Abolishing Need For Relief Administration's Goal--FDR

Buying Power Of Third Of U. S. Must Be Hiked

President Says New Deal Laws May Be Amended In An Effort To Achieve Objective

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 1. — The administration is searching, President Roosevelt announced today, for new ways to raise the buying power of one-third of the population at the bottom of the economic ladder.

Mr. Roosevelt also told reporters that progress was being made toward the ultimate objective—getting rid of relief and balancing the budget. He may make a radio speech this summer discussing these topics in more detail.

May Amend Laws

New Deal laws may be amended in an effort to increase buying power and abolish the need for relief, he indicated. He mentioned possible increases in certain Social Security benefits. The pending bill to establish wage and hour standards also is closely related to the program to boost purchasing power, he indicated.

The chief executive said that researchers by his aides had disclosed rather appalling figures; that his previous statements about one-third of the population being ill-housed, ill-fed and illclothed had been absolutely substantiated and that business men ought to do something to help increase the buying power of this class.

Says Country Wants Vote

The president entered into his long discussion of this subject after expressing the hope the senate would vote soon on his court reorganization bill. He said the country wanted a vote without a filibuster and the sooner it came the better.

Pressed for details about possible amendments to existing laws, he said it might be found necessary to increase the $10-a-month allowance for dependent children under the Social Security act.

At another point in his remarks he asserted that federal, state, and local relief rolls had decreased from 5,100,000 in the last year or so to 3,700,000, including unemployables.

Economy Bloc Is Even On Relief

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 15. — The senate's hard-fighting economy bloc won one skirmish and lost another over the administration's $1,500,000,000 relief bill today.

It forced through an amendment forbidding expenditure of relief money for any purpose except "relief or work relief for persons in need" and limiting administrative costs to 5 per cent.

Proposal Is Rejected

A few minutes earlier, however, the senate rejected, 53 to 25, a proposal to return to the treasury all money remaining unspent from previous relief appropriations.

Senator Adams (D-Colo), leader of the economy forces, told his colleagues the appropriation committee had "considerable difficulty" in finding out how large balances might be, but that estimates ranged from $23,000,000 to $223,000,000.

Consideration Postponed

The senate postponed until tomorrow consideration of a hotly-disputed proposal by Senator Byrnes (D-SC), to require states and cities to put up 40 per cent of the cost of local Works Progress administration projects.

Amelia Is More Than Half Way Around Globe On Her Equatorial Fun Flight

KARACHI, India, June 15. (AP) — Amelia Earhart stepped out of her flying laboratory and onto a fourth continent tonight in her "just for fun" flight around the middle of the world. She left Miami, Fla., June 1.

The blonde flyer landed here at 7:05 p. m. (9:05 a. m. e. s. t.) after a 1,400-mile hop from Fromassab, Eritrea, across the Red Sea, the wide Arabian desert, and a part of the Arabian sea.

Miss Earhart made tentative plans to take off again Thursday, depending on the weather. Her itinerary calls for stops at Darwin, Australia, then across the Pacific ocean along the island route of Pan-American Airways.

Bank Night To Be Suspended Here

Bank night will not be held by Lubbock theaters this week according to a statement last night by Arlie Crites, newly selected manager of Lindsey Theaters, Inc., who succeeded the late Hal B. Grady.

The theaters here which have been participating in the weekly feature have suspended it at least temporarily, Crites said.

In a statement prepared for the Lubbock Morning Avalanche, he said, "In view of the recent developments relative to the staging of Bank Nights throughout the state, the five local theaters that have been participating each week have decided to postpone temporarily the regular Bank Night which has been held at the Palace theater in connection with the Lindsey, Texan, Broadway and Lyric theaters. The decision was reached after consideration of the recent opinion handed down by the Court of Criminal Appeals, and the regular Thursday Bank Night will not be held this week.

Crites said, however, he might have later announcement regarding the feature, pending other possible hearings by state courts soon.

He was of the opinion there might be other hearings by higher courts relative to whether the bank night drawings constitute lotteries.

Blum Is Victor In Financial Crisis

PARIS, June 16 (Wednesday) (AP)—The chamber of deputies today approved a bill to give Socialist Premier Leon Blum emergency financial powers, after a split among Blum's own supporters had been healed. The vote was 346 to 247.

The premier did not specifically make passage of the bill a question of confidence in his government, but the measure's provisions automatically made the vote one of confidence.

Blum himself led the fight for the bill in the chamber's night-long session. It would give his government full power to meet its financial problems by decrees, until July 31.

Worst Night Shelling Of War Is Dumped On Spain's Capital

MADRID, June 16. (Wednesday), (AP)—Madrid trembled early today under the worst night shelling the capital has experienced in its seven-months siege.

Casualties were believed to be heavy, but estimates of dead and wounded were not immediately available.

The whole city was in an uproar, with insurgent shells exploding at the rate of 20 to 30 a minute and government artillery replying with almost as heavy fire.

The Gran Via, Madrid's Broadway, Alcala street and Cibeles square in the heart of the city and several suburbs suffered especially.

Wm. P. Connery Dies Tuesday

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 15.—William P. Connery, jr., 48-year-old chairman of the house labor committee and champion of much recent labor legislation, died unexpectedly today.

The Massachusetts Democrat had been ill only 22 hours at Homeopathic hospital when he succumbed at 5:15 p. m. (est) to what attending physicians described as "food poisoning."

Connery's wife and his brother Lawrence C. Connery of Lynn, Mass., were on their way by automobile to the capital when the congressman was administered last rites of the Catholic church.

Connery's death prevented him from even seeing the fulfillment of his life-long ambition — a federal law regulating maximum hours and minimum wages and outlawing child labor.

The joint senate-house labor committees are studying a bill introduced by Connery and Senator Black (D-Ala.) to achieve that objective.

A staunch believer in a 30-hour work week to relieve unemployment, Connery also had championed the Wagner Labor Relations act, fought for elimination of child labor, and requested congress to establish the Civilian Conservation Corps as a permanent agency for unemployed youth.

Littlefield Fails To Win County Seat Election

OLTON, June 15. (Special)—Littlefield lacked about 5 per cent or nearly 200 votes to receive the needed two thirds to obtain the Lamb county seat, according to unofficial returns of today's election, said County Clerk Stanley A. Doss.

However, all boxes in the county had been tabulated, with exception of Sodhouse whose poll tax list amounted to only 41. In the event the entire box went for any of the three towns involved, the returns of the election would not be altered, said County Clerk Doss.

According to tabulations of the county clerk's office, Littlefield's per cent amounted to slightly more than 61. A two-thirds majority was needed to effect a move of the county seat to that place. State laws require that that vote is necessary to remove the county seat to a site that is not within five miles of the center. Littlefield is not within this area.

Amherst needed only a majority of votes cast to obtain the county seat. However it was explained that the issue was between Olton and Littlefield. Residents of the county, as a general rule, who voted for Amherst simply voted against Littlefield, it was said.

Totals for the three towns with exception of the box at Sodhouse were: Olton 866, Littlefield 2010, and Amherst 405.

Towns which favored removal of the county seat to Littlefield were: Spade, Sunnydale, Fieldton, Little-

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 15 — That heart's desire of every woman, a formal church wedding, is a difficult and dangerous business for a movie star Jeanette MacDonald knows full well today.

She marries Gene Raymond, young actor, tomorrow night. She sent a frantic "SOS" to her studio today.

Legislators In Stormy Session Over Gambling

Gov. Allred Protests Move To Include Betting On Bridge In Measure; Solons Retort

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 15. — The legislature, warring against gambling in Texas, steered a hectic course through stormy seas today.

It received a message from Governor James V. Allred warning against dealing with minor forms of wagering, heard resulting furious criticism of the chief executive and, finally, witnessed the collapse of the acting speaker of the house.

Rep. Fred Mauritz of Ganado, presiding in the absence of Speaker Robert W. Calvert, collapsed while the house was considering a bill to outlaw betting on dog racing, but later was reported not to be in serious condition.

No Action Taken On Bill

Soon after he was carried from the rostrum, the house adjourned without taking action on the bill, an amendment to which prohibiting wagering of any kind and interpreted as including even betting on bridge games, had aroused the governor's protest.

Governor Allred said he wanted public, commercialized gambling outlawed and thought the government should not invade private homes to "deal with every trifling form of wagering." His further statement friends of legalizing gambling on horse and dog racing wanted to make the law "ridiculous" drew heavy fire in both house and senate.

"Insinuations" Resented

A motion to expunge his message from the record was made and withdrawn in the house while in the senate a resolution asserting that body resented his "insinuations" was sent to committee.

The house digressed from consideration of the message and the dog race betting bill to kill, 90 to 28, a resolution approved by the senate setting sine die adjournment of the special session for tomorrow.

Market Dealings Face Texas Acts

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 15.—The house criminal jurisprudence committee plans to hold a hearing tomorrow night on two bills to restrict market dealings in futures.

Although the proposals have aroused considerable interest, their chances for passage were dimmed by their controversial nature and the lateness in the session.

One of the bills was by Rep. W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi and the other by Rep. Leland M. Johnson of Waxahachie.

Would Outlaw Futures

The Pope bill would outlaw futures contracts except hedge contracts and define the latter. A person making a future contract would be subject to a fine of $100 to $500 and possibly a jail sentence of ten to thirty days.

Hedge contracts would be defined as meaning "that where any person has made a bona fide sale of any article for future delivery by him, he may purchase futures of such article on any regular board of trade or exchange to hedge against such sale and prevent loss by reason thereof to the amount of such bona fide sale, but no more."

Would Levy Taxes

The proposal would levy a tax of 20 cents a bushel on grain and 50 cents a bale on cotton involved in future contracts. Growers of the commodities or renters of the land on which they were grown would be exempt from the impost. Pope said he might seek to strike out the tax feature.

The Johnson bill would outlaw the sale of any commodity or stock unless the seller owned it at the time.

New Hope For Curing Of Hay Fever And Asthma Held Out By Albany, N. Y., Physician

BOSTON, June 15. (AP)—A widely-known Albany, N. Y., physician today held out hope of a cure to hay fever and asthma sufferers through coating the nasal passages with a copper solution.

Dr. J. Ivimey Dowling, reporting his treatment to the 93rd annual convention of the American Institute of Homeopathy, said his method consisted of introducing an electric current into the nostrils and ionizing them.

His treatment, he said, was a new technique and his report the first to be made to any medical group.

Garner was eager to discuss the rain and what he had seen since entering the Panhandle. "Fields are green, pastures good, and it rained on us nearly all day. To think we

Wheat Farmers, Plagued By '36 Drouth, Now Too Wet

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, June 15.—Southwestern wheat farmers have weather worries again. This time it is too much rain. Last year about mid-June the drouth was pitching camp at the farmers' doorstep, a situation which today gave southern Canada farmers concern and caused wheat prices to jump 4 to 5 cents a bushel.

Farmers fear black stem rust, already reported by the department of agriculture to be prevalent in many localities in eastern Kansas, western Missouri and southern Nebraska, will develop, if rains continue. Severity of infection varies in different localties. The rust spores eat their way through the wheat plant stalks, preventing the sap from reaching the heads and causing the grain to shrivel. Serious damage occurs when rust attacks plants while they are in what is known

Hopes Of Early Settlement Of Labor War Soar And Ebb As FDR Issues Statement

(By The Associated Press)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 15. — A citizen's army patrolled the streets of riot-torn Johnstown tonight, sworn to defend their city against disorder that has marked the 5-day-old steel strike in the Conemaugh valley.

