and Odell Meadows hauled them down there."

Shamblee did not begin baseball for blacks in Wellington. He gives that credit to a man called Rabbit and another named Yarbrough, who worked for

M.M. Kerns Chevrolet agency. At that time Shamblee was helping but not coaching.

Some of his strongest supporters in the early years were "Cal Sugg and Woody Wood's Daddy, who used to come to every game."

At that time, the white boys were the Cats. "Later the white boys called themselves the Dukes of Wellington and we adopted the name Black Cats and that's when we became famous," says Shamblee—fame reaching to Dallas and East Texas.

"The white boys had a real good club. We could beat everybody but we couldn't beat them." He recalled some of those opponents: Jack Knight (city secretary), Zeb Neelev, Ira Morgan, Raymond Morgan and others.

Some of his own Black Cats were the Riley boys, the Price boys, Mathis boys, R.A. Dawkins, Mack Childs who was the father of Dr. Francine Childs.

Other players through the years were Charles and Aaron Rayford, James Mason who died at Amarillo a few months ago and Frank Bailey, who Shamblee calls "the best short stop ever in this county" who died in Houston a few weeks ago. "His mother and sister didn't think he could play ball and he made a real fine player."

Shamblee and the Black Cats had white support. He remembers some of the truckers who hauled them to games: Frank and Hezze Jones, Earl and Lee Miller, Cudd Brothers, and Eddie Joe Mims.

He also remembers the financial support from John Holton, now the Exxon dealer, and Bill Burden, then Coca Cola dealer.

Shamblee had a strong girls team, and also coached Peeewe, Little League and a mixed team that included blacks, white and Hispanics.

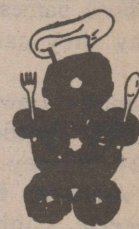

Where were these games played? At Vinson, Hollis, in Wellington and at Midway. This latter was at the intersection of Highway US 83 and US 62 (the Hollis Highway). The name is seldom used now.

Lights were strung up and night games were played.

One evening a big rattlesnake crawled across the diamond.

Shamblee was aware his teams provided good entertainment. "You can't steal the show when the show is already yours," he believed.

The Swiss flag is a white cross on a red field.

Christian School Film Slated At Fellowship

What is a Christian School?

Is a Christian Education Optional?

These questions will be answered in a video tape to be shown at the Abundant Life Fellowship Sunday, July 31, at 6 p.m., according to the Rev. Jim Horton, pastor.

The tape will feature David Gibbs, an attorney with the Christian Law Association.

"Anyone interested is invited to attend the showing and all who plan to enroll children in Wellington Christian School this fall are encouraged to come," Rev. Horton said.

Bonnie Hall Granted WTSU Scholarship

WTSU--Bonnie Hall, a special education major at West Texas State University from Quail, has been awarded a $100 College of Education scholarship for the 1983-84 academic year.

Country Store Planning Begins

Preparations are under way for the Country Store, which will be held as a part of the Collingsworth County Fair Friday and Saturday, Sept. 9 and 10. The tentative location is the American Legion Building.

This year the Country Store is sponsored by the Wellington Satellite Center and all proceeds will go to the center.

Spaces will be rented for the sale of items in the style of the old-time country store, said Toni Wright of the Satellite Center.

There will be space available for the sale of single items, such as paintings, quilts, and other handcrafted or antique goods.

These will be sold on a consignment basis, and exhibitors may pre-register by contacting the Satellite Center, calling 447-5436 or 447-5186.

Collingsworth County residents will have priority over rental of exhibition space.

Exhibitors are encouraged to register as soon as possible due to the limited area available.

The public is invited to come and browse through the Country Store.

The Country Store will be operated by the exhibitors and the Satellite Center in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the Fair. Walter Clements is general chairman of this year's Fair.

PUBLIC NOTICE

At the request of the Office of the General Counsel of the Public Utility Commission, the Commission has established Docket No. 5113 to inquire into pressing issues involving the entire telephone industry in Texas. Docket No. 5113 will deal with many issues resulting from the impending divestiture of American Telephone and Telegraph Company and Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. Some of those issues include establishing the service areas of Southwestern Bell after divestiture and assessing the impact on other telephone companies in Texas, including General Telephone Of The Southwest, of current settlement arrangements between Southwestern Bell and those companies. Additionally, Docket No. 5113 will deal with the issues arising from the Federal Communications Commission's Final Order in Docket 78-72 (the Access Charge Docket) as they impact all telephone companies, including General Telephone Company Of The Southwest. It is anticipated that Docket No. 5113 will be evidentiary in nature. RATES FOR GENERAL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF THE SOUTHWEST MAY BE DETERMINED BY THE COMMISSION IN OR AS A RESULT OF THIS PROCEEDING. Interested parties seeking further information or desiring to participate in Docket No. 5113 are advised to write to Rhonda Colbert Ryan, Secretary and Director of Hearings, Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757 or telephone the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512)458-0223 or 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 TTY for the deaf.

4-H Riders Hold Annual Trail Ride

Wellington 1968 graduating class will celebrate its 15th anniversary with a class reunion Friday, August 5 at Pioneer Park 7 1/2 miles north of Wellington on Highway US 83.

Polly Browning Cozad announced arrangements. There will be a cook out and ex-students are urged to bring their families. The time is 7 p.m. Each family is to bring a picnic food item. Although the hostesses will appreciate a word from those planning to attend, those finding at the last minute they can attend are urged to come.

