Twelve regular jurors will be picked as well as two alternates.

Jury selection recessed Thursday and will resume Monday. Jury selection was halted because a prospective juror was out of town and could not be questioned until Monday and because a defense attorney was involved in another hearing.

Johnson is charged with murdering Snyder convenience store clerk Jack Huddleston on March 23.

CMS sets meeting

The Colorado Middle School will host Parent's Night on Monday, Nov. 3 at 7 p.m.

"The faculty would like to extend an invitation to all parents to meet their children's teachers," said James McLean, principal.

The evening will begin with a short assembly in the auditorium. Class schedules of the students will then be given to the parents. The schedules will be the same as the ones the students follow each day and five minutes will be spent in each class.

"This will be an opportunity for parents to get acquainted with the teachers and possibly arrange a time for a conference during the school day," said McLean.

"The CMS faculty is looking forward to meeting the parents of their students," said McLean. "It is hoped that the parents will show their concern for their children by attending Parent's Night."

General election scheduled Tuesday

If absentee vote totals are any indication, Tuesday's general election should have a good voter turnout in Mitchell County.

By Friday afternoon, 238 voters had cast absentee ballots in the county clerk's office and as the deadline neared at 5 p.m., absentee ballots were still being cast.

During the general election of 1982, there were 114 absentee ballots cast in Mitchell County. In the 1984 presidential election year, 550 absentee votes were cast in the general election. This year's May primary had 152 absentee ballots.

Although there are no contested local races on the ballot, voter interest has apparently been sparked in precinct 4 where incumbent Mitchell County Commissioner Bill Preston has launched a write-in campaign to keep his job. Preston was defeated in the May Democratic primary by Herman Mitchell with a 26-vote margin. There is no Republican candidate for that office.

By Friday afternoon, 89 precinct 4 votes had been cast, the largest number in any of the five voting precincts.

Here's where to vote

Mitchell County voters will be casting ballots in five voting locations Tuesday, including:

- Precinct 1 at the courthouse with Arlene Morris as presiding judge;
- Precinct 2 at the Westbrook School Tax Office with Douglas Barber as presiding judge;
- Precinct 3 at the community center, Fifth and Oak Streets, with J. M. Munoz Jr. as presiding judge;

- Precinct 4 at the ag building on Main Street in Loraine with Neysa Beights as presiding judge, and;
- Precinct 7 at the Oak Street Baptist Church annex with Billie Ruffin as presiding judge.

Running unopposed for re-election are local Democrats Bill Carter for county judge, Bill Erwin for district clerk, Joan Beach for county clerk, Ann Hallmark for county treasurer, Joan Merket for precinct 1 justice of the peace, Ruby Claxton for justice of the peace, precinct 2, Johnny Shackelford, commissioner, precinct 2 and Jerry Hammond for precinct 1 constable.

The Texas gubernatorial race has sparked interest statewide and voters will be deciding between incumbent Democrat Mark White, Republican Bill Clements and Libertarian Theresa Doyle.

Running for lieutenant governor are incumbent Democrat Bill Hobby, Republican David Davidson and Libertarian Bill Howell.

Seeking election as attorney general are incumbent Democrat Jim Mattox, Republican Roy R. Barrera Jr. and Libertarian Mike Stephens.

Comptroller of Public Accounts Bob Bullock, a Democrat, is being challenged by Libertarian George Meeks while state treasurer Ann W. Richards, a Democrat, is challenged by Libertarian Robert F. Reid.

Other races Texas voters will be deciding upon include:

- commissioner of the general

'Husbandry'

Rehearsals underway for Playhouse production

The plight of the American farmer will be focal at the next production of the Colorado City Playhouse.

"Husbandry," written by Patrick Tovatt and directed by George Womack, concerns an older farmer and the decision he must make whether to sell the farm which has been in his family for generations or to try to get his son to move back to the farm from the city.

"The characters are so well drawn, it's a surprisingly good play," said Womack.

The cast of four includes:

- Marsha Moore as Dee, a tall, bright, willful farm woman of 55 who knows her small community and is a significant member of it;

- Kent Womack as Les, a farmer of 58; a relatively quiet man with strong disciplines;

- Carl Beery Moore as Harry, Les and Dee's son, who at 37 is an administrator for a large city-county recreation and community development program, and;

- Carrie Conley as Bev, wife of Harry who at 34 is a highly motivated mother and working mother.

and Carl Beery Moore are Playhouse regulars and have captivated audiences in past performances.

Carrie Conley is a newcomer to the local stage but has plenty of acting experience. She is drama teacher at Coahoma High School.

Performance dates are Thursday, Nov. 13, Friday, Nov. 14, Saturday, Nov. 15, Thursday, Nov. 20, Friday, Nov. 21 and Saturday, Nov. 22 with performances at 8 p.m. nightly.

The box office will open Nov. 10 from 1-5 p.m. daily. Tickets are $5 each.

Benefit dance scheduled

"Let's scoot a boot", says Travis Turner, chairman of a committee planning a benefit dance featuring the Jody Nix Band. The dance is scheduled for Nov. 14 at 8 p.m. to short intermission at 9:30 p.m. Civic Center.

In addition to the dance, a short intermission at 9:30 p.m. will permit time to auction off 10 limited edition collectors item sesquicentennial Mitchell County belt buckles. The solid sterling silver belt buckles of which the first five have 24kt gold overlay are unique collector's items. Those who want a chance to bid on one of the buckles but cannot attend the dance, should call the chamber office and talk to Penny or Dorothy. They'll tell you how you might still have the opportunity to get one of the buckles.

A limited number of tickets may be sold to the dance.

"If you want to scoot a boot with us you'll have to get on the stick and get you a ticket before they are all gone," says Turner.

Tickets are $7.50 each and may be purchased from any of the following sponsoring couples or the chamber of commerce: Mr. and Mrs. Travis Turner, Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cotton, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hearn, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Shackelford, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ratliff, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wilbourn, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brownfield, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Strain, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Moore.

All proceeds from the dance and auction will go to the Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce to work for the future of Mitchell County.

Finding fall Texas foliage

Looking for the flaming golds, yellows and reds of fall? Get a refund on your ticket to New England and stay in Texas. The state has enough fall foliage to satisfy anyone with a lust for the colors of autumn.

EAST TEXAS

Since the majority of Texas timberlands are in the eastern part of the state, fall foliage is most abundant here.

The area that borders Hwy. 21 or El Camino Real, which includes three of Texas' four national forests, is a great starting point for foliage watchers. Thousands of acres of post oak, blackjack, elm, maples, black walnut and sumac provide a colorful contrast to the more prolific, and forever green, pine trees.