Hopes of an early settlement in the bloody labor war soared and then ebbed as President Roosevelt, in a statement at the White House on the controversy, expressing a belief that the Republic Steel corporation should be willing to put a verbal collective bargaining contract into writing.

Should Put Name To It

Common sense, the president said, dictated that if a man were willing to make such an agreement verbally he should go further and put his name to it.

This—the crux of the whole situation, in what has been termed a "show down" battle between John L. Lewis' C. I. O. and independent steel companies — rubbed steel to quick retort.

"If America is to remain a free country," a Republic Steel company spokesman said, "the answer is 'no'."

"Would you yourself sign a contract with a man who clubs his neighbors over the head, kicks the postman out of your yard, throws bricks through your parlor window, and has already broken a contract with the man across the street?"

Statement Not Amplified

The reference to the "man across the street"—presumably some corporation with which C. I. O. has already signed contracts—was not amplified.

The statement was originally issued by Tom Girdler, head of Republic Steel, before President Roosevelt made his announcement.

A company spokesman, however, when informed of the president's verbal "intervention" said that "it still goes."

With tension in Johnstown rapidly heightening, Mayor Daniel J. Shields swore in 250 "vigilantes" and sent them out at nightfall to patrol the streets. He said he would have "500 deputies under arms" by tomorrow.

Citizens' Committee Threatens

A citizens committee, meanwhile, had threatened to "shoulder arms and drive the invaders out of town."

Gov. George H. Earle doubled the force of state troopers along the picket lines, but some residents of this "city of nerves" took their own precautions.

PRAYER VS BATHS

THOSE of us who have taken a sightseeing trip through the New York City slums and all over the Bowery will appreciate this little story. A New York preacher inquiring why true Bowery bums prefer life on the Bowery, insists that prayer and hymns for a meal and a bed on the floor rather than go to the municipal lodging house where he can get meals and beds without prayer and song was told that it is because at the latter place they insist on his taking a bath.

He jumped out of the pulpit and asked: "Where can you get down to rags enough to rather go to the mission of no bathing?"

There is only one answer to that rebuff. And it will be cried exultantly. Because it is a part of every true independence.

Gasoline Taxes Showing Gain

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 15.—Gasoline tax collections for the current fiscal year might exceed last year's income by some more than $4,500,000.

Comptroller George H. Sheppard said collections through May were $33,539,022 or $3,995,747 more than for the first nine months last year.

At a continuation of the present rate of increase, collections at the end of the fiscal period should be about $46,000,000, he said. Sheppard attributed the rising revenue to increased consumption and more efficient enforcement made possible by recent amendments to the gasoline tax law.

Senate Passes Resolution To Give Board Of Control Full Authority For Building

AUSTIN, June 15. (AP)—The senate adopted a resolution today giving the board of control authority to determine disposition of the state building on the exposition grounds at Dallas.

To make the resolution effective, action by the house of representatives was necessary.

In discussion it was said no one at present had control of the building which the state erected at a cost of $1,200,000 in connection with the Centennial celebration last year.

It was further asserted the City of Dallas had declined to lease and maintain the building in accordance with terms agreed upon between Centennial officials and the legislature.

The City of Dallas is under a moral obligation to maintain the building for 20 years, said Senator A. M. Aiken, jr., of Paris.

The sponsor of the resolution, T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, said that the building, if the resolution was finnaly approved, could be used only for state purposes.

He had suggested previously it might be utilized to provide offices for branches of the state government already located in Dallas.

American Newspapers Advised To Keep Up Freedom Fight

TULSA, Okla., June 15. (AP)—American newspapers were advised tonight by Oscar L. Chapman, assistant secretary of interior, to fight harder than ever for freedom of the press.

Speaking to the international convention of the Civitan club he said in a prepared address that newspaper freedom cannot be compared to the situation in Europe "where a free press does not exist."

Freedom of the press in America does not thank God concern itself with governmental interference, he said.

Leland M. Pryor of Pasadena, Calif., was elected international president unanimously. A convention city will be selected at the closing session tomorrow.

Crops Washed Out In Oklahoma Territory

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 15. (AP) Crops in an area of 16 square miles in Ellis county, near the Texas-Oklahoma border, were destroyed today by a hailstorm and a six-inch cloudburst.

P. G. Zigler, Fargo telephone manager, said Sixteen Mile creek and Twenty-Five-Mile creek were at the highest flood level in recent years. A number of farm homes in the area were surrounded by flood waters.

Three highway bridges between Belva and Quinlan, near the western border of Oklahoma, were washed out when two small creeks went on a rampage after a three-inch rain.

West creek tore away a steel span on state highway 15 and a smaller bridge over a country farm road. Another steel bridge on highway 15 was undermined and washed away by Dirty creek.

At Lamont, in Grant county, houses were unroofed and power lines knocked down in a gale which accompanied an estimated six-inch downpour. Police Chief K. A. Nesselrode estimated damage at $30,000.

Matters Of Much Levity Are Considered By State Solons

AUSTIN, June 15. (AP) — The two-cent deposit on bottles which a drug store back of the capitol exacts of legislators when they send pages for cold drinks led today to creation of a house committee to see if something could not be done about it.

Sponsors of the resolution providing for the committee said the house might install its own soft drink dispensary unless the store changed its policy.

One of the members suggested an agreement to eliminate the favored parking places for legislators around the capitol but authors of the resolution protested that it was not germane.

San Antonio Youth Is Crushed To Death, Caught By Trucks

SAN ANTONIO, June 15. (AP) — Caught between two trucks Joseph Schnuriger, 17, was crushed to death here today. Employed as a "runner," the youth was hanging from the side of a milk delivery truck when the accident occurred.

With a bottle of milk under his arm, Schnuriger swung from the side of the delivery car, and was caught between his truck and a parked truck.

Monday's Rains Are Damaging

Farmers of Lubbock county and the South Plains whose replanting of cotton and grain sorghums was interrupted by Monday night's storms, will begin the work over again as soon as they can get into sodden fields.

Checking up of possible damage was the order of the day yesterday. Many Lubbock men who own farm property over the territory were anxious to check on the probable damage done by the rain and hail. With telephone and telegraph wires down, the job was not an easy one

Hail Damage Scattered

Hail damage was scattered over a wide territory. Some reported heavy damage, crops being beaten down, while others said the damage was light. Reports from both southeast and southwest of Lubbock indicated hail fell for a distance of several miles out, inflicting heavy losses to crops.

Replanting of cotton has assumed a more serious aspect. Seed was reported scarce, owing to the recent heavy replanting work taking up nearly all the available surplus of seed. Many farmers indicated they might have to cut down their expected acreage of cotton, if they could not get seed immediately.

Some Not To Replant

In several instances, especially among large cotton farmers, the reduction is assured as they do not feel up to the task of putting out another crop. One man was reported as having said he had paid $300 for seed last week and if it was rained or hailed out, he would not replant much of his acreage.

It will take several days more before an accurate check of replanting is possible. Rainfall was so varied that it was not very clear just what areas would have to be worked over.

Replanting A Gamble

Cotton farmers explained that the cotton planted early last week or late the week before, in all probability was high enough to not be covered unless a gully-washer on the ridges poured soil into the rows, covering seed. Cotton that was just peeping through, on the other hand, will in all probability have to be replanted.

Replanting of cotton unless it can be done within a few days or a week may be more or less of a gamble on the weather. Most cotton planted takes 125 to 135 to 140 days for the plant to mature. Normal killing frost date is November 2, so that unless the frost is later than normal only a small acreage of cotton remains.

There have been instances of cotton planted late in June or by July 5 making a normal crop. These conditions were predicated on a later frost, it was said by experts.

Amarillo Man Is Sentenced To Five Years In Robbery Case

BOSTON, June 15. (AP) — W. A. Jennings, 27, of Amarillo, was found guilty of robbery by firearms in 102nd district court today and was given a five-year prison sentence.

His co-defendant, M. C. Ferris, 27, of Dallas, furnished $5,000 bond after indictment and failed to appear for trial.

They were accused of the robbery of Mrs. Bud Luttrell of DeKalb, Tex., Feb. 22 when $240 was taken. The two suspects were arrested in Fort Worth.

"Free State Of Van Zandt" Now Has New Debt-Free $210,000 Courthouse Building

(By The Associated Press)

CANTON, June 15. — Van Zandt county, an 831 square mile strip of East Texas which always had a yen for independence and became "The Free State of Van Zandt" years ago, has a debt-free $210,000 new courthouse far-sighted citizens planned in 1886.

The new courthouse, formally opened Thursday, was made possible by a fund the county started when it dedicated a new courthouse in 1886. The fund was fed by a special tax. Slowly it grew. Then in 1929, oil, the stuff that has poured wealth into much of East Texas, was discovered in the "Free State." Tax values soared. The red brick courthouse dedicated in 1886 was showing signs of wear and wage. The new courthouse fund grew rapidly, reached the $125,000 mark.

In 1935 the county decided to build the new courthouse. The fund plus a government grant of $86,000 enabled the county to pay cash for every stone, and Van Zandt dedicated a debt-free courthouse.

Social Security Board Is To Open Branch Office Here

The federal Social Security board is to establish a branch in Lubbock some time after July 1, it was learned yesterday.

Twenty-seven counties are to be in the district. Whether there will be much difference between the county setup of the new WPA and the Social Security board is not known.

Postmaster Amos Howard has been advised to get his present program of numbering of cards completed by June 30. He has 24 counties with WPA workers who are to be issued cards.

No intimation has come as to location of the office and it is not known whether it will be in the federal building. No information as to the number of clerks and employes to be used, is available.

Zeps' Stormy History Dates Back 37 Years

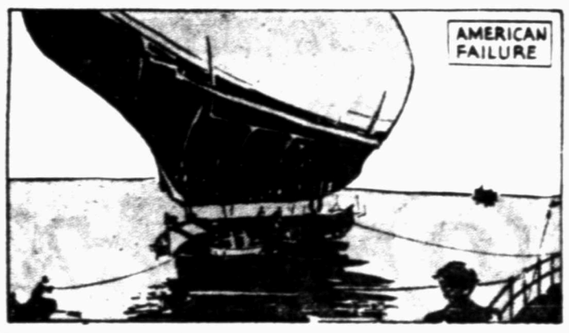

Airship navigation, now shaken after its greatest triumphs by the loss of the Hindenburg, began at the turn of the century when a German cavalry officer, Count Ferdinand von Zeppelin, made the first flight in a rigid dirigible.

Lake Constance on the German-Swiss border of Wurttemberg was thronged with sightseers on July 2, 1900, as the 62-year-old inventor took the big bag, called zeppelin after him, up 1,300 feet. He soared for 20 minutes at eight miles an hour.

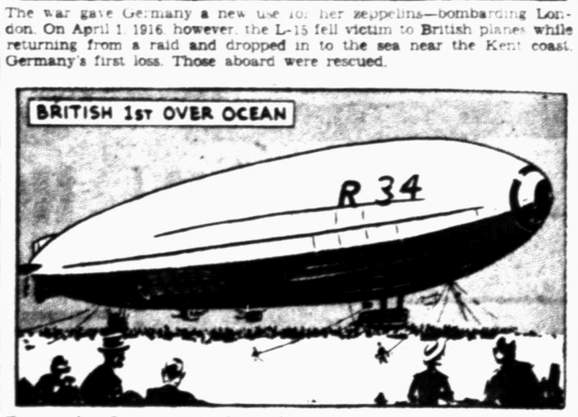

Eight years later Zeppelin's largest dirigible burned up after a gale tore it from its moorings. But the German government, impressed by Zeppelin's great progress, bought another for the army. The kaiser saw it demonstrated in November, 1908.

