Bush Takes No Chances; He Wants To Hear What The Preacher Says Of Him

NEA Service

KINGSTON, Tenn., May 12 — Bewhiskered Felix Bush Breazeale, 74-year-old farmer who lives 13 miles from Kingston, out in the Cave Creek community, thinks it's foolish to preach a man's funeral after he dies.

Bush, as they call him around here, wants to hear what the preacher has to say. So he's having his own funeral preached June 26 in the little white Cave Creek Baptist Church.

Creates Quite A Stir

Bush's show is creating quite a stir hereabouts. They're sending down some radio singers from Chattanooga to take part, and the preacher is coming from Illinois. Bush is having a program printed and expects the crowd to send flowers just as if he were really dead already.

The coffin is ready. Bush made it himself out of a walnut tree that grew back of his home in Woolfe Creek valley. That was what gave Bush the idea of staging his funeral while he could still appreciate it. People around here made such a fuss about his carving his own coffin that he decided to give them a real show.

Bush lives on a small old-age pension and is pretty spry for a man who'll attend his own funeral next month. He rides a mule to the country store, chops firewood and works in his garden. But already there are signs that Bush's days are numbered—not long ago, for instance, he missed a fox at 100 yards with his old hog rifle.

Felix Bush Breazeale . . . will have his funeral while he can still hear what the preacher has to say about him.

"Bush" tries that walnut coffin he built for his own use.

Bush still courts a little. His girl is Miss Melvina Erwin, a childhood sweetheart. Bush never got married. He just doesn't have any faith in women.

"Sort of like preachers, you know," he explains.

Lewis Says Labor Will Defy Wage Slashes

Leader Claims Salaries Will Reach Higher

Mighty Organization Drive By CIO Is Promised At First Sign Of Recovery

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 12. John L. Lewis, stormy leader of the CIO, pounded his fist before the Amalgamated Clothing Workers today and shouted organized labor would stand for no reductions in wages.

Placing the nation's unemployed at 13,000,000, Lewis called upon employers to "practice the right to work." He declared the unemployed "not for long this time" would be "willing to watch their children die."

Force Them Higher

"Instead of letting wages be reduced," he thundered, "we shall force wages higher and higher until the workers of this country can buy the food, the clothing and the other things that are produced by the very machinery that has forced men out of work."

Lewis asserted wide-spread unionization of workers was the only thing that prevented the present recession from becoming "a wild panic," and announced that on the first day this country showed signs of economic recovery his group would "spring into action with an organization drive such as this country never saw before."

Backed By Millions

"We struck three years ago," he said, "because we knew we had to strike when jobs were not at such high premium. . . . We had only 1,000,000 workers to back us then, but next time we will have 4,000,000 workers back of us, and by the time the next depression rolls around the working people will do something about it."

Lewis scowled at economists who contend the best depression remedy is lower wages and lower prices. He said that if wage reductions, "shrinking purchasing power and consequent lowering of the living standards of consumers" make for economic appeasement, then the Chinese people, who have "an average income of $30 a year" would be "the happiest and most prosperous people on earth—which they are not."

Conference Is Urged

He joined with Philip Murray, vice-chairman of the CIO, in urging President Roosevelt to call a national conference of business, labor and agricultural leaders to seek solution of economic ills. Murray said Tuesday "hundreds" of industrialists had expressed to him de-

City Will Seek RFC Finances For Projects

First Steps To Finance Sewer And Paving Program To Cost $450,000 Taken Thursday

FIRST steps seeking to finance approximately $450,000 in city storm sewer and paving projects through the Reconstruction Finance corp. were approved at the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission at the city hall Thursday afternoon.

Other important actions at the session were the revision of a proposed livestock zoning ordinance so as to create three zones instead of the four originally suggested and the declaration by the commissioners that they will not, to use their own words, "back up an inch" in the enforcement of the Lubbock parking meter ordinance.

Those Attending Session

Attending the session were Mayor Carl E. Slaton, Commissioners W. B. Price, W. G. McMillan, J. A. Fortenberry and Hub Jones, City Manager W. H. Rodgers, City Secretary Lavenia Williams, city Engineer Marlin R. Smith, jr., and Walter D. Wilson, acting city attorney in the absence of Durwood H. Bradley.

Efforts to obtain RFC financing for storm sewer and paving officials emphasized, are in their first preliminary stage although they represent the beginning of the attempt to secure long discussed improvements which the officials said must be constructed.

Details Not Complete

Details of the work to be done if satisfactory financing is secured also remain to be completed. In general outline, one project contemplates the construction of a storm sewer extending entirely across the city from west to east south of Nineteenth street. Smaller lateral sewers aggregating several miles in length would relieve adjacent areas, particularly Nineteenth street, of flooding in time of rain. Reflecting the size of the undertaking was the estimate that

Jesse Jones As Democratic Nominee For President In 1940 Urged By Arkansan

(By The Associated Press)

SILOAM SPRINGS, Ark., May 12.—Governor Carl Bailey of Arkansas suggested today that Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, be Democratic nominee for president in 1940.

Bailey proposed the Texan as Democratic presidential nominee at a banquet on John Brown university campus where Jones had just received an honorary degree of doctor of laws, at the university's annual commencement exercises.

"I have not conferred with Governors Leche of Louisiana, Allred of Texas and Marland of Oklahoma, but I believe I can speak for them in saying we advocate the southwest being given representation by a business man at the commencement exercises of the political parties in 1940.

"I suggest that we indicate here today that we would like to see Jesse H. Jones the Democratic party's 'graduate' for that commencement exercise."

Jones made no immediate comment.

Democrats Gain House Victory Late Thursday

Huge Demo Majority Again Is Strongly Aligned Behind FDR; Bill Goes To Senate

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 12. — The house voted a $3,000,000,000 appropriation for President Roosevelt's lending-spending campaign against the depression tonight, with the chamber's huge Democratic majority strongly aligned behind the chief executive once more.

Shattered earlier in the session by the wage-hour issue and the reorganization bill, the party lines reformed, to the delight of administration leaders, to repulse repeated efforts to amend or recommit the bill and finally to pass it, 328 to 70.

Now Goes To Senate

The measure, appropriating $1,250,000,000 for work relief, $965,000,000 for public works, $175,000,000 for Farm Security administration, $75,000,000 for the National Youth administration, and lesser sums for administrative expenses and other purposes, goes next to the senate.

There, a coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats is expected to oppose the measure, seeking to reduce the sums appropriated and to restrict the uses to which the money may be put. Administration leaders are, nevertheless, highly confident of the outcome.

Integral Part Of Drive

The $3,000,000,000 in the bill is an integral part of the program of $4,500,000,000 in loans and expenditures which President Roosevelt proposed several weeks ago as a means of increasing general purchasing power. The remaining $1,500,000,000 was provided in previous legislation for highway building for CCC camps and for loans by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Only twice today did the situation get out of the hands of the administration leadership, and then on the question of broadening rather than restricting the scope of the bill. One successful amendment made farmers eligible for WPA work, whether or not registered on any Light Rainfall Dampens Area-

Rains, ranging from showers to an inch of moisture, dotted the South and North Plains late Thursday and that night. On the South Plains, the fall was lighter than farther north.

Band Plays "Dixie" At Meeting Of Daughters Of Union Vets

DALLAS, May 12. (AP)—Next time he'll know better.

A band leader playing for a women's meeting heard talk of the Civil war and smilingly started his musicians into the strains of "Dixie."

The women coughed, frowned and sputtered.

Someone whispered. The band leader flushed and started again, this time with "Yankee Doodle."

It was a state convention of the Daughters of Union Veterans.

Death That Often Stalked Him In Days Of Old West Claims Joe Hutt At Last

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, May 12. — Joe W. Hutt, 88, who sat in on a few hands of stud and draw with Wild Bill Hickok and knew Calamity Jane as the demure sweetheart of bull-whackers, mule-skinners and the boys who built the Union Pacific railroad, came to the end of the trail today.

Death—the grim spectre that stalked beside him in the long ago—overtook him today in a hospital bed far from the scenes of the rip-roaring west that he knew and loved in his younger days.

Among First Hunters

Among the first buffalo hunters in the 1870's, he helped slaughter the vast herds of bison for the leather of that leather lunged era.

Joe Hutt knew intimately the characters of that day.

He saw Wild Bill Hickok roll a can a block down the streets of Fort Wallace, Kansas, with pistol bullets, he debunked Buffalo Bill Cody's stories of killing Indians and described the plainsman as "being a lady killer" and doubted that Calamity Jane could shoot a gun.

He Hit The Trail

When J. N. Dubois of Kansas City sent out a circular offering to buy buffalo hides in winter or summer, with or without hair, Joe Hutt bought a 50 gauge Sharp's rifle and hit the trail. His greatest kill in one day was 34, exactly twenty less than the record set by Jim Lamb, marksman, in 1872.

Before he died the plainsman recalled Calamity Jane.

"She was in Platte City, Neb., in 1871 and '72," he said. "Her real name was Martha Jane Canary and she was a fine looking gal, but she never was a gunwoman. In fact I doubt if she could shoot a gun. Some

Student Union Structure For Tech Proposed

In a two-hour meeting of the student council at Texas Technological college, a plan which would evolve a student union building for the Tech campus was presented Thursday afternoon by a committee from the Inter-Club council, organization of social club executives.

The plan specified advantages of erecting a student union building and means of raising funds to finance the construction on the Tech campus. Presented by George Carrithers, president of the Inter-Club council, the presentees expressed the wish that "everyone understand that this is not a project by and for social clubs, but for the entire student body."

Purpose Is Explained

"The purpose of the establishment of such a building is three-fold. First, it would be for the use and recreation of the entire student body. All social and recreational activities would be centered in this building. Second, the building would house a cafeteria for the students to have adequate dietary at minimum cost. Third, the development of social relations among the students to build up a stronger school spirit and to provide a wholesome atmosphere for recreation is a long-felt need which we think can be remedied through the establishing of this building," the report from the committee composed of Carrithers, Troy Pickens and Mary Frances Standefer, said.

Specifications were for a building of two floors and a basement. In the basement would be centered the recreation facilities of ping-pong tables, billiard tables and bowling alleys. Reading rooms and club rooms would also be located in the basement. On the first floor would

Cotton Acreage Gets Increase

The cotton allotment for the county of Lubbock has been increased 11,000 acres, according to information telephoned here Thursday by County Agent C. C. Jobson who with Walter Johnson, an assistant in the soil conservation service, has been at College station working in connection with the 1938 farm program.

The information was received by Homer Thompson, assistant county agent.

Boosted To 170,159

Total was boosted to 170,159 acres, Thompson said. The original allotment was slightly more than 159,000 acres. Jobson and Johnson, who went to College Station three weeks ago, are scheduled to return early next week, it was indicated. They will remain there to revise work sheets for the additional allotment.

The increase placed the factor for Lubbock county at 38.4. In figuring the farm cotton allotment, Thompson said, that ratio may be applied to the tilled acres which has a cotton history of that figure or larger.

Tilled acres does not mean necessarily all cultivated land, Thomp-

"Buy A Barrel Of Oil" Movement Launched At Seagraves; Two Towns Hold Banquets

(By Staff Correspondent)

SEAGRAVES, May 12. — "Buy a barrel of oil," was a slogan adopted by the Seagraves Chamber of Commerce at a banquet here tonight, in an effort to stimulate oil production in Texas and the nation and thus revive the industry. Oil was selling today at $1 a barrel and after the plan, suggested by Ben White, president of the civic body, was put before the group, 62 of them bought oil at that price.

White was to have presented the idea to the banquet tonight but late in the afternoon was injured in a fall at his machine shop. Jess Hall presented the plan. White had told directors Wednesday night that a producer had told him he was stacking his rig until the price of oil increased enough to make drilling profitable.

Eighty men attended the banquet. Frank Matchett, banker, was toastmaster. George W. Dupree, Lubbock attorney, was principal speaker, talking on "Fellowship in Community Ser-

Irate Bull Runs Wild On Lubbock Streets Before Cops Drop Him; Woman Trampled

IT was a hilarious few minutes a big black bull spent early Thursday night as he led some dozen policemen and possibly hundreds of curious persons a merry chase from stockpens on Avenue C to the 2100-block Avenue P where he finally was shot down.

And those few minutes were crowded with excitement for both the bull and several unfortunate persons whose interests conflicted with those of the irate animal.

As he escaped from the stockyards, he toured through negro town, but his escapades there were fruitless. A negro whose appearance the bull resented outran the bull a fair race, witnesses said, for a block and a half.

By the time the procession reached Fifteenth street and Avenue K, officers had taken up the chase and assisting were S. O. Boyd and Lewis Kittrell, traffic officers, in one car; Aubrie Cummings and George Stringer in another; and Melvin Alvey and O. E. Rush in a

Conquering Lion Of Judah Fights Futilely Before League To Save Nation

Cause Of Negus Appears Lost

GENEVA, May 12. (AP) — Ailing Haile Selassie, once conquering lion of Judah, fought futilely before the League of Nations council today to save Ethiopia from being recognized as Italian.

Great Britain and France won freedom for league states to acknowledge formally the fruits of Italy's 1935-36 war despite the exiled emperor's dramatic appearance.

No Vote Is Taken

There was no vote—merely a series of declarations by council members.

With the majority of delegates declaring their nations in favor of freedom to recognize Ethiopia as Italian, the bearded emperor's cause was lost.

The Negus, a stately figure in funereal blac, was too ill to speak, and sat at the league council table while his representative, Ato Lawrence Taezez, .read his speech.

Reign Of Fear

"Members of the league," it said, "this is a reign of fear. The states members of the league are each one for himself.

"They are tearing up treaties of non-aggression, the League of Nations covenant and the Briand-Kellogg pact.

"Since the contagion of aggression has spread throughout the world, states have permitted international morale to vanish. May God forgive them."

"No humiliation has been spared her. I address a most energetic protest to the world.

A Violated Victim

"If it is true that the Ethiopian people can expect no aid from the league, Ethiopia will remain amidst you as a living symbol of a violated victim."

Only the league assembly, called to meet Sept. 5, "can decide our case," the statement said.

Viscount Halifax preceded the Ethiopian appeal with a defense of the "realistic policy" launched by Great Britain.

He declared it is "not feasible to attempt successful international acceptance of the high ideals for which the league stood."

Italy, he declared, has virtually all Ethiopia which has "no center of organized resistance capable of reversing Italian control."

