SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Eight U.S. servicemen were presumed killed Thursday in the separate crash of a big helicopter and an Army plane.

The twin-engine H37 helicopter plunged out of control and crashed in the guerrilla-infested Mekong Delta while carrying of another plane in a sling. It was not certain yet whether Communist gunfire or engine trouble downed the helicopter.

Five Americans were aboard. Rescuers recovered three bodies and a fourth was believed buried in the wreckage in Kien Phong province, 60 miles southwest of Saigon.

One crewman survived. He was brought to Saigon in serious condition a U.S. military spokesman said.

Several hours later a single-engine Otter plane carrying four U.S. military advisers and three Vietnamese crashed in the central highlands on a flight from Nha Trang to Ban Me Thuot. There apparently were no survivors, a spokesman said.

The plane had failed to make radio contact shortly after taking off. There was no explanation immediately for the crash.

No names of victims were announced. The helicopter was one of five H37s in Viet Nam used to recover crashed planes and helicopters. It was the first of its kind to crash here.

Emergency Landing At Carswell AFB

FORT WORTH (AP)—A Continental Airlines Viscount with 37 persons aboard made an emergency landing at Carswell Air Force today after developing nose gear trouble.

The craft touched down safely shortly after 9 a.m. It was Flight 280 from Midland to Dallas.

Continental headquarters in Dallas directed the plane from Dallas Love Field to Carswell because of the base's fine emergency equipment.

Construction Bill Awaits Final Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $1.5 billion military construction bill for the fiscal year which began July 1 awaits final congressional action.

The total was agreed upon by Senate and House conferees late Thursday. It is $80 million under former President Kennedy's budget, $22 million more than the House voted originally, and $31 million less than the Senate voted. It is about $425 million less than was appropriated last year for military construction.

Man In Space Program Boosted

By HOWARD BENEDICT A.P. Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The United States man-in-space program has received a boost with the successful flight of a Titan 2 rocket and a setback with the postponement of the first two-stage launching of the Saturn 1. U.S. officials believe the Saturn 1 is the world's most powerful booster.

Meanwhile, the unmanned satellite program moved ahead with a space agency announcement today that it will attempt next Tuesday to orbit an improved Tios 8 weather observational camera of delivering "instant pictures" of cloud cover to more than 50 stations around the globe.

The Titan 2 rumbled 5,800 miles Thursday on a military test flight and proved its basic soundness for its assignment as the booster for the two-man Deimos spacecraft.

The first unmanned Gemini flight is scheduled in March, with the initial two-man orbital mission set for late next year.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Thursday that the first two-stage Saturn 1 launching, which had been slated for Tuesday, had been postponed until at least late January because cracks were discovered in fittings which hold segments of pneumatic lines together in the first stages.

The flight already had been delayed four months because of problems associated with developing the second stage, which burns high-energy liquid hydrogen fuel.

The latest delay probably will crumble the already crowded 1964 Saturn 1 schedule, which lists six launchings, including the first efforts to orbit mockup models of the Apollo man-to-the-moon ship.

U.S. experts believe Saturn 1, with its 1.5-million-pound booster thrust and hydrogen upper stage, will give this nation the most powerful rocket in the world.

NEITHER WIND NOR SNOW ETC.—Officers of the Distributive Education Club didn't let the snow this morning keep them from their plan to donate a quantity of candy to the Goodfellows. Pictured standing in the back are Jerry Rose, president, Carrol Brush, treasurer, and Harley Bynum, reporter. In front, leading the station wagon are Dean Jeffrey, vice president of the club and Jean Jeffrey, secretary. The Goodfellows urgently need donations of food, clothing, and toys. Such donations are being received at the building across from the Palace Theatre.

Snow Emphasizes Winter's Entry

Swirling snow brought more emphatic evidence of winter's first hard blast into the Snyder area this morning.

The Weather Bureau indicated that perhaps the worst was yet to come in the current spell as another potent cold front was approaching from the north.

Huge flakes of snow began falling rapidly in Snyder shortly after 7:30 a.m. today and within minutes had laid a mantle of white on the ground. There was intermittent buildup on city streets as the snow alternately melted and began to "stick" again.

