DAMAGING EVIDENCE AGAINST HER FATHER POUNDED IN EARS OF JURY BY 14-YEAR-OLD DAUGHTER

Man Weeps As Filmore Street Girl Pours Out Sordid Story of Her Life With Him in Recent Months

Frank Folsom, local transfer operator, broke into tears and cried bitterly Wednesday afternoon when his 14-year-old daughter, Thelma, took the witness stand in the 30th district court and related incidents on which the state relies to send the man to the electric chair for a series of criminal attacks against the girl. Her direct testimony and some she offered on cross-examination constituted a barage of damaging evidence which the defense must now tear down.

It started in to do this late in the afternoon by bringing three character witnesses to the stand after the state had closed its direct evidence. Resumption of defense testimony will start at 9 o'clock Thursday morning with indications that the defendant will take the stand in his own behalf sometime during the day.

Use But Four Witnesses.

The state used only four witnesses in making out its charge. The prosecutrix herself was the final one called and at the end of her testimony the defense moved for an instructed verdict of not guilty on grounds that the state had failed to make out a case. Judge H. R. Wilson overruled the plea, however.

Charges that her father had assaulted her almost every day for a period of two or three weeks prior to his arrest were made by the girl when she testified. The alleged attacks started, she said, a few weeks after her mother died last summer and were stopped only after her father had been arrested by City Officer Sam Wood. On cross examination she stuck steadily to her story, and she also revealed other incidents of alleged abuse of her mother and herself prior to the death of Mrs. Folsom.

Officer Testifies.

Opening accusations against Folsom were made by Officer Wood who testified to having investigated the case. Testimony of about the same nature was offered by J. M. Woods, a neighbor of the Folsom's on Filmore street. Dr. J. H. Fletcher, county health officer also testified.

Three character witnesses offered by the defense just before court adjourned were Luther Darby, Carrie Green and one McIntyre, all of Estelline where Folsom formerly resided. They declared he bore a reputation there of a peacable, law abiding and moral man.

Folsom Moans.

Folsom, dressed in khaki union-alls, held a handkerchief to his eyes most of the time his daughter was on the stand and once or twice his moans were audible through the crowded court room.

There is a possibility the case may be concluded today if the defense testimony is not lengthy.

OIL CAPTAINS ASSEMBLE FOR MEETING HERE

Texas Division of Mid-Continent Association Meets Today

The opening session of the annual convention of the Texas division of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association will be held at 10 o'clock this morning in the ball room of the Kemp hotel, according to announcement made yesterday afternoon following completion of the final arrangements for the convention by local oil men in conference with J. More than 100 visitors were expected last night for the meetings today, which will be participated in also by local oil men considerably in excess of that number. The convention, a one-day affair, has since its inception drawn the most prominent of the oil fraternity and those interested in the oil industry from over the state, and the list of those already here last night, and yet to arrive, is impressive.

A 15-year-old girl who saw a rosy road to theatrical fame ahead of her found her career abruptly terminated here Wednesday when she and two men with whom she was traveling were jailed by the city police department and preparations made to send her back to her home in Breckenridge. She had been married, it was found, and claimed that one of the two men with whom she was arrested was her husband. Officers, however, asserted this was an erroneous assertion.

She started out from Breckenridge, she said, when the men offered a glorious position in a big road show they were promoting. Wichita Falls was a stop-over point en route from Breckenridge to some place, she didn't know where, where the show was being produced.

Then the police raid came and it was all off.

DIVORCE EVIL CANKER OF U. S. PASTORS AVER

Local Ministers Agree With Canon of Westminster

UNDERMINES SOCIETY

Say Heart of Great Country Is Being Rotted Away

No sooner had Associated Press wires yesterday brought to Wichita Falls the statement in London attributed to Rev. William Hartley Carnegie, canon of Westminster, that "the canker in the life of America is divorce," than five prominent Wichita Falls ministers, interviewed by the Record News, agreed with him.

One of them, Rev. Walter J. Johnson, pastor of the First Methodist church, declared it was "undermining society."

Rev. Hartley, according to his London News interview from which the Associated Press quotes, added that "with all seriousness, America is degenerating from a human society into a monkey house." "Divorce is rotting away the heart of that great country. In many states practically every marriage after a very short hectic period ends in the divorce court. The modern American couple gets married with the idea of divorcing each other within a fortnight."

Agree Heartily.

Although the British divine did not find support of his last assertion from Wichita Falls ministers, all local pastors interviewed were strenuous in their attack upon the divorce evil and apparently welcome Rev. Hartley's expressions to give voice to their own.

"I believe divorce is one canker of life, and I say so without any elucida-

MODERATION OF COLD WAVE IS EXPECTED

Wichita Falls, However, Is Still In Grip of Norther

ALL TEXAS IS COLD

Freezing Temperatures In Many Sections of State

Wichita Falls was still in the grip of a norther at a late hour last night, which, however, showed signs of early moderation. Until 5 p. m. Wednesday the lowest temperature report was 27 degrees.

The "dry norther" Wednesday fulfilled the forecaster's prediction of winter weather for Texas and last night low temperatures were reported from virtually every section of the state. The thermometer dropped to below freezing at many points.

The norther in some sections assumed the proportions of a blizzard. Great flocks of ducks heralded the coming of the wintry blasts and hunters scurried after the birds. At Dallas two hunters lost their lives through accidents today.

Hunter's Paradise.

The day brought thousands of ducks into the vicinity of Wichita Falls, and hunters declared it a veritable sportsmen's paradise. Lake Kemp, the diversion lake, Lake Wichita, and other smaller bodies of water in the community were thronged with hundreds of hunters who found the cold, cloudy day ideal for hunting.

Damage to late cotton in west Texas was feared, as farmers reported the freeze might cause the bolls to mush. Late feed crops also may be damaged.

Amarillo reported a temperature of 20 above zero early Wednesday. October cold weather records were broken at Brownwood when 2 degrees was reached Wednsday morning. Abilene reported 28 above and Lubbock 25.

DALLAS SPORT GAMBLES TWO LONGHORNS TO QUIT IN 15 MIN.

"Stud" Wright and Mack Saxon Marked For Early Slaughter

IN S. M. U. CONTEST

Both Previously Injured In Football Games, Is Report

BULLETIN.

AUSTIN, Oct. 28.—Bob Nesbett, member of the Longhorn football team, left Austin Wednesday afternoon for Jackson, Tenn., where his mother is critically ill. It is doubtful if he will be able to rejoin the team this year.

DALLAS, Oct. 28.— It was the concensus in sport circles here tonight that certain Dallas residents, alleged in Austin dispatches to have wagered that "Stud" Wright, captain of the University of Texas football team, and Max Saxon, backfield star, would be "put out" of the Texas-S. M. U. game here next Saturday within 15 minutes, are making a good bet.

Both Are Crippled.

It was pointed out that both men will enter the game Saturday somewhat crippled and further that neither of the players has stayed in games played this season longer than short periods, due to injuries.

Investigation following reports today from Austin that indicated attempts might be made to force Texas players from the game Saturday disclosed no apparent foundation for the reports. Dr. R. N. Blackwell, director of Southern Methodist university athletics said.

Blackwell Sends Wire.

Dr. Blackwell wired Theo Belmont, Texas athletic director, assuring him that the Mustangs had no desire to win any athletic contest unless they could do so on clean sportsmanship and merit alone.

"So far as I know, there is no foundation for such reports, I can not, of course, go very far without the names of the men alleged to have placed these "freak" bets. But I do know that the S. M. U. players and students of the school are beyond such practices," he said.

NAMES OF GAMBLERS KNOWN AT AUSTIN.

AUSTIN, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Names of Dallas residents who are alleged to have made wagers that "Stud" Wright, Longhorn captain, and Mack Saxon, backfield star, would be "put out" of the Texas-S. M. U. game Saturday within 15 minutes are in the hands of University of Texas officials, it was indicated here this morning.

University athletic officials expressed confidence that if such wagers have been made it is without the knowledge of S. M. U. athletic officials.

No action will be taken here before the game, it was stated. At least one wager of $500 that "Stud" Wright will be "knocked out" in the first 15 minutes of play has been made, athletic officials said they had been informed.

Streets and Buildings Are Seen On Floor of Ocean

MOSCOW, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The discovery of an ancient submerged city near Shikov, a sandy bank on the Caspian sea, was made today by Alexis Atayeff, a captain in the soviet mercantile fleet. Atayeff's ship, bound from Persia to Baku, accidentally changed her usual course and while soundings were being made he noticed buildings on the sea floor.

Atayeff asserts that under the bright sunshine he was enabled to distinguish streets and buildings of ancient Asiatic architecture. A further investigation revealed a well preserved roadway leading to the Baku fortress.

Archaeologists are of the opinion that the discovery reveals the lost city of Kharndasheger which is believed to have been submerged centuries ago by an earthquake which altered the whole coast line. Local inhabitants have the tradition that several other cities were destroyed by the earthquake.

RATS SAVE FIRE LOSS.

DALLAS, Oct. 28.—Rats fleeing from a burning building here last night gave warning to an employe of the Lester Gunst store here in time for him to summon firemen who prevented spread of the flames to adjoining buildings.

Facts about
Child-Birth

FOR the expectant mother's comfort and well being, there is nothing that equals Mother's Friend. Its highly refined oils and other ingredients quickly commends it to the thoughtful mother. It is known that plain oils only penetrate the skin, whereas Mother's Friend penetrates deeper and soothes the broad muscles and ligaments; making them soft and pliable—thus aiding Nature to do her part without the unnecessary discomfort and pain. This is why Mother's Friend has proven such a blessing to expectant mothers for over three generations. Mother's Friend is the formula of an eminent physician. It is safe and free from harmful drugs. "I will tell all my friends about Mother's Friend." Writes Mrs. Ben Shraham, Princeton, Ill. "It is a wonderful help all through the period."

Needless to say the mothers who praise Mother's Friend the most, are those who did not use it with their first baby and through its use with the second, realized its almost unbelievable results.

Mother! Insist on Mother's Friend—the same as used by our mothers and grandmothers—don't wait—start using tonight—and meanwhile write Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. 35, Atlanta, Ga., for free valuable booklet "Motherhood and the Coming Baby" (sent in plain envelope). It tells how Mother's Friend can help you during expectancy and at childbirth. This booklet also tells you many other things you want to know. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all druggists—everywhere.

ELECTRICITY IN THE OIL FIELDS

When the boom days came to Wichita Falls, the Wichita Falls Electric Company was there to meet the expansion and needs for power in operating, drilling and pumping powers. Electric power for use in the oil fields has been thoroughly tested and found convenient, easily handled, and to be a very steady and efficient mode of drive. This company does a very large oil field business which includes the vicinities of Burkburnett, the Northwest Field Extension and the territory between the Northwest Field and Electra.

Come in and let's talk over the Advantages of Electric Power

SMITH SHOCKS HIS FRIENDS.

Governor Smith of New York is one of the outstanding figures of the northern democracy. He has been elected governor of the great empire state three times. He is the only man with one exception who has ever served the people of New York as their governor for three terms.

Selfish leaders of the New York democracy had made up their minds to draft Smith as the candidate for governor in the campaign of 1926. Other selfish leaders had made up their minds to draft him as the candidate for senator against James W. Wadsworth.

