Allies Take Lae; Nazis Falling Back

Trap Is Laid For Remnants

Victory Said Serious Blow; Allies Move "On Way Back"

By OLEN CLEMENTS
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Saturday, Sept. 18—Japan's main New Guinea coastal base of Lae has been captured by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces just 12 days after they unleashed a powerhouse drive on it and the few enemy soldiers who escaped death are heading straight into a trap laid for them in high mountains to the north.

Climaxing victory over a northeastern New Guinea Army of the enemy, once estimated to total 20,000, veteran Australian jungle troops swept into the air base at 11 a. m. Thursday after the last defenses in the bomb-wrecked town were levelled by four and two-engined bombers.

Called Serious Blow

"The Lae victory, accomplished in the face of superior forces available to the enemy, represents a serious blow to him," General MacArthur said in a special field headquarters statement after the capture was first announced in today's communique.

"With God's help, we are making our way back."

The "way back" leads toward the Philippines where the heroic general of Bataan and Corregidor has vowed he shall return.

The Japanese, who had relied on pillbox and trench defenses on outskirt plantations — defenses which were left in ruins by a series of powerful air attacks—offered only slight resistance at the end, the survivors hurrying to brush and hills under pursuit of the attackers.

Blockades Are Erected

Sensing just such a move, the encircling Allied forces had built blockades across the only useable trails above Lae. Some of these posts are manned by American paratroops.

Troops entering Lae, once designated as the new capital of New Guinea's mandated territory, found it a shambles. There were only a few Japanese alive in the ruins and these were slain.

In the morning hours Thursday before it fell, Liberators and Mitchells dumped 43 tons of bombs on the remaining points of resistance. Wednesday and Thursday more than 100,000 rounds of machinegun fire were directed at the enemy by raiding planes.

Reds Smash On Beyond Bryansk

Race For Dnieper Started By Nazis

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Saturday, Sept. 18—Soviet troops stormed the high west bank of the Desna river to capture the central Russian fortress of Bryansk and its sister city Bezhitsa yesterday, while far to the south Ukrainian columns captured Ossipenko and smashed to within 35 miles of the Dniper river, Moscow announced early today.

A day of crashing successes along a 600-mile front was topped by the long-sought victory at Bryansk as the Germans fell back in sector after sector in a virtual race for the Dniper.

Hundreds Of Towns Freed

Hundreds of hamlets and villages fell as the Russians swept toward Melitopol and Zaparozhe from points 35 miles to the east, moved along two railroads from Chaplino and Lozavaya to outflank Pavlograd, closed in on Krasnogrod, and spread out between Nezhin and Priluki on the road to Kiev, only 55 miles from their grasp.

The Soviet offensive, only a little more than two months old, moved with such speed and power that President Roosevelt told the American Congress in his message yesterday that "the Russian campaign moves toward the elimination of every German from Russian soil—toward the invasion of Germany itself." The President said the Russians had inflicted on the Germans "the greatest military reversal since Napoleon's retreat in 1812."

Victory Salute Ordered

Moscow batteries were ordered to thunder 20 salvoes from 124 guns to mark the capture of Bryansk, once key bastion of German lines in mid-Russia, and its sister city. Coming little more than two months after the Red Army unleashed its first summer offensive in three years of war, the captures ranked with the taking of Kharkov, Stalino and Taganrog in the relentless march to the south.

Lamesa Man Held In Shooting Of Negro

LAMESA, Sept. 17 (Special) — Leonard Livingston, about 50, negro worker for a local trucking firm, was shot to death about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon on the firm's property. Charged with murder was a company employe, Jack Aldridge, a white man about 35.

Aldridge waived examining trial before Justice of Peace D. M. Campbell and was bound over to action of the 106th district court grand jury which meets here Oct. 13. He posted bond of $2,000.

Rollin McCord, Tahoka, district attorney, prepared the charge which was signed by Sheriff A. M. Bennett of Lamesa.

Officials had not completed their investigation but had received accounts that trouble had arisen between the negro and white man over division of work assigned them.

Officials said the negro was shot with a .38 caliber automatic. The slug entered his right eye, they said. He died almost instantly.

FDR's Message Pictures Bright Outlook In War

President Issues Warning That Hard Task Still Ahead

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—President Roosevelt, broadly sketching an optimistic picture of the war's outlook, told Congress today that Rumania, Hungary, Finland and Bulgaria are thirsting for peace and that "definite times and places" have been chosen for tremendous new blows—including additional invasions of Europe — against Germany and Japan.

Yet he warned that "we are still a long, long way from ultimate victory in any major theater of the war."

Biggest Job In History

"In all history," he said, "there has never been a task so tremendous as that which we now face. We can do it—and we will do it—but we must plan and work and fight with every ounce of intelligence and energy and courage that we possess."

In a 6,000-word message to the legislators, Mr. Roosevelt also made these major pronouncements:

1. The Pacific islands mandated to Japan by the League of Nations will be taken from her and also the territories which she stole from China.

2. "When Hitler and the Nazis go out, the Prussian military clique must go with them. The war-breeding gang of militarists must be rooted out of Germany—and out of Japan—if we are to have any real assurance of future peace."

Fair Relationships

3. We seek cooperation with other nations "toward the end that world aggression be ended and that fair international relationships be established on a permanent basis."

"The policy of the good neighbor has shown such success in the hemisphere of the Americas," he added, "that its extension to the whole world seems to be logical next step."

Indirectly, the President replied, too, to a question frequently asked in this country: Whether the Soviets may not be ready to quit the war once the Nazis are driven back to the German border.

He said the Russian offensive is rolling on "toward the elimination of every German from Russian soil—toward the invasion of Germany itself."

Four Divisions Of Message

The message, one of the longest Mr. Roosevelt has sent Congress, fell roughly into four major divisions: A review of the military and strategic situation, the pro-

Filthy Shipments Of Foodstuffs Alleged

DALLAS, Sept. 17. (AP)—A government libel case for confiscation of 1,344 cartons of frozen eggs, weighing 30 pounds each; and of 466 cases of shrimp, each weighing 50 pounds, was filed in Federal Judge W. H. Atwell's court today. The suit was authorized by Assistant United States Attorney Clyde Hood, on a report from the food, drug and cosmetics division.

Both shipments, alleged to be filthy and decomposed, and unfit for human consumption, were en route through Dallas, the shrimp from Morgan City, La., to Chicago, and the eggs from Wichita, Kan., to Fort Worth, when they were held up at a Dallas cold storage plant by government food and drug investigators.

NEW POLIO CASE

HOUSTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—A 19-months old baby girl was admitted to the infantile paralysis ward at Jefferson Davis hospital today, bringing the total of polio cases here to 70 for the year.

Hurricane Hangs Off Gulf Coast

HOUSTON, Sept. 17. (AP) — A severe tropical hurricane which hovered almost stationary off the Texas coast for more than 24 hours was charted to move shoreward tonight and sweep inland with terrific forces over the Galveston-Freeport area early Saturday.

The United States weather bureau's latest advisory 7:45 (p. c. w.) continued to forecast destructive winds and dangerously high tides along the middle and upper Texas coasts and in western Louisiana when the disturbance strikes.

For the center of the blow over the Galveston-Freeport area, as in advisories yesterday and last night, the bureau said there would be winds of from 75 to 85 miles an hour with gusts to 100 miles. Winds of from 60 to 70 miles were predicted for the Texas-Louisiana border and south of the storm center to Port O'Connor, Tex.

Hurricane warnings were posted from Port O'Connor to Lake Charles, La., and storm warnings were extended from Lake Charles to New Orleans, and south of Port O'Connor to Aransas Pass, Tex.

Chinese Troops Trained By American Officers In India

NEW DELHI, Sept. 17. (AP)—The disclosure that Chinese troops have been transported from China to India to be trained by American officers has lifted the veil on one of the most daring enterprises in this theater of operations.

Regiment after regiment of Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek's troops were transported from China, stripped of every ounce of equipment and wearing only thin dungarees so that a great number could be brought over in a hurry.

Once in India, they joined troops who were evacuated from Furma 18 months ago, and together they have been given the most intensive training possible.

I visited the training center in eastern India and saw them being given the works, from how to crawl on their stomachs over open ground to how to operate the most modern American artillery and radio apparatus.

Part of them already have had their first skirmishes with the enemy. The latest was reported in yesterday's communique. Disclosing that they had inflicted substantial casualties on a force of 200 Japanese in northern Burma.

Once arrived in India, the Chinese were given full uniforms and put on strengthening rations which put as much as 20 pounds per man on whole companies.

The soldiers swung into the training readily. The officers were at first reluctant to risk "losing face" by being taught by foreigners, but they slowly changed their attitude when they saw what organized training methods could accomplish.

BEAUTIFUL TO GENERAL . . . AND US—Described by Gen. Douglas MacArthur as he looked down from his Flying Fortress as "beautiful, wonderful", this shows part of the landing of paratroops in the Markham valley on New Guinea, starting the final push that Friday brought Lae into Allied hands, following the fall of Salamaua a few days earlier. Two transports (circles, left) have unloaded. Three more move in from the right behind the smoke screen.

24 Die, 250 Hurt In Munition Blast

Explosion Is Felt 20 Miles Distant

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 17. (AP)—A mighty blast attributed to the explosion of ammunition in transit killed 24 persons and injured some 250 others today at the Norfolk naval air station, in Norfolk's worst disaster since the dirigible Roma crashed in 1922 with a loss of 34 lives.

It was learned unofficially that a vast majority of the dead and injured were Navy men. Official casualty lists were expected soon after the Navy had notified the victim's next of kin.

Felt 20 Miles Away

The explosion, felt in Norfolk points as far as 20 miles away, badly damaged several hangars at the station and hurled framework and timbers hundreds of yards. Windows were smashed and pictures fell from the walls in a 10-mile area. Smoke and flame billowed over the area.

Norfolk police said they were informed depth charges of the type carried by the Navy's anti-submarine patrol bombers had exploded. Other reports from civilian sources said a gasoline truck became ignited from the exploding ammunition.

Witnessed Explosion

Oscar Valignette, field representative of an aircraft company, who was on the third floor of the air station administration building, said he was looking out of a window when the explosion occurred.

"I saw a huge sheet of flame and a column of smoke before I even heard the explosion," Valignette reported. "It seemed to come from a hangar about a quarter mile from the administration building. Then I felt an indescribable concussion, and the whole window caved in on me like a blaket of glass. Several of those near me were cut but none seriously." Valignette suffered shock and scalp lacerations.

Giant Trench Blasted

One civilian reported that the explosion ripped a rough trench 40 feet long by six feet deep in the thick concrete of a runway.

The same source said the air station dispensary was damaged and that several patients already there suffered cuts from smashed windows. He added that several planes were destroyed and a number of others were damaged, parked automobiles were wrecked, two barracks buildings were demolished, a storage building flattened and a big hangar damaged considerably by the flames which followed the blast.

The electric light system over the entire naval operating base was knocked out.

U. S. Destroyer, Tug Are Announced Lost

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—The Navy announced tonight the loss of a destroyer and a tug in the Mediterranean sea and a tug in the south Pacific during the past week.

The destroyer, the U. S. S. Rowan, went down as a result of an under water explosion in Italian waters saturday.

The tug Nauset, was sunk by enemy action in the Mediterranean on Sept. 9, the day of the Allied landing at Salerno.

In the south Pacific, the tug Navajo was sunk after an underwater explosion on Sunday.

TWO DIE IN CRASH

WAXAHACHIE, Tex., Sept. 17. (AP) — An Army training plane crashed near here late today, injuring its two occupants fatally. The plane landed here from Terrell, Tex., to refuel and was flying back when the accident occurred, witnesses here said.

