$6 Million To Aid Expansion Is Considered

Friday Meeting On Proposal Set By City Commission

By H. I. KIEFER
Journal Staff Writer

A proposed $6,000,000,000 city bond election to finance a four-year expansion program was taken under advisement at a special meeting of the city commission this morning.

Members of the commission agreed to meet again at 10 a. m. Friday to discuss the proposal further.

The privately expressed consensus of the members was that bonds must be voted if Lubbock continues to grow. None would speculate, however, on the amount needed.

Needs Are Estimated

City Manager Steve Matthews estimated minimum needs for the four-year program at $6,035,000 if the commission approves large-scale extensions of the city limits which have been set for public hearing Nov. 29.

If the city limits are not extended, he said, a $3,260,000 bond issue will suffice for the needs of the areas now within the corporate boundaries of Lubbock.

Breakdown Is Made

The breakdown of needs as compiled by the city manager and R. L. Oldham, director of public works, follows:

	For present city	If limits extended
Water dept.	$1,735,000	$3,595,000
Sewage	1,160,000	1,665,000
Fire dept.	190,000	350,000
Storm sewers	350,000	500,000
Highway dispersal system	525,000	525,000
Paving	200,000	300,000
New swim pool	100,000	100,000
Total	$4,260,000	7,035,000

$1 Million Available

Approximately $1,000,000 is available from previous bond issues which could be applied on these improvements, the city manager said.

He proposed that the bonds, if issued, should be sold only as needed. Immediate requirements, he continued would call for the sale of about $1,500,000 of the issue next year. The remainder then could be sold from year to year, he said further, without pushing the city's bonded indebtedness beyond 10 per cent of as-

Police Probe Local Thefts

Theft of a $7.95 shirt jacket and a $40 pair of cowboy boots from Lubbock Bowling club, at 1113 Main, was included in morning reports to law enforcement groups here.

At the same time, officials said, new complaints of "spook damage" in connection with Monday night's observance of Hallowe'en were received.

Window Smashed

A three-by-five-foot plate glass window was reported knocked out at 1810 Sixth. Complainant was Jesse James. A larger plate glass window was smashed at 2510 Taylor, at Sidney Johnson's grocery. A rock the size of a cantaloupe knocked a hole the size of a bushel basket, police said, and was found inside the store. No effort had been made to reach in and take candy and money from a cash register, store officials said.

The officials of the bowling club told police the boots taken belonged to Bob Brooks, the jacket from a Mr. Anderson. A $25 bike was reported stolen from Ernest Jones in Lubbock route 6.

Soviet Bomb Blast Believed Accidental

British Atomic Scientist Gives Opinion On Work Of Russians To Obtain Bomb

(By The United Press)

BRIGHTON, England, Nov. 1—Dr. Frederick E. Soddy, pioneer atomic scientist and Nobel prize winner, said today that the atomic explosion in Russia "sounds like an accident."

Agile at 71 and prying ever deeper into the mysteries of his chosen field, Dr. Soddy broke his long silence with an expression of doubt that the Soviets had harnessed the atom with the smooth efficiency of the Americans.

"They were working under great political pressure," he said of the Russian effort, "and it's doubtful that they solved, as the Americans did, the problem of getting all the stuff to explode in the flash of an eyelid."

Russians Sought Advice

He regarded it as "a marvel" that there was no major accident in America in the work which led up to the explosion of the first atom bomb in the wastes of New Mexico.

Even so, he said, the Russian achievement is far less than the American because the Americans were exploring the unknown and Russia knew it was possible.

In the small, sunlit study of the little house to which he "retired" 10 years ago to pursue his studies, Dr. Soddy disclosed that he was invited by Russia to examine a uranium find in the Pamirs near the Himilayas, but refused because he was "afraid I might not have come back."

But he examined ore samples, and found it was low grade stuff.

However, Russia has a "magnificent" source in Czechoslovakia, he said, "as good as anywhere," on the former estate of Count Silva Teruca, a nobleman who tried to get his radioactive lands exploited before the war but failed. Dr. Soddy said Russia had tunneled right under the German border into Saxony in the search for more and more ore.

80,000 Will Resume Work At Steel Firm

Bethlehem Okays Welfare Program To Aid Workers

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—A welfare plan agreement that sends 80,000 striking CIO steel workers back to their jobs with Bethlehem Steel Corp., today buoyed government hopes for a quick end to both the steel and coal strikes.

Officials said they expect other steel firms will follow in the footsteps of Bethlehem, the nation's second largest steel producer, which signed an agreement last night to end the strike so far as this company was concerned.

Peace Moves Expected

The government officials said that now that a break has come in the steel strike, definite peace moves may be expected in coal because of the close relations of the two basic industries.

Bethlehem signed up in Cleveland last night with Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the striking steelworkers.

"We broke the line," Murray exulted. "From here on we move with a firmness of purpose and a determination that victory will attend our efforts."

The precedent-making contract gives Bethlehem workers employer-paid pensions starting at $100 a month, including the benefits they get from the government's social security system.

Insurance Included

It also calls for a death, sickness, accident and hospital cost insurance plan worth five cents an hour per worker, with employer and worker equally sharing costs.

Murray and Bethlehem officials worked out final details and signed the agreement at a three-hour conference between sessions of Murray's CIO convention at Cleveland.

The reaction was swift. Government Mediation Chief Cyrus S. Ching said he trusted "this settlement will lead to industrial peace in the steel industry generally, at a very early date."

U. S. Steel Corp., the biggest steel producer which has been holding out for workers paying part of pension costs, invited peace talks with Murray's union. U. S. Steel's president, Benjamin F. Fairless, said "of course we will study the Bethlehem settlement."

Officials expected Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., and the Aluminum Company of America may be among the first strike-bound firms to seek settlement terms after Bethlehem.

A new steel strike started short-

FREEZE TO SPEED HARVESTING

Huge Cotton Crop For Area Assured

As a beaming sun warmed the South Plains it was obvious today that the area's cotton "was made."

For farmers, the phrase had two meanings: That the South Plains is assured of a bumper cotton crop, and second, that there will be little if any growth after the hard freeze of early Monday morning.

Cotton stalks over the entire area are dead and leaves are withering off the plants. This promises to be a mixed blessing, since absence of leaves on the cotton stalks will speed the harvest immeasurably, with workers employing "stripping" operations.

Minimum 34 Degrees

The mercury failed to hit the freezing point last night, with the minimum temperature of 34 degrees occurring between 6 and 6:30 a. m. today.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the temperature had already hit the 70-mark, and Harold Frost, chief meteorologist at the U. S. Weather bureau station at Municipal airport, expected the afternoon's maximum to be 75 degrees.

It promises to be somewhat warmer tonight, the area northwest of Lubbock being clear to the Pacific coast.

The warm-up today and Wednesday may be short-lived, however.

"It's the time of year when the cold waves are expected," Frost commented.

Operators of garages and service stations affirmed that automobile owners, at least, endorse that opinion. They reported they have been "snowed under" with anti-freeze orders since Sunday.

Man Chained For 12 Years

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 1. (U.P.)—A San Antonio man told police today he had kept his brother chained to a bed in an unheated room for 12 years because he was a mental case.

Authorities found Domenicio Garcia, about 60, alone and chained in a small, three-room house on San Antonio's southside yesterday.

Cried For Food

He cried for bread and water when police broke into the house. Detective J. D. Barrera said the man looked undernourished.

Pedro Garcia notified police today he was the brother of Domenicio. He said that Demonico had been released to his care from a mental hospital in 1937.

Garcia said that he chained his brother to the bed only during the daytime when he and his sister-in-law had to work. At night they permitted him to roam about the little house, he said.

Chain Was Short

Police said the chain used to imprison the elder Garcia was only two feet long and that the man had no room for moving around.

When Garcia was asked why he did not recommit his brother to a mental institution, he replied that the man would not eat food

Homes Destroyed By Huge Forest Fire

CHATSWORTH, Calif., Nov. 1. (AP)—A forest fire, racing wildly out of control, today destroyed ten costly homes in Box cahyon near here and periled many more.

A strong northwest wind fanned the flames through the night. Shortly before 2 a. m., PST, 35 families were evacuated from their homes in the north end of the canyon. Approximately 350 families live in the entire canyon. All were ordered to stand by for evacuation at a moment's notice.

Several hundred firefighters, aided by bulldozers, are on the line.

Hammer Slayer Of Wife And Mother-In-Law Confesses He Was Suspicious Of Infidelity

(By The Associated Press)

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 1.—John A Harding, 67-year-old hammer slayer of his wife and mother-in-law, faced arraignment in municipal court today on a charge of first degree murder.

The Toledo businessman spent the night in city jail after being brought here yesterday from Detroit. He had raced there in his automobile to tell his daughter what he had done, and she called the police.

The victims were Harding's 46-year-old wife, Mildred, and her mother, Mrs. Maude Thompson, 67. Mrs. Harding's body was found by police in her bedroom. Her mother, critically injured, lay nearby She died en route to a hospital.

Killed After Prayer

Detective Capt. Ralph Murphy said that shortly before the slayings Sunday night, Harding and his wife had knelt in prayer in an upstairs bedroom and "asked God to make them both see the light."

"Two minutes later, Mrs. Harding was a hammered corpse, slain because of her husband's unverified suspicion regarding her fidelity," Murphy said.

Murphy and Prosecutor Joel Rhinefort heard one of Harding's three oral statements admitting the double slayings. Others were made to police in Grosse Point, Mich., Detroit suburb, where Mrs. Robert Goodhand, Harding's daughter by a previous marriage, lives, and to assistant Prosecutor John J. Rusinack of Detroit, officers and Rusinack reported.

According to Murphy, the Hardings slept in different bedrooms.

Farmer Amputates Hand With A Pocket Knife After It Is Caught In Machine

NEW CASTLE, Ind., Nov. 1. —Charles Rothrock, 65-year-old farmer, amputated his own right hand with a pocket knife after it became caught in a corn picking machine yesterday. Rothrock's wife lost both her legs in the same corn picker in 1942.

Rothrock, after freeing himself, ran a quarter of a mile to the home of a brother and was taken to a hospital. His condition was reported fair.

Rothrock's wife, Clara, was pulled into the machine seven years ago when her slacks caught in its blades. Both her legs were amputated.

After her husband had been taken to the hospital, Mrs. Rothrock said: "Lots of people have worse luck than we do."

SENATOR SAYS AUSTERITY NEEDED

Congress May Get Tough On Expenses

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Voicing opposition to any new taxes, Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) predicted today the next session of Congress will get tough in cutting expenses.

Johnson is a member of the tax-handling Senate finance committee. He told a reporter he believes a majority of that group will oppose any increase in taxes despite President Truman's assertion that that is the only way he sees to balance the budget.

Can't Stand Increase

"This country's economy can't stand a tax increase now—it just can't be absorbed," the Colorado senator declared. "Instead we are going to have to borrow an idea from the British and have a little austerity around here."

Johnson predicted appropriation cuts all along the line in spite of the usual election year trend by Congress to increase spending.

He said Paul G. Hoffman, the economic cooperation administrator, was well advised in telling Europeans that they had better knock down trade barriers and solve currency exchange problems if they want to see full Marshall plan aid continued.

Cuts Are Forecast

"Hoffman could have gone farther to warn the Europeans to get their house in order for cuts in Marshall plan funds," Johnson said. "In my opinion, Congress is going to make those cuts and the European countries had better be ready for them."

Hoffman said in a Paris speech yesterday that western Europe ought to make itself over into a single market, with no more interruption to trade than that caused by state lines in this country.

Along with slashes in foreign aid funds, Johnson said he expects Congress to demand more production from government departments with fewer employes.

"Congress has voted about everybody in the government a raise in pay, except members of Congress," he said. "Some of these government employes who are now getting more money have got to turn out more work than they have been doing in the past."

Johnson's predictions of congressional economy are likely to get an early test in the next ses-

FIREMEN BELIEVE TRANSFORMER CAUSED BLAST

Explosion And Fire Damage U. S. Government Building; Three Rescued From Eighth Floor

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Fire, accompanied by a rumbling series of explosions, caused heavy damage to the $11,000,000 postoffice department building today and sent hundreds of government employees fleeing to the streets.

The blaze was confined to the eighth floor. But before firemen brought it under control, they poured tons of water into the columned, stone structure on Pennsylvania avenue between 12th and 13th street, northwest.

Smoke and water damage was heavy. There was no immediate official estimate of the loss, but a somewhat similar fire in 1935—soon after the building was constructed—caused $400,000 damage.

At least three persons were injured, either by flying glass from the explosions, or when a section of the seventh floor ceiling fell in.

Two were employes of the Federal Communications commission. They were Richard Jamison and D. C. Corrigan. Both suffered head injuries.

Robert Farrington, an Associated Press reporter, got a bad cut on the shoulder. A glass door behind him was blown out on the 7th floor while he was telephoning a report on the first to his office.

Three firemen were taken to emergency hospital. They were overcome by smoke while fighting the blaze.

The building houses several in addition to the postoffice department.

Martin Levy, Federal Communications commission lawyer, said the building was shaken heavily by the initial

Penmaker To Use Scheduled Airliners

Milton Reynolds Is Bidding For New Mark On World Trip

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1—Penmaker Milton Reynolds is in the air today in quest of a new round-the-world flight record—this one via scheduled airliners.

The Chicago manufacturer, whose hobby is globe-circling, took off from Los Angeles international airport at 11:15 p. m., PST, last night on a TWA Constellation bound for New York. He is due in New York this morning at 11:50, EST (flight 88).

There he will have a five minute layover at La Guardia field before hopping into a Pan American clipper for Istanbul, Damascus, Karachi, Delhi, Calcutta, Bangkok, Hong Kong, Manila, Guam, Midway, Honolulu and Los Angeles.

He hopes to be back here by 10 p. m., PST, Saturday after some four days and 23 hours of globe circling.

That's a little slower than his globe flight. Then he sponsored the late Bill Odom's record-breaking trip of 78 hours, 35 minutes and 30 seconds in a reconverted army bomber. Reynolds was navigator on that trip.

Eddie Eagan, New York state boxing commissioner, is the current holder of the airliner mark. He made the trip

Huge Airliner And Military Plane Collide

Tragedy Occurs At Washington; 55 Aboard One Ship

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—A little Bolivian fighter plane and a big airliner collided in the air near the Washington airport today with a death toll of 55.

More than two hours after the crash only one person was known to have come through it alive.

He was an unidentified man who babbled deliriously in Spanish and was believed to be the Bolivian pilot, Eric Rios Bridoux, 28.

Bodies Are Scattered

There were believed to have been 51 passengers and four crewmen aboard the Eastern Air Lines DC-4 which was inbound from Boston and New York. One of them was Rep. George J. Bates, Massachusetts Republican.

The airliner crashed at the Potomac river's edge. Bodies of the passengers were flung over an area of 150 yards. Many apparently were lost in the river.

Military authorities and airport police said 25 bodies had been recovered.

Body Is Identified

The only body definitely identified in mid-afternoon was that of Helen Gilbert, stewardess.

The two planes came together about 300 feet in the air. Airport control officials said Rios. Bridoux had been instructed by radio to permit the airliner to land first, but that he let down his landing gear and headed in for a landing without acknowledging the instructions.

Officials of the Civil Aeronautics administration said Bridoux understood English and was regarded as a good pilot.

His fighter plane was a P-38, recently bought from the United States. Bridoux had been testing the plane before flying it to Bolivia.

Coming In For Landing

The airliner was a four-engine DC-4. It cleared Boston this morning and, after a stop at New York, was coming in for a landing at Washington at the time of the collision.

Government officials said the Bolivian government bought two P-38 planes from the U. S. about three or four weeks ago for the Bolivian air force.

One was sent to Bolivia. The other has been kept here pending routine clearance.

The two planes struck while in the air. Those who saw the collision said there was an explosion on the airliner. They said there was undoubtedly a heavy loss of life.

Was Over Boulevard

Eastern Airlines identified the flight as number 537.

The collision occurred about half a mile south of the airport over Mount Vernon boulevard which runs from the nation's capitol through Alexandria, Va., to Mt. Vernon, the home of George Washington.

Skies were overcast but visibility was unlimited and the ceiling was several thousand feet.

Two military airports are located across the Potomac river immediately adjacent to National airport.

The military plane may have been operating from one of these, but there was no definite word immediately on that.

First reports said the smaller plane disintegrated immediately after the collision.

Doctors Rush To Scene

All available ambulances and doctors were called immediately to the scene.

Texas Wells Ordered Exempt From Flaring Of Gas Ruling

AUSTIN, Nov. 1 (AP) — The railroad commission today by special orders exempted certain wells in eight Texas fields from the commission's earlier prohibition against flaring of gas.

The commission said the nature of the exempted wells, by remoteness from conservation facilities and by limited volume, rendered expenditures necessary to conserve the gas unjustifiable and uneconomical.

The following wells exempted included:

South Caesar field, Bee county—Seaboard Oil company of Delaware Henry Sparkman No. 1 well.

Fullerton field, Andrews county—Placid Oil company's E. C. Nix et al No. 1 well.

Levelland field, Cochran and Hockley counties—Grappe-Deaton, Inc., Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4, C. S. Dean "A" wells; Seaboard Oil company of Delaware's J. A. Ham No. 1 and C. M. Wrenchay No. 1; and Seaboard Oil company of Delaware and the Atlantic Refining company's F. O. Masten No. 1.

Stanolind Well Exempted

Goldsmith field, Ector county—W. G. Rogeers' T.X.L. "A" lease, wells Nos. 1, 2, and 4, and T.X.L. "B" lease, wells Nos. 1 and 2; King, Warren and Dye and the Bay Petroleum company's H. E. Cummins "B" well No. 1 and H. E. Cummins "A" well No. 2; Stanolind Oil and Gas company's H. E. Cummins "C" No. 1; the Atlantic Refining company's Cummins "H" No. 1.

Slaughter field, Cochran, Hockley and Terry counties—Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company's C. J. Wiley No. 1; Texas company's Mallett L and C company "A" No. 1; Cities Production corporation's J. C. Tyner Nos. 2 and 3; Gulf Oil corporation's Mallett L and C company Nos. 16, 17 and 26; Petroleum Reserve corporation's Richards Nos. 1, 2 and 3 and Naple Wilson Nos. 1 and 2; Sam G. Dunn's Richards Nos. 1, 2 and 3, Slaughter No. 1, Westbrook No. 1, and Wilson No. 1.

Other Exemptions Given

Wasson field, Gaines and Yoakum counties—Honolulu Oil corporation's November well No. 9; Continental Oil company's Wasson "49" well No. 1-D; the Bay Petroleum corporation's Story Lynn wells Nos. 1 and 2; Honolulu Oil corporation's Bennett "B" well No. 19 and Bennett "B" well No. 20; J. W. Murchison's M. B. Sawyer well No. 2; Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company's Ruth Bennett A/C 2-H well No. 52 and Ruth Bennett A/C 2-F well No. 46; Shell Oil company's C. B. Hudson "B" well No. 1; Plymouth Oil company's Bennett section 614 well No. 1, Ruth Bennett "D" wells Nos. 1 and 2, Ruth Bennett "G" well No. 1, Morrison and Woods wells Nos. 1, 2 and 3, Woodward well No. 1.

Also Stanolind Oil and Gas company's James H. Lynn wells Nos. 1 and 2; Shell Oil company's W. M. Moore well No. 11 and Wasson "E" well No. 7; Woodley Petroleum company's Mattie M. Farmer well No. 1; Tidewater Associated Oil company's Waples-Platter wells Nos. 1 and 2; Trinity Production company's F. R. Bennett wells Nos. 1 and 2; American Liberty Oil company's E. P. Stanford "B" section 792 wells Nos. 1, 2 and 4; Amerda Petroleum corporation's Mathews well No. 1; Drilling and Exploration company, Inc., A. J. Davis "B" No. 1, E. Randall "B" No. 1, L. D. Roberts "B" Nos. 1 and 2, Tannehill Brothers "A" Nos. 1 and 2.

Pranksters Out In Force, But Damage In City Is Light

Pranksters, onlookers, and some fittingly described only as vandals joined to make last night a "fairly average" Hallowe'en from the official point of view.

The topper from the viewpoint of sheriff's deputies was a call which sent two patrol cars several miles southwest of the city on the Slide road to investigate a "body" lying in the highway. The apparent "victim" of a hit-run driver turned out to be a convincing dummy made of blue jeans and a blue shirt stuffed with cotton bolls. The setting for the "dead man" was given an artistic touch with a water splotch to serve as blood, and a hat, slightly covering a rock head.

Damage Held Down

While property damage in the city was held down by the special Hallowe'en parade, at least a few children managed to keep residents in the outlying sections of the city nervous. Small-time arson led the activities of the junior masked set, officials said.

A resident of 2500 block Thirty-third called the police department for fire equipment when he surprised several small boys in the act of piling well seasoned lumber in a manner suitable for burning on his front porch.

A resident of the 2800-block Twenty-sixth concentrated on the safety of her own garbage can long enough to give a few busy boys time to set fire to another garbage can on her front porch.

And still along the fire line, two city patrolmen doubled as firefighters when they found a gasoline blaze roaring in the middle of the street in the 2000-block Ave. X.

Damage reported was mostly to porch lights. Several were broken in the 1700 block Thirty-first. Trees were piled across Twenty-eighth at one point.

Biggest effort of the night was made at a school building at the O. L. Slaton junior high in 2800 block Ave. Q, police said. There, probably a throwback to the days of the lighter buggy—an old model car was found atop a porch roof on the building.

Organized Reserve Schedules Listed

Meeting hours for nine local Organized Reserve corps units were announced Monday by Major James Samsel, Lubbock ORC instructor.

Units meeting at 7:30 p. m. today will be the 411th Transportation Truck battalion; 4226th Signal company; 912th Quartermaster Depot Supply company; 851st Army Postal unit, and 300th Army Postal unit.

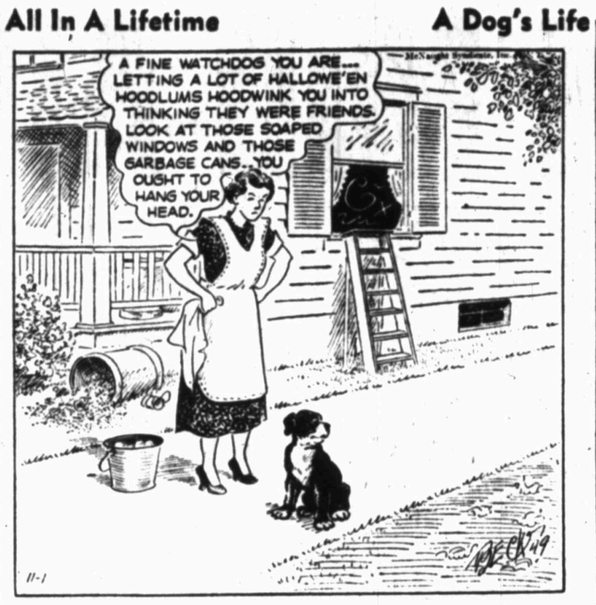

Scheduled to meet at 7:30 p. m. Thursday are the 847th Order of Battle detachment; 4806th General hospital; 477th Engineer Combat battalion; and Headquarters 4038th Infantry division.

All meetings will be held in the Naval Reserve armory on the Texas Tech campus.

Sex Urge In Men Is Claimed Neutralized

BATH, England, Nov. 1 (U.P.) — Prison doctors have developed a drug which completely eliminates the sex urge in men, it was disclosed at the trial of a sex offender.