Although October is Autumn Trails time in the serene town of Winnsboro, the dazzling color of its timber, that has attracted people as far back as the Indians, lasts well into November. The Autumn Trails Association at 214/342-6066 is a good source for the most colorful routes in the area.

WEST TEXAS

Few places in West Texas can match the mountain vistas and fall foliage of McKittrick Canyon. Tucked away in the northern section of Guadalupe Mountains National Park, McKittrick Canyon boasts bright red bigtooth maples with the Guadalupe Mountains as a backdrop. Walking trails take visitors right to the most colorful areas.

The Davis Mountains are another fall foliage delight with Texas 118, Texas 166 and Texas 17 forming a high-altitude loop that offers impressive mountain panoramas and winds through colorful patches of oak, bigtooth maples, and cottonwoods.

The Big Thicket, which harbors an unmatched diversity of plants and animals, is also a haven for hardwoods. Hickory, dogwoods, hornbeams, oaks, maples, sweet gums, black gums and tupelos are just some of the trees that display a dramatic color change.

CENTRAL TEXAS

for the autumn metamorphosis is Lost Maples State Natural Area. Known by experienced birders as the home of the black-capped vireo and golden-cheeked warbler, the brilliant red hues of its maples are a major attraction for those who find beauty in multi-colored thickets.

Areas around Llano and the Willow City Loop also offer brilliant autumn sights.

Art Lawler

The writer gets the feeling I'm "Knock, knock, knocking on Heaven's Door."

"If you have any comments to me you can find me in heaven," he says. "Better yet," he concludes, "write or call Dale Hinshaw at 706 North Pine in Brady, Texas."

The P.S. says, "I think he would enjoy talking to you."

He would enjoy talking to me? Is he, He, or is he Dale Hinshaw? Has Hinshaw previously died, and is he now living in heaven? Or were these God's words telling me to either meet Him in heaven or coffee, or to go see His agent Hinshaw?

The postmark isn't much help. It doesn't say "Heaven," but it doesn't say Brady, Texas, either. What it does say is Abilene, Texas. but this only adds to the mystery.

Are we to assume God sent it to Abilene to be relayed to Buffalo Gap, U.S.A. (12 miles South), or that He sent it to Hinshaw who drove to the Abilene post office to mail the letter instead of dropping it in a box in Brady?

Then again, was Hinshaw only kidding about living in heaven? Or is he a ghost, or an angel who was actually sent from Heaven?

Possibly there is a town called Heaven I've never heard about. It is also possible, though not probable, that Hinshaw had a few too many snorts and thought he was in heaven, when he was in Brady, or Abilene, or Heaven, Oklahoma, or Texas, or wherever.

Then again, I'm probably being too literal. Hinshaw seems like a decent fella. Either God recommended him to me, or he recommended me to God. In either case, it speaks well of the man.

For some reason, I've received hundreds of letters similar to this one through the years. Some were comforting, others disturbing. A few have been signed by, "The Lord." Or "God Almighty." Or "Your Creator." Or "Your Father in Heaven."

Some just weren't very positive. There were prognostications that I was "Knock, Knock, Knocking on Hell's Door."

One lady not only predicted I was going to hell but promised she would be upstairs looking down on me and laughing.

Another woman sent me a booklet with a picture of the devil on the front. He had horns protruding from his forehead. He had a pointed tail, carried a pitchfork and had the kind of eyes your mother always told you to run from.

Occasionally I've been foolish enough to spar with these people. It always resembled a shootout in Dodge City. I was the guy wearing the black hat and sporting a pistol full of faulty information.

My weapons, I was told, were discovered while walking down paths. The wrong path, the wayward path, the path of destruction, the path of hopelessness, the path of passion, etc., etc.

On the other end of Dodge there was always a tall, right-thinking person wearing a white hat that looked a lot like Matt Dillon's. He usually packed a white King James in his holster and my trendy "Good News for Modern Man" never stood a chance.

Being the sporting type, he would wait until I made the first move. "It is not necessarily evil to read Huckleberry Finn." I'd fire.

The right-thinking person would then blast me for God, using "Thou shalt not" cartridges.

Naturally, I never won one of those shootouts and I'm tempted to retire from the ring in one piece. You can't get any closer than heaven's door in this life, can you?

Besides, as Willard Scott, the weatherman on the "Today Show," once noted, "When you're on the backside of 40, you're too old to box with God."

Or His agents.

Voters to decide proposed amendments

When Texas voters go to the polls Tuesday, Nov. 4, they will be deciding on four proposed constitutional amendments.

Amendment 1 would allow the Legislature to provide by general law for the apportionment of the value of railroad rolling stock among counties for purposes of property taxation. The term "rolling stock" refers to the railroad company's boxcars, tank cars and engines. Rolling-stock value is apportioned according to the number of miles the company's rail line runs through each county. Under the constitution, only counties levy property tax on rolling stock. The Tax Code requires the chief appraiser for the county in which a railroad company maintains its principal place of business to appraise the company's rolling stock. The Tax Code also requires the State Property Tax Board to apportion the appraised value of railroad rolling stock among the counties through which the railroad runs. This presently conflicts with the constitution which provides that the comptroller of public accounts apportion the value. Regardless of who makes the apportionment, it is based on the ratio of the rail mileage within the county versus the total rail mileage owned by the railroad in the state.

Amendment 2 requires each house to include in its rules of procedure a rule that each bill contain a title expressing the bill's subject and providing for the continuing revision of state laws. This proposed amendment would convert the constitutional requirement on bill captions from a constitutional rule to a constitutionally required rule of procedure of both houses of the Legislature. The Legislature would be solely responsible for determining compliance, not the courts. The amendment says no law enacted before the passage of the amendment can be held void on the basis of an insufficient title. The amendment also deletes the provision allowing that revisions of civil and criminal laws be made every 10 years and defines "revision" as codifying without substantive change.

Amendment 3 allows political subdivisions the opportunity to engage in and transact business with authorized mutual insurance companies in the same manner as with other insurance companies. The amendment would authorize political subdivisions to purchase life, health and accident insurance from mutual companies if under the contract the subdivision is not liable for assessments. Mutual insurance companies are owned by their policy holders. At one time, they raised capital by assessing their policy holders extra premiums. Therefore, their policy holders could not be sure what the total cost of a policy would be. In a 1942 case, the Texas Supreme Court ruled that a school district could not purchase insurance from a mutual company. Doing so would have made it liable for payment of these extra assessments. In addition, it would have made the district a stockholder in a company. The constitution prohibits a political subdivision from lending its credit or granting public money to individuals, associations or corporations, or from becoming stockholders in such associations, or corporations. For these reasons, political subdivisions have not been allowed to purchase insurance from mutual companies. Amendment 3 would qualify the prohibition against becoming a stock holder and address the issue of assessments by adding the following sentence to the constitutions: "However, this section does not prohibit the use of public funds or credit for the payment of premiums on nonassessable life, health or accident insurance policies and annuity contracts issued by a mutual insurance company authorized to do business in this State."