Mistrial In Parking Meter Case Is Declared Here

Jim Johnson, a barber who Thursday morning filed a damage action for $50 against the City of Lubbock alleging false arrest on a charge of violation of the parking meter ordinance, that afternoon was tried in corporation court on that charge.

A mistrial was declared when jurors were unable to reach a verdict. According to sources usually authoritative, jurors stood five to one for conviction.

W. D. Girand, jr., counsel for Johnson, said the damage action, filed in the justice court of S. E. McMillan, sought "vindication" for the recent arrest of Johnson.

Charged are the city manager, chief of police, city attorney, city recorder, a police official who signed the charge and the police authority who made the arrest, individually and as city officials.

Pleadings set up Johnson was arrested contrary to "highest court" opinion the ordinance he was charged with running afoul was unconstitutional, said Girand. He referred to a ruling recently of Judge J. J. Dillard of county court, which, said Girand, constitutionally is the "court of last resort for appeals from corporation court."

Story Of Insanity Offered In Music

The authentic story of how insanity creeped upon a man has been recorded in music by James Nevins, senior arts and science band major at Texas Technological college, and will be played at the 12th annual spring concert to be conducted Monday night at Senior High school auditorium by the band.

"Isanus," Latin for insanity, has been suggested by fellow members of the band as a possible title for the composition.

Nevins based the music upon the case of a man he witnessed in the state institution in Abilene. The first bars of the music were described as in "bumpy" rhythm, illustrating the man's attempt to restrain himself as he realizes that he is becoming insane. He cannot restrain himself and the music goes into an attonality with no written key. As the subject becomes relatively sane again, he begins to think of his friends and relatives on the outside. He feels sorry for himself but can do nothing but sit and wait for another attack of insanity.

The band is rehearsing almost daily for the concert, said J. C. Douglass, editor of the Tech chapter of Kappa Kappa Psi, band fraternity. Approximately 90 selected band members will play in the concert, which will be directed by D. O. Wiley.

Electric Dream Now Realized

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NORRIS, Tenn., May 12. — An electrical engineering dream that came true, a switchboard that blows a horn when there is trouble and flashes a printed sign telling where and what it is, was demonstrated today at the Norris dam power house of TVA.

This robot sentinel foreshadows the possibility of electical signboards in central stations that will flash a warning when Mrs. Consumer leaves the electric iron to get overheated and start a fire on her husband's trousers.

39 Messages Flashed

The Norris dam board has acquired the ability to flash 39 messages to date and has vacant space in its signal system for a dozen more.

One of these reads "unit overspeed." This means that one of the generators is running too fast. To the shaft of the generator is attached one end of a small loose arm that stands farther and farther out as the speed increases.

If speed gets too high, the outer end of the arm makes an electric contact, and this mlows the horn.

Overheating Warnitg

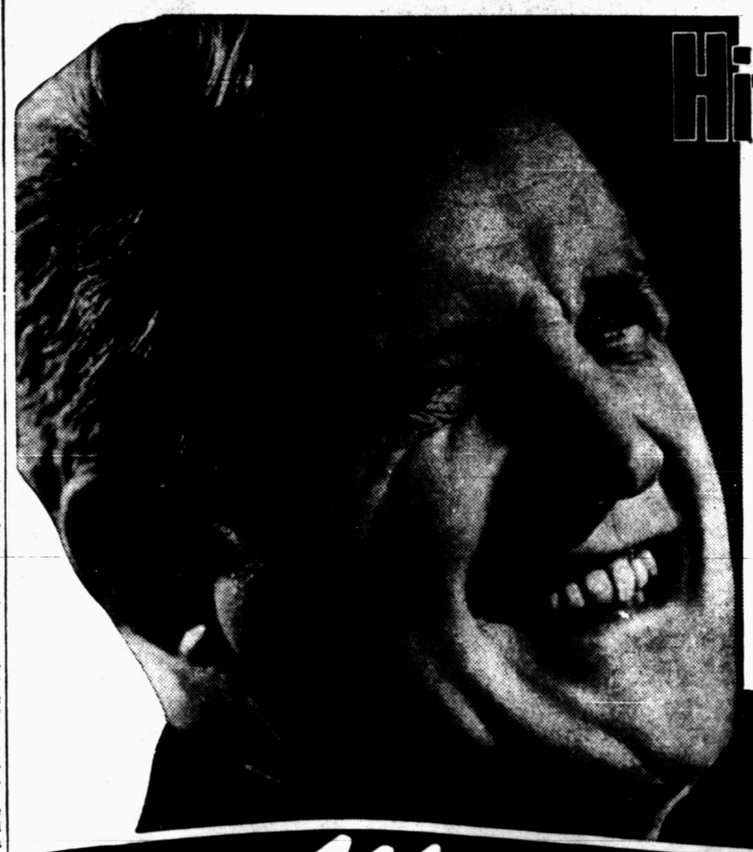

"Generator hot field" is another sign. It means a certain type of overheating. This extra heat is picked up by a short wire, made of an alloy sensitive to heat.

If the oil gets too low in a generator or in a turbine bearing, a float riding on the oil makes a "contact" it goes down.

The robot signals the presence of fire in a generator or in an oil room. This is done by setting a switch in one of the nozzles of an automatic fire extinguisher.

The trouble scoreboard is the newest thing in adapting electrical signals to automatic use.

In 1935, the passenger fare rate on American Class 1 railroads was 1.935 cents per passenger-mile, as compared to 3.086 cents per passenger-mile in 1922, the peak year.

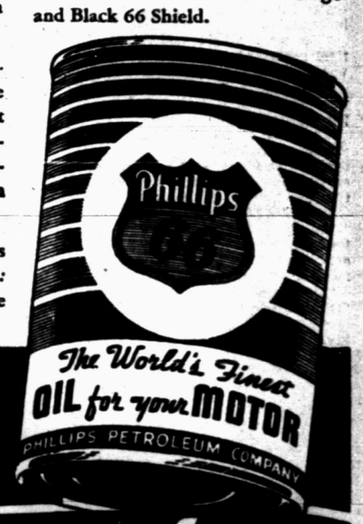

Hits the High Spots

Your modern motor needs an oil that really means business . . . an oil with a film tough enough to resist tearing by surface projections . . . an oil that actually hits those high spots on the journal and bearing surfaces, and polishes them down to mirror smoothness.

That's the way to reduce friction-drag and heat, and that's why we suggest Phillips 66 Motor Oil. It sure lives up to the Phillips reputation for greater value. Gives high-degree oiliness because refined from a costlier 100% paraffin base crude.

So you save two-ways with Phillips 66 Motor Oil, the economy champion: It costs less because it does more and lasts longer. And it helps keep your car out of the repair shop.

Next time, drain and refill with Phillips 66 Motor Oil. It's concentrated! . . . This year's big value in car lubrication. Look for the Orange and Black 66 Shield.

Daughter Tells Of Gun Battle

(By The Associated Press)

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 12.—The 15-year-old daughter of the president of Brazil, Alayra Vargas, today described vividly how she and her father with five others faced an abortive uprising of fascist rebels "ready to die with our boots on, as you Americans say."

Dark-eyed Donna Alayra, revolver in hand like her president-father, was beleaguered for three hours before dawn in Brazil's presidential palace while machinegun bullets and grenades burst in the palm-shadowed garden.

All Were Asleep

With them were two of President Vargas' three sons, one of his brothers and two members of his personal body guard.

"We were all in bed when the first signal of trouble came and I was fast asleep.

"The alarm was sounded by a member of the marine guard in the palace garden," she said.

There 60 fascist integralistas, disguised as sailors and marines, attempted to force their way past the east gate to seize Brazil's chief executive, his family and his palace.

All Lights Were Out

"When I ran from my room to the front corridor as far as the palace front door I saw several dark figures. All lights were out.

"By their voices I distinguished father, Uncle Benjamin and my two brothers, Luthero and Manoel Antonio. All had revolvers.

"We joined the two members of the bodyguard, one of whom brought a submachinegun and planted it on the floor ready for action.

"We could see fighting going on outside."

No Shots Fired

Inside the palace, the president's wife remained hidden in her apartments while her children waited beside their father but fired no shots.

"It was agreed we should save our ammunition to make a stand and fight to the last ditch if the assailters broke through our first defense line in the garden," said Alayra, who acts as her father's secretary.

"There came a lull and then the bodyguard who held our submachinegun went out into the darkness thinking he would meet friends, but the invaders captured him, together with our best defensive weapon.

"We found our telephones cut, except the link to the official government buildings, through which we reached the marine post.

"A voice on the other end told us we could not expect reinforcements immediately because men were needed in that direction.

News Over Phone

"At one time it looked as though the loyal guard in front of us had been fought to a standstill. The invaders began to train their fire more directly on the palace."

Just then through the single came news that loyal troops had massed and were preparing to enter the palace grounds.

"Father, who directed all the defense activities, flashed word to the rear guard to open the garden gate.

"The reinforcements streamed in and finally routed the enemy."

Man Visiting Relatives In Lubbock Soon Will Leave For Army Duty In Islands

By MARGARET DEFENAUGH

W. A. Woulard, 44, non-commissioned cleric and mechanic of the United States army air corps, is visiting his wife, parents, and relatives in Lubbock, before leaving May 19 for Charleston, S. C., and May 28 for Rizal, Nichols field, in the Philippines. He will be stationed in the islands two years.

Mrs. W. A. Woulard, his wife; Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Woulard, his parents; Mrs. R. C. McCaffree, Mrs. Forest Gildewell, and Mrs. R. A. Lamb, his sisters; and H. H. Woulard, his brother, are Lubbock residents.

Stationed At Shreveport

Woulard has been stationed at Shreveport since March 19, 1935. Previous, he was in Panama two years. Woulard will not leave the islands for two years; then he will return to the states for four years. This will complete his 30 years in the service and he will retire. En route to the Philippines Woulard will go through Panama, British Honduras, Nicaragua, San Francisco, Honolulu, Guam, Manila, and perhaps Porto Rico.

Woulard has been stationed in San Francisco; Fort Logan, Colo.; Camp Mills, N. Y.; Camp Meade, Md.; Laredo, Texas; El Paso, Galveston, Kelly field and Randolph field, San Antonio, Atlanta, and Denver. He has been in every state in the union except Connecticut and New Jersey, where his old outfit is.

Joined At Age Of 18

"I joined the infantry when I was 18. I was 24 when I was in the 13th machine gun battalion and I was on five or six different fronts during the World war."

"We landed in Liverpool and crossed to Le Havre. We trained at Fontaine, when we were introduced to French machine guns, which were air cooled, whereas ours were water cooled. We proceeded to the foothills of the Alps, where we lay in the trenches 200 to 400 yards behind the front so as to have time to move the guns if attacked. We left Europe in August, 1919."

In his work on flying fields, Woulard has a ship to keep up and clerical work. Uncle Sam is pretty good to work for, he said.

Try For Positions

The government tries the boys out in all the different departments into which they may fit, and lets them try the one which they prefer. If they click in that position, OK, if not, they are shifted until they find a suitable job. Perhaps they are finally saddled up to a lawn mower or pick and shovel or K. M. (Kitchen Mechanics).

Woulard said that he has enjoyed his work in the army and navy and is glad that he has never "gone over the hill," which is army lingo for desertion. Although, he added that he looks forward to retirement when he can "sit on the porch and whistle."

Seal-hunting reached its peak from 1830 to 1850, when annual catches ranged from 500,000 to 700,000 skins.

EXPECT BIG CLASS

BROWNFIELD—Brownfield high school graduating class this year is expected to number between 55 and 60 seniors, it is said by school officials. Examinations are being held to determine those who make a passing grade.

Could Hardly Walk, So Crippled With Awful Rheumatism

Terrific Pains Made His Life Miserable; Stomach Distress Added To Discomfort—Until Gly-Cas Again Proves Unfailing.

"For ten years I had been searching for just such a medicine as Gly-Cas," said Mr. O. C. Nations, 734 Elm Street, Abilene, Texas. "Rheumatism had settled in my lower limbs, especially in my feet and ankles. Besides the severe pain that was almost unbearable, I was so crippled I could hardly walk at all. My stomach became affected, too, actually felt like a rock in the pit of my stomach after eating. I was dreadfully nervous, tired and worn-out all of the time for I could not get a good night's sleep. I put many medicines to the test in my case but met only with repeated failure until I began Gly-Cas.

MR. O. C. NATIONS

"I found Gly-Cas to be the first medicine that did not disappoint me," continued Mr. Nations. "That dreadful rheumatism has been relieved so I could walk with ease and get around as I please. The sharp, stabbing pains have been relieved also, nerves are quieted, stomach regulated and that tired, worn-out feeling is now in the past. I even have new strength and energy since I can get rest and sleep and it is such a pleasure to feel as good as I do today."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns.—Adv.

Farm Tendency Is Described

WASHINGTON, May 12. (AP) — Senator Lee (D-Okla) cited the prevalence of farm tenancy in Texas while explaining to the senate the provisions of his bill providing for government supervision of sale of farms to tenants, and insurance of the tenant's mortgage.

Lee's bill would amend the Bankhead-Jones farm tenant act to authorize long term, low interest loans on farms which the government would encourage tenants to buy from absentee owners.

Alarming Figures

Lee told the senate that in Texas 57.1 per cent of all farms were operated by tenants. He said the percentage in Oklahoma was 61.2 per cent, in Georgia 65.5 per cent and in Arkansas 60 per cent, and that the average in the south was 53.5 per cent.

"In my opinion, these are alarming figures," he said. Lee said the percentage of farm tenancy for the United States was 42.1 per cent.

Lee said that under his bill a county committee would receive listings of farms within the county from all persons wishing to sell them to tenants, and that the committee would examine and appraise them.

FLORIDA DROUTH ENDS

MIAMI, Fla., May 12. (AP)—A rainstorm Wednesday definitely ended the longest drouth on record for this area. Citrus growers welcomed the long-awaited precipitation.

Kennedys Beat The Field Ten To One When It Comes To Grabbing Newspaper Space

LONDON, May 12. (AP)—Hundreds of folks received a royal "how do you do?" last night from the king and queen at the first Buckingham palace court of the season, but London's millions of newspaper readers today mostly saw just the three Kennedys.

On front, back and middle pages were photographs of Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, wife of the United States ambassador, and daughters Kathleen and Rosemary, gowned in presentation dresses and giving the broad smile which is a family characteristic.

The dignified Times was the only excepton. It printed no court pictures at all.

There were pictures other than those of the Kennedys, but for sheer photographic space they beat the field ten to one.