The governor did not take kindly to either of the proposals. He has taken the people into his confidence. He has told them that he will not accept a renomination for governor and that it is his intention to retire to private life in January 1926.

Early in September a correspondent for this newspaper, writing from New York City, forecasted this announcement. He stated that Smith would decline a renomination for governor and that he would not be a candidate for the senate against James W. Wadsworth who is a Republican.

And the correspondent of this newspaper gave the reasons why. When the Democrats of New York drafted Smith for governor in 1922 he gave up a position which carried a salary of $50,000 a year. Those who controlled the great trucking company of which he was the head suggested that they pay him the salary on account of his name.

Smith declined. He said that he could not serve two masters. He reminded them that the people of New York had elected him their governor and that all his time and ability belonged to the people while he held the office.

This governor of New York is a poor man. He has a large family. He has passed his fiftieth mile post and his friends who are not politicians have repeatedly advised him that a man's first duty is to his family and that he should withdraw from politics and accumulate a modest fortune while in the prime of life.

They gave him excellent advice. This does not mean that Governor Smith would not accept a presidential nomination. He has told his frends that he will not campaign for a nomination. He has told them that he will not be a candidate for the nomination but that if the leaders of the Democratic party feel that he will be the man of the hour in 1928 and places the standard of the party in his hands then he will accept the honor and battle for the prize.

Now if William Gibbs McAdoo will follow the example set by Governor Smith and the Democrats of all the forty-eight states will send uninstructed delegates to the next natonal convention to select candidates for president and vice president the party of Jefferson may make a splendid showing when the balloting takes place in the year 1928.

Franklin D. Roosevelt is the close personal and political friend of Governor Smith. Smith and Democrats who think as Smith thinks, favor Franklin D. Roosevelt as the choice of the party for senator next year. Governor Smith is making a great campaign this year for certain amendments which will be voted upon by the people of New York on the first Tuesday of November.

One of these amendments provides for a $100,000,000 bond issue to do away with railway crossings. He is backing James J. Walker for mayor of New Yor. All this after defeating Hearst and Hylan in the memorable primary contest in September. Walker is a four to one favorite in the betting circles and Banton, a former Texan, is a three to one favorite in the same circles.

Banton is the Democratic nominee for district attorney and is running for a second term. His Republican rival is a former governor of the state of New York and is a former member of the American Bar Association.

Banton if successful in November may be the Democratic nominee next year for the office of governor of the great empire state of the east.

A FAMOUS DECISION

And now the suprem court of the United States in a very recent decision by Mr. Justice Butler, has declared that under the prohibition acts of congress no warrant can be issued for the search of any dwelling unless that dwelling is being used for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor, or is in part used as a store, shop, saloon, restaurant, hotel or boarding house.

Now the wets say that the supreme court verdict is taken to mean "home brew is legal if not for sale." Yes, but who would drink home brew? Texas has a search and seizure law. This law does not conflict in any way with the supreme court decision. It upholds the ancient doctrine that a man's home is his castle but he must not turn his castle into a saloon or place where intoxicants are sold.

Another decision by the United States court of appeals was handed down at Richmond Virginia. A West Virginian was convicted of possessing seventy gallons of intoxicating liquor. He declared he took cherries and elder berries from his farm and made fruit cider for his own use.

Prohibition officers who made the raid failed to produce evidence at the trial that the liquor was intended for sale. This was a federal district court case and the maker of the fruit cider was convicted.

He carried the case to a higher court and the circuit court of appeals declared in reversing the case that the national prohibition laws do not forbid the home manufacture of cider and fruit juices from fruits raised on the premises and intended for individual use.

At the trial the prosecuting attorney conceded that the cider was not intoxicating but contended that it possessed as much as one half of one per cent alcohol and therefore came within the general prohibition laws defining liquor. If this decision is upheld by the supreme court of the United States then every American will become his own cider juice maker.

Regardless of all this away down here in Texas we have what is known as the Dean law. It is the most drastic of all state prohibition laws and the man who fools with it is certain of a term in the state penitentiary.

Maryland is a very wet state and the circuit court of appeals judges who decided the cider juice case although they do not hail from Maryland, appear to be a bit moist themselves.

Uncommon Sense

WHEN THE LITTLE DUCKS SWIM

Most people who have lived in the country have witnessed the horror of the mother chicken who has hatched out a brood of ducks because of some accident to the mother duck.

The minute her adopted children get out of the shell they make for the nearest water and sail forth over it happily, while she stands clucking and flapping her wings on the shore.

She expects every minute that the water will swallow them up and she will be left childless.

And the mother instinct, which comes before the instinct of self-preservation in keeping life alive, rebels at such needless slaughter.

But by and by, when she discovers that the little ducks can sail about the pond as long as they like without coming to any harm, and that as soon as they get hungry they will come ashore, she ceases to worry.

After that she calmly accompanies them to the water's edge for their swim, and picks contentedly at worms alog the shore until they get ready to come back to her.

A great many of the elder generation have been behaving like mother hens for the last 10 or 12 years.

Because their children bobbed their hair, and tinted their lips with rouge, and wore short frocks, they began to believe that destruction was at hand.

It was not so long ago that a bobbed haired woman was regarded either as a franatic of some kind or a rather disreputable stage person, to be shunned by all the good and pious.

But after most of the girls over 15 had bobbed their hair without any disastrous results, their mothers began to bob their hair too, and found that it was more comfortable and saved them a great deal of time.

And now bobbed hair has come to be looked on as a sensible fashion, which will probably persist—although far be it from us to risk any prophecies about what young women will do.

From age to age the capers of the young have shocked and alarmed the old, but the young still continue to caper, and it doesn't appear that any more of them go to perditional—wherever that may be—than went there 30 or 40 years ago.

The wisest course for older persons to take is to realize that the youngsters will dress and behave very much as they like, and that neither their dress nor their behavior will have any appreciable effect on their morals.

The children of honest, intelligent parents develop an instinct of self protection which keeps them straight, as a rule, no matter what styles they effect or what customs they adopt.

Certainly there is no more percentage of wrong doing among the children who are allowed within decent bounds to "kick up their heels" than among the children of straight laced and Puritanical parents.

We are getting used to our children now, and do not worry about them. Soon it will be their turn to worry about their own children, and they will have a bad time of it for a while. But by and by they will discover it is no use, and become contented again, like the mother hen, and like the parents of the present day.

COOLIDGE AND HIS LUCKY STAR

Calvin Coolidge must be a man of [illegible]. He must have been born beneath the shining [illegible] of a luck star. There was no doubt about [illegible] of the republican majority of the lower [illegible] of congress. There was some doubt of the [illegible] an majority which the administration would [illegible] to muster in the senate when the administration's measure came up for final passage.

Then death stepped in and removed a democrat, Samuel M. Ralston from the senate. This cost the democrats a vote. Governor Jackson of Indiana appointed Arthur R. Robinson, United States senator to succeed Ralston.

Senator Robinson declared himself a Coolidge republican, a republican stalwart who would hold himself in readiness at all times to vote for the legislative program of the administration. Senator Robinson is a political accident. He was not known beyond the borders of Indiana. He had been a candidate for high office and the voters had repudiated him by a large majority.

This does not lessen his importance as a senator. The administration needs votes. Robinson will be there and will stand hitched at all times, last summer Senator E. F. Ladd, of North Dakota, was stricken down and passed on to that invisible bourne. Ladd was a non-partisan with republican leanings.

He was close to LaFollette and a member of the Congressional block. He was regarded as an Outlander by the administration and the regulars of the republican party. He would not stand hitched. He voted his convictions. He defied King Caucus. He was a thorn in the side of the regular organization. Governor A. G. Sorlio of North Dakota has decided not to appoint a sucessor to serve out the unexpired term of Ladd. As a result North Dakota will have only one senator at the December session of the American congress. Governor Sorlio is a non-partisan with Republican leanings. He hopes to be a senator some day. He may be a candidate for that office in 1926. Ralston was a regular democrat. A regular republican was his successor. Ladd was an insurgent republican. There will be no successor in his place at the coming session.

Luck appears to be on the side of Coolidge. He is a man of destiny and he knows how to play the game. Some day his Waterloo may come but to this date no sign has appeared in the heavens that is calculated to disturb the political serenity of the distinguished son of New England who is the Chief Executive of the American Nation and who is slated for renomination and re-election by the leaders of his party in 1928.

Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana will be a senatorial candidate next year. He is all that Senator Robinson is not. Beveridge is a real statesman and a real statesman has a rocky road to travel in the land of Hoosiers.

As for the democrats of Indiana all their great men appear to be living in the cemetery or hiding out in the big thickets. It is true that Colonel Tom Taggart remains in the land of the living but he is a politician and not a statesman.

COPELAND HAS A PLAN.

Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York has a war debt payment plan. He has presented it in opposition to the Mellon plan. Senator Copeland is a democrat. He was a republican while a critisem of Michigan but he changed his politics when he became a citizen of New York.

Senator Copeland insists that Secretary Mellon is trying to pay off the war debt in a very few years. Senator Copeland insists that we should extend payment of the war debt over 60 years, so as to relieve the people of the heavy burden they are now bearing.

Senator Copeland insists that congress at its coming session should pass a law removing the amusement and automobile taxes, exempt taxes on incomes up to $5,000, and also give relief to the big tax payers. He does not say just what relief he would give to the big tax payers.

Senator Copeland is a physician. Secretary Mellon is a financier. Secretary Mellon knows more about finance and taxation than it would be possible [illegible] Copeland to ever learn and this is no health topics and manages to pick up $50,000 a year selling his medical stories to the newspapers of America.

Perhaps this is one of the reasons why he favors some relief for the big tax payer. He has a very plausible argument. He says that Great Britain was given 60 years time to pay its debts to the United States government; little Belgium was given 60 years years and France and Italy are to be given 60 years.

"Why not the American people" queries the senator from New York. Senator Copeland will be a candidate for re-election. He knows how to send a message to the man in the street. Knowing how, the senator sends it.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

BY MARY BLAKE,

Scorpio.

Today's planetary aspects can be more easily determined than those of yesterday. They are clear, and unmistakable, and reveal a spirit of optimism, combined with an urge to achieve, regardless of difficulties that may present themselves. It is a propitious opportunity for new endeavor and initiative, along lines of constructive effort. It is, however, an inauspicious occasion for any work of hazardous or risky nature. It is also a favorable time for social or family reunions, as the spirit that will animate you today, can only provoke harmony and good fellowship. Any marriage solemnized under today's influences promises to be full of happiness and contentment, and the strong love that has brought the wedding about, will not wane, but increase, with the passing years.

Children born today will demand very careful attention and well regulated alimentation during their infancy. They should be kept out of doors as much as possible, so that their constitutions may be built up along healthy lines. Their dispositions will vary, according to their sex. A boy will be unselfish, loyal, painstaking, and ambitious. If allowed to follow the vocation for which he is best suited, there will be no reason to anticipate failure. Success will be assured. A girl will be more superficial than genuine. She will be able to exercise a great deal of charm, when she thinks it is necessary for her own benefit. She will be self-centred, and full of contradictions. Perverse and wilful.

If today is your birthday, you possess an exceeding amount of personality, and you can be a delightful companion when you wish. You, however, are rarely disposed to take trouble to exert yourself, and are quite indifferent to any impression you may create.

