To Remove Casualties

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — A 24-hour cease-fire between junta and rebel forces was scheduled to start at noon today to permit removal of dead and wounded from Santo Domingo's battle-torn northern suburbs.

The Red Cross and the United Nations negotiated the agreement to suspend the five-day battle which has caused a death toll estimated at more than 100.

"I have every hope that this 24-hour cease-fire will be permanent," Dr. Luis F. Fernandez Martinez, president of the Dominican Red Cross, told a newsman.

But the junta president, Brig. Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, whose forces have cut deep into rebel positions in the northern part of the capital, vowed to carry his attack into the main insurgent stronghold in downtown Santo Domnigo. He hinted this would happen next week.

Rebel spokesmen acknowledged that their northern forces were being encircled with their backs to the Ozama River.

Imbert told a newsman: "It is now too late for a permanent cease-fire such as the United Nations and the Organization of American States have been trying to arrange."

"We have renewed our military operations and they cannot be stopped," he declared.

"We want to avoid bloodshed if possible, and we are giving every chance to those in the rebel area to surrender or to come out. But we have to take the rebel stronghold very soon, and bring peace back to the country."

U.S. military authorities announced that a Marine was killed by rebel fire Wednesday night after he and another Marine accidentally drove their truck into insurgent territory.

The body of the dead Marine, who was not identified, was returned to U.S. authorities. The other man, Pfc. Leslie Mykle of Utica, N.Y., was released by the rebels.

The Marine's death brought to 19 the number of Americans killed since U.S. forces landed in the Dominican Republic more than three weeks ago.

The Johnson administration denied reports in news dispatches from Santo Domingo that U.S. troops have been actively helping the junta force crush the rebels.

Cyrus R. Vance, deputy defense secretary, told a news conference in Santo Domingo that President Johnson's orders that impartiality be observed by American troops have been made "crystal clear" to all U.S. military commands in the Dominican Republic.

Vance added that future U.S. moves in this country would be dictated "by events and circumstances" which are not now foreseeable."

Reds' Bid To Condemn US Rejected

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council rejected today a Soviet resolution calling for condemnation of the United States for sending military forces to the Dominican Republic, and demanding their immediate withdrawal.

Nikolai T. Fedorenko, the chief Soviet delegate, insisted upon pressing the resolution after the council received reports of new fighting between the forces of the military junta and the rebel regime this morning in Santo Domingo.

Secretary-General U Thant read a report to the council from his special representative in Santo Domingo saying new fighting had broken out a little more than two hours in advance of a 24-hour cease-fire scheduled to take effect at noon.

Thant said that as of 9:50 a.m., forces of the military and civilian junta were engaged in heavy firing east of a cemetery, and that pockets of rebel troops were offering resistance.

He said a U.N. representative had been dispatched to the scene in the northern part of the city to obtain the latest information.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson made the request for cooperation with the OAS in a resolution introduced in the 11-nation council. He asked for its prompt and unanimous adoption.

Uruguayan Ambassador Fernando Ortiz Sanz ignored the U.S. move. He proposed instead that the council adopt a revised Uruguayan resolution which stressed that the council has prime responsibility in the situation.

The revised resolution contained a provision calling on all states to abstain from giving direct or indirect assistance or military aid to factions in the conflict.

This was regarded as a slap at the United States, which has been accused of giving military support to the civilian-military junta. The United States has asserted its forces are under instructions to observe neutrality, and fire only when fired upon.

THE FIRST BUDDY POPPY was presented to Mayor M. L. Broman by Miss Cindy Sue Spivey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Spivey. Poppy Day will be May 29. The poppies are sold by the VFW Auxiliary, with the proceeds going to support charitable causes including the VFW National Orphange at Eaton Rapids, Mich.

US Seamen Stage Protest Picketing

WASHINGTON (AP)—American seamen picketed government buildings today to protest what they called "appeasing" foreign governments at the expense of the American merchant marine.

About 1,500 members of the AFL-CIO National Maritime Union came to Washington to celebrate Maritime Day, which is Saturday, and take part in the picketing.

Union officials said the particular targets were the Agriculture, State and Defense Departments and the Maritime Administration.

In the last 20 years, union officials said, the U.S. merchant marine fleet has dropped to fifth place in the world, behind Britain, Norway, Liberia, and Japan.

The United States has fewer merchant ships under the American flag now than it had in 1939, the union said.

It said American flag ships now carry less than 10 per cent of the U.S. foreign trade, and more than 90 per cent is carried in foreign flag ships.

"Yet when any foreign governments complain that they are not getting enough U.S. cargo, they get a sympathetic ear and action from the U.S. State Department," the leaflet said.

Raids Block Viet Plotters

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A lightning series of raids Thursday night and today blocked an attempt to overthrow Premier Phan Huy Quat's government and the South Vietnamese military high command.

Quat said one rebel officer was killed resisting arrest.

Reliable sources said at least 50 other plotters, including a colonel and several majors were arrested. They were being held at the heavily guarded police headquarters in Saigon.

Several of the key plotters were reported still at large.

Quat said the coup attempt was the work of dissident military men who tried in November and again in February to take power.

"This is a Vietnamese affair," said a U.S. spokesman, adding that the embassy was aware that several plots against the government and the military command were boiling up.

The spokesman said Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor had been "fully informed" of developments. He went ahead with a planned inspection trip to the northern part of the country.

Quat charged that the Communist Viet Cong had a role in the attempted coup but did not give details of this.

American sources said they knew of no evidence that the Viet Cong were in fact involved.

Meanwhile, nearly 100 U. S. and South Vietnamese warplanes ranged north of the 17th Parallel today, bombing a military barracks, Communist gunboats and a radar site in North Viet Nam.

A military spokesman said 44 U.S. Air Force and Vietnamese Skyraiders set a military barracks aflame about 200 miles south of Hanoi. Raiders hit the radar site on Hon Hieu Island.

Another 25 U.S. planes damaged three 80-foot North Vietnamese boats plying a river near Vinh about 160 miles South of the Communist capital. They encountered heavy groundfire but returned safely.

A jet plane returning Ambassador Taylor to Saigon from Da Nang was hit in the nose by one round of small-arms groundfire but no one aboard knew it until the plane landed in Saigon. An informant said the plane apparently was hit 53 miles south of Da Nang.

Financial Woes Plague Galveston Wharves

GALVESTON (AP)—The Galveston wharves are in serious financial condition, says a consulting firm which made a survey.

This report by the Arthur Little Co. of Cambridge, Mass., said far-reaching changes in structure and operations must be made if the wharves reverse the general decline.

One suggestion by the company Thursday was the possibility of a merger with the port of Houston.

The consultants, hired by the Galveston Wharves Board, also called for open board meetings.

Carr To Speak At Galveston Dinner

AUSTIN (AP)—Rep. Ed Harris of Galveston said Thursday Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr will speak Saturday at a Galveston testimonial dinner honoring R. E. (Bob) Smith of Houston.

Smith developed the $4 million Galveston Yacht Basin to be officially dedicated at that time.

House Oks Teacher Pay

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP)—The House passed and sent to Gov. Connally today a $101 million teacher pay raise bill giving teachers an average salary increase of $553 a year.

A few last-ditch backers of the original "$45 in '65 pay raise bill proposed by the teachers organizations stood ready to offer that proposal as an amendment, but a 120-17 vote blocked any attempt to offer amendments.

Referring to a compromise worked out between Connally and legislative backers of the $45 in '65 proposal, Rep. George Hinson of Mineola, the House sponsor, said:

"So far as who won is concerned, I think the children — 2.5 million at present and at least 3 million in the future— are the ones who will benefit."

Also slated for House action was a bill shifting 16 of the 150 House seats to populous Dallas, Harris, Bexar and Tarrant counties to meet federal court demands.

The teacher pay bill moved out of the House to Connally's desk swiftly, as it did from the Senate Monday. It took less than 15 minutes to win final passage.

Still to be written is a tax bill to pay the $70 million estimated cost of the pay raise to the state in the next two years. Local school districts will have to put up $31 million.

Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria indicated his tax-writing subcommittee would work on the bill today, but Revenue and Tax Committee Chairman Ben Atwell said the full committee probably will wait until Tuesday to approve a money bill.

The teachers' raise was worked out in negotiations between Gov. Connally and the 95,000-member Texas State Teachers Association. They had backed rival plans to give public school teachers more pay.

Still to come is a tax bill to pay for the state's share of the pay raise.

The compromise bill would pay $90 a year more to beginning teachers with a bachelor's degree and $1,086 more to teachers who have a master's degree and 18 years of experience.

It also would provide state matching funds for merit increases to be determined by local districts.

Major beneficiaries under the bill are the four big counties, which have 36 per cent of the state's population but only 23 per cent of the voting strength in the House.

East Texas is the heaviest loser.

Complaints Need Study, Says Lawyer

MIDLAND (AP)—The president - elect of the State Bar said today complaints concerning revisions in the code of criminal procedure must be carefully studied before a decision is adopted.

Clint Small Jr. of Austin touched on the controversial topic in a speech today at a legal institute here which is concentrating on water problems in Texas.

The two-day study has attracted lawyers from 50 counties in this section.

"You have, no doubt, seen and heard of much criticism of certain portions of the revision in its original form and of certain of the Senate and House amendments," Small said.

"Prosecutors and peace officers in some areas are taking violent exceptions to some of these changes in our present law.

"Members of the news media are greatly disturbed by a House amendment that is aimed at curbing excessive pre-trial publicity in criminal cases. These complaints must be heard and considered carefully before any decision is finally adopted."

