MEXICANS STONE AMERICAN TO DEATH

History's Worst Flood Threatens Pennsylvania

ICE BLOCKADE ACROSS RIVER HOLDS WATER

Artificial Dam Expected To Break, Releasing Reservoir

TOWN INUNDATED

U. S. Army Engineer After Survey Expresses Concern

OIL CITY, Pa., March 23.—(AP)—The menace of another flood hovered over Oil City tonight.

With a portion of its business district already submerged by backwaters from the Allegheny river ice gorge, the city faced the possibility of a more disastrous flood through the threatened break up of ice jammed near Warren.

Franklin also was apprehensive over the danger of a serious flood extending to that city. About 3,000 fete of ice broke away from the gorge between Franklin and Oil City today and lodged against the larger ice pack at Brandon. Weather observers believed the breaking away of the ice was an indication that the gorges are breaking up. Movement of the Oil City jam would relieve that city but would endanger Franklin, if the Brandon mass holds.

Adding to the seriousness of the situation a drizzling rain fell at intervals today. Weather observers estimated a half inch of rain had fallen and that it was causing the river to rise two inches an hour.

Much apprehension was felt when it was reported that the gorge at Kinsean, about 60 miles north was on its way downstream. The report was unfounded and was attributed to local ice movements. Observers believed, however, a movement of the Kinseau gorge could be expected at any time.

For the moment Oil City was most free of flood waters. Oil creek, whose sudden rise yesterday sent scores scurrying from office buildings, had receded until only a portion of Seneca Street and other low lying sections were submerged. Business and industry remained suspended, most of the industrial shops being located along the water front.

ENGINEER DECLARES FLOOD WILL BE BAD.

PITTSBURGH, March 23.—(AP)—Within the next 24 hours Oil City will be visited by the most disastrous flood in its history, Lieutenant John Dean, United States army engineer, said here tonight upon his return from a survey of the situation.

Thin ice above Oil City will be carried out soon by the rains of last night and today, he said, adding that this ice would jam on Moran Bar below the city.

DOPE ARRESTS LIKELY

Ties of Daisy Simpson May End Border Traffic in Drugs.

EL PASO, March 23.—(AP)—Intimations that the arrest of Daisy Simpson, California former woman prohibition agent, on a narcotic charge and her subsequent attempt to kill herself in the county jail here may lead to important developments, were seen in the arrival here today of Will S. Wood, border narcotic chief, to take personal charge of the investigation.

Although refusing to go into details or give any names, Mr. Wood said he understood two important arrests had already been made in San Francisco and that others were likely.

Now Or Later For The Fair?

TWO or three times a year Wichita Falls is called on to publicly finance an undertaking which necessity has created. The complexities and nature of modern civic life are such as to require institutions and organizations dependent entirely for their existence on the resources of the public they serve; and when the need for funds arises, as arise it always does, we have a drive or a campaign.

The community chest is one case in point. The chamber of commerce is another. Both institutions are serving a vital public need. To argue the merits of either is unnecessary, for both have demonstrated too conclusively the importance of the work they perform. Last November Wichita Falls oversubscribed a budget of $55,000 for the chest; and not so many weeks ago it oversubscribed $100,000 for the chamber of commerce.

* * *

Both of these funds were raised, not without effort, but in a way that from the first assured their success. Business men of this city have through past performance stamped themselves as ready to give of their services and their money when a need arises. Some times a little urging is necessary; usually a little more time is needed than original plans contemplated, but in the end the goal in every instance has been reached.

Right now the city is confronted with the same situation. A $100,000 block of new stock in the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association is up for sale, and thus far only about $47,000 has been sold. The campaign has run a little over a week.

In the Texas-Oklahoma fair this community has an asset, more colorful, perhaps, than either the chamber of commerce or the community chest. And, it also finds in the fair an enterprise filling a need of its own type fully as acceptably as do the chamber of commerce and the chest fund fill the niches they were created to serve. It may be assumed that this is a fact, and hence no attempt will be made here to justify the fairs of the past or those of the future.

* * *

The present situation, then, resolves itself simply into this; the fair is established; it has served north Texas and southern Oklahoma well; the need for it has been demonstrated; it faces the need of additional funds to carry on an enlarged program of development; and the directors of the fair have elected to raise this through public sale of the stock. Hence, another campaign.

As has been the case in the past, the full amount will be subscribed in time. Reasonable alibis could be offered now for the delay already experienced, but no one wants or needs to alibi. Rather, those officials charged with raising the fund simply want to remind Wichita Falls that it is under the necessity of investing again in another community enterprise and that this may as well be done now as later. No useful point will be gained by putting it off; no purpose will be served by dodging the call of those collecting subscriptions; there is no logical argument on any point, in fact. The $100,000 must and will be raised—and the sooner the better.

* * *

Therefore, it is suggested to those who have thus far failed to meet the obligations this new necessity imposes, that they may save themselves and others time and trouble by immediately recognizing their responsibility to the fair, to Wichita Falls and, above all, to themselves. It is inconceivable that the fair should be abandoned or the scope of its services circumscribed through want of financing. It is, instead, just a question of whether or not this community will give recognition at once to the duty it must perform or wait a little longer while a few who already appreciate this duty find time to assume the roles of missionaries.

That is a thought for the public at large which, in the end, will do just what it is being urged to do now.

Think it over!

CREAGER SOUR ON WURZBACH

Calls Help of Tilson Interference Likely To Hurt G. O. P.

HOUSTON, March 23.—(AP)—Declaring that Congressmen Tilson and Wood have done a great deal of harm to the chances fo electing a republican congressman in the 14th district, by seeking to quash opposition in the republican primary to renomination of Congressman H. M. Wurzbach, R. B. Creager, republican national committeeman from Texas today said that the question involved in the recent controversy in Washington is far broader than any question as to present day individuals.

Mr. Creager was on his way back to Brownsville from Washington and stopped over in Houston. He characterized the Washington controversy as tilt between himself and Congressman Wurzbach, supported by Congressmen Tilson and Wood, members of the republican congressional committee.

"They take the position that Mr. Wurzbach shall be nominated in the fourth district republican primary and that no other republican shall run against him. The whole matter amounts as to whether a republican in congress shall say whether this man or that shall run in a distant district.

"The principle involved," however, Mr. Creager pointed out, "is deeper than any question as to present day individuals. I, and I think every republican and right thinking citizen, will regard their action as an unpardonable intrusion."

"I am positive that the real heads of the republican party will never approve an intrusion by republicans from one state into the primary elections of a different state."

JAZZ AMERICA.

Composer Declares Is Attaining Finer Sense of Rhythm.

OMAHA, March 23.—(AP)—America has acquired the finest sense of rhythm of any nation, Lee Pattison, Chicago pianist-composer, told the Nebraska music teachers' association convention here today. Jazz music, he said, has developed this trait.

Mr. Pattison asserted that jazz is typical of American life and that it is "an artistic outlet for a conglomeration of races." He said that "because of the finer shading typical of American jazz orchestras those of the continent can not compare with the best of these in the United States."

YOUTHFUL GANG CHIEF ESCAPES

Boy Burglar Saws Way Out Of Jail At New Braunfels

SAN ANTONIO, March 23.—(AP) Ray Linsay, 17, alleged leader of a gang of four garage burglars who was under 25 charges in Bexar county, sawed his way out of the Comal county jail in New Braunfels and still was at large tonight, according to information received here. Bexar and Comal county officers had united in searching the hill country about New Braunfels and watching the roads for the fugitive.

The lad is believed to have had outside aid and officers are at work on the theory that he was met by a confederate in an automobile who drove away, perhaps toward Mexico. Farmers near New Braunfels have been formed into posses to search the hills near that city.

The alleged bandit and three companions, all younger than himself, had been taken to New Braunfels to answer charges after 76 cases against them had been filed here. They had been placed in Bexar county jail in default of bonds totaling $38,000.

ELECTRA MEDIC IS BILLED FOR NARCOTIC SALE

Federal Grand Jury Here Returns Indictments Tuesday Afternoon

RETURN OTHER BILLS

Five in All Reported To Judge Atwell As Work Is Concluded

Dr. Stephen E. Smith of Electra is named on four counts for violation of the anti-narcotic laws of the United States in one of five indictments returned by the grand jury of the Federal district court in its final report Tuesday afternoon. The indictment details four different sales in alleged violation of the law of narcotics obtained by prescription from Dr. Smith. The sales cover a period of time from last July to February 24 of this year.

The report of the grand jury was received by Judge Atwell at 4 o'clock and the body of 22 men dismissed with thanks for their work for the term. Court was immediately adjourned until 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at which time Judge Atwell has one civil case set for trial. This is contrary to the original intention of trying all of the civil cases this week and possibly concluding the work on the docket next week, what amounts to a week's delay in the work of the court having materialized Monday when none of the civil law cases announced ready. Immediately following adjournment Judge Atwell announced he was leaving late Tuesday night for Dallas to be at his home over Thursday but would be back in Wichita Falls Friday afternoon. Randolph Caldwell, prosecuting attorney, and others connected with the court also announced they would return to Dallas over the remainder of the week.

Other Bills Returned.

Of the five bills returned by the grand three are indictments charging violation of the narcotic laws, one charges the use of the mails to defraud, and a fifth charges interstate transportation of stolen automobiles on two counts. S. D. Cole of Montague county, and H. B. Porter of Wichita county(alias Indian Chief are named in the narcotic indictments. There are four counts in the indictment against Porter. H. E. Lovett of Wichita county, is named in the indictment charging interstate transportation of a stolen automobile. The indictment lists two counts. Clarence W. Webb of Hardeman county is charged with the use of the mails to defraud.

Although the grand jury returned no felony indictments charging violation of the liquor laws there are eight bills of information charging misdemeanor offenses. Three of these were disposed of early Tuesday morning with pleas of guilty before Judge Atwell, who assessed fines and jail sentences. The bills of information name the following:

Informations Returned.

Troy Taylor, Cottle county, possession; Clement Couch, Wilbarger county, possession; Claudie Robie, Wilbarger county, possession of equipment for purposes of manufacture; Joe Liegois, possession, Wichita county; J. F. Williams and F. L. Davis, possession, Wichita county.

Those entering pleas of guilty and receiving sentence from Judge Atwell were Hannigan Mills, Cottle county, possession, 30 days in ail; G. W. Terry, Wilbarger county, $75 fine; Ruby Thompson, Wichita county, possession, $40 fine.

In assessing sentence Judge Atwell told the defendants that the time had passed when light fines and small jail sentences were imposed. There is Mexico on the south and Canada on the north for those who don't want to live in the United States and obey its laws," he said. Due to peculiar circumstances in the case of Mills from Cottle county, that offender was allowed to fix his own sentence of 30 days.

Judge Bell of Austin Charged With Swindling

Forum Is Given Club House Site In New Addition

Hamilton and Martin Offer Valuable Tract For $50,000 Building

More than 000 enthusastic club women of Wichita Falls heard with pleasure and rapt attention the announcement made by W. B. Hamilton, Tuesday afternoon of the gift of an excellent site for the proposed club house the Woman's Forum hope to build in the near future. The first site on which the Forum considered building the new structure was located near Morningside Drive, but on account of the fact that it was at first laid out for a park, the residents of that section, requested that it be used for that purpose: and it was also thought the plot was not large enough for the pretentious structure the club women plan to erect. The gift of W. B. Hamilton and N. H. Martin, in the new Country club estate proved entirely desirable, being a half block of ground set apart from other property and surrounded by four streets.

155 Foot Frontage.

The site has a 155 foot frontage and is 300 feet deep. It is described as being located just to the right as one enters the addition with a circular park already being landscaped near.

The gift was accepted at an executive board meeting of the Forum held at the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday morning, the deed being given the women with the provision that they raise $50,000 for the erection of a club house. The acceptance will be ratified by the Forum at large in a general meeting to be held soon.

Makes Announcement.

Mr. Hamilton was invited by the Forum to attend the game tournament at the Country club and make the announcement of the gift, which he did. Among other well chosen words to the women who are putting over this huge undertaking, Mr. Hamilton said that with the building of such a structure, Wichita Falls will become the cultural center of this part of Texas. A fine arts room is planned in connection with the building.

Kirk Convicted In Waurika Court

WAURIKA, Okla., March 23.—(Special)—A verdict of guilty and a sentence of five years in the penitentiary was returned in district court here today in the case of Elmer Kirk, who has been on trial on a burglary charge growing out of the robbery January 9 of the Palace and Hunters Clothing stores. Several hundred dollars worth of clothing was stolen.

Pleas of guilty were entered today also by Mrs. Kirk and Curtis Coalson, alleged accomplices in the robberies, these not to run concurrently, while Mrs. Kirk and Coalson each received two-year suspended sentences.

Coalson turned state's evidence in the trials and it was largely his testimony that convicted Kirk.

SLAYER CONVICTED

Shades of Old Trail Days West Texas Bars Dancing

CROSS PLAINS, March 23.—(AP)—As the cattleman's broad spaces are cut into new settlements, so pass into cowboy lore the life that he knew.

