Mrs. Caruthers Is Banquet Honoree

Mrs. Lila Caruthers, secretary to C. T. McLaughlin of the Diamond M enterprises, was honored Wednesday night with a retirement banquet in the ballroom of the Snyder Country Club. Friends from a large area of West Texas gathered for the event.

Greeting guests with Mrs. Caruthers were Mr. and Mrs. C. T. McLaughlin and Mr. and Mrs. J. Mark McLaughlin.

The ballroom, as well as adjacent dining and bridge rooms which were opened to accommodate the crowd, were decorated with an arrangement of peonies centering the refreshment table. On the serving table was arrangement of peach blossoms set in a base of Easter eggs.

After extolling the virtues of Mrs. Caruthers as a person and a secretary, C. T. McLaughlin presented her with luggage "not only for going away but for coming back to see us," Mrs. Caruthers countered in tearful tones that the past 9 years in Snyder and with the Diamond M had been some of the most wonderful years she had had in her lifetime.

As emcee of the occasion, McLaughlin introduced and called upon a long list of acquaintances who added their touch of praise as to their feelings for Mrs. Caruthers.

Among those introduced were Reba Martin of Lubbock, Frank Kiehl of Colorado City, Joe McLaughlin of Lubbock, and John Sentell, Roger Mize, Theo Lamb, Art Blanchard and Lee Stinson, all of Snyder.

Mrs. Caruthers' daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Hirsch of Fort Worth, were also present.

Mrs. Caruthers, who first glimpsed Snyder at night through a maze of lighted oil drilling rigs 10 years ago, is leaving with "a mingled feeling of regret and anticipation," and is not sure of her future.

Senate Candidates Turning On Heat

By CLAYTON HICKERSON

Associated Press Staff Writer

The U. S. Senate race in Texas looked like a real fire-burner for the rest of the campaign Thursday as candidates turned on the heat in their drive for Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's former seat.

With the April 4 special election little more than two weeks away, most of the 71 candidates were giving it all they had. Some had little to give.

Interim Sen. William Blakely of Dallas, promising an all-out campaign until the voting begins, began a 4,153-mile vote hunt in which he said he would visit every section of the state in the next 20 days.

Blakely began Thursday at Childress and then moved on quickly to Shamrock. It was a long road ahead.

Snyderite Officer Of Association

COLLEGE STATION—Officers to serve the Texas Industrial Arts Association for the year 1961-62 have been announced following the recent meeting of the Association held at Texas A & M College. Billy Mayes of Crane high school, the new president, whose election was announced at the meeting, has been an industrial arts teacher for 22 years.

Other officers, announced today, include Benton Brockette, industrial arts teacher at LaMarque high school, vice president; Frank Miller, industrial arts teacher, Travis Jr. High, Snyder, re-elected secretary; and J. H. Ballard, assistant professor of industrial arts, Southwest Texas State College, San Marcos, was re-elected executive secretary.

President Mayes is a graduate of North Texas State College. Brockette is an A & M College and University of Houston graduate. Miller is a graduate of A & M and Sul Ross State College. Ballard is a graduate of SWTSU.

In addition to looking out for the natural gas industry, an enemy attack could paralyze the chemical and refining complex in Beaumont, tie up the Houston-Galveston ship canal area and wipe out other key industrial points, Wilson said.

Wilson said he would seek to be assured that both alert and defense systems for the area "were comparable to those in other sections of the nation." He said he also would seek to determine if Texas has an adequate National Guard and reserve program keyed to missiles and added "it is my understanding there is no adequate program of this type."

Full information and applications may be obtained from the post office or from the executive secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Dept. of the Army, Fort Hood, Tex.

Gary Vice Pledged To Club At NTSC

DENTON — Gary Edward Vice of Snyder is one of 11 new pledges to Talons, service organization for men active in campus leadership at North Texas State College.

Vice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie E. Vice, 2300 Avenue A, is a junior mathematics major. He is also a member of the Air Force ROTC and the Arnold Air Society, a club for outstanding ROTC members.

The U. S. Navy's nuclear submarines can travel faster submerged than on the surface.

The star Epsilon Aurigae has a diameter 2,000 times greater than that of the sun.

At the same time, Atty. General Will Wilson was visiting Houston and Rice University. State Sen. Henry Gonzalez hit Wichita Falls and planned to spend Friday and Saturday in Beaumont and Port Arthur.

Republican John Tower was in the Galveston-Houston area where he and Wilson possibly could cross paths. Maury Maverick Jr. was in East Texas. And Rep. Jim Wright campaigned close to his Fort Worth home.

The so-called "senate candidates" were all over the state, most of them campaigning near home, some making no campaign at all. Exceptions were William Glover of Amarillo, who was conducting a mail campaign; former FBI man Paul Eix of Dallas who toured the Borger-Pampa area and planned to be in Wichita Falls Friday; and Mrs. Martha Tredway, the Denton blonde who kept up a steady drum-fire on women's rights, mostly through B&WP clubs over the state.

Absentee voting, which started Wednesday, continued at a brisk pace in some county seats. Observers felt the large number of candidates might increase the absentee vote.

Fort Worth Local 98 of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks scheduled Wednesday against AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) endorsement of Maverick.