Mrs. Kennedy presented 19-year-old Rosemary and 17-year-old Kathleen along with five other Americans last night, the court being especially notable because it was the first in many years to which Americans were not invited from home.

Slaton Student Wins Honors At San Antonio Gathering

SLATON, May 12. — Jerry Taylor, junior student in Slaton High school, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Taylor of 125 S. Sixth street, won third place on her costume at state home economics rally held in San Antonio last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, placing in competition with 1700 girls from all over the state. She was also elected secretary of the Home Makers club of Texas, according to Mrs. Dayton Eckert, home economics teacher accompanying rally delegates.

Others making the trip were Francis Crowther and Betty Rue Stanford. The girls were entertained with a tea at the old Spanish governor's palace and a banquet at the Gunter hotel.

Dealer Explains How Dope Was Smuggled

NEW YORK, May 12. (AP)—A confessed narcotics dealer described in federal court today how dope was smuggled into New York as the government piled up testimony against 18 alleged members of a narcotics ring.

Today's leading witness for the government was Louis Colonna, a former taxicab driver, who, with 17 others, pleaded guilty to a conspiracy indictment and now awaits sentence.

Colonna testified that in April, 1937, several men met in his home to divide a package of cocaine, worth $1,800, which had been smuggled off a French liner by a man whom they paid $40.

The government contends the alleged ring was headed by two men, Vincent Vallone, operator of several night clubs in Texas, and Sam Maceo, also a Texas night club owner now fighting extradition proceedings in New Orleans.

The railway that runs beneath London, a distance of 6 1-2 miles, and conveys letters and parcels between Whitechapel and Paddington, gives a service of about 850 journeys a day, at an average of 20 miles an hour.

2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
⅓ cup Spry
½ cup milk (about)
1 quart fresh strawberries, crushed and sweetened (a few whole ones reserved for garnish)
½ cup heavy cream, whipped

Sift flour with salt, sugar and baking powder. Cut in Spry until mixture is as fine as meal. (You'll be amazed how quickly it blends with your other ingredients. No wonder experts for 281 home-making schools say Spry is the creamiest shortening they ever used!)

Add milk, mixing until a soft dough is formed. Knead lightly for about 20 seconds. Roll to ½-inch thickness. Cut with 3-inch biscuit cutter and place on baking sheet greased with Spry. Bake in very hot oven (450° F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Split biscuits, butter each half, and put together with berries. Top with sweetened whipped cream and a whole strawberry. Serves 6, with the most delicate, tender little shortcakes you ever tasted!

British Losses Are Described

LONDON, May 12. (AP)—A demand on the Mexican government for immediate payment of 370,962.71 pesos (at current rate of $88,000) for British losses in revolutionary actions between 1910 and 1920 was made public today—a demand in which Britain pointed to "apparently discriminatory treatment" in favor of the United States.

The text of the demand, made under the Anglo-Mexican special claims convention, showed it was presented yesterday in Mexico City by Minister Owen St. Clair O'Malley.

U. S. Debt Discharged

The note pointed out that a similar debt to the United States government had been punctually discharged "and his majesty's government are at a loss to understand this apparently discriminatory treatment of two governments with equal title."

Britain used the representation again to draw attention to the March 18 expropriation of British oil properties among those of 17 foreign concerns.

The note said Britain "cannot but regard failure of the Mexican government to discharge even their existing obligations as in itself rendering unjustified an expropriation, an essential condition of the validity of which would be payment of full and adequate compensation amounting in this case to a very large sum."

Estimates Are Given

The note estimated Mexico's public external debt, excluding foreign claims not represented by Mexican government securities, at $976,000,000, a substantial proportion of which is owed to British subjects who have received little or no interest in the last 25 years.

Britain said Mexico's attitude toward her debts was "far from reassuring."

Under the Anglo-Mexican special claims convention, Mexico agreed to pay 3,795,697 pesos in 17 annual installments, beginning in January, 1938. Two installments have been paid.

Final Warning To Boys Who Seek Rides Offered Here

From Police Chief Don Reeder and Lewis Kittrell, police traffic sergeant, Thursday came a final warning to boys soliciting rides to "walk on the sidewalks or stand in the loading zones designated."

Kittrell said he and other members of the police department for the last week had instructed boys, mostly college students, to remain in designated zones when attempting to obtain rides. Officers added, however, that continued violations of those traffic rules would be met with arrests and prosecution.

Two zones are: in the 1300-block Broadway; and 2300-block Broadway.

Kittrell said members of the police department and the sheriff's office would give boys rides if they would remain in the zones when possible.

Violators are subject to fines of $1 to $100, officers pointed out.

Progress Seen By Orchestras

HOUSTON, May 12. (AP) — Texas municipal symphony orchestras, after years of ups and downs with volunteer conductors, struck out in a big way in the 1937-38 season, recently ended, and have prepared ambitious money budgets and programs for next season.

The Dallas symphony, after ten years under the baton of Dr. Paul Van Katwijk, dean of music at Southern Methodist university, suspended after the 1935-36 season because the most suitable auditorium was absorbed in the Texas Centennial and Pan-American expositions the succeeding two years. In the autumn of 1937, however, the symphony directors sensed the city had passed the era of volunteer effort and employed young Jacques Singer, protege of Leopold Stokowski of the Philadelphia orchestra, as permanent conductor.

Personnel Reorganized

Singer proceeded to reorganize the personnel and employed several professional musicians. In the short season, undertaken somewhat as an experiment, three subscription, one popular and one young people's concerts were given.

The Houston symphony also had a successful season under Ernst Hoffman, who did for it what Singer did for the Dallas organization. In this connection, Walter H. Walne, president of the symphony society, said:

"The organization of improvement and the increased enthusiasm evidenced by the faithful few who long have supported the orchestra, point to the conclusion we are making substantial progress toward giving Houston an orchestra worthy of the city's achievements in other fields."

Success In El Paso

The El Paso orchestra, although on a smaller scale, also had a successful season.

With seasons behind them that taught the paramount importance of organization and sufficiency of financing, the Dallas and Houston symphony societies will budget their forthcoming seasons—Dallas $65,000 and Houston $60,000.

"It has been decided," said Arthur L. Kramer, president of the Dallas society, "to give six regular subscription concerts in pairs, one pair monthly beginning in November, 1938, and ending in April, 1939.

"In addition to the twelve subscription concerts there will be two young people's concerts, also given in pairs."

To Import Guest Stars

The Dallas group proposes four out of town concerts and the importation of at least four guest stars to boost interest.

President Walter Walne of the Houston symphony pointed to increasing crowds at the Houston concerts as evidence of increasing enthusiasm.

"After months of careful study," he said, "we have prepared a budget that calls for an expenditure of $60,000 next season. This is allocated thusly," $38,500, salaries for musicians and director; $1,500, for guest soloists, $3,600, rent for hall (the new coliseum); $4,230, business office and salaries, and $12,170 incidentals.

Of this total, he explained, about $22,500 must be raised by outright donations. The balance is to be raised through subcription concerts, which will be divided in pairs much in the same manner as in Dallas.

Inquiry Into Fatal Mishap Is Staged

DALLAS, May 12. (AP)—A committee named by Gov. James V. Allred to investigate an automobile accident near here fatal to six persons today studied cures for dangerous intersections.

C. J. Rutland, spokesman for the committee and chairman of the governor's safety traffic commission, said that all acceptable proposals will be incorporated into a report to be made to the governor next week as a statewide program.

Proposals at today's session included removal of obstructions, advance warning signs, and possibly physical "slow-up" barriers for side roads where they approach main arteries. The particular accident under investigation happened at the intersection of a thoroughfare and a side road. The committee fixed no blame for the accident, announcing it was concerned with facts and underlying causes only.

Residence Work Reaching High

With issuance of a building permit for a $3,500 residence Thursday by Jim Reid, city building inspector, residence construction in Lubbock for 1938 passed the half-million dollar mark.

The permit went to Julian Williamson for a residence at 2628 Twenty-fifth street. Specifically, total investment in new homes since Jan. 1 climbed to $503,411.

It increased to 271 the number of new homes authorized since the first of the year. Williamson is a technician for Clark-Key clinic.

In addition 96 permits have been issued for alterations and improvements to existing homes to cost $42,870. Approximately half of those permits have been to provide additional living space in the structures.

The figures disclose that the investments in homes, including new structures and improvements to others, totals $546,281, which is just a trifle short of two-thirds of all construction for which permits have been issued this year. Building permit total for 1938 Thursday was $824,573.72.

The home building and alteration pace this year has been approximately twice that of 1937, according to records in the building inspector's office.

Quality Is High

Analysis of the records discloses that the pace thus far has been well sustained and that the quality of the new homes, taken as a whole, is remarkably high.

Average cost of the new structures is shown to be approximately $1,900. However, included among the permits are a considerable number of garage apartments, which are a factor of major importance in housing in Lubbock and which, on the whole, provide desirable small-family quarters for relatively small investment.

At least half the habitations for which permits have been issued call for investments exceeding $3,000. The facts that the top permit figure for any residence this year has been $18,000 and that there have been fewer than half a dozen above $10,000 are cited as evidence that the average for the whole has not been pulled up by a small group of costly structures.

Figures Are Revealed

The new home construction by months is evidence that the building pace has been sustained. Those figures, listing totals of new homes and the cost are:

	Permits	Cost
January	49	$ 60,476
February	69	114,757
March	86	160,230
April	47	124,283
May, to date	20	43,665

Residence repair permits for the same period have been:

	Permits	Cost
January	21	$ 8,070
February	19	7,791
March	23	8,414
April	19	6,486
May, to date	14	12,112

Hospitals Of Lubbock Hosts To Visitors Here Thursday

Although definite figures were not available, it was estimated several hundred persons inspected the three hospitals of Lubbock between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The open house was in observance of National Hospital day, designated by the American Hospital association and proclaimed by officials throughout the nation.

Participating were Lubbock sanitarium, West Texas hospital, and Plains hospital.

Baby Princess Sets Up A Big Howl When She Is Brought To Church For Christening

THE HAGUE, May 12. (AP)—Baby Princess Beatrix Wilhelmina Armgaard, who some day may be queen of the Netherlands, cried vigorously throughout her christening today before a brilliant assemblage in the great church of the Hague.

She began almost as soon as she was brought in by a lady-in-waiting at the opening of the baptismal ritual and she was still crying loudly as she was carried out 10 minutes later in the arms of her mother, Princess Juliana.

Efforts of both Juliana and her father, Prince Bernhard, to quiet her were unavailing. The infant was brought to the church with her parents in a shining, golden coach at the head of a procession witnessed by many thousands.

Federal Loans Are Discussed

Prospects of increased building in Lubbock and the South Plains area was voiced in a meeting of federal housing authorities, lumbermen, lending representatives, and other Lubbock businessmen Thursday night in the Hilton hotel. Approximately 80 persons attended.

P. S. Luttrell, production manager, gave a general discussion of new amendments to the federal housing act and acted as chairman of the meeting. The Lubbock meeting is the tenth in a series of 43 being conducted in Texas.

Discussion Is Held

R. E. Sikas, mortgage conference representative, discussed the reinstatement of Title 1 under the national housing act of the new F. H. A. program. Three classes of loans can be made under this repair program. One loan can be had to improve existing structures consisting of $10,000 or less, another of $2,500 or less can be secured for new construction of business and service buildings, and a third loan of $2,500 or less is made for new construction of dwellings to be used wholly or in part for residence.

W. W. Ryan, chief underwriter of all the F. H. A. offices in Fort Worth and Dallas, gave a discussion of Title II of the amendments in which insurance of mortgages on individual family dwellings, duplexes, and apartments can be secured. Three types of loans can be made under this amendment. Loans of 90 percent in which the principal obligation must not exceed $5,400 are available. Combination loans on property having a value over $6,000, and loans up to $16,000 can also be secured.

In determining value of property, on which the loan is asked, several factors are considered. Neighborhood, total cost, marketability and design of the property, need of housing, and economic stability are given equal weight before a final decision is reached on amount of money that will be loaned.

Labor Day Celebration Here To Be Planned By Group

Thirty-five delegates from eight crafts of the Central Labor union met in the courthouse Thursday night. Tom Carter, president, appointed a committee to make plans for a Labor Day celebration.

Speakers were Dewey Reed, manager of the Amarillo social security board office, and Wilbur J. Keith, associate informational service representative from the San Antonio regional office of the social security board.

Final Step In Initiation Of Society Members Is Taken

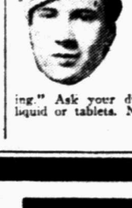

New members of the Texas Technological college chapter of Alpha Chi, national honorary society, received their shingles as the final step in initiation services at the annual banquet in the women's dormitory Thursday night. Speaking on "The Debunking of the Debunking of Scholarship," James G. Allen, acting dean of men, gave the main address to approximately 120 members attending.

New officers installed were Buck McNeill, president; Floy Glenn, vice-president; Kathleen Noell, secretary; and Lewis Earl, treasurer. They replaced Dan T. McDonald, president; Marie Zimmermann, vice-president; Betty Bizzell, secretary; and Geo. Dupree, jr., treasurer. R. A. Mills, professor of English and sponsor of the society, introduced new affiliates.

SERIOUSLY INJURED

CORSICANA, May 12. (AP) — Decherd Sanders about 34, received abdominal and hip injuries early today when the generator on a welding torch exploded, while he was working at a refinery at Angus, six miles south of Corsicana this morning. His condition is regarded as grave.

School Census Is Completed

Oral bouquets for "the newspapers in particular and the public in general" were handed out by A. C. Jackson, business manager of Lubbock independent school district, with his announcement Thursday that scholastic census for the district has finally been completed.

The final report, as shown in copies of the official tabulations mailed to the state department of education and to County Superintendent Joseph R. Griggs, shows scholastic population of the district to be 6,339, an increase of 633, or more than 11 per cent, over the 5,706 enumerated a year ago.

Praises Cooperation

"The Evening Journal and The Morning Avalanche together with the general willingness of citizens to cooperate," said Jackson, "is responsible for the enumeration of a considerable number of names which might have been over-looked. The value of the cooperation we have received in an extremely difficult undertaking becomes apparent when considered that every name on the roll is worth $22 to the district. The $22 is the per capita apportionment which will be received from the state."

Those assisting in taking the census were Watson Wilson, who supervised the work, and Mrs. George Duval, Mrs. J. O. Pope, W. B. Aycock, C. E. Lynn, S. R. Steele and E. C. Struggs, who were the enumerators.

