DEATH, FAMINE AND PESTILENCE FOLLOW FLOOD

ARKANSAS HURT MOST AS WATER BREAKS LEVELS

SIX OTHER STATES WILL LOSE HEAVILY; DEATH LIST UNCHECKED

Red Cross Pleads For Life Savers

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 21.—Hundreds of families remaining in flooded areas in this section will be drowned unless they are rescued in the next few hours, the Little Rock chapter of the American Red Cross said today in issuing an appeal for boats and life savers.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 21.—Death, famine and pestilence rode southwestward today on the ever-increasing tide of the greatest flood in the history of the Mississippi valley.

Thousands of square miles of fertile soil lay inundated. Damage to property had already reached an unestimated figure in the millions of dollars. Thousands of persons, driven from their homes by the waters, were suffering for food, clothing and shelter, while others who had braved the flood to stay in their homes, had perished.

Seven states—Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky, Mississippi, Tennessee and Louisiana—were battling against the encroachments of the river. Texas was receiving a quantity of water from western tributaries.

Arkansas Worst Hurt
Arkansas, through which several major tributaries were rising above and casting aside all barriers, was the worst affected in the group, though danger points had developed at points in Illinois and Mississippi, which were not apparent yesterday.

The outlook throughout the valley was far from bright as overhanging skies and rainstorms were forecast, the crest at St. Louis was believed reached until last night when forecasts saw new waters in prospect as the result of rains in the head lands. St. Louis is considered the northern boundary of the danger area.

The most critical situation in Arkansas was at Camden, where the White and Cache rivers came together. A break in a levee there yesterday caused widespread desolation and rendered many homeless with little food or clothing. The only communication to the town is the telephone which had not gone out today and over which reports of the suffering were relayed to the Associated Press and to the outside world.

Storms Sweep State
Wind and rain storms swept over the western and southwestern portion of the state early today, pouring part of a torrential rainstorm into a corner of Texas near Texarkana. A cloud-burst which struck Texarkana at midnight, had loosed three inches of precipitation within half an hour and was continuing. Unchecked reports there told of a wide area over which the storm moved.

St. Francis river valley in the north-eastern portion of Arkansas was in the path of a gigantic volume of water flowing through a gap in the dyke at New Madrid, Mo. It was estimated that more than a million acres of land

WIND STORMS SWEEP TEXAS

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, Texas, April 21.—Strong winds in places being twisters, heavy rains, and sudden drops in temperature in the northern part of the state were reported from various places in Texas today. The most damage heard of up to noon was at Palestine where it was estimated at $50,000 following the swirl of a twister wind through two blocks of the business section.

Houston reported a sixty mile gale, but damage confined to electric wires and trees in the city, and demolished derricks in the Pierce Junction Oil field.

Houses Are Destroyed
A small tornado destroyed three houses and damaged others seven miles west of Brownwood.

The amount of rain was from a trace up to four inches. Coleman county which said there had been four inches in places rejoiced over the heavy rain, as water has been scarce in sections of that county, and both stock and crops will be benefited by the moisture.

From Wichita Falls came the report that northwestern Texas shivered in a 42 degree temperature today following almost hot weather yesterday.

Nicaraguans Fire On American Tars

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 21 (AP)—American naval forces in Nicaragua, after having been fired on three different occasions yesterday and Tuesday night, came into conflict late yesterday with an armed band carrying red flags and wearing red bands on their hats. Three members of the band were found dead after the "reds" retired. The Americans suffered no casualties.

The band swooped down on the village of Posoltega, near Chichigalpa, in an attempt to capture it, in defiance of the orders of the American authorities forbidding fighting within 2,000 yards of a railroad. They were routed by twenty four bluejackets.

MEXICO CITY, April 21.—Fifty-one bodies and thirty two injured persons had been taken today from chartered coaches of a passenger train burned by bandits in a holdup in the state of Jalisco. Unofficial estimates indicated that the total dead might reach 100. The military escort of fifty, which was on the train when it was held up, fought until all were dead or wounded.

A statement issued from the presidential office charged "Catholic rebels" with responsibility for the attack; asserting that the Catholic priests were among the leaders. It said that Secretary of War Amaro had ordered, "the required measures for an energetic pursuit of the priests who received their instructions from the episcopate of Mexico City."

Many Men In Band
Almost without warning the train was stopped in a lonely region, and a group of bandits of rebels, estimated at 500 to 1,000 men, hastily disposed of the military guard, poured oil and gasoline on the coaches as the passengers looked on helplessly, and soon the coaches were a mass of flames. As the terrified passengers tried to scramble through the windows to the ground, they were shot.

Late information was that about half the passengers escaped, among them E. K. Delma, vice president of the Banco de Mexico and director of the national railways, and Eduardo Mestre, president of the institution of Public Charity in Mexico City.

Advices to the presidential office gave the name of Coquita de Leon, daughter of former President Obregon and the wife of an army officer, as among the dead or injured. Half a dozen Americans were on the train, but none of them were injured, according to survivors arriving here.

Tracks Are Torn Up
Tracks between the stations of Linnon and Feliciano were torn up. When the train reached the break in the rails the engine overturned, but the coaches remained standing on the tracks and passengers who descended to learn what had happened were forced back at rifle points.

Then the attacking party began pouring oil after locking the doors of the coaches. One report received at the railroad offices was that a passenger became insane when his wife and five children were burned within a second class coach. The man crawled out of a window, thinking his family was behind him. He attempted to return to them, when he found their remains, but the flames prevented.

"As the only comment on this painful happening," the statement from the presidential office said, "we desire to call the attention of the people of this country who have common sense, and especially of the poor classes, to the fact that the bandits are still active."

U. S. Encounters All Manner Of Weather

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP)—The weather gods riding the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific today dispensed a freakish brand of wares that ranged from arctic cold to tropic heat. While New York and New England were trying to cool themselves from the sweltering heat wave that shot the mercury up into the nineties and caused father to get the golf clubs out of the closet, the Northwest Pacific was frost bitten in a blizzard cold. In Montana and northern Wyoming temperatures fell below zero while Georgetown Lake, Montana, boasted of six inches below with rinds under six to fifteen feet of snow.

Snow Menacing Fruit Crop In West Kansas

TOPEKA, Kansas, April 21 (AP)—With the flood danger in Kansas believed past, freezing weather today threatened to kill the state's fruit crop. Snow covered western Kansas today. Temperatures dropping as low as 10 degrees below freezing last night are believed to have killed the fruit crop in central and western Kansas. Even colder weather which would bring a hard freeze was predicted for tonight.

Three Homes In Post City Burn To Ground

(Special To The Journal)
POST CITY, April 21.—Three residences, located in the south part of the city, were a total loss this morning as a result of a fire which demolished them shortly after 9 o'clock last night. A high wind sweeping from off the Caprock threatened for a time to spread the flames to other structures, but after a hard battle firemen succeeded in halting the advance of the fire.

Appraisers today estimated the loss entailed at from between $10,000 and $12,000. It was the city's first serious fire in recent years.

GAS PIPELINE WORK MAY BE BEGUN ON FRIDAY

COMPANY ENGINEERS, IN LUBBOCK TODAY, SAY EVERYTHING IS IN READINESS

Construction work on the gas line between the Panhandle oil field and Slaton, serving all towns between the two points with natural gas, is to be started probably tomorrow, it was announced here today by Max Cunningham, chief engineer with the Benham Engineering company of Chicago, who is here to supervise the work.

Two cars of pipe are now in the railroad yards here, with all derrick couplings and other necessary equipment, machinery is being moved today to the point of beginning about three miles south-east of here, and actual work of laying the line will begin either Friday or Saturday, Mr. Cunningham said. Other pipe shipments are now enroute here.

The gas company is conforming to its contract in every respect in agreeing to have not less than one mile of line laid before May 1, under terms of a forfeiture contract entered into between the firm and Lubbock recently, when a $5,000 cash guarantee was posted, according to Mr. Cunningham, but he said that once the line is started, officials plan that work shall not cease until completed.

The first mile is to be laid in this county, beginning at the point where the state highway joins the railroad right-of-way just west of the cemetery between here and Slaton. The mile will be constructed south of this point, of eight inch line, as called for under plans of the engineering firm su-

Goes To Hospital As Big Case Ends

FORD'S COUNSEL WILL BE THOROUGHLY EXAMINED

James A. Reed

DETROIT, Mich., April 21 (AP)—Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, chief of counsel for Henry Ford in the $1,000,000 libel suit brought by Aaron Sapiro was taken in an ambulance to the Henry Ford hospital today.

Richard J. Higgins, associated with Senator Reed in the Ford defense, announced that the senator suffered a recurrence of the abdominal pains which attacked him as he returned to Detroit from Washington last Monday and decided to go to the hospital for a thorough physical examination.

Flood Control Okeyed
Among resolutions adopted were those advocating forestry conservation; approving the states flood control work and recommending larger appropriations for this purpose; denouncing the statements of O. H. Smith, immigration commissioner of Minnesota when he charged that gamblers were preparing to loot Texas lands; and approving a minimum state scholarship appropriation of $15 with better educational facilities for East Texas.

Greenview won first prize of $100 for the best delegation in yesterday's parade. It was announced today, Marshall won the $50 award for the most novel float. Officers will be elected later in the day.