In a letter to Hank Brown, AFL-CIO state president, the local called COPE's endorsement of Maverick "a serious mistake" and added:

"We feel that Congressman Jim Wright is the only qualified candidate in the race."

It was the second talk by a labor group over the Maverick nod from COPE. A Fort Worth Machinists local already had said it was going for Wright instead.

Maverick, speaking in Groves, told a crowd not to send him to Washington. A senator from Texas who will lay an ambush on the New Frontier.

"I stand with John Kennedy," Maverick said. "I am the only man in this race who has endorsed the minimum wage. I am going to Washington to help John Kennedy and Ralph Yarborough."

Maverick's talk obviously was aimed at Blakley. But Gonzalez, who has had strong labor-liberal backing in the past, apparently answered his fellow townsman from San Antonio.

The man who becomes senator, Gonzalez said, "is going to have to have more than just the ability to win public office with empty, glowing statements." He continued:

"A candidate can get up and say he is for a minimum wage bill. But what good does a minimum wage do for a man who doesn't have a job?" Gonzalez spoke before 150 persons at a fund-raising dinner in San Antonio.

Tower's headquarters was busy with plans for the candidate's appearance Friday with Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the darling of the GOP's extreme right wing. Goldwater, a star of the 1960 Republican convention, will make appearances in Austin, San Antonio and Dallas with the former Wichita Falls teacher.

Arms Talks May Resume On Aug. 1

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

The United States and the Soviet Union were reported agreed today to renew disarmament negotiations next Aug. 1 provided they can also agree on basic principles for disarmament and the makeup of the negotiating group.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said Wednesday night he thought he and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko had "generally reached agreement" on a date for resumption of negotiations, which the Soviets broke off last June 27. He would not give the date but other sources said it was Aug. 1.

Earlier President Kennedy said at his news conference that the United States first suggested September and then "August at the latest" as the time to start. Stevenson said an hour's talk with Gromyko Wednesday, his third such in 10 days. He said he had arranged tentatively to see Gromyko again Friday and that they were working on a resolution to be submitted to the General Assembly.

Stevenson said the resolution was intended to cover the time and place for new negotiations.

The composition of the new negotiating committee and some basic principles for disarmament.

This indicated that the United States had made a concession. Other diplomats said privately that at early meetings with Gromyko, Stevenson had opposed mentioning principles in any resolution since the new Kennedy administration had not yet formulated its disarmament policy. Kennedy told his news conference his experts are "working full time on developing an American position."

Stevenson said the United States is urging a 10-nation negotiating committee and the Soviet Union a 10-nation group. Some information in touch with the discussions expected the two would agree on a membership of 12—the last 10-nation East-West disarmament committee plus Mexico as chairman and India as committee reporter, with both the new members fully empowered to negotiate.

Father Happy Over Birth Of New Quads

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "A gift of God," exclaimed William W. Cutaiar III after his young wife gave birth to quadruplet girls Wednesday night.

"It's quite a feeling," he said. "I'm more or less starting to get back to reality. But tell me, what do you do with four at once? I still don't know. I can't imagine what it will be like taking care of four at once."

"Do you have children?" Well, four times one. Let's put it that way. But just how the heck we didn't slip a boy in there I don't know.

"She (the mother) was really excited and trying to think of names. 'What will I name them,' she kept repeating, and all this and that. She's just so happy. I'll let her name them."

"We thought they were going to be boys, so we picked out names after the disciples — Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. Now we'll have to change all that."

As for the babies and their mother, 24, a supervisor at Delaware County Hospital in Upper Merion, Pa., said this report: "The mother is doing well. The babies are holding their own. We haven't weighed them yet but I estimate they weigh from 2 1/2 to 3 pounds. They have been placed in isolettes (similar to incubators) because they need all the oxygen they can get."

The infants were born seven weeks ahead of schedule. Dr. J. Vernon Eliason, who delivered the quadruplets with help from nine other physicians, said that this is not unusual in multiple births.

Cutaiar, 26, who helps his father operate a transportation firm in Kennett Square, Pa., said he and his wife had been told about four weeks ago to expect quadruplets.

The Cutaiars moved from their three bedroom home in nearby Paoli into his parents' five bedroom home in suburban Devon because of the new additions. The couple has two other children, William IV, 4, and Sherree, 3.

Next time you can see the delivery of the quadruplets. The Cutaiars are planning to have the babies delivered in a hospital.

THIS MOUTHWATERING pizza is made in handy fashion on a twelve inch circle of quilted broiling foil instead

Make Your Own Pizza With Handy Broiling Foil

From all indications, it seems that the pizza is just as popular with adults these days as it is with the youngsters. The savory combination of crisp crust crowned with tantalizing tomato sauce and chewy cheese is hard to resist, no matter what your age group.

Pizzas, of course, come into their own as a party snack. Sliced into thin, manageable pieces or cut in small rounds with a cookie cutter, the pizza becomes an elegant canapé.

Next time you are entertaining, try the delicious recipe below. As you can see, there's no need to rush out and buy pizza pie pans. All you need is a handy roll of quilted broiling foil.

"An easy do-it-yourself project, you can improvise by cutting twelve inch circles out of the quilted broiling foil. The pizza dough is then spread out on each circle and is ready for the oven in a jiffy."