Vital Moves Faced By Restless Hungary

BERN, Sept. 17. (AP)—As Allied forces drove forward in Italy, restless Hungary, subjected to increased pressure from Berlin while striving to check home government opposition, today faced vital military and political decisions.

A Budapest dispatch to the Swiss newspaper Gazette De Lausanne said activity in Hungarian political and parliamentary circles had become intense, but added that there was "no serious confirmation of a government crisis."

There has been a strong atempt to curb a growing tendency for withdrawing from the war, and yesterday Propaganda Minister Antal declared that those arguing in favor of the country's capitulation were "betraying the interests and security of the country," it was reported.

Quarter Million In Bonds Added

Another $285,528 was added Friday to the Lubbock total in the Third War Loan drive, according to report to Drive Chairman Neil Wright.

This boosted the total figure for the campaign to $3,879,757, which is $739,143 short of the county quota of $4,618,900. There is practically no chance that the goal might be reached this week, as campaign officials had hoped.

The general chairman emphasized, however, that the drive will continue until the quota is completed and expressed confidence that it will be reached before the national campaign ends officially next Oct. 2.

NEW HAMPSHIRE LEADS WITH 83% COLLECTED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—With 83 per cent of its quota subscribed, New Hampshire led all states at the half-way point of the $15,000,000,000 third war loan, the Treasury disclosed tonight.

The state reported sales of $24,000,000 toward its goal of $39,000,000. Rhode Island, previous leader, fell to second place with 76 per cent of its $81,000,000 quota achieved.

The breakdown was on the $7,679,000,000 total announced last night. Of that amount, however, $512,000,000 represented federal trust funds, thus leaving the actual percentage of war bond sales two points shy of the half-way mark.

Corporate Investments

The summary also showed that corporate investments accounted for $6,088,000,000 or 61 per cent of the goal for that class, while individuals, partnerships and personal trust accounts were 78 per cent short of their $5,000,000,000 quota with purchases of $1,079,000,000.

No figures on Friday sales were available.

Father And Daughter Charged In Slaying

DALLAS, Sept. 17. (AP)—Murder charges were filed today against William Robert Lawler, 49, and his daughter, Mrs. Nadine O'Donahue, 17, in connection with the fatal shoting of her Seabee husband, Terry Windsor O'Donahue, 25.

O'Donahue was shot yesterday while he was on the front porch of his wife's home. Police quoted Mrs. O'Donahue as saying she had been married since last October and had made several unsuccessful attempts to get a divorce.

U. S. Approaches Capacity Output

Figures Given On War Production

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP) — The United States is approaching full capacity war production and is now turning out planes at the rate of 7,500 a month or 90,000 a year and merchant ships at the rate of almost five a day.

These figures were disclosed by President Roosevelt today in his special message to Congress in which he asserted the British Empire and the United States are now producing so much of every essential of war that "we have definite superiority over Germany and Japan which is growing with every succeeding minute."

Greater Output Asked

"But we have no minutes to lose," he warned. He called for greater plane output, saying it is still not up to schedule.

"The best way to avoid heavy casualty lists," he declared, "is to provide our troops with the best equipment possible—and plenty of it."

The production rate of increase dropped in June and July and caused some worry, he said, but picked up in August and this month "it is even better."

He said approximately 15,000 planes, with an important increase in production of heavy bombers in August, and 281 merchant ships aggregating 3,200,000 tons, were produced during the two months Congress was in recess.

Plane Emphasis Switched

The President's original goal for plane output this year was 125,000. This was pared down twice until the figure dropped below 100,000, to the present rate of 7,500 a month is approaching the new goal although the num-

Americans Hit Vital Jap Base In Burma

NEW DELHI, Sept. 17 (AP) — American fighters and bombers of the 10th U. S. Air force have bombed an important enemy supply base in the Hukawng valley of northern Burma, an air communique said today, estimating at least 20 buildings were destroyed.

The communique explained that the target was a Japanese forward supply base which also served as a trans-shipment point for water-borne traffic in the area.

B-25 bombers destroyed a number of locomotives and cars and did much damage during the two days to railroad yards and railways.

Fifth Batters Route Inland

British Eighth Joins For Northward Lunge In Italy

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 17—The American Fifth Army, winner of the violent battle for Salerno, joined today with the British Eighth Army after the latter's epic 200-mile conquest of the Italian toe and shattered the last hopes of the weakened Germans for establishing a defense line in that area.

Indications were that the Germans already were being pulled away from the southern end of the Salerno front to avoid being caught from behind by Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's onrushing Britons.

Firmly holding the initiative, Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army battered 10 miles inland to capture the elevated village of Albanella.

Other Heights Seized

The Allies also seized other heights south of the Calore river, commanding the coastal flats on which much of the past week's bloody fighting raged.

(Radio Algiers said the Allies had taken Montecorvino and its excellent airfield, 8½ miles inland and 11 miles east of Salerno.)

All Allied holdings in southern, eastern and western Italy were welded into a single front. The Eighth Army not only joined the

LANDING REPORTED

LONDON, Saturday, Sept. 18 (AP) — The French Equatorial Africa radio at Brazzaville said last night in a broadcast recorded by Reuters that Allied Commando troops had landed on the Italian island of Rhodes in the eastern Mediterranean.

"Groups of Italian soldiers are taking part in the fight there against German forces," the broadcast added.

Fifth below the cemented Salerno beachheads, but established contact with other British forces beating up eastern Italy's Adriatic coast from Taranto beyond Bari.

The German air force almost vanished from southern Italian skies. The preponderance of Allied air power was turned in smashing might against communications north of Naples, casting a high explosive barrage around that great Italian port which Clark calls his next objective.

High Fighting Spirit

The half-American, half-British Fifth Army was strongly reinforced and in high fighting spirit despite a week of violent combat on and near the beaches. Naval support continued excellent.

The possibility that further

Slavs Storm At Gates Of Fiume

LONDON, Sept. 17 (AP)—Yugoslav partisan forces were today reported storming the gates of Fiume, important Italian city on the Adriatic Sea, while other guerrilla forces 160 miles to the southeast widened their beachhed around the Dalmatian seaport of Split, capture of which was announced in the name of the Yugoslav Army of Liberation yesterday.

Today's announcement said the guerrillas had pushed 10 miles up the Dalmatian coast to occupy Trogir.

The Yugoslav partisans held Susak, just across the bridge from Fiume which the Serbs occupied briefly in 1918. More forces were said to be pouring toward the front through Baker, taken early this week during the drive toward the coast.

In Eastern Bosnia

In eastern Bosnia, the capture of the town of Vlasenica, 30 miles northeast of Sarajevo, was also reported. Heavy fighting was reported around Ogulin, north of Split, and Klin.

As thousands of Yugoslav patriots went on the march and the whole Balkan "back door" to Adolf Hitler's European fortress trembled, a German overseas broadcast was recorded by Reuters as saying an Italian General Amico, commander in southern Dalmatia, had been shot by the Fascists.

Smashing Drive Made By Forts

Nantes Laid Waste, Nazi Ships Lashed

LONDON, Sept. 17. (AP)—U. S. Flying Fortresses in Thursday's attacks on Nantes and La Pallice sank a new Nazi destroyer and scored possible hits on three large enemy vessels and a number of harbor craft, photographs made during the operations showed tonight.

The pictures, taken from rear planes in the attacking formations, showed that the warship, apparently recently completed or very near completion, was sinking in the Nantes harbor after American bombs struck it squarely.

Big Merchant Vessels

The possible hits were registered on two big merchant vessels and several harbor boats in addition to the main damage to shipbuilding and repair yards, docks, warehouses and railroad yards. Raging fires also were strated in large coal bunkers.

Aside from the main target in the La Pallice raid, the "Battle of the Atlantic" submarine pens and locks were covered with concentrated bamb bursts, and a large ship in a nearby and two drydocks also were possibly hit. Smoke from the bursting explosives obscured the details in the photographs, however.

Likened To Hamburg

The Nazi-controlled Paris radio, in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press, likened the damage caused by the single Flying Fortress raid on Nantes as comparable to that done by the RAF's four big raids on Hamburg.

"The center of Nantes has been completely wiped out and the city is without gas, electricity and water," the broadcast said. "In three-quarters of an hour 300 bombs transformed the city into a heap of ruins. Between the Palace Royale and the Place Du Commerce nothing was left standing. It is estimated 1,500 buildings were completely destroyed."

Jap Air Fields In Solomons Pounded

SOUTH PACIFIC HEADQUARTERS, Friday, Sept. 17. (AP)—Two hundred and fifty bombers, escorted by fighters, pounded Japanese airdromes in the northern Solomons last Tuesday, a spokesman for Admiral William F. Halsey said today.

(A communique from General Doublas MacArthur's headquarters today told of strong bomber forces carrying out successful attacks on the Buin area. No date was mentioned.)

Liberators, avengers, and Dauntless bombers participated in a series of dawn-to-dusk raids. Their targets were airdromes at Kahili, Buin, Faisi, and Ballale.

Reports still are being assembled from the air units involved.

The intensified air offensive against the northern Solomons, the heaviest in several months, was remindful of the persisent air attacks launched against Munda just before the New Georgia invasion.

Knox In England Says Jap Navy Staying "Out Of Wet"

LONDON, Sept. 17. (AP)—U. S. Navy Secretary Frank Knox, in England for a 10-day inspection trip, warned today that the main battle against Japan is still to come but added that "It may seem significant that our Navy hasn't seen a Japanese aircraft carrier in the last four months."

"Apparently they don't like to come out where it is wet," he told a press conference.

Knox said he could not imagine a happier day than this in the light of Italian developments.

"It is a joy to see how thoroughly we (British and Americans) have learned to work together," he said.

The secretary of the navy arrived in Britain by plane, accompanied by Capt. Leland P. Lovett, chief of the Navy public relations department.

Knox said he would inspect American naval activities here, acquaint himself with the needs for the immediate future and seek a closer touch with the British Allies but added that he had no other mission.

During questioning, he repeated a previous assertion that although German U-boats had not yet been defeated, "we have given them a good shallacking."

"They'll be back and we'll be ready for them when they come," he said. "They probably will be with us until the end of the war and may be preparing a fresh assault now."

EATING CEREALS

"EAT MORE cereals and don't worry about the waistline," says Dr. Henry C. Sherman, chief of the bureau of human nutrition and home economics.

About one-fourth more grain food with more fruits and vegetables can well be used in American wartime meals to offset reduced quantities of meat, fats and sweets.

The woman who does not want to gain weight need not juggle arithmetic sums to balance calories. Chances are she's getting less sugar and fats in her meals than she had in peacetime and using more of her energy getting places without the family car.

When eating cereal foods, be resourceful, says Dr. Sherman. Eat grain foods in any form enjoyed, being sure to include in the meals more fruits and vegetables to add the vitamins and minerals lacking in cereals. Use cereals in soups, in scalloped dishes, as breakfast food, in breadstuffs, in desserts.

And another thing about cereals is they are plentiful. They're economical and help keep down the grocery bill. The homemaker and her family may eat all they wish and still feel patriotic.

HAIR STYLES

NO ONE can tell you, without seeing you, how to wear your hair most becomingly. But here are a few general rules that may help: If you are small and very feminine, curls and fluff are suitable.

A pompadour is all to the good, as it adds to your height and is in keeping with your personality. But you are supposed to omit bangs. Leave them to the tall girls who will usually look their best if they let the thickest part of their hair fill in around the backs of their necks (this part goes for thin faces, too), arranging the tops and sides very simply.

No long bobs on stout girls—they only give the throat and face a thick look. We can think of no one who looks well with row upon row of still little sausage curls clinging up the back of her head!

CHINA WEAR—"East is east, but the twain can meet very nicely on the fashion front," figured west coast designers. One result is the Chinese spirit of this charming new slack suit, shown at a recent Los Angeles fall fashion show. It's in Ming yellow, with lacquer black buttons. The Chinese motifs on the pocket and the collar edging are in the same black, combined with dragon red.