The new drug, which may be given by injection or taken in pill form at the rate of one tablet daily, eliminates the sex urge within 14 days, according to Dr. C. R. Gibson, Bath city police surgeon.

He said desire returns within two or three weeks after treatment stops.

The drug was successfully demonstrated on 13 male volunteers who were serving jail sentences for sex offenses.

Pair Ends Marriage But Not Partnership

CARSON CITY, Nev., Nov. 1 (AP)—Virginia Van Upp says she and Ralph Nelson have ended their married life—but will continue to work together as movie producers.

"He's the best in the business," she confided to newsmen as she established residence for divorce.

Miss Van Upp herself produced such film successes as "Gilda," "Cover Girl" and "Pursuit of Happiness." She has resigned as executive producer at Columbia to write a movie, "Christ the Man."

She's also working on a Nevada-background story, and said Nelson will join her here soon to help with that one.

Spain Offers Aid In War With Reds

MADRID, Nov. 1 (AP) — Spain has offered the Atlantic powers a guarantee of active aid in any war with Russia in exchange for American financial assistance, it was reliably reported today.

Trustworthy diplomatic sources here and in Lisbon said the Spanish offer was made in two private meetings which Generalissimo Francisco Franco had with Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar of Portugal during his recent state visit to that country.

No communique was issued after the meetings, however, and it has been impossible to obtain official confirmation on that report either here or in the Portuguese capital.

The diplomatic informants said the Spanish guarantees offered by Franco would be contained in a military alliance with Portugal, already a member of the North Atlantic pact. Such an alliance would promise the Portuguese the aid of Spain if they should be drawn into a war with Russia because of their Atlantic pact membership.

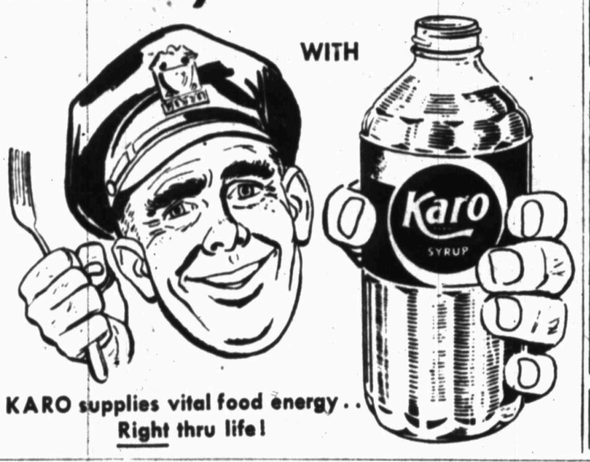

It is not known whether such an alliance actually was signed, or whether Franco merely made the offer pending reaction from the United States.

Perez Defends States Rights Party Issues In Washington

By WARREN ROGERS, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 1—Leander T. Perez, the States Rights ers' new permanent Washington representative, has peppered Louisiana's political gumbo for many years.

In a state which likes its politics as tangy as its crawfish bisque few have found his brand wanting in piquancy. Few doubt that he will keep the states rights issue from going flat on the Capital's palate.

Perez's bailiwick is Plaquemines Parish (Persimmon county). His career has been punctuated with brilliantly argued lawsuits, bitter campaigns, a boat explosion and a clash with the state militia.

No session of the Louisiana Legislature is complete without its complement of bills killed in their tracks or propelled throught committee hearings by a blast of Perez oratory.

Defended Huey Long

In addition to his other duties, he is now a special assistant to the Louisiana attorney general to help represent the state in the tidelands ownership controversy.

His district is a multi-national melting pot swept by trappers' feuds. From it Perez makes frequent and usually spectacular excursions into the state's political frays.

He was one of the late Huey P. Long's defense counsel during the historic—and unsuccessful—attempt in 1928 to remove Long from the governor's chair by impeachment.

Perez was one of the master minds in the campaign of the present Governor, Earl K. Long, though Long kept aloof from the state's rights movement.

The boat explosion occurred in 1941. Perez had lent the craft to a group of friends. When one turned the ignition key, the boat blew up. Nobody was hurt badly. Some called it an attempt to assassinate Perez.

Militia Called In

He bitterly opposed the administration of Gov. Sam H. Jones, who defeated the Long faction in 1940. During Jones' term was fought the "Battle of Plaquemines," with the state militia, 500 strong, on one side and Perez and his cohorts on the other.

The Battle brewed when the parish sheriff died in 1943. Governor Jones named Walter J. Blaze as acting sheriff. Perez ensconced Coroner Ben R. Slater to serve until an election could be held. He refused to seat Blaize. Jones declared martial law and ordered the militia to the parish seat, Pointe-O-La-Hache.

The guardsmen escorted Slater out of the courthouse. Blaize was sworn in as sheriff. Plaquemines Parish had martial law for some time and court calendars swelled with lawsuits from both sides.

Plainview Will Hear Famed Military Band

CAMP HOOD, Nov. 1 (Special)—The well-known Second Armored Division Band will make an appearance in Plainview on Armistice Day, but not without some difficulties.

When Harry McCain of Plainview asked that the band appear for the Armistice celebration there, the band had already scheduled a Thursday night radio program and an appearance at a football game Saturday following Armistice day.

Upon learning of the schedule, the Fourth Army requested the Air Force "to lend a couple of planes for the day."

To Use Planes For Trip

The Air Force came up with two C-47's which will transport the band to Plainview, but the bandsmen still had no way to get their instruments to the Plainview appearance. If their instruments were brought ahead by truck, they would have none for their Thursday radio show.

Finally enough private instruments were found to meet the radio schedule, and have instruments for the Plainview appearance.

Members of the band are a part of the Second Armored Division that gained fame in Africa, Sicily and Europe. Maj. Gen. A. C. Smith is now commanding general of the division and of Camp Hood.

The band has appeared throughout Texas in military parades, festivals and civic celebrations. It gives a show over Radio Stations KTEM and KTEMFM in Temple every Thursday night.

Camp Hood, located 30 miles west of Temple, has been designated by Congress as a permanent Army installation. It is the permanent home of the Second Armored Division.

At present the division is going through combat training with mobile units of armored infantry, armored Cavalry, self-propelled artillery, armored engineers and all types of tanks.

Japan and Mexico are preparing for an immediate renewal of postwar trade exchange.

SHOW STOPPER — Eleanor Dakin models a medallion which stopped the show at the nation-wide exhibit of diamonds in New York. The "Heart of Texas" medallion has an 85-carat honey-colored stone once owned by the Russian imperial family. It shows a mounted Texas ranger with lariat composed of more than 300 diamond brilliants. The medallion is suspended from a belt of braided strands of rhodium-finished silver. Miss Dakin also wears a marguise diamond necklace, two diamond border bracelets and diamond earrings. NOT LOST AT ALL

ROCHESTER, Mass. (U.P.)—When Jennifer Jackson, 5, and her sister, Lillian 4, disappeared, an extensive police search was started by their distraught mother. The youngsters finally were found 50 miles from home, sitting calmly in the back of their father's truck. He had driven it to Boston on a business trip.

Cocklebur Plant Is Found In Automobile

ALMA, Neb., Nov. 1. (AP)—Cocklebur, those barbed seed pods that like to snag rides in clothing and the fur of animals, come tenacious and hardy in these parts.

One of them took root in accumulated dust inside the body of a car owned by Conrad Bochler.

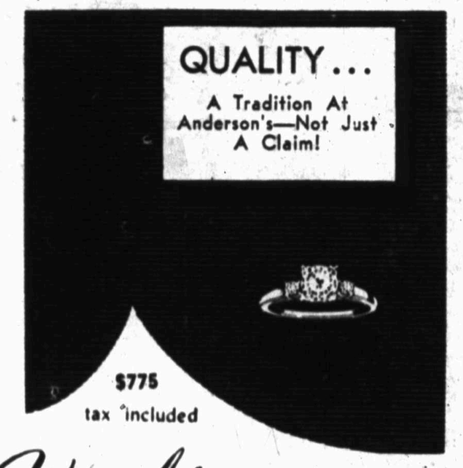

Last spring the tiny plant pushed its way through a crack in the car's body. The hitch-hiking seedling survived the summer, and now has five little burs.

Tests Of DDT Reveal Wide Range Of Uses

BERKELEY, Nov. 1. (AP)—DDT can still work wonders, say University of California scientists. Here are some things it did in recent tests:

Increased alfalfa seed production from 47 to 136 per cent; reduced wormy apples from 40 to one per cent; tripled potato yield; increased cotton seed yield 10 per cent; reduced wormy pears to one tenth of one per cent.

But on some tests, another drug, DDD, did even better than DDT.

COLONIAL COMPROMISE SOUGHT

Latins And Arabs Split Over Future Of Ex-Italian Lands

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 1 (AP) — A special U. N. group began putting into final form today its recommendations on the future of Italy's prewar African colonies.

After weeks of discussion the 21-nation subcommittee has reached decisions on what to do with Libia, Italian Somaliland and Eritrea.

But diplomatic sources said the final verdict depends on whether the Latin American and Arab blocs can reach agreement on unified action. The 20 Latin American nations had a caucus scheduled this morning before the subcommittee session.

The question of the Italian colonies came before the U. N. last year under terms of the peace treaty with Italy because the big four powers were unable to agree on disposal of the African lands.

The problem was discussed at the carry-over session of the general assembly last spring but no solution was reached.

The subcommittee of the political committee debated for 18 days before agreeing on:

1. Independence for Libia by Jan. 1, 1952.

2. Independence for Italian Somaliland by 1959 and interim rule by Italy under a U. N. trusteeship.

3. A five-nation committee of inquiry be suent to Eritrea to report on conditions there.

Final decisions on the colonies must be reached by a two-thirds vote of the general assembly, which is why strenuous log-rolling efforts are being made to reach near unanimity on the question.

Compromise Is Hope

The Arab nations who want Libian independence, are opposed to Italian trusteeship over Somaliland. The pro-Italian Latin Americans, who favor Italian trusteeship, have been reported ready to throw their 20 votes against all the subcommittee's recommendations unless they get their way.

An American spokesman expressed fear that an impasse might be reached unless the Arabs and Latin Americans can arrive at a compromise.

A well-informed source, familiar with some of the behind-the-scenes dickering, said the Latin Americans might offer concessions to the Arab viewpoint when the subcommittee report comes before the political committee.

This informant said one possible plan would be to set up a three-nation trusteeship for Somaliland, with Italy as administrator.

The political committee will take up the report after it disposes of the Balkan question, which it is now debating.

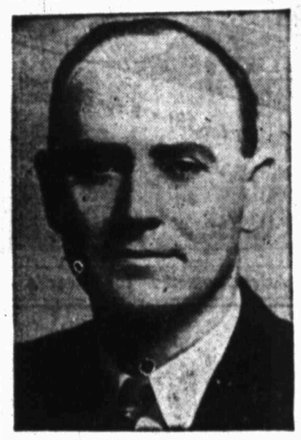

Higher taxes on luxury goods have curtailed trade in Iraq, Damascus reports.

Small Treasure Found Hidden Among Army Surplus Material

By WILLIAM R. SEARS
United Press Staff Writer

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 1— E. R. Jacobson, sales engineer, in a sense always is looking for a needle in the haystack. And he claims that the needle is sometimes worth more than the haystack.

Jacobson guides the destines of a highly specialized outfit Aircraft Radio Industries. His job is to find replacements for the receivers, transmitters and radio navigation equipment which move from his firm's $1,000,000 inventory.

"Take the dynamotor-rectifier deal," he said. "We were looking for a special type of dynamotor used in planes and found them in a government surplus offering. Priced at $5 each, they had cost the government $25.

"But we had to take also some huge rectifiers weighing a ton each, which cost the government 5,000 each and which to use were worthless. As a matter of fact, they were priced at $20 and the freightage came to $40 apiece."

Surplus Not Wasted

They finally were disposed of to a Cincinnati firm which planned to strip them apart and use the components.

Jacobson's firm has just opened a New York office to expand its operations from purely domestic airlines and manufacturers to include foreign carriers as well.

"That sort of experience doesn't mean the government surplus disposal has been wasteful," he remarked. "Those rectifiers, had a particularly highly-specialized use for war communications. In civilian work, they're just impractical."

Even when the government buys back its own surplus, he said, it is not a wasteful procedure.

"It is for this reason," he explained. "When equipment is about to be declared surplus, all government agencies are circularized first to find out whether they need it. If not, it goes on the block.

Saving Made

"Perhaps months or even a year later, a need for that rectifier arises and we have it in stock. True, the government pays us more than we paid for it. But the savings in not having to warehouse and handle mountains of equipment are great enough to offset it."

Some airlines, however, pull boners.

"One line queried us for some test sets," Jacobson said. "The following day I spotted some on auction, bought 40 and offered them to the trade. The airline which had inquired never ordered, but others did and in six weeks we were sold out. A month later, that airline came in with the very same inquiry, and it still hasn't found any."

It's the Navy's ordnance laboratory, one of the largest scientific research centers in the world. In it are designed and tested many of the weapons that go into the U. S. arsenal.

Three Soldiers Hurt In Train-Car Mishap

HOUSTON, Nov. 1 (U.P.)—Three soldiers stationed at Ellington field narrowly escaped death today when their car careened into a switch engine of the Houston Belt & Terminal railway.

An accident investigator reported the car was traveling at 75 miles per hour and skidded 80 feet in an effort to avert the crash.

Injured were Guy L. Athearn, 21, Winfield, Kan., the driver; R. E. Aycock, 20, Medina, Ohio, and Russell Lott, 22, whose home address was not immediately available.

Athearn received a broken right arm and internal injuries. Aycock suffered multiple lacerations about the face and body, and Lott was knocked unconscious. He was cut about the face and received possible internal head injuries.

Investigator H. V. Hickman said the car was demolished.

Buddy Hammond, 38, was at the throttle of the engine, backing on HB&T tracks. He was not hurt.

Two Roads Built By Romans Discovered

CHESTER, England, Nov. 1. (AP) Two roads built by Roman legions in the 1st Century A. D. have been uncovered by archaeologists excavating the site of an old Roman fortress here. The roads, one above the other, are almost directly below a modern street.

A worn coin of the Roman Emperor Vaspasian and fragments of pottery found in the excavation helped the archeologists estimate when the roads were in use.

The Romans first built a fortress here about A.D. 48. Named Deva, it became an important military and commercial center and later was the permanent headquarters of one of the legions Rome stationed in Britain.

Dedication Of New Laboratory For Cotton Research Planned

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 1. (AP)—A $65,000 laboratory for cotton research will be dedicated on the Texas A.&M. college campus Thursday.

Dr. P. V. Cardon, head of the agricultural research administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, will deliver the main address.

The Texas agricultural experiment station has been officially designated as headquarters for cotton genetics research for the entire cotton belt. The laboratory, to be known as the Beasley laboratory, will provide facilities for much of the basic research of the center.

It was named in honor of the late J. O. Beasley, a 1932 graduate of the college who was killed in action in Italy in 1943 when he was 34 years old. Beasley discovered new methods of cotton genetics, opening new fields in cotton breeding.

"Despite the comparative shortness of his research career, there is widespread appreciation of the great contribution Beasley made to science and to the improvement of cotton," Dr. R. D. Lewis, director of the Texas agricultural experiment station, said. "Some of the genetic stocks he produced here have become the foundation of new strains for the cotton belt."

The regional cotton genetics research project to be developed here is financed largely by USDA research and marketing act funds.

The resident instruction program already has attracted graduate studetns as research assistants from Missouri, Georgia, Mississippi and Arizona, as well as Texas. Outstanding scientists are to be brought in for periods of from six months to years as lecturers with the raiting of distinguished professor.

The laboratory building houses a genetics laboratory, a cytology laboratory, a seed storage and general work room and a potting room. The two greenhouses, with a total of 4,500 square feet of floor space, will make possible research on live cotton plants the year around.

Hindu Deaf Mute Is Student In America

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—A Hindu deaf mute is at Gallaudet colege for the deaf here. He is observing teaching methods and hopes to extend deaf mute instruction in India.

India, with 3,000,000 deaf mutes, has only 45 educational institutions for them. The United States, with about 9,000 such handicapped persons, has 400 such institutions.

The Hindu, Bipin Behary Choudhury, not only learned to understand and speak his own language. He also learned to speak and write English and even got a diploma from the Royal Colege of Arts in London.

Barkley And Widow Shopping For Ring For Their Wedding

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 1. (AP)—Vice President Barkley still hasn't found the kind of wedding ring he wants for his bride-to-be.

Barkley and Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, 38, who announced their marriage date Sunday, shopped for a ring yesterday. But they were unable to find just what they wanted.

The 71-year-old vice president planned a flying trip to Washington, Pa., today for a speaking engagement. His plane was due to leave at 3 p. m. (EST).

To Live In Kentucky

After filling the engagement, he will return to St. Louis and continue his search for a ring.

The wedding date is Nov. 18.

Barkley said he planned to be "floating around this area between now and the wedding."

"I might be in St. Louis over next weekend," he added. "I'll be in Chicago next Monday giving a speech. Also I plan to spend some time in Kentucky."

After the wedding, the "Veep" and his bride will move to Barkley's home near Paducah, Ky. The place is known as "The Angles."

Sheriff Receives Man's Cooperation

GERING, Neb., Nov. 1. (AP)—The cooperation was no less than splendid when Sheriff Mahlon Morgan arrested a man for intoxication. The sheriff found the man on the courthouse steps.

Without ado, the man handed the sheriff a social security card bearing his name and address. Morgan transferred the man to the county jail upstairs.

Most Home Owners Free Of Mortgages

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (AP)—Nearly three out of every five of the nation's home owners have no mortgages on their property, according to a Tile Council of America report. About 64 per cent of small town or rural homes are mortgage-free, says the report which is based on recent government surveys. In metropolitan areas, 44 per cent have no mortgages. The over-all national figure is about 57 per cent.

Today's average mortgage of $3,700 is nearly 50 per cent higher than 1940's. But this doesn't mean home owners are more heavily mortgaged than before the war, the Council says. The "livability" value of American homes has been increased by such improvements as automatic heating, modernized baths and kitchens, and better insulation.

Advertising Letter Received Too Late

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Nov. 1. (AP)—A Grand Island woman opened her mail to find an advertising letter from a manufacturer of baby foods. The first line read: "Your child will be walking in a few weeks."

The letter's recipient was 79 years old. Her eldest son is in the upper 50's. Her youngest child, a daughter, is 37.

Water Hydrants Fail To Help Plains Fire

PLAINS, Nov. 1 (Cpecial) — Residents of this 41-year-old town recently had an initial view of fire hydrants on the home grounds. Within a week, a disastrous fire wholly destroyed Coke Drug Store and threatened the postoffice, a grocery and a cafe. The new hydrants were dry, pending erection of a storage tank.

Yoakum county commissioners, as an economy move, purchased a water well and piped its water to the swimming pool now under construction, to the school and both old and new courthouses, as well as the fire hydrants. Purchase of fire fighting equipment and creation of a fire department are being discussed by the officials.

Situated on U. S. 380, the town is not incorporated. Fast and heavy traffic constitutes a hazard which, reportedly, might be reduced by a city police department. A sewerage disposal system to replace the present cesspools is also under consideration.

TO FLY BODY HOME

WESTOVER AIRFORCE BASE, Mass., Nov. 1. (AP)—The body of Staff Sgt. Arthur L. Gilbreath, Pampa, Tex., killed Oct. 13, in the crash of a bomb-laden B-50 in England, will be flown to his home town. The body arrived here Sunday night.

Tech Election Names New Class Favorites

Class favorites were chosen in run-off elections at Texas Tech Monday with several area residents receiving honors.

Senior class favorites include Alice Hix of Abernathy, and Bill McCasland of Lamesa; junior favorites, Dotsie Stephenson of Fort Stockton and Andy Behrends of Dimmitt.

The sophomore class favorites include Rhetta McMasters of Abernathy and John Shinn of Meadow; freshman favorites, Pat Montgomery of Lubbock and Jerry Powell of Dumas.

Names of students elected Miss Texas Tech and Mr. Texas Tech will not be announced until publication of the college yearbook, La Ventana, in the spring.

HERE'S ALL YOU DO!

In just a few seconds you can prove
PHILIP MORRIS IS DEFINITELY LESS IRRITATING
than the brand you're now smoking!

1 . . . light up a PHILIP MORRIS
THEN, just take a puff—DON'T INHALE—and s-l-o-w-l-y let the smoke come through your nose. Easy, isn't it? And NOW . . .

2 . . . light up your present brand
Do exactly the same thing—DON'T INHALE. Notice that bite, that sting? Quite a difference from PHILIP MORRIS!

NOW YOU KNOW WHY YOU SHOULD BE SMOKING PHILIP MORRIS!

Everybody talks about PLEASURE, but only ONE cigarette has really done something about it.
That cigarette is PHILIP MORRIS!
Remember: less irritation means more pleasure.
And PHILIP MORRIS is the ONE cigarette proved definitely less irritating, definitely milder, than any other leading brand.

WINTERPROOF Now!

Don't mind us, Joan. Whether you eventually unearth Dad's credit card or those elusive dollar bills, it's well worth the search. For our Winterproof Service is the soundest value in weather protection money can buy . . . "red earmuffs" for your car that mean trouble-free transportation: quicker starts on cold mornings; less wear and repair; smoother rides; freedom from freeze-ups; and greater ease in steering, shifting and handling. You get all this with four essential Winterproof services:

PROTECT THE ENGINE with Mobiloil Arctic for quicker starts, more pep and more power. That's the new, triple-action oil developed especially for today's engines to fight friction and deposit formation, and to minimize wear and repair. It's the oil that is anti-acid, detergent and has a High Viscosity Index. That High V.I. is mighty important in cold weather for it assures full protection regardless of extremes of heat or cold.

PROTECT THE RADIATOR Clean out all accumulations of rust and scale with Mobil Radiator Flush; check the fan belt and hose connections. Then guard against freeze-ups with the correct amount of Mobil Freezone to insure radiator protection.

PROTECT THE GEARS with tough and flexible Mobilube Gear Oils to minimize repairs and make shifting easy. Regardless of temperature extremes, Mobilube Gear Oils retain their rich lubricating properties giving full protection to moving parts.

PROTECT THE CHASSIS Cushion your rides over slushy, rutted streets or icy pavements with Scientific Mobilubrication. Vital undercar parts are inspected. Squeaks and rattles vanish; repair is minimized, and your car steers easier and handles better.

Church Federation Is At Installation Hour

The 1950 officers of Church Women's Federation of Lubbock were installed by Mrs. J. H. Hankins at a regular fifth Monday meeting conducted yesterday afternoon at First Presbyterian church. On the new slate are:

Mrs. J. L. Barstow, president; Mrs. J. S. Nevitt, vice president; Mrs. M. L. Hines, secretary; Mrs. C. M. Neel, treasurer; and Mrs. G. C. Beard, historian. The officers were charged by Mrs. Hankins to be diligent and earnest in carrying out their duties.

"Lead Kindly Light," the latest book of Vincent Sheean which deals with the life of Mahatma Gandhi and conditions in India, was reviewed by Mrs. Ben Brewer. A devotion from the book, "A Testament of Devotions," (Thomas Kelly) was presented by Rev. Hubert Bratcher, pastor of St. John's Methodist church. Mrs. Paul Glasgow sang "The Voice of One Crying in the Wilderness," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. R. C. Douglas, jr. The program was opened as the assembly sang "The Church's One Foundation." Mrs. H. G. Knight spoke on "Church Gardens" as a part of the program.

