Concert Assn. Sets Annual Fall Drive

The Scurry Concert Association will launch its fall drive for the convenience of new residents Monday. The drive will continue through Sept. 13.

The fall membership campaign enables persons who have moved to Snyder since the spring campaign and those who were out of town during the spring campaign to become members of the association.

The membership drive last spring increased the association's roll by 143 persons. As a result of the increase, an outstanding season is planned.

Checks for memberships should be mailed to Mrs. Glenn Barron at the Chamber of Commerce office. Membership fees are $7.50 for adults and $4 for students. However, no family will have to pay more than $20 for memberships for everyone in the family.

Admissions to Scurry Concert Association programs is by membership card only. No tickets are sold after the season is started.

Programs scheduled for the coming season include Phillips and Renzulli, two - piano concert, Nov. 1; New York Sextet, Feb. 24; and Chicago Little Symphony, March 16.

As in past years, if enough memberships are sold, there is a possibility of a bonus concert. Plans for this will be announced later in the year.

Pact Lacks Ratification

By NEIL GILBRIDE

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Steel industry negotiators return from Washington today, a new contract, ready for ratification and the threat of an industry shutdown apparently ended.

President Johnson announced their agreement at the White House Friday night, saying: "The settlement is a fair one. It is designed to prevent the inflation which would damage our prosperity."

Officials didn't reveal the terms pending ratification, but sources said the wage-benefit package was between 46 cents and 48 cents an hour over three years, depending on whether union or management figures were used.

The 450,000-member United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO, had sought a package it estimated at 48.9 cents. The 10-company management team pegged the package at 55 cents.

Sources said the settlement would increase pensions about $5 a month per year of service, a 50-cent increase over the company's offer of $4.50. Under the old contract, the maximum pension was about $7.60 a month per year of service.

It couldn't be learned how much of increase in hourly wages the Steelworkers would receive. The average wage now is pegged at $4.40 an hour.

Government sources would say only that the agreement is within the White House guidelines of a 3.2 per cent annual increase.

Johnson said the negotiators, in reaching agreement, put the national interest, including the Viet Nam war, above their own interests.

The union's 170-man wage policy committee meets in Pittsburgh at 9 a.m. Sunday to consider the White House spurred agreement.

A union source said no difficulty was expected. Ratification by the 10 major steel firms which produce 80 per cent of the nation's steel was expected to be routine.

The President called the steelmen from Pittsburgh to Washington on Monday, talked to them and that evening announced they had extended the shutdown deadline eight days from the original Tuesday midnight deadline.

Magna Carta Displayed In Washington

By LEE GARRETT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under pressure from the barons of his realm 750 years ago, King John of England signed a document, the Magna Carta, limiting what he could demand of the barons and what they could expect from their men.

A rare original copy of its last major revision, issued 10 years later, was flown here from Britain Friday for display later this month. The occasion is a World Conference on Peace through Law, starting Sept. 12.

The original and its later revisions laid the foundation of the Anglo-Saxon system of individual rights and liberties, from which both the British and American systems have developed.

The Magna Carta — Great Charter — and a dozen other documents, some historic and some recent, will be included in a display to continue through Oct. 31 at the National Archives. They will be shown for a time alongside the U.S. Declaration of Independence and Constitution when those originals are returned to home base from the World's Fair in New York.

Security Council To Study Kashmir War

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, president for September of the U.N. Security Council, called the council to meet this afternoon to consider the Indian-Pakistani fighting in Kashmir.

Goldberg issued a statement saying:

"Consultation by the secretary-general (U Thant) and the president of the Security Council with members of the council has revealed a general desire that the Security Council be convened promptly to consider, in light of the secretary-general's appeal for a cease-fire, the serious conflict now taking place in Kashmir.

"Since under the circumstances a meeting is necessary, I have, as Security Council president, called a meeting of the council for 3 p.m. today, Sept. 4."

Secretary - General U Thant reported earlier he had been unable to get any assurance from Pakistan that it would respect the 1949 cease-fire line in Kashmir.

In a report to the U.N. Security Council, he said India had agreed, provided Pakistan would adhere to the cease-fire.

The report was made public as council members stood by expecting a call to meet this afternoon. Malaysia was drafting a cease-fire resolution, diplomatic sources said.

Goldberg, the council president for September, could not reach all of its 11 members Friday but the majority indicated they favor a meeting today, a spokesman said.