TECH TO PROSPER, WHITAKER THINKS

EMMETT L. WHITAKER, member of the House of Representatives of the legislative district of Texas, arrived in Lubbock today from Elctora, where he has been since the close of the recent session at Austin. Mr. Whitaker planned to leave late this evening for his home in Lanessa.

He believes that Texas Tech will be "given a square deal" in the matter of appropriations, he said, and pledged his support to the needs of the institution. The past session was Mr. Whitaker's first as a state legislator.

EAST TEXAS C.C. TO GREENVILLE FOR NEXT MEET

IMPORTANT PROBLEMS OF TERRITORY ARE GIVEN FULL ATTENTION

(By The Associated Press)
TYLER, Texas, April 21.—Greenview was chosen the 1928 convention city of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce after a spirited contest with Marshall today at the closing business session of the first annual convention.

Greenview received 2,510 votes and Marshall 2,125.

The contest for the convention city was the most important event of the season, and voting followed numerous speeches extolling the advantages of the respective cities seeking the convention. Palestine, Beaumont and Paris, mentioned as contestants, withdrew.

Fight Mexican Immigration
A fight on the Mexican immigration question was started by J. B. Nichols of Timpson, who presented a resolution declaring for more restrictions on immigration and opposing the stand of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce, which had asked that the United States adopt a hands off policy of Mexican immigration.

Mr. Nichols in an address supporting his resolution—urged the delegates to "conserve the Anglo-Saxon blood of East Texas."

Mr. Nichols' attempt to have his resolution adopted was stopped by Mayor J. F. Justice of Paris, chairman of the resolutions committee, who urged that resolutions first be submitted to his committee for study and be presented later to the convention.

Flood Control Okeyed
Among resolutions adopted were those advocating forestry conservation; approving the states flood control work and recommending larger appropriations for this purpose; denouncing the statements of O. Plane Crash Mars Greeting To Duke

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 21 (AP)—Cheers on the lips of thousands gathered to welcome the Duke and Duchess of York as they arrived here today were changed into cries of horror when two airplanes collided and burst into flames. Four occupants were killed.

An imposing display of naval and military forces greeted the royal party when it entered the harbor. Great crowds at all the vantage points shouted enthusiastically, and then the accident marred the ceremonies. The planes were part of a group of forty flying in formation and carrying out stunts. They fell on a garage which was set on fire.

RUBY EXPLAINS CITY WARRANTS

Former City Manager Now On Trial, Tells Court Of His Transactions

Martin S. Ruby, former city manager of Lubbock, testified on the stand in cross-examination Thursday morning that he drew a warrant of $202.60 on November 12, 1925, which included a bill of $147.25 paid by him to Sam Baird, city employee, and that on December 2, 1925, he received another warrant from the city in the amount of $296.62, this also including a bill of $147.25 said by the defendant to have been paid by him to Sam Baird for labor.

On further cross-examination he testified that one check paid to Baird had been lost, but identified another cancelled check on his personal account, stamped paid by the bank November 13, which check he said was not included in his bills submitted to the city for reimbursement until December 2, date of the latter warrant, because he had overlooked the bill, and did not discover his mistake until he received his bank statement.

Mr. Ruby is on trial charged with embezzlement of $147.25, growing out of alleged irregularities during his tenure of office.

Baird Was City Employee
He testified that Baird worked with the city cleaning department four or five months, all of which time with the exception of about one month, Baird was under direct supervision of Chief Engineer E. E. May, working under contract. He said he gave Mr. May a check for Baird, the date of which he does not remember, in the amount of about $147.25, the cancelled check having been lost in the meantime, but said that he gave Baird personally the check which was stamped paid by the bank on November 13.

When questioned as to the reimbursement system, he said he several times carried bills, which he had paid for the city for 30 days, naming two instances, one of $1,000 for pumping equipment and another of over $600 for a freight bill of lading.

Answers Cross Testimony
Under a cross-examination by G. E. Lockhart, of the prosecution, Mr. Ruby testified that he collected two warrants including the $147.25 Baird items, one collected November 12 and the other December 2, and said he did not know on his notations attached to the warrant that he had one check to Mr. May because Mr. May did not do the work and he wanted to keep his records straight as to whom the amount was paid.

On re-direct examination by Chas. C. Triplett, of the defense, Mr. Ruby testified that Baird's duties were to clean up trash from alleys and haul it to the dump grounds or incinerator; that for all the time except October, his last month to work, he was under supervision of Mr. May; that he quit his job about November 1 and that it was about November 12 before a settlement was made for the last period in October which he worked. The first half of October he testified that he settled with Mr. May for the work.

Several additional warrants and attached bills were introduced in evidence by prosecution at the early morning session, by which the state sought to show that shortages in funds other than the ones charged are existent.

LIBEL CHARGES TO BE CARRIED INTO NEW TRIAL

NEWSPAPER INTERVIEW IS BLAMED BY JUDGE; JUROR ABSOLVED

DETROIT, April 21.—Attorneys for Aaron Sapiro and Henry Ford agreed with Judge Fred M. Raymond today to meet here Saturday, April 30, to determine whether a date for a new trial of Sapiro's $1,000,000 libel suit against Ford could be agreed upon.

Lawyers To Meet To Set New Trial

DETROIT, April 21.—An order of mistrial, granted upon motion of defense counsel, today brought to an abrupt halt Aaron Sapiro's $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford. Judge Fred M. Raymond ordered the jury discharged and instructed a mistrial be entered upon the plea of Stewart Hanley, heading the Ford defense in the absence of Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, that Mrs. Clara Hoffman, eleventh juror chosen when the trial started six weeks ago, had granted an interview; the substance of which appeared in last Tuesday's Detroit Times.

"This trial fails, to a large extent because justice has been sacrificed upon the cross of unethical and depraved journalism," said the court.

Woman Is Cleared
Judge Raymond expressly cleared Mrs. Hoffman of allegations made in a series of affidavits by Ford detectives and other employes that she had discussed a $10,000 bribe with "KID" Miller, and that she had wrongly stated she was a qualified juror and asserted absidit that Sapiro had indulged in any misconduct as asserted in the affidavits.

New Trial Is Talked
Judge Raymond immediately invited counsel for both sides into his private chambers to discuss steps looking towards a new trial.

"I am extremely loath to grant a motion for mistrial," asserted the judge after William Henry Gallagher, chief counsel for Sapiro, and Hanley had debated the motion at length.

"Up to the time that the public press interfered with the functions of this court, the court believed no mistrial should be granted.

"It is deeply regrettable and deplorable that a case which has cost as much money and labor should come to this conclusion.

"But when the newspapers report became known it seemed, and seems

What's Wrong With Equal Suffrage? "It Needs a Cause," Says Mrs. Sabin, Famous Campaigner; Laments Present Languor

BY MARIAN HALE NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, April 21.—The equal suffrage for which this country's womanhood battled so spiritedly and at times so violently for a generation and more—

The equal suffrage that, when achieved, would right the country's wrongs and make America a political paradise—

Was it a dream-bubble that has burst these seven years after victory's roars?

Asked Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, of New York's "New Sun" house, one of the pioneers of the suffrage fight, for four years president of the Women's National Republican Club, delegate to the Cleveland Republican convention that nominated Calvin Coolidge, and member of the Republican National Committee.

She's Disappointed
She replied that the results of woman suffrage so far had been a "teen disappointment."

Not for many years, she forecast, will women occupy any considerable number of political positions of importance.

"Suffrage needs a big publicity campaign," she said. "It needs something to make it popular with both men and women."

Of course it is the lack of interest among women that is the disillusioning thing for suffragists.

"Women slaved for suffrage—marched, spoke indoors and from street corners, canvassed districts, distributed literature, defied the police, got up thousands of educational meetings, and so on, but only 46 per cent of the eligible feminine voters participated in the 1920 election, and scarcely any more last time."

Farm Women in Lead
"Farm women, curiously, seem more interested in the vote than their city sisters. They vote in larger proportions, and vote with intelligence. Easier work on the farm, more civic clubs, and the radio have contributed to this."

But if Mrs. Sabin is disappointed over woman's showing as voters, she by no means has given up hope.

"Winning the right to vote was worth the effort," she said. "Vital human issues some day will catch women's fancy and arouse them to forceful exercise of the right, she believes. Taxes, highways, and deficits never will stir the feminine imagination as some simple human issue will, she thinks."

An Expert Analysis
Mrs. Sabin, former Governor Nellie Ross of Wyoming, and other feminine leaders who talked over suffrage here recently analyzed the situation about like this:

"Something must be done to interest girls in politics, during the gap between their high school years and voting age. Many girls develop civic interest in school, only to lose it before they can go to the polls."

Two classes of women do not vote who should: young married women and professional women. Both may be too busy to ally themselves with party machinery. But they at least can walk to the corner and cast their ballots.

Starting At Bottom
"Women going into politics should so determine to begin at the bottom, work up, and not expect special privilege. They must win their party laurels as persons, not women."

Of the future, Mrs. Sabin said: "After all, a political sense is the result of long study. It is almost inherited, you might say. Men always have had more or less political knowledge. Women must get their bearings."

"Meanwhile, those who do not vote have no right to kick about how the government is run."

Crop Rotation Covers 3,000-Year Period

It took farmers 3,000 years to develop the modern fundamental principle of crop rotation, according to W. W. Weir, of the Federal Bureau of Soils.