During a business session presided over by Mrs. Paul Cates, retiring president, the Federation voted to continue the library at the Community center in cooperation with the City Recreation department. An offering of $23.80 taken at the Monday meeting will be added to the library fund.

Mrs. Barstow appointed the following committee chairmen: Mrs. Paul Cates, program; Mrs. Lee C. O'Neil, housing and social; Miss Lula Mae Cravens, projects; Mrs. Walter P. Jennings, membership; Mrs. Albert Skibell, telephone; and Mrs. Charlotte Carter, publicity.

One hundred five persons attended the program and tea hour which followed.

Single Ring Vows Read

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Webb of Ralls are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Billie Jean Webb, to Joe Billeiter, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Billeiter of Pecos, which took place Tuesday, Oct. 25, at Clovis, N. M. A single ring ceremony was performed in the home of Rev. Jake C. English, pastor of the Clovis First Methodist church.

The bride wore a blue wool suit with a brown hat and accessories. Miss Thelma Hornsby, maid of honor, wore a gray suit with black accessories.

John Crawford of Vernon served as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Billeiter have gone on a wedding trip to Juarez, Mexico, and Pecos. They are to make their home in South Texas where Mr. Billeiter has a defoliating business. He is an Air Force veteran. Mrs. Billeiter is a graduate of Ralls High school and attended Draughons Business college in Lubbock. She has been employed by the Security State bank in Ralls for the past 18 months.

Party Is Courtesy To Mrs. Dawson, Bride

Mrs. Phillip Dawson, the former Miss Bobbie Bryant, was honored with a bridal party Friday night in the home of Mrs. Cecil Stanton, 2001 Twenty-second. Misses Jeannie Allen and Lee Williams assisted the hostess in entertaining.

Miss Billie Bryant, sister of the bride, and Mrs. E. E. Rodgers presided at the tea service. The table was laid with a hand-embroidered cloth and centered by an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums.

2-Year-Old Honored With Birthday Party

Joe Bob Winfrey, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Winfrey, 715 Thirtieth, was honored Friday afternoon at 2 p. m. with a birthday party given by his mother at their home.

A Hallowe'en motif was carried out in favors and refreshments.

Guests were the young man's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ed Greer; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. J. A. Winfrey; Mrs. Pearl Simpson, Mrs. Ray Williams, Mrs. C. L. Fitzgerald and daughter, Linda Sue; Karen and Marsha Sparkman and Johnnie Moyers.

Gifts were sent by Beverly Landers, Eddie Greer, Faye Price and Eddie McCombs.

Prayer Service Held By Bethenian Class

A prayer meeting, in interest of the revival that begins at First Baptist church Sunday, was conducted at a meeting of Bethenian class Monday night in the home of the teacher, Mrs. J. J. Willingham, 2508 Thirty-third.

Mrs. L. A. Ellis presided for a business hour. Mrs. J. Holland cox asked invocation and Mrs. Roy Morris presided for the prayer service which was opened with singing of the class song, "He Leadeth Me."

Mrs. Willingham led a devotion. Mrs. M. H. Branson was co-hostess for a social hour and refreshments carrying out a Hallowe'en motif were served to 15 members.

Dallas Judge Speaker At B-PW Convention

Women will have an opportunity to become full citizens of Texas under the law if the amendment to the state constitution which will allow them to serve on juries is passed at the Tuesday election, Judge Sarah T. Elderly Pair, Romantically In Love, Face Question Of Sharing Home With Daughter

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am 55 and have been married a year to Dan, who is 67; and despite our ages we are romantically in love. Though outwardly we are staid and middle aged, secretly we love our privacy and the dreams we are making come true.

My children, all grown, live in other cities and don't intrude upon us, but Dan has a daughter Gwen nearby, who didn't give her mother much peace while she lived, due to constant bossing, endless mending to be done ,etc.

A beautiful woman, twice married, Gwen is extremely neurotic and thrives on petty arguments, quarrels and criticisms; and her first husband divorced her for nagging. She is a business executive and enjoys cracking the whip over timid persons, and while I am gentle and amiable, I am not timid, and I find it a strain to be always on guard with Gwen, lest she put over some sarcasm or bossing.

WIFE FEARS ORDEAL WOULD END RAPPORT

GWEN likes me, because I am good to her father and keep him from being lonely, she says; and she brings me lovely gifts, but gives them with such remarks as, "I got you this blouse and now for goodness sake don't let me see you wear that green one again. I hate it." Naturally I've had to say briskly and kindly, "Gracious, you sound as if you were giving me orders. That will never do."

The problem: Gwen and her husband are being evicted and although they have a new home in view, it won't be available for six weeks, and she feels we ought to take them in during the waiting period. We have room, and this was her girlhood home, and Dan feels we ought to have them, but I know I would emerge from the ordeal hating Gwen and maybe Dan too.

They are a close family (Gwen isn't the only child) and make a point of sacrificing personal comfort for each other's whims and pleasures. I wouldn't mind the extra work so much, but Dan and I aren't young and I want us to be alone mostly. Dan wouldn't admit it, but he doesn't want Gwen here either, yet he may resent it if I refuse to have her. I know he would make any child of mine welcome in similar circumstances. What should I do?

Signed C. C.

BETTER TO STEER AWAY FROM REEFS

DEAR C. C.: In view of the emotional dueling between you and Gwen—an involuntary exchange that goes on beneath surface civilities—it would be putting "the greater good" to unwise risk, I think, to share your home with her at this time, even for a few weeks. And by the greater good I mean (1) your rapport with Don, and (2) your carefully agreeable relattions with Gwen, which are a strain to maintain even on slight contact.

There is a chance, to be guarded against, that Gwen is aiming unconsciously to chisel in and settle down permanently in your lap, even though she isn't aware of it yet. And in such case, later efforts to send her away or define your rights might spoil your idyll with Dan—an easy going man, I gather, who probably makes a habit of ducking issues. But even if that potential never developed, still I think Gwen's emotional anxieties, versus yours, foment an explosive combination at close range that is to be avoided.

So steer away from danger, not into it. Remind Dan regretfully of the folk saying—distillation of ageless wisdom—that "no house is big enough for two women." Tell him also that you truly want to stay on good terms with Gwen and above all preserve your rapport with him; and harsh though it may seem on the surface, the most constructive method of keeping the peace is to keep the margin of privacy you've had.

HIDDEN MEANING OF CAUSTIC AIR

INCIDENTALLY, there is pathos, really, in the way Gwen talks when bestowing gifts on you. The pattern of her neurosis suggests that she has never felt love-security, didn't get it from her mother (nature's presumable provider), hence clung to her demandingly, trying to experience some kind of relatedness there; and ever since has been fighting for attention from associates, in rough gruff ways, because she had no basic training in dependably tender exchange.

Thus in bringing love-tokens to you, she blusters to hide the wistful hunger for "maternal acceptance" that animates the gift. But of course there's no doubt she would boss and walk over you, from habit, if you'd let her. I give you both sides of the picture, because you can deal with her more comfortably and kindly, and no less neatly, if you understand her actions rather than fear them.

Parks Golf Trophy Will Be Given At Club Luncheon

Whiteside Speaks At Lions Luncheon

City Commissioner Clarence Whiteside, chairman of the Canadian River organizational committee, today refreshed the memories of members of the Lions club concerning the Canadian River Dam project.

He pointed out that the project has yet to receive dissenting vote although there has been what he termed "a little static from the senate."

Problems immediately facing the committee include elections to form water districts, establishing contracting agencies and legal work, according to Whiteside.

Elmer Tarbox, program chairman, introduced the city commissioner.

Bill Davis introduced the following guests at the luncheon meeting in the Hilton Hotel; J. D. Hale, Roderick Parkinson, A. Siewiersky of Detroit, Raymond Lupfer, D. Echols and H. P. Clemons, superintendent of Whiteface schools.

Chuck Wilson, member of the Lubbock High School band, presented a trombone solo to the piano accompaniment of Ned Hardin.

Richard McCollum, Don Wortham, John Austin and Milton Herring presented a saxaphone quartet. Paul M. Brannon, director of the band, also attended the meeting.

Rev. Travis White gave the invocation and H. G. Denman presided.

The Hiram Parks golf trophy will be awarded to Lubbock Country Club women golfers at a luncheon at the club Wednesday at 12:30 o'clock. This also will be guest day and reservations are to be made by calling the club.

The trophy will remain the property of the country club women for one year. Three times winner will make the award a permanent one.

Each Wednesday from May through October members of the South Plains Women's Golf association have entered play for the trophy. The association is made up of golf women from Plainview, Levelland, Brownfield, Meadowbrook and Lubbock Country clubs. Lubbock Country club golfers were high point winners.

Mrs. Park, Brownfield and Lubbock resident, will make the presentation and acceptance will be by Mrs. E. S. Hall, president of the Ladies association of the Lubbock Country club.

Nurse, Stricken With Polio A Second Time, Nears Recovery

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 1 (U.P.)—Virginia Warner has recovered sufficieintly from her second attack of polio to be assured she can take up her fight against the disease again.

The 24-year-old nurse contracted infantile paralysis the second time while she was a nurse for national foundation of the Red Cross in a San Angelo, Tex., polio ward.

She had taken up the nursing profession as the result of a vow made when she had polio for the first time 16 years ago.

Operation Success

She has renewed the vow from her bed in St. Luke's hospital here.

"Virginia is just waiting until she can walk again to go back to polio nursing," her mother, Mrs. Raymond Warner, said today.

Virginia herself doesn't know where she will be sent as a polio nurse when she does recover but she said she would go wherever the Red Cross sends me."

Phisicians say Virginia's case looks favorable. Last week she underwent an operation designed to restore the use of weakened muscles in her leg. This week the operation, a muscle graft, was proclaimed a success.

May Recover Completely

"It may be several weeks before she can leave the hospital." hospital attendant ssaid, "but she will eventually recover almost completely."

Virginia isn't discouraged about the long wait before she is well enough to resume her nursing.

She learned patience when she was stricken with the disease the first time when she was eight years old.

Then Virginia was forced to walk with a brace for several years and adjust her life temporarily to a life of limited activity.

She made up for the confinement after she became well and joined the Red Cross nursing program.

"This is another temporary setback," her mother said, "but she is still cheerful — and looking forward to going back to nursing."

Meeting Underway At Church Of Christ

Preaching to a crowd which overflowed the main auditorium into the balcony, Reuel Lemons, minister of Central Church of Christ in Cleburne, discussed "The Mystery of Jesus Christ Revealed in Our Present Age" Monday night in the fall meeting at Broadway Church of Christ.

He referred to "blessings of living now with an open Bible," saying that people now have a full revelation that people in Old Testament times did not have.

His subject this morning was "There Is One God." Tonight, he will preach on "Christianity Is Practical." His subject Wednesday morning will be "The Evidence of the Practicability of Christianity" and his Wednesday night topic will be "An Example of New Testament Conversion."

Services will be conducted at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. daily through Saturday and at 8:30 a. m., 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

A covered dish luncheon will be conducted in the church annex Wednesday to give the congregation opportunity to become better acquainted with him.

Woman Arrested In Kidnaping Of Baby

EL PASO, Nov. 1. (U.P.)—Juarez police today arrested and jailed Mrs. Juana Alvarado, 34, as the kidnapper of the two-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leopoldo Alvarez Aveytia.

She said the child died eight days ago in her home, police announced. She said she wrapped the body in an altar cloth and threw it in the Rio Grande at 2 a. m., officers said.

Police quoted her as explaining that she took the child to carry it to the San Lorenzo church to offer it as a "bequest" to the saint San Lorenzo.

Suicide Is Ruled In San Antonio Death

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 1. (U.P.)—John Fries, 59, a prominent San Antonio insurance man, committed suicide in his home today.

Fries was found shot to death in an upper bedroom by his wife and 21-year-old son. They said a .38-caliber pistol lay at his side.

Justice of the Peace John Ogden returned a verdict of suicide.

Excavation Underway For New Morton Gym

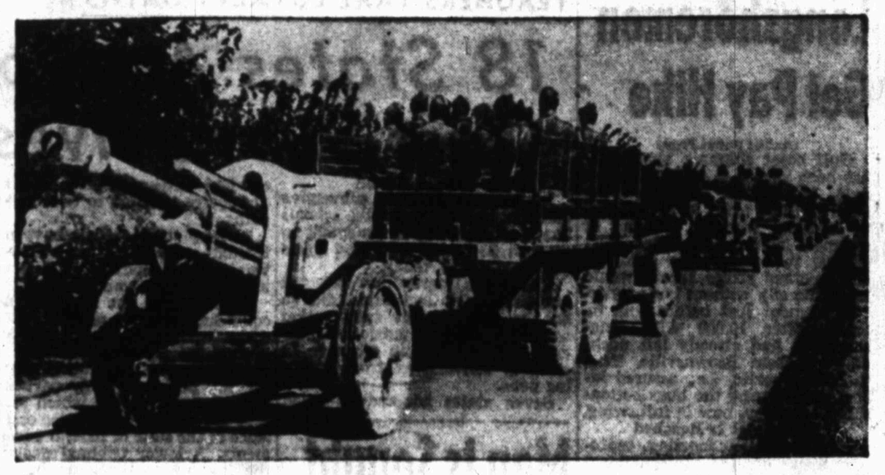

MORTON, Nov. 1. (Special)—Excavation was in progress today for construction of a new $100,000 gymnasium building just north of Morton High school.

Pres. Raymond C. Ross and other members of the board of trustees awarded the job to BMFP Construction company recently. Bonds were voted last spring, said Carl Macon superintendent of schools.

The brick and tile structure will seat 1,250 when it is completed next August. It will contain two practice courts when the folding bleachers are closed and one regulation court when the bleachers are out.

The old gymnasium will be used by grade school children.

The new building will contain locker and dressing rooms, showers and other equipment expected to cost $15,000.

YUGOSLAV "WAR GAMES" ARE PLAYED IN EARNEST—With the end of the Greek Civil War and rumors that Communist guerrillas are infiltrating Yugoslavia from Greece, this year's Yugoslav "war games" got even more serious attention than usual. Here a detachment of mechanized artillery, apparently of World War II vintage, rolls along a road under watchful eyes of Yugoslav officers, at left.

Rites For Levelland Girl Set Wednesday

LEVELLAND, Nov. 1 (Special)—Funeral services for Patsy Dianne Tugwell, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tugwell of Levelland, will be conducted here at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at First Baptist church. Rev. J. H. Wright, pastor, will officiate, with burial in Levelland cemetery under direction of George C. Price Funeral home.

The girl, who died Sunday night at her residence after an illness of several months, was a student of Levelland Junior High school and a member of the First Baptist church.

Survivors include four brothers, Noel of Donaldson, Ark.; Harold of Boise, Idaho; Claude of Wichita Falls; and Donald of Levelland. Two sisters, Mrs. Lawrence Jackson of Long Beach, Calif., and Jean of Levelland, survive.

MAY GET DENFELD'S POSITION

Navy Officer Due In Capital Today

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — Vice Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, who once before helped produce an accord in the military unification row, was due to arrive today on a flying trip from his Mediterranean naval command.

The popular expectation was that he would be named chief of naval operations to succeed the ousted Admiral Louis Denfeld.

But as the time for Sherman's arrival neared there was disposition toward caution in such speculation.

For one thing, no official—not President Truman, Secretary of the Navy Matthews, Secretary of Defense Johnson nor Sherman himself—had said anything publicly to support what, in the past week, had developed into a widely accepted conclusion.

Possibilities Are Suggested

This suggested several possibilities, among them:

1. That perhaps Sherman at no point had been slated for the job, but was being brought to the Pentagon for another high post in the navy command or to serve again as a compromise-maker. That was Sherman's role in 1946 when most of the navy was fighting passage of a law unifying the armed forces. Sherman, working together with the then Maj. Gen. Lauris Norstad of the air force, helped frame the compromise legislation which eventually became the unification act.

2. That there might have been a change in original plans since Sherman boarded a commercial airliner in the Mediterranean and started for Washington. Ih this connection, interest attached to reports that Johnson and Matthews conferred with Mr. Truman in a White House meeting yesterday morning—a time at which Sherman was already headed for the United States.

Action Is Assailed

Whatever transpired regarding the future mission of Admiral Sherman, there was a section of Congress that didn't like what had happened to Admiral Denfeld.

Four House members—two Republicans, Arends of Illinois and Cole of New York, and two Democrats—Sasscer of Maryland and Hebert of Louisiana — charged Johnson and Matthews with "trickery, broken pledges and smear tactics." The Congress members contended Johnson had given assurances that there would be no reprisals for testimony given by the navy at the hearings before the House armed services committee.

Johnson and Matthews, declared the House members, have "broken faith with Congress and the American people" and military leaders who testified are having their "heads chopped off."

The defense and navy secretaries had denied that reprisal was the reason for ordering Denfeld ousted. They indicated that the admiral was ordered removed, with the approval of President Truman, because he was held to be no longer qualified for his job.

The highest secrecy surrounded Sherman's trip. There had been no hint of who actually ordered him to hurry to Washington.

Sherman chose to come by commercial airliner and traveled in civilian clothes. He left a 5,000-mile trail of "no comments" at stopovers on the way.

Double Murder

The detective said Harding told him and Rhinefort this story:

He and Mrs. Harding went to a movie and returned home about 11 p. m. Harding couldn't sleep.

"I called to her to come to my room and she came," Harding said. "Then I discovered something that to me confirmed suspicions that had been torturing me the last three weeks.

"I had been breaking out into sweats in my misery and had been going to see a doctor about my worries. This morning (shortly before 1 a. m. Monday) after we had talked things over about us, I asked her to kneel in prayer with me at my bed.

"We both knelt and we both asked God to make us see the light. Se got up and immediately left for her own room. I got up and without another thought started downstairs to the kitchen.

"I was going to kill her.

"I got a bread knife and a claw hammer and went back upstairs. There was Mildred sitting up in bed reading a book. She saw me and screamed. She tried to knock the hammer from my hand.

"I had dropped the bread knife. I hit her and hit her. I turned around and there was her mother in the doorway. I hit her, too."

In Detroit yesterday, Harding was quoted by assistant Prosecutor Rusinack as saying he was angered by his wife's interest in her musical career.

Mrs. Harding was head of a music studio located at the Harding home. The studio had a staff of five teachers.

Directors Of WTCC Will Meet Nov. 22

ABILENE, Nov. 1. (AP)—Directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will meet in Fort Worth Nov. 22 to discuss getting more water for West Texas towns and hear Secretary of the Interior Krug.

Krug will address the annual banquet.

The board will consider formation of a West Texas domestic water association composed of directors of the WTCC. Purpose of the proposed association would be to foster local districts or authorities to bring about construction of multi-city dams to serve the needs of drouth-struck West Texas towns, said WTCC Manager D. A. Brandeen.

Daily MARKETS

Stock Market

INDUSTRIALS UP

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (U.P.) — Industrial shares rose to new highs since July 14, 1948, in a more active stock market today.

The list was responding to the Bethlehem Steel settlement of its differences with the United Steel Workers CIO.

Stocks started moderately active, lapsed into inactivity and turned irregular, and then resumed a rise interrupted by a session of realising yesterday. Chemicals were particularly strong and they helped boost the industrial average.

Coppers moved up on outlook for higher prices for the metal now that zinc prices have advanced. Tire issues were stronger. Tobaccos met demand and showed gains ranging to a point. Farm implements improved. General Motors made a new high to feature its section. The steel shares were fairly active with prices steady to firm. Some preferred stocks and special issues made wide advances.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP) — Cotton futures were lower today under moderate pressure of profit taking and hedging. Mill buying was mostly scale down in nature. Most traders awaited fresh incentives.

The weather map revealed frosts in several points in the central and western cotton belts overnight which was expected to lower the grades of cotton.

Cotton closed steady.

Austin Correspondent Of Dallas News Dies

AUSTIN, Nov. 1 (U.P.)—W. M. (Tudey) Thornton, an Austin correspondent of the Dallas News for 51 years, died early today at his home.

Thornton had suffered a chronic heart ailment for the last several years.

However, he had recently been feeling in good health.

He worked at his office as usual yesterday and went home last evening in good spirits. Death came about 2:30 a. m.

Thornton, 70, was the "dean" of the capitol press room correspondents.

Optimists Schedule Special Observance

Members of the Optimist club today voted to dispense with next week's regularly scheduled luncheon meeting in order to meet with with the Optimisses at 7:30 p. m. next Tuesday in Hotel Lubbock in observance of Optimist Week.

The club also heard a brief report from Milton Berry, scoutmaster of Troop 100, which is sponsored by the club.

G. C. Stewart presided and H. P. Watkins gave the invocation.

Longshoremen Get Pay Hike

(By The United Press)

Gulf coast shipping apparently has been spared a strike stranglehold, but dismal aspects of the labor picture today still centered at Houston, where a walkout of common laborers has idled $80,000,000 in construction projects and another strike threat would leave the city without bus service.

Agreement just before 1 a. m. today, after 10,000 AFL longshoremen had already left docks at ports from Brownsville, Tex., to Lake Charles, La., assured labor peace during the busy cotton-shipping season, now in full swing.

Agreement Is Reached

At a Galveston meeting, representatives of the International Longshoremen's association and the Houston-Galveston Maritime association reached a wage agreement that would give the stevedores $1.85 per hour. Workers immediately returned to all ports.

J. R. Dunn, Maritime association spokesman, said no actual change would be made in the basic wage rate of $1.78 per hour, but that the boost would be granted through a "benefit differential." The new agreement will be in effect two years.

The ILA had asked a salary hike of 12 cents per hour, plus concessions in welfare, vacation and pension plans.

The only activity at Houston's scores of big construction projects today was the slow trudge of 150 scattered pickets.

Some 3,000 common laborers sought an hourly pay increase of 12½ cents from the current $1.07½, and failed to report for work at 7 a. m. Monday. Later in the day, 1200 men returned to their jobs when individual contractors agreed to meet the wage demand.

But the Gulf Coast Construction Employers council, which had offered a general five-cent boost in wages, late yesterday withdrew that offer.

No Meetings Held

Federal Mediator Willis Ray said no meetings between the council and union negotiators had been set, although "informal discussion" of problems would continue.

Meantime, Houston conciliation forces converged on the threatened strike of 1190 CIO bus drivers and mechanics, set for Wednesday midnight.

Mayor Oscar Holcombe has not discounted the possibility that he might intervene to assure 300,000 daily bus riders of transportation. He stressed that any administration plans were only "possibilities," but mentioned the city as a mediator, and also suggested a five-cent jitney ride sponsored by the city.

at Dallas promised warmer temperatures in East and West Texas today an dtonight, and in Central and South Texas tomorrow.

Heavy frosts occurred today at Austin and Texarkana, the United Press reported. A light blanket of frost covered Dallas and Beaumont.

The mercury dropped to a biting 29 degrees early today at Lufkin, and at Dalhart in the northwest corner of the Panhandle. It dipped to 30 at Junction and 31 at Texarkana and Salt Flat. Wink reported a freezing 32 degrees.

High temperatures Monday were in the 50's and 60's, with Brownsville, Laredo and Galveston reporting maximums of 66. The minimum was 45 degrees at Galveston.