Schools were in session, since buses already were returning from their morning runs when the snowfall began.

The temperature hovered around the 27-degree mark in Snyder when the snowfall began. It was expected to remain below the freezing mark throughout the day and then drop to the low twenties, or perhaps the high teens tonight.

Most of Texas felt the effects of the cold spell this morning. Thermometers nosedived to degrees above zero at Dallart in the upper Texas Panhandle before daybreak. Temperatures dropped to freezing as far south as Waco and to the 30s and 40s elsewhere.

No relief from the cold was in sight. A third arctic front in less than a week already was bearing down on the state, bringing snow in Eastern Colorado as it advanced.

Heavy rain drenched Houston in early morning. It was somewhat lighter but general across the rest of South Texas and edged into adjoining portions of North Central and Northeast Texas.

Skies were clear in the frosty Panhandle-Plains sector. The Weather Bureau predicted it would be even a little colder throughout the north half of Texas as Friday night, and a bit chillier Saturday in the north central and northeast areas while the northwest warmed a trifle.

Occasional rain was due to continue Friday night and Saturday in South Central and Southeast Texas. No big changes in temperature were expected in the south.

Snow fell in some parts of West Texas early Friday. The Weather Bureau reported heavy snow at Lamesa with 2 1/2 inches on the ground at mid-morning.

Extradition Of Peron Is Asked

MADRID (AP) — The Argentine government has asked Spain to extradite Juan D. Peron to face a 7 1/2-year charge of seducing the janitor's teenage daughter who solicited his last two years as Argentina's dictator.

The 63-year-old former strongman, who recently moved into a luxurious Madrid residence with the former secretary he married after his overthrow in September 1955, was not available for comment. But a member of his staff said:

"This is an old matter which has been brought up from time to time. It is absurd."

Argentine Ambassador Gen. Julio A. Lagos delivered the extradition petition to the Spanish Foreign Ministry Thursday.

A ministry source said the petition would be referred first to the Justice Ministry and then to a Spanish judge for recommendations, then Generalissimo Franco's Cabinet will make the final decision.

Spanish Foreign Office sources said there was no necessity to detain Peron in the meantime.

In July 1962, the military government which took over after Peron's overthrow charged Peron with statutory rape based on his relationship with Nelida (Nelly) Rivas. She had become his mistress in 1953, when she was 14, a few months after the death of his politically powerful wife Evita.

Lighting Contest Planned

Entries are being accepted at the Chamber of Commerce office for the Jaycee-sponsored Christmas lighting contests.

Two contests are under way. The general outdoor lighting contest winner will receive an electric yard light, completely installed. Second place prize is an electric blanket.

The other phase of the contest is limited to those decorations of a religious theme. Three prizes are offered in this contest, with the first place winner to receive a $25 savings bond, second place, $15 cash, and third, $10 cash. Religious decorations of "doves" and "snowflakes" will be judged in this phase of the contest.

Only residences or apartments within the city limits will be eligible in the contest, and all lighting and decorations must be visible from the street.

Judging will be done sometime between Dec. 20 and Christmas Eve. Those wishing to enter the contest must call or go by the Chamber of Commerce office before noon, Dec. 20.

Pentagon Is Searching For More 'Cut' Areas

By FRED S. HOFFMAN A.P. Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon pushed ahead today with studies likely to lead to more military base closing moves in the year ahead — an election year in which such actions could be politically risky.

The studies are being conducted under the direction of Thomas D. Morris, quiet-spoken assistant secretary of defense in charge of installations and logistics.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who announced a new batch of 33 base shutdowns and cutbacks Thursday, leaned on the methodical surveys and analyses of Morris experts in deciding which installations to keep and which to drop.

Over a 3 1/2-year period, the move will cut off about 8,500 civilian jobs and result in a reduction of about 7,000 military personnel, McNamara said.

The defense secretary indicated there's more to come — and that some of the Navy's shipyards may fall victim to the McNamara efficiency test and the Johnson administration economy drive.