This idea, which calls for the growing of an inter-filled crop, a small grain crop, and a grass or leguminous crop, in the order named, and in recurring succession on a given piece of land, followed three other stages of crop rotation which began with the "rotting" practice about 25 B. C.

This was followed by the "bare fallow" method of controlling weeds, and then came the introduction of clovers into the cropping system. While the art of inter-tilage or hoeing between rows of plants had been practiced by early Romans, the practice was not carried to the fields until English farmers adopted it during the eighteenth century to combat weeds.

Hereford Students Enter Music Meet

HEREFORD, April 21 — More than seventy-five students from the Hereford Public Schools will enter the contest of music, which will be held in Amarillo next week during the Panhandle Music Festival. Ralph Smith's thirty-two piece orchestra, and his twenty-eight piece band will each enter in two classes. Miss Gladys Kilgore's high school glee club, composed of sixteen girls will compete for honors at the festival and Miss Maurine Beyer is entering a Junior glee club, which is composed of some twenty-five students. A number of these students will enter individual contests. The high school glee club and the high school band and orchestra are scheduled to give a radio concert at nine o'clock Wednesday evening over KGRS broadcasting station in Amarillo.

THE SAME LESSON

Man's conquest of nature is by no means complete, but he has in his power the elements of safety. That lesson is borne to us from the quakes that rocked Japan and California to the winds that leveled Rock Springs. It lies in better constructed dwellings. At Rock Springs, the concrete addition to the hotel was a haven of refuge, and a family merged practically unscathed from a concrete dwelling, the walls of which were left standing in the path of the gale. The better type of buildings withstood the quake in California as did those in Japan and in their places have been erected that type of structure found best adapted to coping with the unseen dangers within the power of nature. Flimsy construction in many parts of the country has been found adequate for shelter from the ordinary weather, but it isn't safe in an emergency such as a Rock Springs had to meet the other night.—San Angelo Standard.

William Henry Gallagher, chief of counsel for Sapiro, overnight changed his stated intention not to oppose that part of the motion which formally was filed later yesterday, dealing with the alleged misconduct of a woman juror, Mrs. Cora Hoffman, and grouped it with the other three sections in an impassioned defense.

twelve to Lubbock, with eight inch lateral lines serving all points beyond Lubbock, including Slaton, and a lateral line east of Plainview to serve Lockney, Floyd and other points in that vicinity.

Engineers are now considering the possibility of decreasing the size of the line between Plainview and Lubbock to ten and three-quarters, and installation of a booster station at Plainview immediately, but no definite decision has yet been made on this, Mr. Cunningham said.

The project is being carried on by the Texas Gas company, sponsored by eastern capital through A. J. McMahon and associates of Oklahoma City, and negotiations for the line have been under way for some time. It is the announced plan of officials of the organization to eventually extend its lines to serve practically all portions of the South Plains in all directions from this city, and according to relable information general headquarters will be maintained at this city. Approximately 230 miles of pipeline will be required to serve points now under contract with the company.

Editorials Heroes of Legend

A few days ago, in the city of Tampa, Fla., a number of old men in gray uniforms gathered for a convention and a parade. The city decked itself with flags and bunting, and did everything a city can do to make these men welcome.

The visitors were members of the United Confederate Veterans; men who had won the gray and followed the Stars and Bars in the Civil War. Like the G. A. R., the numbers of this organization are dwindling. Each year there are fewer to convene; in the course of a very few years the last Confederate veteran, like the last Union veteran, will have gone on. Even today the ranks are very thin.

There is something highly impressive to a thoughtful man, about that gathering in Tampa. The organization that convened there did not consist merely of a small group of bent, aging men; nor did the homage that Tampa paid these men come simply because they were brave men who had, in time past, risked all for their beliefs.

For the veterans who marched down Tampa's streets did not march alone. Dim shadows flung before and after them; long-furled battle flags waved at their van; the echoes of ancient bugles rang clear in the air as they passed. Legendary heroes, gigantic and commanding, moved with them, unseen but felt by all the multitude.

The bitterness of the Civil War has passed away. The years have erased the scars and burns that it felt. What remains to us seems epic and of legend; great poems of heroism and sacrifice, written in blood over 60 years ago so that we might have heroes and ideals.

The United Confederate Veterans are one of the repositories of these great tales—the other repository, of course being the G. A. R. And that is why, though their numbers shrink, these gray-uniformed men bulk larger than ever. The Civil War was a war of heroes; these are the remaining men of a magnificent tradition, the last survivors of a battle of giants.

They were present at the far-off, legendary wars of history; and so we honor them as, once more, before the last time, they pass in review.

Another Item Anne Parrish, novelist, returning from a tour of South America reports that the "jazzy age" is beginning to spread to Brazil and Argentina. The old customs still prevail, she says, but slowly they are breaking down. Girls are smoking, chaperones are being ignored—and in a few years South American young people, hitherto so meticulous in their deportment, will be much like our own youngsters. It's the influence of the United States that is doing it. We might ask ourselves if that won't be a terrific thing for the already strained friendship of South America for this country.

Dropping Custom When Charles Dickens visited America a little less than 100 years ago, one of the things that impressed him most was the prevalence of the great American habit of chewing tobacco. He complained bitterly that in the best hotels, in steamers, in courtrooms—everywhere—the habit was indulged in freely; and the results, as can be imagined, he found rather unwholesome. This time-honored habit must be vanishing. At any rate, the Pullman company announces that chewing tobacco is used so little now that ornate cases will vanish from Pullman cars. They aren't needed any more.

A Movie's Longevity The average motion picture theater becomes so out of date that it needs to be rebuilt in 23 years' time, says the federal board of tax appeals. This may be true. Even so, however, the theaters outlive the average films that are shown in them by about 23 1/2 years. Judging over all of the moving pictures you can remember having seen, how many of them would you like to see again?

THE PLAINSMAN

Says: Citizens are splashing around in the flood waters in Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana. Wouldn't be surprised if this is the first time some of those old codgers had a bath.

They are still arguing about whether Doc Cook should be released on parole from the federal penitentiary. The Plainsman believes he should be paroled, and cites the following reasons: Doctor Cook may or may not have been the first man to discover the North Pole but at any rate he made an effort to serve his country in a method few men would chance to get a return on their money than did the average "blue sky" law violator; he has never been found guilty of murder. The Plainsman favors leniency for a man who has served his country especially when many downright guilty murderers, thieves, black-eyes and violators of other laws are being given verdicts of "not guilty," pardons, reprieves, paroles and releases due to "legal entanglements."

It took three days to get the first three jurors in the Snyder murder trial. No wonder. Who wants to sit on an old murder jury when he can get on one like Peaches, or Kip Rhineland's? Anybody can get on a murder jury and we have so many murders now that most of us are spending the majority of our time sitting on them.

Great enthusiasm in the first annual convention of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, press reports say. It must have been caused by taking a unanimous ballot to have everybody move to West Texas.

If the Plainsman is any judge of young folks and human nature he predicts an increase in the crop of marriage licenses as a result of this week's moon.

But if old "Uncle George" seems moony now and then the results of his mooniness speak for him. He himself keeps ahead of the times, but it is an old axiom that today's radicals are tomorrow's conservatives. Space allows mention of but an instance or two, but—

Many years ago, Norris introduced his constitutional amendment abolishing lame duck sessions. Time and filibusters are proving him so indubitably right that this amendment will soon take its place alongside the women's suffrage and prohibition amendments—the senate has passed it three times almost unanimously. The senate will also bar Yare from its ranks—the man whom Norris fought to defeat. And it is Norris who has saved Muscle Shoals from selfish exploitation and who is gradually making the country realize that hydro-electric power is one of its permanent issues.

WASHINGTON LETTER

FRIEND AND FOE, THEY ALL ADMIRE NEBRASKA'S SENATOR NORRIS By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, April 21.—When "Uncle George" Norris of Nebraska finally leaves the senate, as he is again threatening to do, there will be a certain regret in this prosaic town such as would attend the passage of few other human cogs in the federal government.

Norris has his enemies, for he's a fighter. But there is less peanut politics and more genuine sincerity and honest purpose in this 61-year-old war horse than in almost any other member of congress. It's hard to find anyone who won't admit as much, whether they like Norris or not.

Norris is a simple, unaffected, old-fashioned old cuss, with an old-fashioned, floppy, square-cut bow tie, wrinkled old-fashioned high shoes and plain, ordinary clothes. His lack of sartorial pretensions goes along with the best of senators is that very few of them have intestinal stamina to wage a single handed, long and bitter fight for a principle in the face of huge odds. That sort of thing, which incidentally gave Hiram Johnson's prestige a tremendous boost in the last congress, is the best sort of thing "Uncle George" does.

While the new motor bus bill which Governor Moody signed the other day gives to the established bus lines a virtual monopoly, it puts in the hands of the railroad commission the power to abrogate that monopoly if the existing lines fail to render satisfactory service at a fair price.

After the law goes into effect no new line may be established with license from the commission. The commission may compel them to extend their lines to render a necessary service. The lines must protect their passengers by bond guarantees and those falling in that or any other feature of satisfactory service, may be brought before the commission for action. —Denton Record-Chronicle.

Modern youth is safe as long as there are yes-men and no-girls. Rhetical structure of state governments are only a practical modification of the old idealistic dream of a government operated by experts for the benefit of everybody instead of for the benefit of politicians.

Norris doesn't want to be governor, but his friends convinced him that there was no other way for him to put over his idea.

