AF To Get Most Of Military Fund

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military spending of 34 billion dollars in the next fiscal year was proposed today by President Eisenhower, with two thirds of the total going to air power and with accent on the "nuclear-air retaliatory" arms of the Air Force and Navy.

Eisenhower told Congress, in his budget recommendations for the year starting next July 1, that this expenditure would be the largest peacetime outlay for air power and related programs.

In assigning this paramount position to the combined power of hydrogen and fission bombs and the planes to carry them, the President said this power is being "supplemented by other military forces of great strength, flexibility and mobility and by the forces of our allies."

"Never in our peacetime history have we been as well prepared to defend ourselves as we are now," he declared. ". . . New weapons of unparalleled effectiveness are being integrated into the combat elements with all practical speed."

Without specifying hydrogen and standard nuclear fission bombs, he sad that in the next fiscal year "expanded production facilities will be in operation and production of weapons will increase." A table showed that in the next fiscal year the recommendation is to authorize contracts for weapons production totaling $308,348,000 against an estimated $261,822,000 for the current year.

Eisenhower noted the first atomic-powered submarine, the Nautilus, has been launched (she was due to begin trials today), with a second nuclear sub, the Sea Wolf, scheduled for launching sometime this year and with two others provided for. Eisenhower said he is recommending additional nuclear subs.

At the Pentagon, it was explained that this meant three additional boats to bring the fleet of atomic subs to seven.

There was new stress, too, on guided missiles. The budget earmarked 675 million dollars for guided missiles next year against 519 million estimated for the current year.

A fifth supercarrier of the 60,000-ton Forrestal class was recommended.

These new weapons spell still greater firepower for the armed forces and, in turn, less manpower.

Eisenhower restated the manpower cutback program: to reduce from a present force of about 3,200,000 to about 3,000,000 by next June 30 and "something over 2,800,000" by June 1956.

The Pentagon explained this meant that by June 1956 the Army would have 1,027,000 men, the Navy 657,000, the Marine Corps 193,000 and the Air Force 975,000. Only the Air Force would add men.

A Pentagon official said the Army now consists of 19 divisions, 18 regimental combat teams and 117 antiaircraft battalions and said without giving details that the composition of the army's unit strength "will be different at the end of the year."

The Navy will operate a "little over" 1,000 ships, of which about 406 will be combat types. This compares with about 1,100 now in commission. The cutback will be entirely in noncombat categories.

The Marine Corps will continue with three ground divisions and three wings of planes, as in the present year, although with 12,000 less men.

The President wrote that the active aircraft inventory for the Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps would increase from about 34,000 last June to 36,000 in June 1956 and would "continue to increase toward the present objective of close to 40,000 aircraft." In addition, the Army will maintain 3,600 aircraft, including helicopters.

"The growth in our effective air power is far greater than these numbers indicate, for our aircraft continue to increase in size, speed, range and striking power," Eisenhower said.

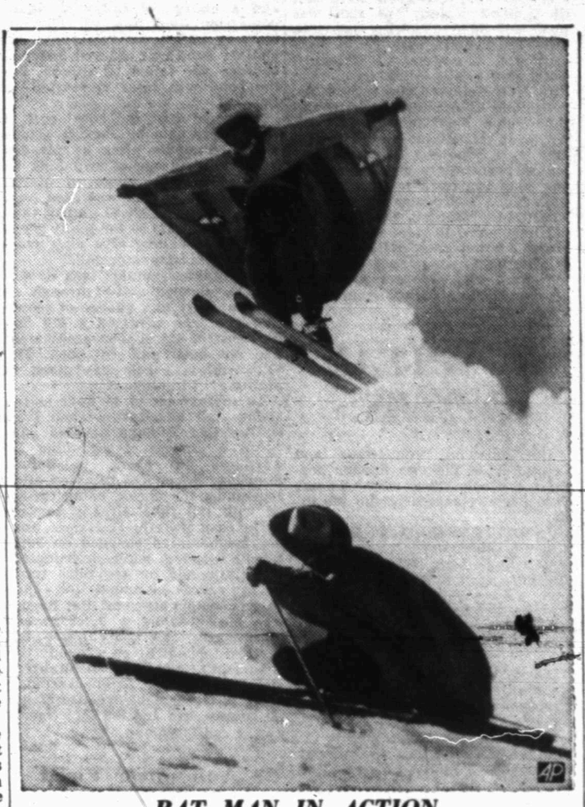

The Air Force, working toward its eventual goal of 137 wings by June 1956, will have 121 wings by next July and 130 a year hence—three more than expected under original planning for that time. A wing varies in size from 30 for heavy bomber units to 75 interceptors.

Here is how the proposed spending budgets for the armed forces would compare in the next fiscal year:

Air Force $15,600,000,000 ($15,200,000,000 estimated for current year.)

Navy $9,700,000,00 ($9,775,000,000 for the current year.)

Army $8,850,000,000 ($8,900,000,000 for the current year.)

BAT MAN IN ACTION

If you think you see a man winging his way through the air, you're right. It's Leo Gasperl, former Austrian ski champion, who is demonstrating "ski-sailing," a sport he is trying to make popular. The mantle is made of parachute silk and can be folded up to fit in a pocket.

Expenditures Due To Show Decline

By The Associated Press

Budget estimates in millions of dollars for the year ending June 30:

	1955	1956
Income	59,000	60,00
Outgo	63,504	62,408
Deficit	4,504	2,408
Yearend Debt	274,300	276,00

By FRANK O'BRIEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower recommended today a slightly trimmed budget he said is designed to guard the nation "against attack from without and undermining from within" while advancing human welfare and economic growth.

The, chief executive's spending blueprint, outlined in a 27,000-word message and a bulky volume of supporting figures, proposed a 12-month outgo of $62,408,000,000.

It contemplates a deficit of about 2 billion dollars—a little more than half that estimated for the current fiscal year, the fifth successive year of deficits.

Estimated expenditures were down a little over a billion dollars from that anticipated for the current year. The President predicted that income in the new fiscal year, starting July 1, would be a billion dollars over this year—reflecting optimism over the future of the national economy.

Eisenhower told Congress—where some members of the dominant Democratic party have wondered aloud if his defense plans are adequate—that "never in our peacetime history have we been as well prepared to defend ourselves as we are now."

But, he said, to protect an "insecure peace" he has assigned to national security programs 40½ billion dollars—65 per cent of the nation's spending in the next fiscal year. That is virtually no change from this year's security outlays, but is six billions less than last year's.

Eisenhower said he has re-examined, and found mostly good except for "some changes in timing" the military "new look" adopted last year. The new budget thus continued primary reliance on airpower to fend off attack and carry smashing retaliation to any aggressors.

In addition, Eisenhower laid new emphasis upon a thickening arc of radar eyes across the north of the continent to give early warnings of any sneak attack. The Air Force got a record two-thirds of the spending money assigned to the armed services, with two-thirds of its money earmarked for procurement of up-to-date jet aircraft.

"In my judgment, the military force and programs upon which this budget is based are accurately adjusted to the national needs," Eisenhower said in his budget message, sent to Capitol Hill.

On the nonmilitary side, the new Eisenhower budget stressed a "policy of partnership" in development of communications and resources between the federal government and the states, local governments and private interests.

Eisenhower called for cost-sharing programs throughout the civilian part of his budget, including references to roads, aviation, shipbuilding and natural resources.

He announced appointment of a special commission to study soaring veterans' benefit costs, which, he said, need "constructive reconsideration."

One recommendation bound to be controversial was the proposed foreign aid program. In the new fiscal year the President proposed spending of $4,700,000,000, most of it money voted by Congress in previous years. That figure is about 400 million over anticipated spending this year.

And he asked for new funds totaling $3,530,000,000, as compared with the $2,781,000,000 voted last year.

There was no geographical breakdown, but Eisenhower said the proposed spending would be split up this way in broad categories: $3,075,000,000 for direct military assistance to help U. S. Allies build up their armed forces; 600 millions for "direct forces support" to such countries as the Indochinese states, Formosa and Korea, whose military budgets this country helps to meet and $1,025,000,000 for nonmilitary foreign aid, most of it presumably for Asia.

Eisenhower told Congress the nation has come through a transition from wartime to peacetime economy which was "difficult for some" but "not serious on the whole," and that "our present growing prosperity has solid foundation."

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey told newsmen the fiscal year 1956 budget is based on Treasury predictions that during the calendar year 1955 personal income will rise by 4 per cent and corporation profits by 7 per cent.

Humphrey said he does not envision any tax cutting proposals this year, but that he hopes by next year "to be talking about tax reductions and a balanced budget, or a nearly balanced budget."

Eisenhower said future spending cuts will be more difficult, but he declared tax reduction "remains a firm goal of this administration," adding:

"A growing prosperity will result in increasing revenues and should make possible both a balanced budget and lower tax rates in the near future. I hope that tax reductions will be justified next year."

If that happens, the President said, he will recommend tax cuts aimed to "spread the relief fairly among all taxpayers, to relieve individual tax burdens and to increase incentive for effort and investment."

Meanwhile, because "we cannot afford to have any further loss of revenue this year through reductions in taxes," he again asked Congress to extend for a year the present 52 per cent corporation income tax rate, as well as present rates of a group of excise taxes, all scheduled to drop on April 1. His budget estimates were based on an assumption this would be done.

Eisenhower called for expenditures during fiscal 1956 totaling almost 62 billion. He estimated receipts at 60 billion. That made for a deficit forecast of about 2 billion.

Compared with new estimates for the current 1955 fiscal year, ending June 30, and for the 12 months preceding, this is how the 1956 fiscal year estimates looked, in billions of dollars:

	1954	1955	1956
Income	64.7	59.0	60.0
Outgo	67.8	53.5	62.4
Deficit	3.1	4.5	2.4
Appropriations	$ 62.8	57.3	58.6

The new forecasts for the current fiscal year showed a general squeeze-down since September 1954, when fiscal 1955 estimates were last revised. The government then forecast receipts totaling 59¼ billion, spending of 64 billion and a deficit of 4¾ billion.

Eisenhower said his fiscal 1956 spending program could be sliced up into four main divisions:

Protect Against Possible War—4 billion dollars, or 67 per cent of the total budget. This included spending for the Coast Guard and

Banquet Tickets Being Distributed

A veteran of three wars will be main speaker Saturday night here at the annual banquet of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

He is Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Williams, now deputy commander of the Fourth Army, with headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio. The banquet will start at 6:30 o'clock Saturday night in the high school cafeteria, with the program to follow in the high school auditorium.