By October, 1910, an American, Walter Wellman, was ready to try the Atlantic in "America," a dirigible that had been built in Paris. Four hours out of Atlantic City, engine trouble forced it down at sea but the crew was saved.

The war gave Germany a new use for her zeppelins—bombarding London. On April 1, 1916, however, the L-15 fell victim to British planes while returning from a raid and dropped in to the sea near the Kent coast. Germany's first loss. Those aboard were rescued.

Forerunning Germany's Graf zeppelin and Hindenburg, the British army was the first to fly the Atlantic when its R-34 made a round-trip to New York in July, 1919. Records were established both ways, according to "The World in the Air," a history of these events.

Hospital Brief Approved Here

Chamber of commerce workers will put the finishing touches today on the opening phase of Lubbock's fight for the West Texas state hospital for mental patients for which the legislature recently made an appropriation of $817,000.

Then, after having worked Sunday and into the night on weekdays, the chamber personnel will get ready for round two of the battle with the knowledge that the decision—win or lose, waits at the end.

The referee in the case will be th state board of control, with an undetermined number of West Texas towns and cities the antagonists in a struggle for one of the most important institutions ever to be established in this section of the state. Just how many contenders will file applications with the board of control will remain uncertain until the June 20 deadline passes. There is no probability, chamber of commerce officials feel sure, that the number will be fewer than 10 and it is more likely to be closer to 20, or even more.

The immediate task to which the chamber board of directors gave its formal approval at special meeting, Tuesday, is the completion of what is termed the "application" to the board to consider Lubbock as a site for the hospital. That application will be a voluminous compilation designed to present all the advantages to be found here for such a hospital.

Tuesday's Session Brief

Tuesday's session of the chamber board was brief in spite of the importance of the business it transacted. That business consisted of no more than a single motion adopted unanimously which approved and commended the work of the chamber's hospital committee of which C. E. Maedgen is chairman. Options on several tracts of land to be offered to the state board as a site for the hospital were approved along with other actions by the committee.

Just when the formal application will be presented to the control board was uncertain today although it probably will not be until late this week.

Preparations then will begin for the public hearings which the control board has announced for various cities presenting applications. When those will be held likewise is uncertain, although board officials announced that they will be speeded so that construction of the urgently needed state hospital can start without delay.

Evidence Is Taken In Civil Hearings

Taking of evidence in the consolidated civil action of Laverne Garrison against J. A. Hodges and others and J. C. Roberts and others was completed Tuesday afternoon in 99th district court and Judge E. L. Pitts ordered the jury to be back at 10 o'clock this morning for the judge's charge.

Three other actions had been set subject to the case.

A jury will return Friday to consider the case of John W. Jackson against Walker Smith Grocery company, suit on alleged contract.

Beans Cause Of Suit

In pleadings, Jackson, of Mountainaire, N. M., set out he had been asked by the Lubbock grocery concern to deliver to it 910 sacks of pinto beans at a cost of $6.30 a hundred pounds less 40 cents a 100 pounds for freight. He further alleged the beans were to delivered by plaintiff to a trucker who was to haul them to Lubbock and that one load subsequent to alleged contract was delivered to defendant and a draft for it duly paid.

It was set out that the next load was not delievered to defendant, although assertedly given into the trucker's custody by plaintiff. Neither party to the action apparently knows where the beans went.

In the meantime, plaintiff says he has 140 sacks of beans yet contracted for. The case probably will hinge on agency, is belief of court attaches.

Agreed judgment in the case of H. T. Kimbro against Southland Life Insurance company was entered Tuesday by Judge Blair after hearing in chambers. The insurance company was allowed to recover title and possession of the east half of section 27, block D-T, Lubbock county. Involved was execution of two $2,800 notes executed by Kimbro and J. F. Perry to Temple Trust company. The insurance company acquired the notes later it was set out.

George Seay of Dallas and Jim Adlam, of the law firm of Crenshaw and Dupree, represented defendant. Robert A. Sowder the plaintiff.

Motion Is Filed

Motion for non obstante veredicto was filed by Sowder in behalf of plaintiffs in the action of Mrs. Mollie D. Abernathy against C. F. Renfro, trespass to try title issue. In effect, the motion sought would disregard findings of the jury in the case, tried last week when the jury answered several special issues for the defendants. Arguments were presented before Judge Blair in chambers by George W. Dupree, counsel for defendants, and Sowder.

Committee Votes To Open Tax Dodging Probe Thursday

Senator Key Pittman To Try To Rival Vice President In Catches; Takes His Post

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 15.—When Vice President Garner "adjourned" for a bit of fishing in Texas streams he left his job here to a slender, dignified man in white linen who hopes to rival Garner's catch.

KEY PITTMAN

Senator Key Pittman (D-Nev), officiating as president of the senate in Garner's absence, will try for blue fish and croakers on week ends at the secluded Jefferson Islands club not far from the capital.

Pittman sat cross-legged on the rostrum today, thoughtfully turning a pair of horn-rimmed glasses between thumb and forefinger during debate, meditating on how much help Majority Leader Robinson would be with rod and reel.

Robinson Club's President

Robinson is president of the club and is expected to be Pittman's first fishing partner this season. Pittman is chairman of the club's board. President Roosevelt and Speaker Bankhead, also members, may lend a hand toward the piscatorial undoing of Garner.

Founded by "friends of the president," the club is a summer retreat for Democratic leaders, situated on an uninhabited 20-acre island about four miles from the eastern shore of Chesapeake bay. It is one and one-half hours' sailing time from Annapolis.

Pittman "Dead Eye" Shot

Pittman is the "dead eye" shot of the group when the skeet traps are raised. He is an expert with both pistol and rifle.

The acting president of the senate, a native of Vicksburg, Miss., retains at 64 years the rugged constitution he developed as a gold miner in the Klondike and later as a pioneer in the silver mines at Tonopah, Nev. He is said to have been the first lawyer to hang out a shingle at home.

He has been in the senate since 1913, the only public office he ever sought, and four times has been the Democratic caucus choice for president pro tempore. He is chairman of the foreign relations committee, and steers its work with meticulous, soft-voiced diplomacy.

Pittman said today he learned in his first campaign how to get things done without making a noise about it. He visited Searchlight, Nev., to deliver a speech, accompanied by Harley Harmon, now public service commissioner of Nevada, who was to introduce him.

Harmon became so engrossed in his own speech that he forgot to present the candidate.

"They thought it was me," Pittman chuckled, "and I got elected, anyway."

Tech Short Course Speaker Is Heard By Lions Club Members

Problems of cleaners and dyers in removing stains from fabrics they have brought to them for cleaning and pressing were discussed by C. C. Hubbard, Silver Spring, Md., before the Lions club yesterday noon at the Hilton hotel. Hubbard is one of the speakers on the 3-day short course for dyers and cleaners, sponsored by Texas Technological college.

A score of visitors at the short course were guests of the club. M. F. Heard was program chairman for the day. He introduced the visitors. A. I. Glassman, a former member, came back into the club.

In his talk, Hubbard pointed out the cleaning and dyeing industry was a two-billion dollar business annually and that it is one of the leading industries of the nation. "Americans spend that much money each year in the care of garments and household materials," he said.

He praised the Texas Technological college for its service to cleaners of this area and said Lubbock schools were the equal of any in the country.

Panhandle-Plains Singers Will Meet In Brownfield Saturday

BROWNFIELD, June 15 (Special)—Two-day session of the Panhandle-Plains Singers convention will begin Saturday in the recently completed Cornelius auditorium.

Convention officials originally had planned to hold the session in the Texas Warehouse and Compress company sheds. They expect attendance of approximately 10,000 persons.

An amplifying system will be installed for convenience of persons who prefer to remain outside or who cannot be accomodated in the auditorium.

Meetings To Be Open Affairs

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 15. — A congressional investigating committee decided today to open an inquiry into tax dodging Thursday and agreed that any names of alleged tax evaders presented by the treasury would be for "the public record."

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house ways and means committee was named chairman of the committee of six representatives and six senators.

All Meetings To Be Open

He and Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) of the senate finance committee said the joint committee members agreed unanimously that all meetings where testimony was presented should be open.

They said anyone whose name was brought into the inquiry would be given a chance to appear before the committee.

Secretary Morgenthau probably will be the first witness Thursday and they said he had been notified he might offer to the committee any evidence he wanted to—without restrictions.

Settlements Offered

Harrison said that since the president urged congress to take action against tax dodgers and to plug up loopholes in the revenue laws, he had seen a number of offers of tax settlements, including one check for $284,000.

Asked whether he thought the president's message had had the effect of stimulating tax payments, Harrison replied:

"I certainly do."

Wool Consumption Rate During April Highest Since 1923

BOSTON, June 15. (AP) — The National Association of Wool Manufacturers today announced the amount of apparel wools used by woolen and worsted mills weekly during April "was easily the highest consumption rate of any April since 1923."

The association described the amount approximately 40 per cent above what might be considered normal judged by the experience of the past ten years.

"Some resources were exhausted," the association declared in the announcement, "and domestic manufactures had to turn to foreign markets to obtain apparel wools as well as carpet wool."

Consumption of apparel-class wool through April, 1937, was running 18 per cent ahead of 1936 and 15 per cent ahead of 1935, the year that saw the greatest apparel-class consumption since 1923, the announcement declared.

In the first four months of 1937, foreign wool accounted for 43 per cent of the total amount consumed, the report said, as compared with 27 per cent in 1936 and eight per cent in 1935.

Atlanta Police Official Defies Demands For Enforcement Of Georgia's Bone Dry Law

AUGUSTA, Ga., June 15. (AP)—Col. E. L. Chambers, sr., director of Augusta's police department, defied demands for enforcement of Georgia's bone dry laws and declared licensed whisky will be sold here "as long as I have anything to do with it."

Chambers' stand thrust to the fore the question of municipal "home rule" on the liquor issue. The drys won a state-wide repeal referendum last week by a majority of more than 8,200 votes, but Augusta went wet: 4,698 to 827 or better than five to one.

Chambers spoke in answer to demands for strict enforcement from church leaders who have asked impeachment of officers who do not back the state's 22-year-old prohibition law.

Crown Princess Juliana Hints Over Radio To Nation That She Is Expecting Birth Of Child

AMSTERDAM, June 15. (AP) — Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands indicated to the nation in a broadcast tonight that she is expecting the birth of a child who may succeed to the throne.

Thanking the people for the warm reception given her and her husband, Prince Bernard, when they came to Amsterdam last week, she said:

"I would gladly have liked to attend all the festivities, but for welcome reasons of health, which you will understand and approve, I am prevented from doing so."

Princess Juliana and Prince Bernand Zu Lippe-Biesterfeld were married at the Hague last January 7.

Chemistry Of Water To Be Topic For Water School

Chemistry of water, especially as applied to softening methods, will be the topic for discussion at the second of the nine programs of a water school to be presented at the commission chamber at City hall tonight at 8 o'clock, according to announcement Tuesday of those in charge.

Another of the programs next week, the announcement added, also will be devoted to water softening. It will demonstrate, those in charge said, that water softening is both practical and an economy even in areas where hard water is a problem.

J. N. Hinyard, of the vocational education department of the state department of education, said that each of the individual programs will be of value to those interested in the operation of water systems, even though they find it impossible to be present at all meetings.

The school, presented by the education department in cooperation with the city, is intended for all interested in towns and cities adjacent to Lubbock.