The early morning temperature at Dallas was 39 degrees, one degree above Monday's 38 which was the coldest weather reported there since last March 19.

The weather bureau said high winds which buffeted parts of the state Monday had died down and that skies were clear early today except at Alice, where there was a wispy layer of clouds at 400 feet. There was no rain during the night.

TEACHERS TAKE LOYALTY OATHS

18 States Act To Oust Subversives

(By The United Press)

Legislation to bar subversive teachers from the public schools has been enacted, or defeated, in at least 25 states, a United Press survey showed today.

The seven states that rejected anti-subversive legislation did so on the ground that such action would be a slap at patriotic teachers or would not be effective in weeding subversives from teaching pobs.

Seven states adopted so-called outright anti-subversive laws and 11 require teachers to take loyalty oaths.

In four states, courts have prohibited enforcement of anti-subversive laws pending final determination of their constitutionality.

In Maryland, the state's highest court has reserved decision on attacks against its anti-subversive law which provides sentences up to 20 years and fines up to $20,000 for any person actively participating in organizations which advocate the overthrow by force or violence of the state or federal governments. A lower tribunal declared the law unconstitutional but the state has asked the court of appeals to review the decision.

Order Is Secured

The Communist party has secured a temporary order restraining the New York's educational board from acting under its new anti-subversive law. The legislation, passed overwhelmingly in the 1949 legislature, provides for dismissal of any school official, teacher or employes who is a member of an organization deemed subversive by the state board. Communists claimed it violates the state and federal constitutions.

In Massachusetts, the Communist party was unsuccessful in its attempts to get a temporary court order restraining the commonwelath from enforcing its broad anti-subversive legislation. The law provides that members of the Communist party shall not be employed in any capacity by the state or any of its political subdivisions. It also provides that all public employes shall take an oath to defend the state and federal constitutions and to oppose the overthrow of government by force. The state also has a teachers' loyalty oath.

New Jersey's loyalty oath law has been declared unconstitutional. An appeals court ruled that the language of the oath went beyond restrictions of the constitution. The court said the constitution defined the language of an oath for public officials and he legislation could not add or detract from it

Texas, North Carolina, Pennsylvania and Tennessee also have anti-subversive laws which pertain to teachers. Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Kansas, New Hampshire, North Dakota and South Dakota required teachers to take loyalty oaths.

Although California has no loyalty oath for teachers, members of the University of California faculty are required to take loyalty oaths, as a condition of continued employment.

Man Is Sought In Kidnaping

POST, Nov. 1. (Special)—Sheriff E. M. Bass of Garza county said he had kidnaping and armed robbery warrants for Royce W. Barry, 25, who is believed en route by automobile to California.

The fugitive is believed to be accompanied by his wife and a young daughter, Sheriff Bass said, explaining he learned that Barry elicited aid of another person to 'sneak them out of a house at Seminole early this morning."

Woman Is Robbed

Barry and two other men were charged in connection with the Saturday kidnapping here of Jack Saturday kidnaping here of Jack Lewis and the subsequent robbery of Lewis' wife, the sheriff said.

The Lewises said the trio picked Lewis up and demanded that he give them money. He said he had none, and explained that they required him to accompany them to his residence, where they held a 1917 trench knife to Mrs. Lewis' throat. She said she gave them $33, and they left.

Two Others Held

The other two men charged were under arrest, the sheriff said.

They were identified as Max Smith, 23, of Post and Robert James Riggs, 21, formerly of Illinois. Riggs and Barry had been transferred here Friday with an oil field rig crew from Seminole.

Sheriff Bass and his chief deputy Vernon Lobban arrested one of the men, and were assisted by Jim Riddles and Noel Newberry of the state highway patrol in arresting the other.

Officers were told that the men armed themselves with the knife and a 12-gauge shotgun after one of them claimed $30 had been stolen from him in the course of gambling in a Post cafe.

The suspects happened up on Lewis, who had not been in the game, officials were told.

The complaints were filed in the justice court of J. D. King for action of a 106th judicial district grand jury that will be assembled Dec. 5 by Judge Louis B. Reed.

Levelland Child Is Awarded Damages

An $8,750 agreed judgment growing out of a May 3, 1948, explosion injury to a 7-year-old child was on file in the 72nd district court of Judge Dan Blair this morning.

The damages, case was styled O. J. Rhodes and others against J. R. Fanning. Rhodes, step-father. Mrs. Rhodes, mother, and the child, Marvin Merrell Maples recovered court-apportioned sums.

The child, it had been pleaded, struck a match near a barrel of gasoline which agents of Fanning, a contractor, had set on the curbline near the child's home. The bung was not in the top of the barrel, it was pleaded.

The case was transferred on a plea of privilege from the 72nd district court of Hockley county.

Texan Is Selected For Federal Post

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP) — George Haggard, formerly of Austin, Texas, today was appointed deputy administrator of the Rural Electrification administration.

The Agriculture department notified Texas members of Congress of Haggard's promotion from his present position of assistant REA administrator.

Portugal, Spain To Hold War Maneuvers

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 1 (U.P.)—Portugal and Spain will hold joint air and ground maneuvers soon to standardize military operations in case of war, reliable sources said today.

These sources said the maneuvers probably will be staged within the next few months to show the Spanish how to use modern equipment owned by the Portuguese.

Young Cocker Spaniel Blamed In Mystery "Theft" Of Fried Chicken At Home Here

"Burglary" of the Wendell Deaton residence at 1010 Thirty-sixth has been solved.

Inasmuch as Mrs. Deaton planned to eat Sunday luncheon at her mother's residence, she left a platter of fried chicken on the table for a her husband, a police shortwave radio dispatcher.

Platter Is Clean

Deaton got off work at 3 p. m. and went home. Nothing to eat. The platter was clean. Not even a bone was in sight.

Deaton wondered why anyone would enter when his dog, a young cocker spaniel, was in the house.

The mystery resolved itself when Deaton pulled on his house-shoes this morning. There was a piece of chicken in one of them. Mr. and Mrs. Deaton began searching. They found more chicken here and there—"always where it would grease up the premises to best advantage."

The dog's name is Amber, which is about the only name Deaton admittedly failed to call her when he caught on to what had happened.

He ruefully recalled how he had spent leisure moments teaching her to "jump like a rabbit."

"I had discounted the dog," he said, "after noticing that no chairs were around the table. I didn't know she could jump that high—she never had before."

Kent Estate To Go On Auction Today

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1 (U.P.) — The late Atwater Kent's multi-million dollar estate, including the fabulous furnishings and knick-knacks that lent glamour to his famous parties, go on the auction block today.

Auctioneer Roy Goldenberg said heirs of the master party-giver are selling nearly everything he owned.

A special corps of police was ordered to guard the priceless collection of crystal, china, silver, and paintings.

Goldenberg said he hopes to get $200,000 for the $2,000,000 Italian villa with its 40 rooms and $2,000 retaining wall. The furnishings, he figured, ought to bring $35,000.

Attempted Break-In Is Believed Fatal

ATLANTA, Nov. 1 (U.P.)—Police said today that they never caught the man who cut himself while trying to break into a grocery store here ,but it probably doesn't matter because he must be dead by now.

Officers said he left a clear-cut trail of blood over more than two miles of city streets before the track disappeared.

Doctors told the police they doubted that anyone could lose that much blood and still live.

Sofia, Bulgaria, has placed in service 10 trackless trolley buses bought from Russia.

Mrs. A. A. King of Ralls is seriously ill in Lubbock Memorial hospital, friends said this morning.

Members of Hub City Kiwanis club held a short meeting at noon today in order that members could go to the Allen Bros. American Legion post home for tuberculosis examinations by the State Health department Portable X-Ray unit now in Lubbock to give free examinations to the public. The club is a co-sponsor of the examination with Lubbock County Tuberculosis association. Club officers are Jason Gordon, president; James Spears, vice president; and Paul McLain, secretary.

Mrs. C. M. Trout, jr., of Austin, is recovering from major surgery at the Porter clinic-hospital. She is the former Miss Martha Gene Porter, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. G. Porter of 2806 Twenty-second.

Air Crash

timated the planes were about 300 feet in the air.

He said the smaller plane plunged into the Potomac and disappeared.

"I was driving south when I sudenly looked up," Clifford said. "I saw a ball of fire and trail of smoke about 300 feet above the ground and plane falling."

"I parked my car and ran to the river bank. I saw them bring a woman out of the wreckage and several men. They were terribly battered. I could not stand to look any more."

The under belly of the airplane was ripped open.

Highway Is Blocker

Volunteers working with police and firemen had the first bodies removed from the plane before the confusion subsided at the scene. Hundreds of automobiles were backed up on the highway which was blocked by police for the ambulances.

Boatmen were going back and forth over the river looking for bodies.

The CAA gave this account of the actual crash:

The Bolivian was on a test flight from National airport. As he came back toward the field he asked for landing instructions and was advised by the tower that he was second to come down, behind the EAL flight.

The tower ordered Bridoux to circle the field so as to come in behind the commercial ship.

Did Not Acknowledge

He did not acknowledge the call, which the control tower repeated several times.

Tower observers saw him coming straight in and called to him to pull up. There was no indication that he heard or understood the order.

Bolivian embassy officials said he was their country's best pilot who had been trained in various U. S. school and at Randolph field. He was 28.

Officials said he had originally planned to leave with the plane two or three days ago but had delayed his departure in order to make further tests of the plane.

Strewn Along Shore

Massive chunks of the passenger plane were strewn along the shore of the Potomac within 30 feet of the highway. Most of the passenger compartments collapsed and sank beneath the water.

Bodies were hurled more than 150 feet to the shore. Personal effects, clothing, and other items were picked from trees and bushes where the impact had thrown them.

The big airliner struck at the river's edge, skidded down an embankment and nosed into the mud.

The CAA's first reports were that the military plane hit the big airliner's tail or left wing.

CAA understood there were 49 passengers aboard the DC-4 and a crew of four. The plane was due to go on from Washington to Atlanta, with stops at Charlotte and Raleigh, N. C. explosions.

"They felt like an earthquake," Levy said. "The ceiling in my seventh floor office fell in. Plaster hit me on the shoulder but I wasn't hurt, and got out by breaking a glass pane in the door."

Firemen said the blaze apparently began in an electrical transformer room. The first sign of difficulty was a flickering of lights.

Even after the fire was under control, firemen still were trying to determine whether anyone was trapped at any place in the building.

There were reports that a woman was caught in an elevator between floors when the power failed with the first blast.

More than 30 pieces of fire fighting equipment were called into play. Using extension ladders, firemen took three people from the eighth floor.

Efforts to remove one man from the eighth floor were blocked by heavy ornamental bars. He was passed a smoke mask.

First District Inspector W. B. Kelly said that the roof caved in on the eighth floor on the Pennsylvania and 12th street side of the building. He said that he was climbing between the seventh and eighth floor when the second explosion occurred and was knocked down a flight of approximately 20 stairs.

Among those who left hastily was Postmaster General Donaldson, whose office is on the third floor.

Labor Peace

ly after Murray sent out orders for Bethlehem's 80,000 workers to return to their jobs. The new walkout was at Allegheny-Ludlum Steel Corp., where 12,500 of Murray's men quit as negotiations collapsed.

Bethlehem's breaking of the solid front of the steel industry against Murray's pension-insurance demands recalled that it was Bethlehem, too, that became the first big steel firm to accept the idea of President Truman's steel fact-finding board.

That was in the early stages of the steel dispute last July. The fact-finding board, after hearings, recommended a 10-cent steel welfare plan peace formula.

Officials here were of the opinion the Bethlehem settlement gave the workers more than the board had recommended.

But in return, Bethlehem got a contract commitment that the welfare benefit plan won't be touched for a five-year period. Also, the present contract was extended for two years, postponing talk of any wage increase until late 1950.

Government mediators were considering issuing an invitation to bring coal peace talks to Washington. Negotiations between John L. Lewis' striking miners union and southern coal operators were to resume today at Bluefield, W. Va.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said at Cincinnati that it is now President Truman's duty to use the Taft-Hartley act court injunction powers to end the coal strike. Last week Taft said the strike hadn't yet reached the emergency proportions required for invoking an injunction.

Two Lubbock Baptist Churches Meet Standards Set By Group

EL PASO, Nov. 1. (AP)—The Texas Baptist general convention opened today.

It was preceded by meetings of the Woman's Missionary union and of the Baptist brotherhood.

Hundreds of messengers (delegates) were here as the church's program for the coming year was mapped.

The Women's Missionary union reported it had added 1,267 new units during the past year. It now has the highest number of standard organizations in its history, said Miss Eula Mae Henderson of Dallas.

Woman Is Speaker

More than 600 delegates and directors of the WMU heard Miss Alma Hunt of Birmingham, Ala., name goodness and usefulness, plus courage and direction of Christianity as the components necessary for future greatness.

Miss Anna Veneziano, an Italian attending Southwestern seminary, Fort Worth; Mae Wai Chew, El Paso, and L. M. Huff, jr., Sinton, spoke at the final meeting of the WMU.

Miss Henderson, executive-treasurer of the WMU, reported that 15 churches had met standards of excellence set up by the organization for A-1 full graded unions. They are Second church, Alice; First church, Brownfield; First church, Brownsville; First church, Coleman; Temple, Meadow Park and First and Second churches of Corpus Christi; First church, Dimmit; Diamond Hill and Travis Avenue churches, Fort Worth; First church, Groves; First and Southside, Lubbock, and First church, Springlake.

Groups Are Rated

Sixteen associations rated standard are Bell County, Blanco, Brownfield, Collin county, Corpus Christi, Grayson, Gulf Coast, Kaufman, Lubbock, Rehoboth, San Antonio, San Felipe, San Jacinto, San Marcos, Sweetwater and Winter Garden.

B. T. Griffin, missionary to Nigeria since 1939, told the WMU delegates that Africa needs more educational, medical and religious missions.

Two Hurt In Slaton Crash This Morning

Two persons were injured about 6 a. m. on the west limits of Slaton when two cars were in collision on a curve of the Slaton-Lubbock highway.

Lewis Thomas (Chick) Garland, 61, Slaton grocer, was treated at Mercy hospital in Slaton for head injuries. T/Sgt. Roy Dixon, 33, of the 3500 supply squadron, Reese Air Force base west of Lubbock, was taken to the base hospital for treatment of injuries that were described as merely "painful." His condition was termed satisfactory.

Garland was driving eastward into Slaton. Sgt. Dixon was en route to Lubbock. The sergeant told investigators of the state highway patrol and of the sheriff's office here that he was blinded by the lights of a third car, which did not stop after the mishap.

Eagan spent 39 hours 50 minutes on the ground and 107 hours 25 minutes in flight. Reynolds' itinerary calls for 23 hours on the ground and 96 hours in flight.

His longest stop-over will be Hong Kong—five hours and 55 minutes.

Five-Point drive-in theater, owned by Preston Smith, state representative and theater owner here; a $34.50 radio from Mrs. N. S. McDaniel of 1808 Ave. J, from a business establishment in 700-block Thirteenth; two iron porch chairs from Mrs. W. E. Trammel of 2722 Twenty-ninth; four signs valued at $20 from Raymond Painter of 3003 Twenty-fourth and a $4 rural mail box.

A bale of cotton that fell off a truck was rolled to the corner of Seventeenth and Ave. Q and left for its owner, the police said.

Young Girl Arrested

A 17-year-old girl of 3500-block Twenty-seventh was arrested at 2 a. m. and ordered to report to juvenile officials today in connection with police charges that she was driver of a car that attempted to outdistance police officers in a wild chase in southwest Lubbock the night of Oct. 19. The car she was driving early today was recognized to be the same one, police said. In the chase, she allegedly ran a red light, jumped curbs and raced along stretches of front lawns, turning off her lights at one stage, in efforts to throw off pursuit.

Bond of $5,000 was posted Monday by Nodie Lockett, 42, a Lubbock negro, charged in the shotgun slaying earlier in the day of another negro, Robert Johnson, 36.

Johnson, known as "Mus'hav'it," died about 8:30 a. m. near a gasoline station at 106 Broadway, his body riddled by three loads from a 12-guage shotgun.

Mrs. Bessie Casey, of 2106 Twenty-fifth, complained to police Monday that clothesline valued at $10 had been taken recently from her yard.

The sheriff's office announced the arrest of Robert Lee Powell, 25-year-old negro, of 2810 east Ave. K, on a charge of child desertion. Bond for Powell was set at $1,500 by Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn.

December Is Favored

Members of the commission agreed, if the election is called, it should be held some time during December. City Attorney Vaughan Wilson expressed doubt, however, as to whether a bond election legally could be held that soon. He is to report more definitely to the meeting Friday.

Present at the meeting were Mayor W. H. Rodgers and Commissioners W. B. Price, John Spikes, E. K. Hufstedler and Clarence Whiteside.

Students Honored At Hallowe'en Carnival

LEVELLAND, Nov. 1. (Special)—Crowning of the Carnival Kings and Queens climaxed a colorful Hallowe'en carnival in Levelland Junior High school auditorium last night.

Helen Starr and Glen Clarkson were named high school queen and king, and Marilyn Jean Ethridge and Mack Freeman were named Junior High queen and king. The high school queen and king were crowned by Clyde Walters, president of the student council, and the junior high queen and king were crowned by Dock Sewell, president of the freshman class.

Crown bearers were Jeanine Watson and Ikey Johnson.

Features on the program were selections by the high school band under direction of W. N. Wheeler, and songs and tap dances by Joan Garrison, Ann Dupre and Bonnie Rutherford. The Junior High chorus under direction of Mrs. Tom Sappington.

No Trace Found Of Missing Employe

HOUSTON, Nov. 1. (U.P.) — No trace had been found today of Holman T. Simmons, 47-year-old parking lot attendant, who disappeared early Monday.

Also missing from the lot was a 1948 two-tone blue Hudson car and $75 in cash. Simmons' hat and jacket were found in the office, and Frank Wetzel, manager of the parking lot, believed Simmons had been kidnapped.

"He was an old and trusted employe and would not have left of his own accord," Wetzel told police.

MUCH ADO OVER 3 CENTS

ATLANTA, Ga. (U.P.)—For three cents, the state hopes to convict Homer Ellis of assault with intent to murder Melvin Martin. When the Ellis case comes up, the prosecution will seek to prove that Ellis seriously wounded Martin with a knife because Martin overcharged him three cents for a 12-cent can of smoking tobacco.

PAY CHECKS WILL START AGAIN

Steelworkers Are Jubilant As Bethlehem Signs Contract

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 1 (AP)—There is joy in Bethlehem Steel Corp. centers today—joy because purse strings will not have to be drawn any tighter.

The month old strike is over for employes of the nation's second largest producer of steel.

It'll probably be at least a week before the huge Bethlehem's mills here, at Johnstown, Pa., Lackawanna, N. Y., and other cities get back to full production.

But the pay checks will be coming long before the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays. And that is what made the Bethlehem steel worker and his family happy today.

Picket Tents Down

"When I work I eat," declared veteran millworker James George at Johnstown, where Bethlehem employs 15,000. "I'm glad to go back to work."

His sentiment was echoed by unionists everywhere.

In Bethlehem, where the tents housing pickets at the plant entrances were dismantled in a matter of a few minutes last night, the predominant comment was the same:

"I'm glad it's over."

Picket signs in Bethlehem and Johnstown became just so much kindling wood.

At Johnstown the CIO-United steelworkers were represented in a big Hallowe'en parade with a float decorated with signs setting forth the union demands position in the strike.

Announcement of Bethlehem's settlement filtered through the crowd during the parade. Shortly afterwards, the jubilant strikers tore the signs down and burned them.

Strike Believed Broken

"By this victory, the union's great leader, William Murray, has rendered distinguished service to all America," declared William Theis, union staff representative at Bethlehem.

There was even joy among the thousands of idle millworkers in Pittsburgh though they were not directly affected by the Bethlehem Corp-union settlement.

"If the strike is that close to being over, I guess we won't need these much longer," said John F. Bresko, president of Homestead local 1937, Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., as he tore up picket signs.

Carnegie-Illinois is a United States Steel subsidiary.

"Well, I guess this is it. It looks like the strike is broken," said another steel worker.

"I've got five mouths to feed," added Frank Lanine, a Jones and Laughlin employe. "You can see why I'm anxious to get back to work."

Rites Slated Today For Brownfield Man

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 1. (Special)—Funeral services were to be held here at 2 p. m. today for the 39-year-old father of three children who died Monday in Lubbock General hospital of poliomyelitis.

R. V. Collum, a resident of Brownfield since 1945 and an employee of the Columbia Carbonblack plant in south Terry county, died at 3:10 a.m. Monday after being admitted to the Lubbock hospital Friday. He is survived by his wife and three children and was a World War II veteran.

Funeral services were to be held at the Brownfield North Side Baptist church with Rev. A. J. Franks officiating. Burial was to be in Terry County Memorial cemetery under direction of the Brownfield Funeral home.

Collum's wife and children, Sandra Kay, Bobbie Jannice and Robert Denver, all live in Brownfield. Other survivors include his mother, Mrs. W. K. Collum of Brownfield; three brothers, William A. Collum of Big Lake, Stanley of Lovington, N. M., and Glenn of Brownfield; and three sisters, Mrs. Forrest Pittman, Sundown, Mrs. Frank Reed, Brownfield, and Mrs. Lois Pruitt, Steanville.

Thousands View Hallowe'en Parade In City

HIGH GROUP WINNERS—Shown are the highest winners in the group classifications at last night's annual Hallowe'en parade, sponsored by the City Recreation department. Four individuals were named to the four highest-winning places in the contest, and the above contestants were given a blanket fifth-place rating with a prize of $4 each. They are above, front row, left to right, Bobby Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bennett of 910 Forty-third, Glenn Meyers, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Meyers of 2022 Thirty-eighth, Jackie Homesley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Homesley of 1412 Ave. T; back row, left to right, Gene Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Edwards of 1309 Twenty-sixth, and Janet Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Meyers of 2022 Thirty-eighth. (Staff Photo.)

Linda Garner Prize Winner

Spooks and goblins and witches had their fling last night at the annual Hallowe'en parade, sponsored by the City Recreation department.

And so did schmoos, hoboes, gypsies, mummies, negro piccaninnies, scarecrows, and at least two Frankensteins, to describe a few of the costumed participants in the parade.

An estimated 500 youngsters took part in the annual Hallowe'en parade which wound through downtown streets last night, and in the costume judging later on the Sears Roebuck and company parking lot. A crowd estimated at 10,000 watched the parade from city streets.

The event was directed by personnel of the City Recreation department, including A. Curtis Hamilton, Miss Zora Gifford, Curtis Barrett, Mrs. Paul Turpin, and Bill Selke.

Judges were Miss Quepha Rawls, Holland Cox, and Rev. Charles Lutrick.

First-place winner was Linda Garner, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Glenn Garner, of 3116 Thirtieth, who was costumed as a gypsy. Her prize was $20.

Second place winner was Jane Baggett, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Baggett, of 2418 Twenty-second, who was costumed as one of the "Gold Dust Twins." Her prize was $15.

The third prize of $10 was won by Carol Ann O'Connell, also seven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. O'Connell, of 2117 Tenth, who was dressed as the other "Gold Dust Twin."

Fourth place prize of $5 went to Dick Garner, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Glenn Garner, of 3116 Thirtieth, who dressed as the "spitting image" of Frankenstein himself.