Mrs. Cozad also urges those who have not returned information sheets telling their accomplishments since graduation to do this at once.

Plans to compile these into booklet form with copies for each graduate could not be carried out due to funding, but a master copy will be available at the cook out for reading.

Someone will be selected to be responsible for this material until the next reunion.

Mrs. Cozad can be reached by mail at Route 1, Wellington 79095 or % West Texas Utilities Co., 913 9th St. Phone 447-5414.

"We want the local ex-students to be there," Mrs. Cozad urged. Assisting her are Nancy Thomas Lindsey, Freida Minatrea Hartman and Pat Thomas Barnett.

Class members and present addresses are:

Jan Bowen Tyler, Olney; Kenny Brown, Childress; Johnny Harris, Houston; Calvin Culpepper, Tempe, Ariz.; Tanya Horton Embry, Round Rock; Chris Hubbard, Colorado City; Nat Holton, Copperas Cove; Nellie Sango Little, Oklahoma City; Vikki Saunders Moore, Childress; Delores Moody McWhorter, Memphis; Rhonda Kersten Rutkowski, Dimmitt; Cherry Lewis Sims, Houston; Alan Fires, Kermit; Sammy Hicks, Carter Lake, Iowa; Susan Coffee Green, Childress; David Groves, Stone Mountain, Ga.; Kathy Kiker Graves, Littlefield; Nancy Sikes Lewis, Oklahoma City; Beth Smith Lopez, Acapulco, Guerrero, Mexico; Jan Blain Oswalt, Vernon; Alfred Alfred, Dallas; Claude Barber, Phoenix, Ariz.; Deborah Peters Kendall, Skiatook, Okla.; George Alex Kopp, Boulder, Colo.

Those living in Amarillo are Joy Chandler Gonzales, Tim White, Harry Patterson, Marvin Roland, Jacqueline King Arnold, Jimmy Neeley.

1968 graduates still in the Wellington area are Polly

Browning Cozad, George Porter, Sandy Covey, Kent Clark, Freida Minatrea Hartman, Steve Davis, Glenda Kiker Scott, Billy McKinney, Jim Lindsey, Cheryl Needham Brown, Billy Neeley, Pat Thomas

Barnett, Harold Ray Jones, Andy Henard, Mike Gilmore, Jimmy Black and Vicki Wade Black, Nancy Thomas Lindsey, and Jim Henard. Betty Moore's address is needed.

I Saw... by Virginia Robey

Here we are all near enough to the country that we aren't especially surprised if we wake up some morning and there's a stray cow or horse in town.

But several of the families in the southeast part of town, south of 15th Street, looked outside Monday morning and saw sheep grazing on their lawns.

The girls sized up their own sheep-herding capabilities, jumped in the family cars and directed the woolies in another direction. Most agreed they weren't hungry for mutton that day.

Haun Kite, new Church of Christ minister, says his family is enjoying living in Wellington except for one thing, the 100 degree heat we've been having. He tells why.

In 1980 when the family lived in Kansas, that area endured approximately 40 consecutive days of temperature registering 100 degrees or above, and a number of those consecutive days showed readings of 110 degrees or higher.

Now we want the Kite family to feel at home in Wellington but not because of the heat.

Mike Glenn, Virginia Graves White.

'58 Class Plans Silver Anniversary

Celebrating the silver anniversary of its graduation, the Wellington high school class of 1958 has planned a period of visiting and a catered luncheon on Saturday, Aug. 6, at the same time the general ex-student reunion is held.

Betty Belew Langford, is in charge of arrangements with other Wellington exes assisting.

Events will be in the American Legion Building, 10th and Amarillo Streets. Visiting will start at 10 a.m. and the luncheon will begin about 11:30, catered by Country Cuisine.

"If you are going to attend the 25th anniversary reunion and luncheon, please make reservations," said Mrs. Belew. "We do need to know how many will attend so we can turn over the number to the caterers," she said.

Those who will attend and have not made reservations should write Mrs. Belew at 1703 Corsicana Street, Wellington, 79095, or call 806-447-2665.

Class members are also urged to spread the information by word of mouth or to write those they believe may not know about the reunion.

Church of Christ VSB Opens Aug. 1

The Church of Christ, 13th and Bowie St., has set its VBS August 1 through 5, with classes from 9 to 11 a.m.

The material will be "The Sonshine Patch", emphasizing the "fruits of the Spirit", based on the scripture Galatians 5:22-24.

Directors are the ministers, Haun Kite and Paul Williams.

A bus will be driven to assist those who have no transportation.

"We welcome all who would like to come. There will be classes for all ages," Kite said.

Ages will range from three years through high school, and in addition there will be an adult class, the minister explained. An open house is planned at the end of the Vacation Bible School.

Miss Murdock Weds Mr. Lambert In Chapel Ceremony in Childress

Martha Renee Murdock and Walter Ivy (Trey) Lambert III were married in a ceremony performed at the chapel of First Baptist Church in Childress Friday, July 8, at three in the afternoon.

The Reverend J.V. Corhorn, pastor, officiated in the presence of the immediate families of the couple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Howard Murdock, Jr., 1606 Amarillo Street. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ivy Lambert, Jr., Route 2, Childress.

Hope Weir of Childress was the bride's maid of honor and Jeff Cagle, also of Childress, was the best man.

