Services pending for George Killam

County Attorney George Killam, who was to retire from public office at the end of his current term in December, died early Friday morning at his home, the apparent victim of a heart attack. He was 66.

Services were pending Friday morning with Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

After choosing not to seek re-election, Killam was to step down this year after serving as Scurry County attorney since 1957. He had never been opposed in an election since first winning the post in the Democratic primary of 1956.

He was a staunch supporter of the Democratic Party and had indicated after retirement he would still work in its behalf.

Longtime County Clerk Beverly Ainsworth summed it up by saying, "George was a dear, dear man. Always there when you needed help or advice."

Killam and his wife Mary moved to Scurry County in 1949 after he had earned his law degree from the University of Texas at Austin.

They married May 29, 1948 in San Antonio.

He was born in East Orange, N.J. on Sept. 2, 1917. He attended North Carolina State College in Raleigh, N.C. prior to World War II, earning a degree in chemical engineering in 1938.

He served 5½ years in the military during the war and was a U.S. B-24 pilot with the U.S. Air Corp. Killam served in the China-Burma, India theatre, flying a total of 37 combat missions.

One of these involved repeated attempts to bomb a then-unnamed bridge under construction by the Japanese. This war effort was later transcribed into the Academy Award-winning movie "The Bridge on the River Kwai."

During his career, he had been active with professional groups and is a past president of the Scurry County Bar and a past director with the Texas District and County Attorneys Association.

Waste agency drops Garza Co. site

The Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority is once again without an identified site in West Texas after "withdrawing" Thursday from a potential land sale in neighboring Garza County.

In a telephone release Thursday afternoon, authority personnel said followup tests at the site indicated the land was geologically unsuitable for an underground waste disposal facility.

The withdrawal marked the second time the authority has negotiated for land within a one-county radius of Scurry.

A similar transaction in Borden County also was discontinued after an unidentified land owner there failed to obtain all mineral rights to the property.

On June 5, the authority announced it had negotiated an option to purchase land two miles south of Kalgary in the far northeast portion of Garza County.

This placed Garza in a position to become the second identified site in the state. With Thursday's announcement, the authority still maintains an option to purchase property in South Texas near Asherton.

"Geological inadequacies" were sited as the reasons for withdrawal.

Thursday afternoon, Tom Blackburn, director of special programs for the authority, said further on-site tests indicated a layer of sand beneath the property at a depth of approximately 40 ft.

The initial testing had led authority personnel to believe deep clays comprised the underlying layer at the site. An impermeable layer such as clay is needed, they say, to guarantee against underground contamination due to water runoff.

In a prepared news release, an authority spokesman said "Our technical requirements cannot be met at the Garza site and we feel it prudent to withdraw that site from consideration."

The Garza County site is the fifth tract of land examined in detail by the authority. Four of the five have failed to meet the authority's strict technical criteria.

Other than Borden County, these included two sites in far West Texas near El Paso in Hudspeth County.

In a related matter, Blackburn said Thursday that the recent special session of the Texas Legislature has granted the authority budget money for another year to purchase at least two potential sites.

A rarity has been discovered in Scurry County — a six-inch lizard with a forked tail.

Tommy Bailey, who brought the lizard to the SDN to be photographed, said the lizard had been the subject of talk the past few weeks, with some plant staffers who had not seen it disputing its existence.

He said plant employees Bill Sullenger and Greg Hodge finally managed to catch it by first running it into a pipe, then blocking the other end.

It was speculated the green lizard had lost a portion of its original tail, and the fork resulted when it grew back.

Plans were to turn the lizard free again at the plant, Bailey said.

Unemployment lowest in four years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civilian unemployment tumbled to 7.1 percent in June, the lowest in more than four years, as 460,000 Americans found jobs, the government reported today.

The 0.4 percentage point drop in the seasonally adjusted rate, the steepest plunge since unemployment fell from 8.8 percent to 8.4 percent from October to November last year, took this key economic indicator to its lowest ebb since April 1980.

At that time, unemployment stood at 6.9 percent.

Last month's good news from the Labor Department was spread across all population groups, with black Americans, whose unemployment has been more severe than that of whites, enjoying the strongest improvement.

An alternative unemployment rate, which combines the 113.8-million member civilian labor force with the 1.7 million members of the armed forces stationed in the United States, fell by a commensurate amount to 7.0 percent.

The total number of the civilian employed — 105,748,000 — was an all-time high. In June, the roster of those categorized as unemployed shrunk by 384,000 to 8,130,000.

Since November 1982, when unemployment reached a post-Depression peak of 10.7 percent with more than 12 million out of work, the economic recovery has generated more than 6.5 million jobs, the Bureau of Labor Statistics figures show.

At the same time, the unemployment rate has plummeted 3.6 percentage points in the speediest post-recession labor market rally since the early 1950s.

In one negative note, the bureau reported that the ranks of the so-called "discouraged workers" remained unchanged at 1.3 million in the year's second quarter.

Texas jobless rate dips

DALLAS (AP) — Texas unemployment dipped to 4.8 percent in June, the lowest in more than three years, despite continued sluggishness in the energy industry and in border cities affected by the Mexican peso devaluation, the U.S. government reported today.