Other Winners Named

Fifth place went to five individuals who were judged in one group. Each received $4. They were Jackie Homesley, of 1412 Ave. T, Bobbie Bennett, of 910 Forty-third, Glen Meyers, of 2022 Thirty-eighth, Gene Edwards, of 1309 Twenty-sixth; and Janet Meyers of 2022 Thirty-eighth.

Others winners named in the contest were:

Seventh—Janet Laxson, Luane Todd, Nancy Wilkinson, Daphne Pemberton, Tom King, Margot

Masked Men Attack Town In Colombia; Death Toll Rises

BOGOTA, Colombia, Nov. 1. (U.P.)—Masked men armed with guns and dynamite attacked a coal mining town near Cali in a renewed outbreak of political fighting, dispatches received here today said.

These reports said the attack became known when two truckloads of women and children arrived at army headquarters in Cali and requested protection.

The refugees said they were from Siloe, a soft coal center four miles south of Cali, the Valle province capital which has been a center of recent bloody political warfare.

They said their town, a collection of hundreds of small houses built on the mountainside, was attacked by "a band of masked men. . . firing arms and discharging explosives."

Two units of troops from the Pinchincha battalion and police forces were sent immediately to Siloe on orders of provincial Gov. Borrero Olano.

Reports of other fire and dynamite attacks at several points in Colombia's western mountains also have been received. One report published by the conservative newspaper El Siglo said that 36 persons were killed in a raid on the village of Arauca in northwest Colombia.

El Siglo said that a number of other victims had been thrown into the Caldas river and that only 36 bodies had been recovered. Another village, Las Playas, also was attacked but reports on casualties were lacking, El Siglo said.

Prominent liberal and conservative leaders met again last night in efforts to reach an agreement which would end the bloody political strife, set off by campaign-

THE QUESTION

Do you think wealth is more important to men or to women?

THE ANSWERS

MRS. J. C. PALES, 316 Ave. W, bookkeeper at Alderson Cadillac Co.: "I think is is more important to women. They feel that they can impress people that way. Women, I think, are more vain than men. They feel that they have to keep up with the Jones' more than men do."

MISS ONA LEE GLENN, 2621 Ruby, stenographer at Pollack Paper Co.: "I think it's more important to women. Women like pretty clothes and by having money, they can get them. I think men are often impressed with wealth, but not as much as women are."

D. D. CHAPMAN, 3108 Twenty-ninth, garage business: "It's more important to women. I think men have a better chance in the world to make their own way financially than women do. Some women seem to try to impress people with their money."

PATRICK WALLER, 3405 Ave. V, delivery man for Dunlap's: "I think it is more important to men. They have the responsibility of supporting a woman. I think that men try to impress people with wealth more than women do."

NOEL CUMMINGS, 515 Ave. Q, postal employe: "I think it's more important to men. They use it for investments and seem to manage it better. I don't believe, however, that men try to make impressions with money as much as women do."

ALOYS BATES, Lorenzo, farmer: "I think it just depends on the person. I think both men and women use wealth as a necessity rather than to impress people."

Princess Not Due In U. S. For Christmas

LONDON, Nov. 1. (INS)—Whatever else Christmas brings to the United States this year, it won't be Britain's Princess Margaret Rose.

Buckingham Palace, taking cognizance of reports the princess would visit the Arizona ranch of Ambassador and Mrs. Lewis W. Douglas this year, said a trip at this time is "definitely out."

Court circles, however, maintained that a visit to the Douglas home in 1950 is still "a distinct possibility."

Editors Hold Texas Session

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1 (AP) — Hundreds of newspaper editors today started a meeting they hope will benefit you.

They want to make Associated Press news as understandable, informative and readable as a letter from home.

Registration for the Associated Press Managing Editors association began this morning.

It is this "family criticism" by managing editors that has simplified and improved" the AP report, the association president said last night.

To Report Findings

William P. Steven of the Minneapolis Tribune then termed the association's continuing study program "the most significant, single movement to improve newspaper service to the reader."

The editors and top AP executives will report the latest findings in their three-year study of the completeness, accuracy and readability of the news dispatched to the 1,200 Associated Press member newspapers by the century-old organization.

Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press; Frank Starzel, general manager, and Alan J. Gould, executive editor, head the list of AP executives attending the meeting.

More than 300 members of the association are expected during the five-day meeting.

Simplicity Is Urged

Steven said the managing editors are urging wire news be reported simply, with examples and background to shed light on the news event.

"And it should be written so that the person who didn't read the paper yesterday can pick up today's newspaper and understand the story."

Starzel reported that censorship difficulty is increasing in foreign countries."

"There is more censorship today than a year ago," he declared.

When foreign news is released under circumstances that hint at propaganda, the AP makes an effort to let its readers know, Gould said.

NO. 1 OF A FOUR-PART SERIES

Explanation Of Amendments In Nov. 8 Election Offered

By H. I. KIEFER
Journal Staff Writer

THIS and succeeding articles will summarize briefly the explanations of and the basic arguments for and against the 10 proposed amendments to the State Constitution upon which Texans will vote next Tuesday, Nov. 8.

Let's look at them in the order they appear on the ballot:

NO. 1

An amendment authorizing the Legislature to provide civil service in counties for county employes upon a vote of the people therein.

THIS proposition is almost self-explanatory. However, it would apply only to counties of 75,000 or more population as shown by the last preceding federal census. Lubbock is the only county in this area which would be affected.

The basic arguments for it are the desirability of civil service and the fact that it could not be put into effect in any county unless the qualified voters of that county approve it.

The chief arguments against it are these: First, it is an attempt by the Legislature to stick its foot further into the door in dictating how local and county affairs shall be run; and, second, it would mean added expense in the counties adopting it—and the authority to increase the tax burden is the temptation to use it.

The weight of the argument appears in favor of approval of the amendment.

An amendment relative to sessions of the Legislature and the compensation of its members.

THIS is by far the most important of the amendments submitted. It would provide salaries of $3,600 a year—$300 a month—for all members of the Legislature. There are 181 of these—31 senators and 150 representatives. They now receive $10 a day during the first 120 days of any regular or called session, and $5 a day thereafter. It would also provide for annual sessions, instead of every two years, during odd-numbered years. It would go into effect next year if a special session is held in January, and Gov. Allan Shivers says he plans to call such a meeting.

The arguments for the amendment are that legislators now are underpaid; that annual salaries would cause better qualified people to seek legislative positions, and that annual sessions would be more business-like on the theory that the Legislature could better foresee and make provisions for state needs one year ahead than two years ahead.

Many Bad Angles

The arguments against the proposition are many.

The contention that annual salaries would mean better legislators is disputed. This strictly is a matter of opinion.

The view also strongly exists that $3,600 a year is more than the job is worth. Probably $300 a month would be small during the few months the Legislature is in session. But it would be quite a lot of cash to hand out during the next six to eight months of the year while the Legislature was not in session and the legislators were doing nothing.

The amendment proposes absolutely nothing in the way of curbs upon the notorious practice of some legislators of making extra money on the side—or of accounting for that money. It is a fact known to Austin observers that some legislators expect extra pay for everything they do. They will introduce and support any bill for a price. The contention that annual salaries would reduce the temptation to make extra cash on the side is contrary to human nature. Those who have their hands out now would still have them out under the annual salary proposal.

ASIDE from that, legislators aren't so bad off in the way of compensation now. When mileage, expenses and various other emoluments of office are added to their per diem pay, they do fairly well. And their prestige as legislators brings nearly all of them extra business in their private capacities—some of it legitimate business—not only while they are in office, but afterward.

As to the annual sessions: Texas has done pretty well with biennial sessions. If urgent business arises, a special session always can be called. Few have been called in the past, which suggests that

REPUBLICAN MEASURE NULLIFIED

President Signs Compromise Bill On Farm Price Supports

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—The compromise farm bill of the 81st Congress became the law of the land today for at least one production season.

President Truman put his signature on the measure late yesterday. He thereby tossed the so-called Aiken law of the Republicans' 80th Congress into the wastebasket before it had a chance to go into effect.

To the surprise of some political and farm circles, the President made no statement in connection with the signing.

Persons in these quarters had expected him to use the occasion to say in effect that the new law is better than the G.O.P. measure, but that he still wanted the so-called Brannan plan.

Seen As Vote Issue

Those close to Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said they felt sure Mr. Truman is as much in favor of the Brannan proposal as ever. The President has given it warm endorsement on several occasions.

"If there has been any change in the White House attitude, we haven't been informed," these officials said. "We feel certain that we would have been told if there were."

A "no-change" attitude would mean that Mr. Truman is still intent on making the Brannan plan a major issue in next year's congressional campaigns for both the farm and consumer vote.

The new law is not too far from price support recommendations of the Brannan proposal. It would permit price supports more nearly in line with the Brannan proposal than would the Aiken law.

The big point of difference is the way the various measures would handle surpluses of perishable products, chiefly meats, dairy and poultry products, fruits and vegetables.

The Brannan plan would allow prices of these products to seek their natural levels. If prices fell below a pre-determined "fair" level for producers, the latter would get government payments making up the difference.

The new law—like the Aiken measure—does not permit this. Instead it requires the government to maintain prices at support levels by removing surpluses from the market by means of government purchases or loans to producers.

Both Mr. Truman and his secretary of agriculture have said the Brannan plan would give consumers a "price break" on surpluses which they cannot get under the present method.

Huge Surpluses Seen

Brannan aides said they expect the new law—like the one it supplants—to provide "silent" arguments for the Brannan plan next year.

They explained that the new law is expected to result in accumulation of hundreds of millions of dollars worth of agricultural surpluses in government hands.

The government already is forecasting losses of $850,000,000 during the next 20 months on surpluses largely dumped abroad to hold up prices at home.

Senator Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of agriculture who was active in getting the new legislation passed, said he was glad Mr. Truman had signed it even if "it is not wholly satisfactory to any group."

Rep. Hope (R-Kas), former chairman of the Houst agriculture committee, said at his home in Garden City, Kas., that it is "a pretty good one for this section of the country," but that he regards it as only temporary.

Heart Attack Claims Test Pilot Who Averted Possible Jet Plane Accident

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 1, (AP)—Test Pilot James L. Younghans sprinted 500 yards across an airport runway yesterday and averted a possible accident — then died of a heart attack a short time later.

The 34-year-old senior jet test pilot for Allison division of General Motors noticed another jet pilot ready for a takeoff across the field. The steps on the plane had not been retracted.

Younghans ran across the field and halted the takeoff. Airport attendants said a serious accident could have resulted if the plane had been taken up.

The veteran pilot, a native of Cincinnati, complained of being short-winded after the incident. He died shortly after he arrived home. The widow and two children survive.

Strikes Hike Unemployment

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP) — Steel and coal strikers seeking new work helped cause a sharp rise in unemployment figures for the first week of October, compared with totals for the month before.

The census bureau reported a rise of 250,000 in jobless workers —bringing the total unemployed to 3,576,000—even though it counted non-job-seeking strikers as "employed."

"Apparently a large proportion of the coal miners and many steel workers were reported as seeking other employment in October, while off from their regular jobs," the bureau said.

Improvement Halted

The report noted that the increase brought to a halt the steady improvement in the nation's unemployment totals which had started in August.

Some officials suggested that miners had gone job hunting because even before their strike they had been ordered on a three-day work week by John L. Lewis, with a resultant loss of income.

Along with its unemployment figures, the bureau gave totals on the number of persons working at non-farm jobs.

Here it ran into an apparent contradiciton, reporting an increase of 36,000, despite a drop of about 400,000 in the number of working men "because of factors directly or indirectly to the work stoppages in coal and steel."

It sought to explain that the conflict resulted from "gains in the number of employed women."

The employment total for the period was 51,290,000.

Brownfield Man Wins Awards At Hog Show

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 1. (Special) —A. D. Wenzel, Brownfield Berkshire hog breeder, is back from Dallas with a bushel basketful of ribbons and cash premiums, which he won on the showing of 15 of his prize hogs at the State Fair of Texas.

He won a total of $268 in premiums and 32 ribbons.

Of the 15 hogs exhibited, he had two grand champions, two reserve grand champions, five champions, two reserve champions, ten first places, three seconds, six thirds, one fourth, and one fifth place.

SYSTEM SIMILAR TO AMERICAN STATES URGED

European Economy Free Of Trade Barriers Is Recommended By Marshall Plan Official

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—Europe must "unify its economy." That is what Paul Hoffman, head of the Marshall plan, has just told Europe.

This is a rough explanation of his meaning. The problem is not simple. The Marshall plan, due to end in 1952, has helped Europe recover.

What may happen after the plan's help ends? Will Europe stumble, stagger and collapse?

Unless it's convinced Europe is making a strong effort to help itself after 1952, Congress may start cutting down the plan before then.

So Hoffman tells Europe to "unify its economy." To understand what he has in mind, first look at the United States of America.

The 48 states all use the same money. None limits what another can send into it. Trade moves across state lines as if they didn't exist.

Competition Stiff

Since the 48 states have about 150,000,000 people, that's a terrific market for sales in any line.

To win that market, the various manufacturers have to compete against one another by selling as cheaply as they can.

That means learning how to make their products as cheaply as possible. The efficient ones prosper, the ineficient go out of business.

The thinking behind the American system is this: by selling at the lowest possible price, through efficient production, you sell to more people.

The more you can sell, the more you want to turn out since it means more profit for you. But the more you can turn out, the greater the need for workers to turn it out.

That increases employment — which means more people with money to spend — and, in turn, creates more customers. And the more things people can buy what they want, the higher their standard of livinng.

Trade Restricted

Although America has 150,000,000 people, all potential customers for American goods moving freely, Hoffman says Europe has 270,000,000 people, potential customers for European goods. But—

In Europe goods don't move freely. There the set-up is different. To see how different, imagine an America like this:

The 48 states are separate and independent. Each has its own money: New York with the dollar, New Jersey with the franc, and so on.

Each state has it sown army, language and national traditions going back hundreds of years. Over those years each state has tried to be self-sufficient, more or less.

To protect the producers from outside competition, each state has set up barriers to make it hard for goods from another state to get in. How? By such divices as tariffs and quotas.

For example: New Jersey and New York manufacturers turn out hats worth $5. To protect its hatmakers, New York has a tariff of $10 on New Jersey hats sold in New York. So in New York a hat sells for $5 but the same $5 New Jersey hat sells in New York for $15.

LIGHTHOUSE MAILBOX—Mailbox at home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Warren, Greater Miami, has milk and package compartment, phone to call house, and lighthouse illumination.

Market Small

Or, as an example of the quota system: New York won't let in more than 100 New Jersey hats a year. Such a quota, plus the tariff, makes it pretty tough for New Jersey hatmakers to sell in New York.

So, with all these obstacles to interstate trade, the manufacturers in each state turn out their goods mainly for he people of their own state. That limits the market and the incentive to produce.

If New York, say, has 10,000,000 people while all 48 have $150,000,000, the New York hatmaker is missing a potential market of 140,000,000.

Since his market is compartively small and competition from outside manufacturers is cut off, the New York manufacturer doesn't produce on a mass basis. So his production costs are higher.

Inefficiency Aided

He'd have to be more efficient, producing more cheaply, if he were competing against hatmakers in all 48 states. But — doesn't he have to compete against other New York hatmakers to capture the New York trade?

Not if the New York hatmakers make deals, dividing up the New York market among themselves so all of them can stay in business. This helps the inefficient hatmaker. He stays in business, his prices stay up.

So when Hoffman tells Europe to "unify its economy," he's urging a European economic set-up like that of the United States: elimination of trade barriers, competitive production for 270,000,000 Europeans instead of the people of just one nation and the jobs and efficiency he thinks that would mean, plus a straightening out of the tangled European money system.

Hoffman is talking on an economic Europe something like the United States. He's not suggesting they all form one government. That might come later or have to follow.

Four Air Force Dead In Crash Identified

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 1 (U.P.)—The Air Force today identified four men who were killed yesterday when their two planes collided while engaging in training maneuvers.

Dead were Capt. Ken P. Carlson, 31, Portland, Ore., and 1st Lt. John L. Messick, jr., 28, Fort Sheridan, Ill., both instructors; 2nd Lts. L. P. Moore, jr., 21, Temple, Tex., and Shelby L. Castleman, 24, Canton, O.

The training planes crashed about 14 miles southeast of San Antonio .

Judy Garland Has To Lose Poundage

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1 (AP)—Judy Garland must shed some poundage or else lose another top role.

MGM bosses huddled yesterday to discuss the possible removal of the singing star from her role in "Summer Stock" and even possible suspension.

A studio spokesman said Judy is some eight pounds overweight and was up for possible suspension because she had ignored another order to reduce.

However, she pleaded for "just one more chance" and it was given her. She also reportedly didn't show up for a studio rehearsal last Saturday.

Last spring, her role in "Annie Get Your Gun" was given to Betty Hutton when MGM said Judy failed to report on a set after lunch. She was suspended for several months then and was reinstated after sometime at a Boston clinic.

Trade Bullets

Firemen were called about 7:20 p.m. Monday to the home of Ruby Hilton at 2324 Sanders where they said a fire which started from a cigaret dropped on a divan spread to curtains, damaging a wall and the ceiling in one room of the residence.

Two Lubbock youths were injured about 9:15 p. m. Monday when they were thrown from a car as the vehicle turned a corner in the Green Acres residential addition of the city. They were identified as Richard Bush, 14, of 2601 Twenty-fifth, and Dane Grant, also 14, of 3402 Twenty-first. Both were admitted to St. Mary's hospital where they will undergo x-rays today. Hospital attendants said both boys suffered injuries to their knees, and young Grant an injury to his head.

Lou Walker, local insurance agent, currently is on 45 days' temporary duty as assistant to Major James Samsel, Lubbock Organized Reserve corps instructor. Walker, a first lieutenant in the Medical Service corps reserve, also commands the 329th Malarial Control detachment, which has headquarters in Lubbock.

Navajo Youth Makes Heap Big Jump From Teepees To Tutors

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 1.—(NEA)—As a child of eight Charlie DeJolie tended his father's sheep and horses in the vast emptiness of the Navajo reservation near Kaibeto, Ariz. He had never been to school—he did not know a word of English.

Charlie DeJolie was endowed with a priceless gift, though. The young Navajo had a will to learn so that some day he could help his people.

Today at 17, Charlie is well on the way to his goal. He has completed five years at a government school at Tuba City, Ariz., three years at the Albuquerque Indian School, and is now enrolled as a scholarship student at Phillips Exeter Academy at Exeter, N. H.

Convinced Father

It was a long and difficult jump from the solitude of the Navajo reservation to the hustle and bustle of one of the best known prep schools in the east.

First he had to convince his father that a school education was more important to a young boy than herding sheep.

School was difficult at first. As he knew no English, interpreters were necessary in the classroom. After five years at Tuba, during which he had learned a fair amount of English, he entered Alguquerque Indian School here.

Then a representative of Phillips Exeter Academy came to the Indian School. He said the Academy wanted to give an all-expense scholarship to some Indian student on a trial basis.

Charlie DeJolie was the unanimous choice of the school faculty.

Permission of Charlie's father was necessary before the young boy could be sent east to school. The necessary papers were sent to the Navajo reservation, and DeJolie approved by affixing his thumbprint to the documents.

Charle has many wondrous tales of the east to relate to his classmates.

"I visited New York City one day," he told them, "and walking down the street there reminded me of walking along the bottom of the Grand Canyon back home."

New England fields are much greener and the grass much higher than the fields and grass of the Navajo reservation, he said.

Charlie said that while he was away he wrote home in English, and that it was necessary for a trader on the reservation to read the letters and translate them for his parents.

"I am not sure what I want to do when I finish school," he said, "but maybe I will study law. Perhaps as a lawyer I could do the most good when I return to the reservation to help my people."

CHARLIE DeJOLIE: On his report card a thumbprint.

Faithful Soldier Of World Wars Will Be Mounted

FORT MONMOUTH, N. J., Nov. 1 (AP)—One of Uncle Sam's most faithful soldiers died last night.

He was Kaiser, the army's 32-year-old carrier pigeon, who had outlived a dozen wives and served his adopted country through two world wars.

Back in World War I, American doughboys found Kaiser in a German front line trench during the Meuse-Argonne offensive. They put the well-trained carrier pigeon to work against the Germans.

During World War II the army used Kaiser to train other pigeons, some of them his own great-great-great-great-grandchildren.

The bird's final resting place will be in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D. C. The long-time Signal corps mascot will be mounted and displayed there.

A barefoot boy in New South Wales, Australia, trod on an $800 lost diamond, plucked it from his foot and won $40 reward.

Prominent Uvalde Businessman Dies

Time Terms suit you to a "T"

There's been a lot of advertising lately about credit terms—No down payment—24 months to pay—only 15¢ a day—and others. In this rather confusing situation, we'd like to explain Anderson's position. Each family has different financial problems, a different budget set-up, and needs its own time-term plan. Anderson's offers you your choice of these five plans designed to fit you and your budget problems to a "T":

Anderson's Lay-A-Way
A small deposit will hold your selection until wanted; then any one of the four remaining plans listed may be used.

Anderson's 30-Day Charge
On this plan buy the jewelry you need now and pay for them by the 10th of the month following purchase.

Anderson's 5-Payment Plan
On this plan you may pay 20% down, the balance in 4 equal monthly payments. (No service charge).

Anderson's Installment Account
On this plan you may or may not make a down payment, pay the balance in monthly installments—according to your needs.

Anderson's Add-on Plan
On this plan you may buy additional merchandise and add them to an existing installment account without down payment . . . and usually without having your monthly payments increased.

We are quite confident that there is a "time [illegible] that will fit your needs—and as we said before, down payments and monthly payments will be adjusted to your particular needs.

Notre Dame Retains Lead In Grid Voting

Three Southwest Loop Elevens Are Listed In Nation's Top 10

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—Notre Dame continues to roll up the score in the Associated Press football poll with 83 per cent of the first place votes in the fifth weekly ratings.

New faces come and go in the top 10 but nobody is close to the Fighting Irish who were ranked first by 133 of the 161 sports writers and sportscasters participating.

It's getting monotonous. Notre Dame in the No. 1 spot and the other members of the "big four" behind them. The rest are stragglers in the voting.

Army Is Second

Army is second, Oklahoma third and California fourth, just like last week. The "big four" cornered all but three of the first place ballots. Oklahoma drew 11, Army 10 and California three. The others went to 10th-place Michigan State (2) and to seventh-place Cornell (1).

Minnesota and Pennsylvania nosedived out of the top 10 after their respective defeats by Purdue and Pittsburgh. Southern Methodist and Michigan State took their places.

None of the "big four" was hard pressed last Saturday. Notre Dame thumped Navy, 40-0; Army ran over Virginia Military, 40-14; Oklahoma walloped Iowa State, 34-7, and California turned back UCLA's challenge, 35-21.

Ponies Are Listed

On a point basis, with 10 for first, 9 for second and so on, the Irish piled up 1,569 to outdistance the pack. The Cadet's second place margin was sliced but they still hold the edge over Oklahoma, 1,323 to 1,308. California has 1,070 points.

Michigan, the only other team except Notre Dame to lead the poll this season, gained support by toppling Illinois, 13-0. As a result the Wolverines advanced a peg from sixth to fifth.

Baylor's unbeaten Bears jumped from tenth to sixth on the strength of a 40-14 ramble against Texas Christian. Cornell moved up one step to seventh on its 54-0 rout of Columbia but Rice, surprisingly, fell from No. 5 to No. 8 despite a 28-0 win over Texas Tech.