Victory Tax Is Thought Doomed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (U.P.) — The victory tax, a war baby that was born as a special five per cent payroll levy and grew into part of the current pay-as-you-go system, today seemed destined for an early grave.

Chairman Robert L. Doughton, (D, N. C.), of the House ways and means committee has added his voice to that of Chairman Walter F. George (D., Ga.), of the Senate finance committee in urging that in the interest of simplification the victory tax be combined with the six per cent normal tax. Neither has said definitely what the combined tax ought to be, but George suggested 10 per cent, which apparently would be an increase of one per cent over the two taken separately.

Simplification Wanted

Simplification appears to be the order of the day as far as Doughton is concerned. He said his committee was working on ways to simplify tax forms in time for the next filing of returns on March 15, 1944. He added that after this coming tax bill is passed, time should be spent on a general simplification of tax laws and plugging of loopholes instead of in seeking further increases in revenue.

Action on the new tax bill has been delayed, with Doughton reporting that hearings of the ways and means committee, originally scheduled to begin next Monday, have been "postponed indefinitely." President Roosevelt was reported to have asked the postponement until the war bond drive was over.

Truck Consolidation Plans Are Submitted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—Three trucking consolidation plans which it estimated would save more than a million miles annually were announced today by the Office of Defense Transportation (ODT).

The consolidations, effective September 21 under the ODT order, were submitted by motor carriers operating in Texas, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and South Dakota.

One plan, expected to result in an annual saving of 30,000 truck miles, was submitted jointly by English Freight Company, Inc., of Dallas, and Red Arrow Freight Lines, Inc., of Houston. It involves consolidation of certain operations between Austin and San Antonio.

Body Of World War 1 Veteran Is Unclaimed

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 17. (AP)—The body of a man identified in press clippings as probably the Youngest American soldier in World War I will go to the grave tomorrow, unclaimed by any relative during the month it has lain in the county morgue.

He was Stephen William Harvey, who died Aug. 13 in a hotel room. Coroner's investigators said they believe he was born in Seattle, and came to Los Angeles last June.

Clippings in his room, the coroner's office reported, acclaim "Smiles" Harvey, who joined the Canadian army in 1914 at the age of 13, fought through the bloody campaigns of St. Julien, Ypres, Somme and Passchendaele, and won the Cross of St. George and the Croix de Guerre.

There was a letter from King George V and a note from Herbert Hoover. Other congratulatory missives bear the signatures of Lord Halifax and Will Rogers.

Some of the letters, the coroner said, indicate Harvey's father might have been a federal Judge in Hawaii. But efforts to contact any of these persons have failed.

Harvey transferred from Canadian to American forces during the war.

The indictment was returned before U. S. District Judge Seward J. Moinet. Punishment for the eight, if found guilty, is 30 years imprisonment to death.

Hitler Prepares For Final Stand In Italy

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press War Analyst

Difficulties appear to be multiplying for Hitler as he prepares to make his final stand for the defense of Germanay in Italy and the Balkans.

The problem of organizing northern Italy as a Nazi military strong hold is being greatly complicated by the partial choking of the supply bottleneck through the Alps and by the hostile attitude of a large part of the populace and remnants of the Italian Army.

Serious trouble also appears to be developing in the Balkans. The claims of Jugoslav guerrillas to have taken possession of a large section of the Adriatic coast may be exaggerated, but they unquestionably create a grave weak spot in the Axis defense. The Allies may not be slow to take advantage of it.

Patriots Give Trouble

The Greek patriots, too, have been spurred to fresh hope by the prospect of Allied intervention. Added to this is the presence in both countries and in Albania of large bodies of Italian troops who are not in the war any longer on Germany's side and who are a potential menace in event of invasion.

In northern Italy the supply and transportation problem threatens to become acute. Allied bombers have partly disorganized the single rail route from Austria through the Brenner pass and there are unconfirmed reports that hostile Italian troops are interfering with the line. In any event, it is badly clogged, with troops and supplies piling up on the German side.

The roundabout alternative route through France is not an entirely acceptable substitute because of the long haul over railroads in poor condition after four years of war. In addition, Allied bombers are smashing at the route from Lyons to Milan through the Mont Cenis tunnel and the coastal line through Nice.

Hitler Getting Desperate

There are circumstantial reports that Hitler is putting pressure on Switzerland to permit passage of German troops and supplies over the Swiss railways. It seems extremely unlikely that the Swiss would agree. It is also hard to believe that Hitler would attempt to gain his ends by force and violate this traditional island of neutrality.

Yet if the need arises, Hitler is not incapable of such a desperate step. His blockade of the Vatican smacks of desperation. The motive for it is entirely unclear. Certainly it is not to protect the Vatican from rebellious Italians in Rome, who would have no reason or desire to violate it.

The action can only be taken as a sign of the lengths to which Hitler is prepared to go when up against a stone wall.

New Elasto-Plastic Material Developed

BALTIMORE, Sept. 17. (AP)—Development of a new elasto-plastic material which its discoverers assert promises to outmode rubber in automobile inner tubes and numerous other products was announced today by Glenn L. Martin, president of the aircraft manufacturing company which bears his name.

The substance, which has been named marvinol, is not a synthetic rubber, Martin declared, but a completely new material better suited for many of the purposes for which rubber has been used than rubber itself.

Two LAAF Officers Ordered To New Posts

Orders to report to the Second Air Force base at Salt Lake City were received Friday by two officers at LAAF, who will leave in a few days.

The two are Maj. Henry Wray, who commands the 84th Air base squadron; and Capt. John S. Braun, communications and assistant operations officer.

Col. Ralph E. Holmes, commanding LAAF, has announced that Maj. Wray's successor will be Maj. Romain I. Griner, who has been in charge of LAAF's post exchange since the opening of the base. No successors have yet been named to Capt. Braun or Maj. Griner.

Wray Overseas Veteran

Maj. Wray, who with Mrs. Wray resides at 2710 Twenty-third street, has been at LAAF since July of last year. He first commanded negro troops, later succeeded Maj. James K. Kneusel in charge of the important 84th squadron, which entails the major portion of ground forces at the base. A peacetime resident of Rochester, N. Y., where he is engaged in manufacturing, Maj. Wray saw overseas combat duty in World War I. He has a son, Lt. Don Wray, an Air Forces pilot currently stationed at Dalhart.

Capt. Braun and Mrs. Braun live here at 2610 Twenty-first street. He is formerly of Waco and Midland. The Brauns came to LAAF last December.

Maj. Griner, who resides here with his family at 2202 Thirtieth street, is from Portland, Ind., and in civilian life heads a large business connected with the lumbering industry.

LAAF Adds Four New Flying Instructors

Four new flying instructors and a new weather officer were on duty Friday at LAAF.

The flying officers include 2nd Lt. James W. MacDonald, one of the field's ace baseball pitchers before he was sent to the Central Instructors school at Randolph field.

The other three, second lieutenants who recently graduated from the school for pilot pedagogues, are Lt. Gilmer F. Rohde from San Antonio, Lt. Paul Chester Gerhard from Cherokee, Kansas, and Lt. Raymond G. Petts from Detroit, Mich.

Lt. Vermon C. Pohlmann from St. Louis, Mo., is the new weather officer.

Lt. and Mrs Rohde are living at the Hotel Lubbock, and Lt. and Mrs. Petts live at 1714 Twenty-sixth street here.

Income Tax For North Texas Is Estimated

DALLAS, Sept. 17. (U.P.)—Estimated income and victory tax declarations in North Texas stood at 110,000 today, accompanied by $17,000,000 of tax money.

S. L. Mayo, assistant collector of internal revenue, predicted the declarations would amount to $35,000,000 when all had been tabulated.

Revision Of Bus Schedule Asked

Proposed changes in the routing of the Avenue X-25th street bus line were referred to Street Commissioner Hub Jones and City Manager Marlin R. Smith, jr., for study and recommendation at the postponed semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Friday afternoon.

Ray Farmer, bus company operator, explained that the company proposes to discontinue service between Jefferson and Monroe avenue on Twenty-fifth, a distance of one block, and to extend service from Twenty-fifth southward on Jefferson to Twenty-seventh, which is the approximate center of Green Acres addition.

Loop Is Suggested

Mayor Carl E. Sloaton and Commissioners J. O. Jones and Garland Newsom, who attended the meeting, expressed interest in the practicability of continuing service along the whole of the present route, but of extending the line southward from the present terminal point on Monroe from Twenty-fifth to Twenty-seventh, operating through Green Acres to Jefferson, and then operating northward so as to complete a loop at Twenty-fifth and Jefferson.

The recent audit of city records by Condray and Hallmark, local firm, was referred to the commission, approved and payment of $1,284.70 authorized to the auditors for their services. The audit covered to the period from Sept. 1, 1942, to March 31, 1943, which was the end of the city's last fiscal year. C. N. Hallmark, who represented the firm, reported that city records were found in balance and in excellent condition. The report included several minor recommendations relating to routine procedure.

Lubricant Purchase

Purchase of 8,000 gallons of crank case lubricating oil from Cities Service Oil company at 19 cents per gallon was approved. The bid was the lowest among six submitted.

The city manager was authorized to buy a used grader for $250 from Tom Cadenhead of Brownfield. The equipment is needed for parks maintenance and can be used upon streets, the city manager said.

Hitler Effigy Used To Shame Workers

NEW CUMBERLAND, Pa., Sept. 17. (AP) — "Hitler's headquarters" has been set up at the huge Army service forces depot here.

The Army announced a life size plastic effigy of the Nazi fuehrer would be moved from week to week to the department with the largest number of accidents among civilian employes.

Workers held responsible for accidents also will receive "congratulations" from "enemy headquarters" for helping slow movement of supplies to the armed forces.

NMU President Is Reclassified 1-A

NEW YORK, Sept. 17. (U.P.)—Joseph E. Curran, president of the National Maritime union who shipped out as a seaman last month, was reclassified 1A—available for immediate induction—by draft appeals board number four today.

The board, acting on an appeal filed by New York Selective Service Director Col. Arthur V. McDermott, voted four to one to rescind the 2A—essential to the war effort—rating granted Curran by his local draft board. It ruled that Curran was not entitled to deferment as a seaman since that is not his regular occupation, and that there was no evidence to prove that the NMU had "made any effort to find a replacement" for him as president.

In a statement issued from McDermott's office the appeal board said that Curran's trip abroad was made as a union official and therefore did not qualify him for a seaman's deferment.

Curran, 37, shipped out on a merchant vessel early in August. On August 31, after his departure and after his local draft board met with NMU officials, he was placed in classification 2A, on the grounds he was needed "to hold together" the union.

Milk Producers Name ODT Advisory Group

Milk producers in the Lubbock area met with ODT officials Friday morning and named a three-men advisory committee for the area, representing producers, haulers, and processors. The committee will serve in contacting the ODT with the many and varied difficulties of transportation, with a view of conserving all the mileage, fuel, and equipment possible, while "getting the job done," they said.

G. G. Gilliland of Abernathy, president of the Lubbock Grade A Milk Producers association, was elected to represent the producers on a committee named to act as an advisory group with the ODT. The haulers named Charles Long of route 5, Lubbock, and the processors selected Charles Young of Borden Co., Lubbock.

Cattlemen Name District Board

Cattlemen from over the 35-county district of the Lubbock Office of Defense Transportation, including also a number of cattle buyers, several haulers, and one meat processor, met in Lubbock hotel Friday afternoon with two ODT officials for the purpose of perfecting an advisory committee to assist the government in eliminating unnecessary travel and in conserving vital motor transport equipment.