Amendment 4 provides that a bank may offer full service banking at more than one location within the city or county where its principal facility is located, subject to limitations and restrictions provided by law. The Texas Constitution prohibits branch banking. Texas is the only state which prohibits branch banking in its constitution. Nine states currently prohibit it by statute. The Texas banking Code permits certain drive-in or walk-up facilities as far as 20,000 feet (3.8 miles) from the central building of each bank. On June 6, 1986, Attorney General Jim Mattox issued an opinion concluding that the law permitting such detached facilities violates the constitutional ban on branch banking. Amendment 4 would amend the constitution to permit branch banking. It would require the Legislature to authorize Texas banks to operate banking facilities at more than one location within their home county or city, subject to limitations imposed by statute. The Legislature could permit a bank in a city located in two or more counties to operate branches within both the city and the counties. It could permit a bank acquiring a failed bank to operate at more than one place. A subsidiary of a bank-holding company would not be considered a branch of another bank owned by the same holding company. Subsidiaries of holding companies have independent boards of citizens from their own communities; their customer accounts are only within their own banks, not system-wide. That is, a customer of one subsidiary cannot deposit or cash checks at another subsidiary of the same holding company.

Women's Week activities keep B&PW Club members busy

The Proclamation proclaiming October 20-26 as National Working Women's Week was signed Monday, October 20 and that started what was a busy week. Tuesday, Oct. 21, coffees were held at The City National Bank with Sallie Rogers, Wilma Womack and Velma Moseley as hostesses and at the First National Bank with Earline Sellier as hostess.

On Wednesday, flowers of appreciation were delivered to some of our working women. Those receiving flowers were Liz Mayes of Anthony's, Josie Espinoza of Plagens Printing, Virginia Fuller of Fullers Grocery, Debbie Christian, Home Demonstration Agent, Sug Byrnes of the Steak 'n Shake and club members, Virginia Dearen, district director, Velma Moseley of Velma's Beauty Shop and Mildred Free of Free's Friendly Shop.

Cakes were delivered to the hospital, the courthouse and the daycare center.

Thursday evening Sallie Rogers was honored by being named as a life-time member of the local BP&W Club. A group of friends and relatives joined Sallie in this event. Nelda Garrett gave a history of Sallie's journey with the club, after which others shared their own remembrances of Sallie. The committee for this occasion was Molly Bruce, Margaret Oyler, Nelda Garrett and Velma Moseley.

Friday, cakes once again were delivered and this time the recipients were the city hall, library, museum, police department, sheriff's department, post office and housing authority. Flowers were delivered to the ladies serving on our different boards: Dee Hearn, Brenda Farter, Marion Bassham, Jane McCarley, Brenda Aguilon, Kathy Bassham, Penny Solomon, Becky Manning and Dorothy Shurtleff.

Sunday afternoon members from other civic and professional organizations were invited to a get-together at the First National Bank. Fourteen organizations were represented. Ann Gregory served as hostess.

Realizing that there are many others in the county that deserved recognition, Mrs. Anna Staats, club president, asked the BP&W members who they would send a flower to in appreciation and admiration.

Verbal roses are going to Annie Mae Lee, Joy Dockrey, Christine Hall, Joy Piland, Betty Safford, Mary Alice Lewis, Rochelle Smith, Mae Dunn, Lena Marcom, Gayle Houston, Joann Merket, R.N., Eddie Barclay, Midge Galneau, Carolyn Weaver, Russ Wells, R.N., Billie Roenfeldt, Wilma Womack, Gerry Stone, Jeneal Chambers, Ann Gregory, Barbara Gray, Connie Simpson, Beulah Betsy Davis, Ethel Hardegree, Alyne Haleman, Nannie Lou Miles, Pauline Light and Judy Winkle. Bo Merket and Rev. Roy Byrd also received an appreciation vote.

Ann Gregory and Faye Spivey were chairmen for the week.

Texas oil production down

AUSTIN—State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday said that Texas oil wells have produced 51.1 million barrels less this past year than the year before.

This shows that the low price of oil isn't the only culprit working against the Texas economy and the Texas oil industry, he said.

"The drop in production was worth $772.1 million at current market prices," Bullock said. "So much attention on declining oil prices may have masked the fact that production in Texas has slipped by more than 140,000 barrels a day."

He said tax records show that Texas wells were producing about 2.3 million taxable barrels of oil a day in mid-1985.

Production had dropped to slightly more than 2 million taxable barrels a day by August of this year.

Bullock said the downturn in production alone cost the state about $35.5 million in severance taxes during the one-year period based on the Comptroller's estimated average oil price per barrel.

Further, Bullock said, active rotary rigs operating in Texas fell by about 60 percent and drilling permits were down by more than 50 percent, he said.

Stenholm bills become law during congressional session

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Four bills introduced by Congressman Charles W. Stenholm during the 99th Congress have become law.

During the two-year session, which ended Oct. 16, Congressman Stenholm authored seven bills. The 17th District Representative was successful in incorporating four of his bills into comprehensive pieces of legislation, which were later signed into law by President Ronald Reagan.

Two of Stenholm's bills became part of the 1985 farm bill, which takes effect Dec. 24, 1986. H.R. 1912 was Congressman Stenholm's bill to establish a fair farm and crop acreage base and program yields system. The Bases and Yields bill will provide for more efficient, flexible programs for farmers.

H.R. 1591, the Clear Title bill, provides more protection for purchasers of agricultural products.

The Stamford Democrat was responsible for a bill that allows small businesses to participate in Superfund clean-up projects. H.R. 3211, added by the full House, will encourage the use of new technologies, many of which are developed and administered by small businesses. The Superfund program which was signed into law by the White House on Oct. 16.

A modernized processed meat inspection system is the result of successful bill, H.R. 4683. This legislation authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to determine the manner and frequency of inspections of meat products.

This Stenholm bill will result in an estimated $60 million in savings over the next five years.

"I am gratified to see the adoption and implementation of these measures," Congressman Stenholm said. "These legislative initiatives will not only benefit the agriculture and small business community, but will also prove beneficial to all Americans."