Tickets for the banquet were already selling fast this morning at the chamber office. They are $3 each. The banquet program will also feature entertainment by Phil Regan, nationally-known tenor, and the high school stage band and a capella choir.

Gen. Williams returned to the U.S. in November from Korea, where he had commanded the IX Corps of the U. S. and V ROK Corps, as well as performing duties as deputy commander of the Eighth Army. He had been there since April, 1954, on his last tour of duty in Korea. During the last year of Korea War, he commanded the 25th Tropic Lightening Division and was deputy commander of the II ROK Corps. After the cease fire, he went to northern Japan to command the XVI Corps, staying there until he returned to Korea last year.

Born at Denton, Williams began his military career in 1916 when he enlisted as a private in the Fort Worth company of the Fourth Infantry, Texas National Guard. He attended his first officers training camp at Leon Springs in 1917 and was commissioned that year in the 90th (Texas-Oklahoma) Division. He served with the 359th Infantry in the Toul Sector and in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne battles during World War I and in the army of occupation following that war.

Between 1920 and 1942, Williams served in various infantry regiments as a company commander and regimental staff officer. He also attended and graduated from the Infantry School, Command and General Staff College, and the Army War College.

During World War II, Williams held assignments as assistant chief of staff in the 95th Infantry Division, commander of the 378th Infantry Regiment in that division, G-3 of the XXII Corps, and assistant commander of the 90th Infantry Division. He participated in the Normandy landing and five campaigns in Europe. From 1946 until 1950, Williams commanded the First Military District in Germany and was acting chief of staff and assistant commander of the First Infantry Division. He also commanded the 26th Infantry Regimental Combat team in Germany during the occupation.

Williams returned to the U. S. in 1950 and served as assistant G-3 in the office of the chief of Army Field Forces. He held this position until he went to Korea in 1952.

Williams holds numerous decorations, including the Distinguished Service Cross, Distinguished Service Medal with one oak leaf cluster, Purple Heart with one cluster, French Legion of Honor and Croix de Guerre with one palm and the three highest Korea medals awarded by president Syngman Rhee.

Land Witness Won't Testify

AUSTIN (AP)—Land promoter L. V. Ruffin of Brady has invoked constitutional immunity against testifying before Senate investigators about alleged irregularities in the state veterans land program, Chairman Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo said today.

Hardeman said Ruffin was called by subpoena before the committee in closed session today.

"I informed him of his constitutional rights not to testify if he thought it would incriminate him," Hardeman said. "He invoked the right and was excused."

Ruffin had been named by state Auditor C. H. Cavness as making an "apparent" profit of more than $310,000 in less than a year in four land sales to the state under the veterans program.

Ruffin later asserted the figure was wrong, declaring he had "never seen that kind of money."

The Senate Investigating Committee had three other witnesses under subpoena for today. They included Zavalla County Atty. Curtis Jackson; H. L. Richey, South Texas appraiser who resigned from the veterans land program last week; and Paul Little of Crystal City, who figured in a number of veterans land deals under various names.

Judges Consider Plea For Sheppard's Bail

CLEVELAND (AP)—Three appellate judges today took under advisement requests by attorneys for Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard that he be freed on bail and that his life prison sentence be further stayed.

William J. Corrigan, chief defense attorney for the Bay Village osteopath who was convicted of second degree murder in the July 4 bludgeoning of his wife, told the court he has engaged a criminologist and needs Dr. Sheppard out on bail to go through the murder house to "run down this matter."

Corrigan identified the criminologist as Paul Kirk, biochemist and head of the School of Criminology at the University of California.

Since his conviction by a jury Dec. 21, Dr. Sheppard has been in the Cuyahoga County Jail here, on a stay of execution granted by the trial judge, Edward Blythin. The stay expires Wednesday when Sheppard will be sent to Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus unless the Appeals Court grants another stay.

Four Children Die As Fire Destroys Home

TIMMINS, Ont. (AP) — Four screaming children were burned to death here early today when fire destroyed a four-room frame house.

The dead were Omer Carriere, 6 months; Jean, 1½ years, Maurice, 3, and Charon, 4. They were the children of Jean-Paul Carriere, 28, and his wife, Rita, 22, both of whom escaped.

One child, Denis, 2, was saved by his uncle, Louis Carriere, 19.

The children's father said he believed a small coal stove in the kitchen exploded while the family was sleeping.

Mercury Reaches 64

The temperature rose to 64 degrees for a short time yesterday afternoon. The overnight low was 37 degrees, and by 7:30 today the temperature had risen to 44 degrees.

Sleet, Snow Riding Edge Of Norther

By The Associated Press

The leading edge of a norther expected to bring subfreezing weather with snow and sleet to the Panhandle and upper South Plains eased into Texas before noon Monday. A vast fog shrouded great sections of the state.

The cold front is expected to bring showers over much of the state as it moves across Texas Monday and Tuesday. Considerably colder weather is expected throughout the area.

At Amarillo, the mercury dropped from 35 degrees at 7:30 a.m. to a freezing 32 two hours later as the norther moved in. At Dalhart, in the upper Panhandle, temperatures dropped to 33 and a drizzle, expected to change to sleet or snow, was falling.

A band of fog 300 miles wide still lay across Texas late Monday after mowing in during the night.

Before dawn, fog stretched northwest-southeast from the upper Texas Coast to Western Kansas. North, Central and East Texas had fog. It was clear in South and West Texas.

At Childress, it was zero-zero. You could see only ½ mile at Mineral Wells because of fog. Lufkin had a 100-foot ceiling because of overcast, ¼ mile visibility because of fog. College Station had zero ceiling, ⅛ mile visibility. Austin had zero ceiling.

Visibility at two miles at Dallas and Waco, six at Fort Worth. Drizzle fell at Beaumont and Waco.

Conditions got so soupy at Dallas that Love Field was closed to incoming planes from midnight to 2:23 a.m.

The gloom was caused by water-laden gulf air sliding over cold air, condensing its moisture.

Temperatures ranged from 22 at Dalhart to 56 at Corpus Christi.

The puff of chill air off the Pacific was due in the Panhandle Monday afternoon and in Central Texas by early Tuesday.

The forecast called for rain changing to snow in the Panhandle Monday night, showers, thundershowers and colder weather elsewhere.

WEATHER

NORTH CENTRAL TEXAS: Increasing cloudiness and warmer this afternoon, turning colder tonight and Tuesday with scattered showers tonight mostly in southeast. Lowest 28-38 in west and north tonight.

WEST TEXAS: Considerable cloudiness with occasional rain this afternoon, turning considerably colder with rain changing to snow in Panhandle and upper South Plains and party cloudy and colder elsewhere tonight. Tuesday slow clearing and cold. Lowest 15-25 in Panhandle and upper South Plains and 26-36 elsewhere tonight.

EAST and SOUTH CENTRAL TEXAS: Increasing cloudiness and warmer this afternoon, scattered showers and thundershowers and turning colder Tuesday and in northwest tonight. Lowest around 40 in northwest tonight. Moderate to fresh southerly winds on the coast, shifting to fresh to locally strong northerly early Tuesday.

Navy Plane Is Down At Sea

CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (AP)—A United States Navy four-engine Constellation crashed in the Atlantic off southwest Newfoundland today and search planes over the spot reported no trace of the 13 occupants.

The plane had been airborne less than two hours, out of Harmon Air Force Base near here, when the pilot reported one of his engines had failed. Moments later he said a second motor had cut out.

The Constellation was en route from Harmon, 70 miles from here, to the Patuxent River Naval Air station in Maryland.

Search planes from Harmon returned with reports of sighting yellow life rafts in the sea. However, the pilots said there did not appear to be anyone in them.

The Constellation carried a crew of six and Harmon Field said there were seven passengers aboard.

The aircraft took off at 3:52 a.m. The first distress signal from the pilot was received at Harmon about 5:45 a.m., and the second shortly afterward.

A search and rescue crashboat was speeding to the area. A C47 twin-engine transport plane and a helicopter were ordered to stand by if needed in a rescue operation.

The Constellation was estimated to have covered about 70 air line miles from Harmon when it ditched. The pilot did not indicate the nature of the trouble that had fouled his engines.

He was following what is known as the "inside airways track"—a route that would have taken the plane over Moncton, N.B.

Hardeman Proposes Financial Aid For Building Reservoirs

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' crucial water problem moved to a top position today for quick legislative attention.

A proposed constitutional amendment calling for state financial aid in building local dams and reservoirs was introduced in the Senate by Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo, chairman of a Water Study Committee proposing numerous water reforms.

A similar measure was introduced in the House by Harold Parish of Portland.

Gov. Shivers has called water as the state's "most urgent" problem.

The Senate measure was the first to arrive after Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey issued the first call for general introduction of bills.

Eight other water measures proposing to carry into effect other recommendations of Hardeman's committee followed at once. Generally, they call for reorganization of the state board of water engineers, tighter control measures over water impounding permits, inventory of water usage and coordination of state and federal planning.

The amendment by Hardeman would levy a statewide tax of 3 cents per $100 valuation. A water development fund would be created by issuance of state bonds not to exceed 100 million dollars to be secured by the property tax. Aid would be given in building those projects that would not produce sufficient revenue for financing through private investment.

Parish's plan calls for 200 million dollars in bonds and a property tax of 1 cent per $100 valuation.

In other action, Speaker Jim Lindsey overruled a member's objection last week that had roadblocked the lawmakers' own pay raise and a salary boost for the governor and five other state officials.

Lindsey said the objection was raised under joint rules of the House and Senate last session which had not yet been readopted this session. He ruled the objection was therefore invalid.

Rep. Jess Osborn, Muleshoe, contended the 1½ million dollar measure as approved by the Senate last week could not be acted on during the first 75 days of the session, or until the general appropriations bill has been finally passed.

The Senate bill granted lawmakers their constitutionally authorized raise from $10 to $25 a day, and attached a rider giving the governor a pay boost from $12,000 to $25,000 a year, along with substantial raises for the attorney general, treasurer, comptroller, land commissioner and secretary of state.

Other business facing the 54th session in the first day of its second week was a prelude to the inauguration tomorrow of Gov. Shivers and Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey: a formal canvass of the November general election votes by which they won their offices.

Unofficial counts long ago settled the question of who won, but the canvass is a constitutional necessity.

