ARTIST'S DRAWING OF NEW COUNTY SWIMMING POOL

The swimming pool for the county's proposed $350,000 park will resemble the drawing above which was made by the Butler-Brasher Co., Lubbock, architect-engineer on the park project. The pool will be a 6-lane, 50-meter project tapering from a width of 90 feet at the shallow end to 45 feet at the deep end and 165 feet long. Depth will range from three and one-half feet to 10 feet, and the pool will accommodate as many as 500 swimmers at one time. Eighty per cent of the surface will be shallow. The bath house is to measure 104 by 30 feet with eight separate shower stalls in the women's dressing room and 12 showers in one large room for men. It will also include rest rooms, checking rooms, ticket office, and lobby. Bleachers for spectators will be constructed adjacent to the house. One diving board will be three meters (about 10 feet) high, and the other two will be one meter each.

Diplomatic Shifts Seen As Moves In Cold War

Britain Arrests Government Radio Operator On Spy Charge

LONDON, June 14 (AP)—A young radio operator in the British Foreign Office slouched through a court appearance today and then was remanded to jail on a charge of spying for a Russian diplomat.

Boyish-looking William Martin Marshall, 24, was accused in Magistrate's Court of passing information "useful to an enemy" to Pavel Kuznetsov, second secretary of the Soviet Embassy.

The arrest of Marshal by Scotland Yard's anti-espionage agents touched off Britain's fifth spy scare since the end of World War II.

Marshall entered no plea at his brief hearing. Magistrate Clyde T. Wilson ordered him held without bail for a week. Marshall may enter a plea then at his second hearing.

Marshall, who formerly worked in the British Embassy in Moscow, was arrested last night in King George's Park. After being charged at Wandsworth Police Station, he said: "I deny that charge."

He appeared little perturbed as he listened to Chief Inspector William Hughes of Scotland Yard's Special Branch tell of his arrest.

Hughes said Marshall met another man in the park.

The chief inspector did not identify this other man. The Foreign Office refused to affirm or deny reports the man was Kuznetnov and that the Russian official had claimed diplomatic immunity.

The formal, written charge against Marshall said he passed state secrets to Kuznetnov "on divers dates and at divers places." The maximum penalty upon conviction is 14 years in prison.

Marshall's arrest startled the country Since hte conviction of German-born Klaus Fuchs for giving British-American atom secrets to Russia more than two years ago British security agents have tightened up their screening of government personnel.

Only a little more than a year ago, two Foreign Office officials Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean, disappeared and there has been much speculation they went behind the Iron Curtain.

An Italin-born British cosmic ray expert, Bruno Pontecorvo fled in August, 1950, and there have been reports he is working in Russia.

Throws Away His Prepared Detroit Speech

DETROIT, June 14 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower tossed aside all his carefully prepared speeches today and disclosed that—at least for tonight—he will fight for the Republican presidential nomination in his own way.

In a surprise statement, the five-star general told a group of Michigan boosters a few hours before his major speech (9 p.m., EST):

"All my prepared talks are thrown out the window . . . if what I have got to offer in the way of honest, decent approach . . . is not enough there is nothing more I can do . . .

"If I make blunders, I know my friends will excuse it. I hope the others will realize at least that I am sincere."

This statement came after the general arrived here to receive a hero's welcome in a city draped with flags for Flag Day and displaying many signs boosting Eisenhower for President.

FATHER'S DAY BRINGS BIRTHDAY CARDS FOR MAN

When R. C. Huggins, 1301 Twenty - third Street, found out his birthday would come on Father's Day this year he knew that called for a big celebration.

Ill for three years and unable to talk long to visitors, Mr. Huggins realized he couldn't have a party. But he knew just what he wanted to make the day a memoriable one — a a birthday card for every year of his life.

Friends found out about it and cards started pouring in—from places as far away as Cleveland and Seattle. By Saturday they numbered nearly 150.

But it was on Friday that the important one arrived. That day Mr. Huggins counted 80 cards, one for each of his 80 years.

Believe Reds Attempting To Split Up West

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP) — A reshuffle of Soviet diplomats involving key world capitals alerted the United States and other Western governments today for a possible major Russian political move in the cold war.

Most authorities centered their attention on the possibility of a supreme new effort by Moscow to split apart Britain and the U. S. and thereby destroy the Western unity which is the basis for defense against expanding Soviet power.

Belief that this may be the Soviet intention was shown in speculation here and abroad on two developments: (A) a kind of neutralism in developing in a powerful faction of the British Labor party led by Aneurin Bevan, and (B) he most significant change in the new Rusian assignments is the naming of Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko as ambassador to London.

Gromyko is described as the No. 3 man in the upper ranks of the Red leaders who control Soviet foreign policy. Above him have been former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, now a member of the Politburo and deputy prime minister, and the present foreign minister, Andrei Vishinsky.

Experts on Russian affairs, however, said today that some authorities regard Gromyko as smarter and perhaps more powerful even than Vishinsky. In any case there appeared to be agreement on the conclusion that the men in the Kremlin have picked one of their most trusted and influential career diplomats for the London assignment. And his selection comes at a time when there are a number of apparent strains and stresses developing in the relations of the principal Western Powers.

While speculating along this line, U. S. experts said that as usual the Soviets had given no clear indication of what they may be planning. They said any conclusions drawn now on the basis of assignment of new envoys to London, Washington, the German Communist government at Berlin, and the Red China capital of Peiping can at best be only tentative and subject to revision.

As an alternative to the theory unity, which has long been regarded by Western statesmen as a major aim of Soviet diplomacy, they mentioned the possibility that the Kremlin may be planning to seek a relaxation in world tensions and to that end may desire to put new faces on its diplomacy in each of the capitals concerned.

If relaying of current tensions is the purpose, authorities said, it will be designed to serve the ultimate objective of dividing the West anyway, because the Soviets must be as aware as Western leaders that the free nations pull together most effectively when the threat of Russian aggression is greatest and they t end to pull apart when they face no common danger.

How the expected new Russian maneuver may affect the most critical areas of world conflict today — Germany and Korea — is a wide open guess.

But obviously if the Kremlin was intent on easing the world situation the Korean truce neegotiations would be a logical place to make a move.

This Area Only One Where Pop Prices Hiked

While most soft drinks bottlers serving the Snyder area are now saying they will raise per bottle to six cents, bottlers in other parts of Texas have said there will not be any price increase in their distribuition areas in the near future.

The price rise was sparked by the Texas Coca-Cola Bottling Co. in Abilene, which announced Friday that coke prices would be elevated to six cents per bottle tomorrow. The firm's officials attributed the increase to "rising costs of the bottling operation and spiraling labor costs."

The increase was made after the Office of Price Stabilization ruled that bottlers in the Abilene area could charge 96 cents a case instead of 84 cent.

Bottlers in San Angelo said there will be no price increase in that area in the immediate future adding that if the price must be risen, it would be more suitable to go up to 10 cents a bottle on the retail price.

The price increase in Abilene will affect a large area, including Colorado City, Big Spring, Midland, Lamesa, Stamford, Eastland, Ranger, and Cisco.

Firms in Abilene who have already announced that they will raise prices to 96 cents a case wholesale and six cents a bottle in vending machines are Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Dr. Pepper Bottling Co., Royal Crown Cola Co., which also bottles Nehi flavors; and General Beverages, bottlers of Pepsi-Cola, Sunspot Orange, and other flavors.

The Seven-up Bottling Co. in Abilene has said it is undecided as to whether its prices will rise.

High Justice Men Fired

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP) — Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery shook up top echelons of the Justice Department today, announcing the resignations of thrее of his six assistant attorneys general.

All presidential appointees, they are H. Graham Morison, in charge of the Anti-Trust Division; Harold I. Baynton, head of the Alien Property Office; and William A. Underhill, chief of the Lands Division.

Oil Isn't Only Mineral That Scurry Countians Profit From

Oil flows in Scurry County, but it's not the only mineral that brings income to county residents.

Not good enough to grace a Chamber of Commerce motto, but produced in varying amounts, are bentonite, pumicite, sand and gravel, and several common clays.

Biggest mineral business next to oil and gas is sand and gravel. Caprock Materials Co., Inc., takes 300 cubic yards of gravel a day, six days a week, from the gravel pit on the Jesse Koonsman ranch, north of Camp Springs.

"They can take out 10,000 tons of gravel, and the next rain will deposit 10,000 more," was the way one resident of the area explained the unlimited sand and gravel resources.

At $1 to $2 a yard, the Rough Creek gravel brings in over $100,000 a year. The landowner gets ten cents a yard royalty — not as spectacular as royalty on oil but just as steady.

Gene Best, owner of the Caprock Materials Co., which has operated in the county for two years, said the Rough Creek gravel washing plant in the only one in the county.

Volcanic ash, often known as pumicite, and a superfine clay called bentonite, has been produced at a mine about ten miles east of Snyder on a farm belonging to Wayne Rogers.

Rogers has recently filed suit for recovery of the lease, held by W. R. Kelley of Dallas since 1937. Rogers alleges that the lease was to run for ten years and as long thereafter as the mine was worked, and that the mine is not now producing.

Kelley's company used pumicite in several trade-marked products, including Texas Oil-Sorb, Film Off, K. O. Klean, and Powdered Lava Hand Cleaner. In a statement is by Kelley concerning his products, he says that they are all cleaning agent. Texas Oil-Sorb and Film Off are "used for removal of oil or grease from all types of floors, and as a refining agency for petroleums, as well as a bleaching agency, for vegetable oil and water purification, etc."

Kelley stated that the average annual production of the mine during the 15 years that he has operated it has been 12 carloads.

According to Kelley, one acre of bentonite has been sold from the Scurry County mine. Betonite, a yellowish clay underlying the volcanic ash deposit, is also used as a detergent. It has been used in cosmetics and shoe polishes, by fish hatcheries and oil well drillers, and to waterproof cellars.

Portland Cement Co. has reportedly held leases in the Fluvanna area since about 1930, although the limestone there has never been commercially produced.