PARTY PIZZA

- 1 cake of pie yeast
 - 1 cup lukewarm water
 - 1/4 teaspoon sugar
 - 3/4 cups sifted flour
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 2 tablespoons softened shortening
 - 1/4 cup olive oil
 - 1/4 cup tomato paste
 - 1/4 cup tomato sauce
 - Rubbed oregano leaves
 - Finely cut parsley
 - Very finely cut garlic
 - Sliced Parmesan cheese
 - Sliced salami
 - Sliced Mozzarella cheese
 - Sliced ripe olives
 - Salt & Pepper
 - Quilted Broiling Foil
- Soften or dissolve yeast in combined water and sugar for 5 minutes. Sift flour and salt in bowl; stir in yeast and shortening until well mixed. Knead on floured strip of broiling foil until smooth and elastic. Oil bowl, add dough formed into a ball. Cover with oiled broiling foil and let stand in warm place until about double in bulk 1 1/2-2 hours.
- Preheat oven to moderately hot 400 degrees F.; Cut two 14" circles from quilted broiling foil. Divide dough in half. Stretch

STRAIGHT, NARROW

Keep plant slips straight while you're rooting them. Place a piece of heavy paper over the water-filled tumbler. Fasten it in place with a rubber band. Insert the flower slip through a cut in the center of the paper.

Has a large, sprawling room got you beaten? Use clear or patterned glass blocks—available now in shade green or shade aqua—in a wood frame for a handsome, easy-to-build room divider.

Winesburg & Peyton Place In Texas

The sons and daughters. By Patricia Gallagher.

Years ago Sherwood Anderson wrote a collection of stories called "Winesburg, Ohio," which caused quite a stir. It disclosed graphically how an outwardly placid and desolate little town was peopled by individuals who felt the scourges of worldly frustration, sex and human fate as vividly as their brothers and sister fancier surroundings.

This book is entitled "A Novel of Texas Today," but it could have happened in Winesburg. And it has enough sex in it for Peyton Place.

It is about Jill Turner, daughter of a crude and insensitive mother, in a forsaken little town which also happens to contain Tommy Evans, the "misunderstood" son of a banker. Tommy is a ladies' man, and one of the ladies is Cerise Worth, a man - crazy female from a respectable family, who is doomed to go down to a pretty sordid end.

On the rebound from an affair with Cerise, Tommy seduced Jill, then leaves town. Eventually Jill's life resolves a fairly stable adjustment in the understanding protection of Harry Morgan, the town newspaperman.

There is a contemporary theme underlying this narrative, involving segregation and miscegenation, plus a fine bit of irony. Cerise's father, fustly old Judge Worth has some notions of getting into politics until the day he berates Cerise for being civil on the street to a Negro who visits the town. Then the judge's wife lets him have it — the knowledge that she is an octonion and their daughter not quite as white as he had assumed.

There are awkward passages in this first novel, and the narrative lags here and there, but the author comes pretty close to making you believe Jill has matured at the end, and that Tommy would have turned into the creature he finally is. Oddly enough, it is the pitiful Cerise whose tragedy strikes the clearest note of reality.

Captain And Heroic Lady

ANNIE'S CAPTAIN. By Kathryn Hulme.

Sometimes books are like certain people. They grow on you. Annie Bolles and her captain, John Cavarly, were real people. Their story unfolds slowly and imperceptibly until finally it takes a good hold on you.

When you stop to think why, you realize it is because they have character, a commodity in rather short supply in many corners of the land these days. Not that Miss Hulme beats you over the head with this thought, or with a "message." It just comes naturally.

John Cavarly was a Connecticut Yankee who ran off to sea and became a clipper captain. Annie was a passenger on his first passage as a skipper. He wooed and won her as they rounded the Cape and they were married in San Francisco. The book is the story of their lives, their family and the captain's career.

It was no small career. The Captain lost his favorite clipper to a Confederate, ironclad, and made the transition to steam vessels because he knew he had to. He became the best skipper in the Pacific Mail service and never lost a ship to shoals, storm or fire. He achieved that record because he had Yankee pride in the perfection of his skills and a stubborn Yankee insistence on the rules of the sea.

Annie was an heroic figure too. In the way the seafarers' wives have to be, and you will understand why the captain's heart broke when she died.

Miss Hulme, who wrote "The Nun's Story," had good reason to bring this story to print and be proud of it. Annie and the captain were her grandparents.

Jaycee-ettes Name New Club Officers

The Jaycee-ettes met for their regular meeting at the Martha Ann Woman's Club recently, with the president, Mrs. Ken Baker presiding.

Mrs. Gene Thompson gave a report on the Woman's Club tasting tea held last Friday. Mrs. Johnny Greenfield and Mrs. Thompson were hostess at the Jaycee-ettes "Randy Kitchen."

The club elected new officers for the 1961 club year. They are: Mrs. Billy Joe Brown, president; Mrs. Doug McGowan, vice president; Mrs. John Jarrell, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Gene Thompson, reporter; and Mrs. Howard Gray, historian. The new two-year directors are Mrs. Gerald Pullig and Mrs. David Harlin, Jr.

The club also elected the most outstanding Jaycee-ette for 1960. The vote was by secret ballot and the winner will be announced at the annual installation of officers on April 11.

