HUNDRED DIE AS STEAMER SINKS

OPTIMISM SEEN OVER SECTION

RAINS BETTER CONDITIONS FOR CROPS

IMPROVED BUSINESS IS REPORTED; SORGHUMS REPLACE COTTON

Improved business conditions are reported from all sections of the South Plains as continued moisture for February indicates that the ground is now in the best condition at this season of the year for many years and that there will be a large increase in the acreage of feed crops.

Wheat is in splendid shape at this time, and sufficient pasture for cattle. Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley Crosby, Dickens, Garza and Scurry counties all report their wheat as making good progress.

The same condition is reported from Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe and other counties to the north. Winter oats in all of these sections, as well as where winter barley is sown, report similar conditions.

More Feed Grown

More feed will be grown this spring and summer on the South Plains than ever before, as many farmers are planning to replace a portion of their cotton acreage with sorghums. Similarly, there will be a reduction in cotton acreage because of the large increase in wheat sown last fall.

Farmers are reported getting their ground in condition for spring planting. With so much moisture this winter, the farmers have found that it pays to start their work early.

Scarcity of Oats

Lubbock county farmers soon will begin planting of spring oats and

AUDITOR ASKS CHANGES

STATE OFFICIAL MAKES REPORT TO SOLONS ON HIS FINDINGS

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 16.—Moore Lynn state auditor, planned to recommend to the legislature today that it make numerous changes in law to correct evils he said he found in surveys.

The report, the fifth and final of his findings during the past biennium, contained a summary of the other four volumes with all of his recommendations.

Lynn recommended that an executive budget be established, that the comptroller be given a better check on taxes, that fireproof vaults be built in the basement of the capitol to protect the state's records, that the practice of using state owned automobiles for private purposes be discontinued, and that the legislature consider the advisability of creating a state garage. The auditor recommended elimination of all local funds of state institutions or else monthly reports on these funds, an increased appropriations to make changes in various state departments to increase their efficiency.

Lynn said in his report that the comptroller had no adequate check either on current or delinquent taxes.

He said the method of keeping records in the treasurer's office could be changed to provide better protection of the state funds.

Lynn recommended an adequate accounting system for the land office department.

Youth Is Mistaken For Burglar; Shot

CISCO, Feb. 16. (AP)—Rue MacCoy, 19, was in a hospital at Gorman today after being shot by his father when the latter mistook him for a burglar as the youth was walking from their home at Romeny last night. The boy was shot once with a pistol, the bullet striking near his spine and paralyzing him.

SHOUSE ASKED TO NAME WET STATES

SENATOR SHEPPARD HAS INQUIRY TO PARTY CHIEF'S PREDICTION

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, today in the senate called upon Jouett Shouse, executive chairman of the Democratic national committee, to name the states on which he based his prediction the Democratic party would adopt an anti-prohibition platform in 1932.

The Texas senator who was a co-author of the 18th amendment, asserted in a statement read to the senate that "I do not believe the Democratic party will go wet. I doubt if there will be sufficient strength at the convention to adopt a modification or repeal platform."

Sheppard referred to Shouse's statement that enough states have already acted on prohibition to insure a majority of the delegates at the Democratic convention would vote for repeal or modification.

Sheppard said it would be "interesting and instructive" if Shouse would name the states to which he referred.

Sheppard's statement precipitated a lively prohibition argument on the Democratic side.

Tydings Is Heard

Senator Tydings, Maryland, said he believed he could explain "in about a minute why Shouse thinks the law should be changed."

The Marylander then read from regulations he said had been issued by the prohibition bureau in respect to cider saying that the cider should be removed from the press "promptly."

Tydings said the reason this injunction was given was "so a person would get it home before it becomes

House Votes On Vets Loans Today

AGREEMENT ON BILL REACHED BY G. O. P.

FINAL ACTION TO BE TAKEN AT 3:30 IN LOWER HOUSE

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Speaker Longworth announced today he would permit the veterans loan legislation to be brought up in the house at 2:30 p. m., C. S. T., with a view to final action about 3:30.

The announcement was made after a meeting of the unofficial Republican steering committee.

The speaker indicated he expected the proposition to increase the loans to 50 per cent on the face value of service certificates would win house approval.

Requires Two-Thirds

It requires a two-thirds majority to suspend the rules of the house to secure passage of the measure under the procedure to be followed today.

HOUSE COMMITTEE APPROVES NEW BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—The house veterans committee today approved a bill to provide pensions for dependents of World War veterans from the date of death of the veterans.

Representative Perkins, Republican, New Jersey, chairman of a sub-committee which revised the bill, said an effort would be made to bring it to a vote without any delay.

He estimated it would cost $12,000,000 to $14,000,000 for the first year, and $2,000,000 additional each successive year.

The bill would provide $26 a month for a widow and one orphan of World war veterans regardless of whether there was any service connection with the cause of death. It would provide $6 for each additional orphan and would exclude widows without children.

RATES ON OIL ORDERED CUT

PETROLEUM PRODUCTS TO BE SENT UNDER NEW SCHEDULES

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—A revision of railroad rates on petroleum products moving from the west and southwest to the northeastern section of the United States and upon gasoline to and from southwestern points was ordered today by the Interstate Commerce commission.

Railroads were given four months in which to prepare schedules. Both increases and reductions will result as compared with existing charges.

The commission indicated the terms of its finding would in part enable rail carriers to meet pipe line competition.

STATE COMMISSION ORDERS REDUCTION

AUSTIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—The railroad commission today ordered a sweeping reduction in intrastate rates on refined petroleum products.

The reductions must be put into effect before June 16.

The order will effect a saving up

KING ALFONSO OF SPAIN LIKELY TO LOSE SOME OF HIS POWER BY MAKING GUERRA CHIEF OF NEW GOVERNMENT

(By The Associated Press)

MADRID Feb. 16.—King Alfonso taking a bold step which may cost him much of his kingly power today designated Jose Antonio Sanchez Guerra, leader of the movement for a constitutional convention to determine whether Spain shall remain a monarch or become a republic, to form a new government.

Sanchez Guerra, leader of a left wing conservative group which probably is the strongest party in Spain, called at the palace before noon and after a two hour conference with the king announced he would attempt to get together a cabinet to replace that of Premier Berenguer, which resigned Saturday.

He said he would begin conferences immediately with other politicians and return to the palace at 6 p. m. today to let the king know what success he had had. It was believed he would be successful.

While Sanchez Guerra, leaving the palace, did not state upon what grounds he and the king had come to terms, since Berenguer's resignation Saturday he has declared that the only solution for the present crisis is immediate convocation of a constitutional convention to write a new Spanish constitution.

FIVE TEXANS ARE KILLED

CAR ACCIDENTS ARE FATAL TO QUARTET

FOUR ARE VICTIMS OF STREET CAR CRASH IN CHICAGO

(By The Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, Feb. 16.—W. Blandin of Fort Worth was killed last night when his automobile was in a three-sided collision on the Wichita Falls-Henrietta highway. Blandin swerved his machine after striking a truck parked on the highway and collided with a gasoline truck moving in the same direction. His neck was broken.

THREE PERSONS ARE KILLED IN HOUSTON

HOUSTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—Two men and a young woman were dead today and several others were injured as a result of automobile accidents near here yesterday.

The dead: Rex Oxford, 20; T. M. Farmer, 44, power company employes, of Houston; and Miss Julia Kelarek, 26, of Crosby.

Oxford and Farmer were fatally injured when their small truck skidded on a slippery highway and crashed into a concrete culvert. Farmer's neck was broken and he died instantly. Oxford died later.

Miss Kelarek was mortally hurt in an accident on the Houston-Crosby highway. She died in an ambulance enroute to a hospital here, her mother, Mrs. Steve Kelarek, 60, and a sister were injured but will recover, hospital attendants said.

IMMIGRATION BILL O. K.'D

LIMITATION TO AID IN UNEMPLOYMENT IS PROPOSED

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The house immigration committee today approved the Jenkins bill to restrict immigration for two years as an employment aid.

The measure would reduce quota immigration 90 per cent and limit immigration from western hemisphere countries to ten per cent of the entrants in the fiscal year 1929.

The committee also approved the free resolution to limit Filipino immigration for two years to 500 entrants to the mainland. It also would authorize Filipino immigration from the islands to Hawaii to be governed by existing labor department regulations.

The Jenkins bill was substituted for the original free bill which carried the Filipino provision along with the other restrictions.

Houston Man Is Charged In Slaying

HOUSTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—J. H. Harral, Houston grocer, faced an examining trial here today on charges of murder in the fatal shooting yesterday of his former son-in-law, A. A. McGrath, 46.

Harris told officers McGrath had telephoned him during the day, cursing him and warning him he was "coming out for a reckoning." McGrath was shot down as he walked up the sidewalk to Harral's home.

Lillian Leitzel, Queen Of The 'Big Top', Answers Last Applause Sunday

FALL IS FATAL TO STAR OF SAWDUST RING; SHE THRILLED THOUSANDS OF SOUTH PLAINS PEOPLE IN CIRCUS APPEARANCE HERE SEPT. 16

(By The Associated Press)

COPPENHAGEN, Feb. 16.—Lillian Leitzel, queen of the big top and the sawdust ring, lay stilled today in death—the price she paid for having attempted her breath-taking body whirl high in the air once too often.

The end came late yesterday in the midst of delirium brought on by head and spine injuries received Friday night when an iron ring broke and let her fall 45 feet to the floor of the Valencia Music hall with only a rubber mat to break the impact.

Husband At Bedside

Alfredo Codona, her husband and himself a triple somersault trapeze artist, flew from Berlin to her bedside. He believed her condition improved when he left the hospital in the afternoon but shortly after she took a turn for the worse and soon passed away.

A native of Bohemia, the dainty circus performer lived 20 of the 27 years of her life in America, where with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circuses she made a reputation for thrilling feats at the end of a rope which may outlive the modern circus.

Inherited Act

Her act was the "giant half flange"—to swing by her right hand from a rope 50 feet or more

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN

No premonition of death hung over Lillian Leitzel five months ago today when she swung from the "big top" in Lubbock to thrill the thousands of South Plains people who were gathered to see Ringling Brothers circus.

She spoke then of her European engagements for the winter and was having new costumes made for her appearances there—flimsy sets of pastel nets and silks and spangles, but she had no thought but that she would return to America in the spring to go on with the show.

Were Building A Home

There were rumors last year that Lillian Leitzel would retire. But, born to the circus world, she was delaying the day when the circus cars should roll on and leave her behind. She and her handsome husband, Alfredo Codona, who is a trapeze artist, were building a home in California against the day when they should want a place to settle down, but there was no date for retirement. Instead, during the afternoon the circus was here they were dreaming of the day when they should have their own show to trek from one end of the land to the other.

The dream of that home was dear to Lillian Leitzel's heart as it is to any woman, for she was domestic in instincts, but the call of the circus was even greater. A visit to her stateroom in the circus train revealed her home-loving traits, even

LEVELLAND TO GIVE BANQUET

ANNUAL ELECTION AND FEAST OF C. OF C. IS TONIGHT

(Special to the Journal)

LEVELLAND, Feb. 16.—Between 150 and 200 people are expected here tonight for the annual banquet and election of the Levelland Chamber of Commerce, scheduled to be held in a large building on the east side of the court house square at 7:30 oclock, Crede Rhea, president, said today.

Judge Clark M. Mullican of Lubbock has been secured as the principal speaker, taking the place of Garland Woodward, of Big Spring, who was unable to come because of pressing court matters.

To Choose Officers

Officers for the coming year are to be chosen tonight. Plans also for the new year will be outlined.

Following is the program: Music by Levelland orchestra; Invocation, Rev. Joe McReynolds, pastor First M. E. church; Welcome address, John H. Doyle; Music, by "Cotton Tag Quartet;" Response, M. C. Lindsey, Lamesa; Music, by "Cotton Tag Quartet;" Business session and election of officers; Reading, Miss Virginia Mathis; Address, Judge Clark M. Mullican; Ladies of the B. M. A. Baptist church will serve the banquet.

District Judge Is Found Dead In Hotel

FREDERICKSBURG, Feb. 16 (AP)—District Judge J. H. McLean, 70, of Llano was found dead in a hotel room here today a few hours before he was to have opened the regular term of court.

R. L. Kott, manager of the hotel, found the judge dead on going to his room to awaken him. Death was believed due to heart trouble.

Robsion Charges Precincts Stolen

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Former Senator Robsion, Republican, Kentucky, charged today in a letter to Chairman Nye, of the senate campaign funds investigating committee, that "whole precincts were stolen" in the election last fall in which he was defeated.