The state jobless rate was a full three percentage points below the 7.8 percent level in June 1983 and reached its lowest point since April 1981, said a U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics official.

About 98,000 more Texans had jobs in June than the previous month, when the jobless rate stood at 5.7 percent, said Bryan Richey, the bureau's southwest regional commissioner.

Nationwide, civilian unemployment in June was 7.1 percent, the lowest in more than four years.

Reagan lashes out at Demos

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Reagan, campaigning in one of the key battlegrounds of the 1984 presidential race, today accused liberal Democrats of trying to block his administration's policies but said, "Here's a flash from the Gipper — they're not going to win."

Opening a new assault against Democrats controlling the House of Representatives, Reagan said, "This is the same liberal leadership that has done nothing but stand in the way of initiatives the American people want and need."

In a speech billed by the White House as nonpolitical but steeped in partisan rhetoric, Reagan addressed the Texas Bar Association convention in the hometown of Mayor Henry Cisneros, one of the half-dozen people interviewed by Walter Mondale, the likely Democratic presidential nominee, as a potential running mate.

Soviets set to talk weapons

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union said today its offer to the United States to hold talks this fall on space weapons was limited only to that subject. It said talks cannot convene until the United States agrees.

The announcement was made in an official statement issued by Tass news agency. Tass said the Reagan administration had given a "negative" reply to the Soviet offer by saying it was willing to discuss weapons in space in Vienna this fall but would also raise the issue of nuclear arms.

"Tass is authorized to declare that the Soviet government confirms its offer to the government of the United States to open formal talks on preventing the militarization of outer space," the Soviet statement said. "It is these, and not some other talks, that it is urging the U.S. government to start, and it is awaiting a positive response from the latter."

Strike settlement reached

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Negotiators for 6,300 nurses who struck 16 hospitals last month reached agreement today on a back-to-work schedule following a 19-hour bargaining session, a spokeswoman said.

Karen Patek, chief negotiator for the Minnesota Nurses Association, said striking nurses could begin returning to work in Minneapolis-St. Paul hospitals as early as next week.

The callback procedure was the final issue blocking a ratification vote on the tentative contract agreement reached Sunday.

Details of the agreement were not released.

"Karen indicated to us that it is a very good agreement," said a spokeswoman at the nurses' association strike headquarters.

Nurses will continue picketing until the vote is taken, the spokeswoman said.

The session with federal mediator Edward Larson began at 1 p.m. Thursday and continued until the mid-morning settlement was reached.

Treasurer reveals three possibilities

AUSTIN (AP) — Walter Mondale should either select U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, a woman or a member of a minority group to be his running mate, says state Treasurer Ann Richards, who met with Mondale this week.

"My choice from a Texas perspective is Lloyd Bentsen. But I told him if he chooses not to put Bentsen on the ticket, then I felt he needed to do something dramatic such as naming a woman or minority, someone who would lend excitment to the ticket," she said Thursday.

Ms. Richards was one of a group of about 20 women who met with Mondale at his Minnesota home on Wednesday.

She said that during the two-hour session, Mondale appeared pleased with the advice offered. The discussion ranged from his vice presidential choice to such practical suggestions as making certain Mondale representatives attend local political gatherings.

"When we had finished, he said, 'I don't think I have ever been in a meeting where I felt the people were as well-prepared and as concise as you've been,' " Ms. Richards said.

Among those attending the meeting was Judy Goldsmith, president of the National Organization of Women, which at its convention last weekend passed a resolution stating the Democrats should nominate a woman from the convention floor if Mondale doesn't choose one.

However, Ms. Richards said, all the women at the meeting assured Mondale they will support him whoever he picks as his running mate.

Mondale has or will interview at least three women in his vice presidential search — San Francisco Mayor Dianne Feinstein, New York Rep. Geraldine Ferraro and Kentucky Gov. Martha Layne Collins.

"I've met them all and I think they all are outstanding in their own ways," Ms. Richards said.

Selecting a woman for the No. 2 spot on the ticket would be such a "bold, progressive move," Ms. Richards said, that it would be difficult to estimate the impact.

"Should he choose a woman, all of the old political measuring sticks go out the window. I just don't think there is a way to measure what is an extraordinary change until it's done.

"There's no way to take an ordinary poll or look into a crystal ball and determine what the results would be. It would offer the kind of impetus and excitment for the campaign that I think is lacking now," she said.

Ms. Richards said she realizes that if a woman shares the ticket with Mondale and President Reagan wins re-election, blame could be aimed at the woman candidate.

"I think it is possible that a woman would be blamed. That's part of the risk," she said.

However, she added, "I don't think any of the women who met with Mondale yesterday had any suicidal tendencies politically."

Ms. Richards' own name has been talked about as a vice presidential possibility or for a cabinet post should Mondale win.

Asked about such speculation, she said, "I don't particularly want to talk to him about that (No. 2) job."

Newer water supply needed in Old Mexico

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — The water supply problem is getting worse in this city and new sources need to be developed soon, said Ignacio Villasenor Martinez, permanent adviser to the Council of Jalisco Industrial Chambers.

"The situation is graver now and analysis of public works to provide water from the Verde River needed to be speeded up so as not to continue to depnd on Lake Chapala, he said Wednesday.

