Ships Slated To Resume Operations

NEW YORK (AP) — Shipping companies today rushed preparations to get strikebound ships moving again after a federal judge ordered a temporary halt to a 13-day-old national maritime walkout.

A number of lines posted sailing dates beginning Wednesday. U.S. Dist. Judge Sylvester J. Ryan issued the order Monday night after President Kennedy acted under the Taft-Hartley law on the basis of reports that continuation of the strike would imperil the national health and safety.

Three unions went before U.S. Court of Appeals Judge Charles E. Clark seeking a stay of Ryan's temporary restraining order.

Clark, who held a two-hour hearing late Monday night at his home at Hamden, Conn., refused a stay. He said he saw no compelling reason for him to interfere with Ryan's ruling.

Ryan's order was directed against the five striking marine unions, two maritime unions whose members had refused to cross picket lines, and several employer associations.

The order restrains both labor and management groups from "engaging in or taking part in a strike or walkout" or otherwise "interfering with or affecting the orderly continuance of work in the maritime industry."

Unions and management were ordered to resume collective bargaining in an effort to settle their contract disputes. The unions were ordered to "instruct their members to resume normal employment."

Contempt of court charges could be brought for violation of the court order.

Ryan directed representatives of the unions and shipping companies to appear before him Friday to argue on the government's request for a permanent injunction setting an 80-day cooling-off period under the Taft-Hartley Act.

If the permanent injunction is issued, it probably will be for only 75 days because Ryan's order went into effect Monday night.

Ryan said he was "satisfied that sufficient basis and evidence" had been presented by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's office to support a finding that "irreparable harm and injury" would be done to the national safety if the strike were not halted.

President Kennedy, who is vacationing at Hyannis Port, Mass., instructed the attorney general, his brother, to ask for an injunction Monday. The President acted after receiving reports from various government agencies and from a fact-finding board he appointed when he first invoked the Taft-Hartley Act a week ago.

Almost half of the American merchant marine of passenger ships, freighters and tankers were free to sail before Ryan issued his order.

Contracts signed last weekend released about 340 ships. About 130 ships were not affected by the strike on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coasts.

Rains Return To Snyder Area Monday

More showers skipped around the Snyder area Monday afternoon and evening, as a damp weather pattern endured.

Snyder had 10 of an inch, making a total of 41 for a two-day period. Heavier showers were reported to the east and south.

The Weather Bureau said most areas of Texas could expect more showers today.

The Weather Bureau said the heaviest showers could be expected along the coast and in Central Texas, the same areas hit by the hardest rains the day before.

Skies throughout the state were clear to partly cloudy. Dawn temperatures were in the 60s and 70s.

Up to three inches of rain fell in 45 minutes in some Houston sections and flash floods closed at least eight major traffic arteries for a while. Most parts of Houston got about an inch of rain and in parts of the city hail and thunder accompanied the downpour.

Power lines snapped. The sheets of water were driven by high winds. Lightning set five fires, destroyed two houses and heavily damaged a high school frame building. There were 63 reported traffic accidents during the storm, 5 of them major crashes. No one was injured seriously, however.

The heaviest rain was at the Hill County hamlet of Malone, 28 miles northeast of Waco. The rain measured 5.85 inches there.

Corsicana got a 2.50-inch drenching. Embouse a few miles northwest of Corsicana got 2.75.

Lake Kemp, southwest of Wichita Falls, had 2.15 inches. Huntsville measured 2.10. West 2.12. Waco 1.87. College Station 2.38. Abilene 1.47. Rockland 1.17 and Lubbock .84. Reports were numerous of lesser rains.

The temperature climbed to 101 Monday at Presidio on the Rio Grande in the Big Bend.

Record Is Threatened In Holiday Traffic Deaths

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

416 Traffic

The Independence Day weekend's traffic toll climbed steadily today at a rate that threatened to set a record for the holiday.

Safety experts said the final toll may reach 500 for the holiday period that began at 6 p.m. Friday and will end at midnight tonight (local time).

The National Safety Council had estimated that 450 Americans may lose their lives in motor vehicle accidents during the 102-hour period. The record for a Fourth of July holiday—and for any summer holiday period—is 491. It was set during the four-day observance of Independence Day in 1950.

One fireworks death was reported. Harry M. Gilligan, 16, was killed Monday night at Shalman, N.Y., when a skyrocket exploded and a piece of metal pierced his chest. The accident occurred when the victim and his friends touched off a fusillade of six rockets at a summer home.

The National Safety Council said "the appalling toll is due to a combination of excessively heavy traffic and the negligence of too many drivers to ignore warnings and drive recklessly."

"We can only hope that the heavy toll so far will have a sobering effect upon drivers and that the trend will be reversed," said George Stewart, the council's executive vice president.

Stewart sent a telegram to all of the nation's 50 governors urging them to use all possible means to cut down the heavy toll.

"With traffic consistency the trend of this holiday weekend traffic toll continues to point to an all-time record," Stewart wired the governor.

Today, the windup of the holiday period, was regarded by safety experts as one of the most dangerous on the highways. Millions of cars will be on the road homeward bound after holiday outings. Generally fair weather was indicated in most sections of the country.

Highway accidents killed more than 100 persons Monday. In one of the worst crashes, four teenagers, two boys and 2 girls, were killed when their car was struck by a train near Springfield, Ill.

In the four-day Memorial Day holiday period, 462 persons were killed, which was a record for that holiday.

In last year's three-day observance of Independence Day, there were 442 traffic deaths.

An Associated Press survey of violent deaths during a non-holiday weekend of 102 hours, from 6 p.m. Friday June 15 to midnight Tuesday June 20, showed 362 highway fatalities; 33 boat deaths; 80 drownings and 99 killed in miscellaneous accidents.

The record traffic death count for any holiday period was 706 in the four-day Christmas weekend of 1956.

More Men Go Into Kuwait

KUWAIT (AP)—More men and materials flowed in through the night to boost the three-nation defense force in Kuwait.

By dawn today the total forces available to the British commander, Air Marshal Sir Charles Elphinstone, exceeded 10,000 well-equipped regulars and 10,000 Arab volunteers.

The airlift continued through the night into Kuwait's Farwaniya Airport bringing the 1st Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers from Kenya and other British units.

Some moved straight into main defense positions northwest of the capital. Others took over from the 2nd Coldstream Guards who have been guarding the vital plant which distills fresh water from the sea, the largest in the world.