In pioneer days no assembly of West Texas folk on week days was complete without a shindig featuring the cumbersome but soul-satisfying terpischore of frontier life. Restrictions and regulations as to dancing, there were none. The sky was the limit on everything from "eats" to business in frontier assemblies. The rule of the West, which demanded "square deals" and the ability to shoot promptly and straight when the regular order of things went awry was social law enough for the pioneer folk.

But things are not like that today. A meeting of West Texas business men here today broached a matter that comes up at many organization assemblies—having to do with condemning "unbecoming" dances at convention cities. The district organization of the West Texas chamber of commerce today passed resolutions condemning such dances and recommended that there be no drinking of intoxicating liquor by dancers in convention cities. A resolution like that would have precipitated pandemonium in a frontier settlement conclave where the whiskey barrel invariably supported a tin cup dangling for the use of bacchian Westerners.

The resolution, which was in line with one adopted recently by the Methodist conference of this section recommending that public dancing and street dancing be barred from convention pastimes, went over big in the meeting of hustling business men.

Former Jurist Indicted In Alleged Deed Fraud

AUSTIN, March 23.—(AP)—Harris Bell, prominent young attorney and resigned corporation judge, was indicted today by the Travis county grand jury on a charge of swindling. The indictment is said to be in connection with a land deal, in which Bell is involved in a civil suit.

Bell and Miss Hallie Maud Neff, daughter of former Governor Pat M. Neff were to have been married March 31.

Bell and George Boring, member of the grand jury, who charged each other with attempted bribery and agreeing to accept a bribe, were exonerated of these charges.

The grand jury in its report reported the notoriety it received in its investigation.

Resigns Bench.

The young attorney resigned Monday as corporation judge, informing the city council that he did not want to sit on the bench during his litigation in the civil suit. The council indicated it would accept his resignation.

Bell was out of the city when the indictment was returned.

This grand jury, which was called by Judge James Hamilton of the criminal district court to investigate the bribery charges said, "the members of the grand jury acting under the recent charges submitted by you, have made a thorough investigation of all the facts in connection with the bribery charge and have reported a conclusion that no bribery was really intended by either party and have therefore voted no bill.

"The members of this grand jury regret that an over enthusiastic member, acting under advice of others, should have attempted to secure evidence outside of the grand jury room and without the knowledge or consent of this body."

Criticize Lawyers.

The report severely criticized the practice of a few attorneys, saying "we condemn the practice of a few attorneys of this city who appear to resort to unfair if not illegal means to secure testimony and influence the verdicts of the courts.

"It appears that fees, entirely out of proportion to the labor involved, are assessed against those least able to pay and most ignorant of the laws governing their crimes. The Travis County Bar association should investigate the methods by a few of its members."

The civil suit brought against Bell was by Jesus Ramires, a Mexican, involving fees and land. In his petition Ramires charged that he thought Bell's claim for fees, when he signed a deed. Bell denied the allegations and the case is before Judge George Calhoun in the fifty-third district court.

ASKS U. S. DAMAGES

Man Who Spent 5 Months in Prison for Another Seeks $2,500.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(AP) Congress was asked today to pay $2,500 compensation to a Missourian who spent five months in jail just because his name happened to coincide with that of another man who previously had run afoul of the prohibition law.

The name that caused the trouble was W. W. Ford. Ford No. 1 was arrested and forfeited his bond of $2,000. A year and a half later Ford No. 2 was taken in by an officer who didn't understand all the facts. But No. 2 could neither make bond nor convince the authorities of their mistake, so he stayed in.

FLOODS THREATEN

Streams in New England Are Filled With Snow and Rain.

BOSTON, March 23.—(AP)—Flood conditions threatened New England tonight as rain began to fall on the great snow blanket that covers this region. Large reservoirs and dams in the northern sections of New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine are filled and warm weather and heavy rain, it was predicted, would bring flood conditions.

For days the coast guard cutter Ossipee has been crashing through the ice at the mouth of the Penobscot river below Bangor, Maine, clearing a channel for anchor ice before the river begins to rise.

FIND NUDE BODY.

Decapitated and Legless Body Discovered Near Tulsa.

TULSA, March 23.—(AP)—Headless and with one foot and both arms apparently cut off, the nude body of a white man was found late this afternoon on a sand bar in the Arkansas river about 12 miles west of this city. The body had apparently been there for several weeks according to officers who went to the place to investigate. Nothing was found to indicate the identity of the man.

28-Tube Radio Set Perfected By Texas Fan

After Working 4 Months, Inventor Completes Super-het

SAN ANTONIO, March 23.—(AP) The largest single radio set reported thus far in radio circles was on exhibition in Kerrville today after a three weeks' trial by its owner and builder, S. H. Huntington. This compact set has 28 tubes. The largest set reported prior to this was a 23 tube set shown in March radio magazines.

Huntington said he worked about four months completing this set. This is the fifth super-heterodyne he has built. This set occupies only a floor space 20 by 30 inches.

Fatty and Buster Fool 'Em by Hiring Special Train, Out

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 23. (AP)—Buster Keaton and Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, respectively present and erstwhile comedians of the screen, turned potential tragedy into comedy today when they foiled the stern and exacting state highway commission by chartering a train.

Keaton and Arbuckle and their wives prevailed on a sergeant of prison guards yesterday to let them drive contrary to rules over a new road to Yosemite National park. The road was under construction by convict labor and orders were issued that no motorists were to pass the guards.

Once the party was in, the comedians were told they had to stay until the road was finished, about two weeks, or find some other way out than by motor. Meanwhile the guard sergeant was discharged.

The solution was found today when a small train was chartered.

ONLY A RAINBOW

Carpenter Cheered By Legend of Fortune, Finds Disappointment

BARTLETT, Texas, March 23.—(AP)—There is a legend that during the Mexican war 10 jack loads of silver was buried near or on the Old Ferguson farm six miles this side of Belton on the Bartlett road and near it, was buried a horse's head made of wood. A carpenter cleaning away the rubbish on the site of the Old Ferguson home that burned last year struck something that rang with a metalic click, and remembering the old legend, was thrilled by the belief that he had struck the buried treasure.

But investigation revealed the fact that it was only an old broadaxe, believed to have been used by John Ferguson in the construction of the old home in 1850.

WACO OPENS DAM

City Dependent On Brazos for Water Supply, Superintendent Says.

WACO, March 23.—(AP)—That the water supply in the Brazos river would probably be affected and Waco feel it keenly in dry times, if this city continues to use the Brazos as a source of supply, if the proposed dam is built for the big irrigation project near Mineral Wells, was the statement Tuesday of Superintendent W. H. Deaton of the Waco city waterworks.

"A big irrigation project like that would want the water in dry times, just as we want it most then, and should the water fall below the spillway in the dam the lower reaches of the river would be cut off from the Brazos water," said Superintendent Deaton.

MORE GO CRAZY.

Austin Insanity Trials Increase During Quarter Year.

AUSTIN, March 23.—(AP)—Insanity trials in Travis county have increased more than 100 per cent from Jan. 1, 1926 to date, compared to the same period last year, W. Trenchman, deputy county clerk, announced today. Twenty-five hearings have been held this year, while only 17 were held during the same period in 1925.

The increase, Trenchman said is the result of the new state law which allows a county judge to adjudge any persons insane on the affidavits of physicians. Previously jury trials were held to determine a person's insanity.

WOMAN KILLS SELF.

Disappointed in Love, She Shoots Man and Drinks Poison.

MIAMI, Fla., March 23—(AP)—Matti Davis, 25, West Green, Ga., died here late today of poison after having shot Edward Torris, 39, retired real estate operator who physicians said was dying at the same hospital.

The shooting occurred early today at the Torris residence and was said by police to have been the aftermath of a love affair between the woman and Torris which ended in December when the latter married a Fort Lauderdale girl.

Act Is Committed In Same District Where Another Was Killed

NOGALES, Ariz., March 23.—(AP)—Confirmation of the death of Joe Hall, an American employe of the Southern Pacific of Mexico, was received at the railroad's offices here tonight.

Details were lacking other than that he was stoned to death by natives at the town of Tuxpam, in the state oof Nayarit. His mother, Mrs. Bertha M. Hall, of Albuquerque, N. M., was notified by the railroad of her son's death.

MEXICO CITY, March 23.—(AP) Joe Hall, an American employed by the Mexican national railways, has been "brutally stoned to death," the American embassy was notified today by Vice Consul Ives at Mazatlan.

The vice consul's message said Hall was killed yesterday morning by unknown persons. Consul Blocker, he reported, has gone to Tepic to investigate and take up the matter with the Nayarit state authorities.

The embassy notified the Mexican foreign office of the affair, requesting the government to apprehend and punish the guilty persons.

Hall was killed near Ixtlan, in the same region where Rex Mellphone was killed and E. H. Heidenkamp, another Americna, were seriously wounded a week ago.

The American embassy today also received a telegram from J. M. Feeley of Acamparo, in the state of Guanajuato, saying he and an American on his ranch were assaulted Sunday night by 25 armed men who during a raid fired 100 shots.

Feeley said he had notified the local authorities and requested the embassy's protection. The embassy also notified the foreign office of this case and requested that the Mexican government provide adequate protection for Feeley and his property.

ELECTRA

Declamation Contest.

The preliminary declamation contest of the school was held in the auditorium of the high school on Monday evening in the presence of a great many friends and parents of the contestants. Professor B. M. Pinsmore introduced the readers and explained the object of the contest. "HER MAN"

--By Beatrice Burton--

READ THIS FIRST:

SYLVIA STARR has been engaged to RANDALL PHELPS for nearly a year; he asks her to free him from their engagement. He tells her frankly that he has fallen in love with her best friend, FAY SHIRLEY.

Sylvia, heartbroken, gives him up, greatly to the satisfaction of her AUNT AGONY, the shrewd old maid who reared her. She encourages Sylvia to marry PETER WILK, a sober bachelor who adores her in his quiet way.

As the time draws near for the wedding of Fay and Ranny, Fay tells Sylvia that they have decided that they're too much alike to be happily married. And Sylvia discovers that Fay is seeing a great deal of her old beau, EDDIE CARTER.

On a moonlit May night Peter gives a picnic in Sylvia's honor; the crowd of young people play hide-and-seek in the dark woods. Sylvia finds herself paired off with Ranny, who makes love to her. Fearful of losing him a second time, now that she has him again, Sylvia suggests recklessly that they run away and be married. And they do.

Ranny tires of married life during the very first month, and he is restless and bored with the little flat that Sylvia calls The Nest. He leaves her alone two or three nights a week while he goes out to play cards with Eddie Carter's crowd.

It gradually dawns upon Sylvia that he is bored with their stay-at-home life, and she spends half of a hundred dollars that Aunt Agony gave her for a wedding present, on a party. It is that night when Sylvia first makes up her mind that Ranny is still half in love with Fay Shirley.

A week later Ranny phones to ask Sylvia to lend him the remaining fifty dollars to pay a poker debt. Just as Sylvia is leaving the house to take it to him, Aunt Agony walks in. While she is asking Sylvia what she is planning to do with the money, Ranny comes home and, not seeing Aunt Agony, tells Sylvia he has come for the fifty dollars she had promised to lend him. Aunt Agony steps into view and tells him she wants to talk to him about it.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVI.

Sylvia knew that there was no earthly use in trying to stop Aunt Agony now. No use to say a word.

And besides, her voice seemed to have left her—seemed to have been carried away by the hot waves of air that drifted up from the sun-baked street below the open windows of The Nest.

The watched Ranny come in jauntily from the hall, his hat in his hand and a ring of perspiration around the dark gold of his hair. How wonderful to look at he was, a thought—like some Greek god brought down into this twentieth century and dressed in a pale-gray suit and a blue necktie!

He came over to her and kissed her once on the mouth before he swung around to Aunt Agony.

"Yes, Aunt?" he asked, and impudently planted the same kind of salute on her colorless lips.

Aunt Agony flushed. "Don't you kiss me, you young devil!" she said sharply. "Don't you try to get around me with your soft soaping and palavering, because you can't do it! I'm on to you—and your tricks!"

She took a clean white square handkerchief from her handbag and rubbed her lips with it.

Ranny had always "kidded" Aunt Agony, and that was one of the reasons why she hated him as she did, and Ranny knew it.

His blue eyes twinkled now as he looked at her. "Won't you give me just a little love, a little kiss?" he asked. "Come on, now, be bighearted, for once."

But Aunt Agony pushed him away from her.

"You sit down, you!" she cried, "you with your one way pockets! Borrowing money from your wife—money that I gave her!" Words failed her and she gave that snort of hers that meant so much more than any words.

The twinkle died out of Ranny's eyes and his face was as hard as flint as he turned it toward Sylvia. "So you've been boo-hooing to your aunt because I wanted to borrow a little money from you, just to tide me over 'till tomorrow!" he said to her, and he was scornful.

"She's been doing nothing of the kind!", snapped Aunt Agony. "You gave yourself away when you opened that door—" She pointed dramatically to the door of The Nest and then went on:

"You gave yourself away when you came in and asked Sylvia to lend you her fifty dollars—do you think I'm deaf? I heard you!"

Ranny was speechless. Sylvia gave one look at his white face and ran to him. She knelt down beside his chair and drew his head down to her breast. "Aunt Agony," she said, looking up at the tall, gaunt woman who was the only mother she had ever had, "Aunt Agony, if you're going to say things like this to Ranny—I must ask you not to come here to this house any more. I can't let—you, or anybody—talk to him the way you just talked to him!"