The river project would benefit the heavily populated eastern zone of Guadalajara, where about 1 million people face severe water restrictions.

At present, the city gets about 80 percent of its water from Lake Chapala because its access to the narby to the nearby Lerma River has been cut off because of heavy use of its water by the city of Guanajuato and Mexico City.

Dear Abby

Woman Figures She's a Dummy When Simple Math Stumps Her

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: So you think you've heard it all? Well, please don't make a face or roll your eyes up into your head when you find out what I want. First off, I am no dummy, but there are times when I think I am. There may be others who suffer from the same problem. If so, you may print this, but for heaven's sake don't use my name.

I am a 22-year-old married woman who is absolutely stupid when it comes to math! I can count money, and if I take my time I can figure out how much to tip, but if I'm in a big hurry I draw a complete blank! Recently I went to a sale where all merchandise was marked 25 percent off, and I felt like a fool because I couldn't figure how much I'd have to pay for a dress marked $110.

I know they offer classes for people who are illiterate, but how about people who need to learn math from the bottom up? I'm ashamed to admit I need that kind of help. (Nobody would believe it.)

PENNSYLVANIA DUMMY

DEAR PENNSYLVANIA: I wouldn't call anyone a "dummy" who recognizes a problem and seeks to solve it. Call your county department of public education and explain your need to learn math "from the bottom up." Inquire about adult education classes and private tutoring, and your problem should be as simple to solve as adding 2 and 2. (It figures.)

DEAR ABBY: I've followed your Fat Fannie Panty Hose comments with amusement and feel it is my duty to share with you one more use for old panty hose—Fat Fannie or otherwise.

I cut the leg portion into three pieces, and use them to tie up my tomato plants. The stretchy material doesn't "bite" into the stem as the plant continues to grow.

IRENE IN COLUMBUS

DEAR IRENE: Thanks for an idea tomato growers will dig. Panty hose were created for "tomatoes" in the first place.

DEAR ABBY: "Animal Lover's" letter suggesting caution in giving dogs to new owners by way of want ads brought to mind a story I heard.

There was this sicko who collected kittens—he answered ads reading "Free to good home." Upon investigation, it was found that he collected kittens to feed to his pet boa constrictor!

How can we protect these helpless creatures?

ANOTHER ANIMAL LOVER

DEAR LOVER: Never give more than one pet to a person. And before giving the "helpless creature" away, be sure to tell the prospective owner that you will be dropping by from time to time to see how the little fellow is getting along.

CONFIDENTIAL TO OLD-TIMER IN PASADENA: Before you put down the youth of today, read this: "Our youth now love luxury. They have bad manners, contempt for authority; they show disrespect for their elders, and love chatter in places of exercise. They no longer rise when elders enter the room. They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up their food and tyrannize their teachers."

Socrates wrote that in the fifth-century B.C.

Wrecks noted

Two minor traffic mishaps were reported in Snyder Tuesday and Wednesday.

Involved in the first accident at 8:57 a.m. Wednesday at the intersection of 37th St. and Highland Dr. were a 1974 Ford driven by Leola Harrison Archie of 1010 33rd St. and a 1981 Ford driven by Teresa Walls Bedwell of 1808 37th St.

56 percent of population is susceptible

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Fifty-six percent of Mexico City's residents are susceptible to various mental disorders because of the city's severe environmental contamination, according to a recent university study.

The study by Dr. Francisco Gomez Jara of the National Autonomous University of Mexico also noted there is a shortage of psychiatric hospital.

How fast can the competing mechanics locate and fix seven deliberate mechanical malfunctions?

This year's contest was won by two high school boys from Greenwood, South Carolina — George Miller and Alvie Harris.

They found and fixed all seven in 29 minutes.

Good for them.

Then why are we building houses so that they fall apart before they're finished?

New home construction is back in high gear. In the United States we will build 1.82 million this year.

But...

Much of that construction will be so junky that ceilings will "slope," rooms will have no two walls the same length, there will be dents in the drywall and nicks in the woodwork and odds are at least one-in-five that the hot water tap will run cold.

I criticize the flimsy construction in Arizona and am told that in moderate climates two-by four walls are "good enough."

I see just-completed houses with wide cracks in concrete floors and am told, "Carpet will cover that."

The boom housing market of the 1970s attracted a lot of inept contractors who never should have called themselves "homebuilders."

Collapse of that market weeded out most of these, but not all.

The American Arbitration Association handled 227 warranty claims the first quarter of last year; 251 the first quarter of this year.

The National Association of Home Builders says it is not fair to compare today's average home with the way we used to make them, but the NAHB insists that we are still getting "more quality for the money."

Even if the stairs creak and handrailings are warped and windows won't open and the roof leaks. And this can be in a half-million dollar house.

With the boom market back, materials delays can be interminable — meanwhile, for the buyer, the meter is ticking.

The Federal Trade Commission says these things you can do check the references of the builder. Ask a lawyer to examine the sales contract. And hire a private inspector to oversee construction.

Criticism of contemporary construction as "junky" inevitably maligns some good craftsmen and responsible contractors but they more than anybody know what I'm talking about.

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — Fruit growers in the northeastern state of Nuevo Leon have received 165 tons of fertilizer from the government to help the industry overcome the disastrous December freeze.