With an inherent charm, and an exceptional intellectuality, you could, if you so desired, establish an unassailable position for yourself. You, however, elect to pander to your own indolent desires, and, rarely, if ever, make a sincere effort to do justice to yourself and to those associated with you.

Marriage with an ambitious mate may change your outlook, and cure the inertia from which you chronically suffer. If this remedy has been tried and has failed, then the only thing required is self determination and a will to achieve.

Successful people born this date:

Samuel E. Warren, educator.

POEMS THAT LIVE

Come, Rest in This Bosom.

Come, rest in this bosom, my own stricken deer,
Though the herd have fled from thee, thy home is still here;
Here still is the smile that no cloud can o'ercast,
And a heart and a hand all thy own to the last.

Oh, what was love made for, if 'tis not the same
Through joy and through torment, through glory and shame?
I know not, I ask not, if guilt's in that heart,
I but know that I love thee, whatever thou art.

Thou hast called me thy angel in moments of bliss,
And thy angel I'll be 'mid the horrors of this,
Through the furnace, unshrinking, thy steps to pursue,
And shield thee, and save thee—or perish there, too!

—Thomas Moore.

HOW IT STARTED

CALLING IT THE "DULCIMER"

We are all familiar whether through frequent use on the vaudeville stage or merely its crude imitations in the little plaything of which children are so fond, with the box-like musical instrument called the dulcimer, that is played by striking its wires and flat bridges with mallets.

The dulcimer is a very ancient instrument, being known for centuries in Persia and Arabia under the name of "santir." Brought to Europe by returning crusaders, it came into notice in about the Sixteenth century and through the time of active invention and development of musical instruments it has survived its day. Its modern use may be said to limited practically to professional entertainers whose skillfully playing mallets have made its sweet tones familiar principally on the vaudeville stage.

It is from its tone quality that the instrument takes its name, dulcimer being derived from the Latin "dolcomelos," meaning "sweet song" from "dulcis," sweet.

SYNOPSIS

Connemara Moore, rather than announce her engagement tonight, as was expected of her, had dressed herself as a nun and stolen out of Aunt Celimena's Connecticut home. She hailed a stranger, David Lacy, drove with him to the Sound, and crossed on a ferry. On Long Island there has been an accident, in which Lacy has been left behind. Whereupon Pooch, a stranger, has bundled her into a rowboat and rowed her out to a yacht, which they are about to board.

When he switched on the cabin light he developed freckles, blue eyes, an aggressive chin under humorous, mobile lips, and hair as red as Connemara's.

"'Sricht," he beamed at her. "Dressed in white—'sproper rig for yachtin'. Have 'smore coffee?"

"I—I—" Connemara was at what is known technically as a loss. More coffee! She had not had any coffee for hours—or was it weeks?

"Oh, aye—have 'smore coffee," White Cap urged her, "'nsist on it."

"How about gas?" Mr. Pooch inquired, almost casually. "Got any gas?"

"Gas?" the little man laughed. "A' the gas in the world—gas, water, onions, marmalade — got everything. 'Sgo cruising? Tak ye anywhere ye say."

"We might go for a spin," Mr. Pooch seemed to deliberate. "Go ahead, Sandy; start her up."

"Dinna call me Sandy," White Cap objected. "'Sdang'rous. Call me Angus McTish—a' friends here, see?"

"All right, McTish, old scout, hop to it!" Mr. Pooch waved him forward. Coffee seemed to be forgotten.

Mr. Pooch was on top of Mr. Tish, wrestling for the spanner.

Mr. Pooch stood in the cabin, smiling to himself, and Connemara sat down in a corner of the cockpit. Power yachts—in fact, all forms of marine endeavor—were a mystery to Connemara, and this boat in particular seemed more mysterious than most, surely. At least Connemara did not suppose it customary for strangers to come aboard private yachts in the middle of the night and be greeted by intoxicated little red-headed men with offers of nonexistent coffee, onions, and marmalade. But Connemara was tired, desperately tired, and so she sat, staring vacantly at some sort of document under the cabin lamp setting forth that one David Lacy was owner of the power boat Bloody Nuisance of New York. Soon there was a sound of machinery at its deadly work—a clanking up forward seemed to be an anchor coming up. At any rate, in a few seconds, the boat was moving—swiftly, silently, invisibly, mysteriously through the night.

For perhaps the first time in her life, Connemara began to feel a little bit frightened. Desperate measures flashed through her mind. Should she jump overboard and take her chances swimming back to land? Connemara looked at the black waters and shivered negatively. Should she climb surreptitiously into the little black boat trailing astern and cast herself adrift, with a pair of, to her, meaningless implements called oars as sole companions? Once again Connemara looked at the black water in tremulous negation. In her present dismay, not to say quandary, Connemara's soul craved company, however nefarious in character.

She left her place in the cockpit, therefore, and climbed onto the bridge, where Mr. Pooch was chewing a cigar at Angus McTish's elbow. Up ahead a light—Execution Rock, so Mr. Pooch announced—pierced the darkness. Astern, but very faintly, came the throb of a distant motor boat, concerning which Mr. Pooch made no announcement, since he had not yet noticed it; just as he had not become aware of the fact—unknown to Connemara, though possibly not to Mr. McTish, who happened to be standing with his foot on a button in the deck—that the Bloody Nuisance's electric anchor light was still lit—lit, and flashing intermittently in a manner far too methodical to be accidental.

"Long—short—short—long. . . ." versed in such matters, might well have guessed it to be a message, had she been able to see it.

And then a sudden and most alarming racket made itself manifest in the bowels of the ship.

"Whas samatter?" Mr. Pooch inquired.

"'Snothing, 'snothing," McTish assured him. "Fix 'tno time."

He slung himself down into the engine room, and for a few moments they could hear him below, clanketing under their feet. Then he reappeared, with a spanner in one hand and a broad grin on his freckled countenance.

"'Snumber four cylinder," he informed them. "'Sdead as a door nail. 'Sdeader. Oh, aye—far deader."

"Well, don't stand there gassing about it," Mr. Pooch rebuked him. "Can't you fix it?"

"Sure," McTish beamed. "Fix anything."

He lifted the engine hatch in the deck and fetched the exposed cylinder tops a terrific crack with the spanner.

"Hey!" Mr. Pooch exclaimed. "What the hell you doing?"

"Soakem!" McTish insisted. "Something wrang wi' th' engine? Always hit it a crack wi' a spanner first—'sonly way to fixem!"

McTish was obviously still extremely intoxicated — and yet the certainty swept over Connemara at that moment that Mr. McTish was actually as sober as a new-born clam and that he had been so from the first. Connemara could not have told why, but she was suddenly sure of this, just as she was positive that something desperate was about to happen.

It did, at once. Mr. McTish raised his hand for another crack at the cylinder top, and Mr. Pooch lunged forward.

"Cut that out, you bum!" he roared. "Tryin' to bust the spark plugs——"

While the words were still in the air the bridge became a tumult of arms, legs, faces, splinters, and profanity. The Bloody Nuisance, left to herself, behaved like one and rolled broadside on to the nearest sea. Connemara, holding on to a rod of some kind, saw that the two men were gripped in each other's arms. Mr. Pooch was on top of McTish, wrestling for the spanner and beating him with his other fist, while Mr. McTish seemed to be biting Mr. Pooch when and wherever occasion offered. But it was inevitable that Mr. Pooch should triumph, since he had all the advantages of weight and position on his side. And it was not long—although it seemed an eternity to Connemara—before Mr. Pooch had slung Mr. McTish into the forecastle and slammed and padlocked the hatch on top of him.

"The bum!" Mr. Pooch panted. "Tryin' to wreck the engine. . . . My Gawd!"

Mr. Pooch had just caught that staccato exhaust of a power boat somewhere astern, a sound that drew steadily nearer as he listened, and which evidently signified dire contingencies to his mind, for he jumped all the way down the companionway into the cabin.

"Why—wh—?" Connemara ventured.

"Revenners!" Mr. Pooch flung at her over his shoulder. "Make it snappy, kid!"

"Snappy?"

"Sure—time to fly this floating coop!"

Mr. Pooch was already in the cockpit, hauling in the painter. He turned for an instant to look at Connemara, standing in the light from the cabin into which she followed him—and all at once his expression changed to one of sinister intensity.

SUB ROSA BY MIMI

Shall I Give Up Religion or Man?

The prejudice of one religious faith against another is so strong today that many a perplexed maiden has to ask herself whether she is willing to give up her church for the man of her heart—or let him go rather than deny her own faith.

And of course, most girls, after a severe struggle, decide in favor of the man—renouncing the creed which they've been trained to uphold.

It's so very hard to let slip your chance of happiness with the man you love, for the sake of a religious belief.

What, you ask yourself, can religion offer you in exchange for the great joy of marriage and a home of your own and the security and peace of a man's love?

If you happen to be the sort of person to whom the thought of church does not occur except on Sunday mornings—if religion means to you something vaguely to be relied on in times of trouble—if you've been brought up with a few hazy notions about the whole business—then you're fairly safe in giving up your faith and changing to a new one.

Having very little real faith, you won't find it difficult to become a member of a different sect.

But if you have been carefully brought up to believe in one particular religion so that the whole thing is deeply imbedded in your nature—even though you may not be aware of it—then it's a pretty risky affair to root out your beliefs and substitute for them the beliefs of your husband.

At first, marriage and the new home and the new possessions will all seem so wonderful that religion will be rather out of the picture.

But gradually as the glamour of married life wears off, you'll feel yourself missing something—lacking something.

The years of training and environment that have taught you to be faithful to your own creed—to believe in that and no other—will have planted religious ideas in your mind which will suddenly crop up and make life rather uncomfortable after you've tried to rid yourself of them forever.

Don't think just because you're not an ardent church goer and a religious enthusiast that your religion means nothing to you.

Ask yourself very seriously whether in the years to come you won't want to go back to the old faith, when it is too late.

This isn't meant to be a wet blanket on the girls who want to change their creed because of their sweethearts. Dozens of girls do that every day and make a success of it.

Only remember—that just as many girls make the change and regret it later.

Browned-Eyed Sue—You've enclosed no stamped-addressed envelope so can't answer your last letter to me.

Thanks—You must give that man up entirely. In the end—no matter how much happiness he may bring you now—he will only be a great disappointment to you. Going with a man such as he is just like building your house on shifting sands.

(Mimi will be glad to answer any inquiries directed to this paper provided a stamped addressed envelope is enclosed. Also she will be glad to send food for conversation and how to overcome self-consciousness.)

Tells of the Benefit Received by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Leavenworth, Kansas.—"My work was long-distance operating and supervising, and I got into a very nervous state and was all run-down. I was easily annoyed at trifles, was extremely nervous and always had a tired feeling which made me awfully listless. Through a newspaper I learned of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thinking it would help me I tried it. It quieted my nerves, I was less annoyed and more lively. It took away that dragging feeling and improved my health in every way. I was able to continue my work with more vigor than before and I recommend the Vegetable Compound to all young girls. I am married now and have a big baby boy and am in the best of health. If I should ever have any trouble I'll take the Vegetable Compound again, for I know it will help me as it did before."—Mrs. O. Texas Oil Men Meet In Convention In Wichita Falls Today

LEADERS OF OIL INDUSTRY IN ASSEMBLY

Election of Officers Will Come at Noon Session

rive early this morning includes practically big company "big" official in the state.

