(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, Nov. 13.—With $473,000 the first installment of the money the Federal Farm Board will advance to Texas cotton growers, already in a Dallas bank farm relief seemed an accomplished fact tonight.

Officers of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association, which will represent the Farm Board in distributing the money to farmers, were informed that the money was on deposit in a Dallas bank this afternoon.

Head In Washington.

Harry Williams, president of the association, remained in Washington today carrying on further negotiations with the Farm Board in order that more funds may be made available for Texas if needed. The board announced last night that it was allocating $2,000,000 to the Texas cotton growers. The installment received today was supposed to be a portion of that fund.

Lynn Stokes of Ballinger, president of the pool, said tonight that the association marketing contract had been modified to include more liberal withdrawal features.

He said that requests had been received by mail, telegraph and telephone in large numbers from men who were ready to ship their cot-

The trial was held secretly here during the annual Northwest Texas Conference convocation.

The Rev. Scroggins was indicted before Presiding Elder J. H. Hamblen of Stamford when the charges were made. The jury of ministers tonight accepted his denial. Dr. J. W. Hunt of Abilene headed the defense which alleged that the charges were "framed-up."

Sing Sing Prison Conspiracy Bared By Pen Officials

Highly-Organized Plan For Delivery Of Over 2,000 Inmates Nipped; Leaders In Solitary Confinement

(By Associate Press)

OSSINING, Nov. — — A highly-organized conspiracy, designed almost scientifically, by prisoners for a whole delivery of Sing Sing prison's 2,000 inmates was revealed today by authorities who said the ring leaders had been lodged in solitary confinement.

A week ago prison officials obtained a tip to the plot, and each day since have frisked inmates and searched every cell until they learned that under the direction of seven convicts — at least one of them a killer—a scheme had been effected to smuggle weapons into a cell block. A search is being made for a gun.

Had the plot succeeded, prison authorities indicated, a re-enactment of the bloody riots of Auburn, Dannemore and Canon City, Colo., probably would have resulted. Some one talked, however, and while keepers under Warden Lewis E. Lawes kept a close watch on known unruly prisoners, an intense alertness was maintained which resulted in the transfer of one convict to another prison and the lodging of six in solitary confinement. An unidentified trio of the sextet have been released from solitary, but the remaining three are under constant guard.

CONDITION UNCHANGED

One Of Accident Victims Reported Near Death

According to reports last night from the Lubbock sanitarium, the condition of two men, who were critically injured in an automobile wreck near Roundup, is unchanged and slight hopes are held for the recovery of Walter Breedlove. The other injured man, A. L. Patterson, is also in a very serious condition.

Breedlove suffers a fracture at the base of his skull, a fractured shoulder and minor lacerations about the face. Patterson has a fractured scapula, fractured bones in the right wrist, a broken nose and severe lacerations about the face and head.

The accident, in which the men were injured, occurred when the car in which they were riding overturned after striking a heavily loaded truck. They were rushed to this city for emergency treatment.

Fathers And Sons To Hold Spotlight In Annual Affair

County-Wide Banquet To Be Held In Tech Gymnasium Tuesday Night For Dads And Lads Of Section

Fathers and sons of Lubbock county will hold the spotlight of public attention next Tuesday night at 7 o'clock when they meet at the Texas Tech gymnasium for the second annual county-wide Father and Son banquet, according to an announcement last night by George Dupree, general chairman of the movement.

"We expect to have at least 2,000 boys gather for the banquet," said Mr. Dupree. "An effort will be made during the next few days to have every community in this county informed of the coming event and we want it well understood that every boy and his father is urged to be present at this annual gathering."

Sutton To Talk

Dr. W. A. Sutton, well known speaker on boys' work, will deliver the principal address of the evening. Other entertainment features are being planned. The Lubbock High school band will be much in evidence and group singing games, etc., will be the order.

"Boys who have no fathers are just as welcome as those who have," the chairman emphasized. "The main idea of the meeting is to have the boys there and this is one time of the year when the future business men of our county will be honor guests."

Grant Chairman

Homer Grant was elected chairman of a committee to find men who will carry boys without fathers. Superintendent M. H. Duncan, through the schools, will report the names of such boys and urge them to be present. "We want all these boys to be at the court house at 6:15 o'clock Tuesday evening," said Mr. Grant. "We will have tickets for them and transportation. All they have to do is just be there."

A meeting was held last night in the office of Mr. Dupree and was

Stock Exchange Officials Start Investigation Of Third Successive Drop In Wall Street Values

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL
Associated Press Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. (AP)—Prices on the New York securities market sank to new low levels for the third successive session today as stock exchange authorities began an inquiry to determine if possible the character and source of the relentless flood of selling which has washed away many billions of dollars in quoted values in the last few weeks.

Net declines on the New York stock exchange ranged from $1 to $29 a share, although only a sprinkling of the high grade issues showed losses of more than $10. On the New York curb, the losses in active issues ranged from $1 to $16, with a few high priced specialties down $20 to $80 a share.

Trading Heavy.

Trading was in enormous volume. Sales on the New York stock exchange totaled 7,761,450 shares, and

Completion Expected Within Next Four Or Five Months

ACTUAL construction work on the $212,467 Avenue H underpass, to be constructed by the City of Lubbock and the Santa Fe railroad, was started Wednesday and, if favorable weather prevails, probably will be completed within the next four or five months.

The city has posted detour signs on each side of the railroad and crossings must be made at the Broadway underpass on Avenue M through "Little Juarez" or on College Avenue. A sign has been placed at every turn so that traffic will not find it difficult for directions.

Contract Was Let.

Contract for construction of the underpass was let on Ocober 7 to the Panhandle Construction company of this city. Bid on the project was $212,467.10. This figure includes a $48,000 estimate on work to be done by the Santa Fe under the tracks and steel work supporting the tracks above the subway.

The new underpass will be 971 feet long, according to the plans prepared by the engineering department of the Santa Fe, as compared with the Broadway structure of 1,040 feet.

Storm sewer in the subway will be 21 inches in diameter to care for possible drainage into it. It will run from the subway to the canyon, north of the city. Apart from this sewer another will be built to care for drainage north of Main street between College Avenue and Avenue J, which will be 78 inches in diameter.

Mrs. Mary Stahl Given Two Years For Aiding Break

"Guilty" Verdict Returned In Trial Of Local Woman Charged In Helping Kizer To Escape From Jail

Mrs. Mary Stahl must serve two years in the state penitentiary, according to a verdict handed down yesterday afternoon by a jury in the 72nd district court, before Judge Homer L. Pharr.

Mrs. Stahl was charged by grand jury indictment with aiding a prisoner to escape in connection with the jail break of Leroy Kizer, alias J. B. Brown, and Mrs. Bessie Phillips.

Deliberation Short

The case went to the jury Wednesday at 6 o'clock and after a deliberation of 40 minutes the verdict of guilty was rendered.

Kizer, found guilty of robbery with firearms, was sentenced Tuesday to seven years in the penitentiary.

Several state witnesses were placed on the stand during the course of the afternoon. Will Ernest, deputy sheriff and jailer, testified that on Wednesday before the jail break occurred the following Friday, that Mrs. Stahl visited Kizer at the Lubbock county jail. The jailer said that he did not, however, see the WAXAHACHIE, Nov. 13. —Cleve Griffin of El Paso was convicted of murder by a jury here tonight which recommended that he be sentenced to 99 years in prison for the slaying last May of his father-in-law, Grant Swafford of Avalon.

Griffin took the verdict calmly, but his wife, daughter of the slain man and his daughter Mildred wept at the announcement. The jury had been out an hour and it was understood that it had taken four ballots.

New Trial Sought

Defense attorneys announced that they would seek a new trial and that if this motion was denied they would take the case to the higher courts. Two days are allowed for filing motions.

Swafford was shot in a road a short distance from Avalon and died in a hospital at Ennis a few hours later. Griffin, who is crippled, has been in the county jail here since the tragedy.

Local Man and Wife Are Presented With Expensive Gifts

(By Associated Press)

PAMPA, Nov. 13.—Presiding Elder D. B. Doak of the Lubbock district, who retires this year, was honored here today soon after the opening of the Northwest Texas Conference of the Methodist church when he was presented an expensive Bible and eulogized by Dr. B. W. Dodson of Brownwood. Mr. and Mrs. Doak were called to the platform for the presentation, Mrs. Doak receiving $30 in gold.

Cal C. Wright of Baird was re-elected secretary of the conference.

Plea For Co-operation

In opening the five day conference Bishop John M. Moore of Dallas made a plea for interdenominational co-operation and declared "the day of the denominational bully had passed."

Dr. C. E. Goddard, secretary of foreign missions from Nashville, Tenn., told the conference Methodism was in a solvent condition generally and that "the great commission" was really being carried out.

Progress Reported

District reports by presiding elders showed progress during the last fiscal year. Presiding Elder W. M. Murrell of Clarendon reported that his district reported all conference claims paid in full. Tonight the missionary society of the local church presented a pageant, "The Challenge of the Cross," and Dr. Goddard spoke.

Friends Express Fear For Recovery Of Secretary Of War; Under Knife For More Than Hour

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. —(AP)—James W. Good, secretary of war, was in a critical condition at Walter Reed hospital tonight after an emergency appendicitis operation from which close friends feared he would not recover.

Some hope was being held, however, on the basis of physicians' reports that his pulse and blood pressure seemed favorable and that he was resting fairly well. "Very serious" was the way the White House described his condition.

Excision Difficult

For more than an hour the 62-year-old cabinet member was on the operating table. Staff surgeons said gangrene had set in and the excision was unusually difficult because of the low position of the appendix.

Anxiety over Good's condition was apparent at the White House and President Hoover kept advised. Lieutenant Commander Joel T. Boone, personal physician to the president,

No Action Taken By Commissioners Following All-Day Session On Plan For County-Wide Highway Election

It Wasn't That Kind of a Cat

DALLAS, Nov. 13. (AP) — Barnett Crockett, 25, went to emergency hospital today to have a bitten finger treated. The busy attendant to make conversation, asked what bit him.

"My pet," the young man answered. Well, pets often do that, thought Dr. E. C. Lyon. "What sort of pet do you have?" asked the doctor. "A cat," Crocket answered.

So far so good. Dr. Lyon liked cats. What kind of a cat?

"A polecat," was the astounding reply.

Crockett went away in a huff when Dr. Lyon suggested the "cat" be killed and examined as a possible disease carrier.

State Highway Commission Is Charged With Failure To Keep Agreement With Lubbock County Citizens

A CONTINUANCE of the hearing on whether or not an election will be called in road district number two, for the purpose of voting on bonds totalling $1,025,000 to pave state and federal highways in the district, will start at 9 o'clock this morning before the Lubbock county commissioners' court. An all-day session yesterday failed to provide sufficient time for all witnesses to be heard, a recess coming at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the hearing having opened at 10 in the morning.

It is possible that the hearing will be completed by noon as there are only about half a dozen more witnesses to testify.

May Call Election

The commissioners may either continue the hearing from day to day, call the election in road district number two, or call a county-wide election on either of two proposals before them contained in two other petitions. One of these petitions calls for paving of highways 7 and 9 through the country and of 53 from Lubbock to the east county line, while the other asks for only highways 7 and 9.

Witnesses testifying Wednesday included Charles F. O'Neall, chairman of the Lubbock County Good Roads association; J. H. Hankins,

Special Election For City Dads At Borger Is Denied

Judge Refuses To Permit Vote Asked In Petitions Of Citizens; Attorneys Consider Next Moves

(By Associated Press)

STINNETT, Nov. 13.—Defeated in their initial effort for a special election to select two city commissioners to supplant two named during martial law rule in this county, attorneys for more than 200 Borger citizens today considered other methods.

In a signed statement Judge H. M. Hood held the commissioners were legally appointed, and refused to grant an election as requested in a petition signed by 212 residents of that city.

Fight Just Begun

"The fight is just begun," was the way the attitude of the petitioners was described by H. E. Hoover, Borger attorney. "We are going to see if the city of Borger is entitled to local self-government or whether it is excepted from a provision of the contitution of Texas," he added.

It was indicated an appeal would be made to the county commission, and if favorable action was not secured from this agency the matter would be passed along to the district court and the civil courts of appeal. One member of the county commission was said to have stated he would not sign the petition.

Bandit Gang Denied $85,000 Payroll After Tying Up Guards, Blowing Safe

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.— A gigantic safe in the naval supply department in Brooklyn withstood for five hours today numerous charges of high explosives, set off by a bandit gang who sought a $85,000 payroll locked within.

The bandits had tied up the six base guards, all but two of them civilians, and locked them in their own "brig" but the massive doors on the safe stubbornly resisted the drills and nitroglycerine. With approaching dawn and a change of guards the bandits were forced to flee, unsuccessful in their quest for the loot.

The raid on the naval base was skillfully executed.

Coolly and deliberately the raiders went about their business, overpowering one by one the six guards about the buildings. Each guard was securely bound and locked in the base jail. A marine policeman who dropped in for a chat with the guards fell into the hands of the raiders.

None of the victims was harmed except one who was hit on the head with a pistol butt when he offered resistance.

King Winter Holds Sway In Lubbock As Temperature Drops to 24 Degrees

FOLLOWING its lowest drop of the year to 24 degrees early Wednesday morning, the mercury in Lubbock yesterday rose slightly during the day and stood at 32 degrees early in the afternoon.

Government forecasts to the Morning Avalanche attributed the cold weather to a high pressure area over Nevada which sent stiff chilly winds and biting rains down across the state from the Panhandle to the Gulf. Promise of relief, however, was made, but in many localities the coldest weather was still in prospect for last night.

Despite sub-freezing temperatures in several sections, none of the score or more reporting indicated that crops had been damages or livestock endangered. Some, on the contrary, hailed the cold snap as a benefit.

At Amarillo, where the mercury stood twelve points below freezing Tuesday night and stayed a point below all day Wednesday, farmers said the cold spell would prove beneficial to wheat.

