Johnson Says Precautions Of War Studied

Decentralization Of Government In Case Of Emergency Set

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—Secretary of Defense Johnson says plans are in preparation for possible movement of the seat of government from Washington if the city ever becomes the target for an attack.

These plans include movement of the command of the army, navy and air force from Washington, Johnson said.

The secretary added that "certain definite steps" have been taken to guard against "the contingency of a destructive military attack at the seat of this government." He did not disclose these steps.

Plans Being Made

His comment is contained in a letter to Senator Wiley (R-Wis) which the latter made public today.

Wiley previously had asked Johnson what steps were being taken to decentralize in the event of an emergency.

"It appears to be obvious," Johnson said, "that in order for the nation to be able to develop its full war potential — in event of war — there must be located at the seat of government certain activities, both military and civil, to provide the collaboration, cooperation, and promptness of action necessary to the efficient use of that potential.

"Recognizing the fact that it is not beyond the bounds of possibility for Washington to be the target of a devastating or damaging attack, and that the seat of government might have to be moved as a result, it follows that plans should be prepared to cover this contingency. Such plans are in the course of preparation.

To Cost Money.

"Specificially, these plans include the movement of the three service elements of the department of defense to other locations and the designation of successors to military command."

The secretary also reported that the prior establishment of a joint command post for the armed forces, and facilities for this command post, are also under study.

He said certain projects in connection with the emergency command post would cost money. Congress, he added, will have to ap-

Final Tally Of Ballots Made

(By The Associated Press)

The last tally of votes showed Texans tacked on two amendments to the state constitution, rejected eight and named a 21-member board of education.

The Texas Election Bureau last night made its final tabulation of unofficial returns in Tuesday's statewide balloting.

An estimated 300,000 persons voted.

Some Votes Still Out

The hotly contested amendment to provide non-jury lunacy trials apparently was defeated. The last tabulation showed 136,403 had voted for it and 146,579, or 51.79 per cent, against it. Some 15,000 votes were still out.

E. H. Boulter of Lubbock led in district 19 in the school board race with 4,193 votes. J. M. Rankin of Ralls had 3,867, with about 450 votes still to be counted.

In district 9, Mrs. Joe A. Wessendorff led Gearge Duncan of Alvin 5,792 to 5,420. About 900 votes were out.

Earlier yesterday, three other close races for spots on the school board had been decided.

Results In Other Races

In district 4 Paul Matthews of Greenville had a final unofficial tabulation of 4,944 to 4,506 for Roy G. Baker of Sherman.

Fact-Finding Board To Be Offered Coal Chief As Same Chance Given Murray

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—The government was reported ready today to sound out John L. Lewis on letting a fact-finding board recommend a settlement in the coal dispute. It would be selected by President Truman.

Lewis is known to be opposed to the idea. Still, officials said the White House wants to give him the same chance as was given his rival, Philip Murray of the CIO, in the steel strike.

A three-man board appointed by the President in the steel dispute without resorting to the Taft-Hartley labor law suggested a peace plan that helped pave the way for eventual strike-settling steel agreements.

Starting Point Sought

Lewis told newsmen several weeks ago he is against fact-finding boards or any other government attempts to settle his demands on the coal industry.

Administration officials evidently are determined to do everything possible to avoid a new coal strike Dec. 1 when Lewis' present truce expires. The shaggy-browed president of the United Mine workers put the miners back to work Wednesday for the rest of this month, after a 52-day walkout.

Mine operators have indicated they are willing to cooperate with a presidential fact-finding board that might point out the way to avoid a new strike.

The advantage of a fact-finding board in coal, administration officials said, would be that it would at least give Lewis and the operators a starting point for an agreement. They have hardly scratched the surface of their problems since the old contract expired on July 1.

There was some speculation that Mr. Truman might try the fact-

GERMAN NEGOTIATIONS ORDERED

Occupation Policy Talks Are Planned

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Nov. 11.—For the first time since the German war machine was crushed, the big three western allies prepared today to talk directly to a German government about relaxing occupation controls.

The foreign ministers of France, Britain and the United States last night issued "certain instructions and powers" to their high commissioners in western Germany for negotiating with officials of the west German republic.

Details of the two-day talks by the big three ministers were kept a closely-guarded secret. There were indications the French, traditionally distrustful of Germany, still shied away from full agreement with the British and Americans on how far to ease Germany's postwar restrictions now.

Common Stand Taken

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson planned to talk to Prof. Theodor Heuss and Konrad Adenauer, president and chancellor respectively of the new west German government. He will fly to Germany later today to visit the western capital at Bonn.

Acheson's visit will be the first time since the war that so high an American official has conferred directly with the Germans.

The foreign ministers issued only the most general communique concerning the results of their talks. It said they proposed to "support and foster the progressive integration of the German people into the European community."

Andre Francois-Poncet, French high commissioner for western Germany, said the three ministers had established a "common position for the forthcoming negotiations."

He excused the vagueness of the official communique by remarking: "when you enter negotiations wou don't tell the other party what your position is."

France Cautions

The major issue confronting the big three was the program of dismantling of German industries—designed at Potsdam in 1945 to destroy permanently Germany's ability to build a war machine.

It was this issue that possibly

Money And Bologna Is All He Desired

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—A tall man entered the West End Delicatessen and ordered some bologna. As the proprietor handed it to him he drew a gun and made off with $110—and the bologna.

Three hours later a tall man entered Moses Goldberg's grocery, ordered bologna, drew a gun, walked out with $2—and the bologna. Forty-five minutes later a tall man entered Mrs. Vasilike Garoufes' grocery, ordered bologna, drew a gun, walked out with $60—and the bologna.

The next night a tall man entered the Rainbow Market, ordered bologna, brandished an ice-pick, knocked down the clerk, hit the one-cent key on the cash register and fled with $30—and the bologna.

Chicago House Target Of Mob

CHICAGO, Nov. 11. (UP)—Two hundred police quelled a disturbance early today at a south side home where thousands of persons gathered an some threw rocks and other missiles.

William Gremley, spokesman for the Chicago council on human relations, said the crowd apparently assembled in the mistaken belief that a family of negroes had moved into the house, located in a back-of-the-yards neighborhood.

Eleven Are Arrested

Chief of uniformed police Raymond Crane estimated that the crowd numbered 10,000 persons shortly before midnight but Gremley said he believed considerably fewer persons were involved.

Eleven persons were arrested and an undetermined number suffered bloody noses, black eyes and other minor injuries in sporadic scuffles.

Rocks, bottles and other missiles thrown from the crowd struck the house, but no windows were broken. Many people held clubs fashioned from two by fours and curtain rods.

Gremley said the house where the crowd gathered is occupied by an official of the CIO Longshoremen's union.

Girlstown Residence Dedication Delayed

Dedication of a 32-bedroom residence at Girlstown, U. S. A., eight miles south of Whiteface, has been postponed from Sunday until Dec. 13, Miss Amelia Anthony, founder and director of Girlstown, has announced.

The building, construction of which opened Aug. 13, has not been completed, due to delay in obtaining materials and due to shortage of labor.

At the time construction opened, Nov. 13 was set as the goal for completion and many persons have aided in the effort to meet that goal. Lubbock men have donated labor two days' weekly, while receiving pay for five days.

Truman Leads Ceremonies At Wreath-Laying

Officials Call For Strong Defense To Discourage Attacks

(By The Associated Press)

World War II ultimately may cost the United States more than $1,000,000,000,000, Secretary of the Army Gray said today.

That's one trillion dollars.

In a speech prepared for delivery to an Armistice Day audience at Greenville, N. C., Gray said the high cost of war is an excellent reason for keeping the United States military machine powerful.

He said a militarily strong United States might discourage another war precipitated by an aggressor —or might insure victory if war comes.

Army Favors Two Steps

Gray declared that the army still wants two steps taken to assure its strength:

1. Retention of the draft act on the statute books instead of letting it expire next year.

2. Adoption of a universal military training system.

Gray was one of a number of notables who participated in Armistice Day ceremonies.

The nation's observance was led by President Truman, who was to place a wreath on the grave of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington National cemetery.

The President had an Armistice Day speaking engagement at a luncheon meeting of the National Conference of Christians and Jews in Washington.

Numerous other government notables, military officials and civic leaders across the nation recalled in cpeeches the toll of past wars and urged the need for military readiness to prevent another.

Within Shadow Of Bomb

George N. Craig, national commander of the American Legion, said in an address prepared for delivery at the Arlington tomb that the nation is observing Armistie Day this year "within the dark shadow" of the atomic bomb, because it failed to achieve enduring peace after the first world war.

Gray said in his speech that the initial outlay for World War I was about $27,000.000,000, while its eventual cost was estimated by President Calvin Coolidge at about $100,000,000,000.

Within a few years, Gray said, the cost of World War I had reached nearly half the total Coolidge had forecast. Gray added:

"The initial cost of our participation in World War II was about $350,000,000,000 or 13 times as great as the first war.

"It has been estimated that the ultimate cost of this war, including expenditures already made and

Accidental Death Is Ruled In Shooting

CLIFTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—A verdict of accidental death was returned in the fatal shooting of Ronald Nelson, 19, Clifton Junior college student and football player.

Nelson was found dead in his trailer home on the college campus yesterday afternoon. A 12 gauge single barrel shotgun was found near the body.

Justice of the Peace Bill Wright of Meridian, Bosque county, said the death was accidental. He said Nelson had been "working on" the gun.

U.S. Observes Armistice Day

"YOU SEE, CHILDREN, IT WAS THIS WAY . . ."—Herbert F. Stubbs, who 31 years ago today was celebrating the end of the war in Paris and seeing that city lighted for the first time in four years, tells his grandchildren, Tommy Armstrong, 2½, and Kay Armstrong, 7, about some of his experiences in World War I. They are children of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Armstrong of 1715 Twenty-ninth. Mr. Stubbs was a member of company G, 142nd infantry of the 36th division in the first war, and among his medals is the Meuse-Argonne offensive decoration. Of 250 men in his outfit, all but about 30 were lost when they went "over the top" on Oct. 8, 1918. Actually(Mr. Stubbs' own helmet has been "lost in the shuffle" during the past 31 years sometime. The one he is wearing and the German helmet on his lap were borrowed from the West Texas museum. (Staff Photo).

Football Holds Spotlight In Plains Armistice Day Events

Thirty-one years ago today the war was over, but Lubbock and the South Plains today were girding themselves for afternoon gridiron battles.

Football games, and particularly the Lubbock-Odessa district 3-AA championship clash, were without doubt the main events on today's Armistice observance.

Thousands To Odessa

An estimated 6,900 Lubbock fans were enroute to Odessa by nearly every means of transportation to witness the Westerner-Bronchos battle.

Twenty-one chartered buses carrying Lubbock High school students, teachers, the band and others began leaving the school at 7:30 o'clock this morning.

Nearly every private airplane at Municipal airport as well as a chartered Pioneer airliner winged their way to the Permian basin city. Hundreds of private automobiles made traffic heavy on two alternate routes to Odessa.

The weather man reiterated his forecast of favorable weather throughout the day.

Cooler Low Forecast

Partly cloudy skies with winds from 20 to 28 miles an hour were forecast for this afternoon. This morning's low of 51 will be followed by a cooler low in the high 30's early Friday morning.

But the afternoon temperatures should be in the middle 70's, despite a cold front which promised to drop the mid-afternoon temperatures slightly.

At Lamesa, Cong. George Mahon was principal speaker at a celebration. A parade, a barbecue and homecoming celebration led up to the District 3-AA football game between the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes and the Brownfield Cubs. O'Donnell also had a special homecoming program.

Special programs and football games were carried on in more

If Allied Treaty Terms Disadvantageous—

Japanese Official Suggests Peace Conference Walkout

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Nov. 11 — Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida stirred Japanese political circles today with the statement Japan may walk out on the peace conference if Allied terms are disadvantageous.

The remark was made in the upper house of parliament — the house of councilors — during an interrogation by members. It brought an immediate request from the cabinet for a transcript of his statement.

Word Revision Sought.

The transcript showed Yoshida said:

"A peace treaty is a right so long as it is a treaty. We can demand a right. . . . If the peace terms are disadvantageous to Japan we can walk out, as they term it, or (from) the conference, or just decline the peace treaty."

The cabinet secretariat said the transcript was requested by that body because Yoshida's speech "was worded too strongly" and the cabiinet wanted to see "the transcribed version in order to revise some words."

A Japanese foreign office official termed Yoshida's remarks "an unfortunate mistake at this time." The official said Yoshida spoke as prime minister and nont as foreign minister, a portfolio he holds also.

Yoshida also was quoted by Kyodo news agency as saying he

Quiet Settles On Law Front

A quiet night and even a quieter morning were reported here today by law enforcement agencies.

Theft of 150 feet of garden hose valued at $20 was reported by Guy C. Victory of 3024 Twenty-second.

Fifty dollars worth of tools Leo Heatley of Lubbock route 3 had believed stolen from him at a construction project here had only been taken into "protective custody." A member of Moore's Bonded patrol, finding them outside, advised police he had taken them to a place where they'd be safe. They were being held for thir owner.

A 1946 Buick car, license at 1541, was reported stolen Thursday from Mrs. J. D. Hassell, jr., of 3307 Twenty-fourth.

Payne Posts Bond

James Monroe Payne, 43, of 2910 North Fifth, who was jailed Monday on a charge of aggravated assault, was released after posting bond of $500 set in the county court by Judge Walter Davies.

Bond of $200 has been set for Claude Day, 24, of 1825 Ave. F, in connection with his appeal from conviction of a charge of failure

Some Americans May Work For Communists

18 U. S. Pilots Quit Chinese Jobs Rather Than Join Reds

(By The Associated Press)

HONG KONG, Nov. 11 — Eighteen American pilots employed by the Central Air Transport corporation said today they have quit their jobs rather than fly for the Chinese Communists.

Two other CATC American pilots are willing to follow Chinese officials of the Chinese-owned line to Peiping to work for the Communists, a statement by the CATC pilots association revealed.

Seven other American pilots employed by the China National Aviation corporation, which is 20 per cent owned by Pan American Airways and 80 per cent by Chinese interests, have split sharply on the question.

The CNAC will hold a mass meeting this afternoon to decide on their course of action. Indications were that the question would be decided by each pilot individually and that the majority would refuse to fly for the Communists.

In addition to the 37 American pilots of the two former Nationalist air lines now in

Auto Accident In Ohio Fatal For Travelers

Eight Men Die In Arizona Tragedy; 15 Others Injured

(By The Associated Press)

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Nov. 11. Four persons, believed to be residents of Borger, Tex., were killed in a highway accident near here last night.

A two-year-old boy escaped with only a bruised knee.

The state highway patrol tentatively identified the dead as Herbert Kingham, 36, of Borger, Tex.; Anna Betts Kingman, 26, same address; Kenneth Neal Betts, same address and a woman believed to be Mrs. Betts.

Unable To Give Name

The frightened, dazed little boy was unable to give his name. Patrolmen said they had reason to believe he is the son of the Betts couple.

Cpl. G. D. Miller said the boy was thrown clear of the car as were all five passengers riding in it, but the bruised knee was his only apparent injury.

He said the Texas car, westbound on route 40 near Hendrysburg, crashed into the rear of another car, whirled across the highway, upset, and crashed into an eastbound car.

The bodies of the victims were taken to the Campbell funeral home in Barnesville.

GILA BEND, Ariz., Nov. 11. (AP)—Eight men lost their lives and 15 more were injured last night when a truck filled with cotton pickers smashed into a semi-trailer 17 miles west of here.

Six of the dead were killed instantly in the U. S. highway 80 crash. One was dead on arrival at county hospital in Phoenix and another one died shortly after arrival. None of the dead has been identified.

The men were recruited in the Los Angeles area. Three of the injured are in critical condition. The others are reported in serious condition.

Among the identified injured are Andrew Ford, 33, Los Angeles, and Charlie Davis, 39, Los Angeles, both negroes.

Says Trailer Stalled

Davis, driver of the truck, told police that the semi-trailer was stalled in the road but a different story came from H. P. Myers, driver of a bus two cars behind the accident.

Myers' account to police said that the semi-trailer was not stalled but going slow. His statement

Cold Weather Is Predicted

(By The United Press)

The Indian summer lingering over most of the nation was expected to turn into showers and some snow flurries in many parts of the midwest late today and tomorrow.

An almost impenetrable fog spread over Wisconsin, Michigan, northern Minnesota and the extreme northern part of Illinois.

City and highway traffic was brought almost to a standstill in some localities, and motorists were warned to leave their cars at home.

The weather forecaster in Chicago said, however, that the fog would begin to lift by noon.

Rain, Snow Continue

Rain and snow continued west of the Rocky mountains and a slight drop in temperatures was noticed yesterday in the northern Great Lakes region.

But for the rest of the country the weather was fair and mild, with afternoon temperatures in the 70's in most of the central, southern and eastern states.

In Chicago, where a record high of 71 was reached yesterday, models posed in bathing suits for art classes in city parks, and some swimmers took a dip in Lake Michigan.

The mercury reached 64 in New York City and 63 in Denver. It hit 78 at St. Louis, 75 at Kansas City, 74 at Indianapolis and 64 at Detroit. Fort Worth, enjoyed 85 and Miami, 82.

Motorists traveling through some of the Sierra Nevada passes had to put chains on their automobiles to travel snow-filled roads. And Nevada cattle ranchers were warned that considerable snow would fall today.

Milwaukee's federal forecaster Howard Thompson recalled that on Nov. 11, 1940, the day began with beautiful, mild weather and "ended in one of the worst blizzards we've ever had."

He said he did not think that pattern would be repeated this year.

On This Armistice Day A Grateful Nation Salutes Its Heroes Of World War I For Their Service To The Cause Of Freedom

THOUGHTS ON WAR AND PEACE

Armistice Of 1918 Was Just Pause For Deadlier Conflict

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK.—Thirty-one years ago today bloodshed ceased in the most stupendous war mankind had known.

This armistice after four years of conflict turned out to be only a pause that refreshed the world for an even deadlier war, the issues of which are still unsettled.

I can't think of anything better to present on this anniversary than the thoughts celebrated men of the past have held on war and peace. Here are a few:

"Love thy neighbor as thyself."—Jesus Christ.

"All battle is well said to be misunderstanding."—Carlyle.

"The art of war . . . I take to be the highest perfection of human knowledge."—Daniel Defoe.

"In war events of importance are the result of trivial causes."—Julius Caesar.

"War is the trade of kings."—John Dryden.

"Military glory—that attractive rainbow that rises in showers of blood, that serpent's eye that charms to destroy."—Rep. Abraham Lincoln of Illinois in 1848.

"War should be the only study of a prince. He should consider peace only as a breathing time, which gives him leisure to contrive, and furnishes ability to execute, war plans."—Machiavelli.

"War, the needy bankrupt's last resort."—Nicholas Rowe.

"An army is of little value in the field unless there are wise counsels at home."—Cicero.

"It is not by speeches and resolutions that the great questions of the time are decided . . . but by iron and blood."—Bismarck.

"Gold and riches, the chief causes of wars."—Tactitus.

No Inevitable War

"I hate war for it soils conversation."—Fontanelle.

"There is no such thing as an inevitable war. If war comes it will be from failure of human wisdom."—Bonar Law, 1914.

"For what an war but endless war still breed?"—Milton.

"The bird of war is not the eagle but the stork."—Charles Francis Potter, birth control advocate.

"Worse than war is the fear of war."—Seneca.

"Peace shall not prevail save with a sword in her hand."—Bernard Shaw.

"There is many a boy here today who looks on war as all glory, but, boys, it is all hell. You can bear this warning voice to generations yet to come. I look upon war with horror."—Gen. Sherman.

"There never was a good war or a bad peae."—Benjamin Franklin.

"Ye shall love peace as a means to new wars, and the short peace better than the long one."—Neitzsche.

"Love they neighbor as thyself. —Jesus Christ.

Austin Woman Keeps Post As WCTU Head

AUSTIN, Nov. 11 (AP) — Mrs. Claude DeVan Watts of Austin was elected to her twenty-eighth term as president of the state Women's Christian Temperance union yesterday. Her reelection halted, at least for a year, an effort to give the group new leadership.