CENTRAL TEXAS

Rains Let Up; Floods Continue

By The Associated Press

Protracted rains let up nearly everywhere in Texas today but flooded streams spread out of banks in several central and southern acres of the state.

Occasional showers fell at scattered East Texas points during the night. By morning, they had dwindled to light showers around Beaumont and Port Arthur.

It was clear to partly cloudy elsewhere. Most sections were rather warm.

The Weather Bureau forecast serious flooding along the lower Brazos River below Richmond. The chief threat was to fishing camps and summer cabins. Most livestock in the area was moved to higher ground.

"Considerable flooding will occur below Richmond," said the Houston Weather Bureau, "and the Brazos may again leave its channel and cross to Oyster Creek as it did in 1957, particularly near Juliff."

The 1957 flood, while no deeper than a foot in many places, inundated a wide expanse of rich farm land.

Crests on the Brazos were expected to hit 45.5 feet as far north as Washington, where flood stage is 6 inches lower, and 37 feet at Richmond, compared to a high of 37.5 feet during the 1957 flood.

The crest will reach Freeport about Tuesday or Wednesday.

There also was flooding along the trinity, Guadalupe, Lavaca, Navidad and San Antonio Rivers.

At Long Lake near Palestine the Trinity climbed to 44.2 feet, compared to flood stage of 40 feet.

JUNE 3 IS NEW TARGET DATE FOR PROLONGED SPACE FLIGHT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced today that Thursday, June 3, is the target date for the four-day space flight of Gemini astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II.

Officials had said previously that the flight was scheduled "in the third quarter of 1965," which begins July 1. However, news services have listed the June 3 date for several weeks, based on unofficial sources.

The agency had listed the later period to provide time for preparation and to avoid criticism if the target day were missed.

NASA said McDivitt and White will circle the earth 62 times in 97 hours, 50 minutes to evaluate the effects of extended space flight on crew performance and physical condition.

The agency said it had not yet determined whether White would be the first American astronaut to expose himself to the elements of space from a spacecraft. It reported that the space suit and hatch-opening procedure had not been fully qualified. A decision might not be made until a day or two before launching, the agency said.

If the go-ahead is given, White will open the hatch and poke his head into space for a 15-minute look-around.

Soviet Alexei Leonov left his Voskhod spacecraft for a 10-minute walk in space March 18. Complete emergence of a U.S. astronaut is not planned until later this year.

The eight U.S astronauts who have flown into space logged total flight time of 65 hours, 44 minutes. The longest single mission was 34 hours, 20 minutes by Air Force Maj. L. Gordon Cooper Jr.

McDivitt and White, also both Air Force majors, are to triple the present flight-time figure.

Soviet cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky stayed in space a record of five days. Soviet scientists indicated he had suffered some medical problems and since then have limited their manned space trips to one day.

McDivitt and White further are to evaluate the maneuverability of the Gemini spacecraft, which was demonstrated on the March 23 three-orbit flight by astronauts Virgil I. Grissom, Air Force Major, and John W. Young, Navy lieutenant commander. Four orbit changes are planned.

During their long stay in orbit the spacemen will eat four meals each a day and will sleep about eight hours daily, in four-hour shifts. They plan a total of 11 medical, scientific and engineering experiments.

Africans To Slate Meet

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The secretary-general of the East African Common Services Organization was instructed today to convene a heads of state meeting of Kenya, Uganda and Tanzania to settle a row over an arms shipment.

The central legislative assembly of the three-nation parliament, which runs East Africa's common services, was suspended until the three national leaders could get together.

"There was strong feeling among Uganda and Tanzania delegates to stage a walkout over the arms question," reported Tanzania's labor minister, Michael Kamaliza.

Pesticide Bill Passes

AUSTIN (AP) — A bill to regulate pesticide applicators was passed by the Senate Thursday and returned to the House for final action.

VOTING RIGHTS

Petition Is Filed To Limit Debate

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—A petition to close off Senate debate on the Negro voting-rights bill was filed today by 35 senators—27 Democrats and 8 Republicans.

The move to invoke the Senate's debate-limitation rule, restricting each senator to one hour's speaking time on the bill and all amendments, will be voted on at 1 p.m. next Tuesday.

A two-thirds majority of senators voting, or 67 of the 100 senators if all vote, will be required to put the rule into effect.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., floor manager of the bill, presented the petition in the absence of Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Mansfield said earlier he didn't know how the move to shut off the debate that began April 22 will turn out, but Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois predicted it would succeed.

Dirksen told newsmen he thinks at least 24 of the 32 Republican senators will vote to end debate. If they do and if all 100 senators vote, it will take 67 of the 68 Democrats to stifle Southern talk against the bill.

Southern senators have been fighting the legislation with words and with proposed amendments, contending it would deprive states of their constitutional right to fix voter qualifications.

They have refused to enter into any agreement to limit debate and bring the bill to a vote. However, much of the time the Senate has spent on the legislation since it came to the floor April 22 has been taken up by a dispute among its supporters over poll taxes.

The bill provides for the suspension of literacy and similar voter qualification tests in five Southern states and parts of two others and would permit the appointment of federal examiners to register voters in these states.

Thursday, Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., won adoption by a 48-19 vote of an amendment to prevent Spanish-speaking Puerto Ricans in New York from being barred from voting by the state's English language literacy test.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When my sister went to the hospital to have her baby, she couldn't locate her husband, so I went with her. She had had all her teeth pulled and has dentures. When they were preparing her for the delivery room, the nurse asked my sister to take her dentures out. She said she wouldn't do it because she didn't want her husband to see her without dentures. The nurse said they would have to come out, but my sister said the nurse would have to fight her for them. Then the nurse said she didn't take nurses' training to fight the patients. My sister said she wasn't going to have her baby there and she started to leave. Then things started to happen real fast, and she had her baby there — with her dentures in. All during her stay at the hospital those nurses were so mean to her they hardly spoke to her. Is there a rule about dentures in a hospital? Or did they just make that up?

CELIA

DEAR CELIA: Each hospital has its own rules and there is a good chance that this was the hospital rule. You could find out definitely from your sister's doctor. (Not all "rules" are consistently enforced. . .but this one apparently had teeth in it.)

DEAR ABBY: My gentleman friend separated from his wife so I let him move into my home as I have a spare bedroom. We hope to marry as soon as his divorce becomes final. When delivery men come to my door with dry cleaning or groceries, they call him "MR. . ." (my name). He says this is very embarrassing and he thinks he ought to have HIS name on my mailbox. We have had several quarrels about this. I don't think it is proper for him to have his name on my mailbox where everyone can see it. I would like your advice.

KAY

DEAR KAY: For a woman who is living out of wedlock with a man, your true concern for "propriety" is debatable. At this point his name does not belong on your mailbox, and the two of you don't belong under the same roof.

R. A. U. IN MILWAUKEE

DEAR R.A.U.: I've found it, and here it is:

"Milwaukee impressed me as a robust city, operating on beer power, still tingling with the success of the Braves, and defying modern architecture with a German accent."

New Firm To Open In Snyder

Chamber of Commerce president Felix Jones announced this morning that a new furniture store would soon be opening in Snyder.

The firm, to be known as Hoyt's Furniture and Appliance, will occupy the old Barrow Furniture Company building in the 2100 block of Twenty - fifth Street. Owner of the business is Hoyt Dillard, 38, who is presently operating a store of the same name in Colorado City.

Dillard has over 20 years experience in the furniture business, Jones said, and has been in Colorado City for the past three years. The Colorado City store will be closed when the Snyder store is opened.

The store here is expected to be opened shortly after June 1. Dillard is married, and his wife and two children will move here sometime after school is out.

Dignitaries Visit Pasotex

Several Company dignitaries visited the Pasotex Pipeline Company area north of Snyder yesterday to inspect pipeline and pumping facilities.

Among those in the party were Dow Mims, president and chief executive officer of California Oil Co., Western Division, located in Denver, Colo.; Ed Allen, Pasotex Pipeline Co. Manager, from El Paso; P. N. Johnson, vice president of marketing and pipeline operations of California Oil Co., Western Division, Denver; and R. W. Davis, Standard's Refinery Manager at El Paso.

Both Mims and Allen are former residents of Snyder. Mims was production superintendent for Standard of Texas during the early development of the Kelly-Snyder Field. Allen at one time was Pasotex Pipeline Co. superintendent here.

Guilty Plea Heard

Homer E. Allen, indicted Tuesday by the Grand Jury on a charge of DWI as a second offense, pleaded guilty to the charge today in district court.

Allen was given a two-year probated sentence.

Case Heard Thursday

Mrs. L. V. James of Snyder pleaded guilty in county court Thursday afternoon to a worthless check charge.

She was fined $10 plus costs of $26.35 and received a one-day jail sentence. The check in question had been given to Rogers, Inc.

LETTER SALE STOPPED—New York autograph dealer Charles Hamilton holds up letter written by Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson. He withdrew it from auction after accusing Secret Service of using Gestapo tactics in trying to "confiscate" it. Mystery Lady Is Located

NEW YORK (AP)—The mysterious woman who tried to sell a letter written by Mrs. John F. Kennedy to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson turned out to be an ash-blonde public relations consultant from Washington.

"I now realize it was an error in judgment," said Mrs. Lucianne Cummings, who worked in President Johnson's campaign headquarters in 1960. She identified herself Thursday at a news conference at the autograph shop of dealer Charles Hamilton. "I was wrong in assuming that a letter from a famous person is in the public domain."

Hamilton had planned to put the 1960 letter up for sale at an auction Thursday night, but at the request of the White House he withdrew it. The letter was sent to the White House.