Denying that he had injected the religious issue into the campaign, Robsion said he felt if there was to be an investigation of the 1930 Kentucky election it should not be confined to the Republican party.

JAILER HALTS ESCAPE TRY

TWO PRISONERS SHOT BY STINNETT OFFICER IN BREAK ATTEMPT

(By The Associated Press)

STINNETT, Feb. 16.—Jailer Jack Givens frustrated a possible jail delivery of 37 prisoners here yesterday when two prisoners were shot and wounded as they attempted to overpower Givens when he took them to breakfast.

Aubrey Hess, 28, was shot through the thigh and Eugene La Grange, 28 was slightly wounded in the hand. Both were Moore county prisoners brought here because of inadequacy of the Moore county jail, while they were awaiting trial on charges of highway robbery. Deputy Sheriff Bert Ryan, who was outside the building, heard the shouts and shots and came to Givens' assistance.

BOAT STRIKES ROCK IN RIVER IN CHINA

FIVE HUNDRED WERE ON SHIP; SCORES DIE IN DECKS

(By The Associated Press)

CANTON, China, Feb. 16—One hundred persons drowned in the Pearl River south of here today when a steamer with 500 aboard struck a rock and sank. Those aboard had been celebrating the Chinese new year.

Scenes of wild confusion followed the collision of the ship against the rock and hundreds of people were thrown into the water.

The sinking of the ship followed quickly after the crash and many of the victims went down to a watery grave without even a chance to save themselves. Scores were trapped in the lower decks of the boat.

Three Towns Given 15 Per cent Credit

Petersburg, Roaring Springs and Spur were among the 65 towns in Texas given a 15 per cent fire record credit by the state fire insurance commissioner, according to an anouncement by the commissioner J. W. DeWeese, at Austin.

Fifteen per cent is the maximum credit that is given for records in fire work.

Among the towns assessed penalties of 15 per cent was Abernathy.

LOANS CAN BE ON LIVESTOCK

DROUTH AID HEAD SAYS NO QUESTIONS TO BE PRESENTED

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—Dr. C. W. Warburton, secretary of the national drouth relief committee, said today farmers could now obtain loans for livestock supplementary to loans for feeding work stock from the original $45,000,000 emergency appropriation.

He said he believed the $20,000,000 additional appropriation approved Saturday by President Hoover changed the $45,000,000 measure in that respect, as well as applying to the $20,000,000 fund.

Would Not Question

Warburton, who has administrative charge of the loans, added that the department "would not question whether loans for feed already made were used for work or for other livestock."

Under the original appropriation loans for feed for non-working stock was prohibited.

Farmers who have already received loans within the original limitations of the $45,000,000 measure may now apply for additional loans,

All The Liquor Everyone Wants At Cost Sold At Filling Stations, Is Vet Circuit-Rider's Pro Law Plans

(By The Associated Press)

MACON, Ga., Feb. 16.—All the alcoholic liquor everyone wants for a week, distributed at cost by all the filling stations in the country, is Dr. Bascom Anthony's idea of the best way to popularize prohibition.

"If I were King Bascom Anthony, imperial dictator of these United States," the 75-year-old circuit-rider of the Methodist Church, South, told a Baptist congregation here last night, "I'd let everybody have all they want for a week and then issue a statement that I would do the same thing in ten years. I would be so besieged with petitions that there never would be any more doubt that the prohibition law is a good thing."

Admits Wets Have Edge

Although he expressed belief that talk of "necking, drinking and women smoking" is exaggerated, and quoted figures to show that "less than one-tenth of one per cent of co-educational students are disciplined for drinking," he admitted that "the wets have had the better of us for the past two or three years."

"A lot is charged to us by the wet press that ought not be charged to us," he said. "This crime wave, for example, is a reaction from the world war. The government shows us by figures on millions of men whose intelligence was tested that over 75 per cent of the men in this country are 16 and less under the hatches. So the great bulk of us have to be governed by custom. We just run in ruts. War breaks up all these ruts and the world has to wear some new ones."

Committees In Church Women's Federation Announced For This Year

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

PSYCHOLOGIST ASKS READERS FOR QUERIES

YOU LITTLE know how much you have helped me by the hundreds of letters you have written me, by your words of encouragement, and the confidence you express in writing me for advise. I am particularly pleased by the scores who write me of specific problems which my column had helped to solve. Every letter asking for a personal counsel which I have received has been answered, although I sometimes have to be a little late. Please remember that with the enormous number, it is not easy to be prompt always, and that the demand upon me for speaking engagements in nearly every state keeps me away from my mail often for several days at a stretch. You will not expect a reply, of course, unless you enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. I have never yet received a letter not legibly written. Many are typed, many in bold, beautiful script, and a goodly number with business or professional letter heads; a few are written by pencil. All are treated with equal consideration, I assure you. Just write me when you feel like doing so. Every problem is important.

A good many letters come from my friends on the farm. You should know that I was once a dirt farmer, too; also a country school teacher. Some of you read the Farmer's Wife. It soon will carry a series of my articles on family relations.

I hear from a number of preachers and directors of religious education. They will also find an occasional article of mine in some of the religious journals and, from time to time, I shall have more to say to them in these columns.

Always glad to hear from fellow teachers, many of whom have run across my frequent articles in educational journals, school textbooks for children, and professional books for teachers. Regularly I write for the High School Teacher, and cannot desist from discussing school-home problems in this column. Since I speak before a good many groups of teachers and parents a year, I meet many of my readers face to face, particularly at state conventions.

Perhaps the largest single group who write me are members of the P. T. A., who know me through my United State bureau of education letters to parents, through my personal contacts at the national and state P. T. A. conventions, and through the articles I have been writing for several years in the Child Welfare Magazine, which is the official national organ of the P. T. A.

Some P. T. A. leaders are writing me for literature and suggestions about programs. Many say they are using this column for discussion groups; some that they are making scrap books of it. In one large city the local P. T. A.'s are competing for a prize offered by the city P. T. A. council for the best scrap-book made from these columns; all of which encourages me but makes me feel humble, wishing always that I might make the column better and more useful. Any suggestions to this end always will be warmly welcomed.

Mrs. Marion Howard, 1917 23rd street, will be hostess to the Comental club in her home Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

MOST FOODS TASTE BETTER IF COOKED IN SMALL AMOUNTS

Same is True of Hills Bros. Coffee, Which is Never Roasted in Bulk

When food is cooked in small quantities, the mixing, the application of heat, can be controlled with much more exactness. An omelet, for example, made of three eggs will turn out more tender and fluffy than one made of many eggs.

A similar situation occurs in roasting coffee. When roasted in bulk it is impossible to control the heat exactly. Some of the batch, therefore, is overdone and some underdone. As a result there is a variation in flavor.

In the invention of Controlled Roasting, Hills Bros. found the way to insure an even roast in their fine blend of coffee. Only a few pounds at a time are roasted by this patented, continuous process. When the roasting is finished a uniformly delicious flavor has been developed such as no other coffee has.

When you buy Hills Bros. Coffee it is always fresh because it is packed in vacuum. By this process, air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken from the can and kept out. Ordinary cans, even if sanitary, do not keep coffee fresh. Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab on the can.

FORTUNES SPENT ON COMING OUT PARTIES OF GIRLS IN WASHINGTON WHERE EVEN A 'LIGHT TEA' TO INTRODUCE DAUGHTER TO SOCIETY COSTS $5,000

BY RILLA ENGLE SCHROEDER
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Pity the poor papas who paid the bills for the 52 Washington debutantes this year!

It was daughter who danced in her expensive Paris frock, but it was dad who paid the dressmaker, florist caterer and the score or more expenses incidental to a small debut. Conservative estimates of the aggregate cost of the teas, receptions and balls which launched Washington's 52 young "buds" place the total at hundreds of thousands o f dollars.

Social secretaries, in whose hands such events are placed, declare that in spite of the business depression the season's round of entertaining for the debutantes was the costliest on record for the capital. The debut on which only a mere thousand or two was expended was regarded as most inexpensive. "A very nice little party" as the buds themselves might describe it.

Debut Party Small Item

The debut party itself is only one of the items that the parents of a prospective debutante must take into consideration. Daughter, once launched, is included in a hundred or so lists. She is besieged by a storm of invitations, each particular party demanding a new frock and frequently an entire new costume.

Entertained, she must in turn entertain, and she must help launch her sister buds. Woe to the poor little bud who is consistently omitted from the list of those assisting at the other smart debuts! And it would be out of the question to wear the same frock twice. Small fortunes have been spent on the coming-out gown and debut wardrobe.

The sum spent in Washington this season on flowers alone would keep several families in comfort for a year. The flowers used in decorating the ballroom of the Carlton hotel for the debut tea of Katrina McCormick, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, were valued at $5,000 forinstance.

Congress Invited

Thirty-five hundred guests were invited to the McCormick debut. The mother of the bud, Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick of Illinois, included on her invitation list virtually the entire membership of the United States senate and house of representatives.

It was a democratic throng that crowded the Carlton ballroom to greet Miss Katrina and congratulate her mother on her charming young daughter. Officialdom rubbed elbows with diplomats, residential society and the hundreds of personal and political friends of the "gentlewoman from Illinois."

Katrina, who has grown over night from a small girl whose greatest interest lay in her horses to a willowy young creature with almost as keen a flair for politics as her mother, is said to have bewailed to her chums that her debut was more "mother's party" than her own. Later Mrs. McCormick gave a ball for the younger crowd at the famouse Gaff mansion in Washington, her own house in historic old Georgetown being too small.

For Merely "Light Tea"

The debut tea was said to have cost in the neighborhood of $10,000. And at that only a "light tea" was served as refreshments. Had a seated supper been served, another $5,000 or $6,000 would h ave been added.

Heralded as the "million dollar' ball, the debut of Helen Lee Eames Doherty, adopted daughter of Henry L. Doherty, multi-millionaire public utilities magnate, led all the other "coming-out" parties of the season for lavish expenditure. Friends of the family declare $50,000 was actually spent on the ball. It was staged at the Mayflower hotel, where one entire floor was taken over for the evening. Dogwood, rare as orchids at Christmas time, when the party was held, was brought from the south to mingle with the Yuletide decorations. Expensive trifles, such as silver cigarette cases and enameled vanity bags, were distributed as souvenirs. More than a thousand guests, headed by Vice President Curtis and his sister-hostess, Mrs Edward Everett Gann, attended.

The Doherty ball, according to the authorities, ranks in costliness with the party given last season by Claudus Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee at that time, to introduce his youngest daughter, Mildred. A group of entertainers were imported from New York, and the guests, some 1,300 dined in a room transformed for the evening into a tropical paradise.

A Conflicting Debut

Helen Doherty made her debut the same evening that Eugene Meyer, Jr., head of the Federal Reserve board, and Mrs. Meyer, had selected to give a dance for their statuesque young daughter, Elizabeth. Always original, Mrs. Meyer engaged a wellknown and expensive mural painter of New York, whose canvases are noted for their beauty, to convert for the evening her magnificent Washington residence into a magical southern isle.

Huge paintings, where sparkling blue waters were reflected in sunny cloud-flecked skies, were placed outside the windows of the ballroom, whose walls themselves were banked with exotic tropical plants. The sleet and snow of the stormy December night were completely forgotten as the young guests, among them Allan Hoover, son of the President and Mrs. Hoover, danced under the light of a mellow southern moon.

Elizabeth had been formally presented to society at a tea at her parents' residence a few days before Christmas. To the particular debutante a tea must always be followed by a ball.

Less lavish but ranked as one of the important debutante functions of the year was the tea dance at which Adele Townsend Jahncke, the pretty blond young daughter of the assistant secretary of the navy and Mrs. Ernest Lee Jahncke, made her bow.

The Jahnckes are all of New Orleans family of wealth and position, and are known for their generous hospitality. They maintain a town house throughout the year in New Orleans and a summer home in Biloxi, Miss., where their friends from the south and Washington often go for week-end parties. In Washington they have an apartment at the Mayflower.

Belle of New Orleans

Adele was queen of the Mard Gras in her home city last year and not so many years ago her mother then one of the belles of New Orleans, was accorded the same honor.

Helen Doherty, Elizabeth Meyer and Adele Jahncke are listed among the half dozen Washington debutantes of this year who are known as great heiresses. Katrina McCormick will one day share with her small sister, Ruth, and brother Medill, the combined Hanna and McCormick millions.

Martian Hope, who has been presented this year in both New York and Washington, is a daughter of the fabulously wealthy Walter Ewing Hope.