At the close of the business session the hostess, Mrs. David Harlin, Jr. served refreshments to 11 members, one guest, Mrs. Gene Williams and one new member, Mrs. Bob Roemisch.

Between You And Me

BY JERRY JACKSON

Several Tiger thinclads are making their presence felt in state track and field circles, with several of their performances being high up on the schoolboy "best" lists.

The most notable is Jess (The Jet) Crawford's 18.9 stepping in the 180-yard low hurdles, which is the season's top effort in marking up the time in the Border Olympic preliminaries, and went on to win the event in the final running, his third first place in as many meets entered. He's two-tenths of a second under his nearest competitor in the lows, with second place David Bailey of Arlington Heights, next in line with a 19.1 clocking.

Crawford is also tied for ninth with a host of others in the 100-yard dash picture, having run a 9.9 to gain the honor. Boyd Timmons, a Houston Milby flash, has the shiniest time of all, a 9.6.

Tiger dasher John Weaver, still looking for his initial out-and-out victory in the 220-yard dash, has managed to push his toes to the point that his 22.0 ranks him seventh in the state behind Jim Tarr's (Pasadena) top effort of 21.5.

The fast-stepping "Flying Dutchman" 440 foursome as fielded by the Tigers ranks fifth statewide with a 43.1 second non-winning time. Weaver, Crawford, Mike Morris and Bobby Brown have composed the crack quartet, which has taken through much of the season, although Box Calloway subbed for Brown in the recent Border Olympics as held in Laredo. Ahlens, with 42.4, leads the state field in that event.

Brown hit off a healthy 21.3" chunk for first place in the Canyon Reef broad jump competition. That distance ranks him seventh over the state, with Billy Foster of Sunset being top hand with a 23' 11" bridging.

I Hadda Do It May very well get sued for libel, but this is something that needs to be told. It concerns a pretty fair-sized wagger that Tommy Irwin and Michie Brown made on the Patterson-Johansson fight of Monday.

Seems that Tommy took the Swede and bet the Empire State Building on him, while Michie laid the Rattleship Missouri on the champ's nose. Brown won, of course, and has been trying unsuccessfully all week to collect. Nothing new on it yet, though.

And speaking of libel, that Great Debate which was to parallel those of Lincoln-Douglas and Kennedy-Nixon—i.e., Sullivan-Paar—never did make it off the launching pad, did it?

One thing for pretty sure, though, is that it's beyond the shadow of a reasonable doubt the Greatest Debate that never did get debated, which should serve as a consolation of sorts.

Baylor, Rice To Launch Campaigns WACO (AP)—Baylor and the Rice Owls open their Southwest Conference baseball campaign here today.

Right-hander Bobby Barnett, who had a 7-2 record last season, will pitch for the Bears. Sophomore Marky Murdock and seven lettermen will back up Barnett.

Duel Looming In Cleveland Indoor Track

By LARRY FRIEDMAN CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The 600-yard run takes the spotlight in the final indoor track meet of the season Friday night when Jamaican's George Kerr, who holds the world record, faces a stiff challenge from Dave Mills of Purdue.

Kerr, a graduate student at the University of Illinois, is the defending champion in the Knights of Columbus meet. He snapped two-tenths of a second off the world record time of 1:47.2. Two years ago Mills beat Josh Culbreath, then the national champ, with a blazing finish. Last year Mills was bothered by an ankle injury and finished fourth.

The Purdue junior showed he was in good form a week ago by racing away with the 600 title in Milwaukee in 1:10.9. He wasn't even pressed. Kerr, a two-time Olympian for the British West Indies, won the 1,000-yard run in Milwaukee.

With Kerr and Mills going all out, the meet mark of 1:10.8, set in 1950 by Mal Whitfield, seems in danger.

The mile run, lacking a big star, shapes up as a test between Ed Moran, former Penn State star who was runner-up in 1960, the veteran Charley Jones, and Jerry Ashmore of Western Michigan.

Another record may fall in the two-mile relay when Manhattan's world record-setting quarter 7:32.8 faces a powerful Yale foursome. The R of C meet mark is 7:44.5, set by Penn State two years ago when Moran anchored a brilliant final leg.

Fourteen out of 17 members of the 1960-61 University of Kentucky basketball team hail from the Blue Grass State.

REGIONAL PLAYOFFS START

Tech, Cincy In NCAA Headliner

By TED MEIER Associated Press Sports Writer

The stage is set for a merry weekend scramble in college basketball's postseason tournaments. Southern California, Arizona State University and Houston beat Oregon, Seattle and Marquette, respectively, Wednesday night and became the last teams to qualify for Friday's opening play in the NCAA regionals at Charlotte, Louisville, Lawrence, Kan., and Portland, Ore.

The hectic activity starts tonight with the quarter-finals in the NCAA small college tournament at Evansville, Ind., the opening of the National Invitation Tournament at New York, and the quarter-finals in the NIAA tourney at Kansas City. Southern Cal., down 36-27 at the half, rallied to beat Oregon 81-79. Arizona State, behind by 11 points at halftime, also bounced back to nip Seattle 72-70 on Gerry Hahn's field goal in the last second. Houston took an early 12-2 lead and went on to wallopp Marquette 77-61.