The letter, written to Mrs. Johnson during the 1960 campaign in Mrs. Kennedy's handwriting and signed "Jackie," invited Mrs. Johnson to a hotel party to watch a televised debate between presidential candidates Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon.

Upped Casualties Reported Likely

By SPENCER DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration is reported beginning to prepare the American public for increased numbers of troops, more fighting and possibly higher U.S. casualties in Viet Nam.

Sources who would not be quoted by name said today it is no coincidence that Rep. Clement J. Zablocki of Wisconsin spoke openly this week of a likelihood of heavier American casualties in the Southeast Asian war.

Zablocki, an administration Democrat and ranking member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, is chairman of the Far East subcommittee. In that position he is close to administration thinking on Viet Nam.

In a speech to a Washington suburban Democratic club Wednesday night, Zablocki said a decision on whether to use American troops in open warfare there is now being weighed.

Communist forces seeking to score a major victory during the monsoon season may try to drive a wedge through the center of Viet Nam, cutting off the Mekong River delta area and Saigon from the northern mountain area, Zablocki said.

"In this coming encounter, it may be necessary to use American men in a full combat role, not simply as instructors or in defensive positions as in the past," he said.

The result, Zablocki said, "is almost certain to be increased American casualties."

The congressman did not go specifically into the matter of increased troop commitments but that was implicit in his discussion of an expanded operating role.

The sources who read significance into Zablocki's statement indicated the likelihood is high that U.S. forces in Viet Nam will reach 75,000 over the next three or four months.

The number of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam is now approaching 50,000. On May 7, the Defense Department reported a total of 42,200 Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines.

The refusal of Communist China and North Viet Nam to display any interest in the unconditional discussions proposed by President Johnson was cited by U.S. officials as one reason for the broadening U.S. commitment.

Other officials said that if North Viet Nam does become interested in negotiations during the monsoon season, it would be natural that they would attempt to inflict a major defeat on the Vietnamese armed forces before going to the conference table. This was the strategy they followed at Dken Bien Phu with the French seven years ago.

Drive Opens To Halt TB Spread

By LEWIS M. SIMONS

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Tuberculosis, believed by some authorities to be near eradication a decade ago, affected almost as many persons in the United States last year as did polio in 1952 — a peak year for that disease immediately preceding development of polio vaccine.

Because of government concern, the U.S. Public Health Service has joined with Denver's National Jewish Hospital — a charity-supported institution specializing in respiratory diseases — in establishing a tuberculosis training program.

Preliminary figures for 1964 indicate that nearly 51,000 persons contracted new active cases of tuberculosis. The polio incidence in 1952 was under 58,000. The death rate by tuberculosis in 1962 (the most recent official figures) was just over 9,500.

Dr. Thomas Moulding, coordinator of the project at National Jewish Hospital, said today: "It is now apparent from the experience of the last few years, which shows a leveling-off or a slight rise in the rates of new active cases, that rapid elimination of this disease is not likely."

Progress in the 1950s, chiefly in the development of chemotherapeutic outpatient treatment, "almost stopped the flow of new physicians wishing to make careers in the field of TB," Moulding said. Because of these advances, some areas reduced tuberculosis control programs, he said.

Chemotherapy is the intake of antituberculin drugs, usually in pill form. Foremost in a long list of drugs used are streptomycin, an antibiotic, and isoniazid and P.A.S., both chemicals.

Failure to follow the pill-taking regimen after leaving a hospital could result in a relapse, Moulding said.

Some patients become symptom-free, which is deceptive, soon after starting medication, Moulding said. He said that a minimum of 18 months treatment, including up to 30 pills a day, is required.

About 200 specialists have enrolled for courses covering bacteriological, clinical and public health aspects of tuberculosis.

MIDLAND (AP)— A two-day legal institute on water problems began here today.

Humble Chief Speaks At API Meet

HOUSTON (AP)—Humble Oil & Refining Co. President Charles Jones says failure to recognize market shifts and to move with them appears to be a substantial cause of some petroleum industry problems.

"New superhighways have bypassed many service stations and left them marooned," he said Thursday as the American Petroleum Institute's division of marketing held the final session of its mid-year meeting.

Dr. Jones said the projected growth of the interstate highway system will make marooned stations a continuing problem.

President Johnson's program for promoting travel in the United States was given tentative approval by the oil marketers.

Their general committee recommended that the institute participate in the President's "Discover America" program, now being organized by Vice President Humphrey.

It proposed that the marketing division be authorized to contribute up to 20 per cent of a one-year budget raised by various industries participating in the program, putting a $500,000 ceiling on the amount.

Frank Ikard, president of the institute, and its directors will study the recommendations.

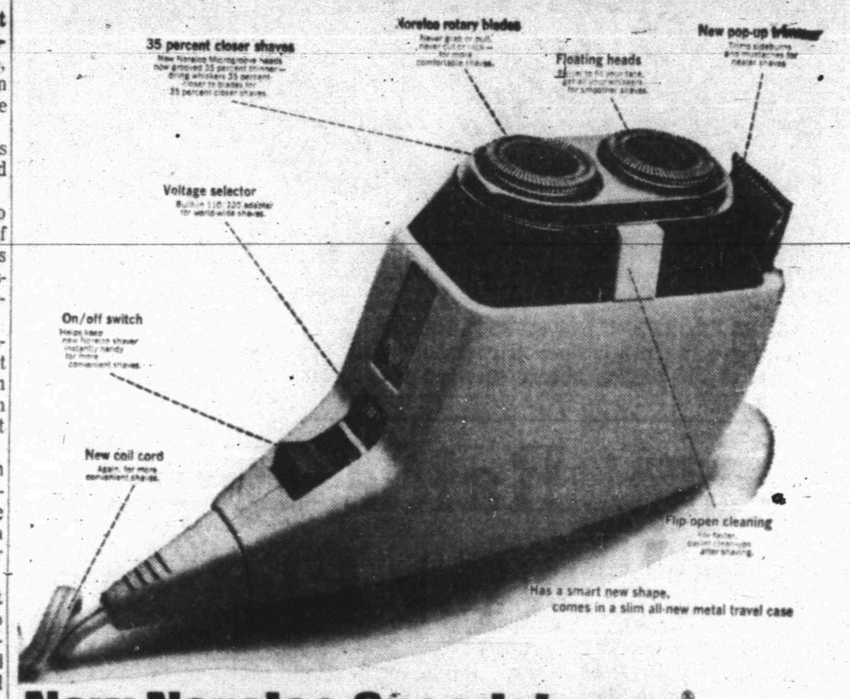

Brazil shares a common border with all other South American countries except Chili and Ecuador.

Nurse Found Dead

FORT STOCKTON, Tex. (AP) Mrs. Kathryn Gilbert, 37, a nurse, was found dead in her car half a mile west of here on a rural road Thursday. A pistol was near the body. She had been despondent over the death of her husband in an auto accident, Sheriff Pete Ten Eyck said.

Nothing Fazes The French Chef

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

IF YOU want to write a fabulously good cook book, get yourself born in California, graduate from Smith College, study cooking at the Cordon Bleu in Paris, marry an American man working abroad who helps along your culinary interests, and give cooking lessons.

That's what Mrs. Julia Child did, and her book is "Mastering the Art of French Cooking" (Alfred Knopf) which she co-authored with Simone Beck and Louisette Bertholle. Now she has gone on to wider fields. Even some of the non - cooking men I know are likely to spend Tuesday evenings between 7 and 7:30 watching Mrs. Child's program, The French Chef, on educational TV.

What makes Julia Child's performances so successful? A rare combination of organization, unblushing showmanship and a little bumbling. Mrs. Child doesn't mind a bit if she drops an egg or forgets to turn on the oven.

But under the informality there's a world of knowledge. Only a person with a tremendous curiosity about the many aspects of cookery, and a gift for painstaking research, could write a book and present a program that offers so much skill and enjoyment to reader and viewer.

When we met Mrs. Child at last fall's Newspaper Food Editors Conference in New York, she was giving a talk on one of her favorite good-to-eat subjects — fish. And here's a fish recipe from her, especially created for our readers.

Filets De Poisson
A L'Improviste

1½ to 2 pounds skinless and boneless cod, hake, haddock or halibut fillets
Salt and pepper
Flour
2 tablespoons olive oil or cooking oil, more as needed
4 tablespoons minced scallions or grated onion
1 cup drained canned mushroom slices or stems and pieces (save the juices)
1 clove garlic, mashed
½ cup dry white vermouth
2 cups tomato sauce, or pizza or marinara sauce
½ teaspoon oregano, basil or Italian seasoning
3 tablespoons minced parsley
3 tablespoons Parmesan cheese

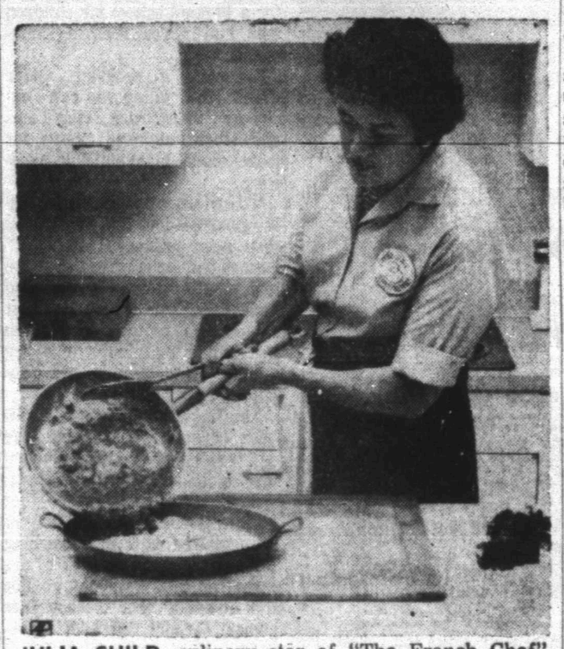

This is a fast fish dish to concoct for unexpected guests, when you must use whatever is handy in the freezer and on the kitchen shelves. The recipe will serve 4 to 6 people.