Remember the lesson here. After you have made a weak bid, a double by you does not absolutely say that you can set declarer. It simply announces that you have a better defensive hand than partner ought to expect, but partner must cooperate on the final decision.

There's another lesson here, which I'll hint at by asking another question: "Whoever said ... men were the weaker sex?"

Special use of a double

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

What does it mean when you double the opponents below game, after you yourself have opened with a pre-emptive bid showing a lack of defensive values? If you like to play commonsense bridge, you should be saying, "Partner, I've got a better defensive hand than you might expect, plus I might be able to ruff something."

Vivian Whalen was the East player in a recent North American Women's Pairs Championship. After she had opened with three hearts, the opponents stopped at three spades. Her partner had to have a little strength. Maybe by doubling she could just get West to lead a diamond. And that's the way it happened.

Vivian's partner, Karen McCallum, passed and led the deuce of diamonds. This was not a fourth-best lead. Instead, it was meant as suit preference, to let East know that West had an entry in clubs. East trumped the opening diamond lead and returned a club. Another diamond was led and trumped, followed by the ace of hearts. The defenders also gathered in the king and ace of trumps for a two-trick set.

Books honors heritage

After the death of her mother, Dorothy Loree Hall Benton, Brenda Benton Lee wanted to do something tangible to honor not only her mother's memory, but her grandmother's as well. Since both women were known for their culinary skills, Ms. Lee decided a cookbook containing their recipes would be a lasting memorial.

Last year at the annual Hall-Walker reunion, Ms. Lee shared her idea with the family and asked members to submit some of their own recipes to be included in the book. After six months of organizing material and working with printer Buddy Powell, she presented the publication at this year's reunion in Ft. Worth.

The cookbook captures recipes from Ms. Lee's father's family as well as from her mother's because three of the Hall brothers married three of the Walker sisters. James Hickman Hall married Ms. Lee's grandmother, Nina Mae Walker, in 1913. In 1921, Ruby Lee Walker became the bride of Jesse Emmitt Hall, and in 1926, Cecil App Hall and Mary Eddie Walker were married. This triple family relationship makes the book unique.

Although the cookbook was done to honor the family and to preserve its heritage recipes and not as a commercial venture, Ms. Lee is selling a limited number at the Snyder Book Store.

In her collection, Ms. Lee emphasizes "good old country cooking." It's 242 pages are divided into categories and includes anecdotes, a "Food for Thought" section and a "surprise ending". The "Household" category includes non-food recipes, such as lye soap, and a variety of cleaning hints.

Ms. Lee has donated copies of the cookbook to both the Mitchell County and Scurry County libraries and to the media center of First Baptist Church.

In addition, she has donated copies of the "History of Longfellow Community, Mitchell County, Tx., 1900-1950 to the Mitchell and Scurry County libraries. This history includes members of both the Hall and Walker families.

Protect pet

NEW YORK (AP) — Joggers who take their dogs along for the exercise may be subjecting their pets to the same running hazards as humans, some veterinarians say.

Dogs, like humans, are susceptible to pulled or inflamed muscles simply because they are out of shape. A sedentary dog can't be expected to go on a long run without working up to it.

Also, since dogs overheat more easily than people, a long run on a hot day could give the animal heatstroke. Joggers are advised to pay attention to whether the dogs need water.

Teen to compete in beauty contest

IN PAGEANT—Tannya Sturdivant will participate in the Texas Miss T.E.E.N. Pageant in Dallas.

Tannya Sturdivant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wayne Sturdivant of Van Vleck has been selected to compete in the Texas Miss T.E.E.N. Pageant to be held at the Loews Anatole Hotel in Dallas on August 31, September 1 and 2.

Teens competing for the title must be between the ages of 14 and 18 and must have at least a "B" average in school. Contestants will be judged on scholastic achievement, volunteer service, appearance, poise, personality, personal interview, speech or talent and formal presentation. Because the pageant requires participation in its volunteer service program, Tannya completed 38 hours at the United Way office in Bay City.

The Texas winner will win $3,000, a self-improvement scholarship to the Barbizon School of Modeling, an all expense paid weekend for her and her family at the Loews Anatole, a personal appearance contract and an all expense paid trip to the national pageant in Albuquerque, NM.

Tannya is the granddaughter of Marvin and Ethel Boulware of Fluvanna and of Gladys Sturdivant of Snyder.

Nail it down

Outdoor winter sports, like skiing, ice skating and sledding, can wreak havoc on nails, so follow these tips to protect them. Counter brittleness by rubbing wheat germ oil or vitamin E oil into the cuticles before venturing outside. Avoid snapping ski boots closed or lacing skates with your nails — use the pads of your fingers instead. Smooth on a layer of hand cream before donning your gloves. Occasionally, rub your lip balm on the cuticles of your nails