This is the picture for Friday's opening games in the NCAA regionals. Louisville, Lawrence, Kan., and Portland, Ore. East at Charlotte, N. C. — Princeton (18-6) vs. St. Joseph's of Philadelphia (22-4). St. Bonaventure (23-3) vs. Wake Forest (18-10).

Midwest at Louisville, Ky. — Ohio State (24-0) vs. Louisville

(20-7). Morehead (19-10) vs. Kentucky (18-8). Midwest at Lawrence, Kan. — Cincinnati (23-3) vs. Texas Tech (14-9). Houston (17-9) vs. Kansas State (21-4).

Far West at Portland, Ore. — Utah (21-6) vs. Los Angeles Loyola (19-4). Southern California (21-6) vs. Arizona State (22-5).

In the NIT tonight it's St. Louis (18-8) against Miami of Florida (20-6) and Holy Cross (19-4) against Detroit (18-8).

The NCAA small college quarter-finals pit South Dakota State against U Calif (Santa Barbara), Williams against Wittenberg, Southeast Missouri against the University of Chicago and Austin Peay against Mt. St. Mary's.

In the NAIA round of eight it will be Grambling vs. Anderson, Westminster (Pa.) vs. Winston-Salem, Southwest Texas vs. Northern Michigan and Georgetown (Ky.) vs. Central Oklahoma.

Volleyball In Rio Grande Links Meet Nears Finals

Plenty of action, with there being lots more to come, has key-noted the early Travis Junior High girls volleyball action.

Instead of a team from each of the three grades, there have been formed "A" and "B" delegations drawn from the entire school, with Miss Janell Slayden at the coaching helm of both. Both will eventually engage Lamar, Big Spring, Rannels, Big Spring, Goliad, Lamesa, Colorado City and Roscoe in a double round robin home-and-home setup.

In the initial venture of the year, the Travis "A" team peppered Lamar, 25-11, as Sherry Lee showed the way in the high serving role. Lamar was victorious in the "B" tilt, 19-16.

Rannels downed the Travis "A" girls by 36-22 in other recent action, with Barbara Savage pacing the losing effort. The "B" team also went under before Rannels, dropping a 66-43 contest. Dawne Schaefer was top server for Travis "A" in that one, as she also was in the above loss to Lamar.

The past Tuesday night saw Travis engaging Goliad, with the "A" team getting clipped, 38-30, despite a season's high point spurge of 15 as contributed by Miss Savage. Goliad also reigned supreme in the "B" game of the same evening, 65-47, as Mary Waters led the way for the losing sextet.

The next action for the two Travis teams will take place Monday, at which time they will hit the road for a pair of games against Colorado City.

Across town—in the Lamar camp—activity is also abundant, with there being a comparable slate of games coming up for both the "A" and "B" teams of Miss Mary Lou Devenport.

Janice Cartwright led the above losing "A" onslaught against Travis with 9 points, and also paced her team to an earlier 46-43 victory over Colorado City with 14 to her credit. Since then the Lamar girls have beaten the C-Citians by a top heavy 30-14, with Ann Littlefield being tops for the winners.

Barbara Schobel topped the effort in her "B" team's 19-16 win over Travis, while Hazel Williams of Lamar "B" was the high server in an early 24-7 loss to Colorado City.

The Lamar girls will be playing Rannels in Big Spring this afternoon, then will go to Goliad Tuesday.

Nutria Rodeo Scheduled

PORT ARTHUR (AP)—The Sabine-Neches Sportsmen's Club is set to stage the Southwest's first Nutria Rodeo here Friday and Saturday.

Maurice Conerly, general chairman, says the purpose of the rodeo is to encourage nutria hunting as a sport in order to reduce their numbers.

Conerly says nutria, a very ugly, fat rat-like rodent, is fine food when properly prepared. Prizes will be awarded to winners of contests for killing the most nutria, killing the largest nutria, and eating the most nutria.

Conerly says that in some sections of the North, the animals are barbecued and canned. Dollar memberships in the Sportsmen's Club will be sold at the rodeo and members can eat all the nutria they want. It will be barbecued and fried.

Trip Through Israel Brings Visions Of Ancient Pilgrims

BY INEZ ROBB
NAZARETH, Israel—The drive from Tel Aviv to Nazareth is lovely. The sun is bright and warm, the landscape is a cold winter at home. The Mediterranean, blue as faded, is never far distant on one side and on the other is a checker board of plowed black fields alternating with those of lush Irish green.

And everywhere on the land is a tangle of wild flowers—the Biblical flowers of the wild mustard, yellow as gold, and the native myrtle, blue as the Mediterranean, and a small ground creeper the shade of amethyst. Always on the horizon there are the soft outlines of the mountains.

One drives along excellent roads at a leisurely pace. At Caesarea, the Roman capital of Palestine for a half-century, there is the beginning of the Carmel Valley and Mount Carmel, so closely associated with the prophet Elijah.

I am on my way to Nazareth in this pre-Lenten season, to the village in Galilee that might, like the imperial city of Caesarea, have crumbled into the dust save for the miracle that was its destiny. How much more likely that Nazareth, at the time with its 400 to 500 population of poor laborers, should disappear than the Roman capital of Palestine with its great and golden harbor.

For Caesarea, founded by Herod and renamed for Caesar Augustus more than three centuries later, is today a collection of impressive ruins that Israeli archeologists are sifting from the sand. They are uncovering two distinct periods—the Roman and the Crusades.