If fish is frozen, thaw in cold water until fillets may be separated and are somewhat pliable. Cut into serving pieces, dry on paper towels, and season with salt and pepper. Just before sauteing, dredge lightly in flour and shake off excess.

Heat oil in a medium frying pan until almost smoking, add the fish a few pieces at a time, and saute for about a minute on each side, to color very lightly. Arrange fish in baking dish (about 12 by 8 by 2 inches), slightly overlapping pieces if necessary.

Add the scallions or onion to the frying pan and cook over moderate heat for a moment without browning. Then add the drained mushrooms and toss over high heat for a minute or two to brown very lightly. Finally add the garlic, vermouth, tomato, herbs, and mushroom juice. Boil rapidly for several minutes until sauce reduces to a thickish mass. Correct seasoning, spread over the fish and sprinkle on the cheese. Set aside until about 20 minutes before serving time, then place in upper third of a preheated 425-degree oven and bake until sauce is bubbling and top has browned slightly.

Serve with rice, noodles or boiled potatoes; green salad; French bread; and rose wine.

JULIA CHILD, culinary star of "The French Chef" program on educational TV, prepares a fish dish in the Gallic manner.

Ham Turnovers

1 cup sifted flour
½ cup enriched white corn meal
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup shortening
½ cup milk
2 cups finely chopped cooked ham
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish

Sift together flour, corn meal, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening until particles are fine. Add milk, mixing lightly with a fork only until dry ingredients are dampened. With a prepared pastry cloth and stockinet covered rolling pin, roll out to form a 12-inch square. Cut into four 6-inch squares; place on ungreased cookie sheet. Mix together ham and horseradish. Put an equal amount of filling on each square. Brush edges with water; fold over to form triangles; seal with fork tines; prick. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven 15 to 20 minutes. Serve hot with mustard sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Mustard Sauce: In a 1 - quart heavy saucepan stir together 1½ teaspoons flour, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons dry mustard and 2 tablespoons sugar. In a small bowl slightly beat 1 large egg yolk; gradually beat in 1 can (6 ounces) evaporated milk. Gradually stir egg - yolk mixture into dry ingredients in saucepan. Over low heat, cook and stir constantly just until thickened; remove from heat; gradually stir in 3 tablespoons cider vinegar; heat very gently for a minute or so, but do not boil. Makes about ¾ cup.

Gift Tea Dessert

May is the month for bridal showers. It's an exciting as well as secretive time when everyone is trying to surprise the bride-to-be.

When you are planning a shower, you'll want to make it easy for yourself. Take advantage of today's convenience frozen foods, so that most of the food preparation may be done ahead. This Bavarian cream dessert, using frozen patty shells may be made early in the day and is ready to serve after the future bride has opened her gifts.

BAVARIAN CREAM DESSERT

1 package frozen patty shells
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1½ cups milk
½ cup granulated sugar
Pinch of Salt
½ teaspoon almond extract
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1½ cups fresh fruit, cut in small pieces (peaches, pears, or papaya)
Cherries for garnish

Prepare patty shells according to package directions. Soften gelatine in milk; heat, stirring constantly until dissolved. Add sugar, salt, and almond extract. Place in refrigerator and chill until mixture starts to thicken and is of spooning consistency. Fold in whipped cream and fruit, reserving a few pieces to decorate the top. Refrigerate several hours until firm.

Spoon into patty shells and garnish with fruit and cherries. Makes 6 servings.

'Big Sister' At LCC

LUBBOCK — Billie Sue Herring is one of 23 young women chosen to serve as "Big Sisters" at Lubbock Christian College, Lubbock, Texas, for the 1965-66 school year.

The "Big Sisters," a service organization, was formed in 1962 to help orient freshmen girls to college life.

At the close of the spring semester, outstanding sophomore girls are chosen as "Big Sisters" and assigned the names of freshmen girls who are to enter LCC in the fall. They exchange pictures with their "little sisters" and correspond with them throughout the summer, telling them what to expect at college.

The "Big Sisters" are on campus a few days before the beginning of the fall semester to welcome the new girls, introduce them to their other classmates, acquaint them with the college campus and routines, and offer information and assistance in planning schedules and registering. Each "Big Sister" is also available to help her "little sister" with any problems she might have. She remembers having faced the same problems of adaptation the year before and is able to offer her year's experience in a manner that no paid counselor would be able to.

THE FINGER MAN!

Serviceman Works For Good Will

By HAL BOYLE

CAMP GIA VUC, South Viet Nam (AP) — Some U.S. soldiers regard Viet Nam as a muddy wasteland which they hate the whole time they are here.

Others fall in love with the land and its people and try to perform a real service during their tour of duty.

One of these is Lt. John H. Damewood of Pocatello, Idaho, an idealist in uniform.

This rugged, 27-year-old officer has the job of handling civil affairs for a U.S. Army Special Forces unit stationed in a key position astride the famed Ho Chi Minh trail.

He has been a one-man good-will mission among 3,000 inhabitants of 12 straggling hillside bamboo hut hamlets.

In several weeks of whirlwind activity Damewood has done these things:

Set up two dispensaries and taught the villagers the rudiments of sanitation.

Organized and provided books for a 40-pupil school for children who had never seen a classroom.

Arranged a program under which the villagers can exchange their rude crossbows and other handicraft items for tools, cloth, blankets and hardware.

"They are also planting family gardens for the vegetables they need to vary their diet," Damewood said. "And we are also planting some 500 fruit and nut trees, and starting other projects to provide them with fish ponds and help raise the quality of their pigs and rabbits."

The lieutenant gives out 4,800 bars of soap each month. He pointed at a flapping laundry line stretched between two huts.

"You never used to see that here before," he said. "Many of the children now are brushing their teeth regularly. We are trying to get them to realize that most of their diseases are caused by dirt and lack of hygiene.

"Our theme is that self-sufficiency is the first step toward self-government. And these people show a real willingness to try to improve their lot.

"Our goal is to get these betterment programs going so well that when we pull out, the villagers will be able to make a go of things themselves without further assistance."

Damewood's pride is the "New Life Hamlet," a community of 175 huts built from scratch to house 750 Montagnard tribesmen driven from their homes farther north by Viet Cong guerrillas.

"We provided the materials, but they put up the houses themselves," he said. "They have a wonderful spirit. You can't help liking and admiring them."

There are an estimated 750,000 of the mountain tribesmen in South Viet Nam.

"I think the future of the country may depend on whether they stay with the government or swing to the Viet Cong," he said. "These people here are staying with the government—and risking their lives to do it."

It's Unrealistic To Believe Chinese Threat Won't Grow

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Do you ever get the feeling that at this moment you're standing in the lobby of history, just chewing the fat, between acts in one of the great dramas?

The world now is in the period between the Red Chinese conquest of their poverty-ridden land in 1949 and the time less than a decade away when they will have H-bombs and can deliver them.

The United States at present is taken up with its troubles in Viet Nam, trying to prevent a Communist victory in the belief it would lead eventually to Chinese domination of all Southeast Asia.

Recently the Chinese had two atomic explosions. And Dr. Ralph Lapp, a nuclear physicist who worked on the first American A-bomb but is not now with the government, guesses China will have the H-bomb in two or three years.

For China to get this far so fast has required fierce concentration of energy and resources and perhaps explains why it has avoided conflict over Formosa and direct involvement in Viet Nam.

Why be distracted if, within a few years and with nuclear power, the United States can be confronted with the grisly choice of atomic war or pulling out of Asia?

It is not stretching the imagination to think Red China will in time try to dominate all Southeast Asia, or all Asia. Just remember the attitude of the United States toward Latin America, past and present.

Even in the early 19th century, when the American fleet could hardly defend the coast, a weak and new United States warned Europe to stay out of the Western Hemisphere, and that's still U.S. policy.

The Red Chinese would run contrary to the nature of nations and their own nature if, once they had the power, they did less than try to exclude the influence of the West from Asia where its colonialism has left a bitter legacy.

At one time China held Viet Nam for 1,000 years, lost it because of internal anarchy in China, and then pecked away at it over the centuries. Later it controlled Viet Nam again.

For anyone with a knowledge of history and the national use of power it would be a dreamy condition to think the Chinese in Asia would act differently from the United States in the Western Hemisphere, other big powers in the past, and even Soviet Russia with its satellites now.

It was President Eisenhower who enunciated the falling domino theory: That once communism dominated Viet Nam, its neighbors would topple in time. President Johnson shares the theory, as he shows with his efforts in Viet Nam now.

The Japanese sought Asian domination and as a result drove the British and French out of their colonial holdings on the mainland and tried to eliminate the United States from the Western Pacific.

By their reckoning they could turn it into a Japanese lake. But the Red Chinese would have even stronger reason for attempting the same. They have more than just national ambitions.

Their ideology calls for the spread of communism everywhere until it dominates the world If words mean anything they must be taken at their word, and they've made it clear worldwide communism is their ambition.

They have denounced the Russians for ever mentioning the possibility of "peaceful coexistence."