A district-wide committee of four, one man each of the four allied groups comprising the overall cattle industry, was selected, as follows:

Personnel Of Committee

W. F. Hudman of Lubbock, representing the haulers, who also was elected chairman; C. W. Kinsolving of Cross Roads, N. M., representing the cattle producers; Jim Mullins, Lubbock, representing the buyers; and Alex McDonald of Lubbock, representing the processors.

R. E. Wood, district ODT manager who called the meeting, and presided, said the four committeemen must be approved at Washington.

Wood said it will be the mission of the four-man district committee to assist the industry in each of the 35 counties and help select a sub-committe from each. The sub-committees will pass along to the district committee, and the latter to the Lubbock ODT office, the transportation problems as they arise, or now exist.

Immunzation Urged For School Children

AUSTIN, Sept 17. (AP)—Opening of Texas schools prompted the state health department today to urge immunization of all school children against smallpox and diphtheria.

While there is no state law requiring immunization, independent school boards may demand it as a pre-requisite for entrance, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, reminded.

"Incidence of diphtheria usually increases and reaches a peak around Thanksgiving," Dr. Cox said.

The health department does not recommend keeping schools closed as a practical control measure against infantile paralysis, he added.

The department reported the following were above median incidence in Texas for the week ending Sept. 11 (median figure last): Dysentery 253 cases compared to 79, influenza 273 and 90, malaria 279 and 248, pneumonia 92 and 33, infantile paralysis 50 and 8, typhus fever 49 and 20, whooping cough 134 and 88.

Red Cross Workers Are In Storm Area

AUSTIN, Sept. 17. (U.P.) — The governor's office today was advised that five Red Cross disaster relief workers have been sent from St. Louis to Galveston, Houston, Bay City and Port Arthur to lend assistance in making precautionary plans against an approaching hurricane.

The public safety department, health department, highway department, public welfare department and the adjutant general's office had workers ready to move into the area where needed.

A statement from the governor's office said Red Cross workers who had been in Houston since the July hurricane left there Thursday morning before the new storm warning was received. The five new workers will replace them.

Brilliant Flight Made By Forts

A U. S. BOMBER STATION In England, Sept. 17. (AP)—Pilots at this great American Flying Fortress base in England have just established a brilliant new record, carrying out a 1,600-mile round trip to Cognac and returning from the 11-hour bombing mission after dark last night without a single battle scar.

The attack was directed against the German fighter plane assembly base at Cognac, which is in the Bordeaux region, and was the longest fortress mission ever carried out in this theater.

More than a score of planes from this base alone participated.

Met Little Opposition

The powerful thrust deep into occupied France met relatively little opposition from the German air force or from ground defenses. The enemy planes that did rise to challenge the fortresses either did not try to penetrate the virtual wall of lead thrown around the formation or were cut down by it.

One ME-109 plummeted into the sea shredded by so many fortress bullets that not one gunner in the formation was able to claim the kill.

Brig. Gen. Robert F. Travis of Savannah, Ga., who led the force attacking Nantes said "the fighter opposition was vicious and sustained, but I'm sure we did a tremendous amount of damage."

Maj. Clinton F. Ball of Waco, Tex., who led one formation against Nantes, piloting the "Linda Ball," named after his eight-months-old daughter, said: "It wasn't a bad mission. We saw about 25 fighters but the P-47s gave us close cover."

HOUSTON DIRECTOR NAMED

Plainview Strikes Late To Beat Cubs

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 17. (Special)—The Plainview Bulldogs came to life after a listless three quarters here tonight to defeat the Olney Cubs 14 to 0.

Bob Horne, Bulldog quarterback, scored the first marker midway in the last period with a 17 yard jaunt around end for a touchdown. Russell, a guard, booted the extra point.

Olney took to the air in an attempt to rally and Williams intercepted a pass on the first play and on the next play Cale Farris, halfback, romped 49 yards for another touchdown. Russell again added the extra point.

Horne was nipped just short of a third touchdown when he broke away for a 55 yard jaunt around end only to be stopped by Collins on the Olney 9 yard line.

Both teams played only in and out football throughout the game with Plainview finally wearing down the lighter Cubs in the late stages of the game. Clayton, Olney end, kept his mates out of much trouble with his fine kicking.

Grid Spotlight On Fort Worth

Southwestern To Clash With NTAC

FORT WORTH, Sept. 17. (AP)—Two star-studded teams open the Southwest's top grid feud of the season here Saturday night when Southwestern pits its terrific ground game against the pass magic of North Texas Agricultural college. It's the first of two games between these schools.

There are former East Texas State, Texas Wesleyan, Abilene Christian, Howard Payne, North Texas State, Texas Tech and Southwest Texas State performers sprinkled through the squads, so probably the best description of the event would be the Texas college all-star game.

However, the real feud is between Texas on one side and SMU and TCU on the other. Six members of the University of Texas team that won the Southwest conference title last fall are starting for Southwestern, including Jackie Field, the conference's top scorer. Southern Methodist will have three and Texas Christian six in the North Texas line-up at game opening.

Pete Stout of TCU, Pete Blanda of Texas Tech and Red Maley of Southern Methodist give the Aggies one of the greatest arrays of passers a college team ever could hope for. Matched against it will be the ball-carrying prowess of Field and Ken Matthews, another Texas speedster, with Spot Collins, the great Texas blocking back, clearing the way for them.

Southwestern is not expected to stay on the ground all together, however. It has in Paul Gips a young fellow who can throw the ball around with the best of them. Gips was at Southwestern last sesaon.

A crowd of 10,000 is forecast.

Rival Army Elevens Here To Meet Twice

Lubbock's two air fields will play two football games this fall, Oct. 3 and Nov. 11, it was announced last night.

This not only gives South Plains Army Air field a chance to get even for the 20-0 licking Lubbock Army Air field gave SPAAF last year, but gives it an opportunity to go ahead one by sweeping the two-game series.

Of course, LAAF is determined to make her lead all the more decisive by taking both games and making it three to none.

The Oct. 3 game will be played in Tech stadium. It too will be a Sunday afternoon game, as will the SPAAF game with the 51st General hospital of Fort Bliss, Sept. 26.

While LAAF tapers off for Texas Tech, SPAAF has been having heavy and hard scrimmages to perfect its plays for the 51st Red Devils, who will come here packed with power and already flushed with victory over their own home town rivals, the Fort Bliss station hospital team. The Devils beat the Medics by a decisive 18 to 6 count.

Capt. Nathan B. Eubank of the SPAAF eleven put his No. 1 combination into red shirts yesterday and watched them rip off five yards or more against the No. 2 team every time they ran a play. The plunging of 190-pound Luther Reagan, a Milwaukee State Teachers college product, sparked the scrimmage. He plays fullback.

The Commandos were concentrating on quick opening plays yesterday.

Cards Move On, Stop Cubs, 2-1

Mort Cooper Cops Twentieth Win

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17. (AP)—With the score tied in the 10 inning Walker Cooper doubled to score Stan Musial from first base for the winning run and brother Mort Cooper got his 20th victory of the season tonight as St. Louis defeated the Chicago Cubs 2 to 1.

The 1942 world champions moved to within one game of their second consecutive National league pennant with the Cincinnati Reds' loss to the Pittsburgh Pirates and mathematically eliminated the Brooklyn Dodgers from the race.

GIANTS RAP BUMS

NEW YORK, Sept. 17. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers said goodbye to 1943 pennant chances today as they lost to the New York Giants 6 to 4 while the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Chicago Cubs 2 to 1. All the Dodger runs were packed into the second inning on two singles, two walks and a wild throw by Sid Gordon, the Giants' third baseman.

PIRATES DEFEAT REDS

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17. (AP)—Max Butcher won a pitchers' battle with Bucky Walters as the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Cincinnati Reds here tonight, 1-0.

NEWSOM STOPS YANKS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—The Washington Senators pared the New York Yankees' lead and at the same time strengthened their hold on second place in the American league tonight by capturing their seventh straight triumph, 6-3. Buck Newsom held the Yanks throughout for his third victory in a row.

TIGERS BEAT TRIBE, 2-1

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17. (AP)—Allie Reynolds fanned 12 batters and shutout the Detroit Tigers with two singles until the final inning tonight, but the Bengals tallied twice in the ninth on three safeties and an error to defeat Cleveland's Indians 2 to 1.

CHISOX TAKE BROWNS, 2-1

CHICAGO, Sept. 17. (AP)—A fly ball by Tony Cuccinello in the eighth inning tonight drove Guy Curtright home with the run which gave the Chicago White Sox a 2 to 1 victory over the Browns and ended a seven-game winning streak by the St. Louis team.

Lubbock Sends Four Golfers To Tourney

Lubbock Army Air field's fourman team to represent the twin-engine wast base at the All-service Golf tournament at the San Angelo Country club this weekend were at Goodfellow Field, San Angelo, for the qualifying round Friday.

Members of the LAAF team are 2nd Lt. Richard E. Kotch, erstwhile member of the Hendrix college and University of Arkansas golf teams, assistant ordnance officer; 2nd Lt. Noel A. Lucas from St. Paul, who lettered for the University of Minnesota before he became an aviation cadet; S/Sgt. Robert L. Stuart from Henderson, Texas, medalist in the recent City tournament at the Lubbock Country club where he wen to the semi-finals, and Aviation Cadet W. E. (Bill) Durrant from Columbus, Ohio, who shot in the low 70's on the Ohio State golf team and once qualified for a National Amateur tournament before war halted his game.

Sponsored by Lt. Percy Arthur, Goodfellow Field's athletic officer, the tournament at San Angelo Country club is a 72-hole, medal-play event with 18 holes play for Friday and Saturday and 36 on Sunday. Last day's play will be cut to low 60 players and ties.

Scores reported by the Associated Press Friday night on the tournament revealed that Lt. Lucas was pacing the Lubbock golfers in the meet with a 38-39--77 score.

Staff Sgt. Stewart came in next with 39-41—80, followed by Durrant with 41-43—84 and Lt. Kotch with 45-46—91.

Staff Sgt. Jack Isaacs, veteran pro from Langley Field, Va., shot a par 71 to lead the field in the opening day of play.

Fliers-Red Raiders Open Grid Season

Game Expected To Draw 18,000 Fans To Grid Opening

Texas Tech will offer the first showing of the Red Raiders Saturday night in Tech stadium with the powerful Lubbock Army Air field eleven as the foe for Coach Dell Morgan's inexperienced and green collegians. The kickoff is at 8:15 o'clock.

A capacity crowd of 18,000 people are expected to jam Tech stadium for the season's opener with many of them expected to come from the two Army schools in Lubbock.

Coach Morgan has been forced to build from scratch this season when halfback J. R. Callahan was called to the Navy and Walter Schlinkman, star fullback, came up with a fractured leg. This left the Red Raiders with only Buck Gillenwater, big tackle, around which to build the team.

Several new faces have been showing up well in recent practice sessions to give higher hopes for a successful season, but as a whole the team remains a big question mark with both fans and coaches.

Morgan named a starting lineup for the Raiders, but it was named with his tongue in his cheek and may see many changes before game time tonight.

The Raiders tapered off Friday afternoon with a long session of dummy scrimmage as Coaches Morgan and Robison worked to iron out the kinks in the team's play. Long sessions on both offense were given to every man on the Texas Tech squad.

Officials named for the season's opener are "Stoney" Wall as referee, P. Walker as umpire, Brian Hooks as headlinesman and B. O. Cornelius as field judge.

The probable line-ups follow:

TEXAS TECH	Pos.	AIR FIELD
Bechtol	LE	Passmore
Gillenwater	LT	Nabors
Read	LG	Cotten
Williams	C	Clark
Pirtle	RG	Morris
Robertson	RT	Schmidt
Anderson	RE	McWhorter
Thompson	QB	Robinson
Melton	LH	Smith
Brewer	RH	Holland
Winkler	FB	Dixon

LOMBARDI REJECTED

NEW YORK, Sept. 17. (U.P.)—Ernie Lombardi, veteran catcher for the New York Giants, was turned down by his draft board today after taking a physical examination.

