Committee Requests Canal Route Through Cove

Piloting

Where does a fishing trip begin and a fish story end or which came first, the catching of the fish or the measuring of the fish.

When Jerry J. Bordovsky tells it, no answer can be deducted. Bordovsky raises hogs on a Bayou near Houston, but he knows his fish from past acquaintance. So he watched the sun set over that Bayou and dreamed of the tales of A. W. Benn, owner of Tote-a-Bit in Houston.

Benn had made many a fishing trip to Rockport and that bend in his back got there from carrying back the catch. Jonah's whale was just a shrimp compared to some of them, and not one of those big Rockport shrimp but a shrimp from burned out shores.

Over in Pasadena, another sportsman mullied over the fish tales. He was Delbert Atkinson, mayor of the town. As he said to his council, "Gentlemen, what is your pleasure?" he mentally figured out a way that one of those big babies could be whittled down to broiling size.

Monroe Wheeler of Houston was good at weighing them mentally. He owns Lone Star Bag and Baggery Company. He listened to Benn and had a landing net full of fish in every empty bag he turned out.

All they needed was a hook and line, Benn's line, as a matter of fact, was almost strong enough.

Last Sunday they left behind bayous, bags and municipalities. Aransas Bay came into sight, with every white cap the result of the swish of a fish's tail, the fish wishing in its impatience to be caught.

"Now," said Mr. Bordovsky.
"Now," said Mrs. Atkinson.
"Now," said Mr. Wheeler.
And they set out to sea.

The white caps broke on waters' surface but they were caused by the winds that are the punishment of all fishermen for past misdeeds or perhaps future ones. Instead of bailing out fish because the boat was too full of them to float, the three men bailed out water that fell from the heavens, life giving on a desert but uncomfortable on a boat. Bait left the hook, but it was gone with the fish, if there was a fish.

Back in a cabin beside the bay, three men sharpened their spears. Their thoughts were no longer of fish but of Mr. Benn. They touched the razor edge deliberately.

"Now," said Mr. Bordovsky.
"Now," said Mr. Wheeler.
"Now," said Mr. Atkinson.

But Mr. Benn had a glib tongue that had brought them and it was still good for persuasion, even in spirit, taking one look at the spears his spirit carried them to a natural outlet—flounders.

These fish in Rockport, his defensive spirit explained, didn't go in for swinging on the end of string. They chose their own weapons, and at six paces before dawn, it was the spear.

Lantern in hand, Benn's spirit guided the three out into the water east of the seawall. There he showed them the shimmering flounder, an adversary worth their fight. Spears flashed and flounders swished their tails, leaving white caps on the calm waters.

Mr. Bordovsky, Mrs. Atkinson and Mr. Wheeler are not quite hunchbacked from carrying the load of flounder but there is a definite trend toward the front. They have gone back to the bayou, the bags and the city with a tale to tell.

Perhaps Benn had caught the big ones and there were none left for them. But Benn couldn't have made a dent in the number that three of them can dream up before next vacation.

That's three on a match, a match for one.

Two Escape From Army Brig Steal Bracht's Car Here

Use Stolen Guns In Attempt to Make Get-Away at Ingleside

The theft of Dudley Bracht's V-8 early last Thursday morning began a rapid turn of events involving sheriff's of two counties, Humble guards and FBI agents.

Bracht's car, parked in the yard conveniently contained the keys, a .22 and a .410. The car disappeared about 3:30 o'clock in the morning and was found about 9:30 o'clock in the ditch at the intersection of the Aransas Pass-Gregory and Ingleside highways, a tire blown out, the frame bent and the radiator smashed.

John Sandland, who was visiting in Rockport, spotted the car on his way back to San Antonio and called Bracht. The occupants had disappeared.

That afternoon, an Ingleside woman called Humble guards and reported two young men, barefooted and carrying guns, were seen idling around the Humble plant. George Palmer, chief of the plant guards, and Henry Allen, a guard, trailed the men by their foot prints in the muddy ground. The two trained their guns on the guards but dropped them when ordered to do so.