Albert Martin's Ceramic Studio on the Cemetery Road has been using native clays to make ash trays, cookie jars, and other pieces of pottery that he reports have been popular because they are made from Scurry County products. The studio uses a red brick colored clay and a dark brown metallic clay in their products.

According to the Texas Almanac the list of Scurry County minerals doesn't end with clay. It mentions deposits of magnesium,

More Talk At Truce Meeting

MUNSAN, Sunday, June 15 (AP)—Korean [illegible] teams return today to their unproductive sessions at Panmunjom — only because the Reds want to keep talking. The crisis was unchanged, but it was getting old.

Still tightly deadlocked on the prisoner exchange issue, the delegates meet at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. EST, Saturday).

Saturday's 27 - minute meeting was marked only by a toning down of the propaganda remarks being incessantly repeated by North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Communist delegate.

He mildly accused the Allies of attempting forcibly to detain Red prisoners in violation of the Geneva Convention. This was in contrast to his previous charges of Allied "slaughter" of prisoners on Koje Island which is rapidly being brought under complete control.

Rallies Planned Over County By Jaycees Here

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce began arrangements last week to sponsor several political rallies throughout the county before the Democratic Primary July 26.

John Boren, who was appointed rally chairman for the group, said the club has been discussing the rallies during their past few meetings and that they decided to sponsor them at their meeting Friday.

The rallies, Boren said, will be held in the larger communities of the county. Invitations will be sent by the Junior Chamber before a rally to district, county and precinct candidates of the precinct where the rally will be held, and each candidate will be given limited time to speak to the people.

Boren stressed that the rallies will be strictly non-partisan and that each candidate will be given the same opportunities at the meetings. He said each candidate would have a chance to meet the people and that the voters would have a chance to compare candidates running for the same offices.

The committee chairman said a large rally will be held in Snyder after the other rallies have been held and shortly before the elections.

Boren added that his group is now preparing for the rallies and will have a schedule made up later.

First Polio Case Of Year Reported Here

An 18 - month - old boy was reported late yesterday as Snyder's first polio case of 1952.

The child, Eddie Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Wilson of Snyder, was taken Friday to a hospital in Fort Worth. The father returned to Snyder yesterday and confirmed that the case had been diagnosed as polio.

The Wilson youth reportedly has lost the use of both legs and one arm. Full effects of the disease had not been determined yesterday.

The Wilson family recently moved into a home near the overpass on the Roby highway.

Last year Scurry County had four polio cases.

Snyder Guardsmen To Return From Fort Hood Sometime During Day

More than 50 National Guardsmen were to return to Snyder this morning after a two week stay at Fort Hood.

The Snyder unit, which has been in training at its annual summer encampment at North Fort Hood was to break camp last night or before dawn this morning to return here.

Several of the guardsmen's wives expected them to return here early this morning, not sure whether the group would leave Fort Hood last night or today.

Most of the men will return by chartered bus, while a few will drive back in the unit's vehicles, arriving here about noon today.

Atomic Engine For Submarine

By The Associated Press

Official word that a "full-size, working" atomic power plant is almost completed for test runs coincided today with a broad hint or perhaps even more than a hint that development of the hydrogen bomb is an accomplished fact.

President Truman gave out the atomic engine news in a speech prepared for keel laying ceremonies in Groton, Conn., for the submarine Nautilus, designed to be the first vessel with the revolutionary new power plant. The president was specific; he said such an engine, being installed in a submarine model at the atomic energy plant at Arco, Nev., is "almost complete right now" and test runs will start "soon."

Sen. Brien McMahon (D-Conn), chairman of the joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, sounded like he was doing more than hinting when he told the Connecticut State Democratic Convention at Hartford that if he were President:

"I would direct the United States Atomic Energy Commission to manufacture hydrogen weapons."

Campaigns Are Organized To Fight Polio Spread In State

By The Associated Press

A meeting to plan the fight against spreading polio in a 50-county Southeast Texas area wil be held in Houston Monday.

And in Dallas a three-day course to teach citizens how to wipe out flies will start Tuesday.

Plans for meetings were announced Saturday. Other developments as the summer heat brought rising case totals:

1. There is a possibility the state's civil defense and disaster relief organization will be brought to bear in the anti-polio fight.

2. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis disclosed Texas now has 28 per cent of the polio cases in the entire nation.

Texas cases through June 7 totaled 668, more than a fourth the national total of 2,384. Thus polio already has far outstripped its previous record in Texas-1950. On June 7 in that year, only 621 Texas cases had been reported.

At Houston Monday, the Southeast Texas Polio Planning Committee will meet to coordinate the fight against the disease.

W. L. McGill of Austin, chairman of the Texas statewide polio planning committee, will preside. McGill is also chairman of Texas' Civil Defense and Disaster Relief Organization.

In Austin Saturday, McGill said resources of the latter group could be used against Polio. He said its inventories of nurses, hospitals, and volunteers could be used to meet a polio epidemic as easily as any other disaster.

The polio foundation also announced that the nation's 1952 cases thus far have centered along the Gulf Coast of Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi. The foundation announced that volunteer leaders from chapters in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma will meet in Dallas June 30 for a planning meeting.

American Planes Strike Close To Manchurian Border In Raids

SEOUL, Korea, Sunday, June 15 (AP)—Waves of Allied fighter bombers pounced on a hidden Communist airfield less than 100 miles north of Western Korea battle lines late yesterday and left the runway pocked with bomb craters, the U.S. Fifth Air Force announced.

Red ground troops have hurled repeated attacks at American forces on heights guarding the Northeastern approaches to Seoul during the past several days. Fighting has been the heaviest in months.

Maj. James Crutchfield of Graceville, Fla., described the air base he helped destroy as "the hottest target in North Korea."

"We clobbered them good," he added.

More than 150 jets and propeller-driven fighter bombers swarmed over the camouflaged field, which could serve as a base for Communist fighters in an all-out Red offensive.

The field is not a new one. It has been wrecked several times. But the Air Force said Communist repair crews have been working desperately to put it back in shape.

Earlier Saturday two regiments of the 45th (Oklahoma) Division hurled back a Chinese battalion trying to cut off newly won hill positions near Chorwon on the Western Front, some 50 miles north of Seoul.

The Eighth Army described the three-day battle for hill "T" as one of the bloodiest since the Little Front last November.

A briefing officer said many Chinese bodies littered the ground, but no accurate count of Red casualties could be made because of continual fighting since dawn Thursday.

The bloody battle for the Western hills has been raging intermittently for nine days. And the Eighth Army said ground action all across the 155-mile front last week was the heaviest of 1952.

The Reds laid down near-record barrages of artillery and mortar shells.

Field Marshal Lord Alexander, Great Britain's defense minister, visited the Commonwealth Division at the front Saturday and told newsmen the Communists would suffer terrific losses if they launch a new all-out offensive.

"From what I've seen today on this front," Alexander said, "I would say the enemy would take a terrific loss and would not break through."

Alexander also expressed belief Allied troops could not capture all of Korea, "certainly not without terrific losses."

The defense minister and Selwyn Lloyd, No. 2 Foreign Office official, were sent to the Far East by Prime Minister Winston Churchill to check up on progress of the war and the stalled armistice negotiations.

BADGE CHANGES HANDS

Police Chief Ray J. Keenan is shown above pinning the badge of office on Walter C. Suttle who will assume duties of the office of police chief here today. Keenan resigned to make the race for sheriff of Scurry County. Suttle was appointed Tuesday night on a secret ballot by the city council. (Lee Watson photograph.)

County Attorney Says Case Against Al Vessels Is 'Air Tight;' Offers His Help

Keith L. Merrick, county attorney, has stated in a letter to Bob Davie, district attorney, that he had nothing to do with the filing of an "amicus curiae" (friend of the court) petition filed Wednesday in the case of Al R. Vessels, charged with false swearing.

Merrick, stated his reason for denying that he had anything to do with the petition was that Davie addressed a letter concerning it jointly to him and Garland Armstrong, who filed the instrument. Copies of Davie's letter were also sent to the five persons who signed the instrument: the Rev. Ronald Hubbard, the Rev. T. Gerald Cates, John C. Day, W. K. Kolar, and M. R. Estes.

The petition alleged the signers had reason to believe that Davie would file a motion for dismissal of the case. The petition requested that court to order a hearing on the matter if such a motion were filed. Vessels was indicted by a grand jury last October on a charge that he made a sworn statement alleging misconduct of the sheriff, Lloyd H. Merritt, and subsequently denied the truth of the statement.

Asked if he had any word to say in regard to the matter or in reply to Merrick's letter, Davie said he had no comment to make. He said he did not wish to release a copy of his letter to Merrick and Armstrong for publication. Merrick's reply to Davie's letter follows in part:

June 12, 1952

Honorable Robert S. Davie
District Attorney
132nd Judicial District
Court House
Snyder, Texas

Re: The State of Texas vs. A. R. Vessels, No. 1564, District Court, Scurry County, Texas.

Dear Bob:

Apparently your assumption that I was in any way connected with the filing of the amicus curiae motion in the above entitled and numbered case was mistaken as I had nothing to do with it. However, since you have named me as a party to this motion and have delivered copies of your letter to some of our most highly esteemed citizens, I feel that in the interest of seeing justice done in my County are in protecting myself, I should give you the benefit of my research on the Vessels case, as requested in your letter.

Art. 723 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, referred in the second paragraph of your letter, has reference to the method of proving the falsity of a statement made under oath. The only way I would enter into this case would be as a notary public and my testimony would necessarily be limited to proving the execution of the affidavit by A. R. Vessels ... You will perhaps recall that A. R. Vessels subsequently admitted before fourteen people that he executed the affidavit, but that the statements contained therein were false. These admissions were reduced to writing and I believe you have several copies. If not, I will be glad to furnish you mine.

The witnesses who could prove the falsity of the statments are the sheriff (1st count of indictment), and Vernie Head(2nd count of indictment); their testimony could be corroborated by the fourteen witnesses who heard the contradictory admissions made by the defendant. It is elementary that an admission made by a person which would be prejudicial to his own interest is admissible; in evidence; this rule of law has no connection with confessions made in open court, but is a separate rule altogether.