Fliers Primed For First Game

Lubbock fandom gets its first glimpse of rationed football when the Lubbock Army Air field eleven meets Texas Tech at 8:15 o'clock tonight at Texas Tech stadium.

The Fliers will present a well balanced team, that for three weeks has shown what tutors termed "a splendid spirit of cooperative play."

Some minor injuries will weaken the service team somewhat, especially on the reserve roster. Pfc. Marshall Cauley, a spirited end who played three years at Daniel Baker college, has a bruised side; Cpl. Jimmie Williamson, former Lubbock High school speedster, is favoring an injured leg, and T/Sgt. W. G. Hardwick, a 225-pound backfield prospect, has a sore shoulder.

Five players from the 1942 LAAF team will be in the starting lineup tonight. Sgt. James (Big Mac) McWhorter, formerly of Abilene Christian college, and Rafe (Big Moose) Nabors, a product of Lubbock High school and a workhorse on the Tech varsity three years, are the tackles; Sgt. Roger Smith, another star from the Red Raider ranks, and Sgt. Lawrence (Buster) Dixon, also from ACC, will be in the backfield, and Sgt. William Schmidt will play at right end.

The remaining positions will be capably manned, according to Sgt. G. B. Morris, a 1935 graduate of Tech, and Sgt. Albert Wirz, coaches of the team.

M/Sgt. David C. Clark of Teague is slated for the center position. Morris, who has coached at Breckenridge High school since leaving Tech, and Cpl. Vance Cotten of Albany will be the guards, and Charles Passmore, a Pennsylvanian, will be at the other flank post.

Lamesa Romps Over Tahoka

LAMESA, Sept. 17. (Special)—Lamesa Golden Tornadoes opened their 1943 fotball season on McCullum Field here Friday night by rolling to a lop-sided 35 to 0 triumph over the Tahoka Bulldogs. About 1500 fans watched the Tornadoes score two touchdowns in the first quarter and one in each of the other stanzas.

Left halfback Wayne Roberts led the attack against the Bulldogs. He rambled around his own right end for 42 yards and the opening score in the first two minutes of the ball game. Late in the first quarter he went 20 yards around end to pay dirt. Doyle Whitmire went around end for the Tornadoes' third counter on a 17 yard dash.

Roberts came back to pass to right end Weldon Bratcher for six points and then in the last quarter Roberts ended his scoring rampage with an intercepted pass that he carried 20 yards across the goal line.

The Bulldogs made 4 first downs, just one less than the Tornadoes compiled. But never once mustered a sustained drive or a real scoring threat.

The Tornadoes made 203 yards from scrimage as against 97 for the Bulldogs. The Tornadoes has two touchdowns called back.

Dallas Wise, Tornado quarterback, exhibited the proverbial educated toe as he kicked five extra points to match the five Tornado scores.

Some Action, At Long Last

SOME of the worst bungling that has occurred in any of the many war jobs obviously has been in the handling of the Japanese relocation camps in our Far West.

The fact that conditions there reached a deplorable state became evident when it was disclosed the other day that the President had found it advisable to take time, urgently needed elsewhere, to try to get the relocation business straightened out. He reported that the segregation of loyal American-Japanese from the disloyal in the prison camps at last has been started.

It is not to be supposed that more than a small portion of the bungling in the handling of the camps has been disclosed. But enough has been revealed, despite attempted suppressions, to remove any doubt that conditions in the camps must have been very bad indeed.

Part of the trouble seems to have resulted from the maudlin professional breeders-of-the-heart who have showered tears of sympathy for "those poor Japs" in the camp and who were given entirely too much freedom of access to the prisoners. Until public indignation put a stop to the practice, these sloppy sob-sisters, of both the male and female gender, were allowed to come and go in the camp about as they pleased and to surfeit the prisoners with delicacies.

It has been disclosed, too, beyond the possibility of contradiction that the prisoners in the camps were allowed to establish little republics of their own, that their expressions of sympathy for Japan were made openly, and that they constantly were squawking because the luxuries with which they were provided were insufficient. They received generous allotments from Uncle Sam while American prisoners of war in Japan were receiving 10 and 15 cents per day and were dying, as they are continuing to die, for lack of bare necessities of every kind. Furthermore, the complaints from the Pacific coast that disloyal Japanese have been released from the camps and have been allowed to return to their homes, where they might serve as spies, have been entirely too numerous to permit the supposition that all of them are entirely without merit.

Perhaps the President's intervention may correct many of the abuses that have been occurring in connection with the camps. But not even his belated intervention can remove the fact that the handling of the camps represents another blot upon the nation's war record.

It Can Bear Repitition

SOMETHING less than startling was the prediction of Elmer Davis, OWI chief, before the New York State Publishers association the other day that German militarists will stage a "phony revolution" as one of their last acts before they finally acknowledge defeat.

The same prediction has been repeated hundreds of times from innumerable sources since the day the war started. It will happen because "revolt" will be about the only maneuver left to those seeking to soften the terms of surrender.

Still, reminders of this even to come should serve their useful purpose. They will keep people of the United Nations alert to the gravest possible menace to future world peace. Their alertness means that they are less likely to be deceived when the "revolution" does occur.

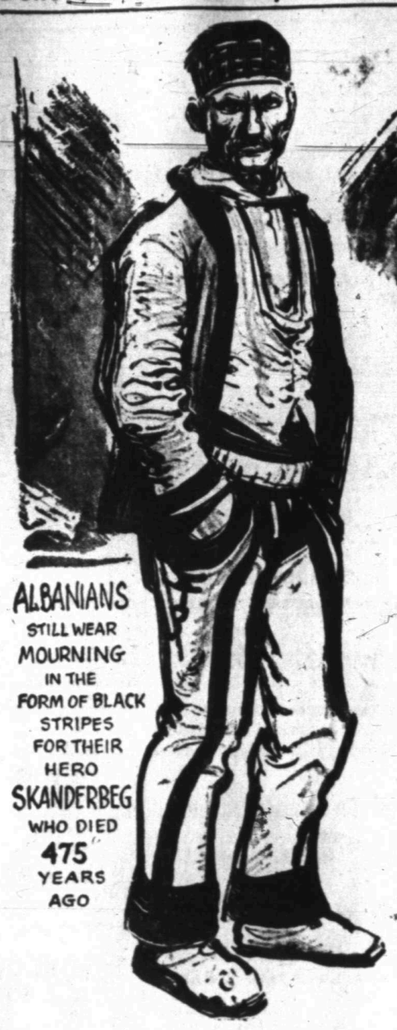

Make no mistake about it, the revolt will be staged cleverly. It will have all the appearances of the genuine article. The militarists behind the scenes will see to that. Just as they used Adolf Hitler as a front some 10 years ago, the real leaders of the rebellion will use as a "front" those who are likely to appear most convincing to the Allies—to whom the Allies are most likely to listen when they hear that old song and dance about the blame for the war resting upon the leaders, and not the people, of Germany. But the virtual certainty is that the militarists will be pulling the strings as they attempt to lay the groundwork for another war of conquest when another generation produces the needed cannon fodder.

Thus, although Mr. Davis' warning certainly was not original, it should serve the timely purpose of sounding anew an alarm that hardly can be repeated too often.

If the wicked shall turn from all his sins that he hath committed, and keep all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die.—Ezekiel 18: 21.

JERRY FINDS OUT

CHAPTER IV

Days sped into weeks and Lita looked at Jerry, wondering if it were true that she no longer loved him and that she did love Ken Richards.

She studied the apartment in which they lived, looking at the Venetian blinds, the lovely hangings, the white and chromium furniture, the glass tables, everything as modern as tomorrow, and thought of a white house back in the trees. She listened to the roar of the traffic, watched the bright lights and thought of birds singing and the light of the stars.

"I don't know."

Each time she talked to Ken she said the same thing, because Jerry was so much a part of her life, and the change Ken had suggested was so remote and unreal. It would take several weeks to get affairs arranged, to go to Reno and get a divorce. She shivered at the thought of the publicity. Then she thought of the future and friends, children, happiness, such as she had never known. At length she made up her mind.

As she and Jerry came into the apartment after their night's performance, she stopped beside the door, watching Jerry as he went across the room. She had promised Ken that she would tell him.

"Jerry."

She bit her scarlet lips as she met his brown eyes and studied his lean, handsome face.

Jerry hadn't had many breaks. He'd worked up from nothing, sold papers on the streets, worked day and night to get where he was, and now she was getting ready to tear down his house of cards.

He could get another partner, Anyone could dance with Jerry, because he danced so wonderfully. He might marry Ruth Eustace, with all her money and position. She could give Jerry everything that any man could want.

"What's on wour mind, darling?" Jerry threw off his coat and lighted a cigaret, slouched down on the davenport. "Spill it."

"I've been thinking a long time, Jerry. We haven't been getting along so well. We don't seem to be happy and more, and I . . . I want a divorce."

"A divorce!" He sat upright. "A divorce. Lita, you must be drunk. What are you thinking about?"

She laughed, a harsh, brittle laugh. Her heart was pounding so she couldn't bet her breath. "Just what I said—a divorce."

"But you can't. Why, Lita—" He was on his feet, hurrying toward her, his arms about her, as his eyes searched her face. "Darling, what is the matter? What have I done? I know I've been cross and irritable because I was tired, but it isn't your fault. You've know that."

"It isnt anything." She struggled against him. "It isn't anything you've done or haven't done, Jerry. It's just that I don't care any more. All the thrill is gone."

"There someone else." Realization seemed to sweep over him. "That Richards. You want to marry him?"

"Yes. Jerry darling, please understand." She sought his eyes as she spoke, pleading. "It isn't as if I could do anything about it. You can't fight love, I thought I loved you. We were interested in the same things and you were so gay and kind and sweet and we had so much fun together. But I know now that it wasn't love. I've known it ever since that night I met Ken at Ruth Eustace's party."

"But Lita."

He sat down, staring at her as if he couldn't believe his ears. His face was grayish white and he looked tired and old. His voice was thick, shaking.

"You don't really love him. You're just infatuated because he's different, because he tells you how much he loves you in such a different way. He isn't your kind. He doesn't understand you, the real you, the you I know, who loves to dance and is young and gay.

"He's changed you already, but I didn't know what was the matter until now. You're not yourself any more. You don't laugh like you used to. Oh, he cant love you like I do. It isn't real."

She had known it would be like this, that Jerry wouldn't understand; and she spoke swiftly, angrily. "I do love him, Jerry. And he does understand the soul of me, the things I've always wanted. He isn't crude, I guess that's the word, like you and I. He hasn't come from nothing like we have. He wants me to be a lady like his mother, like I've always dreamed. He wants to give me background, security, something to tie to, not just froth and bright lights and glitter."

"He wants to make you into the imitation of a lady." Jerry was on his feet, his voice harsh as he flung the words at her. "But veneer cracks and when it does, you'll be wanting the bright lights again. You'll be wanting me and like the say I am, when you call me, I'll come.

"When you get sick of him and his grand manner and his artificial ideas and his insincere blah, you'll send for me with my crudeness and my dancing feet and I'll come, because I do love you and can't stop it. I won't want to come, but I will come just the same."

"Oh Jerry! Can't you be sane and sensible- Can't we talk things over? Can't we get a divorce and still be friends? Just because we get a divorce isn't any reason for us going around glaring at each other and hating each other, and not speaking. After all, we're grown, sane, sensible, human beings, and it isn't . . ."

"Oh, shut up!"

He picked up his coat and turned toward the bedroom. "You sound like a child. I suppose that's what he's told you, that it's just the modern sensible thing to do, that emotion doesn't enter into it, nor love, nor anything, and, of course, since you don't care any more, you may be able to take it quite calmly and go on being friends. But it happens I married you because I loved you and still do, and it may be sane and sensible to put on the friendly act, but I'm neither sane or sensible when it comes to love and you.