And if the time comes when a new and powerful China tries this, the United States, even though resisting, could hardly condemn it, in view of its own actions in the Western Hemisphere

Junior Editors Quiz on SUNDIALS

QUESTION: How do sundials work?

ANSWER: Sundials came before clocks as instruments for measuring time. They were used in Babylon some 4000 years ago. The principle is that the shadow of an upright piece of metal called the "gnomon" moves around a flat dial as the sun travels from east to west. The dial is marked in hours as in our picture, from 6 A. M. until noon on the left side, and from noon until 6 P. M. on the right side. To be really accurate, the gnomon is supposed to point toward true north or the North Pole, instead of magnetic north, as the compass does. Also, the angle of the gnomon should be the same as the latitude (distance north or south from the equator) of the place where the sundial is. This sounds complicated. But, as we suggest in the illustration, you can make a sundial out of cardboard which will work very well, even if you can't figure out true north and latitude. A square cardboard box, such as you get at a food market, makes a fine base with the bottom side up. Cut a slit in this for the gnomon.

FOR YOU TO DO: Mark box as we show, drawing around a 10-inch dinner plate to get circle. Put gnomon in slit and set in sunlight, pointing upright slanting edge of gnomon toward north. Check with clock when on the hour, moving gnomon until clock and sundial agree. (Your sundial will show standard time; if on daylight saving time, allow for difference.) 5/21

Tigers, Tors To Meet Tomorrow

The Snyder High School baseballers have one more district date before they go off to the state playoff wars.

Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes are scheduled to come here Saturday for the district finale. Game time is set for 2 p.m. on the Towle Park diamond.

Although district play now is somewhat of an anti-climax, tomorrow's game is regarded as important to both teams. The Tigers need the action as they await their bi-district series with the Wichita Falls Hirschi Huskies. The Tornadoes have a chance to wrap up second place in the district standings, a feat that they are justifiably anxious to accomplish.

The Tigers have won nine of 10 league games and had one rained out. The washed out game at Sweetwater a week ago will not be made up, since it could have no effect on the district race. Thus, a victory over the Tornadoes tomorrow would give the locals a record of 10 victories and 1 loss in district play.

The Hirschi Huskies, their foes in the bi-district series, also have lost only one district game. However, their loop season consisted of only eight games, leaving them a 7-1 conference record.

The Tigers and the Huskies will open their bi-district set at Wichita Falls on Saturday, May 29. Then they will resume the action in Snyder on Wednesday, June 2, and if a third game is needed it will be played here on Thursday, June 3.

Rookie Has Old Golfers Shaking

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Mason Rudolph and Bob McCallister, the first-round leaders in the $60,000 Memphis Open, are two brave men on a golf course but a lad who has been a pro less than a month had them shaking in their shoes today.

That rookie's name is Homero Blancas and he is the odds-on choice to be golfing's Rookie of the Year after just four tournaments.

Blancas, a 27-year-old University of Houston graduate, trailed Rudolph and McCallister by one stroke going into today's second round. Rudolph and McCallister both shot 65s in the first round Thursday, while Blancas and two others finished with 66s.

In his debut as a pro, Blancas picked up $2,425 for a seventh-place finish in the Houston Classic. He then tied for 16th in the Texas Open and won $875. Last week at New Orleans, he was among the leaders all the way and finished in a tie for seventh for $3,200 in prize money.

There has been no man in the history of the professional game who has started so fast.

Others at 66 were Julius Boros and George Archer.

Jack Nicklaus blew a chance to tie for the lead when he three-putted the 18th green and finished with a 67. Others who fired 67s were Dave Marr, Kel Nagle and Jack McGowan.

In all, 35 players broke par Thursday and 10 others equaled it.

Pre-Season Slate Is Set

NEW YORK (AP) — A schedule of 37 pre-season games, including the 32nd All-Star classic at Chicago and the annual doubleheader at Cleveland, was announced today by the National Football League.

The College All-Stars vs. the NFL champion Cleveland Browns on Friday night Aug. 6 opens the six-week schedule and will be one of nine games televised nationally. The regular season starts Sept. 19.

Cleveland will oppose the Green Bay Packers and the Detroit Lions will play the New York Giants in the Cleveland doubleheader Sept. 4. The Browns, Philadelphia Eagles and Washington Redskins have six exhibitions apiece, while the 11 other teams will play five each.

Firearms Measure Reaches House Floor

AUSTIN (AP) — A Senate-passed bill spelling out exemptions to laws against carrying firearms has reached the House floor.

The House State Affairs Committee approved the bill Thursday. It would allow a man to carry a gun on his own property.

Also allowed to bear arms would be peace officers, military men on active duty, gun club members, antique gun collectors, persons hunting, camping or fishing; gun manufacturers, dealers and repairmen, and persons or businesses with county permission to hire armed guards to protect property or clients.

Squads Set For All-Star Games

AUSTIN (AP) — Eight all-state players are on the North football squad that meets the South in a feature of the Texas coaching school at Dallas Aug. 1-5.

The grid squad was announced today by the Texas High School Coaches Association, following the announcement of the South squad by a day.

The South all-star basketball squad also was announced to complete the setup for the big games. The basketball teams clash Aug. 4 and the footballers Aug. 5.

Only three all-staters made the South basketball team—Rox Goodwine of San Marcos, Jack Sweeney of West Sabine and Sonny Benefield of Sweeny.

All-state players on the North football squad are Greg Beesley of Lancaster, Bill Bradley of Palestine, Harold Chenault of Rockwall, Ken Gidney of McKinney, Donnie Hulse of Newcastle, Don King of Wichita Falls Hirschi, John Patterson of Springlake and Gary Tepfer of Archer City.

The complete all-star squads:

Tiger Seeks Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — "Tell Joe Giardello I'm going to call him about that title fight," said Nigeria's Dick Tiger after he floored Rubin Carter and soundly drubbed him in a 10-rounder Thursday night.

The 35-year-old African, who lost his middleweight crown to Giardello 17 months ago, planned to telephone Giardello this afternoon for a definite yes or no.

Tiger made a strong bid for the title shot with his lop-sided win over the 28-year-old Jersey jolter who lost narrowly to Giardello in a title fight last December.

Dick dropped the Paterson, N.J., contender twice in the second round, once in the fourth, and had him in trouble in most of the other rounds. After the second it was no contest, except for one flurry by Carter in the seventh.

The officials voted for Tiger by the following scores by rounds: judge Jimmy Riccio, 9-1, judge Johnny Dran 8-1-1 and referee Zach Clayton, 6-2-2. The Associated Press had Tiger ahead 9-1.

Tiger weighed 163 and Carter 159.

Tiger's record is 51-14-3. Carter's record is 23-8.

Astros' Manager Declares Bumping Was Unintentional

HOUSTON (AP) — "I didn't know I had bumped him. If I did, it was unintentional."

This was the comment of Houston Astro Manager Luman Harris when he was informed Thursday he had been suspended for two days by National League President Warren Giles for "jostling" umpire John Kibler.

The suspension resulted from an argument between Harris and Kibler in the 13th inning of Wednesday's night's game with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Astro second baseman Joe Morgan slid into home plate with what would have been the winning run but Kibler said Dodger catcher Jeff Torborg put the tag on him in time.

Torborg spun after Morgan passed him and attempted a second tag. This move was interpreted as a guilty plea by Harris and he protested long and loud.

Harris was ejected and the Dodgers went on to win in the 14th, 4-2, on Ron Fairly's two-run homer.

Giles said in a wire to the Astros that Kibler's report said Harris jostled him both before and after the ejection.

"Ninty-nine times out of a hundred," said Harris, "when a catcher wheels around for a second tag, he has missed the man on his first try. I saw where Torborg claimed he just hadn't heard the call and was making sure. He was just trying to protect himself with the umpire."

Since the duration of the suspension is two days and since the Astros had Thursday off, it involves only one playing date.

Coaches Jim Busy and Howie Pollet will debut as co-managers Friday night when the Astros open a four-game series with the San Francisco Giants in the domed stadium.

Pollet will handle the pitchers and the remaining responsibilities belong to Busby. Harris will be in command again Saturday.

Harris said it was the first time he had been suspended.

"I don't know exactly what I can and can't do," he said. "I am going to watch the game from somewhere."

He said the wire stated there was no fine since he was a first offender and used no profanity.

Astros general manager Paul Richards complained bitterly about the suspension.

While he was complaining Thursday he took some verbal digs at some other baseball officials.

Contacted by the Houston Post in Austin where he was watching his Amarillo farm hands play, Richards said:

"Here's a guy who calls a runner out before he leaves third base. It was a murderous decision. We'd have been behind Luman if he had been suspended for a year. A manager who watches a ball game be taken away from him like that isn't worth anything.

"As for Mr. Giles and the umpires, I don't know if they know Houston and the (New York) Mets are in the league or not.

"I've talked to George Weiss (Mets' general manager) and it seems like we haven't been accepted yet.

"They look at us and say, 'who are these upstarts to question anything?'. We can't seem to get an even shake, because Mr. (Walter) O'Malley (Los Angeles Dodger owner) or Mr. (Horace) Stoneham, (San Francisco Giants owner) might do something.

"I would hate to think that the umpires are penalizing us because they are determined to show the big clubs they can't be intimidated in Houston."

The Astros have lost 10 of their last 12 games and Richards couldn't find much to cheer him.

Pitcher Dean Chance has worked in 146 games for the Los Angeles Angels, most in the team's history.

Here's Your Part Of Cost Of Teacher's Pay Raise

By GARTH JONES

AUSTIN (AP) — Put two dimes and a penny on the table.