After the ceremony, a reception was given in the home of the bridegroom's parents.

The reception table was covered with a white linen cloth and silver and crystal appointments were used. A bouquet of pink and rose carnations and baby's breath in a tall crystal vase was the centerpiece. The tiered wedding cake was

Patterns for Home Sewing Become More Sophisticated

The average $2.75 that home sewers must pay for a pattern isn't the result of inflation alone. "Home sewers are paying for far more sophisticated products than they used to," explains Dr. Ann Vanderpoorten, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

In the past, company designers usually created the ideas for garments. Today, pattern companies are just as likely to purchase the rights to originals from well-known designers, says Vanderpoorten.

After purchase of the design, the company begins the process of making a pattern that home sewers can use. According to the home economist, the design is first draped on a dress form or made in a trial pattern.

Then a test garment is constructed and checked for fit on a dress form and a live model. It is also checked for suitability of use with different types of fabrics, such as plaids, stripes and various textures.

All through this process, adjustments are made in size or design to achieve the same look as in the original sketch. A final version of the garment is sewn to be drawn for the pattern envelope.

The production process involves marking the notches, dots, buttonholes, grain lines and other important features. The pattern is then graded to all sizes by computer, although the original is made in a size ten.

Along with the pattern, accurate instructions for the home sewer must be prepared, says the specialist. An instruction sheet pattern envelope are written. Technical illustrations are prepared to accompany the instruction sheet. Finally, the instructions are checked against the actual garment.

Then the company is ready to print the pattern pieces, envelopes and pattern catalogs.

"The pattern industry is also trying to appeal to home sewers who are more interested in making something simple and fast than in making designer fashions," notes Vanderpoorten.

Some companies have introduced reduced lines of patterns that can simply be displayed on a fabric store rack. The patterns have fewer pattern pieces, only one view to consult, and instructions that allow for a graded fit. These patterns are also less expensive, averaging about $1.19 each.

The variety offered by designer styles, standard patterns and simplified versions now give home sewers more choice.

Annual 4-H Club Fashion Show Will Be Held Here July 28

BY NANCY BIGBY

4-H members in Collingworth County will model their own creations in this year's Fashion Show, Thursday, July 28, 3:00 p.m. at the Farm Bureau Building in Wellington. The public is invited to attend.

Those competing are: Juniors: Marla Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Keller; Diana and Darla Noakes, daughters of Janet Lindley and LaRanda Motsenbocker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Motsenbocker.

Intermediates: Valerie Noakes, daughter of Mrs. Lindley; Jennifer Hayes daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Hayes; D'Nae Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Keller; Dion Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Moore; Shelly Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Thomas.

Seniors: Nicole Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keller; Leslie Birkey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Birkey.

Each 4-Her enters in one of three age groups. Those being Junior 9-11; Intermediate 12 & 13; Senior 14-19. They also can enter in four categories of daytime tailored, daytime non-tailored, sportswear and evening and specialty wear clothing.

Winners of each category will be eligible to compete at the District Fashion Show on August 9 in Canyon.

The Collingsworth County Fashion Show is being supported by Extension Homemakers Clubs, Wellington State Bank, City State Bank and Farmers Co-op Gin through the donation of prizes and money.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

From the TAP Kitchen

This taste-tempting, spicy dish can be cooked with or without a hot jalapeno, depending on your taste buds! Jalapeno Spanish Rice, developed by the Texas Department of Agriculture Home Economist, is economical and nutritious as well.

JALAPENO SPANISH RICE

2 T. oil
1 C. rice
1 1/2-2 C. water
1 (8 oz.) can tomato paste
1 sm. quartered onion
1/3 C. sliced celery
1 tsp. cumin seed
2 halved and quartered carrots
1/2 tsp. salt
1 whole jalapeno

Brown rice in oil. Add remaining ingredients and simmer in covered skillet for about 20 minutes or until water is absorbed. Note: The whole jalapeno can be added to the rice and cooked along with the other ingredients. Once it is cooked, it is quite hot. If desired, you may remove the jalapeno pepper, mash it and add it to your rice. Quite spicy and hot! Serves 3-4.

Weight Tables More Realistic

New height-weight tables recently released by the insurance industry may encourage people to be more realistic about their weight.

"Too many women look to fashion models as examples of the ideal weight, and this simply contributes to unrealistic weight goals and fad dieting," says Dr. Dymple Cooksey, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The new weight tables show a five to seven percent weight increase in most height categories.

"But people should be less concerned about how much they weigh, and more concerned about how much fat they have," states Cooksey.

According to Cooksey, the problem is one of distinguishing "overweight" from "overfat." Overweight can result from many different factors, such as body frame, musculature, or fluid retention, and is not necessarily bad.

Overfat is purely the accumulation of excess fat, which has been linked to heart disease and other risk factors. It is not always easy to tell the difference, particularly when a person is not too much overweight, says Cooksey.

A height-weight table won't tell people how much fat they have either, she adds. That is why a person should consult with a doctor before beginning a weight loss plan.

The new weight tables are based on insurance records and published by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. of New York. They indicate the weight ranges at which people of various heights and builds will be statistically at less risk of premature death.

Cooksey predicts that the tables will be widely circulated in diet books, publications and commercial diet programs as appropriate weight goals for the general public.