Fifty-seven Names Added

Jackson explained that the workers completed what was then thought to be a final report about 10 days ago. It showed the scholastic population to be 6,282. Since that time, however, a supplemental roll became necessary, adding 57 names to the first "final" total. The 57 names represent $1,254 in per capita apportionment, Jackson pointed out.

In many cases, Jackson said, the names were brought in by parents who explained that their children had been overlooked by the enumerators. In a number of cases, members of families were out of town and in others, they chanced not to be at home when the enumerator called.

3,000 Boys; 2,917 Girls

The final report lists exactly 3,000 white boys between the ages of 6 and 17 as compared with 2,917 white girls. There were 203 negro boys and 219 negro girls.

The number of children by ages is shown to be: six years—406 white and 27 negro; seven—482 white and 31 negro; eight—508 white and 40 negro; nine—500 white and 44 negro; ten—486 white and 35 negro; eleven—511 white and 42 negro; twelve—528 white and 33 negro; thirteen—521 white and 38 negro; fourteen—489 white and 37 negro; fifteen—465 white and 35 negro; sixteen—501 white and 35 negro; and seventeen—509 white and 25 negro.

In the Boer war nearly four times as many British soldiers died of disease as were killed in battle.

DeShong Tosses 7-Hit Ball To Beat Bengals

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Hank Greenberg's seventh home run of the season, with two aboard in the eighth inning, almost ruined Jimmy DeShong's fine pitching today, but the Senators had just enough lead to pull out a 7 to 6 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Cecil Travis and Buddy Myer hit homers for the Nats.

NEW YORK, May 12. (AP)—Victims of their own butter-fingered shortcomings as well as the pitching artistry of youthful Bob Feller, the Yankees dropped a close decision today to the Cleveland Indians, before 19,872 fans.

Feller emerged with a 3-2 verdict over his southpaw rival, Vernon Gomes, that simultaneously snapped a seven-game winning streak of the world champions and halted the back sliding operations of the tribe in the finale of east-west warfare for the time being.

The Yankees outhit the Indians, 8 to 4, in a game that saw all the scoring confined to one inning, the sixth. Lou Gehrig landed the champion's only damaging punch, however. The iron man lined his third homer of the season into the lower right feild stands, with Tommy Henrich on base.

Otherwise Feller curve-balled the home side into submission. He fanned nine, retired the side on strikes in the second frame, and finished superbly under the clever handling of Rollicking Rollie Hemsley.

Lazzeri, Galan Add One-Two Punch For Bruin Victory

CHICAGO, May 12. (AP)—The Cubs' brand new batting lineup, featuring a "one-two punch with old Tony Lazzeri in the cleanup slot and Augie Galan hitting fifth, spotted the Brooklyn Dodgers three runs today and came back for a 9 to 5 victory.

The win ended the Cubs' three-game losing streak and dropped the Dodgers back into seventh place in the National league.

Wink Moves Into League Leadership As Hubber-Card Game Is Halted By Rain; Boosters Open 3-Game Series Here

(Special To The Avalanche)

WINK, May 12—Wink moved into the West Texas-New Mexico league top spot by a half game, making it a clean sweep of the series by taking the final contest from Big Spring here today, 12 to 2.

Lubbock's idleness at home allowed the Spuds to take first place. The defeat dropped the Barons into a .500 percentage and a tie with Hobbs for third place.

Ferguson, hurling for Wink, pitched shutout ball for seven innings, allowing only two hits. In the eighth he weakened giving up two hits and two walks, which coupled with an error gave the visitors two runs.

Clarence Trantham had trouble finding the plate for Big Spring and issued six free passes. The Spudders garnered a dozen safe blows off his delivery. Hank Henderson, thirdsacker, made three errors behind him at critical moments to add to his trouble.

Bates and Quick hit home runs for Wink.

Hobbs Gains Clean Sweep Of Series With Clovis Pioneers

HOBBS, May 12. (Special)—For the third straight day the locals emerged victor by one run over Clovis by copping today's game, 12 to 11.

The triumph elevated the Boosters into a tie with Big Spring, erstwhile leaders of the league.

The Pioneers had taken a one-run lead over Hobbs in the first of the ninth inning today. With one run in and Badgett on base Bill Duncan, Clovis righthand #, missed his aim on an attempted intentional walk of Manager Neal Rabe. Rabe singled Badgett across.

Jordan had put the visitors in the lead with a homer, and Cecil Smyly had knotted the count with a similar drive to open the final frame.

Donaldson paced the Boosters with a home run, a triple and a pair of singles for a perfect day.

Cooper Drops Game In State Tourney

DALLAS, May 12. (AP)—Technical of Dallas, Hondo, Merit and San Augustine survived first round tests today as the first state high school baseball tournament opened here.

Tech turned in the most impressive victory by trouncing Pharr-San Juan-Alamo's Bears, 16-1.

The other games were fairly close with San Augustine's battle with Hillsboro the highlight.

San Augustine eliminated the Central Texas nine, 3-0; Merit beat Cooper, 4-0, and Hondo trimmed Wilmer-Hutchins 8-5.

Tomorrow's schedule:

Championship: Hondo vs. Merit; Technical vs. San Augustine; consolation: Wilmer-Hutchins vs. Cooper; Hillsboro vs. Pharr-San Juan-Alamo.

Curtis Cup Team Is Selected; Association Has No Alibis

NEW YORK, May 12. (AP) — The United States Golf association figures no alibis or excuses are necessary for the 1938 American Curtis Cup team. Only seven of the nation's fair fairway stars could be named on the team that meets the British women at Essex Country club, Manchester, Mass., Sept. 7-8, but the U. S. G. A. feels the ones they named are the best available.

Those invited were Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C., National champion; Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, Philadelphia; Patty Berg, Minneapolis; Maureen Orcutt, New York, Marion Miley, Lexington, Ky.; Charlotte Glutting, Rock Springs, N. J.; and Kathryn Hemphill, Columbia, S. C.

Their final game with Midland postponed in the fourth inning because of rain, the Hubbers prepared last night for opening of three-day visit by Hobbs at the local park today.

The opener will get under way at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at which time all women and children under 15 will be guests of the Lubbock management. Business Manager Harry Faulkner of the club said he hoped to hold Ladies days frequently when the team is at home.

Pitcher Is Added

He explained that continuance of such a move depends on popularity it enjoys during the trial period.

An addition to the Hubber pitching staff arrived yesterday and was in uniform pitching in batting practice. Clovis Bridwell, a righthander, was recommended to Faulkner by Sam Langford, former major league player. He came here from Paducah after a professional tryout this spring.

Ernest (Little Bill) Terry, 6-foot 3-inch hurler, has been expected to arrive here from Alabama any time now.

Blanchard Is Right

Rain the fourth inning interrupted a twirling duel between Jerry Blanchard and Frankie Nelson, with the former having a slight edge.

The Cardinals had failed to find the big Lubbock lefthander for a single hit when the game ended with two out and a runner on first for the visitors. The Hubbers had touched Nelson for only three hits, one of the scratch variety, and Boyd Watkins had scored an unearned run.

Watkins beat out a hit to shortstop in the second frame, stole second, and counted when Larry Battle let Del Ballinger's peg get away from him into centerfield.

Blanchard had whiffed seven batters and Nelson had got the third one past three. The Hubber chunker passed four.

The age of the earth, in its present solidified form, is estimated to be 1,852,000,000 years.

Grimm Lauds Giants, But Has Hopes

By EARL HILLIGAN
Associated Press Sport Writer

CHICAGO, May 12.—Manager Charley Grimm of the Chicago Cubs paid tribute today to the New York Giants as a fine baseball club and then, in the same breath, added somewhat hopefully that "something has to happen to them pretty soon if we're ever going to catch them."

While nothing more exciting than winning games with monotonous regularity has been happening to the National league leading Terrymen, everything has been happening to the second place Cubs, and all of it has been bad.

Hurling Corps Laid Up

The pitching staff has cracked almost wide open and Bill Lee, counted on as a starter, has been retired for a rest. Dizzy Dean was purchased for $185,000, received credit for three victories and then was laid off with a sore arm, with which he now is leading cheers from the Cub bench.

Joe Marty, whose slugging has kept the Cubs from falling farther off the pace than they have, is out with a cold. Frank Demaree, supposedly the team's most constistent hitter, has been benched for failing to hit into anything but double plays, and his cleanup spot in the batting order taken over by old Tony Lazzeri, formerly of the New York Yankees. On top of all this, catcher Gabby Hartnett has been troubled with a sore arm and the Cubs really miss the 17 year veteran.

"Our losing two straight to the Giants and then being shut out by Brooklyn was just the result of one of those things that will happen to a team, with things all going wrong at one time," Grimm said. "The Giants have a fine ball club and they'll have to ease up that hot pace they're setting if we are to catch them. I think they will and I know we'll get into our stride soon."

Vernon Youth Leads Qualifiers In Tournament At Corsicana

CORSICANA, May 12. (AP) — One under par with his 70 round, James Dixon, Vernon youngster, held a lead among early qualifiers for the annual Corsicana Invitation golf tournament, formally starting tomorrow with the southwest's crack linksmen entered.

Permitted to qualify throughout the last week because of the heavy entry expected for tomorrow's medal test, several players had posted scores.

John Dawson of Chicago apeared today, along with Bobby Riegel of Beaumont, newly crowned Texas Amateur champion. Only Reynolds Smith, Dallas Walker Cup star, was missing from the big field of Texas stars entered tonight.

Don Schumacher, Trans-Mississippi titlist, had filed, along with Iverson Martin, finalist in the state; David Davis of Tyler; David and Jimmy Goldman, Dallas' golfing brothers; O'Hara Watts, Dallas, and a flock of others.

Rufus King, SMU, Leads In Southwest Loop Matches

DALLAS, May 12. (AP) — Rufus King, long-driving Southern Methodist university star, paced the field over the first 36 holes of medal play in the annual Southwest conference golf championship at Brook Hollow today.

King shot 147, seven over par to lead his nearest competitor, Ralph Sharpless of Texas, by three strokes.

The final 36 holes are scheduled tomorrow at the end of which an individual as well as team champion will be determined.

Klein Is Stroke Ahead Of Field In Met Open

By BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 12. — Willie Klein, 36-year-old pro from East Williston, N. Y., sliced one stroke off par with a 69 over the fresh Meadow Country club today to gain a one-stroke, first-round margin over the strongest field the Metropolitan Open golf championship has drawn in years.

Closest to him, at par 70, was a three-some including defending champion Jimmy Hines, U. S. Open champion Ralph Guldahl, and Horton Smith, the lanky putting star from Chicago.

Another shot back, at 71, came Lawson Little, former U. S. and British Amateur champion; Frank Moore, like Klein, a local "dark horse," and Walter Kozak, entered from Bayside.

Contenders Are Scattered

Other potential contenders in the starting squad of 104 were scattered all the way from 72 to 77. Ted Turner of Clementon, N. J., stood at the former figure; young Ben Hogan of Texas and White Plains, N. Y., at 73 together with Tony Penna of Dayton, O.; Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., alone at 74; Vic Ghezzi and Paul Runyan at 75; Harry Cooper, slugging Jimmy Thomson, Frank Walsh and amateur Frank Strafaci at 76, and veterans "Long Jim" Barnes and Willie MacFarlane, together with amateur Dick Chapman, at 77.

Of the three 70-shooters, Hines' round was the most remarkable. Hard-hitting Jimmy, out in 33, two under par, seemed to have lost the leaders when he took eight blows on the par-4 eleventh, where his approach caromed off a tree into a fence and he finally got on in six. What saved him was the fact he was three under at the time, and able to pick up one birdie and six pars the rest of the way.

Cooper Praises Guldahl

Guldahl, who missed six of the first nine greens, "had to be a sculptor to get his 70—I've never seen such carving," in the words of Cooper, who played with the National champion. Ralph's drives were straight as a ruler, and his putting satisfactory, while Cooper, one of the "future book" favorites, met all his trouble on the greens.

Another 18-hole round will be played tomorrow, with the final 36 Saturday.

Qualifying Is Begun In Local Tournament

Swingtime prelude to Meadowbrook's annual golf championship tourney has proceeded through two days' qualifying, said J. W. Byrne, professional.

Paced by the rain-interrupted first nine score of 31 posted by R. Marshall, a newcomer, an even dozen shotmakers Thursday night had entered the tourney, six of them turning in 9- or 18-hole scores.

Rain Stops Qualifiers

Byrns said numerous others would have qualified Thursday afternoon had it not been for rain.

He said the Meadowbrook championship, which annually attracts much of the cream of the section's golfers, would be a "tune-up" for the West Texas golf championship to be played at Country club June 2 through 4. He invited Country club members and all others to "help make the Meadowbrook competition even stronger than before."

Medal Round Ends Sunday

Scores to date—for 9 holes: Joe Bihl, 33; Ted Tipps, 36; for 18 holes: Hackett, 71; Bert Pinson, 72; Ray Pinson, 83.

Qualifying will proceed through Sunday; first round play will be Monday and Tuesday, quarter-finals Wednesday and Thursday; semi-finals Friday and Saturday, and 36-hole championship flight finals Sunday.

Jacobs Promises Contribution To Charity From Fight Profits

NEW YORK, May 12. (AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs informed President Roosevelt in a letter today that ten per cent of the 20th Century Sporting club's net profit from the Max Schmeling-Joe Louis heavyweight championship bout would be donated to the refugees aid committee, organized to assist refugees from European countries.

The club's contribution, Jacobs said, would be not less than $7,500. The title bout will be held June 22.

Rice Is Favored For Conference Track Crown

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, May 12. — Wing-heeled Freddie Wolcott's entry in five events of the Southwest conference track and field meet automatically established Rice institute the lean favorite tonight.

Fleetest human on Southwest tracks today, Wolcott, a junior college transfer from John Tarleton Agricultural college, has been listed in the 120-yard high and 220-yard low hurdles; 100-yard dash, broad jump and 440-yard relay. Preliminaries will be run tomorrow; finals, Saturday.

Admittedly A Good Move

Cagey Emmett Brunson, Rice's coach, delivered the boys his neatest curve by entering Wolcott in the broad jump. An amazing move, everyone admitted, when it was learned Wolcott has never broad jumped. However, Brunson's secret finally spilled out when it came time to file official entries.

Wolcott, who smashed the American 120-yard hurdle mark at the Texas relays, has hurtled over the jumping pit for better than 25 feet, which is several inches better than the conference record.