Informants said U.N. Secretary-General U Thant wanted a resolution to strengthen the cease-fire appeal he sent Wednesday to India and Pakistan.

Thant ordered publication today of a recent confidential report by Australian Lt. Gen. Robert H. Nimmo, chief of the U.N. military observer group in India and Pakistan, which checks on compliance with a 1949 cease-fire agreement for the disputed border area.

Fluvanna PO Bid Accepted

The U. S. Post Office Department has accepted the bid of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hedrick for construction of a post office building at Fluvanna.

Rep. Omar Burleson said the contract was agreed upon Friday.

Specifications call for a building with 806 square feet of floor space, plus an 80 square-foot platform and 5,996 square-foot parking area.

The Post Office Department will take a 10-year lease on the building, with four five - year renewal options.

The building will be located on the north side of Tenth Street, between Elm and Main in Fluvanna. Annual rental will be $1,440, with total construction cost estimated at $14,500. Completion is scheduled for May of 1966.

Carolinas In Betsy's Path

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Betsy howled past the Cape Kennedy missile complex today, 360 miles at sea, and continued on a course endangering the Carolinas.

The Miami Weather Bureau prepared to order a hurricane watch for portions of the North and South Carolina coasts and warned residents of the two states to keep in continuous touch with advisories on the 125-an-hour storm.

Along a 500-mile stretch of the eastern seaboard from Cape Kennedy to Cape Hatteras, small craft were chased into port as winds rose and seas grew angry.

Betsy had swung from a northwest to a north-northwest course, an encouraging development for Carolinians, but forecasters said the threat to that area still remained.

At 11 a.m. (EST), the storm was centered near latitude 28.7 north, longitude 75.6 west. This was 360 miles east of Cape Kennedy and 465 miles due south of Cape Hatteras. It was moving forward at nine miles an hour.

Gales whipped out 150 miles to the southwest of the hurricane "eye" and 200 miles in all other directions, and the Weather Bureau said the area of gales may grow larger.

The hurricane watch being considered for the Carolinas is an alert preliminary to actual hurricane warnings.

A hurricane hunter pilot who rode a bucking plane through the storm most of the night reported that Betsy's highest winds of 125 miles an hour were whipping around a well-defined eye 35 miles in diameter.

The Bahamas Islands escaped damage as the hurricane whirled up the Atlantic Ocean east of the chain. Winds peaked at 35 miles an hour on Abaco, one of the larger islands.

At 8 a.m., Betsy was centered near latitude 28.2 north, longitude 75.3 west. This is about 325 miles east of Melbourne, Fla., and 500 miles south of Cape Hatteras.

The storm churned up 120,000 square miles of the Atlantic. Tides were expected to rise during the day from Cape Kennedy northward as Betsy moved toward the northwest at eight miles an hour.

Schweitzer Is Near Death

LAMBARENE, Gabon (AP) —Dr. Albert Schweitzer lapsed into a coma at his jungle hospital today and his daughter said there was no hope of saving him.

"There is no more hope of human effort that can save him," said his daughter, Mrs. Rhena Schweitzer Eckert.

A telegram sent by the hospital to members of the family and close friends of the 90-year-old jungle physician said tersely:

"He is dying stop inevitably and soon stop everything that can be done has been done stop he goes quietly and in peace and dignity."

Amendment Vote Slated Tuesday

Interest is lagging since it's an "off-election year," but Snyder and Scurry County residents will go to the polls Tuesday to cast votes in the controversial re-apportionment amendment election.

Persons who meet the voting qualifications of a general election are entitled to vote. Polls at the 21 county precints will open at 8 a.m. Tuesday and remain open until 7 p.m.

The proposed Constitutional Amendment concerns a possible increase in the membership of the State Senate from 31 to 39 members. Voters will mark out one of the two following propositions:

"FOR the Constitutional Amendment increasing the membership of the State Senate from 31 to 39 members, retaining the present membership of the House of Representatives, requiring apportionment of the Senate according to population, and deleting the limitation that no single county is entitled to more than one Senator.

"AGAINST the Constitutional Amendment increasing the membership of the State Senate from 31 to 39 members, retaining the present membership of the House of Representatives, requiring apportionment of the Senate according to population, and deleting the limitation that no single county is entitled to more than one Senator."