Shivers will formally start his third elective term after already having broken all records for length of service behind the governor's desk. He also is the first Texas governor to win three elective terms.

Ramsey sets no precedent by becoming lieutenant governor three times in a row. There have been at least two others, but none in recent history.

Inaugural ceremonies begin at 10:30 a.m. with a parade up Congress Ave. to the south portico of the capitol.

Shivers will lead the parade designed to escort him and the lieutenant governor to the inaugural platform, where the swearing-in begins at noon. Since Saturday downtown Austin has been decked with bunting, and local sponsors had anxious eyes on the weather.

U. S. Pilots Deliver Fighter Planes To Costa Rica Today

By CARLOS ESCUDERO

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—U.S. Air Force pilots rushed four fighter planes to Costa Rica today to help the embattled government challenge rebel control of the air.

The planes — World War II Mustangs sold by the U. S. government to Costa Rica reportedly for $1 apiece—were due here this morning. Costa Rican pilots will man the craft against the rebels, who reportedly have an air force of one fighter and two trainers.

The Organization of American States, which authorized transfer of the combat planes to bolster this nation's armed forces in the six-day uprising, received an urgent appeal from Costa Rica's government last night for "further and more effective help."

Costa Rica has accused her northern neighbor Nicaragua of stirring up the revolt. Nicaragua has denied the charge, but an OAS investigating team — without naming Nicaragua specifically — has reported that a substantial amount of the rebel war material was introduced over Costa Rica's northern border.

Until the transfer of the U. S. planes, the Figueres government's makeshift air force has consisted chiefly of slow civilian transports which were hastily armed with machine guns after the rebel outbreak.

Meanwhile, fighting erupted again yesterday on the only active front, at Santa Rosa plantation in northwest Costa Rica near the Nicaraguan border. The continued activity in that area appeared to indicate a decisive battle might be shaping up.

A general staff communique said government troops, unofficially estimated at 1,000 men, held fast in a clash yesterday afternoon although the rebel forces were aided by one plane.

Loyalist forces on Saturday had claimed victory in a major skirmish at Santa Rosa. Informants said the outbreak yesterday came north of the plantation center when government troops moved out from positions captured in the engagement the day before.

Reports from the front said President Jose Figures had to duck for shelter yesterday when the rebels bombed the outskirts of Liberia, about 20 miles southeast of Santa Rosa. A communique said the bombardment killed two soldiers and Oscar Coirdero, correspondent for a San Jose newspaper.

Authorties completed evacuation of most of the civilian population from Liberia, which has borne the brunt of the enemy air attacks.

The general staff said the situation in the Santa Rosa area was "definitely in our favor."

Several rebels and one loyalist were reported killed when the government routed between 200 and 300 rebel troops in Saturday's skirmish.

The general staff said in yesterday's skirmish the rebels pulled back, leaving arms and equipment in the field.

Nineteen loyalist wounded, brought to San Jose Hospital early today, said some of the rebels had taken to the hills and were selling their weapons for food. The wounded men said the rebels were using mortar fire in the Santa Rosa area and were operating under cover of a P47 fighter plane.

An OAS investigating commission, which has sent observers to Liberia and other bombed towns, said "rebel aviation, due to planes of foreign origin, continues with undisputed control of the air over the combat zones."

HOWARD COUNTY

White Eagle Oil Co. of Midland has announced location for a new project in the Vealmoor field of Howard County, while Russell Maguire has quit a dry failure in that county.

White Eagle will drill the No. 1 Mildred Jones 2,080 feet from north and west lines of section 32-32-tsn-T&P. That is one and a half miles southeast of Vealmoor. Rotary tools will drill to 8,200 feet.

Maguire No. 1 White was quit at 8,016 feet in lime. Location was 660 feet from south and 1,929 feet from west lines of section 27-25-H&TC.

SHARON RIDGE TEST

French M. Robertson No. 8 Wellborn is to be drilled in the Sharon Ridge 1700 field of South Scurry County. Drillsite is 330 feet from south and east lines of section 102-97-H&TC, about four miles southeast of Ira. Cable tools are to be used to drill to the contract depth of 1,800 feet, starting at once.

SCURRY FAILURE

Humble Oil & Refining Co. has reported the abandonment of a dry hole, the No. 1 Walker Huddleston Oil Unit No. 1, drilling in the Diamond M-Canyon field 10¾ miles southwest of Snyder.

The hole was bottomed at 6,739 feet in lime. A drillstem test from 6,721-739 feet had a slight air blow and recovered 1,590 feet of gas, 110 feet of oil and gas-cut mud and 400 feet of heavy cut salt water. The drillsite was in section 161-97-H&TC.

STONEWALL STRIKE

J. J. Lynn has completed the No. 1 Ella Phumphrey as a Bend conglomerate discovery in East Stonewall County.

It was finaled for a 24-hour flowing potential of 170 barrels of 41-gravity oil and no water. Production is from perforations at 6,005-015 feet. The well is in the Ben McCulloch survey one and three-quarter miles southeast of the Ashmore-Conglomerate field, but separated from it by dry holes. It is a mile and a half north of Old Glory.

DRILLING REPORT

According to unofficial sources, drilling has been halted at General Crude Oil No. 1 Hugh Taylor, West Scurry wildcat in section 285-97-H&TC. A drillstem test from 8,160-303 feet recovered 2,070 feet of sulphur water. The tool was open one hour. Flowing pressure was 1,025 pounds, with shutin pressure after 30 minutes 3,675 pounds. Total depth was 8,303 feet.

In East Scurry County, Sun No. 1 Hudnall is drilling in shale and lime below 4,626 feet. Forest Oil No. 1 H. H. Eiland in Southwest Scurry is reported to be squeezing off perforations at 6,848-854 feet and plugging back to 5,913 feet.

Magnolia Petroleum No. 1 Jesse York, East Borden County wildcat, recovered 100 feet of salt water-cut drilling mud and 170 feet of salt water on a one-hour drillstem test from 2,857-876 feet. Operator is now drilling ahead below 3,034 feet.

Legion Flays Land 'Errors'

AUSTIN (AP)—"Past administrative errors" in the veteran's land program were sharply criticized yesterday by American Legion post commanders.

In their winter session, 104 local Legion leaders heard Earl Rudder, new land commissioner and head of the veteran's program, urge continuance of the GI farm purchase plan, promise tighter rules.

Rudder was named land commissioner when Bascom Giles stepped aside Jan. 1 in the midst of investigation of the 100-million-dollar state loan program. Under it, veterans may buy small farms at low interest and on long term loans backed by the state.

Charges have been made that some promoters bought large blocks of land on money furnished by the state for re-sale to veterans, at big profits to the promoters.

The Legion leaders adopted a resolution critical of this procedure and calling for tougher rules to control opportunities to commit fraud or otherwise defeat the purposes of the veteran's benefit program.

They recommended that the state Veterans Land Board make no more purchases from persons who have only an option to buy land and who plan to pay for it with money received from the state.

Coolidge Cabinet Member Is Dead

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Dr. William Jardine, secretary of agriculture in Calvin Coolidge's cabinet and former president of Kansas State College, died here today.

Four Persons Plead Guilty In Court Here

Four persons pleaded guilty in county court this morning to misdemeanor charges, two paying fines, and the case of a fifth person was called but postponed.

Mrs. Aline Wishert, 45, who lives near the Big Spring highway and Fortieth Street, paid a fine of $123.50, including court cost, after pleading guilty to one of three bootlegging charges against her. The charge to which she pleaded guilty was filed Nov. 27 and alleged sale of liquor. No disposition has been recorded concerning another charge of sale filed the same day and a charge of unlawful liquor possession filed Nov. 29. The latter was called for trial Dec. 21, and her bond was ordered forfeited because she failed to appear, but the bond was later reinstated on Dec. 22.

A fine of $100 and court cost of $28.50 were paid by Jack H. Charlton of Amarillo after he pleaded guilty to a charge of swindling by worthless check given to Myron Fenton. The charge was filed Aug. 12. The cost of $28.50 rather than the standard $23.50 for guilty pleas was due to calling of a jury panel in the case this morning.

Mrs. James Bomar, now of San Angelo, pleaded guilty through an attorney here to a charge of swindling and was assessed a $10 fine plus cost of $23.50. The assessment had not been paid by noon. The $3 worthless check was given to McKinley Plumbing Co.

An assessment of 14 days in the county jail was made when Ivan O. Bevel of Midland pleaded guilty to a charge of swindling by worthless $15 check to Buford Kennedy. Bevel was released after redeeming the check, being credited with jail time already served.

The case of Perry D. Harris, Snyder businessman charged on Sept. 4 with driving while intoxicated, was postponed for the third time.

The court continued the case on grounds his attorney, Pat Beene, was busy writing a brief in another case. The court made the first postponement on grounds the defendant's wife was hospitalized, and the case was later continued again by agreement because of the Christmas rush and the fact Harris was a businessman.

TV Announcer Fired Because Of Sexy Look

LONDON (AP)—Avis Scott lost her job as a television announcer for the most complimentary of reason—she's too sexy.

After a long look at Avis and her low neckline the viewers simply couldn't get their minds on the programs she introduced. This disturbed the British Broadcasting Corp.

Avis, 29-year-old brunette with hazel eyes, said she just found it impossible to be negative.

"I wasn't surprsed," she explained. "I knew I was just a little too—dare I use the word?—too sexy for the job."

The disappearance of Avis was a step in BBC's policy of shortening intervals between shows. There is going to be less scope for announcers. Women may vanish almost completely and male announcers will be heard more often than they are seen.

Jury Selected To Try Civil Suit In Court

A jury was being selected just before noon this morning, and testimony was expected to start early this afternoon in the civil district court suit of West Texas State Bank vs. Ralph E. Evans and Ray Helms, on a note.

The bank is being represented by the law firm of Dulaney & Raine. Defense counsel is C. E. McGaw.

BUDGET

other defense-related expenditures.

Civil Benefits—12 billion dollars, or 19 per cent. This included veterans benefits, public assistance grants to the states, development programs, and aids and services to agriculture, business, labor and home owners.

Interest On Federal Debt—6½ billion, or about 10 per cent of the budget.

Civil Functions—2¼ billion, or about 4 per cent of the budget. This included the administrative costs of running the government.

Eisenhower predicted that the federal government would wind up the next fiscal year on June 30, 1956, with a national debt of 276 billion dollars.