"However, most educational programs such as ours will continue to stress good nutrition as a means of weight control rather than achieving the weights found in these tables," says Cooksey. Extension Service nutrition and weight control programs serve over adults and youth each year.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. B.E. Ladymon of Paris, Texas visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Horton last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Lowe of Ft. Worth visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lowe over the July 4th weekend. They brought Kristin Lowe of Eustis, Florida for an extended visit with her grandparents.

Over the July 4th weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Clark and grandson, Jim, were in Colorado City visiting Clark's sister, Mrs. Hattie Bohannon. While they were there, the group attended fireworks display and airplane show. Mrs. Bohannon formerly lived in the Loco community.

Women's Blazer Workshop Scheduled Here in August

BY NANCY BIGBY

Enrollment is currently being taken for a blazer workshop to be held August 15, 17, 18, 19, and 29th from 2:00 to 4:30 p.m.

During the workshop participants construct a blazer using "quick" methods used by manufacturers. There will be no charge for participating however, you must furnish your own supplies.

The workshop is limited to ten individuals so you must contact the Extension office at 447-2313 to be included on the list.

Skin is the body's largest organ, weighing an average of five-and-one-half pounds.

The blazer continues to be an important item in any wardrobe so don't miss this unique opportunity.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY AGENT REPORT

by Nancy Bigby

PUBLIC INVITED TO HEAR FASHION CONSULTANT

One of the nation's leading consultants on fashion for men and women and the part fashion plays in their success in life will be a featured speaker at the annual meeting of the Texas Association of Extension Home Economists. The meeting will be held Aug. 1-3 at the Hilton Inn in Amarillo.

Suzie Woodward of Palo Alto, Calif., president and executive director of Images by Suzie, a consultant service, will present a three-hour seminar at 1 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 3.

Because of the availability of this outstanding authority and the interest of Panhandle citizens in clothing and the personal image it reflects, the Extension home economists are opening this presentation to the public, explained Nancy Bigby, Collingsworth County Extension agent for home economics.

A limited number of tickets for the seminar, costing $5 each, may be purchased in advance from county Extension agents in the 20 Panhandle counties, Bigby said.

If any tickets remain the day of the seminar, they will be sold at the door, said Kathy J. Gist, Carson County Extension home economist and Panhandle District director of the state association. But she cautioned that the number of seats will be limited because of the number of home economics agents from across Texas who will be at the meeting.

Among the topics Mrs. Woodward will cover in the Aug. 3 seminar are: communicating through appearance, the seven-part cycles of fashion, five-year fashion periods, clues to predicting fashion cycles, cures for clothes-a-holics, and using accessories to update a wardrobe.

She has been involved in the fashion industry as a model and consultant for almost two decades. Mrs. Woodward has written a book discussing wardrobe strategy and she travels to business and fashion centers of the world to keep her material current.

She has presented fashion training for such companies and organizations as the Bank of America, IBM, Hilton Hotels, Trans World Airlines, Hewlett-Packard, Wells Fargo Bank, the mechanical engineering department of Stanford University, National Association of Secondary School Principals and the Texas Education Agency.

She has been a guest lecturer at Amarillo College, Tyler Junior College, Texas Women's University and many other campuses.

Scoopin'

Roger Browning was in for a surprise when he woke up one morning last week. There was a hole in his back yard, and it wasn't your ordinary back yard hole. This one was 19½ feet deep and five feet in diameter, just a couple of feet from his back door. Roger thinks it was an old well or cistern that was covered with some lumber and a thin layer of dirt, and that the lumber just finally rotted away and caved in. Anyhow, several truckloads of dirt solved the problem, and Roger said he was just glad he wasn't standing on it when it decided to go.

Jack Nelson brought me a jar full of bluebonnet seeds, and I think that even I can follow his planting instructions: "Just throw them on the ground in September and stomp them in a little with your heel. You might want to water them a little if we don't get a rain to get them started." Mr. Nelson had beautiful bluebonnets along his driveway this year and he said that's the planting method he followed. He said he'd tried bluebonnets earlier, carefully planting each seed an inch or two underground, and that they didn't come up that time. The Texas state flower, which is a native wildflower, apparently can't take a pampering. But it seems to thrive here with a little rough treatment.

There's a debate in Washington this week over whether Congress should give more money to the International Monetary Fund. The IMF would give the money to financially strapped Central and South American countries so they could repay loans and interest to the large American banks that have loaned billions of dollars to those countries. Those who are opposed to the idea say that the big banks should take their lumps on the bad loans. Those who favor it say that if the countries default, several big U.S. banks might collapse and that might precipitate a worldwide financial crisis. I don't know who's right, but I'll bet Wellington State and City State bankers would like to have a little help from Congress any time they had a big loan that turned sour.

J.M. Orr says he's heard another one about flying: "If God had wanted us to fly, he would have made it easier to get to the airport."

We Want Your Letter

The Wellington Leader encourages readers to comment on issues of local, regional, state, national or international interest with letters to the editor. The best letters are brief and discuss only one topic. All letters to the editor must be signed. The letter must include the signer's address and phone number, although this information will not be published with the letter.

Suppose a brother or sister is without clothes and daily food. If one of you says to him "Go, I wish you well; keep warm and well fed," but does nothing about his physical needs, what good is it? In the same way, faith by itself, if it is not accompanied by action, is dead.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The Travis County District Attorney who drew fire for not prosecuting House Speaker Gib Lewis' financial disclosure slip-up is now probing the campaign files of several Texas officials.