Dorothy Fels, who is making a tricity debut, is the daughter of Mrs. Ogden L. Mills, wife of the undersecretary of the treasury and, on the paternal side, of the millionaire Fels of Philadelphia. She already has been presented in New York and Philadelphia, and, before the end of the season, now almost over for the buds, will make her bow in Washington.

The social secretaries in Washington estimate that the average cost of the debut parties in Washington this year has been in the neighborhood of $4,000 or $5,000. To the parents to whom this sum was out of the question "sneak out" in society or presenting her at a luncheon or small home party.

The first alternative insures the youngster a reasonably good time but automatically omits her from many of the more elaborte parties. A luncheon for 50 or 60 young people—the buds and their mothers only are invited to these affairs—can be given at $3 a plate. A bouquet for each of the guests adds another $2 or $3 to the bill, but the total prevents dad an attack of apoplexy and a bad bank deficit.

Many Associations To Celebrate Day

Lubbock parent-teacher associations are joining with several hundred others in Texas Tuesday evening in the observance of Founders Day.

Each school will be represented in the program here, which will begin at 7:30 o'clock in the High School auditorium.

Teachers in the schools, who are joining with presidents of parent-teacher associations in preparing the school programs, include the following: Hunt school, Miss Elnorna Leslie; Carter school, Misses Dimple Watson and Rozzie McCasland; Dupre, Mrs. Myra Hines; Senior High, Mrs. W. P. Clement; Sanders, Misses Blanche Fann and Alberta Rowley and Mrs. D. Jarrett; Central Ward, Miss Louise Jennings; Junior High, Mrs. Claxton Draper, Miss Mary Roberson and Miss Gladys Franklin.

AUSTIN, Feb. 16. — (Spacial)— many of the 496 new parent-teacher organizations as well as many of the old, included in the 2,000 Texas parent-teacher associations in membership with the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations, branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, have indicated that they would observe the 34th anniversary of the founding of the National organization on the 17th of February, by ordering from the state office of the Texas Congress program material suggested for use on this occasion. And this is fitting, for half of the birthday gift from Texas Associations observing the day last year has been used in Texas for extension purposes and some of these new associations owe their existence to this fact.

February 17 is variously known as the "National Congress Birthday," "Founders' Day", and "Child Welfare Day", and the observation of the day is designed in a way as a tribute to Mrs. Theodore Birney and Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, the two women who had the courage of their convictions and who, in face of ridicule and misunderstanding, called together in Washington, D C., 1897, the men and women who in their own lives felt the need of discussion and study in the serious business of rearing the children committed to their care. Today this need is recognized by all thoughful people, and "Parent Education" is one of the big movements in the educational field.

Mrs. Hugh Bradford, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, say: "Today we can pay no greater tribute to our founders than by giving our loyalty and service to the movement which they established. That loyalty should be one of understanding, appreciation and devotion."

However, the birthday anniversary of an individual and of an organization should be somewhat in the nature of a stock-taking occasion. What of growth has the past year to show? In size and numbers? Yes, but more in breadth of vision, in helpfulness, in understanding and interest, in casting off the outgrown clothes and worn-out forms, and in adopting those more suitable to the age and demands of the present time.

COTTON BILLS ARE ENTERED

TAX ON BALE OVER AN ALLOTMENT PROPOSED IN MEASURE

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 16—A bill to reduce cotton acreage by alloting one bale of cotton to each four acres of land under cultivation and placing a tax of $5 per bale on each bale in excess of the allotment has been introduced by Representative Donnell of Hillsboro.

A bill by Representative Olsen and others would restrict the type of cotton to be planted in each county, the type is to be determined at a county or precinct election. It was aimed at increasing the staple and quality.

To Liberalize Searching

A bill by Representatives Munson of Wharton and Forbes of Weatherford would liberalize the law relative to searching private residences for liquor. It would provide that a warrant would be valid if it complied substantially with the law. Munson said it would prevent cases from being thrown out because of minor technicalities. It also would provide for search of residences for all suspected liquor violations, the present law restricting searches to dwellings where liquor was sold or manufactured.

A bill by Representative Lockhart of Lubbock would permit institution of suits for libel against the dead to the immediate members of the family.

To Tax Cigarettes

By Representative Hatchitt of Wichita Falls to place a tax of $2 per 1,000 on the retail sale of cigarettes and a tax on cigars ranging from ten per cent of the retail price to $20 per 1,000, according to price.

A state income tax on citizens and corporations was projected by Representative Hanson of Tyler. The tax would be on net incomes and would range from one-fourth of one per cent on incomes from $1 to $1,000 to two per cent on incomes above $50,000.

Meeting To Be Held On County Tourney

Coaches and athletic directors of Lubbock County schools meet tonight at 7:30 in the county superintendent's office here to arrange for the deciding of the county basketball championship team and to determine which team will represent the county in the district tournament to be held here Friday and Saturday of this week.

In last week's county tournament, three teams emerged in a deadlock for the championship. Slaton defeated Idalou and lost to Monroe. Monroe and Idalou have not played, but second games between all of the teams will be necessary before a championship is established.

DUPREE WRITES ON SCOUTS AND CAMP FIRE GIRLS; LEADERS ARE NEEDED

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following comment on scout and camp fire work in Lubbock was written by a local attorney who has been active in aiding not only the scouts but also the underpriviliged children of the city. Because of the timeliness of the question involved and the experience of the writer in this line, the comment is being reproduced in full.)

To The Plainsman: Something has been said about the fact that the scout and camp fire work in Lubbock is not reaching out to enough boys and girls, and especially that same does not reach out to the underprivileged youth. After reading your editorials in The Plainsman's column, which to my mind are extremely fair and just insofar as the situation now presenting itself to those people who are interested in boys and girls work, and though it is against my policy to write articles for the newspaper, being interested in different phases of the boys and girls work in Lubbock, I have made some investigation as to the extent of the work now being carried on, especially by the Boy Scout organization.

There is now in existence in the City of Lubbock seven troops of scouts, comprising a total of approximately 150 in all. Those interested in scouting for the past year have endeavored and are endeavoring to increase these troops to a capacity of 32 scouts each. None of the troops are full to capacity, but same are rapidly filling up.

Makes Investigation

In an investigation of the personnel of the seven troops in Lubbock I find that only 36 of the boys in the different troops are sons of small business men and professional men, while the balance of the boys come form the homes of salesmen, laborers, mechanics, unemployed, widows, farmers, and some are orphans. When you examine, specifically, the personnel of the different scout troops, it becomes evident from the facts as presented from the scout records, that the boys now engaged in scouting come from the homes of the ordinary, everyday people, and certainly, when you take a list of the occupations of the parents of the boys engaged in scouting, it cannot be said that the organization is drawing its scouts from what is termed the "Silk Stocking Bunch."

The problems confronting scout and camp fire girls as well today are not brought about by defects in the organizations, but are brought about by the scarcity of leadership. It becomes more evident to those who give their time to this work that the crying need today in scouting is for more scoutmasters who are willing and do unselfishly give of their time to this work. Up to date it has been a very grave problem to keep the seven troops now in existence in Lubbock properly manned with the leadership necessary. There are several scoutmasters who are giving of their time and service in this great work, but it would be foolish to extend the program of scouting until there are other men and women who will give of their time, energy and their leadership to lead such groups. So when the criticism comes of scouting today the answer can be properly made under the facts that until more men and women agree to give of their time and service to this work that it is foolish to talk about any extension program.

Asks For Leaders

In this connection under the facts may I invite the attention of men and women who are interested in boys and girls to this problem confronting the leaders of boys and girls work, and give to each an every man who is interested an opportunity for leadersip, if we can find that man or woman. The boys and girls themselves are today crying for more leadership, and the gravest problem confronting the work is the lack of leadership, and the lack of encouragement on the part of men and women, who though they say they are interested in boys and girls work, will not accept the responsibility of leadership.

The time has come when sentiment and enthusiasm and resolutions will not effect an extension program in boys and girls work. There is something further necessary and that is the active support and the active leadership of those interested in the general movement for future citizenship.

Hundred Needed

With reference to work among boys and girls who are not today members of a scout or a camp fire organization, may I make this observation, that there is enough work today in Lubbock among boys and girls to keep one hundred men and women who want to do unselfish service for these boys and girls, busy. The great trouble has been in work of this class and may we mention the under-privileged child work especially, that it appeals to the minds and sentiments of a good many people, but when it comes to taking the necessary time, energy, thought and trouble, these people will not consent to assume leadership, and will not consent to give of their time and energy in a routine plan for such work. It has been my little experience that some twelve or fifteen people are from day to day and from Sunday to Sunday carrying on this work, while the demands are for as many as a hundred people to carry it on.

So, instead of saying that the program for boys and girls work in Lubbock is not effective, it occurs to me that the thing we need most of all is for men and women to say that not only am I interested in such work, but I am willing to give a portion of each week to actively carrying out such extension program among the boys and girls of Lubbock. There is need today for boys clubs in at least three more sections of the city, but when those who are interested in this work get together and discuss this need, the inevitable problem arises that there is no one to carry on the work. All of those who are working have all that they can do, so may I invite those who are interested to get in touch with some person whom they know is today doing their share of this work and to offer to this person their active cooperation and support. When this is done, a program for the boys and girls of this community can be worked out because the one big problem will be solved; namely, the lack of man power and woman power, and instead of writing about these things, it occurs to me that if there are 100 men and women in Lubbock actually interested in doing something instead of talking about it and passing resolutions concerning it, that a mass meeting could be held of those interested and a boys and girls organization perfected to carry on this much neded work in the several sections of our city.

I call attention to these facts because to my mind the one problem that confronts those interested in boys and girls work today is the lack of man power and woman power represented by men and women who are willing to give of their time and service in order that the future citizenship of our town may have a practical viewpoint instigated by unselfish leadership.

Yours very truly,
GEORGE W. DUPREE.

FOOLPROOF AIRPLANE DEMONSTRATED SUCCESSFULLY; WILL NOT SPIN NOR DIVE AND LANDS ITSELF WITH SAFETY

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—A foolproof airplane which its inventor claims will neither stall, spin nor dive and will land itself is the latest contribution to safety in the air.

While more than a hundred aeronautical experts and financiers watched, the plane was successfully tested at Glenn H. Curtis airport Wednesday. Piloted by Henry White, it made half a dozen short flights and came to a near-perfect landing each time with the pilot's hands high above his head.

The designer is A. A. Merrill, of White Plains, N. Y., formerly in charge of aeronautical research of the California Institute of Technology, and a contemporary of the Wright brothers, Octave Chanute and Langley. He has been working on the plane since 1913 and at one time was forced to mortgage his life insurance to continue.

Movable wings which can be adjusted over an arc of 14 degrees are the secret of the plane's stability. In flight, these restricted flying surfaces prevent a pilot from unwittingly going into a stall or a dive. In landing, they mechanically level off at the proper distance from the ground and assume the proper gliding angle.

The pilot controls the wings from the cockpit by a crank and pushrod mechanism which is calibrated arbitrarily and rotates from zero, in respect to the fuselage, to an angle of incidence of 14 degrees. In taking off, he sets them at an angle that will preserve his trim. When landing, he cranks them to the maximum point, locks the crank and allows the plane to drift downward.

Thought For Today

Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me.—Psalm 23:4.

Comfort and indolence are cronies.—Hood.

Ritchie's Advice

Those people who are always demanding that the government "stay out of business" are respectfully referred to a few paragraphs in the recent inaugural address of Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland.

Governor Ritchie, endorsing this demand, added that this in turn puts a responsibility on business itself.

Does business, he asks, want a minimum of governmental interference? Very well; it can deserve and gain this freedom "only by developing a higher order of self-government and by tackling those problems which are of its own making instead of passing them on to government."

Then he points out that business complaining of government in business, puts government into business "in its most obnoxious forms" by insisting on high, complicated tariff bills. It builds up public utilities worth billions, "and then pits propaganda against politics instead of applying to its affairs an enlightened business statesmanship to which the public would respond."

The governor then candidly points out that business could avoid much governmental interference by putting its own house in order. He suggests, for instance, that business should devote some serious study to the problems of labor turn-over and involuntary unemployment, and remarks that "industry should evolve its own forms of prevention and put the burden of this on its own economic surplus."

All of this constitutes one of the sanest discussions of the government-business problem that has been heard in a long time. Too often, the spokesmen for industry adopt a position that is strangely like that of the man who wants something for nothing. They abhor all governmental supervision, regulation or competition; yet they expect the government to provide props and balances whenever they are needed, to clean up the debris caused by mistakes which industry itself makes, to solve problems that industry has created.