Brunson Springs Surprise

Loser of the meet last year when injuries bobbed up, Brunson had saved this broad jumping surprise as his bid to edge out the University of Texas. And if Wolcott delivers in competition the way he has around the practice pit, it may turn the trick.

Texas, worried over the continued absence of Beefus Bryan, crack pole vaulter, concentrated on its relay teams in an effort to thwart Rice's titular bid. However, the future wasn't too bright there, for Rice's team, anchored by Wolcott, turned in a record-breaking 41.5 seconds for the Drake relays 440-yard event. Other sprinters on that team include Ivan Jones, E. Y. Steakley and Bert Carr.

Due to limp in in third place, Texas A. and M. got a setback today when it was learned A. C. Decker, its spring relay runner and 440-yard dash star, had pulled a leg muscle and would be unable to compete.

No one doubted Wolcott would nail up a new high hurdle record, for he has bettered the existing 14.5 mark—set in 1937 by Jack Patterson, his teammate—on almost every out this season.

The seven conference schools had teams entered with the University of Arkansas riding the dark horse all the way. Not once has the Porker team competed with conference rivals this season.

Poultrymen Defeat Still And Guess Softball Ten, 8-0

Pounding out 14 hits off the offerings of McKnight, Lubbock Poultry and Egg company opened its Lubbock Softball league schedule with an 3-to-0 victory over Still and Guess Shoe company Thursday night.

Hard hitting in the first inning enabled the poultry crew to pile up a six-run lead. Scott, receiver of the winners, crashed out a home run in the sixth with a mate aboard.

The game was called in the sixth because of darkness.

Ickes Denies That PWA Failed; Says Private Enterprise Laid Down On Job

Industry Being Urged To Help

WASHINGTON, May 12. (AP) — Secretary Ickes called on private industry today to backstop his efforts to revive business through public works spending and lending.

"I don't see why PWA can't start a new spurt in prosperity," Ickes told his press conference, "but private industry must come in and carry on from there."

His assertion was in reply to questions as to whether he considered the recent recession and the new lending-spending program an indication that the original public works program had failed.

PWA Did Not Fail

"PWA did not fail," he asserted, adding "everyone admits there was a resurgence of prosperity to which PWA contributed considerably.

"The trouble was, private enterprise failed to apply the stimulus to carry on."

Although congress still is at work on the lending-spending legislation, Ickes has opened his office to new PWA applications in expectation that the bill will pass.

vice."

Joe H. Webb, past president of the group, was presented with a silver loving cup for having done the most outstanding piece of work for the town and community during 1937. Lawrence Barber made the presentation speech on behalf of the First State bank. That organization plans to make an award an annual affair.

Chas. A. Whitacre, Lubbock's goodwill ambassador, John Vickers and J. H. Brock also attended.

Don L. Jones Is Principal Speaker At Sudan Session

(By Staff Correspondent)

SUDAN, May 12. — Approximately 50 persons tonight attended the annual banquet of the Sudan Chamber of Commerce.

H. B. Teal, president, was master of ceremonies and conducted the installation of new officers.

New Officers Installed

Incoming officers were: Forrest Weimhold, president; W. V. Terry, vice-president; Dr. A. J. Sparks, secretary-treasurer; and Beverly Straw, R. E. Doss, E. C. Davis, Hugh Johnson, and Joe Salem, directors.

Outgoing officers were Teal, president; A. L. Robinson, vice-president; and seven directors, L. E. Slate, Salem, Simon D. Hay, Ben Wiggins, W. D. Biggers, Terry, and W. H. Lyle.

Don L. Jones, manager of the Texas agricultural experiment station of Lubbock, was the principal speaker. The subject of his address was the relationship between a chamber of commerce and farmers.

Should Invite Criticism

"It would be a splendid idea for the president of your local chamber of commerce to invite any constructive criticism," Jones said. "Let all of the members get together and decide what they should do to better the city and then strive for that goal."

According to Jones, Lamb county has more certified grain sorghum growers than any other county in the state. He encouraged business men to "make it a habit of knowing such things and to assist the farmers in anyway."

"There are only four businesses or industries which provide a new income," explained Jones, "these are mining, agriculture, fisheries and forrests. Take these away and where would the large cities of the United States be?"

Sponsor One Enterprise

The speaker suggested that the chamber of commerce sponsor one enterprise each year and concentrate its efforts along that line. As a suggestion he offered the trench silo.

The meal was prepared and served by members of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Music was furnished by C. W. Campbell and son, Curtis.

Relief Bill

state relief roll. The amendment was approved 204 to 110.

The other amendment was a proposal by Representative Rankin (D-Miss.) to add to the bill $100,000,000 for rural electrification. Over the objection of the leadership, which wanted to limit the figure to $50,000,000, Rankin's proposal was approved 259 to 139.

Two major Republican amendments were produced by Representative Taber (R-NY), ranking minority member of the committee. These, to turn the relief problem back to the states and to strike out a $965,000,000 appropriation for public works were beaten, 106 to 39 and 91 to 28.

Cotton Acreage

son said. Tilled acres are those cultivated after deduction of acres normally devoted to wheat, orchard, and idle land.

For example, Thompson said, a farm of 100 acres of cultivated land, with 20 acres normally devoted to wheat and an average of two idle acres would be considered to have 78 acres of tilled land.

The factor of 38.4 would be applied to the 78 acres instead of the 100. General allotment probably will be near cotton allotment, but it will vary on individual farms, it was explained. Left-over acres or conserving acres probably will amount to 20 to 30 per cent of the cultivated acres.

McMurry Goes To McKinney High As Football Coach

To serve as football coach next season, John W. (Swede) McMurry, former teacher of physical education at Lubbock High school, will go from Gainesville to McKinney, according to the Associated Press report from Gainesville.

McMurry has compiled an outstanding record as football coach at Gainesville.

Announcement that he would go to McKinney after four years as head of the Leopard teams was made Wednesday by Supt. H. O. McCain of Gainesville. He will succeed Noble Atkins, who was a star footballer at Texas Christian university.

McMurry taught in Lubbock three years, from 1931 to 1933.

Mrs. C. L. Dean Loses First Round Match To Mrs. Roper

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 12. (AP)—Favorites marched into quarter final round of the Women's Southwestern Golf tournament here today, with Mrs. R. D. Roper of Phoenix, Ariz., the defending titlist, leading the way in championship style.

The Arizona matron, pulling her game to near peak form, opened the first round of match pay with a convincing 8 and 6 victory over Mrs. C. L. Dean of Lubbock.

Miss Elinor Jones, 18-year-old Albuquerque girl whose 84 won her medalist honors yesterday, was off her wood game today, but gained an easy 6 and 5 win over Mrs. Paul Price of El Paso.

Fighting Fox, Bull Lea Are Question Marks Of Preakness

BALTIMORE, Md., May 12. (AP)—Although counted out of the three-year old championship picture after their dismal showings in the Kentucky Derby, Fighting Fox and Bull Lea still are the big question marks in Saturday's running of the $70,000 Preakness at Pimlico.

Both horses failed to run to their best performances in the derby and that's what worried the experts and railbirds alike today.

The Fox, wearing blinkers for the first time, indicated he was on his toes when he worked a mile in 1:40 yesterday.

Frank Kearns, portly trainer of Bull Lea, worked Warren Wright's ace seven-eighths of a mile in 1:29 3-5 this morning.

Semifinals Are Reached In Southern Women's Tilts

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 12. (AP)—The all-star feminine Dixie golf show moved into the semi-finals with four favorites surviving gruelling skirmishes today.

Leading the procession into tomorrow's matches was Miss Dorothy Kirby, 18-year-old defending champion from Atlanta and Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C.

Miss Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., the tournament medalist, and Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas gained the other bracket.

Annual Banquet Held Thursday

M. E. Heard, professor of textile engineering, and Ray C. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry, both of the faculty of Texas Technological college, were principal speakers at the annual father-son banquet Thursday night sponsored by the chapter of the Future Farmers of America at the Frenship Rural High school.

After an opening ceremony by the chapter conducting team, B. M. Keese of the school faculty offered an invocation. Knox Lofland, Frenship student, delivered the welcome address and M. E. Casey, farmer of that area, responded. James and Howard Martin were presented in an instrumental duet.

Toasts Are Offered

Warren Liner gave a toast to fathers. Durward Wheeler offered a toast to visitors and Dean A. H. Leidigh, also of the Tech agricultural faculty, responded.

E. W. Shaw won first and Joseph R. Griggs, county school superintendent, second in a "whopper-telling" contest. Other entries were R. L. Sears and Wheeler.

E. R. Haskins, superintendent of the school, spoke.

Frank Revier made a resume of the year's work by the chapter. Among the facts he presented were: the club has 52 members; the treasury contains $30.15; 14 members are participating in a cotton club contest sponsored by the Lubbock Lions club; 6,000 acres of land were contoured; 800 chickens were culled; 20 self-feeders were built; chapter boys marketed more than 50 hogs and now own more than 20 gilts and brood sows; the chapter as a whole, owns a boar; and the chapter is conducting a project of raising five pigs.

Student Union

be the cafeteria and private dining room. The second floor of the building would provide for adequate dance floor space and for accommodations of any college function.

Voluntary Payments

The plan termed that "the most important plan of financing the building would be the enlisting of aid of the student body. Means of paying for the building would come through voluntary payments by students, monthly contributions from clubs, annual senior class gifts instead of the traditional single gift, and the enlistment of the Tech alumni organization. It was also suggested that contributions could be obtained for the building from the surplus funds of the student council and the possibility of receiving funds from the maintenance of the cafeteria.

Specifications called for a "training table" for college athletes in the cafeteria "to promote better social relations between the students and the college athletes." The proposed building would afford permanent offices for student officials and campus organizations. The committee cited that the cafeteria would "provide a laboratory for student dietitians."

The student council passed a motion to "accept the plan submitted, support it and submit it to the administrative council and the student body for approval." A committee of Carrithers, Pickens, Miss Standefer, Maxine Fry, student president, Reeves Henly, editor-elect of the Toreador, college newspaper, and other student officials will meet today to make minor changes in the plan and later submit it to the students and college officials. Plans for the project have been pending for several months before Thursday's announcement was made. Plans for a general student convocation will probably be set in today's meeting.

City Projects

the sewer at its mouth will be approximately nine feet in diameter. Preliminary estimates are the total cost would be $300,000 to $400,000.

Tentative plans are to seek probably $100,000 for the pavement fund which would insure, officials said, continuous operation. Under the system here, officials explained, the city does the paving and then collects from property owners on the paved street. The owners have the option, however, of spreading their payments over a period of years, the result being that a large sum of city money is constantly tied up in mortgages given by owners as security.

New Zones Approved

The new proposed livestock zones given unanimous approval are bounded by the following streets: Zone No. 1—Sixth, Avenue H, Twenty-sixth and Q; Zone No. 2—Sixth, Q, Nineteenth and College; and No. 3—south of Nineteenth and west of Q to the city limits.

Most important of the revisions from the original draft of the tentative ordinance were the moving of the north boundary of zone No. 2 from Fourth to Sixth street, and the exclusion from zoning of the area south of H.

Special meeting of the commission to enact the ordinance and to call elections in various zones to determine whether their residents want zoning will be called soon after Bradley returns, the mayor said. Bradley has not returned from the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Dona Bradley, who died Sunday at her home in Banks, Ark.

Members of the commission were unanimous in their declarations in favor of continued enforcement of the parking meter ordinance after Wilson had expressed the opinion the measure is valid. The opinion was asked after commissioners had been informed that Jim Johnson, barber, had sued them and several other city officials for $50 damages following his arrest on a charge of violating the parking meter regulation. Johnson's trial in corporation court, on the charge Thursday afternoon resulted in a hung jury.

Remainder of the commission session was devoted to routine business.

According to an Associated Press report from Amarillo, general rains varying from half of quarter of an inch fell from Texline southeast toward Clarendon, where rain continued to fall at 9:30 o'clock Thursday night. Similar reports came from Clovis, N. M., and toward the southeast.

Amarillo received half an inch of moisture and Channing and Sterley each a quarter. Dalhart reported showers.

The main line station said similar weather conditions were predicted for today.

Two other mail planes will leave Lubbock that afternoon carrying additional shipments of airmail to Big Spring and Amarillo. An Amarillo bound plane will take off at 3:30 that afternoon and another bound for Big Spring will leave at 3:20, the same time the San Antonio plane will leave.

The feeder flights from Lubbock to 21 South Plains and eastern New Mexico towns will be made that morning. Schedules will be worked out today, officials said. The four planes making those flights are scheduled to return to Lubbock between 12:45 and 1 o'clock that afternoon, allowing ample time for sorting of the mail before arrival and take-off of the other planes.

All Urged To Cooperate

Officials here urged all business men to send by air all mail possible to San Antonio, points in the Rio Grande valley, and Old Mexico.

Supt. W. B. Irvin of Lubbock public schools sent bulletins to principals of the schools in efforts to have school children send letters by airmail on the test flights. Postage will amount to six cents.

Approximately 5,000 additional miles of airmail routes have been authorized by congress, but appropriations have not been made, officials here said.

Survey Being Made

The postoffice department is making a survey of the route from Amarillo to San Antonio by way of Lubbock, Big Spring, and San Angelo. Briefs are being prepared by each of the towns and will be submitted to the department.

All towns of this area are asked by the aviation and airmail observance committees to send as much airmail here next Thursday as possible.

A three-inch square special cachet has been obtained by Howard and every piece of airmail handled through Lubbock will bear the stamp. Postmasters of South Plains towns were asked to obtain special cachets, also.

"The same is true of General Motors. Britain To Triple Output Of Its Air Strength By 1940

LONDON, May 12. (AP)—The British government won a house of commons vote of confidence in its air ministry today after pledging to triple the output of warplanes by March, 1940.

Opposition members had demanded an investigation of the reasons why Britain's aircraft production was lagging behind Germany's, and the issue came to a head in a liberal party move to reduce appropriations for the air ministry.

Only National Emergency Could Bring Lindbergh To America

SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 12. (AP)—Americans learned yesterday on the eve of the 11th anniversary of his historic non-stop flight to France that only a national emergency would bring Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh back to this country from his self-imposed exile in England.

Lindbergh's plans were revealed in a letter to associates who helped him build in an old fish cannery here the "Spirit of St. Louis," the small, single-motored monoplane which carried the then gangling, happy-go-lucky former air mail and barnstorming pilot over the Atlantic ocean.