Mrs. Watts claimed a two-thirds majority vote, thanked supporters and opponents for voting their convictions and made it clear she will continue to guide the organization's work.

"I now am state president representing the entire membership of the Texas WCTU which will work united for our slogan for the coming year, 'Forward out of error, forward into the light'," she told reporters at the close of the state convention.

Mrs. William Rascoe of Corpus Christi, the defeated nominee for president, said she had not sought the office.

"I only allowed my name to be used because I object to a 28-year tenure of office in such a fine and much needed organization, I appreciate the support given me," she said.

All incumbents were reelected. They include Mrs. Olivia Davis, Dallas, vice president; Mrs. Thomas C. Jensen, Austin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Mary R. Powell, Waxahachie, recording secretary; Mrs. Chris Walz, Harlingen, treasurer.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Mexican navy got rid of sailor hats and middy shirts with bow ties today.

Special Armistice Program Is Being Staged Today At Lamesa

LAMESA, Nov. 11 (Special) — A crowd of several thousand persons was expected here today for Dawson county's most elaborate Armistice Day observance in years.

Congressmen George Mahon of Colorado City will be the speaker of the day and District Judge Louis B. Reed will act as master of ceremonies.

Parade Marshal Bryan Handley headed a parade opening the day's program at 10 a. m., forming at the First Methodist church and parading through the business section.

Bands To Lead March

The parade included the Brownfield and Lamesa High school bands, local National Guard unit equipment, representatives of service organizations of Lamesa and Brownfield, and Boy and Girl Scout troops. Floats bearing placards prepared by John Fryburger, art instructor, also were in the parade.

Sponsoring the program, which will be climaxed with a barbecue served on the courthouse lawn at noon, are the Lamesa Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion and the chamber of commerce.

Program Is Announced

Preparing 700 pounds of barbecue are Dr. J. D. Burleson and F. Barfoot. Plates will be $1 each except to the guest list which will include Gold Star parents of both World Wars.

Six T-6 planes from Goodfellow field gave the event a flying salute at 11 a. m. The planes circled over the city three times.

The program will include an invocation by the Rev. Sam Thomas, a choral solo by Joe Landreth, a reading by Ageline Jobe, the reading of the names of Dawson county's World War I and II dead by Ed Dubose, trumpeting of taps by Richard Crawley and the joint playing of the National anthem by the Brownfield and Lamesa bands.

Mahon's address and the rest of the program will be held on the south side of the square.

All stores closed early for the holiday, which will be featured in the afternoon by a District 3-AA grid battle between Lamesa and Brownfield at Tornado field.

Ex-Students Return

An estimated 1,000 ex-students will visit the new high school building here in the two day homecoming that got underway Thursday night and which will reach its climax in the Golden Tornadoes final home game with the Brownfield Cubs Friday afternoon.

Registration of ex-students began Thursday afternoon at 6:45 followed by a pep rally staged last night at a bonfire near the school, under the direction of Earl Sears and Bill Atwood, high school teachers.

Following the game Friday afternoon a reception will be given in the school cafeteria with local teachers acting as hosts.

Superintendent of schools, G. B. Wadzeck and high school Principal Abe Holder will welcome the visitors. Josh Beckham, June Wright, Jerry Howell and Annelle Lovelady, members of the student council, which is sponsoring the first homecoming will be in the receiving line.

Taking part on a musical program at the reception will be Mrs. N. H. Price, Mrs. Dorman Scott, Oatus Roberts, Richard and Bob Crawley, La Voy Miller, Carroll Futrell, Virginia Holder, Nancy Stuart and Patsy Clement.

Mrs. Robert Carter and Miss Jean Compton, teachers of homemaking, will be in charge of preparing refreshments for the occasion.

High School queens for the past ten years have been extended special invitations to attend the affair.

Enrollment In Lubbock Schools Following Pattern Of Increase

"The Next Decade in Education," theme of Saturday, the final day of the 29th observance of American Education week, is attracting attention from educators and citizen groups all over the nation because of the importance to all local school systems throughout the nation.

Figures of increased enrollment in the Lubbock Public schools follow the general pattern of increased enrollment all over the nation, as outlined by the Nationall Education association, the Educational Policies commission, and the American Association of School administrators.

Number Pupils Growing

The attention of all localities in the United States is being called to the fact that more children are now enrolled in the elementary schools than ever before in history, and that next year the number will be even larger. In fact, it appears probable tha. enrollments in elementary schools will continue to increase annually for another decade, and that enrollments in the nation's secondary schools will begin to grow in about two years and may be expected to continue to increase at least until 1960. Ten years from now the total enrollment of elementary and secondary schools in the United States will be 25 to 30 per cent larger than at present, the NEA points out.

The oncoming flood of school children can be gauged from the record of births for the past 12 years as compiled by the National Office of Vital statistics, the Educational Policies commission points out. For example the record of registered live births in 1938 was 2,286,962, while the record of live births in 1947 was 3,699,940, an increase of 1,412,978.

Maximum Predicted

From figures such as these it has been predicted that school enrollments for grades one through 12 will continue to grow until they reach annual totals in excess of 34 million in 1958-60. These estimates, made more than a year ago by the U. S. Bureau of the Census, assumed that birth rates would decline sharply after the 1946-47 peak. However, preliminary figures for registered live births for 1948 reached 3,559,000, while estimates made for 1949 by projecting preliminary totals for the first seven months of this year on the basis of comparison with the corresponding months of 1948 are 3,592,800, showing that the sharp decline expected did not occur. Therefore, the basic change in the nation's birth rate may not continue for some time to come, and total school enrollments may not level off during 1958-60, but may continue to increase into the 1960's.

Recommendations Made

In the light of this analysis, the Educational Policies commission is making the following recommendations: (1) that the education needs arising from the increased birth rate call for both immediate public action and long-range planning; (2) that State and local education authorities should make careful surveys of their respective jurisdictions in order to determine their present shortages in school buildings and personnel and to forecast future needs; (3) that high school and college faculties and parents should advise and assist more able young people to enter the teaching profession; (4) that both standards and salaries for teaching should be raised; (5) that the public at large should join with the teaching profession in efforts to eliminate makeshift expedients, such as over-crowding school buildings, increasing the number of pupils assigned to each teacher, curtailing the school day by operating double shifts, and employing unqualified teachers; (6) that more funds for public school building construction should be provided immediately by local, state, and federal governments; and (7), that the state and federal governments should provide increased funds to help meet the rising costs of education.

Lubbock school authorities have pointed out this week that most of the recommendations of the Educational Policies commission are being complied with in the local school system, in that Lubbock has been increasing the number of buildings, decreasing the number of students assigned to each teacher, and that the public in Lubbock has joined with school and community in planning for the future.

Englishman Doubtful Of Atomic Agreement

LONDON, Nov. 11. (AP)—A famous British philosopher and mathematician, Bertrand Russell, thinks the West and Russia may never agree on controlling the at bomb.

Russell last night said on a British Broadcasting corporation debate that "we ought to face that possibility and do anything we can in the immediate future prepare for this possibility."

Russell, who during World War One was sentenced to six mont' imprisonment for pacifist writ'ngs, said he would prefer a third worl' war—atomic variety—to living under Russian rule.

"I would choose anything sooner than submit to the Soviet system—anything at all," he declared.

INTERMITTENT DE-ICER

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—De-icers for airplanes work best if the heat is intermittent, says Dr. Myron Tribus of the University of California. His experiments show that when ice is formed heat is released. This heat can be used to aid de-icing if the heat is turned on only at proper intervals.

Cotton Farmers Will Meet At Shallowater

SHALLOWATER, Nov. 11 (Special)—Another meeting of cotton farmers will be held at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in the Shallowater clubhouse concerning their decision to cut bollpulling prices to $1.75 per hundred, George Leftwich, spokesman for the group, said Thursday.

Nearly 100 per cent co-operation has been indicated by farmers in the area with the decision made Monday night at a meeting here to cut the price from $2.25 currently paid, Leftwich said. The proposal is scheduled to go into effect the first of next week.

Frost Lowers Grade

The movement to slash pulling prices was precipitated earlier by frost and other conditions which have lowered the grade of cotton so that farmers can not break even at current labor wages, the farmers asserted.

"With much of the cotton worth only 15 cents per pound or $75 a bale at its present grade," Leftwich said earlier this week, "A tenant farmer who must pay $18.75 rent on that bale and $40.50 for its harvest will have left only $16.25 to compensate for his growing costs—higher this year than at any other time in history."

Farmers from all over the county are invited to the Saturday night meeting, Leftwich asserted.

English Coal Mines Said Showing Profit

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP) — One of Britain's nationalized industries —the coal mines — is making money.

Fuel Minister Hugh Gaitskell told Parliament yesterday the mines showed a clear profit of 6,500,000 pounds ($18,200,000) during the first six months of this year.

That compared with a loss of 29,000,000 pounds in 1947, the first year of public ownership, and a profit of 1,500,000 pounds last year.

Gaitskell said this year production costs were down and output was up.

The House of Commons defeated a Conservative resolution criticizing the report, then adopted a Labor government motion approving it. The Conservatives contended the nationalized coal industry hadn't supplied enough coal for Britain's needs at a fair price.

FREDDIE STRIKES GOLD

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. (U.P.)—His parents laughed when seven-year-old Freddie Williams said he was "diggin' for gold" in the front yard of his home. But Freddie's treasure-hunt led to the discovery of a gold wedding band that had been lost by a former occupant of his house 24 years before.

Czech Palace Tours No Longer Allowed

PRAGUE, Nov. 11 (AP)—Czechs who take a Sunday excursion out to Lany, summer castle of the president, expected to be able to make sight-seeing tours through the grounds, are disappointed these days.

During the presidencies of T. G. Masyryk and Edward Benes Sunday tours of the estate were allowed. But during the regime of Communist Klement Gottwald sightseers are now turned away. First a new wall was built around Lany castle. Now Sunday visitors also find vigilant armed guards who declare that the tours through the castle grounds are not allowed.

NICKEL PARKING PENALTY

LAWRENCE, Ill. (AP) — Folks who ignore parking meters used to get off with a warning. But no more. Violators will be summoned to the City Hall to drop a nickel in a parking meter set up in police headquarters.

SOLDIERS WEIGH IN

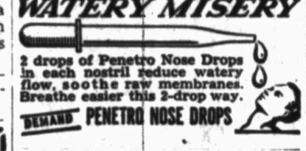

JOHNSTON CITY, Ill. (AP)—The National Guard is signing up new members here with an eye on their weight. The American Legion Post promised to pay five cents into a Guard fund for each pound of new recruit. At a recent count, the totals stood at 4,000 pounds and $200.

OFFICE MAKES FINAL DECISIONS

Recent Navy Command Change Proves Power Of Secretary

By CLARKE BEACH
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—The recent change in the Navy's top command serves to point up one fact: The navy's real boss is the secretary. No man in uniform can overrule him once he has made up his mind.

When a man is made chief of naval command of the fleets and has the responsibility for keeping them ready for war. But the secretary always has command of him.

The job of chief of naval operations is a relatively new one. It wasn't created until 1915. Before then the secretary personally exercised control over all the fleets and bureaus of the Navy Department.

The office of secretary was created in 1798. The bureaus were established in 1842.

When the office of the Chief of Naval Operations was created, by law, this country was following the British pattern. At the head of the British navy is a civilian, the first lord of the Admiralty. Under hi mis a professional sailor who manages the navy for him. His title is first sea lord.

The powers of our chief of naval operations (CNO) were at first rather vague. The law said that he should, "under the director of the secretary of the navy, be charged with the operations of the fleet, and with the prepaartion and plans for its use in war." But the CNO was not clearly in command of navy. To correct this, during World War II the CNO was made commander-in-chief of the U. S. fleet. Fleet Adm. Ernest J. King held the dual position.

Office Is Abolished

Shortly after the war was over, President Truman abolished the office of the commander-in-chief of the U. S. fleet and in an executive order gave a new, clearer definition of the powers of the CNO. The order stated flatly that the secretary of the Navy was the commander of the navy, under the president, but that the CNO "shall have command of the operating forces comprising the several fleets, seagoing forces, sea frontier forces, district an dother forces, and the related shore establishments of the Navy, and shall be responsible to the secretary of the Navy for their use in war and for plans and preparations for their readiness in war."

Most of the orders to the various bureaus and other units of the navy issue from the office of the CNO. In one field, however, he does not actually have command. In matters concerning the procurement of materials he exercises only an advistory function. This is considered a type of work which can be best done by civilian specialists. So it is handled primarily by the assistant secretaries and the secretary.

Woman Asks If Daughter, 25, Is Selfish In Failing To Pay Toward Household Upkeep

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Would you be able to help me with this problem through your column? Do you think that a daughter, 25 years old, making a five-figure salary, should contribute to the upkeep of the household?

My daughter Sophie isn't married and she wants to put her money away, so as to have a nest egg when she marries. I can see her point, but why milk her father dry in the process? He isn't getting any younger and he finds the monthly bills harder to meet.

I keep a maid, as I am unable to keep up the house without help; and naturally Sophie gets one-third use of the maid, the house, the food and all the drugs and other things she couldn't possibly do without—but for which she contributes nothing.

Sophie knows her father is finding it difficult these days to meet his home and office expenses, yet she never offers to pay her share. I think her attitude in this is very selfish, but I want to know what you think before I make an issue of it.

SIGNED: T. S.

DEFINING THE TERM, FIVE-FIGURE INCOME

DEAR T. S.: You say your daughter make a "five-figure salary," and I wonder if your version of that term is the same as the generally accepted vernacular meaning.

In popular language, a five-figure income signifies personal reveune of not less than ten thousand dollars per annum, and it may be much more, anything just under a ceiling of one hundred thousand. The term "five figures" refers to the digits—as for instance 10,000, or 35,000 or 99,000. See?

Now if Sophie's earning were in that bracket, it seems most improbable that she would be leeching on her aging father's overtaxed means to the full extent described, simply to scratch together a nest egg. Surely she can't be as callous, penurious and greedy as that, so I think you must mean that she is drawing a salary of fifty dollars or more a week.

However, the size of her income isn't the crux of the matter. Whether she makes much or little, the fact that she is adult age, single, ablebodied and on regular salary automatically means in our society that she owes somebody fair recompense for her board-and-keep. And since Sophie is living with her parents, as it happens, and her father is hard-pressed to meet basic expenses at home and in business, her obligation to "pay her own freight" is doubly underscored.

IS IT CASE OF CHIP OFF THE OLD BLOCK?

OF COURSE it may be that Sophie uses her salary, aside from savings, to clothe herself, pay for recreation, transportation, gifts, medical and dental care, etc., and therefore figures she gives the family a fair break financially, in sparing her father the special expenses of maintaining a spinster daughter indefinitely.

Nowadays that kind of accounting is generally accepted as cricket for girls in middle class homes where living is geared to comfortable standards and some claim to social position. And perhaps Sophie is going on that theory, if you've been putting up that type of front.

Finally, the emotional pitch of self concern evident in your letter suggests that Sophie's tight-fisted policy (if such it is) of looking out for herself, in flinty disregard of sentiment or ethics, may be a case of "chip off the old block," i. e., a case of the daughter's absorbing the mother's characteristics anxious striving for dollar-security. Thus an ugly spirit of compulsive struggle and rivalry may exist, where devoted cooperation should prevail.

For advice, if your husband shares your notion that Sophie ought to pay board, etc., then deliberate with him to fix a sum that suits the circumstances, and ask her to pay it hereinafter. But if he disapproves the idea, better study your motives and drop the subject. M.H.

Pre-Election Clashes Subside In Most Sections Of Colombia

BOGOTA, Columbia, Nov. 11. (AP)—Pre-election fighting was reported subsiding in most parts of Colombia today as troops held the country under virtual martial law.

President Mariano Ospina Perez' conservative party said "the violence against authorities and citizens now has found the necessary dike." Ospina on Wednesday proclaimed a state of siege, a modified version of marital law, and placed troops at strategic points throughout the country.

There were unconfirmed reports of clashes between conservatives and opposition liberal party members in the interior, but the government said most of Colombia was calm.

The conservative party statement demanded that the Nov 27 presidential election go ahead as scheduled. Liberal party leaders have said their followers will boycott the vote and will not recognize anyone elected.

Doubt remained whether the election could be held while the country was in a state of siege.

The proclamation, the government said, resulted from political disorders in which hundreds reportedly have died throughout the country.

Curfew In Effect

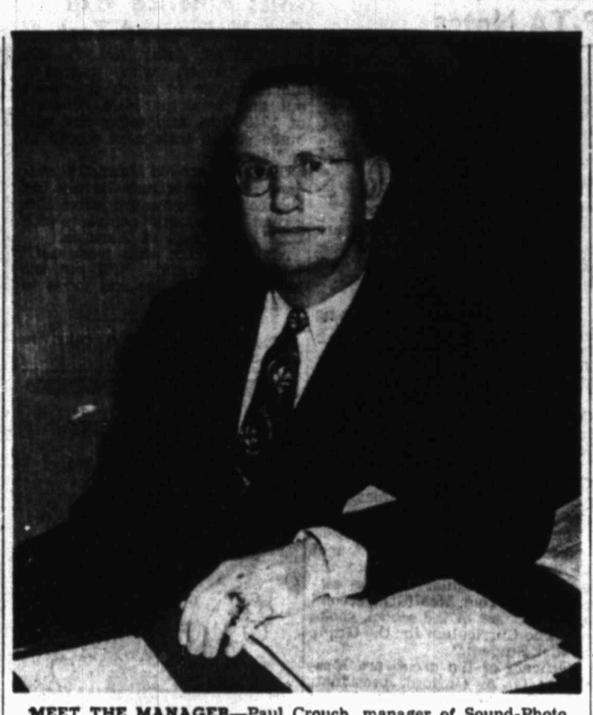

Meanwhile a 9 p. m. to 4 a. m. curfew—keeping all civilians off the streets—was in effect in Bogota and most provincial cities. But reports from Cartagena said that city, a conservative stronghold, was not affected by the curfew order.

Under the state of siege the liberal-dominated congress was suspended and troops patrolled all public buildings. The press was under strict censorship. But with the soldiers present, Bogota banks, business houses, schools, theaters and public utilities functioned normally yesterday.

There were rumors of a forthcoming general strike, which these reports said would be called to enforce the boycott of the elections called by the liberals.

ANYTHING BUT BOREDOM

WALTERBORO, S. C. (U.P.)—Apparently bored with inactivity since the end of the war, a local civil air patrol unit of 15 planes has offered its services to help track down moonshine stills by spotting them from the air.

MEET THE MANAGER—Paul Crouch, manager of Sound-Photo Equipment company, 1912 Main, was born July 23, 1907, at Fort Worth. He grew up and attended public schools there. Then he attended North Texas State Teachers college, Denton, where he received a bachelor of arts degree, and Texas Christian university, where he received a master's degree in administrative methods. He served the Fort Worth public schools as an administrator for four years, then was college registrar from 1936 to 1943 at Texas Wesleyan college. During the war he was coordinator of visual aids for the Eighth Service command at Dallas. He moved to Lubbock in January, 1946, and from January until July was a salesman for RCA equipment. In July he aided in the establishment of the Sound-Photo Equipment company at 806 Thirteenth. The firm was moved to its present location last May 31. He is a member of First Methodist church, Lions club and the Masonic lodge. Mr. and Mrs. Crouch and two daughters, Sandra, 12, and Janet Jo, 3, live at 3104 Twenty-ninth. (Staff Photo).

Woman's $50,000 In Jewelry Is Returned

HOUSTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—Mrs. Mary N. Gibson left $50,000 worth of jewelry in a pullman compartment, but never worried that the gems would not be returned.

They were found by a Santa Fe porter shortly after the train pulled out for Galveston yesterday and promptly turned over to an insurance adjustment agent. He returned them to Mrs. Gibson, who had come here from Fort Worth.

Daisies once were seeded in the fields of Rhode Island for use as horse feed.