Israel is like Greece and the city of Rome. It is an archeologist's paradise. One can scarcely put a spade into the ground without striking an ancient shard of some kind.

Only a few months ago still more extensive ruins, perhaps a palace, were uncovered in Caesarea.

For centuries in the Middle Ages the Crusaders poured through Caesarea in their quest of the Holy Land. They left as one of the monuments the Crusaders' harbor, built on Roman ruins. Snatched from the encroaching sands, it already reveals a broad picturesque moor at the very edge of the Mediterranean.

Who can look at its ruins today and not visualize the immemorial pilgrims, more often poor, forlorn and barefoot than rich, armed and horsed, who poured through that gateway to reach Nazareth and the

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP)—Pvt. Bill Parish, 22, Marshall, Tex. Negro, and Sam Hargett of New Bern received long prison terms Wednesday in the robbery-slaying of a white Ft. Bragg soldier.

Parish pleaded guilty at his trial last month. He was assessed a sentence of 15 to 20 years.

Hargett was convicted Tuesday and was sentenced to 17 to 20 years.

Superior Court Judge Jack W. Hooks deferred sentencing Parish until Hargett's trial was completed.

The pair were convicted of manslaughter in the death of S. Sgt. Paul Winegardner, 36, of Omar, W. Va., last Jan. 4.

The two defendants blamed each other for the death. Two other soldiers were absolved of blame by police.

Office Boys Tired Of Hearing This

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks an office boy gets tired of hearing: "Hey, boy, get a move on!" "When I worked as an office boy, I got $7.50 a week and was glad to get it. Now they want $90 to start—and they think they're doing you a favor."

"I can stand everything about this except that duck-tail haircut. Every time he goes to the men's room he spends half an hour combing it while he looks at himself in the mirror."

"If you don't mind, young man, would you please wear an ordinary suit coat tomorrow? We're not exactly an old-fashioned firm, but we still feel a black leather jacket is a bit out of place in a business office."

"I realize a growing boy needs plenty of sleep, Henry, but couldn't you somehow manage to get it at home?"

"Hey, boy! How about trotting down to the drug store and getting us two cartons of black coffee, a couple crullers, and a ham and cheese on rye? If there's any change left over, get yourself a doughnut."

"I hate to ask you to take it back, Henry, but after all I did tell you I wanted mine without mayonnaise."

"Henry's ambitious. He's always doing something to improve himself. Right now he's taking a correspondence school course in hairdressing."

"Don't fret about the pimples, kid. You'll outgrow them. Then you can start worrying about your hair falling out."

"Yep, Henry. I began as an office boy just like you—47 years ago. Next month I retire on pension—$200 a month, the same amount you're getting now. Not bad, eh?"

"Just tell me one thing—why does he always walk around with that transistor radio ghed to his ear? Is it stuck there?"

"I don't mind that so much. It's the expression on his face while he's listening to it that gives me the creeps."

"Oh, they all look dopey at that age. It's their adenoids or something."

"It's against my policy to borrow money from office boys. Henry, but could you let me have a fast five? I've got a sure tip on a horse in the third race."

"Don't kid Henry too much about those three little hairs on his head. He's trying to grow a beard. He's decided to become a bearnik."

"Hey, boy! Take these—"

Junior Editors Quiz on OLD WEAPONS

QUESTION: Where did scimitars come from?

ANSWER: A scimitar is a type of sword. The sword is one of the oldest of all fighting weapons. The earliest swords we know about were short, two-edged weapons made of bronze. The most modern fighting swords are bayonets—blades a foot or more long, attached to the ends of rifles. The scimitar was an early sword with a curved blade. It was the favorite weapon of peoples of the East, especially the Arabs and Persians. Damascus, Syria, was known for its production of fine scimitar blades.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look for curved scimitars when you see sword displays in museums.

(Patty Hufford of Lilly, Pa., wins $10 for this question. Send your question to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, care of this paper.)

Council Opposed To Parochial Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—A national council of churches official said today he is sure a majority of his governing body "would be opposed to loans for parochial school construction."

The Rev. Dr. Gerald K. Knoff, executive secretary of the Division of Christian Education of the

Boone Still Keeping His Irons Hot

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Daniel Boone still keeps his irons hot, but these days they're not for shooting.

This Boone is Daniel the sixth—a direct descendant of the Indian fighter who, legend says, "killed a b'ar when he was only three."

But this Boone's irons are of a different type than those used by his famous forefather.

His iron is solid and he uses it to make hand-wrought ornamental iron work.

The black smoke curling from his open coal forge seemed out of place in the formal gardens here where he displayed his tools and handicraft. So did the 21-pound anvil standing nearby.

But these are the main tools of Boone, the artist, who is visiting here in connection with the opening of Hammond Gardens.

The tall, angular Boone, now 58, has been doing iron work for more than 40 years.

"I was called a smithy when I was 15," he said. "I shot horses and built wagons for 18 years before I started doing ornamental iron work."

He met Mrs. Horace Hammond, owner of the gardens, about 10 years ago when she visited his native Brunsville, N.C., 100 miles from where Daniel the first grew up on the Yadkin River.