Rains, generally an unwelcome companion to Tuesday's high wind and cold, had lifted in most cities Wednesday although a drizzle fell in some localities over the state.

WHEN THE CHEAP CAR SETS THE PACE

YOUR car may not be the best on hills, but you'll pass a lot of the best ones when you have -TP- in the crank-case. A cheap car with a perfectly lubricated engine will run by many an aristocrat of the road that is grinding away on broken-down oil.

-TP- Aero Oils are produced from pure, paraffine-base crude by a process for which patents are pending.

This process preserves all the lubricating bodies of the crude oil just as they occur in nature, eliminates the necessity for blending light and heavy oils to produce various grades, and it positively removes all the paraffine wax.

This means perfect lubrication at all times, smoother, more efficient operation for your engine, longer life, reduced repair bills, and more mileage at less cost per mile.

20,000 Bales Of Cotton Ginned In Lynn And Dawson

Total Is Four Times As Big As At This Time Of Last Year; O'Donnell's Gins Are Kept Busy

(Special To The Avalanche)

O'DONNELL, Nov. 13.—More than 20,000 bales of cotton have been ginned in Lynn and Dawson counties to date, which is four times as much as had been ginned on the same date last year. O'Donnell's seven big gins are all busy and hundreds of loads of cotton have been streaming into town during the past week until the general rain which struck this territory on Friday.

O'Donnell has more cotton gins than any other town of its size in West Texas and has ginned approximately as much cotton as all the rest of Lynn county combined.

Estimates Surpassed

The yield per acre is surpassing the highest estimates of a month or two ago and the reported crop failure and business retrenchment is more apparent than real and more of a psychological condition than an economic one. Business is good as is evidenced by the fact that the Chevrolet Motor company is selling more cars than any other agency in this section of Texas, in the same sized town in this section of the state. The two hundred thousand dollar stock in the Powdered Milk plant, at Lamesa, which was subscribed during the summer, is being paid in rapidly and business in general is satisfactory. All of the country schools are now in session, cotton pickers are plentiful, and most of the children have quit the cotton fields for the school room.

Judges to Decide Dogs' Viciousness

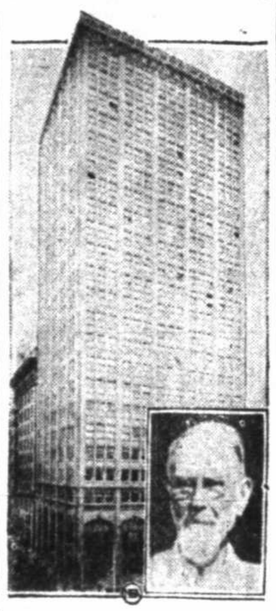

FORT WORTH, Nov. 13. (AP)—Three judges of the United States circuit court of appeals, sitting here were asked this morning to exercise judicial knowledge of what constitutes viciousness in dogs.

On December 10, 1927, as Miss Della May Pinson, then of Sulphur Springs, Texas, stepped up to the ticket window of the Kansas City Southern railway station at Leesville, La., a dog bit her on the leg. She alleged that the offending animal, "Rock," for whom the only description agreed upon by witnesses was that he is a "hound dog," was in the station with the knowledge and consent of the railway company and suit was brought for $50,000 damages.

Litigation over the incident has dragged through various courts for the past five years. The first trial, brought in district court at Texarkana and transferred to federal court, resulted in a hung jury. Another jury awarded her $4,750 and the case was taken to the appellate court.

Norway's road-improvement program calls for an expenditure of $266,276,000.

Ex-Commander of Confederate Vets Still Active as Banker at 93

The Fort Worth National Bank today and Major K. M. Van Zandt

FORT WORTH, Nov. 13.—Although he has rounded out more than a half-century as president of one bank, and nearly a century of life, Major K. M. Van Zandt, a former commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, is still the active president of the Fort Worth National Bank that he founded in 1874. This he believes not only makes him the oldest banker in years, but also in point of service, in the United States.

Major Van Zandt recently celebrated his 93rd birthday.

His bank, which now occupies a 22 story building, has had no other president since it was founded in a little frame shack more than a half-century ago, before even a railroad came to Fort Worth. Its capital then was $10,000, as against a capital, surplus and undivided profits now of more than $5,000,000.

Major Van Zandt not only planned Fort Worth's first bank, but also brought both the first and second railroads to Fort Worth. He donated the property for the first church and helped to build it. He taught the first school and the first Sunday school classes ever known in Fort Worth. He built the first "skyscraper," way back there, a towering building of eight stories.

Major Van Zandt came to Fort Worth in a covered wagon after the Civil War, on borrowed money. He found Texas dreadfully poor. But the state was rich in potential promise.

In those days money was scarce. One afternoon a settler by the name of C. P. Farmer, living just south of the little town, was asked to put up some travelers for the night. He did and the next day the travelers paid him with a $20 gold piece.

Farmer immediately paid off his family doctor with the coin. The doctor paid off a creditor, and for the full day the gold piece had made a chase over the town, reaching nearly everyone's pocket. Finally, before night a merchant paid the $20 back to Farmer, on a hay account he owed.

Major Van Zandt figured up the persons paid and found that more than $200 of old debts had been settled. It was then he decided that there should be some system of finance, and the bank was started.

A few years later, there was talk of the Texas and Pacific railroad coming to Dallas, 30 miles to the east of Fort Worth. Major Van Zandt agreed to give them 320 acres of land in Fort Worth for the terminal. The railroad officials accepted. Practically the same agreement was made later with the Santa Fe and thus Fort Worth got two railroads.

Cattle that had been driven over long trails to Fort Worth were shipped by railroad, so the major got another idea. He sent the first carload of refrigerated beef from Fort Worth to the northern market, and then persuaded two packing plants to build branches here.

To this day he has not ceased his work. He is at the bank every morning with the rest of the boys. His mind is keen and his judgment good.

He served in the Civil War as a major and was commander of the United Confederate Veterans in 1918.

"No, I don't expect to retire," he says. "I realize I can't live forever. I have been working hard to build a bank and a city. Now I am going to get ready for Heaven."

BEAUTY PICTURES ENTERED

Pictures are being entered in the La Ventana beauty section by friends of various girl contestants on the campus, according to Holmes Webb, editor. It has not been decided who will judge the beauties, although James Montgomery Flagg, popular artist, has been written to ask if he will judge them.

"This year many more snap shots of students are going to be used in the feature section, Barney Brady and Pauline Patterson will have charge of the feature and snapshot sections. We want students to send in as many of their pictures as they think will be good in a section of this kind for we want it representative," said Webb.

BONE TALKS

Harry Bone, member of the national council of Y. M. C. A., was the principal speaker of the convocation held yesterday at 11 o'clock. He spoke on the "Student and Faculty Curricula." In his talk he outlined five ways of knowing an educated man or woman. These are the abilities to function in area of physical health; mental efficiency; a personal philosophy of life; functioning effectively in life work, and to effectively function in the realm of life mates.

He said that there were two types of curricula: faculty, or that which leads to the obtaining of a degree, and student, or that which is considered extra curricula activities.

COLLEGE REVUE

H. Y. Price shed a heavy overcoat in the gymnasium at the beginning Harry Bone's speech. Grace Brown spent an hour interpretating the handwriting of Holmes Webb. Truitt Brooks engaged himself in a freshman class meeting at 11:45 o'clock. "Red" Waller observed yesterday in the corridor that Ameral Payne certainly should make a good economic student for he always had a ledger with him. Thomas Taylor exhibited an "A" paper on a mid-term Spanish exam.

FORUM MAKES PLANS

"Once There Was a Princess," a three-act play to be presented by members of Sock and Buskin and sponsored by the members of the Woman's Forum will be presented December 3. The play will be staged in the auditorium of the local high school.

A reception was also planned by the Forum members for December 5. The reception is for all women students of the college.

WHAT COMES OF TALK

A collegiate looking person has large ears, thin hair, a far-away look in his eyes, a medium forehead, is not very tall, is very self conscious, lacks personality but surrounds himself with some extraneous personality such as a highly painted slicker or a racoon coat or even a collegiate Ford, was the conclusion reached by a group of students who were conversing in the hall yesterday.

FRESHMEN MEET

More power was given to members of the Freshmen Men's council by the freshman class yesterday. The council is attempting to prohibit the wearing of foreign sweaters on the campus and the class voted to stand behind the movement.

Committee chairmen were appointed to take charge of an apron and overall party to be held by the class December 14. Those appointed as chairmen include: Grace Thompson, finance; Melbria Pirtle, program; Roy Pryor, decoration; Warren Shipp and J. Burkett, refreshment, and Lynn Gray Gordon, music.

Before the meeting was over faculty sponsors made talks to the group.

CATCHES GOPHER

A brown gopher, about six inches long, was caught in the basement of the Administration building yesterday by R. P. Rivers. The animal was in a box of trash in the basement of the east end of the building. Mr. Rivers declared that he thought it was a huge rat and succeeded in catching it only by running it through a hole. Mr. Rivers has declared his intentions of keeping the gopher at his home.

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE assures the freedom of the press—Public opinion has been freed from the tyranny which denied it the right to pass judgment on public questions.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

The WOMAN'S DAY

"I'll tell you what has made me a rich woman," Tex Guinan told a roomful of women when she gave them a lecture at the Chicago Women's Athletic club, "I'll tell you straight.

"It's not the men who made me rich, but you women who drive your husbands to night clubs, you wives who talk continually about the gas bill and the curtains.

"If you women would amuse your husbands when they come home, they wouldn't slip away and pay a $5 cover charge to get a little amusement."

* * *

HOME—A LA GUINAN

It would be interesting to know just how long a husband would stand for Tex's form of entertainment, if he had to have it in his home—tree; how long before he would be up for murder.

Suppose, for instance, when he came home tired and hungry after a day of wrestling with the ticker tape, or the sale of suburban lots, or what not, he found his wife in a closer - than-the-paper-on-the-wall type of dress, with 17 ropes of pearls around her neck, and a heaping teaspoonful of diamonds scattered over her fingers, and a cicker in one hand and a squaler in the other.

And as he arrived, she would leap into a chair or on a table and scream, "Hello, Sucker!" at him, working the squaler and the squawker simultaneously.

The average husband would reply, "Sucker, me eye—how about supper? Suppose you give this little steak a hand?"

"Plenty of butter and eggs in the house tonight," she could call above the din. "Let's have some jazz."

A little of this treatment and a man would be glad to listen to curtains and gas the rest of his life—or if he didn't and still insisted on his entertainment a la Guinan, the wife would probably rather pay Tex to supply it, than do it herself.

* * *

REGARDING HUSBANDS

Among the deadly sins, Tex places that of taking your husband too seriously. She herself has had three. How seriously she took them is her own affair, but certainly we know that she did not devote all her energies to entertaining the current husband. If she had, she never would have become the night club queen that she is.

Undoubtedly Tex Guinan has an extraordinary personality, and is a great success as a night club hostess. She is an excellent business woman as well, and she knows human nature thoroughly—particularly does she know the psychology of the spender.

When it comes to providing the well-pocketed butter and egg man with a hilarious evening, she can do it. But when it comes to advising wives about their husbands, I think she is no more inspired than you or I.

* * *

The women who have insisted on men taking them to a night club, and who didn't care what the bills were, had quite as much to do with lining Tex Guinan's pockets, as the women who drove men there to get away from the latest bulletins on the bills and the curtains.

Fur Trim Is Deep

BY MME. LISBETH

Fur trimmings of unusual but comfortable depth are used on all the fine coats this season. There are many fabric manipulations, also, in flairs, etc., but the slender line still prevails.

This smart veleeda cloth coat has a slashed and rounded effect at the side and front. It is smartly collared and cuffed with pointed fox.

New Jewelry Plays Important Role In Dress Of Modern Woman

By MME. LISBETH

There are many new and original ideas expressed in the new jewelry, which plays such a prominent part in the dress of today. Women of means may, on occasion, wear real jewels, fabulously beautiful and almost priceless, but by far the greater number leave these precious things at home in the safe or bank vault, and use the less expensive costume jewelry which, while giving just the right finish to a lovely gown, is no great loss if the ubiquitous thief makes away with it.

The jewelry pictured is made of real gems set in platinum, but there are many imitations made for the woman who looks longingly at the expensive pieces, but perforce must content herself with less expensive decorations.

Pictured at left is a soft blue velvet evening gown with which is worn a pendant and necklace, brooch, two rings, bracelet and earrings. The pendant is an antique carved sapphire with a smaller sapphire at the top. The necklace consists of one sapphire and three pearls alternating. The brooch, which is posed at the normal waistline of the gown, is an oval scarab sapphire in claws on a domed carved horn shaped of diamonds and ruby beads in platinum mounting. One ring is an emerald cut blue gem square diamond with baguette diamonds, set in platinum, the other a square carved sapphire with diamonds in shank on platinum mounting. The bracelet is also sapphires and diamonds with platinum mounting. The earrings are seed pearl tassel drop pieces.

With the Patou black evening dress, right, is worn diamonds set in platinum for necklace, brooch, two dissimilar bracelets, one wide and one narrow, and ring, oval and long diamond links being used.

Inset at upper left is the new jeweled feather worn by Parisiennes. The fashion originated with hunting clothes. Women who were enthusiastic hunters wore bright colored feathers stuck in their coat lapels. Later they wore these little quills in the left breast pocket, and originated the fashion, which the jewels took up. The smartest jeweled feathers pierce the fabric like a genuine quill. Jeweled feathers are sometimes worn as part of an evening headdress.

Insert at center, below, is sketched the French style of link bracelets for babies. They are put on when the baby is one month old, and are enlarged to fit the baby's growing arm. They are usually the only jewelry the baby is permitted to wear.