Contemporaries

THE BUTLER-BORAH DEBATE

It was not likely that anything new would be said in the debate on prohibition between President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University, and Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, which was held last Friday night before the Roosevelt club in Boston. And nothing new was said.

President Butler argued that national prohibition does not work and moreover, that the eighteenth amendment is not germane to the constitution and is, in fact, in conflict with the constitution and attacks the very vitals of the federal system of government. Senator Borah argued that the liquor traffic is the worst curse of the human family; that national prohibition is the best means of combating it, since all the suggested substitutes are open to the same or worse evils, without having the vigor of the national prohibitory system; that the eight-year period in which national prohibition has been in force is far too short for complete victory to have been won against such an evil as the liquor traffic; and, finally, that the eighteenth amendment is in the constitution and while it is there it must be enforced.

While everyone has heard all of those arguments many times, it nevertheless is excellent that this debate has been held. For encounter between two such figures, men of intellect and of courage and character, in dignity tends to lift the prohibition question above the confused and reckless wrangling into which it often sinks, and rivets upon it the attention of the great mass of people who are neither arid dry nor wringing wets. It tends to make moderate men think and act, instead of drifting.—Baltimore Sun.

IN NEW YORK SEE-SAWING and BROADWAY

NEW YORK, April 21.—Manhattan's snaphots: A colorful German rathskeller in the Bowles where you can still see the stout old Mein Herrs with napkins tucked under their collars and flowing down their vests... And this just a hop-skip-and-a-jump from the peak of Broadway.

Chorus girls gathered in "Shubert alley," between two theaters, talking over job prospects... Crowds wandering through the Hall of Fame trying to identify the emeralds... Five hundred people gathered around a fainting woman and five hundred more watching a recruiting officer sign up a prospect... Wall street millionaires sitting in a basement cafe... They say Thomas W. Lamont drops in now and then.

Catherine Cornell, free at last from "The Green Hat," playing about Broadway... Anyway, blue hats are in the majority around town now... Walter Damrosch making his farewell appearance as director of the New York symphony, which his father, Leopold, founded back in the eighties.

Which reminds me... The annual influx of music students is on... The National Music League informs me that at this season 250,000 sets of parents are deciding where to send Imogene for spring piano practice... Boston will get a share, and Europe quite a number, but Manhattan, as usual, will be besieged by young talents... It is not recorded that many of these rise to great fame, or even to fame... New York has too many distractions... With the best intentions in the world they come to work and stay to take advantage of the freedom from paternal discipline...

If you were to ask me why the impression goes out that youngsters in Manhattan seem particularly gay and giddy, I would give this as the answer. Thousands upon thousands come from the little towns scattered over the land, some to study art and some for fun... Most of them have been sheltered all of their lives and strained under the paternal leash... Suddenly they found themselves in this great city with no one to keep an eye upon them... Some buckle down for serious work, but the temptation is to take advantage of this leave of absence and let the youthful spirits run free...

On the other hand there are any number who struggle for every yard of gain. Within a few months, when the hot days melt into smoky nights, they will get their chance at the auditions given with the Stadium concerts. Soon the halls of Aeolian, Carnegie and Town Hall will be going at top speed as the youngsters from everywhere get their trials. Next winter, back home in the small towns, proud parents will sit Imogene at the piano and order her to "play for the company," pointing proudly that Imogene studied with Prof. So-and-So in New York. Radium Promised For Larger Doses

COLEN, Haut Katanga, April 21 (AP)—Reduction plants of the Belgian Radium company here are to be reopened to produce more radium for scientists.

The increased supply will be used in the study of the effect of large applications on certain diseases. A quarter of the yearly radium output of the world was used in the recent treatment of King Ferdinand of Rumania for cancer. The Brussels company which controls the radium output of the world was called upon.

The Belgian Congo is not the sole radium field. Ore containing radium has been discovered at Lachaux, France, and radio active ores are found in several other parts of the world, including the United States, Mexico and Canada. The percentage of ore in the Belgian Congo mines is much higher, however, and the processes of reduction from ore to radium bromide have been better developed by the Belgian Radium company than in other countries.

GIANTS AND CARDINALS OPEN HOME SEASON WITH VICTORIES

MACKS OUT-HIT YANKS TO TAKE WELL WON TILT

WHITEHILL BLANKS SAINT LOUIS; INDIANS WIN FROM CHI-SOX

(By The Associated Press) Two big league teams are happy today in the realization that they celebrated two highly important occasions in the home town fan by turning in resounding victories.

When the world champion Cardinals took the field yesterday in St. Louis for their first game this year on the home lot, the National League pennant that they won last season after 34 years of hungering for it, was spread out for all to view. On the strength of that the Cards went out and beat the Cubs 4 to 2. With the competent Wee Willie Sherdel in the box.

Giants Celebrate For McGraw

The Giants were celebrating the 25th anniversary of John McGraw as manager of their team and their own return to the Polo Grounds for their first home game of the year. Led by Hornsby and Lindstrom who did most of the hitting, they scored a 5 to 1 victory over the Phillies.

Still another team that had a happy home coming was the band of veterans led by Connie Mack. Not only did they beat their red-hot rivals, the Yankees 3 to 5, but they out hit them, too, which is something few clubs are able to accomplish. The home run hitting this time was done, not by Ruth, but by Mickey Cochrane, Philadelphia catcher, who knocked the circuit cork in the sixth to help drive Urban Shocker from the hill.

Detroit Blanks Browns

Detritore 7 to 0 victory over the St. Louis Browns was the occasion of a first appearance this season in the home park. Before a big crowd that turned out to greet the Tigers they came through with a shut out triumph marked by the pitching of Whitehill, steady southpaw, and the hitting of Foberger.

The return of the White Sox was not attended by such success, although it looked in the first few innings as though they had the Indians beaten. Then the Redskins fell on Lyons in the sixth and collected enough to win, 5 to 4.

Without anything particular to celebrate, Brooklyn Robins, celebrated it by beating the battling Braves in a hard fought game, 4 to 3. Bob Barrett, late of Memphis was the hero of the day with a homer that won the game and snapped a seven-game losing streak.

ALABAMA GOLF TEAM TO EAST

Princeton And Penn Will See Southern Stars In Action On Their Home Links

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—The most prominent group of collegiate golfers in Dixie will invade the east late this month for two matches.

This outfit is that of the University of Alabama, ruler supreme of the college golf field in the southland because of their undefeated record for four seasons.

The southerners are booked to meet Pennsylvania and Princeton on April 29 and 30. In these two matches, the visiting nibblers hope to maintain their untarnished reputation.

The Alabama team will be captained by Bobby Baugh, Jr., present intercollegiate champion in the South and low medalist of the past three college tournaments.

Baugh, the son of one of the most prominent golf veterans in Dixie, happens to be one of those rare athletes—a Phi Beta Kappa man and a Rhodes Scholar.

Fully as prominent as Baugh is Glenn Crisman, a youngster who has thrice won the Alabama state title and who won the southern amateur title at Asheville two years ago.

The other members likely to compose the team are Frank Blackford and Johnny Thames, both veterans of last year's outfit.

This quartet is coming north expecting to add further honors to a list gained during the past four years that seems already miles long. They have never been beaten by a college outfit.

A member of the Alabama team in the four tournaments held for college individual championship three times. Fred Lamproot of Tulane winning it two seasons ago by beating Bobby Baugh, Jr. Zimmerman was twice beaten by an Alabama man in the finals. At each tournament held, the Alabama team won the team trophy.

All of the players are native Alabamians. Baugh and Crisman are playing their fourth year on the team, while this is Blackford's third year and Thames' second year. Veterans, all of them.

Considering the fact that there is only one decent course at Tusculum where the youngsters are in school, and practice on it is allowed only to the varsity golf team, it is rather remarkable that the Crisman team has managed to maintain its undefeated record.

If the southerners manage to down the Penn and Princeton golfers, it will give them the prestige in the east that they now enjoy in the south.

Proving Women Can Hurdle as Easily as Men Do

SUSAN JOHNSON

NEED a good high hurdler? Susan Johnson, an Omaha high school girl, thinks she can fill the bill. Seeing her in action convinces others easily. If Bob Simpson, former holder of the world's high hurdle record, ever sees Miss Johnson, he is likely to place her on the Missouri track team and enter her in the 1928 Olympic trials.

English Girl Athletes To Enter Big Field Meet Trained On Candy, Smokes

THEY EXPECT TO GALLOP OFF WITH LAURELS UNCONDITIONED

READING, Eng., April 21 (AP)—English women athletes will raid the amateur meet in Berlin in June in the hope of adding more honors to their already imposing list.

They feel that the Olympic committee at Amsterdam slighted them by offering them only five events "in the worst possible place in the program," so they have officially turned up their noses at participation in the 1928 Olympiad.

For the most part the women are drawn from typists, stenographers, clerks and the like. They are at business during the day, but turn up regularly for bi-weekly practice in their various events. They have no special training apart from these try-outs and have no special diets. They even refuse to forego candy and cigars.

Yet with such training the English women have several world's championships in their midst, according to Vera Palmer, secretary of the Women's Amateur Athletic association, which holds its championship events here. Her organization is self-governing and has no affiliation with any men's organization.

Miss Palmer holds the British record for 440 yards in 61 2-5 seconds. This year she hopes to make 31.60 seconds and then retire from racing. She is the holder of the 100 yards sprint record in 11 2-5 seconds with a Czechoslovakian girl.