After having considered the foregoing, along with the cases cited, it is my sincere opinion that the case against A. R. Vessels is airtight and that a conviction is assured when and if he is tried.

If I can be of any further assistance to you in this matter, it will be a real pleasure to do so. The offer that I made when we took office to help you in the trial of your cases still stands, as I am sure that we are both constantly cognizant of our oaths and of our duties to prosecute persons who are duly charged with having committed crimes.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Very truly yours,
Keith L. Merrick

Julius Boros Streaks Ahead To Take U.S. Open; Hogan 3rd

DALLAS, June 14 (AP)—Ben Hogan's golf dynasty crumbled today and a 200-pound North Carolina apprentice professional, Julius Boros, came scrambling out of nowhere to win the 52nd National Open Championship with a 72-hole score of 281.

The unheralded 32-year-old from Southern Pines N.C., won with a four-stroke margin over Chubby Ed Oliver of Lemont, Ill., who sank a 30-foot birdie putt on the final green to beat Hogan for a second place by a stroke.

Oliver had a tournament total of 285 while Hogan finished with 286.

Playing like a man of destiny, Boros collared the great three-time champion, Hogan, with a blazing two-under-par 68 in the morning and then hung on grimly by shooting a scattered-shot 71 in the final round.

Hogan the Hawk, as his fellow professionals call him, weakened under the blistering Texas sun and soared to rounds of 74 and 74 after wrenching the midway controls of this 52nd tournament with a pair of sparkling 69's.

He was a tired old man of 39 when he trudged to the 72nd green -his hopes of a record four championships in as many successive attempts shattered when kinks developed in his once peerless iron game.

Oliver, the little round man who was disqualified for a late start after he finished in a tie for the title in 1940, played with Hogan as a partner on the final day and blasted out rounds of 70 and 72.

Other ambitions were wrecked and strewn over Northwood's tight, 6,782-yard course in one of the most dramatic climaxes of the 58-year-old links classic.

Tall John Bulla of Verona, Pa., was a contender right up to the last. Then he missed a six-foot eagle putt on the 14th hole of his final round, went over par on the 16th and 18th and finished with a 287 for fourth place.

Balding George Fazio of Clementon J. J.,second behind Hogan going into the showdown final 36, blew himself to a pair of heartbreaking 75's which gave him fifth at 290.

And there was Sam Snead, a strong favorite finally to come through to the Open crown he has never won. Snead went 40 straight holes without a birdie and made only three birdies in the entire 72 holes as he blew sky high to 293, a dozen strokes off the pace. He had final rounds of 76 and 72.

This was the first important tournament victory for Boros, a bronzed, bull-shouldered son of Hungarian parent who was born in Fairfield, Conn., and was an all-around athlete at Bridgeport University.

He is just three years out of amateur ranks, having led the nation's qualifying for the U. S. Amateur in 1948 and gained the quarterfinals in the event in 1949.

But on the pro circuit he had never won a first prize. His only triumph of any sort was in the Massachusetts Open last year.

He had made bold stabs in his previous two open appearances, however, finishing in a tie for ninth in 1950 and for fourth last year at Detroit.

Four strokes back of Hogan going into the showdown 36 holes, Boros kept a sweltering crowd of 15,000 on edge with his constant flirtations with trouble. But a magic wedge and a dutiful putter repeatedly pulled him out of jams.

During the morning round, he played the front side in even par 35, counting a two-over six on the eighth, and then he rushed back in 33 strokes, two under. Par for the course is 35-35—70.

On the last nine holes of his spectacular morning tour, he blasted out of four traps and left himself relatively easy putting assignments. As a result he one-putted seven of the nine greens. He sank a 20-footer on the 12th and a 15-footer of the 14th, but the others were of six feet or less.

Former A&M Grid Star Is Named End Coach At His Alma Mater

COLLEGE STATION, June 14 (AP)—William M. "Bill" Duncan, 34, head football coach and athletic director at Frengh High School, Beaumont, today was named end coach for the Texas Aggies.

An end on the Aggies' 1938 football team and the national champion team of 1939, Duncan replaces Hank Foldberg who went to Florida recently as line coach. The addition of Duncan completes Coach Ray George's grid staff.

Duncan played one year of professional football with the Long Island Indians before entering the U. S. infantry in February 1941. He coached the Second Division's artillery football team and then went overseas.

Following one season as assistant coach at Wichita Falls, where he was an all state high school performer, Duncan became athletic director and head football coach at Belton. He moved to Beaumont in August, 1948.

Hushaby Baby Winner

NEW YORK, June 14 (AP)—The Cain Hoy Stable's Hushaby Baby took the lead on the final turn today at Aqueduct Race Track and won the 57th running of the $25,000 Gazelle Stakes for three-year-old fillies.

The long-shot bay daughter of Questionnaire, owned by H. F. Guggenheim, was ridden by Ray York, and returned $24.30, $9.70 and $6.80.

Tigers Break Losing Streak

DETROIT, June 14 (AP)—Vic Wertz, fighting mad at his manager because of a $25 fine for indifferent play, stepped in as an eighth inning pinch hitter today and blasted a two-run homer to give the last place Detroit Tigers a 7 to 6 victory over the Washington Senators and end their seven-game losing streak.

A surprising crowd of 9,997 saw Wertz slam Loser Tom Ferick's pitch into the upper right field stands after Joe Ginsberg had singled home Jerry Priddy to leave the Tigers behind 6-5. It was Wertz' 10th home run.

The battle of homers saw Walt Dropo slam his fifth homer since coming to the Tigers from Boston for one run in the first inning, Steve Souchock blast his third home run for two Tiger runs in the sixth and Ken Wood hit a two-run Senator homer in the fourth.

Relief Pitcher Hal White, the fourth Tiger hurler, received credit for the win. Art Houtteman of the Tigers and Lou Sleater, the starters, both were driven from the box.

Manager Red Rolfe fined Wertz yesterday, along with Cliff Mapes, for letting a lazy fly drop between them in the 3-0 defeat by the New York Yankees Thursday. Wertz was benched today and was obviously irritated before the game.

Shantz Marks 10th Straight

ST. LOUIS, June 14 (AP)—Little Bobby Shantz marked up his 10th straight victory today as the Philadelphia Athletics clogged the St. Louis Browns for a pair of four-run innings in a 9-2 triumph.

By winning the decision, Shantz kept his spot as the No. 1 pitcher in the majors. The spunky left hander has lost but one game thus far.

The Browns outhit the A's, nine to eight, but pitching wildness kept them in trouble. Starter and loser Tommy Byrne walked six, and three relief hurlers added three more passes. Byrne, who hasn't won a decision since May 10, gave up five of the Philadelphia runs.

Philadelphia's victory was tarnished somewhat in the sixth when third baseman Hal Bevan left the game with a broken leg. He suffered the fracture, just above the right ankle, as he slid home after racing in from second on a single by Eddie Joost.

Fitzgerald Recalled To Manage Longview Club In Big State

SHAWNEE, Okla., June 14 (AP)—Lou Fitzgerald, popular baseball manager of the Shawnee Hawks in the Sooner State League, has been recalled by Dick Burnett of Dallas to manage his Longview club in the Big State League. Fitzgerald will report in Longview Monday.

Burnett, who also owns the Dallas Eagles of the Texas League, held an option on Fitzgerald's services. Shawnee Owner Irvin Owen said he could have kept Fitzgerald here the rest of the season under the option agreement but felt the move was such an advancement for Fitzgerald he didn't want to stand in his way.

Owen immediately named Jim Jolly as acting manager here.

Fitzgerald led the league in hitting last year with a .379 mark and was the circuit's leading third baseman. He also was voted the manager of the year and was a unanimous choice for the league all-star team.

Indians Hit 11-0 By Yanks

CLEVELAND, June 14 (AP)—Vic Raschi and Yogi Bera formed a super-charged battery today as the New York Yankees trounced the Cleveland Indians, 11-0, to regain the American League lead.

Raschi blanked the Indians on four hits and struck out eight for his sixth victory and second straight shutout. He didn't allow a hit until Al Rosen doubled with two out in the sixth.

Berra knocked in five runs, three with a homer in the first inning and two with a single in the ninth. It was the fifth homer in five games, and the ninth of the season for the burly backstop.

Berra's homer gave the Yankees a 3-0 lead against Early Wynn, who also served a two-run homer to Gene Woodling in the third inning. The Yankees scored one run off Sam Jones in the seventh and five off Mickey Harris in the ninth.

Bob Avila was the only Indian to reach third, and he did it twice. He walked in the sixth and pulled up at third on Rosen's first double a ground-rule two-bagger that bounced over the right field fence. Both runners were stranded when Larry Doby fanned and Pete Reiser flied out.

In the eighth Avila singled and reached third on Rosen's second double, but Doby fouled out to retire the side.

Luke Easter beat out a hit to second base in the final inning for the only other safe blow against Raschi.

The big Yankee righthander blew down the side by strikeouts in the seventh, getting Easter, Jim Fridley who was pinchhitting for Pitcher Sam Jones, and Jim Hegan.

Wynn was taken out for a pinch-hitter in the third, and Jones hurled three hitless innings before the world champions pushed their seventh-inning score across.

Veteran Tackles Are Signed By Dallas Team; 33 Men Under Contract

DALLAS, June 14 (AP)—Three veteran tackles have signed pro grid contracts with the Dallas Texans, Head Coach Jim Phelan announced today, bringing the list of players under contract with the Texans to 33.

The veterans are Don Colo (Brown University), Art Donovan (Boston College) and Ros Nagel, (St. Louis).

Colo is probably the biggest lineman on the squad, carrying 270 pounds on a 6-foot 3-inch frame. He was acquired from the Baltimore Colts when that team disbanded in 1951 and had played the 1950 season with the Colts.

Nagel, 243, played with the Chicago Cardinals before joining the New York Yanks last year.

Donovan will be playing his second season under Phelan. The New York Yanks acquired the big tackle from the Baltimore Colts in 1951 after he had played one season with that team.