The meetings will be in the charge of J. D. Collett, independent operator of Fort Worth and for the past three years president of the Texas organization. Other officers in the organization include W. B. Hamilton of Wichita Falls, vice president, and J. P. Laney of Dallas, secretary and treasurer.

Barry Miller to Talk.

The feature of the program as arranged to many will be the banquet scheduled for tonight at 7 o'clock at the Kemp hotel. Addresses by Barry Miller, lieutenant governor of Texas, Judge John C. Kay of Wichita Falls, Harry Smith, secretary of the mid-continent oil and gas association in Oklahoma, Edgar A. Pew, president of the American Petroleum Institute and others are scheduled for this meeting, which will be kept as nearly as possible within the realm of the social rather than of business. The banquet, to start at 7, usually breaks up around 10:30 or 11 o'clock.

The afternoon will be given over to a golf tournament for those who play golf at the Wichita Falls golf and country club, and to a trip to Lake Kemp and up the irrigated valley for those who wish to go. W. B. Hamilton, president of the Texhoma Oil and Refining company is presenting a sterling silver loving cup to the winner of the golf tournament, which is in charge of Roy B. Joes, G. C. Wood, and Walter Cline. Cars will be furnished for those wishing to make the trip to Lake Kemp, these to be at the Kemp hotel at 1:30 this afternoon. This latter feature of the convention program is in the charge of J. A. Kemp, C. H. Clark and J. S. Bridwell.

Elect Officers.

Election of officers and decision of the next meeting place for the convention will come at the noon meeting of the executive board of the association to be held at the Kemp hotel dining room at luncheon time. The executive board this past year included 43 members, and a like number will probably be re-elected at the morning session this year. The resident for the coming session and other officers will be named from among their number.

The convention will break up at the end of the banquet at the Kemp tonight, the visitors for the most part departing for their homes over the state.

DOROTHY DIX ADVICE

The "Mere Man" Whose Wife Demands Kisses and Amusement—Shall the Successful Business Girl Remain Single or Marry a Makeshift Husband? Should "Miss Thirteen" Use Rouge?

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have been married two years and my wife cries if I do not kiss her, and feels deeply hurt if I chew tobacco. She does not object to smoking. If we go out anywhere together, she expects me to stay with her all the time, when I would like to talk to some of the men. She likes to go to shows, and I do not, so tell her to go alone and I will stay at home. Now I love her, but how can I explain to her and make her understand that she is expecting too much of

A MERE MAN.

Answer:

Gee! If your wife still cries to kiss you when you chew tobacco, she must have for you the love that passes all understanding. If you inspire that sort of devotion in any woman's heart, you ought to be willing to be a regular kissing bug out of shee gratitude.

As for the balance, it doesn't seem to me that your wife's demands on you are very excessive, or that she expects of you anything more than ordinary courtesy. When a man takes a woman out to any place of amusement, he is supposed to devote himself to entertaining her, and not to leave her stranded nigh and dry while he goes off and hobnobs with other men Also, it seems to me, that you might at least once a week take her to a show, even though it bores you. Doubtless, she makes many sacrifices to make you comfortable and happy.

So much for your side of the question, but I always wish I could shake a woman like your wife, who has so little sense about how to handle men. They are the women with more heart than head, who always lose out by making themselves a burden on their husbands, and who are undesired by the men to whom they are married because they hold themselves so cheaply.

If your wife had intelligence enough to make you fight for her kisses, instead of thrusting them on you, you would be crazy for them. If you were doubtful about her love, you would be trying to win her, instead of trying to get rid of her society, and you wouldn't find any chance man acquaintance more entertaining than she is.

Aside from that, however, a woman makes a mistake when she tries to keep her husband tied to her apron string all the time, and doesn't realize that he has to have masculine society just as she has to have feminine society. For in the end, when both men and women want to say the things that are in their souls, they have to say them to their own sex that alone can understand.

Also, when a woman's husband objects to going to places of amusement with her, she saves herself and him a lot of friction by going alone. Certainly a man who is taken to a show against his will and who is grouchy and sore over it, adds nothing to the pleasure of the occasion.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Why, after a girl stays single for a number of years and has been advanced to a position of trust in a business office, does she never meet a man of consequence whom she would be proud to marry? As a rule, she can only get a man much younger than herself, an uneducated man, or a bachelor who has not been a financial success, and who has an eye on her money. Would it not be better for her to remain on her job save money enough to be independent in her old age, and forget the marriage problem.

LESIE.

Answer:

The girl who rises to a position of trust in a business office meets all the men there are, Elsie. She has ten times the acquaintance among men that any society girl has, for she is brought in contact with every type of the genus homo that is extant, whereas the domestic girl sees only a few hand-picked specimens.

Clever men and dull men, go-getters and slackers, savers and spenders, the self-made and papa's sons, college men and those who have been educated in the University of Hard Knocks, all of these sooner or later drift through the business office, and the business girl sees them all. Perhaps it is because she sees them at such close range, and gets to know them so well, that she sometimes gets disillusioned and imagines, as you do, that there must be some superman in the world of fashionable society that she has not met.

This is a mistake. You have sampled the run of the mill, and if you have not found a Prince Charming among them it is because Prince Charmings exist only in the eye of the beholder.

I commend your conclusion that it is better not to marry at all than take some makeshift husband who does not come up to your ideal. Undoubtedly, a perfectly mated man and woman come nearer than any other human beings to finding a paradise on earth, but marriage is either heaven or hell, and it is far better not to be married at all than not to be happily married.

The successful business woman has a most enviable lot in life. She has a vital interest to occupy her mind and thoughts. She has financial independence. She can have her own charming home, where she can gratify all of her housewifely instincts. She can travel, and best of all, she can have absolute independence.

Love may be the greatest thing in the world, but if you miss that, there are a lot of consolation prizes, and you are certainly a million times better off alone than with a second-rate husband.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a girl of 13, and want to know if it is right for me to use rouge.

SCHOOLGIRL.

Answer.

It is no crime to use rouge when you are 13, but it is frightfully bad taste.

A little girl of 13 painted up like a middle-aged Jezebel is a sight to make the angels weep. When you are 13, you have the most wonderful thing in the world, my child. You have the thing that every woman past 30 envies you so much that she would almost give her eyes to get it, and that is youth. And you throw all of that away when you kalsomin your face with powder and daub it up with paint.

Why, when older women paint and powder they are just trying to simulate what you have naturally—a smooth white skin with roses on your cheeks. They fill up their wrinkles with powder and coat their faces with white and put artificial color on it, and get what the advertisement calls "that schoolgirl complexion" that you think so little of that you want to hide it.

Don't use cosmetics when you are 13. Wait until you are old and need them.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I have been going with a girl, and I have gotten tired of her and I want to break away, but she won't let me go. How can I do it?

X. Y. Z.

Answer:

It is a hard job, son, but your only safety is in flight. Even then she will pursue you with letters, but don't answer them.

DICKEY, OF M. E. CHURCH, PUTS NEW VERSION ON CLOAK ACT OF RALEIGH; DECRY MORAL LAXITY

Trend of Modern Times Is Appalling, Says Texas Bishop

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 28.—Modern dancing and the lax morality of modern pastimes were scored by Bishop James E. Dickey in his opening address at the annual West Texas Methodist Episcopal conference here today.

"The trend of modern times is appalling," the bishop declared. "The modern bear-hug, and even more recently, the Charleston, I will not refer as dances," he said in referring to the stately minuet of other days.

Womanhood Sacred Shrine.

"The most sacred shrine at which man has ever worshipped," he said, "is womanhood. Show me a man's attitude toward woman, and I'll tell you what he is." Referring to Sir Walter Raleigh's cloak incident, he said the average youth of today would say: "Step on it, kid."

His text was from the fourth chapter of First Samuel, "Wherefore hath the Lord smitten us?" Comparing that defeat to the present time, he said: "That was the reaction from the degradation of high things."

The conference continues through November with business sessions daily and musical and devotional programs at night.

Take Up Unification.

Unification of the Methodist Episcopal church, North and South, will be balloted upon, "without discussion," beginning at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

This decision was reached at the opening session Wednesday morning. The resolution as to the time of the ballot was offered by Rev. M. J. Allen, and this was amended to "without discussion" following a motion by Rev. Arthur J. Moore of San Antonio.

It is generally admitted that those favoring unification will poll a majority vote, but the great question is "will this be the necessary three-fourths majority necessary for ratification?"

DIVORCE

tion or elaboration," Rev. Fred T. Datson, rector of the Episcopalial church, said. "Most of the moralists and sociologists say that it may mean the end of our civilization."

Says Rev. Johnson.

"I agree with Rev. William Hartley Carnegie absolutely," Rev. Walter J. Johnson, pastor of the First Methodist church, South, said. "The divorce is the most outstanding eveil in the world, and if it continues to increase undermine society. It has already reached the point in America that there is one divorce to every 12 marriages.

"Today the American people read a great deal of literature which is not English, but is vile, and to my mind, the most ominous sins of our times are the teachings of current literature on the subject of marriage. One cause of so many divorces is the tendency of modern thought to obscure the family purpose of marriage. The war has had much to do with it; families are decreasing in size; childless marriages are becoming more prominent; the tendency to break down the ideals of marriage. Take Ibsen. His fundamental proposition is that marriage destroys love; that there should be no such thing as marriage. Then Bernard Shaw comes with his plays making the plea that 'what the world needs is great men,' and that great men can never be born of parents who are mated for life.

Scores Literature.

"Max Nordeau denounces marriage and tells us that married people who have grown weary of one another should abandon husband or wife and follow their fancies. This is the kind of literature found in our libraries and in our magazines. It is the backbone and source of the overworked divorce court, where one out of every 12 family histories end. There is another contributory cause of divorce—on the stage and one the screen, jests are hurled at integrity of the moral home and the idea of martial virtues. I believe in clean, wholesome amusement, but I do not believe anything is so sacred and important as the martial relations should be held up to jest and ridicule. To cheapen the ideas of the young on matrimony is to so wthe seed of disintegration in this country."

Appalling, He Says.

"The divorce evil in America is appalling and we must take steps to check it," Rev. Nat F. Grafton, minister of the First Presbyterian church, declared. "It all comes from our lax respect of laws. I would not undertake to say that it means the end of civilization, for I do not think anybody knows how the end of civilization might be caused."

"I think Rev. Carnegie is about right in his statement regarding the divorce evil in this country," Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church, said. "The divorce evil is one of the cankers at least. The home is the heart of the nation and when the heart is affected, the whole life of the nation is at stake. Civilization rests on marriage and the question of divorce is serious."

Blames Fiction.

"When unfaithfulness to the marriage vow is the glowing romance of so much of modern fiction in that class of magazines distributed by certain newsstands, and when such unfaithfulness is an unfailing jest of conversation, it is evident that the menace of divorce roots deeper than the lack of uniform or adequate divorce laws," Rev. Milo Atkinson, pastor of the First Christian church, said last night in answer to the interview with the London rector.