Suspended Sentence Is Revoked And Man Must Serve Term

Rufus M. Todd, who on a plea of guilty here in 1934 to a charge in United States district court of possessing and trying to pass counterfeit silver coins and who was sentenced to two years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth on one count and given a five-year suspended sentence for five years by Judge James C. Wilson, recently violated conditions of the probation and was sentenced to another two years in the penitentiary, according to information from the office of Mrs. Olive Fluke, United States commissioner.

The second sentence was invoked by Judge T. Whitfield Davidson of United States district court after Todd recently pleaded guilty in a state court of burglary at Fort Worth. He was assessed two years in the penitentiary by the state court and both sentences will run concurrently. The second hearing was held early this month.

It was pointed out that it is unusual for a prisoner to serve one term then have a suspended sentence revoked and be required to serve another sentence.

The collision involved Bateman's light sedan and a six-wheeled truck driven by M. L. Harvey, Ontario, Calif., according to Lee Barnette, Wickenburg constable. Harvey suffered only a few bruises.

Champion Jack Reynolds Wrestles Joe Kopecky In Main Event Here Tonight

Battle Of Wits Expected When 'Foxes' Meet

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMME

Curtain raiser — Tex Hager, Texas vs. Joseph Bauer, Milwaukee. One fall or 15 minutes.

Special event — Tony Piluso, Toledo, Ohio, vs. Jack Hagen, Shreveport. One fall or 20 minutes.

Semi-final — Vic Weber, New York, vs. Buck Lipscomb, Indianapolis. One fall or 30 minutes.

The main event — Jack Reynolds vs. Joe Kopecky. Two out of three falls or 2-hour time limit. A non-title bout.

Time and place: Eight-thirty, The Auditorium.

Not since the days of the late Matty Matsuda has there been a more popular wrestling champion in any weight division than Jack Reynolds, the welterweight king. Reynolds succeeded the great Japanese grappler, and has held the official welter title, except for a brief interruption or two for these many seasons.

Reynolds is not a stranger to many mat fans of this section. Lubbock and South Plains fans by automobile loads saw him in championship action against Amarillo's Cal Farley in the latter's back yard on at least two occasions. Farley the best welter Texas ever claimed gave Reynolds some of his toughest battles but was never able to take the championship belt from the black-haired champion.

Meets Another Fox

Tonight Reynolds is scheduled to meet one of the middleweight division's canniest, foxiest representatives the veteran Joe Kopecky. It is not a title match—couldn't be for that matter. Reynolds, having disposed of virtually all welterweight challengers has left himself so so that he now spots the middies very little poundage he'll enter the ring tonight at about 165 or nearly 20 pounds over his welterweight fighting condition.

The ruler of the welters however, is reported to be in fine shape physically. Additional weight has not slowed him down. He has been mixing with middleweights and light heavies for a season or two and he asks no favors.

Reynolds' appearance here will mark the second of a reigning champion. Gus Kallio, chief of the middleweights, and a rough, though colorless fighter has appeared here twice once in championship battle. It will be Reynolds' first visit to the local arena.

Known for his cunning and trickery as much as for his agility, strength and wrestling education, crafty Jack Reynolds provides a great show when he takes the mat. He turns his opposition every way but loose fools them and tricks them with stunts of the brain and body that no other grappler has been able to duplicate to the extent of outsmarting him.

Kopecky, who has been in the business a long time and who knows most of the tricks of the trade is the wise opposition for Reynolds here. Panther Joe has been having a rare time of it since his return to the circuit a couple of months ago winning as he went, outsmarting his perhaps stronger but more youthful foes including the former invincible Vic Weber. Kopecky, too, is a crafty devil, and tonight's main struggle will be a battle of wits as well as strength and torture.

The supporting card of three bouts is to all purposes, sufficient for the extraordinary main event promise Buck Lipscomb one of the most cold-blooded, reckless and rough fighters ever to show here, and Vic Weber, the New York Dutchman who has had his share of trouble recently, are expected to put on a lulu of a rough contest.

Tony Piluso, the lanky Italian who worked during the outdoor season here in the summer of 1935, is reported on his way up to championship challenging status. He's a smooth, hard-working grappler, not too rough but active enough. He and Jack Hagen meet in a special event that should have the customers on the chair edges.

Tex Hager worked briefly here some time ago. Lately he has been doing main events in the Abilene and San Angelo districts, and has become popular that way. He'll be given a new trial by Joe Bauer, thick skinned Teuton whose comedy relief makes up for careless grappling.

There'll be no advance in prices tonight, but patrons desiring choice seats are warned to make reservations early, or reach the arena early for the best bleacher positions. Extra seats have been installed for a card expected to pack the house.

After a few moments Gehrig was able to continue in his 1,855th consecutive game.

Tigers Release Babe Herman Due To Catcher Troubles

DETROIT, June 15. (AP)—The Detroit baseball club announced today the unconditional release of Babe Herman, obtained by the Tigers late in April from Cincinnati at the waiver price. He has been used almost exclusively as a pinch hitter.

The Tigers recently had to buy a catcher because of injuries to Mickey Cochrane and Ray Hayworth and the release of one player to keep within the 23-man limit was necessitated. Herman was chosen because the club had six outfielders.

DETROIT, June 15. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers were gone from home today and, even as they had done once before, they left Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe behind.

Rowe—pitching arm still ailing but declared to be mending—came here from Miami, Fla., where he had been treated by a specialist, just in time to say good-bye again to teammates yesterday.

"My arm may be all right for me to rejoin the club before they come back home but I don't know," said Rowe, who again is planning lonely workouts at Navin field to try to get back into shape.

Two American-owned thoroughbreds, Marshall Fields' Theddingworth and Mrs. Chester Beatty's Thoth, were unplaced in the field of 29.

Dove Shooting Laws Conflict

AUSTIN, June 15. (AP)—Conflicting state and federal open seasons will cause dove hunters trouble again next fall in the opinion of W. J. Tucker, secretary of the game, fish and oyster commission.

The new federal regulations Tucker said though liberal in themselves will limit the state seasons unless the latter are changed as follows:

North zone, Sept. 15 to Oct. 15.
North part of south zone, Dec. 1 to Jan. 16.
Coastal zone, Oct. 1 to Oct. 15.
Rio Grande section, Sept. 15 to Oct. 15.

Bag limits will be cut down by new federal regulations to 15 doves or white wings in possession at any one time or one day's legal limit.

Federal Seasons

The federal seasons for mourning doves and white wings will be Sept. 16 to Oct. 18 with an additional season on mourning doves of Dec. 1 to Jan. 16 inclusive, Tucker said.

The state law for the north zone on mourning doves will be Sept. 1 to Oct. 31. In the south part of the south zone it will be the months of October and November. In the north part of the south zone the season on white wings will be Aug. 8 to Oct. 31 and on mourning doves Dec. 1 to Jan. 16. In the Rio Grande country south of the Tex-Mex railroad open season will be September and October.

The newly-created coastal zone will suffer most under the federal restrictions being limited to 15 days of hunting under both laws.

Two years ago similar conflicts severely limited seasons.

Don Budge Leads Americans In London Net Tourney

LONDON, June 15. (AP)—Paced by red-thatched Don Budge, American representatives in the Queens club tennis tournament fared well today, losing only two members in the advance to the third round of the ringles and in the opening doubles tests.

Budge, taking only 18 minutes to eliminate J. Van Den Eynde of Belgium, 6-0, 6-3, stroked his way through the second round along with Hal Surface of Kansas City, Charles Harris of West Palm Beach, Fla., and his Davis Cup teammates, Bryan Grant, Wayne Sabin and Gene Mako. America's No. 1 player also paired with Mako to score a second round doubles triumph from Henry Billington and J. F. Lysaght, 6-4, 7-5.

Boxing Experts Stricken By Big Jitters As Time To Name Winner Nears

By PAUL MICKELSON

GRAND BEACH, Mich., June 15. (AP)—Boxing experts, once proud and haughty fellows who used to call winners with monotonous regularity, are a confused and jittery lot as they approach the day when they must guess the winner between James J. Braddock and Joseph Barrow Louis. They've got the "screaming meemies."

Ever since they called the turn wrong on Max Schmeling against the brown bomber a year ago, the experts think a bit harder and use a combination of philosophy, psychology and sociology before climbing on a slippery limb and picking a winner.

Louis Or Braddock?

But the approaching Louis-Braddock duel has them all in a dither. For two weeks they have been journeying to the brown bomber's camp at Kenosha, Wis., and to the champion's here.

The more they see, the less they know.

They can't believe Louis is as bad as he looks, or Braddock is as good as he seems.

The experts have found to their sorrow that betting against Braddock is like wagering against War Admiral. Over his up and down career Braddock has lost 20 fights. But when the blue chips were down, James J. always has come through with an upset.

Braddock doesn't give a rap what the experts think.

"I've been an underdog so long," said the champion today, "that I like it. If Baer had taken me seriously I might not have been here today."

James J. Not Impressive In Tuesday's Workout

GRAND BEACH, Mich., June 15. (AP)—Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock looked none too impressive today as he boxed four rounds with as many sparring partners in preparation for his big battle with brown bomber Joe Louis.

Braddock, apparently taking it easy devoted most of the session to "covering up."

Against Max Roesch, young heavyweight prospect from Dallas, Braddock looked worst. The Texan clouted him with a series of lefts—Louis' most deadly blow—and seemed master of the situation until the final minute when Braddock opened up and drove him to his corner.

At the finish Braddock seemed fresh and Manager Joe Gould was satisfied.

Louis, "Fed Up" With The Training, Wants To Quit

KENOSHA, Wis., June 15. (AP)—About the only thing wrong with Joe Louis is that he is "fed up" on fighting.

He admitted as much today as he continued to prep for his heavyweight title bout with James J. Braddock in Chicago a week from tonight.

Two more fights and he'll be willing to call it quits. He wants to beat Braddock for the title defend it in a return match with Max Schmeling and then hang up the gloves.

"I've got enough money," he said, "and I'm getting tired of all this training."

Mike Jacobs and Joe's two managers, Julian Black and John Roxborough, may have plenty to say about the bomber's retirement, particularly if he wins the heavyweight crown, but that's the way the negro feels about it today.

Joe stepped eight fast rounds with four sparring mates and looked better than he has since pitching camp three weeks ago. His boxing was good, his footwork okay and he showed 2,000 fans he still can sock.

Congressional Leaders Decide To Abandon Efforts To Pass Farm Bill Now

Three Reasons Are Presented

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Congressional leaders decided today at a conference with Secretary Wallace to abandon their efforts to pass the administration's farm bill at this session of congress.

They persuaded Wallace that the complex legislation—combining soil conservation, price adjustments, and production control—should not be enacted for these reasons:

1. The measure would seriously delay balancing of the budget, since it calls for an expediture of about $100,000,000 in addition to the $500,000,000 already appropriated for soil conservation.

2. Congress already is swamped with urgent and controversial legislation, including the president's court and governmental reoganization bills.

3. Some farm organizations have shown little enthusiasm for the measure, and many congressmen feel it should be given another year's study.

Octopus Works Squeeze Play To Get Variety In His Meals

Students of the octopus report that it feeds principally on crabs, but this one in a Tacoma, Wash., aquarium, believes in varying his diet. While one poor fish (arrow) goes down the hatch, another gets away. Before devouring its victims, the octopus paralyzes them by a poison from its salivary glands. The octopus has been known to attack men, and is considered a delicacy, fresh or dried, in some parts of the world. They hide in rocky sea caverns to await their prey.

June's Building Lower Than May

June building permit totals drifted below those for the corresponding period of the 1937 record-setting month of May Tuesday for the first time in spite of the issuance of six permits during the day for construction to cost a total of $2,985.