Aunt Agonys old face seemed to grow years older as she stood there, trying to take in the meaning of what Sylvia had just said to her. There was a look on it that the girl never forgot—a look of surprise mingled with unbearable pain.

It slowly cleared away, like a storm passing over a town, and Aunt Agony was once more her alert, keen self.

She started for the door, and on her way she picked up Sylvia's little embroidered handbag and took the fifty dollar bill out of it.

"Very well!" she said, "I'll go—and I'll not come back! But I'll take his money with me! I'd rather throw it away than give it to that creature!" She pointed at Ranny.

And even in her fury and her grief she did not forget her proverb. "The Russians have a saying that goes like this: 'I taught you to swim and now you'd drown me!' Think it over, Sylvia! Think over what you've done to me, after all the years of love and sacrifice I've given you!" she said, and slammed the door behind her.

There was utter stillness in the little flat for a few minutes after she had gone.

Then Ranny got up, lit a cigaret and walked over to the windows that faced the street.

"The boys are still down there waiting for me," he remarked carelessly. "Sound your dough, Sylvia, and see if you have enough to stake me for this afternoon Twenty dollars will do, I guess."

Without a word Sylvia went out into the kitchen where her housekeeping money still lay on the table and peeled off a twenty dollar bill. She took it back to Ranny, who was standing at the window, where the yellow silk curtains swung in the hot breeze.

"Golly, the old bird certainly has a tongue in her head, hasn't she?" he asked, nodding his head in the direction that Aunt Agony had taken.

Sylvia looked at him, with appeal in her gray-violet eyes.

"Don't talk about her, Ran, dear," she said, her voice husky with the tears she was keeping in check. "After all, she's been mother and father to me, all my life.'

Ranny jerked away. "Don't be phooey, for the love of mud, Sylvia!" There was disgust in his voice. "You've turned her out of your house—now don't have hysterics over it! Forget it!"

A minute later he was on the stairs, whistling "Then I'll Be Happy," as he ran down them.

It was dawn of the next morning before he came home from his card game.

The three months of the summer dragged by slowly for Sylvia.

But she learned a great many things in them that she had never known before. She learned how to cook a potroast which can be bought cheap, so thoroughly that it is almost as delicious as a porterhouse steak, which comes high.

She learned how to iron Ranny's shirts as well as the laundry could do it. She dry cleaned his neckties and "did up" her own silk under things.

By the end of August she had cut down her housekeeping bills to less than half of what they had been in June!

There was a little green silk bag in her dressing table where she put every dime that came her way. She had decided that that was one way of saving up some money for the fall clothes that she would presently need. There was almost twenty dollars in the little bag now. Not much, but a good start.

Two or three times a week she was tempted to empty out those dimes to pay some bill or other. But she never did. For in the back of her mind was another thought—that she might need that money, not for fall clothes for herself, but for tiny white things—little socks and bibs and tiny nightgowns and dresses.

"If we had a baby, Ranny might want to stay at home more than he does now," she told herself often, on the dark blue summer nights when she sat, pale with the heat, beside the open windows of the living room. "They say that nothing ties a man down like a child of his own."

"It Was Four O'Clock."

Ranny was away from The Nest two or three nights a week, and Sylvia took it for granted that he was playing poker with Eddie Carter and Eddie's crowd.

Every Friday night he and Sylvia went out "batting"—usually with Fay and Eddie. Sometimes, when it was very hot, they drove for miles and miles into the country. Often they went to the Blue Parrot Inn, out on the Scarsdale road, to dance and drink gin-gingerale.

That is, Fay and Ranny danced. "It's too warm for a fat man to exert himself," Eddie would say bluntly to Sylvia, as they sat at their "ring side" table and watched the couples on the smooth yellow floor.

Fay and Ranny would float past them, locked in each other's arms, singing dreamily with the orchestra:

"I want to go where you go,
"Do what you do,
"Love when you love,
"Then I'll be happ-ee-ee—"

And Sylvia would try not to be jealous as she watched them—as she listened to the words of the song that seemed to have such deep meaning when Fay sang them to Ranny and when he sang them to her!

"Tell me something!" she said one night to Ranny, when they had come home from one of these expeditions and were having a glass of water in the kitchen. She came close to him and put his free arm around her and laid her cheek against his coat sleeve, "will you promise to tell me the truth, honest-to-John and cross-your-heart?"

Ranny said he would.

"Well, then, don't you still have just the least bit of a crush on Fay?"

He laughed. "No, dear, there's only one girl in the world for me," he said, "and that's you—I'll be honest with you. I don't like married life. It gets my goat to be tied down to a woman, but if I've got to be tied to one, I'm glad its you."

And with that she had to be satisfied.

"However, I like Fay," he surprised her by saying a while later, when they were in bed, reading. "I have more gol-darned fun with her than I do with anybody I've ever seen—if I hadn't seen you first I think I would have married her. She sure has the life!"

It was almost a month after that that Sylvia was awakened late one Saturday night. She opened her eyes with the feeling that someone had called her, and she sat bolt upright in bed to listen.

But she could hear nothing at first except the small ticking of the clock on the table beside her bed. She switched on the light to look at it—it was four o'clock! She switched off the light and lay wondering where Ranny could be at this hour.

Then there came a sound in the living room of the apartment; a soft swish as of somebody brushing against a wall or moving stealthily across the thick carpet.

With her heart in her mouth Sylvia got out of bed and tiptoed toward the door of her bedroom. If only she could reach the door that led out into the hall—she could scream then for help!

As she reached the dining room door a tiny cheep startled her and she laughed to herself. The sound must have been Tetrazzini, the canary, moving about in its little cage.

But no, it wasn't Tetrazzini! For as Sylvia stood there, the swishing, rustling sound came again from the darkness of the living room. And against the gray oblong of one of the windows she could make out the outline of a man who stood there.

For one dreadful second Sylvia thought she was going to faint away, or even die of fright. Then a familiar whisper came to her—Ranny's voice, as he pushed away the ferns in the window and leaned out over the sill.

"What's the matter? Can't you get it started?" that whisper asked.

Then came a pause and then his voice again—"wait a second, I'll come down and see what's wrong."

He left the window, softly crossed the room and went down the stairs that led to the outer door of the apartment.

Sylvia ran to the window on her bare feet and looked down into Wing street. A car was parked at the curb —a light-colored roadster with disc wheels. It was Eddie Carter's roadster, and in it, all alone, sat Fay Shirley!

Ranny drives home with Fay after a poker party, and Sylvia's jealousy is again aroused. The lie which Ranny tells is offset by the great news which Sylvia has for him.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(AP) Secretary Wilbur today ordered a court martial to try Col. Alexander Williams of the marine corps on charges of drunkenness preferred by Brigadier General Smedley Butler, commanding the marine base at San Diego, Cal.

The secretary acted after the judge advocate general of the navy had found the specifications presented by General Butler legally sufficient for trial.

The court will be selected later, probably from officers now on the Pacific coast. The court will sit at San Diego where General Butler was Colonel Williams' guest of honor at a dinner on the same evening that the acts of which General Butler complained were committed.

Mr. Wilbur had before him in reaching his decision a statement in his own defense made by Colonel Williams.

AH-TAM PAYS FOR SLAYINGS

Beloved Chinese Merchant, Internationally Known Is Hanged

LIVERPOOL, March 23.—(AP)—Lock Ah-Tam, benevolent Chinese merchant, beloved of all who know him, was hanged today for the murder of his Welsh wife and their two handsome daughters, Doris, 20, and Cecelia, 17.

The murder was committed, apparently without reason, during a celebration in his home. After he had shot them dead, Lock Ah-Tam calmly called the police on the telephone and told what he had done. He was immediately arrested.

The murderer was 52 years old and was known by his countrymen throughout the world. He came to England 20 years ago, became naturalized and married a Welsh Girl. He became wealthy through his business transactions and was powerful, but mysterious. Thousands of his needy countrymen were aided by him. He was well known in the Chinatowns of New York and San Francisco. Whether he was affiliated with one of the big Chinese societies is not known, but he was influential in many countries. When he was arrested Chinese in Europe and the United States raised a large fund for his defense. Sir Edward Marshal, one of England's most distinguished lawyers, defended him. He advanced the theory that his client's mind had been unbalanced by business worries, but nevertheless he was found guilty.

"I am ready to meet my fate," Lock Ah-Tam said last night with calm stoicism to Percy Youd, local politician, who organized a petition for reprieve.

"Tell everybody who signed the petition," the condemned man added, "that I am extremely grateful to them. I am content and happy. I am aware that I have done wrong, but I shall shortly join my loved ones and they will understand."

GIRLS REPORT BOYS DRINKING

College Youths Suspended Following Liquor Party At Dance

ADRIAN, Mich., March 23.—(AP) Disclaiming any prudishness in their action, the 21 members of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority of Adrian college today declared that they had reported the use of liquor by ten men students who were guests of the sorority at a dance because they were "old fashioned girls with old fashioned ideals."

The ten men were suspended by the college authorities until April 6 after they had admitted, according to Dr. H. L. Feeman, president of the college, that they had taken a "nip" from a quart of liquor brought to the dance.

President Feeman stated that the girls did not give the names of the boys, but merely reported the incident and asked that the boys be given an opportunity to admit the drinking. The girls also asked that the names of the boys be withheld.

"We might be called prudes by some people, but we have ideals and traditions to uphold at this college and we did what we believe is right," said Miss Margaret Osgood, who acted as spokesman for the sorority when the matter was reported to President Feeman.

"It was not an easy thing for us to do. The boys were our friends and our guests, but they did not respect our hospitality and we were forced to take the action we did."

Adrian college is a Methodist institution.

A Community Investment

ANY COMMUNITY'S biggest single investment is in its utilities.

The utility company in order to give the community adequate service must invest large sums of money in plants and equipment.

Once installed, electric light and power property is as much a part of a community as its sewers, sidewalks or streets, and just as readily usable by all residents. If it is necessary for this property to be expanded in order to meet the public demand for service, the same thing must be done as when sidewalks are laid or sewers put in.

In other words, whenever the Wichita Falls Electric Company has to extend new electric light and power lines in order to give increased service the company must go out and get the money to buy material and pay for the labor.

The Wichita Falls Electric Company is just like any city or individual that goes into a bank to borrow money. If its credit is good it gets the loan. If it isn't, it doesn't, the new improvements can not be made, and those who want service--the public--can not get it.

But if it can show that because of its financial soundness and ability to pay the going rate of interest it is entitled to credit, it gets the money, the improvements are built, and the result is Growth, Expansion, Increased Prosperity for Community and Company.

ONLY ONE BIBLE?

THE good gentlemen who are endeavoring to give New York a state religion appear to believe there is only one Bible, the Christian Bible.

There are many Bibles.

Each man reads his own Bible.

A book does not become a man's "Bible" unless it has been the principal quickening influence in his spiritual life and the source of his illumination, so that he returns to it when he needs to reanimate his purposes or confirm his belief.

The sacred book of any racial or historical religion is, of course, more than such a personal Bible, by as much as a race is more than an individual or history than a lifetime.

But it is the personal relation, between a man and the book that has become his sacred book, that is important.

Thus we say, "each man reads his own Bible."

And it is only when a document is somebody's Bible in this sense that it is a religious document at all.

The Old and New Testaments, the Koran, Plato's philosophy, the writings of Confucius, Nietzsche's essays, "The Origin of the Species,"—all these are Bibles to many men.

Let each man have his own Bible. This should be the first law of religious tolerance.

Unfortunately there is a large body of citizens intent upon forcing all men to have only one Bible.

They do not stop there, but also attempt to compel all men to see one meaning, and one only, in its words, and this meaning they interpret themselves.

The irony of all this is that Jesus Christ did not erect the Old Testament as an infallible code of laws, and he didn't know anything about the New Testament.

THE HUMAN MOULD

OLD gentlemen who see nothing but ruin in the manners of today should not be taken too seriously.

Every age has its own pleasures, its own style of wit, its own way.

Not only men of different races and nationalities, but also men of the same races and nationalities, and even the same men at different periods of life, have different standards of happiness and pleasure.

Knowing this, we cannot with justice criticize the roads other persons travel in pursuit of happiness.

Our standard cannot be every one's.

Let us keep in mind, however, that Man has been moulded by the things that have pleased him.

He always has thought of progress in terms of pleasure.

Man has never taken to heart and mind Aristotle's admonition that "Not pleasure, but freedom from pain, is what the wise man will aim at."

We are all born in Areadia, as Schiller remarks. In other words, we come into the world full of claims to happiness.

Most of us live only for our moments of happiness.

And in old age, we remember all of the pleasures we have experienced, and few or none of the pains.

Herbert Spencer observed that moralists of one class derive moral rules from a supreme political power, while those of another recognize no other origin for them than the revealed divine will.

"And though men who take social prescription for their guide do not formulate their doctrine, yet the belief frequently betrayed, that conduct which society permits is not blameworthy, implies there are those who think right and wrong can be made such by public opinion."

There certainly is a large element of persons of this belief in the United States, as the present trend in legislation forcibly indicates, although it ought to be apparent after several thousand years of failure, that men cannot be made moral by law.