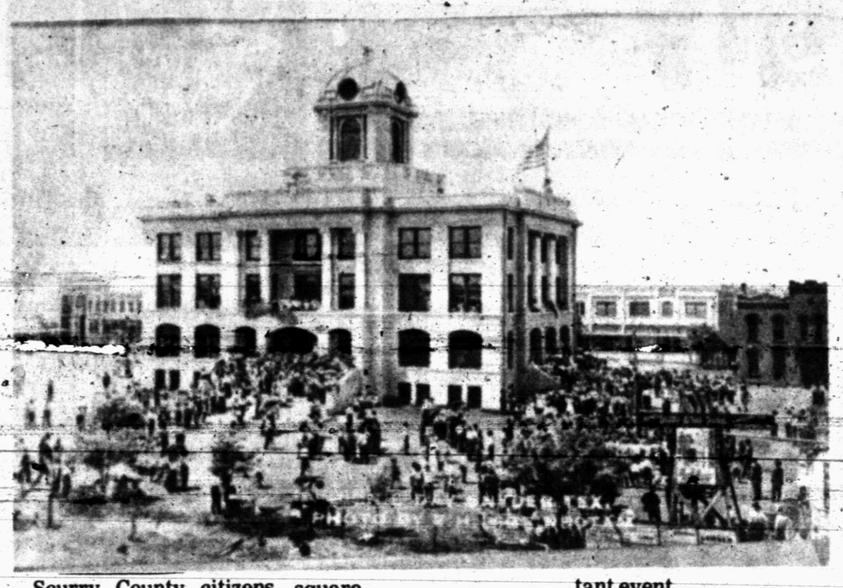
All gathered at courthouse for activities



Picnics were the major social event of the year when this picture was made of the yellow brick courthouse in 1912. The courthouse was completed in 1911 and the first old red brick courthouse, built in 1886, can be seen in the background.

The courthouse was often the meeting place for Fourth of July picnics as well as events of county, state, or national importance. Before radio and television took over, citizens would meet on election night at the courthouse and listen as the results were announced. Citizens would cheer as the results were announced.

Scurry County citizens would drive their wagons into town, spend, the day, and sit and visit or shop in the stores around the square.

Eveyone was invited to the picnic and most citizens of the county came into town for this important event.

Skin cancers must be removed

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 62 and recently had surgery to remove malignant sunspots, diagnosed as basal cell carcinoma. This is the second operation of a similar nature. The first was 10 years ago, diagnosed as melanoma.

Can you explain what a basal cell carcinoma is? I understand there are many different types of cancer cells.

DEAR READER — Cancer begins with an abnormal cell. If it is a thyroid cell it will be thyroid cancer. If it is a lung cell it will be lung cancer. Basal cell carcinomas involve cells of the skin. They are frequently activated by too much exposure to sun. They can follow actinic keratosis, which is also caused by sun damage.

Fortunately, they are usually low-grade malignancies, meaning that they don't progress rapidly. Nevertheless, they should be removed as soon as they are identified to minimize any tissue damage that can occur. They grow slowly if not treated and they don't disappear on their own. If neglected for long periods of time they can cause considerable tissue damage. Then when the entire area is removed reconstructive surgery may be required. Essentially, all can be cured by simple surgical techniques when diagnosed reasonably early.

If you have one basal cell carcinoma you may develop another nearby or in a different location. Because the skin has usually been damaged by years of overexposure to sun and wind, a variety of locations may develop new cancers. This does not mean the original cancer has spread.

But melanoma, which you were diagnosed as having 10 years ago, is a different type of cancer. It usually arises from a pigmented mole. Studies do show that sun exposure can increase the development of these, too. These need to be detected as early as possible and treated at once because they can be much more dangerous than the simple, much more common skin cancer.

I have discussed these points more completely in The Health Letter 7-10, Your Skin: Sun, Aging, Spots and Cancer, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Would you express your opinion as to the safety of the amino acid L-ornithine capsules? The ones I am taking as a dietary supplement were bought in a health-food store. The label reads "100 percent natural, no sugars, starch, flavors, colors of preservatives. No corn, soy, yeast, wheat or derivatives."

I take one capsule before bedtime, which supplies 633 mg. of L-ornithine-HCl, which in turn provides 500 mg. of ornithine. Can taking these really eat up fat, causing loss of weight, as claimed? I understand some doctors are prescribing them.

DEAR READER — There are all kinds of doctors. Not all doctors are M.D.s or O.D.s or even licensed to prescribe medicines.

Ornithine is formed in your body from glutamic acid. Glutamic acid is a common, nonessential amino acid. Your own body can manufacture glutamic acid easily from a variety of food sources and common proteins in your food.

The ornithine you are taking is converted in your body to glutamic acid. It isn't causing you any harm and it isn't doing you any good. In my opinion, you wasted your money on that purchase. They will not help you lose body fat unless you spend so much money on them that you don't have money left for a decent balanced diet.

Some vessels may cruise Lake Ontario

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia (AP) — Organizers of the tall ships' visit to Sydney, Nova Scotia admit cash rewards may entice some of the vessels to cruise Lake Ontario, but they don't think the scheme will affect the Nova Scotia show.

Spokesman Joan MacDougal said $80,000 worth of incentives that Toronto organizers are offering the tall ships would at most lure away eight of the 34 ships expected to land in Sydney.

Some Polish ships are going to Toronto, but none are the larger Class A vessels, Ms. MacDougal said. She said the ships' owners have already assured her they will be in Sydney for the start of a transAtlantic race to England later this month.