Total for the present month thus was increased to $74,608 which falls below the pace for May, during which building to cost $159,000 was approved. Records for June are well ahead of any other month of the year.

Permits Tuesday were issued to: W. G. McMillan, contractor, for Behrens Drug company, owner, for repairs and shelving to cost $1,500 in the building at 602 Broadway; W. A. Mauldin, owner and contractor, for repairs and alterations to residence and garage at 1917 Broadway, to cost $500; to Mauldin, manager, for repairs and alterations to Broadway theater costing $200; to Lydick Roofing company, contractor, to reroof building at 1113 Main street for Panhandle Construction company, costing $400; Lubbock Sheet Metal and Roofing company, contractor, and A. W. Jackson, owner, to repair roof at 1301 Avenue H, costing $235; and Alex Henderson, owner and contractor, for box residence at 813 Avenue B, costing $150.

Extension Of Oil Act Is Cited As "Vital Conservation" Move

WASHINGTON, June 15. (AP) — Officials of the interior department said today extension of the Connally "hot oil" act insured two more years of what they termed "vital conservation of resources."

They said the law enabled the state of Texas in its eastern fields alone to save 600,000,000 barrels of petroleum.

The law, signed by President Roosevelt yesterday, prohibits interstate shipment of oil produced in excess of state fixed quotas in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Kansas, which supply 75 per cent of the nation's petroleum.

Interior department spokesmen said it enables the states to prescribe the least wasteful methods of production.

Before the law halted "cutthroat competition" two years ago, they asserted, producers wasted billions of feet of gas and huge amounts of petroleum in "the mad race to skim the cream of the fields."

Eucalyptus trees are called "good fever trees," because they are used in many countries for draining malarial swamp areas. They grow rapidly when planted in marshy land and soon drink the soil dry.

WPA Staff Here To Be Greater

Anouncement that WPA personnel will be increased by five at Lubbock headquarters for the newly enlarged district was made by district officials here Tuesday.

Authority had been granted to add seven to the staff if needed, but five was considered ample for immediate needs. The increase represents one addition of each slightly less than two counties Lubbock district has gained under the new setup. The district now includes 24 counties as compared with 15 previously.

Those to be added to the district staff will be:

A. L. Burden, former supervisor of finance for the recently abolished finance district office at Abilene, to finance department here; Roy T. Harbin, from Abilene, to become junior accountant of finance department here; Edwin O. Ogle, from payroll department at Abilene, to similar duties here; Miss Frankie Mae Case, from abolished Big Spring office to duties as senior typist in employment department here; and Miss Alice Hughes, from Abilene to duties as junior typist in finance department here.

Case Load Reduced

Announcement also was made that case load of the enlarged Lubbock district, which was raised from 3,101 to 4,100 under the reorganization, automatically was reduced to 3,550 at midnight Tuesday. That was in line with the general WPA cutdown throughout the country. However, district officials explained, it will have no actual effect in Lubbock district because it has been many months since the maximum allowed number of workers has been available.

A further evidence of the effect of the reorganization of districts, under which eight such offices in the state were abolished, was given this morning when a large truck moved furniture from Abilene offices to Lubbock headquarters. It will replace furniture here which was borrowed from West Texas Gas company, where WPA offices are housed.

Former Residents Of Arkansas To Gather Here In Reunion, Aug. 13, At City Park

The true test will be applied to "Arkansawyers" attending an annual reunion in Lubbock Aug. 13.

If there is any doubt as to whether anyone attending is a former resident of Arkansas, that person will be asked to remove his shoes.

If he claims to be from a swamp-land county, he should have web feet; if from a hill county, he should be minus toe nails.

Pardue Makes Announcement

Those announcements were made by G. V. Pardue, president of the West Texas group, as he asked Tuesday that all residents of West Texas who formerly lived in Arkansas make plans early to attend the reunion.

The program committee of the group will make plans Monday but Pardue promises now that there will be plenty of hill billy music and other entertainment. "Arkansas Traveller," "Turkey in the Straw," and "Dixieland" will be featured.

Only announcement made of the reunion will be through the newspaper, said Pardue.

Approximately 200 persons attended last year, the first time a reunion of former residents of the state was held in this section. The event will be held in City park.

The Key To Traffic Troubles

DON'T cross your legs when your are riding with a reckless auto driver. This is the advice recently given by Dr. Robert Funston, professor of surgery at the University of Virginia. And although this may not seem to have much relation to the general topic of traffic safety, the professor had good reason to mention it. He has found that passengers who plant the feet apart on the floorboard and lean well back in the seat are less subject to leg and hip injuries in a crash.

Out at Iowa State college, practical research has shown that slight defects of vision may cause serious traffic accidents. Other scientists contribute the information that color blindness causes even conscientious drivers to run through red lights and cause costly collisions.

THESE interesting items do not prove that science alone has the answer to our enormous traffic problem. There is no one thing that can ever control a transportation mechanism which kills 36,000 and injuries more than a million persons in the United States every year. But they do indicate that we are improving our teamwork and are adding to the sum total of knowledge needed to banish the traffic evil.

Other inklings that we are absorbing workable ideas in traffic accident prevention are provided by the national safety education program in schools. It has been proved possible through classroom teaching to raise the average age of pedestrians killed or hurt in traffic from the school child level to above the 50-year-old level within 12-month time. This feat is marred only by the fact that [illegible] has been devised [illegible] adults [illegible] for daily safety lessons.

[illegible] the engineering [illegible] strides have been made. A few years ago a red [illegible] on a [illegible] considered record enough for a traffic mishap. Now, thanks largely to Franklin M. Kreml and his pioneer work in Evanston, [illegible] officials may preserve [illegible] of an accident. [illegible] experts to [illegible] road hazards, [illegible] higher [illegible]

SCORES of other ideas are being tried. Overpass crossings, [illegible] sidewalks, road straightening and leveling, better lighting, improvements in tires and car equipment all are worth while trends toward the common goal.

[illegible] will replace personal judgment, and the issue of life or death on the road always will be [illegible] of the man at the wheel.

[illegible] of cars on the streets and highways brings this problem into sharp focus and emphasizes the responsibility of individual drivers and pedestrians. [illegible] good [illegible] to decide [illegible] the auto to its [illegible] or allow it to grow [illegible] as a murderous aggressor.

With Our Contemporaries

"Lots of mechanics have been trying to discover perpetual motion," says Bud [illegible] remained for the WPA to invent petrified motion," [illegible] opines in the Muleshoe Journal.

The One-Minute Sermon

These are the things that ye shall do; Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbor: execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates:

And let none of you imagine evil in your hearts against his neighbour; and love not false oath: for all these are things that I hate, saith the Lord.—Zechariah, VIII, 16 and 17.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

A BRIGHT BOY

Appearing in the Odditorium at the Pan American Exposition Dallas this summer will be little Jackie Heitmann now just past 4 years of age, who is called "the boy wizard and mental marvel of St. Louis." Jackie has secured for himself a rating of genius at several of the nation's greatest educational institutions and never fails to pass their examinations with I. Q. ratings higher than most adults. And, Believe It or Not, he has never gone to school! Examiners claim he has an extraordinary photographic mind and can remember accurately anything he reads or sees. Unlike most other child mental marvels, Jackie's health is excellent, having won him many awards with a rating of 98.4 percent perfect.

CHAPTER I

I MUSTN'T cry until I get home." The remark was not audibly spoken. It was simply a mental reminder that in spite of coldly disinterested theatrical and employment agencies one did not burst into tears on a crowded New York street. The girl's name was Patricia and it suited her. Topaz-colored hair, blue eyes, long curling lashes, skin of [illegible] and rose. Although close to tears her proud little head was high and her round little chin jutted stubbornly.

Climbing the stairs to a five-story walk-up the silent monologue continued with [illegible]: "You're licked, Pats, my girl. Just because the folks back home said you were an actress you spent your last cent to learn that you're a flop. You can't even get a job in the back row of a chorus. So what's the next step, if any?" And wistfully she thought, "I hope Trissy has beaten me home."

Opening the door of a tiny apartment she called hopefully and was answered by a cheerful voice from the kitchenet. A girl appeared in the doorway. She bore a sharp resemblance to the colorful Pats. Might have been her reflection in a mirror, even, and strangely enough she both bore the same name, Patricia Hunt Warren. They were cousins and each had been named for [illegible] paternal grandmother. Trissy's home had been a small prune ranch in Oregon and Pats, eight years younger, had spent her life in a quiet Indiana city, reared by the grandmother for whom she was named.

Trissy is too excited for tears for a thrill [illegible] and Pats' eyes widened. [illegible] "I've got a job—a real job with a salary."

"Not [illegible]," gasped Pats. "Tell me."

"Well, this morning on the subway I overheard two girls talking about Don Monteray. It seems he fired his secretary again last week."

"Not Don Monteray, the movie star?"

"Yes, he's in New York for a few weeks. Lives at the Avalon on Park avenue. One of the girls on the subway had applied for the position without any luck. She said applicants had been streaming in by the dozen, but up to last night no one had been engaged."

"And so?" Pats was childishly eager.

"So I joined the throng. Waited until this afternoon before getting an interview."

"With Don Monteray?" breathlessly. "Did you talk to him?"

"Gracious, no. I saw an agent or somebody. Well, he hired me," she ended on a deep sigh of relief. "Now you can get your chance on the stage. It will take time, of course, but—"

"I'm no actress, Trissy," Pats broke in. "I only think I am."

"You are an actress. You simply haven't had the breaks."

Pats leaned forward and kissed the older girl's cheek. "You're so sweet to me." Then with changing mood: "What did the man say? Oh, what wouldn't I give to spend my days with Don Monteray?"

"Wait till you hear why I got the job." Trissy's laugh was so contagious that Pats joined her without knowing why. "Because I'm so homely. Isn't that a yell, Pats?"

"I don't think that's funny," said Pats, sobering.

"It is though. The whole setup is funny. Let me tell you about this Monteray fellow. The agent frankly told me that my negative appearance is the thing he liked because Don Monteray is absolutely fed up with beautiful women. Negative appearance," she mused. "John used to say I was beautiful."

"You are beautiful, Trissy. I know and John knows." Abruptly she turned to the table. "There's a letter from John."

"Where? Oh, Pats, let me have it." Trissy snatched the letter and tore at the envelope with trembling fingers. "I thought he'd never write again when I refused to go home."

A slow flush spread over her pale face as she read the letter. Pats watched her anxiously. "He wants me to meet him in Minneapolis—to marry him," Trissy went on in a queer hushed tone. "His invalid mother died a month ago, his last sister is educated and married. He's free at last, Pats, after all these years of waiting. Oh, John." She blinked her eyes as if they smarted.

Pats put her arms around her, pressing the fragrant smoothness of her cheek against Trissy's. "I'm so glad, darling—so glad. When does he want you to come?"

* * *

Trissy glanced dazedly at the letter. "Next week—next week in Minneapolis," a thrilled catch in her voice. Slowly she replaced the letter in its torn envelope. "But of course I won't go." Trissy's hands were folded tight over the letter, her mouth was pitifully firm. "I'll stay with you."

"Well, you won't." Pats scoffed while a great wave of loneliness swept her. "What do you think I am—a baby?"

"I know you are my cousin, that I encouraged you to spend the little bit of money Grandmother left you and that it's gone now. No," Trissy replied shaking her head. "We'll see it through together."