By introducing a bill, a congressman is the chief sponsor of the legislation, enlisting co-sponsors for support. Along with Stenholm, who is very selective of the legislation he signs onto, the more than 7,500 bills introduced by other Members. Of those he co-sponsored, more than one-fourth were approved.

North Loraine Club meets

The North Loraine Extension Homemakers met in the home of Mrs. Jack Linam at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 22 for a regular meeting with Mrs. Lola Fay Bennett presiding.

Roll call was answered with "My Pet Peeve at the Grocery Store".

For recreation, Mrs. Linam read words of wisdom pertaining to everyday living and Mrs. T. L. Holman gave a reading on how to become an obnoxious shopper at the grocery store.

During the business meeting, the treasurer's report was given.

The council report also was given and members were updated on several upcoming events.

Mrs. Bennett, who attended the workshop on "Understanding Advertising", presented the program. She said that the immediate impression should be favorable in the advertisement if the product is to go over well. Advertising new products by merchants encourages consumer buying, she said, adding that eye-catching ads are considered important. Ads can be both pleasant and offensive, but good quality is one thing to stress if the product is to become a success. She distributed magazine ads for the members to classify as favorable, pleasant, mediocre or offensive. She distributed a print-out for each member to test her knowledge of various slogans that are used to advertise certain items in today's market.

Refreshments were by Mrs. Linam, to Mmes. T. L. Holman, Roy Wells, W. A. Bennett, Raymond Wheeler and Jimmie Jacks.

Your one vote could change the course of history

By Lloyd Bentsen
United State Senator

Election day comes next week, and as Texans contemplate whether to make the effort to go to the polls they should remember how important one vote can be.

The history of Texas, for example, would have been altered if not for one vote. When the U.S. Senate agreed to annex Texas as a state in 1845, the resolution carried by a 27-25 vote. If one more Senator had voted "no", the measure would have been defeated.

The United States might still be a dominion of Great Britain, but for a single vote. The First Continental Congress, meeting in Philadelphia on September 28, 1774, debated the Galloway Plan—which would have changed the American colonies into a British dominion ruled by a parliament and a British governor.

Virginia's delegate, Patrick Henry, made an impassioned speech against the change. The Galloway Plan was defeated by one vote.

On numerous occasions throughout history, a single vote has changed the course of the world.

One vote cost King Charles I of England his head in 1649.

Elizabeth II is Queen of England today because some 250 years ago the British House of Commons voted in favor of the House of Hanover, 96-95.

In the U.S. election of 1824, neither John Quincy Adams nor Andrew Jackson could gain a clear majority of votes in the electoral college. The choice went to the House of Representatives where the Constitution required a vote be taken by states. At the last minute, one member cast his vote in favor of Adams—throwing his state, and thus the election, to Adams.

A move in 1868 to impeach President Andrew Johnson on three charges was defeated on each vote by 35-19, one vote short of the two-thirds majority of Senators needed for conviction.

The 1876 election was resolved by a special Electoral Commission, which voted 8-7 in favor of Rutherford B. Hayes as President over Samuel J. Tilden.

But national elections are not the only ones that can be decided by a single ballot. Your vote can be just as critical in local elections.

In 1963, for example, a candidate for city council in a suburb of Cincinnati was hospitalized for an emergency appendectomy before he could get to the polls.

He lost the race by one vote.

According to a story repeated often in Washington, a Member of Congress from California had one opponent in his party's primary election. Each contender received 10,429 votes. Under California law, the opponents had to draw lots. The incumbent Congressman lost.

He sank into political oblivion because, the story goes, his secretary was too busy working at campaign headquarters to get to the polls on election day.

Make it a point to find the time on election day to get out and vote. Your choice will make a difference. It could make all the difference in the world.

Mail order catalogs abound during Christmas season

By Jim Mattox
Attorney General

The season for Christmas shopping is upon us again, and with it comes a flood of mail order catalogs and TV ads for mail order goods. There are certain federal laws that will protect you as a mail order shopper, but the telephone shopper has no such protection.

The so-called "Mail Order Rule," which requires the company to ship your items within the advertised time period, does not apply to telephone orders. So you could order a Christmas gift by phone but receive it in February—and still owe the company for the order.

If you actually order BY MAIL though, the company must ship your order within the promised time period (or 30 days, if no time is stated). If the seller fails to ship on time, it is required to notify you of a delay and give you the option of cancelling the order.

The Federal Trade Commission, which enforces the "Mail Order Rule," advises that 800 numbers can be used for questions about delivery, refund policy, etc., even if you do order by mail.

If you order by phone, you should make a note of the date you ordered, the name, address and phone number of the company, and a detailed description of your order. If you order by mail, it is wise to keep a copy of your letter or order form, as well as a copy of any advertisement that prompted you to make the order.

If the merchandise you receive is substantially different from what you ordered, you have a right to cancel your contract. You should write to the company as soon as possible after receiving the merchandise, stating that you wish to cancel. If you have any doubts about the company's reliability or honesty, you should consider keeping the merchandise as evidence until you receive your refund. Then if you do get your money back, you can return the goods.

If you are unable to get the company to give you a refund, our Consumer Protection Division may be able to help you through its mediation service. However, it's a lot easier to avoid the problem by shopping only with reputable companies. If you have a question about a particular company, call the Better Business Bureau or the Attorney General's office nearest you.

What if you receive something in the mail that you didn't order? Some unscrupulous sellers will send items along with a phony "invoice," hoping the person who receives it will be fooled into thinking he must pay for the item. Consider it a gift.

There are exceptions, of course, such as negative check-off plans, like book-of-the-month clubs, and bona fide errors. But the general rule is, if you didn't order it, you don't have to pay for it.

If you need more help or information on consumer problems, contact your nearest Attorney General Consumer Protection Office (in Austin, Dallas, El Paso, Houston, Lubbock, McAllen and San Antonio). The Attorney General's Office is the people's law firm. We're here to help you.

Harlow is hostess to "C" City Lake Club

The "C" City Lake TEHA Club met Tuesday, Oct. 28 in the home of Marie Harlow, hostess. The home was decorated in a Halloween motif and chocolate cake, cookies, cheese snacks, orange punch and coffee was served.

The meeting was called to order with Bell Snider leading the club prayer. Rosa Barron led the exercise. Vada Carlile read the minutes of the last meeting and gave a report on the fair activities. Dorothy Sneed gave the treasurer's report and club members voted to give $15 to the Woodland School.

Esther Driver presented the program on "Understanding Advertising". She said that consumers should pay attention to prices and be wary of false advertising.