All of the Wichita Falls divines interviewed could not help but remark at the apropos of the Rev. Hartley's final "swat" at American domesticisty when he said, "The laws of America aid divorce. They can get a divorce for anything. Hundreds of excuses are ready to their hands; incompatibility of temperament, the man's fondness for baseball, the way the woman wears her hair—anything will serve."

WIFE SILENT ON CHARGE OF NEGRO BLOOD

Maid Who Wed Rich Man Now Is In "Othello" Tragedy

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Alice Beatrice Jones Rhinelander, house maid, whose marriage last year with Leonard Kip Rhinelander, member of one of New York's aldest and most prominent families, caused a society sensation, apparently is not opposing the charge in his suit for annulment that she is of negro extraction. Instead, she may be expected to base her defense on the contention that no fraud was perpetrated.

This disclosure as well as the fact that young Rhinelander has been disinherited was made in a hearing on motion of Mrs. Rhinelander's attorney for $15,000 additional attorney's fees, of which $3,500 was granted.

Young Rhinelander's attorneys have spent $20,000 in tracing the paternity of their client's father-in-law, they said, and found that birth certificates in the West Indies and England recorded all members of the family as negroes.

The numbers offered were by Miss Katherine Sullivan who sang two soprano solos, by Mrs. J. Willis Gray and Baldwin Montgomery who gave a soprano andtenor duet; and by Mrs. Henry Davis and Miss Gladys Ingle who presented a school-kid recitative that brought a prolonged burst of applause.

Tells Women to Avoid "Physics"

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated women and girls had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, sallow skin, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" every little while was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which regulates the bowels. A single does will establish natural, healthy bowel movement for weeks at a time, even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it is often months before another dose is necessary. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

Womanly Troubles

"I WAS very run-down in health," says Miss Stella Lambert, the pretty Velasco, Texas, young lady, whose portrait appears above, telling of the troubles she experienced some time ago.

"I lost in weight," she continues, "and I looked pale and haggard. I had been in bad health for months, and at times I would suffer very severe pains in my back and sides. I had headaches almost all the time. I hardly knew a well day. This was due to womanly troubles I knew.

"I talked it over with my mother and she got me a bottle of Cardui to try. I began to improve at once, so I continued the medicine according to the directions. I kept it up for six months, taking in all ten bottles, and at the end of that time I was completely relieved.

"I feel like a different girl now. I had been ill so long I had despaired of ever feeling well again, but I certainly do feel fine now and I am sure that it is all due to the Cardui.

"I do not have those terrible headaches now, and no pains either. I am glad to recommend Cardui to girls who have the same sort of troubles that I had, for it will regulate and strengthen at the same time."

Many thousands of women have told of similar relief gained by them through the use of Cardui. It has helped so many others—it should help you too.

The chief ingredient of Cardui has been recommended by medical authorities for the treatment of certain women's ailments for almost 600 years. Cardui has a record of many years of successful use in the treatment of female troubles.

Cardui is absolutely harmless. Made from pure, vegetable ingredients, Cardui is carefully manufactured in up-to-date, sanitary laboratories, from a time-tried formula of proven efficacy.

FORUM HEARS A WORD ON PETTING

"We Did It On the Sly," Says Club Woman

By PEGGY PIEDMONT

DO nice Wichita Falls girls pet?

Is this necessary for a girl nowdays to be popular?

Probably no other question is discussed more at present than this one among members of the "flapper" age, older young women and mothers of school girls. There are very few gathering of women where lectures are given, that the subject isn't at least touched upon.

Of course they do not, you will indignantly reply, (if you don't happen to know anything about it, or if you don't happen to have any young people in your family who discuss their social affairs) but not so quick, my dear.

Writers are not making up stuff like that. And remembering a world old adage, "Where there is so much smoke, there must be fire." Life has made it up, and writers must consider it whether they will or not.

SPEAKING of the behavior of the present day young people, a prominent Wichita Falls club woman told members at a department meeting of the Woman's Forum, that she thought the present day boys and girls were no worse than the young people were in her day (the speaker was about 38 years old) the only difference, she said, was that they were more open with their conduct. "When I was young," she continued, "a girl was not allowed by her parents to go riding in a hug-me-tight buggy at all, unless she was away along in her twenties."

"But did we do it? We certainly did, and just said nothing about it. Now days, we have the moving pictures to show the boys and girls how it is done and the automobile to furnish the way."

Eleanor Rowland Wembridge considered this social condition in a recent article published in the "Survey," entitled "Petting and the Campus." A conference of 800 college girls from the middlewest helped her consider it.

And this carefully selected body of young women went on record as acknowledging the inevitable presence of the petting party on the campus and in their lives.

"SO FAR as I could judge from their discussion groups," says Mrs. Wembridge, "the girls (who were all upper classgirls) did not advise the younger classgirls not to pet—they merely advised them to be moderate about it, not to lose their heads, not to go too far—in fact, the same line of conduct which is advised for moderate temperance—learn temperance in petting, not abstinence."

Of course, there were varied opinions among the girls as to just how far the petting should be allowed to go. But they all agreed that the modern girls wants a reputation for being ardently sought after and doesn't want a reputation for being "old maidish." She wants to be a good sport, a real fellow. One girl said. "I don't particularly care to be kissed by some of the fellows I know, but I'd rather let them do it any old time rather than think I wouldn't dare."

ANOTHER college girl said :"Its terribly exciting. We get such a thrill. I think it's natural to want nice men to kiss you; why not be natural?"

"There was no embarrassment in her manner," says Mrs. Wembridge. "Her eyes and her conscience were equally untroubled."

Does all this mean a dreadful degeneracy in feminine character? Mrs. Wembridge thinks not. She, in common with many other students of the younger generation, feels that it merely indicates frankness in feminine expression.

TIMES have changed. We live in an ever-changing period. Women enjoy more freedom than ever before. Conditions have been removed which prohibit woman's full expression of her desire. She now investigates and prepares for marriage with the freedom and frankness with which she would prepare for any other business.

She wished to know all about herself and the one she would marry, and she also wishes to give herself as wide a field as possible to choose from. She wants to know she is right before she makes the step, therefore she investigates.

Mrs. Wembridge says we must first face the facts, then place the blame.

She blames the parents for much of the license that prevails, claiming that the mothers live all their emotional lives in the galety of their daughters, having nothing else to live it in, and they suffer quite as much as their daughters if maternal strictness threatens to make wall flowers of them.

"I have never known a girl who is an ardent petter whose point of view was not traceable to her mother's weankess or her vanity," Mrs. Wembridge says.

BUT suppose the mother does fail in her duty, as she often does. Has society no responsibility? Mrs. Wembridge believes it has a very definite duty in this matter and offers the following:

1. Installation of deans in high schools and grammar schools to supervise and help regulate social life as they do in colleges.
2. Vocational advice to girls taking for granted marriage and discussing all work against that background. Have romance accepted as a fact in life by authorities, instead of being giggled about in the dark.
3. By means of vocational conferences get it before the parent-teacher associations for education of parents who are to blame.
4. Creative recreation, especially dramatics and athletics, instead of so much weakly chaperoned dancing and automobile riding.
5. Social hygiene programs for normal school teachers, who so largely control grad and rural work.

The writer has no confessions.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. For only 75 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. —Adv.

Says—Now Stiff Joints Must Go!

New Discovery Limbers 'Em Up; Even the Creaking Ceases

Yes; it's true—the world progresses.

All you have to do nowadays to limber up that old stiff, creaky knee joint is to squeeze a half inch of miracle-working substance from a tube.

Then rub it on the offending part for about a quarter of a minute or until it soaks through the skin and disappears on its errand of mercy.

Then read the evening newspaper and go to bed.

The chances are that your misbehaving knee joint will lose its "creak" while you are dreaming about the high fences you used to leap when you were a youngster.

"And in the morning," says one who has tried the new discovery, "you'll feel so happy that you'll want to jump into your sportiest clothes and walk briskly down the street just to show the neighbors that you are not as old as they think you are."

Joint-Ease, they call this wonder working substance, for the reason that when ordinary remedies fail to limber up the stiff, inflamed rheumatic joint or reduce the swelling, Joint-Ease succeeds.

It's a good name for a good, clean, stainless prescription that in just a few months has proven to a multitude of people that lame, swollen, distorted joints can speedily have the kinks taken out of them and work as smoothly as ever.

But Joint-Ease is for bothersome joints, whether in knee, elbow, ankle, hip, shoulder, spine or finger, and for that purpose its sale at 60 cents a tube, is immense.

Smith's Drug store sells dozens of tubes of it every week and druggists everywhere report a big demand.

Always remember, when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—quick.

Pimples

What can I do?

"OH, why can't I have a skin like other girls? Why do I have to have these ugly pimples, blotches and blackheads?

"If I could only find something that would clear up my skin and give me back my soft, rosy complexion, I know I would be the happies girl in the world! What can I do?"

Is that you talking? If it is, you don't have to worry a minute! Just build up the rich, red blood in your body. Then your skin will be as clear and soft as anybody's.

That's what S. S. S. has been doing for generations—helping Nature build rich, red blood! You can build red-blood-cells so fast that the impurities that cause breaking out on the skin hardly get into the system before the pure blood annihilates them—kills them right out—stops them from breaking out through the skin.

And then this rich, red, pure blood feeds and nourishes the tissues of the skin and keeps it looking healthy.

That's all there is to it. Healthy, vigorous red blood such as S. S. S. helps Nature build, makes you healthy all over. It beautifies your skin — drives away pimples, blackheads, blotches, rash, boils and eczema—gives you back your appetite—builds firm, plump flesh and fills you full of new life and energy.

33 Loiterers Are Jailed During Day

In an all-day series of raids on domine parlors and other places where loitering is an established business, the city police department Wednesday arrested 33 persons in a campaign to rid Wichita Falls of vags and loafers, it is thought, have had something to do with the series of hold-ups and robberies of late.

Incidentally, first steps were taken in the establishment of a bureau of identification here when Oscar Vinson, newly named finger print expert of the department, worked over eight of those jailed.

Chief of Police George H. Hodgins last night declared that the campaign would be continued against whites and blacks alike until many of the idle class had been chased from town. "No work no stay" was his idea on the matter.

Mitchell Kicks Out President of Court Martial and Two More In Trial

INTREPID AIR SERVICE NEMESIS SCORES HEAVILY IN FIRST DAY'S SESS'ION OF HIS COURTMARTIAL

West Point Commandant Is One of Court Colonels Ousted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(AP) An army general court martial assembled today in an old building near the capitol to try Col. William Mitchell on charges drawn up by the war department specifying violation of the 96th article of war on eight counts, based on language he used in his public statements criticising administration of the army and navy air services.

When the court filed into the hastily prepared quarters assigned it, there were 13 members present, all selected by Secretary Dwight Davis. Within the hour three had been ousted, one by request and two by decision of their colleagues. Behind the retirement of the three and responsible for the upset were the carefully laid plans of the defendant and his counsel.

Laid Low By Blow.

In the case of Maj. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, who asked the court to excuse him, the strategy of the defense achieved its victory. The record of the army veteran, one of the most outstanding in point of service and merit as well as seniority of rank was attacked.

He was described as an officer who "know practically nothing about aviation" and "hostile to Colonel Mitchell. The blow obviously hurt deep and caused the general to declare his inability to sit as a member of a court in trial of an officer who had attacked him personally.