Hilda Hart is the ranking hurdler among the British girls, and Florence Birchenough is good equally at the javelin throw and discus.

Miss Evelyn Colyer, employe of a London department store, is an outstanding example of the British best-nest-sports-woman. She is a top-notch player at Wimbledon's tennis class.

Another business girl who has made her mark in British amateur athletics is Miss Belle White, swimmer and diver.

'Lubbock Will Have Baseball' Is War Cry Of Fans After Organization Meet

"Lubbock will have baseball this summer" was the slogan adopted by the interested fans of Lubbock that gathered in the 99th district court room last evening to discuss and formulate plans for a Hubber aggregation this summer.

The meeting was called by and presided over by P. G. Shepherd, president of the Lubbock Baseball association, for the purpose of arriving at some conclusion as to the question of having a city ball club or not.

Col. Clark M. Mullan, one of the city's foremost fans, addressed the gathering and stated that he was of the opinion that two things had caused the former clubs to be unsuccessful in the financial manner and they were: first, the fact that the fans were allowed to witness the city leaguers free gratis, and second, that the game had become more or less commercialized. He also stated that it was his opinion that a team could easily be organized here with a minimum salary limit in that lots of good material was in the city.

Many ideas discussed. After Colonel Mullan's address many ideas and schemes were discussed in detail by which a club could be properly financed here. A plan was finally agreed to and will be worked out in detail. The scheme is to sell season tickets for all baseball games played in Lubbock this year in which the Hubbers and city leaguers take part for a very low and reasonable price. $5. This ticket will admit purchaser to all Hubber games and city league games played here, estimating some thirty home games for the Hubbers would make the average cost of a single admittance 16-2 cents. Furthermore, since a strong city league loop has been organized here consisting of eight good teams this ticket will admit purchaser to witness all scheduled games—which will run near 150 games in addition to the thirty games played by the Hubbers. 150 games for $5 is cheap baseball and will figure out less than three cents a game.

Should the plan be carried through the financing will be more effective, efficient and economical and would burden no few or no individual. Should 1,000 tickets be sold on this plan enough money would be placed in the local banks to carry a successful club throughout the season and still keep the pace of baseball Lubbock has kept for the past four seasons.

Another meeting will be called at an early date and plans will be perfected for the baseball program to be put on in Lubbock.

TECH BASEBALL TEAM LOSES TO REDSKIN ENTRY

MATADORS RETURN HOME AFTER LOSING TRIO AT ABILENE

(Special to the Daily Journal) ABILENE, April 21.—After meeting with the Simmons University Cougars in a twin bill and a single exhibition with the Indians of McMurry college yesterday the Texas Tech Matadors were sent back to the Plains city defeated in their three attempts here.

The Matadors were defeated in the final play in this city by a score of 8 to 6. It was a handicap match for the visiting nine in that six of the eight tallies counted by the Indians were chalked up after two outs had been gathered in by the scarlet clad machine.

Eddleman, Tech hurler, started the game for the Hub City crew and was battered for seven runs and eight hits in seven frames. Eddleman was relieved by Waller, who braved the hitters of the Cowboy forces in two games, was even hit harder in the session he worked. Waller allowed three hits and one run in the frame he was in the box. The run taken from Waller in the eighth was timely as it relieved the danger the Indians were encountered with when the Matadors crossed the counting plate twice in the first of the eighth to bring the count up to 7-5.

"Chubby" DeWitt and Marshall, outfielders of the Tech machine crashed into the offerings of Murphy twice yesterday and DeWitt raved around for three bases and Marshall counted up his fourth home run in the six games he has worked.

Road Organization Formed At Lamesa

LAMESA, April 21.—Perhaps the biggest and most telling convention of road delegates in the state terminated here last evening in banquet for the delegates to the chamber of commerce. More than two hundred people were fed and one hundred fifty delegates were guests.

Gordon B. McGuire, district judge of this district, was the toastmaster. Committee reports were read and approved by the body. Resolutions adopted were to the effect that highway association should be formed; that a sap in road work of Albany should be built; that state designation should be asked to state line on 82, that steps should be taken to get route designated as federal highway; that steps are to be taken to pave the entire route. Other resolutions were passed for the good of the association. Officers were elected and fifteen directors chosen from all county judges along the route, including Knox, Breckenridge, Anson, Roby, McCauley, Snyder, Gall, Seminole, Seagraves, Lovington, Artesia and Carlsbad, New Mexico. Telegrams were read from Albany, El Paso, Fort Worth and Dallas chamber pledging their endorsement and support of the project. The association will perhaps be known as the Texas to Cavern association.

There are big league owners who are willing to risk the gamble of a draft price for a player but who would retreat immediately on a deal involving a big cash purchase.

Eleven players are receiving another big league trial this season through the draft process. Up before the board again, they have been brought back by the majors through the draft. The list follows: Southpaw Pruett from Oakland to Phillies.

WESTERNERS TO OPPOSE SLATON TOSSERS TODAY

FAST AGGREGATION IS TO UPHOLD LUBBOCK'S DIAMOND BANNER

The Lubbock high school Westerners will meet with the Slaton Tigers this afternoon at the Merrill park at 4 o'clock. Coach L. J. Von Tunzelin's crew will be playing its second home game for this season and a large attendance is expected to throng to the park to witness the lads of the local school perform on the diamond.

The two clubs are standing on a 50-50 basis in splitting a twin bill recently, one game here and the other in Slaton. The Westerners took the home game with a score of 10 to 5. This game will determine the better of the two clubs—at least until further games are arranged for. The Tigers, under the direction of Gus Miller, veteran coach of the Slaton schools, has for the past three seasons presented strong combinations to the Westerners. This season he has a well experienced machine consisting of a large number of former letter men.

Pitching is good. Tuesday of this week the Westerners were defeated in Plainview by the Bulldogs by a score of 7-2. The game was lost on loose fielding and not on the part of the mound work of Nicholas. Pitching in the Westerner rank this year is far better than it has been in recent seasons. Coach Von Tunzelin has developed a strong staff in Wesley Manley, Glenn Ridge, Niehlaus and Ater. These four lads are capable of turning in good games should they receive reasonably good fielding support. One of the four lads will be sent in to face the Tiger hitters this afternoon. They are all ready to go and will do a good turn in the box.

The outfield of the Westerner crew is exceptionally strong, both in fielding and hitting. The combination is composed of veterans who have gone through several seasons of playing on the local high school combination. Orville Brothers, scintillating outfielder who is always a flash even though he has only one hand to field and throw with; Curtis Allen, fence smasher is clouting out hard hit drives in each game and has a fat hitting average; and Homer Harabarger, utility man is driving them out on a line.

While the infield of the Westerner machine is not as strong as the outfield considerable improvement is being made in both their fielding and hitting. Coach Von Tunzelin will probably send in Eddie Addison, at third; Raymond Ater, in the shortfield;

Utah Aggies Are Out For Victory

LOGAN, Utah, April 21 (AP)—Only two of the stellar performers who won the Rocky Mountain Conference track and field championship last year are missing from Coach E. L. "Dick" Romney's Utah Aggies squad this season. He has promising material for their places and hopes for the fourth straight victory at the Boulder, Colo., meet in May.

Melvin Burke, who stepped the mile in 4:25.3 for a conference record last year, is in good condition for the same event this year.

Glenn Worthington, star at football and basketball as well as track, will attempt to lower his 120 and 220 hurdles' records of 15.2 and 24.3 seconds. In the long distance events Coach Romney is relying on Ralph Furrar, who traveled the two miles of cinders last year in 9:51.

Along with "Jockey" Burton, Utah University track star, some of Romney's men are candidates for the American Olympic team.

HOP GROWERS AROUSED BY BRITISH SOBRIETY

CANTERBERRY, Eng., April 21 (AP)—Hop growers are up in arms because Britishers don't drink enough. Beer consumption has fallen off to such an extent that the hop growers fear over production this year, and have proposed restrictive measures to protect the industry.

The situation has become so serious that the English Hop Growers Limited has circularized its members to the effect that if the society's reiterated warning to restrict hop growing is not supported the directors will move for liquidation of the society and all its stock.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP)—Cotton opened steady, unchanged to an advance of 3 points and developed increasing firmness after the call in response to Mississippi valley flood news and further rains reported in central belt regions.

There was a good deal of realizing by recent buyers possibly some selling for a reaction of prospects for clearing weather in the western belt, but the outlook was also for a drop of temperatures in that section, and early offerings were absorbed by further covering, trade and speculative buying.

July advanced to 14.92 and December to 15.23, the market showing net gains of 3 to 12 points at the end of the first hour.

After selling up to 14.84 for July and 15.30 for December, or 14 to 15 points net higher, the market showed signs of hesitation. The offerings were absorbed on reactions of 5 or 6 points, however, and the market firm-up again on the detailed weather reports showing heavy rains in the Little Rock district. At midday July was selling at 14.82 and the market generally was within a point or two of the best.

NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, April 21 (AP)—Realizing pulled cotton prices down near the end of the first half hour of trading today after prospects for further unfavorable weather and seriousness of the flood situation had caused them to open at no change to four points advance. When the levee broke at Staps landing was confirmed, prices jumped to new highs with May at 14.64, July 14.88 and October 15.05, 14 to 17 points above yesterday's close. A drop of 3 or 4 points was suffered by realizing, the undertone, however continuing firm.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist.