POPULATION OF TEXAS

ACCORDING to Uncle Sam's census guessers, the state of Texas has a population of 5,312,661. In 1930, the regular census will be taken, and it is safe to predict that the population of the state will go beyond the 6,000,000 mark. It is safe to predict that from 1930 until 1940, the population will go beyond the 8,000,000 mark. Texas has just begun to grow.

THE ONLY WORTHY WORK.

MOST people appear to assume that all work is useful, and many persons believe that work is desirable. It has become a part of popular thought that labor is good in itself.

But all of us should be able to see that there are two kinds of work—one good, the other bad; one not far removed from a blessing, a lightening of life, the other a mere curse, a burden to life.

Worthy work carries with it the hope of pleasure in rest, the hope of the pleasure in our using what it makes, and the hope of pleasure is our daily creative skill.

So observed William Morris who, for one, believed that all other work but this is worthless; "it is slaves' work—mere toiling to live, that we may live to toil," he said.

What is the essential difference between the two kinds of work?

This: One has hope in it, the other has not.

What is the nature of the hope which, when it is present in work, makes it worth doing? Morris answers:

"It is threefold, I think—hope of rest, hope of product, hope of pleasure in the work itself; and hope of these also in some abundance and of good quality; rest enough and good enough to be worth having; product worth having by one who is neither a fool nor an ascetic; pleasure enough for all of us to be conscious of it while we are at work; not a mere habit, the loss of which he shall feel as a fidgety man feels the loss of the bit of string he fidgets with."

Note that he puts hope of rest first. He does so, he explains, "because it is the simplest and most natural part of our hope."

"What ever hope there is in some work," he continues, "there is certainly some pain in all work, the beast-like sting of stirring up our slumbering energies to action, the beast-like dread of change when things are well with us; the compensation for this animal pain is animal rest."

We must feel while we are working that the time will come when we shall not have to work.

The rest, when it comes, must be long enough to allow us to enjoy it; it must be longer than is merely necessary for us to recover the strength we have expended in working, and it must be animal rest also in this, that it must not be disturbed by anxiety, else we shall not be able to enjoy it.

Here is something employers should remember well.

BAILEY ON THE ISSUES

FORMER Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey never abandons the old land mark. He is the last of the Mohicans. He says the way to go about it is to repeal the 18th Amendment and all prohibition laws, except the local option law.

And, as a closing word of advice, he suggested to the democrats of the Alamo congressional district that they draft John Boyle as their standard bearer and return to the faith and political methods of their fathers.

Joseph Weldon Bailey is not like Saint Paul. He is not all things to all men. He clings to his convictions, he is for the right of the state to the last ditch, and he never moves with the political possession.

Now many people are wondering in which camp he will land in the gubernatorial contest. He will land somewhere; he always lands, he has never been known to keep out of a political fight.

A POLL OF SING SING CONVICTS

This has to do with convicts and intoxicating liquors. A prison physician at Sing Sing penitentiary examined 1,217 inmates in that institution. Of this number he said he found 777 were total abstainers, while only 440 were drinkers. Those using tobacco were 1,027. There were 670 single men, 502 married, 30 widowers and 15 divorces.

Of all the vocations chauffeurs, contributed the most inmates, with 151 of this class. There were 115 laborers and but one actor.

There are thousands of divorces granted annually in the state of New York, but the prison physician found only 15 divorced men behind the bars. Widowers made a better showing. Thirty had been put away by justice.

POEMS THAT LIVE

THE OLD STOIC

Riches I hold in light esteem,
And Love I laugh to scorn;
And lust of fame was but a dream,
That vanished with the morn;

And if I pray, the only prayer
That Moves my lips for me
Is, "Leave the heart that now I bear,
And give me liberty!"

Yes, as my swift days near their goal,
'Tis all that I implore;
In life and death a chainless soul
With courage to endure.

TEXAS PIONEER DIES

GALVESTON, March 23.—(AP) Mrs. Emma Theeman, 97 years old, resident of Texas for 82 years, died at her home here tonight. She was born in Hille Side, Germany, July 26, 1828, and came to Texas on a sailing ship in 1844 landing in Indianola. Mrs. Theeman is survived by one sister, Mrs. E. Deitsch of Houston; one granddaughter, Mrs. Emma Bufkin of Omaha, Neb.; two nephews, Louis and Arthur Muehetfmuehe of Galveston.

LIGHTING STRIKES

WHITESBORO, Texas, March 23. (AP)—Lightning entering a house here by way of an electric light wire tore down brick chimneys and ceilings and destroyed furniture, and then released balls of fire that perforated the roof and other parts of the house. A wash tub was perforated with holes the size of an egg, the holes being burned and not driven through. Mrs. J. F. Goggins was slightly injured.

DINNER STORIES

"Get tway from here, or I'll call my husband!" threatened the hard-faced woman who had just refused the tramp some food.

"Oh, no, you won't," replied the tramp, "because he ain't home."

"How do you know?" asked the woman.

"Because," answered the man, as he sidled toward the gate, "a man who marries a woman like you is only home at meal times."

A minister, while passing a group of convicts at work on the country roads, became very much depressed at the wickedness of the world.

"My good men," he exhorted, "we should strive to mend our ways."

"Well, wot you think we're doing," asked No. 3289, "digging fishworms?"

A Scotchman, wishing to know his fate at once, telegraphed a proposal of marriage to the lady of his choice. After spending the entire day at the telegraph office he was finally rewarded late in the evening by an affirmative answer.

"If I were you," suggested the operator, when he delivered the message, "I'd think twice before I'd marry a girl that kept me waiting all day for my answer."

"Na, na," retored the Scot. "The lass who waits for the night rates is the lass for me."

WHO'S WHO

THOMAS W. PHILLIPS JR.

On a platform which is decidedly "wet," Rep. Thomas W. Phillips Jr., is seeking the republican gubernatorial nomination in Pennsylvania. The G. O. P. nomination virtually amounts to election in the rock-ribbed Keystone state. A Phillips regime would be in decided contrast to that of Gifford Pinchot, present governor, who is a dry.

T. W. PHILLIPS JR.

Phillips is 52 and was born in New Castle, Pa. He is a graduate of Sheffield Scientific School of Yale university. Since 1907 he has been engaged in the petroleum and natural gas business and is president of the T. W. Phillips Gas and Oil company of Butler, Pa. Other corporations of which he is a trustee are the Shell Union Oil, Union National Gas, Consolidated Coal and Coke and the Oklahoma Natural Gas company. He has been a member of the house of representatives since 1923.

Mr. Phillips is also a trustee of Phillips university in Enid, Okla., Bethany college in West Va., and the Young Men's Christian association college in Butler, Pa. His present home is in Butler.

Questions From the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

Men Are Supposed to Admire Beauty, But They Seldom Marry It—Instead of Cold Perfection They Prefer Good Nature, Health, Neatness and Cleanliness; Combination Spells "Beauty" to Them.

Generally speaking, it may be said that man is the audience to which woman always plays. She is not indifferent to the admiration of her own sex, but it is man's that she seeks most, for the praise of woman for woman is the profitless applause of those who have nothing but their good opinion to give, while the favor of man is accompanied by perquisites and prizes for the lucky one who wins it.

Of course, women will deny this. The traditional attitude of woman toward man is that of a goddess on a pedestal with her nose in the air, who haughtily deigns to sniff at the incense that is burnt before her; not a go-getter who is out to round up an incense burner. Nevertheless, the most casual observer cannot help remarking that a woman never quite treats a woman as she treats a man or takes quite as much trouble to please her.

No woman listens to another woman's conversation with the same rapt attention that she bestows upon a man's. No woman ever beams and gurgles with delight at the attentions of another woman as she does at the notice of even a commonplace man. When a man tells a story a woman's laughter is hung on a hair trigger that any old chestnut will explode, but a woman who can make her own sex smile deserves a medal as a wit and a faithful worker.

All of this is as heaven ordained, for a woman neither has to marry another woman, nor does she have to keep her satisfied and happy through all the vicissitudes of marriage.

The strange part of it, however, is that, having made a study of the art of pleasing men since the dawn of creation, women have not reduced it to an exact science.

So, far from this being the case—instead of a handy manual of the qualities that men like most in women having been compiled, after profound study of masculine taste—women are still ignorantly blundering along in the dark, content to make guesses at the subject. Naturally, when the entire feminine sex is trying to solve the conundrum many women guess right and many others approximate the answer. But a continually increasing number guess wrong, and in consequence the ranks of the spinsters are swelled.

According to popular belief, beauty is the quality which is always put at the head of the list of attractions that women have for men, but in reality this cuts a much smaller figure than is generally supposed. In fact, men put a much more liberal interpretation upon what constitutes good looks in a woman than women do themselves.

A woman demands regularity of feature, delicacy of skin, sheen of hair and grace of figure before she will give a certificate of pulchritude to another woman, but men will substitute many other agreeable things, such as good health or a pretty dress for beauty and let it go at that.

This suggests that much of the time and effort that women spend in the vain attempt to make straight hair curly or convert a short and stubby figure into a living skeleton might be better employed in cultivating an amiable disposition or a sweet smile, which a man is as likely as not to mistake for a Venus like complexion or a classical profile. It is also true that men do not marry for beauty, however much they may admire it abstractly. Is this not abundantly proved by the number of matrons with whom we are all acquainted who would never have received even honorable mention in a beauty contest?

Next to beauty, women depend on clothes to attract men, and yet, although the great majority of women spend most of their time and money and serious thought on dressing to please men, they have never found out the kind of clothes that men admire most. Men like simplicity in a woman's dress. It may be the simplicity that costs more than miles of frills, but to the untutored eye it looks simple.

In old fashioned novels, which were written mostly by men, the girl who wore an unsophisticated white muslin dress always captured the rich and distinguished hero from out of the very claws of the ladies who were dressed in silks and satins and laces. And the same ideal of women's dress prevails today among men.

They hate the fussy and the frowzy in clothes, and above all they lay stress far more than women do upon cleanliness. Only too often a woman will forgive chiffon for being messy because it is chiffon, or excuse lace for being dirty because it is old point. But a man makes none of these fine distinctions.

Nothing would induce him to wear a soiled collar, and nothing disgusts him in a woman more than to see her decked out in finery that cries aloud for the washtub. The woman who dresses to please man may spend much money or little on her clothes, but she must always be immaculately neat, and the trimmer and tauter the better. The hourglass figure was woman's evolution to meet requirements of masculine taste. So is the living skeleton of the hour.

Men like good nature in women. They like the woman who takes a kindly attitude toward life. The woman who throws the beautiful mantle of her charity over her fellow creatures and who can always find some excuse for a sinner.

Men hate the woman who makes sarcastic speeches, who is bitter and sour, and who is always knocking other women. Many a plain-faced girl can make rings all around her more beautiful and brilliant sister, when it comes to popularity, just because she is so sweet and amiable and easy to get along with.

Such a girl just naturally impels a man's thoughts toward marriage, because he knows beforehand that she would make one of the wives who cast a blind eye to their husband's faults, who do not begrudge a man an evening out now and then, and to whom a husband doesn't have to lie to get a few rights and privileges.

Men admire women who—but we will discuss some of these other qualities on Friday.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

Rebuild

What was, forever is;
What shall be, ours to say;
Let each man build this life of his,
As much as mortals may,
Today on yesterday.

His faults may mean regret,
But not regret too long,
There is some new occasion yet
For mortals to be strong,
And right instead of wrong.

I would not have men sin,
To sin and not to care,
But there's a better way to win
Relief from our despair,
From burdens that we bear.

It is to live as well,
Today so right to do,
Although you once so lowly fell,
That when the past is through
You yet may build anew.

To weep is not enough,
Regret will not atone;
Men must be made of better stuff
Than men who sit and groan,
Than men who grieve alone.

Sit not amid the dust
Of castles that may fall;
Still trust in God, and bravely trust
In your own self withal,
And then rebuild your wall.

JIMSON WEED

The common ragged weed of your back yard, which is called Jimson weed are not named after someone named Jimson, but gets it name by a corruption of Jamestown, because this flower appeared in the early Virginia colony of Jamestown soon after settlement there. It was really brought accidentally by ships from the tropics. The seeds of Jimson weed or stramonium are distinctly poisonous, affecting the brain. Thus a company of British soldiers in India was induced to smoke the seeds, as Hindus often do to induce religious trances. Instead of religious notions, however, the soldiers all got an idea that they were monkeys and climbed trees and chattered and threw cocoanuts at each other. A regiment had to be called out to arrest them and confine them till the effects wore off.

Now what do you know about that?

1. The Aurora Borelis is believed to be caused by the recomposition of positive and negative electricity in the upper and lower atmosphere; artificial auroras have been electrically produced.

2. The reason why the sky is blue is not definitely known; ozone and refraction of light from ice crystals in the cold upper strata have been suggested.

3. The upper atmosphere is cold even in sunlight because the air being colorless does not absorb much heat from light and because the "warm blanket" of carbon dioxide in the air is not found in the upper atmosphere.

4. The gases in the air are chiefly oxygen, nitrogen, and carbon dioxide.

5. The colors of sunset are caused by the refraction of light from the dust and moisture of the lower atmosphere.

6. A rainbow is caused by the prismatic refraction of sunlight on raindrops.

I've dragged unprotected peaches—
I'm steeped in crime, both crude and scientific!