The crack Coldstreamers were ordered into the desert to join British paratroopers, tanks and marine commandos on guard against Iraqi forces that British intelligence agents said were continuing to build up north of the frontier.

The night's airlift brought the British contribution to Kuwait's defense to 5,000 men plus air and navy support. Saudi Arabian units totaling 1,800 men already were reported in forward positions. Kuwait's own defense force totals roughly 4,000 regulars well trained in the handling of British tanks and armored cars.

Sheik Abdullah al-Salim al-Sabah, Kuwait's ruler called on the British for help after Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassas announced June 25 he planned to take over the oil-rich little sheikdom as Iraqi territory.

Miss Snyder Eyes Beaumont

BY JERRY JACKSON

Lady Falls. The name itself possesses a regal ring. And the girl herself... well, she's a most queenly somebody, and a young lady in whom Scoury Countians may take an extra large measure of pride in calling Miss Snyder of 1951.

A bright-eyed olive-complexioned brunette equipped with a quick, flashy, and above all sincere smile, she was chosen for the most sought-after beauty honor which is bestowed locally Saturday when she gained the nod over eight other very worthy contestants during the Jaycee-sponsored event. With the honor goes the responsibility and privilege of representing the city in the annual Miss Texas Pageant of August 25, which will be staged in Beaumont. From there, the consensus Miss Texas choice will advance to the time-honored Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Miss Falls, five-foot-seven and 20 years of age, found the trail an uphill one due to an ill-timed quirk of fate that bounded into prominence just prior to the local contest. The trouble developed when repeated practice sessions in high heeled shoes tended to rub a blister on her left heel, a malady which worsened and became infected to such a degree that it was doubtful that it would be able to participate at all.

Her dad carted her off to the doctor the day prior to the pageant, the doc's initial analysis being that, "Why, I've put people in the hospital for a lot less than that." Then the physician added as an afterthought, "That's a very good way to get out of a beauty pageant, young lady."

She was granted a night's reprieve from that somewhat stern ultimatum, however, and was allowed to enter—but due to the condition of the ailing heel was forced to tiptoe through the entire show with a left foot as bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard, except for a strategically placed band-aid.

She carried herself with aplomb and self-assurance through it all, however, although as one bystander was heard to comment, "She must've felt like Chester in 'Gunsmoke'—her grace was unimpaired but little, and her winning ways captivated both audience and judges alike. She, in a word, was 'it,' and she captured the hearts of the entire assemblage as a consequence.

Geographically, Snyder's lovely Lady is a dyed-in-the-wool home-towner, having called Snyder "home" all her life. The heritage came to her naturally, her both her mother and father—Mr. and Mrs. Pat Falls—were born and reared within the Scoury County confines. They, like their beautiful daughter, both possess an easy charm and folksiness that has become a rarity amid today's hustle, bustle, clang and clatter.

Biographically, Lady will be classified as a junior this fall at Texas Technological College in Lubbock. She is working toward a BA degree in English, with a minor in Spanish. Upon graduation, she plans to go into the teaching profession.

Her sorority is Pi Beta Phi, traditionally one of the most outstanding in the United States.

She is currently employed at the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Office here in Snyder for the summer.

Her church affiliation is Methodist, with her "home church" being Snyder's First Methodist.

She is looking forward to the Beaumont excursion with understandable "great expectations" as she has never had the opportunity to travel that far south in the state and is anxious to gain a glimpse of the area.

Also, she is anxiously awaiting the chance to meet the other competing girls (there were a total of 41 contestants last year including Snyder's Sherene Gladson), along with the reigning Miss Texas and Miss America, both of whom will be present at the extravaganza.

Snyder could not wish for a more gorgeous or talented ambassador than she's sending in the form of its Lady Falls.

Krush Told Peace Is Aim

LONDON (AP)—President Kennedy told Soviet Premier Khrushchev today the United States wants to live in peace with the Soviet Union.

Kennedy's statement was made in a telegram replying to one sent by Khrushchev to mark Independence Day.

As broadcast by Moscow Radio, the Kennedy message said:

"I am confident that with a sincere desire to achieve a peaceful settlement of the problems still upsetting calm in the world, we shall be able in our time to arrive at the peaceful aim for which all peoples are so ardently aspiring."

"Special responsibility rests at present with the Soviet Union and the United States. I wish to assure the people of your country of our aspiration to live in friendship and peace with you."

Council Has Brief Session

The City Council went through a brief agenda last night in its regular July session in city hall.

An ordinance increasing the speed limit of Santa Fe trains through Snyder was approved on second reading, and final payment on a sanitary sewer construction project was authorized. The project involved extension of sewer lines to the Huffman Addition at the west edge of the city. Total cost was $147,000, which is $463,26 below the initial contract and about $1,250 below the original estimate.

The council withdrew an amendment to an ordinance which had been approved on first reading at its June meeting. The amendment would have recognized removal of a segment of water line as complying with requirements for discontinuing sewer service. The council was advised that the amendment would conflict with state regulations. Regulations require that a section of the sewer line itself must be removed to discontinue sewer service.

JFK Reminds Khrushchev Of 'Enormous Responsibility'

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy today reminded Soviet Premier Khrushchev that the United States is dedicated as always to the "revolutionary principles of individual liberty and national freedom for all people."

On this 18th anniversary of the nation's adoption of the Kennedy followed that assurance with a state notice to the Soviet leader. He said the United States and Soviet Union bear "a special responsibility" in these critical times.

Khrushchev, in a Fourth of July greeting received by Kennedy at his vacation home Monday night, also had said history imposed on the two countries "an enormous share of the responsibility" for the preservation of peace, for the future of humanity.

In response, Kennedy dispatched this message: "I wish to thank you personally and on behalf of the American people for your greetings on the occasion of the 183rd anniversary of the independence of the United States."

"It is a source of satisfaction to me that on the 183rd anniversary the United States is still committed to those revolutionary principles of individual liberty and national freedom for all people which motivated our first great leaders. A special responsibility at this time rests upon the Soviet Union and the United States."

"I wish to assure the people of your country of our desire to live in friendship and peace with them."

Kennedy's brief message was as much a reply to a hostile article in the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia as it was to a message.

Izvestia said Monday "The revolutionary principles of the Declaration of Independence are buried in oblivion. It charged 'The homeland of Lincoln and Jefferson has become a bastion of world reaction.'"