Claims Everyone Can Now Be Well

After Suffering From Nervousness and Run-down Condition Stockman Regains Health and Strength, Quickly. Takes Tanlac

George B. Hugben, 5835 Velasco Street, Dallas, Texas, a well known retired stockman says: "Everyone can gain good health by using Tanlac. A touch of malaria left me in a weakened condition, suffering from chills and dizzy spells, unable to eat without suffering indigestion and subject to constipation and gas. I became nervous and my work suffered because I was so weak. Still I dragged through the days, getting thinner and weaker, fighting off the dizzy headaches that became more frequent. Upon recommendation I tried Tanlac, and the results amazed me. I slept better, could eat my food with relief and without suffering from indigestion pains. I gained weight. My nerves were quieted and I was no longer dizzy. Tanlac made me a new man. I now enjoy perfect health, and work all day at high speed without tiring. Tanlac is the one remedy for continued good health, for keeping strong. Tanlac put me on my feet and I can recommend it as a great tonic." Tanlac has helped thousands of men and women. It is Nature's own remedy made from roots, barks and herbs according to the famous Tanlac formula. The first bottle brings wonderful relief from pain. Keep up the treatment and troubles vanish, you grow stronger, healthier, robust. Don't neglect your health, don't suffer from pain needlessly, begin taking this wonder tonic now. Ask your druggist for Tanlac—today!

NOTICE TO THE PEOPLE OF LUBBOCK COUNTY. This is to notify all parties who have property to be vendued, or taxes for the year of 1927 to come in and render their property for taxes at the office of R. C. Burns Tax Assessor, or to see one of the assistants and render said property, as all property must be rendered not later than first of May, and all property and books will be closed. Each year there is considerable error in assessment occasioned by people failing to render their taxes which causes the Commissioners' Court a lot of unnecessary work, in making adjustments on errors in assessment, which is going to have to be remedied so for this reason I am calling your attention to this matter, and advise you that no errors assessments will be recommended by the taxes assessor and your property will have to stand on the tax rolls as it is assessed. To save yourselves the extra money you might have to pay by reason of your property not being assessed right, and to get away from the bad practice of having to make so many adjustments in your valuation we will advise to properly render your taxes. Yours very truly, R. C. BURNS. Tax Assessor.

Legal Notices

NOTICE TO THE PEOPLE OF LUBBOCK COUNTY. This is to notify all parties who have property to be vendued, or taxes for the year of 1927 to come in and render their property for taxes at the office of R. C. Burns Tax Assessor, or to see one of the assistants and render said property, as all property must be rendered not later than first of May, and all property and books will be closed. Each year there is considerable error in assessment occasioned by people failing to render their taxes which causes the Commissioners' Court a lot of unnecessary work, in making adjustments on errors in assessment, which is going to have to be remedied so for this reason I am calling your attention to this matter, and advise you that no errors assessments will be recommended by the taxes assessor and your property will have to stand on the tax rolls as it is assessed. To save yourselves the extra money you might have to pay by reason of your property not being assessed right, and to get away from the bad practice of having to make so many adjustments in your valuation we will advise to properly render your taxes. Yours very truly, R. C. BURNS. Tax Assessor.

The ladies are becoming "Admitted," according to the new Parliam. Now, as to the men, would you say they are growing madamized?

Flashes Of Life

(By The Associated Press)

Prefer Brunettes

NEW YORK—Dogs seem to prefer Brunettes. Jims Walker, star of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," was laid up two weeks as the result of a bite by a friend's chow. Her hair is dark naturally.

Millions Refused

NEW YORK—Millions of dollars have been refused for Columbia university because of dishonorable or humiliating conditions—President Nicholas Murray Butler won't sell how many millions. At a dinner given by the faculty on his 25th anniversary as president he also said that after the faculty recently urged cancellation of war debts it was whispered to him that it might be better for the university if some of the professors kept silent about public affairs. But Columbia "can neither be bought nor intimidated."

To Aid Thirsty

NEW YORK—There will be an enormous bar for the benefit of thirty Americans in the steamship Ile de France, which is to be built for the French line. The bar will be 20 feet long, a record for a ship. A two-story chapel and a sixty car garage will be other features of the vessel.

Must Be Dry

WASHINGTON—Any employee of the Leviathan or any other shipping board vessel which is directly or indirectly responsible for the transportation or concealment of liquor aboard will be fined. The warning comes from President Dolar of the merchant fleet corporation.

No Connection

TORONTO—There's no connection, but less than a month before Ontario is becoming wet again, powder guffs have been forbidden in barber shops in this city.

Play Is Barred

NEW YORK—"Spread Eagle" shall not scream on the air. An arrangement for a broadcasting of a melodrama depicting intervention in Mexico after a revolution inspired by Wall Street has been cancelled by WEA. The reason assigned is that the play is not adaptable for radio presentation. Veterans of foreign wars have been urging District Attorney Banton to take action because they think the play is un-American and unwholesome.

Likes Printing

BOSTON—Modest Clarence de Marl's He's afraid folks will get sick of seeing him win the marathons. Back on the job setting type next day after he won a 26 mile run, he revealed he had refused considerable jack to show himself in vaudeville. He will remain a printer and an amateur athlete.

Ford May Fall

NEW YORK—The most magnificent sporting event of 1927 will be in the arena of industry, writes J. George Greedrick, economist, in the Independent—a grapple between Henry Ford and General Motors. The artist suggests that expenditure of $50,000,000 during the year by General Motors for advertising may force Ford to change his mind and do some himself.

WOMEN MORE PROMPT

STAMFORD, Conn.—After barbering men for 30 years, Emillor Greco has decided that he will devote his professional talents to women. He says they are less fussy and more prompt in keeping appointments than men.

FLAGS SHORT LIVED

CHICAGO—A flag lasts about a month when blown atop a Chicago skyscraper. The Chicago Tribune reckons the annual upkeep of a flag at $24.25, $118.00 for rope, $225.65 for tares and $185 for labor.

Strong the Family Praise!

Houston, Texas—"I wish to say Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been a blessing to my family, especially in one daughter's case. She was in a serious condition with woman's weakness and just about passing going when we decided to try one more remedy we had heard of—the Favorite Prescription. We a few bottles of this helped her so she has never had any more trouble of the kind. So it is no wonder that we have depended wholly upon this remedy ever since for all such ailments."—Mrs. Emma Allen, 313 Hogan St. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Home of "Home, Sweet Home" Will Be Razed

Passing of John Howard Payne's Inspiration for Best-Loved Song Decried by Owners

....just an unpretentious little cottage, nesting under the overhanging tree tops.... "Home, home, sweet home"....

BY JAMES POWERS NEA Service Writer EASTHAMPTON, L. I., April 29.—Pause and shed a tear—you who still are romanticists—at the passing of the shrine of homes. In this quaint Long Island village, with its weather-stained houses tucked away at the foot of rolling Shinnecock hills, is the little vine-covered cottage that inspired the writing of "Home Sweet Home." Few persons know its existence. It is the John Howard Payne homestead. Following the death of G. H. Buek, who found the house almost in ruins and restored it, this shrine soon is to go under the auctioneer's hammer so its price can be divided among Buek's 12 heirs. The little cottage is doomed to be dismantled to make room for a country estate in keeping with the fine mansions of its aristocratic neighbors. It was of this humble cottage that Payne wrote when, stranded in gay Paris, away from all that was dear to him, homesick for scenes of his childhood, he penned his poem: "A charm from the skies seems to hallow us there. Which seek through the world is ne'er met with elsewhere. Home, home, sweet, sweet, home, Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home." The song swept the world. Its sweet strains are sung in every corner land. It brought the author no financial reward, but it flooded the globe with sentiment. Of the failure of his work to put money in his pocket, Payne said: "How often I have been in the heart of Paris, Berlin, London or some other city, and have heard persons singing, or hand organs playing "Home, Sweet Home, without having a shilling to buy myself the next meal or a place to lay my head." He never saw his Easthampton birthplace again, and died in bitterness of spirit, alone, in Tunis. This spring the Buek estate, which includes the Payne homestead, will be settled. It is valued at $250,000 and the Payne property is listed at $100,000. Buek found the house by chance just as it was about to be demolished. It was in a dilapidated condition, but love, skill and persistence worked wonders. Today it is a perfect type of Pilgrim architecture dating back to the 16th century. The house is filled with treasures of Colonial days. On the broad chimney hangs the Willard portrait of Payne which Buek found in a dingy basement shop in Boston. A spinet piano with time-stained ivory keys and many other quaintly beautiful furnishings are there. What a picture the home makes in the springtime as one passes down the long, elm-shaded street on the road to the old ducking pond! There is no sign to mark the spot—just an unpretentious little cottage, nesting under the overhanging tree tops that caress its roof; half hidden by an abundance of golden white honeysuckle blossoms, through which shine its neatly polished windows. "Home, home, sweet home!" There it stands, waiting for the auctioneer and demolition.

Seven States Feel Wrath Of Floods In Worst High Water Era In History

will be inundated from this break alone. At Little Rock in the central portion of the state, a deluge yesterday flooded many streets and continually pounded at the Arkansas river levees. The danger of losing the source of the city's water was alleviated late last night when engineers successfully built a barrier around the pumping station. Little Rock reported six more deaths in that vicinity yesterday, bringing the total number to well over a score of known dead, as a result of the flood.