If Governor Ritchie can force a realization of the fact that the thing works both ways he will be doing all of us a great service. If industry wants freedom from governmental regulation, let it follow a few of the suggestions he has outlined. If it devotes itself to such a program, and realizes that earning dividends is not its sole responsibility, everything will go along nicely. If not, the government will get deeper and deeper into the field of business every year.

One-Room School

The commissioner of education at Washington has concluded taht "the little red schoolhouse should join the old oaken bucket in the limbo of the past," wherever a substitute is within reach.

The inequality of educational opportunities in rural and urban districts has long been recognized and is only now being corrected on a large scale. The one-room, one-teacher school served its noble purpose well years ago but it cannot compete with the modern city or consolidated country school.

A recent survey revealed that a large percentage of the pupils of city schools complete their high school education, but the number of rural pupils who finish high school is comparatively small. Likewise it is the city youth who has the best opportunity to go to college and who most often takes advantage of it.

Although still glorified and sentimentalized, at the same time that it is condemned, the little red schoolhouse is nearing that time when it will live in memory only. In a number of states one-room buildings are being replaced by consolidated schools as rapidly as the money becomes available. Hundreds are abandoned each year.

Among the most remarkable aspects of the trend is the suddenness and completeness with which the rural population has deserted the little red schoolhouse, once its pride and glory. The nation is witnessing an educational and intellectual revolution in the rural sections.

THE PLAINSMAN Says:

That Girl on Broadway says many a man who promises his wife pin money learns that she wants diamond pin mony.

Have you heard the latest story about the absent-minded Tech professor? When he left for the college he kissed the door and slammed his wife on the cheek.

DIRECTORS of the 1931 Panhandle-South Plains Fair have already begun their plans for this year's exposition and although it is a far cry from the dates of operation, they have settled down to the business of making beneficial changes.

Few of us, who are not connected with the fair, realize just how much work and study is essential to its showing. Few, if any of us on the outside, have any conception of the problems which face the directors months and months before the gates are thrown open to the public.

* * *

The description "Bigger and Better Than Ever" has been applied to the fair for so many years that it has become trite—and the butt of many wisecracks, some of which have appeared in this very column. But when we soberly face the facts, there has never been a year in local fair history when the exposition did not show a distinct improvement over the preceeding one.

* * *

THE PLAINSMAN is interested in the Panhandle-South Plains fair—interested in it in February as well as in September, because it is an institution of this country. And practically everyone else, if you'll pin him down, feels the same way about it.

* * *

One improvement for 1931 is already assured in the contract which will bring Dodson's World Fair carnival shows, with 40 all-steel cars—the second largest organization of its kind in America. While the carnival attraction is not anywhere near the backbone of the fair, it cannot be denied that it draws many thousands through the gate.

There will be one all-steel addition to the building group, the recently negotiated 84x130 foot building to be set on a concrete foundation and used for a hog barn. Absolutely fireproof, the hog building will be practically as large as the 90x130 foot dairy building and will be used for the first time next month at the meat show here.

* * *

ALL IN all, 'things are picking up' for the fair early this year and the exposition may be expected to lead the fall jubilee which we all expect. It may be funny and trite to apply "Bigger and Better" to the exposition, year after year, but 1931 is another twelve-month during which the application will probably hold good.

J. C. ANDERSON dropped in the other day with a contribution that certainly should pep up a 'blue Monday.'

Incidentally, there is a lot of good horse sense in the article, which is being reproduced here in full:

"I have been wondering lately just what's the matter with us Americans and I've been wondering if maybe that isn't it—'Wondering'?

"There is more wondering going on right now than I can remember since the time Deacon Jones fell in the mash and everybody wondered how he got there.

"If somebody buys a car or builds a house, we wonder where and how he got the money. If somebody gets married we wonder why, and how it will all turn out.

"We wonder what she sees in him and what he sees in her, and we wonder if she knew 'this' and wonder if anybody told him about 'that.'

"If a man makes a success, we wonder how he did it. We wonder if it wasn't luck and wonder, after all, if he's as well off as he says he is.

"We wonder if he won't go busted some day and if he does, we wonder why the banks didn't help him and wonder why anybody ever gave him any credit.

"We wonder about the people who have just moved in, and we wonder about the people who have just moved out. We wonder what killed Smith and we wonder how much he left. We wonder why people do something, and we wonder why they don't do something. Then we wonder if they ever have done something or if they ever will do something.

"I wonder if it wouldn't be a good thing if we wondered less and worked more! I wonder if any of our wondering changes results and wonder if work wouldn't.

"I wonder if we wondered only about our own jobs and worked at them, if we couldn't build up a wonderful business and keep business wonderful in general."

THAT last, pink-cheeked 'collegian', whom you assured of another year in the university by signing up for a 10-year subscription to "McGool's Mazanine", has one on you, all right, all right.

He went back into the home office and the boss, astounded at the way he flim-flammed you and the rest of the folks, was looking for information.

"To what," he inquired, "do you attribute your wonderful success as a house-to-house salesman?"

"I dunno, boss", the kid replied, "unless it's the way I start out I greet every woman with "Good morning, Miss. Is your mother in?"

This Year Is Likely To Be Most Fruitful In History For Old Age Pension Laws As 14 Governors Seek Bills

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Fourteen governors of states have requested their legislatures to study the problem of old age security and enact pension measures, according to the American Association for Old Age Security, which says 1931 looks like the most fruitful year in history for old age pension legislation.

Nearly all the legislatures are seriously considering the problem, and many will enact legislation, it is believed. Of the 14 governors, 11 urged enactment of new laws while those of Minnesota, Massachusetts and New York called for extension and improvement of existing statutes.

Governors Endorse Plan

Governors from coast to coast were emphatic in their endorsements of old age pensions, according to a compilation of what they said. Some of the quotations from messages are:

Julius L. Meier of Oregon: "The poorhouse should be abolished forever. Old age pensions are not charity and it is the duty of the state to provide for the aged."

Wilbur M. Brucker of Michigan: "Any argument against old age pensions must fail of logical support."

Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania: "I will use the full power of my office to secure old age pensions for the helpless poor."

Urges "Early Action"

Wilbur L. Cross of Connecticut, urging "early action": "For the aged who, though not ill, are in distress, as many as 12 states have enacted an old age pension law."

Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, asking consideration of a wider contributory insurance plan: "Our American aged do not want charity, but rather old age comforts to which they are rightfully entitled."

C. Douglass Buck of Delaware, suggesting abolition of poorhouses: "Any pension bill that reaches those in greatest need must provide for the class of dependents now in almshouses."

Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts: Urged reduction of the minimum age of 70 in the state's pension law because so many men of advanced age are being released from employment in industry.

Morgan F. Larson of New Jersey: "There is a widespread, representative support for some appropriate form of relief for the needy aged."

George White of Ohio, recommending a referendum: "There is no doubt of a growing popular sentiment in this direction, with the principles of which I am personally in hearty accord."

C. Ben Ross of Idaho: "It is not only more humane but more economical to care for those who are thrown upon the public for support, in their homes."

Other governors who urged pensions or similar legislation for the aged in need were Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, Frank C. Emerson of Wyoming, George W. P. Hurft of Arizona and Fred Olson of Minnesota.

One of the first legislatures to act was that of Delaware, proceeding on recommendations of the governor and an old age pension commission headed by Alfred I. du Pont. By votes of 32 to 2 and 14 to 1, the House and Senate, respectively, passed a bill for state aid to persons 65 years old and more who had lived in this country for 15 years and Delaware for five years. The maximum amount of pension was set at $300 and it was estimated that about 1600 persons would qualify for relief.

N. Y. Has Largest System

The largest state pension system is that of New York, which began operating in January, when 18,000 checks were mailed, according to the Old Age Security Association.

Several measures for federal old age pensions have been introduced in Congress. The most comprehensive bill is that of Senator Caraway of Arkansas, which would appropriate $12,000,000 to go with an equal or greater amount to be contributed by states. The federal-state pensions which Caraway contemplates would be paid to persons of 65 years and more who had no personal or real property in excess of $4000.

Pensioners would have had to have been American citizens for at least 20 years and residents of their states for a minimum of five years. The Caraway bill would also create an Old Age Pensions Bureau in the Department of Labor.

Diet and Health

EDITOR'S NOTE: Four pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining," "Hygiene of Women," "Infant Feeding" and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are: "Normal Diet," "List of Books for Mothers," "Bed Wetting," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

HOME MEALS AGREE WITH WELL PERSON

Acquaintances frequently stop me to say something to the effect: "My wife read your article on the epizootic and ever since she is sure she's got it."

Dr. Clendening

I always apologize for this and reply, "You go home and tell your wife that you know me personally and that I don't know anything about the epizootic or anything else, and for her not to pay any attention to what I say."

This joke is supposed to be exclusively on the laity. Not at all! Doctors are just as susceptible as the untrained to suggestions of this kind. I know several men who have precipitated an attack of some dread disease on themselves by preparing a paper for the medical society.

I believe that no class of people is more likely to be afflicted in this way than professional dietitians and nutrition experts. I know one whose family dreads the day he starts out on a new experiment. He usually comes home, changes all the meals in the household around and makes them eat some unappetizing mixture because he is temporarily impressed with the need of certain ingredients in the food.

The fact that a sound knowledge of the dietary facts should inculcate is that on a wholesome and balanced diet the needs of the body are well supplied. I once wrote an article called "Like Mother Used to Make." The idea of which was that the kind of meal "mother" was popularly supposed to set out is the ideal nutritional standard. So long as a dietary contains the old standbys, "meat and salt and bread and butter and eggs and milk and fruit and vegetables and salad (greens) and dessert—it will be a balanced diet for a healthy person.

Two things interfere with this conception. One is the introduction of a sick person. I said above a healthy person. When disease appears—diabetes or anemia or rickets or indigestion or gout or nephritis—the diet has to be deliberately modified and tampered with. Don't mix up the needs of sick people with those of healthy people.

The other thing which may modify the situation is, that changing conditions of living cause the old-fashioned diet to become unbalanced. C. O. Swanson (in "What flour and diet." published by the MacMillan company), points out that the increase in the ease and the standards of living in the United States have changed our habits of eating in some instances. We have tended to abandon the cereals and grains in favor of more expensive and palatable foods such as oils fats, fresh fruits and vegetables. Besides, the conditions of modern life have made high energy content in food less necessary—we live in warm houses and hence do not require so much heat from our food. We move around in warm, closed cars which we do not have to use our muscles to propel—the gasoline in the tank does what the sugar in our dessert used to do.

Poison Found In Woman's Viscera

PAMPA, Feb. 16 (AP)—Justice of the Peace James Todd announced late Friday he had received a telegram from W. B. Wardlow, state chemist, reporting that poison was found in the viscera of Mrs. Clyde Felker, who was found dead here recently in a parked automobile. Todd ordered the arrest of persons suspected in connection with Mrs. Felker's death.

Viscera of the woman's body were sent to Austin for examination after it was discovered her grave had been opened. Justice Todd ordered the body exhumed after it had been buried 22 days.

ACTION ASSURED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—House action next week on the Gifford resolution to eliminate the "lame duck," session of congress was assured today when Speaker Longworth said it was the first important item on the legislative program.

President Hoover has posed for a portrait recently but no one has yet ventured forth with gossip of an "oil" scandal.

SWAN

In Barbary With Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—Sailing day in Manhattan is a carnival running a high temperature.

The fever is noticeable long before the first passenger leads the tangled taxi parade. It begins in the morning when trucks roll up and dump out trunks and crates and great baskets of flowers that have cost a fortune in the Park Avenue florist shops. As the morning goes by, the hucksters begin to gather with their last minute supply of wares. They soon are swarming the curbstones, hawking bouquets and candies and trifles of every sort.

The bustle of flunkies comes next. Natty uniforms begin to decorate the wharf-front. Now starts the excited buzz of passengers. The stout lady who cannot locate her crated pomeranian sets up a shrill hue and cry. The tyros of travel race excitedly back and forth, trying to find their way through the maze of counters and of trunks.

The usual farewell parties gather in staterooms and jabbering, chattering hordes race up and down and over and under the various decks in search of departing friends. Soon the salons and decks swarm with buzzing humanity.

A bride and groom come up the gangplank and a pyrotechnic burst of confetti greets them . . . a wife weeps at parting from a husband and a sweetheart weeps at parting from a sweetheart.

Over a vast number of faces comes that stunned look that seems to say, "Well, we're finally going." And over the faces of friends who must leave at the sounding of a gong, comes that hurt look of envy, which seems to say, "you lucky boss!"