Discovering the men had no draft cards, the guards called in Corpus Christi FBI agents. The agents identified the men as James Thomas Shondelmeyer and John W. King, both 20, army deserters from Camp Hood. Both, FBI agents said, had been in prison for numerous desertions. They escaped the last time Wednesday morning, the day before the theft. They told officers they had been living by stealing watermelons and cantelopes from fields.

Saturday morning, both were turned over to Army authorities at Foster Field, Victoria.

Edward Hunt Is On His Way Home From Prison Camp

Staff Sgt. Edward E. Hunt, Rockport's only German prisoner of war, is in the United States and on his way home.

Tuesday, he wired his wife, Mrs. Mae Hunt, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hunt, that he was in Virginia and was well. Later in the day they received another telegram saying he was on his way home and indicating that he would receive a discharge from service. This was their first direct word from him although the War Department had notified them he was liberated.

The aerial gunner on a B-17 who holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal and three oak leaf clusters, went down over Germany in January, 1944, and had been a prisoner until early in May this year.

Norvell Jackson Is Back In States

Master Sgt. Norvell Jackson arrived in the United States Wednesday and will soon be at home for a 30-day furlough.

He wired from New York that he will be in San Antonio in a few days. His wife, living here with their daughter whom he hasn't seen since she was two months old, will meet him in San Antonio. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Jackson and has been overseas 28 months.

of Rockport. In Kansas City, with return reservations on a train, he was informed that a flood would stop his passage. Father Mullan phoned an airline to see what could be done. He was getting nowhere until he mentioned that the padre was from Rockport.

"Then put him on the line," said the airport official.

Father Kelly was on the plane which flew home and it isn't hard to guess who the official was: Brantiff's Bill Weller, formerly of Corpus Christi and a Rockport visitor and booster.

South American Officer Doesn't Understand But Gets the Idea

"He may not know what I was saying but he knew what I meant" was the comment of Judge B. S. Fox after he had performed a ceremony marrying Alphonse Giraldo and Alice Cuevas Tuesday morning.

Giraldo is an officer in the Colombian air corps and is in training with other Latin-American officers at Corpus Christi. He was married to the Corpus Christi girl in the county judges' office here.

The words of the marriage vows were read, according to law, in English, a language of which Giraldo speaks only a few words. But Judge Fox said he needed no interpretation.

Two Men Buy Waterfront Land

Two out-of-county men purchased Bayfront land in Rockport this week to build summer accommodations.

Walter A. Henshaw, San Antonio oil man who owns the old Mathis home, bought several hundred feet of water front on South Beach east of his home. Cash consideration was $4,500. Henshaw intends to raise the land, improve it, build a cottage for his family, a guest cottage and perhaps others. The land was formerly owned by Harry Traylor.

Judge John R. Beasley of Beeville purchased eight acres from the bay to the highway south of A. C. Glass' home. Cash consideration was $8,500. W. P. Clark of New Mexico was the former landowner, and Traylor handled the sale. Judge Beasley expects to build a summer home on the site.

AIRPLANE BRINGS SIAMESE CAT TO F. L. BOOTH HOME

A Siamese cat, as beautifully marked as he is lively, came by air to Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Booth and grows healthy on his schedule of eating all he can hold one day and nothing the next.

Minnie Fu is the name of the three-month old kitten, daughter of Nellie Fu of Arlington, Va. The mother cat belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Booth's daughter, Mrs. W. F. Bonnell. Mrs. Bonnell's husband, Lieutenant Colonel Bonnell, had a pilot friend who flew the tiny kitten to its new home.

Minnie Fu has a brown face with white brow, deep blue eyes brown boots and brown tail. She is an affectionate animal, enjoying human companionship. But like a streak of lightning, she can dash across a room, go half way up a screen and across backs of chairs as if she were on a string.

She is very particular about her food. Grass must be brought into the house for her to eat twice a day. Three times a week she has raw eggs. Like a native of the coast, her favorite food is fish. But she is only allowed to eat every other day. On the off day she has no food, but on her meal day she can eat all she can hold which is a great deal.