People who live in the north of Egypt are likely to have darker skins than those living in the southern portion of the country.

White Sox Up Over Boston

CHICAGO, June 14 (AP)—Sam Mele's eighth inning single registered two runs and backed a fine relief job by Harry Dorish today to give the Chicago White Sox a 4-2 win over Boston and toppled the Red Sox from first place in the American League race.

Homers by Chicago's Eddie Robinson and Boston's Ted Lepcio had Mel Parnell of the Red Sox and Hector Brown of the White Sox hooked up in a 1-1 mound duel until the seventh when the heat began wilting both starters.

Mele's decisive blow shattered a 2-2 deadlock, scoring Nellie Fox from second and Minnie Minoso from first when Boston centerfielder Dom Di Maggio fumbled the hit.

Parnell suffered his fourth loss against four wins, although Mele's damaging swat came off Reliefer Sid Hudson.

The Red Sox dropped to second place behind the New York Yankees, who clouted the Cleveland Indians 11-0 today.

Chamber Drive Winners Given Game Tickets

The Chamber of Commerce increased its membership by almost one-third this month in a membership drive, Leon Huff, Jr., manager, said yesterday.

Huff said the four membership teams brought in a total of 103 new members during the drive, bringing total membership of the chamber to 438 and adding $2,447.50 to the chamber's funds for this year. Huff added that the chamber now lacks only about $500 meeting this year's budget, which was set in January at $16,000.

Winning team captain was Harry Holbrook of Sunset Courts, who won two Cotton Bowl tickets and two roundtrip plane tickets to Dallas with 1,548 points. Wayland Holt, Snyder attorney, was second high team captain with 1,508 points. Huff said the two were tied until 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning when a business which had been contacted several days ago sents in its membership. Other team captains were Harold Grant, 1,250 points, and Myron Fenton, 558.

Dick Roberts, high team member with 1,430 points, received the same award as Holbrook. Other team members were Bill Davis, 1,123, and Bill Line, 1033.

PROPOSED CITY-COUNTY HEALTH UNIT

Bids for construction of the 39 by 93-foot, one-story brick and tile health unit building, shown in the architect's drawing above, are to be opened Thursday. Alternate bids are being received on a pitched roof versus a flat roof and on aluminum versus steel windows. The building is to be air conditioned for summer and winter and will have offices for the doctor, who will be director of the city-county health unit, and for junior and senior sanitarians, junior and senior nurses, a dentist, and information and records. Other rooms will include X-ray facilities, clinic, laboratory, rest rooms, utility and storage rooms, and a waiting room. It will be built on a 140 by 150-foot site at Avenue J and Twenty-sixth Street. Head-in parking areas on both streets will accommodate about 25 cars. Plans were made by Butler-Brasher Co., Lubbock

CAR'S HEADLIGHTS ARE INSPECTED

N. O. Williams, garage service manager here, makes a headlight check during an auto inspection, which is required for all vehicles by the state. The light tester checks candlepower and focus of the lights. The number of motorists having inspections made has been increasing during the past week, inspectors here say. The state deadline for the inspections is Sept. 6.

Burial Problem For 40,000 If Atom Bomb Goes Off In Nation

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—The Federal Civil Defense Administration estimates the average American city would have to bury 40,000 dead within two days if one atom bomb were dropped on it.

FCDA and city authorities are studying this grim and colossal possibility, trying to anticipate innumerable problems and details. Committees of clergymen, funeral directors, engineers, city officials, health officers and so forth have conferred with them here.

FCDA is asking Congress for $2,100,000 in next year's budget to stockpile a million shrouds.

These probably will be olive drab plastic sheets in which bodies can be wrapped for burial. FCDA specialists say that to procure 40,000 caskets of wood or any other material would be out of the question immediately after an atomic disaster.

If a bomb of the size of that dropped on Nagasaki were exploded at 2,000 feet in a surprise daylight attack on an average U.S. city, FCDA estimates 40,000 persons would be killed immediately or would die in a day.

Many tasks more urgent than burying the dead would have to be handled first—to protect the living, treat the wounded, minimize fire destruction and revive production, communication and transportation.

But the dead would have to be disposed of within a limited time—48 hours, says FCDA, in most climates. Where it is very dry or very cold, the period could be longer. In any case, experts say, embalming would be entirely unfeasible.

FCDA officials feel the first thing to do would be simply to get the bodies out of sight. If this weren't done, the psychological effect on survivors — relatives, friends and all other persons—would be bad.

There probably wouldn't be any big emergency morgues. Warehouses, armories and other buildings that might be used would be more urgently needed to shelter the living. Parks or bombed-out areas would have to be used.

Identifying the bodies would be the next task—and the major one. This would be done primarily by checking over the personal effects of each victim, making a record of them and storing them in a bag.

To permit relatives and friends to file past the unidentified dead in the hope of spotting their missing loved ones would be impracticable, the experts have concluded. They point out that if 40,000 bodies were laid out in two rows the aisle between them would be 20 miles long.

Information that might help in identification would be buried with such bodies so that further study could be made later.

One or more huge excavations for burial would be simplest from the engineering standpoint. The bodies could be laid side by side the same distance apart as in normal graves, then covered at one time. But there has been some objection to this, as appearing like mass burial.

County Treasurer Must Keep Tab On All County's Funds

The treasurer's job is one of several elective offices that have undergone changes since last election year.

Appointment of a county auditor in January, 1951, delegated to him the responsibility of approving bills paid out by the county, a task that had previously been done by the treasurer.

During 1951, too, the salary was raised to the level of other county officers, a move that had been clocked before that by a state law limiting the treasurer's salary.

Since the ten per cent raise to county officials, in effect since January of this year, the treasurer's salary has been $5,775 annually.

The treasurer's duties as prescribed by law are to receive all monies belonging to the county and deposit them according to law and the direction of the commissioners' court, to keep account of all receipts and expenditures, and to pay out monies owed by the county upon the approval of the auditor.

Disbursements and receipts are handled for 25 separate funds. The treasurer also prorates the tax county's bonded indebtedness, which comes due twice a year, and makes monthly, quarterly and annual reports to both the commissioners' court and the state.

A total of $4,577,762.92 was received by the treasurer's office last year. Disbursements for the year were $567,981.21.

The treasurer is under $50,000 bond to account for and pay over the public money.

Candidates for treasurer this year are Mrs. Mollie Pinkerton, who has held the office since 1939, and Mrs. Dell Smith, employed as chief deputy in the county clerk's office.

Mrs. Pinkerton states her platform as follows: "I am asking for election to the office of treasurer because I feel that I am experienced, honest, and qualified. If elected, I will continue to run the business as I have since 1939. My record is my platform."

Mrs. Smith's platform is: "If elected, I would officiate in an honest, efficient and pleasant manner. I would always abide by the laws that are set up to govern the county treasurer's office."

EAGER DRAFTEE IS DISCOVERED BY DRAFT BOARD

Some kids are too eager to be drafted for military service, Miss Mabel Glass, who registers prospective draftees here, says.

The office of Forrest Beavers, county school superintendent, who also acts as the county's draft registrar, has received a request from the local draft board headquarters to demand proof of age in registering any who appear to be under 18. Miss Glass, secretary of the office here, said she would request birth certificates, driver's licenses, or some other proof of age.

According to a letter from Mrs. Inez Green, clerk of the board, one youth has registered here twice and is still under draft age. First he gave his birth date as March 3, 1933 later as May 15, 1934. The draft board reported learning he was actually born March 22, 1935.

Car Inspections Picking Up Here With Deadline Nearing

An increase in the number of vehicle owners having inspections made was reported this week by the six inspection stations in Snyder.

Automobile dealers who have inspection stations said that the inspectors have been kept busy during the last week as residents here began a steady flow to have their vehicles checked.

Most of the inspectors believe the car owners are having their autos checked now to avoid a rush before the deadline, which was set at Sept. 6 by the state Department of Public Safety.

Only about 20 per cent of those who registered vehicles in the county have had inspections. A total of 10,623 vehicles were registered in the county by June 1, according to Jim Ikard, tax assessor - collector, and the inspectors reported a combined total of about 1,850 vehicles inspected.

N. O. Williams, service manager at a garage here, said his department is now inspecting about 100 cars a week. He added that the cost to the cars average about $2.50, with many needing no repairs. The inspections at any stations cost $1.

Inspection stations are at Ezell Motor Co., Pierce Motor Co., Dupree Nash Co., Pollard Motor Co., Lamb Chevrolet Co., and Stimson Motor Co.

The inspection deadline, originally set at April 1 and required to motorists before 1952 registration, must be made before Sept. 6. A second inspection will be required after that date and before April 1, 1953. The certificate for the second inspection will be required for motorists to purchase their 1953 license plates.

A seventh automobile dealer, Allen Bros., has applied for an inspection license and expects to gain approval within the next few days.

Hal Bjornsrud, Snyder police sergeant, is one of the announcers on this area's only 24-hour radio station. Police messages are spoken in a natural tone of voice, slowly to allow those receiving messages to write them on paper.

Police Radio Vital Link In Communications In This Area

Some of the most interesting and timely news around Snyder is heard daily on the area's only 24-hour radio station, KKC-857, the city and county police radio.

The news, which comes in on 37.18 megacycles (frequency modulation), consists of instructions to squad cars, messages relayed from cities north of here to Abilene, death and emergency messages from all points to persons in Snyder, and all routine work.

The station's two main transmitting points are in the offices of the city police and the county sheriff, with the police radio transmitting all out-of-town messages.

The staff of "announcers" on the police transmitter is made up of several sergeants and patrolmen, who alternate at the desk. Speaking on the transmitter, according to police, is just speaking in a natural tone of voice. If a policeman speaks loudly or excitedly, the message fades out, which explains the need for those speaking to sound as if they are bored.

The 500-watt station, owned jointly by the city and county, is operated by remote control from an antenna placed at the top of a city water tower in East Snyder. Once, police said, a residential telephone line fell across the police line, and the police remained on a party line for three days before the line was repaired. Police could even hear the residence phone ring.