Khrushchev was more conciliatory in contrast not only to Izvestia but to the tough memorandum handed to Kennedy at his speeches threatening the West's position in Berlin.

While congratulating the United States on Independence Day, Khrushchev expressed hope the Vienna discussions will advance joint efforts to solve "problems which long ago became pressing and which the last war left to us after the defeat of the aggressors."

Kennedy addressed his message to both Khrushchev and Soviet Premier Leonid Brezhnev. Each had signed the telegram to Kennedy.

Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary, said the Soviet wire had been sent through commercial rather than diplomatic channels.

This was the fourth communication Khrushchev had sent to Kennedy by commercial wire. He had done so previously to congratulate Kennedy after the 1960 presidential election, on New Year's Eve and on the President's inauguration.

Kennedy and the First Lady, with relatives and friends relaxing here with them on the long holiday weekend, planned a quiet Fourth of July observance.

They awoke on an ideal day for getting off earlier than usual on a cruise of Nantuxet Sound aboard the 28-foot yacht, Marlin, owned by the President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain.

'FOURTH' CELEBRATED BY SNYDER RESIDENTS

Most Snyder area residents were taking a respite from their daily chores today as the nation celebrated Independence Day.

An "old-fashioned" Fourth of July celebration was underway in Toile Memorial Park, with activities scheduled to continue there through the early evening hours.

Rep. Omar Burleson who represents the 17th District of Texas in Congress, was to be the principal speaker at a patriotic program earlier this afternoon to launch special events in the park.

A parade, baseball games, swimming and diving exhibitions and events planned by various clubs and organizations were to continue during the afternoon.

An aerial fireworks display in the park will conclude the planned activities at 8:30 p.m.

The Independence Day activities were coordinated by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, with other organizations participating.

They awoke on an ideal day for getting off earlier than usual on a cruise of Nantuxet Sound aboard the 28-foot yacht, Marlin, owned by the President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain.

Five More Riders Draw Convictions

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — City Judge James Spencer convicted five more "Freedom Riders" of breach of peace Monday while U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize supported the law under which 158 riders have been arrested and convicted in six weeks.

Mize refused to recognize Jackson's use of the breach of peace law "as an effort to prevent integration and preserve segregation," adding that such laws "are a very wise exercise of the police powers of the state."

His written opinion formalized the ruling he handed down last week in dismissing one Freedom Rider's request that he order her release from jail and declare the peace law unconstitutional.

Elizabeth Wyckoff, the first white woman arrested among the riders, had appealed to Mize. Jackson police arrested her June 2. Judge Spencer sentenced her to two months in jail and fined her $200.

The five riders sentenced Monday were arrested Sunday as they attempted to integrate facilities in the Trailways bus terminal. Of the 158 convicted since May 24, 59 were released on bond.

Chapel Hill Board Sets Pupil Policy

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — The Chapel Hill School Board laid down a broad policy of pupil assignment Monday night which would racially integrate all of Chapel Hill's elementary schools. It applies only to first-grade pupils.

The board also wrote in an escape feature giving parents the "right or privilege to request transfers" of their children.

In going far beyond the token integration effective in many North Carolina schools, the board voted to assign first graders to schools on a geographical basis.

The tentative school zones discussed would result in some white children being assigned to Negro schools, as well as vice versa.

Three new white board members, sworn in earlier in the same meeting, combined with a hold-over Negro member to adopt the policy by a 4-1 vote. One of the seven board members was absent. Board Chairman J. K. Jones ordinarily does not vote except in ties.

Token integration became effective in this town, home of the University of North Carolina, last year with the assignment of three Negro children to the first grade of a white school.

When white residents of the Carboro community vigorously protested a tentative zoning which would assign 25 Negro first graders to their white school, the board voted unanimously to draw the zone "so that Carboro will get the smallest possible number of Negro students."

Search For Body Of Man Continues

AUSTIN (AP) — An underwater search continued today at Lake Travis for the body of a man believed to be Charlie C. Kimbro, 40, a World War II combat veteran on leave from the veterans hospital at Waco.

The Travis County sheriff's department said Kimbro had been tentatively identified as the man who plunged Monday from Mansfield Dam into the lake 70 feet below. Identity was based on papers found in a station wagon parked on the dam, a description of the man seen briefly by dam employees and by information furnished by Kimbro's family at Round Rock.

Professional divers made unsuccessful attempts Monday to find the body in the 170-foot water.

In St. Paul, Minn., Gov. Elmer Andersen designated Mrs. Wright Brooks, chairman of the Human Rights Commission, to go to Mississippi to check on the treatment of six riders from Minnesota in the state penitentiary.

Andersen said he had asked the Minnesota attorney general to send an assistant with Mrs. Brooks.

Asked what he would do if the two found any evidence of mistreatment, Andersen replied: "We cannot do anything. We will not move into another state. What we want is a first-hand picture of conditions."

Burke Wins Flint Open On Greens

By JERRY GREEN

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — An ancient putter—just like the one he broke in with—was the major weapon in veteran Jackie Burke's playoff victory in the Flint Open.

Burke used his wooden-shaft putter with deadly precision Monday and it won him $8,000 for his first tournament victory in two years.

The curly-haired pro from Kiamisha Lake, N.Y., beat Billy Casper and Johnny Pott by three strokes in an 18-hole playoff. Pott and Casper had been tied for the lead since the 36-hole mark Friday. Burke overtook them Sunday, gaining three strokes.

He then beat them in the extra session, touring Warwick Hills in 36:35—71, one-under-par on a windy course.

Walker, 74, Noses Out 'Youngsters'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Alvin F. Bergman, 74, walked 30 miles Monday and nosed out two younger competitors by several minutes.

Bergman, John Oros, 44, and Gene Kemper, 27, started the 30-mile trek in and around their nearby hometown of Leetsdale at 10 a.m.

Bergman, who took the walk "just for the fun of it," had an advantage over the younger men. He has been making long-distance hikes for years.

He once walked 500 miles from Pittsburgh to Chicago in six days and 23 hours. He also hiked 400 miles from Pittsburgh to New York in six days and five hours.

Husband Is Shot During Argument

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Neighbors heard John R. Zans and his wife arguing Monday night over who was responsible for ruining the transmission in the family car.

Suddenly, there was a shot, and Zans staggered out into the yard, a 22-caliber bullet wound in his chest. He collapsed and died on the lawn of the family home in suburban Raytown.

Police said they were holding his wife, Lawanda Zans, 26, for investigation.