All the smart women in Paris are adopting the fad of wearing carved crystal roses in their hair—a style recently introduced at a fashion opening of winter clothes, sketched at upper right. Many women are copying the original model—a while satin dress with which is worn a close-fitting choker of carved crystal rosss. The roses are sometimes larger than a silver dollar, and are carved from a single piece of rock crystal. They are flat and are in graduated sizes. Crystal roses are also worn as coiffure decoration, singly, in pairs, sometimes one over each ear, or in a row across the back of the head, as shown.

All Old Traditions Will Be Maintained In Glorified Reincarnation Of Famous Waldorf-Astoria; Old Building Tumbles To Make Room

Giant New Structure Hopes to Salvage Old Tradition

BY HORTENESE SAUNDERS
NEA SERVICE WRITER

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. —As the famous old Waldorf-Astoria hotel at Fifth avenue and 34th tsreet is levelled to the pavement, a bigger, and they say, better one is getting ready to rise from its new foundation farther uptown.

But as the walls of the old Waldorf crumble, walls that were meant to endure until time itself wore them away, the departing edifice utters the silent rebuke of the proud aristocrat who goes quietly, but with unbent head, to a doom he did not deserve.

In old Peacock Alley, with its ghosts of the mauve decade, where so many women have spread their silken skirts around them with the assurance of the assured, are now only grim workmen who knew none of its splendors.

They do not miss the palms that have been taken away from the palm garden, nor do they remember the waltz music that used to float out from the fine old ballroom. They can, and do, wield their destructive hammers without regret or memories.

New Hotel Open In 1931

The old building will be down before the new one is upand it is expected that by late spring, the construction of the giant office building that is to take place may begin. The new Waldorf will not open its wrought iron doors until the spring of 1931.

As in the old days, the Waldorf delt only in superlatives, so does the new. To the 16 stories that sounded high enough when the old hotel was built have been added 30, making 46 stories on which its towers may rest.

In ground space, too the new hotel has exceeded the old by some 12,000 square feet. Back in 1902, amazement met the announcement that the Waldorf would have a telephone in every room. The new will have television, with ordinary radio accepted as a matter of course.

The 2258 rooms will be of varying sizes, but all exceptionally large. Some of them will have boudior baths the size of the average hotel room, 14 by 18 feet. These will consist of a completely equipped dressing room separated by an arch from the bath proper.

It will be the only hotel in the world with a private railroad siding beneath it. Those guests who have their own private railroad cars may, when leaving Palm Beach or Newport, have the car routed directly to the Waldorf-Astoria and disembark beside a special elevator, far underground, which will shoot them up to the lofty tower apartments.

Part of old Peacock Alley is to be transplanted to the new one, which is three times larger, but has been daigned less like a huge waiting hall, and more like a series of friendly parlors.

A $40,000,000 Enterprise

Heading the new building enterprise, which represents an investment of $40,000,000, is Lucius Boomer, who is also president of Sherry's, Sherry-Netherland, the Savarin restaurants, and is a director of Childs' resturants.

He became head of the Waldorf-Astoria when George Boldt died in 1917. His first hotel venture was in Miami, Florida, some 25 years ago, and in a quarter of a century he has become one of the most important figures in the hotel business.

"My idea for the new Waldorf," he said, "is not just a big business enterprise, but a civic institution, an art mecca and community center in the broadest sense, that will glorify and carry on the traditions of the old. I have an expert hotel connoisseur travelling about to analyze the business of public hospitality as seen in the best hotels in the country."

Oscar to Stay

Heading the list of the old personnel who will come to the new hostelry is Oscar, who will retain his celebrated title, Oscar of the Waldorf.

The old Astor dining room, taken from the home built by John Jacob Astor in 1877, will be reproduced in the new building. The old Rose Room and Empire Room will be given a berth in the new.

An added feature will be the roof garden, three stories high, with terraced dining rooms, and tower apartments and de luxe suites with 18-foot ceilings and drawing rooms 45 by 25 feet which will represent the last word in expensive and elegant living.

As the old Waldorf-Astoria tumbles in ruins, they're trying to salvage its traditions for the giant new structure which is pictured at the left as it will appear on completion. Peacock Alley shown upper right as workers attacked it, will appear again. But not the old Waldorf bar, shown below. Insert is Lucius Boomer, head of the $40,000,000 enterprise.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

BY MADAME RUBINSTEIN

Your hair is entirely dependent on the scalp for beauty and health. If your scalp is in a clean, healthy condition, your hair will immediately reflect it. The scalp, like any other part of the body, needs to keep its youth and beauty. Unfortunately, too, many women ignore the fact of this need and permit the scalp to get very tight. As a direct result, the hair becomes dry and is inclined to early grayness.

The purpose of the exercise is to stimulate circulation and there has been no recent discovery which brings better results than a thorough brushing with a long, narrow brush with long bristles. Brushing, in order to be beneficial, should be out and away from the head, not down, as most women do it. Bobbed hair needs as thorough brushing as long hair.

Massage of the scalp can best be done just after the hair has been shampooed. Scalp massage can be fairly vigorous. Here is a simple correct method for performing this massage. Place the palms of the hands flat against the sides of the head and move the scalp with a full, round movement. Then massage sections of the scalp with the tips of your fingers, with a rotary movement, holding your finger-tips steady, and making the scalp move.

Dry massage, in between shampoos, is wonderfully invigorating. From five to ten minutes in the morning, before combing your hair, and at night before going to bed will bring your hair back to glowing health. You will actually be able to see the healthy sheen increase as time goes on.

While some hair has a tendency to early grayness more than other hair massage will help to preserve the pigment of the hair. The stimulation of the scalp sets the blood circulating and feeds the little roots of the hair.

I think you will be more than compensated for the effort expended, since healthy hair is beautiful hair, and beautiful hair adds charm and distinction to your appearance.

HILTON HOTELS, INC., a Delaware Corporation, is a holding company organized November, 1928, to take over the entire Capital Stock of then existing corporations, Hilton Hotel Company (Dallas), which began operation in August, 1925; Abilene Hilton Hotel Company, which began operations in October, 1927; The McCoy Operating Company of Wichita Falls, operating the Marchman Hotel, acquired in March, 1928, and the Waco Hilton Hotel Company, which began operations in July, 1928, to which were added in June, 1929, the San Angelo Hilton Hotel Company, and in July, 1929, the Plainview Hilton Hotel Company. These six existing subsidiary corporations operate six new, modern, popular priced hotels in Texas, located in substantial and progressive communities. All of the Capital Stock of each subsidiary corporation is owned by HILTON HOTELS, INC., except $20,500.00 of the Preferred Capital Stock of Dallas Hilton Hotel Company, and $2,000.00 of Plainview Hilton Hotel Company, which will be retired. CAPITALIZATION

(Upon completion of this Financing, November 1st, 1930)

	Authorized	Issued
Preferred Stock	None	None
Common Stock (No par value)	75,000 Shares	75,000 Shares

EARNINGS

The four Hotels in operation during the fiscal year 1928-29, ending August 31, 1929, showed actual earnings of $176,220.42, after the deduction of Federal income taxes, available for depreciation and dividends. The first complete fiscal year for the San Angelo Hilton and the Plainview Hilton will be 1929-30. During the year 1929-30, there will be added the Lubbock Hilton Hotel, to be completed by January 1st, 1930; the Marlin Hilton Hotel, to be completed during the summer of 1930, and the El Paso Hilton, to be completed during the fall of 1930. Earnings for the fiscal year ending August 31st, 1930, based on past experience, after the deduction of Federal income taxes, are estimated available for depreciation and dividends, $320,400.00. Upon the completion of this financing, November 1st, 1930, if the company completes existing optional contracts for the erection, purchase and leasing of certain hotels, the earnings after deduction of Federal income taxes, available for depreciation and dividends, are estimated at $568,700.00, for the fiscal year 1930-31, or $7.58 per share, on which earnings, all stock will participate equally. Ground rentals alone, on hotels now in operation and under construction are conservatively estimated at $149,000.00, which assures a definite income of nearly $2.00 per share on the entire capital stock to be outstanding. All estimates are conservative and are based entirely upon actual operating experience of the past few years, and since opportunities for expansion are being continually offered to the Company, these earnings may be augmented greatly from projects not yet under contract.

PURPOSES OF THIS ISSUE

The proceeds received from the sale of this Capital Stock will be used for the farther expansion of Hilton Hotels. This financing makes possible the addition of at least Fourteen Hundred (1,400) rooms. Many attractive offers for the acquisition of Hotels in large, strategically located cities await the securing of this additional capital by the Company.

PROVISIONS OF THE ISSUE

There is only one class of stock of the Company, all of which, including this issue, is common, voting, non-assessable stock, and is not subject to call. This stock is also offered on the deferred payment plan, the advantages of which are obvious.

DIVIDENDS

Dividends have been paid monthly at the equivalent rate of twenty-five cents per share per month on the outstanding stock. It is contemplated that this rate of payment will be continued and that the stock being sold in this issue will be placed on a similar or higher basis when issued. Dividends are exempt from the present normal Federal income tax.

Wichita Coyotes Arrive Early Today For Friday Tilt

Holton Aggregation Here For Clash With Westerners Tomorrow In District One Encounter On Texas Tech Gridiron

Lubbock Eleven Primed For Important Battle With Coyotes; Special Train Will Follow Club Here Friday; Pep Rally Tonight

Coach Barry Holton and 25 Wichita Falls High school Coyotes will arrive here early today for their scheduled battle with the Lubbock Westerners on the college gridiron Friday afternoon.

Coming a full day ahead of the special train from their home city, the Holton crew will take their final workout on Tech Field this afternoon, along with the Lubbock gridsters. The delegation of Wichita boosters will arrive here at noon Friday.

The Westerners braved a cold wind Wednesday afternoon to take their last hard workout before they go into the skirmish with the Pack from Wichita tomorrow. Working on the field at the high school campus, the locals were given two full hours of fundamentals before they plunged into a scrimmage against Wichita plays. A light session this afternoon will put the Westerners in the pink of condition for their important District One encounter.

Characterized by Head Coach Henry Frnka as the "hardest fight of the season, not excepting the Amarillo game," the battle on the Matadors' arena tomorrow promises to be the most thrilling high school game played in Lubbock this season. Keen respect for the ability of Coach Barry Holton and the style of play employed by the former Trinity and Notre Dame mentor has caused Westerner coaches to drive their charges at a furious pace in preparation for the clash with the fighting Coyotes.

Changes Get Test

Shifts in the Westerner lineup effected since the Amarillo game will receive a severe test tomorrow when the Coyotes line up for the clash. Close followers of the club believe that the change of Yancey Price from end to halfback will add considerable punch to the Westerners' attack. Smith and Lawson, ailing backs who have been out for some time, took their regular turn Wednesday in practice and appear to be rounding back into condition at a rapid gait.

Examination of the Wichita roster reveals that the Coyotes have a decided weight advantage over the Westerners. A stalwart forward wall, led by the 180-pound Coyote captain, Hodgkiss, is made up of a crew of huskies from end to end. Wichita's backfield combination of Dickey, Elliott, Lee and Holton is light but fast.

Will Meet Special

Classes at the high school will begin at eight o'clock Friday morning in order that the student body can meet the Coyote special when it arrives here at 12:30. The high school band and pep squad will lead the demonstration. A large number of cars have been provided to take the visitors to and from the game.

The city-wide pep rally at the high school auditorium tonight promises to be the most colorful of the year, with prominent local business and professional men as well as many old-time high school students scheduled to appear on the program. The rally starts at 7:30.

Following are the Wichita players who will arrive here at 8:30 this morning on the Denver train: Allen, Beaty, B. Carstarphen, J. Carstarphen, Cox, Daniels, Davis, Dickey, Dixon, Elliott, Fowler, Hodgkiss, Holden, Holton, Hutchison, Kelly, King, Lee, Malone, Morris, Norwood, Ray, Skeen, Smith and Withrow.

Excess Baggage Wins Feature At Arlington Downs

Entry Owned By C. A. McCroan Takes Purse Of $2,500; Cold Weather Holds Crowd Down

(AP)—Excess Baggage, owned by C. A. McCroan, won the feature event of Wednesday's Alington Downs racing program, outdistanced Tonto Rock and Longus in the Three D Feature handicap. The purse was $2,500.

The winning mount was ridden by Jockey W. Cleverly. Cold weather kept the crowd down.

Excess Baggage had the most speed in the Three D Handicap from the start, outran opposition and opened up in a long lead in the stretch. Tonto Rock was always in close pursuit, raced fast at the end and almost succeeded in wearing down the winner. Longus, gradually improving his position, closed fast and was gaining rapidly at the end.

Make Spirited Finish.

Little Broom had the best of the start and showed the most speed in the first race under a hustling ride. Crispi Seth close up, raced Honey Thistle into defeat. Verdedmale made a spirited finish.

In the second race, for the first half mile, By-Product was outrun but came to the inside, closed ground and finished ahead of Tall Oak. The latter started fast and set a good pace to the stretch to race Paquette to defeat, but was unable to hold up in the final drive. Preferred, racing on the outside, showed an even effort and, although not being able to improve his position, held on well.

Golden Vote began fast and keeping close from the start forced the pace the first half mile in the third race then headed. War Time kept up the pace in the stretch and won as Jockey Ayraud pleased. Mix-Up raced Forwardly on the inside but suffered much interference when Pinched-Back repeatedly, finishing after a strong bid in the stretch.

Herdsman Victor.

In the fourth race Herdsman raced restrained far back of the leaders until nearing the stretch turn. Then the winner closed a good gap and outfinished Hesitation. Taking command at the start, Hesitation took a safe lead and kept it until the last furlong, then weakened at the end. Rufe McClain went forwardly from the start and, although tiring in the final drive, held on well.

Never far back from the leaders, Alma had early speed and closing gamely in the furlong to wear down the leaders and easily outfinished Colonel Campus in the sixth race. The latter set a good pace but tired in the final 70 yards and barely nosed out Croissantanis, who entered the stretch looming strongly but hung in the final drive.