Thus it goes, an ebbing and flowing of mingled cacaphonies. Laughter here and tears there and emotions mingled in a dozen keys. The gong once . . . the gong twice. . . .

Everyone ashore . . . that's going asho-r-r-re!

The crowds begin to crawl back down the gangplank . . . the more timid first and the old-timers at the last second. Finally the waterfront men, who wait until the plank is about to be drawn in.

Yep, there's Harry Acton and Nat Ferber along with him. . . . Well, goodby, fellows. . . .

Serpentines begin to go up from the pier and down from the deck. Soon there is a rainbow of fragile color. . . . Crowds upon the wharf all but shove each other into the river for a final wave or a final shout. . . . Along the beam of the ship, the first gentle swish of water begins its soft symphony, and the voices of sea-goers suddenly fail them.

And now a new little world has been made in a day. It is a world to be inhabited largely by strangers, as all worlds have been since the beginning of time. This world can move and it can carry them off from the worlds they have known. And because it has this magic, sea travel has always been a form of humanity's escape from its environment. And because it has offered this escape, repressed humans often leave themselves behind and become gayer, freer persons for a moment in time.

With each mile, old lives get farther and farther away . . . hardly has the last tear been shed and the final whistle dies away before furtive looks are being exchanged . . . then a quick rush for the exchange of money into French currency . . . the unpleasant necessity of arranging for table seats . . . the awkward first meal, with everyone sparring for time . . . the 20-mile limit and the first drink . . . and that strange instinct by which a barfly recognizes a fellow. . . .

Still and all, a certain restraint tugs at the reins of all first nights at sea. . . . And this one is no different. . . . Most everyone is weary. . . . And so Station SWAN signs off until tomorrow comes.

GILBERT SWAN.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The native sure could run real fast and Clowny shouted "Gee! At last I'm getting just the sort of ride that I like best of all. I feel real classy, sitting here and there is not a thing to fear." Just then the Travel Man cried out, "Look out there, lad. You'll fall!"

The little cart went 'round a curve and Clowny, as it took a swerve, slid suddenly across the seat and then grabbed hold real tight. Of course it gave him quite a thrill. 'Twas lucky that he didn't spill. He looked out at the others and then shouted, "I'm all right."

Soon Scouty shouted, "Hey! No fair! You're staying much too long in there. Get out and let us have a ride." "All right," wee Clowny cried. He shortly hopped down to the ground and all the others rode around. They quite agreed it was one of the nicest things they'd tried.

The Travel Man then said, "Well, I am also game. I think I'll try a trip around this city's streets. I hope I'm not too fat." The native smiled and said, "Oh, no! I know I'll make my old cart go. Hop in and then take my advice and hang on to your hat."

It made the Tinies laugh in glee to all stand 'round and plainly see the heavy, happy Travel Man go sailing down the street. He soon began to pant and puff and then he shouted, "That's enough"' And, as he got out of the cart, he said, "That was a treat."

Another sight soon met their eyes. Out in the open, 'neath the skies, they found some wrestling natives who were clever as could be. Applause came in a sudden storm and how those natives could perform. Said Scouty, "Gee, but they are strong. That's what I like to see."

(The Tinymites meet a little pottery boy in the next story.)

Settling the War Argument Over the First Yank Killed

Stone was stationed with his machine gun . . . at an advanced point in the line near Craonnelle, Feb. 17, 1915 . . . a shrapnel ball penetrated his left side and lung . . . stretcher-bearers carried him back, but he died in hospital.

Victor Chapman . . . first American aviator killed in action. . . . He was shot dead in his plane June 23, 1916 . . . after bringing down two German planes in a dog fight.

While the honor is usually given to Gresham, Enright and Hay, historians now believe that records must be changed and the glory awarded to Edward Mandell Stone, machinegunner of the French Foreign Legion, who died from wounds received in action February 27, 1915, just 16 years ago this week

The grave of Edward Mandell Stone, Romilly-sur-Seine . . . from a photograph taken by Captain Rockwell on Memorial Day, 1929.

While the World War was scarcely more than a legend to America . . . "Eddie" Stone of Chicago was pouring out his blood for France. . . . He is believed to have been the first American citizen to die in action.

Edward Bouligny of New Orleans, Louisiana . . . believed to have been the first American citizen wounded in action. . . . He was one of the first to go with the Foreign Legion in 1914 . . . and after transfer to aviation, brought down 15 German planes.

By PAUL AYRES ROCKWELL

(Author of "American Fighters in the Foreign Legion.")

JUST before dawn in the morning of Nov. 3, 1917, the Germans opened a violent cannonade on the advanced American post of Artois. New troops were in the lines before them, they knew, and information must be had. The bombarded sector was crushed. When the German raiders withdrew, three men lay in the American trenches, dead of rifle and revolver bullets, and bayonet wounds. They were Corporal James B. Gresham of Evansville, Ind., and Privates Merle D. Hay of Glidden, Iowa, and Thomas F. Enright of Pittsburgh, Pa. They were the first soldiers of the United States to die in action in the World War. Their names and their story are well known.

But long before their deaths, American blood had been poured into the soil of France. The war had scarcely opened in 1914 when American boys resident in Europe and even some living in America rallied to the tricolor of France. Many entered the British and Canadian services, and it is likely that some entered the German army also.

These American citizens were prophetic forerunners of the million and more of their countrymen who were later to go to France. They fought, and some of them died, long before their country had entered the war. It is natural, therefore, that although Gresham, Hay and Enright were the first American soldiers killed in combat, other Americans died before them.

After long study of records and testimony, I believe that the first American citizen to have been killed in action in the World War was Edward Mandell Stone of Chicago, whose body still lies in an honored grave in France.

IN such a maelstrom as the World War, of course, no conclusion of this kind may be regarded as final. But much study and research has led me to this conclusion. Perhaps publication of Stone's claim to the honor may bring to light the name of an American who even earlier than Stone died in battle in the World War.

My studies have led to the records of other Americans who died very early in the conflict. They indicate that:

The first American aviator killed in action was Victor Chapman, shot during an air fight June 23, 1916.

The first American citizen wounded was Edgar John Bouligny of New Orleans. He went with the Foreign Legion early in 1914.

The first American soldiers killed by the enemy in France (not in actual combat) were victims of an airplane bomb at a hospital base at Dannes-Camiers, Sept. 4, 1917. They were First Lieutenant William T. Fitzsimmons, Medical Reserve Corps, and Privates Rudolph Rubino, Jr., Oscar C. Tugo and Leslie G. Woods.

The first U. S. officer wounded was First Lieutenant Louis J. Genella, who was serving with the British, July 14, 1917, when struck by a shell.

The first officer wounded while serving with an American unit was First Lieutenant DeVere H. Harden, struck by a shell fragment Oct. 28, 1917.

Should further research show prior casualties to any of these men, it will be no less honor to them. And until such further facts are established their memories deserve to be preserved.

The life of "Eddie" Stone, as that of the first American to be killed in action, deserves further notice.

EDWARD MANDELL STONE was born in Chicago, Illinois, Jan. 8, 1888. Both his father, Henry Baldwin Stone, and his mother, who before her marriage was Miss Elizabeth Mandell, belonged to old New England families. His father was operating vice president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad.

Edward's childhood was like that of other American boys of wealthy, cultivated families. His winters were spent in Chicago; in summer he went to the family place by the sea in Massachusetts. He was a proficient swimmer, and later he learned to handle a sailboat. His great sport was making short cruises along the rocky Newy England coast, often in the company of Kenneth Weeks, of Boston, also destined to die fighting for France in the uniform of the Foreign Legion.

Stone went to Milton Academy, Milton, Massachusetts, and Harvard College. He was a brilliant student, and easily took his A. B. degree in three years, with the class of 1907. About this time, his life was saddened by the tragic death of his father, who was killed while setting off Fourth of July fireworks at the summer home at Marblehead. A little later, his only brother, a sister, and his mother, all died.

After two years at the Harvard Law School, Edward Stone went to Buenos Aires as private secretary to the Honorable Charles H. Sherrill, United States Minister to the Argentine Republic. He decided to devote himself to a diplomatic career, and went to Paris to perfect his knowledge of French.

AUGUST, 1914, found Stone enjoying the easy-going pleasurable life of pre-war Paris. When the first call to arms sounded, he resolved to fight for the country which had shown him hospitality.

Stone and his comrades, with thousands of other foreign volunteers, marched across Paris to the Hotel des Invalides, on the morning of August 21, 1914, and in the vast and imposing courtyard of the historic building, were reviewed by the French authorities. Then, as rapidly as the men could be passed upon by the army doctors, they were received into special "marching regiments" of the Foreign Legion, and sent away to training stations. By the end of September two battalions were ready for the front.

The Legionnaires left for the war zone on September 30, 1914, as part of the Second Marching Regiment of the Second Foreign Regiment. Edward Stone had trained as a machine gunner, and was attached to the Fourth Company of C Battalion. He was the only American in his company.

The first stop in the war zone was at the Camp de Mailly, a dismal place, half-destroyed by the Germans who had passed there recently; cold, damp, and sunless. For two weeks, the Legionnaires marched back and forth across the monotonous Champagne landscape, through scrubby pine woods and sullen fields, strewn with the wreckage and debris of battle.

STONE wrote on October 9, 1914, to his uncle, the Honorable Frederic M. Stone, of Milton, Mass.:

"I was very pleased indeed to receive your letter, which reached me about a week ago. I should have answered sooner, except for the fact that I have very little time to myself at present. We are now at an enormous military camp, at a place called Mailly, about 20 miles from Chalons. We are working very hard, going through exercises of all sorts, as I am glad to say that the French government has no intention of sending us to the firing line without thorough preliminary training. As a matter of fact, we are not far from the front, and are well within hearing of the artillery. The Germans have been here, and a part of the battle of the Marne was fought in this neighborhood. There are relics of the battle of all sorts: soldiers' graves, French and German rifles and uniforms, pieces of shells, etc. Some of the villages around here have been almost totally destroyed.

"You will be glad to hear that I am perfectly well, and that the life up to the present time has been doing me good rather than harm."

Orders to go up to the Rheims Mountain battle line were received with enthusiasm. Eight battalions of Legionnaires were now concentrated at Camp de Mailly, four of the First Regiment, and four of the Second. Singing as they went, the Legionnaires marched toward the sound of the cannon. They first went into line below Verzy and Verzenay, a few miles southwest of Rheims, in the fertile, smiling vineyard country. Then the Second Regiment was ordered north to the Aisne region, and went into the troublesome sector facing the soon-to-be-famous Chemin des Dames—the Ladies' Road, of bloody memory.

From then on, Stone seldom saw any of his American comrades.

ON February 17, 1915, Edward Mandell Stone was stationed with his machine gun at an advanced point in the line, near Craonnelle. The enemy started a heavy bombardment, and he was hit by shell splinters and shrapnel balls. Rupert Van Vorst, assistant battalion surgeon, who was called to give first aid treatment, wrote:

"I saw Eddie Stone frequently during the six months we were together in Battalion C. He was always on the job, and in good spirits. He had a lot of grit, poor chap. One day I got a call from his company to treat a wounded man. I found Stone with a hole made by a shrapnel ball in his side, probably left lung penetrated. There was no wound of exit, so the ball, or piece of shell, stayed in. He was carried back by my squad of stretcher-bearers from the front line trench, where I applied the first dressing, to 'Blanc Sablon,' our headquarters, and from there was removed to a hospital. I did not see him any more, but heard that he died of his wound in this hospital. . . . He had some friends in the Legion who spoke highly of him to me. There was very little help we regimental doctors could do for the wounded, I am sorry to say. All we could do for them was to see they were carefully moved back out of the firing zone after a first dressing. You can tell his people he always did his duty as a soldier, and died like one; of this I am sure."

Stone died at a hospital in Romilly-sur-Seine, on February 27, 1915, and was buried in the little cemetery nearby.

He was cited in an Order of the Day of the Foreign Legion, as "a brave Legionnaire, who died for France."

WILLIAM HOLMES WINS TECH GOLF TOURNAMENT

HUGHETT GOES DOWN AFTER HOT FIGHT

FINAL IN ANNUAL TECH TOURNEY IS CARRIED TO 38TH HOLE

William Holmes of Shamrock, a freshman in the school of liberal arts, shot a par 4 on the 38th hole in a downpour of rain yesterday to nose out Mendal Hughett of Lubbock by one stroke to win the Texas Tech student championship yesterday at the Meadowbrook Golf Club. At the end of the scheduled 36 holes of championship play, Holmes and Hughett were tied at 162, and Ed Harris of Amarillo had chalked up a 164. The trio won their first flight matches and elected to play 36 holes for the title.