Southern Methodist, a 7-6 winner over Texas on Doak Walker's placement, took over ninth position and Michigan State, which faces Notre Dame's powerhouse this Saturday, ruined Temple, 62-14, graduating to 10th place.

Bowling Results

All-State Insurance took over the lead in the torrid Commercial League bowling race last night by taking a clean sweep of three games from the No Name team, while Aztec Inn, former leader, was dropping two out of three games to the third place S & Q Clothiers five.

In other matches, Cadenhead Butane drew closer to the first division with a clean sweep of three games from Hackney's Dental Lab and Lester's Jewelers took two out of three games from West Texas Gas to remain in a tie with S & Q.

T. I. Brown of Cadenhead had high single with 258 and A. F. Christensen of All-State had high series with 698. Cadenhead Butane had high team single with 941 and All-State Insurance had high team series with 2,864.

The team scores:

All-State Insurance (3)—Bill Grenier, 845; Sandy Seigler, 474; A. F. Payne, 588; Cy Barkley, 548; E. A. Christensen, 698. Total — 2, 864. No Name (0)—Jack Seibel, 446; Bob Brock, 464; Bill McCasland, 437; Jack Spangler, 442; O. D. Kennedy, 833. Total—2,648.

Cadenhead Butane (3)—T. I. Brown, 607; Dayle Vannoy, 505; Jay O'Keefe, 601; Ben Brown, 550; Average, 573. Total — 2,836. Hackney's Dental Lab (0)—Perry Anderson, 341; W. E. Austin, 446; Jerry Anderson, 437; Harry Olson, 493; D. W. Hackney, 394. Total-2,716.

S & Q Clothiers (2)—Redford, 474; Henderson, 474; Hilton, 446; Moore, 506; Wickson, 531. Total — 2,669. Aztec Inn (1)—Caddell, 578; Young, 628; Bledsoe, 606; Reed, 489; Nelms, 587. Total — 2,685.

NEW BOWL GAME

EASTON, Pa., Nov. 1. (AP)—The newest football bowl game is the Piggy Bank bowl. It'll be played Nov. 26 at Easton with four midget teams competing. The player requirements are less than 13 years of age and not over 100 pounds.

The north central states of the United States have an unusual number of cases of goiter because the soil and water there is deficient in iodine.

Lubbock Preps For Odessans

The Westerners will be out of action this week for the first time since opening football hostilities Sept. 16, and to date the locals have wrapped up seven straight victories.

Their last start against Lamesa resulted in a 41-14 District 3-AA win, and now the team, under the direction of Coaches Pat Pattison, Fred Taylor and Bill Floyd, is preparing for the next, and what may be the deciding, district contest at Odessa on Nov. 11.

The team appeared to be in good shape Monday as it went through drills, with only a few minor bruises and scratches coming out of the Lamesa game.

Over the weekend members of the squad were given injections to help ward off colds and influenza, and the last shot Monday left some of the players with sore arms.

In the game with Lamesa the first team again played less than one-half the game, leaving after 19 minutes of the tussle with a 27-0 advantage. The score was eventually lengthened to 41-0 before Lamesa found paydirt in the fourth quarter.

Varsity Not Penalized

One encouraging thing about the Lamesa victory was that the Lubback varsity was not penalized a single time the entire time it played. But in the last half the substitutes more than made up for the oversight with penalties totaling 70 yards.

Blocking the first half was extremely sharp, and Halfback Wayne Stroud's 98-yard return of a Lamesa punt was made possible by precision work of the whole squad in cutting down Lamesa defenders. Following a crushing key block by Fullback Malcolm Young, Stroud went to his right sideline and found an open corridor leading to the Tornado goal line.

In practice Monday the Westerners went a normal drill, and accent was on blocking and running of plays. One of the items stressed was protection of the passer until he was able to rid himself of the pigskin. Quarterback Bobby Brown has found himself hemmed in on more than one occasion this year by hard-charging defensive linemen on passing plays, and improvement along this line should help him spot receivers without fear of being thrown for losses.

Running of plays found the offensive and defensive teams working with enthusiasm, and although the body contact was limited in early practice it was easy to see that some of the offensive drives would have gone for long yardage.

Heavy scrimmages will probably be held later in the week, and defensive drills against possible Odessa plays will come in for lots of attention.

Horned Frog Players Get Rest On Monday

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1 (U.P.) — With an idle Saturday staring them in the face, Texas Christian's Horned Frogs took it fairly easy today.

Coach Dutch Meyer gave them a day off yesterday, explaining a rest would do them more good than a workout.

He reported no new serious injuries following last week's loss to Baylor.

The team's next game is with Texas A. & M. next week.

Lubbock Fans Get Tickets For Game

The job of distributing the 5,500 tickets allotted to Lubbock fans for the Odessa-Westerner football game in Odessa on November 11 got underway yesterday at Lubbock High school, and E. J. Lowrey, athletic business manager, described the ordeal as one of the busiest days in his life.

And after more than 4,500 tickets were disposed of to persons applying for them last week, Lowrey paused to praise the sportsmanship and coopreration of the persons who waited in line for their ducats.

Slightly better than half the tickets sold were choice reserve seats, the rest being end zone tickets. But those lucky enough to get even end zone ducats were happy to get them, Lowrey reported.

An additional 1,000 tickets remain to be picked up by fans who reserved them, and Lowrey urges everyone having tickets put back to pick them up today if possible.

No deadline has been set for paying for and picking up tickets, but Lowrey said he hopes to have them off his hands as soon as possible.

An additional 1,500 student tickets will go on sale later in the week. With these sold, approximately 7,000 fans from Lubbock will be in possession of tickets for the game.

Top Spot Held By Westerners

DALLAS, Nov. 1 (U.P.)—Only one major change occurred in the weekly schoolboy football rankings compiled by the Dallas Morning News today.

Marshall, which dropped out of the top 10 a week ago after being upset by Beaumont South Park, bounced back in this week after knocking over the hitherto undefeated, untied Henderson Lions—assuming the No. 5 spot Henderson held a week earlier.

Only other change saw Highland Park and Grand Prairie, who meet in a crucial District 8-AA battle this week, switch places, the Scotties taking over seventh as the Gophers dropped to eighth.

Lubbock Keeps Lead

Lubbock continued to hold the No. 1 spot it gained a week ago, Port Arthur stayed close behind and Wichita Falls trailed a good third.

Corsicana held to fourth, Baytown sixth, Abilene ninth and Austin 10th.

The rankings (with number of first place votes in parenthesis):

1—Lubbock 192 (14)
2—Port Arthur 180 (4)
3—Wichita Falls (2)
4—Corsicana (112)
5—Marshall 76
6—Baytown 69
7—Highland Park 67
8—Grand Prairie 57
9—Abilene 53
10—Austin 34

Second 10—Breckenridge, Odessa and San Antonio Tech, San Antonio Jefferson, Houston San Jacinto, Texarkana, Houston Reagan, Amarillo, Henderson, Gainesville.

Baylor Bears Hold Scrimmage Session

WACO, Nov. 1 (U.P.) — Baylor's Bears weren't letting their 40-14 defeat of Texas Christian last Saturday slow down their practice style today.

Coach Bob Woodruff said he expected a tough game this week with Texas, so yesterday he devoted one hour of the team's workout to pass defense, while the other hour saw first stringers scrimmaging against the B squad.

Defensive Halfback Johnny Curtis won't be able to play against the Longhorns because of a sprained ankle suffered in last week's practice. Woodruff said other injuries should heal in time for the Saturday contest.

Oysters are edible at any time they are gathered, but the idea they should be eaten only in months which have a letter "r" in their name probably goes back to medieval times.

COACHES SPEAK AT GRID CLUB

Fans Warned That Odessa Dangerous

Lubbock High school coaches explained why they won their games this past week, Texas Tech's head mentor related high points in the loss of the Red Raiders and pictures of Southwest Conference teams in action rounded out last night's meeting of the Quarterback club in the Hotel Lubbock.

Damon Hill, Panther coach, was brought forward early in the meeting to relate how his team won its game this week and to explain why he had missed the last two meetings. Coach Hill said that he got all fouled up the first week and last week had sickness in his family that prevented his being present.

The Dunbar mentor said that since he had last appeared, his team had won two games and lost one, being beaten by Abilene in that city. He related that Abilene had many of the same boys that had played for the last three or four years were still playing, especially one big boy named "Shine."

Coach Hill Pessimistic

Coach Hill said that his next game was Armistice Day in Lubbock against San Angelo, the team the Panthers must beat to win the district. The Panther coach shook his head and declared that he didn't see how his boys were going to beat San Angelo, that the visiting eleven was big and reminded him of the Westerners for size.

Coach C. R. Pattison of the Westerners said that he had been a little worried about the mental outlook of his boys after beating Amarillo, but that by the time the game with Lamesa was here, their outlook was about perfect.

Coach Pattison mentioned Wayne Stroud's 98-yard run, pointing out that it wasn't a fluke, but it was a case of perfect timing by all the players. He said that it was the type of play every coach hoped to have happen, but that it was one of chance, that it wasn't planned.

Praises Second Team

The Westerners, according to Coach Pattison, played good ball, but he singled out the second team for especial tribute. He declared that had they played more, they might have duplicated the varsity.

Coach Pattison also warned fans that they were taking Odessa too lightly, that the Bronchos had a fine team and would be ready for Lubbock. He pointed out that Abilene actually had one of the better teams in the state and probably played one of the best games of the season to beat Odessa, so that that game could not be used as a yardstick by which to measure the two elevens.

Coach Dell Morgan of Tech related highlights of the Rice game, expressing disappointment that the Red Raiders didn't score. He told of the Raiders running the proper play for a touchdown twice, and each time the plays failed because players didn't remember their assignments.

Cotton Bowl Movies Shown

The Raider Coach also said that Tech should beat Texas Western by a touchdown this week, even though the Miners would be up for the game since it was homecoming. He said that Tech scouts reported that Western had a 14-13 lead at the half, only to flub the game in the final two periods when Hardin-Simmons came back more determined.

Pictures of the 1948 and 1949 Cotton Bowl games and highlights of 1947 and 1948 Southwest Conference games concluded the night's program. A small crowd attended.

Arrangements have been made to hold all future meetings of the Quarterback club in the Hotel Lubbock, hosts for last night's meeting.

"Platoon Battle" Is Scheduled Saturday

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (AP)—Fordham will try to "out-platoon" Army, the most successful platoon specialists in football, when the two unbeaten eastern teams collide Saturday at West Point.

Ed Danowski, who guides the destinies of the intriguing Rams, is not satisfied with just separate offensive and defensive units. He has a special kickoff unit, a special one to receive kickoffs and another combination when place kicking. That's five in all.

Such finagling is carried on with 30 regulars and an occasional dip into a storehouse of some 15 reserves.

Earl (Red) Blaik, who coaches Army, has indicated he will put some 55 men in uniform for the fray and give the customers a good show of platooning himself.

The game has caught officials in an embarrassing position. It was originally scheduled for New York but because of the Rams' poor record last year (3-6) it was shifted to West Point.

Now everybody's sorry. It would be a real gate-puller in New York where Fordham fans are envisioning a return to the heights the Rams achieved before the war. They were an eastern power year in and year out before de-emphasis set in.

Pyle And Townsend Are Hospitalized

AUSTIN, Nov. 1 (U.P.) — The Texas Longhorn football team had a wholesale injury list today.

Coach Blair Cherry decided yesterday the team had such a rough time of it against SMU last weekend that he gave the players a day off from practice, concentrating instead on a brief indoor session.

Left Halgback Billy Pyle, who twisted his knee in the 7-6 loss to SMU, and Halfback Byron Townsend, who suffered a bruised hip, were hospitalized. Pyle, it was feared, may be out for the rest of the season.

Also on the injured list were End Ray Stone with a pulled groin muscle; End Paul Williams, with a bruised hip from the Mustang encounter, and Tackle Jim Lansford, nursing a leg injury.

How many of the injured players would be in the Baylor game Saturday was something Cherry wished he knew, he said.

Poland now has 1,300 silver foxes on fox farms and will also breed mink and nutria.

Baylor's Burk Is SWC's Top Passer

DALLAS, Nov. 1 (AP) — Adrian Burk, Baylor's passing quarterback, doesn't work nearly so much as other tossers in the Southwest conference, but he's getting much better results.

Statistics released today by James H. Stewart, conference secretary, show Burk to have the amazing average of .638 in completions. He is moving rapidly toward the top in yardage, too.

Lindy Berry of Texas Christian still leads with 77 connections in 154 tries for 1047 yards and Paul Campbell of Texas is second with 66 completions in 128 tries for 996 yards. But Burk has rolled up 869 yards on 69 connections in 108 throws for third place.

In ball-carrying, big Bob Smith, the Texas Aggie battering ram, is well out in front with 451 yards on 97 carries. Randall Clay of Texas is second with 398 on 90.

Berry continues to lead in total offense with 1169 yards on 236 plays. He's better than 200 yards ahead of second-place Campbell who has 940 yards on 152 efforts.

Attendance At Tilts Boosted

DALLAS, Nov. 1. (U.P.)—Southwest conference officials who keep up with attendance figures bowed low in the direction of the Cotton bowl today as they predicted the conference will boast a new home game record attendance mark by mid-November.

Thanks to the fact the Dallas Stadium now can hold 75,345 persons comfortably—and Southern Methodist is playing eight games there this year—the number of conference customers since September was expected to shoot past last year's record 1,052,240 figure before this season is even over.

Game Is Sell-Out

SMU already has attracted 50,000 more patrons than during the entire 1948 season. And the Mustangs have three more home games on their conference schedule, one of them a sell-out now.

In 24 home games thus far played by the seven league teams, 792,700 fans have clicked through the turnstiles, an increase of 41,710 over the same number of games last season and more than the entire 1947 season when 765,500 persons paid to see 32 home contests.

SMU led the list, with 304,000 customers in five games. Texas drew 186,000, counting the Longhorn-Oklahoma sell-out in the Cotton bowl as a "home" game.

Aggies Show Hike

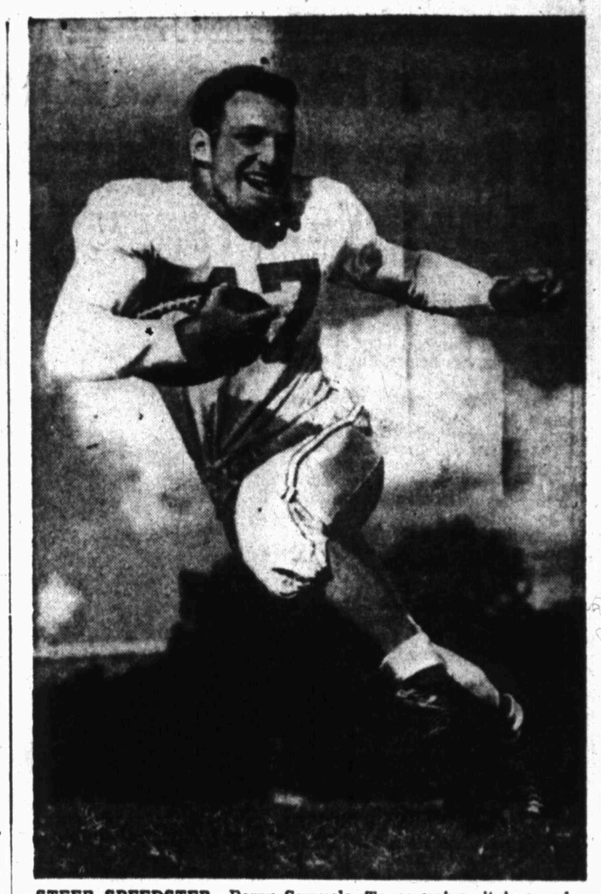

Texas A&M showed the only other notable increase, up 17,500 in three games from last season.

Rice had the largest decrease, down 21,580.

The breakdown with number of games played in parenthesis:

School	1949	1948
SMU (5)	304,000	254,000
Texas (4)	186,000	192,750
Rice (3)	60,700	82,280
TCU (3)	63,000	64,000
Arkansas (4)	83,000	80,960
Texas A&M (3)	70,500	53,000
Baylor (2)	25,500	24,000
Total	792,700	750,990

About 15,000 fires occur annually in the U. S. National forests.

Tackle Bobby Vann Out For Season

Matty Moans As Injuries Hit Crippled Mustang Grid Squad

DALLAS, Nov. 1. (U.P.)—Southern Methodist Coach Matty Bell said today he's just as worried about Saturday's game with Texas A&M as he is about any other game this season.

"That's one we're liable to lose if we're not ready for it he declared.

In getting ready, he sent most of the squad through a brisk workout yesterday. Winning players of last week's game with Texas took light exercise minus pads.

Bell said Bobby Vann, right tackle, probably won't see action anymore this season due to a broken wrist and injured knee received Saturday.

Halfback Frankie Payne also is expected to be out for the rest of the games with a broken hand.

At College Station the defeatweary Texas Aggies felt cheered today by news that their two top safeties, John Christensen and Charley McDonald, may be ready to play Saturday against SMU.

Christensen hurt a shoulder in the A&M-TCU contest two weeks ago, while McDonald hurt his hip against Baylor.

The team worked out yesterday without pads, but Coach Harry Stiteler promised the heavy routine would be resumed oday.

Specimens of Douglas fir trees have been found in Canada which are believed to be more than 700 years old.

Red Raiders Open Workouts For Border Clash Saturday

Texas Western, which will provide the competition for Texas Tech's Red Raiders this Saturday night, began to draw the full attention of Coach Dell Morgan and his coaching staff yesterday, although varsity players seeing the most action in the game against Rice were given most of the afternoon off.

Three consecutive Border Conference games remain on the Raider schedule and the coaches intend to tackle them one by one. Texas Western tops the list and the Raiders intend to tackle them this week at El Paso. In preparation, a long dummy scrimmage and an intensive scrimmage following were on the program yesterday.

Salem At Quarterback

Albert Salem, who came to the Red Raiders from Texas Western, was back in the signal-calling spot yesterday. Salem pleaded with Coach Morgan for another chance at quarterback, a position from which he was shifted to right halfback when a flock of injuries knocked out most of the existing halfbacks.

Salem was throwing the best passes of the season in yesterday's drill, running well with the ball himself and operating the Raider machine in good shape. While he probably will not start against Western, he might see a lot of action.

Tech Spirits Soar

Encouraging to Raider followers yesterday was a return of high spirits on the Tech squad. Players appeared more eager and determined than they have at any time this season.

Part of that is due to their realization that they now have a chance to win since they will be playing teams more nearly in their class. But part of it is due to the fact that they have a strong desire to beat Western as badly as they did last year.

If Tech can build a passing attack this week, they stand a good chance of beating the Miners. It was through the air that Hardin-Simmons did the most damage last week and Coach Morgan is hopeful of finding a similar spark in the Raider camp.

Tech's passing game hasn't been its strongest weapon this year and Saturday it failed woefully. In the early part of the Rice game, passes that hit receivers were dropped and later, when receivers were open, passes overshot their mark.

This will be Tech's third conference fray. They hold victories over two foes, but need to sweep all three remaining games to defend their title successfully. This could be the make or break weekend.

NO REST — After Texas, the big ones were Baylor, and season's final against Notre Dame, Dec. 3, for Coach Matty Bell. The Southern Methodist mentor has little time for relaxation, but gives full credit to the Mustangs' coaching staff, as in up-ending previously unbeaten Kentucky while the incomparable Doak Walker was sitting it out with influenza.

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

We mentioned that we were always glad to pay tribute to a team that continued to fight, even after the score was hopelessly out of reach, and which displayed good sportsmanship. By the same token, we'll extend those felicitations to the Texas Tech players, who fought Rice to a virtually standstill in the second half Saturday after trailing 21-0 at the half. It was a fine recovery and brought them the plaudits of the crowd, which strangely was for the underdog Raiders all the way. In fact, Tech drew as much applause from the supposedly partisan crowd as did Rice.

It's a shame that the Raiders weren't able to score, but it was more their fault than it was Rice's. A guard who forgot to block on a vital pass play robbed them of one score. A back who forgot that he was supposed to keep running hard cost them another. Bad pass protection cost them a third. And bad tackling let the Owls have a couple that they shouldn't have had. But when you come right down to it, it's the age old story of the team making the fewer mistakes beating the one that makes the most. It's one of the big reasons why Tech has been beaten so much this year. Against some teams you can make mistakes and still win. Against a good team you can't. We only hope that the Raiders will come up with a scoring punch for the next three games.

We didn't see the freshmen play Saturday afternoon, but from what we have heard, they didn't look so good. Possibly it was a good thing that they were held so completely in check by Odessa, even though the visitors didn't score. It might teach them that it's all right to be cocky, but you'd better be prepared to back it up with performance and 13-0 isn't much of a performance. As a matter of fact, cockiness on the freshman squad apparently is being extended too far. We hear that several of the players, including some of the good varsity prospects, aren't hitting the books with enough respect. From current reports, a quarter of the present squad stand a good chance of not being on hand next year. For their sake, we hope they realize in time that college and high school are different.

Matty Bell of Southern Methodist, who has won more than his share of games the past three years by one point, reiterates that he is against the extra point as a means of winning football games. We can't entirely go along with his thesis that if you cut out the extra point, teams will try to score more and games will be more pleasing scoring bees for the public. There are just as many 7-7 and 14-14 games these days as there are 6-6 and 12-12. The extra point was put into football after dissatisfaction was expressed with 6-6 and 12-12 games. It was a bonus point that had to be earned—and still does. Players work just as hard for that one point as they do to score from the one yard line. Seldom will you see a team enjoying a one point lead fighting a complete defensive battle to protect the lead. In these days, 21 points seldom is enough, let alone one point.

Bill Lord of Route 6 sent us a clipping recently from Lou Anderson's column in the Corpus Christi Caller that concerns the Lubbock Westerners. Here 'tis: "Up at Lubbock the Westerners have stamped themselves as the team to beat in the state Class AA playoff this year. It wouldn't be surprising if Lubbock and Port Arthur meet for the state championship around next Christmas. If and when they do, based on present strength, the Westerners will win. Lubbock is a pretty good distance from Corpus Christi, but the coaching staff is pretty well known to this corner. Head coach is Pat Pattison, one of the best in high school circles anywhere, who can put a team on the field worthy of the name if you give him one good lineman and one decent back. If he has the decent back, most of the time you can give back the lineman. He's that good.

"Years ago Pattison was coaching at Olney, a fairly small city near Wichita Falls. He used to give all the boys up there a fit every fall, including Wichita Falls, where he later was head coach. Pattison left Olney to coach in Denison, where he had a very good report card, then was in the Navy. Later he returned to Denison for a brief period, then headed for Wichita Falls. He took along Joe Golding, now head coach at Wichita Falls and doing right well now himself, thank you. Pat was preceded at Denison by Logan Stollenwerck, whose assistant was one of the most capable line mentors in the state, Bennie McWilliams. Playing for McWilliams and Strolly, now head coach at Waxahachie, was Fred Taylor, who later starred at end for Texas Christian university.

"Pattison dropped out of the coaching ranks for about a year to go into business, but the old urge got him and he tossed up the venture to go back into the headache profession of coaching. He wound up at Lubbock. Assisting Pattison at Lubbock now are Taylor and Bill Floyd. They started building a club last year and it is now playing dividends. The Westerners shellacked Amarillo 47-7. Try and remember the last time the Golden Sandstorm was kicked around so unmercifully."