And yet I try to be a pleasant fellow,
For Humankind my heart is rather mellow,
I've sympathy unfak-ed
For the hungry and the naked
And against injustice frequently I bellow,
But if I hope to long escape eviction
I have to kill folks off without restriction,
Noble men and lovely ladies
I must treat as rough as hades——
You see, I'm writing rapid-action fiction!!

Dangerous.

Clerk: How do you like this one, sir?

Simpson: Isn't that the sweetest thing! Those narrow stripes would make me look more slender, don't you think. Oh, no, thanks, I didn't want to buy any. I was just looking around.

Clerk: Here's something new in neckties.

Simpson: Aren't they too dainty for words! I believe I'll take that brown one—it just matches my cigar. Or do you think that blue one would go better with my eyes? Well, I'll take both—no, I won't take either one; I never thought of that—that's the best way out, isn't it, when you're not sure?

Clerk: Have you seen these latest oxfords? Try on a pair—let's see, you wear about size 11, don't you, or 12?

Simpson: ELEVEN or TWELVE! How dare you! Why, Mr. Jones only wears a ten and a half! I've never been so insulted! Oh, dear, why did I come here! I'll have you to understand I only wear a TEN—even if it is on a wide last! You—you—monster! Oh, boo-hoo, I'm going home!

Dr. Pearson: "I'm going to buy up all the apples in this country and dump them into the river." —John J. Ejellia.

Hardier Variety Of Weevil Alarms Texas Officials

AUSTIN, Tex., March 23.—A hardier and more ornery boll weevil than the Texas variety has alarmed Texas department of agriculture officials, and has caused a state quarantine against cotton and its products from an infested area of Arizona, according to information from R. E. McDonald, chief entomologist of the Texas department.

The federal government will also be asked to quarantine the infested area in Arizona.

The new type of boll weevil can stand the cold weather and the high altitudes which are fatal to the common variety, Mr. McDonald said, his visit to Arizona disclosed. He accompanied B. R. Coad, U. S. department of agriculture official, on an inspection.

While winter is fatal to 95 per cent of the Texas weevils, it kills only 25 per cent of those in Arizona, and while the Texas weevil cannot exist above 7,000 feet altitude, the newly-found pests would thrive in the high fields of West Texas. The new weevil also attacks cotton bolls, instead of squares, Mr. McDonald said.

Northeast Young County Wildcat Has 25 Barrel Show At 500 Feet

JACK HARRIS ET AL NO. 1 WATSON MAY MAKE WELL

Sand Taken At 500 Feet May Prove Highly Productive

Estimated good for 25 barrels from a sand topped at 500 feet, the wildcat test of Jack Harris, located in the southwest corner of section 22, of the Young county school lands, in northeast Young county, and approximately 1 mile northeast of Markley townsite, came in late Tuesday as the opener of an altogether new shallow district for the Wichita district. The well, which lies approximately 5 miles to the south of the Prideaux production, which has showed a great deal of activity since the coming of pipeline connections last month, will be closely watched by district operators. Coming at this depth and with its estimated potential the area apparently possesses all the features of an excellent shallow pool.

Glenn Hunter In Another Feature At Majestic Today

With New York City holding most of the leading actors and actresses tethered on Broadway in their various stage successes through one season after another, the theater going thousands of the hinterland hardly know many of the big stage stars by sight. One bright exception however, is Glenn Hunter, famous as a star of both the stage and the screen.

Even when Hunter is anchored on Broadway in some one of his many stage successes, as he is at present, he is at the same time regaling hundreds of audiences in cities small and large in some one of the many motion picture productions he manages to make and star in each season.

But Hunter is one of the few stage stars doing this for it needs a certain rare prolific ability and versatility to accomplish the feat of "doubling in brass" on the screen and stage. While it is generally recognized as bringing extra dividends in fame and fortune, few attempt it or succeed in doing it because of the heavy tax it places on their physical and artistic resources.

During the past six months Hunter has made two big pictures. One is "The Pinch Hitter" and the other, his latest, is called, "The Broadway Boob." This latter production is coming to the Majestic Theater today and advance notices claim that it is equal to Hunter's "Merton of the Movies" in story and characterization.

Houston Shippers Would Boost Coffee Imports At Port

HOUSTON, March 23.—(AP)—In an effort to increase the volume of green coffee reports through Port Houston, T. L. Evans, manager of the foreign and domestic trade department of the chamber of commerce, together with A. A. Marx, manager of the Houston branch of a New Orleans concern will leave for a tour of Texas cities tonight.

They plan to call on coffee roasters throughout the state and urge them to order all importations of green coffee through this port. Already Houston has had considerable business of this kind, it was pointed out. Five shiploads of coffee from South America have docked in Houston in the past four years, unloading cargoes amounting to 200,000 bags of coffee. The sixth ship, the Barbacena is to dock in a few days with 25,000 bags.

Roads Too Slow, So Planes Are Used By Oil Men

They Go From Here Into South Archer Via the Aerial Route

The birds themselves were initiated into north Texas' oil industry Tuesday afternoon when with an indominatable will to carry out the instructions of his superiors C. R. Bailes, engineer for the Continental Oil company, erstwhile Texhoma, took to wings to negotiate a hard fifty miles to the Oldham and Hausler areas of south Archer county. A car ride of an hour or so would have served the purpose but the car broke down. Bailes was undaunted; Call Field held an aeroplane at his command.

Wherefore, putting his assistant, Jack Ainsworth, in the front cockpit, the two took off and flew to the Oldham district in 25 minutes, made three locations there, spent a half hour getting out of the mud, and hopped over to the Carey pool where they made location for No. 1-A, Jeske, in the new northwest extension. The trip back was made in 35 minutes.

Social visits of two speakers of the house here during this past week mysteriously coincided.

F. O. Fuller, now of Houston, who was speaker in that tumultous session when charges of impeachment were voted against James E. Ferguson, came to Austin and looked over the now-calm house, where the push-button voting system has been installed since he used to listen to twenty-one full days of roll-calls out of the 60-day session. Then he went across to the other end of the building, and looked in on the 31 vacant desks of the senate chamber, and upon the senator bench from which he aspires to look down upon the senators of the fortieth legislature as lieutenant governor of Texas.

During the two or three days of his visit, Lee Satterwhite of Amarillo, who has already announced he will not be a candidate for governor, and who has furthermore announced he doesn't want to be speaker any more, but just to come back as a member of the house, was also here. Mr. Satterwhite said he came to attend the fraternal convention here. "And not to talk politics," he supplemented. He stayed several days after the convention ended. "Oh, I'm just down here to spend some of the money I got when I sold the Panhandle paper," he laughed when further asked about his visit.

At any rate Mr. Satterwhite didn't talk politics to the newspapermen. After going through the hectic days of his near-call of the house for investigation and impeachment purposes this past winter, he gives evidence of looking forward to the comparative calm and serenity of a member's job, unencumbered by the duties and the perplexities of the speakership.

Reports from Taylor, Dan Moody's home town, have indicated plans for his opening address of his race for governor, there on April 21.

But if that was the plan, it will be modified. Moody has another engagement which will necessarily upset this one.

For he has set about to overcome the shortcomings which were pointed out by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson in announcing her own candidacy—that a governor needed a good wife or a good husband as the case might be.

Dan Moody will be married on the evening of April 20 at Abilene. Miss Mildred Paxton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Paxton, will then become his bride.

Neither Moody nor the Fergusons have yet definitely made known when they will start their campaign speaking.

GATORS ARE SAFE

Hunters Afraid to Shoot After Hauriens Partake of Dynamite.

BEAUMONT, March 23.—(AP)—The war on alligators in the marsh district of Cameron Parish, La., has been called off temporarily since it has been learned that a quantity of dynamite missing from the camp of oil prospectors making seismograph tests has been eaten by the "Gators."

A post mortem on one of the big lizards revealed several sticks in his stomach and trappers are apprehensive of the results should a bullet by chance come in contact with one of these choice morsels of alligator dessert.

The Haurians are being killed off as a protective measure against destruction of muskrats, which are valuable for their fur crop.

The Latest Word in Stoves

The Kitchen Kook

We will demonstrate the entire line of this wonderful line of Cookers, Heaters and Lighters.

is not an oil stove nor is it a gasoline stove in the usual sense, and it should not be confused with ordinary oil or gasoline stoves for it is entirely different in construction and principle of operation; far superior in speed, cleanliness, safety and economy.

The Kitchen Kook is a gas stove. It places the convenience of city gas service at the disposal of every home no matter where it is located. It has all the desirable features of city gas with greater speed at lower operating cost. It makes and burns its own gas from gasoline, producing a clear blue flame free of smoke, soot and odor, not only while the stove is new but permanently.

Greatest Cooking Speed
Lowest Operating Cost

Friday and Saturday, March 26 and 27, All Day All For You

It is of important interest to every farmer or Wichitan who lives beyond reach of natural gas to be in our store either Friday or Saturday to see what wonderful improvements have been made in cooking and heating. A convenience that everyone in the country can have at less cost than the citizen pays for natural gas. Stop in our store just a few moments Friday or Saturday. We will not urge anyone to buy. Our object is an extensive introduction only of this wonderful foremost line of Kitchen Kook cooking, heating and lighting appliances.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE EXPLORER

Today he breasts the gale that blows
Across some Arctic bay
And forward through the grinding floes
He takes his daring way.
Tomorrow, from some dizzy height,
He tranquilly will stand
To watch the fowls that wheel their flight
Across an unknown land.

Let others seek content and ease,
He rather far would roam
On distant and uncharted seas
And call the world his home.
His track is where the ice peaks raise
Their blue and gleaming spires,
And strange, unheard of people gaze
Upon his burnt-out fires.

Through tropic jungles, dense and deep,
His axe has cut a trail.
No cliff too towering and steep
For his young strength to scale.
Through stinging cold or withering heat,
'Neath clear or lowering skies,
Each day he turns his fearless feet
Where new adventure lies.

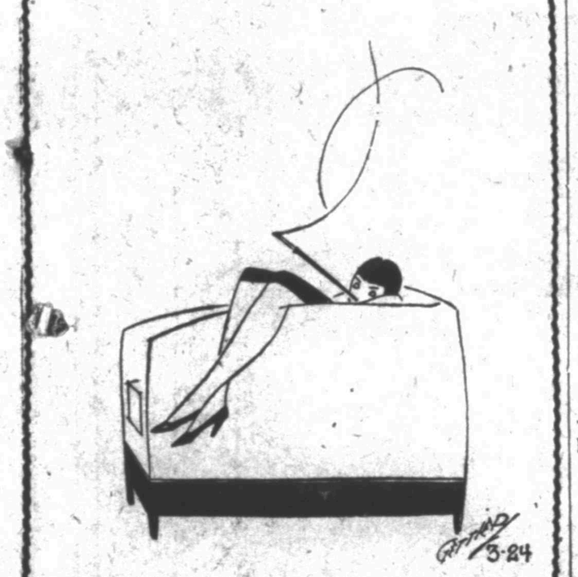

But he grows weary of the trail
When will and strength are spent—
The slatting of the frozen sail
The wind-rocked shelter tent.
And when the twittering robins seek
The tree that hides their nest,
With mother's kisses on his cheek
He cuddles down to rest.

Commish Orders Champ Stecher To Wrestle Malcewicz

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP)—Joe Stecher, who recently declined to defend his claim on the world's heavyweight wrestling championship against Joe Malcewicz, today was ordered to oppose the Utica, N. Y., grappler by the New York state athletic commission.

Stecher caused a stir recently in Boston by leaping from the ring when Malcewicz was substituted against him at the eleventh hour. The Nebraskan explained his action later, however, by asserting that promoters had failed to make good financial terms of their agreement.

The Paducah chamber of commerce is presenting medals to the winners in all events, both athletic and literary.

Six-Team Twilight Baseball League Organization Perfected

Texhoma, Security, Water Dep't, American, Electric Co., Panhandle Lined Up

Players Not Allowed to Participate In Any Other Wichita Falls League Contests, New Rule

Organization of the 1926 Wichita Falls Twilight baseball league, adoption of a constitution and by-laws with a number of amendments and election of officers for the year was effected in meeting of team representatives at Landon-Hill Sporting Goods company last night.

The league will be composed of six clubs, entries by Panhandle Refining company, Texhoma Oil and Refining company, Wichita Falls Electric company, the City Water department, American Refining company and Security National bank.

It was unanimously voted to adopt a 20-game schedule, a total of 60 league games, to be played over a span of 15 weeks with the opening game scheduled for Sunday, April 18, and play thereafter with exception of inforced postponements to be Sunday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday of each week.

Landon President.

Al Parker, sports editor of the Daily Times, and Blondy Cross were appointed to draw up the schedule, adoption of which will be voted on in league session Friday night.

The same corps of league executives who headed the organization during 1925 was re-elected. L. O. (Doc) Landon, president; Al Parker, vice president; Hugh Gotner, treasurer; Blondy Cross, secretary and league statistician.

The following executive committee was appointed: J. A. Gardner, A. D. Tanner, Frank Queisser.

Motion was voted and passed unanimously—ahem!—to increase the secretary's salary from $20 per month to $25.