Roll call was answered with "My Pet Peeve at the Grocery Store" by Marie Harlow, Lilly Farrar, Esther Driver, Helen Oglesby, Vada Carlile, Dorothy Sneed, Bell Snider, Bobbie Norman, Rosa Barron and new member Opal Long.

The next meeting will be at 10 a.m. Nov. 25 at the Golden Age Club in Westbrook at which time members will wrap packages for the nursing home.

Hunting seasons listed

Quail hunting season opens Nov. 1 and runs through Feb. 22, said Game Warden Ronnie Aston. Limit for quail is 12 per day with 36 in possession.

Dove season has closed south of Interstate 20 but will remain open north of I-20 until Nov. 9.

Deer and turkey season will run Nov. 8 through Jan. 4.

"Prospects look good for quail as well as deer and turkey," said Aston, who reminds hunters that a license is required even if they're hunting in their home county. An exempt license, costing $6 is available for those over 65 and under 17.

Doe permits will be issued at the Mitchell County Courthouse Nov. 5-6, said Aston. He said if the permits are not obtained then, hunters will have to obtain them through Austin which could take up to two weeks.

KELLEY Elementary School Principal Bobby Lemons was met by his "replacement" Friday when he arrived at school. The new principal, minus one leg, and a little frightful-looking, was already seated in the principal's chair, hard at work. It was observed by some teachers that students couldn't tell which one was the "real" Mr. Lemons.

Letter to Editor

To the people of Colorado City: I had to pay a visit to our Doctor Aguillon's office this past Wednesday, and as sick as I was, I was moved deep in my heart to see what a real doctor and friend we have in Dr. Aguillon. There he was, not well himself, yet with an office full of patients he was ministering to. I'm afraid we are really not aware of the devotion, love and concern this doctor has for the sick. But for eight years, I have noticed it. And my family and I love him and appreciate him. May God strengthen him and pour out special blessings upon Dr. Aguillon. He's always there for his patients and is so unselfish of giving devoted hours.

COREY FLANAGAN (75), defensive tackle for the Pack, and safety Cary Ritchey close in on Wylie's Mike Chapman, who scored one of the game's two touchdowns.

Wolves fall victim to Wylie Bulldogs

The Abilene Wylie Bulldogs managed the only two scores in a struggle with Colorado City here Friday night for a 14-0 5AAA win that evened their district record at 3-3.

Colorado City fell to 1-5 and 1-7-1.

Both teams had their moments but neither could overcome their own errors—which included a total of seven lost fumbles and four interceptions.

The Bulldogs scored on their first possession of the game and on their last drive of the third period for the only fireworks in the otherwise quiet game.

Wylie returned the opening kickoff 27 yards to their own 37 then moved to the Wolves 34 with a big lob pass from Jeff Quick to Mark Odom. Odom hurt the Wolves by averaging over 27 yards on three catches.

Mike Chapman then broke through and around the right side for a 23 yard score. His point after kick made it 7-0 with 10:07 left in the first quarter.

The Wolves had a good running game with 107 yards in the first half alone. Colorado City's first drive ended on an interception but Marty Cleckler then made two consecutive interceptions for the Wolves.

After his first steal, the Wolves averaged over seven yards on the first seven plays of their second possession with Beau Rees and Ralph Gonzales running the ball. The drive stalled on an illegal procedure call then ended on a 35 yard field goal attempt by Reggie Gardner that was short and right.

Gardner faked a punt after Cleckler's second steal but his throw to Ismael Silva ended a yard short of a first down at the Wylie 32.

For the rest of the first half, Wylie had its own short 44 yard field goal attempt and the Wolves Gardner and Wylie's Todd Tyler made long punts to hold each other team's at bay. The Wolves fumbled to end their last threat of the half but Cary Ritchey recovered a Bulldog fumble to end Wylie's last first half possession.

Three of five third quarter Wolves' possessions ended in turnovers—two fumbles and an interception. Cleckler recovered a fumble to end Wylie's first drive of the third period.

The Bulldogs got enough offense on their side for a final score to end the third quarter. A 35 yard pass from Quick to Odom and a 19 yard run by Josh Allen put the Bulldogs at the Colorado City 6. Two plays later John Atkins made a diving catch in the endzone for a five yard score for Quick. Chapman's kick made it 14-0.

The teams combined for only three fourth quarter first downs. One Colorado City first down came on a 12 yard Ritchey to Ricky Arispe pass but big Colorado City offensive plays came few and far between.

Edwardo Melendez made a fumble recovery for the Wolves in the final period.

Gonzales rushed for 84 yards on 18 carries to lead Colorado City and Rees added 75 on 18 carries. Chapman and Allen rushed for 52 and 68 yards respectively, on 10 and 7 carries for the Bulldogs.

Applicants sought for science fair

High school students interested in entering the 1987 Permian Basin Science Fair (PBSF) should make plans soon because the application deadline for the Senior Division (grades 9-12) is November 25. The annual PBSF will be held Friday and Saturday, March 6 and 7, at the University of Texas at the Permian Basin.

Students in grades 3-8 will compete in the Junior Division and their application deadline is January 23, 1987.

The Science Fair is sponsored jointly by the University and the Ector County Independent School District and is part of a worldwide event administered by Science Service, a non-profit institution for the public understanding of science.

PBSF is affiliated with the International Science and Engineering Air (ISEF), the "World's Series" of science fairs.

ISEF is held annually with student contestants from affiliated fairs in the United States and a number of foreign nations. Each year, two finalists in the Senior Division (grades 9-12) will be selected to have the opportunity to represent the Permian Basin Regional Science Fair at the international event. In the last few years several area students have gone on to compete nationally.

Seventh grade finishes undefeated season

Colorado City's seventh grade football team completed an undefeated season with an 8-0 tie with Wylie here Thursday night but the Bulldogs earned a split of the Middle School contests with a 33-14 eighth grade win.

Five fumbles-two recovered by Wylie-and one interception slowed the seventh grade Wolves but a tough defense and the all-around play of Kevin Green carried the Pack in their season finale for a final 5-0-3 record.

Green ran for 53 yards on 15 carries, scored the lone touchdown, had another score called back and made big plays defensively.

A 21 yard run around left end with 5:21 left in the first half and a successful pass for the points after made it 8-0 for the Bulldogs. The score was the only one given up by the Wolves defense the entire season.

Green, who had made a touchdown stopping tackle earlier in Wylie's scoring drive, quickly brought Colorado City back by returning the ensuing kickoff for a 69 yard score. Green also ran for the extra points for the final score of 8-8 with 5:05 left in the first half.