King Boake, director of the Lake Ontario Tall Ships Rendezvous, has said the total incentive package his committee is offering is about 10 percent of its $800,000 budget. The committee is offering food and fuel to many of the 25 to 30 ships expected to visit.

Oil, gas production in Texas may have caused earthquakes

AUSTIN (AP) — Oil and gas production may have caused earthquakes that were recorded near the towns of Fashing and Pleasanton in South Texas, according to a University of Texas scientist.

"The earthquakes all appear to originate on known faults where those faults form boundaries of an oil or gas field," said Dr. Wayne Pennington of UT's Institute for Geophysics and Department of Geological Sciences.

Pennington said Thursday that two earthquakes in Atascosa County within the past year have reached magnitudes of 3.2 and 3.9 on the Richter scale.

The Richter scale is a guage of energy released by an earthquake as measured by the ground motion recorded on a seismograph. An increase of one means that the motiearthquakes have caused no appreciable damage and can be expected to pose only minor hazards to the communities involved, Pennington said.

He said oil and gas production lowers fluid pressure in reservoir rock, and this affects the strength of the rock.

"What we think is happening is that the faults that are present have been moving naturally but without earthquakes until fluid pressure along them was decreased to a point where the faults would stick and slip in jerky motions, producing earthquakes," he said.

"There are reasons to expect that the earthquakes could never get very much larger than they have already been," Pennington said.

Over the past 11 years, he said, there have been 15 earthquakes in the Fashing-Pleasanton area.

The recent earthquakes occurred at a depth of approximately 1½ to 2½ miles. The earthquake felt near Fashing occurred July 23, 1983, and the earthquake near Pleasanton occurred March 2.

Erwin attends June seminar

SAN MARCOS–Jim Erwin, principal at North Elementary, was among the 53 school teachers and administrators from 12 Texas school districts who attended this summer's first weeklong Classsroom Disciplinary Management and Strategy Program workshop on the Southwest Texas State University campus in San Marcos June 25-29.

The program, funded by a grant from the Criminal Justice Division of the Governor's Office, is a cooperative effort of SWT's Institute of Criminal Justice Studies and School of Education. Program staff and visiting consultants reviewed model programs and approaches during the workshop. Three additional programs will be conducted at SWT this summer.

Paragon opens office

At a time when Americans are demanding alternatives to the presently cost prohibitive homes styled on those of the past, a brand new solution is being offered.

Paragon Steel Structures, Inc. of Phoenix, Ariz., is marketing the revolutionary but proven concept--the all steel, energy-efficient home. The homes, which are marketed through a nationwide dealership network, offer several features demanded by prospective buyers in today's "tight money" housing market.

A better design, utilizing a steel super-structure and incorporating the finest materials available in today's housing industry, and innovative design concepts have been combined to create a home at an amazingly low per-foot construction cost, which offers the highest energy-efficient and structural strength, attractiveness and beauty, and which will outlast most "conventional" homes.

Paragon Steel Structures, Inc. has recently appointed Dan Gallagher of Snyder as it's new dealer in Texas. He plans to build a Paragon all steel energy-efficient home for a model show home.

For more information contact Gallagher at 302 24th Street or (915) 573-3621.

Contaminated metal used

MAZATLAN, Mexico (AP) — At least 40 buildings in different parts of this city and in the nearby town of Rosario will be partially demolished because contractors used steel rods contaminated by radioactive Cobalt 60, health officials said.

The officials said the steel was from a Chihuahua steel plant where several tons of metal were contaminated by radioactive material from a junkyard which sold the plant scrap metal.

The latest findings came after health officials were asked to examine 140 houses.

Several tons of the radioactive steel were sold to companies in the United States, but were returned

The average price for strict low middling 1 & 1-16 inch spot cotton declined 17 points to 70.12 cents a pound Thursday for the eight markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange.

Court nixes stay

WASHINGTON (AP) — A request by convicted Texas murderer Randy Lynn Woolls for a stay of his scheduled execution Tuesday has been denied by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The court on Thursday also denied Woolls' request to review his conviction in the final day of its 1984 term. He was found guilty in 1979 of murdering Betty Stottes, a ticket teller at the Bolero Drive-In in Kerrville.

Woolls, 34, hit Ms. Stottes on the head with a blunt instrument, stabbed her repeatedly and set her on fire, said Jay Byrd, spokesman for the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville.

Byrd said Woolls then took $600 and Ms. Stottes' car and drove into the theater, where he was apprehended.

Woolls, who was under the influence of Valium and beer when the slaying occurred, would be the fourth man executed in Texas since the court upheld the constitutionality of the Texas death penalty in 1976, said Byrd.

The highest scoring opening game in major-league history was on April 1, 1925, when the Cleveland Indians topped the St. Louis Browns, 21-14.

Co. Attorney Killam dies

At the time of his death he was serving as chairman of the District 16 Lawyers Grievance Committee which comprises 13 West Texas counties.

He was also serving as a director with the Diamond M Foundation Board and was a 32nd Degree Mason and a member of the Snyder Shriners' Club. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

She survives him along with one brother, Fred G. Killam of Mountain Valley, Calif.

The family requests that memorials be made to the Texas Tech Ranching Heritage Center in Lubbock or the Scurry County Museum.