The following new rules, briefly, were incorporated:

No player twilight league shall be eligible to receive compensation for playing baseball.

No player who does not reside in or who does not earn his livelihood in Wichita county shall be eligible.

Reach Ball Adopted.

No player who has not played two regularly scheduled league games shall be eligible to participate in the play-off series, should there be one, at the close of the first half of the season, and no player who has not participated in three regularly scheduled league games shall be eligible to participate in championship play-off series at the close of the second half of the season race.

Club dues were set at $17.50 a month.

All week day games are to start at 5:30 and not later than 6 o'clock the team failing to take the field with full quota of players by 6 o'clock forfeiting that game. Sunday games are to begin at 3 o'clock, and any team not on the field by that time forfeits.

No player shall be eligible to participate in twilight league games if he is a member of a team in another Wichita Falls baseball league.

The Reach baseball was adopted.

NEW PASS RULE HARMFUL?

HOUSTON, March 23.—(AP)—Coach John W. Heisman, director of athletics and head football coach at Rice Institute, and author of the forward pass 20 years ago, when he pressed its amendment before the football rules committee, said today that he believes the restriction passed recently upon the forward pass will tend to be harmful, not helpful, to the sport.

The Wichita Falls high school baseball team will play the Wichita Falls Electrics this afternoon on the high school diamond. Coach Henderson said Tuesday that this was the only game he had in line so far, but had letters out to Hamlin and Stamford for games.

The services of Johnnie McMahon were lost to the club when the young shortstopper quit school and went to work. The loss of McMahon will be felt greatly. Maurice Bullard probably will be placed at his position.

Salt Lake And Vernon Franchise Shifts Announced

AUBURN, N. Y., March 23.—(AP)—Secretary John H. Farrell of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues today announced the following changes in minor leagues on the eve of the 1926 playing season:

The Salt Lake of the Pacific Coast League has been moved to Los Angeles and will play under the name of the Hollywood club. The Vernon club of the same league has been transferred to San Francisco and will play under the name of the Mission club. The franchise and players of the Rocky Mount club in the Virginia League have been transferred to Petersburg, Va.

LONGHORNS WIN.

AUSTIN, March 23.—(AP)—Coach Billy Disch's Longhorns slammed the offerings of three Minnesota Gopher pitchers for 27 hits today and won, 32 to 5. Williamson, Ramsey, and Harris hit homers for the victors. Cox, King and Baker, Longhorn pitchers, held the visitors well in check throughout.

Lion Track Men Show Good Form In Stiff Sessions

Squad Won Second Honors At Burleson, Not Meet This Week

VERNON, March 23.—After winning second honors at the invitation track meet in Greenville, Coach Baggett is driving the Vernon Lion track candidates at a hard pace this week in spite of the fact that they are not matched with any team during the week. The Lion mentor announced Monday that his cinder men would not likely engage in any meet before the county meet to be held here April 2-3.

Better Than Last Year.

The Lions are showing too much better form as the teams begin to take form. This season's relay combination promises to be even better than last season's state championship quartet. In three relays entered up to date in which teams from all over the state competed, the Lions have taken first honors each time.

Although the Lions' greatest point winner is without doubt the relay combination, they will give schools of this section strong competition in other phases of the cinder and field events. Crouch's broad jumping has not failed to place him in the last three in any of the meets entered this season, and his discus hurl has been among the first. Ryan has made an unusually good showing in the 120-yard high hurdles.

Fans Have Confidence.

Fans who are close followers of the track are predicting that the '26 team will eclipse the record of the '25 cinder men. Crouch, the Vernonite who won the 880-yard dash at the national interscholastic league meet at Chicago last year, is back in good form in spite of a wrenched knee received during the last football season. The lanky runner has not been stepping the 880 this season except in the relay tryouts, but he seldom ran the half last season before entering the national meet.

Bell Avers Pass Rule Step Back

FORT WORTH, March 23.—(AP) Coach Matty Bell at Texas Christian university here is very positive in pronouncing against the newly adopted football rule which penalizes incomplete forward passes.

"I quite agree with Coach Zuppke that adoption of the new rule is a step backward," Bell said. "I was of the opinion that the rules were all right as they were. The general public has a hard enough time understanding all the rules without changing them so frequently."

SULLY KAYOS KEALEY

ST. LOUIS, March 23.—(AP)—Sully Montgomery, Fort Worth, former Centre college star, knocked out Eddie (KO) Kealey of Bridgeport, Conn., here last night after less than one round of furious fighting. Kealey went down twice from terrific punches on the jaw before Montgomery sent over the deciding punch.

OILERS REPORT

CORSICANA, Tex., March 23.—(AP)—Among those new players who reported to the Oilers during the week-end were: Joe Kucera, infielder, New Buffalo, Mich.; Eady, first sacker; Tucker, pitcher, Ovala, Texas.; Shores, pitcher, Abilene; Conrad, pitcher, Buffalo, Okla.; Smith, pitcher, Valiant, Okla.

TRAINING CAMP NEWS

BUFFS BEAT MILLERS

HOUSTON, March 23.—(AP)—The veteran wings of Minneapolis moundsmen responded to the warm sun today but so economically did the Buffaloes expend their six blows that the local entry was able to win the fourth straight game 5 to 3. The final struggle of the sequence will be played Wednesday.

Carlisle Littlejohn and Jim Mahady divided the pitching burden for the Buffs and with the exception of one inning when Mahady was guilty of what was regarded as miserable moundsmanship, the fine work of the young Bison boxmen continued.

Rube Benton, seasoned southpaw, pitched in a leisurely fashion for the first three innings and it was off his service that most of Buff runs were gleaned. Tom Harris, who lolled for two innings, and permitted one, while the veteran, Jimmy Middleton, whom Jakey Atz cut loose last spring to make room for a youngster named Kemner, permitted the Buffs no hits in the final trio.

BLUES FOR FORT WORTH.

FORT WORTH, March 23.—(AP)—The Kansas City Blues, managed by Spencer Abbott, who has not led a team into Fort Worth since, he brought the Memphis Chicks here for the 1921 Dixie series, will invade the Panther lair tomorrow for a pair of exhibition games.

Abbott naturally wouldn't mind retaliating in the present series for what the Cats did to the Chicks, but the Dixie champions will be just as happy to trim the American association team.

The Blues gave Dallas an 11-1 trimming Saturday, but the Steers came right back Sunday and won 8 to 6. Fort Worth will get a good chance for comparing with the Conley outfit in playing Kansas City.

The only rookie southpaw in camp, Hogsett, will start against the visitors. Wachtel, who hasn't gone to the mound in a game yet, but who has labored hard in batting practice, will relieve the left hander about the fifth inning. Red Bird was slated to do some flinging tomorrow, but showed up today with a sore arm. Chick Howard, rated a promising youngster, probably will succeed Wachtel.

CARDS BEAT BEARS.

SAN ANTONIO, March 23.—(AP)—Two pitchers went the route for the first time here this season today when Julius Kaiser and Sylvester Johnson, Pacific coast hurlers, had a duel in which they held the hits to single figures, with the St. Louis Cardinals defeating the San Antonio Bears 5 to 2 for the eighth time.

Honors were about even from a hurling standpoint with Kaiser having the edge on strike outs, in which he added such notables as Blades, Outhit, Bottomley and O'Farrell to his list, for each either took a healthy cut at the ball to miss or stood still as the balls shot over the pan.

Kaiser's performance was good to look upon and the fans gave him a hand every time he came to bat, although it wasn't at the bat at all, where Kaiser starred.

The batting honors went to Chick Hafey, former Texas leaguer, who now bids to become a sensation in the National league. The former Buff came in for three hits and a sacrifice fly in four trips, two of his drives going for two bases, while he also drove in two runs.

ST. PAUL WINS.

WACO, March 23.—(AP)—That the Cubs lost may be laid to the fact that young Willis Hudlin, in his Waco debut, was hit hard and often, but the youngster demonstrated that he was all silk despite that fact. While in the box he was hammered for eight hits and seven runs but he clearly showed that he is the makings of a real hurler. Aquilar, who relieved him, fared a little better. The fielding of the Cubs went about like their pitching, quite loose with errors of omission as well as those which are marked down in the score book. However, it was a thrilling game and the fair crowd of fans out got their money's worth for so early in the season.

EXPORTERS AX READY.

BEAUMONT, March 23.—(AP)—The elements were kindly again today, affording the Exporters another perfect practice period which wound up with an inter-team game, won by the regulars, 8 to 7. Pitchers were clouted rather freely with Ormand, Robinson and Dunning and McClanahan doing most of the damage. Following the practice, Skipper Galloway spent half an hour pouring over the list of players now in camp as if planning immediate reduction but no announcements were made.

Mantell Seeks "Revenge" On Maddock

Wild Columbus Dutchman Tackles Cleveland Junior Middleweight Thursday

Primeval Grappler Wires, "I Want to Get Even With Maddock for the Rotten Deal He Gave Me

"Tell Wichita Falls fans I will be on the job Thursday. They all look alike to me. The tougher they are, the better I like them. But don't expect a tea party as I want to get even with Maddock for rotten deal he gave me."

Thus did Dutch Mantell, the wild Columbus wrestler now in Amarillo, yesterday morning answer telegram sent him by The Record News sports editor.

Upon receiving notice Monday to effect Matty Matsuda, world's welterweight champion, will be unable to fill his scheduled match with Ernie Maddock, the sturdy Cleveland junior middleweight, because of injury received in recent match with Mantell, and upon hearing the calls of fans at Monday night's prise fight, "Get Mantell for Maddock," The Record News sports editor without conferring with Wrestling Matchmaker Alec B. Ross, wired Mantell.

The telegram was as follows: "Matsuda hurt. Fans at prizefight called for you to substitute against Maddock Thursday."

Then Ross was consulted. It was agreed by police officials that the match could be staged providing Mantell promised faithfully not to use the strangle hold method by which he put Matsuda out last week and was disqualified immediately by Ernie Maddock who refereed the match.

Mantell declared after the match that his greatest desire was to get Maddock into the ring with him.

Maddock said he didn't care to wrestle the Dutchman before a crowd, saying the tactcis Mantell would use and the tactics he (Maddock) would be forced to follow suit with, out of self preservation would hurt the game. But said: "If that Dutchman just must come after me I will gladly go up into a gym with him, shut the doors, and let him try his best. I did NOT give him a dirty deal in the Matsuda match. If anything, he got the best of the refereeing!"

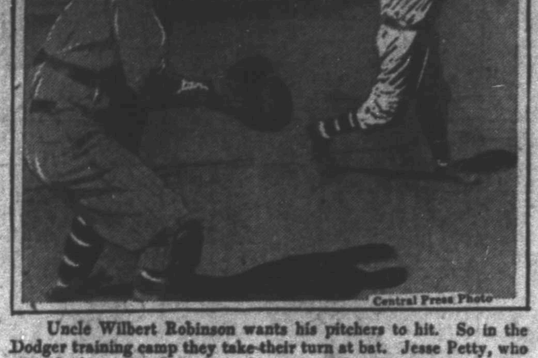

Mile Run in Texas Relays Will Be Hot

AUSTIN, March 23.—(AP)—With more than a dozen quartets of proved ability entered, indications are that the mile race in the university division will be one of the hardest fought events of the Texas University relay games here Friday.

The Iowa University team, winner of the mile relay in the Big Ten indoor meet, likely will rule the favorite, though Illinois, Georgetown, Missouri and Notre Dame have all entered first class combinations.

Among other schools entering teams in this event are Kansas University, Kansas A. and M., Oklahoma, Texas University and Texas A. and M.

Cycle Ball Nine Out For Blood And Lots Of It

The Herman Munden Bicycle and Sporting Goods store has organized a fast little amateur baseball club and is now ready to take on any worthy opponent in Wichita Falls. Anyone wanting a game can telephone at the store.

The Cyclers will play the Texhoma club, of the city league, Sunday afternoon at 3:30 for a practice game.

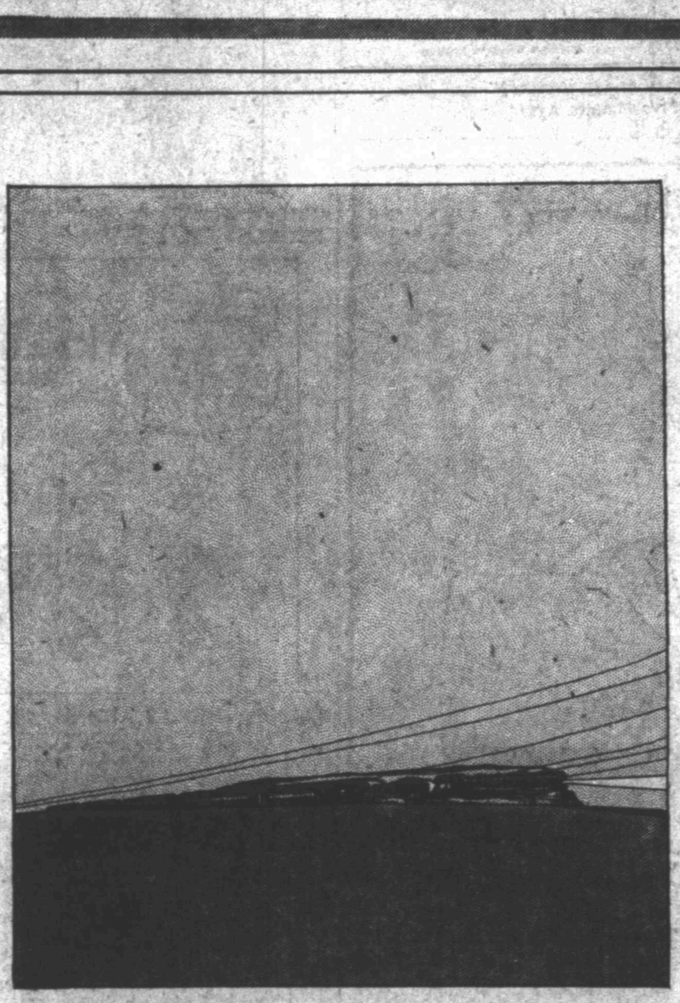

The Cyclers have a good club room with showers and locker and Mr. Munden has issued uniforms to the players and made Oliver Austin the manager of the team and "Flip" Hoskins was appointed field captain.