Obviously pleased, Morris told The Associated Press the $424-million-a-year savings now projected from more than 430 base shutdowns and cutbacks nearly hit the bullseye of a cost reduction target set almost three years ago.

He forecast the Defense Department will be able to reach a $600-million plateau in such savings in about three years.

Traditionally, the defense and finance ministers of the 15 allied nations also attend the winter session of NATO's ministerial council meeting, and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon will assist Rusk at the three-day parley.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk took off for Paris today to attend an Atlantic Alliance foreign ministers meeting.

The conference of North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministers is expected to review dramatic changes in the Communist bloc as they affect the security of the Western world.

Rusk's plane was airborne at 7:58 a.m. (EST). Traditionally, the defense and finance ministers of the 15 allied nations also attend the winter session of NATO's ministerial council meeting, and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon will assist Rusk at the three-day parley.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is reported planning a sweeping reorganization of the Alliance for Progress in a broad move to develop more dynamic and effective U.S. relations with Latin America.

A well-informed congressional source predicted a "complete reorganization and real shake-up" with changes in its top echelon and the alliance methods of operation.

At the White House, press secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters Johnson is looking over the entire range of governmental operations to see how they could be improved. Salinger declined to discuss the alliance problems specifically.

Asked whether a reorganization would mean the replacement of Teodoro Moscoso as coordinator of the alliance operation, Salinger said he did not believe Johnson has had time to decide on the effectiveness of Moscoso's office.

There is widespread speculation in diplomatic quarters that Johnson may name Thomas C. Mann, 51, U.S. ambassador to Mexico, to some new high-level position with broad authority over the whole range of U.S. policies and operations in Latin America.

Mann, who has had long experience in Latin-American affairs as a career diplomat, was an assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs before he became ambassador to Mexico in 1961. Mann, a Texan, conferred with Johnson Wednesday.

The Alliance for Progress was set up by the late President John F. Kennedy with the aim of promoting sweeping social, economic and political reforms in Latin America.

Farmers Renew Plea For Fewer Controls

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation has reaffirmed its belief in fewer government controls and in its president, Charles Shuman.

At the final session of its convention Thursday, the farm organization re-elected Shuman to another two-year term and adopted a host of resolutions calling for a let-up in government regulations.

Shuman, who operates a farm near Sullivan, Ill., has led the farm bureau since 1954.

The resolutions said a free market system could more effectively stabilize farming than government programs. They urged fewer crop controls, subsidy payments to farmers and lower government price supports.

McNamara said Thursday about $600 million a year is a "reasonable objective" to be achieved through further reductions in the 6,700 bases and installations in this country and overseas.

Most of the 400 base eliminations and curtailments ordered since March 1961 were spaced out and handled without national publicity, although there were local announcements.

Why, then, was it decided to deal with the latest 33 base cutbacks in a group? And why with a blare of trumpets? Some Pentagon officials said the appraisal of base efficiency comes to a sharp focus at the end of the budget year—that is, when the new budget is being put in its final shape.

This is such a time, and could explain the decision to top off a number of bases in a search for the last measure of economy.

As for the wide publicity, this likely stems from the Johnson administration's demonstrated desire to impress its frugal-mindedness on the country.

While economy in government is politically appealing, it carries certain risks. Thus, a community which loses a military base and several thousand jobs could resent such economy at its expense—and vote accordingly.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he expects no efforts at congressional retaliation against Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who spelled out Thursday details of the defense cutbacks in 14 states. Seven former military research, civil emergency planning and East-West relations.

All other ticklish questions, such as NATO's long-range strategic planning—a source of much controversy among the delegates to the defense cutbacks in 14 states. Seven former military research, civil emergency planning and East-West relations.

But he added, "I am sure that the Department of Defense is acting in the best interests of the nation." And he recalled, Congress itself has been urging economy in the multibillion-dollar defense outlays "wherever possible without decreasing our effective defense posture."

His Death Hastens Finish Of Memorial To Kennedy

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The assassination of President John F. Kennedy will hasten construction of the only memorial he is known to have planned for himself, a monument labeled his dearest wish.