Pats took her firmly by the shoulders. "Listen to me, Trissy Warren. You and John have loved each other a long time. He was tied hand and foot but now he's free and I absolutely refuse to be the next stumbling block in the way of your happiness. I'll do something and I'll do it mighty quick. Let's be reasonable and think this thing out." She frowned thoughtfully. "No use going back to the old home town . . ."

"My mother and father would be glad to have you," Trissy began, "but you would be wretched there. I couldn't stand the loneliness and hard work, neither could you . . ." Her voice dwindled off into a worried silence. "Perhaps John and I . . ."

"Nothing doing. I'll tell you what, Trissy. You go ahead and make your plans, we'll spend our last dollars on a few pretty things for you. It'll be fun, and I'll hustle around and find a job. It won't be hard—a bright girl like me."

Trissy shook her head. "I wouldn't have a [illegible] stepping. I'll be Don Monteray's secretary. I'll write John and [illegible] he'll wait." She smiled but [illegible] were miserable.

Pats was [illegible] staring. She stared fixedly at Trissy without seeing her. She seemed to be turning something over in her mind.

"Hm," she said at last. "You marry your John and I'll take the job with Don Monteray."

Trissy laughed. She couldn't help it. "You're too good-looking."

"I can fix that. Wait here—don't move."

She vanished into the tiny bedroom, opened her trunk and searched through the contents. Taking a theatrical makeup box and several other articles to the bureau she set to work. Pinning back her mop of golden curls she applied a thick drab cream to her face and miraculously the roses were gone. Her skin appeared lusterless, [illegible] a little shiny. With a pencil she etched two outward slanting lines leading from nostril to lips. Over her shining hair she pinned a sober wig of dark brown.

From the closet she took a suit of Trissy's, a suit bought for its durability. It was woefully unbecoming. The blouse fit her poorly, the skirt sagged wretchedly. Quickly she changed to cotton stockings of a mousy hue and low-heeled shoes of the health variety. A last touch, mainly to change the peculiar blue of her eyes, she put on a pair of tinted sun glasses, pulling her lips to a prim line she opened the door.

"Good morning, Mr. Monteray," she said in crisp, neutral tone. "I have just killed my lady admirer. What shall I do with the body?"

Trissy stared in amazement. Then she laughed in a confused, half-frightened outburst.

"You scare me, Pat. [illegible] really. Where did you get the outfit?"

"Out of my trunk and the closet," she confided in her own charming voice. "I used this make-up in my theater training work."

Trissy rocked with laughter. "And they say you're not an actress."

"Who says so?" Pat inquired indignantly. "I'm not much of a secretary," she confessed, "but Don Monteray will never find it out. My typing is pretty good and I'll bluff about the shorthand."

Trissy was aghast. "You don't mean you are actually thinking of—"

"Let's have no more words about it. I am Don Monteray's new secretary and you are stepping out right now to send John a wire. It's going to say, Meeting you Wednesday in Minneapolis. Have the license."

Determinedly she took her protesting cousin by the arm and together they headed toward the nearest telegraph office.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S young aides smacked their sides gleefully when J. P. Morgan avowed that taxation was a legal rather than a moral issue. They confided to friends that the distinguished banker had fallen into their trap.

It happens, however, that Mr. Morgan is in good company when he blurts out his philisophy on taxes. Two who agree with him, though they may not realize it, are Franklin D. Roosevelt and the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes. Asked why he did not pay state income taxes on his federal income if he believed in taking all money "from whatever source derived" (which he does), the President explained that the law as now drawn did not require him to do so. Like Mr. Morgan, he gave to Uncle Sam only what the old gentleman demands.

In a famous case involving the question of alleged evasion, Mr. Holmes said from the bench: "We do not speak of evasion because, when the law draws a line, a case is on one side of it or the other, and if on the safe side, it is none the worse legally that a person has availed himself to the full of what the law permits." It's a pound-of-flesh theory that cuts two ways, as the Congressional investigation may demonstrate.

PUNITIVE: The normally subservient House—chiefly Rules Chairman John J. O'Connor—provoked White House muttering when they sidetracked the tax resolution while they amended its more punitive publicity provisions. The recalcitrants who insisted on delay may have spoiled the show.

The Roosevelt-Morgenthau idea was to sweep Congress off its feet with their hints at immorality on the part of "100 millionaires." It almost worked. At first even anti-administration newspapers reflected the moral indignation voiced by the sponsors of the inquiry. The supposedly deliberate Senate passed the White House resolution without reading it, even though it authorized a minor Morgenthau clerk to monkey with millions of dollars worth of dynamite. House leaders had promised passage without reference to committee or a roll call.

Except for Mr. O'Connor, the resolution would have swept through the lower chamber without scrutiny. But he pointed out its defects, insisted on committee consideration and drastically revised it. More importantly, he gave the scheduled victims time to recover their breath and poise—time for their lawyers to frame a defense and for their publicity advisers to draw up tactful statements. Meanwhile the idea seems to be spreading that punitive rather than constructive considerations lie behind the inquisition.

PROSPECTS: Congressional leaders have promised President Roosevelt to shove his seven-point program through Congress at this session even if they have to sit until October 1 but privately they aren't so optimistic. Here is their inside forecast of prospects:

Supreme court reform: No chance for six new judges, and only an outside possibility that two will be authorized. Government reorganization: F. D. R. will get his six new secretaries and two new departments, but nothing else. Wage-and-hours bill: Not certain, but it may skip through in radically modified form. Farm legislation: No hope for general agricultural legislation, but possibly a small appropriation to inaugurate tenant farmers' reform and a tentative start on the ever-normal granary scheme. Wagner housing bill: Enactment as an experiment with a niggardly appropriation and safeguards against commitment to expenditures over a long period.

The Norris bill for seven new T. V. A.'s: No chance at this session despite the Nebraskan's persistence and parliamentary skill; it will be sidetracked in the House. Tax legislation: Congress will close loopholes provided [illegible] them. F. D. R. will lose many battles on the floor, but through patronage whip may flog the legislators into obedience at secret sessions of conference committees.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE big business battlefront against the C. I. O. is [illegible] same significant shape. Individual industrial giants like U. S. Steel may commit the [illegible] of treating with the enemy, but most large corporations and many smaller ones are silently lining up shoulder to shoulder in support of Tom Girdler and other embattled die-hards of the steel industry.

Sit-down strikes did not evoke a sit-down reception from big business, even though the technique of resistance was not immediately apparent. What was needed was time to organize—and time is beginning to tell.

The key to the backstage anti-Lewis drive is political. New York higher-ups figure that union exuberance will lead to excesses that hurt the innocent bystander and that resulting popular resentment skillfully nursed along will bounce back on labor at the polls. The recent "general strike" at Lansing and the power strike in the Saginaw valley encourage this hope. The Congressional election of 1938 will be used as the dress rehearsal of a movement to clip labor's wings which should be functioning smoothly for the all-important 1940 contest.

CHOSEN: An important phase of the anti-union strategy will be the smoking out of public officials as to their position on "law enforcement" in labor struggles. The demand of railroads in the Youngstown area that Governor Martin L. Davey of Ohio do something about union interference with their operations and destruction of their property fitted into this picture.

The railroads would normally be expected to appeal to federal authorities under such circumstances. But in this case it was figured that the opportunity to put Gov. Davey on the spot was too good to be missed—and there will always be another chance to crowd federal officials into a corner.

Choice of a Baltimore & Ohio executive as spokesman for the affected was no happenstance. B. & O. is widely known for its liberal policy towards labor and its friendly attitude towards the New Deal (via its veteran president Daniel Willard). Therefore its protest was calculated to register more forcefully with the public than a similar yell uttered by the ultra-conservative New York Central or Pennsylvania.

BLAMED: The follow-up is a vital part of this plan. It should be looked for in this instance and in many others that will develop in the next couple of years as opportunity affords.

Few public officials thus badgered will be rash enough to stick their necks out by taking specific action. Certainly Governor Davey was not. But silence and inaction are good enough for the purposes of the protesting railroads and their backstage anti-union allies.

From now on every slight defect of passenger or freight service in Ohio will be loudly blamed on the "spineless" attitude of the state authorities. They will be pilloried on every occasion as having betrayed the public interest through fear of organized labor. It's a fair bet that there will be cases of delayed or interrupted service on these railroads to be publicized.

CURIOUS: A new racial weapon has been introduced in the New York mayoralty fight. Eugene McIntosh, a negro district chairman of the City Fusion party, resigns his office in a flare of indignant publicity. He flays Mayor LaGuardia for alleged failure to improve the condition of New York negroes.

Tammany isn't missing a trick in its desperate fight for life. It looks as if the Jewish vote will go almost solidly to LaGuardia—even though Samuel Untermyer is giving the Tiger a hand. An offset is urgently needed and the colored vote would provide it—if it can be delivered en masse. Building a race issue is the best hope of that. Two and two make four—even in politics—which looks like the Q. E. D. on this curious development.

DESTROYER STANDS BY

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—The navy department said today the destroyer Kane has been ordered from the French port of La Pallice to the Spanish port of St. Jean De Luz, near Bilbao, to stand by in the event evacuation of any remaining Americans is necessary.

"Not one great figure grew out the depression," says a critic of the arts, sadly. He must be thinking of the public debt with the zeroes omitted.

Summer, if nothing else, would have put a stop to sit-downs. A week of sitting in the August heat and they'd have have had to amputate the chair.

The GOP candidate for Mayor of St. Louis resented the firing of two bullets into his house, as it isn't illegal in Missouri to be a Republican in your own home.

Side Glances---By George Clark

"There's something wrong with our original estimate. According to these feed bills, we're going to have to sell chickens for 80 cents a pound."

Letters To The Editor

Your Voice Is As Loud As Our Own

FOR THE PRESIDENT

Editor, The Avalanche: In your article concluding with a wish that our President cut loose from his "liberal" advisers and go back to the old way of government [illegible] to realize [illegible] views would oppose those of the people.

Most of the people do not take time and pains to study and form original conclusions of their own. They generally absorb what they see and hear most especially if uncontradicted. That is why newspaper editors are as liable to error as anybody and many of them are employees and not free to air their personal views. Therefore fair editors generously give space to the other side that the people may better balance their judgment and you have been in the fair class.

I notice that your paper the past week was full of business optimism. The expert reports placed the nation's business 17 per cent to 20 per cent ahead of last month which was about the same ahead of the year before. We all know that business and the country's general conditions have been constantly growing better ever since Roosevelt and his "liberals" took charge. Then what kind of a reason would [illegible] any conclusion that [illegible] by our "liberal."

Liberals are [illegible] who are open and active enough to see the truth that new inventions [illegible] make it possible for [illegible] to produce more of man's needs with less man-power, also a change of economic condition and the [illegible] growing intelligence of the people are giving to make it necessary to harmonize our government with the new conditions.

The readjustment of [illegible] to the people is always accompanied by extremes and violence. If we keep liberal and the people continue to educate all will soon work out ok.

Let the President continue his good work.

W. P. Florence,
Slaton.

TARZAN AND THE MAYAN GODDESS, No. 129

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Flourishing her murderous dagger, the madly jealous Queen Zalya sprang at Ula, whom she mistook as her rival for Tarzan's love. But now the ape-man's hand shot out, clutched the Queen's wrist and brought her to a halt so sharp that she almost fell to the floor.

The fury of her frustration was turned on Tarzan. "Turn me loose!" she screamed. Then, like an infuriated tigress, she dug her teeth into his arm, trying to force him to relinquish his hold. But the ape-man merely smiled down at her and squeezed all the tighter.