Rochester Star Gets Suspension

George Toporcer, Second Baseman, Out For Year Following Mob Scene In Little World Series

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 13. (AP)—George Toporcer, star second baseman of the Rochester club of the International League and a former St. Louis Cardinal, stands suspended from organized baseball for one year, under an order issued by Mike H. Sexton, president of the National Association of professional baseball clubs, made public here today.

The order suspends Toporcer and fines Manager Billy Southworth of the Rochester club $500 for "creating a mob scene," in the final contests of the "Little World series," between Rochester and Kansas City October 13.

The suspension, dating from December 1, 1929, comes under a regulation adopted by the National Association June 11, 1927.

Toporcer had been considered for a major league berth with the Cardinals, in 1930.

Gerten issued the order on a complaint by Thomas J. Hickey, president of the American Association. Hickey said a report from Umpire Goetz charged that Toporcer "butted and shoved" Goetz around after the umpire called him out on strikes in the ninth inning of the game at Rochester, and after the game created a mob scene by threatening the umpire for putting him out of the game. Southworth was censured and fined for permitting Toporcer to attempt to re-enter the game.

The order grants Toporcer and Southworth permission to appeal from the penalties to the board of arbitration within thirty days.

Mustangs To Have Full Strength In Clash With Bears

Sandies, Buckaroos And Eagles Favorites In State High Chase

Nine Teams Yet To Be Defeated In Current Race

DALLAS, Nov. 13. —(AP)—Of 65 high school elevens that started blithely upon the state championship trail in September, only nine remained undefeated and untied after the Armistice Day battles.

Amarillo in district 1, Breckenridge in distrct 2 and Brownsville in district 3 generally are regarded as the foremost contenders for the 1929 state title. Abilene, 1928 champion, dropped from the race when Breckenridge downed the Eagles, 26 to 9.

Waco Cleburne Feature

The most important fray scheduled this week will see the Waco Tigers and Cleburne Yellowjackets fighting for top honors in the fourth district. They play Friday at Waco. The winner will be favored to meet either Amarillo or Breckenridge for the championship of all Central and West Texas. The concensus is that Brownsville has a great chance to sweep through South and East Texas to the finals.

Sandstorm Meets Tigers

Amarillo is at the top in district 1, with four straight victories. The Sandstorm plays Electra Saturday at Amarillo.

Breckenridge rules the district 2 roost by virtue of seven straight triumphs in what is called the toughest section of the interscholastic league. Saturday the Buckaroos meet San Angelo in the latter city.

Forest of Dallas holds the lead in district 3, having won three and tied two games. Sunset of Dallas is second, with four victories and one defeat. They clash Friday in a game likely to decide the district crown.

Either Waco or Cleburne will drop from the list of unbeaten, untied teams in district 4 when they tangle Friday. Waco has three straight wins; Cleburne two. The Cleburne eleven has made a remarkable comeback since losing three practice games early in the season.

Denton A Favorite

Up in district 5 the Denton Eagles have an edge with two straight victories. Sulphur Springs is in runner-up position with four wins and a tie. Denton plays Sherman Friday, at Denton.

Championship of district 6 over in the piny woods of East Texas appears to lie between Marshall and Tyler, each of which has won its first three starts. No district games are booked this week.

John Reagan of Houston has the only unblemished record in district 7 with three straight triumphs. Port Arthur has won four and tied one. Ball of Galveston has won three and tied one. Port Arthur's 24 to 0 victory over Beaumont was the big noise of the past week. The leaders do not meet this week.

Brownsville Strong

Brownsville seems destined to wade through district 8 without a defeat. The powerful Eagles have won six so far and will be favored to crush their only remaining rivals, Austin and Main Avenue of San Antonio. They play Main Saturday in the Alamo City.

Longhorns Learn New Tricks To Be Used Against T. C. U. Frogs In Tilt Saturday; Two Regulars Out Of Lineup

Baumgarten And Meadows Will Be Onlookers In Battle With Toads; Reserves Looking Good

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—Doubting that the plays which weren't good enough to beat S. M. U. or Baylor would fare any better against T. C. U. here Saturday, Clyde Littlefield, University of Texas football mentor is teaching his charges a few new tricks.

The Steers tried their fresh offensive weapons against the freshmen today. While the plays were still in the rough, the Longhorns used them well enough to indicate that the unbeaten and untied Frogs would receive a few surprises Saturday.

With the exception of Dutch Baumgarten, regular guard, and Claude Meadows, reserve back, the Herd promises to be in near perfect shape for the Toads. Baumgarten must be an onlooker until the Aggie game because of a hip injury and Meadows is out for the remainder of the season, possibly for all time, with a bum knee. Nemir and Gatoura have been showing well in Baumgarten's post and one of the two probably will start Saturday.

Huge Pep Rally Set For Tonight

Old Timers Will Be On Hand For Gathering At High School Auditorium; Speeches On Program

A packed house is expected at the high school auditorium tonight when local Westerner boosters gather for a city-wide pep rally prior to the Class A struggle Friday between the Lubbock and Wichita Falls High school football elevens. The rally is called for 7:30.

Led by the high school pep squad and band, the gathering will organize for tomorrow's encounter and listen to speeches from a number of local business and professional men as well as a host of former Lubbock High school players, who have been called for the meeting.

Men who figured prominently in high school football here as far back as 1910 will be on hand for the rally. Some of the old timers who are included among the notables are: John Jarrot, "Daddy" Dickinson, "Choc" Chase and Chester Hubbard.

Presidents of the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs, namely—Jerry Clements, Clark M. Mullican and C. F. Drexel are scheduled to speak. Chas. A. Guy, managing editor of the Avalanche and Journal will also talk.

Homer Hall, Mildred Price, Rob O'Hair and Martha Alice Penny, the pep squad leaders will be in charge of ceremonies. Dan Powers and Mrs. J. O. Morgan are sponsors of the high school pep squad.

Members of the Wichita football squad, which arrives here early today, will be invited to attend the pep rally.

Expect 10,000 At Razorback Clash

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 13. (AP)—A mid-wintry afternoon forced the Arkansas Razorbacks to wear heavy wraps at scrimmage today in in preparation for the homecoming game Saturday with Centenary.

Coach Thomsen continued his plan of sending two frosh teams, schooled in Centenary tricks in an offensive against the regulars.

With the exception of Chambers, regular wing, the Porkers will throw their full strength against the Centenary Gentlemen. A homecoming crowd of 10,000 or more is expected for the eight annual jubilee. Governor Harvey Parnell is expected to attend the game.

REST SUGGESTED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. (AP)—A little rest as a means of averting tariff troubles was suggested to the senate today by Cole L. Blease of South Carolina, who told his colleagues that half of them were "sick and didn't know it" and that in addition the "country is tired of hearing the tariff."

Illinois Horses Win 3 Ribbons

By ORLO L. ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. (AP)—For the second consecutive day the colors of midwestern thoroughbred owners flung high in victory over Madison Square Garden today as the Illinois owned horses of Dr. D. A. Orth and George W. Peak romped off with the major share of the awards of the final day of the National Horse show.

While eastern exhibitors were splitting honors, Dr. Orth, who lives in Chicago, and Peak, a Winchester, Ill., breeder, combined to win three blue ribbons, as many seconds and two thirds. In winning the eight ribbons the two Illinois owners swept three classes, including the grand champion roadster division, which had a $1,000 stake attached.

Picadors Prepare For Tussle With Wildcat Reserves

Tech Freshmen Make First Home Appearance Here Saturday Against A. C. C. Aggregation

Coach Rhodes Ingerton's freshman squad of Texas Tech were undaunted by the continued cold spell Wednesday afternoon, the Picadors going through a brisk session on the college field in preparation for their encounter here Saturday afternoon with the Abilene Christian college reserves.

It will be the first home appearance of the freshman gridsters, who lost to the Cadets of New Mexico Military Institute in a hard battle at Roswell. Against the Soldiers, Coach Ingerton's forces were complete masters from the standpoint of running plays, but succumbed to an overhead attack that netted three touchdowns.

Squad Works Hard.

Despite the fact that the Picadors have had little toward which they might look forward, the squad has worked diligently since late September. Recent practice has found the first eleven clicking off plays with a marked precision and in their weekly scrimmage against the Tech varsity have given the Matadors plenty to worry about.

Members of the Tech coaching staff see in several members of the freshman squad promising prospects for the 1930 Matador eleven. Coach Ingerton has the following to say in regard to the squad:

Ingerton Praises Spirit.

"It's beyond a doubt the best bunch of boys I have ever handled. They're in there fighting all the time, and at least a dozen members of the squad should make strong bids for the varsity next year. The whole crew has shown a remarkable spirit in training this season."

Dalton Hill, former A. C. C. athlete, is at the helm of the Wildcat reserves this year, and boasts a strong aggregation. The game Saturday will start at 2 o'clock.

Tech Matadors enjoyed another day of compartive rest Wednesday as the cold north wind continued to sweep across their practice field. A signal drill inside the gymnasium constituted their afternoon's workout.

The squad has three more days in which to prepare for its scheduled battle with the Howard Payne Yellow Jackets here next Tuesday.

Favored to win the championship of the Texas Conference, the Brownwood eleven is the strongest team outside of T. C. U. and Baylor that the Matadors will meet the entire season.

Charlie Wooldridge, pile-driving Matador fullback, has been confined to a local hospital since Monday's game with the A. C. C. Wildcats with an injured leg. Against the Christians, Wooldridge turned in one of the best games of his career.

Sold to Sox

Smead Jolley, erstwhile outfielder of the San Francisco Seals, has been sold to the Chicago White Sox, according to announcement by the club management. The club is said to have received $50,000 in cash and two ball players in the trade. He is one of the leading hitters of the Pacific Coast league.

Gilbert Assigned To Call Signals In Saturday Go

Brisk Norther Speeds Up Practice For S. M. U. Squad; Pin Hopes On Mason In Contest

DALLAS, Nov. 13. (AP)—Speeded up by a brisk norther that swept across the field, the Southern Methodist university squad put in another hard day of practice for the impending conflict with Baylor. No injuries have yet cropped up this week and it appears certain the Mustangs will go into the battle at full strength.

Bob Gilbert has been assigned definitely to the quarterback post for the remaining games on the Pony schedule. The way the former Highland Park star handled the Mustangs in their last game with the Aggies made a big hit with Coach Morrison.

Kattman To Kick.

The Methodist mentor also was pleased with the punting of Kattman on the muddy gridiron at College Station and is expected to give him that assignment Saturday. The main idea is to relieve Mason of any duties except carrying the ball and and flipping a majority of passes. If Mason is "right," the Mustangs confidently expect to take Baylor's measure. They further expect the speedy sophomore to propel them through to the conference title.

The Freshman squad, equipped with Baylor plays, has battered at the varsity defense for the last two days without making much impression. While not engaged in scrimmage, the Mustangs have worked tirelessly at polishing up their own offense. It should function smoothly by Saturday.

GOT EARLY START

Betty Nuthall, British tennis star, took up the game when she was seven, was trained by her father and won the girls' championship of England when she was 13 years old.

Jimmy Walkup, Fort Worth left-handed pitching star, is one southpaw who has control. In a 15-game stretch last season he walked only 13 batters.

Pleas For Writs Of Error Denied

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—The supreme court today dismissed for want of jurisdiction application for writs of error filed by J. Frank O'Rourke of Houston, secretary of the prison commission during the Ferguson administration, against the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and the Austin American.

The question was one of venue in the $100,000 libel suits brought by O'Rourke against each of the two newspapers. O'Rourke sought to establish the venue in Harris county, but the Harris county district court held that it should be either in Walker county, where the state penitentiary is located, or in the home counties of the defendants. This decision was upheld by the court of civil appeals in Galveston, from which ruling O'Rourke appealed to the supreme court.

O'Rourke claimed he had been libeled in connection with the publication of testimony during a legislative investigation of prison conditions.

Flashy Back

STUMPY THOMASON

"Stumpy" Thomason, Georgia Tech's speedy halfback, is one of the best ball carriers in the south. He stars in all of the Tornado's games, but picked on the Florida team for his best exhibition. He carried the ball for a total gain of 141 yards against the 'Gators.

But gaining ground is not the only department of the game in which Thomason shines. He is a bear on defense, with plenty of nerve, and is always on the spot where he is supposed to be.

Prior to 1825 all women's shoes were made without heels.

TO PRESERVE IMPRINTS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. —(AP)—Orders to prevent removal of prehistoric imprints on rock on the Navajo Indian reservation were issued today by Secretary Wilbur to interior department officials in Arizona.

PRO AGENT FREED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13. —(AP)—Harold Dolley, former federal prohibition agent, was acquitted today of charges of tampering with a state's witness in the recent criminal assault trial of Alexander Pantages, multi-millionaire show man.

WHEAT HIGHER

CHICAGO, Nov. 13. —(AP)—Wheat prices averaged higher and scored gains of 1 1-4 to 1 7-8 cents a bushel today despite a mid-session decline to new low levels, attributed to the influence of the stock market. Closing prices were $1.14 3-8 to 1-2 for December wheat. March $1.21 1-4; May $1.25 to 1-8; and July $1.25 1-2.

URGE HIGHER DUTY

PARIS, Nov. 13. (AP)—A higher duty on foreign wheat was urged by M. Chastanet, socialist member of the chamber of deputies, during an interpellation on the government's wheat policy today. He pictured the "danger" of American wheat, saying it was a menace to the French farmer and depressing on the French market.

PROBE STARTS DEBATE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 13. (AP)—Sharp debate over the course of procedure to be taken in investigating "rumors as to the soundness of the faith" of the Rev. Hay Watson Smith, Little Rock Presbyterian minister followed formal presentation of the question before the Arkansas Presbytery today.

Sox Shortstop?