The Precincts with presiding judge for each: 1, Northeast Snyder, M. L. Andress; 2, Colonwood Flat, Jess Hardin; 3, sports car hit an expressway [illegible]; 4, Dermott, Mrs. R. Sullinger; 5, Fluvanna, Henry Flournoy; 6, Union, H. L. Hogue; 7, Bison, Aubrey Huddleston; 8, China Grove, Martin Murphy; 9, Ira; Jim Stirling; 10, Dunn, W. J. Fuller; 11, Lone Wolf, J. A. Bartels; 12, Inadale, Herman Stahl; 13, Hermleigh, A. E. Sturdivant; 14, Camp Springs, Jim Beavers;

Mishap Is Fatal

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Capt. Harold Hogge, 36, was killed Friday when his sports car hit an expressway [illegible] utility pole.

SNYDER AREA OIL

A new wildcat location has been staked and a wildcat operation has been completed as a discovery well in Fisher County.

Katz Oil Co. of Abilene No. 1 Bennie Kidd is planned as a 5,600-foot Canyon prospector in Fisher, eight miles southwest of Roby, ½ mile south of the Claytonville (Canyon) pool, 660 feet from north and 1,977 feet from east lines of section 204, block 3, H&TC survey.

C. L. Norsworthy Jr. of Dallas has filed discovery potential-ed for his No. 1 U. S. Gypsum, three miles east of Longworth in Fisher County.

It is 660 feet from south and 1,320 feet from west lines of section 7, block 1, HT&B survey. It also is 1¼ miles northeast of the Newman (Swastika oil) reservoir.

Perforations at 3,825-835 feet in the Swastika, after stimulation with 500 gallons of acid, potentialed to pump 95 barrels of 40-gravity oil, with no water, per day. Gas-oil ratio was metered at 1,450-1.

* * *

Apache Corp. of Midland No. 1 G. G. Wright is to set 4½-inch casing at total depth of 9,129 feet and complete as the second well, a northeast offset to the recent discovery and lone producer in the Brooking, Northeast (Cisco oil) pool of Howard County, seven miles southeast of Ackerly.

It showed for production in a 2½-hour drillstem test at 9,053-071 feet which flowed five barrels of oil in 30 minutes through an 8-64 - inch choke. An additional 31 barrels of crude oil unloaded from the drillpipe after the tool was closed and the pressure bleeding off.

An additional 10 barrels of crude was reversed out and no water was encountered. Thirty-minute initial shutin bottomhole pressure was 3,544 pounds, bottomhole flowing pressure climbed from 2,446 to 3,544 pounds and final shutin bottomhole pressure after 45 minutes was 3,682 pounds.

Following that check, a recheck was made which recovered 58 feet but no description was issued. Apache No. 1 Adams opened the pool in July when it completed for a daily yield of 240 barrels of 43-gravity oil flowing through a 10-64 - inch choke with perforations at 8,933-44 feet.

Roy Guffey Oil Co. of Dallas announced plans to drill No. 1 Maggie Mims and others as a 6,800 - foot Ellenburger prospector in Nolan County, two miles south of Sweetwater.

It is one mile south of the depleted one-well Auld field, 1½ miles north of Strawn oil production, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 63, block 22, T&P survey. Delnox Oil Corp. and Hack Drilling Co. of Abilene No. 1 W. W. Morton is to be a 5,100-foot Canyon sand wildcat in Fisher County, 4½ miles west of Roby.

It is ¾ mile east of the depleted OMS (Canyon sand) pool, 467 feet from north and east lines of section 25, block 2, H&TC survey.

* * *

Adobe Oil Co., Kem Merren and W. C. Montgomery of Midland No. 1 Fuller is to be a location southeast outpost to the two-well Cogdell, East (Canyon No. 2) pool in Scurry County.

It is 20 miles northeast of Snyder, 467 feet from north and 2,173 feet from east lines of section 646, block 97, H&TC survey. Contract calls for a possible total depth of 7,100 feet.

Sun Oil Co. No. 1-A G. W. Rodgers has been completed as a lower Pennsylvanian oil producer in Kent County, in an undeveloped region between the Clairemont and the Boomerang South (Strawn) fields.

On the 24-hour potential test, it pumped 156 barrels of 40.4-gravity oil per day from an open hole section at 6,588-610 feet after stimulating with 500 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was 480-1.

Located 467 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 30, [illegible] H&TC survey, the well has been [illegible] assigned to the Clairemont (Canyon) pool.

CRMWD Aims At 1968 To Complete Robert Lee Dam

If everything goes without a major hitch, the Colorado River Municipal Water District could be impounding water in its new lake above Robert Lee during the first quarter of 1968.