The regular lineup of the team is Hoskins, 1b; Deiterman, ss; Thorne, 3b; Lawson, 2b; Steele, cf; Buss, c; Reed, lf; Belue, rf; Lyle, p; Allison, p; Wiggle, p, and Thomas, utility man.

This is the club that they expect to carry through the season and one that should be able to win many a ball game this year.

Reds Got Pipp, Jim Got Blues, But He'll Stick

Hendricks Enthusiastic Over Hudgens' Showing At First

By NORMAN E. BROWN.
Sports Editor of Central Press.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 23.—Uncle Manager Hendricks of the Cincinnati Reds, training here, decides to sell Walter Holke as a Civil war relic and when Wallie Pipp trips on the board walk in front of the clubhouse and strains his ambition, young Jimmy Hudgens will get little opportunity to play first base for the Reds this season.

But I have Hendricks' word that he means to keep Jimmy.

Which ought to cheer that young Western Leaguer considerably if the word gets to him. For James saw himself headed back to the minors when Wallie Pipp was grabbed from the Yanks some weeks ago.

Jack Banks on Him.

Hendricks is banking on the young man delivering eventually. This despite the fact that he throws with his right hand (when an orthodox first baseman should be a southpaw) and did not bring a great fielding record to the big show with him.

Hudgens comes up after laboring for three years with Fort Smith. Jimmy got his start playing ball in the hotbed of good first baseemen—St. Louis. The presence, agility and youth of Mr. James Bottomley of the Cards, and the apparent ability of George Sisler to carry on with the Browns forced James to go elsewhere for his chance.

Last year Hudgens turned in a batting average of .339 for the season and it was his feat in leading the league in every branch of batting, that caused the Reds to grab him.

Will Surprise Fans.

"He's a mighty sweet ball player," said Hendricks as we discussed his Reds in general. "We're going to hang onto him."

If Jimmy does travel this year with the club what a surprise the Cinci fans will get the first time he is sent to first. They've seen nothing but granddaddies at first for years—Jake Daubert, Holke and Bressler did the bulk of the work there in late years.

The enthusiasm Hendricks shows over Hudgens, however, may mean that the coming season will see the passing of either Bressler, long a utility man, or Holke from the ranks of the Reds. Hendricks must find a young first sacker within the next year or two. And it is doubtful if he will carry three vets while experimenting with Jimmy and whoever else the scouts drag in this season.

Entries Complete For Rice Relays Opening Saturday

HOUSTON, March 23.—(AP)—With all entries for the second annual Rice Institute relay carnival in, Manager Gaylord Johnson is now directing his attention toward clearing up a few remaining details in order that the meet will be run off in machine-like precision next Saturday. More than 400 men have to be housed during the meet and assigned numbers, and in general, everything made ready for the most spectacular event of its kind in the southwest.

It was announced today that the All-Star Georgetown university squad will arrive Wednesday afternoon and will take a workout on the Rice track before nightfall. Thursday morning the aggregation will go to Austin, where, on Friday, it will take part in the Texas relays, held this year in conjunction with the Rice carnival.

Louisiana State university will arrive in from Baton Rouge early tomorrow and will do a little training on the institute oval before going to Austin. Other schools entered in the local event will come directly from Austin.

The Rice squad leaves Houston on Thursday morning for the Texas games, and will return athletes from approximately 30 universities and a large number of high schools, academies and junior colleges.

If the rain continues tomorrow this match probably will remain unplayed. The American champion announced tonight she intends to leave for Italy Thursday morning while Miss Ridley expects to depart for London tomorrow night.

Jockey Applications Tabled By Stewards

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP)—Applications for licenses of Jockeys L. M. Fator and Clarence Kummer were laid on the table today by the stewards of the Jockey club. This action will bar them from the New York state tracks unless favorable action is taken at a meeting just before the season starts.

Although no official statement as to the cases of Fator and Kummer was used by the stewards it was indicated that unsatisfactory riding in races last season was behind the action. Fator was suspended by the Empire City association in Yonkers, N. Y., last summer for an unsatisfactory showing.

Applications of John G. Dorsey and James Rowan for trainers licenses were denied while those of G. C. Winfrey and Samuel Greenfield were laid on the table. B. A. Chilson, ruled of the tracks several years ago for using "ringers" failed in his plea for reinstatement to privileges.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP)—Development of acute weakness in the mail order and merchandise shares turned the course of prices reactionary today after an opening display of strength. Further calling of bank loans which sent the call money rates from 4½ to 5 per cent, also helped to dampen bullish enthusiasm. The average of 20 leading industrial issues touched a new low level for the year. Trading showed a marked falling off in volume, the day's sales aggregating 1,325,000 shares.

Selling of the mail order stocks which originated with bear traders apparently proceeded on the theory that business of those companies would quickly reflect the decreased purchasing power of the farmers as a result of the recent decline in grain prices. Sears Roebuck, which had been bid up to 196⅝ soon after the opening, broke to 186, closing slightly above that figure for a net decline of nine points on the day. Montgomery Ward dropped 3¾ to 66. In each case, the bottom price was a new low record for the year.

Weakness of the mail order stocks brought fresh selling into the merchandising and chain store issues, which was accelerated by reports of a slowing up of retail trade in some sections of the country. Gimble brothers, Weber and Heilbruner, R. H. Macy and May Department stores showed extreme declines of two to 4½ points.

Motor shares also forfeited part of their recent gains although they did not break below the low levels established last week. Hudson was hammered down over three points to 89¾, closing just above that price and General Motors, Mack Trucks, Pierce Arrow preferred and Stewart-Warner lost a point or two.

A rather thin market developed for some of the high priced industrial specialties. American Can broke 11 points to 274 and then rallied a point. Coca Cola, commercial Solvents "A," DuFont, Famous Players, General Electric, National Tea, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe and Woolworth all fell 2½ to seven points.

Railroad shares particularly of the investment type presented several points of strength. Union Pacific advanced a point to 146¾ on publication of the February earnings statements showing net operating income of $1,756,099 as compared with $1,539,245 in the same month last year. Chesapeake and Ohio common and preferred each advanced over three points to within a point of the year's highs.

Banks called between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000 in loans today and the call money rate went up to 5 per cent after renewing at 4½. The time money market was slightly firmer, being quoted at 4¾ to 4⅝ per cent instead of on a flat 4½ per cent basis. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Renewed heaviness of French francs, which fell below 3.50 cents to the lowest level in two years featured the irregular foreign exchange market. Demand sterling was slightly higher around $4.85. Argentine pesos were heavy. Other changes were largely nominal.

Cotton

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, March 23.—A further slight advance at the opening of the cotton market today was followed by resulting apparently influenced by prospects for clearing weather in the south and complaints of continued poor spot demand. July contracts sold off from 18.26 to 18.13, and closed at 18.13, compared with 18.29 at the close yesterday. The general market closed steady at net declines of eight to 11 points.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to an advance of six points active months showing net gains of about two to seven points in early trading on a continuation of the recent buying movement and in sympathy with the relatively firm showing of Liverpool. Demand was less active than recently and seemed to be more readily supplied, the market soon turning easier under realising by recent buyers, southern and local selling on the better weather news, and unfavorable spot advices from the eastern belt.

May contracts, which had sold at 18.79 at the start, eased off to 18.64 in late trading, while October declined from 17.63 to 17.50, last prices were about the lowest of the day.

Private cables said the relatively steady showing of Liverpool was due to a falling off in hedge selling and liquidation combined with some trade calling and covering but that buyers of cotton clothe in Manchester were apathetic. Brokers with Wall Street connections were among the sellers on the late decline, suggesting the influence of an unsettled tone in the stock market.

There also was considerable selling here for southern account, which was regarded by some of the local traders as tending to confirm reports of a poor spot demand.

Expectations of an unfavorable weekly review of new crop preparations by the weather bureau tomorrow were a factor on the early advance, but appeared to be offset by the improvement reported in weather conditions today.

Exports today 6,571, making 8,402,767 so far this season. Port receipts 25,787. U. S. port stocks 1,211,287.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—(AP)—The cotton market after opening steady with very moderate trading and easing off slowly during the greater part of the day became more active in the afternoon on prospects of more favorable weather in the belt and owing to the weakness in the stock market and the report that the New York banks were calling loans to a considerable amount. Prices which at the start had been unchanged to five points up compared with the close of yesterday closed off until near the end prices showed losses of 11 to 15 points from the highs of the early morning. The close was near the bottom, showing net losses for the day of four to 12 points, new crop months showing the greatest drop.

Also the start Liverpool was somewhat better than due but as the official forecast was for fair weather the market opened somewhat irregular two points downto six up. The market was steadier right after the opening, May selling at 18.05, July at 17.63 and October at 16.98, or two to five points net higher. There prices proved to be the highs of the day.

The market soon turned easier and declined slowly during the morning on bitter weather prospects until around noon May traded at 17.96, July at 17.58 and October at 16.91 or six to nine points below the early highs.

During the afternoon selling became more aggressive owing to the reports of good weather in the belt and on Wall street selling induced by the weakness of stocks and the calling of loans by New York banks. Prices made new lows in the late trading with May at 17.91, July at 17.53 and October at 16.87, or 11 to 15 points down from the highs. The close was a shade up from the lows.

Exports to rthe day totaled 4,896 bales.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, March 23.—(AP)—Spirited buying developed in the wheat market today and gave a sharp upturn to values, despite the fact that earlier the September delivery had dropped to the lowest price yet this season. The world available supply showed a decrease of 4,780,000 bushels.

Wheat closed strong, one to 2¾c net higher, May (new) $1.57 to $1.57⅝ and July $1.36 to $1.36⅛, corn at ⅜ to ⅝c advance, oats unchanged to ¼c up and provisions unchanged to 10c down.

Corn and oats rallied with wheat in the late dealings after selling at a new low price record for the season. Some Chicago firms that were recently active sellers of corn were good buyers today.

Increased selling from commission houses weakened the provision market toward the last in the face of higher quotations on hogs.

CHAPMAN PINS HOPE ON ALIBI

Counsel Searching for Witness Who Saw Him Day Before Slaying

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP)—A missing witness has been injected into the waning drama about the life of Gerald Chapman, due to hang in Connecticut for murder, April 6.

The witness, Charles William Gregory, once a New Jersey machinist, was sought today by Chapman's lawyers to corroborate an affidavit he made, saying he talked to Chapman on a train coming to New York the night before the murder of Policeman James Skelley in New Britain, Conn.

The existence of Gregory and of his affidavit was revealed last night. Frederick J. Groehl, Chapman's chief counsel, broadcast an appeal for Gregory and revealed the discovery of two other new witnesses.

Gregory was last heard from in October, Mr. Groehl said. After making the afifdavit he worked in Detroit, was ill in a hospital and dropped out of sight.

Last April the affidavit says he was allowed to look through a guarded peep hole in a cell door and picked out Chapman from among three prisoners as the man who rode to New York by train with him on the evening before Skelley was killed.

The second new witness rode from Grand Central station toward Brooklyn on the subway with Chapman after the arrival of the train, the attorney said. The third witness, according to Mr. Groehl, saw the policeman's murderer escape. He did not come forward at the first trial because "domestic complications" would have ensued had his presence in New Britain at the time been known.

SAFETY CONFAB IS UNDER WAY

Traffic Experts Recommend Curtailing Speed Of Autos

WASHINGTON, March 23—(AP)—A complete draft of safety measures designed to reduce traffic accidents, which last year took a toll of 23 900 lives and approximately 600,000 injured in the United States, was taken up today at the first of a three-day session of the second national conference on street and highway safety.

Secretary Hoover in opening the conference, attended by about 1,000 delegates, including representatives of governors of 43 states, sent here at the request of President Coolidge, emphasized the need of uniformity of laws as between the states and uniformity of laws and regulations was tween cities in the same state. The model motor vehicle code of three laws as suggested by the committee on uniformity oof laws and regulations was endorsed by the secretary as "perhaps the outstanding concrete accomplishment" of the two years' work of the conference.

He advocated drastic penalties for the deliberate law violator, declaring a belief that "much of the solution of the present high accident rate on our city streets and rural highways lies in the enforcement of the laws by the police and by properly organized traffic courts."