ERNIE SMITH

Ernie Smith, late of the Birmingham Southern league team, may fill the shortstop position on Donie Bush's Chicago White Sox next season. He comes to the White Sox with a lot of ability and six years experience.

Smith has been in the minors since 1923, and at one time was tried out by the Washington Senators. He hit only .308 last year, but his bingles were timely. His fielding ability was what attracted the Sox.

He was taken by the White Sox in the draft.

Criminal Appeals Proceedings

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—The following proceedings were had in the court of criminal appeals today:

Affirmed: Will Hardaway, Polk; Sam Stapleton, Brazoria; J. F. Barton, Johnson; William Hepworth, Potter; Clarence Price, San Augustine; Bennie Williams, Grimes; Dewey Woods, Red River; James Sowers, Henderson; Abram Tarin, El Paso; Bill Webb, Comanche; Carl Stone, Johnson; Eddie Clemons, Grimes; Eugene Walker, Callahan; Ernest Oglesby, Callahan (two cases); A. K. Bennett, Bosque.

Reversed and remanded: R. O. Fowler, Lynn; Jeff Morgan, Eastland; Gordon Williams, Rains; Albert Ratliff, Kent; Jim Reed, Eastland.

Appeal reinstated, reversed and remanded: R. Bernal, Frio.

Appeal dismissed at request of appellant: Jake Lancaster, Crosby; Bob Banks, Denton.

Appellant's motion for rehearing overruled: Perrin Cotton, Morris; Ben Aldridge, Dallas; E. V. Allen, Eastland; Mrs. Oscar Porter, Kaufman.

State's motion for rehearing overruled: Reagan Petitte, Anderson; Ex Parte Vernie Norton, Bowie.

Appeal reinstated, judgment reversed and appellant ordered discharged: Ex Parte Dillie Lane, Harrison.

Application for writ of certiorari denied and appeal dismissed: A. O. Sweet, Wheeler.

Appellant's second motion for rehearing overruled: B. A. Gatlin, Young.

Claim Improper Testimony

Aldridge sought a rehearing of his application on grounds of improper testimony. Allen, who was charged with robbing the First State Bank of Carbon, December 13, 1927, alleged jury misconduct.

"The solemn prayer of the jury before beginning consideration of the case impresses us with the fact that the jurors were men anxious and desirous of arriving at a fair decision," the court said in denying Allen's motion for a rehearing.

Reagan Petitte, sentenced to 15 years on a murder charge from Anderson county, will get a new trial. The appeals court overruled the state's motion for a rehearing and the trial court judgment previously had been reversed. Petitte was alleged to have killed J. W. Abbe, October 3, 1928.

The 30-year murder sentence against Sam Stapleton from Brazoria county was affirmed. Stapleton was alleged to have killed W. E. Holmes, December 9, 1928.

A second motion for rehearing by B. A. Gatlin from Young county was overruled. Gatlin was assessed a fifteen year sentence on a murder charge in the killing of O. N. Miles, April 6, 1928.

86,000-mile RECORD for RIVERSIDE!

86,000 Miles of Service

Delano, Calif., July 29, 1929

Montgomery Ward & Co.

On July 10, 1923, I purchased from your Portland, Oregon, house, a Riverside Cord Tire. This tire I have driven over all kinds of roads, mountains, desert, and a great deal of this mileage was over very rough roads. It has given me 86,000 miles on the rear wheel of my Dodge Roadster with just one puncture; and is still good for many miles more; but was taken off on account of tube which was completely rotted out.

Yours very truly,
J. H. RALSTON

RIVERSIDE users frequently write us of the phenomenal mileage records produced by these wonderful tires . . . records of 40,000–50,000–60,000 miles and even more. Recently we received the unsolicited letter reproduced herewith; and the customer was good enough to send us the tire that produced this outstanding mileage record.

This message is addressed primarily to the "Doubting Thomas" motorist who thinks that tire performance is to be judged entirely by price. This of course is a mistaken impression. The reason for the low price of RIVERSIDE First-Quality Tires lies completely in the way they are sold—not the way they are built. These tires cost as much to build as any other tire, but they cost less to sell.

Selling millions of tires every year direct to motorists, at the lowest selling cost ever known, is alone responsible for your saving of $2 to $15 on every RIVERSIDE you buy!

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

Let all those that seek thee rejoice and be glad in thee; let such as love thy salvation say continually, The Lord is magnified.

But I am poor and needy; yet the Lord thinketh upon me; thou art my power and my deliverer; make no tarrying, O my God.—Psalm xl, 16, 17.

LET'S BE CALM ABOUT IT

"COTTON GROWERS OF TEXAS," read an Associated Press dispatch from Dallas yesterday, "have tangible promise of speedy aid from the Federal government in marketing their crops at profitable prices." The Farm board, it appears, has decided to loan $2,473,000 to Texas planters—hence the alluring statement of the news dispatch.

But despite the rosy hue, The Morning Avalanche advises farmers to go on about their business and the business men of the South Plains not to kid themselves about any ready money being thus dumped into the territory—at least not for awhile. "Speedy aid," in government matters, means "just any time we have to do it to cinch some votes." Those who are inclined to get pepped up over it might well remember Lubbock's Federal building, which will likely be formally opened by the time the next crop of grand-children reach tottering old age.

We don't want to appear pessimistic about it. Not at all. But neither do we want to see any celebration at this early date. Like the well known and advertised Hoover Crime commission, the Farm board is 'still functioning' and in our opinion 'still' is a good word to use in this regard.

At any rate, the question of 'speedy aid' to Texas planters is not one to become overly perturbed over at the present writing.

THE DEAD GOOSE

Anthracite coal operators and miners are in a state of alarm. The demand for hard coal is far below that of a few years ago and is still diminishing. Shipments to New England states are 20 per cent less than three years ago, and there has been a decided loss in tonnage shipped to the West. Even in the heart of the anthracite country this fuel is suffering from competition with others.

The responsibility rests largely with the operators and miners themselves. In past years when they undertook at frequent intervals to settle disputes over wages and working conditions by strike or lockout, they set about it knowing that whatever the outcome the consumers would pay the cost of the interruption. Having no substitute fuel to turn to the anthracite-consuming public looked upon the closing of the mines for any considerable time as a national calamity.

But there is a last straw in all things, and the last anthracite strike seems to have been it. It is remembered that after the first fever of apprehension the public decided to try other fuels. Many found substitutes that met their needs and have never returned to hard coal. The warning of far-sighted producers that business was being lost that would never be regained came too late.

Coal barons and their employes have discovered that it is easier to lose a market than to recapture it. They rode the willing horse to death. Theirs is an object lesson for every industry that is tempted to become 'arrogant. Let producers of oil, gas, electricity and bituminous coal take heed.

FORM THE THINK HABIT

Fear of making mistakes has made failures of as many men as mistakes have made successes. Failures are awed into retrogression by the same possibilities-of-mistakes challenged by the successes among men.

A popular adage is "The man who never made a mistake never made a dollar," but a truer statement of fact might be "The man who never made a mistake has not yet lived."

Conceding that all men make mistakes, it is manifest that only the same mistake repeated is unpardonable and the habit, not the individual mistake, is costly. Somebody pays everytime somebody blunders and the only way to correct the habit of blundering is to form the habit of doing things right. Form the habit of being careful and take pains today that you may spare yourself incalculable pain tomorrow. Many are blundering on to success by making the most of their blunders.

The haunting regret in every mistake is the thought that it could have been averted by a little thought. The indolent find actions easier than thought and much of humanity is indolent.

Thinking can be made a habit just as most bodily movements are from force of habit. Cultivate the habit of thinking before acting and that bugaboo, the mistake-habit, will decamp for more salubrious foraging.

LUXURIES

The automobile was once condemned by a religious sect as a worldly luxury. There have been many religious sects and dominations which have denied their converts every luxury and every pleasure not definitely spiritual. This one sect banned the automobile because it did not believe it to be a necessity of life.

This religious body made that mistake so often made by the individual and sometimes made by a generation or an age of mankind. That error lay in failing to see the value of luxury as the experiment station of necessity. The luxury of today is often the necessity of tomorrow. The patrons of luxury foster progress and by their patronage give to mankind that luxury when it has become a necessity.

In its incipiency the automobile was a luxury. It did not become a necessity until it had been mechanically perfected, many years after it had been adopted by the wealthy as a luxury. The wealthy by adopting the automobile as a luxury made it financially possible for the engineers and inventors to perfect it for commercial purposes. The same was true of the electric light and many other civilized comforts.

In isolated communities with no luxuries, people lack imagination to change, and continue their primitive discomforts. Luxury which represents desire to refine life contributes much; that which is ostentatious does not.

"I seem to recall the back of the neck," said the youth, introduced to a sweet young thing, "but I don't place the knees."

On the Firing Line at the Nation's Capital

SECRETARY OF PEOPLE'S LOBBY URGES ABANDONING MODERN ARMS AS OBSOLETE IN FUTURE FIGHTS

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—"Who says the scrapping of armaments is only a dream?" asked Benjamin C. Marsh, scornfully, looking up from his executive secretarial desk at the Peoples' Lobby headquarters close by the capitol building.

"Oh, the militarists say so, do they?

"That just goes to show how far these old-fashioned militarists lag behind the times.

"Yes, I ksow. They assure us that we always will have wars.

"Well, I don't dispute that.

"Where our militarists make their big mistake is in assuming that we always shall fight with armorclads and TNT, any more than we fight now with bows and arrows.

"We shall fight in future with disease germs and gas and other modern improvements.

• • •

"Why keep an expensive navy and a high-priced land force to scatter a few cans of bacteria where they will do the most good? In fact, for such purposes, a navy is worth nothing at all. Planes are far better, for a tihe the cost.

"Experts question if an aviator, flying at an altitude beyond the reach of anti-aircraft batteries, can score many bull's-eyes with explosive bombs. Maybe he can't, but he can scatter epidemics wherever he goes, and leave them to spread themselves.

"Certainly armament reduction is practical. It would be impractical not to reduce; not to abandon present-day armaments entirely, indeed. They have lost their usefulness.

"That's why this disarmament talk makes me laugh.

"It's as if the tribesmen had met and agreed to stop fighting with stone hatchets when metal swords, with sharp edges, came into style."

• • •

And Secretary Marsh of the People's Lobby forsees one of these wars, with deadly microbes, et cetera, for the United States?

"Why, yes," answered the "peoples' lobbyist," "at the present rate I do.

"It is not so much that we are gaining control of everything everywhere that irritates the rest of the world with us. It is not so much that, as our pretense that we are doing it for the others' own good.

"Perhaps 'hypocrisy' is an inexact word to describe our attitude. Rather, we are self-deceived.

"The Pilgrim Fathers originally came here, in reality, looking for a place to exploit. But they considered themselves religious. They had embodied their idea in their very faith. A vicarious atonement! Something for nothing!—for them. Having made a success of this policy, as they were piously convinced, with providence itself, their aim was to spread the same gospel, for their own benefit, throughout the new world.

"We, their successors, are still carrying on the good work.

"We have finished, here in this country, to be sure; so now we are expanding all over the face of the earth."

• • •

"We are joined by the British in our evangel," observed the secretary, "partly because they are forcing their partnership on us, and partly because, inasmuch as they already had made a considerable start in the same direction before we were in a position to branch out so successfully, they are able to contribute something worth while.

"The English know they are on the down grade and are anxious to tie up with us. As for ourselves, we have a kindly feeling for the old country, at that.

"It is a pretty good combination, too.

"England has given efficient government and many advantages to the possessions she has annexed. Her influence on us should be beneficial. We are wholly irresponsible.

"This is a mistake on our part. Where we go, it is to our interest to create prosperity, to make customers for our goods, but our pioneers in the development of others' resources can't see it. 'Exploitation' is their whole creed."

• • •

"And we imagine we can get away with such a program indefinitely!" summed up Secretary Marsh.

And can't we?

"I doubt it," said the secretary. "Ultimately I predict that our wards will rebel.

"We might jump on a rebellion here, and another rebellion there, and put them down one after another. However, sooner or later the rebels will be apt to unite. Germany, Russia and Japan, for example, would make a formidable team. China, too! She must be reckoned with finally. Remember, I'm looking a quarter of a century or so ahead."

For that matter, we shall be no weakling of a nation, either.

"Judging from our present tendency," rejoined the secretary, "I venture the guess that we will be mighty soft.

"Let an exceedingly fatal epidemic of some laboratory-bred disease break out in a dozen of our biggest cities at once, and I fancy the howl will go up, 'We don't mind fair fighting, but this is too much! Let's quit!'"

OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY USED IN TREATING NERVE DISORDERS

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Diseases of the nervous system are usually divided into two types—those in which there have occurred actual changes in the tissues which are visible or otherwise demonstrable, and those in which the condition is what is called wholly mental.

Changes in the nervous tissue can take place as the result of injury, infection, the action of poisons, hemorrhages and similar causes. As a result of damage to a nerve, the person loses the ability to move the muscles which the nerve supplies, if it is a motor nerve; he loses sensation, if it is a sensory nerve, and he may lose his balance, his ability to hear or see, if it is one of the special nerves associated with such conditions.

It is rather well established that injury to nerve tissue is not easily overcome. This is the most highly organized tissue of the body and it tends to recover only with the greatest of difficulty when it is once seriously damaged.

The treatment for such conditions is usually re-education of the weakened tissues and education of the other tissues to take over the work of those that are injured. In such re-education, massage, the application of heat and electricity, corrective gymnastics and occupational treatment hold the leading places.

Anniversary Notes

BUCHANAN ELECTED

Today is the 72nd anniversary of the election of James Buchanan to the presidency of the United States on November 14, 1857.