That would be a net debt increase for the year of about 1¾ billion over the debt total of 274¼ billion which Eisenhower forecast for June 30, the end of this fiscal year. But, he said, because of low tax receipts in the first half of next fiscal year, the government would have to borrow about eight billion dollars, mostly temporarily, and this would leave "no alternative" but to ask Congress to boost the debt ceiling. The government now is operating under a temporary ceiling of 281 billion. This reverts to 275 billion next July 1.

The President told Congress his fiscal philosophy—stated before in similar words—is this: "A liberal attitude toward the welfare of people and a conservative approach to the use of their money."

He said that "stern requirements" of defense are the chief obstacles to further spending cuts now, but that since the nation is not currently using up its defense production in a shooting war, "our defense expenditures are now bringing about a steadily growing strength."

"It is our purpose, working in concert with other nations, to banish the threat of atomic warfare which now confronts the world," Eisenhower said, adding that the fiscal 1956 atomic energy program "provides for greater expenditures than ever before on projects to develop peaceful applications of atomic energy."

He recommended atomic energy spending totaling two billion dollars in fiscal 1956, some 50 million construction and equipment costs would fall next year because work less than this year. Operating costs would rise, Eisenhower said, but will be completed on production plants now building. Eisenhower said there would be a "higher level" of raw uranium purchases.

The President described a growing nucleus of atomic-powered submarines. He said his 1956 budget provided for "additional" similar submarines. Four already have been authorized.

In addition, Eisenhower said the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department are collaborating to "expand and accelerate" the application of nuclear energy to airplanes and to develop a "small transportable" reactor package.

Here are the highlights of Eisenhower's new defense spending program:

He alloted 15½ billions to the Air Force slightly less than it got in fiscal 1954, while the fighting was still in progress in Korea, but 400 million more than this fiscal year.

The Navy got 9 billion. This was about 3½ billions less than the Navy spent in fiscal 1954, but virtually the same as its share of as this year.

The Army was down for 8¾ billion. About 4 billion less than in fiscal 1954 but about the same as ths year.

Altogether, the Defense Department was budgeted at 34 billion dollars for military functions, slightly less than this year and 6¾ billion less than in fiscal 1954.

"Our current military plans," Eisenhower said, "will be subject to continuing review." It is important he said, that "we do not attempt to fix our minds or plans upon any particular set of numbers, for today's technological changes may make yesterday's numbers and concepts obsolete."

The new budget upped arms aid to U.S. Allies by 450 milion dollars to 3 billion. Eisenhower called for additional spending of a billion for foreign economc aid. He said the total includes provisions for "a program in Asia" but left details to be disclosed later.

Red Satellites Get Atomic 'Know-How'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today it is turning over atomic know-how and fissionable materials for peaceful use to Communist China, East Germany, Poland, Romania and Czechoslovakia.

The announcement was contained in a decision of the U.S.S.R. Council of Ministers read to Western newsmen at a hastily summoned news conference at the foreign ministry.

It was the third such press conference in four days. At one conference Friday the Soviets offered to share with the rest of the world experience they claimed to have gained by operating an industrial atomic power plant.

On Saturday the Russians suggested another Big Four conference be held on German reunification.

Today's announcement said in return for scientific and technical aid to be given her Communist allies, the Soviet Union would expect to receive a continuing supply of atomic raw materials from them.

The announcement added that all atomic aid to be given to the other Communist countries would be used for peaceful purposes and that experimental atomic piles given to them would be limited to that required to produce 5,000 kilowatts of electric power each.

The Soviets last week offered to share their findings on use of atomic energy for production of electric power through the United Nations and said it would reveal this information at the scientific congress on peaceful uses of atomic energy which the U.N. General Assembly is to sponsor later this year.

(The United States has been conferring secretly with Russia in an effort to get her to join in a world pool of atomic energy information and material for peaceful purposes. The Americans also have been negotiating on the pool with non-Communist nations and have indicated they would go ahead with the idea whether Russia came in or not. Moscow's offer of last Friday was viewed in the West as the Kremlin's effort to counter the effects of President Eisenhower's widely hailed plan.)

Today's announcement came as U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and atom experts of eight countries — including Russia —gathered at U.N. headquarters in New York for conferences to set up the scientific congress next summer.

The announcement said, "The question is under discussion concerning extending the number of countries to which the U.S.S.R. will be in a position to grant aid in development of scientific experimental work in the field of peaceful use of atomic energy."

PINWHEEL CAKES
. . . are fun to make

Helps For Homemakers

Send your questions to "Helps for Homemakers," Snyder Daily News, or call 3-5486.

Swirling through this Pinwheel Cake is fun to do and results in an exciting novel design that's baked right into the cake itself. Melted chocolate is poured in a circle on top of light chocolate batter and with a twist of the wrist, you twirl a spatula — pulling the dark chocolate completely through the unbaked batter. Bake the layers, split them if desired, and fill with your favorite packaged pudding mix. No frosting needed for the attractive and magical pinwheel cake that is perfectly luscious to eat.

PINWHEEL CAKE

1¾ cups sifted cake flour
1½ cups sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
4 squares unsweetened chocolate
½ cup shortening
1¼ cups evaporated milk, undiluted
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt. Melt two squares of the chocolate; set aside. Stir shortening to soften. Sift in dry ingredients. Add one cup of the milk; blend. Beat two minutes at a low speed of mixer or 300 strokes by hand. Add eggs remaining milk, melted chocolate and vanilla. Beat one minute in mixer or 150 strokes. Melt remaining two squares of chocolate. Pour batter into two round 9-inch layer pans, lined on bottoms with paper. Pour melted chocolate in a circle on top of batter in both pans, about one inch from rims. With a rubber scraper or spatula, swirl chocolate in continuous circles through batter, once around each pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 30 minutes. Cool; then split each layer, making four thin layers. Spread desired filling between layers. Chill before serving.

Jane Is Not Impressed By Contract

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Let us consider Jane Russell and her fabulous deal with Howard Hughes.

The contract is certainly the longest and one of the juiciest in Hollywood history. It gives her a million dollars, to be paid over 20 years, for making six pictures in five years—three for Hughes and three for 20th Century-Fox.

I saw Jane on her return from making "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes" in Europe, and she didn't seem overly impressed with the deal. But then she is seldom impressed with anything concerning Jane Russell the movie star.

The thing that worried her was the three films she would have to make for Hughes. She has gotten into hot water over pictures like "The Outlaw" and "French Line."

Whose idea was the contract?

"Howard's," she replied. "He wanted to make the deal attractive enough so I would sign. And he succeeded."

I contemplated the success of Jane Russell as I observed her at the "Underwater!" premiere in Silver Springs, Fla., last week. She was the focus of all eyes, despite the other names that were present.

Her success is a puzzle, when you consider that she has made only two pictures that can be considered as really good. They were "Paleface" and "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." The others have been middling to lousy.

Quality of pictures isn't the only answer. Her game is partly a tribute to the Hughes publicity mill and the type of sexploitation films he has made.

Part of the credit must go to Jane herself. Not only because of her fabulous figure, but the kind of girl she is—deeply religious despite the notoriety, down to earth and regular. Veteran reporters were amazed to see her don an aqualung and attend the underwater premiere on a chilly night. Not many stars of her stature would have done that.

No More Undefeated Major College Teams

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Midyear examinations will slow down the action on the college basketball front this week and a good thing it is.

The coaches probably will take that long to figure out just where they stand in this crazy-quilt season.

One thing is certain—no team will be fighting to preserve an unblemished record. The undefeated list has been whittled down to a nice round number, zero, with the demise of Auburn.

Alabama turned the trick Saturday, 99-78, it wasn't particularly unexpected. 'Bama had been rated the team most likely to give Kentucky a fight for the Southeastern Conference title. Auburn had won seven in a row.

Actually, most of the conference races still are up in the air, but some trends are unmistakable.

Indiana, for example, appears to be out of the running in the Big Ten. The defending champions showed signs of life a week ago, but they haven't been able to do a thing since.

Kentucky, despite its stunning defeat nine days ago, still is the No. 1 club in the country and the loss to Georgia Tech, which snapped a 32-game winning streak, has not bothered the Wildcats.

Here is how the major loops stand:

Big Ten—Illinois and Minnesota are tied for the lead with Indiana in the cellar. The Illini turned back Ohio State 86-78 Saturday.

Pacific Coast—Southern California, the defending champion, looks to be heading for a fall. The Trojans dropped two games to UCLA over the weekend. That left UCLA and Stanford tied for the Southern Division lead with 3-1 marks.

Big Seven—Missouri, the preseason favorite, leads with a 3-0 mark.

Atlantic Coast—Only two games will be played in the next two weeks in the league. North Carolina, currently in the lead, plays North Carolina State, No. 2 team in the country, in one of them tomorrow. This should be where North Carolina starts dropping back.

Southwest Conference — Texas Christian, true to expectations, is undefeated in conference play, and, in fact, is the only school with a good overall mark, 11-3.

Southeastern Conference —Kentucky, of all things, is in seventh place with a 1-1 record while Vanderbilt and Alabama are at the top with 3-0.

Ivy League — Cornell is the leader, but several other teams could easily win it.

Southern Conference — West Virginia is out front with a 4-0 mark, but the league champion is determined by the conference tournament next March.

ABOVE THE BLEACHERS

By DALE WALTON

Alan Snead and Jack Spikes head up three offensive departments in statistics of the Snyder Tiger basketball squad.

Snead is leading free thrower for the squad. He holds a 70.5 per cent average for hitting 36 out of 51 free throws. Other free throw averages include 69.3 for Jerry Taylor, 68.4 for Jimmy Bennett, 67.6 for Joel Tankersley, 66.6 for McNew, 66.2 for Spikes, 61.1 for Hubert O'Neal, 48.2 for Milton Ham, and 46.1 for Steve Blair. The whole team, which has hit 272 out of 431, has an average of 63 per cent.

Spikes tops field goal hitting with 49.1 per cent. Other averages are 40 for McNew, 39.6 for Ham, 37.5 for Snead, 30.6 for Taylor, 28.5 for Bennett, 28.5 for Tankersley, 28.1 for Blair, and 26 for O'Neal. The team, which has hit 245 of its 687 shots, has an average of 35.6.

Spikes also leads scoring for the team with 174 points. Other scorers are Snead with 146, Taylor with 129, Ham with 110, Tankersley with 47, Bennett with 43, McNew with 37, O'Neal with 35, Blair with 24, and Powell Berry and Robert Dabbs with four each. The team has tallied 758 points to opponents' 786 this season and 199 to 213 in district play.