One of the biggest advantages of the radio is its use in apprehension of a person fleeing in a car from one city to another. City policemen remember aiding in many arrests of bootleggers being chased on the highways. They recall one time when Lamesa police began a chase of a bootlegger, radioed ahead to the Borden County sheriff's unit, which in turn relayed the message here. When the chase was in full swing, cars from the Snyder police, sheriff's department, highway patrol, Borden sheriff, Lamesa police, and Big Spring highway patrol were chasing the bootleggers across Borden County ranchland.

Between 15 and 20 emergency messages a day come in through the radio, and police must attempt to find persons here and give them the messages.

If the law enforcement agencies here need help from a nearby town, they have a close circle of persons whom they can call by radio. Included in the circle are Gail, Post, Clairemont, Rotan, Roby, Sweetwater, Colorado City, and Big Spring.

Those who work with the transmitter here, who all must be licensed by the Federal Communications Commission, have developed an "ear" for the radio. Tuned at a set frequency, the radio is never silent with messages for various units all over Texas, but the operator usually adjusts himself to be alert enough to hear when Snyder units are called.

The operator's license can be taken from him at any time if he allows an unlicensed person to use the radio or if he in any way misuses it. Licenses are most often revoked when operators use profanity on the air.

Tom Davis To Drill Four New Wells In Clairemont Area

Tom Davis of Haskell has filed application with the Railroad Commission to drill the No. 2, 3, 4 and 5 W. E. (Mike) Barron and others in the Salt Creek area nine miles northwest of Clairemont.

The No. 2 Barron is 365 feet from east and 720 feet from north lines of section 3, John Rodman survey. The No. 3 is 1,290 feet from west and 2,620 feet from north lines of section 5, Rodman survey. No. 4 Barron is 1,620 feet from south and 2,315 feet from west lines of the No. 5 is 95 feet from west and 1,280 feet from south lines of section 5, Rodman survey.

Contract depth on all these projects is 6,600 feet, with operations to begin immediately.

No. 3 Brownfield May Be Deepened

Coffield & Guthrie, Inc., of Corsicana has filed application to deepen the No. 3 Brownfield, located in the Sharon Ridge - Clear Fork field.

The project is to be taken from its present depth of 2,400 feet to 3,500 feet. It is 990 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of the southwest quarter of section 130-97-H&TC.

Depleted Producer

Kewanee Oil Co. has filed application to plug and abandon its No. 1-A Wil Connell as a depleted producer in the East Polar-Pennsylvania field of Kent County.

The project was drilled to total depth of 2,349 feet. If is in the southeast corner of section 3-5-H&GN.

Maintenance During Summer Is Big Job For Schools Here

In Snyder schools, spring housecleaning last all summer. The minute the last child was out of the schoolhouse on the last day of school this year, a crew of workers started getting things ready for school to start again in September.

It is only figuratively that schoolhouse doors close in May and open the next fall says E. L. Taylor, director of maintenance and transportation. Actually they stay wide open, while workers clean up and fix up and, at the central building complete a thorough-going remodeling job.

Ten men, on a total monthly payroll of $2,607, are keeping busy with the routine work of summer maintenance.

At the administration building maintenance has involved poisoning weeds, watering and caring for grass, flowers and shrubs. The football fields require a lot of attention along these lines, too. At the new field weeds have been poisoned, nine loads of fertilizer have been used and continuous water has kept the turf thick and green. The practice field is getting a show of green, too, since fertilizer has been used and half of the field has been watered. Because of limited water supply there, the entire field cannot be watered at one time.

Inside the North Ward building, electric scrubbing machines and vacuum cleaners are being put to work on walls, radiators and terrazo tile floors. After the floors are cleaned, they will be given a terrazo seal coating and then waxed. Soiled places on walls and woodwork will be touched up with paint, and broken windows will be replaced.

At the bus garage two mechanics are employed getting 23 busses in shape for another school term.

Keenan Construction Co. is supervising a remodeling job on the central building that has been estimated to cost between $50,000 and $60,000.

In the old wing of the building, constructed in 1927, the greatest transformation is taking place. Walls in the halls have been stripped of plaster to make way for maroon and gray tile which reaches to the tops of lockers. Rest rooms will be done completely in tile. Tile flooring will be used throughout the wing, in halls and classrooms alike.

More electric lighting is being provided in classrooms and in the study hall where twelve more lights will be installed.

School boys who found summer work on the project said the part of the job they had enjoyed most was breaking out windows. Opaque glass, which had been used in most of the windows of the old building, has been broken out and will be replaced by clear glass.

All classrooms walls will be painted. Many of the walls in the newer wing have already been redecorated. Not so much is being done in this part of the building, which was constructed in 1939, following a fire which had destroyed the wing used for elementary school.

Walls have been given a light green wainscot effect, with the tops of walls painted in pastel shades varying with the different rooms. Woodwork is painted mesquite green.

Hall floors in the newer wing will be covered with the same title used in the high school side of the building.

The auditorium is in for a re-doing, too, although colors have not been selected for it yet.

Taylor said completion of the 45-day remodeling contract would mean the beginning of another big job for him and his crew. Three carloads of new furniture for classrooms and offices will have to be moved in before school can open.

THE ADVENTURES OF PATSY

Two Editors Facing Contempt Of Court Charges In Georgia

ATLANTA, June 14 (AP) — Two Atlanta Constitution editors face stiff contempt of court penalties resulting from a controversy growing out of a series of articles designed to reduce highway fatalities.

Editor Ralph McGill and Managing Editor W. H. Fields were fined $200 and sentenced to 20 days in jail each by Floyd County (Rome) Superior Court Judge H.E. Nichols, who has been the target of editorial criticism by Atlanta papers in recent years.

The judge held they were in contempt of court because they refused to publish a picture of a court record in a traffic case, and for printing a story that Nichols had threatened to cite a Constitution reporter.

The two editors, now free with their word as their bond, have asked the Georgia Supreme Court to dismiss the charges. They contend Nichols' order violates the freedom of press guarantees of the United States and Georgia Constitutions and that the alleged facts, even if true, do not constitute contempt.

Judge Nichols' contempt holding was based largely on the editors' refusal to publish a picture of a record in the Rome City Court. The record shows a motorist arrested two years ago by the state patrol on reckless driving charges, posted bond, but did not appear in court.

The bond hasn't yet been formally forfeited and the motorist, a New York resident, has since died.

The court's demand for publication of a picture of this record followed one of the traffic safety stories which said the state patrol arrested a motorist in Floyd County two years ago, but could find no record of disposition of the case.

The Constitution also published a picture of the state patrol ticket in the case, which had "no record" written across the lower half—the space provided for a record of disposition.

Judge Nichols took the position that the Constitution implied by the story and picture that there were no records at all of the case in any court in Floyd County.

Although the case was in Rome City Court, he declared his Superior Court was "indicated along with other courts and officers of the county . . ." because the story did not identify the case as one in City Court.

The editors denied there was any implication, either in the story or picture, that there were no court records of the case. They insisted the original story said only that the state patrol could find no record of disposition of the case.

The highway safety series which set off the controversy was prepared by Keeler McCartney, Constitution police reporter, on the basis of state patrol reports and records. He singled out lax law enforcement as one cause of the mounting accident rate.

SouthDakotaWasEconomically Well Off Before New Oil Boom

BISMARCK, N. D., June 14 (AP)—Prosperous North Dakota, the nation's newest oil state, is bursting with activity—and plenty of headaches—over its new found underground wealth.

Back in the 1930's dust storms and low prices sapped the big, agricultural state's economic strength, built primarily on grain and cattle.

Most of its farmers were on relief. They left the state in droves. Others who wanted to leave the drouth-stricken state were too poor to get away.

Rain and high prices of the last decade changed all that. Last year North Dakota's agricultural marketings totaled more than 680 million dollars.

The discovery of oil a little more than a year ago has been like adding frosting to the cake, but it hasn't all been sweet.

Actual revenue to the state and its citizens from oil so far has been a drop in the bucket when the state's over-all economy is considered. However, there are these developments:

1. Cities and towns in the oil exploration areas have sharply increased their populations. This has brought acute housing shortages to some communities.

2. Land, which once went begging for as little as 50 cents an acre, can hardly be bought for any price in Western North Dakota.

3. Virtually all types of businesses are booming. Some banks show increase in deposits of more than two million dollars in the last 18 months.

4. The state itself has realized more than one million dollars in royalties from oil on state-owned land and from sales of oil and gas exploration leases.

5. Several bills have been introduced in Congress to allow landowners to buy back mineral rights acquired by the federal government when it bought land or took it away from farmers through foreclosure or condemnation.

The discovery of oil by Amerada Petroleum corporation near Tioga, in Williams County, Northwestern North Dakota, in April, 1951, climaxed an off-and-on search for oil covering about 25 years.

Since then, three separate oil-producing fields have been discovered. Production currently is coming from two of them. About 25 rigs are now drilling wells. Many more are expected this summer as exploration spread over the western two-thirds of the state.

North Dakota is in the Williston Basin, a trough-like sedimentary basin extending over Southern Saskatchewan, Eastern Montana, Northern South Dakota and the western two-thirds of North Dakota.

Best estimates place the amount of money spent in the search for oil since 1947 at more than 100 million dollars with the bulk of it being spent in the year since oil was discovered.