Returning Armenians Refused By Russians

CAIRO, Nov. 11. (AP)—About 4,000 Armenians in Egypt returned to Soviet Armenia as result of the Russian campaign to entice Armenian refugees back home in 1946-48. To day Russia no longer tries to attract Armenians back to their homeland. Instead she refuses to accept them. "Housing shortage in Armenia," is the reason given by the Russian Legation.

For many Armenians who quit their jobs and sold their homes the policy reversal is a personal tragedy. Uprooted from their former life, they have become displaced persons.

Immediately after World War II, Soviet propagandists began their effort to entice Armenians back to the home land they left during the periodical massacres of the Ottoman Empire. They had left Armenia in successive waves: In 1896, 1910, 1918 and 1926. They had become one of the most active and prosperous foreign communities in Egypt and other Middle East countries. Forty thousand lived in Egypt alone.

MORE WITNESSES TO BE CALLED

Bolivian Testifies On Worst Air Crash In U. S. History

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. — The lone survivor of aviation's worst air collision sketched his part of the picture without assuming any responsibility and investigators called in new witnesses today.

Erick Rios Bridoux, Bolivia's civil air chief, pilot of a modified P-38 fighter that tore into an Eastern airlines DC-4 near here Nov. 1, described his fateful 10-minute flight in a hospital quizzing under oath. All 55 on the airliner perished. The 42 pages of questions and answers were read into the record of the Civil aeronautics board's six-man inquiry panel yesterday.

Rios assumed no responsibility for the accident.

Landing Okayed

He said he had indicated engine trouble by radio, but did not declare an emergency asked and received permission to land; saw no other planes in the sky; received no instructions to turn off his path of descent; believed he had a clear path and a clear runway for his landing

Rios often emphasized his statements by repetition It was apparent that at times he was speaking excitedly, occasionally tiring as he lay in bed with a broken back, broken ribs and the effects of exposure

In some details, the story was in contrast with testimony from ground observers, including that of a life long friend, Maj German Pol, Bolivian observer at the hearing

Pol had accompanied Rios to Washington national airport for test flight of the P-38 before completion of negotiations to buy it.

Reports Conflicting

Rios said he twice circled the airport tower while radioing that he had engine trouble and wished to land. But Pol and airport tower control operators placed the P-38 over Alexandria, Va., several miles to the south, when they first saw it after takeoff.

Rios said the tower had replied "O. K." when he reported having trouble, but tower operators said they heard no trouble report.

Rios said he saw a twin-tailed plane land on the runway and taxi off to the left "no more than three minutes" before he started to descend. Since he had instructions to land second, he assumed his path was clear. He saw no other airplanes.

Previous testimony indicated no other plane had landed between the time of Rios' takeoff and the accident. However, an air force B-25 had made a practice approach without landing after Rios got into the air. This apparently was several minutes before the accident.

Warning Not Heard

The B-25 has a silhouette similar to the type which Rios thought he saw, but Rios said he easily recognizes a B-25.

One of the important points in the first two days of the hearing was the radio warning to "turn left" which tower employes said they had addressed to "Bolivian 927". (The figures are the last three in the P-38's number.)

Rios brought it right up to the collision.

"First, the tower did not tell me turn left, never. They never told me turn left, never. I heard they say 'clear to the left, clear to the left." I heard them say that, but not to me, not to me. First I should know that nobody should clear to the left without looking first. I was looking, what happened to the left, and that was the time of the crash, when he hit."

Rios recalled no warning by radio or red light signals directed to him. He had suggested before takeoff that if the tower had difficulty reaching him by radio, it should use light signals which can be beamed directly at a pilot.

Following Rios' statement, the inquiry panel heard several eyewitnesses and a variety of descriptions of how the collision occurred.

Disgruntled Worker Is Held For Slaying

LAWTON, Okla., Nov. 11. (AP)— A dismissed worker is being held in the fatal shooting of James T. Downmen, chief of civilian personnel at Fort Sill.

Downmen, 45, was shot at his home here last night. A. H. Farish, 36, was arrested at the slain man's home shortly after the shooting. No charges have been filed.

Farish was quoted by Patrolman H. L. Farris as saying:

"Yes, I did it. I went out to talk to the man about a job. We got into a little argument, but there was no struggle."

Farish was fired about two months ago from his job at Fort Sill's assistant librarian.

Downmen's wife and 17-year-old daughter were in another part of the house when the fatal shot was fired as he sat in a living room chair.

Corn Crop Estimate For Year Is Pared

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)— The official estimate of this year's corn crop was cut 119 million bushels today. That virtually ruled out rigid marketing controls on next year's production.

In its semi-final report of the year, the Agriculture department estimated the crop at 3,357,618,000 bushels. This compares with 3,477,000,000 bushels forecast a month ago.

The indicated crop is slightly below the level which would require the department to propose marketing quotas on the 1950 crop as a means of preventing a burdensome surplus.

The corn crop, nevertheless, is the second largest in history.

Penicillin Is Found Useful For Farmers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)— Development of penicillin has proved a boost for farmers says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Corn steep liquor and milk sugar are used to make penicillin.

Studies are being pushed to develop other fermantation products in antibiotics, feed yeasts, vitamins and alcohol, the department says. One project is growth of mushroom spawn which is said to have as good food qualities as yeast and tastes better.

Other projects now try to find ferments that will use fruit pulps, dairy by-products and cannery wastes.

Lubbock Battles Odessa For District 3-AA Grid Crown

Westerner Fans Invade Bronc Stadium For Crucial Tussle

District 3-AA's gridiron championship for the 1949 season was at stake at Odessa's Broncho stadium this afternoon as Coach Joe Coleman's dangerous Red Hosses played host to the Lubbock Westerners in a crucial conference encounter.

Both Odessa and Lubbock have other loop games on their schedule, but after today the remainder of the slate will be a mere formality. Both elevens have already chalked up wins over Lamesa, rated as the only threat to the district's "Big Two."

Lubbock entered the game a solid favorite as a result of an undefeated and untied record in seven straight clashes this season, but the Bronchos — who have met some of the toughest teams in the state — were expected to give the Westerners their roughest 48 minute setto of the season. A sellout crowd of approximately 22,000 persons was assured for the tussle.

Ticket sales in Lubbock have been excellent, and 6,890 ducats have been sold to Lubbock fans. Of this number more than 1,100 are student tickets.

The exodus for Odessa was expected to start early this morning, with some of the first units leaving from the high school. A total of 13 buses have been chartered for Lubbock students, according to Floyd Honey, principal at the high school, with the first leaving at 7:30 a. m. The team left from Chapman field around 8 o'clock, ate in Midland at mid-morning, and then went on to Odessa. Fans will travel in eight buses and private cars.

Twice-beaten and once-tied this season but leading district play with two wins, the Bronchos are the only team given a chance to stop the Westerners in their drive for the flag. The Lamesa hurdle has been passed, and only Midland and Brownfield, both soft touches this year, are left on the Westerner schedule. Odessa has one game scheduled following the Lubbock game, that with Brownfield.

Reeves, Wright Lead Team

Ends Garnet Reeves and Billy Wright will co-captain the Bronc Busters today. Both boys are senior lettermen and have been important cogs in the Westerner machine thus far this season. Reeves has been the top pass catcher this year, with 10 receptions good for 198 yards and three touchdowns, two more scores being added on recovered fumbles. Wright has caught six passes for 90 yards, playing outstanding ball on defense.

Odessa's main scoring threat of the year has been Fullback Howard Dye, who has scored seven touchdowns good for 42 points. Halfback Bobby Jackson has pushed over six touchdowns for 36 points. Halfback Dawton Hughes has scored but three touchdowns, but he has converted 21 times to pile up 39 points. Halfback T. W. Harvey last week scored three times against Lamesa to run his total to 24 points.

Odessa Sparkplugs

On rushing plays Odessa is paced by Dye, Jackson, Hughes and Harvey, and passing star has been Mac Tyler, with Quarterback Charles Clover runner-up. Tyler was injured in the Lamesa game and may be called on for limited service this week.

One of the top ends in the state in pass reception has been Paul Erwin, and the 170-pound end has been on the end of 19 passes for 334 yards and two tallies.

Primarily the Odessa attack is a strong running game, but passes are thrown often where long yardage is needed.

After a week of drills on offense and defense to fit the Odessa style of play, Westerner Coach Pat Pattison said Friday that he hoped the team was ready. "It will be a hard game from start to finish," Pattison remarked, "and I hope we can come out on top."

Only two injuries on the Lubbock squad are serious enough to keep players out of the game, both to substitutes. Fullback Don Rawls is limping from an ankle injury, and End Wayne Noland suffered an injured hip in practice.

Displaying heads-up play in practice the past two weeks have been Guards Bob Newell and Curtis Roberts, and these two boys are certain to see action.

Coach Pattison is stringing along with the same starters who have been in the lineup in the first seven games of the season.

Area Junior Teams Chalk Up Triumphs

Levelland and Seagraves Junior High schools won football victories in games played Thursday, Levelland tripping Littlefield, 18-7, and Seagraves trouncing Denver City, 26-0, for its ninth straight win.

Paul Sublette scored three touchdowns and Brad Crawford one in leading Seagraves to victory, with James Jackson and Charles Hargrove making one conversion each. The win clinched the north half of the district for Seagraves, who will play Fort Stockton for the district 4-A junior title.

The Levelland squad racked up its 10th win of the season, with Elmer Belk, Willie Henson and Eugene Bently scoring for the winners.

Rangers Beat Redskin Team

The 1949 City Junior High football champion is J. T. Hutchinson's Rangers, following last night's 15-0 victory over O. L. Slaton's Redskins at Chapman field before 200 persons.

Ranger Coach Roy Hendrix was celebrating his birthday, and the victory by the team was one of the nicest gifts he could have received. Bennie McWilliams' team played hard, but they could not stop the Rangers.

In first downs the Rangers led 10-3, as they drove for valuable yardage time and time again on off tackle slants by Fullback Jimmy Gafford and Halfbacks James Greer and Robert Johnson.

Quarterbacked by Dub James, the Hutchinson team drove 70 yards following the kickoff, but the drive fizzled out near the Redskin goal line.

Taking over at this point, Redskin Jimmy Welch galloped 60 yards to penetrate Ranger territory, but he was overtaken from behind and bumped to the ground, and that ended the threat.

Hutchinson scored in the third quarter to climax a 40-yard drive. After driving to the one, the Rangers were penalized back to the six. A line play lost a yard when the ball was fumbled, but on the next play Greer went off right tackle for seven yards. James passed to End Miers for the extra point.

Following the kickoff James intercepted a Dickey Lowrey Redskin pass, on the Redskin 40-yard line and the drive was climaxed with Greer going around left end from seven yards out. Pass for the point was blocked.

Late in the fourth quarter a penalty moved the Redskins back to their three-yard line, and on an attempted punt the pass from center was high and allowed Jimmy Gafford to block the kick, the ball bounding out of the endzone for a safety to give the Rangers a 15-0 lead.

Welch and Buddy Farris were the powers in the Redskin attack. End Mikey Brady, James, Gafford, and Johnson paced the Ranger offense. Don Presley looked good on defense for the winners.

The starting lineups:

Rangers: Ends — Don Presley and Tom Miers; Tackles—Jimmy Massey and Bernard Price; Guards — James Middleton and Dan Creson; Center—John Glover; Quarterback—Dub James; Halfbacks—James Greer and Robert Johnson; Fullback—Jimmy Gafford.

Redskins: Ends—Leon Bostick and Mikey Brady; Tackles—John Terry and Gene Zachary; Guards—Morris Burger and Jerry Martin; Center—Alvis Graham; Quarterback — Frank Wright; Halfbacks—Bob Lee and Richard Lindsey; Fullback—Jimmy Welch.

TRIBE NOT SOLD

CHICAGO, Nov. 11. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians have not been sold, President Bill Veeck said yesterday in issuing another periodic denial about a rumor which he says is tiring him.

Unbeaten Elevens In Class A Fall

(By The United Press)

The string of undefeated Class A schoolboy football teams was trimmed to 15 today as Nederland was plowed under by its traditional rival, Port Acres, in a District 26-A clash last night.

Port Acres had won only four of eight starts against Nederland's six straight prior to last night's upset. The defeat knocked Nederland out of a tie with unbeaten, untied Beaumont French for the district lead.

French, meanwhile, rang up its eighth straight win with a district victory over Silsbee 51-13 to give it a season scoring record of 290 points to 60 for the opposition. French and Nederland meet next week.

In another game involving district leaders, Irving moved toward an almost certain tie with Garland for the 12-A crown by romping over Mesquite 40-2 to stay among the unbeaten, but tied. Irving and Garland battled to a tie earlier in the season and a district committee meeting Monday will rule on the playoff representative if the clubs finish in a deadlock.

Bowie of 10-A remained among the unbeaten, but tied by trouncing Wichita Falls' Rowdies 34-0 in a non-conference game.

A host of important games were scheduled today, including Post-Slaton and Littlefield-Levelland in 4-A, Kermit-Wink in 5-A, Rotan-Hamlin in 6-A, Holiday-Archer City in 9-A, Garland-Carrollton in 12-A, Cameron-Rosebud in 21-A, Lampasas-Mason, Llano-Goldthwaite and Burnet-Fredericksburg in 22-A, Alvin-Aldine in 25-A, Edna-Karnes City in 28-A and Arkansas Pass-Freer in 29-A.

Feature Tilts Slated Today

(By The Associated Press)

Lubbock's mighty Westerners put their undefeated, untied record on the line today against Odessa with the District 3-AA title hinging on the result.

The biggest crowd to see a schoolboy game west of Fort Worth, 22,000, is assured for this game and more than 6,000 of the spectators will have made the 140 mile trip from Lubbock.

There are a few other crucial games on the schedule today and tonight.

City Teams Tangle

Paris and Gainesville get together in a meeting that will settle leadership of District 7-AA.

San Antonio Tech and Thomas Jefferson tangle, with the winner taking a big step toward the San Antonio district title in the City conference race.

Lubbock is one of four undefeated, untied teams left in the City conference and Class AA race as regular season play nears at finish. Corsicana, Port Arthur, and Wichita Falls are the others. John Reagan of Houston and Baytown are unbeaten but tied.

Wichita Falls today meets Childress, Corsicana plays Ennis and Port Arthur entertains Port Neches. Baytown meets Freeport and John Reagan plays Lamar in a Houston City conference game.

Results Are Given

A few games were played last night.

Sunset of Dallas blanked Crozier Tech of Dallas, 13-0; Sam Houston beat Austin, 13-6, in a Houston district title; Brackenridge (San Antonio) swamped Burbank (San Antonio) 74-0; Harlandale (San Antonio) downed Lanier (San Antonio) 38-6, and Midland beat Big Spring, 13-0.

Some of the outstanding games on today's schedule:

Poly (Fort Worth) — Paschal (Fort Worth); Pampa-Plainview; Austin (El Paso)-Bowie (El Paso); Sweetwater-San Angelo; Greenville-Denison; McKinney - Highland Park (Dallas); Longview-Marshall; Conroe-Bryan; Beaumont - South Park (Beaumont); Galveston - Pasadena; Kerrville - Austin; San Benito-Edinburg.

Texas Tech Netters Advance In Tourney

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 11. (Special)—Lubbock netters advanced here yesterday in the Tucson Invitational Tennis tournament, two players wining two matches and another splitting a pair.

Results included: Bill Wheatley, Lubbock, defeated Marty Shaw, Tucson, 5-7, 8-6, 6-2, then lost to Nolan McQuowen, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-3. Jake Broyles, Lubbock, defeated Bill Stevenson, Tucson, 6-2, 6-2, then defeated John Osborne, Pepperdine, 6-0, 6-2. Nell Quattlebaum, Lubbock defeated Elizabeth Holbrook, Tucson, 6-2, 6-2, then defeated Marjorie Kelly, Tucson, 6-2, 6-2.

MANY STARS VICTIMS IN WAR

Athletes Honored On Armistice Day

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (U.P.) — The hectic turmoil of the sports world was hushed on this Armistice day to sound taps again for the athletes who gave their lives in World War II.

More than 800 professional and amateur athletes made the supreme sacrifice in the war that ended four years ago. Men like Charlie Paddock, Joe Hunt, Torger Tokle, Tommy Hitchcock, Nile Kinnick, and Al Blozis.

Men from major-and-minor league baseball, college and professional football, tennis, polo, hockey, soccer, handball, basketball, track, and even bobsledding — all of these and more are found today on the rolls of the gloried dead.

In Tokle and Hitchcock, death claimed the two greatest athletes this nation ever produced in their particular sport.

Before or since the U. S. never has had a ski star to equal the immigrant Tokle, who died with U. S. ski troops in the Italian mountains. At the time of his death he held 24 ski records, including the north American jump mark of 289 feet.

Hitchcock, a 10-goal player for years on end, was the star of many international polo matches, the acknowledged master of saddle, spur, and mallet. He died in a P-51 crash.

Paddock, one of the greatest sprinters in history and the original "world's fastest human," was a Marine captain and died in an assault on a Pacific beach. Hunt was the national amateur singles tennis champion in 1943; he died in a navy plane crash at sea in Feb. 1945.

Kinnick, an all-American at Iowa and an ensign who died in a Caribbean plane crash, was but one of a legion of football stars who perished in the war.

Players Are Listed

Other famous players were Capt. Waddy Young, end for Oklahoma and the professional Brooklyn Dodgers who died in the first B-29 raid over Tokyo; Tommy Howie, former star halfback at the Citadel who gained undying fame in battle as the "Major of St. Lo"—his victorious troops carried his body into St. Lo, the Normandy city he had vowed to capture; Lt. Jack Chevigny, Notre Dame quarterback and coach at Notre Dame and Texas, who died on Iwo Jima.

And Al Blozis, the great giant who was an all-American tackle at Georgetown, a national indoor and outdoor shot put champion and a profootball star with the New York Giants.

These and the many others—all of them gone and mourned; all of them remembered today in proud tribute.

Picadors To Tangle With H-SU Freshmen

Texas Tech's power-laden freshman football squad is in Abilene today for a game with Hardin-Simmons' freshmen that is set for 3 p. m. at Parramore Stadium.

Coach Allie White took 35 men to Abilene this morning and the group will return to Lubbock tonight following the game.

The Picadors, with two victories in three starts, are meeting a team which has won three games in four starts. Against their one common foe, West Texas State college freshmen, the Picadors hold an edge in the scoring.

Hardin-Simmons beat the junior Buffs 41-7. The Picadors beat them 59-7.

Area Grid Slate

The Armistice weekend area schoolboy grid slate will be headlined by games which will decide —or at least clarify—championship races in six of the region's eight conferences.

Major games are Lubbock at Odessa, in District 3-AA; Pampa at Plainview, in 1-AA; Ralls at Spur and Crosbyton at Floydada in 3-A; Levelland at Littlefield in 4-A North; Slaton at Post in 4-A South; and Wink at Kermit in 5-A.

The complete Armistice day schedule involving area teams:

DISTRICT 1-AA

Pampa at Plainview (2:30 p.m.); Borger at Amarillo (Saturday).

DISTRICT 3-AA

Pioneers Get Grid Victory

ROPESVILLE, Nov. 11. (Special)—Lubbock High school's Pioneers romped to a 26-12 victory over Ropesville here last night in a non-conference game.

The victory was the fourth for the Pioneers against three losses and one tie over the route, and the pioneers looked very good with their ground attack.

Ropesville was without the services of several of their players, including their star back, Kenneth Means.

The Pioneers went out in front in the second quarter with two touchdowns and led at the half, 12-0.

Ropes rallied in the third quarter, taking the kickoff and marching all the way for a touchdown, with Billy Willis driving over from the one-foot line.

Two last-half Lubbock scores put the game on ice, and the final touchdown late in the fourth quarter by Ropesville meant little as far as winning the game was concerned.

In the second stanza C. D. Walker set up the first Lubbock tally with a 25-yard gallop to the Ropesville 10-yard line, and Halfback Billy Tucker carried over from that point on a quick-opener.

George Berry recovered a fumble for the Pioneers on Ropesville's 25 later in the quarter, and Jeff Jones carried the distance to the goal line on an end sweep.