Remain In England

The associates, who chose to remain unidentified, said the famous flier wrote them he would remain in England with his wife, the former Anne Morrow, and his sons Jon and Land Morrow, born after the kidnaping and slaying of his first son in 1932, unless America needed him in event of war or other national emergency.

Lindbergh's letter quashed repeated reports heard since he left America secretly with his family in December 1935 that he would renounce his American citizenship for that of British.

Opposition To The Union Of Churches Given By Baptists

RICHMOND, Va., May 12. (AP) — The Southern Baptist convention, composed of more than 5,000 representatives of nearly five million church members, adopted by a standing vote today a report strongly opposing organic union of all denominations into one church.

The report on the interdenominational movement was presented by W. R. White of Oklahoma City, speaking for Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas, Texas, a former convention president, who was absent because of illness.

White said the report reaffirmed the "historic position" of Southern Baptists. The statement commended spiritual union of all who loved Jesus Christ, but asserted that such fellowship does not depend on "organization, form or ritual." It warned against "mechanical" unification and stressed the appeal to "individual conscience."

Thousands Of Dogs Must Don Muzzles In Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS, May 12. (AP) — Minneapolis' 6,500 dogs must be muzzled starting tomorrow.

Big dogs, little dogs—even docile, toothless ones — must observe the city health order designed to check rabies. Durable, binding muzzles, stretch-proof and drip-proof, were decreed for the properly equipped pet.

Sixteen positive cases of rabies prompted the six-month ban on biting. Perspiring harness makers slashed at hides as they struggled to catch up on orders for the special muzzles.

Justice Hughes Calls On Legal Profession To Guard Against Unfit Judges

General Praise Offered Bench

WASHINGTON, May 12. (AP) — A call to the American legal profession to use its influence against the selection of unfit judges came today from Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

Though praising the bench in general, Hughes declared in a speech to the American Law Institute that some judges, "with their conspicuous ineptness," do harm.

Rests With Electorate

He said "the maintenance of the standards of judicial office rests primarily with the electorate, where judges are elected, and with the appointing power, where they are appointed, and in both relations a vigilant bar through its organized efforts to secure good judges should exercise, and should constantly seek to exercise, a potent influence."

Declaring there is vital need for "continued respect for the judicial tradition of independence and impartiality," he added:

"It is in the judicial process that we find the most developed and systematic effort of a democratic community to maintain the interests of justice by opposing reason to passion, accepted principles to unbridled discretion, and the requirements of fair play to the favoritism or tyranny of power."

First Address In Months

This was the chief justice's first public address since the fight last summer over President Roosevelt's proposal to reorganize the judiciary.

The nation's leading lawyers who heard Hughes speak were reminded of that struggle by a letter from President Roosevelt, read to the meeting.

"No one," the president said, "can read the legal record of the last year without appreciating that we in our day are again reshaping our legal philosophy to keep pace with the needs of our people and the spirit of our institutions."

The president's court bill, which was beaten, was followed by a series of supreme court opinions favorable to the administration.

Impartiality Required

Besides his remarks on judges, Hughes also said that government administrative agencies must function with judicial "impartiality and independence" if they are to prove successful.

"The multiplication of administrative agencies is the outstanding characteristic of our time," he said, adding that they would succeed in their mission "to the extent that they perform their work with the recognized responsibility which attaches to judges and with the impartiality and independence which is associated with the judicial office."

"I notice," he asserted, "that there is a tendency, in the desire to emphasize the importance of obtaining flexibility work expertness in particular classes of cases, to depreciate the work of the courts and by comparison to exalt administrative boards and commissions.

"Such efforts are shortsighted and are not in the interest of the suitable development of administrative agencies.

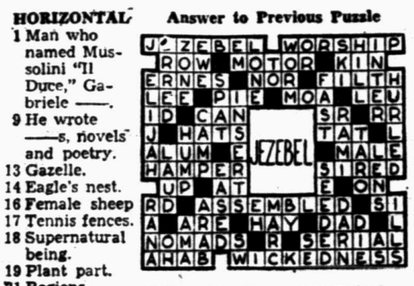

"It must be remembered that to the courts the community still looks for the standards of judicial conduct."

The compliant, filed with S. E. McMillan, justice of peace, after preparation by Burton S. Burks, district attorney, was sworn to by Tom Majors of the Texas Highway patrol.

Bond Of $5,000 Set

On arraignment, bond of $5,000 was set by McMillan binding Nettle to appear before a grand jury here May 23. Late Thursday the man had not posted bond, said Jas. P. Posey, chief deputy sheriff.

Specifically, Nettle was charged with operating an automobile on a public highway when intoxicated and while so driving he did "through accident and mistake drive . . . automobile into and cause it to collide with an automobile" in which Singer as an occupant causing injuries to Singer from which he died.

Lubbock's Messenger Boys Are Called On To Deliver Love Notes And Even Goats

By CLAUDE TUCKER

Lubbock messenger boys are called to deliver everything from a love note to a billy goat.

The last goat delivered was not so heavy.

The worst trouble about him was a penetrating odor.

They don't pretend to be cowboys, but one youth was called to deliver a cow. He found that she resented being led by a rope behind a bicycle, but she was delivered to the correct address. It is not uncommon for boys to carry dogs or cats from one residence to another, or take dogs for their daily walk.

Sang Her A Song

It was necessary to eliminate 45 boys before one was found that could deliver the message correctly. It was on Mother's day. The boy carried a box of candy to a Lubbock mother and sang her a Mother's day song.

A member of fraternity at Texas Technological college asked that a messenger boy deliver her seven live flies, two fleas, and one cockroach. An effort was made to fill the order, but because of the winter season no flies could be found.

A man and his wife had been having heated arguments, so he decided to even the score with the assistance of a messenger boy. At his request the boy delivered a duck to the wife and said, "Duck soup to you."

Delivers Blood Sample

A boy was called to take a sample of negro blood to the city laboratory to be tested.

A merchant, who had promised to go for his wife at a certain time, found he was too busy to leave the office. He sent a messenger boy in his car for her.

Frequently the wife calls a boy to take the car down town to her husband after she has returned from a club meeting or a bridge game.

Many times boys have been called by a busy mother to take children to picture shows.

Sent For Groceries

On answering a call early one morning a messenger boy discovered that he was to buy groceries that the family might have breakfast.

Golf enthusiasts find that messenger boys make good caddies, when there is not a sufficient number of boys at the golf course.

A boy was given a letter to deliver with these instructions. "If a woman comes to the door give it to her, but if a man answers the knock, keep the letter and run."

Prove Their Honesty

The boys dressed in olive drab and in blue have proved their honesty and dependability, so they are frequently called to buy stamps or to pay utility bills for a busy wife. One boy delivered $1500 worth of fur coats at one time. They often deliver drafts to the bank.

Acting as guide for strangers in town is not at all uncommon.

On delivering a message a youth found the woman of the house in the middle of spring housecleaning. Before he left he had moved every piece of furniture in the house and was well versed in the art of removing the winter's collection of dust.

Mowing The Lawn

Mowing the lawn is not an unusual job the messenger boys often find waiting for them at the end of a call.

In addition, they have delivered a baby carriage, washtubs, cushions, trunks, rabbits at Easter, ice, milk, soiled clothes to the laundry or the tailor shop, or almost any article one can recall.

They regularly make deliveries for 81 Lubbock firms.

First Annual Banquet Will Be Held At Tech Club Tonight

First annual banquet of the Alpha Omicron chapter of Kappa Kappa Psi at Texas Technological college will be conducted at 8 o'clock tonight at Hilton hotel.

Principal speakers will be Dean James M. Gordon; Julien Paul Blitz, head of the music department; and D. O. Wiley, director of the Tech band.

James Nevins, clarinet soloist, and R. E. Martin, pianist, will entertain the group with selections. Norman Heath, president, will preside. Next year's officers and pledges will be introduced.

Their colorful scarlet and black uniforms will be worn by band members. Their guests will be dressed formally.

The Tech chapter was recently organized and is the only one in Texas.

LUBBOCK AUCTION AND COMMISSION CO. SALE EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY, BEGINNING AT 10:00 A. M.

Traders have come to know that they get the best prices that the market permits for their cattle when they bring them to us to sell.

We have endeavored to transact our business in a straightforward manner, and it is not surprising that our volume of business is ever increasing.

We try to treat all customers honorably and alike—doing as we would be done by, and this means that once a patron of this establishment, you are always a patron. We believe that our auction sale is a distinct feature of the country, and materially assists in making this section more progressive and more attractive from a commercial and agricultural standpoint. Help us to continue to build up our reputation as such an asset by bringing us more cattle to sell, so we can keep the buyers constantly coming to us for their cattle requirements.

Attorney For Bernsteins To File Answers To Charges

LOS ANGELES, May 12. (AP)—Charles J. Katz, attorney for the Arthur L. Bernsteins, said he would file, late today, four separate answers to Jackie Coogan's suit for an accounting of his earnings.

The denials will say, Katz revealed, that:

There never was $4,000,000, except in Jackie's mind.

He never earned more than $1,500,000 for his acting and from all other sources.

He never was "kicked out of his mother's and his stepfather's house" as he has charged; that he left of his own choice.

His step-father, Bernstein, neither has nor wants interest in the money which Jackie claims as his property, but which he has charged Bernstein with using.

The University of Oklahoma press has published a book by Grant Foreman, historian, which contains new information about Sequoyah, inventor of the Cherokee Indian alphabet.

STEP DOWN A RUNG

NEW YORK, May 12. (AP)—Stocks stepped down a rung on the price ladder in today's market.

With the exception of a handful of oils, utilities and specialties, most groups yielded fractionally. Losses of more than a point were rare.

There was little especially depressing in the news and brokers thought the recent failure of the industrial stock average to go through the April-May top, along with rails and utilities, may have inspired some traders to stand aside pending more definite recovery signs.

Transfers amounted to 596,404 shares compared with 978,300 yesterday when prices pointed upward. The Associated Press average of 60 issues was off .3 of a point at 41.3.

Oils were benefitted to some extent by the cut in mid-continent production and the highly favorable 1937 earnings statement of Standard of N. J.

Prominent share losers included U. S. Steel at 44⅝, General Motors 31⅛, U. S. Rubber 28¼, J. I. Case 79¾, Westinghouse 78⅞, American Telephone 132¼, Chesapeake and Ohio 28⅜, Anaconda 28⅝, Air Reduction 46½ and Johns-Manville 72¾.

On the advancing side were Standard Oil of N. J. at 49⅞, Socony Vacuum 13½, Public Service of N. J. 31⅛, National Power and Light 8⅛, Sears Roebuck 58⅝, Curtiss-Wright "A" 20⅝, Eastman Kodak 158, Allied Chemical 152⅛ and American Can 88⅛.

Passenger miles flown by American airlines are more than double the mileage flown in all Europe. Germany ranks second to the United States in air travel and the British Empire is third.

"Calamity Jane was a friend of the soldiers, the wagon train drivers and the boys who built the Union Pacific railroad," he said.

The buffalo hunter admired Sitting Bull and camped near him in 1875-76 while the Sioux medicine man and chief was preparing for the campaign that ended so disastrously for General G. A. Custer and his men at the Little Big Horn.

"Sitting Bull was the greatest general of his age," the frontiersman claimed. "There was none, white or red, who was his superior."

Laughed At Stories

He laughed at the stories of Buffalo Bill.

"I don't know of any Indians that he killed," he said recently. "We used to smile at his pretensions of being a great scout when he guided parties of rich sportsmen. I think that he was more of a lady killer than a hunter."

Bat Masterson, another character of the old west, was his neighbor in Denver.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, May 12. (AP)—Likelihood of moisture relief for Texas crops led to almost a cent a bushel loss in Chicago wheat prices late today.

Largely because of Texas indications of showers, fresh reports of crop damage southwest failed to stimulate much buying, and caused only ½ cent transient bulge in values.

A further weight on the market was that North American export business totaled but 300,000 bushels, and that Liverpool late quotations showed a reactionary trend.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ¼ to ¾ lower compared with yesterday's finish, May 81, July 78½@78⅝, corn ¼ off to ⅛ up, May 58, July 59⅝, oats showing ⅛ decline to ⅛ advance, rye ⅝ to ¾ down, and provisions varying from 12 cents setback to 5 cents gain.

The market tumbled notwithstanding a widely known authority wired from Booker, Texas, that crops in Carson, Gray and Roberts counties had gone back rapidly for more than a week, drying up at tops and bottoms. He predicted that without rain in a week much acreage would never head or be cut.

Included among unfavorable crop advices was a dispatch that another leading specialist sent from Wichita Falls, Texas, saying wheat plants were deteriorating fast, and showed effects of sub-soil moisture shortage.

Better Be Prepared

Be prepared for the unexpected. Don't be surprised if that woman across the table from you screams, "Put that salt shaker down!" Never pass a salt shaker from hand to hand.

Take no long journeys. The hand of fate is likely to mar your vision.

Refuse your salary if your employer offers it today. If he says "now or never," still let him keep it. Let him tempt the fates with money.

Better not stay home to be safe. Too many mirrors around, and if a broken mirror on an ordinary day brings seven years of bad luck, what wouldn't it bring on this day.

The man admitted in open court he had sworn falsely to an application made of U. Brown, district clerk, for suspended sentence on conviction of drunk driving, then in testimony before Judge Pitts. Burton S. Burks, district attorney, in open court, said he did not "see how the grand jury can fail to indict" on a perjury count. In addition to his fine and imprisonment, Judge Pitts suspended the man's driving license six months.

Jones Talks To College Studes

SILOAM SPRINGS, Ark., May 12 (AP)—Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation told the graduating class at John Brown university today that the heritage of a large public debt carried with it also the heritages of "a nation able to support that debt, and one of the few surviving democracies."

Assuring his hearers that "President Roosevelt and the congress have but one purpose—to provide better living conditions for everyone," he said about the business recession:

"That we have not yet found a solution is obvious, but we must keep trying."

Must Keep Trying

Jones came to this little town in the heart of the Ozarks to receive the honorary degree of doctor of laws from John Brown, a private institution.

Gov. Carl E. Bailey of Arkansas welcomed Jones "on behalf of two million citizens of this state."

It was "Jesse Jones" day at the university.

"An older generation of a young country is bequeathing to your generation a heavy debt," he said, "it was incurred in fighting a war on other shores 20 years ago, and in combatting a depression which followed that war ten years later."

Jones said that "fighting a war is much easier than fighting a depression."

third.