The Wolves first possession before the Wylie score had ended on an interception of Wolves quarterback Shayne Anderson at the Wylie goal line. The Pack had gotten in scoring position on a 26 yard completion from Anderson to Greg Parker and on runs of 13 and 17 yards by Green-the latter on a block by Rudy Melendez. Green made a tackle to stop the interception return.

Justin Smith caused and recovered a Wylie second period fumble but the wolves own mistakes kept them from scoring throughout the remainder of the game.

The Wolves fumbled right back after Smith's recovery then had a third quarter score by Green called back for illegal motion. Wylie almost broke the tie its next drive. The Bulldogs faced a fourth and ten at the Colorado City 22 and completed a deep pass but a hit by Green caused a fumble recovered by Anderson.

Two plays later the Wolves fumbled back to the Bulldogs, who set up at the Colorado City 23. Wylie scored on the second play but had the score called back for holding.

Wylie intercepted a halftime pass but pressure by Melendez kept Wylie from moving on its last possession. Joe Ramirez and Jesse Gonzales also had good defensive efforts.

The Wolves made 10 first downs to 5 for Wylie, had a 79 yard to 46 rushing edge and passed for 38 yards to the Bulldogs.

Jason Stone added 37 yards on 15 carries. Anderson completed two passes to Parker for 38 yards in seven attempts.

For the year the Wolves outscored their opponents 118-20 and 12 of the foes' points came on punting situations.

Wylie made big runs on a much improved eighth grade Wolves team, whose loss made for a final 2-6 record. The Bulldogs scored on runs of 37, 72 and 73 yards, on a 58 yard pass and returned an interception 95 yards for another score.

Wylie's speedy backfield averaged over 10 yards a carry for 274 rushing yards.

The game started great for the Wolves, who lost four of four fumbles.

Brandon Raschke intercepted for Colorado City on the first play from scrimmage. He returned the steal 45 yards to the Wylie 5 yard line but the Wolves were unable to capitalize after a touchdown pass from Scott Galey to Wendell Iglehart was called back for illegal procedure. Iglehart caught four passes on the night for 112 yards.

The third of three Colorado City first half fumbles resulted in the 37 yard Wylie score for an 8-0 Bulldogs lead with 6:46 left in the half. Wylie made it 14-0 on a reverse and halfback 58 yard pass on a fourth and 11 with six seconds left in the half.

A 72 yard run up the middle made it 20-0 for the Bulldogs with 6:42 left in the third period.

Wylie was headed for another score after a fourth Wolves fumble, but had the drive abruptly halted by Galey who returned an interception 56 yards for the Wolves first score and 20-8 Wylie lead. Galey passed to Iglehart for the points after with a minute left in the third period.

Wylie then made it 26-8 on a 73 yard run around left end with 52 seconds left in the quarter and increased its lead to 32-8 with the 95 yard interception return at 5:51 of the final period.

After suffering a halfback pass interception, the Wolves used a 40 yard pass from Galey to Iglehart to set up the final score. George Ramsey got it on a one yard run with 43 seconds left.

Ramsey averaged 4.9 yards on 17 carries for 84 yards while Marty Phillips had 87 yards on 15 carries for a 5.8 average. The Wolves had 15 first downs to 12 for Wylie, rushed for 156 yards and passed for 119 on 5 completions in 14 attempts. Jeremy Strain made a seven yard catch.

Phillips, Iglehart, Bryan McGowan, Bobby Silva and Charlie Ortiz were defensive playmakers.

JV, freshmen lose close season finales

Junior varsity and freshmen Colorado City football teams ended their seasons with close losses at Wylie Thursday. The Bulldogs won a ninth grade contest 16-6 and took the JV game 20-16.

The freshmen Wolves ended the season at 4-5 while the junior varsity made a 3-6 stand.

"We started out pretty good," said ninth grade coach Raymond Zamarrappa. "One fumble and three interceptions really hurt us. We moved the ball. Everybody played real well and the defense didn't play bad."

Wylie made a 16-0 lead on two second quarter scores—a ten yard quarterback sneak and a five yard run.

A fumble recovery by Abel Arellano resulted in the Wolves score—a one yard run by Tracy McElvaney.

"The score was the only bad thing," said junior varsity coach Larry Hudson. "The rest was all Colorado City."

Wylie led 14-0 but Pat Ridge's 94 yard run made a 14-8 halftime score. Bo Alvarez ran for the points after.

"We came back and drove after the second half kickoff," said Hudson.

The Wolves went ahead 16-14 on a quarterback sneak by George Rivera, who passed to Mark Russell for extra points. "The rest of the game was a fierce defensive battle."

"We fumbled at our 30 with 2:30 left. They took over and drove for the win. We denied them the extra points. We marched back on Ridge's running. Some key catches were by Russell. We almost came back again. I'm extremely proud of the defensive unit. We out hit 'em and out played 'em."

Fireplace safety stressed

COLLEGE STATION—Preventative measures can help reduce dangerous creosote and tar buildup in your fireplace chimney and flue, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service housing specialist.

"Both flue and chimney units should be cleaned before the first fireplace fire of the season," says Dr. Susan Quiring. "It also may require cleaning again during the winter, especially if you burn wood that has not been air-dried or seasoned."

The specialist says a fourth-inch accumulation of creosote indicates the flue needs cleaning.

She suggests checking the fireplace by hanging a flashlight from the top of the flue to a third of the way down the flue. Then, look up the lighted flue from the fireplace with a mirror to get an estimate of the buildup.

Wood stove distributors and some home improvement stores sell wire and plastic cleaning brushes that fit square, rectangular or round chimneys, for do-it-yourself cleaning. Or you can hire a professional chimney sweep to perform this service, Quiring remarks.

Then, every time you start a fire, allow a small quantity of dry wood to burn hot for at least 20 minutes before adding more fuel, she advises. This small, hot fire will burn off some of the creosote, reducing buildup.

Also check the chimney regularly for heat damage and deterioration. Repair any cracks in the mortar and places where the mortar has broken loose and fallen out, says the specialist.

"Adequate maintenance may not make much difference in how it looks on the outside, but a clean chimney and flue will make your fireplace less of a home fire hazard," Quiring says.

County Oil News

Mrs. W. M. Keck Jr. of Lafayette, La., is planning to drill six new developmental wells in Mitchell County's Sharon Ridge Field. The wells will be known as the Nos. 5 and 17 Coleman Ranch, 6, 7 and 13 Coleman Ranch "A" and the No. 11 Edmondson. Drillsites for the first five wells are three miles northeast of Cuthbert, while the Edmondson well will be drilled five miles northeast of Cuthbert. The Nos. 5 and 17 Coleman Ranch will be in a 160-acre lease in the H&TC Survey, while the Nos. 6, 7 and 13 Coleman Ranch "A" will be in a 130-acre lease, same survey. The Edmondson well will be drilled in a 120-acre lease in the Kirkland & Fields Survey.