Following the Ropesville score in the third quarter, Lubbock drove to the one-yard line before losing the ball. But on an attempted punt, Melvin Deardorff broke through to block the kick, with a Pioneer recovery resulting in a touchdown. Wesley Currie converted.

Walker broke loose on a 25-yard gallop for the last Lubbock score, and Currie again converted.

A fumble recovery by Ropesville on the Pioneer 15-yard line set up the final score, with Frank Condra sweeping end for 12 yards and the score.

Rice, Texas And SMU Favored To Cop SWC Clashes Saturday

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The Southwest conference football race could become a big mess tomorrow but it would take a couple of jarring upsets to make it that way.

The main upheaval would have to come at Houston where the Texas Aggies, boasting only a tie to give them points on the ledger, battle mighty Rice, unbeaten leader of the conference race.

The Aggies are all pepped up over their sensational 27-27 deadlock with Southern Methodist last week but before they get cocky about it, they must remember that Rice beat SMU by two touchdowns.

Moreover, Rice is favored by the odds makers by a matter of 20 points.

Baylor Plays Wyoming

Should the Aggies rise up and bat back the Owls, it would pitch Rice into a tie with Baylor for first place. And if Southern Methodist beat Arkansas at Dallas, the Methodists would be back in the race—just a half-game behind.

Baylor can't be worried. The Bears seek to add to the Southwest's already gaudy intersectional record in a clash with undefeated, untied Wyoming.

Wyoming has won nine games, scoring 343 points to 27 for the opposition. But Baylor is a solid favorite to knock down the visitors. The western team's opposition hasn't been much to speak of. However, Coach Bob Woodruff of Baylor is inclined to be pessimistic (nothing new). He says his team couldn't score that many points against any kind of opposition. "They'd run themselves to death," he declares. "Wyoming has a real football team. I'm scared."

Ponies Are Crippled

Southern Methodist is a 7½-point favorite over Arkansas but is still a crippled up ball club whereas Arkansas is in its best shape in weeks. SMU, however, beat Texas while in not much better trim and Texas licked Arkansas.

While all this is going on Texas and Texas Christian will be playing for the love of the game at Austin. Neither can figure in the championship race. But this is a deep rivalry and should produce fireworks.

On the record Texas Christian doesn't appear to have a chance. The Frogs lost to Arkansas and Baylor and Texas beat both of those teams. The odds favor Texas by 14½ points.

Predictions Listed

Since we picked SMU to beat A. and M. last week and took Baylor to trim Texas, and since the result was that we got one, lost one and tied one for the week to make our record for the season read 25-6-2 (an average of .788), we now give you the benefit of our sub-normal (that's what the man called it on the telephone) experting on tomorrow's games:

Rice vs. Texas A. and M. at Houston—This ain't SMU you're playing Aggies — Rice by three touchdowns, maybe more.

Texas vs. Texas Christian at Austin—Another sad day for the Horned Frogs—Texas by two touchdowns.

Baylor vs. Wyoming at Waco—Wyoming is a big splash in the Rockies but just a puddle in Texas—Baylor by two or three touchdowns.

Southern Methodist vs. Arkansas at Dallas—A close on—SMU by a touchdown or less.

San Angelo To Test Panthers

Lubbock football fans who are forced to remain in town today will be able to see Dunbar High's Panthers battle the San Angelo Leopards at 2:30 p. m. at Chapman field.

Coach Damon Hill's Dunbar team could throw the district chase into a three-way tie by upsetting the undefeated, untied Leopards. At present, San Angelo is leading the circuit, with Dunbar and Abilene tied for second.

A victory for San Angelo, which has rolled to six straight wins this season, would give the Leopards the title. They already have trounced Abilene, which earlier had beaten Dunbar.

Should the race end in a tie, a playoff series involving the three teams will be held.

In addition to its efforts to get back into championship contention, Dunbar will be out today to avenge a 45-0 shellacking suffered last year at the hands of the Leopards.

Coach Hill said Thursday that he expected to field his usual starting lineup, consisting of Arthur Jones and William Moore, ends; Dennis Sanders and Charles Harvey, tackles; Nathaniel Sampson and Charles Payne, guards; Odell Gary, center; Fred Wright, quarterback; Lawrence Robinson and Otis Walker, halfbacks; and Eddie Bullock, fullback.

Admission prices will be 74 cents for adults and 30 cents for children.

Brownfield Slated To Meet Tornadoes

LAMESA, Nov. 11. (Special)—Brownfield High school invaded Lamesa today for a Distrit 3-AA game that had no bearing on the final standings in the district, but which gave the Golden Tornadoes a chance to move up in the standings slightly.

Lamesa was rated a solid four-touchdown favorite at kickoff time, 2:30 p. m., but the Tornado coaching staff warned the players all week that the Cubs could be the cause of an upset.

The Tornadoes won five in a row before losing to Pampa, Lubbock and Odessa in order. Brownfield has yet to win a game this year.

Today is Homecoming at Lamesa High school and a crowd of 3,000 fans is expected. It is the first meeting in 10 years between the two schools and the last in district play.

Miss Kay Wiggins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Wiggins, was to be crowned high school queen at halftime ceremonies.

Bands of both schools took part in Armistice Day ceremonies here this morning.

TYLER APACHES WIN

Notre Dame Slated To Swamp Tarheels

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP) — What Notre Dame is expected to do to the crippled North Carolina Tarheels in Yankee stadium tomorrow shouldn't happen before 70,000 eye-witnesses, but the game still stacks up as the day's main showpiece in college circles.

No matter that undefeated Army is playing Penn only 100 miles away, that mighty Oklahoma and Missouri will lock in a death grapple, or that Ohio State and Illinois clash in a game which may decide the mid-west representative to the Rose bowl.

Those are just football games. Where the glittering Notre Dame play, and no great matter what their opposition, there has come to be the nation's football capital for two and a half hours each Saturday this autumn.

Should Be Runaway

This one should be a runaway for Coach Frank Leahy's great touchdown machine, to make matters worse, Charlie Justice, the Tarheels' storied back, will play, if at all, with a badly sprained ankle. But Notre Dame's highly vocal following hereabouts will have a wonderful afternoon.

Army, which has consistently been voted No. 2 behind the Irish in the Associated Press' weekly ranking poll, is favored to run up a two or three touchdown margin over the Penn Quakers at Philadelphia. Virginia, which thumped Penn last week, will be idle, resting up for a crack at Tulane.

Oklahoma, with its 7-0 record for the year and No. 3 ranking, faces perhaps its sternest test of the season against Missouri on the Tigers' home field at Columbia. If the Sooners get past this one they will be Sugar bowl bound.

Ohio State Picked

Ohio State, beaten only by Minnesota and with three big nine victories under its belt, is the experts' pick to thump Illinois at Columbus and stake a strong claim to a Rose bowl trip. California, the west coast's unbeaten powerhouse and almost certain Rose bowl host is expected to notch victory No. 9 against Oregon, at Berkeley.

Michigan, ranked No. 5, figures to name its own score against oft-beaten Indiana at Ann Arbor, but Carnell, rated No. 6 in the Nation and co-power with Army in the East, is expected to have its hands very full with a sharp Dartmouth team at Hanover, N. H.

Rice, leader of the Southwest conference and No. 7 on the ranking list, plays host to the Texas Aggies, who rose up and fought Southern Methodist to a tie in one of last week's big surprises. Baylor, which met its first defeat at the hands of Texas a week ago, plays Wyoming, a non-conference foe, at Waco.

Michigan State, which climbed up to No. 8 nationally although losing a 34-21 decision to Notre Dame last week, travels to the coast to play Oregon State; Minnesota, No. 9 and rolling again, should subdue Pittsburgh in the latter's stadium. Idle Virginia was ranked 10th.

Tulane Is Favored

Once-beaten Maryland, co-leader with North Carolina in the Southern conference, travels to Boston to test a Boston university squad which has racked up six straight victories.

Tulane, which still leads the Southeastern group despite its harrowing experiences against Notre Dame and Navy, is favored to notch its fifth conference win against Vanderbilt at Nashville. Kentucky, recovered from its lone loss to S.M.U., plays Florida at Tampa.

South Carolina and Miami Univ. play tonight in Miami. Other leading games tomorrow:

East-Columbia at Navy, Brown at Harvard, Bucknell at Lafayette, Fordham at Boston College, Holy Cross at Syracuse. Penn State at Temple. Yale at Princeton, N. Y. U. at Rutgers.

Midwest—Colgate at Northwestern, Iowa at Wisconsin, Marquette at Purdue, Nebraska at Iowa State, Oklahoma Aggies at Kansas State, San Francisco at Tulsa.

South-Auburn vs. Georgia, at Columbus; Mississippi vs. Tennessee at Memphis; Georgia Tech vs. Alabama at Birmingham; Duquesne at Clemson (night). Duke at George Washington, Mississippi State at L. S. U. (night), Texas Western at West Virginia, V. M. I. at the Citadel, Wake Forest at N. Carolina State.

Southwest—Arkansas at S.M.U., Arizona at Tempe State, Colorado at New Mexico, T.C.U. at Texas.

Carolina Will Be Well Paid

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—North Carolina will get considerable more "take home" pay from tomorrow's Notre Dame game at Yankee stadium that it did from the Sugar bowl contest New Year's day . . . The "take" will be somewhere around $135,000 as compared to $120,000 from the bowl—and there's no two-weeks training period to pay for . . . Also, Carolina likely will get a worse beating. The first "line" makes Notre Dame a 30-point favorite . . . Oddity: Out of the 70,000 or so seats in Yankee stadium, President Lou Perini of the Boston Braves drew exactly the same one for Carolina-Notre Dame that he had for the 1949 World series . . . Presumably Perini will be pulling for the wrong side again; a steam shoveler should be rooting for a Choo Choo . . . and did you hear about the guy who phoned a newspaper friend in New York last Wednesday and ask what's chances of getting two tickets for the football game and two for South Pacific Saturday night? The guy was willing to pay for them, too.

High Scores Tallied

In a couple of recent Illinois high school games, Morris High beat Gardner 121 to 0 and the next day Austin whipped Marshall 100-0 in a Chicago city league game . . . Jim Cryder of Morris scored ten touchdowns in the Gardner game and at one stage Morris kicked off three times in a row, intercepted a first down pass each time and turned them all into touchdowns . . . Wisconsin prep fans are asking how Win Brockmyer's coaching record at Wausau compares with other top teams. . . in 19 seasons, Win's teams have won 141, lost ten and tied 14 and have scored 2,523 points to 305 for the opposition.

Fighter Is Confused

Carl Braun, leading scorer of the N. Y. Knickerbockers for the past two basketball seasons, is out in front again and Coach Joe Lapchick claims Carl is "a greatly improved defensive player." . . . Joe Cheshul, the Bayonne, N. J., lad who'll meet Joe Louis in a no-decision bout at Newark, Nov. 22, argues; "Louis is almost old enough to be my dad. He is past 35 and I haven't yet crossed 25." . . . That shows why fight managers can get rich by letting fighters do their own arithmetic . . . Alex Ritson, the Louisville Blades, center, has climbed some of the highest peaks in the Canadian Rockies . . . Suppose he couldn't body-check them out of the way.

Light Drill Session Is Held By Raiders

One of the easiest days of the week was experienced yesterday by the Red Raiders of Texas Tech, who were sent through a fairly long drill on pass offense and defense, then given a short, intensive scrimmage in Jones Stadium to cap the week's work.

The Red Raiders, with an open date tomorrow, have not had a full week's work, but it has been intensive. Coach Dell Morgan bears deep respect for a New Mexico eleven that Tech should beat easily and he has been working on the players to avoid mistakes that they have been making all season.

After the hard scrimmage, not satisfactory to the coaches, Coach Morgan gave the players the weekend off. Those that wanted to were given permission to go to Odessa, or to other games of their choice. All were told to report back in time for Saturday classes.

Players also were told to run over the weekend to keep their legs in condition. Serious practice will begin on Monday, when the Raiders settle down to prepare for their game with the Lobos Nov. 19 in Albuquerque.

Hale Center Plays Host To Olton Team

HALE CENTER, Nov. 11. (Special)—Fireworks are expected here tonight when the Hale Center Owls play host to the unbeaten Olton Mustangs in a District 3-B game.

And not all the fireworks will be local ones. Olton officials have informed Hale Center officials that 300 carloads of football fans will accompany the Mustangs to Hale Center for the game.

The season's biggest crowd is expected for the game, since it is scheduled as the annual Homecoming contest for former students. Joyce Nell Wright, a junior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wright, will be crowned as Football Queen of 1949 in a ceremony preceding the opening kick-off. Co-captains Edward Weil and Dwain Smith of the Owl squad, Kay Lamb, senior; Wanda Mae Carrell, sophomore; and Patsy Weil, freshman, will have parts in the coronation ceremonies.

FAMED COACH ILL

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 11. (AP)—Robert J. H. (Bob) Kiphuth, Yale university's director of athletics, is in critical condition at New Haven hospital today following a heart attack.

Sundown Loses To Sudan Team

SUNDOWN, Nov. 11. (Special) Sudan High school checked it squarely up to Levelland here last night with a 33-13 victory over Sundown's game Roughnecks, who fought the Hornets on even terms after a 20-point first quarter.

Levelland could throw District 4-A (North) into a three-way tie by defeating Littlefield tonight. Littlefield is undefeated, while Sudan has won four against one loss and Levelland, going into today's game, sported a three and one record.

A crowd of 600 fans witnessed the Hornet romp last night under near perfect weather conditions. Coach Francis Smith's crew got the jump in the first quarter and it proved to be the difference.

Sudan Gains 395 Yards

Sudan held a wide edge in the statistics, rolling up a total of 395 yards from scrimmage to 182 for the Roughnecks. The Hornets had 313 yards rushing and 82 passing compared to 169 yards rushing and only 13 passing for the losers.

Fullback Ross Hammock and End Don Whitmire each scored twice for the visiting eleven and Halfback Jack Crouch went over once.

Bobby Clark, Sundown ace, tallied twice for the Roughnecks, one of the scores coming on a spectacular 80-yard run on the first play from scrimmage after the second half kickoff.

Center Dickie Smith, Tackle Bowman Duckworth and End Troy King stood out in the line for the home team, while Tackle Toby Smith played a fine game in the line for the visitors.

Sudan lost little time gaining an advantage with Quarterback Tommy Sherrill hitting Whitmire on a pass play that carried 33 yards.

Crouch Goes Over

Crouch capped a sustained march down the field by racing five yards around Sudan's left end for the second score. And Whitemire took another pass from Sherrill to race 40 yards for the third touchdown of the quarter.

Hammock chalked up the final two Hornet tallies, first climaxing a downfield march with a three-yard plunge to pay dirt and later going 40 yards around Sundown's porous right end for the final tally.

Hammock plunged over for two extra points and Sherrill kicked one to complete Sudan scoring.

Meanwhile, Clark broke loose on a quick-opener through the line to travel 40 yards for Sundown's drought-breaking tally and finished the night's work with his 80-yard sprint in the third quarter.

Guard R. E. Hensley kicked the Sundown extra point.

BOWLING

No team was able to score a shutout in the Business Bowling league last night, and Household Supply kept the lead by by dropping Reeves Insurance in two of their three games.

For the winners James Buckner was high rolling 211-568. Bean led Reeves with 198-534, and Wegman rolled a respectable 195-514.

Mark Halsey's and West Texas Gas are tied for second in the league. Last night Halseys dropped Sears in two games, with Peeples paving the way with 188-539. Klein's 483 series was high for Sears.

The Gassers' high scorer was Terry with a 469 series, and O. L. Maciula had the same score for Stanolind Oil, which dropped two games.

Hub Laundry cleaned Dahlson's in two games. Doug Mitchener's 533 series was tops for Hub, and a 179-506 series by L. D. Cunningham was high for Dahlson.

O. C. Bumpass rolled 181-502 for the winners.

RUSSELL HARDIN WINS

Nelson Electric was the only team able to lose three straight games last night in Ladies Commercial Bowling league, turning the trick with a 35-point handicap.

Russell Hardin was the big winner and moved into first place in the league standings by doing so as Maxine Buckner rolled a 193-527 series. High for the Electricians was Lovie Beavers with 164-451.

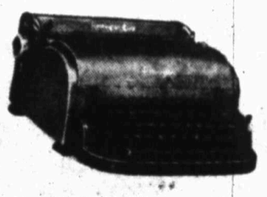

Artie Reid led Hemphill Wells with a 180-479 as her team took two games from No Name 8. Gypsie Hansen rolled 189-536 for top honors on the match.

No Name 3 remained in fourth place by topping No Name 7 in two of three games. Billy Slover paced her teammates with 177-481, and Irene Daniels was high for the losers with a 447 series.

The high game of the night was bowled by Helen Henkel, and she posted a 200 for Lubbock Tailoring as Southwestern Public Service won two games. Flo Christensen's 157-439 was high for Southwestern, and Henkel had 468 for the losers. Gail Gypson had 187-446.

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

We aren't even going to comment on the Odessa-Lubbock game played this afternoon. For one thing, by the time you read this it will be all but over. For another, our views are so radical that they might be viewed with alarm by Coach Pat Pattison and fiery-hearted Lubbock High school supporters. We're so bloody-hearted ourselves that we think the final score should be a rousing 35-14, or possibly even worse than that. With all due respect to a keyed-up Bronc eleven, we think the Westerners are the best high school team we've ever seen. Suffice it to say that we fully anticipate dispatching a reporter or two to the state finals between Lubbock and Blank.

Minneapolis papers are carrying reams and reams about Bernie Bierman and the university — and most of it is adverse. Mighty Minnesota, in case you hadn't been following the weekly scores, was all set to accept a Rose Bowl bid. The Gophers, according to close followers, had it this year and in capital letters. Then came a couple of defeats by Michigan and Purdue. Wow! Did the fans hit the ceiling. They blamed everybody. They blamed the sports writers. they blamed the water boy. They blamed the ministers. They blamed the alumni. They blamed the team. But most of all they blamed Bierman. And the way they blamed him is a crime to read. And despite Coach Bud Wilkinson's heated denial from Oklahoma that he would accept a bid to return as head coach at his alma mater, put it down in your futures notebook that he will be the next head coach there.

A year ago this time Southern Methodist university was stomping anyone and everyone that came in sight. Sometimes it was by big scores, sometimes by one point, sometimes by only a touchdown. Looming almost as big in the victory parade as Doak Walker was a passer known as Gimlet Gil Johnson. Time and time again he pulled Matty Bell's hot chestnuts out of the fire with his needly threading. He was the toast of SMU, Dallas and the outlying environs. He was the most valuable player in the Southwest Conference. He signed to play pro ball this year, capitalizing on his fortune and fame. Where is he today? Brother Johnson today carefully applies resin to the seat of his moleskin britches every Sunday afternoon and sits on the New York Yankees bench, where he watches unknown Don Panciera toss 'em so consistently that Jim Finks (Tulsa '47), No. 2 tosser in 1948, was released. It's quite a moral—from fame to riches and obsecurity.

Every now and then Ox Jameson, our old (and we use the adjective "old" advisedly) friend in Seminole, takes a few minutes of his precious time to scribble a note. Sometimes he wants tickets to something, sometimes it's to tell us about a deserving boy, sometimes it's about a worthwhile project. The latest letter concerns the latter. Seminole already has one of the best and most enthusiastic booster clubs on the South Plains. Now plans are being made to enlarge it. To do so, the Booster's Club is starting to sponsor wrestling matches in Seminole and the first one is pegged for Tuesday night at the high school. It will bring together Dory Detton, Amarillo promoter, and Olan Boynton in one match and Herk Parks and Al Getz in the other. Prices are, incidentally, $1.20 and 60 cents.

Roger J. Harrold, club president, is trying to whoop up big attendance for the event, the opening gun in a drive to increase the Booster club. Here's what he says: "We are inspired by the thought of what it will mean for the fans and the boys of our school to know, to appreciate, and to encurage each other in the idea that football is a sport to be enjoyed and not a madhouse for murder. We sincerely hope to get over the message to the public that football is a part of our educational program and not something that is to be cursed at if we lose." Those are noble sentiments and ones with which we are in wholehearted agreement. Too many persons lose sight of the fact that high schools and colleges existed before football and will continue to exist long after it ceases. Meanwhile, it's better to enjoy the game as a sport rather than to look on it as a Roman holiday, when the maryrs were tossed to the lions. Congratulations and good luck, continued good luck, that is, to the Booster club.