The project is a library to house his papers and effects on the Harvard University campus where Kennedy was a student in the late 1930s. He selected the site for the library several months ago.

Kennedy could not foresee the irony in the site selection. A building a few hundred yards away bears the title "New England Book Depository Library." A harsh reminder of the Texas School Book Depository in Dallas where the assassin fired the fatal shots.

The late president's brothers and Harvard President Nathan M. Pusey outlined details last week for construction of the $1 million library. They invited people everywhere to contribute towards its construction "as a tangible expression of love and respect."

Harvard donated more than two acres of land for the building on the site Kennedy inspected Oct. 19. He was assassinated Nov. 22.

Pusey said Harvard would not build on land close to the library.

"Nothing will detract from it," he said. "We want it to be a fitting memorial to a great president."

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy heads the corporation raising funds for the library and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., is the group's vice president. They are brothers of the late president.

The attorney general said his brother "has been deprived of the personal enjoyment of such a library, but its speedy construction would be his dearest wish."

"The thousands of his fellow citizens who have been eagerly seeking a way of honoring his memory may find this memorial library a most appropriate way of carrying out their wishes."

The proximity of other schools, such as Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Boston University, was among the reasons Kennedy approved the site.

He wanted the library to be accessible to all the schools, but not too far removed from the Harvard library, which boasts the largest college book collection in the world.

The area selected is a tract with enough room for a building of almost any size and shape. It is located on the Boston side of the Charles River, which splits the university's athletic facilities and the Graduate School of Business Administration from the Cambridge campus.

The site commands a sweeping view of the river where scores of Harvard crews have rowed to fame. It faces rows of old buildings that house the men of Harvard. They include Winthrop House, where Kennedy lived as an undergraduate.

The design of the structure remains a mystery. But California architect John Carl Warnecke, chosen to design the Kennedy tomb in Arlington National Cemetery, accompanied President Kennedy on his last trip to Boston in October. The president attended the Harvard-Columbia football game that day and stopped at the site to give Warnecke a look.

For visitors, Kennedy's memorial will present much in the way of historical interest. From the library they will be able to see Harvard Stadium and the playing fields the fitness-minded Kennedy held so dear.

"They'll be able to visit Winthrop House and the classrooms where the student Kennedy worked hard to earn a degree with honors."

Signs That Your Youth Is Returning

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — There are many signs to remind a person he's beyond some of the better milestones of living.

Life so often reminds us how old we have become that we sometimes forget to recognize how youthful we still are.

But it's young you are getting again!

The face you see in the mirror while shaving reminds you of the grandson you are, more often than the grandfather you remember.

Night seems to have more light than morning, and you discover serious purposes after midnight.

When a thoughtful teen-ager stands to yield you a seat on the bus you feel more insulted than grateful.

Taking steps two at a time is a pleasure, and running downstairs against an upgoing escalator is a worthwhile thrill.

You need your bifocal glasses only to read that your doctor's report on your last electrocardiogram is heartening.

The cost of a college education for a member of your family now doesn't remind you of how much cheaper it was in the days when you earned your own living.

If you see a strange woman with red hair, you believe that is her natural color.

A walk amid the many-fingered rain brings you the touch of romance rather than the stencils of rheumatism.

The morning after the night before still makes the night before worth the morning after.

You retain the belief that giving the boss good solid honest advice will make him appreciate you because you are not just another yes-man.

The dog doesn't take you out for a walk; you take him.

Yes, it is by such thoughts that one is sure that he is getting younger.

Or at least taking a youthful step into second childhood!

Delegates To Hear Bishops

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Two bishops from opposite sides of the globe were ready to take up before 200 Protestant, orthodox and Anglican delegates today whether it is right "to preach our gospel to people of other faiths."

This was the major discussion for the fifth session of the World Council of Churches' commission on world missions and evangelism.

The bishops are the Rt. Rev. Dr. Sabapathy Kulandran of the Church of South India, Vaddukkai, Ceylon, and Bishop Heinrich Meyer, Evangelical Church in Germany, of Lubeck, West Germany.