The electoral vote was: for Buchanan, 174; for John C. Fremont, 114; for Millard Fillmore, 8. Buchanan had the vote of every slave-holding state, except Maryland, which went for Fillmore. The vote also gave him Indiana, Illinois, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

In the executive chair, Buchanan was apparently subservient to southern politicians and allowed their threats of secession to influence his actions. After Lincoln's election Buchanan was more than ever anxious to stifle the slavery discussion and in his last message to Congress pointedly charged the north with having brought about the existing crisis by a discussion which has "produced its malign influence on the slaves, and inspired them with a vague idea of freedom."

While holding that the states had no right to secede, he said that the nation had no power to prevent it.

Will Drill Well In Heart of Town

TYLER, Nov. 13. (AP)—Plans have been formulated for the drilling of an oil well in the very heart of Van, Texas' latest oil town.

P. H. Tunnell has leased to M. McKinney a piece of property 50 feet from the town's first store for $4,000, with a stipulation that a well be started within thirty days.

The Jarman No. 1, discovery well, and three other wells almost ready to be spudded in are located some distance north of Van.

Today's Poem

UNDER THE LINDENS

Under the lindens lately sat
A couple, and no more, in chat;
I wondered what they would be at
Under the lindens.

I saw four eyes and four lips meet,
I heard the words, "How sweet! how sweet!"
Had they the fairies given a treat
Under the lindens?

I pondered long and could not tell
What cozzy pleased them both so well
Deed, deed was it your hydromel
Under the lindens?

Grain Market Is Watched By Board

CHICAGO, Nov. 13. (AP) — Carl Williams, member of the Federal Farm Board, today said:

"The Farm Board is watching the grain market closely and at this time has no announcement to make."

Williams' statement followed reports in the market that the farm board was considering further measures for strengthening wheat prices.

Weakness Felt.

Stock market weakness was felt again in the grain market before noon, and March wheat slumped five cents from its early high mark. New low marks for the season were established before a reaction brought prices back two cents from the bottom to rest slightly below yesterday's closing levels. December wheat touched its low at $1.10 3-4; March at $1.17 1-2 and May $1.21 3-4.

Removal Law Held Unconstitutional

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today held unconstitutional the tenant removal law passed by the 41st legislature.

The appeal of Dillie Lane of Harrison county, fined $200 under the law, was reinstated, the judgement reversed, the charge dismissed and Lane ordered discharged.

The court held that the law, designed to prevent a man from enticing away another person's tenants, was in violation of both the state and national constitutions.

ACTION DEFERRED

Resolution To Investigate Market Postponed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. (AP) — Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, today deferred an attempt to obtain immediate adoption of his resolution to investigate the New York, Chicago and New Orleans cotton exchanges on assurance the resolution would be reported from committee for action tomorrow.

The investigation would determine whether the cotton exchanges have had a depressing influence on the price of cotton and what effect transactions on the New York stock exchange have had on cotton trading.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"—He's big tall man with curly hair and drives with red truck."

The Avenging Parrot

©1929 by NEA Service, Inc.

By Anne Austin, author of "The Black Pigeon," "Rival Wives" etc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

BONNIE DUNDEE, "cub" detective, rents a room at MRS. RHODES' boarding house to be near MRS. EMMA HOGARTH, who has appealed to the police for protection, throwing suspicion on EMIL SEVIER, a former boarder.

Dundee meets the boarders, MR. and MRS. SHARP, DAISY SHEPHERD, saleswoman; WALTER STYLES, proprietor of a small haberdashery; NORMA PAIGE, his fiance; BERT MAGNUS, amateur scenario writer; CORA BARKER, theatre pianist; HENRY DOWD, newcomer out of work, and DUSTY, worthless husband of Mrs. Rhodes.

Norma introduces Dundee to Mrs. Hogarth after dinner but he gets only a few minutes' chat with her alone. He leaves at 11, promising to return later. He comes back at 12:20 to find her choked to death. LIEUTENANT STRAWN, homicide squad chief, immediately sends a man to check up on Sevier, who it is learned left town hatless on the one o'clock train. A DR. WEEKS reports having seen a man running down the alley at 12:10 as he went to get his car to make a call. Dundee, stationed behind a screen takes notes as Dowd is quizzed. Cora Barker comes in.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER X

The Cora Barker whom Bonnie Dundee had met at dinner that even had been a woman possessed of a queer sort of beauty, exotic and largely artificial though that beauty was. A woman gallantly holding age at bay, convincing herself and almost convincing her world that she was a charming girl of 25 or 28, instead of a defeated, frustrated, heart-hungry woman of near 40. Then it was only her thin, dry-skinned hands which had betrayed her age, if one were so foolish as to look at them rather than into her great, shining black eyes.

But the face of the woman who hesitated at the door of the room where murder had been committed was a ravaged thing. The eyes were like burned holes in a yellow blanket. Her right hand was pressed hard against her heart; the left, freshly bandaged, hung at her side. Small wonder that Bonnie Dundee almost betrayed his presence behind the screen.

"You're Miss Barker?" Strawn asked briskly, when he had dismissed Patrolman Boyle and had waved the woman to a chair close to the dead woman's desk, at which he himself was seated.

"Cora Barker," she answered.

"You occupy the room next to this?"

"Yes, sir, the east corner room."

"You knew, of course, that Mrs. Hogarth was murdered tonight?" Strawn was brutally direct.

"A man — a detective, I suppose he was — knocked at my door and told me so," Cora answered unsteadily.

"And that was the first you knew of it?"

"Why,—of course!" she gasped.

"Where were you this evening, Miss Barker, between 11 and 12:15?"

"I was at the Little Queen Theater from 11 till 12, and then—"

"The movie closes at 11, doesn't it?" Strawn interrupted.

"The last show is over at 11 — yes," Cora answered. "I play the piano there, and I had to stay after the show to go over the score of the music for Sunday's picture with the new violinist, Mr. Frankel. We finished at half-past 11, and then I waited in the lobby or on the sidewalk in front of the theatre until 12."

"Why?"

"I was waiting for Mr. Magnus — Mr. Herbert S. Magnus, one of the boarders here," Cora replied, her voice quivering. "He had promised to call for me after theater-closing to take me out to supper and walk home with me."

"And when did he come— 12 o'clock?" Strawn prodded.

The thin shoulders shrugged and then sagged wearily. "He—didn't come," she admitted." "He had promised to be there about half-past 11, and I waited till 12. I — I might have waited longer, but the theater manager, Mr. Hartman, came out and made some joke about —about my being 'stood up', and I— I came on home, Mr. Hartman and I walked about a block together, to where his car was parked on Fourth and Grand. He offered to drive me home, but since it was only a few blocks I decided to walk."

"What time was it when you got home?" Strawn asked.

"It's only six blocks from here to the theatre, so it couldn't have been later than 12:10," Cora answered. "I didn't look at my watch after I left the theater—"

"Coming toward the house and up the front walk, did you see anyone?"

"No, no one at all. I glanced up at the house and saw that Mrs. Hogarth's light was on, but I thought nothing of it. She often sits up— I mean—" and her voice choked a little—"she often sat up quite late."

"Did you notice any other lights on?"

"Upstairs, you mean?" Cora frowned in concentration. "No. Mr. Dowd's window was dark, I believe, but I did not particularly notice. Yes, I'm quite sure there was no light in his room. My own window was dark, of course, and I couldn't see any others. The hall light was on downstairs, and the front door was still unlocked. I didn't see anyone downstairs as I came in, or upstairs, either. I went straight to my room, and—"

"Did you hear any sounds at all from Mrs. Hogarth's room?"

"No, nothing."

"Or any sound on the upstairs porch?"

"No, no noise of any kind."

"Did you look out of your windows, either or both of them?"

"No. I just pulled down the shades to undress. When I took off my dress — it's a new one—I saw that the pleats in the skirt had been badly mashed, and I decided to press it, so I put on my kimono and connected up a little electric iron I have—"

"Rather late for a job like that, wasn't it? Tomorrow, or rather today being Sunday?" Strawn suggested, his eyes narrowing upon her.

Dundee saw an ugly flush creep over the ghastly pallor of Cora Barker's face. "Yes, it was late, but I— well, you see, Mrs. Rhodes doesn't like for use to use electric irons and if I had waited till Sunday morning she might have—come into my room while I was pressing the dress, and—"

"I see," Strawn permitted himself a brief, twisted smile. "And then?"

"I—burnt my hand, and had to stop and dress it. I keep a tube of salve in my room for burns and sunburn. I was pressing the dress when I heard someone knock on Mrs. Hogarth's door. I didn't look to see who it was, but I do remember thinking it od dthat I didn't hear Mrs. Hogarth call out, 'Who is it?' as she always does—did. Then I heard her door open and a few minutes later whoever it was that had entered came out and went downstairs. The house was still, and I could hear the footsteps. I got the impression somehow that something was wrong, but I didn't investigate and really knew nothing about it until the man knocked at my door and told me that —that Mrs. Hogarth was dead, and that I was to wait there until I was called for—for questioning."

"I see." Strawn commented thoughtfully, and Dundee, through the joining of the screen panels, saw Cora Barker draw a deep, quivering breath of relief that her ordeal was over.

But it wasn't. . . . . "Now, Miss Barker, you say you saw no one or heard nothing when you came upstairs—"

"No, I didn't say that exactly," Cora interrupted. "I didn't see anyone, but I heard Bert's— I mean, Mr. Magnus' typewriter. His room is across the hall from mine, you know."

"And you didn't stop to speak to him, to ask him why he had failed to keep his appointment with you?"

The woman's flush deepened to dull crimson. "No, I—well, I was pretty angry with him, and—I have my pride—"

"You are in love with Mr. Magnus, Miss Barker," Strawn asked bluntly.

"You have no right to ask me that!" she flashed, and the dead eyes burned brightly with an angry blaze.

"I see," Strawn drawled, "I take it, then,that you are no longer engaged to Emil Sevier?"

"Engaged to Emil Sevier?" Cora echoed. "I never was engaged to Emil Sevier! And we are no longer even friends—"

"But it was you who suggested that he come here to board, wasn't it, Miss Barker?"

"I worked with him at the Little Queen Theater. He was violinist, and I was pianist. He asked me if I could recommend this as a boarding place, and I did, of course. We were together a good deal, because of our work and because we both love music, but—"

"You saw Sevier tonight?" Strawn cut in sharply.

Dundee saw that Cora was about to lie, then changed her mind. She flung up her head defiantly. "He stopped at my piano to tell me good-by. He said he was going to Chicago on the 1 o'clock train, to look for a new job."

"Isn't it true, Miss Barker, that Sevier asked you to do him a little favor before he left?" Strawn's voice was lazily pleasant, almost coxing.

"A favor?" Cora echoed, her eyes dilating. "What do you mean?"

"I mean," Strawn said very slowly and distinctly, "that Sevier asked you to help him rob Mrs. Emma Hogarth."

Cora Barker sprang to her feet. "That's not true! That's a lie, I tell you—"

"You don't mean to tell me, Miss Barker, that you didn't know Emil Sevier had planned, even attempted to rob Mrs. Hogarth?" Strawn smiled.

"I know Mrs. Hogarth made some such crazy charge against him," Cora panted, backing away from the detective, "but—she —she was always getting some crazy idea into her head—"

"And one of those crazy ideas was that she would be murdered for her money," Lieutenant Strawn pointed out quietly. "Another of her 'crazy ideas' was to name you in her will, and the later to change that will, Miss Barker, cutting you off without a penny. Will you tell me why?"

Uncle Tom And Simon Legree Really Lived, A Southern Writer Has Indicated

Graves of Slave and Master Viewed By New Orleans Man

By NEA Service

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—A shambling, woolly-pated negro known to millions as Uncle Tom and a black-browed, villainous white man named Simon Legree had a great deal to do with bringing about the Civil War, despite the fact it was generally believed they never existed.

They have always been supposed to have been inventions of Harriet Beecher Stowe, whose book fired the abolitionists and helped bring about the war between the states.

Now, however, come witnesses to declare that both Uncle Tom and Simon Legree were real people.

Uncle Tom, it is asserted, was a genuine slave, known by that name, and owned on a plantation in Louisiana.

Legree a New Englander

Legree, it is said, was a real planter—a man whose real name was Robert McAlpin, the owner of what is now known as Derry Plantation, on the Cane river, in Natchitoches parish, now the property of Mrs. Fanny H. C. Cuillot.

The testimony of these witnesses is presented by Lyle Saxon, former New Orleans newspaperman, in "Old Louisiana," a book he has just published.

Saxon dug into old records, found old affidavits and got together a pretty strong case for the theory that Mrs. Stowe simply set down the actual facts concerning real people when she wrote the book that set the nation aflame.

"They Are Equal Now"

He does not come to any definite conclusion himself. After visiting the old plantation, and standing before the grave where McAlpin lies buried, Saxon remarks:

"Was the man who slept there a brute, like Simon Legree? Or was he innocent of the things said against him? There was no answer. I turned away and wandered among the graves of the negroes. Perhaps among them Robert McAlpin's body servant, Uncle Tom, is also lying. At any rate, they are equal now."

Presents the Evidence

His book sets forth all of the evidence and lets the reader make his own decision.

To begin with, Mrs. Stowe's book gave a very definite location to Simon Legree's plantation, and described it very closely. Her data fit the old McAlpin plantation exactly, even to the fact that McAlpin's house originally had two rows of China trees extending in front of it, just as Legree's plantation house had.

McAlpin was a New Englander—and so was Legree. Several affidavits and stories collected by Mr. Saxon indicate that McAlpin was known to his neighbors as a heavy drinker, a bachelor and a cruel slave-owner. And he had a body servant known as Uncle Tom.

Visited There in 1840

Mrs. Stowe, according to neighborhood tradition, visited McAlpin in 1840. Later, it is said, she sent a copy of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" to a friend in Alexandria, La., and wrote in the fly leaf, "Do you recognize this?" Some years ago, according to an elderly Alexandria resident whose testimony Saxon unearthed, a citizen of the vicinity, said, "How come that woman up north got the man's name wrong? His name was McAlpin, not Legree. I knew him well. He was the worst man in the whole country."