First Down.

The first court member to be unseated was Brig. Gen. Albert J. Bowley, commanding officer of Fort Bragg, N. C. Colonel Mitchell, through his counsel, Rep. Frank R. Reid, of Illinois, challenged General Bowley's right to serve and gave, in support of his statement, that the general was prejudiced, biased and hostile, quotations from a speech he delivered at Greenville, N. C., several hours after his appointment to the court had been announced at Washington. His retirement was voted by the court.

Maj. Gen. Fred W. Sladen was the target for the one peremptory challenge the court martial law allows a defendant to file to which no argument is permitted. No reason was cited for the challenge of the West Point commandant and friends of the defendant explained there was no personal reflection intended.

Strict Disciplinarian.

The belief prevailed that the action was taken because General Sladen being responsible for the disciplinary instruction of all officers entering the army through West Point, he naturally is a firm disciplinarian and would not condone any statements by the cadets in his charge such as Colonel Mitchell admits he made at San Antonio, Texas, upon which his trial now is founded.

SANTREY AND ORCHESTRA AT THE MAJESTIC

Famed Musical Group Here Pleases Theatre Goers.

A performance that is easily the champion bill of the season thus far played to an appreciative audience at the Majestic theatre last night.

Henry Santrey's orchestra is a whole evening's entertainment in itself. It elevates jazz music far above its usual level and many of his selections depart from jazz altogether. Every member of his 12-piece orchestra has something individual to offer, but yet they work together harmoniously.

The Seymours.

Harry and Anna Seymour in Breezy Bits of Mirth and Melody aren't so slow either. Theirs is an offering that keeps the audience either laughing or applauding continuously with a harmonious mixture of singing, dancing and chatter. Anna Seymour has a winning personality and Harry has a good voice in addition to a prominent nose and Adam's apple.

Comedy Surprise.

Henry Santrey and Anna Seymour close the bill with a little comedy surprise. They put over a good line of jokes and chatter that are warmly appreciated.

Lewis and Norton present their skit in four hotel scenes. They have an original offering and make a hit.

The Melroy sisters strut their stuff. The regular bill was preceded by the Spotlights of Grantland Rice and Aesops Fables and followed by "Manhattan Madness" featuring Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor. There will be a matinee and evening performance today and Friday.

Danger Signals Of Indigestion

The Disease That Strikes Like Lightning

Beware of indigestion—the disease that kills more people and kills them quicker than any other. This warning, by physicians, is particularly applicable this season of the year, when your system needs all its healthy vigor to withstand colds, flu and other winter ills.

What are the warnings that nature gives you of the approach of indigestion? The medical books tells us: 1. Gas, which means that your food is fermenting instead of digesting. 2. A feeling of fullness or oppression in the region of the stomach after eating. This means that the gas has ballooned your stomach and is pressing up against your heart and lungs. 3. A dull lazy feeling, which means that you are not getting nourishment from what you are eating. 4. Restlessness, unrefreshing sleep, which means that the poisons of indigestion are distributing your brain and nerves. 5. Sometimes, pain and fluttering around the heart, though this symptom may come later.

Don't take chances with indigestion—you are too apt to lose. If you have had any of the symptoms mentioned above, get your digestive organs to work at once with Ferraline. Nature's great stomach treatment that has given relief to thousands. Ferraline immediately aids and assists every one of your digestive organs, including your stomach, liver and bowels. Ferraline makes your digestion "perfect and complete." You feel its helpful effect from the very first dose. Get a bottle of Ferraline today at any drug store. Ferraline is so much superior to any other remedy for indigestion that the owners have instructed every druggist to refund the purchase price, one dollar, if you do not get relief, so it costs you nothing if you are not delighted with results. Delay might be dangerous. Get Ferraline today from your druggist.—Adv.

More Truth Than Poetry

TOO LATE

Alone in a small, dingy office surrounded
By a town that is still in a half finished stage
For long weary years have I pounded and pounded
At typing out copy to print on this page.
And often, when almost I'd grasped at a notion
In which I imagined some merit might lurk,
Outside of my windows arose a commotion—
The rivet infernos had started to work.

Then the dreams that I cherished were shorn of their glamour,
The spirit of poesy shudder dand died.
My teeth went on edge with the clamouring hammer
That raged like a metal-tongued tempest outside.
And so, though for long I have nursed the ambition
To turn out a poem, profound and sublime—
I have had to give over that laudable mission,
And write stuff like this—which is nothing but rhyme.

But soon this metallic and nerve racking riot
That breaks up my thought waves will give way to peace.
Around me will breathe a calm heavenly quiet
The hideous banging and clanging will cease.
They've invented a means this rude clatter to smother
The din that once battered my brain will be drowned.
The rivet machine will give way to another,
And buildings will rise without ever a sound.

But vain, I am sure, shall I seek inspiration.
I know that I never great laurels can win.
Before I can start on my daily vacation
I shall sit here and wait for that noise to begin.
Without all the racket and blare to surround me,
In vain shall I pass a wan hand o'er my brow,
The silence will only perplex and confound me
And I'll miss that machine, for I'm used to it now!

BIFFO!

The dopesters received a sudden clout on the cauliflower the other day at utterance of E. J. Stewart, the doleful doctor of Longhorn grid destinies, who sallied out with the somewhat surprising statement: "My guess on the score of the Waco game (this week-end) would be Baylor 10; A. and M. 3!"

The Doc romped further into the realms of prognostication by explaining just how it will happen: "Baylor will get away with a touchdown on some fluke play that will give a shifty back a chance to get into an open field, and Jones will kick a field goal. I don't look for A. and M. to score a touchdown, but Hunt, the Aggies star goal kicker, is likely to boot the ball through if he gets close enough to the Baylor goal."

* * *

The Longhorn mentor, of course, knows the game well enough to give a fairly concise call on the dope. But if one would take Doc's declaration at face value, catechising it along with his numerous prognostications on the outcome of various games in which the Longhorns participated, one would feel assured in believing exactly the opposite.

* * *

Should Baylor really defeat the Farmers, and looking over the surprising performances of the Bears in the past such seems possible, that Fort Worth critic and dopester won't know which way to jump. He saw his hopes for an S. M. U. championship apparently go glimmering, then, as you know, shifted to the Farmers. Now should the Bears win, would Baylor be his choice or would he pick the winner of the Mustang-Varsity affair?

* * *

Mr. Stowe is persistent enough. If he has to keep hopping about until Thanksgiving day the chances are 50-50 he'll finally come out on top with a correct select'on of who's the conference champion.

As for the outcome of that S. M. U.-Texas affair, if the "discoveries" of Mr. Tucker down at Waco are correct there should be little doubt but that the Longhorns will conquer. Says Jinx: "Last year, S. M. U. was barely able to nose out Texas, 10 to 6. It was anybody's ball game. This year the S. M. U. team is 20 per cent weaker than it was last year, despite what some critics may say to the contrary, while Texas is 30 per cent stronger than it was last year, a fact agreed on by all critics even by Doc Stewart who as a rule does not agree with anything good said about his team prior to a game."

But It Doesn't Mean Anything?

Speaking of dope, and getting back home again, according to the statistics Monty's Junior high eleven is in for it Friday in the game with Brewster's Iowa Park club. Devol beat the Pups, 19 to 0. Iowa Park downed Devol, 24 to 7. In other words, Devol was a three-touchdown better club than the Pups, and Iowa Park three touchdowns better than Devol. So, if you would believe your figures the Hawks should down the Juniors by a six-touchdown margin.

Matty Matsuda and Jim Brown, both departed Wichita Falls yesterday, Matty heading for Mexico and Jim for Kansas City each to fill wrestling dates.

When Matsuda, the little Japanese welter cleared out, one of the most interesting figures in the wrestling game quit Wichita Falls sport circles. It is doubtful he will return, and if he does, not for several months. There isn't a welter in the world who can beat Matty. At last, such hasn't put in an appearance in recent years. The nearest to his class is Jack Reynolds, the Indiana claimant of the title. Matty lost once several years ago to Reynolds and then came back in later bouts to pin him on every meeting.

Matty today is heralded as the wisest matman in the game. Brown himself declared there isn't an athlete living who knows as much about the tricks of wrestling as does the Jap. There are others who will tell you the same. The Jap is the cleverest man to step on the canvas in the present day.

* * *

Though cold and calculating while on the canvas, cruel, even brutal to an extent, it can never be said Matty doesn't play square with his opponent, wrestle cleanly. We've followed the Nipponese, figuratively speaking, for several years through his mandrings about the country and have never yet heard of an opponent who after having cooled off and calmed down following a match with Matty simpered a wise crack about unfair tactics or uncalled for roughness.

And with it all, out of the ring, off the mat, Matty is a quite, unassuming, kind-hearted sort of chap. Doesn't have much to say, and with the traditional suavity and politeness of the Japanese falls into a rather inconspicuous role when in street clothes. Good-natured, quiet, and with an apparent feeling always for the other fellow first, Matty has won the close friendship of those few people of Wichita Falls with whom he came in contact for any length of time.

* * *

One point of interest, and unusual at that, was the manner in which that charity bout between Brown and Matsuda was staged Tuesday night. As was announced from the mat, both wrestlers, the referee, promoter, as well as door keepers paid the admission fee. And every cent went to the day nursery fund.

COYOTES AND INDIANS STILL BESET BY INJURIES AS THEY DRILL FOR WEEK-END GAMES

Pups Prime for Hawks—Vernon Almost Ready for Pack—Tigers All Set For Quanah Fest

The Coyotes practiced on Wednesday afternoon under the careful scrutiny of C. C. Frazee, assistant coach, while Bud McCallum was out of town. The club worked hard on the new plays for the Vernon game with the hope of upsetting the dope and crashing on to victory Saturday.

Morgan Gillum, injured guard, was on the field, yet out of uniform. He took part while the club ran signals, but this was the extent of his workout.

The Pack will depend a lot on the power of its backfield. Dempsey Moore, Ed Powell, Rowdy Curtin and Coyal Francis should form a powerful secondary defense. They in all probability will be the four to start the game. Buck Steed is another likely man to be used part of the game.

There is much doubt as to who will play in the line, but the linemen who are out at the present time due to injuries, may be back in shape by Saturday. In the line there will be one man who has his post cinched, Swede Wainscott. This big tackle is in the best of form, and ready to go. Wainscott stands out as about the best man in the line the Coyotes have had in many a season.

CLARY OUT OF TRIBE PRACTICE.

The Junior College Indians romped through a hard practice, made harder by the cold weather which forced the boys to hustle to keep warm. The tribe may have to go into the game this week with the north Texas Aggies minus their captain and center, John Clary. Clary was out of the practice Wednesday due to a rising on his nose. In both the last two games Clary has stopped a boot with the 'smeller' and the rising set in later.

James Gonce, who went away from practice ill Tuesday, was again among the missing Wednesday. Barker Chunn is also out of the game with a cracked ankle, and may be out for some time. Dummy Deems and Steve West were also missing from the practice.

The Redskins are working hard on some new plays they have been given for the north Texas game, and have been showing much better team work than they have been in the past. They are catching on to them quicker and with better results that they have the new plays in the past.