"If you want a divorce, I'll let you have it, because I want you to have what you want. But don't expect me to say it with a smile and don't expect me to play at this friendship stuff. I'm getting out. I'll go to a hotel. You can do whatever you and your friend Ken want to do, and let me know what is expected of me and I'll do it. I prefer to deal with your lawyer, not with you. Then my emotions won't be involved."

"Jerry!" He did not answer her as he turned to the bedroom and closed the door behind him. She could hear him moving about, packing. She hadn't thought of it like this, definite, the end. Slowly she walked over to the window and looked out on the lighted city, lights and roar, lights and roar. Farmington and quiet, stars. Ken. She tried to think. It was easier

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

TODAY I am going to tell you how to become a millionaire.

"What qualifies me to give such advice?" you ask.

Well, I'm on my second million now, so why shouldn't I be qualified.

To be perfectly frank, I haven't got my first million.

I tried awfully hard for it, but finally had to give it up for a bad job.

So I decided to forget about the first and start on the second.

So you see?

According to the books, there are definite rules for becoming rich.

And, incidentally, outside of love, more stuff about getting rich has been written than about any other subject on earth. The author of one of the Success books still owes me $10.

I have one of these magic guides to wealth right before me.

The first chapter is entitled "You." It's three pages long. It says you've got to make your own success, nobody can do it for you. That's easy, isn't it?

The next chapter is headed "Think." Six and a half pages. It says you've got to think. Nothing hard about that, is there?

Then came chapters on "Self-Education," "Ideals," "Work," "Saving," "Opportunity," "Self-Denial," "Sick-to-Itiveness," "Cheerfulness," "Teamwork," "Politeness," "Initiative," "Honesty," "Health," "Enthusiasm," "Will Power," "Self-Respect," and several others like it.

I read them all and tried every bit of the advice given in them.

That's how I came to give up the first million.

I CAME to the conclusion that every clerk, every bookkeeper, every office boy needed all these virtues just to hold on to his job.

But I promised to tell you how to become a millionaire.

I didn't say in money, though. That's an inborn gift just as poetry, music, painting are gifts. Either you have it or you haven't.

But you can be a millionaire in happiness.

A million stars to look at may be yours, a million flowers yours to enjoy, a million laughs if joy is in your heart, a million glorious hours if you've learned to live.

What more can any million dollars buy?

Money, as Hendrik Ibsen, the famous Norwegian dramatist, said, may buy the husk of many things, but not the kernel.

Call me Pollyanna if you will. You can't hurt my feelings.

You keep on chasing after your kind of a million if you want to. I'll take my kind.

I promised to tell you, and I've kept my promise.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

RECONVERSION of government-owned and financed manufacturing property occupies the spotlight in the capital these days. Members of almost every forward-looking agency, public and private, are wondering what Uncle Sam will do with the industrial house he has built since hostilities began.

It is not generally realized, but the administration has spent 25 billion dollars in the erection or expansion of plants in the last three years. Most of the funds went into the making of commodities which lie at the base of American economy, although many billions were disbursed for bullets and other forms of explosives. Here is the amazing score to date:

Steel production has been increased to such an extent that Washington will hold 10 per cent of total capacity facilities at the end of the conflict. The annual aluminum output, pouring from 54 units which cost 760 million dollars of the taxpayers' cash, will exceed the pre-Pearl Harbor figure of independent firms.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation and its subsidiaries will be the proprietors of 92 per cent of the magnesium setup, one-half of the machine tool apparatus, ten times as much of the aviation euipment as we possessed before Germany invaded Poland four years ago.

Federally backed companies will turn out synthetic rubber in an annual amount one-third greater than was ever used in peacetime.

CRUSADE: In view of the certainty of Allied victory, many groups are studying the reconversion of this 25 billion dollar manufacturing capacity to private enterprise. Permanent tenure by Mr. Whiskers, they fear, will mean competition which our old-fashioned economy cannot survive.

Few days ago a business organization asked Jesse H. Jones, head of the RFC, to discuss the question. It had formed a committee to delve into this matter, and, obviously, was prepared ot suggest that the property be turned back to the original owners.

The shrewd Texan in his luncheon speech urged against the step. He argued that if the National Association of Manufacturers or the Chamber of Commerce of the Unitde States backed or inspired such a movement, the action would be branded as a selfish and greedy proposal.

He advised that his listeners abandon their program and prod their congressmen. In his opinion, any crusade for a change should start with the people's representatives, not with the recognized spokesmen of industry.

PACT: Vice President Wallace's late addresses, advocating a fourth term and FDR's presence at the final peace table, have precipitated one of Washington's most important and mysterious queries: Is the liwan setting forth the views of the occupants of the White House, despite Henry's several rebuffs, or is he simply fawning on the head man in order to win himself a renomination for the No. 2 spot?

It may be denied, but it can be said on the highest authority that the VP has been urged by FDR to beat the tom-toms for semi-permanent Roosevelt-ian possession of the Executive Mansion and for his election as "President of the World."

Thus the senate's presiding officer becomes the most puffed-up rtial balloon in recent political history. While FDR works the right and reactionary side of the road, Henry will play along with the leftists? whose votes may be needed next year.

This Roosevelt-Wallace pact, does not mean that Henry is palace favorie for second place on the 1944 slate. The corn experimenter will be dropped if he appears to be a libility rather than an asset a year hence. At present the boss inclines toward a more sensible liberal as Vice Presidential candidate and appointment if Wallace as a roving ambassador to South America.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

WHILE the manpower crisis avalanches on the House and Senate, New York industrialists and their business associates throughout the country are attentively studying new schemes to circumvent the almost disastrous shortage of labor. Strange as it seems, two diametrically oppositie ideas are being considered as curatives: Both the shortening and lengthening of working hours to meet special situations.

Unless employment agency dragnets gather in enough men and women to end lagging production, or expedients are used such as those just proposed by Bernard Baruch, executives of big national corporations with offices in Manhattan contend that Congress will have to acquiesce in the drafting of fathers or steel itself to enact universal service bill, regardless of the unpopularity of these severe measures.

At this moment of acrimonious debate in Washington, manufacturers disclose that lumberjacks and pulpwood mill hands—without whom there can be no paper—are streaming across the Canadian border to better paid jobs in Maple Leaf war factories.

Other potential workers for this industry, convinced that Italy's sponge-throwing presages an early ending of the conflict, are refusing to quit nonessential posts to enter Victory plants which they believe will shortly put up the shutters.

Yet the alarming truth—recognized by all who know our collossal manpower commitments — is that more than 2,500,000 persons, chiefly women, must make personal sacrifices and accept positiins in vital fields—often away from home—or we cannot "back the attack" with bullets as well as bonds.

DIVIDED: Various proposed methods of filling this staggering quota have been outlined in this column. Another means is to rely more widely on part-time jobs. Personnel managers favor this system because it is especially adaptable to female workers with household obligations, and they have as a guide board a detailed report on its feasibleness just published by the Labor ministry in Great Britain, where the program has been in operation for many months.

At first, English concerns were reluctant to enroll girls on this basis. They soon discovered that two people—one toiling in the morning, the other in the afternoon—could do more and better than a single individual on full time. This is particularly true in repetitious chores, the monotony of which lowers efficiency.

Women had shied from warehouse duties, lifting heavy articles and similar strenuous vocations because these efforts taxed their physical strength. But the more athletic soon found they could stand the pace for a few hours daily without exhaustion, thus releasing their brothers and fathers to foundries and mines.

Craftsmen resented being pushed by interlopers of both sexes from their regular trades into temporary assignments. But through contracts with the unions they are promised their old berths again as soon as the emergency slackens. Managers concentrate half-day workers into separate units so their comings and goings will not disrupt others and supervisors can in this way acuaint themselves with the unique problems of this special class.

Divided loyalty between kitchen and shop does not increase absenteeism in Britain when satisfactory hour schedules are fixed and sufficient nurseries are provided for mothers. Often women are hired in pairs and allowed to make their own time arrangements.

GRAVITY: Another stopgap being tested by United States firms is two 10-hour shifts instead of the normal eight-hour periods. This system is favored to offet the scarcity of straw bosses and skilled labor. It is attractive to the employe because it increases his "take-home" salary, and it provides the company with maintenance and repair opportunities.

Some establishments that have resorted to the plan report greater over-all output but a minority of those questioned noted less. The fact that almost any speedup device today will be examined by owners is proof of the gravity of the labor famine.

Here And There In Texas

By TED READ
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN, Sept. 17. (U.P.) — When the next session of the legislature convenes in January, 1945, members will have an excellent source from which to draw accurate information concerning operation of state departments, schools and institutions.

Already operating with extended authority, which includes checking everything from personnel to accounting systems, the state auditor and efficiency expert and the State Audit committee face the gigantic task of making a thorough examination of the state's business.

The state auditor's department was created originally in 1929, but until now it has never been able to function as it possibly should have because of lack of appropriations.

Consequently, there are numerous state departments whose books have never been completely audited by a government representative charged with over-all checking of accounts.

To the 48th Legislature this appeared a bad practice, especially in view of the fact that the state has about $355,000,000 in cash and collateral in its vaults and in state depositories. Possibly members of the legislature had never thought that the business of Texas is about the largest business in Texas when they previously neglected to provide an adequate auditing system.

Committee Bosses Auditors

Under the new law, a State Audit committee, is composed of the lieutenant governor, chairmen of the Finance and State Affairs committees of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and chairmen of the Revenue and Taxation and Appropriations committees of the House.

This committee names the state auditor, whose salary is $7,500 a year. In this section of the law, however, there is an unusual bit of wording.

It provides that the auditor shall hold his position at pleasure of the audit committee, and for any reason satisfactory to a majority of the committee he may be dismissed "without a hearing."

Some of the most heated controversies have developed as a result of state employes being fired without a hearing, but the legislature took no cognizance of this.

* * *

ANOTHER bit of unusual wording in the law provides that the auditor may select personnel of his department, at the same time strictly forbidding a member of the legislature, any official of the state or anyone connected with the state government to "recommend or suggest the appointment of any person" to the auditor's staff.

This is a marked departure from the customary practice of legislators recommending their constituents to department or institution heads for jobs.

It is likely that few legislators knew this section was in the law as enacted.

AUDITS SCHOOLS, TOO

The auditor is charged with auditing all state accounts every two years and making reports of his findings. He may require new accounting systems to be instituted. He checks the efficiency of employes and may recommend changes where an employe is found not to be doing the work for which he is being paid. And if the auditor's recommendations are not followed, the audit committee is empowered to hold hearings to determine the cause for such a rebuff.

The auditor also must audit all state schools, and has the additional duty of auditing accounts of all junior colleges which receive state funds.

C. H. CAVNESS, who was state auditor before the present law went into effect, was appointed to the new position. Where he had a staff of 20 to 30 auditors, he now has 50. They work in groups and there are audits going on in six departments and institutions now.

Because the auditing work has been so limited in the past, Cavness says that 100 auditors could be utilized in order to catch up and bring books up to date.

However, with the present staff much information can be gained and possibly will be utilized by next session's legislators to improve the state's business system. After uniform or acceptable accounting methods are instituted in government branches the auditing task will not be nearly so difficult.

The audit committee, which set the department's budget at $153,720 a year or double former allocations, told Cavness they wanted the "job thoroughly done," and that they would "back him up" if it became necessary.

It may be that someone's toes will be stepped on if the auditing of the state's affairs is done as Cavness has started it and according to law, which in one part says: "It is the intention and desire of the legislature to free the state auditor and his staff from partisan politics. . . ."

Cavness intends to follow the law and conduct the audits as an impartial, professional accountant.