Although five years of study and engineering have bone into the project, it is so big that most observers estimate that it will take two and a half yers to complete the plans, get the land and complete the job. It could take longer.

The first step will be to get a green light from the board of directors, which is due to meet in Big Spring probably around the middle of the month to consider the annual budget. Under the leadership of Charles Perry, Odessa, the board is expected to lay out some broad outlines of procedure.

Here are a few of the things to be considered:

Survey of the dam and basin sites, appraisals on the required engineering and possibly a [illegible] of the spillway, [illegible] outlay, engineers have to be certain about the foundation area [illegible] The dam will stretch approximately four miles cross the river valley and will involve moving nine and a quarter million cubic yards of dirt.

While all of this going on, the district also will have to complete plans for and construct several pollution diversion works on the Colorado River between Lake J. B. Thomas and the new lake. These will be low-water dams which will trap the normal low flow of the river, which is extremely salty, and drain the briney water into cisterns set in the banks. Contents will be pumped out and disposed of in oilfield repressuring, and in so doing, will keep the river bed as clear as possible of pollutants so that good quality flood waters will roll over the low dams and down to the new lake.

All of this points to a big timetable for the district, and considerable study to it. If no legal blocks are thrown up within the next 30 days, Dr. Ivie could [illegible] the machinery begin [illegible] some eight miles of state highway, purchase of land, awarding of contracts, firming of contracts with prospective water customers, and possibly some pipeline and pump stations.

O. H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD, has been receiving proposals on the surveying and appraisals. The board may take initial steps toward preparing for the financing, for this is a meticulous process, especially when it comes to raising such large sums of money.

The district has invested approximately $25,000 in borings and other tests for the foundation of the dam, but some additional work of this type will be required. When it comes to piling a mountain of earth 784 feet at the base and rising 132 feet high to a 20-foot width at the top, and when it comes to building concrete spillways so heavy that they will cost from a fourth to a third of the project outlay, engineers have to be certain about the foundation area [illegible]

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a very fine 36-year-old bachelor. He has high moral standards and no bad habits. He is nice-looking, honest, unselfish, good-natured, hard-working, and neat and clean. His only fault is that he never wears a necktie. He has nice clothes, but he always wears a sport shirt and leaves the top button unbuttoned. I have been wanting to ask him to wear a tie, but I can't bring myself to do it. I am 34 and have other gentlemen friends, but none with so many fine qualities. He has hinted about marriage, and would make an ideal husband. I'd like to invite him to our church supper, but I'm afraid he would show up without a tie and I'd be embarrassed. What would YOU do?

RURAL ROUTE NO. 1

DEAR RURAL: I'd invite this nice-looking, honest, unselfish, good-natured, hard-working, neat and clean gentleman to the church supper. Then I'd buy him a necktie and ask him please to wear it. Once you get the tie around his neck, go to work on getting him to tie the knot. And I don't mean in the tie, either.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I would like your advice on something that has me betwixt and between. I am going with a wonderful girl and I want to marry her. But she has a few relatives who are a little off.

SHERMAN OAKS

DEAR OAKS: Who hasn't? Go ahead and marry her.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My mother has always taught me that it isn't "nice" for a girl to call boys on the phone, or to go to a boy's house unless you have been invited to a planned party there. Well, I have a girl friend who does just that. I know because I have been with her when she's called boys and gone to their houses when we happen to be in the neighborhood.

Is my mother living in the past? Would you call that running after a boy? My mother doesn't know I've done this. But I only do this when I'm with this girl friend because she doesn't have nerve enough to do it alone. If it's wrong, why is it wrong, Abby? Most girls would never see a boy outside of school if they didn't.

MAKE UP A NAME

DEAR MAKE: No, Honey, your mother is not "living in the past." It's "wrong" to call boys and to go to their homes, uninvited, because it is too forward. Some boys might enjoy having girls run after them, but when a boy wants a girl to be "his girl," he chooses one who waits to be called and called on.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: So often in your column, a husband complains that his wife is "cold." I say, if that is true, it's her husband's fault. It is so easy to warm up a wife. All you have to do is pay her an honest compliment about herself or her cooking once in a while. Sneak up behind her when she's doing her work and kiss the back of her neck. Put your arm around her in public occasionally. A woman wants others to know that her husband feels some affection for her. Just keeping telling her you love her.