Pine Bluff Is Drenched Pine Bluff experienced one of the heaviest rainfalls on record yesterday and evening, a record crest in the Arkansas river, while the main attention there was concentrated upon the hundreds of refugees who have sought safety from the water in places in the city.

Two more levees broke yesterday in the Pine Bluff sector. The Plum basin broke and the English levee parted, leaving high water ready to cover thousands of acres and drive in many more farmsteads to be cared for in the city.

Armed guards were patrolling the levee on the Red river in both Arkansas and Texas, after a break yesterday near Louisiana, Ark. another danger spot near Texas, where a break threatened to flood 2,000 acres in three counties.

Texas Is Hit, Too It was estimated that 100 square miles were inundated in Arkansas and Texas as the result of breaks along the Red river and backwaters where there were no protecting levees.

Two Missing After Arkansas Tornado HELENA, Ark., April 21 (AP)—Private messages received here reported that a tornado struck today near Melrose, Ark., and that W. L. Meacham and J. S. Floyd were missing. One message from Elaine, near Melrose, said the wind was then blowing at 25 miles an hour and the flood water had risen 12 inches in 15 hours. The man sending the message said he was sitting on top of a desk while talking over the telephone.

Memphis Reports New Break In Levee MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 21 (AP)—The main Mississippi river levee at Memphis, 11 miles north of the city, gave way early today, letting in a rush of water which will spread through about a dozen counties in the delta section of Mississippi before flowing back into the Mississippi near Vicksburg.

Little Rock Bridge Is Swept Away LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 21 (AP)—The south half of the Missouri Pacific bridge across the Arkansas river here was swept away by currents early today, carrying with it a train of cars loaded with rock which had been run on it in an attempt to hold the structure down.

Lower Valley Feels Pinch Of Floods NEW ORLEANS, April 21 (AP)—The first pinch of the greatest flood in the history of the Mississippi valley today began to be felt in the lower valley.

Two Piers Destroyed The port of the bridge destroyed in flood two piers, and the super structure of the south approach, the front span and the draw span.

The steel structure had been swinging in a few inches out of the draw since for several days. Late last night engineers and officials expressed sons at Harmon, interrupted wire communication and leveled forty derricks in the Red river, all fields. Damage was estimated in excess of $50,000 sustained largely by the Magnolia Petroleum company.

Tenant houses were wrecked on several plantations, as the storm, with heavy rain and electrical demonstrations, cut a swath two miles wide through the Harmon section. Cossabatta reported minor damage from the high winds. Heavy rains fell both there and at Shreveport.

Mansfield and other points in that neighborhood were shut off from wire communication either by telephone or telegraph.

Jackson, Mississippi, Reports New Break JACKSON, Miss., April 21 (AP)—The Southern Bell Telephone company here received a report at noon today that a second break in the main Mississippi levee had occurred at Willow's landing, about four miles north of Greenville. The report said inundation of Greenville was now believed inevitable.

FLORIDA'S HURRICANE Florida's hurricane was offset by California's earthquake, but what is now taking place in the west while bank doors are crashing shut at Palm Beach? Why, they're finding gold in Nevada! The "buns" staged by Florida developers are sadly different from the wild dashes of eager westerners to the deposits of yellow metal that lie waiting for discovery. It looks as if the Pacific coast were at last one up on its rival by the Gulf stream.—Baltimore Sun.

HOSPITAL BLACK LISTS LONDON—Hospitals here keep a black list of persons who simulate illness to get free lodgings in charity wards.

"Irish Skipper" For 30 years Capt. David Hanrahan, the "Irish Commodore" of the American navy, didn't miss a single fight. He retired and just then the bumps broke out in China, so "the Cap" sits smashing his teeth. Capt. Estimates Of Dead In Mexican Bandit Attack On Train Range From 95 To 100 (Continued from Page 1) which the passengers who were barbarously burned alive by this church crowd belonged to the low moral level of those who desire to constitute themselves into spiritual directors of our country and seize power. This is not to be considered strange because it is merely an exact repetition of proceedings which the Catholic church has always used from the time of the inquisition to the present time.

Leaders Believed Known General Jaime Carrillo, chief of staff of the war minister, in a report to the president, said that "the bandits, headed by the priests, Vega, Pedregon and Angulo, and a lawyer named Lopez, a commissioner of the league for the defense of religious liberties, with a bandit nicknamed 'number 14,' were fleeing to the nearby mountains when he arrived on the scene with a contingent of troops.

Rescue Is Impossible "I am witness that upon our arrival the cries of wounded passengers being burned alive were still to be heard within the cars, and although we made efforts to rescue them, it was impossible because all the cars were a raging furnace."

There was some speculation today as to whether the government might arrest the members of the episcopate and other Catholic leaders in view of the statement from the presidential office that the attacking party received its instructions from the episcopate. At the private residence where the members of the episcopate have lived since the episcopate headquarters were closed, it was said that the members were residing elsewhere.

Two aviation squadrons, totalling eight planes, have been ordered to assist in the pursuit of the band.

President Calles is described as burning with wrath and indignation. He has ordered that no effort be spared in the campaign to round up the attacking party.

Survivors Estimate Casualties MEXICO CITY, April 21 (AP)—Survivors of Tuesday night's train tragedy in Jalisco state, arriving in Mexico City today, estimate the total dead at about 100, of whom 45 were members of the soldier guard and from 60 to 65 were passengers. From five to seven Americans were on the train, but none was injured.

Some Badly Wounded Some of the passengers and soldiers, however, were so severely wounded as to be unable to move. These were left within the coaches and were burned to death. Three wounded soldiers, survived of the military escort, these three saving their lives by discarding their uniforms and wearing up civilians.

The attackers poured a heavy rifle fire through the coaches immediately after departure of the train, which was bound from Guadalajara to Mexico City. The soldiers charged returned the fire from the windows and platforms of the coaches until overcome by the bullets of the attackers, are said to have caused the majority of the deaths among the passengers.

Made Passengers Shout Sergeant Filiberto Cabrera, another survivor, also said a priest directed the attack from an automobile. The rebels, he added, forced the passengers to shout "Long live Christ, the King," killing those who did not obey promptly.

Antonio Diaz, a member of the regional confederation of Mexican workers returning to Mexico City after a holiday vacation, became insane when his wife was killed and his mother, daughter and son were wounded.

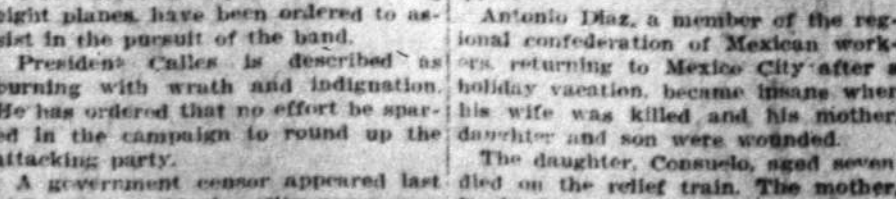

The daughter, Consuelo, aged seven, died on the relief train. The mother, Paula Cervantes, was wounded in the spine by a bullet and the son, Antonio, aged five, had both arms shattered.

Any 'Baccy'? She's 105, and Still Gets Kick Out of the Old Pipe

Got any 'baccy'? Maybe that's what Mrs. Elizabeth Barnes, of Eads, Okla., will say on her 105th birthday. She's 105 now and as long as smoking for 80 years. She smokes cigarettes, though, and laments that the younger generation has taken them up. She tried to quit smoking twice, she said, and it almost killed her.

North and South women's championship. The two came to the fifteenth, a water hazard hole, with the Chicago girl two down to Miss Collett. Virginia's drive went into the canal and it cost her a stroke. She dropped the ball on the bank and her iron shot flew across the green to a clump of pines and shrubbery, five feet away. She took three strokes to get back to the green and was down another hole. Had her ball not landed in the leafy background she stood a good chance of taking the hole, as Miss Collett required four strokes to get on.

Wins Cape Renown in Half A Season LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Loren Hodges, sophomore striping of Purdue university, hurled 23 hours of classwork in a semester to become eligible for basketball in midseason, and won honorable mention among Big Ten centers. Now he is destined to win the Boiler-makers some repute in track as a hurdler. He has more speed than his loping stride reveals, and is blessed with a pair of hands which can pluck a basketball off the floor and shoot for the basket from either side.

"I CANNOT remember my own words with absolute clearness, but I can give the gist of my remarks, and I believe I can tell with fair accuracy just what the young lady answered."

"Do the best you can, Mr. Bates," Banning encouraged him. "I asked the young lady if she had given due thought and consideration to the step she was about to take."

"And just what did Miss Cherry answer, Mr. Bates?" Banning asked, with evident relish for the expected reply. "She burst into tears; indeed, I could see that she had been crying before her arrival at my house, and between sobs she said, 'He isn't waiting at the church. I've told him I won't marry him, and I won't. I'd rather die! Oh, Mr. Bates, he's so old, so old! I've just told him that I won't marry him. He knows. He understands now. Oh, I didn't mean to hurt him, but he understands.' There was nothing else then for me to do but to perform the ceremony, which I did, calling my wife and daughter, who dressed hurriedly, to act as witnesses."