Class A Teams Score Upsets

(By The Associated Press)

Class A football is getting down to business and it's an upsetting business for quite a few of the touted little schools.

Kermit, Brenham and West were among those taking it on the chin last week.

Panhandle Teams Tie

New Braunfels and Mount Vernon rolled along in awsome fashion, while Hereford and Dalhart left District One just as jumbled as before. They battled to a 13-13 tie.

The rest of the schedule will have to settle this Panhandle district championship.

Dalhart may have suffered the most. It lost Quarterback Billy Ritter for several weeks through an ankle injury. Perryton meets Dalhart this week, with Hereford playing Canyon.

Lefors, 33-12 victor over Clarendon, still isn't sure of a clear lead in District Two. McLean tied Memphis, 19-19, but the district committee hasn't decided how to count the game.

Lockney Team Wins

Lockney dumped Floydada, 38-13, into a tie with Spur for the lead in District 3. Spur was idle last week.

Littlefield crushed Sundown, 66-0, and its game this week with Sudan may be the title tilt in the north zone of District Four.

Slaton and Post are tied for the lead in the south zone. Post lost to Levelland, 21-12, while Slaton beat O'Donnell, 31-0.

Kermit's 7-13 loss to Monahans left Wink in a good position to take the District 5-A crown. Monahans, the defending state champion, is out of the running as a district contender.

The woman member of the Chertsey, England, Food Committee, was absent recently as a result of food poisoning.

CADET LEADER—T-Formation quarterback Arnold Galiffa has a .500 pass completion mark, directs the Army attack and averages five yards per try as a ball carrier.

Doak Given Credit For Pony Triumph

By STAN OPOTOWSKY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—A quartet of big-time coaches agreed today that the triple-threat football hero still can be a one-man team who controls the destinies of 40 other bruisers.

It happened in the Tennessee upset of North Carolina, when Charley Justice was stopped. And it happened in the Southern Methodist-Texas game, where Doak Walker carried the victory banner.

Matty Bell, the SMU coach, said, "The boys tell me that when Doak got into the game, after being out two weeks with the flu, that was it — everybody seemed alive again."

The Methodists promptly came from behind with a last period surge for a touchdown, and Walker calmly booted the extra point that made the final 7-6 score. "How did I feel when Walker went in there to kick?" Bell mused. "I always have confidence in Doak, regardless of what he is trying to do."

Coach Blair Cherry of Texas felt the same way about Walker. "We've seen him beat us two years in a row, so what would you think when you saw him trot out there with the chance to do it again?"

It was the same story in reverse as Tennessee upset North Carolina. Justice was the big star, but in this case he was stopped—so his team was stopped and the result was an upset.

Carolina's Coach Carl Snavely had little explanation to offer. "Charlie had a hard time getting away because their line smothered our line," he said, "and that was it."

"However," Snavely added, "we were hard hit by injuries all week and couldn't practice. Our injuries forced us to take chances and they backfired."

Coach Bob Neyland of Tennessee said, "no player ever lived who couldn't be stopped on some day. We just stopped Justice by stubborn defensive play."

The story of the backfield star leading his mates to victory was repeated on the Pacific coast, where California beat UCLA, mainly on the merits of Bob Celeri.

UCLA Coach Red Sanders said, "Celeri was the extra edge needed by the Bears. He is the best back I've seen this year. He's a better runner than Harry Gilmer when he was giving my teams a bad time down south."

Lynn Daldorf of the victorious California team agreed. "Our offensive was built around Celeri and the passing attack was clicking. Celeri played brilliant, inspirational ball."

O. L. Slaton Beats Thompson Team, 6-0

The Warriors of O. L. Slaton, victors yesterday over the Carroll Thompson Calfropers 6-0, today look forward to their championship clash Friday afternoon against J. T. Hutchinson.

The Warriors tripped the calfropers yesterday at Chapman Field on a 30-yard touchdown run by Fullback Tommy Lyons. Lyons picked up good blocking to turn in the only score of the game among the seventh and eighth graders in a conference game.

O. L. Slaton now has won two and lost one, with one tie, and needs only a victory Friday to win the championship.

Speedy Warren was outstanding for the losers, while the entire Warrior team turned in a good game.

Two Texas Netters Named Outstanding

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (U.P.)— Ten players from five states today were designated as the nation's outstanding young tennis stars of 1949 by the junior Davis cup committee of the U. S. Lawn Tennis association.

Junior players named were Ronald Barnes of Kansas City, Mo.; Ernest Dubray of San Francisco; James Dye of Tucson, Ariz.; Alan Fischl of Long Island City, N. Y.; Charles Hickox of Berkeley, Calif.; Larry Huebner of Fresno, Calif.; Reynolds McCabe of Lamesa, Calif.; Julian Oates of Waco, Tex.; Richard Squires of Bronxville, N. Y., and Jack Turpin of Dallas, Tex.

Almost three-fourth of pedestrians killed in traffic accidents are struck down between 5 p. m. and 8 p. m. during the seasons when these hours are dark.

TITLE BOUT SET

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1 (AP) — Freddy Dawson of Chicago who has failed to lick lightweight champion Ike Williams in three-non title efforts gets another opportunity Nov. 28 and this time the crown will be on the line.

Connecticut's name comes from the Indian word "Quonectecutt" meaning long river.

U. S. BANS IDEA AS WAR THREAT

West Germany Petitions For Right To Build, Fly Planes

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 1. (AP)—A West German government minister wants to see the Germans building and flying their own civil airplanes again.

But an American occupation spokesman says the Germans won't be resuming commercial flying "for a long, long time."

Every kind of aviation activity is now banned for the Germans, and civil airplane plants can lead to another Luftwaffe and war planes. That's how Nazi Air Marshal Hermann Goering built up Hitler's air force.

The opening wedge in the campaign to rebuild Germany's civil air services came from Dr. Hans Christoph Seebohn, West Germany's minister of transport.

Desires Outlined

In a weekend speech in the Ruhr, and in an interview, he advocated:

1. Immediate return of all civilian airfields and installations to German hands;

2. The right for Germans to carry on commercial aviation with foreign-built planes;

3. Ultimately, permission for Germans to build civilian planes and take part in European commercial aviation.

All German civilian air fields now are under the control of the Allied air forces or the Allied high commissioners. In four of the five American zone fields, an American already are running the ground aviation expert said Germans are operations under limited Allied supervision.

U. S. Cautious

But the spokesman said, the Americans "have no intention of allowing the Germans to resume commercial flying for a long, long time." He added:

"We also intend to keep control of what planes fly in and out over Germany, and as for airplane construction that is out of the question, too. We don't want to see an air force grow out of a commercial fleet."

To this, Seebohm replied:

"Everybody knows today that in view of present technical developments, you can not use a civilian aircraft as a military plane, and not even as a useful troop transport."

TWIN QUEENS—Frances and Elizabeth Sechrist, 21-year-old twins, reigned together as queens of Hamline university's homecoming festivities at St. Paul, Minn. The girls, daughters of the Rev. and Mrs. F. L. Sechrist, Harmony Minn., were crowned after winning out over a field of 14 contestants.

Schoolgirl Slayer Of Mother Placed In Aunt's Custody

OAKLAND, Calif., Nov. 1. (AP) A 15-year-old schoolgirl who killed her mother with a butcher knife was formally sentenced yesterday—to "a home with love and care."

Placed in the custody of an aunt, the girl will remain a juvenile court ward until she is 21.

Superior Judge Albert T. Shine said "the facts were insufficient" to substantiate a finding of murder against the girl, Celeste Morrow. He also refused to make a finding of manslaughter. Testimony at the hearing he conducted indicated the mother, Mrs. Walter Morrow, 41, had been drinking and that Celeste's home life had become "intolerable." A quarrel ended in the slaying two weeks ago.

"She needs a home with love and care," the judge declared, "awarding custody to Mr. and Mrs. William Harsh of Berkeley.

Testimony, the judge remarked, showed that Celeste was not fully aware of her act: "It was the result of pent-up emotions and frustrations."

Drunk Fined $25; $1 For Each Beer

LONG BEACH, Calif., Nov. 1. (AP)—Twenty-five bottles of beer is just "average drinking" to Rex Torbert, 50.

He pleaded gilty yesterday to a drunkenness charge before Municipal Judge Harry F. Keeler.

"How many drinks did you have," asked the judge.

"Twenty-five bottles of beer," replied Torbert, "but your honor, that was over a 12 hour period—just average drinking."

"Then I'll give you an average fine of a dollar a bottle."

Torbert, unable to pay the fine, went to jail for five days—an average slay.

U. S. To Keep Okinawa Base

OKINAWA, Nov. 1. (AP)—The United States plans to stay put on this island base only 400 miles from the China mainland, now almost gobbled up by the Communists. Okinawa has a new $73,000,000 building program.

The program includes quarters for troops and their families; hangers, warehouses, supply buildings and repair shops. It will be rushed under direct authority of General MacArthur, who has set up a special section in his Tokyo headquarters. Top engineers already are here.

The reason for urgency is twofold:

1. Residents are continually battling typhoons which tear away quonset huts in which most of them are housed.

Ownership Disputed

2. The new decision to build up the island ended a long period of indecision which prevented allotment to funds for housing. This decision has been made by the joint chiefs of staff in Washington.

A bill designating $73,000,000 for construction of Okinawa was signed by President Truman last week. The job will be done in two years with the first units ready in six months.

Hangers, housing and other facilities will be built to withstand the typhoons which are spawned on an average of 45 a season in the Western Pacific. Six or eight usually buffet Okinawa each year.

The request for Congress to provide construction funds was the tip-off that the U. S. is here to stay for a long time. The U. S. took the island from the Japanese at a cost of 7,000 American lives. Its ownership still has not been decided. It has been claimed at various times by China, the Philippines and Japan.

Warlick Carr Winner Of Award As Speaker

Warlick Carr, speaking on the subject of "Our American Heritage," won the president's cup as best speaker of the evening at the Toastmasters' club, Hub Chapter 660, Monday night in the Hilton hotel.

Carr's talk headlined a program which featured C. J. Hollingsworth, W. D. Rogers and Lonnie Langston as speakers and Gene Quest as topic master. Critics were Dr. Weston Pettey, Winston Robertson, A. S. Meinecke and Dr. Jim Reynolds.

Leland Culp, Louie F. Moore and Maj. Dean Brown were announced as new associate members.

Dr. Mina Watkins was toastmaster for the program.

THREE CABINET OFFICIALS QUIT

Italian Coalition Government Threatened By Unity Wrangle

ROME, Nov. 1. (AP)—Italian socialist wrangling today threatened to upset Premier Alcide De Gasperi's coalition government.

Dissension among the nation's small groups of moderate, anti-communist socialists brought the sudden resignation last night of three of their number from De Gasperi's cabinet.

While the moderate socialists count for little in the overwhelmingly Christian-Democrat government, their action may automatically cause the entire cabinet to fall. Should their resignations stand, traditional parliamentary procedure requires the premier and his whole cabinet to resign.

In that event, De Gasperi's reappointment to form a new government seems certain, since his Christian-Democrat party won a heavy majority in the 1948 general elections.

Eight-Hour Strike Called

Those resigning were Vice Premier Giuseppe Saragat, leader of the Italian Socialist Labor party (PSLI), and two other PSLI representatives, Minister of industry and Commerce Ivan Matteo Lombardo and Minister of Reconstruction Roberto Tremelloni.

They stepped out of the cabinet after the party decided that action might help to get a merger of all of Italy's anti-communist socialists. Internaional socialist leaders have been urging such a union for some time.

The action came during an eight-hour nationwide general strike called by the communist-led General Confederation of Labor to protest the deaths of two peasants in a clash between land-hungry peasants and police in the deep southern part of Italy.

The peasants were attempting to occupy farmlands.

Arrests Demanded

The walkout which ended at midnight last night, halted the public transportation and closed factories. This morning busses were running on schedule and workers returned to their jobs. However, the communists threatened further strike action unless the government arrests the policemen responsible for the deaths of the two peasants.

The resignation of the three socialist ministers brought forth a delaying action from Premier De Gasperi, a master of the stalling technique of politics.

The premier said he would spend all Saints' day today in the Franciscan town of Assisi and on Wednesday would try to persuade the trio to remain in the cabinet.

Italy's socialtists are split into several groups ,the largest being that led by pro-communist Pietro Nenni. The anti-Communist socialists in turn are divided into several factions, including the PSLI led by Saragat and another anti-red group led by Giuseppe Romita, former minister of interior.

Criticism Blasted

Other socialists have accused the Saragat group of wanting their government jobs more than they want party unity.

But in announcing that merger of the moderate socialists has "priority" over continued participation in the government, Saragat's party took further steps that seemed to deepen rather than ease the schism among the anti-red socialists.

They blasted other socialist movements for their criticism and withdrew from the inter-socialist "unification committee" set up to pave the way for the merger.

The PSLI said it would seek to unify all "democratic socialists" around itself.

The party's withdrawal from the unification committee "saddens me deeply," said Romita, the other anti-Red socialist leader. He said he would call a "unification" congress of his own.

Texans Not Hurt In Light Plane Crash

McCRORY, Ark., Nov. 1 (AP) — Two Texans climbed uninjured from their light plane a few minutes after it crashed last night, police said today.

The pilot of the plane was identified as R. S. Ford of Marshall. His passenger was H. S. Reynold of Atlanta.

State police said the plane crashed near the city limits of McCrory, which is in the northeast section of Arkansas.

Fourth Victim Of Car Collision Dies

Funeral services were to be held at 2:30 p.m. today for Maregilde Gaytan, 50, of 221 Ave. P, his 2½-year-old daughter, Nuevens, and his brother-in-law, Grajorio Castillo, all killed as the result of a headon collision near Hale Center Sunday.

Rites for Robert Jackson (Uncle Bob) Ritchey, fourth victim of the mishap are indefinite pending arrival of relatives, the Roy G. Wood Funeral home of Plainview has announced. Ritchey, who lived near Hale Center, died at 1:30 a.m. Monday in Plainview hospital.

Meanwhile, three other persons who were riding in the Gayton car at the time of the accident about eight miles southwest of Hale Center remained in hospitals. They are: Mrs. Gaytan, 40, and her daughter, Agrora, 18, both in the Plainview hospital; and Joe Martinez, 19, of Hondo, who was described in fair condition at Hale Center hospital.

Mrs. Gaytan is in serious condition with head injuries and possible internal injuries, hospital attendants said. Her daughter suffered an eye injury. Another daughter, Oriola, has been dismissed from the Hale Center hospital.

Gaytan and the youngest child were killed outright in the crash.

Services for the Gaytan's and Castillo were to be held at the Latin - American Full Gospel church, with Rev. Salazar, officiating. Burial was to follow in the City of Lubbock cemetery.

Football Team Gives Mass Blood Donation

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP) — A mass blood donation—arranged by an amateur football team of war veterans—was given yesterday for a four-year-old girl.

The girl, Randy Farbman, of Brooklyn, has leukemia and needs repeated transfusions.

The Bay Ridge Rockets team heard about her condition, and arranged with a blood center for a donation of 40 pints of blood by members of the team and their friends.

Explanation Of Amendments Is Offered

the state usually can get along just as well without them.

Would Increase Taxes

And common sense people know from practical experience that every session means additional taxation. Taxes are bad enough with the legislature meeting every two years. What would they mount to if meetings were held every year?

Then, there is another thought:

If this amendment is approved, it is a leadpipe cinch a special session will be held in January so that legislators can begin collecting that $300 a month during the entire year.

Maybe the session will be held anyway. But a good many legislators may cool off toward the idea if the $300-a-month incentive is removed. Some legislators think the session unnecessary. The governor himself has questioned its necessity.

Possibly a majority would swing to that view if the amendment is defeated.

If so, it would mean dollars in the pockets of most Texans.

Service Set Today For Paducah Woman

Funeral services for Mrs. Bertha Ann Taylor, 69, Paducah resident who died at 9 a. m. Monday in Lubbock Memorial hospital were to be held at 3 p. m. today in the Missionary Baptist church of Paducah.

Interment will be in Paducah cemetery under direction of Rix Funeral home.

Interment was to be in Paducah cah 27 years. She has been a patient in the local hospital for several days before her death.

She is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Floyd Weir, Fort Worth; Mrs. Pearl Slack and Mrs. Otis Weir, both of Lubbock; Mrs. J. D. Odom, Fort Worth; and Mrs. W. A. Van Broddyn, Muskegon, Mich.; five sons, W. N. Taylor, and J. H. Taylor, jr., both of Lubbock; A. J., Guy and Joe Taylor, all of Paducah; one brother, J. C. Rone, Lynn; three sisters, Mrs. Sue Farmer, Memphis, Tenn.; Mrs. Jesse Free, Bonnville, Miss.; Mrs. Cliff Sarton, Memphis, Tenn.; 34 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Ten Negro Children Okay After Incident

CROCKETT, Tex., Nov. 1 (AP)—Only one of 11 negro children overcome by fumes from a leaking exhause pipe will remain in the hospital.

Attendants said the others would be released.

The children were overcome yesterday as they traveled to Crockett in a school bus.

School authorities released no statement. No names were released.

WHAT NEXT

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Nov. 1 (AP)—Mrs. Ann Podciborski had her first child, Ann, 10 years ago. Two years later she had twins, Jeffrey and Johanna, now eight. Yesterday she presented her proud husband, Sigmund, with triplets, all boys.

College Begins Fund Campaign

NATCHEZ, Miss., Nov. 1 (AP)—Rich in tradition but poor financially, Jefferson military college today began a fund raising campaign directed by former Vice Admiral Aaron Stanton (Tip) Merrill.

The 147-year-old prep school had expected to solve its desperate financial situation with a $50,000,000 endowment. The board of trustees turned down the offer last week, however, when it learned millionaire donor George Armstrong wanted the college to advocate white supremacy.

Merrill, famed commander of task force 39 in the Pacific during World War II, agreed to become superintendent of the college if it reaches financial security. Meanwhile, he became chairman of the school's endowment committee and public relations officer during the campaign.

Contributions Received

A. J. Armstrong, son of the oil and steel millionaire, resigned last night as trustees and business manager of the school. Gerard Brandon, jr., Natchez attorney and son of the board president, was named to succeed him as trustee.

The board and Merrill felt that enough contributions would come in to save the school which Jefferson Davis, first president of the confederacy, attended as a student. James Audubon, the naturalist, once taught there.

Already the school had received contributions ranging from $5,000 from Nathan Klein, ice cream manufacturer of Houston, Tex., to $100 from the Argo Lodge 413 of B'nai B'rith of Washington, D. C. The Chicago negro chamber of commerce also sent $100 as "a token of our interest in your refusal to sell yourselves and your school for $50,000,000."

ing for the Nov. 27 presidential elections.

No agreement was reached, but a liberal source said the peace plan would be debated Wednesday in the senate. The plan calls for a four-year delay in elections. During this time the country would be ruled by a liberal-conservative junta with wide powers.

10-Day-Old Baby Is Victim Of Accident

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 1 (AP)—A 10-day old baby, San Juana Rodriguez, was killed yesterday afternoon and two other persons injured in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Ramiro Rodriguez, a resident of Laredo, and a nephew, Jesus Vasquez, 14, also of Laredo, were hurt.

Rodriguez told police he was towing a second car when his brakes failed. The cars plunged down a hill, the first overturning and spilling its occupants out.

CIO Union Ready To Toss Out Pro-Communist Labor Chiefs

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 1 (AP)—The CIO national convention will adopt legal machinery today to throw out its dozen pro-communist unions and remove from positions of power all left-wing CIO union officials.

The left-wingers were keeping secret whatever plans they have to oppose the proposed changes in the national CIO's constitution.

The scheduled convention actions will:

1. Remove from the powerful CIO national executive board officers of the CIO's 12 left-wing affiliate unions;

2. Make it impossible for any left-winger to get on the board in the future; and,

3. Empower the executive board to expel any CIO union that consistently follows the communist party line or supports any program contrary to "the objectives and policies set forth in the constitution of the CIO."

Ratification Expected

The all-inclusive constitutional changes are expected to be ratified by the convention with opposition from the left-wing delegates only.

Whether this opposition will be heated or just token was not known. The left-wing union officials had no comments for newsmen on what they might do at the convention sessions.

Harry Bridges, perhaps speaking for the pro-communist bloc, told reporters to "wait and see what happens."

The constitutional changes pave the way for the convention to toss out at least three pro-communist CIO unions—the huge electrical workers, farm equipment workers and the mine, mill & smelter workers unions.

To Raid Membership

Advance speculation among delegates was that all three of these left-wing affiliates would be expelled by the convention tomorrow. The convention then is expected to set up right-wing unions to raid the memberships of the leftwingers.

All in all, the left-wing bloc has 12 unions representing about 650,000 CIO members.

The pre-convention strategy of the dominant right-wing CIO leaders was to toss left-wing officials off the executive board, expel some pro-communist unions and then give the executive board power to kick others out of the CIO before the end of the year if they didn't mend their ways.

CIO President Philip Murray made it clear yesterday that this policy, at least, would be carried out.

He told convention delegates that they are expected to "cleanse" their union of communist elements before the week is out.

CLUB HOUSE OPENED TO PUBLIC—New Deal's new community clubhouse will be open to the public at a silver tea to be given from 6 to 10 o'clock tonight by Monroe Home Demonstration club, which sponsored the building project with help of the community. Members of the Home Demonstration club and Ottis Isom, Lubbock county commissioner, were leaving the building when the above photograph was made. The county commissioners court provided money for the structure, which cost approximately $13,500. The building, which is 50x36 feet, contains a 22x50 entertaining room, kitchen, nursery, children's play room and two rest rooms. (Staff Photo.)

Tito Boosts Defense By Calling Reserves

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Nov. 1 (AP)—Marshal Tito, bolstering his defenses, has called back to duty a number of reserve officers, technicians and specialists. This is not a general mobilization of reserves, but the move emphasizes Yugoslavia's general preparedness against possible attempts by the Moscow-led Cominform to overthrow the Tito regime.

In addition, the regular autumn call-up of recruits has begun, and one can find lines of marching teen-agers along Yugoslav roads, headed for their two years of compulsory military training.

Tito has declared his army must be on the alert and must strive to maintain the highest degree of efficiency. He has charged Russia and her obedient satellites with pressing their troops on Yugoslavia's borders in an attempt to make the independent-minded Yugoslavs "lose our nerves."

Marriage Results In Meat Loading Strike

ROMFORD, England, Nov. 1 (AP)—A wedding led to a strike here.

Jack Murton, a meat loader, got married and went off on a three-day honeymoon.

His three fellow loaders at the wholesale meat supply depot asked for a substitute. Refused, they struck.

DEATH SENTENCE UPHELD

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 1 (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme court today decreed death in the electric chair for a former Texas convict. In a unanimous opinion it upheld the county jury's verdict in the cases of Robert Louis Smith, found guilty of first degree murder for firing five shots into the back of his former wife, Mrs. Sally Mae Barner, 40, near the University hospital in Little Rock last May 4.

Three Children Burn To Death In Home

BAY CITY, Nov. 1 (AP)—Three small children burned to death yesterday when fire swept their home.

Dead were Jimmie Sliva, 3, Robbie, 2, and their baby sister, La Verne.

Mrs. Sylvester J. Sliva said the fire broke out while she had gone next door to make a telephone call.