The belief that certain persons can injure and even kill by a glance was wide-spread in ancient times and is still held in many parts of the world.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

VOL. 3, No. 39 SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JUNE 15, 1952 SECTION TWO

Fathers And Sons Work Together

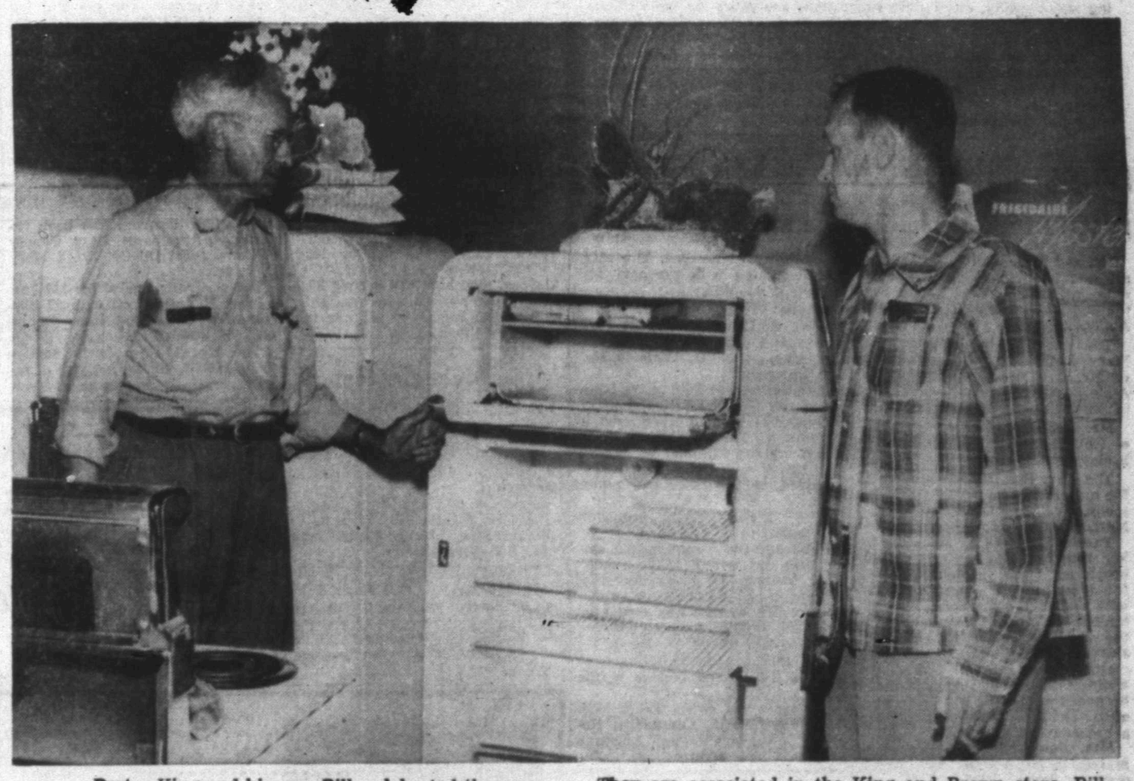

Two father and son combinations are working for Southern Electric this summer. H. H. Reed and H. W. Boss watch as their sons, Billy Roy (Rip) Boss and Herbert Reed look over a hole digger. The mothers think the boys have the best supervision possible under the watchful eyes of the fathers. (Staff photographs).

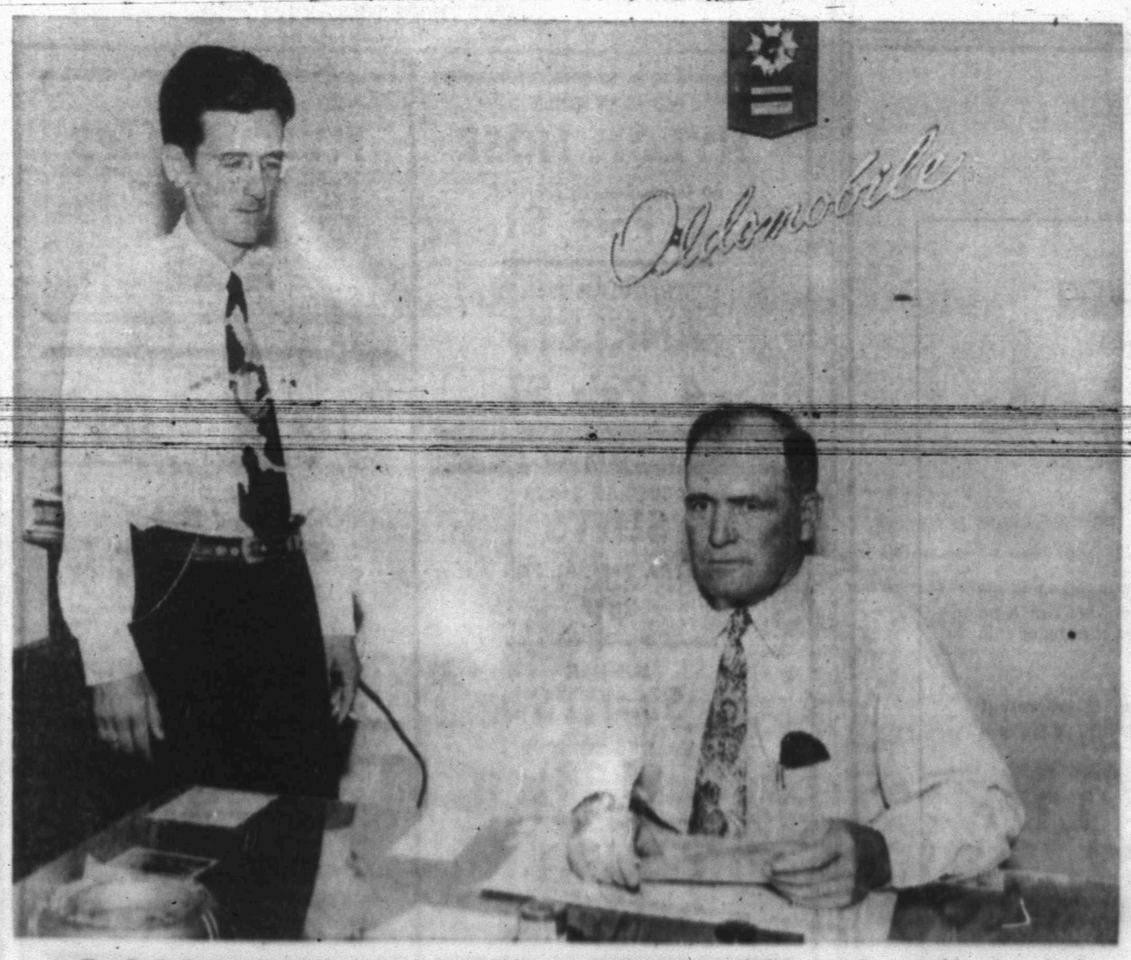

Not one but three sons of O. A. McAlister will work with him this summer in the transfer business. At left is Joe Bill McAlister, who is a student at Texas A&M. Bob McAlister at right has recently associated with his father. Another son will be here following his graduation from Princeton University.

W. R. Bell, Sr., a veteran nurseryman and florist, points to his son, Roland, where to put flowers for refrigeration. The Bells are assisted by their wives, who supervise everything from corsage making to spraying for red spider. Another son, Fickas, and his wife also assist. The business was started in 1923.

Porter King and his son, Bill, celebrated the company's "better than 30 years" anniversary in December. They are associated in the King and Brown store. Bill joined his father after he returned from World War II.

Two R. B. Searses are at the helm of Sears Oldsmobile and Cadillac Agency on the East Highway. The younger Sears has been associated with his father for about two years, helping out in everything from bookkeeping to selling.

Perry D. Harris's son, Stuart, followed his father into the pharmacy business. The two run Harris Pharmacy, which was established after the boom. Stuart's wife and daughter are visiting relatives in Austria this summer.

JOSET WALKER

For the woman who can't sew well, Joset Walker's summer dress, that will lend itself to any of the fabrics being seen round and about these days. It is a dress that any woman, regardless of years with the needle, can whip up in no time flat. In the first place, the entire collar (with sleeve effect) is cut in one piece, making less the amount of dexterity required for most frocks. In the second place, the hem and collar are achieved by simply using the selvedge of the material —reducing to a minimum the needlework and the horror of trying to get a hem straight. Third, the bodice is molded to the figure by the insertion of a dart under the collar. We're simply passing it along to you for those warm days when you wouldn't be caught dead worrying about fitting, etc. Fabric suggestions are yours for the picking: denim, linen, sailcloth — or any of the myriad cottons. (Just be certain that your fabric is reversible. Size 12 requires 4 1-8 yds. of 36-inch material, while it only takes 3 1–4 yds. of 50-inch fabric. Pattern is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. To order Pattern No. 1102, send $1 to Spadea Syndicate, Inc., Dept. 163, Box 258, Madison Square Station, New York 10, N. Y. For air mail handling, enclose 25c. To order pattern booklet, No. VI, send 15c.

Miss Elliott, Max Vincent Married in Church Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Max Elroy Vincent are making their home in Abilene following their wedding June 7 at the Fairmont Methodist Church in Abilene.

The bride is the former Miss Mary Katherine Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Elliott, of Abilene. She is a former teacher in Snyder Junior High School.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Vincent of Abilene are the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Ray Elliott, brother of the bride, read the double ring ceremony. He is pastor of the Milford Methodist Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of embroidered nylon fashioned with a fitted bodice and a bouffant skirt with a chapel-length train. Covered buttons fastened the bodice from the neck to waistline, and the sleeves were shirred. She wore matching white nylon mitts and a finger-tip illusion veil fastened to pearlized carnations. Her bouquet was of feathered carnations in a cascade arrangement.

Mrs. Bob Relly of Abilene was matron of honor. She wore a pink organdy dress, fashioned like the bride's, with matching pink nylon mitts. Her flowers were blue ester reed daisies in a cascade arrangement.

Mrs. Nathan Pipkin of Abilene and Mrs. Fisher Ditterline, also of Abilene, were bridesmaids. They wore blue organdy gowns with matching mitts and similar flowers.

Lou Ann Milam, cousin of the bride, of Nocona, Tex., and Betty Rose of Abilene were candlelighters.

Joe W. Vincent, of Snyder, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Richard Elliott, brother of the bride, and Tom Phillips of Snyder.

The church was decorated with an archway of candles. The altar was decorated with greenery and baskets of gladioli.

Wayne Pitner, organist, played "Claire de Lune" during the ceremony. Mrs. Dan Agee, cousin of the bride, sang "O, Promise Me" and "Because."

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Higginbotham Bouquets of gladioli were used in decorations. The cake was a three-tiered rectangular one. Mrs. Richard Elliott and Mrs. Ray Elliott presided at the cake and punch bowl.