STOCKS ADVANCE BROADLY

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—Led by industrials and rails, the stock market today negotiated one of its broadest advances for a month or so with favorites up fractions to 2 points generally and specialties, particularly perferreds, jumping 3 to 8.

It was the third straight rising session and apparently was inspired partly by the President's reassuring war message to Congress.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .5 of a point at 50.9, widest upturn since Aug. 10. Breadth of the further recovery was shown by the fact 890 individual issues were traded against 775 the day before. Of these, 615 were up, 116 down and 159 unchanged. Transfers of 894,155 shares were the largest since Sept. 9. They compared with 534,317 yesterday.

Recently weak American and foreign power stocks came back briskly.

Sears Roebuck and Goodrich touched best levels for the year. In front also were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber common and preferred, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Westinghouse, Pepsi-Cola, Radio Corp., Paramount, International Paper, J. I. Case, International Harvester, J. C. Penney, Johns-Manville and Cerro De Pasco.

American Telephone slipped, along with Boeing, United Aircraft and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Carrier bonds were bid up substantially. At Chicago wheat was ⅛ to ½ cent a bushel higher and hogs up 10 to 15 cents. Cotton tacked on 70 to 95 cents a bale.

Grain . .

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 17 (AP) — Grains were unable to make much headway today, although they rallied somewhat in late trade.

Some oats buying, believed to have been by cash interests, pushed the December future to a new seasonal high again shortly after the opening. But then some grains hit profit-taking and a general reaction and moved off fractionally. A weaker tone in cash oats, and a weaker wheat futures market at Winnipeg most of the season, also were depressing influences.

Wheat closed at or near the day's best prices and was ⅛ to ¼ higher, September $1.48¾, December $1.48¾-¾. Oats were unchanged to ⅛ lower, September 77⅝, and rye was ⅝ lower to ¼ higher, $1.09¾.

Reds Smash On

ago in acknowledging their objective, won the city by simultaneous blows from the north and east, Stalin said in an order of the day addressed to Popov. The order was brbadcast by the Moscow radio and recorded by the Soviet monitor.

The capture of Bryansk and Bezhitsa gave Soviet arms an "important strongpoint of German defenses" on the west bank of the Desna river, Stalin said.

Skillful Maneuvering

Soviet divisions, outflanking defenses built by the Germans in difficult marsh and forest terrain since they captured Bryansk on Oct. 13, 1941, took the city by skillful maneuvering, Stalin said. Six German divisions—over 70,000 men—were routed.

A few hours earlier the German high command had officially announced the evacuation of Bryansk, three days after a German news agency prematurely said the Nazis had fallen back from the city. The Russians cautiously announced their advances toward the city until its capture today.

It was a major milestone in the Soviet advance that has cracked German lines from before Smolensk to the Sea of Azov, 600 miles to the south.

Russian Church Asks Christians To Unite

MOSCOW Sept. 17. (AP) — The Russian orthodox church published today a message of blessing to the Soviet government and an appeal to Christians throughout the world to unite in the defense of their faith against Fascism.

The message, signed by the Congress of Bishops, was published in the first issue of the new church newspaper, "Journal of the Moscow patriarchate," and was reprinted by the Soviet government organ Izvestia.

Nazis Claim Capture Of 7 Italian Vessels

LONDON, Sept. 17. (AP)—A German broadcast declared today that German motor torpedo boats operating in the Adriatic overtook a small Italian fleet, capturing four steamers and sinking a torpedo boat, two minesweepers and a patrol boat.

One of the captured ships was the 4,800-ton transport, Leopardi, which was carrying 1,000 Italian soldiers on its maiden voyage, the broadcast said.

Allies Smashing North In Italy

Nazi withdrawals northward were in progress was seen in the announcement of weakened resistance to the Fifth Army's enlargement of its foothold onto high ground, and in the fact that the main body of the Eighth Army was advancing to an area where it could jeopardize enemy forces anywhere south of the Sele river.

Clark and Montgomery established contact in or near the southern end of the Salerno bridgehead, which extends to Agropoli. The last announced town to fall to the Eighth Army was Vallo Della Lucania, 16 miles from Agropoli.

Nazi Planes Absent

The absence of German planes for the second day and the weakened fire from anti-aircraft batteries were viewed as significant. German ground fire usually is intense over an area the Germans intend to hold. Pilots encountered little flak yesterday anywhere near the front.

(The German communique said that Allied parachute troops had been wiped out behind their lines, that Allied resistance had stiffened considerably since strong reinforcements landed and that "the enemy landing head at Salerno was still further compressed." The Nazis asserted they had isolated U. S. groups in the Eboli area, capturing prisoners and materiel.

(Subsequent broadcasts admitted the Fifth and Eighth armies had joined; that Montgomery had poured a division and a half into American positions; and that 60 ships were heading for Salerno.)

Three Provinces Held

Three entire provinces in southern Italy were in Allied hands. Three important ports of Taranto, Bari and Brindisi were captured. A large number of excellent bases with paved runways, particularly in Apula province along the Adriatic, were taken. Capable of handling the heaviest bombers, the fields brought the restive Balkans and such targets as the Ploesti oil fields of Rumania, closer to Allied bombsights.

The newly-fused single front in southern Italy was like a crescent with its ends anchored at Salerno, 20 miles south of Naples on the Mediterranean, and Bari, almost directly east of Naples on the Adriatic. The center of the line was in the lower Apennines around Gioia, where British patrols were probing 30 miles north of Taranto, late an Italian naval base.

Control Much Shoreline

The Allies controlled all southern Italy's shoreline on the Ionian sea, about 200 miles of west coast bathed by the Mediterranean and about 145 miles of the Adriatic north to Bari. The Germans apparently clung temporarily to the mountainous center.

The contact at Gioia appeared to be with rear guard screens of a German parachute division. The enemy was believed to lack strength to resist a determined Allied drive in the center.

(The crushing air blows north of Naples suggested that the battle for that port was in its first stages, and that the Allies might be attempting to block escape routes of the five German divisions around Salerno, or at least to prevent reinforcements.

Shallowater Boosts Bonds To $75,300

Shallowater residents in a rally Friday night raised the war bond purchase total for that community to $75,300.

B. E. Needles, Lubbock tire dealer and former Shallowater resident, had started the community's drive off with purchases totaling $50,000.

Roy Boyd, chairman of the Third War loan drive in Lubbock county's rural areas, described last night's rally as "enthusiastic." Boyd served as chairman.

Sgt. John Watson of Lubbock Army Air field gave the principal address. Music was furnished by the Lubbock High school band and group singing was led by Corp. C. F. Wakefield, also of LAAF.

B. T. Rucker, chairman of the Shallowater bond committee, said the drive there would be extended in an effort to match Needle's contribution.

Quiet Follows Report Of Jap Naval Fight

NEW YORK, Sept. 17. (AP)—Although more than 36 hours had passed since the Tokyo radio reported yesterday that an air and sea battle was in progress in the waters between New Guinea and Kolombangara island in the Solomons, there had been no further word of such an engagement either from U. S. or Japanese sources.

Yesterday's Tokyo broadcast, recorded by NBC, said that "the imperial command reports that the naval forces of Japan are gradually getting the upper hand against superior anti-Axis forces."

FDR's Message

nouncements on international political matters, a discussion of the home front, and, briefly, a few recommendations.

Among the latter were moves "for the greater economic protection of our returning men and women in the armed forces—and for greater educational opportunities for them."

"And for all our citizens," he said, "we should provide a further measure of social security in order to protect them against certain continuing hazards of life."

Study Now Urged

Studies of these things and also of problems of demobilization should be made now, he said, so that the nation will not be caught unprepared when the war ends.

General approval was sounded on capitol hill for his message today, but there was some Republican criticism that it did not deal specifically enough with home front problems and some expressions of dissatisfaction with his references to post-war policy.

In discussing the military situation, Mr. Roosevelt pictured Hitler as definitely penned up with the Allies poised to strike heavier and heavier blows.

"The Congress and the American people can rest assured that the landing on Italy is not the only landing we have in mind," he said.

Hitler's Fortress Roof

Hitler boasted that his fortress was impregnable, Mr. Roosevelt recalled, but neglected to provide it with a roof—and Allied bombs are raining down on his vital industries. He added:

"He also left various other vulnerable spots in the wall of the so-called fortress—which we shall point out to him in due time."

The President said "We have reliable information that there is definite unrest and a growing desire for peace among the peoples of these satellite countries—Rumania, Hungary, Finland and Bulgaria."

"We hope that in these nations the spirit of revolt against Nazi dominance which commenced in Italy will burst into flames and become a consuming fire."

Mr. Roosevelt said it is a mistake to think of the conflict as several wars—"it is all one war, and it must be governed by one basic strategy." In that connection, he made these observations:

The Anglo-American forces drew off German air power and pinned down German troops and so contributed substantially to the Russian offensive.

Freeing of the Mediterranean will enable the Allies to begin control of the East Indian ocean, undertake an offensive in Burma, and make possible the closing of the "one serious gap in the lines of our globe-circling seapower," between northwest Australia and Ceylon.

All the operations in the Pacific are interrelated, and even now the Japanese are hard-pressed to maintain their extended lines. Pressure against them will be increased everywhere" until we are ready to strike right at the heart of Japan itself."

Long, Difficult Job

"We face, in the Orient, a long and difficult fight," he said. "We must be prepared for heavy losses in winning that fight. The power of Japan will not collapse until it has been literally pounded into the dust. It would be the utmost folly for us to try to pretend otherwise."

As for developments at home, Mr. Roosevelt said mistakes had been made but that fair-minded citizens would realize that "the job that has been done in converting peace-time America to a wartime basis has been a great job and a successful one."

Allies Take Lae, Trap Remnants

Arthur said the campaign for Lae really began last January and purposely was directed at Salamaua, 18 miles to the southeast, fooling the enemy into thinking the main drive would be made there. The Japanese fell for it by moving in force down to Salamaua, paving the way for the Sept. 4-5 maneuver.

One Of Biggest Victories

The capture of Lae, constituting one of the biggest victories to be scored against the Japanese who had held it since Jan. 23, 1942, was achieved by a pincers movement sprung Sept. 4 by Australians landing above it from the sea and American and Australian paratroopers landing behind it Sept. 5.

Remnants of the Japanese garrison which managed to escape annihilation in the final stages of the bitter struggle are being pursued into nearby jungles where their destruction is certain, headquarters said.

Lae's garrison, trapped not only by the pincers forces east and west but also by forces which moved up from the south after capturing Salamaua, was forced to fight it out.

The Fifth Air force, which provided cover throughout the siege, made a final destructive raid which obliterated enemy installations.

Control Huron Gulf

The seizure of Lae, which has two airdromes, and Salamaua which has one as well as a good sea anchorage, gave the Allies virtual control of the Huon Gulf and afford General MacArthur a springboard from which to strike at still more important enemy bases, including the stronghold of Rabaul, on nearby New Britain.

"Lae is in our hands," today's communique said.

"Our continuous air bombardments over the past weeks reduced it to shambles. Our troops have now overwhelmed all remaining resistance.

"At the end, scattered elements of the enemy attempted to break out to the north where we have blocked jungle trails leading to mountainous ridges rising to heights of nearly 14,000 feet. The destruction of these remnants is certain.

Enemy's Main Base

"Lae, with its airfields, has been the enemy's main base on the coast of New Guinea since its capture early in 1942. Coordinating with the final drive of our ground forces, our heavy and medium bombers struck the inner ring of enemy installations with 43 tons of bombs and more than 30,000 rounds of machine gun fire. All remnants of the enemy installations in the target area were completely destroyed."

The fall of Lae was accomplished with a swiftness which contrasted with other campaigns in the southwest's jungle theater of war.

Today's communique reported a continued stepup of action in the Solomons.