The wells are under authority for 1,850 to 2,000 feet of hole making.

James R. Corbell of Big Spring is planning to conduct a re-entry and workover operation at the No. 1 Dabbs, a developmental well in the Sharon Ridge Field, Mitchell County. The well is located eight miles northwest of Colorado City in a 240-acre lease in the T&P Survey.

HMH Operators originally completed the well Nov. 24, 1973, and it pumped 32 barrels of oil per day, plus 27 barrels of water from San Andres Formation perforations at 1,522 to 1,530 feet into the wellbore. Corbell plans to seek production at approximately 1,585 feet.

Drilling is nearing the 4,800-ft. mark at the No. 1 Womack, a wildcat well in Mitchell County. Bruce A. Wilbanks is the operator. The well is located eight miles northwest of Westbrook in the T&P Survey.

Spudded Oct. 8, the well is under permit for 8,200-ft. total depth.

No commercial shows have been logged at the No. 2-6 Ellwood "C", a wildcat venture of Tuthill & Barbee in Mitchell County. The well was spudded Jan. 7 of this year, and has been bottomed at 7,340 feet.

The well is located 25 miles southeast of Colorado City in a 314-acre lease in the SPRR Survey.

The No. 2 Nobles is shut-in for potential testing in the East Iatan-Howard Field, Mitchell County. The well was spudded March 1, and reached a 3,200-ft. bottom. Drillsite is six miles southwest of Westbrook in the T&P Survey.

Robert C. Wash is the operator.

Historical commission chooses Main Street towns

At its quarterly meeting in Austin on October 27, the Texas Historical Commission designated the cities of Kilgore, Post, Terrell, Weatherford, and Wharton as the 1987 Texas Main Street cities. These five communities will join a network of 34 other cities working to revitalize their central business districts by developing the historic fabric of their downtowns.

Each designated city hires a full-time Main Street manager for a three-year period to coordinate the project, using private sector techniques of marketing, management, and business development, as well as historic architectural and landscape design. Local financial institutions lend support by setting up low-interest loan pools to encourage rehabilitation and reuse of existing historic buildings.

The Texas Main Street Project of the THC is primarily a technical assistance program rather than a grant program. Many other state agencies, such as the Texas Economic Development Commission, the Texas Department of Community Affairs, the Texas Department of Agriculture, the Texas Tourist Development Agency, and the Governor's Office, provide additional assistance.

A key to success of the Main Street Project is the combination of historic preservation and economic development techniques to redevelop downtown as a viable marketplace. Since the beginning of the Texas Main Street Project in 1981, Main Street cities have seen a total of 1,443 downtown buildings rehabilitated, a net gain of 861 new businesses and 2,252 new jobs, and a private reinvestment in downtowns of more than $128 million.

Unless people are hit with a big tax increase, frightened about their safety or well being or prevented from doing something they want to do - it's hard to get their attention. Because of this attitude many political campaigns become popularity contests and because of this, many hard-working, well qualified public officials become victims of the election process.

The people and community receiving the benefits of a dedicated, well qualified public official who has met defeat at the polls as a result of a 'popularity contest' type election are the ones who must suffer the consequences. If the people were knowledgeable about the operation of their government and the responsibilities of their elected officials they would elect the best qualified people to administer their local government affairs.

How to educate the people about government - especially county government - is a challenge that must be faced if county government is to have the ability, through it's elected officials, to meet the ever growing demands placed on this very important branch of our total government structure and operation of county government as a whole and duties and responsibilities of the officials within the structure. Maybe the young people will then educate their parents and inform them, for example, that a County Commissioner is not a motor grader operator but a very important member of the policy making body of the county responsible for handling millions of dollars of the taxpayers funds.

When the people become interested in what's happening in county government every day, month and year - and not just ten days before an election - county government will then truly become the "closest branch of government to the people".

For Proposition 4

Imagine if there was a law that said you could shop at only one grocery store or buy gasoline at only one service station. In 1904, such a law was passed. It says that no Texan can make deposits or cash checks at more than one office of the same bank.

Proposition 4 changes that law.

Student of the Week

McKinney's senior year is busy one

Andra McKinney, 17-year-old daughter of Mike and Sue McKinney, has plenty of school activities to keep her busy during her senior year.

She is captain of the flag corps, vice president of the band, president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, a member of the volleyball team, member of student council and member of National Honor Society.

Right now, flags keeps her the busiest because "we have to practice all the time." This is her second year to be in the flag corps and is proud that the group was named outstanding flag corps at the flag camp this past summer at Angelo State University. The group also took first place in the talent show.

She plays clarinet in the band and has been in the band all four years of high school. "We've worked really hard and put a lot of spirit back into the band this year," she said.

This is her first year on the varsity volleyball team. "It's exciting for me and I like working with other people," she said.

She said there's more skill involved in volleyball than most people think and said she is looking forward to the bi-district game with Breckenridge set Thursday in Clyde.

Student council has also proved time-consuming for Andra who last year was parliamentarian for the group. This year, she has been in charge of several Monday morning devotionals and assisted with homecoming activities.

She was a homecoming queen candidate this year and has been named top five academically all four years in school. She also has received the leadership award each year. She has been nominated for wittiest, junior class favorite and most dependable.

She says she likes CHS because "it's small enough that you know most of the people and you can just be yourself."

She plans on attending college, but is undecided on what college and what her major will be.

"Right now, I'm just ready for a little independence," she said.

Phone Tips from Southwestern Bell
Telephone

HANDLING ANNOYING CALLS

Southwestern Bell Telephone offers tips on telephone service and courtesy for home and office. This tip covers Handling Annoying Calls.

There are a few steps you can take to protect against abusive, harassing or obscene calls:

A. Threats to life and property should be reported immediately to law enforcement officials.

B. If you don't know the person who has called, don't respond to personal questions or give out any kind of personal information. Don't talk unless you want to.

C. Always ask who's calling. If a caller asks your name, respond by asking, "Who's calling?" or "What number did you dial?" or "Who are you calling?"

D. If the caller doesn't say anything right away, hang up.

E. Keep your poise, and try not to exhibit anger or fear. If you feel it's necessary, notify a law enforcement agency or the phone company after such a call.

Call our local Business Office for the Tele-Help Guide to Handling Annoying Calls, #12.