Top scorers for the Tiger B team are Dwayne Prince with 121, Berry with 92, Ronnie Smith with 51, Pat Fowler with 49, Earl Rhodes with 30, and Dabbs with 25. That team has scored 446 to 499 in season play and 157 to 173 in district games.

* * *

J. P. Ward, head basketball coach, said this morning that the Snyder - Odessa basketball game which is scheduled for tomorrow night, probably will not be played then. The game will probably be either postponed or cancelled, Ward said, explaining that players are taking mid-term exams this week and need the early part of the week for study.

* * *

Plainview has a big advantage right now in District 3A-1 play, being undefeated in four games, but this week's district play could change the whole picture.

For instance, suppose Big Spring were to beat Plainview, and Levelland downed Lamesa on Friday night and Lamesa beat Plainview, and Levelland won over Big Spring on Saturday night. Also, suppose Snyder were to win both of its games this week, over Breckenridge Friday night and Vernon Saturday night.

The result of this would be a five-way tie for first place in the district among Plainview, Snyder, Lamesa, Big Spring, and Levelland. All these are entirely possible.

It looks as if this will be a hot race all the way through, that is, if some of the teams begin to trim Plainvew. It might even turn out like the race this district had two years ago, when five of six teams tied for first place at the end of the season and had to hold a tournament to decide which one would go into state playoffs.

Port Arthur Move Denied

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — The Evangeline League accepted the withdrawal of Texas City yesterday but denied Port Arthur's request to transfer to the Big State League with its territoral franchise.

Directors reelected Edmond Deramee for a seventh term president.

Derrest Williams, who operated Texas City last ycar, got 10 days to dispose of his players. If he doesn't, they will become league property. Texas City used Thibodaux as its home base in the last half of the 1954 season.

Port Arthur, directors said, cannot keep its territorial franchise if it switches to Big State baseball. Directors said the ruling came from George Trautman, president of the minor leagues.

The league received an informal application for membership from Ed Chaiasson of Thibodeaux. Chaiasson was given 10 days to look over his prospects.

Port Arthur, which became a member of the league in 1953, was not officially represented at the meeting.

The Big State League has approved Port Arthur's application for membership. The league will meet here again Jan. 26.

Practice For Lone Star

By The Associated Press

Intersectional play flares again in the Lone Star Conference this week. The circuit relaxes from a heavy run of conference games.

East Texas State, trying to displace Southwest Texas as season leader, ends a midwest tour against Central Missouri State at Warrensburg, Mo., Monday. The Tigers play host to Mississippi Southern at Commerce Saturday.

Stephen F. Austin plays Northwestern Louisiana at Nacogdoches Tuesday, and Lamar Tech takes on Loyola of the South at New Orleans. Stephen F. Austin moves to Austin to meet St. Edwards and Sul Ross plays Texas Lutheran at Seguin Saturday.

Texas A&I and Lamar Tech provide the week's only championship action in games at Kingsville Monday and Tuesday.

Last week left the conference without an unbeaten team, as Lamar Tech and Stephen F. Austin both fell.

The scores: East Texas 90, Payne 54; Stephen F. Austin 75, St. Edward's 57; Sam Houston 108, Texas A&I 74; East Texas 64, Stephen F. Austin 52; Southwest Texas 79, Lamar Tech 74; Sam Houston 71, Sul Ross 55; Southwest Texas 71, Abilene Christian 68; East Texas 60, Southwest Missouri 57; Sam Houston 70, Sul Ross 60; Southwest Texas 72, Abilene Christian 63; Texas A&I 79, Trinity 57.

The American Bowling Congress has sanctioned 28,144 leagues, this season.

Jack Mitchell, above, coach at Wichita, Kan., University, has resigned to accept the football coaching job at the University of Arkansas. He will succeed Bowden Wyatt who quit the Arkansas post to become coach at the University of Tennessee.

War Ending Between Two Football Leagues

MONTREAL (AP)—The long and costly "war" between the National Football League and the Canadian professional loops appeared to be drawing to a close today.

In fact, only one team was forcing the continuation of hostilities—the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Big Four.

The League Saturday adopted a rule which would require the teams to honor player options and contracts held by National Football League clubs over the protests of the Argos.

Then, Sunday, the Argos persuaded the league to reconsider the rule. The final decision will be made by the league's board of governors which will meet in the "immediate future."

Gulf Coast Slows Down For Mid-Term

By The Associated Press

Mid-term exams slow Gluf Coast Conference basketball this week to two non-conference games.

Trinity plays St. Edwards Monday at San Antonio, and Midwestern plays Hardin-Simmons Tuesday at Wichita Falls.

Midwestern last week won four victories in as many tries. The Indians whipped Trinity 79-54 and 78-43 in conference play and added two nonconference decisions over Corpus Christi, 114-93 and 94-71.

Trinity picked up its first victory of the year, 82-81, over St. Mary's, then lost 79-57 to Texas A&I. North Texas beat Austin College 93-89 and lost to Oklahoma A&M 79-52.

Tittle, Wilson Have Good Talking Point On Their Salaries

LOS ANGELES (AP)—When the time comes for discussions of contracts and salaries, a couple of San Francisco 49ers, quarterback Y. A. Tittle and end Billy Wilson, have Sunday's pro bowl game as a mighty good talking point.

So does Coach Buck Shaw, lately of the 49ers, who told newsmen after the game he has conferred with Los Angeles Rams President Dan Reeves who seeks a head coach.

The two players were outstanding as the West surged back to beat the East 26-19 in the game matching all-star squads of the national Football League's two divisions, before 43,972 fans who braved the rain.

The 6-foot-3 Wilson, a 190-pounder, was unanimously chosen by sports editors at the game as its most valuable player. He scored the first West touchdown after his club trailed 19-3 and gained 157 yards as he snagged 11 passes.

The winning touchdown that broke a 19-19 deadlock in the final period came thanks to a pass interception by Detroit center Lavern Torgeson, who ran it back 35 to the East four. Joe Perry of the 49ers went over on his second try.

Patterson Is Set To Go 10 Rounds

By The Associated Press

Floyd Patterson finally has graduated from the eight-round class. For the first time in his meteoric career, the former Golden Glove champ is scheduled for 10 rounds tonight at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway against Don Grant of Los Angeles.

Winner of 19 of 20 pro starts, 20-year-old Patterson makes his second start within 10 days. He stopped Willie Troy at Madison Square Garden Jan. 7.

Although Grant has won 16 of 17, he is a 3-1 underdog.

ABC will telecast.

Moses Ward, of Detroit, and Milo Savage, of Salt Lake City, top the St. Nicholas Arena show tonight in a middleweight 10-rounder.

Du Mont will telecast.

Retired middleweight boxing champion Sugar Ray Robinson fought as an amateur under the name of Walker Smith.

Texas Loop Includes Beaumont In Plans

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas League is going ahead with plans for the season on the assumption Beaumont will solve its money problems and stay in.

League directors, meeting yesterday:

Adopted a 161-game scheduled, which included Beaumont. The schedule opens April 6 and closes Sept. 5.

Awarded the all star game July 22 to Beaumont.

Voted to legalize again the "hidden ball" play, outlawed by the league since before World War II although it has been legal all the time under national baseball rules and in most leagues.

Authorized league President Dick Butler to ask major league teams to refrain from recalling in late season players from clubs in contention for the Texas League title.

Directors pledged 100 per cent cooperation wth Beaumont owner Allen Russell in solvng his financial problems.

Russell says he can solve his money problems if the city will buy the club's 6,300-seat stadium for $165,000 and lease it back to the ball club for $12,000 a year.

Butler said directors talked over possible action in case the bond issue fails.

"We decided that the problem is in Allen's hands and that is where we left it," Butler said.

The schedule opens with Oklahoma City at San Antonio, Tulsa at Houston, Fort Worth at Beaumont and Dallas at Shreveport.

Club officials told of spring training plans, including a Baltimore chain managers and scouts meeting Jan. 23 at San Antonio. Paul Richards, field and general manager at Baltimore, will supervise the meeting.

Frogs Now Hold All Southwest Records

By JOE BENHAM
Associated Press Sports Writer

Number of victories, season record, conference record, individual scoring records—you name it and Texas Christian leads in it as the third week of championship basketball play begins in the Southwest Conference.

The Frogs' 77-73 victory over Southern Methodist Saturday and Arkansas' helpful 73-63 victory over Baylor left TCU at the top in every major department except total points. SMU still leads there, 1,196 to 1,032 for runnerup TCU.

TCU leads in season play both percentage-wise and in number of victories, standing 11-3 for the year. Within the conference, the Frogs are the only perfect-record squad with three victories in as many tries.

In individual columns, Frog center Dick O'Neal holds the edge all the way. The 6-foot-7 sophomore carries a season average just a whisker under 27 points per game, with 377 in 14 contests.

In championship circles, O'Neal sets the pace again with a 37-point average in the Frogs' three conference games.

SMU is second in most everything, with a 9-6 record for the year and 3-1 conference record. Mustang center Jim Krebs trails no one but O'Neal with 316 points for the year and 84 in conference action.

TCU risks its leadership twice this week in conference play, facing Rice Tuesday at Houston and Texas A&M Saturday at College Station.

Other championship games match A&M and Baylor Tuesday and Rice and Baylor Friday. Both games are at Waco. Texas A&M plays Louisiana State in an out-of-circuit game Thursday at College Station.

Middlecoff Is Top Man At Bing's Meet

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The wandering golfers abandoned the picturesque Monterey Peninsula country today, some pleased, many disappointed and doubtless the happiest guy of all was Cary Middlecoff.

The 34-year-old 1949 National Open champion captured the big share of the $15,000 purse offered by singer Bing Crosby for his 14th annual pro-amateur golfing calmbake.

The race for the $2,500 prize offered the low-scoring professional, wasn't even close when the payoff came yesterday.

It was Middlecoff by four large strokes — a one-under-par 71 for his final burst, and a 209 for a 54-hole total fashioned from a pair of 69's in the first two rounds.

The nearest to the one-time dentist of Memphis, now from Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., was another ex-U.S. Open titleholder, Julius Boros, with 70-71-72—213, and a comparative newcomer, Paul McGuire of Wichita, Kan., with 68-75-70—213 — and $1,250 to each.