News yesterday that Brownfield would drop back to Class A status next year and that Sudan, Sundown and Seagraves would drop back to Class B, was received with regret here. At the present time, it's probably the best thing for Brownfield, which is experiencing its worst year on the gridiron. But still, the Cubs have a long and proud history in Double A circles and it's a shame that old rivalries with Lubbock, Plainview, Borger, Lamesa and others must, of necessity, be broken off. By the same token, the three Class A schools have no desire to leave their circle of friends and rivals. All three have been potent factors in Class circles, have more than held their own. Sudan, in fact, has one of the better records this year and that 7-7 tie with Littlefield enlarged it.

Enlarging even more, Sundown jumped from six man football directly into Class A and more than held its own. Last year the Roughnecks came up with one of their finest teams, tying for the district championship. Sudan wasn't far out of the race. Sudan this year is very much in the race, much of their future depending on what Levelland and Littlefield do tonight. But regardless of that, the schools have demonstrated that they can compete in District 4-A regardless of their enrollment. They belong in Class A ball just as much as Lubbock belongs in Double A. Without those three clubs, District 4-A will be as tasteless as bread without butter. We hope that the persons in charge see fit to reconsider.

Thomas Tinkers Drub Boys Club, 69 To 42

Lubbock's Boys club basketball team today is seeking someone on whom to take out their wrath.

The Boys club basketball team took a 69-42 shellacking from the Thomas Tinkers last night at the Boys club court, with Bob Galey pacing the victors on 15 points. Bob Steely, Jimmy Clark and Jackie Cook each hit seven for the losers.

Midget and PeeWee Leagues were organized today with six teams in each. Junior and senior teams will be organized next Monday.

Teams in the Midget League, with team captains, include Palominos, Dale Ball; Eagles, Wesley Houston; Galloping Ghosts, Danny Tucker; The Raiders, James Butler; Five Little Angels, Dean Fawcett; and Alleyrat Five, Donnie Brown.

Teams in the PeeWee League, with team captains, are Maulers, Paul Sikes; Stampeders, Cricket Shirley; Roughies, Gene Calvert; Buffaloes, Ken Marmaduke; Wildcats, Buddy Robertson; and Mustangs, Jerry Etter.

In the Midget loop Monday, the Palominos play the Eagles, and in the PeeWee circuit, also on Monday, the Maulers play the Stampeders.

BIG THREE ENDORSE MEMBERSHIP

Germany Closer To Regaining Place In Affairs Of Europe

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Defeated Germany is moving closer, within limits, to taking its part in European affairs again.

This week the three big foreign ministers met in Paris: Acheson for the U. S., Bevin for Britain, Schuman for France.

Last night they issued a report saying vaguely that they want Germany back in the swim, gradually. Details will come later.

They are reported to have agreed—although not saying so specifically—that the western German republic and the Saar should be admitted to an "associate" membership in the Council of Europe.

(The U. S., Britain and France had set up the western German republic. This is not the government in eastern Germany created by the Russians.)

No Real Unity

Here is an explanation of the council of Europe and what an "associate" membership in it means.

In 1946 Winston Churchill gave a big push to the idea that there should be unity among the nations of Europe. So a Council of Europe has been set up. There is still no real unity. The council is only a first step in that direction.

There are 13 members nations in the council: Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, Netherlands, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Ireland, Iceland, Luxembourg, Greece, Turkey.

This council is a kind of congress, or parliament, of nations, the first of its kind in Europe. It can't enforce anything. It can only recommend what should be done. For example:

While the 13 nations take part in the council, no one of them or any group of them can tell any others in the council what they must do.

The council is divided into two bodies: A committee of ministers and a consultative assembly.

Each of the 13 nations is allowed one delegate, its own foreign minister, in the committee of ministers. The assembly, though, has more than 100 delegates. The number of delegates each country is allowed depends upon its size.

So far the committee of ministers has a check-rein on the assembly since the 13 ministers can limit and control the matters to be discussed by the more than 100 delegates in the assembly.

The council started meeting Aug. 8. The assembly stayed in session for about a month and will meet again in 1950.

The committee of foreign ministers met after the assembly quit and approved letting western Germany and the Saar have "associate" membership in the assembly.

U. S. Okay Given

(The Saar is an industrial German region now joined economically to France. Germany, though, still technically owns the Saar and will until a peace treaty with Germany is worked out.)

Although the committee of ministers agreed Germany and the Saar should get into the council they wanted the approval of the United States, through Secretary og State Acheson. He's now given that.

Since the assembly won't meet again until next year, Germany and the Saar will have to stay out until then. Why? Because "associate" membership means this:

It can be a member, by having delegates in the assembly. But it can't be represented in the committee of ministers, the controlling force in the council.

The assembly, during its month's session, was restless under the control exerted on it by the 13-man committee of ministers. So—

In time the council may grow into a legislature with two houses of equal power: one elected directly on a proportional population basis (like our own house of representatives) and a senate where member states would be equally represented (like our own senate where every state, large and small, has two senators.)

Japan Peace

would reserve an answer on the point of establishing foreign military bases in Japan after a treaty had been signed.

The prime minister was quoted further as saying Japan had "no freedom of choice" on the question of whether a treaty is concluded with only the western Allies or whether Russia would participate.

'A separate peace with only the western powers," he was quoted as saying, "may be considered as a way leading to the 'all peace' with all of the wartime Allies. Whichever it might be, it is better to have peace with a small number of nations than to have no peace at all."

Slip Of The Tongue

After saying Japan had no choice in this matter, Yoshida contradicted himself somewhat, Kyodo said, by adding the Japanese "government will only decide its policy when it faces the problem concretely."

Kyodo later reported the foreign office asked it to delete Yoshida's quotation but agency officials said they were planning to publish it. Earlier Yoshida himself had asked newsmen to "forget" his phrase about a "walk out." But he offered no objection to the point Japan could decline to sign a disadvantageous treaty.

Japanese call incidents like this "slips of the tongue." Sometimes they appear accidental. On other occasions they obviously are trial balloons.

U. S. Armistice

commitments already assumed will total fourteen hundred and four billion dollars."

Casualties Heavy

He included in the war cost such items as recovery and occupation expenses, veterans payments and interest on bonds.

While Gray devoted much of his speech to a discussion of the cost of war in dollars, Secretary of Air W. Stuart Symington, in an address prepared for a meeting at Welch, W. Va., considered the cost of war in men and resources as well.

Symington said that the total casualties for World War II, the wounded as well as the dead, were over a million. And he recalled that former Secretary of War Stimson estimated that an additional million casualties would have been suffered if an invasion of Japan had been necessary.

Then, after presenting dollar cost figures on the two world wars, Symington said:

"Furthermore, those two wars used up uour natural resources—coal, iron ore, oil, timber, etc.—at an alarming rate. Even before the end of the last war, this 'arsenal of democracy' was running short of many important raw materials.

Japan Key Sport

"It doesn't take a military or political expert to see that those facts and figures mean we must do everything in our power to prevent recurrence of those international disasters called 'world wars'."

Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, retired, former commander of the 8th army in the Pacific campaign and now a civilian consultant for the Army department, had some sharp words for the Soviet Union's Far Eastern policies.

In his prepared address, for a Cleveland, Ohio, meeting, Eichelberger discussed "Our Late Friend, Russia" and said Japan would be a "great prize" to the communists.

"Japan is the industrial powerhouse of the Far East with a knowhow and industrial potential that lacks only raw material," Eichelberger asserted.

"If linked by the Reds to the raw materials of the Asiatic mainland, it would signify our prospective defeat in the Pacific in any future war which might be forced upon us. That is why I consider Japan as the key to the entire Far Eastern situation."

Eichelberger said that while American forces were destroying the war-making potential of Japan, "Russia did not destroy the weapons of the Kwantung army but turned them over directly or permitted them to fall into the hands of Chinese communists." And he added:

"To the defeat of Japan, Russia did not advance the time of unconditional surrender by as much as a single hour."

And, apparently to answer Moscow claims that Russia alone won the war in Europe, the general spoke of "a Russian leadership, saved by our participation in the war."

Craig said in his speech at Arlington cemetery:

"There is a tragic overtone to this solemn ceremony here today."

"For the first time we are observing this sacred anniversary within a dark shadow. It is said that coming events cast their shadows before them. The shadow over this tomb today and over our entire nation is that of the suspended atomic bomb."

Invitation For Attack

(His reference apparently was to the announcement of a Russian atomic explosion last summer).

Craig deplored the failure to win an enduring peace out of the first world war.

"We failed because we permitted our idealism to outrun our realism," he said. We stripped our defenses and we led from weakness. This was an open invitation to attack. The invitation was accepted."

Arlington, where the President and the Legion representatives gathered, is in itself an index to the cost of war, measured by the toll of humanity.

There, on the rolling acres surrounding the Unknown Soldier's tomb, are the graves of 69,607 other men. Mainly, they are those who fought in four major conflicts—the War Between the States, Spanish-American, two world wars.

The white stone markers that make the figures on the index have multiplied in the last few years. Back from World War II are 4,935 dead, buried in Arlington alone—a small but representative company of the 315,000 fighting men of the three armed forces who died in this most recent conflict. In World War I 126,000 were killed.

Joe Dan St. Clair, 20, of Lawton, Okla., brother of Ernest F. St. Clair, jr., of 2712 Ave. U, is recovering from injuries suffered in an automobile accident several days ago. Mr. and Mrs. E. F. St. Clair have returned from his bedside. U. S. Pilots

Hong Kong deciding their future, eight already have flown to Chinese Communist territory ,according to E. L. Allison, vice president and operations manager of CNAC.

The CATC pilots association statement said two foreign pilots joined the Americans in refusing to fly for the Communists and another, a Briton, declined to take a stand one way or another.

The statement was issued by Robert J. Raines, of Reno, Nev., chairman of the association, and Richard L. Bushbaum, of Minneapolis, secretary.

The statement said the pilots refused offers from the Communists because "these conditions included participation in stealing airplanes and other equipment, with which our group did not agree."

"Their reactions might have been different if management had been willing to wait pending the possibility of recognition of the Communist regime by the British government or complete collapse of the Chinese national government," the statement said.

"Some of our group might have been willing to go along with the company's offer if the transfer of the airline (from Nationalist to Communist hands) could be considered legal. However, others had no desire to work for a Communistic airline under any conditions."

American pilots employed by CNAC, meanwhile, protested the statement of Allison that they had decided to fly for Communists.

Glasgow, Scotland, had fewer fires in 1948 but losses—$1,947,244—were twice those of 1947.

added that Davis tried to pass the semi-trailer but was prevented by an oncoming car. Dropping behind the semi-trailer, Myers said that Davis' truck clipped a corner of the other vehicle and overturned.

Davis said he recruited the men, many of them negroes, for the Farmers Investment company of Tucson, Ariz. They were to pick cotton at Continental, 25 miles south of Tucson. All were men.

The semi-trailer is owned by J. H. Rose of Houston, Tex. It was loaded with 30 tons of airplane engines.

All 6,890 of the precious tickets for the Odessa game were sold and no more were available this morning. Of these, 1,100 went to students.

A sellout crowd of 22,000, largest ever to see a high school game west of Fort Worth, has been assured for the Odessa stadium this afternoon.

The Texas Highway patrol kept its fingers crossed and stationed eight patrol cars on the Odessa highway, with four or five working out of Midland and Odessa. The patrol began at 8 a. m.

Three breakfasts this morning started observance of the day by members of the veterans' organizations.

At 6 a. m. the Veterans of Foreign Wars blew reveille through Lubbock. Buglers were Bobby Pearson, Kenneth Cox, Jack Showalter and O. T. Ryan.

A breakfast at 7 a. m. at the VFW home, Thirty-fourth and Ave. N, was attended by 250 members and their guests.

C. E. Luce, deputy U. S. Marshal, also spoke briefly. Music was furnished by Lee Searcy and his Plains Riders, and a short motion picture was shown.

A traditional American Legion breakfast at Lubbock hotel was attended by 104 Legionnaires and their guests.

Dupree Is Speaker

George W. Dupree, Lubbock attorney, was principal speaker. Miss Maxine McCollum, Texas Technological college student, danced and several other musical numbers were presented.

The Legion Auxiliary held a concurrent breakfast in the junior ballroom of Lubbock hotel.

This morning's observance of the holiday was heightened by appearance of 18 B-25 airplanes over the South Plains.

The planes from Reese Air Force base, passed over Lockney at 10:25 a. m., Plainview at 10:30 and Lubbock at 11:37 a. m. They were accompanied by two F-80 Lockheed jet fighters from Williams Air Force base, Chandler, Ariz.

The RAFB band, directed by Chief Warrant Officer Carmine Luce, took part in Plainview's Armistice day parade sponsored by the Ray Blakemore post of the American Legion.

A traditional Legion dance at 8:30 o'clock tonight will be held at Hilton hotel with admission set at $1 per person. It is open to the public.

German Talks

left the big three in the air, pending future conferences and developments, because France continues to demand assurances that she will never again be threatened by her historic enemy.

Final decisions will probably not be made until the French national assembly meets Nov. 22 to debate the German question and other foreign policies.

Nevertheless, it was assumed by experts observers that the high commissioners would be told to discuss the dismantling question with the Germans, hoping to find a way by which French security could be satisfied.

Other things to be mapped out were the granting of a place for Germany in the European family and possible modification of the occupation statute which imposes strict allied control over the west German government.

Economic Unity Talked

Steps were already being taken to integrate the economy of the new state into the western European setup. Top German economic officials have been talking to the French finance ministry about a $250,000,000 annual exchange agreement.

Allied high commissioners announced yesterday in Bonn they have drafted ways by which the German government could carry on its own internaional trade—under watchful allied eyes, of course.

It was expected that the west German republic would also be invited to take a seat in the newly formed Council of Europe, the new unofficial parliament of a united western Europe.

Relaxing of the allied occupation statute possibly would give west Germany the right to send consuls and commercial representatives to foreign countries—but not ambassadors with diplomatic rank.

This would be the first step toward lifting the technical state of war which still exists between Germany and her western victors.

At the end of yesterday's drawn-out conference between the big three foreign ministers neither British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin nor Acheson would make any comment. French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman promised to hold a press conference Monday.

It was Schuman's stand and the stand of the whole French cabinet which put the outcome of the talks on a purely speculative basis. Schuman left the meeting twice yesterday to attend a hastily called French cabinet meeting.

Because of Schuman's commitments to the French parliament not to take specific action until the assembly debat, a French foreign ministry spokesman said, the big three foreign ministers were unable to make specific statements on the new German policy in their communique.

CIVIL RIGHTS PLAN STILL OPPOSED

Truman Reaction To Election Victory Challenged By Solons

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—Lawmakers divided today over President Truman's assertion that the Democrats' success in Tuesday's elections will smooth the way in Congress for the party's program.

Mr. Truman's prediction was challenged sharply by Republican Senator Bricker of Ohio. Bricker said the outcome at the polls won't have much effect one way or the other on the future of the President's "fair deal."

But Democratic Senator Kilgore of West Virginia declared: "I honestly believe the election results mean easier going for the administration program."

Senator Byrd of Virginia, a Democrat who has opposed much of the Truman legislation, said the elections didn't change his mind on a single issue.

"I am going to continue to vote my convictions," Byrd said, adding that he still is unalterably opposed, for example, to Mr. Truman's controversial civil rights program.

"And in my opinion," Byrd said, "I think just about every member of Congress who was opposed to that program in the last session will remain opposed."

Another Democrat, Senator Frear of Delaware, reacted similarly with respect to that issue. He said:

"I don't think the outcome of any of the elections Tuesday will make any difference in the lineups for and against civil rights."

Mr. Truman's forecast about the elections providing a boost for the party program came at his news conference yesterday.

Asked whether he construed the Democratic victories in New York state and elsewhere as a mandate from the people in support of his program, the President replied that when the Democrats win an election it amounts to a grant of authority or a mandate—call it what you want—to carry out the party platform.

Mr. Truman said that is all he is trying to do, and that the election results will make it easier.

The President's civil rights program faces a major test early next year when Senate Democratic leaders plan to call up hotly-disputed legislation to create a fair employment practices commission. Southern senators opposed to the bill have made it clear they plan to filibuster against it.

Among another score of "fair deal" issues still hanging fire after failing to make the grade at the last session are repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law, national health insurance, and the farm program of Secretary of Agriculture Brannan.

Bricker, noting the defeat of Senator John Foster Dulles (R-NY) by Democrat Herbert H. Lehman, commented that gives Mr. Truman "only one more Senate vote" and said Lehman's victory won't change the mind of any other Senate members.

In the New York campaign, the Truman "fair deal" program was a clear cut issue. Lehman backed it and Dulles hammered against it. It is mainly on the outcome of that contest that some Democrats are basing contentions the administration program is in for easier going.

Coal Dispute

finding idea anyway, even without any promise from Lewis to go along with it. There would be no legal obligation to accept such a board.

A board empowered to recommend peace terms is different than the type authorized by the Taft-Hartley act. A board named under the act is restricted only to reporting on facts involved in a dispute, and the report is a preliminary to seeking a court injunction to bar a strike.

Mr. Truman, pledged to repeal Taft-Hartley, has avoided using it in either the steel or coal disputes so far. But he has said he will use it if necessary.

Cyrus S. Ching, federal mediation service director, apparently has the task of sounding out Lewis on the fact-finding idea.

Lewis kept his whereabouts a secret followig his strike-end announcement in Chicago Wednesday, but finally turned up at the Ritz-Carleton hotel in New York.

Ching was keeping in close touch with the White House and is due to furnish a new and complete report on the situation before this week ends.

Mediators conceded gloom over prospects of getting Lewis and coal operators together talking on a peace plan. And even if that can be done, they said, they saw little ground for believing much could be accomplished.

Texas Votes

gen had 5,606 to 4,041 for Lewis H. Moore of McAllen in district 15.

George Morgan of San Angelo led district 21 with 4,582 to 2,877 for John T. Rowntree of Lampasas and 2,663 for Gordon Griffin of Brownwood.

The two constitutional amendments that were approved will allow rural fire prevention districts and give the legislature more leeway in regulating the terms and sessions of district courts.

The rural fire protection proposal had 146,236 votes for and 134,019 against.

The district court proceedings amendment had 153,437 for an 124,350 against in the final unofficial returns.

An Overwhelming No

Voters said "no" overwhelmingly to the amendment proposing annual legislative sessions and hiking legislators pay. Returns showed that 74.47 per cent voted against it. The final count was 71,376 for and 209,247 against.

The amendment giving women the right to serve on juries drew the largest vote. A total of 285,300 voted on this one—130,908 for and 134,392 against.

A proposal to do away with the poll tax as a voting requirement was not favored by 56.59 percent of the voters. Those for it were 127,200 and 160,012 against.

Attack Plans

propriate such funds.

Johnson made these added comments:

"It is important also that some decentralization or dispersal of military activities take place to and in anticipation of possible devastating military attack on Washington.

"This, of course, is a major administrative problem, particularly in view of the impact of such dispersal on other federal agencies which would be involved in a war effort.

"The preliminary studies on this matter are well under way and planning is proceeding actively."

Johnson said the problem of decentralization of the military has been under "continuous" study by the joint chiefs of staff during the last year and a half.

The government has evacuated Washington only once, when the British invaded during the war of 1812. Gen. Jubal Early's Confederate troops menaced the capital briefly in 1864.

COMPLETE TEST IS SCHEDULED

Central-West Scurry Wildcat Believed New Area Discovery

S. B. Roberts, and associates No. 1 Lewis, central-west Scurry county wildcat, seven miles west of Snyder, has shown more indications that it is a commercial oil well and a discovery for a new producing area from the Canyon reef lime.