The work of Skinny Crites is being watched closely byt he fans who go out every day to the practice field. Crites has been punting with consistent distance for some time, and with him in the backfield he has been showing up as a ball carrier.

Doyle Stephenson iss till finding his holes in the line and ploughing through for gains. Stephenson first broke into the limelight in the Quanah game and is looming as a possible star in the north Texas Aggie tiff.

MONTY STILL SHIFTS PUPS.

Coach Montgomery has continued shifting his Junior high players in an effort to get them in shape to present a winning team at Iowa Park Friday afternoon. His latest changes on the club are the shifting of Captain "Hunky" Farris from the backfield to the line on the defense, and Pete Powell, star guard, to the backfield on the defense. Powell has been showing all year at the defensive back Backing up the line seems to come natural to this youngster. The other changes were reshifting Babe Anderson back to end from quarterback. Red Nichols has been taken from center to tackle. Floyd Herndon goes from end to center. Berry has been shifted from tackle to end.

Davenport and Tandy have been making great showings at guard for the past few days, and are likely to see service in the game. Ben Mix, guard, is putting in overtime at the school, and is not in the practice session. Bill Stevens, end, is out of the practice due to a rising on his forehead. Ross Holstead, tackle, has checked in his uniform and quit.

The club romped through a hard workout Wednesday afternoon running signals and scrimmaging. The club is expecting to be in the top of condition for the game with the Hawks and the Pups will be in there fighting for every break that comes their way.

Lions Work on Coyote Plays

Tuesday afternoon the Lions went through a short scrimmage, the first the squad has engaged in in more than a week. The second string scrimmage against the first squad, using the plays that the Coyotes used earlier in the season. Both Crouch and Ryan were in the first string line-up, although Crouch was plainly being favored.

Baggett is still building his offensive attack mainly with off-tackle plays, although a few passes are thrown, with Crouch and Ryan back in the line-up. the backfield appears to have its driving strength which was displayed early in the year, but which has been absent in the last two games

Coach Baggett announced that he will forgo scrimmage during the greater part of this week, as the danger of injuring some of the regulars is too great. Without other injuries turn up, the Lions will go on the gridiron against the Coyotes Saturday in full strength. Only one man on the entire squad is injured enough to be slowed down, and that one has been used throughout the year as a substitute player.

With the regulars working together again, the practice sessions are no longer interesting, as the first string literally runs over the second string. All appearance at present indicate that Coach Baggett will be able to place the strongest combination of the year on the field Saturday.

Reese Issues Call for 1926 Material

The Tigers were sent through a brisk workout at Electra Tuesday afternoon in preparation for their clash with the Quanah Indians. The first teams saw no scrimmage but they worked until well after dark on signals as a number of reserve men have been placed in the backfield, Bob Moore was replaced by Louis Kentat half, John Louie Wright was found at full in place of Dell Colledge who has took Ralph Turner's post at tackle and Turner took Sanderlin's end as Sanderlain is out with an injured shoulder. Lendon Smith was found at Vincent Trammill's halfback position and Trammil replaced Wright at quarter of the second team. Johnie Lebus was directing the squad at quparter. All of these backfield men are eligible for next year and the Tiger mentors are giving the veterans a back seat and spending most of their time with those that are to carry the high school colors in 1926.

Reese has issued a call for boys in the high school who are eligible for next year to come out for practice and get the training. Tuesday found a few new faces but more are expected the latter part of this week and next week. Reese announced that there would be a "Brave and Warrior" game on the athletic field each week between the eligibles and the ineligibles. Frank Stephens and Gerald Gillum have been showing up well this year but are ineligible for play but are expected to add power to next year's eleven.

Tickets for Friday's game, which will start at 3:45, went on sale Wednesday at the schools for 25c to students and will be on sale until Friday night, but all tickets at the gate will be 50c according to E. E. Rogers, business maunger of the team. Coaches Reese and Coke made short talks to the high school student body Tuesday urging the students to continue to support the team although they were out of the title running.

Injuries Handicap Olney Crew

the Jacksboro club Saturday for the second tmie this year. Some time back they captured a 6 to 0 contest from Jacksboro. The club took a week's layoff for the benefit of the injured players.

Hill's men are not in the best of condition yet, and should they win Saturday Coach Hill thinks they will be lucky. His lineup will be weak in the coming game. Those men who were injured before and were improving came out Monday, onlyB to have them re-injured in a hard scrimmage. It is very likely that his first stringers won't be in the starting lineup, should they get in the game at all.

Watkins, fullback, is out, and one of the halves has been moved into his position, which makes the backfield wear. Barclay, the big tackle. Wells, fighting right guard, and West, right end, are out. This is a great disadvantage to the team, but the coach is working other men as fast as possible to fill their places, which will be hard to do.

Otherwise the team is in first class condition, but none can tell what else will happen before the week of hard practice is over. The next few days have a hard schedule for the practice.

Hill has his schedule practically completed and six games are being arranged, the last of which will be a post season game with Graham from the present outlook.

Frederick Mentor To Join Wolverines

FREDERICK, Oct. 28.—An announcement has come which Frederick athletic fans have long feared, that Coach Clifford Keen of the Frederick high school was to be called to a much better and more remunerative position, he being of too high a coaching caliber for a city as small as Frederick. Keen has been summoned to the staff of Fielding H. Yost at Michigan university to take the position of head wrestling coach, and will leave Frederick December 1 to take up his new duties in the northern school. He intends to wind up a meteroic football season here.

Keen's success i nFrederick has been phenomenal and fans here view with glad, yet heavy hearts, the removal of "Cliff."

CONCERNING SPORTS

When steamboats sailed the Mississipp'
When forty-niners travelled west—
The gambler wore a high black hat—
Wore spotless boots—a fancy vest:
Gone are the Oakhursts Harte once drew—
Ended the river gambler's rule—
The sure-shot gents on corners stand
To frame a game of Kelly pool.

Reform stepped in with iron hand—
And slammed the lords of chance it saw—
The high black hats—the waistcoat styles
Went out when in there stepped the law:
But lamping tin-horn sports today—
Who can not weave the Oakhurst spell,
One thinks of law and order and
Still wonder if they did so well.

Old timers frequently try to tell you why Penn and Yale broke off grid relations back in the dark ages. Penn did not win a contest from Yale between 1879 and 1893 and that ought to have been reason enough for Penn.

Interesting—But Not True.

THE American Boxing association in convention assembled has decided to recognize Jack Dempsey officially as the heavyweight boxing champion but adds that he must defend his title every six months or forfeit it.

The association was formed some years back with an idea of reducing the highly profitable chaos of fistiana, especially of the heavy-weight sector, to an orderly and less return making profession. The idea was good. But the excellent theory has degenerated into a very unsatisfactory practice, partially because not all of the states legalize boxing, more because mutual jealousy prevents those that do working together.

Consequently, the judgment of the ABA on the heavyweight reign of the present champion is interesting, but does not amount to anything.

The trouble is that nothing except a knockout or a referee's decision can terminate the heavyweight championship. You can shuffle the cards for many other weights, but not this one.

Suppose that six months from now, the ABA declared the Dempsey throne vacant and recognized two contenders. While they were fighting out the decision, Dempsey would be packing Rickard's new arena with a million dollar gate for a real title fight.

The citizen and his dollar make the champion.

Meanwhile one can settle on the simplest job in the world—publicity agent for a heavyweight champion.

He never has to take his feet off the parlor stove as four news services and 100,891 newspapers are trying to do his work for him.

Not Where There's a Draft.

"OWNING a minor league ball club is one of the new things that will give any gold mine a battle," opines Brother Grantland Rice. And then cites some five instances to prove his point of minor league stars who have brought prices ranging from $20,000 to $150,000.

Brother Rice overlooks one point. Not one of the cases instanced arose in a minor league subject to the draft. And while there may have been one or two cases where a player in a draft league has brought $20,000, there are none where the purchase price is much higher. The only $20,000 case one can think of offhand is that of Hafey of Houston.

This is the reason the mass of thinking minor league owners are opposed to the draft. Few players graduate under it. It is only a threat to force a sale at prices lower than are paid where the draft does not exist.

But on the other side is the player's viewpoint. He is not participating in the sale price although it is his services that are being sold. He favors the draft.

At Heaven's gate the shivering soul poured out his tale of sin.
But said, "I never tried to dope it teams would lose or win."
St. Peter opened up the gate and led that soul within.

How Will It Apply?

THERE is a phase of the "tramp athlete" rule which became effective in the Southwestern conference this fall and makes transfers ineligible next year, that should be clarified, before it becomes a disputed point.

That is, if player A matriculates at Baylor and the next year attends S. M. U., but later returns to Baylor, whether or not he is eligible to play at Baylor.

D. X. Bible, the Aggies head coach, is of the opinion he should be. And the grounds he advances are quite logical; since under the tramp rule, the player would never be eligible to compete at S. M. U., he should be eligible at the school of his original matriculation. This seems only fair yet if the strict letter of the rule is observed, unless passed on for interpretation in advance of the question, the player might be ruled ineligible.

Some conference coaches think the tramp rule will not last long. But it is a good rule and works a hardship on only a minimum number of players.

Longhorn Work With St. Edwards

AUSTIN, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The Texas Longhorns worked out with St. Edward's university squad today. Aerial attacks and defense were practiced, indicating that the university boys will use the forward pass extensively in the tilt with Southern Methodist University Mustangs Saturday.

All the Texas Longhorns are in tip-top condition. Max Saxon, who has been suffering from injuries, is reported to be in the best condition since early in the season.

Coach Doc Stewart is expected to uncover more stuff against S. M. U. than in any game in the season. Because of the lightweight of his team he probably will continue his systematic shifting of players, as has been noted in the previous games, especially in the Rice tilt.

Seymour Plays Burk to 0-0 Score

For the second time in a row the Burkburnett Bulldogs and Seymour high school battled to a 0 to 0 tie Wednesday afternoon on the Seymour gridiron. It was a game carried over from Burkburnett where they battled to their first scoreless deadlock.

Both clubs used straight football throughout the game and this netted them very little. Seymour managed to make more first downs than the Bulldogs, but first downs meant nothing in the way of scoring the winning punch.

TRADITIONAL GRID RIVALRIES BLOSSOM OUT IN SATURDAY GAMES OF EASTERN SECTOR

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Football rivalries that go back into the more or less dim past of the game will bloom forth in their 1925 rivals this Saturday in four of the contests that hold the interest of eastern fans.

THere is no traditional color connected with the outstanding two intersectional clashes of the week. Those involving Michigan-Navy and Pennsylvania-Illinois, but there is a wealth of background to the contests that bring together Army and Yale at New Haven, Cornell and Columbia at the Polo Grounds and Dartmouth and Brown at Providence. In addition there is the renewal of the dispute between two old New England schools, Trinity and Wesleyan which goes back to 1885.

Yale holds a big edge over the Army in their series of gridiron conflicts started in 1893, but the Mule is primed for revenge on the Bulldog this week with more than a fair chance of gaining it, in the opinion of many critics. Not since 1911 when the Army won by 6 to 0, have the Cadets raised the victory cheer at New Haven.

Dartmouth An Edge.

In 24 previous games Yale has won 15, the Army 3, while six battles including that of 1924, have ended in ties.