Local tradition has it that at the time of the Civil War everybody in the neighborhood of McAlpin's plantation took it for granted that McAlpin was Simon Legree. No one outside of the parish ever heard of it, however, until 1892, when Judge D. B. Corley of Abilene, Texas, came to the plantation, found the cabin that was said to have been occupied by McAlpin's servant, Uncle Tom, bought it, and took it to Chicago for exhibition at the World's Fair.

Judge Obtained Affidavits

At that time Judge Corley raked the countryside for affidavits to prove the theory that McAlpin and Legree were one and the same person; and it is the affidavits he collected then that Saxon quotes in his book.

Saxon also presents a document, signed in 1892 by one Lamy Chapin, whose father had bought the plantation before the Civil War, and who had lived there practically all of his life.

Lamy Chapin said that everyone around him always supposed that the plantation was Simon Legree's, and added that he himself had had that belief from his early childhood. When he fell heir to the place, he said, he remodeled things extensively, cut down one of the two rows of China trees and destroyed all of the old slave quarters with the exception of Uncle Tom's cabin.

A number of the old affidavits are from citizens who remembered Uncle Tom, and told of having heard that McAlpin mistreated the old negro continually.

One dissenting voice is heard. Phanor Breazeale of Natchitoches, noted throughout Louisiana as a lawyer, investigated the matter rather extensively several years ago and declared that McAlpin had been badly libeled; that he had been, in reality, a kind and generous master and a sober and upright citizen, and that Mrs. Stowe, far from having visited him, had never been in Louisiana at all.

There Saxon leaves the matter. He does not attempt to decide the issue; he merely remarks, after viewing the graves where Uncle Tom and McAlpin are buried, that "they are equal now."

The tragic death of Little Eva, as depicted in this old illustration from "Uncle Tom's Cabin," brought tears to the eyes of millions of readers two generations ago. Uncle Tom, ever faithful and humble, is seen weeping at the foot of the bed, with Topsy—who "just growed"—kneeling in prayer as the angels take Little Eva away. For years the world has believed Uncle Tom a mere figment of Harriet Beecher Stowe's imagination—but now Lyle Saxon, at right, has gathered evidence tending to prove he really lived.

Work Slows Down On British Base

Construction Of British Naval Base At Singapore Slackens Pending London Five-Power Conference

LONDON, Nov. 13. (AP)—With the London five-power naval conference only two months off and the Anglo-American naval negotiations successfully terminated, the British labor government has decided to slow down work on the great British naval base at Singapore.

A. V. Alexander, first Lord of the Admirality, made the announcement in the house of commons today.

Decision Recalled.

He recalled the fact that the labor government of 1924 had decided not to proceed with the proposed base and then pointed out that the decision of the late conservative government to go on with the work had altered the case for the new labor government. "The conservatives had carried on work that had been expensive to the British taxpayers and involved contributions from the Malay Peninsular states, New Zealand and Hongkong.

"The house is aware that a naval conference has now been arranged, the decisions of which may affect the question of the use of this base," he said, "and in all the circumstances the government has decided that the work already contracted for at Singapore shall be slowed down as much as possible, that all the work that can be suspended shall be suspended and that no new work shall be embarked upon, pending the result of the five-power conference."

Wants To Wait.

When questioners pressed him for the views of the dominions, Alexander said that they had been notified several times, of the forthcoming decision. He ended by saying: "I should like to wait a little longer before giving a definite answer."

Road Problems Of States Taken Up

Members Of American Association Of State Highway Officials Discuss Plans For Bettering Roads

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 13. —(AP)— Members of the American Association of State Highway officials today heard formal addresses, and divided itself into group meetings for study of the problems peculiar to the various states.

Governor Moody approved policies advocated by Thomas H. MacDonald of Washington, D. C., chief of the bureau of public roads, and went on record in favor of the state bond issue plan of financing permanent construction instead of the pay-as-you-go idea prevalent at present.

Maintenance High

He said under the present plan the current highway fund was eaten up by maintenance costs and that a connected system of permanent roads was virtually impossible unless a bond issue were voted with the income from the gasoline tax and registration fees pledged to pay the interest and redeem the principal.

The Texas legislature last winter refused to submit a proposed constitutional amendment to permit the issuance of state bonds for construction of highways. Before bonds can be resorted to the constitution must be amended and it can only be altered by a majority vote of the people after the legislature, by a two thirds vote, submits the amendment for confirmation.

The convention will complete its business sessions tomorrow and leave Friday for a trip to Monterrey, Mexico, to inspect highway construction now in progress in that section.

Western Railway Giants In Fight

Legal Battle Over Little 200 Miles Railroad Building Project Is Started In California Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13. (AP)—Western railroad giants today opened a great battle over a little 200 mile railroad building project.

The Great Northern and Western Pacific railroads began their fight to secure Federal permission to build in Northern California a connecting line between the two far systems. The Southern Pacific, monarch of western carriers, opposed the project. Eleven states, a dozen railroads, including subsidiaries and two score community and civic bodies were arrayed in support of opposition to the project.

our witnesses, high officials of the petitioning railroad system, testified that public transportation service would be improved by the proposed line. They held that the interchange of traffic over a north-south line, competing with the Southern Pacific would stimulate commerce and industry in the northwestern and southwestern as well as the central western parts of the United States.

Today's witnesses were Arthur Curtiss James, chairman of the board of the Western Pacific and reputed to be the largest railroad shareholder in the United States; Vice-President W. P. Kenney of the Great Northern railway; President Ralph Budd, of the same company, and President Harry M. Adams, of the Western Pacific railroad.

Cotton Steady; Stock Prices Crushed

Values Get Boost After Easing Off To New Low Level

Steadier Tone Developed Due To Oversold Condition Of Market; Final Prices Show Advances

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13. (AP)—After easing off into new low ground for the season cotton developed a steadier tone today due to a stronger technical position and the apparent oversold condition of the market. Although some additional selling developed due to the weakness in stocks, offerings were absorbed around yesterday's closing levels and final prices showed advances of about $1 a bale.

January contracts opened at 16.71, eased off to 16.68, then rallied to 16.85 only to sell back to the low points. The afternoon recovery, however, carried the option to 17.05 where it closed for a net gain of 28 points. The general market closed very steady at net advances of 18 to 20 points.

Opens Easy

The market opened easy in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables than looked for. Initial trades showed losses of 13 to 15 points and prices continued to ease off on the weakness in stocks. December touching 16.57 and active months generally to levels of 14 to 16 points below yesterday's close.

Prospects for a severe cold spell in the belt coupled with an improvement in stocks stimulated some demand later which absorbed offerings and carried prices up 16 to 17 points above the lows. However, the subsequent easiness in the stock market made itself felt towards noon and a general reaction brought December back to 16.55, and March 16.98 or 15 to 18 points down from the highs.

Rallies Follow Cotton Decline

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. (AP)—A further decline in the cotton market at the opening today was followed by rallies on trade buying and covering.

January contracts which had sold off to 16.76 during the early trading advance to $17.15 or nearly $2 per bale from the low level of the morning. January closed at 17.14 with the general market closing strong at net advances of 21 to 25 points. The opening was steady at a decline of 7 to 15 points with active positions soon showing net losses of 14 to 22 points under renewed liquidation combined with Southern and local selling. This pressure was promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables and talk of domestic mill curtailment following the publication of the favorable cloth statistics for October and the recent falling off of business in the goods market.

Buying Active.

December contracts sold down to 16.55 and March to 17.05 under the initial pressure but there was more trade buying at the decline and prices soon turned steadier. Midday rallies attracted some further selling but the offerings were absorbed on moderate setbacks and the market turned firm in the last half hour on active covering.

Closing quotations were within a point or two of the best.

Livestock Trade Featured By Another Sharp Break In Prices of Yearlings

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 13. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Livestock trade around the 11 market circuit was featured by another sharp break in fed steer and yearling prices. A few points reported steady figures on choice yearling trade was weak to unevenly lower, with weighty steers off 50c. Choice long yearlings in Chicago realized $15.50 while highly finished heavy steers were $14.00. Current prices on weighty fed steers are almost back to the low levels of last January and February. Country demand narrow with values at most centers as low or lower than any time this season. Feeder trade sluggish. Aggregate receipts 42,700, a decrease of 13,000 from a week ago and 8,000 short of the same day last year.

Demand Stimulated

Curtailed receipts stimulated demand for hogs with prices strong to 25c higher. Butcher weights continued to command an appreciable premium over underweights. The top of $9.50 was paid both at Chicago and St. Louis. Choice 315 pound averages in Chicago reached $9.40. Total offerings 78,500 against 106,803 last Wednesday and 103,525 a year ago.

Quoted Values In Wednesday Market Are Crushed Down

Officials Of Stock Exchange Take Action To Learn Source Of Destructive Pressure In Sessions

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. (AP)—Ruthless and unremitting crushing down of quoted values went forward with augmented force on the stock market today, as officials of the stock exchange took action to learn the source of the destructive pressure. Unofficial reassurances as to the nation's financial stability and strength were forthcoming from important sources in Washington.

The decline was as orderly as it was persistent, but more than 300 stocks explored low levels previously untouched this year, and the volume of trading for the three hour session swelled to 7,761,450 shares, a total unsurpassed in any session of like duration, even exceeding the turnover of 7,184,060 shares of October 7. The pace of trading was relatively smaller than on October 29, however, when 16,410,030 shares changed hands in five hours, or at the average rate of approximately 3,300,000 shares an hour, compared to an hourly rate of about 2,590,000 shares today.

Losses 2 To 29

Losses ran from 2 to 29 points, but few leading issues dropped more than 10 points. The associated Press index of 50 leading industrials was depressed 8.8 points and the index of 20 leading rails 4.9 points to the lowest levels since February 20, 1928, and that of 20 leading utilities 11.5 points to the lowest since August 27, 1928.

Remembers Nothing

Brady was reported to have told officers the day after the stabbing that he remembered nothing about it. Officers reported he told them that he attended a drinking party after the Baylor-Texas football game and that all he remembered thereafter was a "difficulty with several persons."

William Brady, Los Angeles attorney and brother of the former jurist, was expected here tonight to aid in his brother's defense. The wife of the accused man today continued her custom of taking his meals to him in jail.

Wheat Decreases To Low Mark But Finishes Strong

Prices Achieve Paradox By Rallies After Collapse To Low Record For Year In Early Sessions

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

CHICAGO, Nov. 13. (AP)—All grain achieved a paradox feat today collapsing to new low price records for the season, but averaging higher and finishing strong. Big overseas demand which developed for wheat, together with widespread better call from domestic millers, more than offset temporary depressing effects of stock market derangement. World stocks of wheat showed a decrease of 6,036,000 bushels. Notice was taken that huge immediate supplies of wheat in the United States have been fully discounted, as well as that 500,000,000 bushels shortage in the 1929 world's wheat crop is beyond dispute.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm at 1 1-4 to 1 7-8c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Rye falling 9 1-2c closed at 1-4 to 1-8c net advance, with corn showing 5-8 to 1-14c gain, oats 7-8 to 1 1-8c up and provisions unchanged to 27c down.

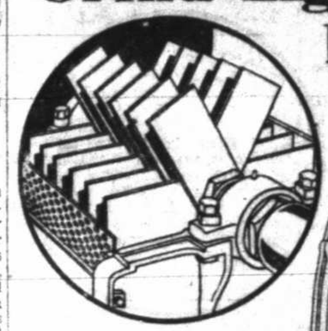

Buoyancy Shown

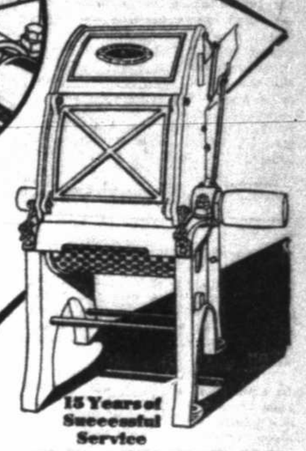

It was apparent that after stock market trading was ended today, grain prices showed notable relative bouyancy, and were more responsive to news directly affecting cereals.

Earlier, the wheat and rye markets proved sensitive to fluctuations in stocks and only to a lesser degree had responded to such influences as surprise upturns in Liverpool wheat values and to indications that the federal farm board may take new measures to help strengthen the grain markets.

An American picture recently opened the sound-film season in Norway.

PRIVATE ON TRIAL
LAREDO, Nov. 13. (AP)—Lee Main, vate of the eighth engineers, ited States army, is to go on trial rrow on a charge of slaying rgeant W. H. Perrin at Fort Mcntosh, near here, last May. He leaded not guilty at his arraign--hearing.

Road Hearing

C. E. Maedgen, W. R. Blake, Sam C. Arnett, Jed A. Rix and Spencer A. Wells, who favored the road district petition, and E. B. Speck, who opposed it.

Cossission Charged

The claim that the State Highway commission is viewing the next road bonds election in Lubbock county as a referendum on the matter of routing highway 53 into this city, and the intimation that the highway commission failed to keep an agreement made by them with citizens of this county, furnished the high lights of yesterday's sessions.

This claim was made by Speck who, upon taking the stand, said that he favored the district project as drawn up, but that he believed the routing of 53 must be settled before an election is called.

Says Faith Lost

"I think the highway commission acted like a bunch of school boys," Speck said, "in going back on their agreement, and I can't say that I have the utmost faith in them any more."

A question made by J. H. Hankins to this statement of Speck's was as to whether or not Speck had changed his opinion of the highway commission when that body ordered designation of 53 be out Broadway instead of Avenue H. Considerable time was taken with Speck's testimony and questions from proponents of the district plan, his contention continuing that the election should not be called until routing of 53 is settled.

E. L. Klett, attorney representing the district plan's general committee, inquired if it would not be fair to the county as a whole for this problem to be settled in the courts or by the highway commission. O'Neall stated, as he had previously testified and as every witness favoring the district project did, that the question of 53's routing does not enter into the present election proposal as they are leaving that routing up to the highway department.