The DA, Ronnie Earle, is investigating possible campaign report violations by Texas Atty. Gen. Jim Mattox. Earle is targeting Mattox's loan to himself of $125,000, but the thread leads back to South Texas rancher Clinton Manges.

Manges' huge donations to several statewide candidates last year has attracted close inspection by the Capitol press. Now the DA is watching by the press as he examines the Mattox files, and he is obviously not going to run the risk of being called soft on political crime again.

He is also looking into the campaign files of several other candidates who received money from Manges, including former Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong who got $200,000 from Manges in losing the '82 gubernatorial primary.

Earle is also looking over records from present Land Commissioner Garry Mauro and all nine members of the Texas Supreme Court.

Armstrong, who now works for Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower, said Earle was doing a Manges-Mattox oriented investigation, and the DA confirmed he was searching periphery records, although he was only looking into the Mattox allegation.

Ethics Duck

Last week the House Ethics Committee not only decided not to look into Speaker Lewis' failure to report more than 100 sources of income on his 1981 financial disclosure statement, but the committee chairman praised the Speaker for pleading "no contest" and paying an $800 fine.

The panel's decision ends any inquiry which might be made in the House of Representatives. Whether some other governmental body takes up the investigation remains to be seen, but most observers feel the case is closed, at least until next election.

Governor Faulted

The fact that so many Democrats are under the press' magnifying glass has Texas Republicans quietly jumping up and down with glee. Some, however, are not so quiet as to refrain from pointing out ambiguities in Gov. Mark White's '81 campaign reporting.

Just after Christmas, White reported making a $500,000 personal loan to his campaign, but failed to report personally borrowing a like amount from a bank where two board members were law partners with his campaign treasurer.

Two weeks later, White's campaign repaid the candidate and he repaid a like amount to the bank.

Those loans, Republicans say, are similar to Mattox's loans for which he is being investigated.

Strict Interpretation?

The widespread practice of such campaign transactions has sparked controversy over how the campaign reporting law, which was written in early 1981, should be enforced.

White's Secretary of State John Fainter asserts that a candidate is not required to reveal the bank loan, if there were no guarantors or intermediaries other than the candidate.

In contrast, Land Commissioner Mauro, whose reports list the banks and co-guarantors of his campaign loans, believes it was the intent of the Legislature to make candidates say where the money was coming from, whether directly or indirectly.

Democratic candidates weren't the only ones to be caught in the confusion. Former Houston Sen. Mike Richards, who lost running for comptroller, also did not report Houston banks as the sources of about $200,000 he loaned his campaign.

Teacher Pay Session

The timetable laid out by the Select Committee on Public Education indicates the Legislature may not get to vote on its recommendations until November or later.

That means that lawmakers will be put in the position of having to vote in November or December session for a tax hike to pay higher teacher salaries, and then face the primary election heat a few short months thereafter.

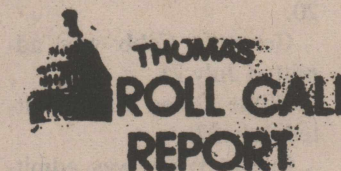

The vote could spell doom for some lawmakers careers, and the bets are on that White may just decide to let the issue wait until the next regular session.

Coordinating Board

The governor last week named a former Clear Lake City legislator, Bill Caraway, to the state College and University System Coordinating Board.

Caraway, a leader of the moderate faction in the House until 1980, will serve until 1987 on the board that regulates college construction and curriculum.

Caraway and his wife, Kippy, were given much credit for the political organizing in Harris County, which the governor carried in the general election.

Your Congressman's Votes Reported Each Week

WASHINGTON -- Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes July 8-10.

HOUSE

PUBLIC WORKS The House passed, 306 for and 113 against, a bill to spend $1.5 billion over three years on public works projects carried out by communities hard-hit by the recession, and on loans to small businesses. About 60 percent of the nation's counties would get a share of the money.

Members voting yes supported the bill.

Voting yes: Jack Hightower, D-13, Kika de la Garza, D-15.

Voting no: Charles Stenholm, E-17 and Kent Hance, D-19.

HOUSING By a vote of 263 for and 158 against, the House passed a bill (HR 1) that authorizes $15.6 billion in fiscal 1984 for federal housing and community development programs.

Members voting yes supported the $15.6 billion housing bill.

Voting yes: Hightower and De la Garza.

Voting no: Stenholm and Hance.

RENT CONTROL The House rejected, 205 for and 217 against, an attempt to deny federal aid for multi-family housing to communities that have rent-control ordinances. The vote occurred during debate on HR 1 (see preceding issue).

Members voting yes were opposed to municipal rent control laws.

Voting yes: Hightower, Stenholm and Hance.

Voting no: De la Garza.

SENATE

NERVE GAS The Senate approved, 50 for and 49 against, a $130 million outlay to enable the U.S. to resume production of nerve gas weaponry after a 14-year moratorium.

Senators voting yes wanted the U.S. arsenal to once again include nerve gas.

Lloyd Bentsen, D, voted yes. John Tower, R, voted yes.

SECURITY By a vote of 44

for and 53 against, the Senate failed to table (kill) an amendment prohibiting the military from using private firms for firefighting and security services at U.S. bases.

Senators voting yes wanted bases to be able to contract privately for firefighting and security services.

Bentsen voted no. Tower voted yes.