Regarding a replacement for Killam, a spokesman with the attorney general's office in Austin said Friday morning that the vacancy must be filled by an appointment from the Scurry County commissioners court.

Local attorney Gary Terrell won the Democratic nomination for the office in May and will be unopposed on the General Election ballot this November.

Frozen...

Produce child from embryo

ROTTERDAM, Netherlands (AP) — A Dutch doctor today announced the birth of an 8-pound, 14-ounce boy produced from a frozen embryo, the second such birth in the world.

The baby was born Thursday night at the Dijkzigt University Hospital, said Dr. A. Alberda, a gynecologist who was a member of the medical team that oversaw the procedure.

The infant was in "excellent condition," Alberda said.

The doctor refused to identify the parents, but said the mother had been treated for infertility for 10 years. Her Fallopian tubes are blocked, he said, and she could not conceive normally.

Alberda said an ovum from the prospective mother was surgically removed last October and fertilized with her husband's sperm in a laboratory dish.

Two days later, the resulting 16-cell embryo was frozen at minus 196 degrees Celsius (minus 385 degrees Fahrenheit), Albarda said. He said the embryo was frozen because the prospective mother's physical condition did not permit its immediate implantation in her womb.

The embryo was thawed a month later and implanted in the prospective mother's uterus, Alberda said.

In April, a team of doctors at Monash University in Melbourne, Australia, announced a woman there had given birth to a 5½-pound girl who was the world's first baby produced from a frozen embryo.

The use of frozen embryos has raised ethical and legal questions about whether or not the embryos are human beings with inheritance and other legal rights, and whether scientists are ethically obliged to try to allow them to develop.

Unemployed rate drops

OTTAWA (AP) — The number of unemployed dropped by 98,000 last month to 1,362,000 and the unempne marked the third month in a row that employment levels have increased, but added that these increases were limited to persons 25 years of age and older.

Unemployment among youth declined, the agency said. However, this was due in part to the fact that a larger than usual proportion of students were still in school when the survey was taken.

Thursday wrecks noted

Two minor traffic mishaps were reported in Snyder Thursday.

The first accident occurred at 2:11 p.m. in the 2500 Block of Ave. G. Involved vehicles were a 1982 Ford driven by Vickie Reed of Hermleigh and a 1973 Ford driven by Cynthia Alemany of 2810 Ave. H.

The day's second mishap was reported in the 2900 Block of 42nd St. at 4:23 p.m.

According to reports, a parked 1982 Mercury owned by Frank Ault of Snyder was struck by a 1975 Dodge driven by Kevin Lee Burns of 410 Ave. U.

No injuries were reported in either mishap.

Purse found, cash missing

Snyder police have recovering a purse reported stolen Wednesday in Towle Park, but some $400 in cash it reportedly contained was missing.

The purse, belonging Mrs. Joe Hood of Lancaster and said stolen from her 1983 Datsun in Towle Park Wednesday afternoon, was found and turned in to the Minute Market in east Snyder Thursday morning.

It was returned to Mrs. Hood Thursday afternoon. Several other items were missing from the purse also and police investigation of the theft is continuing.

Michael Rodriquez of 3730 Austin Ave. filed another misdemeanor theft report at 11:43 a.m. Thursday.

He told investigators that a yellow four-man tent had been stolen from Towle Park sometime Wednesday night.

In other action, city police jailed two subjects for public intoxication and one for disorderly conduct Thursday evening.

Red Sox slam Angels

by The Associated Press

The opposing teams were different. The strategy was the same. The batters were different. The result was the same. On consecutive nights, the Boston Red Sox rode grand slam home runs to slugfest victories.

Boston's Jim Rice was the hero on Wednesday night when his 10th-inning bases-loaded homer beat the Oakland Athletics 13-9. On Thursday night, Dwight Evans became the man of the hour when he homered with three aboard as the Red Sox downed the California Angels 12-7.

"It came my turn, and I'm happy about that," Evans, who was walked intentionally Wednesday to load the bases for Rice, said. "Yesterday they walked me and Jimmy got

On Thursday, with Boston ahead 7-2 and runners on second and third and two out in the fifth inning, the Angels decided to walk Wade Boggs intentionally and pitch to Evans.

The Boston right fielder drilled reliever Bruce Kison's first pitch into the center-field bleachers for his second career grand slam.

Right-hander Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd, 6-3, allowed California two quick runs on singles by Gary Pettis and Rod Carew and a triple by Fred Lynn. However, he settled down until he was shelled in the sixth when Doug DeCinces hit a three-run homer and Bobby Grich added a solo shot. Bob Stanley earned his 14th save by holding California to one run over the final 3 1-3 innings.

In other American League games Thursday, Toronto slugged Seattle 10-8; Chicago edged Cleveland 7-6; Milwaukee downed Oakland 7-5; Detroit rallied past Texas 7-4; Minnesota beat New York 5-4; and Kansas City at Baltimore was rained out.

In the National League, Philadelphia edged Atlanta 1-0 and Houston defeated Montreal 2-1. Also, it was New York 4, Cincinnati 3 in a game called after 8 1-3 innings because of rain; Chicago 9, San Francisco 3; St. Louis 3, Los Angeles 0, and San Diego 2, Pittsburgh 1.