Middlecoff set forth over Pebble Beach's mushy 6,701 yards, par 36-36—72 course — later to dry out a bit from the previous day's rain — with a bare one-stroke lead over the field.

Middlecoff added $1,000 to his week's income at Crosby's expense when he and handsome hotel executive Ed Crowley of Los Angeles marched into the second spot of the pro-amateur side attraction. The team had a final 66 for 196.

The pro-am winner featured the old maestro of pro golf, Byron Nelson, of Roanoke, Tex., and his amateur partner, Ed Lowrey of San Francisco.

Today the pro troupe heads for Southern California. A select team will play a Canadian team in the International Hopkins Trophy matches at La Jolla Tuesday and Wednesday. The remainder will get ready for the $15,000 San Diego Open at Mission Valley Country Club starting Thursday.

McMurry Trying To Recapture Its Lead

By The Associated Press

McMurry seeks to regain its season lead and keep its conference lead in the Texas Conference this week.

The Indians take on Howard Payne Tuesday and Abilene Christian Friday. Both games are at Abilene.

McMurry fell from the top of the full-year's listings by losing its only game last week to ACC 52-48.

Eastern New Mexico beat Howard Payne 89-71 but lost a second game to the Yellow Jackets 80-79 and dropped a 109-92 decision to Wayland. Howard Payne also lost to East Texas 90-64.

Eastern New Mexico vs. ACC at Portales Monday, Howard Payne vs. McMurry at Abilene Tuesday, McMurry vs. ACC at Abilene Friday and Eastern New Mexico vs. New Mexico Military Saturday make up this week's schedule.

Altered Parks Will Help Hitters Trying For Ruth's Record

By GAYL
NEW YORK (AP) - we go again. Now it is the St. Louis Cardinals who are pulling down the lofty screen in their Sportsman's Park right field so that Stan Musial, their great southpaw swinger, can take aim at Babe Ruth's home run record and, just possibly, draw a few thousand extra customers into the joint.

With all the regulations that have been drawn up over the years to govern every other phase of the game, it seems remarkable that there is nothing whatever in the books saying what a club owner may or may not do with respect to altering the dimensions of his park. Cincinnati announced earlier that it was taking a tuck in the right barrier at Crosley Field for the benefit of its home run knocker, Ted Kluszewski.

The right foul line at Sportsman's Park stretches 310 feet, which is a reasonable length, but a pavilion cuts straight across the field at right angles so that in right-center the distance from home plate still is a highly inviting 354 feet. For the past 25 years this shooting gallery has been shielded by a screen 33 feet high, and many is the double that has bounced off its face. From now on they will be homers.

There may be one bit of justification for removing the screen. It wasn't there in 1927, the year Ruth hung up his record 60, and the book shows that four of the Babe's blows were made in St. Louis. It doesn't say whether they banged into the pavilion or cleared the roof.

Bill Dinneen, the veteran American League umpire who died the other day at the age of 78, always claimed that a former pitcher, such as he was, worked twice as hard calling balls and strikes as, say, an infielder who donned the blue suit after his playing days were over.

"I still find myself pitching every game I work behind the plate," Bill said one spring in Florida. "I know what the batters can hit and what they can't, so I find myself thinking that if I was pitching to this bird I'd hand him a curve, low and on the outside, and then watching to see if that's what comes over. It's a double strain."

Top Border Teams Rest

PHOENIX (AP)—Texas Tech and Arizona, leading Border Conference basketball, rest this week after disposing of strong challengers.

One non-conference game, Hardin-Simmons at Midwestern, is on tap tomorrow.

Arizona State at Tempe, ambitious after winning 86-83 over H-SU Saturday, visits New Mexico A&M Friday and Texas Western Saturday in conference games.

H-SU visits a West Texas State Saturday.

Arizona handed West Texas its first setback of the conference season 73-72 Saturday. The night before, the Wildcats knocked H-SU from the unbeaten ranks in the league 77-68 while West Texas tamed the Sun Devils at Temple 82-70. Bob Tremaine scored 30 points for Hardin-Simmons against Arizona and played a big part in the club's only victory of the week, a 58-56 overtime decision over Texas Western.

The Miners, were also clipped 86-66 by Tech's defending champion crew Monday.

Eleven rookies have won 20 games or more their first season in the American League. The youngest to do it was Wes Ferrell when he was 21 with the 1929 Cleveland Indians.

To feather a ball in pocket billiards means to hit it very thin.

Garland Coach Turns Down McMurry Post

DALLAS (AP)—Bill Ellington, football coach at Garland high school, has turned down an offer of a 5-year contract as athletic director and head coach at McMurry College, the Dallas News said today.

The News reported Ellington, 1943 graduate of the Abilene school, talked with McMurry officials Thursday and decided against taking the job.

The post will become vacant March 1 with the resignation of Wilford Moore, who said he plans to enter business.

CELEBRATES FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

The Central Tire Service, Avenue S and Twenty-third Street, is celebrating its fifth anniversary here this month. The business was opened at 2310 Avenue S in January of 1950 under the name of Bill Ragsdale Tire Co., but was operated by Stanley Noah. Noah and John Noble purchased the interests of Ragsdale and moved the business to its present location about two and one-half years ago. The Gates tire distributorship here serves 13 dealers in an eight county area. (Lee Watson photograph)

Central Tire Has Fifth Anniversary

One of the largest tire service stores anywhere in West Texas is celebratng its fifth anniversary here this month.

It is Central Tire Service, Twenty-third Street and Avenue S, owned by Stanley Noah and John Noble.

Central Tire Service was started at 2310 Avenue S with a 20-foot wide front and two employes in January of 1950 as the Bill Ragsdale Tire Co., and was operated by Noah at that location for two and one half years before moving to its present location.

After two years here, the tire store expanded to take in the building adjoining its old location, and after moving to its more spacious present location the store has grown to become one of West Texas largest and most complete tire service stores. The firm now employs eight persons including its owners.

Central Tire Service is the Gates tire distributor and warehouse center for an eight-county area in which it serves 13 dealers.

The eight counties served by Central Tire Service are: Scurry, Borden, Garza, Stonewall, Nolan, Mitchell, Fisher, and Kent.

Employes of the firm are: Noah, Noble, Don Baxter, Daryl Heard, Ted Crowder, Billy Jack Clark, J. R. Jones, and Lloyd DeArmon.

The firm offers the only truck tire re-treading service available here, and in addition to serving large trucking accounts with new truck tires and truck treads, it offers specialized service in passenger car wheel alignment on all makes and models of cars.

Specially trained personnel are employed by the firm to check and correct any generator or voltage regulator troubles, and give a complete battery service.

Noah said that the firm offers a complete road service for tire, battery, or electrical troubles. A Conoco service station is operated by the tire store to complete its services to car owners.

Smoke Cloud Covers London

LONDON (AP) —A weird, 10-minute smoke cloud plunged London in darkness for 10 minutes yesterday afternoon, bringing the vast metropolis nearly to a state of mass panic.

Weather men blamed the blackout on an accumulation of smoke under an extremely thick layer of cloud.

"It was pitch dark and then the place went silent," said a newspaper seller in Piccadilly Circus, the heart of the city. "It was lonely, frightening and awful. Then someone began to scream he'd gone blind. I was getting my wind up when it all of a sudden come clear."

"The end of the world has come!" a man outside Croydon Town Hall shouted. Some persons fell to their knees on the sidewalks and prayed.

The pall descended without warning, then disappeared as quickly as it had come.

New Union Official Victim Of Robbery

WHEELING, W. Va., (AP)—At a union business meeting Saturday night, John Hogle was installed as treasurer of District 136, International Assn. of Machinists.

When he arrived home early yesterday, he discovered that $1,230 in union funds had been stolen from his briefcase.

Hogle told police he had placed the money in a pouch and deposited the pouch in his briefcase. The pouch apparently was taken from the briefcase during a party following the business meeting.

Enlightened Thief

DALLAS (AP)—Police are seeking an enlightened thief who stole a two-foot-high antique lantern from in front of a home.

Eskimo Just Like Others

By SAUL PETT
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—I met my first Eskimo the other day and he went right to work on most of my illusions.

Puppygitwok - Koopuaok, who hails from a remote town in Alaska, said he had never lived in an igloo and, in fact, had never seen one.

He had never rubbed noses with anyone until he came to New York and was persuaded to sideswipe a model's nostrils for a publicity picture. Eskimos kiss like the rest of us, he said.

And if she could afford it, what would Mrs. Puppygitwok-Koopuaok most like to have in the whole world?

"A coat," said her husband.

What kind of a coat?

"Mink," he said.

It's a small world.

But there are some differences. There was one difference I had difficulty bringing up with Puppygitwok - Koopuaok, who hereafter will be known as Reed Henry since that is his English name and the typesetters are going crazy.

After much hemming and hawing, I finally asked if it is still true that Eskimos are such friendly, generous hosts that they will share their wives with a visitor.

"It's true," said Reed, who speaks some English.

Well, now, if I may localize the question, if it's not too personal, but, well, do you, that is to say. . . . Oh, forget it, Reed.

"No, he doesn't," volunteered Dr. E. S. Rabeau, an American physician from Reed's home town who came down from Alaska with him. "Many of the more advanced Eskimo families don't do that. That is to say, they're not that generous. But among those who do, it's not considered immoral."

Thank you, doctor.

Wayne Takes Mitchum Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Film actor John Wayne has cut short his New York honeymoon to replace Robert Mitchum, who was dropped last week from the starring role in the 2½-million-dollar picture "Blood Alley."

A Warner Brothers spokesman said that Mitchum was dismissed for "action detrimental to the making of the film."

"There are no hard feelings — we didn't see eye to eye," Mitchum said.

It was reported last week from San Rafael, Calif., the film's location site, that Mitchum had pushed a company transportation manager, George Coleman, into San Francisco Bay. However, Mitchum and Coleman both denied it happened.

Wayne, who reports to the location of the film today, married his third wife, Peruvian beauty Pilar Pallette, last Nov. 1 in Hawaii.

66-Year-Old Priest Dies Of Lung Cancer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S. J., 66-year-old Catholic priest, author and youth leader, died Saturday of cancer of the lungs.

When told of the disease last February, Father Lord replied:

"You're going to die sometime anyway. Something like this just makes it a little more definite."

He entered the hospital Oct. 19 after returning from Toronto, where he directed 11 performances of a musical spectacle for that city's Marian Year pageant.