She said she was attracted by smoke and returned home, but found she had apparently locked the front door on leaving. She had been gone about five minutes.

An unidentified motorist stopped and broke through the door, but was driven back by flames.

Fire Chief Fred Friday said origin of the fire had not been determined.

Detroit Man To Get Dallas Sanity Test

DALLAS, Nov. 1 (AP)—A 43-year-old man who came here from Detroit is in jail awaiting a sanity test.

Why?

Officers said yesterday he dusted downtown pedestrians with a large feather duster and then tried to hand each of them a dollar.

Another trouble with this country is that there are so many in it who put their own welfare ahead of that of the nation.

ONE OF these fine days, representatives of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. are going to show up at a meeting of the Lubbock City commission and ask for a sizeable increase in phone rates here.

That's the pattern all over the country.

Like the unions, Old Lady Bell always has an eye peeled for more pay, and, like the unions, Old Lady Bell sometimes comes up with some good arguments.

It's a plumb good bet that the City of Lubbock will have to grant some sort of increase to SWB here. The telephone company's operation expenses are like those of everyone else doing business under Truman inflation: they are way up. Further, Southwestern Bell has to spend considerable dough here to keep up with telephone needs and is preparing to spend more.

We don't know whether or not the City commission here has been gathering information on requests of the Bell companies over the nation for higher rates, or on the various bases of settlement. But if official Lubbock hasn't been gathering the figures, it should start now.

As is the case with all bargainers, the Bell companies have been asking for a lot more than they've been expecting to get, then settling for something less.

That the Southwestern Bell will do the same thing here is to be expected.

THAT'S one point for Lubbock's City officials to keep in mind. And here is another:

When the Bell companies start out after rate hikes they do not say anything—if they can avoid it—about one very lucrative angle of their business: to wit, the "yellow pages" in the phone book.

Your guess is as good as anyone else's about the amount of revenue involved in the "yellow pages" in Lubbock. But since there are 236 "yellow pages of advertising in the current directory, as compared to 106 pages of listings, there's bound to be a lot of gold in them hills. Many, many thousands of dollars.

In their hagglings-to-come with the phone company, commissioners ought to keep that in mind.

The reason SWB hasn't already sent its rate raise squads into Lubbock is because our last raise came back in 1941 and in many places over the country rates have remained unchanged for a longer period of time.

Current rates here are quite good, from the subscriber's standpoint, as compared to many rates—perhaps most of them—over the nation.

But since Bell's Mountain States company—covering El Paso, through New Mexico and Colorado—has just completed rate raise negotiations, our turn may be just around the corner.

THE El Paso City council just got through settling with Bell and what was done down there should give us an idea of what is likely to happen here.

The Bell company asked for rate increases ranging from 12 to 14 per cent and settled for a flat 7 per cent—in El Paso's case a hike of $146,000 per year, against $275,000 asked.

Here's the way the settlement went down there:

MONTHLY RESIDENTIAL RATES	Present	Asked	New
Individual	$4.00	$4.75	$4.45
2-Party	$3.25	$3.75	$3.50
4-Party	$2.95	$3.25	$2.95

MONTHLY BUSINESS RATES	Present	Asked	New
Individual	$8.75	$10.75	$9.85
2-Party	$7.00	$8.50	$7.85
4-Party	$5.50	$6.00	$5.80

Lubbock's current rates are as follows:

Residential — Individual, $2.75; 2-party, $2.25; 4-party, $2.

Business — Individual, $6. (No party lines in business service).

If our City commission makes a deal comparable to that made in El Paso, we may expect our rates to run something like this:

Residential—Individual, $3; 2-party, $2.45; 4-party, $2.20.

Business—Individual, $6.50.

Of course, we have no way of knowing how much SWB will ask of Lubbock in the first place; how much less it will be satisfied to settle for—or how good the Lubbock City commission may be at trading.

But if Lubbock can get as good a deal as El Paso got—speaking of percentage of rate hike — everybody should be pretty well satisfied.

DOWN here in the busy, growing, up-and-coming Southwest it is hard for us to realize that in some of the older sections of the country "things haven't been so good" recently.

We have the idea that the post-war boom still is rolling along; that there are jobs for everybody and everybody has some money to spend.

But that isn't true. At least, it hasn't been true in recent months, although conditions generally are a little better than they were last Summer.

"Fortune" magazine, in its current edition, presents a report of its check of 27 of the nation's 32 sections designated last Summer by the government as "distressed" areas. A "distressed" area, by government measurement, is that which has 12 per cent or more of its employables without employment.

In half of the 27 places checked by Fortune, unemployment ranged from 15 to 20 per cent. In three of them, unemployment was over 25 per cent.

What did Fortune find, generally speaking? Did it find management and labor getting together to solve the mutual problem?

In most cases, says Fortune, there was no such getting together. Mutual distrust, instead of mutual effort, was the order of the day.

But in two spots, management and labor did co-operate to help each other: in Lawrence, Mass., and Providence, R. I. In these cities, the employers and the union officials sat down together, revamped their operations, and helped a lot of people as well as each other.

IT WOULD seem to anyone with a brain cell working—whether he happened to be on the side of labor, or of management — that heavy decline of business, resultant unemployment and loss of money all around call for the laying aside of cudgels and united efforts to benefit the whole.

But if Fortune's check of "distressed" areas is any criterion, both management and labor have a long way to go in adjusting themselves to "normal," or "subnormal" economic periods.

That isn't very cheering.

But perhaps the fact that it isn't cheering will wake up a lot of people all over the country and will bring about a change in thinking in other areas later visited by slumps.

At any rate, let us hope so.

BY DREW PEARSON: NAVY'S WATCHDOG UNIT SAVES TAXPAYERS THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS

Rep. Lynch Tells Insurance Firms Honeymoon Over

WASHINGTON.—While certain admirals were attracting the national spotlight with broadsides of criticism on capitol hill, another navy unit was patriotically retrieving thousands of dollars for the taxpayers without attracting any attention at all.

PEARSON

This unspectacular nose-to-the-grindstone outfit was the Pittsburgh office of the supervising inspector of naval material. With headaches instead of headlines for a reward, this watchdog unit went through navy contracts looking for bugs. As a result, enough bugs were combed out of the navy's contract with the Canonsburg Steel and Iron company to reverse the company's claim for $1,346,306. Instead of paying Canonsburg, the navy collected $574,157.

In another case, the admirals had gloated over purchasing $1,131,188 worth of material from the Cooper-Bessemer corporation at the bargain scrap price of $63,251. The watchdog unit discovered, however, that this wasn't such a bargain after all. For, believe it or not, the navy had bought its own material, already paid for by the navy.

But thanks again to the watchdog unit, Westinghouse Electric corporation was ordered to shell out an additional $18,724 for equipment that it had bought from the Navy for 2 per cent of the original cost. The navy unit also cracked down on the company owned by Perle Mesta, U. S. minister to Luxembourg and famed dinner hostess to President Truman. The Mesta Machine company had tried to charge the navy $36,000 for maintaining a navy plant, but the watchdog unit took exception to a few items, including 100 per cent for overhead, and cut the bill down to $22,400.

When the bureau of yards and docks tried to give away a navy building erected on the property of the National Tube company, the watchdog unit stepped in and finally sold the building for $24,800.

In another instance, navy-owned electric furnaces and industrial equipment were lying idle. So the watchdog unit got busy and leased this equipment to the Allegheny Ludlum Steel corporation for $709,000.

Another company, the Elliott company, tried to buy a navy office building for $38,100. Just as the contract was about to be signed, the watchdog unit moved in with its inspectors and adding machines. As a result of a more careful appraisal, Elliott company had to pay $60,725.

NOTE—The man in charge of the navy unit which is doing such a good job of saving the taxpayers' money is Capt. M. C. Barrett. His chief assistants are Comdrs. P. Page and J. K. Kennedy.

Truman's Waistline

Though the President jokes about his expanding waistline, actually he watches his diet carefully. The other day at lunch, Truman ate two pieces of home-cured country Missouri ham—an unusually large portion of meat for him. The dessert was ice cream and chocolate cake. Looking at the cake wistfully, Truman turned timidly to Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, White House physician, and asked:

"Doc, can I have a piece of that good chocolate cake?"

"No, sir," replied Dr. Graham sternly, 'you can't, Mr. President."

"That's all I wanted to hear," retorted the President as he boldly reached for a big piece of cake.

"I'll see you at 5 o'clock," warned the White House physician, referring to the President's exercise period.

Truman started talking to his guest, Senator McFarland ate a few crumbs of the delicious cake. Despite his braggadocio, he took Graham's warning seriously.

CONGRESSMAN Walter Lynch of New York bluntly informed the big life insurance companies at a closed-door session of a ways and means subcommittee last week that the gravy train they have been riding for the last three years had reached the end of the line. A loophole in the tax laws, enabling the companies to escape billions of dollars of income taxes, is going to be closed.

Furthermore, Lynch warned the insurance executives that they might as well quit protesting about paying up retroactive taxes.

"These obligations due the government are going to be collected one way or another—and I mean retroavticely," Lynch served notice at a closed-door meeting. "The honeymoon is over."

He offered the insurance tycoons either of two alternatives:

1. A "stopgap" bill, pending revision of the tax laws, requiring the companies to pay taxes on all above 92 per cent of their income from investments for the years 1948 and 1949. (Under a tax law formula written in 1942, tax exemptions on investment income have amounted to 100 per cent in the last three years.)

2. If the companies don't want to make retroactive payments for two years under this bill—already introduced by ways and means Chairman Bob Doughton of North Carolina—Lynch proposed that they pay up for all three years (1947, 1948 and 1949) under a so-called "average valuation" formula.

This would amount to an across-the-board lowering of tax deductions for all insurance firms, without regard to surpluses in reserve funds.

However, the insurance execs, led by A. J. McAndless of Lincoln National, Fort Wayne, Ind., vigorously objected to both proposals. They were in no position to make retroactive payments of any kind, they insisted, since the money that normally would go toward the tax payup already had been distributed as dividends.

"Well, make up your minds," replied Lynch. "You may as well realize that you can't ride free any longer."

When McAndless protested that the life insurance firms were not prepared for such a sudden blow at their reserve funds, and that retroactive payments would endanger the stability of a number of companies, Lynch shot back:

"Why, you've been put on notice as long as two years ago, when you first discussed your exemptions with the treasury department. You've known all along that you would have to make good on these unpaid taxes some day. So you can't accuse the Congress of dealing with you arbitrarily."

McAndless and colleagues finally suggested that 1947 and 1948 taxes be written off with the 1949 and 1950 taxes paid—if the taxable floor in the Doughton bill was raised from 92 to 95 per cent of investment income. Lynch flatly rejected this, however, and gave the insurance executives until today (Nov. 1) to make up their minds on his two-way proposal.

What Price High Wages?

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Suckers Of Today Make High Spenders Of 20's Seem Cheap

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—I was not running around this wicked city in the 20's, and so cannot tell you at first hand whether they were as tumultuous as claimed, but I certainly do not believe the jazz decade had any corner on exploitation of the willing sucker.

RUARK

The older boys gather round the bar at tea-time to tell you about Texas Guinan's raucous welcome of the suckers, they speak with real nostalgia of the sheep-dip they drank at Mike's and the vintage varnish they consumed at Pete's, and they brag about all the money they had to spend in a blind search of fun. This would almost lead you to believe that the chump had vanished from the land, or at least had dwindled to a rare few.

I toss this in as a preface to the fact that tickets for the musical "South Pacific," are scalping at $50 each—each, not the pair—and finding all the takers necessary to keep the house packed. One Hundred clams, for an evening's entertainment for a man and his mouse, it seems to me, is ample evidence that the Guinan alumni were pretty mild plungers in the stupidity league.

Prices Are High

There is a club called Stork in New York which has a small back room called Cub. In this room are seats, tables, waiters and ashtrays. Sometimes celebrities sit at the tables, sometimes not. The room offers no music or entertainment. It offers top prices for good food and drink. It is filled nightly with people who are willing to pay these prices in order to look at each other. Very often they do not even drink hard liquor, and just as often they do not speak to each other. They just sit there and make Br. Billingsley richer.

There is a dance palace called Morocco in New York. It has a dance floor and tables and zebra-skin divans and prices. Yes, sir, it sure has prices.

PEOPLE who do not dance come to El Morocco and sit. Quite often stag gentlemen will drop in to look. Humphrey Bogart once came in with a gentleman friend and two stuffed pandas. There are two sides to the dance floor, each equally close to the orchestra. Yet the steady patrons would drop dead of shame if they were put on the far side of the floor. This I cannot understand.

There is a restaurant in New York called 21", another home of the rich and famous. It has three downstairs rooms. The food and service and prices are the same in all three rooms. There are patrons who would commit suicide if they were demoted from the first room to the second or third. People in the third room hope to work their way up to the second, and some day—some misty happy future day, even to the first room.

In many hotels the drinks are short and a slight slug ruins a dollar permanently. A decent steak leaves just enough left from $5 to earn you a sneer from the waiter if you leave it as a tip. In many of the snootier deadfalls impoliteness is practiced habitually by the employees, and the customers soak it up gratefully.

Bookmakers Are Busy

Racetracks play to capacity all over the land, and there are more bookmakers than press agents in New York alone. The fancy dressmakers start their skimpy frocks at $500, and a dame who spends less than 10 grand on a mink coat is sneered at a social pretender.

Sucker propositions in oil fields run wild today; stock swindlers are still a going proposition. Some of the operations involve the government. Preston Tucker borrowed millions from that chump, Uncle Sam, to produce cars that never got built. The happy family of nations has uncle over the barrel for billions that will never fly home.

It is my contention that there are more suckers around than ever before, bigger suckers, easier suckers, and suckers who rush about crying to be clipped. Some of them do not even enjoy what they are willing to be shared for, which is the ultimate in suckerdom.

I applaud the shearers of the sheep, and wish them well with their $50 theater tickets, horse books and castle systems which the customer creates for himself. It's a shame old Texas Guinan isn't around today, to gather her share of the loot.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"CAN'T you write a column on young women breaking up older women's homes, as there is one who is doing just that to mine?" a housewife writes me. And she adds: "I have a wonderful husband—if she would just fade out of the picture."

I'm afraid I can't write the kind of column this reader expects. For I don't hold with the idea that the "other woman" and her wiles breaks up a home.

MILLETT

And I don't Mean that I think the wife is always to blame when another woman steps into the picture, either.

In every such case, it seems to me, it's a question of the wife being to blame, or the husband's being to blame—or of both of them being at fault.

The other woman just happens along at the right time. And if it weren't one woman it would probably be another.

Wives go through a lot of agony blaming their troubles on the other woman and telling themselves that everything would be all right if the other woman would just fade out of the picture.

But the type of woman who is willing to be the "other woman" has always existed—and she always will. Whether or not she enters a marriage depends on what shape the marriage is in.

If it's an unhappy marriage or a boring one or if the husband just happens to be a man who hasn't enough character to be able to stick to one woman for life—the other woman can cause trouble.

IF HE'S A "FAMILY MAN" . . .

BUT if it's a happy marriage and the husband is what Grandma referred to as a "family man," the other woman would just be wasting her time if she tried to get him away from his wife.

So it's no use living in constant fear of the other woman, or hating and blaming her if she comes along. All a wife—any wife—can do is try to choose a man of good character and strong principles and try to make their marriage a happy one.

If another woman succeeds in breaking up the home, then it means there was something wrong either with the marriage or with the husband.

There is no such thing, in my opinion, as a man who would be a wonderful husband if only the other woman would fade out of the picture. Either he's a good husband—or he isn't. The sentences ends right there.

"Try And Stop Me"

IN THE days when playing the Palace Theatre was the wildest dream of every vaudeville actor, and when all Broadway turned out to see the new bill there on Monday afternoon, one oldtime comedy headliner turned up with an act that had prown stale and corny through the years. The audience behaved as though it were attending a funeral. The manager fumed and informed the comic, "You'll never be booked at the Palace again! You haven't added a new joke to that tired routine of yours since Harry Lauder wore his first pair of kilts!"

The comedian had no rebuttal at the moment, but after the evening show, he button-holed the manager and crowed, "Well, didja see how I went over tonight They were crazy for me! I hope you caught it when I boffed them for five laughs in a row," "I did," sneered the manager, "and I also noticed it was the row occupied by your mother, father, wife, and two children!"

Today's Journal Editorial

EISENHOWER—AND 1952

"Just in case," various and sundry Democratic politicians are collecting on Washington street corners, hoping that lightning may eventually strike them. The "just in case" refers, of course, to "just in case President Truman dies, runs away with a tight-rope walker, or—if there still are miracles—decides to retire at the end of his present term.

Among Democrats making sheep's eyes at the White House are Sen. Scott Lucas, of Illinois; John McCormack, Massachusetts congressman, and, of course, ebullient, effervescing Defense Secretary Lou Johnson. Maybe one of them will make the nomination grade. You never can tell.

But it will occur to most people—if not to the embryo candidates—that they have something to worry about in addition to Mr. Truman. That something is the person of an ex-serviceman name of D. D. Eisenhower.

More and more it appears that the erstwhile general will be in a receptive mood when the Republicans next meet to choose a standard-bearer. If Eisenhower is nominated, he'll be a considerable threat to any Democrat—includinf, even, the current occupant of the temporary White House.

No one in his sound mind will sell Eisenhower short—even if the Democrats promise a billion dollar relief check to every citizen voting their ticket.

5,000 Ask Mercy For Assassins Of Gandhi

NEW DELHI, Nov. 1 (U.P.) — Nearly 5,000 persons in Bombay province have appealed to India's Governor General C. Rajagopalachari, to commute the death sentences against N. V. Godse and V. D. Apte, who are scheduled to hang Nov. 15 for the assassination of Mahatma Gandhi.

One group of petitioners contended that Ghandi, as the apostle of non-violence, would not have tolerated the idea of hanging his own assassins.

SCIENTIFIC SPECULATIONS GRIM

Studies With Invisible Light Reveal Life And Death Rays

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1 (AP) — Life and death on this planet may hang by so nebulous a thread as an invisible ray of light.

Two separate announcements yesterday, one by the California Institute of Technology, the other by the University of California at Los Angeles, brought this grim specter into the realm of scientific speculation:

Sixty miles above the earth exists a heretofore unknown layer of oxygen molecules which mysteriously change the wave lengths of the sun's deadly ultra-violet rays to infra-red heat rays. This was announced by Dr. Joseph Kaplan, UCLA professor of physics.

Life Might Vanish

If some sudden piercing of the earth's atmospheric shield — perhaps by a comet or an atomic explosion — should let that layer of oxygen molecules escape, life might vanish from the face of the globe under the bombardment of ultra-violet radiation from the sun.

The effect of certain types of ultra-violet rays on living organisms may be judged from announcement by Cal-Tech's Dr. Renato Dulbecco, who yesterday disclosed discovery of "life rays" and "death rays" in his studies with invisible light.

A certain kind of light, he sad can kill a little-known bacterial virus, and another kind of light can bring the same organism back to life.

The killing light is an ultraviolet shortwave. The "life ray" is a barely visible light wave.

The viruses affected by these rays, said Dr. Dulbecco, control the growth processes of cells in the human body. Destruction of these viruses, he believes, may allow the cells to grow wild, as in the case of cancer.

Growth Secrets Sought

Thus, if an overdoes of ultraviolet rays from the sun did nothing else, it might touch off a cancer epidemic of severe proportions. The likelihood of such an occurrence is fantastic, he pointed out, "but within the realm of speculation."

Dr. Dulbecco said he hopes his studies ultimately may reveal the secret of the growth of cancer cells, and even the effect of the sun on humans.

The existence of the protective layer of oxygen molecules which disarms the sun's lethal ultra violet rays in the upper atmosphere was discovered by Dr. Kaplan in laboratory experiments. He calls them "energetic" molecules because of their ability to absorb energy from the sun in the form of ultra violet rays and release it in the form of heat rays.

Further study of the layer, believes Dr. Kaplan, may pave the way for accurate long-range weather forecasting. Scientists could chart weather months in advance, he says, if they knew what happens in the upper atmosphere to the enormous amounts of energy with which the sun bombards the earth.

Feeding Project Is Conducted At Tech

An agricultural research project which may determine whether lambs can be used to harvest field crops successfully is now underway at Texas Technological college.

Involving 182 lambs, the experiment will seek to determine if a group of the lambs can fare as well on African millet as another group can on a dry lot with a standard alfalfa, cottonseed meal and milo diet.

Already in its third week, the animal husbandry department experiment has achieved positive results so far, Chairman Ray C. Mowery said. However, he pointed out, Sunday night's killing frost destroyed the foliage on the millet and the lambs must now depend upon the stalks for nourishment. If they fail to gain weight, they will be withdrawn and put on standard rations.

A group of 162 lambs are being fed on four acres of the African millet and Mowery estimates that amount is enough pasture to feed them at least 60 days. If they fare comparatively as well as the 20 being kept on standard rations the research will prove that such crops can be harvested without cost while fattening lambs, he said.

Average weight of the lambs when the experiment was begun Oct. 14 was 77 pounds, according to Harry Blenden, Lockney graduate student in charge of the research. First weighing of the animals will be next week, with periodic checks thereafter.

Following completion of this phase of the research, Mowery said that the lambs will be transferred to milo for further study to determine if they can harvest that crop successfully. He invited farmers of the area interested in allowing sheep to harvest such crops to visit the college farm.

RESCUED FROM RIVER

While on a vacation in France, Bernard Page, 22, and William Flint, 24, of England, dive[d] the swift River Isere near Albertville and rescued three four occupants of a car which had plunged over the embankment into the river, the other passenger having been thrown out and killed.

Store Stickup Not Hallowe'en Prank

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1 (AP)— It cost Frank Catalbo $230 to learn that a holdup was not a Hallowe'en prank.

A man wearing a Hallowe'en mask walked into a supermarket last night. He waved a gun at Catalbo and said:

"This is a holdup."

"This is a Hallowe'en prank," laughed Catalbo.

The man fired a shot into the ceiling and then dug his gun viciously into Catalbo's ribs.

A moment later he left with $230 from the cash register.

Czech Churches Beginning New Era Under Controls Of Communist-Dominated Regime

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 1. (AP)—Czechoslovakia's churches today came under the control of the country's Communist government despite a year's bitter fight by the Roman Catholic hierarchy.

At one minute after midnight the new church control law became effective, giving the government power over all church funds, the naming of pastors and priests and church administrative functions.

All priests and pastors become civil servants on the government payroll. They must swear allegiance to both the Czech republic and the Communist-dominated "people's democratic regime" to get their pay.

Alexei Cepicka, Communist minister of justice and son-in-law of Communist President Klement Gottwald, will administer the new law as supervisor of church affairs. Cepicka has told parliament anyone opposing the law "will be broken as an enemy of the state."

Opposed Demands

The Czech Roman Catholic primate, Archbishop Josef Beran, and other leaders of his church led the fight against the bill, asserting it was aimed at liquidation of the church. The government countered with the arrest of more than 300 priests and nuns, according to reliable Catholic and diplomatic sources.

Retreating from their stand of outright opposition, the bishops last week told the priests to obey the provisions of the law. The bishops said, however, they would accept no state pay increases for themselves.

The bishops first had opposed the government's demand that all priests be reqired to swear loyalty to the Communist-led regime. Last week, however, they granted permission to priests to take the oath to keep out of jail—but added the reservation that any loyalty oath should not be contrary to their religious convictions.