At last slender fingers relaxed, and the dagger clattered to the floor. Queen Zalya stood staring at Tarzan with blazing eyes, her heart torn again by conflicting emotions. It was both thrilling and humiliating to be dominated by the masterful creature.

The Medicine Priest was determined to take no further chances with this powerful captive. "Let us be rid of him quickly. Come, Your Majesty, to the temple, where, according to the ancient law, you shall shed his blood under the eyes of our precious Green Goddess!"

[T]ension Mounts [I]n Steel Crisis

[l]abor contract is signed, guarded [thei]r homes with firearms against [the] latest terror of the big steel [stri]ke—night marauders.

Feeling Runs High

[A]rmed with shotguns, they waited [in] darkened porches and in upper-[stor]y windows for any return of [roavi]ng bands of hoodlums who [stone]d dwellings and shouted threats [in t]he dead of night.

[F]eeling ran high. Mayor Shields [we]re in the first contingent, 100 [stro]ng, of a "vigilante committee" [he] announced he would put "3,000 [Am]erican legionnaires under arms" [if n]ecessary.

[S]wift-breaking develoments [mar]ked the day at other salients on [the] 7-state strike front—where more [tha]n 100,000 men have been thrown [out] of work in the bitter labor war [betw]een John L. Lewis' C. I. O. and [ind]ependent steel companies.

[P]aramount in importance were [the]se.

Auto Industry Threatened

At Detroit, Homer Martin, head [of t]he United Automobile Workers [of] America, disclosed a strategic [mov]e which may plunge the giant [aut]omobile industry into the war on [stee]l.

"We are standing by," he wired [C. I.] O. headquarters in Washington, "[C. I. O.] ready to refuse to use steel [ma]de in struck plants in the pro-[duct]ion of automobiles unless the [stee]l companies make a speedy and [amic]able settlement with the strik-[ing] steel workers."

An additonal 16,800 General [Mot]ors employes were left idle when [thre]e plants—at Detroit, Cleveland [and] Bay City, Mich.—closed down [bec]ause of shortage in automobile [spr]ings.

Mine Workers Strike

[U]nited Mine Workers officials [ann]ounced that approximately 12,000 [wor]kers have answered a call to shut [down] coal production in "captive" or [com]pany-opened mines owned by [Bet]hlehem, Republic and Youngs-[tow]n Sheet and Tube Steel com-[pan]ies.

[W]ithout coal they can't make [stee]l, the U. M. W. officials de-[clar]ed.

At Columbus, O., a peace move [of] Gov. Martin L. Davey collapsed [as] steel spokesmen said their op-[posi]tion to a signed labor contract [wit]h the steel workers organizing [com]mittee was "unchanged."

Violence broke out at Am-[brid]ge, Pa., where 500 C. I. O. pickets [dro]ve back 50 members of the rival [A.] F. of L. who were attempting a [ba]ck to work movement. Scores [wer]e beaten; one man was stabbed.

Railroad Track Dynamited

A dynamite blast destroying [f]eet of track interrupted railroad [ope]rations at Ohio Republic Steel [pla]nts on the Ashtabula-lines branch [of] the Pennsylvania railroad.

[T]he explosion near Warren, O., [can]e within an hour after Republic's [War]ren plant had shipped in 35 [car]loads of raw materials and sent [out] 35 carloads of steel products.

At Monroe, Mich., where C. I. [O.] picket lines were driven from [the] plant in a tear gas attack last [Th]ursday—Mayor Daniel Knaggs [agr]eed to the re-establishment of [limi]ted picketing at the Newton [Stee]l plant, a Republic Steel sub-[sidi]ary at Monroe.

New CIO "Invasion" Threatens

A new C. I. O. "invasion" of [the a]utomotive industry was fore-[sh]adowed in Detroit where Homer [Ma]rtin summoned representatives of [U.] A. W. locals and conferred on [the] demands to be presented to [Gen]eral Motors corp. at the expira-[tion] of a "truce" agreement [A]ugust 11.

In Washington, President [Roo]sevelt expressed belief Republic [Ste]el corp. "if it is willing to grant [ora]l collective bargaining con-[trac]ts, as it has indicated it is, [sho]uld be willing to put it in writing."

Check Coal Movements

[T]o At Charleston, W. Va., the [Uni]ted Mine Workers set up an or-[gani]zation to check coal movements [and] sounded a warning that mines [att]empting to ship coal to strike-[bou]nd steel mills will be closed the [sam]e as the pits of the three inde-[pen]dent steel firms now are.

[A] comprehensive survey of the [far]-flung strike area tonight showed [tha]t Johnstown—for the moment at [lea]st—was the danger spot.

[M]ajor Lynn Adams, state con-[stab]ulary chief, ordered 120 steel-[hel]meted police to the historic "flood [city]"—now the heart of a giant [stee]l business—to inforce the 100 [troo]pers already on duty along the [4-m]ile front of the Bethlehem [Ste]el's big Cambria plant works.

Casts Spell Of Jitters

Mounting bitterness, starred by a [ser]ies of savage clashes between C. I. [O.] pickets and non-strikers through-[out] last night and early today, cast [a s]pell of jittery tension over the [tow]n.

So serious was the situation that [Joh]n Watkins, C. I. O. organizer, told Gov. Earle in a telephone conversation:

"I feel a little alarmed, myself."

And while striking pickets watched sullenly, the wives and families of non-strikers up on the hilltops cheered as the night sky turned to deep red—the cherry glow of blast furnaces roaring—and showers of brilliant golden stars burst above the mills. Steel was being made.

SOME GROUND REGAINED

NEW YORK, June 15. (AP)—Although there was [illegible] turn for the de-[illegible] stock market leaders today retrieved some of the ground lost in Monday's [illegible]. Selected steels, motors, [illegible] rubbers, rails and spec-[illegible] were the principal [illegible] and advances of fractions to 3 or more points [illegible] in the final hour.

The steel labor deadlock, [illegible] automotive plants, the French financial crisis and many busi-[ness] questions [illegible] continued to put the brakes on any extensive recovery [illegible].

Much of the day's improvement was at-[tribu]ted to [illegible] buying and short [covering] based on the theory yesterday's [slump] may have represented a temporary [cli]max which could result in at least a [limited] upward reversal.

Dealings were well under the million-share mark, with the ticker tape slowing down frequently. Transfers totalled 927,-461 shares compared with 1,116,869 in the preceding session. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .4 of a point at [illegible] as against a drop the day before of 1.7 points.

Cotton . .

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, June 15. (AP)—Cotton rebounded from its recent downward trend today under a moderate demand and final prices were steady at net advances of [illegible] 30 cents a bale over [illegible] close.

Liverpool cables were lower than due at the start but steadied later when Bombay buying oil-set selling from the continent. India transactions were slightly lower here and the general undertone was nervous.

The French financial crisis kept most traders on the sidelines and continued good crop weather brought out some liquidation by tired longs and a little commission house selling.

July closed at 11.85, Oct at 11.98, Dec 12.04, Jan 12.07, March 12.10 and May 12.16, or 6 to 10 points higher. Only 53 bales were sold in the spot market today and middling finished 9 points up at 12.25.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, June 15. (AP)—Cotton rallied today but when prices returned to the 12-cent basis local profit-taking appeared to erase the gains.

October, which sold up from 11.84 to 12.04, closed at 11.95 with final prices net unchanged to 4 points higher.

The market opened 3 to 5 points lower under foreign and commission house selling in the face of steady Liverpool cables and later sold off to net declines of 6 to 11 points. At these levels trade price-fixing, covering and buying appeared and contracts were scarce. Rallies in the stock and grain markets helped sentiment but buying was not active and scattered selling developed on bulges.

Exports today 4,837 making a total of 5,489,034 for the season thus far. Port receipts 2,460. U. S. port stocks 1,274,436.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, June 15. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 12.20 cents a pound, average for the past thirty days 12.79 cents a pound.

Brownfield Mishap

that a tire could be repaired, said Sheriff G. D. Gore, who investigated the accident. It happened approximately three-fourths of a mile north of the Welman community on highway 51.

Numerous witnesses can be called, said the county attorney.

The occupants of the automobile had been visiting Mrs. George Tiernan of Brownfield.

Officers of the Texas state highway patrol went to the scene and reports of that office indicated the automobile was being driven south and the truck north. The truck driver was quoted as saying he was driving approximately 40 miles an hour toward Brownfield.

Selection Of Jury To Try Widow For Slaying Proceeds Slowly

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., June 13. (AP)—Selection of a jury to try Mrs. Helen Tiernan, blonde New York widow, for the picnic slaying of her namesake daughter proceeded slowly today in Suffolk county courthouse.

As the second day of the trial ended only 11 talesmen, qualified to inflict the death penalty, had been accepted.

Mrs. Tiernan, who allegedly confessed she stabbed and burned her seven-year-old daughter, Helen, to death, and attempted to kill her other child, Jimmy, 4, during a Sunday picnic expedition sat stolidly as defense and prosecuting attorneys questioned prospective jurors.

as the milk stage.

In Oklahoma where the harvest is just getting underway growers are being hampered by too much moisture. Federal grain inspectors reported heads not as heavy as last year because of excess moisture.

Start of the harvest has been delayed in many Kansas counties because of soft fields.

The South Plains region of Texas reported some damage to wheat following excessive rains, which forced some cotton growers to replant. Over in New Mexico where record rains brought floods, crop prospects are better than in several years, the weather bureau at Albuquerque reported. Damage to crops will be offset many times, the weather bureau said, by benefits accruing from the rainfall.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 15. (AP)—Rushing excitedly upward 4 and 5 cents a bushel, wheat markets both sides of the Atlantic indicated alarm today relative to prospective world breadstuff scarcity.

In a crop scare market, Winnipeg quotations led the way, skyrocketing 5 cents a bushel on all future deliveries both of wheat and rye, the furthest immediate allowable limit. Simultaneously, the Chicago wheat market soared 4½ cents maximum fo heat, and 5 cents for rye.

Setting the wheat trade aflame were official reports today of unfavorable conditions in Southwest domestic wheat areas added to trade uneasiness and reports indicated wheat and rye alike promise poor harvests in Europe, and that Saskatchewan province, the largest wheat producer in Canada, is confronted by rapidly increasing danger of crop collapse in 7,000,-000 acres because of widespread drouth.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 3½ to 4 cents above yesterday's finish, July $1.11@1.11¼, Sept. $1.10½@1.10¾, Dec. $1.12¼, corn ⅜ to 2¼ up, July 1.14½@1.14¾, Sept. $1.00½@1.00¾, Dec. 74½@74¾, oats ⅝ to 2¼ advanced, Sept. 35⅛, and rye showing 3½ to 5 cents bulge, Sept. 79½. Provisions results varied from ten cents setback to 30 cents.

were held up by flood waters in the Panhandle. That's the best I've ever heard," he said.

"I'm going to tell the president to quit giving you any more money. You don't need it," he continued.

Mr. Garner stated frankly he did not expect to see conditions as good as they are in this section.

Only Filling Station Man Sees Garner In Okla. City

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 15. (AP)—Wet Oklahoma weather held no terrors today for Vice President Garner on his way home for a vacation from congressional worries. He headed on toward his Texas home in the middle of a gully-washer.

G. B. Moncreif, a filling station operator across the street from the capitol, probably was the only one in Oklahoma City who saw the vice president, his wife, and chauffeur hurry through.

Moncreif said they paused at his station during a heavy rainstorm, bought gasoline, and Garner asked the way to the nearest telegraph office.

"I told him across the street at the capitol," Moncreif said, "but he didn't want to go over there and asked if he could leave me the money and would I send it."