His pageants have been produced in various cities. He has written more than a dozen books and several religious songs.

Heart Attack Proves Fatal On Birthday

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — The dinner was ready, the cake was lit. It was Herbert Sootsman's 63rd birthday yesterday.

Sootsman had excused himself from the family gathering half an hour before dinnertime. He said he wanted to lie down.

"Dad," called a daughter, Mrs. Gerald Cliff, "happy birthday, we're ready to start."

Dad didn't answer. He had died of a heart attack.

Holdup Man Relents, Gets Dollar Anyway

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Kenneth Wiley, cab driver, told police he picked up a passenger at a bus station and moments later his fare pulled a gun, demanding money.

Wiley gave him $3.

"Is this all you have?" the gunman asked.

Wiley said it was.

The man handed the money back, saying, "Here, you take it. You need it worse than I do."

Wiley said he figured the man must need money or he wouldn't be staging a holdup. Wiley said he put $2 in his pocket and gave the passenger a dollar.

It Wouldn't Fit In A Headline, Either

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Jan. 15 (AP)—Police had their problems when they arrested a 39-year-old Hawaiian seaman early today — his name was almost too long to squeeze on a booking slip.

The seaman, picked up on suspicion of drunk driving, identified himself as Kauapakanuikaanaana Kelukuli.

Pranksters Cover Lawn With Signs

DALLAS (AP)—Mrs. Wayne Tuttle glanced out at her lawn before dawn yesterday and saw 15 signs, ranging from "Fire Sale" to "front Entrance Around Corner" — the work of pranksters.

"I got them all inside before the neighbors woke up and saw them," she said. "I can't imagine who put them all there or why."

Months Of Examination And Arguments Ahead For Budget

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

A-B-C on the budget which President Eisenhower sends to Congress today.

A formidable document, thick as the biggest telephone book, it's Eisenhower's explanation of the cost of running the government another year.

Government employes have worked on this budget for months, trying to figure out precisely what the cost will be for the fiscal year starting next July 1, called fiscal 1956.

Principally because of the cost of handling the cold war and maintaining defense, they have not been able to keep government expenses below income. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has said his new budget will not be balanced.

So the government will have to borrow to make up the deficit, whatever it turns out to be in the end. Because of this expected deficit, you are likely to be disappointed if you're looking for an income tax cut this year.

Since the government's executive branch under Eisenhower can't spend anything unless Congress, the legislative branch, votes the money, the President has to send his budget request to the lawmakers.

From now until next summer, when it's due to quit for the year, Congress will be examining and arguing over this budget, trying to cut it down.

Work on the budget started last summer. Officers in the Bureau of the Budget got together with the various government departments and special agencies, laying down spending limits for them to shoot at. Then officials in the departments, agencies and bureaus went to work.

This meant they had to look ahead a year or more to what their expenses would be since the money could not be spent before the beginning of fiscal 1956, next July.

Their estimates then went to budget offices in each department and special agency. They examined the figures, comparing them with the present year, trying to reduce them.

This meant a lot of conferences within the departments and agencies. Finally the head of each department or special agency had to approve. Then the estimates were sent to the Budget Bureau.

Officers there tried to cut down the anticipated expenses again and they held conferences with the department and agency officials.

After the Budget Bureau decided it had expenses down as far as possible, the President had to approve. Then, with his assistants, he wrote an explanation called the budget message to send to Congress along with the figures.

Now Congress goes to work. The appropriations committees of House and Senate will call before them the officials of the departments and the agencies to explain why they think they need the money they asked for, and if they can, explain why they can't do with less.

These hearings go on for months. When the committees are satisfied that they have the estimates reduced to the bone, they send the estimates along with their recommendations to the House and Senate.

And on the floor of both houses money may be added or taken away. If the House and Senate vote different amounts, as they generally do, committees from both houses are set up to iron out their differences and then both houses vote on the compromised figure.

Marilyn Back On Suspension

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Marilyn Monroe is on suspension for the second time in a year at 20th Century-Fox for failing to report for work.

Darryl F. Zanuck, production head at the studio, said Marilyn was suspended Saturday for not showing up for work on "How to Be Very, Very Popular," the Nunnally Johnson comedy.

A studio spokesman said Miss Monroe has expressed dissatisfaction with her role in the movie. She has stated that she wants to act in "The Brothers Karamazov," a dramatic Russian story.

Sheree North will take over the comedy role, Zanuck said. Miss North, he added, also will take over another role originally scheduled for Marilyn in the movie "Pink Tights."

Miss Monroe was suspended in January 1954 by the same studio after she failed to report for work for "Pink Tights." The actress said at that time she had not been given a chance to see the script before being assigned to the picture.

Marilyn has been at odds with 20th Century-Fox, and recently said she planned to "incorporate" herself and go into production, television and "all kinds of things."

Phenix City Is Back In Civilian Hands

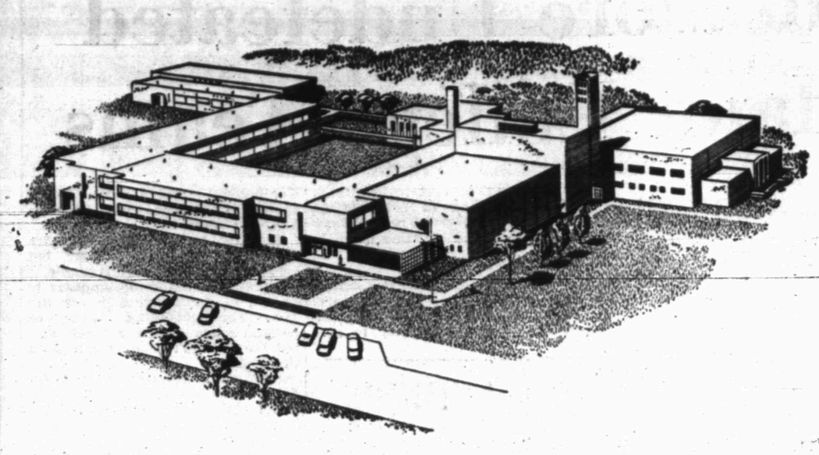

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP) — Enforcement of law and order in Phenix City was in the hands of local civilian officials today for the first time since July 22.

The last Alabama National Guardsmen on duty here pulled out a few hours before outgoing Gov. Gordon Persons' order of limited martial rule expired at midnight.

In 25 weeks of occupation, National Guardsmen confiscated incriminating racket records and smashed thousands of dollars worth of gambling equipment. Their investgators reopened criminal cases which now ousted local law enforcement officials had ignored or forgotten.

The full-scale cleanup was touched off by the slaying of racket-fighting Atty. Gen. -nominee Albert Patterson June 18.

IMPRESSIVE COVER PICTURE

A reproduction of this drawing of the Snyder Senior High School plant makes an impressive cover for new directories to be distributed here soon by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. Truman Black, local manager for the telephone company, said the cover illustration was selected in line with Southwestern Bell's newly established policy of using scenes well known to the telephone company's patrons on the front of the directories.

Folsom Makes Forecast Good

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Towering James E. (Big Jim) Folsom, whom critics "buried" as a political dead duck four years ago, came back to the Capitol for a second term as Alabama governor today, just as he said he would.

His inauguration, surpassing anything Alabama has ever witnessed for pomp and pageantry, was scheduled to follow a four-hour parade of 122 bands, 74 floats and an estimated 10,000 marchers.

Folsom, 46, prohibited by law from seeking re-election to succeed himself after his first term, was eligible to run again in 1954. He won the Democratic nomination over six opponents without a runoff, then easily defeated his Republican opponent in the November general election.

The happy-go-lucky attitude that gained him a nationwide reputation as "Kissing Jim" has faded into the past, and in its place is a stern, businesslike, serious man.

With an apparent voting majority in the new Legislature, the incoming governor is expected to call a series of three immediate special sessions to put his program over. It will cost upwards of 23 million dollars a year in additional tax revenue.

Find Gunman Hiding Under Pew In Church

WAXAHACHIE, Tex. (AP) — Bloodhounds found a part-time lay evangelist cowering under a church pew last night after he shot down a deputy sheriff.

Six-foot, raw-boned J. P. Townsend, boastful and threatening a few hours earlier when he shot it out with three officers, crawled meekly from under the pew and surrendered.

His capture abruptly ended a big manhunt through the woody bottoms of Waxahachie Creek. More than 50 officers, armed with high-powered rifles and shotguns and angry over the shooting of a fellow officer, had scoured the darkened brushland.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Rogers, shot in the hip when he and two other peace officers approached Townsend to question him about a traffic complaint, was not seriously hurt.

"Hell, I'll just kill all three of you SO.B.'s," Deputy Sheriff Robert White quoted the 33-year-old Townsend as saying when the officers walked up to his house at nearby Sardis, Tex.

The deputy said Townsend then opened fire with a .410 shotgun, felled Rogers, fired two more blasts through the door of the patrol car, and fled into his house. The officers returned the fire. Their gunshots ripped through the screen door and thudded into the door frame but missed Townsend.

White and City Marshal Perry Aday, of nearby Midlothian, Tex., ducked behind their car while firing at Townsend. They were not hit.

While the big manunt was being organized, Townsend crawled about 100 yards to the nearby church, throwing away his shotgun on the way.

A highway patrolman said Townsend became a part-time lay evangelist after his release several years ago from the Texas Penitentiary, where he had served an assault and robbery sentence.

The three officers had gone to Townsend's home after receiving a complaint from a motorist that the towsel-haired man had sideswiped his car and sped away. Sheriff Burl White said they arrived to find that Townsend had been drinking and "just couldn't be reasoned with."

The sheriff said he will file assault to murder charges today.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY ON YOUR INCOME TAX

By SYLVIA PORTER

Nearly all of us had medical expenses last year and many of us had medical bills that knocked us flat on our financial backs.

This year it's more important than ever before that you check down to the penny exactly what you spent for medical, dental or similar expenses in 1954. Here's why:

The 1954 tax law says that if you are under 65, you can deduct medical expenses above 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income — which is total income for most wage-earners — up to a maximum ceiling of $10,000. For example, a married couple with two or more dependents and with a $5,000 adjusted gross income in 1954 can deduct all medical, dental and similar expenses above $150 up to the $10,000 limit.

However, you may include in your medical expenses the cost of drugs and medicines only to the extent they top 1 per cent of your adjusted gross income. The $5,000 family, as an illustration, can deduct costs of drugs and medicines only above $50.