Miss Dana Pirtle registered guests.

Following the reception, the couple left for a trip to Galveston. Mrs. Vincent is a graduate of Abilene High School and McMurry College. Mr. Vincent was graduated from Dublin High School and served two years in the Air Force. He is a member of the Oddfellow Lodge and will attend college in the fall.

R. B. Pyron will start a herd of 2,000 head of cattle from his Scurry County ranch this week for his ranch near Clarendon. Bob has more grass now than he knows what to do with, especially on his Panhandle ranch.

The small pox at Ira, this county, has about died out. There are only two houses reported quarantined at present, those of T. J. Ellis and J. H. Waldrip, and the quarantine will expire on the last of these two cases next Monday. The county authorities have been assiduous in their efforts to stamp out the disease and have met with success.

F. Aucutt & Son's irrigated farm was visited by one of The Coming West force the first of the week. The farm of about 15 acres is well laid off, with ditches at convenient distances for conveying water. The water is furnished by Deep Creek and is thrown over the farm by an engine that will lift about 1,800 gallons per minute. Mr. Aucutt has a great variety of vegetables and other products growing which are doing well and the sight of this well-kept farm is most pleasing.

We also had the pleasure of inspecting the farm of O. P. Wolf. Mr. Wolf has about two acres in pears, plums, apples, peaches and berries which he irrigates from his windmill and tank.

W. W. Hardin, the well-known cowman of the northeast part of the county, was in town the first of the week. Mr. Hardin informed us that he had sold his ranch property in this county and would start for New Mexico with his cattle in a few days.

Jack Jones, formerly of this place but Hale Center's leading liveryman, came down the first of the week on a visit to his parents and to attend to some business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Strayhorn, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Smith, Misses Birdie and Willie Strayhorn, Effie and May Fickas and Ethel Wasson and Messrs. S. T. Elza and O. S. Hill dined with friends at the Wilkerson hotel Sunday.

It is reported that Jim Lockhart is training to compete for the championship in bicycle riding.

Snyder people were on the quivive Saturday afternoon when word drifted through from Justiceburg that they had an oil gusher there shooting the precious fluid hundreds of feet into the air. That was what we heard. All day Sunday auto load after auto load wended its way to the little village north to join in the excitement and wish them good luck.

Upon hearing of the reported oil strike here, Secretary Moor of the Chamber of Commerce wired the Emerald Oil Co. at Winfield, Kansas concerning the reported strike.

They wired the following answer Sunday:

"We thank you for your night letter. When the Dee Boren well was shut down pending decision as to deeper drilling, it was making two barrels of oil and five barrels of water per day. Our Mr. Turen is at the well now and will swab same to learn what the present showing represents other than the accumulation of oil and water."

So the matter stands there, and we hope that the well at Justiceburg comes through.

The Chamber of Commerce has received advice from Oklahoma City, Wichita, Kansas and Kansas City, Mo., labor agencies not to encourage people to make the harvest in Oklahoma, Kansas or the Dakotas this year, as the wheat crop is going to be short and many of the farmers in those states are using combines this year and will not need as much help as heretofore.

The friends and customers of the State National Bank in Lamesa were surprised and regretful to find posted on the door of that institution a notice which read "In the hands of National Bank Examiners." In conversation with Mr. Priest he stated that the bank was forced to close temporarily owing to inability to secure sufficient credit to meet rapid withdrawals of funds, and the board of directors passed a resolution to temporarily close.

Snyder's public square is greatly improved since the streets have been marked for correct parking. Hundred of cars were parked there Saturday, and officers report but two were in error. Later it was ascertained that one man was cross-eyed, and that the other chap was cock-eyed in one eye, so that explains the two errors, Sec'y. Moore said.

THE LAW IN TEXAS

Valuable Trade Marks Are Safeguarded By Law In State

From the alarm clock that jolts us awake in the morning to the electric light that we turn off at night, Mr. and Mrs. Average American are constantly surrounded by products which have been purchased by their brand names. The constant use of trade-marked products combined with persistant advertising, makes us trade-mark conscious.

What does a trade-mark actually do? It identifies merchandise as being the product of a particular manufacturer or distributor. The use of trade-marks is very ancient. They were used by the brick-makers of ancient Egypt; the lamp-makers of old Athens; and the helmet-makers and armorers of medieval England. While a trade-mark is most often a word, it may also be an emblem, symbol, slogan or other device. The intended function of a trade-mark is to distinguish the goods of the proprietor from the goods of others in the market place. The expression "trade-mark," "brand name", or more simply "brand" or "mark," are synonymous.

A person or company becomes the owner by common law rights of a trade mark through adoption and use of the mark on goods. The law affords protection to the owner by prohibiting others in the field from appropriating the mark or one so similar as to be likely to cause confusion.

There is a twofold purpose behind such legal protection: first, it protects the purchaser from deception and assures him that he is getting what he wants; and second, it protects the trade-mark owner from piracy of the good will, reputation and property rights which has built up in a mark through manufacture of sale of merchandise carrying the mark.

Trade - marks are frequently among the greatest and most valuable assets of a company, for they symbolize the good will and reputation of the company. To achieve such a status, however, a trade-mark must be carefully selected. Among other considerations it is, of course, important that a mark be chosen which is not confusingly similar to any other similar goods. It may be necessary to conduct a search of marks already in use in order to determine this question.

When a word or symbol has been selected, it must then be properly used in connection with the goods to become a valid trade mark. Once in use, it should be carefully guarded. It is possible for a good trade-mark to lose it legal protection due to inproper use by its owners or the public.

The Federal and most State governments including Texas, have, by legislation, provided for the registration of trade-marks by their owners. While a trade-mark need not be registered to receive protection in the courts, such registration does afford substantial benefits to trade-mark owners.

Permian Basin Gets More Rigs

Rotary drilling in the Permian Basin picked up during the 15-day period ended June 10 as 676 rigs were reported in operation. The pervious report, made on May 25, showed 667 rigs operating.

REPORT TO PARENTS

Hospitals Are Encouraging Parents To Stay Close By

By Dr. MARTHA M. ELIOT

What should I do if my child has to go to the hospital?

In the past, when parents have asked this question, they have frequently been assured that hospital doctors and nurses would "take over" while the child was in the hospital and that, except for very limited visiting hours, they need have no contact with their sick child until he had been discharged back into their care.

This attitude is now undergoing a great change. During World War II, studies made in England showed that children suffered more from separation from their mothers than from the terror of a blitz.

Shortly after the war's end, a report made before the Royal College of Physicians in London suggested that it would certainly be logical to admit mothers to the hospital to give some nursing care to their own children, particularly those under the age of three.

During the past five years, in this country, some hospital administrators, with the advice of pediatricians and psychiatrists, have followed this trend by increasing visiting hours. In some cases, the visits have been increased from a minimum of twice a week to once a day, or from once a week to three times a week.

Increasing visiting hours is not simply a schedule arrangement, however. Nurses who are charged with care of children in such hospitals have felt in some cases that this practice increased the amount of work they had to do. For they found that more frequent visiting hours meant their young charges resented the departure of their mothers and fathers vigorously, each time it happened. This made it more difficult to get the children's cooperation.

As one nurse has put it: "It is hard, while struggling with an emotionally upset child (under such circumstances) ... to realize that ten years from now he will be better off."

At the Bethesda Hospital in Hornell, New York, a mother is encouraged to stay with her sick child througout the time he is in the hospital. The hospital was remodeled two years ago to set aside a floor where seven children, of varying ages and sexes, could be accomodated while their mothers "roomed in."

Hospital authorities say the two year experiment, with improvements suggested by the staff, has shown the patients get well more quickly, the child gets used to the hospital easier, parent are not as worried about their children, and parents and doctors get much better acquainted.

Mothers who "room in" are encouraged to help out in the routine care of their children. They get some advice not only on how to care for their sick child now, but also on how to prevent future illness. Costs of the new program are only slightly higher than average hospital costs.

This change in hospital attitudes is a clear recognition of the fact that children cannot be expected to accept illness and separation from home, especially at a time when their normal dependence is on their parents, and particularly on their mother.

Putting a child, especially a young child, into a hospital for a stay of several days or weeks, or even for months as in the case of some crippled children, with loss of the warm and continuous affection and care he needs from his mother, may have a disturbing effect on his emotional development and on the way in which he recovers from his illness.

Parents should certainly be encouraged to stay with their very young children throughout illness in order to prevent harm to a child uprooted from his familiar environment. Older children can more readily adjust themselves to the strange atmosphere of a hospital, but even with such children, and indeed with those who are adolescent, it is to be hoped that hospitals will continue the present trend of lenghtening visiting hours and, generally, of making hospital confinement less frightening.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jenkins, 1109 Thirty-second Street, this week end are Mr. and Mrs. John C. Jenkins and family of Lorenzo and Mr. and Mrs. W. A Thomspon and family of Stamford.

Summer Is Time When Schools Must Store And Replace Books

There is a library in Snyder containing over 40,000 volumes, each of them available free to its readers.

A report now being prepared by the administration office of Snyder Public Schools will list the exact number of books in this collection. The report is required annually by the Texas Department of education because the books — textbooks used in the 12 grades of Snyder schools — belong to the state.

M. E. Stanfield, superintendent of schools, explained that the report must include the number of usable books on hand, with the expected enrollment figures for the coming year, the number of books that have worn out and are being returned, and the number lost and paid for.

Last year's report listed 40,215 usable textbooks on hand. Stanfield said the state department allows a school to keep out-of-adoption books for use as supplementary material and that he does not know how many such books the school has.

Text book contracts last five years. At the end of the contract period most of the out-of-date books are returned, and entire new sets must be requisitioned. With new adoptions, replacements of worn-out and lost books, and books for increased enrollment, several thousand new books are received every year.

High school students lose or damage the most books, with junior high school chalking up a close second. Although older children are naturally harder on books, Stanfield said the difference was due partly to locker facilities in the different buildings. High school and junior high students must keep their books in crowded lockers, he said.