Delegates are here from six continents. In addition there are observers and guests from other churches, including the Roman Catholic which sent two men to sit in on discussions.

Harvard wrote the senior thesis that led to his first published work of note, "While England Slept."

Junior Editors Quiz on ENGLAND

QUESTION: In the Wars of the Roses, how were the roses used?

ANSWER: The Wars of the Roses began as a series of fierce squabbles between two rival English families or "houses" as to which had the legitimate right to inherit the English throne, these houses being called Lancaster and York. The various nobles, retainers and knights on each side took up arms to defend the lords on whom they depended; so, for many years, England was locked in savage civil war. Since knights in battle looked much alike, each side took to wearing a rose to identify themselves. The house of Lancaster took a red rose; York, a white.

During these years, from 1455 to 1485, the English throne passed back and forth between the two houses as our artist has symbolized in his picture, showing some member of each party trying to steal the throne from the reigning member of the other. Finally, the Lancastrian Henry Tudor crushed the Yorkists and became crowned as Henry VII. Henry then married a princess of York and so the feud ended. The children of this pair were called "Tudors," and under the Tudor kings and queens, especially Elizabeth, order was restored to England and the nation became powerful and great.

FOR YOU TO DO: Think of another famous pair who married although they belonged to bitterly feuding families. The story was told by S..... and their names were R..... and J..... 62-63

Packers Are Facing A Crucial Weekend

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
"This is one we've got to win," says Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi.
But even a victory could leave the Packers losers less than 24 hours later.
That's the situation the defending National Football League champions face as they get set to take on the lowly Bears at San Francisco Saturday in a game that will be nationally televised.
CBS will handle the telecast, starting at 5 p.m., EST.
The Packers, 10-2-1, need a victory to stay alive in the battle for the Western Conference championship, at least until Sunday, when first-place Chicago takes on Detroit. The Bears are 10-1-2, and can wrap up the title with a tie or victory — no matter how the Packers make out.
The story is much the same elsewhere. By nightfall Sunday, all the titles in the NFL and American Football League could be decided.
The big one on the AFL program also is a Saturday afternoon game with Eastern Division-leading Boston invading Kansas City. The Patriots can clinch with either a tie or victory. Buffalo is at New York for another Saturday game.
The Sunday NFL program has two key clashes, the Bears-Lions game and the showdown struggle at New York between the Pittsburgh Steelers and Giants for the Eastern Conference crown. The Giants, 10-3, can clinch with either a tie or victory; the Steelers, 7-3-3, must win to nail their first crown.
The other title—for the AFL's Western Division championship — would take a win-loss combination on the part of the remaining two contenders, San Diego and Oakland. The Chargers, 9-3, would have to win at Houston Sunday while the Raiders, 8-4, lose to Denver.
The AFL's regular season program has one week to run after this weekend's action, but the NFL winds up its regular season schedule Sunday with these other games: Cleveland at Washington, Dallas at St. Louis, Los Angeles at Baltimore and Minnesota at Philadelphia.

The Packers are shooting for their fourth straight Western Conference title and a chance at an unprecedented third consecutive NFL title. There is possibility of a tie with the Bears, and a playoff. That would result from a Green Bay tie and a Chicago loss. Otherwise, someone has to win. It probably won't be

Violets In Shrinking Performance

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
It was prophetic.
Just before second-ranked New York University took the court at Madison Square Garden for a game with unranked Toledo Thursday night, the NYU cheerleaders raced on the court toting a huge banner.
"We're No. 1," the flag boasted, proudly proclaimed.
Right in front of the cheering section one of the cheerleaders got his feet tangled in the banner and took a tumble.
A few minutes later, so did NYU.
The Violets were out-rebounded, out-manuevered and thoroughly played off the court by the first-up Rockets, 87-74. Top-ranked Loyola of Chicago, the only other ranked team in action Thursday, had to work hard for a 105-102 decision over Western Michigan.
"I've been saying we've got a helluva team," jubilant coach Eddie Melvin of the Rockets, now 5-0 for the season, said. "Now maybe they'll believe me."
"How did I feel going against the No. 2 team? Hah, we should be. I've been saying we should be one of the top ten teams. This proves it."
They barged out to a quick 14-7 lead, using a spread-out, wide-open offense, and simply took it from there. They moved calmly, deliberately on offense and used a harassing, shifting man-to-man defense that forced the frustrated Violets into mistakes.
It was NYU's first loss in four games.
And while the Violets were writing, the top-ranked Ramblers from Chicago Loyola had a severe scare thrown their way by Western Michigan before escaping with their fourth straight victory.