"My Johnny's dead and I shot him," she sobbed.

The couple has four small children. Zans was a railroad fireman.

Robards; Bacall Will Try Again

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Jason Robards Jr., thwarted on two continents in attempts to marry Lauren Bacall, says they plan to wed soon and will "let everyone know."

Robards, 39, and Miss Bacall, 35, widow of actor Humphrey Bogart, were related in a marriage license Saturday in Las Vegas, Nev. The marriage bureau there said the reason was "related to the Mexican divorce Mrs. Robards obtained in Juarez, Mex., May 22."

Nevada respects some Mexican divorces but not all.

Texas Counts 52 Violent Deaths

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas counted 52 violent deaths Tuesday in the long July 4 holiday that started at dusk Friday. And one of the critical periods still was ahead when motorists clog highways late in the day returning home.

Traffic took 28 lives, drownings and boat accidents 3. Misadventures mishaps accounted for the rest.

State police estimated 11 persons would die on Texas' roads between midnight Monday and midnight Tuesday.

Circumstances in the latest reported deaths were these:

Two persons drowned in the Sabine River north of Carthage Monday. They were Ade Fondville, 21, of Marshall and James Ray Hayden of Elysian Fields. They drowned trying to help a small boy floating on an inner tube. The boy paddled to shore later.

Mrs. Harvey Phillips and her daughter, Sheryl, 18, were killed when their car and a freight train collided Monday near Westfield in Southeast Texas. Phillips, 34, and a Texas Ranger, and his son, Allen, 12, were critically injured.

Michael Rogers, 31, of Dallas, spending the summer with grandparents in Odessa, drowned in their swimming pool Monday.

The boy apparently fell from an inflated inner tube. He was the son of Mrs. Muriel Rogers of Dallas.

Forest Lee Holt, 50, was shot to death at his home near Denison. Police arrested a stepdaughter, Beba Holt, 16.

Mrs. Alice Davis Williams, 31, died Sunday night in Kirbyville of injuries suffered an hour earlier in a one-car accident 3 miles south of Kirbyville on U.S. 96. Two persons were injured.

J. B. Hawes, 62, a negro, was killed by a car on a Wichita Falls street Monday.

Hal Marshall Johnson, 20, of Lubbock, drowned in Lake Sweetwater, eight miles east of Sweetwater. His body was found in 15 feet of water after he sank.

exhausted, while swimming with a companion.

James Baxley, 55, of Lovine was killed Monday when his car hit an oil derrick at Greggton.

W. B. Price, 68, a former Lubbock city commissioner, was found shot to death at his home Monday. A pistol was beside the body.

James Bryan Reeves, 16, of Corpus Christi, was killed Sunday night at Austin when the car he was driving crashed at a curve as police pursued him at speeds up to 120 miles per hour.

Two Corpus Christi seamen, Manuel Guadalupe Garza and Juan Davis Martinez, both 32, drowned while fishing in Nueces Bay.

Malcolm Baker, 47, a mining engineer from Morenci, Ariz., plunged to his death from a passenger train near Comstock in West Texas.

A man leaped from Mansfield Dam into Lake Travis at Austin Monday. He did not come to the surface.

Mrs. Allen Roden, 34, of Odessa, was killed Monday when her car hit a parked trailer truck 15 miles south of Odessa.

Young Pianist For Quintet Is Slain

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A young pianist for a singing quintet called the Platters was found dead Monday on the porch of a stranger's house, police reported.

Rupert Branker, 26, of Los Angeles, had been struck on the head. He was discovered about four miles from his home.

Roger Moore, 70, who found the body, told officers he was awakened by cries of help.

Police said Branker had money in his pockets and still was wearing his watch and a ring. They said he had left his girl friend at her home, about seven blocks away, a half hour before he was attacked.

CHAPERONE—1961—STYLE—Peggy O'Neill, (right) is the official traveling companion of Miss America. With her is the 1961 title holder, Nancy Anne Fleming of Montague, Mich.

Peggy Chaperones The Miss Americas

BY DORIAN CORDELL
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Peggy O'Neill is a tiny, lively, fortyish blonde who practices an almost-vanished profession. She's a chaperone.

Her charge for each of the past six years has been a talented young beauty who is one of the best-known girls in the world—Miss America.

But the job of chaperoning, like almost everything else, has changed since the days of long ago.

For one thing, Mrs. O'Neill finds no need to spend her time fending off would-be Casanovas along the 100,000-mile route she and Miss America travel annually.

"Of course, the girls have a lot to do with that," she says. "But I think, too, that there is great respect for the Miss America Pageant throughout the nation. It's just a problem that never seems to come up."

"Sometimes it's harder to arrange for an escort than it would be otherwise, if anything," interjects the 1961 Miss America, Nancy Anne Fleming of Montague, Mich., with a rueful smile.

The official term isn't chaperone nowadays—it's public relations representative of the Miss America Pageant and traveling companion to Miss America. But it still translates "chaperone."

Mrs. O'Neill and Miss America are together almost every minute of every day for 11 months of each year. The only exception is February, when Mrs. O'Neill takes a month's vacation. Miss America goes on a fashion tour then, accompanied by a representative of a sponsoring textile firm.

Don't two women spending so much time together get on each other's nerves, especially with the exhausting schedule followed by Miss America?

Mrs. O'Neill, who has traveled with every Miss America since Sharon Kay Ritchie won the title in 1955, insists the answer is "no."

"Both of us have many of the same interests," Mrs. O'Neill says. She points to a plastic bag full of needles, pins and thread. "For instance, Nancy and I are always sewing."

"And when we really feel the need to be alone for a while, we find we can isolate ourselves just by sitting in different corners of the room," Nancy adds.

Honeymoon Is Over? Face Facts

By MARY CAMPBELL

AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The bride is in tears, the man she married is a brute. Or, as the old saying goes, the honeymoon is over.

But Dr. Rebecca Liswood, wife for 42 years, marriage counselor and MD, feels no alarm.

There are disillusionments in marriage, she says, just as there are disillusionments in every new venture from starting college to going into business. And, as in those undertakings, success and happiness aren't automatic. You have to work at them.

You work, Dr. Liswood says, guided by consideration instead of by criticism.

Consider these cries of the bride: 1. "He's not the man I married." The bride has suddenly discovered, for example, that her husband can't repair the household appliances and her image of a MAN is a Mr. Fixit.