After the well had flowed a total of 177 barrels of oil in 15 hours from open hole between 6,841-68 feet, following acid treatments of 1,000 gallons and 3,000 gallons, the flow died.

Well Is Shut In

The project was swab to a kick-off again, and in five hours it made 46 barrels of oil. The well was then shut in over night.

When opened after the shut-in it kicked off and flowed six and one-half hours through an 18/64th inch tubing choke and produced 128 barrels of oil. That filled all storage on the lease and the well was again shut in.

As soon as more storage is available operators plan to take potential test and complete.

This new producer is 467 feet from south and west lines survey. That makes it one and one-half miles northeast of the nearest producers on the northeast side of the Diamond M field.

CASING IS SET AT GAINES COUNTY WELL

Samedan Oil corporation and Anderson Brothers of Midland, No. 1-E-A Andrews, central-south Gaines county wildcat, 15 miles south and west of Seminole, had set 7 inch casing at 12,079 feet and is to perforate and test.

The prospective discovery has shown for production in the top of the Ellenburger from 11,895-975 feet. The project was then drilled deeper and a test run at 11,980-12,080 feet. That interval showed slight signs of gas and considerable water.

Shown For Production

It has shown for production from the Devonian for a possible 40 barrel-per hour flow.

The development is in the northwest part of the Robertson field, which produces from the Glorieta and from the upper Clear Fork. No. 1-E-A Andrews showed signs of production from two zones in the Clear Fork.

The location is 660 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 19, block A-24, psl survey.

AMERADA FIRM STAKES STEPOUT IN SCURRY

Amerada Petroleum company has staked its No. 1 G. D. Boyles as a north stepout to production from the Canyon reef lime in the Diamond-M field of southwest Scurry county.

The project is contracted to drill to 7,000 feet.

No. 1 Boyles is to be a direct east offset to Cities Service Oil company No. 1-H Johnson, which was running tubing to test and try to complete as a three-quarter mile north extension to the Diamond-M field. No. 1-H Johnson was bottomed at 6,808 feet in lime.

Location for No. 1 Boyles is to be 662 from west and 672 feet from south lines of the northwest quarter of section 201, block 97, H&TC survey. That makes it five miles northeast of Knapp.

BLAZE AT CENTRAL SCURRY WELL KILLED

After flowing 200 barrels of oil in 24 hours through a 12/64th inch tubing choke during a potential test hole in the Canyon reef between 6,733-6,795 feet, Magnolia Petroleum company No. 2 Haney, located on the northeast side of the Kelley field in central Scurry county, caught fire and the well had to be killed in order to extinguish the fire.

The development is a west offset to George P. Livermore No. 1 J. E. Woodson, recently completed northeast extension to the Kelley field, and 660 feet from east and 467 feet from north lines of section 209, block 97, H&TC survey.

As soon as repairs can be made the well will be put on production. Gravity of the oil and the gas-oil ratio were not reported.

The new producer is two miles west of Snyder.

ORGANIZATION OF AREA GEOPHYCISTS SLATED

Organization of a regional society of geophycists for the Permian Basin was definitely started at a meeting in Midland Tuesday night.

The session, held in the Crystal ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer, was attended by 129 persons. All geophysicial companies operating in the territory were represented.

Lorenz Shock of National Geophysical company was named to act as temporary chairman of the group. C. Winthrop Payne of The Pure Oil company was selected temporary secretary.

Committees Are Named

Schock appointed a number of committees to work out various details connected with setting up the permanent organization.

As soon as those committees complete their assignments another meeting will be called and the formal start of the society will be made.

W. L. Homan of Republic Exploration company and C. J. Donnally of Western Geophycical company made short talks at the Tuesday night meeting.

Refreshments for a fellowship hour which preceded the business session were provided by Strawn Merchandise company.

Warm Weather Over Texas To Continue

(By The Associated Press)

So, last summer you couldn't wait for winter and its cooling weather.

Well, winter's here, just look at the calendar. But not its cooling weather.

Dallas and Wichita Falls recorded temperatures of 80 degrees yesterday, a new record for Nov. 10 in Dallas and the highest in 20 years for that date at Wichita Falls.

Elsewhere in the state the temperature ranged from the mid-sixties to the mid-eighties.

The forecast today is for warmish weather.

VISHINSKY COMPLICATES RIDDLE

Doubts About Russian Atomic Efforts Hang Heavily On UN

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 11 (AP) — The riddle of Soviet atomic production hung heavily over the United Nations on this Armistice Day of the pre-atomic first world war.

Russia claims she is using the power of the atom for peaceful economic development—for moving mountains . . . for irrigating deserts . . .

For cutting through jungle and tundra . . . spreading life, happiness, prosperity and welfare . . . where the human footstep had not been seen for thousands of years.

But Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky added this warning yesterday in a sharp speech before a U. N. assembly committee: If war comes, Russia could produce atomic bombs—"as many of these as we should need—no more and no less."

The atomic debate, the long-deadlocked attempt to find control of atomic energy, goes on in the U. N. special political committee at an afternoon session (3 p. m. EST) today. Thirteen countries are on the list to speak: Argentina, Yugoslavia, Pakistan, Uruguay, Czechoslovakia, White Russia, Norway, Liberia, Nicaragua, Israel, India, Peru and the United States.

Delegates Skeptical

No one openly challenged Vishinsky's claim that the Soviet Union is using atomic energy "right now" to raze mountains and irrigate deserts. But there was an underlying air of skepticism among U. N. delegates.

Scientists have said some elements of the atom bomb probably could be used for blasting earth. However, the only known explosive that could do the job is a combination of those elements in the atom bomb. After such a blast, they report, the earth in the area would be radio active but not dangerous after a period of about a month or so.

Vishinsky was asked by reporters after his speech to tell where the Soviet Union was using atomic energy for changing the terrain.

"I can't (tell) because I am not informed," he replied. "I only know about it in a general way."

President Truman, who announced last Sept. 25 that an atomic explosion had taken place in Russia, told a news conference yesterday he had had no further reports of atomic explosions in the Soviet Union.

Vishinsky told the 59-nations special political committee:

"We in the Soviet Union are utilizing atomic energy but not in order to stockpile atomic bombs—although I am convinced that if, unfortunately and to our great regret, this were necessary, we should have as many of these as we should need—no more and no less."

United States and British replies could not be given immediately in debate but a British spokesman off the floor said it was "saber-rattling . . . sickeningly disappointing as an example of realistic and cooperative approach to the problem."

An American spokesman said Vishinsky's speech did not have in it "a single constructive proposal."

Vishinsky said the United States plan—backed by a majority of the U. N.—stringent international control and inspection of all nuclear energy materials, machinery and output—seeks to thwart and wreck Russia's peaceful use of atomic fission.

Change Could Be Sudden

Frederick Osborn, U. S. delegate on the U. N. atomic energy commission, said afterward that nuclear fuel can be used interchangeably for war or peaceful purposes and that the change-over can be sudden and without warning.

Osborn and John Hickerson, assistant U. S. secretary of state, who sits for the U. S. in the special political committee on atomic debates, said scientists would have to answer whether atomic explosions could level mountains and dig ditches. Hickerson said atomic radiation might make such areas impossible for habitation for some time.

The political committee plodded toward a final decision on Italy's prewar colonies in Africa. After forging out agreement to give Libia independence by Jan. 1, 1952, it went on to promise Somaliland independence after 10 years of trusteeship under Italy as an administering authority, with Egypt, Colombia and the Philippines acting as an advisory council for Italy.

The question of Eritrea's fate comes up today.

The earth receives only about one two-billionth of the energy radiated by the sun, since the radiation is equal in all directions.

Roberts Speaks At Inter-Club Council International Meet

About 50 members of the Texas Tech Inter-club council met Thursday night at the Mexican Inn for an International banquet, the first social activity of the group this season.

Principal speaker was H. N. Roberts, local consulting engineer, who spoke on Guatemala, and supplemented his talk with color slides taken in that country last year.

Special guests at the banquet, besides Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, were Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Technological college; Mrs. E. N. Jones, wife of the vice-president of the college; Dr. C. B. Qualia, head of the foreign languages department at the college, and Mrs. Qualia; and Mrs. Roscoe Wilson, founder of the Roscoe Wilson Memorial scholarship in foreign languages.

Representatives of Sigma Delta Pi, national honorary Spanish fraternity; Capa y Espada, Spanish club; Liederkranz, German club; Le Cercle Francais, French club; and Cosmopolitan club, were present. Guillermo Perea, president of Capa y Espada, and Myrl Padfield, president of Le Cercle Francais, were present as representatives of their clubs.

Bill Bufkin, president of the Inter-club council, presided at the banquet.

The council plans to give a group of Christmas plays in Spanish; German, and French, shortly before the Christmas holiday.

STUMPS QUIZ MASTER

CHICAGO. (AP)—Ed Cooper, the man who does the talking on a radio quiz show, placed one of those random telephone calls. The fellow who answered turned out to be the sponsor of a rival quiz show. Cooper asked the quiz question. The other gent didn't have the right answer and the incident ended on a chuckling well-it-had-to-happen-sometime note.

IN HOLLYWOOD: BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

Old Cowhand Gary Cooper Is Riding Back To The Range

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11. (NEA)—Gary Cooper rode to movie stardom as a western hero, but lately he's strayed from the range. Now he wants to get back into a western quick. It probably will be "The Way West," for Jerry Wald at Warner Brothers. . . .

Hard to believe but Alex Gottlieb says he knows an actor whose press agent didn't bring in a single oil well for him this week.

James Mason is reading Virginia vanUpp's new script, "Christ the Man." . . . Ann Blyth finally has a boy friend — Dr. Robert Flynn, who is on the staff of the local Queen of Angels hospital.

Al Jolson is talking about it, but Columbia can't figure out how there can be a third biographical Jolson picture. It would have to be pure fiction. The current film takes him up to the day Columbia decided to shoot the picture.

LIVE IN YOUR CAR

"Fabulous Boulevard," Ralph Hancock's book about Los Angeles' Wilshire Boulevard, points out that the boulevard has 14 drive-in cafes, 17 drive-in markets, seven drive-in laundries, two drive-in shoe repair shops, two drive-in banks, one drive-in night club and one drive-in liquor store. Which reminds me of Bob Hope's crack:

"In California you can get married, have a honeymoon and get a divorce without ever getting out of your car."

Rory Calhoun, who started out as an actor, now finds himself in the winery business with his father-in-law. Are his feet red! . . . Rhonda Fleming helped Marty Lewis celebrate his birthday. He's Paramount's coast radio boss . . . Janis Paige and her husband, Frank Martinelli, celebrated her birthday in Italy and her big surprise was a gondola ride in Venice during which the gondolier turned out to be Mischa Auer. . . . Glenn Ford figures he's now a success. He has a stomach ulcer.

NO THANKS YOU, MA'AM

It's producer Murray Lerner's story about the little Russian boy who spent his afternoons watching western films. One night his mother said they had borscht for dinner.

"Maw," said the kid, "Ah reckin' ah ain't a-hankerin' for borscht."

Mel Ferrer will not do "The Victim" with Joan Crawford even though the deal was practically set. The studio started quibbling about money and he took a walk. He has three pictures lined up after he finishes directing Claudette Colbert and Bob Ryan in "Blind Spot." . . . Columbia is talking about another co-starring film for Dianna Lynn and John Derek.

Betsy Drake turned down seven scripts before she decided to do "Here Lies Love." Wonder if she's turned down Cary Grant, too? They've been talking marriage but doing nothing about it for more than a year.

Hollywood is talking about: Al Jolson still paging Uncle Sam for permission to produce a film under the protection of the capital gains tax rather than the much higher personal income tax. . . . Barbara Stanwyck posing for leg art for the first time in years for "The Furies." I asked her why the blackout on her gams. She replied: "Nobody asked me." . . . Bing Crosby going into the frozen orange juice business. . . . Joan Davis mixing an offer from CBS to star in her own TV show from New York. . . . Shelley Winters test for the second lead in Paramount's remake of "An American Tragedy."

"One more thing, Toots! Send in the postcard that came with Gold Medal Flour. My wife wants those Queen Bess pattern teaspoons!"

It's a "honey" of an offer! To get your Queen Bess pattern teaspoons in Oneida Community Tudor Plate, just mail postcard that comes in each 25 and 50 pound sack of Gold Medal "Kitchen-tested" Enriched Flour. Solons Will Stage Mountain Lion Hunt

WASHINGTON Nov. 11 (Special)—Rep. Frank Boykin, Mobile, Ala., timber, turpentine and oil baron, will accompany Rep. Ken Regan, 16th Texas district, Midland, on a mountain lion hunt which Joe Peyton of El Paso will stage at his ranch, Terre Nates, in Mexico beginning Nov. 15.

Other prominent persons who will be in the party are Steve Aguirre, U.S. consul general, at Juarez, W. J. Hooten, editor of the El Paso Times, Herman D. Camp, El Paso and Ed Love of Sierra Blanco.

The group will assemble in El Paso Nov. 14 to leave the next day. Walter Babb and son, Wayne Babb, will handle the dogs for the party and will take them on earlier.

The group expects to ride horseback over the mountains in search of the lions.

Boykin, who has invited President Truman to hunt with him on his 100,000 acre south Alabama fish and game preserve in December, came in for some kidding recently. After a conference with the President, Boykin turned to Mr. Truman before going out the door to say, "What shall I tell them?" meaning the reporters outside. The President told him to say that he had asked him to go on a bear hunt.

This bear hunt story spread with the result that Alabama hunters who had been ordered not to kill bear wondered if the game laws were being relaxed in the case of Frank Boykin and the President. Word spread that Boykin's deep freeze was full of bear steaks. A check was made. It developed Boykin's bear steaks came from the Georgia swamps. Alabama conservation director, Bert Thomas, said he knew Boykin was too good a conservationist to have proposed such a kill.

Philanthropist Out Of Cash But People Hard To Convince

AURORA, Ill., Nov. (AP) 11 (INS). — "Sorry, Folks, there ain't no more."

That was the answer that James Powell of Aurora gave today to a host of begging persons who sought to get a slice of the $350,000 the philanthropist has been giving away.

The 74-year-old retired real estate man is hiding in the Leland hotel. Each mail brings him bundles of letters from money-seeking persons who learned of his anonymous gifts "to make other people happy."

The white-haired little philanthropist is having a hard time trying to convince people with the itchy palm that his own palm now is empty. He said:

Aid To All Impossible

"I'd like to help every person in need, but if I did more, I soon would be begging myself."

Powell, now a lonely widower, said he was keeping just enough of his fortune to take care of himself for the rest of his life.

Strange requests for money have reached Powell. A Burlington, Iowa, man requested money for a set of false teeth. Another wanted cash to buy a wooden leg.

Recently a Syracuse, N. Y., woman wrote saying she needed money to get a divorce fro ma husband who "is unkind to me."

Many of the letters containing pictures of children who, the writers said, needed food, shoes and operations.

Tuberculin Tests Show 27 Positives

Twenty-seven of 834 first, sixth and 12th grade students receiving tuberculin tests in Lubbock county schools last week were positive reactors, indicating the tuberculosis germ has entered their bodies, according to a survey results announced Thursday.

The percentage of positive reactors was lower than that of last year, when 92 showed positive reaction of a total of 1,640 taking tests.

Test results were read by Dr. Roy Riddel, Dr. J. B. Rountree, Dr. O. Brandon Hull and Dr. Tennie Mae Lunceford in county schools other than Slaton, where Slaton doctors read results.

Parents of the 27 showing positive reaction were advised to take their children to doctors for chest x-ray examinations. Six students who showed doubtful reaction were asked to report to the Lubbock County Tuberculosis association Saturday for another test.

Plasto tests were given in the schools, said Mrs. John L. McLeod, tuberculosis association nurse.

The Silver Jubilee of the reign of the Sultan of Brunei (Northwest Borneo) will be honored by a small set of stamps.

Union Pension Demands On GM Will Be Delayed Until 1950

DETROIT, Nov. 11. (AP)—The CIO united auto workers will permit 1949 to run out before demanding pensions of General Motors Corp.

The union's 250-man general Motors council decided yesterday to ask formally for $100-monthly pensions early in 1950. The contract will expire May 31 of next year.

Exploratory talks on union demands for 265,000 GM workers began this week, but management said the conferences were not of a bargaining nature.

Chrysler Pressed

The auto workers, who put their pension program into a Ford contract in September, currently are pressing for a similar system at Chrysler.

General Motors also is talking pensions with the independent electrical workers, recently expelled by the CIO because of their left wing leadership.

A new CIO union for electrical workers, led by CIO secretary-treasurer James B. Carey, plans to demand recognition from General Motors for bargaining purposes.

However, no representatives of Carey's group attended yesterday's session with GM.

The corporation has pointed out that it could not break its present contract with the independent union.

At the same time, the independent union indicated it would fight to keep its position.

"We have a contract with the corporation and we intend to see that it remains in force," said Arthur Garfield, secretary of the union's GM council.

The contract covers 30,000 GM electrical workers.

Garfield, who heads his union's negotiating committee, said its members were chosen by the UEW's executive board after the union's expulsion by the CIO.

He said the others on the committee are Lem Markland and George White of Dayton, O.; Andrew Libely of Rochester, N. Y., and Joseph Giminoz and Frank Lewis of Warren, O.

Truck Transport For Modern Horse Shoer

CAMPBELL HILL, Ill., Nov. 11 (AP)—This, so far as Roy Schnaare is concerned, is the horse-and-truck era.

Schnaare is an ex-GI and a blacksmith. Not enough horses came to town to make his shop profitable. So he decided to shoe the horses on the farms. He makes his rounds in a panel truck equipped to carry a forge, anvil, tools and a stock of horseshoes.

Homecoming At O'Donnell Held

O'DONNELL, Nov. 11. (Special) The O'Donnell High school band, under the baton of Bill King, makes its first appearance in new uniforms today during Homecoming activities here.

The band paraded through downtown O'Donnell beginning at 11 a. m., and will re-form in the afternoon to play at the O'Donnell-Tahoka football game scheduled to begin at 2 p. m., at Johnson field.

Queen to Be Crowned

Miss Janelle Lindsey, O'Donnell High school senior, will be crowned football queen between the halves of the game.

Alumni will gather at the school cafeteria at 7:30 p. m., for a homecoming banquet, which will end the day's program.

The band began its march in front of the Legion hall and paraded to the Ellis Chevrolet company and then to the Corner Drug store, where it formed a circle and played several numbers.

The new uniforms, which are tailored in West Point style and in the school colors, are gold with black trimmings.

Band Officers Named

All members of the 48-piece band are beginners. Band officers are Virginia Sanders, president; Alice Stinnett, who is drum majorette, vice president; and Carol Lambert, secretary.

Miss Lindley was one of four candidates for the football queen title. The other three candidates will be her attendants.

Patsy Edwards, last year's queen, will turn the crown over to football Captain Carroll Pearson, who will crown Miss Lindley in a colorful ceremony.

As a special feature of the coronation, a float introducing as many of the former football queens as possible is planned.

Since a complete list of queens is not available, school officials have asked that all former queens get in touch with them before the ceremony.

Tickets for the banquet will be $1.50 per plate, with ducats on sale at the two drug stores and the two tailor shops in town. All ex-students are invited to attend the Homecoming, to meet and renew old acquaintances.

Plane Crash Misses Funeral Procession

NEW CUMBERLAND, Pa., Nov. 11. (AP)—A small airplane barely missed a funeral procession yesterday in making a crash landing near the New Cumberland airport.

The pilot, Robert Herrick of Boston, and his mechanic, Robert Keller of York, Pa., escaped with cuts and bruises.

Airport officials said the plane developed engine trouble shortly after takeoff and turned back to the field.

The two-seater plane skimmed low over a funeral procession in the Mt. Olivet cemetery and crash landed in a nearby field.

Romance Is Rumored For HST's Daughter

DETROIT, Nov. 11. (AP)—Margaret Truman and Frank R. Handy, jr., of Ypsilanti, Mich., are the center of romantic rumors again.

The President's daughter, who will give a concert here tonight, had lunch yesterday with the young son of an Ypsilanti publisher.

Last winter they were seen together often, but the White House said there was nothing doing as far as romance was concerned.