DALLAS (AP) — The first athletic scholarships, giving the athletes as much as four years if desired.
The Big Eight Conference, which limits them to one year with a renewal clause, wanted the Southwest to adopt the same rule. The two conferences have a letter of intent agreement.
Coaches said they didn't want to raise the number of units required for a high school boy to enter college. They made no recommendation on setting a minimum grade.
The faculty committee, governing body of the conference, held its first session this afternoon and meets again tonight.
Admission fees are 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children.

England's Church Seeks 'New Look'

By GODFREY ANDERSON LONDON (AP) — With less than three out of 27 million baptized Britons showing up in church even once a year, the Church of England is trying desperately to develop a new look.

Aside from the gimmicks of individual parsons, whose efforts have ranged from jazzed-up services for teen-agers to so-called kitchen sink communion brought right to the home, the church at high level is bent on reforming its image.

A new form of government to give laymen more say in how the church is run has been given the green light. This plan would combine the centuries-old convocations of Canterbury and York with a new house of laymen. The new body would be known as the General Synod of the Church of England.

It would replace the present church assembly, but bishops and clergy would still sit separately and have a final veto on synod decisions.

Other reforms involve the handling of church finances. Since 1947 the ecclesiastical treasury has been nominally managed by the church commissioners—92 of them including the archbishop of Canterbury, the prime minister, most diocesan bishops and laymen appointed by the church assembly.

The commissioners meet once a year to rubber-stamp decisions of three church estates—bishops who handle diocesan business, the three who hold the purse strings and act as joint managing directors.

They control investments running to nearly $50 million a year and the distribution of investment income for helping pay and house the clergy.

Lately the public image has suffered badly. The church has been attacked for boasting of its income and advertising their expenditure like any wealthy corporation. They also have been under fire for acting as high landlords and paying too little to their parsons. The average stipend is about $56 a week, although this may be augmented by church collections and other sources.

Worried over the bad publicity, Michael Ramsey, archbishop of Canterbury, set up an inquiry committee headed by

Tanganyika Missionary To Speak

The Rev. Jimmy Beggs, former pastor of First Assembly of God church, Morton, Texas, has been appointed by the Assemblies of God Foreign Missions Board to Tanganyika East Africa. The Rev. Beggs, who will speak Thursday, Dec. 18, at the Northside Assembly of God church here will tell of his future plans on the mission field and will show curios from Africa. The public is cordially invited to attend, according to the Rev. LeRoy Owens.

The Rev. Beggs will pioneer Assemblies of God church in a selected part of Tanganyika. He will also open branch churches in the surrounding areas and will enlist young people to attend the Assemblies of God Bible school in Mbeya, Tanganyika, where they will receive training enabling them to minister to their own people.

Prior to missionary appointment the Rev. Beggs had engaged in evangelistic ministry throughout the Southwest and had served as Christ's Ambassadors (youth) representative for the West Plains District of the Assemblies of God.

The Rev. Beggs is a graduate of God College, Waxahachie, Texas. Mrs. Beggs is the former Mary Miles of Snyder. The Beggs' have one son, Gregory Lance, age two.

Johnson Pressed For Time To Change Top Personnel

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Time was a big difference between Presidents Johnson and Truman when they suddenly had to move up from the vice presidency. Because it was, Truman made a lot of changes fast to get ready for the long haul. Johnson, pressed for time, will probably try to make do as best he can with some of the top men he inherited from President Kennedy.

When President Roosevelt died in 1945, Truman had almost a full four-year term ahead of him. He prepared for it quickly.