B-1 By a vote of 68 for and 30 against, the Senate tabled (killed) an amendment to delete from the 1984 defense authorization bill $6.2 billion for the first purchases of the F-1 bomber.

Senators voting no wanted to kill the B-1 bomber project.

Bentsen voted yes. Tower voted yes.

WASHINGTON--Here is how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes July 14-20.

CRANE--By a vote of 289 for and 136 against, the House imposed a harsher penalty on Rep. Daniel Crane, R-Ill., than had been sought by the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct.

Members voting yes wanted a more severe penalty for Crane.

Voting yes: Jack Hightower, D-13, Charles Stenholm D-17, Kika De la Garza, D-15, Kent Hance, D-19.

STUDDS--The House duplicated its action against Crane and voted, 338 for and 87 against, to censure rather than merely reprimand Rep. Gerry Studds, K-Mass., for having had sex with a 17-year-old page in 1973.

Members voting yes wanted a harsher penalty for Studs.

Voting yes: Hightower, De la Garza, Stenholm, Hance.

MX MISSILE--By a vote of 207 for and 220 against, the House refused to delete $2.5 billion the Pentagon wants for purchasing the first 27 MX missiles.

Members voting no supported buying the MX missiles.

Voting no: Hightower, De la Garza, Stenholm, Hance. SENATE

DEFENSE--The Senate voted 60 for and 34 against to table (kill) an amendment dealing with priorities in the defense budget.

Senators voting no were mostly MX missile opponents who wanted to transfer MX money to conventional weaponry.

Lloyd Bentsen, D, voted yes. John Tower, R, voted yes.

DRAFT--By a vote of 71 for and 23 against, the Senate tabled (killed) an attempt to repeal the new law linking federal education aid to registration for the military draft.

Senators voting no wanted to repeal the Solomon Amendment.

Bentsen voted yes. Tower voted yes.

Major Changes in Fair Art Show

The 1983 Art Show will remain one of the major sections of the Collingsworth County Fair, to be held Friday and Saturday, Sept. 9 and 10.

Show chairman is Katy Davis, with Nancy McKinney as her assistant. The show will be in Bura Handley Community Center.

Several major rule changes have been made:

-All entries must be made from people currently living in Collingsworth County. Out of county residents are invited to display their work, however their entries will not be judged nor will they receive ribbons.

-All art exhibited is for display only. Anyone wishing to sell art must have a booth at the Country Store.

Other rules are: Paintings may not be entered if they have been entered in any past Fair Art Show. All divisions must be placed Thursday, Sept. 8, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. and remain until Saturday, Sept. 10 at 12 noon.

-First, 2nd and 3rd place ribbons will be awarded in each class and grand and reserve champion rosettes will be given in each division.

No framed picture will be accepted if it does not have a wire to hang it by.

ADULT DIVISION
Class I: oil or acrylics on canvas or wood.

Class II: Acrylics, pastels or water colors.

Class III: Charcoal or pen and ink on paper.

Class IV: Tole painting.
Class V: Photography.

JUNIOR DIVISION
Participants in the junior division must be enrolled in Junior High or High School.

Entries must be placed Thursday, Sept. 8 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. and remain until Saturday at noon.

First, 2nd and 3rd place ribbons will be awarded in each class; a grand champion and reserve champion rosettes will be awarded.

Classes are the same as in the adult division except there is not a photography division.

ELEMENTARY DIVISION

All entries in the Elementary Division must be enrolled in elementary school.

First, second and third place ribbons will be awarded by grade and one grand champion and one reserve champion rosette will be awarded in this division.

Classes are:
Class I: oils, acrylics on canvas or wood; Class II: water colors or crayons on paper; Class III: Charcoal pencil or pen and ink on paper; and Class IV: tole painting.

There will be an open class in the student division with rules the same as for the adult division.

Obituaries

S.A. Combs Dies July 19 In California

Samuel A. Combs, 61, of La Mesa, California, who was born and reared in Wellington, died unexpectedly Tuesday, July 19, at his home in La Mesa.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W.O. Combs, he was a graduate of Wellington High School and held his master's degree in electrical engineering from Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

He was born August 31, 1921 in Wellington.

He was a veteran of World War II, serving 4 years with the U.S. Navy.

He was a senior engineer for 17 years with General Dynamics in San Diego, California, and was one of the engineers to pioneer the space program.

In recent years, he had managed an apartment complex in La Mesa.

While attending Wellington High School, he worked as an apprentice for The Wellington Leader.

He is survived by a son, Michael Combs, and a daughter, Renetta Fite, both of La Mesa, Calif.; a grandson, Travis, also of La Mesa; and one sister, Mrs. Odell Holley of Farwell.

A brother, Herschel Combs, publisher of the Memphis Democrat, preceded him in death.

While attending Wellington High School, he worked as an apprentice for The Wellington Leader.

Pat Hastings, Antique Dealer, Dies July 21

J.C. (Pat) Hastings, 75, of Idalou, died Thursday, July 21, in Lubbock Methodist Hospital after a long illness. He was the son-in-law of Doc Turner and the late Mildred Turner.

Services were held at 2 p.m., Saturday in 1st Baptist Church, Idalou, with the Rev. Larry R. Hurd, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Idalou Cemetery with Masonic Rites.

He was an antique dealer in Idalou many years before retiring.

Born in Red River County, he moved to Memphis in 1947, then to Ralls in 1953 and Idalou in 1957.