Boone said "he did much of the ornamental iron work used in colonial restoration work at Williamsburg, Va."

"Much of that was interior work," he said, "hinges, knobs, hammers."

Aside from the open forges, Boone uses large air hammers when he starts shaping a piece of iron.

"But all of my work is finished by hand," he added.

What about his famous ancestor? "I only know what the history books say about my famous relative. And I've never killed a b'ar."

No Opposition To Postponing Trial

BOSTON (AP)—U. S. A. y. Elliot L. Richardson has indicated he will not oppose a motion to delay the tax evasion trial of industrialist Bernard Goldfine for at least 60 days.

U. S. District Judge George C. Sweeney will hear Friday a motion by Goldfine's counsel, E. Roy Williams, to put off the trial. Williams' motion said "recent prejudicial and inflammatory publicity in the Boston press has made it impossible for the defendant to obtain a fair and impartial trial in this district at this time."

Goldfine is charged with evading nearly $600,000 in income taxes.

South Africa To Face Lonely Road

Editor's Note—Associated Press Correspondent Arthur L. Gavshon is a South African who for 15 years has covered the international scene from London. Gavshon makes frequent visits to his homeland and combines intimate knowledge of South African politics with wide experience of African affairs generally.

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—With hardly a friend in the world, South Africa's white supremacy government today faces a future loaded with loneliness and packed with the peril of deepening black-white enmity.

Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's decision to quit the British Commonwealth, carrying enormous implications, both for his own apartheid state and for Britain's alliance of nations.

To the tragic land at the southernmost tip of Africa it signaled an explosive new phase in the white man's struggle to preserve mastery over the dark majority.

To Britain's worldwide association it marked a stunning shift in the power balance for the mother country to fledgling states of Africa and Asia whose people outnumber white commonwealth citizens 5 to 1.

Several questions remain to be answered before a clear pattern emerges for South Africa's future. But several definite developments can be foreseen in the wake of the Lancaster House conference of Commonwealth prime ministers this week.

The questions: Will the white South Africans of British descent quit Verwoerd's Boers in rallying unrepentant behind the prime minister to reinforce the application of his strict race laws?

Will the Commonwealth nations keep the door open in an implied invitation to the South African people to set up a new government with moderate race policies that could return to the fold?

Will Britain try to ease the rupture of South Africa's Commonwealth ties by offering special trading, political and even military arrangements?

The certainties: Verwoerd's break will fan the flames of controversy in South Africa over his racial policies and the almost total isolation he has chosen.

The Afrikaner leader will search for new political and economic alignments with France and West Germany, which he is visiting next week, and with colonial Portugal and Sir Roy Welenski.

Will the majority sentiment would be in hearty agreement with the positions of the President of the United States and the secretary of health education and welfare, he said.

"In all candor I must say that there would be others who would not object in theory to loans to be repaid at the prevailing rate of interest," he added. "But what many of these persons might support in theory, they will not in fact support, because of unhappy accumulated experience."

The National Council of Churches represents Protestant and orthodox churches which it says have 38 million members in all.

A group of prominent Protestant and Jewish clergy and lay leaders Wednesday issued a statement begging the Roman Catholic hierarchy not to oppose public school aid if parochial school loans are not included.

The statement said this might defeat the entire school aid program.

"Apart from the grave constitutional issues involved, it would be most unfortunate for a major church to press its own interests in a way that would threaten the strengthening of the basic educational system," the statement said.

"And we would greatly deplore the alignment of religious and church groups on opposing sides in a matter of fundamental national interest, especially at a time when these relations are being improved in many directions."

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the Senate Democratic leader, pledged he will seek speedy action on a private and parochial school loan bill if the Senate passes President Kennedy's $2.3 billion aid to education measure.

Kennedy's bill excludes any aid to private and parochial elementary and secondary schools. The Roman Catholic hierarchy has said it must oppose any aid to education bill that does not include loans for parochial schools.

Mansfield applauded Kennedy's new conference statement Wednesday that the administration is ready to cooperate with Congress in studies of the constitutionality of church school loans. Mansfield, like Kennedy, is a Roman Catholic.

The Democratic leader suggested in an interview that the issue of parochial school assistance might be met by bringing two bills before Congress.

Some Catholic church leaders have expressed the feeling that separate parochial school bill would have little chance of passage if Congress acts first on public educational assistance.

Mansfield said he could make no guarantees on that score. But he said he believed the Senate might have a better chance of passage than a single measure combining the two proposals.

She's Qualified To Extend Sympathy

BURLINGAME, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. John Hillyard was sacking potatoes in a self-service grocery store when a woman beside her remarked something about how "many" people we mothers have to feed.

Then she added, somewhat apologetically: "I'm expecting my 12th child. I suppose you are going to ask, 'How do you do it?'"

"Well, I know just how you feel about that question."

"I already have 12."

Texans In Steady Surge To Cities

AUSTIN (AP) — The steady surge of Texans toward the city was dramatized today in statistics by the Texas Municipal League.

The league outlined "several spectacular trends" plus "the less-publicized but highly important steadiness of population increases during the 1950s in smaller Texas cities."

"Texas now has more cities in the '100 largest' category nationally than any other state," the league said. These nine are Houston (7), Dallas (14), San Antonio (17), Fort Worth (34), El Paso (44), Austin (67), Corpus Christi (74), Amarillo (88) and Lubbock (94).