Convenience Banking?

What's So Convenient About:

PAYING
higher interest on your loans?

EARNING LESS
interest on your savings?

PAYING HIGHER
service costs at banks?

LOSING
local control over banking?

SACRIFICING
service to the big banks' benefit?

WHAT HAS BEEN THE BRANCH BANKING EXPERIENCE IN OTHER STATES?

-In North Carolina, 83 percent of the state's independent banks disappeared after branch banking went into effect.

-In South Carolina, 80 percent of independent banks disappeared.

-In Maryland, 71 percent of these banks was lost.

-In Virginia, branch banking affected 65 percent of independent banks.

Personal banking by your local bank with your personal loan officer who knows you, your business, and your credit history in reviewing any loan application that you may have is an asset that I am sure that you do not want to lose. How would you like for that decision to be made by someone in another town who has no knowledge of you personally whatsoever?

In addition the present law requires that any branch bank of a holding company must be a completely separate bank with its own capital and operate as a completely separate bank. This branch, based on the profits and capital of that bank, pays a franchise tax to the state. A portion of that tax is rebated to the local school districts where that branch bank is located. If the proposed constitutional amendment #4 is passed allowing full branch banking, the branch bank of the holding company will not have to maintain capital requirements and the franchise tax paid by that branch will not be rebated to the local school districts where that branch is located. Instead, it will be rebated to the school districts where the parent holding company is located.

YOU WILL HEAR A LOT FROM THE SO-CALLED CONVENIENCE BANKERS ABOUT PROPOSITION FOUR BUT YOU PROBABLY WILL NOT HEAR THIS:

The big banks of Texas hope to create a bank monopoly at your expense. Proposition Four has disguised branch banking as "full service banking." Whatever they call it - branch banking is a bad idea for Texas, and Texans will end up footing the bill for the big Texas bank holding companies to get bigger.

You especially don't want this to happen now since the Texas Legislature just passed a law permitting the large banks of New York City to purchase some or all of the large Texas bank holding companies. Not only can this legally happen now, but is almost certain to take place in the immediate future.

For all these years, Texans have never wanted or allowed the big banks of New York City to own and control the Texas Banking Industry. We are sure that this position by the people of Texas still has never changed.

Protect Your Interests And Your Pocketbook On Nov. 4.

Lt. governor candidates talk on dealing with crisis

The League of Women Voters asked lieutenant governor candidates incumbent Bill Hobby (Democrat), David Davidson (Republican) and Bill Howell (Libertarian) how they would deal with the severe financial crisis facing the state.

Here are their responses:

Bill Hobby - "Education, human services, highways and prisons consume 90 percent of our state budget. To erase a projected deficit of $2.9 billion through spending reductions alone, we would have to drastically cut or eliminate some of these essential services. This is unacceptable because it would dismantle human service programs, hamstringing our universities and transfer a huge tax burden to our local school districts."

"I favor reductions in spending of about $650 million, including 1 to 13 percent reduction in most state agencies and the elimination of several programs in public education. It is also necessary to raise the rate of the state sales tax from 4.18 cents to 5 cents and to broaden the base of the sales tax so many services not now taxed would be included."

David Davidson - "Declining revenue can be solved by diversifying the economy. A better business environment must be created. Increased taxes will be detrimental to this most necessary program. Eighty-four percent of the state budget consists of dedicated funds. Fifteen percent is constitutionally dedicated and 60 percent is dedicated by statute. The Legislature can pass laws to open up the funds dedicated by statute. The dedication of funds is to prevent future legislatures from touching certain programs. Under the current conditions we need to re-examine our priorities and their cost.

"I am for no new taxes until all prudent efforts to manage our state government has been exhausted. Texas government spending has grown 400 percent in 12 years, while the population has grown only 30 percent. I believe good management practices will prove no new taxes are needed. Under no condition am I for a personal or corporate state income tax."

Bill Howell - "Declining state government revenue is not a problem for the people of Texas. It is only a problem to politicians who will not have enough of our earnings to hand to everyone to whom they promised money, and to state bureaucrats who will not be able to go on building up their tax supported empires telling us what to do with our lives and property, and to phony businessmen making their fortunes from government contracts and subsidies. Libertarians believe in the traditional American philosophy of live and let live. We want to strictly limit government to defending individual rights. As far as government spending, we call for the abolition of almost everything. We call for drastic reductions in everything else. And we object being forced to pay for what's left. We would deregulate, decriminalize, detox and let people live in freedom."

Trying to be "perfect" parent can lead to stress

By Debbie Christian County Extension Agent

There's no such thing as a "perfect" parent, and trying to fit unrealistic expectation may mean you no longer enjoy what can be a fulfilling role.

Here are some ideas of avoiding the perfect parent trap:

-Honestly assess your goals. Do you expect too much of yourself? No one is perfect at everything—including parenting.

-Be willing to accept children's help. Even young children can put away toys, help set the table or make their beds. It may not be done to your standards, but remember there are steps to learning all tasks. Encouragement will motivate the child to improve.

-Recognize that you are not instantly equipped with parenting skills. Most jobs require a training period. Parenting is no exception, but the training usually is done on the job. Just about the time you learn a skill, the children grow and change, requiring you to learn new skills.

-Develop a sense of humor. Perfectionists tend to take themselves and their children too seriously. Recognize that children are messy, active, become tired and sometimes make mistakes.

-Learn to accept what can't be changed. Each day has 24 hours and only so much can be accomplished in that time. Parents may try so hard to get everything done that they don't feel good about what they are doing.

-Learn to relax and find some time away from the children. It's important for parents to sometimes make changes to cope with the daily demands of parenthood. Relaxation will allow you to tackle your parental responsibilities with renewed enthusiasm.

Enjoy your children. Their growth and development can be one of your greatest pleasures.

Course in livestock nutrition set at WTC

SNYDER—"Basic Nutrition for Livestock Owners" will be offered by the Continuing Education Department of Western Texas College on Monday nights from Nov. 3-Dec. 1. Classes will meet from 6:30-9:30 p.m.

Instructor for the course will be Kent Mills, Sales Representative for Ezell-Key Grain Co.

"I think this course will be especially useful for those who want to learn more about feeding an animal and understanding how different rations will influence on animal's growth and condition," said Mills. "I hope that a feed tag will make more sense to them when we finish this course."

Mills feels the course will be beneficial to those who are feeding 4-H and FFA animals, though it would benefit farmers and ranchers as well. Fee for the course is $25. For more information, call the Continuing Education Department at WTC, 915-573-8511, or Mills at home, 915-573-1308.