Harold S. Buttenheim, editor of the American City Magazine, told the conference that a canvass of nearly 500 police chiefs showed them almost unanimously in favor of limiting the speed capacity of automobiles to 40 miles an hour.

Were You Ever Refused Credit At a Store?

It gives a man a jolt to be refused credit, and men who have been accustomed to credit anywhere will get that jolt if their credit rating gets a bit shaky.

Little bills that are let run on and on can puncture a good rating.

Why not clear up such bills if you have them, and keep your rating good?

We make loans of $25 to $500 to responsible men, and will be glad to discuss it with you.

The Old Home Town

Dr. J. C. Hardy of Belton, president of Baylor-Belton College for Women, is in the city for several days in the interest of the college. He was a visitor at the First Baptist church Tuesday.

E. M. Campbell, president of the Home State Bank company of Grandfield, Okla., was a Wichita Falls visitor Tuesday. He was last seen talking to C. E. McCutcheon in the First National bank.

Harry Bunnenberg, local attorney, left Wichita Falls Tuesday for Austin, where he will appear before the court of criminal appeals in behalf of Harry Folsom, recently given a 25 year sentence in the district court here on a charge of criminal assault against the person of his daughter.

C. C. Coles, secretary of the chamber of commerce of Burkburnett, was in Wichita Falls Tuesday on business.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The following officers have been installed in the City Union of Christian Endeavor: Albert Patillo, president; Larry Robertson, vice president.

The loving cup was awarded to the First Christian church on a basis of attendance at church, Christian Endeavor, mass meeting, number taking part on the program and on number of new members.

He Braids Rope In Jail Cell! Why? That's Question

City police have charged up to profit and loss the depredations of one man, charged with drunkenness and lodged in the bastile over Monday night, who in the wee hours tore his two woolen blankets into small strips and plaided them into a healthy rope of some 20 feet in length.

Just what the rope was to be used for is not known. One officer hazards the guess that it was woven so the man could hang himself; another insists it was to be the means of escape from the cell, although tight iron bars on the windows make this rather farfetched. A third says, "O, he was just drunk." Which latter reason perhaps explains just how and why. The man himself is non-committal. He was still in jail Tuesday night.

FRENCH WIFE TELLS WHY SISTERS ARE COQUETTES

PARIS.—"French wives are coquettes to keep their husbands." This is the declaration of Mme. Hortense Larreter in a book she has written to defend her Parisian sisters' dress and appearance. "We know that the women who might tempt our husbands must be smart and gay. So we are smart and gay ourselves. We are firmly determined to keep our husbands. Of course we are jealous. Every woman who wants to keep her husband's love is jealous. Why not admit it?"

ORDER TOMB GUARDED

Military Patrol Will Watch Over Grave of America's "Unknown"

WASHINGTON, March 23—(AP) A military guard of honor for the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington cemetery was ordered today by Secretary Davis of the war department and will take its station there within a week.

The war secretary's order was inspired by reports that tourists and visitors at the shrine had been lacking in respect, and had taken away souvenirs.

BRITISH EXPERT ASSAILS AMERICAN PRISON METHODS

LONDON—American prisons are coddling their inmates. Their methods are bad. It is no use doing and then half undoing a thing and to lighten penal servitude with concerts, films and lectures is a great mistake. These assertions are made by Capt. Frederick Graves, British prison expert, in an article made public here. Captain Graves declares short sentences for hardened criminals is useless, but that young offenders should be spared at all costs from prison taint.

Presbyterians Break Ground For New Addition

JUDGE BARWISE, GRAFTON, HELP

Work Officially Started On New $120,000 Project Here

Memories of 40 years gone by were recalled at the breaking of ground for the new $120,000 annex to the First Presbyterian church Tuesday afternoon when Judge Joseph H. Barwise, 96-year-old charter member of the church, turned over a piece of sod which will mark the place for the cornerstone of the new building. In his prayer, he remembered the first little church which grew from a handful of members to the influential congregation of the present time, numbering almost a thousand.

In contrast with the venerable disciple was little Miss Georgianne Davidson, youthful member of the church, representing the juniors who will be taught in the annex, turned a shovelful of dirt.

Messages Are Given.

Messages were given by the representatives from the various organizations of the church, on "What the New Church Means to Me."

Due to the illness of Dr. Nat F. Grafton, minister, who has been ill for several months, and unable to speak at the impressive service, Rev. Daniel E. Greider of Terrell, read his message in which he stated that the beginning of the culmination of the past ten and one-half years prayer, hopes and plans was begun with the breaking of ground for the new building which would be adequate space for the religious education of the church for the next decade.

Other Speakers.

Other speakers included that by C. W. Beavers, vice-moderator and chairman of the building committee; Raymond Myers, chairman of the board of trustees; Julian Montgomery from the Sunday school; Mrs. C. C. Hagmann, Woman's Auxiliary; Mrs. D. J. White, Helen Beavers Missionary society; Mrs. J. D. Robertson, Cornelia Benoir chapter; Miss Jeannette Snuggs, senior group of Christian Endeavor; Larry Robertson, high school Christian Endeavor; Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, Lucy Hansell chapter.

The breaking of ground ceremony was also participated in by Miss Dorothy Burks, Mr., and Mrs. Alva Willgus, Herbert Voelcker, Rev. E. F. McGaughey, J. A. Kemp.

The ceremony opened with a a hymn led by Alva Willgus, followed by a prayer said by Mrs. Emma Fowler, one of the best known workers of the church.

Following the doxology, the closing prayer was said by Judge Barwise, and the benediction by Reverend Greider, who was master of the ceremony.

Kemp Is Speaker

Anderson Kemp was the principal speaker at the Wichita Falls Real Estate board meeting Tuesday at noon at the Kemp hotel when he discussed a recent trip to the lower Rio Grande valley.

He commended the local organization on its methods in handling deals, and told of the unscrupulous methods used by land sharks who frequent the valley. The towns in the valley are new and they show signs of industry, he said and then discussed the network of highways built of concrete similar to those of this section of the state.

P. B. Curd made a brief talk and stated that within a short time the city would have a definite report to make on the water situation of the city. Floyd Friberg was named chairman of the "On-To-Tulsa" committee.

Raid Liquor Still

A raid on a garage in the rear of a Rose street residence shortly after noon Tuesday by the sheriff's department was responsible for one of the largest liquor hauls made by local officers in recent years. Thirteen large tin "g. i." cans filled with mash and carrying about 125 gallons each were taken together with a large copper still with a capacity of 250 gallons.

A large supply of bottles, labeling and bottling in bond devices were also found. All the labels bore the counterfeiter name of "Gordon's Dry Gin."

No one was near the place at the time.

Plans to raise $12,000 for the I. H. Roberts Memorial, to be built in Scout Park as a permanent residence for the Boy Scouts of Wichita Falls were outlined in a meeting held Tuesday at noon in the office of Scout Executive Frank B. Creighton in the First Christian church. A meeting for April 10 will be held when final plans before the drive will be discussed was announced. A committee composed of Burton Stayton, Marvin Smith and Paul Cotner was appointed to arrange the quotas prior to the campaign for the memorial.

Those present at the meeting yesterday included J. H. Allison, president of the Boy Scout council; Frank B. Creighton, executive; Dr. Charles R. Hartsook, Alva Willgus, Marvin Smith, Bert King, J. W. Would Aid Schools

A message was received yesterday by Mayor R. E. Shepherd from A. Zundelowitz of San Jacinto, Cal., in which he, a pioneer merchant of Wichita Falls, offered to the local board of education a sum of $30,000 to be used for the new school building in the Country Club estates.

In his message Mr. Zundelowitz said that he would donate the $30,000 if the structure will be made twice the size announced, provided the school is non-sectarian, and the structure bear his name.

$4,000 MORE IN FAIR CAMPAIGN

Solicitation To Halt Now Until New Plans Made Saturday

With additional pledges totaling approximately $4,000, total subscriptions to the $100,000 Texas-Oklahoma Fair Association fund were reported at noon Tuesday at the luncheon of the workers, held at the Kemp hotel. It was decided, after a suggestion by Chairman W. B. Hamilton of the campaign committee, that efforts to sell additional stock would cease until next Friday when at the meeting of the business council, plans for carrying on the campaign will be discussed.

Must See Them.

"I am convinced that all we need to do is to see the people," said Mr. Hamilton in discussing the campaign. "I have been unable to find all the men on my list and I am sure it is the same with you gentlemen. This is a mighty busy time of year with us. I feel sure that when we see all the prospective purchasers of the stock the entire amount will be sold."

A Success—Weeks.

Attorney Fred Weeks declared in his opinion the campaign, even though short of the $100,000, had been a great success. "We have raised almost $50,000 in ten days," he said. "I thought from the start it would take us at least a month to complete the sale of this stock and I think we have done mighty well in the ten days the campaign has been on."

SPRING BREAKS IN FULL FORCE

Tuesday An Ideal Day As Rains and Clouds Subside

After several more or less earnest attempts to establish itself in fact as well as theory, spring broke over North Texas with full force and effect Tuesday.

It was probably the most inviting day of the year and came as a welcome change after the super-abundance of rain that has flooded this section the past three days.

The sunshine, coming on top of the showers, speedily transformed grass and shrubs here into blankets of green that spoke eloquently of the warmer days ahead. A light, balmy wind also contributed its summery touch.

A maximum temperature of 77 degrees was recorded for the day, while a minimum of 46 was reached.

Somewhat cooler weather was predicted for Wednesday.

Relatives Found

The father and half brother of Robert and Edith Roark who were stranded in St. Louis have been found, and funds have been sent to take care of them. The father, William Roark and a half brother, E. L. Ewing, read in the Record News Tuesday morning a story from Mrs. W. O. Davidson, Traveler's Aid secretary, who had received a telegram from the Traveler's Aid of St. Louis telling of the case there.

The clues given in the message were traced, but nothing could be heard from them. The story appeared in the Tuesday morning issue, and by 8:30 o'clock, the difficulty was solved, Mrs. Davidson said.

LAY OFF THE LAMP POSTS

City Starts Painting Its Standards With New Green Hue

A warning not to lean on the lamp posts of the city's street lighting system for the next day or so is issued from the office of N. M. Clifford, city street commissioner, who announces that after various difficulties, real and imagined, the work of painting these functionaries has at last begun and bids fair to proceed without interruption.

Several of the downtown posts Tuesday had a bright fresh green aspect, in keeping, some contended, with the spring atmosphere. "But don't lean on them," Mr. Clifford warns. "The paint is a sure smear for new clothes if you do."

YOUR LOANS

To buy, build, improve or refinance your home.

The North Texas way is the safe and sure way to conveniently get your home paid for.

You pay as you get paid, weekly or monthly installments that you can meet.

Your note is "on or before." If you sell the property it can be re-financed to suit the buyer. Extra payments of any amount at any time may be made.

The total interest cost is less than any other loan plan available.

We invite you to discuss your "Loan Wants" with us.

For the man or woman who intends to have something to fall back on, North Texas Advance Payment Shares offer a remarkable opportunity. The following plan shows the power of money to multiply itself:

First: Invest a sum of money in Advance Payment Shares.
Second: The interest reinvested through the North Texas Building and Loan Association.

On this plan you may double your original investment approximately every seven years and 38 days. Thus, suppose when thirty years of age you invest $1,000 in Advance Payment Shares and allow the interest to accumulate and be reinvested:

At age 37 you would have $2,000
At age 44 you would have $4,000
At age 51 you would have $8,000

all from an original investment of $1,000. During this time you would receive $7,000 in interest on your money, 700% of the original investment. You can withdraw all or part of your money at any time. You can borrow and your money still keeps growing. Income from $3,000 is tax exempt and no tax need be paid on the income from any greater sum during the period in which it is being accumulated and reinvested.

Let us tell you how your money will accumulate more money at 10%, compounded semi-annually.

HEAD ACTED LIKE MERRY-GO-ROUND

"For quite a while I was affected with dizzy spells and everything would seem to dance before my eyes," says Mr. T. H. Bohannon, of 841 E. Jefferson St., Louisville, Ky. "Little black specks would flicker over everything I looked at. Sometimes I would feel as if the floor was going to come up and hit me in the face. At the same time I had a feeling like chills. My digestion had not been good and I had spells of constipation. Every morning I would wake up with a bad taste in my mouth.

"I got quite worried about myself. One day I was talking to one of my friends about my health. I told him how bad off I was, and that nothing I was doing seemed to help me. At once he asked me, 'Have you tried Thedford's Black-Draught?' I told him that I had not, and he said: 'Well, why don't you get a package of it and begin taking it? That is what you need.'

"I did as he told me, and in a few days I noticed a decided improvement. The dizziness disappeared. I was no longer troubled by my head acting like a merry-go-round when I got up quickly. My indigestion straightened out and my appetite picked up wonderfully.

"That was two years ago. Since then I always keep Black-Draught in the house. It prevents biliousness and constipation and keeps me in good physical condition. I take a dose every now and then, just to keep my system clean. It is a splendid medicine. I have told many of my friends about it and those who have tried it think like I do."

Thedford's Black-Draught is made from pure, medicinal roots and herbs. It contains no harmful, dangerous mineral drugs.