"The worst thing you can do," Dr. Liswood says, "is insult him by saying, or even implying, 'You're not a real man.'"

"The best thing you can do is accept this as part of his real personality, even though it wasn't part of the dream personality you gave him before you were married."

2. "I can't get along with his mother" or "He doesn't like my mother."

"These can become the themes for arguments which run on a to-be-continued basis, for years," Dr. Liswood says.

"The bride particularly resents helpful suggestions from her mother-in-law. She complains to the husband that his mother is interfering."

"What he should say is, 'I love you and I love my mother but I don't hold her responsible for her. I didn't bring her up. But, instead, the average man says, 'Don't criticize my mother.' Then the wife is hurt and begins to think he is more loyal to his mother than he is to her."

"The wife should try to realize that her new husband probably defends his mother because he feels guilt feelings about having left his mother and it eases his conscience to defend her."

3. "We don't know how to manage money."

The most obvious thing to do is the best, Dr. Liswood says. Make a budget. "If you're both working, try to live on the income of the husband and save the earnings of the wife. Then when you have a child and the wife's income is cut out, you won't have the disappointments of going down the scale of living."

"Disappointments create many problems and arguments."

Dr. Liswood, who has written a book, "A Marriage Doctor Speaks her Mind About Sex," believes the sexual adjustment is one of the most difficult a newlywed couple has to make.

The thing to do with any problem in married life, Dr. Liswood says, is to think it through yourself and then talk it over with your husband.

If you and your husband can't solve the problem by talking it out, she says, go to your doctor or clergyman. And if he suggests a marriage counselor, go for counseling.

Mrs. Hooker Hostess To Ira H-D

Weight-watching less-agers should limit between meal snacks to crisp raw vegetables such as celery or carrots, fruit such as oranges or apples, milk—preferably skim milk if a reduction in weight is the goal.

The Ira Home Demonstration Club met last Friday at 2 p. m. in the community center with Mrs. J. D. Hooker as hostess.

Those answering roll call were Mrs. Peter Sterling, Mrs. Billy Galey, Mrs. Welden Wiggins, Mrs. S. R. Clements, Mrs. Mack Kruse, Mrs. Robert Erwin and Mrs. Hooker.

The program was presented by Mrs. Mack Kruse on "Care and Cleaning of the Sewing Machine." Some important points were first to read your machine book and follow instructions accordingly. Keep machine clean. It needs oiling every 12 hours of sewing and use the kind the machine book recommends. If the wrong kind of oil has been used and your machine sews heavy, use kerosene and wash it out and re-oil.

The thought for the day was "Pray to God for a good harvest, but continue to hoe."

The next meeting will be held July 14 at 2 p. m. with the Ira Junior 4-H girls modeling their dresses they made for the dress revue.

Refreshments of cakes and cookies were served.

Local Women Attend Meet In Corpus

Mrs. Rosa Kennedy and Mrs. Mae Brush recently returned from Corpus Christi where they attended the annual Texas School Food Service Association state convention. The activities were held in the Robert Driscoll Hotel and Memorial coliseum.

The two local ladies were among the 650 women delegates from all over the state of Texas to hear the world-wide speakers, Dr. John H. Furby, director, Air World Education, New York; Mr. Julie Thomas, public relations specialist, University of Texas; and Mr. Gerald Ramsey, president of the American School Food Service Association and director of food services at Southern Methodist University.

The ladies report that a Corpus Christi luncheon was held at the Surf Club and was very enjoyable.

In telling of their trip and meeting from which they gained much information to present to the local organization they said: "There is hope that a bigger and better school food service program can come from these state and national conventions. It is important for the health of our children to have better school lunches, and we will do our part in trying to do this for the children of Snyder."

CHAMBER OF ERRORS!

Stock Market Has A Strong Influence On U. S. Outlook

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Few things worry Americans more than a sudden setback in the stock market. Few things give more of a feeling of well-being than a strong bull market.

That may be one reason some people were so optimistic a while back and so cautious and uneasy today.

Both reactions probably are overdone. In recent years the stock market has been a less dependable barometer of the general welfare than it once was. But the feeling holds over, even among those who won't admit it, and even among those who don't own stocks.

Case Filed Against Comedian G. Jessel

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The charge at my time of life is a complaint," says George Jessel, 63, named defendant in a paternity suit filed by actress Joan Tyler, 27.

The comedian who said he was engaged several years ago to Miss Tyler, denied all accusations in a sealed complaint opened Monday.

Miss Tyler asked $2,150 for pre-natal and post-natal medical expenses, $750 a month for a period following the birth and $950 a month for support of her and the child.

Miss Tyler eloped in 1956 with a banker, Antonio Ruffo, whom she divorced last Jan. 9. The couple had a daughter, Laura, 3.

Jessel has been divorced from Florence Courtney, singer, Norma Talmadge, the late movie actress, and Lois Andrews, an actress.

It's one of many business traditions. Examples: Just as there's supposed to be a summer rally in stocks, so there is supposed to be a February break in commodity prices. Business is supposed to take a siesta in the summer. A general spurt is supposed to follow Labor Day.

Recessions are expected to come along periodically. Recoveries are supposed to be sharp if the recession was quick and deep, and slow if the dip was mild.

The traditions are based on many past instances. But in almost all cases there have been exceptions.

Stocks, more often than not, have risen sometime during the summer—hence the anticipated summer rally. Vacations, a growing thing in industry, usually do cause a slump in activity in some lines—but at the same time there is usually a big jump in the lines that feed on other people's vacations.

The stock market's ups and downs this year have been tied closely to public sensing of things to come. A feeling of confidence helped to send stocks upward, and this in turn sent confidence still higher.

The less speculative buyers were motivated by a feeling that times were due to get better, that more active government stimulus plans for business might carry with them a chance for renewed confidence, that the quiet of general economic growth held opportunities for many business firms that defense orders would multiply.

More speculative buyers were interested in glamor stocks. A glamor stock is one you buy cheap in the expectation that it will soar. Currently glamor is most closely associated with electronics, missiles, space vehicles. The general mood carried the indexes of price averages to record highs. Then something happened. There was a disquieting setback. Why?

Technical observers say that prices had been carried so high that in many cases they were discounting corporate growth too far into the future. Hence, the setback—or as the technicians call it, the correction.

Glamor stocks lost some of their glamor when many voices were raised to warn novice speculators of the risks they were taking. The growth chances of many firms got a calmer reappraisal. The market setback shook the confidence of some traders.