THE UNITED FUND PLAQUE awarded this year to Furr's Supermarket is shown here by the store's manager, Charles White, to Pen Bailey, Furr's District Supervisor from Odessa. The local store had 100 per cent participation by its 10 full-time employees in this year's drive. Plaques are awarded to firms which attain a donation equal to 80 per cent of one hour's pay per month per year. The Furr's store went well over this goal.

Wants Bail For Ruby

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lawyer Melvin Belli says he will try to get bail set for Jack Ruby, slayer of President Kennedy's accused assassin.

The flamboyant San Francisco-Los Angeles lawyer also said Thursday he would try Dec. 21 to get the strip-tease joint owner's murder trial moved to San Antonio, Houston or Fort Worth.

Belli, named earlier in the week to defend Ruby, said in Dallas earlier he had no plans to ask a change of venue.

The lawyer said Thursday it would be difficult to find an unprejudiced jury in Dallas. He said bail money is ready and waiting in Dallas if the court would let Ruby out of jail for $100,000.

The lawyer would not say who had promised to post the bail. Belli said he favored television coverage of the trial. He added that telecasts should be handled "so as not to interfere with the orderly process of the court."

The case is set for trial Feb. 3 in the state district court of veteran Judge Joe B. Brown. The jurist has said repeatedly he has not made up his mind whether to allow television of the trial.

Pay Tribute To Guadalupe

MEXICO CITY (AP) — More than one million pilgrims from all over Mexico converged on the Shrine of Guadalupe in homage to the nation's patroness saint Thursday.

There were representatives of all walks of life—from humble, white cotton-clad peasants trotting behind huge floral offerings to smartly dressed families chanting their prayers.

All sought a glimpse of the holy image of Mary, Virgin of Guadalupe, hidden by tons of flowers, clouds of incense and hundreds of multi-colored lights and candles at the shrine's main altar.

At dawn the massive wood doors were opened to admit troubadours who serenaded the virgin with guitars, violins and tequila-buskied voices.

Later in the day came the formal high mass with Archbishop - primate Miguel Dario Miranda and other high Roman Catholic prelates presiding over the services.

Three U. S. priests helped Msgr. Miranda say mass—Edmond Billy from Nada, Tex., Federico Esparza from Los Angeles and Julius Petru from El Campo, Tex.

Within three months he had made five changes in his Cabinet. By the time he was elected to his own full term in 1948 none of the Cabinet he inherited remained.

But when Johnson succeeded Kennedy he had less than 14 months left out of his predecessor's four-year term. And that's the end for him, unless like Truman he gets elected on his own.

He will almost certainly seek such election. This means, in addition to the usual problems of the presidency, he must spend a lot of time campaigning. It will probably be to his advantage to keep the Kennedy Cabinet.

Replacements would need breaking in on the job. This doesn't mean Johnson will simply rock along in the Kennedy boat. He'll make changes, although maybe not at the very top. He's too restless not to.

But highly respected men like Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk seem sure to stay.

Johnson, who has his own way to get things done and strong opinions about people and the way to get things done, had and used the opportunity to size up Kennedy appointments, tactics and programs abroad and at home.

He said he backs the programs. But he will probably try to improve them and make changes in personnel below the very top level. He has to make his own record to run on in 1964. So he has to be a man in a hurry.

Some of his observations as vice president may be turning into action now.

The administration announced Thursday plans to close or reduce about 26 military bases in 14 states to economize, with thousands out of jobs. Anguished cries came from some Congress members whose states will be affected.

But Congress has also said it wants some evidence of economy from the President if he hopes to get the tax cut bill through.

McNamara had been working on the elimination of bases under Kennedy.

It isn't clear whether Kennedy, had he lived, would have gone through with this, or whether the tough decision was made by Johnson, Kennedy, with his mild approach to Congress, never liked to antagonize the members.

And Congress repaid him by ignoring his pleas for passage of two of his major programs: civil rights and the tax cut.

Johnson watched this. He may have decided two can play at the game of being tough for Thursday it was also announced even more bases may be shut down.