Astros 2, Expos 1

At Montreal, Jerry Mumphrey doubled home a pair of first-inning runs, all the offense Mike LaCoss and Bill Dawley would need. LaCoss gave up three hits through eight innings, then Dawley surrendered one in the ninth to pick up his first save of the season; he had 14 last year.

Blue Jays 10, Mariners 8

Willie Upshaw snapped out of a hitting slump as he drove in four runs with two hits to pace Toronto. Upshaw, who entered the game with three hits in his last 42 at-bats and an 11-game streak without an RBI, singled in a run in Toronto's four-run first inning, then capped a four-run second with a bases-loaded triple.

Toronto starter Doyle Alexander, 7-4, held the Mariners to two runs on seven hits through six innings before Seattle erupted for four runs in the top of the seventh, three on Ken Phelps' 12th home run of the season.

White Sox 7, Indians 6

Greg Walker homered with two outs in the bottom of the ninth off Neal Heaton, 5-8, who was making his first relief appearance of the season. The White Sox had four other homers in the game - two by Carlton Fisk, who was reactivated only hours before the game from the disabled list; Greg Luzinski's sixth of the season and 300th of his career and Scott Fletcher's second of the season.

Brewers 7, Athletics 5

Jim Gantner and Robin Yount drove in two runs each and Ben Oglivie had three hits to lead Milwaukee to its season-high fifth straight victory.

Rollie Fingers, the third Milwaukee pitcher, registered his 18th save as he worked out of a one-out, bases-loaded jam in the top of the seventh. Carney Lansford drove in two runs for Oakland.

Tigers 7, Rangers 4

Kirk Gibson's three-run homer highlighted a six-run ninth inning as the Tigers snapped a four-game losing streak. Texas starter Charlie Hough, 8-7, entered the ninth inning with a 4-1 lead, having allowed five hits. With one out, Chet Lemon and Larry Herndon singled and, one out later, pinch hitter Johnny Grubb walked to load the bases.

Lou Whitaker singled to score two runs and Alan Trammell singled to tie the score. Gibson then followed with his 12th home run of the year to snap Hough's personal six-game winning streak and the Tigers' longest losing streak of the season.

Aurelio Lopez, 7-0, the third Tiger pitcher, was the winner, while Willie Hernandez got the last out in the bottom of the ninth for his 15th save. Gary Ward drove in three of the Texas runs with a single and a two-run double.

Twins 5, Yankees 4

Ron Washington's two-run triple was the first of five consecutive hits in the sixth inning as Minnesota rallied to raise its record to 41-40. New York starter Ron Guidry, 6-7, breezed along with a two-hitter through five innings before running into trouble in the bottom of the sixth.

Wimbledon at a glance

Despite Lloyd's thrashing of third seed Hana Mandlikova in the semifinals of the All England Lawn Tennis tournament, Jordan doesn't "give Chris much of a chance" in Saturday's final between the three-time Wimbledon champion and Navratilova, a four-time and defending Wimbledon champ and Grand Slam titlist.

"I hope she gives Martina a good match, but I have seen the past results, and it hasn't been that close," Jordan said after being ousted by Navratilova 6-3, 6-4 in Thursday's other semifinal.

In three previous title clashes on Wimbledon's Centre Court, Lloyd has yet to prevail over Navratilova.

On that historic turf today, John McEnroe, bidding to become the first American since Don Budge in 1938 to repeat as singles champion, faced an unexpected semifinal challenge from unseeded Pat Cash. The 19-year-old Australian right-hander gained the last four by ousting sixth seed Andres Gomez of Mexico in the quarterfinals.

The other men's semifinal featured No. 3 seed Jimmy Connors - playing in Wimbledon's semis for his eighth time - and No. 2 Ivan Lendl, the Czechoslovak ace who upended McEnroe in the finals of the French Open on clay four weeks ago.

Connors has the edge in his career series with Lendl, 11-5. But Lendl has won most of their recent meetings, including this year's Volvo Masters indoor tournament and the WCT Tournament of Champions at Forest Hills in New York on clay.

Club professional Price Courter indicated that everything is set for the annual Earl Fish Memorial Partnership, to be held this weekend at Snyder Country Club.

Contestants were taking practice rounds today and competing in a 9-hole optional sweepstakes. Tournament play begins Saturday with the first tee time at 8 a.m. The two-day tourney extends through Sunday.

Format is a scramble on Saturday and a low-ball on Sunday. Sixty teams have entered and been placed in six flights.

Courter said that Larry Anderson and Don Copeland will be back to defend their 1983 Earl Fish title. Anderson and Copeland also won the 1984 Pumpjack Tournament here.

"We're going to have a real strong championship flight. Well, every flight looks strong right now," said Courter, who noted the course was in "peak condition."

Several other flight winners return. Deryl Brock and Jim Phillips won the First Flight last year. Brock has teamed with Jim Tate this time around. Second Flight winners Tommy Lay and Ernie Armstrong are back but will play with Wayne Dodson and Rod Bailey respectively. Third Flight winners Pat Gilstrap and Mike Taylor also return with different partners. Gilstrap is playing with Herb Childs; Taylor with J.C. League.