Dartmouth dates its warfare with Brown back to 1894 and the big green eleven acknowledged to be among the most powerful in the east this year is out to square the count with the Brunonians, who have won ten and lost nine games so far in the series between the two New England rivals.

Brown has not been victorious since 1919, but up to that time with the exception of a five-year winning streak by Dartmouth from 1901 to 1905, inclusive, the Providence outfit had things pretty well its own way.

Columbia has not beaten Cornell since 1905, the year before the game was dropped here, but Coach Charley Crowley's proteges are conceded a good chance of breaking the spell this week. Columbia undoubtedly has the best eleven it has produced since reviving football. It met defeat at the hands of Ohio State, but with Captain George Pease back in the game directing play, the New Yorkers should give a strenuous tussle to the up-staters who have run rough-shod over all opposition so far with an outfit much improved over that of 1924.

Cornell vs. Columbia.

Last year Cornell beat Columbia 14 to 0 in the latter's first game after the sudden death of Coach Percy Haughton. Cornell has won five straight from Columbia and altogether, since 1889, has won nine out of 12 contests.

Preparing for their own historical struggle the following week, Princeton and Harvard, rallying from setbacks last Saturday should have comparatively little trouble taking the measure of Swarthmore and William and Mary, respectively, this week.

In other contests which hold unusual interest, although they lack ancient background, Syracuse will try to keep its goal line inviolate against Penn State; Colgate goes west in search of intersectional conquest at the expense o the Michigan Aggies; West Virginia battles Washington and Lee, while four unconquered outfits are involved in the Holy Cross-Bucknell and Fordham-New York university tilts.

1 DOZEN SHORTS

NOTHING UNORTHODOX IN THOSE BETS PLACED BY THE DALLAS WAGERING LADS THAT WRIGHT AND SAXON WILL BE COOL-COCKED IN QUICK ORDER SATURDAY BY MUSTANG GRIDSTERS. THAT'S THE OBJECTIVE IN FOOTBALL ISN'T IT? KILL 'EM QUICK AND GET 'EM OUT OF THERE!

If the portly Doc Stewart had weighed in with his team there would be little doubt left but that the Longhorns are the heaviest in the conference all right, all right.

THAT'S SETTLED.

S. M. U. scouts who saw Texas in action against Rice the other day say the Mustangs will win. But surely their views should be discounted, for the volatile (that's correct) Mr. Jinx Tucker declares the varsity two touchdowns better team.

HARD OLD WINTER.

"Is our city long
Old Chap, I say?
We spent a week here
Just yesterday."

DEGENERATED.

"Sentinels With Fixed Bayonets Guard Dempsey." And to think he used to take such ample care of himself they tacked on him the sobriquet, "tiger of the ring."

DITTO!

The great Mr. Ruth declares he has been "the sappiest of saps," whereupon Mr. Meyer, our noble city ed, slyly ups and avers: "and the rest of the world agrees with him."

Baseball writers of the east object strenuously to practice of major league stars lending their names to world series articles. Sure, we shout, let the poor slaving scribes hang onto some of that easy coin.

Another example of brains versus brawn, Matsuda on the mat with Brown.

The citizens of Manassa, Colo., have a peculiar sense of humor. They've named a high school after J. Dempsey.

Connie Mack purchased the May brothers, pitchers of Stanton, Va., to which transaction there is only one drawback. He can get only one of them on the hurling mound at once.

Mr. E. G. Hill, that well known sporting gentleman, is desirous to learn "what kind of a fight in this Wills-Johnson think! They shove him in there and start waving the towel!" Now that that's all ironed out let us—

And yet some would slur the multitudinous moves of the wrestling trust's round robin.

Vegetable Growers Meet at Iowa Park to Organize Truck Association In Wichita Irrigated Valley

WILL EMPLOY MARKET MAN FOR RAISERS

Farmers and Business Men Indorse New Project

IOWA PARK, Oct. 28.—Leading farmers, business men of Iowa Park and some of the land owners of the Wichita Valley irigated district met Tuesday night in Iowa Park for the purpose of organizing a vegetable growers association.

Expert Aids Plan.

N. O. Beeman, an expert vegetable growing and market man from Fort Worth is here helping organize othe club. He, with help of the farmers and business men of Iowa Park are now canvassing the people of this section to raise funds to secure the services of an expert vegetable and market man. He will serve as counsel for each farmer in the valley, and assist in planting and marketing of crops.

Had Good Crops.

There was quite a deal of truck farming in the valley this past summer but not having a market the crop was not handled as it should have been. By having an expert market man these vegetable crops can be cared for, under the direction of some organization. The second meeting of the club will be held in Iowa Park next week.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The cotton market was fairly active today and during the first hour of trading prices advanced owing to the freezing weather over the northwestern belt. After an advance of 21 to 32 points the market turned easier on the claim that the freeze had done no serious harm but would do some good by prematurely opening many bolls. By noon practically all the early gain was lost and although the market showed a disposition to rally at times, it turned easy again in the afternoon and was at one time 9 to 10 points below the previous close. The close was at net losses for the day of three to six points.

The opening was irregularly higher, the first trade in December showing a gain of 27 points while later months gained only 16 to 18 points. The market continued to gain although a rather more favorable weekly weather and crop report than expected caused a moderate reaction. By the end of the first hour December traded up to 19.70 or 32 points above yesterday's close. The market then eased off and continued on the down grade with occasional rallies under pressure of liquidation and hedge selling until near the end. The close was a little up from the lows. The market was helped at the end by fears of further freezing temperature tonight.

Exports for the day totaled 10,841 bales.

IRRIGATION

Non-Irrigable Land.

Many land owners have the idea that land must be level or at best have a very gentle slope if it is to be irrigated. Any land that has a good fall or that is rolling they consider as being unsuited for irrigation farming.

No doubt many land owners along the Holliday lateral who are now signing up for admittance to the irrigation district are figuring that only the level lands should be included.

This is a mistake. Land with a slope irrigates better than flat land. A good slope is desirable.

Rolling land provided it has a good general slope is easy to handle under irrigation. Therefore they should include rolling land in their application to the district.

The most difficult kind of land to prepare for irrigation and to irrigate without a great deal of preparation is land with a flat general slope and covered with bumps and ridges from a foot to six inches high.

It is a good idea to put in all the land you have unless it is rocky or located in a badly washed and eroded creek bottom.

Water is a valuable commodity and in a few years more land without water in this country will command a very low price compared to irrigated land.

It will be just too bad for you not to have water for all of your land when there is no more water to be sold.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Fortified by a series of constructive dividend developments, speculators for the advance again assumed control of the price situation in today's stock market after successfully combatting another large volume of profit taking and bear selling which brought about a temporary interval of heaviness during the morning. Total sales exceeded 3,000,000 shares for the 13th consecutive full session with expanding public participation denoted by the substantial increase in 100 share lots.

The day's dividend developments included an extra of $1 a share of American Tobacco stocks with an increase in the regular rate for '87 to $8; resumption of dividend developments on Barnsdall "A" and "B" an extra on American bank note and increased rates on Kelvinator and American stores. Other favorable developments included reports of expanding steel operations and record breaking chain store sales.

Motors were again the sensation of the market, Chrysler, which sold as low as 108¼ earlier in the year, was pushed up 11½ points to a new high record at 231¼. General Motors, which earned over $5 a share on the common stock in the third quarter climbed over three points to a new high record at 138⅛. Mack Trucks closed nearly three points higher at 227½.

Gulf States Steel was run up over seven points to 93½, closing a point below the top but the other members of that group lost ground on profit taking. U. S. Steel common closed fractionally lower at 128⅝.

Spectacular advances again took place in a number of the so-called "rich men's stocks." General Electric soared 18 points to 318½, closing within a point of the top; Woolworth jumped nearly 10 points tos new high record at 313⅝; General Railway Signal and United Drug climbed over eight points each to new tops at 385 and 162 respectively.

Foundation company was bid up over three points to a new high record at 165

Rails were again rather quiet, although Bangor and Aroostook moved up one point to another high record at 55. Pittsburgh and West Virginia fell back over two points.

Call money renewed at 4½ per cent and again advanced to five, with interior banks reported to be withdrawing funds in anticipation of month-end settlements. Time money rates softened slightly, some of the lowest dated being available at 4¾ per cent with 4¾ per cent the ruling rate for the shorter maturities. Prime commercial paper held steady at 4¼ to 4½ per cent.

Trading in foreign exchanges quieted down with reactionary tendencies prevailing. Demand sterling ruled about ¼c lower around $4.84 7-16 and French francs sagged a few points to around 4.15½ cents.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Heavy selling to realize profits in the wheat market late today wiped out most of an earlier sharp advance in prices. The temporary bulge in values was due more or less to active purchasing on the part of speculators who previously had been on the selling side of the market. Wheat closed unsettled at ⅝c net decline to ⅛c gain, new style, December $1.49⅝ to $1.49½ and May $1.46 to $1.46⅝, with corn unchanged to ⅛c higher, oats ⅛ to ⅝c off and provisions varying from 20c decline to a rise of 12c.

Corn and oats governed almost entirely by the action of wheat. Provisions responded more to the course of grain values than to developments in the hog market.

Farm and Rail Men In Same Boat, He Says

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The farmers is in thesame predicament as the railroads, higher gross income but lower net income, it was admitted today by David Friday, railroad economist and former president of the Michigan Agricultural college, in cross examination on the western railroads' appeal for a freight rate increase.

He also admitted in a recent prediction of a rise in hog prices to $15 they had gone farther than the actual rise in his forecast.

BUSINESS IS BETTER

DALLAS, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The aftermath of drouth is the only "fly in the ointment" with which prosperity is anointing Texas in the latter days of August the Federal Reserve bank of Dallas, in its monthly business review, released today declared that the only off-set to an excellent business showing is the slow condition in the dry areas. Even this circumstances has been exaggerated, the review said, and conditions are becoming more active than had been expected. Increase in the distribution of wholesale merchandise has brought a more optimistic feeling in trade circles, enchanced by reports of large scale buying in sections outside the drouth area.

THE DELEGATES TO THE

We want you, and home folks, too, to come in and let us demonstrate the

One Profit Car

THERE was a time when the automobile buyer seeking greatest value for his dollar was justified in considering a car of second-grade quality which was reasonably satisfactory from the standpoint of transportation alone.

But with the advent of Studebaker's One-Profit manufacturing policy, cars of the finest quality, such as the Standard Six Sedan illustrated below, are now only slightly higher in price than those of second grade.

This small difference in price is practically nothing in comparison to the vast difference in materials and workmanship—plus increased pride of ownership and the extra service that a Studebaker gives.

Under this One-Profit system we build in our own plants all bodies, engines, clutches gears, differentials, springs, gear sets, axles, gray iron castings and drop forgings. Thus we eliminate extra profits and overhead that all other manufacturers (except Ford) must pay to outside parts and body makers—and what we save goes to the buyers of Studebaker cars.

And because we have facilities for manufacturing all vital parts on this One-Profit basis, we are able to design, engineer and build every Studebaker car as a complete harmonious unit. Being Unit-Built the Studebaker functions as a unit—with all the advantages of unit over assembled construction.

The result is years longer life—scores of thousands of miles of excess transportation—greater riding comfort—minimum repair costs—and, finally higher resale value.