Bozo Is Ill With Cancer

HOUSTON (AP)—Bozo the clown, who has made kids all over the country laugh, is in a Houston hospital with cancer.

His room at Anderson Hospital is crowded with flowers, gifts and cards from well-wishing kids.

"You know, I'd like to meet the lad who sent this," Bozo said as he showed a religious medal.

"My faith and these youngsters have really made the difference, especially in the last few weeks," Bozo, born Edwin Cooper in Arlington in 1920, has been in the hospital three weeks. Doctors offer him little hope, he said.

His name was legally changed several years ago to Bozo. He has been a circus clown since he was 9. His father and grandfather were also clowns called Bozo.

What Kind Of Person Is An American?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The free-born American today celebrates nearly two centuries of uninterrupted independence.

He is proud of his own ideals and feels his own political system is the best ever invented—views not shared by all the rest of earth's inhabitants.

Just what kind of a person is an American, and what does his country stand for? Over the years he has received just about as many brickbats as bouquets, but has managed to survive both blame and praise.

Here are some memorable estimates of him and his ways:

"I am willing to love all mankind except an American. They are a race of convicts and ought to be thankful for anything we allow them short of hanging."—Samuel Johnson, 1775.

"Knavery seems to be so much the striking feature of its (America's) inhabitants that it may not in the end be an evil that they will become aliens to this kingdom."—George III of England, 1782.

"All the men in America make money their pursuit."—Richard Parkinson, 1805.

"Two selfish gods, pleasure and gain, enslave the Americans."—William Faulkner, 1823.

"One of the most amiable features in the character of American society is this: that men never boast of their riches, and never disguise their poverty."—William Cobbett, 1829.

"In American an hour is 40 minutes."—German proverb.

"The Americans, like the English, probably make love worse than any other race."—Walt Whitman, 1856.

"The American is nomadic in religion, in ideas, in morals."—J.R. Lowell, 1864.

"Just what is it that America stands for? If she stands for one thing more than another it is for the sovereignty of self-governing people."—Woodrow Wilson, 1918.

"God will save the good American, and seat him at his right-hand on the golden throne."—Theodore Dreiser, 1917.

"America is the only place where man is full-grown."—O.W. Holmes.

"Most Americans are born drunk. They have a sort of permanent intoxication from within, a sort of invisible champagne. Americans do not need to drink to inspire them to do anything."—G.K. Chesterton, 1931.

"America is one long expectation."—Oscar Wilde, 1882.

"Woman governs America because America is a land of boys who refuse to grow up."—Salvador de Madariaga.

"America means opportunity, freedom, power."—Emerson.

"God looks after drunks, children and Americans"—an old saying quoted by James Truslow Adams, 1934.

Eichmann's Defense Is Interrupted

By THOMAS A. REEDY
JERUSALEM, (AP)—The special Israeli tribunal interrupted Adolf Eichmann's defense today to receive in evidence statements by former SS officers that Eichmann "had a special status" in the purge of Jews and was known as "the great expediter to death." The depositions came from interrogation of witnesses in Germany and Austria who refused to come to Israel because the Israeli government refused to grant them immunity from prosecution for their own wartime activities. Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner and defense counsel Robert Servatius took turns emphasizing certain portions of the testimony of former SS Maj. Wilhelm Hoettl, now living in Austria, and former SS Col. Walther Huppenkothen, a resident of West Germany. Servatius extracted frequent references to SS Gen. Heinrich Mueller as Eichmann's superior and the man Eichmann claims got the orders for exterminations from higher up. But Hausner's choice of excerpts from the statements gave another view entirely. Hoettl, a security police officer for military counter-intelligence, described a session with Eichmann in Budapest in the summer of 1944 when the defendant was supervising deportation of 600,000 Hungarian Jews to the death mills. Eichmann came to him for information after King Michael of Romania overthrew his collaborator Premier Marshal Ion Antonescu, and reached an armistice with the Soviet armies, Hoettl said. Eichmann, Hoettl said, "had no more hope of avoiding defeat of the German armies. He said the Allies saw in him, because of his functions in the plan of extermination of the Jewish race, one of the chief war criminals." Hoettl said Eichmann told him to his knowledge six million Jews had died; "four million perished in extermination camps and the remaining two million were murdered by shooting by the special operation groups (Einsatzgruppen) as well as from disease, etc." Huppenkothen, now 53, knew Eichmann as a fellow official in the Berlin headquarters of the security police though he was in another bureau dealing with counterintelligence. Speaking of Eichmann's IV-B-4 bureau assigned to "Jewish Affairs", Huppenkothen said he had "a special position." "He was not an official in that sense," the witness had testified, "but rather belonged to the bureau in his capacity as an SS man. He was attached to the division only in a formal sense. He had no contact at all with the head of the division. He had direct access to Mueller: I do not know if he had such direct access to Kaltenbrunner or Himmler." SS Gen. Ernst Kaltenbrunner succeeded Reinhard Heydrich as chief of the security police.

Girl, 15, Is Questioned In Slaying

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Cheryl Jolls, 15, a girl with a history of mental illness is being questioned in connection with the kidnapping of Andrew Ashley, 3.

Cheryl was taken into custody Monday in the search for the slayer of the blond, blue-eyed child whose body was found in a park lake June 25.

Cheryl who faced psychiatric tests and more questioning today, denied any connection with the crime. No charges have been placed against her.

Investigators said two other children who had been taken from their homes, bound and gagged and left by railroad sidings on the city's north side identified the Jolls girl as their assailant.

Police said they had found a series of scribbled notes in Cheryl's bedroom which traced the progress of the Ashley search and drowning. The information could have been taken from newspaper accounts, police said.

The girl, one of seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jolls, was arrested about an hour before little Andy's trussed body was recovered from a park lake. Agents of the FBI intercepted a telephone call at the home of Andy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ashley.

She admitted calling Mrs. Ashley and telling her mother that the boy was safe and would be returned when the police hunt was called off.

Federal agents caught the girl in the telephone booth. She told them she had called only to console the parents. She was released because at the time she did not answer the description of the boy's slayer.

Detective Chief John Whalen said Cheryl had undergone treatment for mental disturbances. The first to identify the girl was Richard Edgington, 5, who the day before Andy was slain, was lured from his playmates by a young woman. Threatened with drowning, Richard said, he was tied hand and foot and a plastic bag placed over his head. He was left by the railroad siding, but managed to shake free of his bonds and rip the bag from his head.