Wilson Wins Consolation

In the consolation flight, Jack Wilson shot an 87 to win over Walter Pendleton and H. H. Hickman. Pendleton shot a 92 and Hickman trailed with 93 for the 18-hole medal play.

Due to excessive rainfall, second flight players did not finish the final flight. Gene Womack, winner over Gus Joiner, will meet Charles Moore, who won by forfeit over L. G. Gordon, this afternoon in an 18-hole match.

The first flight golfers displayed sensational form to shoot and break par on many holes yesterday under the handicap of a hard rain which fell most of the afternoon. The morning rounds were just as close, and at the end of the first eighteen holes, Holmes and Harris stood with 77s and Hughett had a 78.

Hughett, medalist in the qualifying round, went out in 38 and came in with a 40 on the morning round. Holmes shot 38 going out and returned with 39, and Harris scored a 40 on the first nine, coming in with a neat 37 to tie Holmes.

In the course of the day's work, five birdies fell before the shooting of Hughett. Holmes was the most consistent golfer, shooting par nearly all the way and bagging one birdie. Harris shot five birdies and played close to par.

Arnold And Hartz To Assault Record

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 16 (AP)—Billy Arnold and Harry Hartz have said they planned to bring a super car capable of making 300 miles an hour here next year for a try at the automobile speed record.

Arnold added, however, he did not expect the record to go above 260 miles an hour in 1932. The present mark of 245.73 miles an hour was made here by Captain Malcolm Campbell.

Arnold and Hartz declined to discuss details of their proposed car. Arnold was 1930 American racing champion and Hartz has been in select racing circles for years.

Levelland, Ropes Win In Tournament

ROPES, Feb. 16. (Special)—The Levelland boys and the Ropes girls basketball teams won the first division of the Hockley county tournament here last Saturday and the Ropes boys and Anton girls came out ahead in the second division. The winners will play this week to decide the championship of the county and the representative in the district tournament at Lubbock this week.

Levelland defeated Ropes, 26 to 22, and Ropes girls won over the Anton team, 32 to 27.

Mustangs Take To Road This Week In Cage Race

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.

DALLAS, Feb. 16. (AP)—Halfway through their schedule without having tasted defeat, the Southern Methodist Mustangs take to the road this week in pursuit of their first Southwest conference basketball crown. If the stampeding ponies get safely by three tough contests within six days in south Texas as they will have the title all but stowed away.

The Baylor Bears, who brought themselves some prominence by knocking the Arkansas Razorbacks out of the race proper last week will supply the Mustangs their first opposition Wednesday night at Waco. Saturday the Ponies will meet the Texas Aggies in a return engagement at College Station. Then, after a day's rest, they will hop over to Houston for a joust with the Rice Owls Monday night.

Invasions Difficult

Although the conference leaders have scored victories over all three on their home floor here, chances are they will find them much more difficult to handle in their respective gymnasiums. The Aggies, in particular, can be mean when they have some 7,000 cadets to cheer them on. Of the three, Baylor gave the Mustangs the most trouble in their previous meeting, losing only by 10 points here.

The Texas Christian Horned Frogs, only known rivals of the Mustangs for the crown, also have some unfinished business down south this week. Tuesday night the Frogs meet the weak Texas Longhorns at Austin. A loss likely would be disastrous to the Christians and practically assure Southern Methodist the title.

Other Bouts This Week

Two other bouts carded for the week match Rice and the Aggies at Houston Tuesday night and Baylor against Texas Saturday at Waco. The Arkansas five, with only two tilts remaining on its schedule, will be idle until February 27. The Porkers have no chance to win a sixth straight championship, but they still have two licks coming at the Mustangs here.

The standing:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Southern Methodist	6	0	1.000
Texas Christian	5	2	.714
Arkansas	6	4	.500
Baylor	4	5	.444
Texas A. and M.	3	5	.375
Rice	3	5	.375
Texas	1	7	.125

KEEPING IT HOT

Stove League Gossip

TONY MARCHIATO, a youngster who gets his change with the New Orleans Southern league team this year, is still an office boy for a railroad. His boss told him if he fails to make good as a hurler, Tony should come back and get his old job.

* * *

Since Tony's office boying brought him a salary of one dollar a day and baseball paychecks exceed that at least a little bit, you can bet Tony will try hard to stick.

* * *

Brooklyn fans believe their new outfield—Lefty O'Doul, Johnny Frederick and Babe Herman—will be the hardest hitting trio of gardeners in the National league.

* * *

Connie Mack—you may not know—is treasurer as well as manager of the Athletics. Which indicates that despite strenuous duties in piloting the A's to two consecutive world titles, Connie finds time to count all the nickles and dimes.

* * *

Whether or not Hack Wilson gets his $40,000 for this season's play, the Chicago Cub's payroll is expected to exceed that of any other major league outfit, the costly New York Yankees included.

* * *

Twenty years ago, when the Cubs were the highest priced ball club doing business, the total payroll never topped $90,000, which gives you an idea of how salaries have jumped.

* * *

If Uncle Wilbert Robinson is ousted after this season, though he wins a pennant—both eventualities are quite possible—he will have the solace of knowing that the same thing happened to Pants Rowland of the 1917 White Sox and Rogers Hornsby of the 1926 Cardinals.

BOUT TALKED IN CHICAGO

WILLIAM F. CAREY IS IN CHICAGO FOR CONFERENCES

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—William F. Carey, president and general manager of the Madison Square Garden corporation of New York, conferred with Sheldon Clark and other Chicago sportsmen today over possibility of staging the heavyweight championship fight between Max Schmeling and Young Stribling here next summer.

Clark, a vice-president of the Sinclair Oil company, was until recently president of the Chicago Stadium corporation. Neither Carey nor Clark would discuss the fight situation, except to say that nothing definite would be done for six weeks or two months.

George F. Getz, millionaire coal operator, member of the Illinois State athletic commission, and co-partner with Tex Rickard in promoting the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Soldier Field three years ago, also was on Carey's calling list.

"I do not believe the promoters have decided on the site," Getz said. "Mr. Carey did not say so, but I don't think he knows just what the Garden is going to do. Personally, I feel confident the match finally will land in Chicago. We want it."

Wichita Athlete Sets New Record

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 16. (AP)—Harold Manning, Wichita university national 2-mile champion, broke the meet record for the mile run when he traversed the distance in 4 minutes 25.2 second at the 26th annual Kansas City Athletic club invitation indoor track meet here Saturday night. The old record of 4:28.1 was set by Manning last year.

THIS FELLOW RUTH IS RATHER QUEER; HE LOVES GOLF NEXT TO BASEBALL, HOME LIFE AND HOTDOGS; INCOME ARRANGED

BY EDWARD J. NEIL

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP)—Babe Ruth gave away the 60th home run ball he hit in 1927. You can have the 500th homer, the only ball he has saved, as soon as he has marked his major league total up to 600. He'll grab the dinner check no matter what its size.

But just try to concede yourself a six inch putt against him and he'll bellow like a broken-legged calf.

"Waddeya think they put those holes there for?" "to hold up the flags."

Great Alibi Artist

He moans over every bad shot, exults at the good ones, demands that you sympathize with him, but he's a fine audience too. He's a great alibi artist. His favorite bet is "$5 Nassau." He has a pair of light brown knickers, "good luck" pants, he wears in all important matches—winter and summer.

Next to baseball he loves golf. Shoots in the low eighties. He chews a half dozen plugs of tobacco going 18 holes. He forgot his tobacco at Wingfoot one day and lost every hole. Almost went goofy. Sometimes chews a plug an inning in an important series. Can't smoke playing golf but like cigars at other times.

Must Win Always

The Babe was never meant to be a loser. He must win at every game he plays. He'd rather be the clouting champion of the majors at $10,000 a year than second at $100,000. Fights bitterly over every point at handball. Feels deeply about Hack Wilson copping his home run title last season.

"Why I can spit farther than he can hit 'em," the Babe insists.

He is deeply attached to his home and family. His wife and two children, Dorothy and Julia. Brings loads of toys home and wears most of them out himself. He plays ping pong with Mrs. Ruth. He was out with the boys until 2:30 the other morning for the first time in years and he phoned Mrs. Ruth every half hour.

His money is invested in insurance and trust funds. If he dies between now and 45 he will leave an estate of $800,000. At 45 his income will be $2,500 a month. Mrs. Ruth arranged that. He made $265,000 a year in 1926 and 1927. His poorest year in the past five netted $175,000 from writings, baseball, barnstorming tours. He wants to do nothing but play when he retires from baseball.

The Babe lives on a perpetual diet to keep his weight down. Eats nothing but lean meats, fish, vegetables. Loves sweets but can't have them. In his heyday, before he contracted in 1926 the stomach ache whose rumbles were heard around the world, a typical breakfast consisted of three orders of hash, six fried eggs, a stack of toast, six cups of coffee at the rate of a swallow per cup. Now he has cereal, dried toast, fruit. Used to average a dozen hot dogs a day during the baseball season. Still love them, defends them, but doesn't eat them.

"It wasn't the dogs," he insists. "It was the skins I couldn't digest."

He's a great bridge player. He can bid, play one trick, lay down the cards and call all the rest. He never misses. But he can't remember names. Everyone is "kid" to him. The babe has known Alan Gould for years and still calls him "Parker."

LOCALS SEEK REVENGE FOR LAST WEEK

GAME TO BE LAST ONE PRIOR TO DISTRICT MEET HERE

Two ancient and honorable enemies, Lubbock High school and Amarillo High school, clash on the athletic field once more when their basketball teams meet Wednesday evening at 7:30 on the hardwoods of the Texas Tech gymnasium.

The teams have met once before during the current season. Last Saturday night the Amarillo Sandstorm was forced to blow its hardest and play its best game of the season to win, 31 to 20, over the Westerners. The return game is due to find the Westerners in the fighting mood that possessed the Sandies last Saturday night. One of the largest crowds of the season turned out to see the Sandies and Westerners play last Saturday night at Amarillo.

Coach Jew Keeling announced this morning that the Westerners were in fine shape, physically, and were playing their best games of the season this week. Following the Amarillo game on Wednesday night, they enter the district tournament here on Friday and Saturday against the leading teams of Northwest Texas. A rigid practice schedule twice daily until Wednesday night will be followed by the local high school cagers.

ROVING THE SPORTS WORLD

WITH COLLIER PARRIS
JOURNAL SPORTS EDITOR

There'll be plenty of basketball in Lubbock this week. It begins tonight in the county superintendent's office and ends next Saturday night at the Texas Tech gymnasium.

County athletic directors and officials will meet at the courthouse tonight to discuss a way by which the champion of Lubbock county may be determined. As things now stand, three teams are deadlocked for the title. They are Slaton, Idalou and Monroe. These teams were in the final rounds, but there was a mixup somewhere.

Slaton defeated Idalou and Monroe defeated Slaton., but Monroe has not defeated Idalou, and thereby hangs the tail and the tie. Likewise three girls teams are tied. Monroe, Woodrow and Foster are in a three-way deadlock for high honors. This seems strange after two weeks of Lubbock county tournaments.

Lubbock will be in the district tournament here this week-end because it's high school has a scholastic enrollment of over 2,000. Therefore, acording to the papas of the interscholastic league, it is a city-county unit, and need not engage in a county tournament for a place in the district jousts. Plainview is another such town, though it need not represent Hale county.

But the basketball game that will attract more attention and more comment, before and after, if the usual case of antagonism keeps up, will be the Lubbock-Amarillo contest on the Tech boards Wednesday evening. This, ladies and gentlemen, is the week's headliner, no matter how many tournaments Del Morgan holds.

The Westerners and the Sandies played a game of basketball last Saturday night at Amarillo. The Sandstorm won, 31 to 20, but our Amarillo correspondent contended that the Sandies loked and played better than they had all season, and that they were cocked and primed for Lubbock, and no foolin'. So will it be when the Sandies come to Lubbock. The Westerners will be waiting with outstretched arms, but in the arms will be basketballs.

The Matadors of Tech will be in Canyon Wednesday night doing battle with the Buffaloes. The Buffs, by the way, have already won the western half of the T. I. A. A. and seem well on the road toward another championship. The East Texas Teachers of Commerce won the eastern half of the T. I. A. A. last Saturday night by trouncing the North Texas Teachers. If all the Teachers were one college, it might be a pretty fair institution.