Mrs. Booth said she would be glad to show the cat to anyone who wished to see one of the species so popular in England that $35 to $50 is paid for a Siamese kitten.

Virgil Burton Docks In South Pacific To Find a Surprise Waiting For Him

On a ship in the South Pacific, Virgil Burton, Coxswain, a Coast Guardsman was getting together his laundry and happened to glance toward the dock. He saw a sailor standing there who resembled the brother he had not seen for three years.

Burton went on with his laundry, sure that Ralph Burton, fireman first class, was at some great distance.

He described the following incident in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Burton, formerly of Fulton and now living in Port Lavaca:

"About that time somebody called my name. I looked up and there he was grinning like $700. Ralph hasn't written you yet, so this will be as much a surprise to you as it was to me. He really looks good. Is fatter than I have ever seen him and doesn't seem to be very disappointed about being sent out here. Said he would just as soon go on a little further now that he is this far.

Team and Driver Needed To Clear Beach

Rockport beach will be cleared of shell if a man who knows how to handle a fresno and has a team of mules can be found.

The problem of clearing the beach has been under consideration of city officials for several weeks. Yesterday afternoon at a council meeting, Lt. Comdr. Clyde Armstrong offered to loan his fresno free of charge if someone can be hired with mules to pull it.

A general call has been put out for an applicant for the job as soon as the tide goes down that a sandy beach and a clean bottom may be offered swimmers near the seawall.

At the same meeting, the council let a contract to Highfill and Mayes to paint the city hall and fire station interior and exterior. Their bid of $168 was low of 3 for that amount of work. Contract specifies painting shall be concluded by July 8.

E Bond Sales Are Still Short of County Quota

E bond sales were still $16,000 short of the goal when books were closed Wednesday leaving only a little more than a week for the quota to be reached.

The bank had sold $44,050 of the $60,000 E bond quota and $200,068.50 in all bonds, well over the quota of $125,000.

Brown of the traffic department at Houston and the superintendent of safety from Houston. Attending were members of the local train crew and eight of the section gang from Aransas Pass.

Rockport Fish Take to the Air For Migration

At the officers' club at Hondo Airfield, guests sat down Sunday night to a meal of Rockport fish and shrimp. And what they ate was flying fish.

It had flown not under its own power but that of an Army Airplane which landed at Rockport airfield for its load of seafood. The plane came to Rockport Friday and made arrangements to pick up the shipment, Sunday it returned and Cecil Casterline was waiting with 500 pounds of fish and shrimp.

This is probably the first seafood to leave Rockport by a mode of transportation which may in the near future be the usual way from fresh seafood to reach the tables of inland diners.

Casterline had shrimp boats out Monday despite rainy weather. High boat was the "Florence May" captained by Calvin Ludington. His load was 430 pounds.

At Fulton Fish Company high captain was Frank Holt on the "Merrily J". His take was 439 pounds, high for the area that day.

Bill Johnson has been in Port Isabel this week where two of his boats are shrimp.

Bob Coe recently bought a 40-foot shrimp from A. L. Bruden of San Antonio. He is ready to start repairs on it but unwilling to predict when he will be ready to make a trial run.

Tuesday, the first day when weather looked really promising, boats set out as early as 4 o'clock in the morning. Old timers who have watched the season's go by, are ready to lay odds on the hour of departure getting gradually later as the weather became consistent.

Rouquette and Wendell's boats brought in about 1,000 pounds of fish last week. Almost half of these were landed by the "Copano" with Lupe Palido as captain.

T. Noah Smith of San Antonio will soon have a new 18-foot speed boat. It is being built by Perry Bass' Boat Works and will be moored in Rockport.

Fulton residents are expecting D-Day to happen all over again every time they look toward where Captain Jacobsen is busy building his "invasion barges." With four of the barges ready for the water, it is doubtful that the captain himself could tell them from landing crafts. Actually on oil company is going to use them for peaceful pursuits.

A Houston fisherman, Albert Reese Stirling, is having Captain Jacobsen build a 20-foot fishing boat. He is bringing the motor from Houston.