"You are sure, Mr. Bates, that Miss Cherry said, 'I didn't mean to hurt him, that those were her exact words'?" Banning repeated the significant words impressively. "Those were her words, but she referred to a hurt of the heart, not—"

"Please confine your answers to the questions asked, Mr. Bates," Banning instructed him curtly. "Now Mr. Bates, will you tell this jury whether Miss Cherry's manner was that of a happy bride or of a frightened—"

Churchill's violently stated objection, on the ground that the district attorney was "leading" the witness, was sustained, and Banning rephrased his question:

"Describe the emotional conduct of the defendant before, during and after the ceremony, Mr. Bates, repeating such conversation as seems to have a bearing on this case," Banning instructed the preacher.

"The little lady was overwrought, nervous, tearful, until I began to read the marriage ceremony. As I proceeded, she brightened noticeably."

"Did the newly married couple leave immediately?" Banning asked. "My wife asked them to stay a few minutes and to allow us to drink their health in new cider, but Mr. Wiley seemed anxious to be away. He asked if there was a farmhouse where they could be accommodated for the night, adding that they intended to drive on to Chicago the next day for their honeymoon. I referred them to a farmer, named Anderson—Jefferson Anderson—who lives about a mile west of my home on the outskirts of Minturn, and then I went to their car with them to bid them good-bye and good luck. Miss Cherry was in good spirits as the car drove away."

Banning looked not at all pleased with the preacher's last sentence, but there was nothing he could do about it. Further sourly he put his next question:

"Now, Mr. Bates, when and under what circumstances did you next see the defendant?"

TOMORROW: The preacher, Bates, unwillingly tightens the net about Cherry.

Had Your Vitamin B Today? If Not, Eat Some Vegetables

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

THE first vitamin discovered was vitamin B. The disease known as beriberi, which results from a shortage of vitamin B, was described in Japanese medical literature at least 200 years B. C. It was apparently due to the fact that the diet was largely polished rice.

The fact was finally determined by the medical admiral of the Japanese navy in 1880, who changed the diets of the Japanese sailors and thereby eliminated the disease. In 1897 a Dutch physician proved definitely that the disease beriberi was due to a deficiency of something in the diet.

In ordinary persons who subsisted on normal diets and who may be subjected suddenly to a shortage of vitamin B, there develop general weakness, loss of appetite, disturbances of the digestion, disturbances of the various organs and tissues of the body generally, and apparently a lowered resistance to infection.

The disease beriberi is seldom seen in this country. On the other hand, the other symptoms related to a vitamin B shortage are not infrequent.

Fortunately the American diet contains most of the food substances which are rich in vitamin B. They include the leafy vegetables; fruits; cereal grains such as wheat, oats, corn, peas and beans; liver and kidneys. This vitamin is not found in fats and is absent from white flour, cornmeal that has been degerminated, polished rice, starch, sugar, glucose and similar substances.

Most physicians believe that it is unnecessary for a person to take extra vitamin B in the form of yeast or yeast extract, or in the form of vitamin B concentrates, since this substance, like vitamin A, is likely to be found in any ordinary diet. There may be a use for such vitamin concentrates in persons subject to vitamin shortage because of restrictions in the diet due to disease.

As A Woman Sees It

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

MRS. CATT AND POIRET ON THE WOMEN'S TROUSER QUESTION

"PAIN, POIRET, French fashion dictator, predicts that women will be wearing trousers in thirty years." Carrie Chapman Catt writes a challenge. She tells how fashions first appear in original designs worn by mannequins and the demi monde at the Paris races. The actress and rich woman follow along in quick succession to these exclusive styles.

Big industry then takes a hand and puts the style into the workshop where with goods of fine quality and skilled workers, it is produced in quantities by those who pay well. After that it is reproduced by hundreds of thousands for the "helpless masses."

Mrs. Catt points out that the serious woman, the one with a family, or a career that employs all her faculties, soon finds herself conspicuous because she is different. So, protesting in her soul, she rushes off belated and unresigned to buy what all the others have. She is helpless.

It was somewhat comforting to notice that Mrs. Catt predicted an awakening among women that spells rebellion. Not that the trouser would not bring with it a certain amount of emancipation and freedom, and certainly more independence than present skirts—but it may mean a pink ruffled chiffon trouser worn with seven-inch crippling heels and more than likely a top-heavy hat a yard in diameter. There is always a nigger in the woodpile when talking of freedom of dress for women, it seems.

I was delighted at Mrs. Catt's closing thrust. "By all means, M. Poiret," she says, "put women into trousers and men into skirts. If you can. Pray give us one demonstration of absurdity before the age old folly called fashion goes down in a final crash." I wonder how right she is! There is a point to make however, in her argument. She is taking it for granted that all women have tastes. I'm here to tell you that they haven't, not by a long shot. Now we have one variety of monstrosity, but are we sure we wouldn't have ninety-nine varieties of horrors, and more, if each woman wore exactly what appealed to her individual taste?

Indianapolis Offers Peaceful Scenes To Democrats In Bid For Convention

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The next Democratic national convention will be held in Indianapolis, a powerful group of Democrats who met here recently decided.

This group, incidentally, is composed of men who have the interests of the Democratic party at heart. Recalling what happened in the New York setting in 1924, they are extremely anxious to provide the most suspicious and least objectionable background for the take-off of 1928.

The consensus of opinion in favor of Indianapolis was almost unanimous when the question was brought up and the various cities bidding for the convention were considered.

New York, of course, is out of the question. The Democratic national committee selects the site and if New York obtained a half dozen votes in view of the memories of those packed galleries in Madison Square Garden three years ago, it would be lucky.

Boston Wants It, Too

Boston is trying to buy the convention, but Boston is regarded as an Al Smith town.

For similar reasons—with New York and 1924 still in mind—Chicago is considered a worse site than New York, if that is possible.

Denver and San Francisco are considered too far west—and California, incidentally, has a candidate in McAdoo.

St. Louis is eliminated because Missouri has a candidate, Senator James A. Reed. The drys add the objection that St. Louis is wet. The Reed angle is regarded as also pushing Kansas City out of the picture.

Cleveland has been seriously considered and still has a bare chance, but the Republican party is likely to hold its own convention there and, if only through tradition, the Democrats refuse to hold their own circus in the same tent. Furthermore, Ohio is also likely to produce a candidate and there are cross-currents of factionalism in the Ohio Democracy in which the party leaders don't want to mix.

Gun-Shy of Wet Cities

Cincinnati is also in Ohio. The drys contend that Cincinnati is wet and they're certainly gun-shy of wet cities following the 1924 fiasco.

Louisville wants the convention, but the powerful group of leaders of whom we speak feels there is nothing to be gained in Kentucky.

Detroit is considered a wet city, rather out of the way and in a state which the Democrats never carry in a presidential year.

Of course, Tom Taggart has already got himself an Indiana candidate in the somewhat obscure person of Evans Woolen, but while the other Democrats take Taggart himself rather seriously they don't take Woolen seriously at all.

On the other hand, Indiana is considered a doubtful state in the heart of an important midwestern area into which the Democrats must break in 1928. It has an ideal location geographically; its railroad communications are the best and adequate hotel accommodations are promised.

A Doubtful State

The tentative agreement on Indianapolis is said to be the cold, deliberate judgment of men inside the party who want to keep away from states which are definitely biased for one candidate or another.

Incidentally, Taggart, of course, favors Indianapolis, although he has not been pushing it, and George Brennan, the Chicago Democratic boss, probably will favor Indianapolis if he knows the convention can't be held in Chicago.

MANY FARMERS MEET IN CITY

Approximately 150 Men, With Their Wives, Are On Hand For Session Wednesday

Approximately 150 farmers and their wives were in attendance Wednesday at the first affiliation meeting of Lubbock county group leaders with the farm bureau organization in the county, when a full day's program was given at the county park just east of the city. More than 40 group leaders from Hale, Terry, Lynn, Lamb, Hockley, Dawson, Garza and Crosby counties were present to see workings of the affiliated meeting.

The session was presided over by Douglas Pounds, president of the county farm bureau, who welcomed the guests. Don L. Jones, superintendent of the experiment station, here spoke on pure seed and their relation to the farm program, followed by N. H. Payne, field representative here of the farm bureau.

Lunch was served at the club house, followed by presentation of a clever dialogue by two small children of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Rivers. Round table discussion of various questions occupied the early afternoon, following which other speakers touched on different phases of the farm program, including a talk by R. E. Overstreet, state director of the farm bureau on the cotton association and its purposes; J. D. Coughlan, state field man of the bureau who spoke on education and co-operation, stressing the importance of co-operative and systematic marketing; and John B. Jones, finance man, who emphasized the application of business principles to marketing.

Other similar meetings are planned by local representatives of the agricultural program.

LIONS FOR SOUVENIRS

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa.—Lion cubs, gold nuggets, ostrich feathers and diamonds were among the souvenirs bought here by American 'round the world' tourists on the motor ship Asturias.

Mrs. Eleanor Bixson, Woodstock, N. Y.; Gould Dietz, Omaha, and three other passengers bought lion cubs, two of which are intended for gifts to President Coolidge.

Gordon Leaves For College Convention

Dean J. M. Gordon, of the school of Liberal Arts of the Tech college left here today for Fort Worth where he will attend the annual meeting of the Texas Association of colleges which convenes there Friday for two days, and will offer Tech's bid to entertain the 1928 convention of the association in Lubbock.

The convention heretofore has always been held in some central Texas city, and it is understood that several executive officers of the organization favor coming to Lubbock for the next meeting. Approximately 100 of the most widely known educators in the state will attend the session.