The wire to a friend in Amarillo, Texas, said Garner's party was going to drive straight through despite the rain.

Moncreif said he noticed an insignia on the side of the automobile, recognized Garner and said:

"Well, I see you're going down after the big fish," and he said, "yes, and I'll give them hell when I get there, too."

Economy Bloc

President Roosevelt is opposed to a fixed rule requiring the 40 per cent local contributions.

Some leaders of the economy group in the senate said privately they had little hope of pushing through the Byrnes amendment in its present form, but were confident the senate would require a contribution of at least 20 to 30 per cent from local project sponsors.

Honor Awards To Be Given Tonight For School Students

Honor awards for memory work and hand work in four divisions of the daily vacation Bible school of the First Baptist church will be presented at commencement exercises in the church auditorium at 7:30 o'clock tonight, according to L. E. Waite, principal of the school.

Rev. C. E. Hereford, pastor of the church, will deliver the commencement sermon to about 230 attendants, according to an announcement last night.

To Give 60 Awards

Approximately 60 awards for memory work will be presented. Hand work prizes will be given to winning boys and girls in the beginners, primary, junior, and intermediate divisions.

Tonight's program will include a processional, greetings, three anthems, a five-minute program by each department, Bible character stories, pledges to the flag and other features, Waite said.

In charge of classes at the two weeks' school were: Mrs. C. H. Sampson, beginners; Miss Callie Craft, primary; Miss Winona Pardue, juniors; and Mrs. A. L. Crosby, intermediate. Mrs. Waite was in charge of music and drama. Miss Corrine Brown directed recreational periods.

Hand work will be on display at commencement exercises. Boys have built electric motors, airplanes, boats, etc., and girls did basket work, sewing, foil engraving, clay modeling, wood burning and painting. The school included students from 4 to 16 years of age.

State Legislature

The fact that it also rejected a motion fixing adjournment for June 25 indicated to many it simply had not made up its mind on the subject.

Would End June 25

Under the constitution, the session would end June 25, regardless of resolution for a special session may extend only 30 days.

The house also killed a resolution providing for placing crosses on state highways to mark spots where accidents occurred and followed action of the senate in approving a bill appropriating $100,000 for the mileage and per diem of members, limiting to $10,000 expenses of investigating committees and correcting a number of appropriations made at the regular session which ended May 22.

Governor Allred meanwhile let it be known he probably would call another extraordinary session late in the summer or early in the fall to consider provision of new revenue for the state. He commented that while it might be "hard" on some to have another session it also was "hard to pay old pensions without money."

He said he was waiting to see what progress was made on anti-gambling legislation before admitting additional subjects at this session. There have been indications he might submit a land law revision bill and possibly others.

Bloodhounds To Take Trail In Texas Sheriff Convention

NEW BRAUNFELS, June 15. (AP)—Bloodhounds will take the trail here Thursday as part of the entertainment program for the three-day convention of the Texas Sheriffs association beginning Tuesday. Registered hounds are to follow the scent of volunteers.

Released from Lubbock sanitarium Tuesday, E. A. Hankins returned to his home about five miles west of Lubbock. A small steel particle which had been lodged in his right eye May 30 was removed at the sanitarium Friday.

Full information may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Board of Examiners in the Lubbock post office for details of competitive examinations for the positions of a senior steel plate engraver, a script and letter engraver, steel plate engraver, plate printer, associate plant pathological inspector and assistant plant pathological inspector, the Civil Service commission announced Tuesday.

Austin Davis, recent graduate of Kelly field, San Antonio, is to visit relatives and friends here this week-end. Davis who will arrive here Thursday, will go from here to report for duty at March field in California. Mrs. Aubrey Woofin, his sister, attended the graduation exercises.

A man who last night had not been arrested was charged in the justice court of Walter Davies with swindling with $4.27 worthdless check. The complaint was sworn to by C. L. Lindsey before Robert J. Allen, county attorney. The document was written on a Lubbock bank.

D. C. Fair of Lubbock yesterday posted $500 bond on a charge of liquor law violation filed in county court. The complaint was sworn to by C. C. Cox of the Texas Liquor control board before Hugh Anderson, assistant county attorney.

Helen Jacobs Back At Work On Court; May Try Defense

LONDON, June 15. (AP)—Helen Jacobs was one of the happiest young women in England tonight.

She had just discovered after hours of hard practice with Dan Maskell, Wimbledon tennis coach, that she once more is sound of wind and limb.

"What a relief," the Berkeley girl exclaimed. "My shoulder injury seems to have healed completely. In fact, I think I played better today than I did at the same time last year."

Only a week ago Miss Jacobs, Wimbledon champion, barely was able to swing a racquet and it looked as though she would have to let the title go by default.

Upsets Feature In Women's Western; Babe Didrikson Fires 78 To Win Battle

CHICAGO, June 15. (AP)—Mrs. Russell Mann of Milwaukee, a title winner a few years ago as Miss Lucile Robinson of Des Moines, built a fire under a big comeback campaign today by blasting the defending champion, Mrs. Opal Hill of Kansas City, out of the women's Western Open golf championship tournament.

Scarcely second to Mrs. Mann's briliant upset was another by Paula Parker, 19-year-old blonde beauty from Milwaukee, who smothered the medalist, Mrs. Burt Weil of Cincinnati, 5 and 4.

The pair of "business women golfers," Helen Hicks of Hewlett, L. I., and Mildred Babe Didrikson of Beaumont, Tex., also marched into the second round. Miss Hicks was one under par for 15 holes in eliminating Virginia Ingram, Chicago district champion, 4 and 3.

The Babe shot her first nine in par figures as she trounced Shirley Ann Johnson of Chicago, 6 and 4. She played out the round after ending the match in the 15th hole and finished with a 78, the same figure that won Mrs. Weil the medal yesterday.

Stars Of Track And Field Gathering For NCAA Meet

BERKELEY, Calif., June 15. (AP)—The advance guard of what will be the largest gathering of top-notch collegiate athletic talent this season, more than 60 track and field men arrived today to prepare for the N C A A championship, Friday and Saturday.

Included in the contingent were two great negro stars, Ben Johnson of Columbia and William Watson of Michigan, both triple winners already this season.

Johnson captured the 100 and 220 yard dashes and the broad jump in the Intercollegiate A A A A championships while Watson is the Big Ten conference title holder in the shotput, discus throw and broad jump.

Ten-man teams checked in from Michigan and Rice institute.

The rest of the nearly 300 entries will report within the next two days.

First Band Concert Of School Is Given

First of a series of band concerts to be presented by the summer band school at Texas Technological college at 8 o'clock last night was held south of the Administration building, according to D. O. Wiley, Tech band conductor.

The weekly band concerts will be presented each Tuesday night. The concerts are open to the public and no admission prices are charged.

More than 100 musicians have enrolled for the regular band school, Prof. Wiley said.

At the program last night of classical and semi-classical selections and famous band marches, several directors of bands of high schools of Texas directed the musicians. A large number of high school band directors have enrolled for the course and are assisting in it, Wiley said.

Besides his congressional activities, Connery won a reputation as "the best raconteur on Capitol Hill."

Scores of senators and representatives paid tribute to the former soldier, actor and candy manufacturer. Chairman Black of the senate labor committee said: "his death will be a great loss to the progressive cause."

House To Adjourn

Speaker Bankhead indicated the house would adjourn tomorrow in respect.

Connery, who leaves a nine-year-old daughter, Marie Terese, liked strict seclusion. No one, not even Postmaster General James A. Farley, knew his home address or telephone number. Connery explained that he wanted complete relaxation.

Connery, who was born in Lynn, Mass., Aug. 24, 1888, began his career as an actor after attending Montreal college and Holy Cross college at Worcester, Mass.

While playing with one of George M. Cohan's summer shows in Massachusetts he met his wife, the former Marie Manseau. They formed the vaudeville team known for two years as "Connery and Lecault."

County Equalization Board To Complete Its Task Today

Property Owners Being Heard

Belief that the county board of equalization will easily complete its task today so that County Assessor-Collector Hurley Carpenter can begin the final preparation of tax rolls for the year was expressed by board members following progress Tuesday.

The board, comprised of members of the county commissioners court, were given their formal oath as the equalization group during the forenoon, and heard approximately 50 protests before recess was declared for the day.

Fifty Hearings Likely

Expectation is that approximately 50 other hearings will be heard today.

The hearings follow the action of the board, two weeks ago in changing valuations on property as rendered by approximately 300 owners. Those owners are given opportunity at the hearings to protest the changes which, in comparison with the tax rolls, are an insignificant total. The board ordered changes on only about 300 property items out of more than 10,000 rendered.

Work of the board is preliminary to the later setting of the county tax rate, probably about August 1 or soon after, officials said. Present indications are, they added, that the present county tax rate of 50 cents on the $100 of assessed valuation will be continued unchanged.

Two Cousins Of Buddy Rogers, Attending Tech Band School, Opposed To His Marriage

Not that it will effect his approaching marriage to Mary Pickford, but there is some opposition from "close relatives" of Charles Buddy Rogers, according to statements made here by two cousins of Rogers.

First cousins of Rogers, Meriam and Catherine Beasley, high school band students from Wink and who are attending the summer band school at Texas Technological college, Monday renounced the betrothal of their cousin to Pickford by saying "I think that Buddy outa marry some one younger than Mary Pickford."

The two girls are in their early teens and both play clarinets in the Wink High school band. Catherine also plays a saxophone. When pushed by a group of girls to verify their statement of their relationship to Rogers, the Wink girls phoned their mother and "proved" that they were cousins of the noted star who will finish a picture this week.

Parents of Buddy Rogers and the Wink girls were brothers, the mother of the girls said. Catherine and Meriam assumed their step-father's name after the death of their father and the marriage of their mother to Beasley. Former residents of Long Beach, Calif., the girls said that they had not seen Rogers since he was a boy. They also said they knew their cousin enjoyed acting a

Regulations For Industry Urged

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Representative Boren (D-Okla) advocates a fixed-hour, $5 working day to "solve the labor problem of the oil industry."

He told a joint congressional committee considering the administration wage and hour bill that about 70 per cent of all oil companies already were observing such standards, and that his proposal would "cause no change in the situation, except to bring the chiselers into line."

Deterioration Of Standards Seen

Unless federal legislation fixes a 36-hour week for the whole industry, he testified, competition would soon force a general deterioration of labor standards.

His proposal would establish a far higher level of wages and hours in the oil industry than most committee witnesses have suggested for industry as a whole.

The plan most frequently discussed during the ten-day hearing called for a 40-hour week and a $16 minimum wage.

The youthful Oklahoma congressman said his proposal already had proved successful in the major oil fields and that it would cause no hardships if applied with flexibility sufficient to meet emergencies.

U. S. To Investigate Activities Of Large Number Of Japanese Fishing Boats Near Bristol Bay In Alaskan Waters

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 15. — The state department announced today government representatives would be sent to the Pacific coast and to Alaska waters to investigate the activities of Japanese fishing boats reported to be operating near Bristol bay but outside of American territorial waters.

The action was decided upon after American fishing interests in those areas had advised Washington there were in Alaskan waters an "unusually large number of Japanese fishing vessels."

The communications, received about a week ago and addressed to President Roosevelt and various senators, expressed apprehension lest the Bristol bay salmon fisheries be invaded by the Japanese.

Upon receipt of the reports, the government ordered an investigation by coast guard. This established, the state department announcement said, that three Japanese government fisheries vessels, accompanied by numerous trawlers and launches were operating on June 9 near Bristol bay but presumably were engaged in crabbing since the Salmon run for this season has n started.