He was a member of 1st Baptist Church, Idalou, the Masonic Lodge, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Coin Society and the American Association of Coin Dealers.

He served in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Mr. Hastings was married to Billie Jean Turner of Wellington in 1947.

Survivors are his wife; a son, Patrick Hastings of Idalou and a brother, Coy Hastings of Baywella.

Pall bearers were Earl Yarbrough, H.M. Reed, Randy Pruitt, Harly O'Neal, Mike Guess and Don Driscoll.

Mr. Hastings had visited here many times and relatives attending the funeral were Doc Turner, Patti Wolf, Mr. and Mrs.

Christine Stotts, Former Area Woman, Dies

A former Wellington woman, Mrs. Christine M. Stotts, 69, of Amarillo, died unexpectedly Thursday, July 21.

She was a sister of Mrs. Bob Hightower.

Born June 19, 1914 in Childress County, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. E.M. McQueen. She grew up and received her education at Wellington and Memphis.

She married Benjamin (Dick) Stotts Sept. 22, 1948, in Las Vegas, Nev. and had lived in Amarillo all of her married life.

She was a member of 1st Baptist Church, Amarillo.

Services were conducted Saturday 2 p.m. at Boxwell Brothers Ivy Chapel with the Rev. Richard Higley, a Baptist minister, officiating. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery, Memphis.

Survivors are her husband; a step-son, Richard Stotts, of Wichita Falls; two sisters, Mrs. Hightower and Mrs. Gertrude Youree of Amarillo; two brothers, C.L. McQueen of Lubbock and Paul McQueen of Pinole, Calif.; and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Cordia Levi of Memphis.

Jack Clifton Graveside Rites To Be Thursday

Graveside services for J.L. (Jack) Clifton, 75, of Dumas will be conducted at Quail Cemetery Thursday, July 28 at 3 p.m.

Mr. Clifton was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Walter Needham and lived in the county as a young man.

He died at 3:30 a.m. Tuesday, July 26, in the Dumas hospital.

Services in Dumas will be Thursday at 10 a.m. at

Enrichment Work Offered Children

Enrichment classes to be offered on Saturdays by two Wellington teachers are scheduled with the first session slated for August 27-October 8, according to Mrs. Beverly Hudson, one of those offering the classes. Associated with her is Mrs. Gail Hankins.

Dates will be: Aug. 27, Sept. 3, Sept. 17, Sept. 24, Oct. 1 and Oct. 8. There will be no classes Sept. 10 due to the Fair.

Children participating will be in elementary and junior high schools and classes will be in one of the buildings. This does not overlap the things offered by Scouts, 4-H and other groups it was pointed out.

Some of the classes planned are math, creative writing, choir, computer, art, sign language, Spanish and the history of Collingsworth County.

Mrs. Hankins and Mrs. Hudson hope to offer a second session.

Dr. Grout Authors Tex on Computers

A professor of computer science who was born in Wellington and lived here as a child is the author of a new textbook in his field.

He is Dr. Jarrell C. Grout, professor of computer science at Stephen F. Austin State University, whose 384 page book is Fundamental Computer Programming Using Fortran 77.

The text is available for university classroom use now. Dr. Grout joined the SFA faculty in 1972. He said the textbook was three years in the preparation, although he had been putting together notes on the subject for many years.

"Within a year after joining SFA, I came to believe I could write a textbook that would help the student," Grout noted. "The particular need was for a text the students could understand. There are a number of texts out now that are difficult to understand. I hope and I believe that this one is easier to understand."

"The fundamentals of computer programming don't change as rapidly as the technological changes in computers, but they do change," he said.

Grout is the son of Mrs. Luthera Craven Grout of Amarillo and of Selby Grout of Nacogdoches, who was better known here as Buster Barker when he was a youth and young man.

Dr. Grout obtained his bachelors degree in 1963 at West Texas State University, his master's in 1970 from Texas A&M University and his doctor's from Texas A&M in 1971.

Samnorwood Future Farmer Likes Ranch Work the Best

BY ELAINE UNDERWOOD
THE SAN ANTONIO LIGHT

For 16 year old LeEd Oswalt, a trip to the city is fun, but he would just as soon spend his days on the wide open spaces of his step father's Panhandle ranch.

In his love for rural living, Oswalt is typical of 5,500 Future Farmers of America gathered here for their state convention.

During a break in the convention activities, Oswalt talked about his life on the farm.

A tall, blond young man with freckles, Oswalt is reserved when talking about himself, but grows animated when talking about the farming activities he enjoys.

He is a high school junior at Samnorwood, a farming community 100 miles east of Amarillo. The one building school has 123 students enrolled throughout 12 grades.

And there usually are more chores to be done than television to watch when the school day ends.

"When you come home from school, you change into some work clothes and do whatever you have to do," Oswalt explains.

The work ranges from hoeing cotton, "My worst chore," he said, to "doing stuff with cattle," which interests Oswalt the most.

Besides the San Antonio conference, Oswalt attended last year's FFA convention in Fort Worth.

He and other FFA members prove their ability as future farmers by carrying out a long-range agriculture projects.

Oswalt has been raising cattle for his project this year on his step father's ranch and it is Oswalt's responsibility to care for them and sell them at a profit - just like any rancher.

Oswalt admits that his step father can supply the grazing land and equipment needed for raising his cattle, but "I am on an exchange labor plan," he said, "I plow, build fences and do windmill work in exchange for the supplies."