A temporary boat among the crafts here is the outboard motor belonging to Gus Ivy who has it in the water for the two weeks he is vacationing here. He, his wife and daughter, are guests at Oleander Courts, and may at some future date, be residents of Rockport.

Dig Mills' 24-foot fishing boat was cleaned up on Alvin Brundrett's ways this week.

Gussie Dean accused two of Travis Johnson's captains of splitting the market out in the bay Monday. Buddy Warden on the "Blue Mist" and John Wright on the "Missy Lee" weighed in that afternoon with exactly 515 pounds of fish each.

Hays Atwood took his new craft "Evelyn B" into the Gulf for the first time Monday and hit a streak of hard luck. He found the shaft was crooked and had to put her back on Preston Paul's ways and take the shaft out.

"The Peter Pan", a neat little 22-foot speed boat belonging to L. F. Benson of Corpus Christi was on Rice Bros ways this week for a new bottom.

Seafood shipments out of Rockport and Fulton made a slight gain this week, showing $5,100 worth.

ONLY FISH GET BAD END WHEN NEIGHBORS MEET AT FULTON

"Meet Me in Rockport" may not be the title of a movie but it is a slogan that works out in real life.

Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Drake had missed their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Smith who lived four doors from them in San Antonio, but didn't know where they had gone. When Mr. and Mrs. Drake and their daughter came to Rockport this week who did they find in the next cabin to them at Fogh's Cottages but the Smith family.

To top the trip off, Drake and Milton Joseph, another San Antonio friend he found in the Fulton Community, went fishing near the causeway Tuesday and came in with 75 pounds of fish, principally trout caught in one morning.

Beach erosion is one of the problems to be studied on the trip, and phases of Intracoastal Canal Construction will be considered.

Proposal Would Open Industrial Sites to South

Chamber of Commerce To Put Plan Before U. S. Engineers

A request to U. S. Army Engineers that the alternate route of the Intracoastal Canal enter at the Cove instead of Turtle Bayou as is under consideration, was approved last night by the navigation Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

A brief will be prepared immediately and presented to the engineers at Galveston next week showing how such a route would serve Aransas Pass as well as the first suggested and at the same time give Rockport some benefit.

A motion also passed to ask for a hearing for harbor protection at Fulton. Cecil Casterline and Ray Wendell explained what they want is "every day" protection rather than storm protection, and a place where boats may be conveniently moored.

A map, drawn by Floyd Huffman chairman of the committee, showed the suggested route through the Cove and how it would open up the shore line land between Aransas Pass and Rockport for industrial development. It would offer industrial sites with rail connections to the west and deep water connections to the east.

Mayor Conn Brown and the commissioners of Aransas Pass will be presented with a copy of the brief when it is drawn and asked to concur in a letter written to the engineers.

The question of protection for Fulton Beach came to a head when U. S. Engineers informed Judge B. S. Fox they had received a request from John Shook asking a hearing on a storm harbor in the Fulton area.

Committee members agreed to ask for the hearing, but to turn down any proposal of building a storm harbor in Little Bay in favor of a protected beach further south. Detailed plans are to be worked out and brought up at the next meeting.

Lunches Served Daily to 350 School Children

Rockport Schools reached a new high this year in the community school lunch program, Morgan C. Wheeler, superintendent, announced this week. One school served adequate noon-day lunches daily to about 350 school children.

The lunchroom was sponsored by the P-T-A and managed by Mrs. Bert Ballou. War Foods Administration shared responsibility in the operation, reimbursing sponsors or part of the operating costs and distributing perishable foods bought from farmers under price support programs.

Reimbursements from WFA this year totaled $1,749.06 as compared to $3,850.10 from local sources. The meals were served at an average cost of 15 cents. No discrimination is made between children who are able to pay for their lunches and those who cannot, as the purpose is to provide healthful lunches to all children.

Lt. Bracht Spends Short Leave Here

Second Lt. and Mrs. Roger H. Bracht spent the first part of the week at Fulton.