This disclosure could well be taken by some members of Congress as a warning to cooperate with the President on his programs.

Meanwhile, the political armistice the Republicans declared after Kennedy's death—just for a while—seems to be starting to disappear.

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, Thursday called for an investigation of the radio and television operations of President and Mrs. Johnson. This is getting rough.

Kennedy sought to preserve a political tranquility, even when he was getting nowhere with Congress. Johnson is pressed by time to make a record. In politics he has been considered smooth but not necessarily an apostle of tranquility.

Refuses Ashley's Injunction

HOUSTON (AP)—Dist. Judge John Snell refused Thursday to grant a temporary injunction against the Houston Chronicle, sought by Leslie Douglas, Ashley, to prevent republication of a picture to which Ashley objects.

Ashley and Carolyn Ann Limas are in the Harris County jail awaiting a new trial. They were sentenced to die in the electric chair for the slaying of Houston real estate man Fred Tones in 1961, but the verdict was overturned by the 15th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The Chronicle printed the picture last week after Ashley was returned from the state prison at Huntsville.

Ashley also sought to keep the newspaper from referring to the slaying of Tones as a "torch murder" and to Ashley as a female impersonator.

Mrs. Sylvia Ayers, Ashley's mother, told Judge Snell her son never earned any money as a female impersonator. She stated the only time she ever knew her son to appear in female clothing was at the time of his arrest in New York and at Halloween.

A request for an injunction forbidding Sheriff C. V. Kern to let newsmen or photographers see Ashley without Ashley's consent is pending.

Tyler Youth Held In Mother's Death

TYLER (AP)—A charge from a .410 gauge shotgun fatally wounded Mrs. Charlie Tate, 36, at her North Tyler home Thursday night.

Dist. Atty. William Coates said her son Gene, 17, signed a statement admitting he fired the fatal shot after an argument. The youth was held without immediate charge.

Mrs. Tate died at a hospital about two hours later while undergoing surgery. She was shot in the left side.

Young Tate's father was working on an oil drilling rig at the time.

25 Students To Attend Symposium

Snyder High School will be represented by 25 students and teachers at the Atomic Energy Symposium to be held Saturday at Odessa College, School Superintendent T. E. McCallum has announced. The all-day conference, sponsored by Texas Electric Service Company and Odessa College, is expected to draw more than 600 outstanding high school students from more than 35 cities and towns in a wide area in West Texas.

The symposium has been arranged by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation of which Texas Electric and nine other investor-owned electric power companies in Texas are members. The Foundation is engaged in a program of nuclear research with the General Atomic Division of General Dynamics Corporation. The goal is to harness the energy process of the hydrogen bomb for peaceful purposes, including the generation of electric power.

Heading the group of speakers they will hear at the conference will be an outstanding nuclear scientist, Dr. John H. Malmberg, from General Atomic's John Jay Hopkins Laboratory at San Diego, California.

Other speakers will include Dr. W. O. Milligan, President of the TCU Research Foundation; Dr. B. H. Amstead, Associate Dean, College of Engineering, University of Texas; Dr. Harold P. Hanson, Professor of Physics, University of Texas; and Howard R. Drew, Executive Vice President, Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation.

The students will be welcomed by Dr. Jack Rodgers, President of Odessa College and Beeman Fisher, President and General Manager of Texas Electric Service Company. Fisher also serves as a director of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation.

The program will also include

DR. JOHN H. MALMBERG a film showing progress in fusion research at General Atomic and will conclude with a panel session on careers in science.

and college science curricula. Nuclear fusion is the process which provides the power for the hydrogen bomb and is responsible for the energy of the sun and the stars. The Foundation program is the world's first and largest privately-financed project in the field of controlled fusion research.

The sessions will be held in the Odessa College auditorium. Texas Electric will be host to the students and teachers at a lunch in the College gymnasium.

The Nubians plan to re settle on the Atbara River close to the Sudanese - Ethiopian border when Egypt's Aswan High Dam is completed. Egyptians will go north to the Kom Ombo region.