Shortly before his death, the bull ran over and trampled Mrs. J. B. Spearman of 1920 Avenue P. In a Rix Funeral home ambulance she was rushed to Lubbock sanitarium and given emergency treatment. Her condition was not considered serious, although she suffered numerous bruises.

While in the alley between Avenues J and K in the 1500-block, Alvey shot the bull twice in the head, but that only served to infuriate him. In the rounds the bull climbed upon seven or eight front porches in his pursuit of possible victims.

Once in the encounter the animal got the upper hand of Boyd, forcing the policeman to keep a tree between himself and his enemy.

Alvey, one of the leaders of the chase, claims he saw four big men go through one small door at the same time.

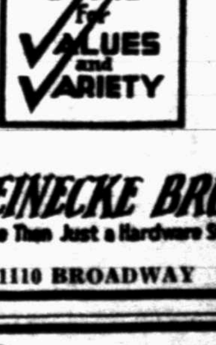

With 20 or 25 slugs fired from police guns, the bull finally fell dead. His throat was cut and he was taken to a packing house. Police said his hide had been promised them and it will be mounted and placed at headquarters at the city hall.

Young Candidate For Railroad Commission Post Is Visitor In Lubbock On Thursday

G. A. (JERRY) SADLER

Jerry Sadler, Longview attorney, Thursday completed the first 1500 miles of an intensive campaign tour in the interest of his race for railroad commissioner of Texas, upon his arrival in Lubbock. Sadler, 30-year-old former oil field and refinery worker, was to deliver his 90th speech of the tour here last night but the address was cancelled due to rain.

Sounding a strong warning to owners and employes of home owned industries that "monopoly threatens the very existence of such enterprises," Sadler charged in an interview that Texas is rolling its wealth to Wall Street.

Espouses Independent Cause

The young candidate, espousing the cause of the independent in all lines of endeavor, said such independents are "going the way of the dodo bird and the buffalo" unless something is done quickly to save them.

He flung a challenge to chain organizations and urged small business men, farmers and workers to "put Sadler in the saddle; I will ride the broncho of monopoly. I will boot him and spur him in the flanks and, if necessary, I will pull the bridle off and beat him over the head with it. And I won't pull leather."

Inequalities Are Scored

Sadler scored inequalities in administration of the railroad commission, asserting that Lubbock county has only three citizens employed and 131 Texas counties, including several within the Lubbock trade area, have no one at all to represent them among the personnel of the powerful state bureau.

The candidate was accompanied by his band, "Sadler's Cowboy Stringsters," only such musical organization now on tour with a candidate. His dawn-to-midnight whirlwind campaign has carried him across Texas from Longview to El Paso, with appearance at each enroute. Striking into the "bread basket of Texas," Sadler planned to push his drive through the Panhandle and then head homeward through Wichta Falls. Sadler will deliver a radio address from Station KFYO Friday morning from 7 to 7:30 o'clock.

Gilmore Nunn Is Silent About Altercation Of His Guest

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 12. (AP)—Gilmore N. Nunn, host to Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt during the Kentucky derby, refused to comment today on a reported altercation between Roosevelt and an unidentified man alleged to have made a derogatory remark about President Roosevelt, except to say that some reports of the affair had overdone its importance.

Other persons present last Saturday night at a Louisville country club where Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt and Nunn went after the derby declined to be quoted, but the generally accepted version was that Elliott Roosevelt took objection to a remark about his father and others present intervened and apologized to him for the incident.

More Than 300 Students Are At Picnic Here Thursday

More than 300 members of the sophomore class of the Lubbock Senior High school attended the class' annual picnic Thursday afternoon at Mackenzie State park.

After games, a picnic supper was served.

Sponsors accompanied the group. Sponsors are Miss Alice Beckett, Mrs. Ross Ayers, Miss Eufala Wise, Miss Linnoel Hillard, Sam Lafieste, Miss Amelia Hargis, Miss Rosalie Knox, Carl Bailey, and Mrs Ruby Atwood.

Constipated? You Should Get at the Cause!

Lots of people think they can't be "regular" without frequent trips to the medicine chest. "I just dose up and get it over," they tell you. But doctors know they don't "get it over" at all—until they get at the cause of the trouble!

Chances are it's simple to find the cause if you eat only what most people do—meat, bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If that fits you, your ticket is a crunchy breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the great intestinal tonic, vitamin B_1.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and just watch the old world grow brighter! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Let's Keep Ourselves Clear

VIGOROUS lobbying in the national capital recently urging the removal of embargoes on the shipment of war munitions to Spain is illustrative of the pressure a well-organized minority can bring to bear on public officials.

No one can believe honestly that a majority of our citizens would favor the lifting of the embargo. They know from experience the dangers such shipments would breed. They know that one faction would attempt, and would be justified in the attempt, to sink ships carrying arms, ammunition and other contraband to the other side. They know too that just as sure as a ship bearing our flag should be sunk, the very persons who want the embargo lifted would be the first to squall as they waved Old Glory while screaming in simulated patriotism. They would attempt to conceal the fact that the real cause of most of their squawks would be that they had been hit in the pocketbook.

Some among those urging the relaxing of present strict regulations doubtless are well-meaning even though they are misguided. Others probably are so carried away by their own enthusiasm for one faction or the other they would be willing to see the United States dragged into the war—on the side they favor, of course. But the majority of the lobbyists are thinking of the dollars and cents which would pour into their pockets from trafficking in arms.

Arguments they have advanced in support of their contentions have been preposterous. They insist that they would favor an embargo if the war involved different nations. But, as they argue, this conflict in Spain is a civil war, not an international conflict. Presumably they reason that a man, woman, or child killed in Spain isn't quite as dead as would be the victim of a struggle between different nations.

Their reasoning that we should make a distinction between civil wars and others in the determining of munitions embargo policies will appeal to most people as ridiculous. In the first place, their predicate that the Spanish conflict is merely a civil war is wrong. It is true, of course, that Italy, Germany, Russia and perhaps others are not participating officially in the struggle. But those nations admittedly have their soldiers in Spain to operate their airplanes, tanks, cannons, rifles, bombs and other munitions.

However, the question is not whether Spain is or is not engaged in a civil war. The really important question is one of keeping ourselves clear of the conflicts which do not concern us. That policy may cost some of our citizens a good many dollars. But it is likely to save a lot of lives.

With Our Contemporaries

"Further proof that Texas is becoming one of the great dairy states in the nation," remarks W. M. Curry in the Crosbyton Review, "is contained in a report by the Texas Planning board which points out that there are 42,000 more milk cows in Texas this year than in 1937."

"Some of our exchanges are now preaching the strange doctrine that we do not particularly need foreign markets," E. I. Hill notes in the Lynn County News. The One-Minute Sermon

He that receiveth you receiveth me, and he that receiveth me recoveth him that sent me.

He that receiveth a prophet in the name of a prophet shal receive a prophet's reward; and he that receiveth a righteous man in the name of a righteous man shall receive a righteous man's reward.

And whosoever shall give to drink unto these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name o fa disciple, verily I say onto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward.—St. Matthew 11; 40 through 42.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

JACKIE DUNN — heroine; she wanted to fly.

ROGER BRECKNER—hero; he wanted to test the stratosphere.

BERYL MELROSE — wealthy widow; she wanted Roger.

EVELYN LA FARGE—Jackie's mother; she wanted a son-in-law.

Yesterday: For the first time Jackie realizes that Beryl Melrose in the picture has taken a lot of the joy out of her hopes and plans for Roger's flight.

CHAPTER IX

Jackie was glad now that she had a lovely new dress, purchased so reluctantly among her "trousseau clothes," for the dinner-dance.

It was a dream of a dress, really; sky-blue tulle, yards and yards of it, glinting with silver. She wore silver sandals on her feet and a coronet of tiny, glittering silver stars held her hair back from her eager, flushed young face. For once she looked as feminine and allurring as even Evelyn could have wished. For once Jackie was willing to look that way.

Of course the fact that Beryl Melrose would be there had nothing to do with it!

Evelyn had seen to it that the setting for this evening should be as romantic as possible. Gay Japanese lanterns had been hung around the velvety lawns and terraces, near the outdoor swimming pool a platform for dancing had been erected and just in case there would not be any moon, an artificial one had been supplied. There were floodlights, as well, that would shine first gold, then rose, then lavender, thick backdrops of shrubs and masses of fragrant roses. As though the night itself had wanted to lend enchantment the air was as tender as a serenade.

"Dear me," Evelyn whispered in an aside to Jackie, as they received the long line of guests, "what do you suppose is keeping Roger? He should have been here ages ago. I can't understand it."

Jackie, the golden flecks in her eyes too bright, her lovely face flushed, her head held high, could not understand it, either. Surely Roger would not let her down on this important night. He had promised to come. He had promised to help her carry this crazy trial-flight engagement through, no matter what happened.

She had scarcely seen anything at all of Roger since that day at the field. That new silver ship had been the one in which he would make his flight. He had been taking it up every day, experimenting with what it would do. And Jackie knew that Beryl Melrose had been staying at a small hotel near the field so that she could watch his progress.

"Perhaps he had to go after Mrs. Melrose," Jackie answered her mother. "He will want to see that she gets here."

"I still can not understand why you felt you must invite her to your party," Evelyn reproved. "Remember what I told you! If I were you I would keep Roger away from such a fascinating creature, rather than deliberately throwing them together, my dear."

"I'm not throwing them together!" Jackie flared. Oh, why didn't Roger come? There was simply no excuse . . .

"Ah, there he is now—and with Mrs. Melrose, just as you thought!"

Not only Jackie, but everyone in the room, watched the entrance that Beryl Melrose made then. She was the sort of a woman whose coming into a room would be termed an entrance.

She was easily the most beautiful woman present. She was all in white tonight, even to the long string of pearls about her beautiful throat. Her big eyes looked larger and darker than ever, her skin more gardenia-like.

"It's all my fault that Roger is late," she said in her self-assured gracious manner, that made Jackie feel so gauche. "We were making some very important tests today and got so interested. I do hope you'll forgive him!"

"It doesn't matter in the least," Jackie murmured cooly. She felt that Roger should do his own apologizing. She knew instinctively that Beryl Melrose had purposely seen to it that they should be late.

"I'm terribly sorry," Roger did offer additional apology of his own, as his strong arm circled Jackie's slim waist for the first dance. "It wasn't Beryl's fault, Jackie. It was mine. But you knew I'd manage to get here, didn't you my love?"

"I have told you before that I am not your love," Jackie gave him a stern look. She had had to pretend before the world that she and Roger were a pair of turtle-doves when the announcement of their engagement had been made at the dinner table, but they could drop all that nonsense now.

"You look so sweet tonight, with those stars in your hair—and in your eyes—that I almost wish you were," he told her, with his gamin-grin. She had no right to look so desirable if she expected him to remember that this was all pretense.

"Don't be silly!" she admonished. But secretly she was pleased that he thought she looked nice. It was almost like flying, dancing with Roger, their steps matched so perfectly, the music carried them on wings. "I suppose," Jackie said, after a few moments of this sheer bliss, "that I'm honored to have you spare me even this one evening. Since you're kept so busy getting ready for your flight—and with your new friend." After all, even if their engagement wasn't real, Roger could have managed to have called, or come to see her, if he had wanted to. Not that she cared, of course!

"I have been busy," Roger said. He gave her a whirl that sent her full skirt in a wide whirl and practically lifted the silver slippers from the floor. His blue eyes crinkled at their corners as they smiled down into hers. "Though if you mean Beryl—it isn't she who has kept me occupied. There's plenty to do, making ready for a flight of this sort. I don't want to slip up anywhere. I hope to be ready to leave for the west coast by the end of another week."

"Another week!" Jackie said faintly. Maybe because she had not quite got her breath. That was so very soon. "Is Mrs. Melrose going with you—to the coast, I mean?" How could she keep Roger away from this other woman—even if she wanted to—under the circumstances?

"She expects to," Roger said. "She certainly is a wonderful person, Jackie. What she doesn't know about aviation isn't worth knowing."

"Of course that's the only reason she's playing Mrs. Santa Claus to you!"

Roger gave her a questioning look. "What do you mean by that?" he asked.

"Nothing. Nothing at all!" Jackie tossed this off lightly. If Roger did not have sense enough to know that Beryl Melrose was probably interested in him because he was young and handsome, Jackie would not put him wise.

"Why, see here!" Roger practically stopped in the middle of the floor. "I believe you're jealous, Jackie!"

"Jealous!" She drew back, glaring at him.

"I believe you are!" He bent closer to her, holding her so firmly that she could scarcely get her breath again. "Do you know I have a notion to kiss you for that, my love! In public this time, of course. So that everyone will believe in this ridiculous engagement!"

"If you dare!" Jackie gasped. She pulled away from him. She was trembling all over—from anger, of course. "Let me go, Roger—I don't want to dance with you, any more."

"Very well," Roger said. He let her go, too readily. He looked as he had that night when she had slapped him. He bowed stiffly, having escorted her from the floor.

And what was more, he did not dance with her again!

Cooperation Of All Children Is Asked

In preparation for the airmail pickup test here May 19, bulletins addressed to principals of all of Lubbock schools were distributed by W. B. Irvin, city superintendent, today, requesting the cooperation of every pupil.

Suggestion was made in the bulletin, school officials reported, that each child write a letter to someone in another city to be placed aboard the mail plane. Any letters written, it was explained, will be wholly voluntary but teachers have been instructed to assist pupils who wish to cooperate.

The letters will be collected next Tuesday, Superintendent Irvin said.

More Than Six Tons Of Metal Is Gathered Up By Picker

Nail picker of division 5, state highway department, has picked up more than six tons of metal since September 1935, according to George M. Garrett, division engineer. Nails, spikes and metal from cars was included in the debris, found on state highways.

In addition to the metal, which amounted to 12,791 pounds, 150 truck loads of old wrecked car pieces and other metals were taken by maintenance department employes from right of ways of the division.

TIP: Two Rooseveltian bankers—R. F. C.-er Jones and F. D. I. C.-er Crowley—are quietly preparing to hammer their own breed if they don't loosen up and lend under the recovery program's unfreezing of gold and excess reserves. Putting it another way, they're not going to let the bankers shift responsibility to the government.

Mr. Crowley, as Whirligig reported, supplied the President with a secret report describing the exceptional liquidity of all except a few institutons. F. D. R. has never mentioned this document for the reason that he is supposed to be saving it for a more opportune moment. Then he will probably use it to show the bankers' ability to lend, and attack them for their unwillingness. Despite his conservative leanings, Mr. Jones warned that the government might step in to supply new credit if the banks didn't.