Children pay for books they lose or damage on the basis of the number of years the book has been used. Payments this year amounted to $288.76.

Textbooks are kept during the summer at book rooms in each school. Last summer so many books were stored in the old study hall at the central building that some of them had to be moved for fear of overloading the floor.

Ordinarily books are available to students only during the school term. Stanfield said, however, that the school will allow a child to keep a book during the summer if the parents feel he will benefit by the use of it.

Taxwise European Family Has It Easy By Comparison To U.S.

NEW YORK, June 14 (AP)—Think your taxes are too high?

Let's see how they compare with the taxes people pay in European countries.

The controversial question of American versus European taxes has been thrown into sharp relief by the roaring debate in Congress on foreign aid. Critics of U. S. foreign policy emphasize that while our federal taxes go up and up, some European tax rates are heading downward.

Here is an international tax roundup based on information obtained in Washington, New York, London, Paris, Rome, Frankfurt and Stockholm.

It deals exclusively with federal taxes. No provision is made for taxes collected in the various countries at state and local levels.

In the current fiscal year ending June 30, Americans will have paid around 62 billion dollars into the federal Treasury—a bigger federal tax than that of any other nation in the world.

But measured against Uncle Sam's whopping national income (estimated at 280 billion dollars for fiscal 1952), the U. S. tax bite is not as great on a percentage basis as that of some other countries whose national incomes are smaller.

As things stand now, the U. S. tax collector gets 22 per cent of our total national income.

In Britain's current fiscal year, which began April 1, the provision for national taxes amounts to 36 per cent of national income.

The new budget adopted by the French Legislature provides for a national tax roughly equivalent to 22 per cent of the French national income. In Germany the proportion is 34 per cent, in Sweden 18 per cent and in Italy 15½ per cent.

Extensive social welfare programs have had a lot to do with high tax rates in Europe. So has inflation.

Rearmament has imposed an added strain, even with Uncle Sam footing most of the bill.

This year Britain is spending 33 per cent of its national tax take on defense. France will spend 45 per cent, according to the new budget of Premier Pinay, and Western Germany 33 per cent. The figures compare with 17 per cent in Italy and 21 per cent in Sweden.

How does the average American family fare income tax-wise compared to the average family in Europe?

The average American family—husband, wife and two children—paid $121 this year on an average U. S. income of $3,300 after taking the standard deduction of 10 per cent.

The comparable French family pays no income tax (because its income is too small). The average British coal miner's family pays about $36.40 on $1,750. The average Italian family $2.10 on an annual income of $438 and the German family $19.92 on $856.

Despite inflation and top-heavy defense budgets, the trend in Western Europe is definitely away from tax increases.

OUT IN THE COLD

One calf seems to be having trouble finding his place at the table even though his three brothers and sisters are eating. The quadruplets were born unattended under a tree in a pasture on the C. A. Sprague farm near Michigan City, Ind., Saturday. Veterinarians report that not only is such a multiple birth unusual, but that it is also unusual for all to survive without medical attention. The two bulls and two heifers weighed a total of 190 pounds.

Texas University Gets More Oil Revenue Than Expected

AUSTIN June 14 (AP)—Wealth never dreamed of a quarter century ago is flowing into the University of Texas treasury from oil and gas development of the school's 2 million West Texas acres.

Oil and gas lease bonuses on some 39,000 acres netted $7,805,500 last week—a new record for a single auction. That boosted the university permanent fund to approximately $143,372,433.

Even as short a time as 15 years ago, best authorities did not expect such revenue. They were predicting the university would realize only some 50 million dollars from all the oil under the 2 million acres.

Last Week's auction on oil and gas development rights brought the total of University land under lease to 502,858 acres.

Now, Dr. Hal P. Bybee, geologist in charge of the lands, is willing to make this prediction: "If we never drilled another well, we still would be double the amount of oil we've already produced."

Though the grand total of $143,372,433 in the fund is a fair chunk of money, school officials don't like to hear the University described as wealthy. They note that only interest earned by money in the fund can be used: the principal must remain untouched.

One-third of the income is allotted to Texas A&M College, and the money which the University can spend may be used only in improvements to the permanent plant, such as new buildings.

With more than 2,200 wells drilled in 66 producing fields, the University lands had yielded total production of approximately 355 million barrels of oil at the end of May.

Oil was discovered on the University property in Reagan County in 1924. Since then, new reservoirs have been found in Andrews, Crane, Crockett, Ector, Martin, Pecos, Upton and Ward counties.

University Land in Culberson, Dawson, El Paso, Gaines, Hudspeth, Irion, Loving, Schleicher, Terrell, and Winkler counties has not yet proved productive. However, the men who know how to find oil best are paying good bonus money for the chance of locating new reservoirs in these latter counties.

Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. for instance, paid $125,000 bonus last week for a 2,675-acre drilling block in Schleicher County.

In the counties of more likely production, bonuses were much juicier. Gulf put up $1,850,000 for one 2,240-acre block in Crane County, and W. A. Yeager of Midland forked over $1,025,000 for drilling rights on 2,609 acres in Andrews County.

The University generally gets a one-eighth royalty on oil and gas production. The royalties and mineral lease bonuses account for most of the Permanent University Fund's income.

The past fiscal year, oil and gas royalties added $8,210,838 to the fund; bonuses on mineral leases, $8,162,200; mineral lease rentals, 150,145; other sources, $25,762.

No More GI Loans Here

No more GI loans will be made on houses in Snyder, L. A. McClanahan, owner of Jack & Jack Realty Co., said yesterday.

McClanahan said he has been informed that a new government order which forbids GI loans on houses located within a four-mile radius of an airport would apply to Snyder because all of Snyder's housing projects are within that distance of Winston Field.

He said he received an official letter from the Veteran's Administration office in Lubbock this morning containing the information about the new restriction on GI house loans.

"The letter said that loans already approved by the government, or on which committals have been made would not be affected," McClanahan said.

The new restriction becomes effective June 9, he added.

Bedecked in thousands of dollars worth of diamonds was Mrs. R. F. Wasson, who modeled the jewels brought here by C. O. Girard, assistant vice president of Linz Bros. Jewelers, Dallas. The exhibit of rings, pins, watches, ear screws and bracelets was brought here as part of the store's Diamond Anniversary. (Staff photograph.)

TALK OF THE TOWN

By SUE HOLMES

For a man who arrived in Snyder some 50 years ago in his birthday suit, with one red face and one healthy pair of lungs, C. O. GIRARD assistant vice president of the Linz Bros. Jewelers, Dallas, has come pretty far.

The amiable silver-haired gentleman was in Snyder last week with brief cases stuffed with special-cut gems in fancy mountings. He was showing the diamonds, watches, rubies and sapphires to Snyderites who were interested in having Linz Bros. redesign their jewelry or who wanted to buy some of the new five-carat solitaire diamonds set in platinum or any of the other beautiful pieces which would delight any woman.

The exhibit in Snyder was staged as part of the store's seventy-fifth anniversary, incidently, the diamond anniversary. Mr. Girard had with him some pictures of the special set of Linz silverware styled with a diamond-centered star in the handle of each piece of flatware.

Since he's been with the company since 1913, Mr. Girard knows his stones quite well. He says he likes people and his job gives him ample opportunity to meet all sorts of them. He started in the jewelry business in Uvalde, and says there are other professions which would afford better salaries, but his present one suits him.

One of the most fabulous time pieces in the collection the jeweler brought was a Patek Phillippe wristwatch with a split diamond band. The watch sells for $10,000. Another watch, which weighed as much as a tiny alarm clock, was made of 18 carat solid gold with a diamond dial. Its works were approved by the Swiss government It had an automatic spring which required no winding, a calendar which showed the day of the month and was shock and waterproof with an unbreakable crystal.

The most unusual pin he had to show was a replica of a pansy. It was executed with special - cut rubies, yellow sapphires and full-cut diamonds.

Among the rings was a dome of star rubies and sapphires. Another ring was of six special-cut aquamarines with all the glistening qualities of water.

A dome ring of cat's eye stone separated by baguettes of rubies was also unusual. He had purple sapphires as well as the more usual star sapphires in their distinctive light blue color.

Mr. Girard does not allow photographers to take his picture because of the danger that might be involved. Instead of the split-second flash of flash bulbs, he contents himself — and his customers — with the flashing stones that never wear out.

MahonRunning Unopposed For Seat In House

Representative George Mahon this week requested the Snyder Daily News to formally announce his candidacy for re-election to Congress. He had earlier filed for a place on the Democratic ticket. Mahon is unopposed in the forthcoming primary.

In announcing his candidacy, Mahon said, "I will deeply appreciate the continued support and confidence of the people in the coming primary. These are difficult and frustrating days for private citizens and public officials alike. Congress is still in session, and in all probability I will have little opportunity to visit about the District prior to the primary date.

"As the hired hand of the people of our District, I shall continue to do everything in my power to do a good job here. I welcome advice and counsel at all times, and I am constantly mindful of the debt of gratitude which I owe to the people of West Texas. Please thank them for me through the columns of your paper."

Changes Come Slow In Cars

DETROIT, June 14 (AP)—Few things come hurriedly in the automotive industry; anything "new" that is announced usually is the fruit of years of research and test —or it's a refinement of something known basically about the time the automobile was born.

So the American motorist need not worry about some vital feature of his car being outmoded overnight. With the possible exception of additional switches from six cylinder to eight cylinder or straight eight to V-8 engines, there will be few drastic moves as the car industry changes models later this year.

Periodically, the automotive engineers disclose they have been trying out varying types of power plants designed some day to replace the present gasoline internal combustion engine. Usually the researchers are working on an entirely different principle of power production. It may be a gas turbine, a diesel-type, a unit powered by the sun's rays or atomic energy or it may be one of the so-called "closed circuit" power plants. But these things still are far in the future and for every one engineer working on them hundreds of others are working out improvements on the present-day four cycle gasoline combustion engine.

Some engineers, especially those seeking new forms of power production, say the present automobile engine rapidly is approaching its maximum possible performance.

Engines developing more than 200 horsepower are coming in stock cars; so too is increased fuel mileage.