Want Settlement

W. W. Campbell, attorney representing opponents of the district election proposal, made a plea that the 53 question be settled before an election is called. He read proceedings of the state highway commission upon which is based the contention that the state body is looking upon this election as a referendum on highway 53's routing.

"A connected system of highways leading to somewhere is the aim of the state highway department, and the idea of the committee in charge of drawing up a petition requesting this election in district number two was to get all state highways through Lubbock county, insofar as possible, paved," was the declaration of J. H. Hankins. Highway 53 as part of the Carlsbad Cavern highway, he contended to be of more importance to this section than any other highway.

Good Investment

C. E. Maedgen said: "I believe voting bonds to pave all state and federal roads in this road district would be a profitable investment and this paving should not be delayed because of differences among a few over 53."

Need for paved roads in the west part of the county was stressed by W. R. Blake's testimony. In offering proof to show that the paving of only 7 and 9, or 7 and 9 and 53 east, would be unfair, he stated the west half of the county was developing more rapidly than any section he knew of. Traffic on the Levelland road, exclusive of through traffic, is as great, or greater than that on any road in the county. He named purchasing farms east and west of Lubbock. The one cast was bought for $85 per acre and one west for $200 per acre. Because of Texas Technological college he stated land values to the west are greater than those to the east and that his valuations on west land was $25 per acre approximately, while that east has a valuation of only about half.

Tells of Mud

Sam C. Arnett related a trip of 4 1-2 hours duration, from Lamesa to Lubbock over muddy roads recently, when the trip ordinarily is made in 1 1-2 hours time. He said he would be glad to see all highways paved. In answer to a question by Judge Robert H. Bean as to which of the three petitions before the court would pass, if called, Arnett declared that in district two.

Jed Rix said he was thoroughly convinced that it would be impossible to carry an election for only 7, 9 and 53 east, but that the number two district election can be carried. He did not believe there is any real opposition to the district plan.

Commissioner J. T. Pinkston asked Rix, as he did every other witness, whether or not he believed Slaton was responsible for defeat of the two previous bond issue elections, to which Rix replied that they were only partly responsible. In his opinion 53 southwest is of more importance to Lubbock's trade than is highway 7 southeast.

It was Spencer A. Wells' opinion that 53 southwest is of more importance to Lubbock merchants than is 7 southeast.

"We've been tremendously penalized the past few years because we have not had paved roads," Wells said. "Road district number two was made not to cut Slaton off, but was the only alternative for us to get paved roads."

Rix had made the statement that Slaton men had said when the district was formed that they would call an election for the same date as district two did and vote to pave highway 7 through their section of the county.

Abernathy Questions

M. G. Abernathy, during the afternoon session, asked a number of questions pertaining to the price of bonds now offered in the bond market and to whether or not certain men present had heard State Highway Commission Chairman R. S. Sterling make the promise that the state commission would send an engineer to Lubbock county to route 53 the way they deemed best and that agreement had been reached to abide by that decision.

Charles F. O'Neall, first witness to take the stand, declared that repeated efforts had been made to arrive at a county-wide road bond project, but that the propositions made by Slaton representatives were such that his committee believed the only equitable way to serve all parts of the county was as outlined in the petition on file. He testified that the paving of these highways was essential to the county and a necessary improvement, giving a saving of money to property owners in going over the routes with their farm produce to sell.

Highway 53, O'Neall contended, is of more importance to Lubbock county than any other road, because of the Carlsbad Cavern route from Oklahoma City to El Paso. As Lubbock pays about 63 per cent of the county's taxes, he said that this city would be called upon to pay approximately 75 per cent of the cost of building these roads and that the country districts would be getting the greater benefit, while paying only about 25 per cent of this cost.

Pinkston Asks Questions.

Upon questioning by Commissioner J. T. Pinkston, of Slaton, O'Neall testified that the increase in taxes, because of the $1,025,000 bond issue in the road district, would be only from about eight to 10 cents per acre. Pinkston asked him if it is not a fact that the highway department of Texas has a policy not to build roads in districts unless they go to the county line, to which he replied that he had been told by one of the state engineers that, although it might be difficult to get state aid on Highway 7, through the district, he believed it could and would be done.

Asked by Commissioner W. L. Brashear, of Idalou, if the State Highway department had not said they would not pave the road to the west with concrete, O'Neall replied that the department had not made any expression as to what kind of roads they would build.

"Our figures on all roads," O'Neall stated, "are based on concrete construction."

When quizzed as to what percentage of the voters in Lubbock would vote for the district bonds, O'Neall said he believed the vote would be about 30 to one. On the two other projects, however, he stated there would be not very much enthusiasm for either in the city of Lubbock.

Brewer and Wilson, of Slaton, questioned him as to which would be the better project, either of their two propositions as expressed in petitions before the court, or the district, considerable discussion arising over how the efforts at arriving upon a project were obtained. Slaton men contend for the road from that city to intersect highway 53 near Idalou. Other discussion was about results of the past two elections, Brewer Pinkston and Wilson denying that Slaton votes had defeated them.

O'Neall declared that there had never been a hostile attitude prevalent in Lubbock against Slaton, in regard to their desires for highways and that the reason the request for an election now is on a district-wide basis is "because we believe that if we get the roads we want we must form our own district and vote them."

E. L. Klett, acting as legal representative of the general committee headed by O'Neall, conducted that organization's part of the hearing. The court room was almost filled to capacity with interested spectators from Lubbock, Slaton and other communities of the county. The hearing opened at 11 o'clock.

Prior to opening of the meeting representatives of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce, headed by J. H. Brewer and Lloyd A. Wilson, met with O'Neall's committee in a last minute effort at arriving at a compromise on the road project muddle, but resulted in the Lubbock and Slaton men stacking by their respective guns. Lubbock is for calling the election in road district number two for paving highways throughout every section of the county included, while Slaton stands for a county-wide election to pave either Highway 7 and 9, or 7 and 9 and 53, east.

"This hearing," remarked E. L. Klett, in stating the road district contentions, "is to receive evidence as to the improvement proposed in this election being of benefit to the property owners in road district number two." He stated that in view of unanimous opinion that road paving is a benefit, there would be no need of taking up the court's time in giving such evidence, but Judge Robert H. Bean being of the opinion that the formal demand of the statute regulating such hearings demanded such evidence, this was the following procedure.

attended the war secretary when he was stricken suddenly after dinner at his home last night.

Diagnosis Made

Secretary Wilbur, a physician, participated in another examination early today at the hospital, where Good was taken immediately after his attack. A diagnosis of acute appendicitis was made and immediate operation found necessary. It was performed by Col. William L. Keller, noted army surgeon, with Commander Boone in attendance.

Mrs. Good was with her husband most of the day.

Good first noticed the approach of illness at the war department yesterday afternoon. He was trying to work on his annual report and remarked to his secretary that he did not feel well. Abdoginal pains were causing him distress.

Hoover Concerned

An indication of the president's deep concern over the illness of his friend, who served as campaign manager for him in the west last year, was this unusual arrangement for acquainting the public with the progress of the cabinet member in his struggle. From time to time senators telephoned to the White House for word that had been received from the military hospital.

Mystery Slaying Believed Solved

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 13. (AP)—A mysterious highway slaying was believed by officers to be solved late today with the issuance of a first degree murder warrant against Private Clifford Reynolds, 23, charged with killing private Charles H. Schoonover, 22, of Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

Reynolds, who signed a confession at Fort Leavenworth, where he also was stationed, will be tried in the civil courts.

In the confession, Reynolds said he cut his associate's throat in a quarrel following Schoonover's "assertion that Reynolds knew too much about Schoonover's past record in the army." Both soldiers were implicated, Reynolds is said to have confessed, in the theft of army supplies.

The slaying followed an Armistice day trip of Reynolds and Schoonover to Kansas City. They are said to have drunk together in several "speak-easies."

ton to the association and that total receipts already were approximately 100,000 bales. This was within 15,000 bales of the total receipts last year in spite of the fact that it is still early in the season for the pool and the fact that the state crop is estimated to be 1,000,000 bales smaller this year.

Plans Are Made By Executives

DALLAS, Nov. 13. (AP)—With almost half a million dollars of the funds which the federal farm board will advance to Texas cotton growers already in the bank E. H. Linsteader, assistant secretary of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association tonight outlined the following steps which a man who owns a bale of cotton must take to obtain an advance on it from the fund.

1.—Sign a marketing agreement with the association. This agreement has been liberalized in some respects.

2—Ship his cotton as instructed by the association. These instructions are posted in country banks and other public places throughout the state.

3.—Draw the first advance of approximately $60 per bale.

4.—Draw the second advance as soon as the cotton is weighed and classed. The amount of the second advance depends on the cotton. The total advance will equal 16 1-4 cents per pound on the basis of middling seven-eighth-inch staple minus freight and handling expenses. The advances will be loans on the cotton which will be supplemented by further payments when the cotton is sold if the association succeeds in its intention of obtaining better prices for the crop.

PERPETUAL CARE

REASONS WHY!

The purchase of a cemetery lot is an obligation that sooner or later will have to be met. Being indispensable, it is better attended to when we may, than when we must. The time to make such choice is when there is abundant opportunity for deliberation and wise selection; not to wait until distracted with grief or worn out with weary watching and care in a sick room.

It is a comforting thought to the survivors to have a place of interment already secured at beautiful Memorial Park. Prudence suggests that we look forward to future requirements, as the purchase of a lot should be but once in the history of the family.

Interested persons are solicited to visit and inspect beautiful Memorial Park.

Harry Bone Talks To Tech Students At Session Here

"American College Campus" Discussed By Member Of National Council Of Y. M. C. A. At Convocation

Harry Bone, member of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A. of America and nationally prominent student, addressed a general convocation of several hundred students and the faculty of Texas Technological college at the gymnasium yesterday morning at 11 o'clock.

"The American College Campus" was the subject of the address. Discussion concerning points made in the talk was held in room 219 of the Administration building from 3 until 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Two Curricula

"There are two distinct curricula in every college, the faculty and the student," said the speaker. "The many outside activities which are prevalent on American campuses today are the outgrowth of an inadequacy of college life. Extra curricula activities may aid in the development of initiative, they may aid in the betterment of forensic or musical talent, and certainly they enrich the college life with the football teams, yearbooks, school paper, and clubs.

"But what I am thinking of," continued the speaker, "is that they are participated in indiscriminately, and instead of a student having time to do objective thinking he finds himself measuring up to a standard set according to the number of extra-curricula activities to which he belongs."

Motives Listed

Mr. Bone listed motives which impel a person to go to college as follows: Because the gang goes; parental urge; vocational fitness; a cultural interest; matrimonial bureau provided by the campus; social advantages, and a desire to keep from entering the business world for four years.

The lecturer gave as five tests of an educated man as being that of his ability to function in a physical self; mental efficiency; ability to develop a philosophy of life; preparation for some sort of work, and the ability to select a mate and adjust himself to the making and building of a home.

ONE PERMIT ISSUED

Building permit valuations in this city were increased for the month of November yesterday to $20,215 for nine permits, with the issuance of a $1,000 permit to J. J. Clements, contractor, for erection of an office and warehouse at 502 Avenue Q.

Valuations for the year are $3,090,699, for 551 permits.

Deep Breaking Is Started In Terry

New Experiment Undertaken On Raw Land Of Sawyer Farm; Depth Of Sixteen Inches Reached

(Special To The Avalanche)

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 13.—Breaking sod to a depth of sixteen inches was commenced a few days ago on a tract of one hundred acres of raw land owned by A. A. Sawyer and is the first experiment of this nature to be undertaken in this section although breaking of sandy soil from fourteen to twenty inches has been practiced in a limited manner for the past two years on land that had been previously placed in cultivation, and in all instances it gave an increased yield of more than fifty per cent over land that had been broken in the usual manner.

The deep breaking idea for increased production and soil conservation, originated in the mind of Roy B. Davis, county agent of this county and his first test in this section was made while he was employed as county agent of Gaines county and results obtained there caused him to continue his experiments after his transfer to Terry county.

Much interest is being taken in the Sawyer test and if it shows the expected increased yield over average first year crops it is very probable that a considerable number of our farmers will have their land treated in the same manner.

I've Tried It Out And I Know Says Amarillo Man

J. J. McKnight Says: "Orgatone Beats Anything I Ever Saw In My Life."

J. J. McKnight, a well known groceryman of 113 N. McMasters St. is one of the best pleased men in Amarillo, and when he talks of what Orgatone has done for him, the genuineness of his enthusiasm never fails to convince his hearers that his faith is well founded.

"I've tried it out and I know," he stated, "and I want to say right here and now that what five bottles of this Orgatone has done for me beats anything I ever saw in my life! I was so bilious that when I'd get up in the morning I would feel more tired and worn out than when I went to bed.

"The fact is, I hadn't felt like a well man in over ten years, for my stomach just seemed to go back on me entirely and I couldn't digest anything right and I didn't get any nourishment from what I'd eat. My appetite failed me and things got so they didn't taste right, and most of my food didn't seem to have any taste at all.

"I would have severe headaches a great part of the time and couldn't sleep at night, and would have pains all through my stomach and would feel sore and stiff. I had little or no energy and was so blue over my condition that I was out of sorts most of the time, for I didn't see how I was going to keep up much longer if my condition kept getting worse.

"Since I got onto this Orgatone, and took a few bottles of it, I feel one hundred per cent better, and just as cheerful as the next one you'll come across. I eat good, sleep good, and everything tastes good and don't disagree with me the least particle. To make a long story short, all these old troubles have left me, and I am feeling simply fine.

"I've told a lot of my neighbors about this medicine and I know a good many that are taking it, one of them a friend of mine, who began taking it about the same time I did, says it has done him a world of good. He was in bad shape but now looks just like a different person.

"I can't say enough about this medicine—it's certainly great."