That's what the proposed teachers' pay raise will cost you each month if you are an average Texas taxpayer and pay local school property taxes on a $15,000 home.

Some taxpayers may have to ante up more than twice that much.

Under the compromise teacher pay program negotiated by Gov. John Connally, the Texas State Teachers Association and leaders of the Senate and House, the state will pay about $70 million for the raise during the next two - year fiscal period. Local school districts will pay about $31 million.

The state's portion will be financed by a still unborn tax bill. Most speculation centers around an additional tax of three cents per pack of cigarettes, which would bring in about $67 million.

The state's portion will be financed by about the only revenue raising source available—the property tax, a levy largely on real estate but also on automobiles in some counties.

How much the increase will be in each district depends on a number of things — the economic situation in the school district, how much the local board is augmenting salaries presently and how much it plans to contribute under the new program.

The Texas Research League, a privately financed organization which specializes in government problems, estimates the increase in local minimum foundation school program fund assignments will result in an average increase of three per cent in total school property taxes.

Translated into actual tax payments, the league says the average property tax increase on a $15,000 house will be $2.57 a year, or about 21 cents a month, for the 1965-66 school year.

Your local school taxes may not go up a penny, however, if you are in the right district. There are 1,379 school districts in Texas and the policies of individual school boards vary widely.

"Those districts where the tax rolls are growing more rapidly than enrollments and costs may be able to finance the modest increase in local fund assignments with no increases in tax rates or assessment levels," said a spokesman for the league.

"Where enrollments and costs are increasing more rapidly than the tax base, some increase in property tax rates or assessment levels may be necessary, caused in part by the increase in the local fund assignment."

A word about "local fund assignments." Texas is one of the states that uses the "minimum foundation program" concept for distribution of state aid to local schools. This attempts to fix the amount of money which is considered essential to maintain a minimum level of educational opportunity in the state.

When the minimum foundation program was adopted, the local share or local fund assignment was set at 20 per cent of the total school operating cost, which includes teachers' salaries. The state pays 80 per cent plus all textbook costs and one-half of teacher retirement.

Local school boards can, and many do, contribute more than their 20 per cent to pay teachers higher salaries and provide more for the school.

Under the compromise pay raise plan, a bookkeeping device is written in to guarantee during the next four years that the 80-20 ratio will be more closely maintained.

The plan also sets up a 15-member study commission, appointed by the governor, to determine if the local share should be increased, particularly toward paying a share of the textbooks and retirement costs.

To help demonstrate the increased costs of the pay raise plan, the Texas Research League worked up a list of the expected increases in local fund assignments for the 102 largest school systems in Texas.

This list shows the 1964-65 school tax on a $15,000 house and the estimated 1965-66 tax increase for the same house, provided the school district maintains the same level of contributions above the minimum foundation program next year as this year. The indicated tax increases also are adjusted to keep the 80-20 ratio of contributions.

Here is the list:

Abilene School District, 1964-65 school tax of $99.50 on $15,000 house, $2.54 increase estimated for 1965-66; Alamo Heights, $85.75, $2.65; Alpine, $146.70, $2.45; Alice $87.50, $1.99; Amarillo, $110.97, $2.45; Andrews, $24.26, $1.24; Arlington, $85.44, $2.92; Austin, $115.58, $2.11.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE TO BIDDERS OF SCURRY COUNTY'S INTENTION TO RECEIVE BID PROPOSALS FROM CONTRACTORS DESIRING TO FURNISH ALL LABOR AND MATERIALS TO CONSTRUCT A COMMUNITY CENTER AT HERMLEIGH, SCURRY COUNTY, TEXAS

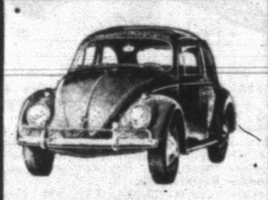

Notice is hereby given that the Commissioners Court of Scurry County, Texas, will convene at 10:00 A.M. on Monday, June 7, 1965, in the Commissioners Court Room in the Courthouse in the City of Snyder, then and there publicly to open and consider all sealed bid proposals marked on the outside "Community Center" theretofore received by the undersigned County Judge in his office in the said Courthouse for Scurry County to agree and contract with a person, firm, or corporation to construct a community center in the vicinity of the Hermleigh community in accordance with the more detailed plans, specifications, and bidding documents which may be examined or secured by contacting the architect retained by Scurry County for such project, J. D. Hinton, at his office in the Brownfield Building in Snyder, Texas.

The time of the construction and the completion of the said community center being of the essence, no bid proposal shall be entitled as a matter of right to consideration unless it shall be accompanied by a negotiable cashier's or certified check or a bank or postal money order in the amount of 5 per cent of the bid price contained in the proposal or by a bid bond in form and with surety satisfactory to the Commissioners Court.

Under Sec. 2 of Article 2368a of Vernon's Revised Civil Statutes of the State of Texas of 1925, as amended, the right is reserved by Scurry County through its Commissioner Court to reject any or all of the bid proposals tendered and to waive any or all technicalities.

What's the catch?
There isn't any.
Plunk $1691 into a salesman's hand and he'll plunk you into the seat of a new 1965 Volkswagen Deluxe Sedan. (Give him $30 more, and you'll be plunked into a Volkswagen with matching leatherette upholstery.)
Of course, you'll have to buy license plates and pay local tax. But that is it.
Sound a little too simple? Perhaps. But then the Volkswagen is a simple little car.

CHURCH NOTES

East Side C-C

Don Browning will speak at services Sunday at East Side Church of Christ.

His topic for the 8:15 a.m. radio service will be, "The Restoration Idea." At the 10:25 a.m. service he will speak on the subject, "The Anemic Christian," Cor. I 11:30, and at 6 p.m. the subject will be "The Book of Jonah."

A special course titled "Leadership for Christ" will begin this Sunday evening at 5. All men of the congregation have been urged to be present. The class is designed to help the individual understand all that is involved in being a leader in the Lord's Church. It is to help men develop the spiritual qualifications necessary to serve as an elder or deacon. Mr. Browning will be the instructor.

Bible classes will meet at 9:30 a.m. Sunday and the Teenage class will meet at 5 p.m. Men and Boys Training Class meets at 7 p.m. each Monday evening. The Ladies Bible Class meets for one hour each Wednesday at 9:30 a.m.

The Wednesday evening worship service is set for 7:30 p.m. each week. Visitors are always welcome.

Morningside Baptist

The lesson for study in Sunday School at 10 a.m. is "Consecration." The aim of this lesson is to emphasize the duty of willing service unto the One who delivered us from the servitude of sin.

The pastor of the church, Rev. Royce Sanders, will bring the morning message at 11.

"Supporting Missions" is the Training Service Program to be presented at 6 p.m. The program text is taken from Acts 1:8. Services will be dismissed immediately following the Training Service Program, omitting the worship services, due to the baccalaureate services being held.

37th Church of Christ

Maxie B. Boren will be back in the pulpit after being gone for two Sundays in a gospel meeting in Sheridan, Wyo.

Enthusiasm is high in anticipation of a great Vacation Bible School, May 31 through June 4! There will be classes for all from age 18 months through adults. The time will be from 9 a.m till 10:50 a.m. each day. Everyone is invited.

"Five Minutes With The Master" is a five minute radio program that can be heard each week day morning at 8:15 over KSNY radio. Mr. Boren is the speaker. Be sure to listen.

"The Church and the World of Truth" each Sunday morning over KLBK-TV, Lubbock, channel 13.

Green Hill Baptist

Regular worship services will be conducted this Sunday, with the pastor Bro. Jerry Speer bringing the message for both the morning and evening service.

Sunday School will be at 9:45 a.m. and the Morning Worship at 11. Training Union begins at 6:30 p.m. and the Evening Worship Service at 7:30 p.m.

On Wednesday evening at 7:45, Prayer Meeting will be lead by the pastor.

* * *

St. John's Episcopal

Rogation Sunday will be observed with the celebration of Holy Communion at both the 8 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. services. The Rev. Truman E. Bennett, vicar, will be the celebrant and preacher.

At the 10:30 a.m. service, Phil Lammert will serve as Acolyte, and Jack Line will serve as Crucifer. W. C. Hart will serve as usher, and Diane Hargrove will be organist.

Holy Communion will be celebrated on Rogation Monday at 7 a.m., on Rogation Tuesday at 10 a.m., and on Rogation Wednesday at 10 a.m. The Rogation Days are called "Days of Solemn Supplication," at which time special prayers are offered to God for a blessing on "the labors of the husbandman" that the fruits of the ground may be sufficient for human needs.

The Forty Days of Eastertide will end on Ascension Day, Thursday, May 27. The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 p.m. Ascensiontide covers a period of ten days. It corresponds to the time during which the apostles waited for the gift of the Holy Spirit, which came to them on the feast of Pentecost, which was promised to them by our Lord at the time of His Ascension to the right of the Father Almighty.

The Churchwomen are reminded that there will be the ingathering of the United Thank Offering at the 10:30 service this Sunday, May 23.

First Presbyterian

The sermon to be brought by the Pastor, John Gordon, is "Abide Ye In God" with the scripture taken from I John 3:1-24.

During the summer months of June, July, and August we will worship at 9 a.m., and we ask all the members and friends of the church to please make a note of this change in the worship hour.

Northside Baptist

The pastor, John Duke, will speak in both morning and evening services this Sunday. Also, in the morning worship service, George O'Brien will speak in behalf of the Gideon Society. Mr. O'Brien is a retired business man from Big Spring. The Gideons are businessmen donating their time to promoting the gospel.