The R. F. C. Chairman is reluctant to embark on that enterprise, which would amount to a surrender to S. E. C. Chairman William O. Douglas' scheme for intermediate credit banks—a cut-rate Federal Reserve system. What Mr. Jones really did was to tip off his friends on what they may expect if they don't open up within the next few months. They may find that the depression will be laid at their revolving doors and non-revolving vaults.

CLASHES: President Roosevelt and National Chairman Farley are playing the same game of political hide-and-seek which they staged so adroitly in the New York Mayoralty campaign—now in Illinois and Kentucky. So far nobody knows just who is hiding and who is seeking.

The new setting for the fun is Georgia. In that state the President has been trying to persuade Governor Rivers to enter the primary against Senator George, an anti-New Dealer. Mr. Rivers seemed to thrust away the honor a few weeks ago, but the Pepper victory in Florida has encouraged him to try his luck. Meanwhile, Mr. Farley has been beseeching the Governor to run for reelection, and not divide the Democrats with an intra-party scrap. The P. G.'s solicitude for Mr. George intrigues the politicos who know of F. D. R.'s desire for the conservative Georgian's defeat.

It shouldn't cause any concern to those who know their politics—and their personalities. As National Chairman, it's Mr. Farley's job to preserve party peace. Mr. Roosevelt, naturally, is thinking of the New Deal and his personal prestige. These undercover clashes between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Farley are bound to occur more and more often between now and next fall—and 1940.

IGNORANCE: Six months too late the White House crowd has awakened to the blunder they may have made in backing Alben Barkley of Kentucky for the post of Senate leader. They didn't know until a few days ago that they broke all precedents when they chose for presidential spokesman a man who must entrust his prestige—and the administration's—to the voters within a year.

For very practical reasons the Senate has always picked a majority leader whose seat was fairly secure—one who could be a statesman rather than a politician for a little while because he didn't have to face the voters immediately. There was also the consideration that he could remain around the Capital after adjournment to clean up legislative odds and ends. Mr. Barkley, however, intends to leave for Kentucky by plane within a few hours after the gavel falls. He has been so worried over his primary troubles that he has had to slight some senatorial responsibilities. And should he lose, it will be a blow at the White House that could have been ducked with a little forethought.

President Roosevelt's inexperience in such matters accounts for the current dilemma. Instead of consulting Senate veterans like Vice President Garner before backing Mr. Barkley against Pat Harrison, the No. 1 man listened to young liberals around him whose ignorance in such practical political matters is notable—indeed notorious.

SHOES: Ostensibly to deliver a speech in Dallas, the Honorable Hatton W. Sumners quietly hopped a train for home the other night. But before he swung abroad, he confided to a few friends that he was returning to quell the storm that had broken over his head for his part in defeating the government reorganization bill.

The incident has combined with other evidences of public wrath to shake the assurance of some of the 108 Democrats who deserted the President on this issue.

DISILLUSION? A careful professional check of primary results so far furnishes to political psychologists on Capitol Hill no inkling of the voters' mental or emotional state. You can draw almost any conclusion you please—that the people are for Mr. Roosevelt, or that they are against him.

The timid, tentative conclusion is that the electorate is utterly indifferent, with the possible exception of people holding jobs or getting relief. In some cases the voters have returned men who even lined up against such non-controversial and humanitarian experiments as C. C. C. camps; that happened to Rep. Glenn Griswold in the Fifth Indiana district. In others they seemed to plump for F. D. R.'s supporters. But the overshadowing fact is that 90 per cent of the Democratic incumbents have been renominated, whether they were for or against the White House. That does not suggest that the folks back home are dealing out rewards or punishment on the basis of how a man voted at Washington. They're just voting from habit, and for the names they see most often in the papers.

It indicates, only faintly however, that the people are disillusioned a little bit. They were promised by President and Congressmen that the New Deal would give them jobs and money in the bank—security. They haven't got it yet. So they seem to feel that it doesn't make much difference whom they send to Congress because the poor—and the politicians—we'll always have with us.

PREPARED: Watch U. S. Steel in the next few months. The giant corporation has moves in mind that are likely to figure significantly in shaping a pattern for big industry in general.

Only one of these has so far been announced publicly—a $100,000,000 debenture issue to be floated late in June. Half of this sum will be used to refund bank loans, the other half to complete financing of Big Steel's plant modernization. If the issue goes over well, as it almost certainly will, a flood of other corporate financing is due to follow. That would be the signal for capital long on vacation to go back to work.

U. S. Steel is getting ready for a busy third quarter. Junior executives of its operating subsidiaries have been asked to take their vacations before July 1st if possible. Three major steps are in prospect between now and the end of June as part of the preparedness program.

ADJUSTMENTS: Insiders predict the first of these will be a sweeping reduction in third quarter prices for steel products. An announcement to that effect is possible this month. Many large buyers privately agree with President Roosevelt that steel prices are too high and have been purchasing only hand-to-mouth in an effort to force them down.

Second, Big Steel's directors may decide to curtail or omit the next quarterly preferred dividend rather than continue to pay it out of surplus. Then, with prices and dividends slashed, the workers will probably be told that wage readjustments are also necessary. This is a primary objective, but it is felt that union resistance will be minimized if the other moves are made first.

The independent steel makers will of course follow U. S. Steel's lead on prices and wages. Other mass production industries are also likely to make similar adjustments. The net result will be a deflationary clearing of decks for action. The auto companies will come into the market for steel for their 1939 models in July, especially with the stimulus of price cuts. Substantial railroad maintenance business is also in sight via R. F. C. loans. So productive activity and employment may show sharp gains in the third quarter.

AUSTIN, May 12. (AP) — Midnight electricity literally is being burned in one state government department.

Work in most state departments is an 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. affair, but not so in the comptroller's.

The reason is that issuing benefit checks for unemployment compensation, which total as many as 55,000 in one week, has been assigned the comptroller.

Because the department did not have sufficient machinery to do the job during daylight working hours a shift of employes was assigned to work on the checks at night.

Two instances of candidates having their names changed in courts have come to the attention of the democratic state executive committee.

One candidate was G. A. Jerry Sadler of Longview and the other Tom Smiley of Karnes City. Sadler had the Jerry inserted in his name while Smiley shortened his from Thomas B.

In changing Smiley's name, District Judge S. B. Carr of 81st judicial district said "the court finds the change will not injure any person."

Smiley wrote Vann Kennedy, secretary of the committee:

"There is no longer any Thomas Brannon Smiley, Thomas B. Smiley, Judge Smiley, T. B. Smiley, Lieutenant Smiley, Captain Smiley, Major Smiley or Colonel Smiley, but in a legal manner all of the above names have been boiled down into 'Tom Smiley'."

Sadler is a candidate for the railroad commission seat of C. V. Terrell. Smiley is running against Richard Critz, associate justice of the supreme court.

Reads Neff's Memoirs

GEORGE CLARK, until recently one of Gov. James V. Allred's secretaries and now publicity representative of the unemployment compensation commission, was observed reading a book of memoirs by former Gov. Pat M. Neff, president of Baylor university.

He called attention to an account of Neff's pardoning a negro convict the day before his administration ended.

At intervals in the four years he was governor Neff visited the penitentiary and was besieged with requests from the negro for a pardon. The negro also sang a song which ran something like this:

"If I had the governor where the governor has me, I would before morning set the governor free."

The negro won his case just before Neff went out of office.

Clarke remarked that Gov. Allred, whose term ends next January, doesn't have the clemency powers Neff had.

He can pardon a convict only on recommendation of the state board of pardons and paroles. He can grant one reprieve of 30 days in a death case without consent of the board.

Bob Calvert, speaker of the house of representatives and candidate for attorney general, says he never was a football player, but if elected he can "make some touchdowns in following the constitution and enforcing the laws."

He made the statement in Austin after visiting many sections of the state "talking with boys at the forks of the creek." There is a suspicion he was hitting at Gerald Mann, also a candidate for the attorney generalship and not many years ago a great gridiron star at Southern Methodist university.

Has One Regret

LOOKING back over his administration, Gov. Allred said the other day he had one regret.

"I am sorry," he said, "that more eleemosynary buildings were not built and provision made to take care of all the helpless people needing assistance.

"I wish the building program had been double or three times what it was."

The previous night the governor had attended a demonstration showing accomplishments at the state school for feeble-minded in Austin.

That morning he had approved a deficiency appropriation of $25,000 for operation of the Kerrville sanatorium for tubercular negroes, the legislative appropriation having run short.

Dr. T. V. Smith, philosophy professor at the University of Chicago and a former Texan whose activities are watched with interest in Austin, is pointing for congress after a stint in the Illinois legislature.

He has been nominated by Illinois Democrats for congressman-at-large. In the legislature he representtd one of the Chicago districts.

Smith, a graduate of the University of Texas and a former teacher there, also has been mentioned as a possibility for the presidency of the school. He addressed the Texas legislature at its last regular session.

The West Texas and East Texas Chambers of Commerce conventions at Wichita Falls and Longview, respectively, were strong drawing cards for candidates.

Seen at Wichita Falls were Ernest O. Thompson, candidate for governor; C. V. Terrell, chairman of the railroad commission, seeking reelection; George H. Sheppard, comptroller, and Charley Lockhart, treasurer, also out for re-election; Coke Stevenson, running for lieutenant-governor, and Rep. Charley Tennyson, candidate for the senate from the 23rd district.

Three young girls in cowgirl costume serenaded Lockhart as he sat in his automobile.

TARZAN UNDER FIRE No. 5 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

In high spirits the little party crossed the veldt and entered the dark corridors of the forest. Dick and Doc followed Tarzan closely, drinking in every word of jungle lore that fell from his lips. Pretty soon, they thought, they would be real junior Tarzans.

The mighty Jungle Lord taught them how to stalk game, and instructed them in the fine points of archery. Both were apt pupils, and on the fifth day of their journey it was Dick who provided a fine dinner by bringing down a quick young antelope at a water hole.

On the fifteenth day of their leisurely travels, the dim trail they followed widened suddenly and flowed into a clearing, where stood a small palisaded village. Tarzan, as usual, was intrigued. "We shall see what kind of people live here," he said quietly.

"They might be hostile—that is, I mean—they might be rather unfriendly," Dick faltered. "Of course, I'm not afraid, or anything," Doc put in, "but maybe they're cannibals, and I was thinking . . ." "We shall see," Tarzan said confidently; "come!"

United States Scientist Takes The Final Word Over Volcano

BY EDMUND A. CHESTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ST. PIERRE, Martinique, May 12.—Thirty-six years ago all of St. Pierre's 30,000 inhabitants but one were wiped out in the eruption of Mount Pelee. But the town refused to become a "ghost city." New buildings struggled up on the wreckage of old.

It was well on its way back when, in 1929, Pelee roared again. New disaster threatened. Residents were terror-stricken. When an American volcanologist arrived and calmly announced the peril was past, St. Pierre scarcely heeded him. Lava spoke louder than words.

A Boom Is On

But though the mountain was angry from 1929 through 1932, the holocaust never came. The volcanologist came to be respected. Now a boom is on the make in St. Pierre. Not a boom by United States standards, perhaps, but the town definitely is on the up grade.

The man who has given these people in the shadow of the volcano the confidence is Dr. Frank A. Perret, research director for the Carnegie Institution. He arrived in the midst of the 1929 outbreak. The tall, slim, scholarly man, now in his seventies, still spends most of his time here, keeping his eye on Pelee.

Out of his 30 years of volcanic study, his several close escapes from death, Dr. Perret has concluded "the warning that precedes a great eruption always gives ample time for escape."

Could Not Wait

Dr. Perret reached Martinique soon after Christmas, 1929. Pelee had been active since August. Residents of towns at the base of the mountain were fleeing.

The scientist had not even waited until his arrival to begin his studies. He found some peculiar ashes on the boat that brought him here; learned they had been wafted to the deck from an unusually severe outbreak of Pelee on Dec. 16.

When he got ashore he had a homemade earth-contact microphone and a folding pocket camera in the way of equipment. He went right to work.

In his story of the "Eruption of Mt. Pelee, 1929-1932," Dr. Perret says this:

"Over all the northern section of the island industry was paralyzed and towns virtually evacuated. Sugarmills were closed, the cane uncut, the population on the dole, while over all hung the element of uncertainty and apprehension. Must all these rich estates with invested capital amounting to hundreds of millions of francs be forever abandoned?

"I concluded that after an outburst of the Plinian intensity shown in the eruption of 1902, when the materials accumulated for centuries had been blown from the center and conduit, a milder era of periodic eruption should ensue, each new outbreak proportional in violence to the length of quiet interval during which consolidation of lava and obstruction of the vent had been going on.

"I therefore expressed the view that the most dangerous explosive effects of the eruption were already over; . . . that, under watchful observation of the volcano, industry might well be resumed."

That is the simple story of the modest man who has saved Martinique billions of francs in property and who has instilled in a superstitious people, respect for science.

Although there were many eruptions during the next three years, not a human life was lost.

Dr. Perret risked his life many times to complete his studies of Pelee. He built a shack high on the plains near the volcano and lived there alone.

A Sublime Spectacle

"The track of the avalanche lay to the side of the station. . . . The chief dangers were heat and gas from the cloud. There was still a minute left. I peered out from the rear of the station. A sublime spectacle! Two pillars of cloud, a thousand feet high, apparently gaining in speed every instant and headed straight for my shelter.

"As I darted within, the blast was upon me—not a terrific shock, but swirling gusts of ash-laden wind, bringing a pall of darkness that might indeed be felt. I felt the gases burning and parching my throat and then came a feeling of weakness. Was it carbon monoxide? It all lasted for half an hour, but it was nearly an hour before the feeling of suffocation was relieved by a kindly wind.

"Painful as the experience had been—and still was—I had been granted an opportunity, from a situation only 200 or 300 meters from the direct path of the avalanche, to observe that marvelous manifestation of volcanism. . . . Sure that this phenomenon could not have gone unnoticed at St. Pierre, I hung a lighted lantern in my doorway as a sign that I was safe, and learned afterwards that my signal was seen by the police who abandoned the rescue expedition they were about to undertake. . . . Next morning, suffering from weakness and a badly irritated throat and nose, I descended the mountain to St. Pierre, whence I made my way to Fort de France for treatment. . . . My regret was keen having had no vacuum tubes or water-filled bottles for the collection of gases in the cloud."

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 12. (AP)—Heavyweight Willard Dean, former Shreveport, La., AAU champion, today unofficially held the world's record for a quick knockout.