Below are angles that can mean real tax savings to you.

* * *

QUESTION: We had a baby last year. What are our possible deductions for expenses?

ANSWER: You can deduct for these expenses if you paid these bills during 1954: doctor bills, including use of delivery room, X-ray, etc.; dentist bills, registered nurse laboratory tests; special equipment and supplies, such as invalid chairs, arches; stork service, such as ambulance to and from hospital; travel expenses essential to getting medical care medical treatments, such as blood transfusions.

QUESTION: My son was hospitalized for an appendectomy last winter. The bill, not covered by insurance, came to $550. We spent another $50 for drugs and medicines. We're in the $6,000 bracket.

ANSWER: All your medical expenses above 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income of $6,000—meaning above $180 — are deductible. So you can deduct $370 as your medical expense ($550 minus $180.) You can't include your drug or medicine expenses in your deduction because the cost didn't exceed $60 (or 1 per cent of your adjusted gross income.)

QUESTION: I know the medical deduction includes all the expenses of treating an illness from diagnosis to cure. I pay substantial premiums for an accident and health insurance policy. Are these premiums deductible?

ANSWER: Yes. And so are the fees you pay for hospitalization and dues to medical care agencies, group clinics, etc. And don't forget such medical deductions as: cost of laboratory tests and examinations; dental services, including X-ray and straightening teeth; eyeglasses and hearing aids. Your deductible expenses include all the costs you incurred to prevent or cure an illness during 1954.

QUESTION: Our child developed asthma last year and the doctor told us to send him to school in the South. Can we deduct the costs?

ANSWER: Yes, his traveling costs are proper deductions because the doctor ordered the trip. But under the 1954 law, his living costs at school would NOT be proper deductions. And once your child recovers, your deduction is gone. The tax courts refuse to recognize a deduction just because one climate is healthier than another.

QUESTION: I couldn't pay all my medical bills in 1954 so I'm paying some this year. How do I deduct for my expenses?

ANSWER: You can deduct only for the medical bills you actually paid in 1954. What you have postponed to 1955 will be a deduction for 1955.

You probably missed getting a tax-saving deduction by not borrowing money to pay your bills in 1954, and if you had borrowed to pay your bills, the interest on your loan would have been a deduction too. It's a common boner which you shouldn't repeat again.

Officers Find Robber Leaves A Clear Trail

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—For officers investigating a $33 hotel robbery yesterday it was relatively simple to walk across a parking lot and arrest the culprit in his hiding place between two steel pillars along the wall of a building.

Seems the bandit had forgotten about the two inches of fresh snow on the ground, in which his footprints were clearly outlined.

Brinks Robbery Is Still Under Probe

By JOHN B. KNOX

BOSTON (AP) — Among Greater Boston's two million residents, only five men (or was it maybe seven or eight?) knew something nightmarish was going to happen on the night of Jan. 17, just five years ago.

Shadows were heavy around the bare concrete garage - and - office building in Boston's North End from which, daily, the Brink's, Inc. armored money - express trucks went on their missions between banks and businesses.

People familiar with the area knew nothing of a strong room in that concrete building, nor of five Brink's employes with pistols near their hands that night while they counted money in millions.

As investigators have reconstructed the scene, a light truck and an automobile drew up outside. When the last visible pedestrian vanished around a corner, men got out—the number was never definitely established. With visored caps and pea jackets, they might have been Brink's guards. But why did they wear gloves and rubbers on this mild, dry night? Why did each carry, under arm, a little white bundle—like a rolled-up laundry bag? And why were their faces grotesque — like those of clowns?

A key unlocked an outside door. Walking with sureness which hinted familiarity, they passed through five more locked doors in the labyrinth-like interior. Nor did any guard hear them, nor the five men busy with money and money bags behind the counting room grille.

Not until 7:10 p.m., when they heard the bark: "Open up! This is a stickup. Don't give us any trouble." Then the Brink's men looked up and saw the row of grinning masks and the black guns.

Forced to lie prone, tied up, their mouths taped, they saw little more. And the Halloween-masked robbers working like swift robots, dumping heaps of money into laundry bags, spoke only in muffled mutters. The robbers half dragged, half carried their bags with $1,219,000 in cash into the night.

Along dark streets the robbers' car and their light truck—stolen months before—vanished with the stolen treasure.

Neither Boston land and harbor police, metropolitan and state police, nor FBI, in five years ever caught up with that phantom gang or found one dollar of $98,000 in bills whose serial numbers were known. Nor did the FBI ever report any trace of an additional $1,481,000 in unregistered bonds, also allegedly taken that night.

The robbers left no fingerprint or other useful clue. Parts of their stolen truck, dismembered by a cetylene torch, were found months later on a suburban dump.

Department of Justice men have impounded secret evidence, however, and they say the investigation is still proceeding.

Allen Rite Set On Wednesday

Funeral services for Joseph Smith Allen, 62, of 1916 Coleman, are to be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Episcopal Church at Williamsport, Pa.

Mr. Allen, a resident of Snyder since June, died of a heart attack Saturday afternoon. Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. John's Episcopal Church here with the Rev. William Boyd of Big Spring officiating.

The body was prepared for shipment by Bell Funeral Home, and local arrangements were under their direction. Knight Funeral Home will direct arrangements in Williamsport. Members of the Williamsport Masonic Lodge will serve as pallbearers and will conduct graveside rites.

Report Disease Costs Cattlemen Heavily

FORT WORTH (AP)—Texas is losing several million dollars in cattle each year because it has no program to wipe out undulant fever, or brucellosis, a member of the State Brucellosis Committee said yesterday.

Dr. Dan Anderson of Fort Worth said the only states without such a program are Texas and Kansas.

"Individual cattlemen protect their herds, but there is no statewide program to control the disease," he said.

Anderson spoke today to the Texas Veterinary Medical Assn.

Brucellosis, also known as bangs disease, can be transmitted to humans through unpasteurized milk or contaminated raw meat.

Ferry Pilots Amused Over Sudden Fame

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., (AP)—They carry "in-flight lunch kits" instead of lunchboxes, but the ferry pilots flying armed fighter planes to Costa Rica still look on the assignment as another workday job.

They were frankly amused by all the attention they got as they climbed into the World War II, propeller-driven craft yesterday for the long flight to Central America. The United States sold the $50,000 planes to Costa Rica for a reported $1 each to help the Latin-American country quell an uprising.

"I never got this much publicity in Korea," said 1st Lt. Dell C. Toedt, of Laurel, Iowa, one of the 1708th Ferrying Group officers who flew four F51Ds southward.

The other pilots were Capt. Wallace E. S. Wilson, Denver, Colo., the flight leader; Capt. Robert A. Strait, Corpus Christi, Tex.; and 1st Lt. Noah L. McCullough Jr., College Station, Tex.

Flying the bullet-nosed single-seater craft to Costa Rica is duck soup compared to the ferry men's usual assignment: flying high-altitude jets across the North Atlantic, without escort.

Men of the 182nd Air National Guard Fighter Squadron, who had been using the F51Ds in training, were called from their homes on a sunshiny Sunday to do a quick servicing job on the planes.

"They're in perfect shape, and armed," announced Sgt. B. F. Dorian, one of the squadron's aircraft inspectors shortly before the takeoff. "They're going down with our (U.S.) markings."

A C54 transport carrying maintenance personnel labored aloft first. Then the four fighters whined into the air and took positions behind the transport in a five-plane "V" formation. The transport is to bring the pilots home.

What the Regulation of Gas Supply Means to 25,000,000 American Families

THE FIVE THOUSAND producers of natural gas—large and small—believe that the free competitive system which has increased your gas supplies and kept rates low is the best for consumers, for the industry, and the economy.

They believe the proposal to abandon competition and clamp bureaucratic controls on gas production will hurt consumers, damage the industry, and benefit no one.

Here are some answers to questions you as a consumer may have on this vital issue.

What Is This Regulation?

Sixteen years after a 1938 law was passed, a new interpretation of some of its words now forces the Federal Power Commission to do what it has eleven times refused to do—try to fix the price that an interstate pipeline pays the 5000 competing producers who find the gas and get it from the ground.

Will This Regulation Reduce Our Gas Bills?

Hardly. Only about 10% of the average gas bill goes to the producer who finds the gas and sells it. The other 90% pays for constructing, maintaining and operating the long-distance pipelines and local distribution systems—already regulated.

How Will Regulation Affect Supply?

It will reduce the supply. Most natural gas is produced by "wildcatters" and other independents. They are used to keen competition and big risks. But put them under Federal controls—with permits, endless forms, licenses, hearings and suits—and the work of exploration is sure to suffer. Three new pipeline projects to bring gas to more consumers have been suspended since regulation took effect.

Hasn't Gas Always Been Regulated?

Gas distribution, yes. It makes sense to have only one pipeline bring gas to a community—and one gas company distribute it in the community. Both do a good, efficient job for you, and as monopolies they are naturally regulated.

But there's no monopoly in finding gas. Far from it. Gas production is risky and keenly competitive. There are five thousand large and small producers looking for gas—and finding it in only one out of every nine exploratory wells they drill. They compete vigorously to sell their gas. A single pipeline may buy from 200 or more producers.

Is Gas Different from Coal or Oil —or Grain?

It isn't. And if there's price-fixing for natural gas at the well so can there be next for coal at the mine or oil at the well—or lumber in the forest, or grain on the farm.

How Did The Consumer Fare Before This Regulation?

Here's the record. In the past 16 years natural gas production has increased 200% and the price the consumer paid for gas has risen only 1/11th as much as the general cost of living.

Do Only A Few Big Companies Produce Gas?

No. The largest 37 companies produce less than half the nation's gas. No single company produces more than 5%. The small producers do more exploratory drilling than do all the big companies combined. And none of the producers has any monopoly, any exclusive franchise, or any protection.

What Is The Natural Gas and Oil Resources Committee?

It is made up of companies and individuals concerned with natural gas. It includes a great many large and small gas and oil producers. All believe there is no more reason for OPA-like price-fixing on gas than on steel, coal, autos, meat, or shoes, which could be next. All believe that free competition is better for all of us than a price-controlled economy, which has historically led to stagnation, scarcity and rationing.

What Can I Do?

You can reason out the issues, reach your own conclusions, and make those conclusions known to your friends and neighbors.

- Natural gas has helped create thousands of jobs in industry and now supplies one-fourth of the nation's energy resources.