16 Jap Planes Downed

Sixteen Japanese fighters have been downed in an American raid on the Buin-Faisi sector on southern Bougainville.

Nearly 100 enemy fighters intercepted the Bougainville bombers.

Adjacent to American-won New Georgia, the Japanese have contested occupation of Arundel island, which poses a menace to the enemy's garrison at Vila, Kolombangara. They have reinforced their forces on Arundel.

On New Georgia, the Munda airfield, captured Aug. 5, has been raided by 60 Japanese planes whose bombs caused minor damage and casualties.

Pampa Is Haven For Storm Area Planes

PAMPA, Tex., Sept. 17. (AP)—Pampa Army Air field had the appearance of a major air base today with the arrival of more than 100 military aircraft from South Texas air fields, flown to the West Texas field to avoid a tropical hurricane reported to be sweeping in from the Gulf of Mexico.

Among the craft, which arrived at the field last night, were bombers, training planes and observation and cargo ships.

Ground crewmen spent the night servicing the ships and lashing them down to forestall any damage from strong winds.

Grim News Goes To Reeling Nazis

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Nazi forces already reeling backward in Russia and in Italy are under direct warning from President Roosevelt that they have felt only a foretaste of what is in store for them and their Japanese and Balkan accomplices.

"Precise plans" were shaped at Quebec, the President told a reconvened Congress, for other blows "of equal or greater importance against Germany and Japan. "Definite times and places for other landings on the continent of Europe and elsewhere," have been set, he added.

SIMPSON

The news from Italy and Russia underscored that pledge. With the junction of the American 5th and British 8th armies at the south end of the Salerno bridgehead, the campaign in Italy ceased to be an affair of the landing beaches. It became a full-scale drive northward up the Italian boot.

Nazis Back-Tracking

There can be no doubt that Nazi divisions rushed to the Salerno front to halt or delay the seaborne 5th Army incursion are now back-tracking over inadequate and bomb-blasted roads to escape entrapment.

The first grim phase of the battle of Italy is over in a smashing Allied victory. The speed with which the first spearhead of the three-pronged British advance from the south reached the Salerno theater clearly indicates that the Nazi high command was taken by surprise. It has been outguessed as well as outfought thus far in Italy as it was in Sicily.

Ominous In Russia

It is in Russia, however, that the most ominous developments for the Germans—developments directly traceable to the Allied invasion of the Italian mainland and the Italian capitulation—are clearly visible. Despite the Russians' insistence that the Allied effort still is short of full second-front effect, the signs are plain that it is the shifting of German reserves from the east to the Balkans and Italy that has opened the way for the tremendous Red Army thrust in the center that has reached almost to the environs of Kiev.

Abolishing Of Wage Board Is Forecast

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—The wage adjustment board, which has had virtually a free hand in determining wages on federally financed building construction projects, is about to be abolished, "D. C. Speaker" said today, in favor of a tri-partite agency.

The mythical capital spokesman said the blueprint for a new agency to govern wages in the building industry has been drawn by the War Labor board (WLB) to meet the clamor of contractors for a voice and vote and also give the public direct representation for the first time.

Plans call for a reconstituted board made up like the WLB itself, with industry, labor and the public represented.

There has been frequent criticism of the application of wage controls in the building industry.

Mark Halsey Drug stores will be host this afternoon to boys and girls of school age who attend matinee performances at the Dodson carnival on East Broadway. Through an arrangement with the carnival management, the customary "gate" or "midway entrance" fee will not be charged to school children.

Beaird Loan company, in 800-block Broadway, Friday afternoon reported theft of a pistol—"the third such loss in recent weeks there," police said.

James Deryl Tapp of 1518 Twenty-fourth street reported theft of his bike Friday afternoon, then walked two blocks and saw a 7-year-old boy riding it. He took him before juvenile officials, who plan to continue their investigation today.

Was this a variation of a "Pistol-Packing Mama?" a bus driver idly wondered Friday afternoon. A passenger found a brightly-colored lipstick and, of all things, a long-bladed knife of the frogsticker variety in the seat of one of its buses.

Miss Doris Mae Burdett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Burdett, 1020 Eighteenth street, who underwent an appendectomy at West Texas hospital Tuesday night is reported by her parents to be convalescing.

American Business club members Friday heard a Navy program when they lunched at Hilton hotel. Ensign Adelaide Becker said she is recruiting women personnel, and trying to sell the men at the same time on the need of more WAVES to relieve men for sea duty. She said she finds very little encouragement from men everywhere in recommending or urging women into any branch of the armed forces.

Nazis Requisitioning Italian Workmen

BERN, Switzerland, Sept. 17 (AP)—Nazi authorities have begun requisitioning Italian workmen, adding their former allies to the long list of countries from which the Reich is gathering slave labor.

Heads of German labor camps have been instructed to prepare to receive "great numbers" of Italian farm workers, a dispatch to Geneva's La Suisse said, adding that it had been "confirmed" that Fritz Sauckel, Nazi high commissioner for labor employment, had been charged with requisitioning Italian peasants.

War-Time Increases Use Of "Moonshine"

ATLANTA, Sept. 17 (AP)—Wartime is increasing the activity of "moonshiners" in the mountain coves and secluded woodlands of the south and bringing new headaches to law enforcement officials.

The distilling of "moonshine" whiskey is becoming more profitable due to the war scarcity of legal whiskies, says Raleigh R. Wall, assistant district supervisor of the alcohol tax unit.

"Moonshine," he said, "brings about $10 a gallon, on the average, wholesale, but it retails for $20 or more a gallon."

Verdict Leaves Counsel In Air

A 72nd district court jury Friday afternoon answered 21 special issues in the $23,000 damages action of O. N. Stuart against City of Lubbock—outgrowth of a collision of motor vehicles several weeks ago—in such a manner as to promote some head-scratching among counsel.

In answering one of the issues, the jury found that proximate cause of the collision was failure of an agent of the City to maintain a proper lookout.

In another it found that no conduct of the plaintiff Stuart was a proximate cause of the mishap.

But, on a separate piece of paper, there was written anad signed by Bill Collins, foreman, the following paragraph which was interpreted to be an attempt by the jury to return a general verdict:

"We the jury find both plaintiff and defendant equally responsible for the accident and recommend that no damages be granted to either the defendant or plaintiff."

Jimmie Cunningham, counsel for plaintiff Stuart, said he would move for judgment, on the premise that the law of special issues prevails in Texas in such cases and that no general verdict may be returned by a jury where special issues have been submitted in the court's charge; further, that no general verdict may be submitted by the jury except by agreement of both parties to the suit.

Durwood H. Bradley, city attorney, said that "on basis of my information—he received a telephone call regarding the verdict when he was out of the courtroom and in a regular meeting of the city commission—it would appear that no judgment could be sustained on the verdict. I'll have to study the answers before I could say definitely what to expect."

Were the plaintiff able to obtain judgment, it appeared the amount would be $35 for personal injuries and $350 for his automobile, it was interpreted unofficially—the jury having found those sums to have been the damages suffered by Stuart.

The jury answered that the City was damaged $1,050, representing its automobile—but had found in a special issue that the City was the proximate cause of the collision.

And yet—

"We . . . find both plaintiff and defendant equally responsible . . . and recommend that no damage be granted to either . . ."

Laigret Is Governor Of New Caledonia

NOUMEA, New Caledonia, Sept. 17. (AP)—Christian Laigret, former administrator of French African Cameroon and long-time DeGaullist, has been appointed governor of New Caledonia and dependencies, French authorities announced today.

Laigret also was named director of the civilian cabinet of the high commissioner for French posessions in the Pacific.

"Let's Get At 'Em!" Battle Cry Of Americans In Italy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, Sept. 17. (U.P.) —"Let's get at 'em!"

That was the cry with which American, reinforcements charged the bloody beaches at the climax of the battle of Salerno gulf and it exemplified the spirit with which Americans and Britons, fighting side by side, smashed the bogey of Nazi invincibility behind the walls of the beached fortress of Europe.

The Fifth Army is still fighting furiously on the Salerno front and there is harder fighting ahead, but today some of the story can be told of how the Allies were knocked back to within three miles of the beaches, blanketed by a hellish enemy barrage, and came back to end what was probably the wehrmeacht's most fanatical offensive smash since Stalingrad.

Is Triumphant Story

The story can be told triumphantly only because of the most complete cooperation between land, sea and air forces and the supreme confidence of the Allied troops that they were better than anything the Nazis could offer.

Military sources gave indomitable spirit credit for much of the success of Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army, but it was emphasized that without the daring support of warships and of the air force the battle would have been lost.

The difference between Salerno and the battle of Gallipoli in which the British suffered a grim defeat in World War I was provided by the sudden swoops of all types of Allied airplanes over the battle field at the most critical hour of the Nazi counter-attack. As in the break-through by the Allies during the final phase of the fight in Tunisia, the air fleets blasted the enemy's favorable positions on high ground until he was wiped out or unable to move.

Personal Heroism Cited

There were countless stories coming to headquarters of individual and group heroism at times when any weakening would have meant the difference between victory and defeat.

During the most critical days, when the Germans were boasting that they had slammed the Americans back to sea and were wiping them out, Allied fighters and bombers of every type covered the fighting zone with such intensity that on one day all their bombs fell within an area of two or three square miles. They flew more than 2,000 sorties that day and dropped far more than 1200 tons of bombs.

thinking of those things Ken had promised.

The bedroom door opened. She did not turn. The outer door opened and closed.

She turned swiftly. "Oh, Jerry!" she cried out as she started toward it. "I'm crazy, Jerry! Maybe you're right. But I love Ken, I know I do!" Tears blinder her.

The telephone jangled through the stillness. She lifted it.

"Oh, yes, Ken." He voice was tired. "I told him. Yes, I'm going to Reno."

Death Of Movie Actor Declared Homicidal

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 17. (AP)—An inquest jury returned a verdict today that the stabbing death last Sunday of Screen Actor David Gaspar G. Bacon was homicidal, but made no attempt to fix responsibility.

Police homicide detectives produced a blue sweater, found in the midget car from which Bacon stumbled fatally wounded, as the only tangible clue in the slaying. Detective Harry Fremont testified that Mrs. Bacon, the former Greta Keller, Hungarian actress and singer, had told him it was not her husband's. Mrs. Bacon was too ill to be present.

Fremont asserted police attach high importance to the garment, and are making an exhaustive search for its owner.

Defense Volunteers Ready In Gulf Area

DALLAS, Sept. 17 (U.P.) — Between 20,000 and 25,000 civilian defense volunteers were fully mobilized today and waiting for any emergency duty along the Gulf coast area where a tropical hurricane was expected to hit, R. E. Smith, eighth regional director of civilian defense, reported.

Smith said that civilian defense control centers were manned and were operating on a 24-hour basis in the danger areas. Emergency medical units and auxiliary police and fire-fighting groups were ready, he said.

Launching Set For Sub Honoring Hero

MARE ISLAND, Calif., Sept. 17. (AP) — The submarine tender USS Gilmore, named for Comdr. Howard W. Gilmore of New Orleans, who gave his life to save his submarine and its crew, was launched at the Mare Island Navy yard yesterday.

Commander Gilmore's widow, who came here with her two children, Jeanne, 6, and Howard, jr., christened the vessel.

"Take her down" was the command given by Commander Gilmore last February 7 when, badly wounded, he was trapped on deck and a Japanese gunboat was approaching his submarine. The Congressional Medal of Honor was awarded him posthumously. He previously had won the Navy Cross and Gold Star.

Rent Regulations Are Being Liberalized

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—The Office of Price Administration, stating that pressure for housing in war industry centers is generally easing, has liberalized rent control regulations to permit down payments of 20 per cent instead of 33 1-3 per cent in the purchase of housing accommodations.

The change, OPA said, is a trial measure, and will be set aside if rental tenants are not properly protected.