He and his wife, whom he married April 23, left here Wednesday for Houston where they will visit her parents. Lieutenant Bracht will fly to Camp Pendleton, Calif., Saturday and his wife will join him there later.

The officer completed college in the Marine Reserve and received boot training and advanced training before his course in Virginia.

Don't Worry About Us!

We'll do it!

THEY tell us that the fat salvage problem has got to be licked in the small cities, the towns and on the farms.

Our country has to have one hundred million more pounds of used fats this year over last. And we're the people who must save it.

We've rolled up our sleeves! We'll save every drop and bit it is possible to scrape—and keep on doing it till the last Jap is licked.

HOW TO DO IT: Save all used fats in a tin can. Keep it handy to the stove. Scrape your broilers and roasting pans, skim soups and gravies, for every drop counts. Keep solid pieces of fat, such as meat trimmings and table scraps, in a bowl. Melt down when your oven's going, add the liquid fat to the salvage can. Take the can to your butcher as soon as it's full. He will give you four cents and two red points for every pound. Your County Agent or Home Demonstration Agent can give you full particulars.

100,000,000 More Pounds of Used Fats Are Needed This Year!

Approved by WFA and OPA. Paid for by industry.

Program Concludes Baptist Bible School Fri.

The Baptist Bible School closed Friday with a program given at the church before a large audience. Beginners dramatized the story of the birth of Jesus with musical numbers. The dramatization given by the primary department was the finding of Moses in the bull-rushes.

Juniors recited their memory work and sang a number of songs they had learned. The intermediate group also presented their knowledge acquired during the school. Mrs. E. John Meyers, principal, reported that 105 children had enrolled in the school and the average attendance had been 91. A missionary offering of $32.32 was recorded.

After the program, handwork of the school was displayed. The Rev. E. John Meyers had been in charge of this creative work. Beginners showed art paper cut outs and primary children displayed baskets and spool animals as well as scrap books of "This Wonderful World". The intermediate department made boudoir dolls and purses out of cork bottle tops. Boy's wood work included book shelves and magazine racks.

Mrs. Stanley Bissett had as her week-end guests her daughter, Dorothy Bissett of Corpus Christi, and her son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bissett and children of Bay City.

Miss Floy Kennedy and Mrs. Julius Ivey spent Sunday in Nixon with Mrs. Ivey's mother-in-law.

Developer and Top Producer of Synthetic Toluene

Baytown Ordnance Works, designed and operated for the Government by Humble, was the first plant in the world to make toluene synthetically from petroleum. Forty-five days before Pearl Harbor the first shipment of toluene was made; and since that time Humble has produced toluene for at least one out of every two bombs used by the United Nations. For this feat Humble has five times been awarded the Army-Navy "E". This is one of the four important FIRSTS* in Humble's war production record.

Research and development in progress long before the war, backed by Humble's vast resources made possible these achievements. From this same combination of research and resources come top quality products for your car.

- ★FIRST to produce a billion gallons of finished 100-octane aviation gasoline at one refinery
- FIRST in crude oil production
- FIRST in U. S. production of toluene for TNT
- FIRST in transportation of oil by pipe line

SCIENTIFICALLY DEVELOPED PRODUCTS

Esso-Extra, Humble 997 Motor Oil, and other quality Humble products are the culmination of years of intensive research, development and constant improvement.

WHEREAS, the Commissioners Court of Aransas County, Texas, deems it advisable and to the best interest of said County to re-allocate the county taxes authorized to be levied annually by Section 9, Article 8, of the Constitution, by changing the rates in respect to certain county taxes as herein provided;

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

FRED: "Is it true, Judge, that a war can't be won without the use of war-alcohol... the kind the beverage distillers have been producing for the government for over two years?"

OLD JUDGE: "That's right, Fred. It is a basic ingredient in the smokeless powder used in virtually every firearm from a pistol to a 16-inch gun. And, in addition, it plays a more human role. The medical supplies which our military doctors use to alleviate pain, combat infection, save lives are prepared with war-alcohol."

FRED: "No wonder, then, more and more people are recognizing the great contribution our beverage distillers have made to the winning of the war with their double-duty product."