The Sunday School is now under the leadership of a new superintendent, Don Stephens, 400 Thirty - first Street. Marvin Smith, former superintendent, has served the church and Sunday School for the past 12 years. He will now be serving in other capacities.

A revival date for July 25 has been set and plans are now in the infant stage. Vacation Bible School plans are already made for June 7. All boys and girls of the city are invited.

Several members and visitors were present last Monday evening for a study from Revelation 13. After the lesson home made ice cream and cake was served. This group meets biweekly and next meeting date is May 31 at 8 p.m.

The citizens of Snyder are invited to listen to the services of Northside broadcast each Sunday evening over Radio KSNY, at 8 p.m. Music is under the direction of Max Allen.

Training Union begins at 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m. the pastor will bring the second in a series of sermons on: "How to Use the Bible in Your Everyday Life."

Wins Right To Visit— With Puppy!

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) —Custody was awarded to Mrs. Glenn O. Black, but her husband got visitation rights — two hours a week with the family dog.

"I haven't had a case like this for 15 years," said the veteran judge after issuing the decree.

Judge John L. Niblack's order Thursday permits Glenn O. Black, 63, Indianapolis, to visit his 3-year-old Toy Manchester named Pretty from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Sundays.

Niblack, of Marion Circuit Court, added a stipulation, however. With each visit, Black must bring a third party to keep the peace.

Niblack recalled that 15 years ago he granted a farmer visitation rights with 16 cows awarded the divorced wife.

"He wanted to make sure the animals were well taken care of," the judge said.

In 26 years on the bench, Niblack could remember only one other case involving visitation rights with animals. That was 20 years ago and also concerned a dog.

The judge granted the divorce to Christina R. Black, 54, on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment, ending the 32-year marriage. The Blacks have two grown daughters.

Mrs. Black charged her husband hadn't spoken to her for five years.

In the couple's property settlement, Black was awarded the family airplane and one auto. Mrs. Black received the house and lot, another car — plus custody of Pretty.

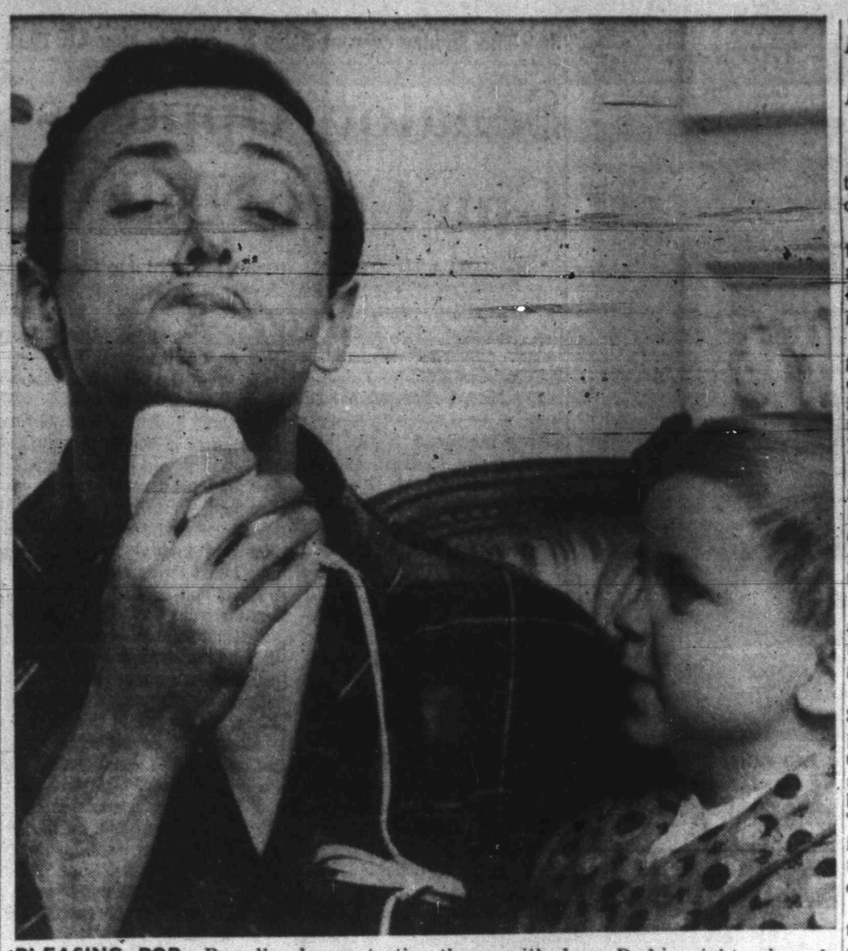

"You can't split a dog," said Niblack in explaining his concession of Black's weekly visits with Pretty.

Presbyterians Seek Closer Links With Other Churches

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 177th annual General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. turned today to work on means for establishing closer links with other Christians.

Among suggested steps was occasional attendance by Presbyterians at Mass in Roman Catholic parishes.

"The needs of the Church universal in our generation can only be met by Christian people working together," declared a report placed before delegates from across the nation.

William Phelps Thompson, a Wichita, Kan., attorney, took over the gavel, after his election late Thursday as moderator of the 3.5-million-member denomination, its highest titular office.

Further Christian unity was cited as one of his key concerns.

A wide-ranging series of actions to increase interchurch ties was proposed in a report by the church's Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations, as the week-long assembly entered its second day.

It noted that new associations "of an infinite variety" are developing with Roman Catholics in communities throughout the United States, and urged extension of the trend.

"By God's grace we are being led in our time from prudential tolerance one of the other to genuine brotherhood in the household of faith," the report said.

On the morning's program was a message of greetings by Roman Catholic Bishop John J. Carberry of Columbus. Representatives from a dozen denominations also were present to extend fraternal wishes.

The ecumenical report made a special appeal for renewed efforts for reunion with churches sharing common heritages — the Reformed Church in America and the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. (Southern).

Past efforts to heal the North-South breach, stemming from Civil War times, have come to naught. The Southern Church has about 938,000 members. The larger United Church also has about 400,000 members in the South.

"We now know that cooperation is not enough," says the plea to the Southern body, recommending that both branches set up panels to make a new try at unification.

"The action will be a venture of faith in God's will and in obedience to the commandment of the Christ that His people be one," the report said. It concluded with a Scripture quotation: "Come now and let us reason, saith the Lord."

In its opening business Thursday, the assembly elected Thompson in a three-way contest in which the other two candidates were clergymen, the Rev. E. G. Montag of Beaver, Pa., and the Rev. W. Sherman Skinner, of St. Louis.

Thompson, 46, an incisive, articulate layman who has served the church in numerous local, regional and national capacities, led from the first, and won on the second ballot.

He succeeds the Rev. Dr. Edler G. Hawkins of New York.

Criticizes Oil Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee, cast a critical eye Thursday at large imports of oil while independent operators are financially hurt by tightly curtailed domestic production.

The Texarkana congressman said in a House speech that the nation's balance - of - payments deficit also was worsened by government policies on overseas activities of U.S.-owned international oil companies.

"The time may be at hand," Patman said, "in the light of our payment problem, to question the extension of statutory percentage depletion at the full 27½ per cent to foreign production."

President Douses Lights— But Its A Losing Proposition

By MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sometimes, President Johnson, you can't win for losing.

You go around switching off the lights in the White House and somebody at the Census Bureau gets a new electric computer.

It adds up to this: The federal government's electricity bill is expected to rise a total of some $900,000 in its buildings across the country in the coming year. It was $20,900,000 last year.

It appears to be an embarrassing predicament — with a boss in the White House who's cut his electric light bill by a reported $1,800 a month — from $4,600 to $2,800.

However, the President's example may be responsible for slowing down the increase in government electricity costs.

A check today at the General Services Administration, which pays the utilities bills for some 6,000 federal buildings (out of some 9,100 such buildings) brought this information:

The electricity cost increase is due largely to new air-conditioning equipment being put in existing buildings.

Improvements in light intensity is definitely a factor (work output is supposed to improve with better lighting).

Federal agencies are installing more automatic data processing equipment, and this, too, requires more electrical power.

Of course, new federal buildings are going up, with more lights, more air conditioning and more mechanical equipment.

But somebody must be turning off the lights — or something.

The GSA said that in the past three years electricity costs had been rising an average of 6 per cent a year. For this year, the rise is only 4.3 per cent.

A check around town turned up no general directive from the White House, the GSA or the Budget Bureau to "turn off the lights."

However, various officials said the word had got around.

As T. Sutton Jett, director of the Capitol Park Service, which pays the bill for the White House, told a congressional committee recently: "I guess these things go beyond the White House. Elsewhere in the park system we are more inclined to turn them (the lights) off, too."

Be still

"Praise Him in the firmament of His power." Psalms 150:1.
The harmony of the universe
with everything in plan,
The symphony of the cells that unite in building man,
The carols too of nature through
wind or song of birds,
All blend in one the truth of
Thee, a music without words.
To God who gives a melody to life on land or sea,
We ever sing within our hearts
a praiseful song to Thee!

Senator Opposes Gun-Curb Bill

By CARL LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gordon Allott attacked today the administration-backed bill to curb gun traffic. He said Lee Harvey Oswald could just as easily have purchased his rifle from a sporting-goods store as from a mail-order house.

"That gun from a sporting-goods store would have been just as deadly as the mail-order weapon he used," said Allott, a Colorado Republican, in testimony prepared for the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee.

Two days ago, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, testifying in favor of the bill, told the subcommittee:

"As long as I live, I can never forget that it was a mail-order rifle — sent to a post-office box, that had been rented under an assumed name, by a man with an established record of defection and mental instability — that killed President Kennedy."