As long as he sells his cattle with at least a profit of $333.33 a head, an FFA program requirements, Oswalt will get the Lone Star Farmer Degree. This is the highest level of recognition by the FFA.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY AGENT REPORT

by DON REEVES

STANDARDIZING ON YOUR INSECTICIDE ONE MAY BE ALL YOU NEED

Choosing an insecticide should be a decision many gardeners need make only once! Good control of garden pests can be best obtained by using one of the several all-purpose insecticides available at your garden center. Such spray formulations are designed to kill a broad spectrum of insects. Those ideally suited for use by home gardeners are labeled for use on most vegetables, fruit crops and ornamentals around the home. Once you become familiar with a product and it does the job, it makes sense to standardize. Become familiar with your product and stick with it.

What to look for in an insecticide formulation. Broad spectrum action is particularly important because there are many classifications of insects. Some literally suck the juices out of the plant. Some eat the leaves. Some bore into the stem. All pesticides available to the homeowner have been registered by the Environmental Protection Agency when used according to label directions. By paying particular attention to these instructions you will obtain more efficient insect and disease control.

Seek Applicants For Job Director

More applicants are needed for the job of director of the employment clearing house sought for the county by Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce.

This is a project carried out in conjunction with the Green Thumb Program for low income older Americans. Applicants for the director's job will need to qualify for the Green Thumb program as to income and age--55 years and over and other qualifications.

When a director is hired an office will be set up in the Chamber of Commerce office to operate half-days 5 days a week. The salary will be $3.35 per hour, the minimum wage, said Tommy Hudson, CC president.

The job of the director is to screen job applicants of all ages and to take applications and information from those seeking work. "The aim is to get together the people with jobs to offer and those hunting work," said Hudson.

HONORED

Holding plaques they received for a total of 267 years of service to their church are Mr. and Mrs. L.E. Tingle, standing; and at front, Mrs. Dovie Martin, Mrs. Iva Escoe and Mrs. Ruby Sanders.

Five members of 1st Assembly of God were honored Thursday evening for a total of 267 years of "great service" they have given their church.

Headed by their pastor the Rev. Boyd, and with the Rev. J.W. Farmer, district superintendent of the West Texas District, as speaker, members of the church hosted a dinner for the five. Plaques were presented as a visible sign of their devotion.

The five are Mr. and Mrs. L.E. Tingle, members of the Assembly of God for 55 years each, Mrs. Ruby Sanders with 53 years of service; Mrs. Iva Escoe, also a member 53 years; and Mrs. Dovie Martin who became a member of the church 51 years ago.

For most of these, the ceremony was a surprise. Tingle heard rumors of a happening at the church and thought it might have something to do with his birthday, which he celebrated that week.

Besides his 55 years membership in the church, he served on the official board 42 years and in June of this year requested that he not be returned to the board and that someone else be named.

Thereupon, he was made an Honorary Deacon for the rest of his life.

Mrs. Tingle has been involved in women's work and a Sunday School teacher. The others have served in many ways.

Tribute was paid to the five for their support and as being faithful in every area of the church.

As Rev. Boyd presented a plaque to each of these 5 members, he recounted briefly the area of their service.

Plans for this dinner were begun soon after the 29-year-old pastor and his wife arrived in Wellington a few weeks ago.

A poem written by Mary Tingle Musser of Canyon in tribute to her parents was read.

During the presentation it was recalled that when the present church building was being constructed, some of these members donated one days wages from pulling cotton to the building fund.

Rev. Farmer, who came from Lubbock for the occasion, spoke of the faith of these members, then continued on the theme that "We are All Borrowers. The things we have are on loan from God." He chose two of these to discuss, time and material possessions.

Most pay phones average about 18 calls a day.

Minister-Educator Honored in Calif.

The Rev. Dale Monroe Scott, minister-educator from Granddada Hills, Calif., and a 1943 graduate of Wellington High School, has been selected for inclusion in the 1983 Who's Who in California.

Scott is minister of visitation for Faith Evangelical Church, Chatsworth, Calif.

His career as a minister has covered a number of fields, while much of his work as an educator was with Baptist Day Schools in Southern California.

Born at Childress, the 57-year-old clergyman is the son of the late Ray and Eula Lee Hobbs Scott of Wellington.

According to his biographical material, Scott received the B.A. degree from Los Angeles Baptist College and M. Ed. degree from California Baptist Seminary.

He began his teaching career in La Puente Hudson School District in 1956, and was principal of Southern California Baptist Day School, Anaheim, Van Nuys Baptist Day School, and Receda Baptist Day School.

He was professor of Biblical Studies in Discipleship at Van Nuys Baptist College.

He was minister to special education of First Baptist Church, Van Nuys from 1964 to 1980.

He received the Geri Award in 1971 and was named Kiwanian of the Year

The president who served the shortest time in office was William Henry Harrison who only served one month in 1841.

at Van Nuys in 1974-75.

Scott holds membership in the Western Association of Christians for Psychological Studies, was a board member of Christian Jail Workers, Inc., a member of Hospital Chaplains ministry of America, Inc., having been chaplain of 14 convalescent hospitals.

He served as president of the Baptist Christian Day School of Southern California and member of Administrators of Christian Schools, Inc.

Scott was married to Betty Lous Schierling August 10, 1951, and they have two sons, Kenneth and Ronald. His World War II service was with the Navy in the South Pacific.