Several weeks before, Susan Benedict, also 5, experienced a similar treatment. She was found and returned home. Susan also identified the Jolls girl as the person who had left her tied by a railroad track.

Police said at least three adults also had identified the girl as the person who had been seen with the Ashley child the afternoon of June 23 in the park.

The piano in the dance hall was broken, vending machines were smashed and glasses were shattered. Crewmen turned fire hoses on the brawlers.

Quiet was restored as the boat neared its pier and the crowd spotted 150 uniformed police and detectives massed there.

As a normal precautionary measure a police captain and 12 patrolmen were posted at the West 134th Street pier waiting for the return of the Wilson Line's Hudson Belle from its cruise up the Hudson River.

No one in the crowd aboard—mostly Negroes and Puerto Ricans—was arrested. The sail was sponsored by a social club.

The trouble started after three male passengers jumped overboard as the boat was near the George Washington Bridge in upper Manhattan on the way back to its pier at 12:15 a.m.

Nashville Newspaper Celebrates Today

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The banner headline in the Nashville Banner today was "Independence Declared," and the date on page one was July 4, 1776.

The lead story, from Philadelphia, reported that "the Continental Congress adopted a Declaration of Independence this afternoon and thereby gambled with death." Another story told of reinforcements being rushed to the Continental Army following reports that Gen. William Howe had reached Staten Island with 9,000 redcoats.

A color picture of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, the text of the document and an editorial made up the remainder of the front page.

McKinley Hustles Into Semifinals

Associated Press Sports Writer
WIMBLEDON, England, AP—
Chuck McKinley, the zippiest bundle of non-stop energy on Wimbledon's hallowed tennis courts this week, took it easy today before the next stage of his bid to take the men's title back to the United States.

Jim Piersall Has Ideas Of His Own

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE, AP—Every Jim Piersall of the Cleveland Indians, who charges umpires, opposing players and outfield fences with equal fervor, says "there's no other way to play the game."
"Too many guys play a scared kind of baseball," he told a meeting of the Baltimore Sports Reporters Association Monday. "But there's only one way to play. That's the way I play."

Piersall is currently sidelined with an injured knee, suffered last week when he ran into a Cleveland fence while chasing a life drive hit by Washington's Dale Long.
The 31-year-old outfielder also is nursing bruised feelings and a sore wrist since being hit June 25 by a pitch thrown by Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers.

"He's going to get it some day. If he doesn't quit throwing at the hitters," Piersall said.
Recalling his brief tussle with Bunning, Piersall said "that was the first fight I had a chance to win, and then the catcher knocked me down from behind."

Piersall, who had a nervous breakdown in the early 1950s, said he was happy to be able to "blow my top" and let off steam.
"I leave my problems at the ball park," he said. "I let the baseball writers and umpires get the others."

Although he has been ejected from only one game this season—after the Bunning incident—Piersall said he still has his disagreements with the umpires.
"But I've learned not to say too much," he observed. "I have my say, and get it over with quick. Then he added as an aside: "I couldn't stand guys like me."

The 20-year-old human dynamo from St. Louis demolished Britain's Bobby Wilson, the man who defended champion Nease Fraser, with a devastating display of hitting and running Monday.

Now he gets a respite before tackling Mike Sangster, Britain's last hope in the tournament. In the semifinals Wednesday.
If McKinley wins, he will meet either Rod Laver of Australia or Ramanathan Krishnan of India in the final on Friday. No American has figured in a Wimbledon men's singles final since Tony Trabert won the crown in 1955.

McKinley said after bulldozing Wilson out of the tournament. "The way I'm hitting the ball at the moment, I think I could beat all three of them."

The fans on Wimbledon's No. 1 court were amazed by McKinley's fitness: From the very first shot, he rushed about the court in a tireless performance of hustle. He kept it up until he had beaten Wilson 6-4, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4.

Dove Season Tentatively Set Sept. 1

AUSTIN (Special) — The Texas dove season in 1961 probably will be about the same as last year, according to H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission. The dates will be set at a Commission meeting in Austin July 7.

P. B. Uzzell, assistant director of wildlife restoration, returned from Washington this week where he attended a dove conference. It was agreed at this conference with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service that a 60 day season could be set in Texas. Opening date of the North Zone is expected to be Sept. 1. Opening of the South Zone season will be decided by the Commission.

The limit probably will be 15 per day or 30 in possession of mourning doves.

There is strong indication, according to Dodgen, that the white-winged season in the Valley will be set to open Sept. 8. Whether or not it will be a three or five day season is still open.

British Netters Picked

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Christine Truman, Ann Haydon, Angela Mortimer and Deirdre Calt have been named to defend the Wimbledon first 11-game winner Monday night as the Dodgers edged the Milwaukee Braves 3-2 to remain two games behind first-place Cincinnati.

Koufax, who has lost only four, struck out seven, boosting his total for the year to 135 in 127 1/3 innings, and walked six, two intentionally, before leaving for a pinch hitter.

"My control is better this year because I'm not trying to throw so hard," Koufax explained. "I used to just rear back and try and throw the ball past the hitters when I got into trouble. Now I just try to throw a strike. That's the big difference."

A Weighty Problem

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Jimmy Carruthers, 32, former world bantamweight boxing champion who retired undefeated in 1954, said today he plans to return to the ring as a lightweight. He weighs 140 now.

NOW, BACK IN YEAR '45...

Can Detroit Maintain Pace?

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Detroit Tigers, who regained the American League lead last time they played New York, carry a one-game edge over the second-place Yankees into their July 4 doubleheader at Yankee Stadium.

A sweep or a split would leave the Tigers in first place come nightfall on Independence Day for the first time since 1950. The Yankees, however, went on to take the pennant that year, one of only 19 seasons in the past 60 that the July 4 leader failed to top the AL flag.

That also was the only time Detroit missed nailing a championship after leading on the mid-season holiday. They also were on top on July 4, 1945, the last year Detroit won the pennant.

Only the Tigers, among the other nine AL clubs, have an edge (5-4) this season over the Yankees, who have won three in a row and six of eight. They send scoups ace Whitey Ford (14-2) the "major" top winner this year, and right-hander Bob Turley (3-5) against the Tigers' Frank Lary (11-4), a right-handed Yankee killer, and southpaw Don Mossi (9-1).