Then Tuesday, when Miss Truman talked with reporters, she seemed a bit puzzled when someone asked if she would see the young man from Ypsilanti:

"Oh, you mean Mr. Handy," she smiled after a moment. "No, he's just a friend."

But Handy got his date, and the management of the Detroit Athletic club saw that they had the big dining room practically to themselves. Margaret was wearing a big white orchid.

Afterwards they drove off in Handy's convertible.

Former Lamesa Mayor Is Injured In Fall

LAMESA, Nov. 11. (Special)—W. L. Marr, 71, former mayor of Lamesa, suffered a skull fracture about 2 p. m., Thursday when he accidentally fell at the airfield eight miles north of town.

Hospital attendants at Lamesa General hospital today described his condition as improved and said he was getting along as well as could be expected.

A farmer who was with Marr at the time of the accident said he tripped on a slack rope and struck his head on a concrete sidewalk. The farmer said they were inspecting grain stored in one of the hangers at the airfield.

Marr was rushed to the hospital in a private car.

Marr served as mayor from 1934 to 1942, and also has served a term as sheriff-tax assessor collector for Dawson county. He has been operating the Plaza hotel in Lamesa since 1940.

NOTHING may ever come of it, but some of Lubbock's most powerful business interests are thinking of trying to buy the First Methodist church property on Broadway in order to make way for the extension of retail business westward on the important thoroughfare.

The reason for this thinking is that Thirteenth has been showing too much commercial life of late and bids fair to become a big retail street from Avenue J westward. Those most interested in buying the Methodist property have heavy investments on Broadway.

Probably within two years time, the Lubbock Memorial hospital will be demolished to make way for further westward expansion on Broadway—after the new hospital is built on West Nineteenth. Then the Methodist church will stand as the only major barrier to commercial extension on the South side of Broadway, traditionally the best business side of the street.

The idea is an important one and if carried out would have great impact on the business life of the community.

BY DREW PEARSON: PART OF FRENCH MERCI TRAIN ENDS LONG JOURNEY IN KANSAS

All Peoples Want To Be Their Own Ambassadors

HAYS KANSAS—An old French boxcar ends its journey in Kansas today. It has crossed one ocean, carried troops to a score of battle fronts and toured every county in Kansas. Probably a junk dealer wouldn't give more than 20 bucks for it; but this old car and the keepsakes inside it represent a million dollars' worth of sentiment.

PEARSON

No one in France, when they went to all the work of loading up this boxcar with 48 others, for their friends in America, ever dreamed what would happen when the cars arrived. One is enshrined on the old state capital grounds in Louisiana; another stands in the capital grounds at Bismarck, N. D.; another is located at Olympia, the capital of Washington; while Minnesota and Mississippi have enshrined their boxcars on their state fair grounds.

Nor did anyone in France dream that the contents of these cars, ranging from the flag that flew over Verdun in 1914 to mere dolls given by the poorer children of Paris, would be displayed in museums throughout the land, from Louisville, Ky., and Newark, N. J., to the capital rotundas of Wisconsin, Ohio and Arkansas; to the huge exhibits arranged by Grover Whalen in New York City, into which thousands of people streamed every day.

Friendship Reverberates

It has been nine months now since the French people sent their boxcars to the people of America, but the echoes of friendship are still reverberating through big city libraries and small country schools, or carried in exhibits throughout the state. Wisconsin, like Kansas, has mounted its car on a trailer, and it is still touring every county; and, after this tour is over, Wisconsin plans to box the French gifts and send them out on a five-year program of display in individual schools. Yet Wisconsin is supposed to be a German-American state.

Another byproduct of this French Merci train has been millions of letters sent from the children of the United States to the children of France. This may start a chain of friendly correspondence lasting into the years.

It would take several newspapers columns to describe all the steps taken by all the 48 states to show their appreciation of France's appreciation.

But the most significant part of this whole story is that almost no one of the many millions of Americans who contributed to the friendship train two years ago this month had any idea it would be reciprocated.

It was hoped, of course, that American genorosity would be appreciated — though there were even some skeptics as t othat. But no one had the remotest dream that several million of the French people would make the great effort to load 49 boxcars with all sorts of paintings, statutes, keepsakes and heirlooms — some of them priceless in terms of sentiment—to send to the American people.

SO, on this Armistice Day, the most important conclusion to be drawn from this exchange of two trains between the people of France and the people of the United States is that the ordinary folks from Kansas to Normandy—the folks who have to go out and do the fighting and the dying when wars come—are now determined to work at diplomacy. They don't entirely trust the diplomats. And it may be that in the long run they can do as much or more than ambassadors—when not hampered by iron curtains.

The 1918 Armistice

This is in direct contrast to what happened 31 years ago after the Armistice of 1918. At that time the American people, idealistic, in experienced in the field of foreign affairs, were included to think that all they had to do was sign a peace treaty and then forget about it. France, they believed, was something inscribed on beribboned parchments which one left to diplomats.

So, shortly after the Armistice of 1918, most of the American people went back to work; the U. S. Senate decreed that we should have nothing to do with Europe; and big business concentrated on chasing the almighty dollar. "Back to normalcy" was the watchword thrown out by Warren Harding, and generally speaking correctly called the tune for the country.

BUT after the V-E and V-J days of this last war, it has been different. The American people, it is true, are tired. Some of them are worse than tired. They are discouraged and cynical. But they also know that if we had done our part toward the rest of the world in the 1930's, we would not be burying our war dead in the 1940's.

Above everything else, the American people are determined that there shall be no more war. And they know that when they merely trusted diplomats in the past, we have had wars. Therefore, individual Americans, tried as some of them are, are quite willing to help the diplomats.

That's why there have been so many care packages sent to Europe. That's why several million letters deluged Italy during its elections and helped win the battle for democracy. That's why 20,000,000 Americans contributed to the friendship train. And that's why every American was pleased and delighted when the people of France unexpectedly showed their appreciation by sending us their Merci train.

For peace is pretty much like matrimony. You can't quit working at matrimony immediately after the marriage license is signed. And you can't run out on peace the minute the ink is dry on a treaty. Pease is just as hard to win as war, and much less exciting. For there are no brass bands playing as we march down the road to peace.

So perhaps the basic thing to remember about the two trains exchanged between the French and American people is that it is not difficult for people who know each other to live in peace with each other. France has weathered a Nepoleon, a great revolution, the crash of many republics, but still the people of France remain our friends—because we know each other. The governments which sign treaties come and go, but the people who enforce treaties go on forever.

Of course, I am chiefly paid to pry into cabinet meetings and report on closed-door sessions, so that may be boring to some people. But anyway I'll try tomorrow to report on what a great many Americans are doing individually to help win the peace.

ROBESON WANTS riots, not free speech forums. Oberlin students are noted for their extreme liberalism. They want to hear Robeson speak. When the flash came over the teletypes that Henry L. Straus was killed (when his private plane exploded over Maryland the other terrible night), we swallowed a hard gulp, which stabbed the heart. We knew him only slightly, met him hurriedly in his box at Tropical Park—shortly after Damon died. . . It was Mr. Straus (and his associates there) who suggested that racetracks run Damon Runyon Memorial Handicaps. . . Tropical Park initiated them, plus $5,000 for the fund. . . Nearly every track in the land followed the example immediately. . . Matt Winn was next with $5,000 and a Runyon race in every Derby. . . Harry Warner's Hollywood Park turned over $35,000 from one race; Suffolk Downs (near Boston) originated a permanent fixture ($10,000 per year), and so on. No wonder the Runyon Fund will soon start its fourth million. . . In the Sport of Kings the Horses aren't the only Thoroughbreds.

It will occur to almost everyone who likes tunes with his music that something big should be done for Bill Handy before that courtly old negro composer shuffles off this mortal coil.

Almost by himself, he has given the world (through the GIs) as well as our own nation something new, different and soul-satisfying. But he hasn't gotten much out of it in the way of national acclaim.

If his name had been Antonio Guiseppe Spigolorini, and if he had come over here with a lot of tuneless tripe from Venice, he would have been lionized to the extent of having parks named for him and monuments built to his art.

But being "just an American negro," he gets the brush-off from the long-hairs and only an occasional patronizing pat on the back from the millions who have thrilled to his compositions.

MORE than anybody else, it was W. C. Handy who took the blues out of the bagnios of New Orleans' Rampart street and put them into Carnegie Hall and the Hollywood Bowl. He put them, too, into some of the most exclusive homes and clubs in the land, as well as in the places where the rest of us live and play.

More than anyone else, Bill Handy made the blues "respectable" to the point that even some of the big name stars of the Met and other opera companies have sung them (albeit not very well) on the air.

In his "St. Louis Blues," Bill Handy has written something which bids fair to be as lasting as the "Prologue" from "Pagliacci," as the principal aria of "The Barber of Seville," and the famed "Anvil Chorus," from "Il Trovatore."

As American as ham and eggs, "St. Louis Blues" has become more part and parcel of our domestic scene than even the old ballads of such earthy composers and arrangers as Carrie Jacobs Bond, Stephen Foster and David Guion.

Bill Handy's an old man now. He's blind and must be led on and off the stage by his daughter.

He won't be around much longer, but before his golden trumpet is finally muted he should be honored by a concert in Carnegie Hall, by the presentation of a Presidential medal, by the honest acclaim of his countrymen—especially those in the South.

"Supreme Voice" Of New Cult Plans To Avoid A-Bomb Blast

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 11. — A man named Doreal, otherwise known as the Supreme Voice, has no intention of being destroyed by the atom bomb, when and if it falls, I really should not say "if" because Doreal knew all about the atom years before we successfully split it, and his most recent move is rather a baleful portent of the future.

RUARK

Doreal, or the Supreme Voice of the Brotherhood of the White Temple, has transferred his temple from Denver to a small valley between two peaks well outside the city. These mountains are supposed to contain lead—sufficient lead to sheath the brotherhood from the angry action of a peevish proton. This is good enongh for me—if the Supreme Voice is taking precautions, I may be shopping around for a small Shangri-La for myself.

You see, Dr. Doreal—he hasn't got a front handle—is the head Guru of an outfit which practices contact with universal consciousness, deals in theosophy and metaphysics, and thereby is unbounded by time or space. Although the head Guru was born in Sulphur, Okla., he spent a lot of years in Tibet, and occasionally returns there, spiritually, to catch himself up on the newest doings in the occult league.

I missed the Supreme Voice, because the Supreme Voice presently is off barnstorming on a lecture tour in New York and Florida, but I chatted with his No. 2 boy, Dr Lee Roberts, a gruff and kindly man who wears denims, smokes cigarets and likes to shoot pool. Dr. Roberts was born in Missouri, as seems to be the case with nearly everybody nowadays.

"Are Nice People"

"We are nice people." Dr. Roberts said, nudging his dog off the stoop with his foot. "We are not a bunch of nudists, or anything like that. Down, sir-" (this to the dog) "We are not fanatics. We are incorporated and we believe in reincarnation."

The Supreme Voice's executive officer finally got the pooch off the stoop and asked me in. He accepted a cigaret, and continued.

"A man who knows himself knows where he came from." he said. "A man who knows where he came from retains his memories. A man is thereby born all-wise. Doreal can remember all the way back to the fall of the 12 cities of Atlantis, 51,000 years ago. Sometimes when I am feeling good I can occasionally step back a piece and see the lost cities myself.

"DR. DOREAL has known everything that would happen, all along, but has refused to capitalize on his knowledge. He won't patent what he knows. But in the old days of Atlantis, they would neutralize gravitation, airplanes could ascend and descend vertically, and this was 50,000 years ago. They also had two moons then," Dr. Roberts mused, as a full and lovely moon sneaked over one of the atom-proof peaks.

Dr. Roberts said the cult was incorporated in 1939, has several thousand members, mostly mail-order chelas, or aspirants to higher knowledge. Some of the higher officers moved up on the mountain, where the great adepts of the White Lodge now dwell on some 1800 acres. This move came in 1945, whe nthe Supreme Voice began to fret about the A-bomb. The officers and more affluent members have either bought or leased the land, on a 99-year basis. They figure that is long enough, even in a reincarnation.

Road Is Costly

It is a long and twisty road up the mountain, where the temple and the subsidiary buildings cluster in their leaden sanctuary.

"We are not primarily interested in avoiding the atom-bomb," Dr. Roberts said. "We seek peace, primarily, and truth."

Dr. Doreal, as mentioned, can send himself back to Tibet for a refresher course, at will, without moving his corporeal frame from Colorado, but it is noted that he took the train to New York. It is easy enough to float from Denver to Shamballa, the central headquarters of the great White Lodge, in Lhasa, Tibet.

"But we had to build this road up the hill," Dr. Roberts said. "It cost us a hundred grand."

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

By Bennett Cerf

"Try And Stop Me"

RECENTLY I saw advertised on the cover of a national magazine an article called "How to Handle Your Mother-in-Law." The article was all wrong.

MILLETT

One of the things that causes so much in-law trouble is that daughter-in-law tries to "handle" mother-in-law, and vice-versa.

When you start in trying to "handle" another human being you're off to a bad start.

Because human beings resent being "handled," and they have a perfect right to.

When you are trying to handle another human being you automatically rule out certain helps to getting along together. Such helps, for instance, as genuine, unself-conscious liking, spontaneous gestures of good will, real kindness and consideration.

You take the relationship off the give-and-take standard and put it on a "get" basis: "How can I handle the person so as to get what I want?"

And the minute you do that you start antagonizing the other person. None of us likes to feel we are being "handled" whether it be by a boss, a friend, a husband or wife, or an in-law.

GIVE IN-LAWS SQUARE DEAL

WE want to be liked and accepted for what we are. We want to be treated with respect and genuine liking. We want a fair deal.

But we don't want to be handled. We don't even want anyone to think they are capable of "handling" us, of regarding us as someone who can be moved around like a chess player.

Many of the complaints that daughters-in-law make against their mothers-in-law are based on the feeling that the mother-in-law is trying to "handle" them in order to have things her own way.

And many of the resentments that mothers-in-law hold against daughters-in-law crop up from the daughter-in-law's trying to handle her mother-in-law in such a way that she is eased right out of the picture.

What young wives need to have impressed on their minds, it seems to me, is "How to be friends with your mother-in-law"—not how to handle her.

IN 1911, Marcel Proust completed Swann's Way, the first part of his monumental work Remembrance of Things Past, and submitted it to a Paris publisher. The novel was rejected upon the advice of the publisher's senior editor—Andre Gide. Years later, when both Proust and Gide had become world-famous, Gide confessed to Proust. "The rejection of your book will remain one of the most poignantly remorseful regrets of my life."

Proust's reply—a model of good manners and exquisite taste—was, "Had there been no rejection, I should never have had the deep pleasure afforded by your letter of apology."

CALLING for my wife at a shop one day, I spied a lovely lady who used to be a great swimming champion trying on an ermine wrap, and heard her tell the saleswoman, "I'll take it on one condition. You've got to give me your word that when my husband doesn't like it, you'll absolutely refuse to take it back."

PROTECTOR OF POCKETBOOKS

The newly appointed "solicitations committee" of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce should be able to render a useful service for which the need ordinarily is greatest at this rush season of the year.

This is the period when solicitations—good and bad—are more numerous. The appeals take many forms, but most frequently they seek cash donations for some cause or other. The person asked to give often has no way of knowing, or of ascertaining easily, whether the appeal is deserving.

The declared purpose of the new committee is to "discourage" solicitations for and contributions to "unnecessary and unworthy projects." The general idea is to investigate when anyone undertakes to pass the hat in Lubbock and to inform those asked to give whether, in the committee's opinion, the solicitation is deserving or undeserving.

Most cities the size of Lubbock, and many smaller ones, have this protection. Most people won't contribute to anything unless approved by a group comparable to the solicitations committee. The plan has proved worthwhile elsewhere. It should be equally effective in its operations in this City.

Dry Oklahoma Asks U. S. Aid So Sooner State May Soon Parch

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 11. (U.P.)—Federal officers from four states are helping Oklahoma enforce its newly-bolstered prohibition law and the price of bootleg whiskey is going up steadily.

In August, Oklahoma asked for federal aid under a 1936 act of congress which allows United States officers to help dry states enforce their liquor laws.

Federal authorities refused to take official notice, however, until after Oklahoma voters defeated repeal in a special election Sept. 27.

The dry victory at the pools set of a chain of events which was climaxed at a meeting in October of alcohol tax unit investigators from Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas and Arkansas.

War On Bootleggers

Ernest Ahlfeldt, alcohol tax unit regional supervisor at Kansas City, said the strategy meeting in Kansas City was called to make plans to "plug every loophole in the Oklahoma boundaries."

"This definitely means war on Oklahoma bootleggers," he declared. "It also means trouble for those who have been drinking wet and voting dry. . . I want to say that it is a (federal) violation to carry liquor across the Oklahoma line not only if it's a pint—but if it's a thimbleful."

Bootleggers took the speech as cheerfully as brokers would take a market smash. Although none of them jumped from windows, some admitted they felt like it. Some turned in their federal liquor stamps and most raised prices.

At Fort Smith, Ark., the city commission ordered the municipal airport not to permit further shipments of liquor into Oklahoma. The spirit-lift from Fort Smith was estimated to carry $35,000 in liquid cargo to Oklahoma monthly. In September alone, 122 plane loads of whiskey left the airport for Oklahoma.

Leo K. Nash, alcohol tax unit agent at Oklahoma City, said the enforcement would be the "toughest since national prohibition days."

Bootleggers believed him.

At Shawnee, one whiskey dealer turned in his federal alcohol tax stamp and said "I'll just rest until things quiet down a little."

Others said whiskey already was harder to get and they were looking toward a "long drought." However, they kept their liquor stamps and stayed in business.

Bootleg whiskey prices went up 50 cents, $1, or more, and the operator of an Oklahoma City establishment composed a poem about it to console his customers.

"Even though Oklahoma City voted 'wet.'
The Drys are making it hard to get.
The price we pay was raised on us,
So we have to raise . . . Let's all cuss."

Price To Be High

Lawton bootleggers expressed the views of most of their fellows in trade when they said greater difficulty in getting whiskey from out of state to their customers will keep prices high.

Their attitude apparently was, "It'll be harder to get, it'll cost more—but we'll get it."

Bootleggers and federal officers weren't the only ones spurred variously by Oklahoma's dry victory.

County and city officers were kept busy greeting United Dry delegations asking for more and more strenuous enforcement of the dry law.

And one group of officers even got a complaint because it was believed they WOULD join in the enforcement drive.

AEC Seeks Uranium From South Africa

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (INS) — The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission disclosed today that it is engaging in discussions which may result in acquisition of uranium —heart material of the A-bomb— from the Union of South Africa.

The discussions, now going on in Johannesburg, South Africa, are an outgrowth of discovery over a year ago that uranium occurs as a minor element of gold ore found in certain sections of the South African union.

The AEC announcement said that representatives of Great Britain and South Africa are participating in the conferences.

Inclusion of Great Britain in the meetings recalled still-current negotiations between England and the U. S. for future division of the priceless uranium deposits in the Belgian Congo.

The Congo deposits are the largest known in the world and are owned by companies controlled by British capital. Britain reportedly wants a larger share of the output, along with latest American atomic energy know-how. Transmittal of such data is at present forbidden by the atomic energy control act.

Cecil Horne Speaks To Engineers Here

Prof. Cecil Horne, head of the journalism department of Texas Tech, was speaker at a meeting Thursday night of the South Plains chapter of the Texas Society of Professional engineers.

Approximately 25 members and guests attending the dinner meeting in the Yaqui room at the Hilton hotel herd Prof. Horne speak on the ethics of journalism.

W. L. Ducker, chapter president, presided. Out-of-town guests from Morton, Plainview, and Levelland were present. The next meeting will be Dec. 16.

Tech Fraternity To Conduct Initiation

Gamma chapter of Pi Epsilon Tau, national honorary petroleum fraternity, will be initiated on the Tech campus at 12:45 p.m. Saturday, President Bill Killingsworth said Thursday.

A pledge team of 12 men will arrive tonight from the University of Oklahoma, national headquarters, to perform the formal ceremonies, he said. A luncheon in the Hilton hotel at 2 p.m. will follow the initiation.