The Mineola golf club is to be turned into an oil well district, according to news dispatches. "Tut, tut," said they about putt, putt. "Oil will mean more to us than golf. Liquid gold will make us feel a lot younger than will golf". Whose golf club wouldn't draw more members if there was a hint of an oil pool beneath the greens? Stock in Mineola's course is likely to go up several points. If they really do mean business, which we doubt, they should follow the example of J. O. Smith and never let business interfere with golf.

EDDIE SHEA BACK FOR GOTHAM BOUT

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Six years ago Eddie Shea of Chicago came to New York to fight Charley (Phil) Rosenberg for the bantamweight championship of the world. This week, for the first time since then, Shea will be seen in a New York ring, not as an 118-pounder but as one of the outstanding featherweights of his time.

Shea has been matched against Kid Francis in Madison Square Garden's feature bout Friday night, and hopes to make a better showing than he did when he last appeared here. Rosenberg knocked him out in four rounds at the old New York Velodrome.

Francis, who has passed up the bantamweights although he still can make the class limit, has won five straight bouts since he returned to this country for his third American campaign.

Herman Perlick, Kalamazoo lightweight, takes on Tommy Grogan, Omaha lightweight puncher, in the ten round semi-final.

Other outstanding shows this week will be at Philadelphia tonight and Detroit Friday. At Philadelphia, Benny Bass, junior lightweight champion, faces Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind. Ray Miller, Chicago southpaw, battles Johnny Jadick of Philadelphia in the Detroit headliner.

SCHEDULE ARRANGED

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., Feb. 16 (AP)—The Western league executives and owners have definitely decided to play a 154-game schedule, opening April 30, and closing September 22.

Telephone companies in Oklahoma plan to spend nearly $6,000,000 for improvements and new construction in 1931.

DAILY MARKETS

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP) — The share market began another week with advancing prices today, particularly in the industrial and specialty issues.

The upturn lacked the violence of a week ago, but made substantial headway during the first half hour. While gains were not increased notably during the remainder of the morning, the advance broadened out to include rails and utilities, and by mid-day the market was at its best levels.

Early gains of 2 to 4 points or so in such shares as American Can, Westinghouse Electric, Loews, Case, Byers, and Allied Chemical were well maintained. Auburn's upsurge was extended to 13 points, fully regaining its loss late last week. In the rails, New York Central rose 4, and Atchison 2. North American was a firm spot in the utilities, rising 2.

Call money renewed at 1 1-2 per cent.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Cotton opened steady 1 to 4 points lower in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of further beneficial rains in the central belt and parts of Texas.

There was considerable realizing and possibly selling for a reaction, but the offerings were in comparatively small lots and were absorbed by trade buying at the decline, and there was a continued demand for March from brokers who sometimes operate for Japanese interests. This was sufficient to steady the market at the decline to 11.08 for March and 11.61 for October or about 3 to 5 points below Saturday's closing quotations and the market showed rallies of a few points from the lowest by the end of the first half hour.

Trading was less active later in the morning, but prices held very steady after the initial selling had run its course on continued trade buying and covering. Present crop positions were relatively steady with May selling up to 11.16, or 4 points net higher while December, at 11.86 was only a point above Saturday's quotations. The market was quiet but within a point or two of the best at midday.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 16 (AP) — Cotton opened a shade easier, in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables. First trades showed losses of 1 to 3 points. The market eased off further after the start on liquidation and ring selling. May dropped to 11.09 and October to 11.61, or 4 to 6 points below Saturday's close. The market soon rallied, however, on reports of active trading in the domestic cotton goods market and on a firmer feeling in stocks, prices raising 3 to 5 points from the lows. At the end of the first hour the market was steady.

The market ruled steady all morning and prices improved in sympathy with firmer stocks. Favorable reports from the domestic cotton goods market were also stimulating influences. May traded up to 11.19 and October to 11.68 or 8 to 10 points above the early lows and 4 points above Saturday's close. Owing to the holiday here tomorrow trading was somewhat restricted. At noon the market was steady and within a point or two of the highs.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 16 (AP) — Cotton futures opened steady. March 10.86; May 11.13; July 11.37; Oct. 11.81 bid; Jan. 11.89 bid.

NEW YORK OPEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady. March 10.94; May 11.10; July 11.34; Oct. 11.83; Dec. 11.81; Jan. 11.86.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Feb. 16 (AP) — Influenced by reports of moisture southwest and by much enlarged supplies of wheat afloat for Europe, grains averaged lower early today. A decrease of almost 33,000,000 bushels in the Argentine official wheat crop forecast, however, tended to check price declines.

Opening 3-8c off to 1-4c up, wheat afterward showed additional setbacks. Corn started unchanged to 1-4c lower, and subsequently underwent a further sag.

Wheat closed nervous, unchanged to 1 1-4 cents lower, corn 1 to 1 3-4 off, oats 1-8 to 5-8 down, and provisions varying from 5 cents setback to a shade advance.

QUOTATIONS

CHICAGO, Feb. 16 (AP)—Wheat: No. 1 red 79 @ 79 1-2; No. 2 northern spring 78 3-4; No. 1 mixed 79.

Corns: No. 2 mixed 61; No. 2 yellow (old) 65; No. 2 yellow 62 @ 62 1-4; No. 2 white 65 1-2 @ 65 1-2.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE FOR BIDS ON LUBBOCK COUNTY JAIL

Notice is hereby given that on the 16th day of March A. D. 1931, the same being the third Monday in such month, at 10:00 o'clock a. m., the Commissioners' Court of Lubbock County, Texas, at the Courthouse in Lubbock, Texas, will open bids for the construction of a jail building to be constructed in said county. Such construction and the bids for the same will include five contracts as follows: general contract, plumbing and heating contract, electrical contract, jail steel contract, and elevators contract, each including the installation of such equipment.

Each bid on each contract must be accompanied by a certified check on a local bank, payable to the undersigned, for five per cent (5) of the amount bid, and each must be filed with the undersigned not later than the above date and hour for opening same; said checks are required to be used by said court as liquidated damages in case of default of contractor to comply with the terms of his bid should contract be awarded to him.

Plans and specifications for said building, all of its parts may be obtained at the office of S. B. Haynes, 511 Myrick Building, Lubbock, Texas, any time after March 1, 1931.

The Commissioners' Court reserves the right to reject any and all bids and the bidder receiving a contract for any one or more of the parts of said building will be required to execute a bond or bonds as the law directs.

Witness my hand this the 16th day of February, A. D. 1931.
E. L. PITTS, County Judge,
Lubbock County, Texas.

above the three rings, literally throwing her body over her own shoulder as a pivot. She usually did it just 100 times, but her record was 249 times. Her mother, Nellie Leamy, originated the act and until her daughter took it up was its only practitioner.

The entire circus performance would stop as Dainty Lillian, 5 feet and 100 pounds, clad in pink tights, would come into the center stage and kick off jeweled mules while the ringmaster made an elaborate introduction. As she was drawn to the top of the tent the rest of the big top was darkened and, with a spotlight focussed on her, her act went on alone—the only circus performer to achieve that dignity.

Went To Europe

When the circus went into winter quarters she appeared in vaudeville and this winter went to Europe with her husband, whose troupe of trapeze performers is widely known.

She was near the end of her whirl Friday night when the iron ring to which she held broke. She landed heavily and was lifted from the ring. She protested that she was not hurt, but at the hospital serious injuries to her spine and head were revealed.

barley. According to D. F. Eaton, county agent, there is at present a scarcity of good oats. However, there is reported a considerable amount of barley seed available.

Planting of sorghums is not expected to start until early in May. The same is true of cotton planting.

There will be an increase in the number of truck gardens, according to reports. In virtually every county where there is a county agent or a home demonstration agent, the starting of gardens is reported under way. Many farmers are now beginning hot beds and there will be a surplus of spring leafy vegetables shortly.

Arranging Gardens

Home demonstration clubs are arranging for members to plant gardens this spring to insure plenty of vegetables this summer.

With over 14,000 head of cattle on the South Plains in the feed lots, in addition to half as many sheep and probably 10,000 to 15,000 hogs, indications are that many farmers will be able to get more than the market price for their feed crops, even at the present market price of livestock.

hard." He renewed his contention that the present prohibition laws work injustice through discrimination in favor of fermentable cider and grape juices.

What About Juices?

Senator Black, Alabama, inquired whether Shouse favors changing the law to avoid this condition and provide penalties for those who allow fruit juices to ferment in their cellars.

Tydings said he "could not speak for Mr. Shouse," but declared that any one "wet or dry" ought to want to make the law apply equally.

"We either ought to stop the law winking at the man making hard cider and forbidding a man making beer at home," he said, "when the beer in some cases is only one-fifth as intoxicating as the cider."

Black asked why Tydings did not himself propose such an amendment if he thought the present law unjust.

Tydings replied that he would not do so because he is "not in line with the philosophy of national prohibition" but was pointing out the "discrimination" so that those who did believe in national prohibition might remedy it.

Snyder Woman Dies In City On Sunday

Funeral services for Mrs. J. J. Reynolds, 34, of Snyder, are being held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Albany, following her death in a local sanitarium Sunday morning at 6 o'clock.

The woman died after only a short illness.

She is survived by her husband and six children.

FOUR OF PARTY OF 6 ARE CRASH VICTIMS

CHICAGO, Feb. 16. (AP)—Four of a party of six were killed today when their automobile crashed head-on with a street car. The dead: Mrs. Julia Ahrens, 19, bride of five months; Joseph Budak, 25; Frank Swift, 28.

An unidentified young woman believed to be the fiance of Swift.

if she had not spoken of them.

Prepared Meal

The morning that she was in Lubbock was spent preparing a surprise meal for a fellow performer to celebrate his birthday that evening after the show. A luscious custard was made. Fruits were prepared before an efficiency cabinet built into the wall. About her room there were souvenirs which meant much to the circus travelers, and her small corner was comfortable and home-like in appointments.

In her car she was a housewife, a widely traveled interesting woman, one educated as a concert pianist and versed in the language of many countries; in the tent she was a queen of performers, an aristocrat of the white tops whirling in an act in which the world has not produced her peer.

Mardi Gras Reigns On Galveston Isle

GALVESTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Heralding two days of Madri Gras festivity, King Frivolous XII, monarch of mirth, was expected to alight on Galveston Island at 9:30 a. m. today, landing by plane on West Beach.

A military parade was planned to escort him to the city hall to receive the keys to the city from Mayor Jack Pearce. His next public appearance was to be at night, when he would proceed through the streets at the fore of the Madri Gras parade.

Madri Gras will be brought to a climax Tuesday night with the coronation of King Frivolous and his queen at the city auditorium.

Chinese Observing New Year Festival

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16 (AP) — Chinatowns along the Pacific coast flung aside their shielding cloaks of Oriental mystery today and permitted thousands of visitors to view that colorful bit of pagentry which marks a Chinese new year festival.

Dusk heralded the official opening of the six day celebration, the second one witnessed this year. Younger Chinese with modern ideas about calendars observed January 1 as the new year's day under orders of President Chiang Kai-Shek.

OKLAHOMA TO SEEK PAIR

PAPERS ARE SENT TO GOVERNOR MURRAY ON PAIR HERE

Extradition papers, for removal of Glen Marshall and Charles Allen from Lubbock to Oklahoma, were sent today to Oklahoma City for signature of Governor W. H. Murray and later will be sent to Austin for approval by Governor Ross S. Sterling of Texas.

The two men, arrested in a Lubbock county farm house last week, are being held in connection with holdup of a Cyril, Oklahoma, bank.

Marshall was identified Saturday as one of the bandits while Allen's identification was made positive Friday by employes of the bank and other citizens of Cyril.

A third man was arrested last Friday night at Amherst as a suspect in connection with the case but had not been identified today. He is still being held, however, according to Sheriff Wade Hardy.

The two men are also under investigation as possible participants in the holdup of the Canyon bank on January 10. Sheriff John Fry, of Randal county, Texas, was in Lubbock Saturday in an attempt to identify the men. Other witnesses will probably arrive here today in an effort to identify the men.

At time of Marshall and Allen's arrest, officers confiscated a large quantity of ammunition, two revolvers and some traveler's checks, similar to those taken in the Cyril bank holdup.

DROUTH RELIEF

other officials of the department of agriculture had conferred with Paul Bestor, chairman of the farm loan board, regarding the administrative set up which must be created for the handling of loans from the $20,000,000 fund through agricultural credit corporations.

Officials of various intermediate credit banks throughout the country have been summoned to Washington to confer on the subject this week.