Both Detroit and New York were idle Monday in a night game schedule that saw Baltimore clip third-place Cleveland 5-0 while Washington beat Boston 6-3.

Defending champion Frank Freer will not be back to defend his title this year, as he has since turned pro. Top fight golfers slated to be on hand, however, are hometowners Bill Craig, who already this year has won the Sweetwater Country Club Invitational, Bobby Blum from Big Spring, Don Scott from Sweetwater, Ted Triplett from Abilene, and several other top flight golfers who will compete for this year's championship.

Trees and woods for winners and runner-ups in all flights will be awarded, and golf bags will go to the winners in the consolation matches.
Due to a large amount of rainfall over the past two months, the course is reported to be in fine shape, and the tournament is shaping up as one of the best in years. There will be a barbecue at 7:30 p. m. Friday, with other entertainment set for Friday night. Featured Saturday night will be a dance beginning at 9 p. m.
Awards will be made Sunday afternoon following the final rounds.

6-3, the Chicago White Sox lost 7-6 at Minnesota and the Los Angeles Angels defeated Kansas City 5-2.

In the National League, Cincinnati defeated Pittsburgh 4-3 and takes a two-game lead into the July 4 firing over Los Angeles. The second-place Dodgers beat Milwaukee 3-2 in the only other game scheduled.

Right-hander Milt Pappas, his arm trouble apparently a thing of the past, won his fourth in a row, walked two and struck out eight while blanking the Indians on four hits for a 3-3 record. Catcher Gus Triandos drove in three Baltimore runs with a single and a homer-off loser Jim Perry (7-6).

The Senators paired five of their nine hits with three walks for all six runs in the second inning against loser Ike Delock (5-4) and reliever Wilbur Wood. Ed Hobaugh (6-3) was the winner.

ner, but needed relief help after giving up 11 hits—two of them homers by Jim Pagliaroni and Gary Geiger.

Bob Allison's grand slam homer, his third of the season, cracked a 3-3 tie for the Twins in the sixth inning and beat reliever Turk Lown (5-3), who had won five in a row. It was the fifth defeat in six games for the White Sox since their 12-game winning streak. Earl Battey and Jim Lemon also homered for the Twins as Camilo Pascual won his sixth. He has lost 10.

Ken Hunt drove in two runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly and also doubled for the Angels, who scored the clinching run in the sixth inning on a wild pitch by reliever Gerry Staley. Ron Kline (2-6) was the winner in relief. Jim Archer (6-3) was the losing pitcher for the A's, who have dropped seven of their last eight.

They send scoups ace Whitey Ford (14-2) the "major" top winner this year, and right-hander Bob Turley (3-5) against the Tigers' Frank Lary (11-4), a right-handed Yankee killer, and southpaw Don Mossi (9-1).

Braves and Reds mix it up—Everybody joined in the hassle when 3rd baseman Eddie Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves went after Jim O'Toole of the Cincinnati Reds during the 4th inning of the doubleheader between the two teams at Milwaukee. ner, but needed relief help after giving up 11 hits—two of them homers by Jim Pagliaroni and Gary Geiger.

Bob Allison's grand slam homer, his third of the season, cracked a 3-3 tie for the Twins in the sixth inning and beat reliever Turk Lown (5-3), who had won five in a row. It was the fifth defeat in six games for the White Sox since their 12-game winning streak. Earl Battey and Jim Lemon also homered for the Twins as Camilo Pascual won his sixth. He has lost 10.

Ken Hunt drove in two runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly and also doubled for the Angels, who scored the clinching run in the sixth inning on a wild pitch by reliever Gerry Staley. Ron Kline (2-6) was the winner in relief. Jim Archer (6-3) was the losing pitcher for the A's, who have dropped seven of their last eight.

Only the Tigers, among the other nine AL clubs, have an edge (5-4) this season over the Yankees, who have won three in a row and six of eight. They send scoups ace Whitey Ford (14-2) the "major" top winner this year, and right-hander Bob Turley (3-5) against the Tigers' Frank Lary (11-4), a right-handed Yankee killer, and southpaw Don Mossi (9-1).

Both Detroit and New York were idle Monday in a night game schedule that saw Baltimore clip third-place Cleveland 5-0 while Washington beat Boston 6-3.

Defending champion Frank Freer will not be back to defend his title this year, as he has since turned pro. Top fight golfers slated to be on hand, however, are hometowners Bill Craig, who already this year has won the Sweetwater Country Club Invitational, Bobby Blum from Big Spring, Don Scott from Sweetwater, Ted Triplett from Abilene, and several other top flight golfers who will compete for this year's championship.

Trees and woods for winners and runner-ups in all flights will be awarded, and golf bags will go to the winners in the consolation matches.
Due to a large amount of rainfall over the past two months, the course is reported to be in fine shape, and the tournament is shaping up as one of the best in years. There will be a barbecue at 7:30 p. m. Friday, with other entertainment set for Friday night. Featured Saturday night will be a dance beginning at 9 p. m.
Awards will be made Sunday afternoon following the final rounds.

Boy Is Killed By Skyrocket

NAPANOCH, N.Y. (AP) — A boy was killed Monday night when a Fourth of July skyrocket exploded and a piece of metal hit him in the chest and went through his body.

The victim, Harry M. Gilligan, 16, of Croton-Hudson, N.Y., was killed at the summer home of a neighbor, James Ottaviano.

State police said Ottaviano arranged a fireworks display at his summer place at Solman, in Ulster County. Six skyrockets in metal tubes were imbedded in sand, with a breastworks around them.

Ottaviano, two of his sons and young Gilligan lit the fuses and stepped away about 50 feet.

Five of the skyrockets fired, and one exploded. The Gilligan boy was taken to the Veterans Hospital at Ellenville and was pronounced dead on arrival.

Estimated cost of the right of way is $30,000.

The commission also approved construction of 8.4 miles of farm road in Eastland County at an estimated cost of $197,000.

The project will extend from Farm 8 in Gorman north to Farm 2563.

Theater Tradition Upheld By Actress

NEW YORK (AP)—Anna Maria Alberghetti upheld the theater's traditions Monday night by going through her starring role in "Carnival" with an eight-inch cut on the sole of her foot.

The star, swimming at Westbrook, Conn., earlier, in the day cut her foot on something sharp under water.

After four stitches were taken by a Connecticut doctor, Miss Alberghetti came into the city for the performance. Stagehands and members of the cast took turns carrying Miss Alberghetti from stage to dressing room and back.