The national fraternity was founded at Oklahoma in 1947 with Paul Johnston, now a Tech professor, as the first president. Formal applications have been submitted for membership by both the University of California and Louisiana State, but Tech will become the third member Saturday behind Tulsa university, which was added last year.

There are 32 members in the Tech chapter, made up from the upper 25 per cent of the senior class and 17 per cent of the juniors, according to fraternity regulations.

No probationary period must be served by the Tech chapter before it is admitted to full membership, Killingsworth said.

Firm Given Victory And Defeat In Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11 (AP) —The American Can company today held both a victory and a defeat in a government instituted anti-trust suit based on the Clayton and Sherman acts.

Federal District Judge George B. Harris ruled the company had the right to make one year—but not five-year—total contracts. Total contracts provide that the company will supply all of a canner's needs for a given period.

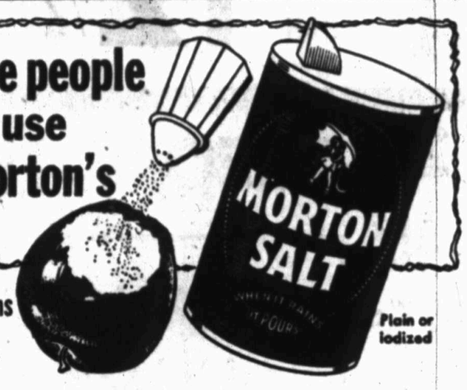

But the court held that the company was violating the law in leasing closing machines — equipment used for capping cans.

The government contended the company required that only its containers be used on the machines. Judge Harris deferred action on that phase of the case.

In New York, the company president, C. H. Black would not comment on the decision until he had time to study it.

Pedigreed Canines Brought From Germany

Tech Officer Believes Dogs Have Personality Qualities

Dogs have personalities and if you don't believe it, just drop by the Reserve Officers Training corps building at Texas Technological college almost any day.

Mike, a black Schaeffer Hund or German Shepherd, is likely to act tickled to death to see you, looking alert and responsive to what you have to say.

Tex, a boxer, probably will look you over with a sour expression or turn his head indifferently.

Acquired In Germany

Col. Willard White, head of the Army Reserve Officers Training corps at the college, takes the dogs to school with him, chaining them to a tree in front of the ROTC building. Many students have stopped to see the dogs and visitors frequently stop and get out of their cars to look at the pedigreed dogs.

Colonel White is convinced that dogs have personalities and, further, that a good dog is loyal, well-mannered, well - disciplined, friendly and posseses other qualities considered outstanding in a human.

Colonel White obtained the dogs when they were two-months-old pups more than two years ago in Frankfurt, Germany. He named them, choosing an abbreviation of Texas for the Boxer.

Trained To Obey

He has trained them to obey several commands. When he says "Sit," they sit down, seldom moving until he tells them to get up. Mike, the large black dog and friendlier of the two dogs, will shake hands on request. Mike's father was a war dog.

Both dogs have long pedigrees. Mike is registered in the Schaeffer stud book in Augsburg and Tex is registered with the Boxer club in Munich.

When Colonel White returned to the United States during the summer after having served most of the time for five years in Germany, he chose passage on the freighter, Carroll Victor, which was bringing a cargo of dogs, in preference to the passenger liner, Henry Gibbons.

The officer was post engineer at Nurnberg military post immediately before returning to this country and previously had been commander of troops at Hanau and Frankfurt.

City Valuations Show Boost

Record Total Is Announced

A receord-breaking $10,000,000 increase in assessed valuations in the city since last year was reported at the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Thursday afternoon.

Valuations jumped from $59,406,000 in 1948 to the new total of $69,463,000 as shown in the tax rolls submitted by Harvey Austin, city tax-assessor collector.

The total and the increase were the largest in history and were due almost entirely to new building, and other improvements. Expansions of the city limits since last year and a closer assessment of personal property—automobiles in particular—accounted for relatively a small portion of the gain.

Over Budget Estimate

The amount is more than $9,000,000 larger than the estimate on which the current city budget is based and exceeds by approximately $5,000,000 the early-year estimate by the tax assessor-collector of the amount the valuations would total.

The valuations mean that the city will collect approximately $175,000 more in taxes than was estimated when the present city budget was prepared. This will be additional money for improvements of many kinds.

The total of the taxes the assessments might produce was placed at $1,215,601, if all can be collected. All naturally won't be collected, but Austin said approximately 98 per cent of the assessments on the 1948 roll have been paid—believed by officials to be an all-time record for any Texas city of comparable or larger population.

The nearest approach to the increase of last year was the gain between 1945 and 1946, when valuations jumped approximately $8,000,000. But the larger part of that increase was due to a reappraisal of valuations — which meant that most property on the city rolls was taxed at a higher value in 1946 than in 1945.

This year there has been no change in appraisals.

However, a new appraisal now is being made jointly for the city and Lubbock independent school district.

The prospect borders upon certainty that the increase in valuations next year will be much larger than this year. Contributing to this prospect are the reappraisal, building permits which are a virtual certainty to exceed last year's record-breaking $15,000,000 total and large-scale expansions of the city limits which will place additional property on the city rolls.

Austin reported that more than $300,000 of the taxes on the new

Honor Roll At School Listed

A total of 135 Lubbock Senior High school students have made the first honor roll of the 1949-50 school year, according to an announcement by school officials Friday. The list, an increase over the last honor roll, includes ten per cent of the student body.

Thirteen per cent of the senior class, ten per cent of the junior and eight per cent of the sophomore earned scholastic honors.

The list, however, is not entirely complete, school authorities said. Other names will be added Monday.

Students taking five solids who made five A's included Margaret Barrier, senior; and Rudelle Thompson, junior. Sammie Wallace, senior; and Sharlene Wall, sophomore, made four A's and one B. Students making three A's and two B's were Elfreida Hill, Verbie

THE FLAG PASSES BY—Putting into practice what they have learned in school, three students in Sanders school demonstrate the correct manner of carrying the flag, and the practices civilians should follow on Armistice day today if they see the flag pass by or if they hear the national anthem. At right, Eugene Stewart, fifth grade student and son of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Stewart of 614 Ave. F, illustrates the manner in which he has been taught Wayne Glenn, third grade student and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Glenn of Camp Carson, shows how male civilians should salute the flag by removing the headdress with the right hand, holding it at the left shoulder, the hand being over the heart. Women salute by placing the right hand over the heart. The salute to the flag in a moving column should be rendered at the moment the flag passes. In center, Marion Elizabeth Alexander, first grade student and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Alexander of 417 Third, demonstrates manner in which all present should stand at attention, facing the music, when the national anthem is played and the flag is not displayed. Men should remove the headdress. (Staff Photos).

PLEASURE DEFERRED

DETROIT (U.P.)—Richard Robertson, 19, who fumbled a water-pistol holdup of a bank, won $4,700 damages for a 1948 auto accident. But police said he will have to wait to spend it. He must first serve time for the robbery.

OLD ORDER PASSES

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. (U.P.) — Haven House, occupied by eight successive generations of the Pike family for 256 years, was sold to a real estate dealer and its antiques and heirlooms were disposed of by an auctioneer.

THE QUESTION

Do you think off-the-street parking should be required at apartment houses built in Lubbock in the future?

THE ANSWERS

WAYNE FAIRCHILD, 1316 Thirty-Third St., representative of Meinecke Bros.: "Of course. It would be a convenience to the tenants. With the rentals we have to pay, they should justify reasonable conveniences."

C. T. BOYD, 2702 Twenty-Second, salesman for Snap-On Tools Corp.: "Sure. It would be a great help to people living in apartment houses. They don't have places to park now, and they would then."

MRS. FREIDA PAGE, 3004 Thirtieth, manager of American Credit Co.: "Well, yes, I think they should build garages for the apartments. It would eliminate a lot of the parking problems. It would also be more convenient for the tenants."

VARDY WHEELESS, Austin, X-Ray technician: "I think so. It makes traffic so congested the way it is now. It will give protection to the tenants' cars, and when they come out of the house, they'll be able to see better as they cross the street."

BRUCE B. COMPTON, Philadelphia, Pa., salesman: "It depends upon the addition to the rent. If they're going to jack it up five or ten dollars, it isn't worth it. If they don't increase the rent, garages should be built."

MRS. VIVIAN MADISON, 906 Ave. R, housewife: "I think there should be, definitely. The cars are not safe in the streets now. Someone is always running into them. Where we live now, the street is so narrow that only one car can pass at a time."

Maryland Pep Rally Ends Up In Rioting

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP) — A University of Maryland pep rally got out of hand last night on the Washington — Baltimore boulevard.

Traffic between the two cities was blocked for miles. Automobiles were showered with firebrands from roaring bonfiers. Police said at least five were damaged.

Maryland state troopers brought on tear gas in an effort to open the road. Winds drove the gas away. Firemen tried to extinguish the bonfires. They were outnumbered and driven away.

A College Park police car was taken by students and later abandoned, to nose driverless and in gear into the traffic jam.

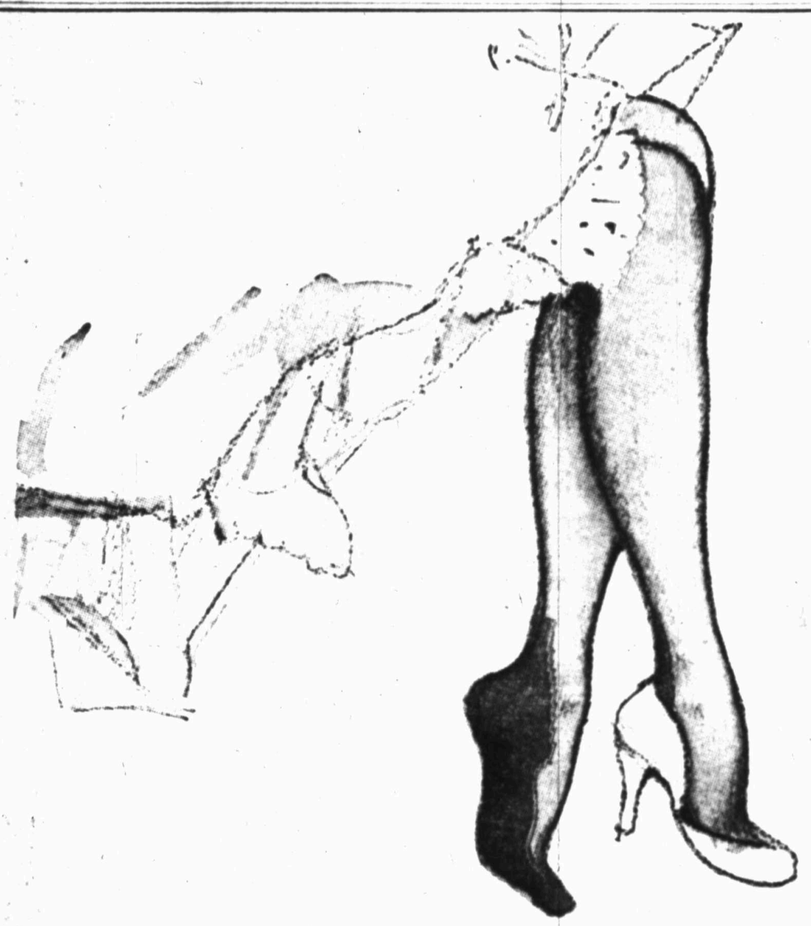

Some 2,000 students charged back and forth across the blocked highway shouting "Beat the Yanks."

The Maryland football squad leaves today for a game with Boston university in Boston.

Old Egyptians Were Equipped For Bender

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11. (AP)—When Alexandria, Egypt, went on a bender in the second century B. C. the city was really equipped for it. This fact was dug up by Dr. Arthur Patch McKinlay of the University of California.

In Bacchic festivals, giant wine containers were drawn through the streets by the faithful. One great cart was drawn by 600 men and carried 30,000 gallons of wine.

Blackmer Gets Huge Fortune

DENVER, Nov. 11. (AP)—Henry M. Blackmer has gained access to $10,000,000 since he came back from a 25-year exile overseas and paid a $20,000 federal income tax fine, the Rocky Mountain News says.

The $10,000,000, the news said today, was the oil millionaire's money in New York banks that had been frozen by the government since 1942.

The funds were frozen, the newspaper said, on the grounds that Blackmer, then a resident of France, was considered an enemy national. He slipped away to Europe during the Teapot Dome oil scandal investigation and refused to return. His U. S. passport was revoked in 1927.

Fined In Denver

Blackmer, a sick 80-year old man, returned to the U. S. Sept. 21 and pleaded guilty to tax evasion charges based on his income in the early 1920s. He was fined $20,000 in Denver Nov. 2.

A dispatch to the news from its Washington correspondent said: "Date of the unfreezing was not disclosed by officials of the Justice department's alien property custodian office. However, it apparently took place prior to, or simultaneously with, the decision by high Washington officials to drop felony charges against Blackmer if he would come back to the United States and plead guilty to misdemeanors."

The unfrozen funds include $7,115,000 in U. S. treasury notes, $263,000 cash and several million dollars of municipal bonds.

Poultry Not Fattened By Potato-Feeding

DAVIS, Calif., Nov. 11 (AP)—Experiments here have dashed hopes that surplus potatoes could be used to fatten the large western turkey and chicken crops.

Potatoes, both raw and dried, have been fed to gobblers and cacklers in extended experiments at the University of California college of agriculture here. But the birds don't respond, reports poultry expert Frank Kratzer.

The trials were based on a tip from Europe, where potatoes are sometimes fed to chickens.

Increase In City's Valuations Reported At Commission Meet

roll already have been paid.

The commission transacted much other business during a session lasting almost six hours.

Meeting Set Monday

Mayor W. H. Rodgers set a special meeting for 10 a.m. Monday to act on a call for an election on a proposed bond issue of $1,075,000 for expansions of the city sewage disposal plant and system and to buy rights-of-way for completion of the highway dispersal system. City Attorney Vaughn Wilson advised the commission that such a call can be issued only at a special meeting.

It seemed virtually assured, however, that the election will be set for Tuesday, Dec. 13, and will propose $550,000 for sewage disposal needs and $525,000 for highway dispersal rights of way.

Members of the commission also agreed to inspect new street sweepers Monday on which bids were opened Thursday.

To Buy New Machines

Plans are to buy two new sweepers which, according to City Manager Steve Matthews, will enable the city to do a much better sweeping job both in the business and residential areas than is possible with the two machines now available. Of the two the city now owns, Matthews added, one is badly worn.

Bidders for the contract to supply the two sweepers, the brands they offered and their net total cost to the city were:

Townsco Equipment company, Gutter-Snipe, $13,900; Fred Berryhill Equipment company, Austin-Western, $14,470; Gaddy Machinery company, Wayne, $16,399; and Rinehart-Texas company, Elgin, $18,000.

Sentiment expressed during Thursday's discussions appeared divided between the Austin-Western and the Elgin.

The commission authorized two expenditures of substantial size, including one of widespread interest in Lubbock.

To Buy Street Light Posts

The city manager was directed to buy 10,000 feet of 2-inch pipe from Morrison Supply company, Lubbock, for $2,865 to be used as posts for new street signs soon to be erected.

Matthews said he invited more than a dozen firms to bid on this proposal. All except one declined because they said they did not know when materials would be available, nor what they would cost, because of the steel strikes. The Morrison company, however, happened to have exactly the desired material on hand, available for immediate delivery.

The commission also placed a $22,534 order for water meters of the Calumet brand with the Well Machinery & Supply company, which submitted the lowest of three bids received.

Matthews said the purchase will expedite extensions of water service.

Okay Yule Broadcasts

Members of the commission gave their traditional approval of the broadcasting of Christmas carols and other appropriate music from the tops of the Hilton and Lubbock hotels during the approaching holiday season. A special permit is required for such programs.

The music is part of the program planned by the Christmas decorations committee of the chamber of commerce, of which O. W. Ribble and Ruel Martin are co-chairmen.

The city manager was directed to call bids on two street paving projects of approximately 50 blocks each. Matthews expressed the opinion that such projects can be financed more easily by private contractors if each is limited to about 50 blocks.

Under the plan, the successful bidders will be responsible for collections of the property owner's share of the cost of paving in front of his holdings. The owner will be allowed, if he desires, to pay his cost in three annual installments.

The city pays about 10 per cent of the total cost of pavement and the property owners the remainder in proportion to the front footage of their holdings. That cost to the property owner has averaged about $150 for a 50-foot lot.

Warning Is Given

Mayor Rodgers warned, however, that the work will not be done by private contractors if the costs run substantially higher than in the past.

He recalled that recent surveys have showed that average costs for comparable paving consistently have been substantially lower here than any city in Texas from which reports are available.

The commission rejected a proposal to trade a block of land in South Lubbock, purchased for a park site, for a nearby tract of equal area owned by C. N. Hodges.

Southeast Avenue Q cuts squarely through the park site and officials agreed it has become undesirable for park purposes. But Commissioner Clarence Whiteside argued that the frontage of the park property on Southeast Q—one of the most important thoroughfares in the highway dispersal system—has enhanced its value enormously. The tract Hodges proposed to trade is about two blocks east of the park site.

"I'm willing to make a trade, but I'm not willing to give two or three for one," Whiteside commented.

The implication in which members of the commission concurred was that they either will have to get a better deal from Hodges or they will buy another park site "somewhere else."

Present at the meeting were Commissioners E. K. Hufstedler and W. B. Price, City Director of Public Works R. L. Oldham, and the mayor, Whiteside, the city manager and city attorney.

TRIAL TO OPEN MONDAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (INS) — Russian Engineer Valentin A. Gubitchev and Brooklyn-born Judith Coplon were ordered today to stand trial beginning Monday on charges of espionage and conspiracy. Federal Judge William Bondy set the trial date after refusing to hear argument on pre-trial defense motions.

Plays Frumpy Character In "No Way Out"

Linda Darnell Deglamorizing For Role In Newest Picture

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11 (AP) — The movies can do anything: Now they're deglamorizing Linda Darnell.

"I've been wanting to play a bum for a long time," said the glamor girl, who is apparently happy with her role in "No Way Out." She faced a problem of how to look the part.

"At first, they tried me with no makeup," she said. Instead of looking frumpy she appeared saintly.

"I looked like Bernadette in her last scene. Now they are using makeup to put circles under my eyes, give me hollow cheeks and a moody, sullen mouth. I'll wear out-of-date, too-tight, worn-out clothes."

The deal for another Hope-Crosby picture has been set up. The boys still don't know what "road" they'll hit. Could be Paris, could be Hollywood. Chances are 50-50 that Dotty Lamour will again accompany them.

Montgomery Clift gets his first real movie loving in "A Place In The Sun." He did so many smooching scenes with Shelley Winters that her face was irritated by his beard. She showed me the rash.

Joan Fontaine, back from "September" locations in Italy, reports she didn't see Ingrid Bergman. "Poor Ingrid—nobody sees her," she said. "At least Garbo could take her walks along the beach at dawn. Ingrid can't even do that."

LINDA DARNELL

Joseph Cotton hopes to induce his old pal, Orson Welles, to come home for Christmas. The chubby genius has been over there long enough to be considered an honorary Italian.

Elizabeth Taylor and Vic Damone are the latest item for the gossipers. Or are you growing weary of her romances? At any rate, she was at the Mocambo to watch the young crooner sing and he took her home after the early show.

Damone is creating considerable notice with his local debut, which won him an MGM contract. He is the best singing find I've seen since Frank Sinatra, whom he resembles more than somewhat. Wonder what effect Damone's contract will have on Frankie's fortunes at Metro. Probably none.

Lubbock Doctor Will Speak To Bar Group

Dr. D. D. Cross, prominent Lubbock physician, will address Saturday's luncheon program of Lubbock County Bar association on some of the medical aspects involved in damages suits, especially as regard back injuries.

A technical approach to the problem, which annually takes a big percentage of the bar association into court on one side or the other of the counsel table, will be made, attorneys said.

George W. McCleskey is president of the association, and will preside. The program will be in Hilton hotel.