Ten years ago 62.7 per cent of the state population lived in urbanized areas, the league said. Today the proportion is three-fourths. "Texas urban population increased 25 per cent more during the 1950 decade than the total population increase for the state," the league said.

Thirty-nine Texas cities and towns of less than 10,000 in 1950 more than doubled their population during the decade and 4 increased population by more than 1,000 per cent.

Starvation Of Indians Is Denied

FORT HALL, Idaho (AP) — Officials recommended distribution of surplus foods on the Fort Hall Indian Reservation, but denied reports there was starvation among the 2,500 Shoshone-Bannock Indians.

Freil Owl, agency superintendent and himself a Cherokee Indian, said many of the Indians were living in substandard conditions but none were suffering from malnutrition.

Richard Varner, a social worker on the $25,000-acre reservation, said the standard of living of many "is grossly substandard, with some families in this condition by choice and others through no fault of their own."

County commissioners who toured the reservation Wednesday said there was no starvation but recommended federal surplus food be distributed.

Woman Writes To Kin Every Day

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Every day for 25 years Mrs. Edward Dodd has written a postcard to a member of her family, most of them in short-hand.

"It's no chore. There's plenty to say, and postcards are cheap and convenient," she explained. One sister in Somerset, Mrs. Edwin Roberts, replies in short-hand.

Mrs. Dodd's husband buys the cards 50¢ at a time but he'll have to increase the order next year. Their daughter leaves for college and she plans to learn shorthand "so I can send notes home in code."

The state's four fastest-growing cities during the 1950s are Irving (1,654 per cent), Mesquite (1,323 per cent), Farmers Branch (1,289 per cent) and Richardson (1,204 per cent), all in Dallas County.

Between 1950 and 1960 population increases were recorded by 7 per cent of the towns sized 5,000 to 10,000.

The league indicated 80 per cent of the state's population will be in urban areas by 1970.

"Our studies indicated that population growth within Texas is coming principally in five areas: The Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area, the Gulf Coast area extending from the Lower Rio Grande Valley to Orange; the area following the Balcones fault line (Central Texas, including Austin); the West Texas Permian Basin area; and the western half of the Panhandle."

"Experience during the 1950s, however, reminds us that growth can happen anywhere," said league Director Steve Matthews.

"Some of the most spectacular municipal growth in Texas during the past 10 years came in single cities which benefited from the location of a manufacturing plant, such as Lake Jackson, Ingleside, Rockdale, Grand Prairie, Daisierfield and Arlington."

"The greatest mistake that any small city in Texas can make at this time is to assume that there is no need to plan for the future."

Shoe Shine Puts Officer On Shelf

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Policeman M. C. Cangelosi was polishing his shoes before starting his tour of duty.

When he bent over to put the final fillop on the left toe Wednesday a .38-caliber pistol tucked under his belt fell to the floor and discharged.

Police Chief C. H. Anderson's report said Cangelosi will be off duty about 30 days.

Judge Suspends Beaumont DA

BEAUMONT (AP) — A judge suspended Dist. Atty. Ramon Griffin Wednesday after a grand jury said it would not continue its work if Griffin was in office.

The grand jurors returned two indictments accusing C. H. Helms, Port Arthur juke box man, of paying, and a justice of the peace and a town marshal of accepting bribes.

Dist. Judge Harold Clayton, who suspended Griffin, appointed W. G. Walley Jr. acting district attorney.

The state Supreme Court upheld Clayton's jurisdiction Tuesday after Atty. Gen. Will Wilson sought Griffin's ouster through the district court.

The grand jury had returned 14 other indictments Tuesday linking Sheriff C. H. Mayer, three other peace officers and Helms in bribery charges.

All the indictments said Helms paid for assurances there would be no interference with his operation of pin ball machines.

Wilson's suit against Griffin alleged that he conspired to let the machines operate in return for promised payoffs. He accused Griffin of official misconduct and incompetence.

Griffin denied all the charges.

Since the House General Investigating Committee began inquiry in this area in January, the grand jury has indicted 21 persons on charges of gambling.

The grand jury also indicted former Police Chief Garland Douglas of Port Arthur, Constable O'Neil Provost of Port Arthur and Constable G. B. Graham of Groves.

Port Arthur Justice of Peace Lloyd Blanchard was charged in a new indictment with accepting two bribes of $25 each. Groves town Marshal George Walker was accused of accepting two bribes of $50 each. Both allegedly came from Helms.

The grand jury said Helms twice paid Meyer $200, Douglas $500 and Provost and Graham $75 each.

Helms is named in 12 indictments and there are two against each of the other six men.

County Agent Billy Roach spoke to members of the Snyder Kiwanis Club at their luncheon meeting Wednesday.

Roach discussed the County 4-H Club program and its activities.

President Frank Stephenson presided at the meeting, and several visitors attended.

Charges Against Coogan Dismissed

MALIBU, Calif. (AP) — Actor Jackie Coogan, just recovered from the mumps, felt even better when a court dismissed a misdemeanor narcotics charge against him.

Justice Arthur C. Miller ruled Wednesday there was insufficient evidence to prosecute.

Coogan, 46, and three others were arrested at his home Jan. 7. Two were not charged and the