Allott and another Republican senator from the West — Arizona's Paul Fannin — argued that the administration bill would penalize ordinary, law-abiding citizens without correcting abuses in the use of firearms.

Allott said he objects to the notion that the word "guns" is "a four-letter, Anglo-Saxon word with dirty connotations."

He said, "Perhaps we of the West are more familiar with firearms and therefore fear them less, recognizing it is the abuse of the weapon that is the real problem. There are legitimate uses and legitimate users and I strongly feel we must not unduly hinder these legitimate uses in attempting to curb the abuses."

Fannin said in his prepared testimony: "The regulations embodied in S. 1592 (the gun bill) would not prevent the determined criminal from obtaining firearms; instead it would impose severe penalties on millions of honest, law-abiding citizens."

The subcommittee also hears today from Franklin L. Orth of Washington, executive director of the National Rifle Association. Katzenbach and Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., the subcommittee chairman and chief sponsor of the bill, have accused the NRA of attempting to discredit the bill with false propaganda.

The bill would forbid interstate sales of firearms except between licensed manufacturers, importers and dealers and would sharply curb imports of firearms.

Thursday, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., a brother of the slain president, testified in favor of the bill, saying "it would save hundreds of lives in this country and spare thousands of families all across this land the grief and heartbreak that may come from the loss of a husband, a son, a brother or a friend."

Asks Caution In Creating Of Colleges

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. John Traeger of Seguin pleaded with House members Thursday to slow down on creating four-year state-supported colleges.

They shouted down his opposition and tentatively approved a new senior college at Odessa, which could become the 23rd in the state system.

Traeger said spreading education thin without concentrations of quality is like having a "river one mile wide and one inch deep."

"It's time to stop creating senior colleges just because nice people from nice areas want them," he said in a five-minute speech.

The Senate-passed measure, by Sen. Pete Snelson of Midland, came to the House with another bill creating a four-year school at Texarkana. Last session the legislature added Angelo College and Pan American College at Edinburg to the state system.

Snelson's bill, sponsored in the House by Rep. Ace Pickens of Odessa, would raise Odessa Junior College to four-year status and rename it Permian State College.

"There will come a day when we'll have to expand, but not because of a position of political expediency," said Traeger. "We must stop short, pull up and look at what we have."

He said when Angelo College was brought into the system, "We were told most of its students would come from the Odessa-Midland area, and now they want a school at Odessa."

Snelson's bill provides the proposal must be approved by the new college coordinating board.

"This is the first school with a provision making it subject to anything," said Rep. David Crews of Conroe.

Pickens said if the board approves the school, the next legislature will be asked to appropriate funds.

Military Spending May Fill Steel Industry's Slack Time

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Increased military spending may take up some of the slack that is predicted if the buying of steel and autos for civilian use dips from fever pitch.

Orders for military hardware are cited as a chief reason that new factory orders for durable goods rose 2 per cent last month to set another record high.

Transportation equipment makers were a chief beneficiary. Civilian car buying is still at a high level, if off a bit from the peak. But the industry makes other goods, too. And companies with items fitting into aerospace needs are getting fatter orders. Increased fighting in Viet Nam and the crisis in the Dominican Republic also are leading to more ordering of military supplies.

Just how much civilian ordering of hard goods may dip from the unusually high rate set in the first months of the year is yet to be seen. One uncertainty at the moment is what Congress will finally do about excise taxes on autos and appliances, and whether the public will take a wait and see attitude about buying until the tax cuts are in effect.

Orders of hard goods rose to $22.1 billion in April, ahead of the like 1964 months by 8 per cent.

These factory orders mean a building up of backlogs which will keep the lucky firms busy, sometimes for months ahead.

They are especially reassuring as the period of summer vacation shutdowns approaches.

Steel output has been setting records because of increased use of the metal but also, in part, because of a desire to build up stocks as a hedge against a strike threat, now postponed till Sept. 1. Hopes for a labor settlement instead of a strike increased as the union fight over the presidency of the United Steelworkers of America cooled down with David J. McDonald bowing out to let I. W. Abel take office June 1 without further contest.

Government economists are also counting strongly on the still rising total of personal incomes to keep the civilian sector of spending from dipping even if industrial output slows down during the hot weather months.

In April the seasonally adjusted annual rate of personal incomes set a record at $514.5 billion, up $700 million from March. One thing helping the rise was a record high in corporate profits that inspired boards of directors to pay out 11 per cent more in cash dividends in the first four months of this year than in the like period of 1964.

Fresh Milk Unavailable In Todedo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Sale of powdered milk and canned evaporated milk took a sharp upturn today as this city's 350,000 residents headed into a weekend in which fresh milk won't be delivered to their doorsteps or be available at neighborhood stores.

The milk supply was just about dried up by a strike early Wednesday of Teamsters Local 361 against the six major Toledo dairies. The union is deadlocked with the companies in negotiations on a new contract for about 500 drivers and plant workers employed by the dairies.

Thursday a few stores still had milk for sale — in most cases because they held it back from Wednesday's rush of customers. But by noon the stocks of all the supermarkets and larger stores were gone. Generally, sales were limited to one gallon per customer.

Expert Describes H-Bomb Process

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's hydrogen weapons employ a four-stage fission-fission-fusion-fission process of energy release, Dr. Ralph Lapp said today.

The nuclear physicist provided this new wrinkle on how hydrogen weapons work after studying a long-overlooked government report which disclosed the key ingredient in the weapons is an ordinarily nonexplosive chemical called lithium deuteride.

Pound for pound, lithium deuteride is at least half as costly as the key alternative ingredients of conventional atomic weapons — uranium 235 or plutonium.

The Atomic Energy Commission some time ago made public the fact that tritium — the heaviest of the hydrogen isotopes — is the substance which produces the explosive thermonuclear reaction of the H-bomb. It's done by a process known as fusion — joining — of atoms as distinguished from the fission — splitting — process of the A-bomb.

The AEC also indicated that the tritium is produced by bombarding a form of lithium with atomic neutrons, or rays, in special nuclear reactors.

But the new Lapp slant is that most of the tritium is manufactured within the exploding bomb itself, with built-in lithium deuteride as the source.

The first official disclosure that the lithium compound is used inside hydrogen weapons was made by Dr. W. J. Frank of the AECs weapons laboratory at Livermore, Calif.

He did so in a talk at a symposium on the "Plowshare" program — the venture aimed at using nuclear explosives for peaceful purposes such as canal digging — held at the University of California at Davis more than a year ago.

Lapp told a reporter about it today, with this interpretation of how the chemical is employed in weapons:

1. The explosion is triggered by the initial detonation of either U-235 or plutonium, forming a kind of core within the bomb. In the fission chain reaction involving either of those "conventional" explosives, atomic neutrons are released.

2. The lithium in the lithium deuteride undergoes fission, as a result of bombardment by neutrons. And this converts the lithium to tritium and helium.

3. Atoms of this "hot" tritium fuse with atoms of dueterium — another form of heavy hydrogen — contained in the deuteride component of the lithium deuteride.

4. More neutrons generated by this previous reaction cause the fissioning of uranium 238—ordinarily not fissionable except by very fast-moving neutrons — which constitutes the surrounding outer "jacket" of the bomb.

And all four steps release explosive energy of their own, the whole process taking place in a tiny fraction of a second.

"Thus," said Lapp, "you have a fission-fission-fusion-fission process — '4-F' as it were."

Dr. Frank in the original report referred to potential costs of nuclear explosives for "Plowshare" use. He set the price of U-235 or plutonium at about $5,000 a pound but said lithium deuteride costs about $2,500 a pound.

But Dr. Lapp said the latter probably could be produced for a great deal less than $2,500.

Shipper Says Gulf Rigs Pose Hazard

HOUSTON (AP)—A representative of a shipping firm complained Thursday that the Gulf of Mexico is clustered with offshore oil rigs and threading through them often is hazardous.

There are more than 1,400 drilling platforms and other types of structures in the Gulf, Capt. E. B. Hendrix, manager of the marine division for Lykes Bros. Shipping Lines, said in a letter to the safety and advisory council of the port of Houston.

Phil Kuntze, council chairman, said Hendrix' complaint will be presented at the June meeting of the Houston Maritime Association.

"We now find with the increased size of oil rig structures and the tremendous depths at which they operate that they are continuing to move southward, to the point that they have now penetrated the traditional sea routes between New Orleans and the West Gulf ports," Hendrix wrote.

He suggested that a committee be formed to work out a solution.

LBJ Greets Centenarian

NEW YORK (AP) — "One hundred and three years span more than half the life of the United States. Your anniversary reminds us anew of our country's youth and vitality and of the opportunities open for us through the lifetimes ahead."

The greeting came from President Johnson for Edward Everett Cauthorne, who celebrated his 103rd birthday in Queens Thursday.

Cauthorne, a native of Missouri who lives at a home for the aged, was feted at a luncheon. His days as a cowboy, schoolteacher and court clerk at the trial of Frank James, the brother of Jesse, all were recalled. He was hailed as the oldest living alumnus of Harvard and the University of Texas.

Cauthorne received six T-bone steaks from Gov. John B. Connally of Texas. He promptly devoured one, using his own teeth.

Gen. Taylor's Plane Hit By Ground Fire

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)— A jet plane returning U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor to Saigon from Da Nang was hit by a round of small-arms fire from the ground today but neither Taylor nor anyon aboard the craft was hurt.

Reliable sources said the plane, a Canberra jet, took one round of fire in the nose section. But the sources said it was not known the plane had been hit until after it landed safely at Saigon Airport.