At this conference the allocation of the amounts to be used for dependent on their security.

To Handle Loans

Dr. Warburton said that he and rect loans for food, clothing and medicine as opposed to indirect loans through credit corporations will be determined. In administering loans through credit corporations the department will collaborate with the farm loan board.

Navarro Man Tried For Wife's Slaying

CORSICANA, Feb 16. (AP)—T. J. King, 70, went on trial today for the slaying of his wife, Ella, 58, last December. District Attorney Cleo G. Miller said the death penalty would be asked. Norris Lovett, attorney for King, said the defense would be insanity.

TRIO APPEARS AT COLLEGE

THREE CHERNIAVSKYS TO GIVE CONCERT AT 8:15

Internationally known, having appeared in practically every country of the globe, the three Cherniavsky brothers, Leo, Jan and Mischel will be presented in concert at Texas Technological college tonight at 8 15 o'clock in the college gymnasium. The three brothers come to Lubbock as the third attraction of the Tech Artist course.

The trio will present selections from the most famous artists in the universe and t.id fair to render a program rarely heard in this section of Texas.

Lubbock's visiting artists are from a long line of musicians and started their musical education at an early age. Born in the Russian town of Uman, they are the sons of a musical scholar. All three showed decided talent when young and under direction of their father, were presenting programs while but small lads. Since 1901 they have ranged every quarter of the globe and have been acknowledged in five continents as belonging to the first rank of artists.

Tenth Marriage Of Louisiana Woman Is Failure

MONROE, La., Feb. 16 (AP)—Differences of opinion over whether life with her constituted a "gravy train" or something very different, today threatened the tenth matrimonial adventure of Mrs. John H. Willis of Urania.

Willis changed trains here yesterday en route to Birmingham and announced that his wife, who is credited with being "Louisiana's most married woman," had failed to fulfill a number of financial promises he said she made when they were married September 10, 1927.

From her home Mrs. Willis stated that Willis had wanted her to will him half her money and property, amounting to about $55,000, and she was unwilling to do so although solicitious "to see that he lived comfortably."

"He had a gravy train and didn't know it," she said.

Of her previous husbands three died and she was divorced from six.

Cafe Man Gives Lifetime Tickets To Youngsters

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 16. (AP)—Jack Simmons of San Angelo never will have to worry about where the next meal is coming from. Neither should he worry about new clothing for a while, and spending money should not be an immediate need.

Jack, 15-year-old Star Boy Scout, has been rewarded for his action in pulling 8-year-old Harry Economidis from the North Concho river a few days ago.

John Economidis, father of the boy who was saved, bought Jack a new suit of clothes. Yes, and there was a 10-dollar gold piece in the pocket. But better than that, Jack has a lifetime meal ticket at the cafe here of which Economidis is part owner.

Allie Wooldridge, 21, Eagle Scout, who applied resuscitation methods to the lifeless body of young Economidis, also received a meal ticket at the cafe.

Laying Of Concrete On Road Starts Soon

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 16 (Staff Special)—Laying of the concrete slab on Highway 28 west from Plainview to the Lamb county line is to start about April 1, Guy Rollings, superintendent for the contractors, Womack, Henning and Rollins, announced here. Mr. Rollings has moved here and is beginning the assembling of material for the work.

ELM TREES BLOOMING

DOUGHERY, Feb. 16.— (Staff Special)—Chinese elm trees here were found to be full of bloom buds instead of leaf buds. The warm weather recently was the cause of the blooms showing up, according to old timers.

Home demonstrations of the California Agricultural Extension service were attended by 157,336 farm women in 1930

LUBBOCK SENATOR HAS GROWTH OF HIS AREA BEFORE SOLONS

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 16.—Speaking of the "wide open spaces" of Texas Senator Parrish of Lubbock called attention to the fact that the 18th congressional district, his home district, is 2,300 square miles larger in area than the state of Ohio.

That, he says, was once a section of large ranches. Agriculture now is making its inroads. The large ranches are being cut up, subdivided, being made into small farms.

Senator Parrish named as examples of this sub-division of big West Texas ranches the Littlefield interests, the Slaughter ranch. He said the Littlefield estate at one time included hundreds of thousands of acres of ranching lands.

The state of Texas gave 3,000,000 acres of this western ranch land in pay to the contractors who built the present state capitol. Texas' state house was constructed from the granite of Burnet county, and paid for with the land of the western plains.

All of those acres of land given by the state to those contractors are under cultivation, Senator Parrish said.

Bill Favored On Officers' Uniforms

AUSTIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—The house committee on criminal jurisprudence here voted out favorably a bill by Representative West of Brownsville and Graves of Georgetown which would penalize officers not wearing uniforms for making arrests in speeding cases. The maximum penalty would be $200.

The bill was introduced after Judge O. S. Lattimore of the court of criminal appeals held arrests made for speeding by non-uniformed officers were legal. The old bill held such arrests illegal.

The West Bill would provide for ouster proceedings against officers violating its provisions. It also would give regularly uniformed officers in automobiles the right to make arrests for speeding.

TO HOLD HEARING

AUSTIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—Hearing on a bill by Senator Holbrook of Galveston which proposes to minimize fire hazards in the operation of dry cleaning and dyeing plants will be held Monday afternoon, Senator Purl of Dallas, vice chairman of the senate's insurance committee, announced today.

PROGRAM TO END

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Representative Sandlin, democrat Louisiana, said today he has been advised by the Red Cross that the "general feeding," program will end March 1.

ELEVEN MEN AND WOMEN ARE TO GO OUT INTO WORLD AFTER BEING CURED OF DREADED LEPROSY; HAVE PAPERS

CARVILLE, La., Feb. 16. (AP) — Quietly, as ships long-docked slip out into a strange sea, eleven men and women leave the government leprosarium here this weekend to face a world which some of them have not seen for two decades.

They will each carry away a treasure which money could not buy—a certificate attesting that they have been cured of leprosy, a disease dreaded and shunned since Biblical times.

Identities Shielded

With their identities shielded by the strictest of federal regulations, they will leave the hospital in small groups, at an unannounced hour, to be whisked away from the tall white gates in closed automobiles to nearby railroad stations where trains will carry them back to unidentified homes, to their other lives, long laid aside.

Some will take new names and make new lives—the government will ask no questions. A few from northern states, Dr. O. E. Denny, officer in charge of the leprosarium, said today, will remain at the institution until spring.

No ceremony will mark the departure of the fortunate group this week—the second largest group to be ordered released at one time.

Informal Good-Bys

There will be only quiet, informal good-bys.

There are nine men and two women this time, representing eight states.

Their departure—brightening the hope of 330 other patients—will bring the total number to be released in the last few years to 83.

Drill Hits Nerve And Patient's Fist Hits Dentist

NEENAH, Wis., Feb. 16. (AP)—Note to dentists:

Some patients pack a powerful wallop. Ask Dr. V. C. Kulnic.

The doctor was drilling a patient's tooth t'other day. The patient sat taut—with clenched fists.

The drill hit a nerve. The patient's fist shot out.

An X-ray today showed one of Dr. Kulnic's ribs broken.

Missing Widow Is Found In Harlem

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Police said they found Mrs. Myrtle Imogene Stella, 36, widow missing since Feb. 3, in a negro tenement Friday with 15 empty whisky and gin bottles stacked about a couch on which she sat and held her head.

She was taken to a police station for questioning. Her discovery came about through a messenger, who had been sent by her to cash a check. With her she had $6,000 in jewelry and a $2,500 fur coat.

Mrs. Minnie Dizon, negro hostess to Mrs. Stella said she found the widow in a Harlem resort frequented by negroes.

Mrs. Stella's disappearance was reported to police by her attorney and by Patrolman George A. Wandling, known as the "adonis of the department."

Nude Demonstration Staged In Canada

NELSON, B. C., Feb. 16 (AP)—Police today were investigating reports of a nude demonstration at Glade, near here, by Doukhobors. They said the elders of the Russian religious sect Wednesday decreed a general disrobing and when the young people refused, force was used to remove their clothing.

A struggle ensued which reached a climax when 150 nude Doukhobors of both sexes engaged in a demonstration.

CRITICALLY INJURED

HOLLAND, Feb. 16 (AP) —Bob Brown was critically injured today when struck by an automobile on a highway six miles north of Holland. He was taken to a hospital at Temple. Doctors said there was little hope for his recovery. The driver of the car was arrested.

THEY'LL SOON BE OUT OF CANDIDATES IN OKLAHOMA; BILL WOULD BAN LIQUOR

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 16. —No Oklahoman could be a candidate for public office unless he had "refrained from the use of liquor as a beverage" for five years, "and should refrain from its use while in office" under the terms of a resolution introduced by Senator Jo Ferguson, Republican, Pawnee.

The resolution came from a letter written to Governor W. H. Murray by Owsley Lonengan, secretary of the Pawnee county farmers' union. It also suggested congress issue currency to the state at "cost of issuance and make the state good for face value by acceptance."

Indebtedness of the Philippine government totals approximately $75,000,000, which is being reduced by a sinking fund.

INA CLAIRE AND JOHN GILBERT ARE WORKING OUT "PERFECT EXPERIMENT"

CHICAGO, Feb. 16. — Ina Claire, stage and screen star, during a brief stopover on her way from New York to Hollywood explained to reporters how she and her husband, John Gilbert, movie actor, are working out their "perfect experiment."

"Each marriage is an individual affair with different hazards and stumbling blocks," she said. "To preserve the marriage, the two persons involved must use their heads and figure out what is best for them, not follow custom."

Soon after their marriage, Miss Claire said, she and Gilbert agreed their happiness could be better preserved by living in different establishments. She admitted this was impossible financially in many families, but said it worked admirably in her own case.

"In the average marital abode the wife must stumble now and then over her husband's shaving mug," she continued. "The husband is continually being disillusioned by arrays of cosmetics and the evidence of his wife's need to be beautified. The way I try to live, my make-up is always in place when my husband comes to see me. We can adjust our visits to our moods and always see each other at our best."

NEW NAVAL FIGHTING PLANE ATTAINS SPEED OF 300 MILES AN HOUR; ABLE TO SOAR ABOVE CLOUDS 29,000 FEET

(By The Associated Press)

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Feb. 16.—A naval fighting plane which observers claim attains a speed of 300 miles an hour and an altitude of 29,000 feet was secreted under armed guard today.

Completed by the Curtiss-Wright corporation, the ship was tested by William Crosswell, company pilot, at Mitchell Field. Croswell took it off the ground in less than 400 feet, dived it at 300 miles an hour and pointed it toward the sun until it was two miles in the air.

Under cover of night, the plane was flown here and stored preparatory to a trip to the naval air station at Anacostia Field, Washington for final tests. Army and navy officers and Curtiss officials who witnessed the experiments referred all queries to Washington.

The ship is the smallest single-seated combat biplane ever seen here. It is powered by a new type of Wright air cooled motor and is equipped with two machine gun mounts. Highly stream lined, the fuselage tapers to a V-shape at the bottom and the wings are staggered to produce speed.

RAINFALL FOR AREA GOOD

TOTAL PRECIPITATION NOW IS OVER AMOUNT FOR TWO MONTHS

Light rains fell in a portion of the South Plains territory late Sunday, according to reports to the Daily Journal today.

A slight shower started in Lubbock shortly after 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon and continued until nightfall. But .3 of an inch was reported for the immediate section this morning by D. L. Jones, at the state experiment station.

With almost half a month yet to go, the rainfall since January 1 already totals more than the average for the first two months of the year, recorded at the experiment station over a number of years. The average rainfall for the first two months of the year is 1.07 inches while a total of 1.83 inches already has been recorded.

February is leading January with a total of 1.51 inches moisture to date over an average for the month of .75 inch and 12 days yet to go.

Reports at the Union Bus terminal today said that light showers fell in practically all surrounding counties yesterday but that traffic is coming through on schedule. Some slightly heavy roads were experienced early this morning but by noon all routes were expected to be in good shape.

Mexico's corn and bean crops in 1930 were 14 per cent less than 1929 production.

Muscular-Rheumatic Aches and Pains

DRAW them out with a "counter-irritant." Distressing muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness—generally respond pleasantly to good old Musterole. Doctors call it a "counter-irritant," because it gets action and is not just a salve. Musterole helps bring soreness and pain to the surface, and thus gives natural relief. You can feel how its warming action penetrates and stimulates blood circulation. But do not stop with one application. Apply this soothing, cooling, healing ointment generously to the affected area once every hour for five hours. Used by millions for over 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses.

Keep Musterole handy; jars and tubes.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)