If you follow the above instructions, they will work like a doctor's prescription. Take it from a man whose wife is —

NEVER COLD

Santa Fe Derails Near Sweetwater

SWEETWATER (AP)—A Santa Fe freight tram carrying loads of potash to Houston was derailed Friday as 25 cars jumped the tracks.

Wife Of N-Chemist Is Strangled

By KARL MANTYLA

DETROIT (AP) — A wealthy nuclear chemist from Hong Kong who for four years wished his estranged wife would "grow up and we'd start a family" missed the court arraignment of her accused strangler by scant hours.

"I've just come here to attend the funeral. That's all," Jung K. Lee, 40 said after flying to Detroit from New York Friday.

His wife, blonde, pretty Edna Lee, 32, was a Wayne State University student studying for a doctorate in English. She was found strangled with a nylon stocking in her apartment bathtub Wednesday. She had been beaten on the face, police said.

Victor Lewis Fassero, 36, a utility company clerk who police said had dated Mrs. Lee for some time, was charged with first-degree murder. He stood mute at his arraignment. A plea of innocent was entered and Fassero, a divorced man, was held without bond for examination Sept. 21.

"I don't know any of her friends here," Lee said at his hotel when asked if he knew Fassero. "I wanted her to live her own life the way she wanted it."

He and Mrs. Lee were separated in 1961, three years after their marriage. A question of whether to have children, "among other reasons," caused the separation, he said.

The University of Kansas Scientist said he and Mrs. Lee had frequent telephone conversations following their separation.

"I just thought, well, maybe someday she'd grow up and we'd start a family. Everybody's somewhat imperfect," he said.

Lee's first knowledge of the strangling came on a subway in New York City Thursday.

"Somebody had left a newspaper on a bench, and that's how I found out," he said. "I saw her picture and said 'What gives?' Then I saw the headline."

Lee said his mother and six brothers in Hong Kong have holdings in real estate and steel and paint factories.

Lee met his wife while she was a graduate student and teaching assistant at the University of Kansas. A first marriage for her ended in divorce.

Ector Fields Get Salt Disposal Order

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission has ordered oil and gas operators in 40 Ector County fields to show Nov. 9 why they should not halt the use of earthen pits for disposing of salt water.

The fields are Bourland, Concho Bluff, Cowden, Mac Boring, Moose, Hence, Lawson, Notrees, Sonny B, Jordan, Yarbrough & Aller, Tom Roberts, Embar, Wheeler, South Fasken, Headlee, South Cowden, Addis, Circle Bar, G&W, York, Goldsmith, Harper, Penwell, Moss Block 11, Martin, Pool, Ratliff, North Cowden, Double H, Barrow, Ector, Donnelly, Slater, TXL, Metz, Wrather, Edwards and Mosswell.

Gamble Pays Well For Dorothy Provine

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dorothy Provine figures that any actress set on furthering her career must gamble once. Her fling of the dice paid off.

"I was under contract to Warner Bros.," she said. "I came right there from the University of Washington. It was home to me, and I liked all the people there. But I felt that I needed more challenging roles. So I went in one day and offered to buy out of my contract."

She did. Her first new part was in "The Great Race" for Warners.

"And I got more money for the one picture than my contract paid me for a whole year before."

Berle Is Cast In Ultra-Serious Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Milton Berle, brash, bombastic but beloved, is playing a serious role in "The Oscar," so serious he doesn't have one single laugh line.

And, what's more, the new Uncle Miltie likes it that way.

He has informed the publicity department at Paramount that he won't pose for any gag publicity pictures.

"I'm playing a serious part in the movies for the first time — and I'm being serious all the way," vows Milton.

He is so serious that he even let Peter Lawford top him the other day.

HARLINGEN (AP) — A two-car collision here Friday killed Mrs. Pauline Burack, 38, of Harlingen. The other driver was injured.

Hagler Is Jailed In Australia

DALLAS (AP) — David Hagler Jr., a police character from the Dallas-Fort Worth area who skipped bond last year, is in jail again — this time in Australia.

The FBI said Friday that Hagler was arrested in Canberra by Australian police.

Authorities began legal moves to return Hagler for trial here on swindling charges. He disappeared last year while free under two bonds of $1,000, which were forfeited.

Hagler, 47, was acquitted in a 1954 torch murder case, a body was found burned beyond identification in a car near Davis, Okla. Hagler claimed he had been drinking and blacked out.

Frank St. Claire of Irving, a former business associate of Hagler told him he was going to get a body from a morgue for $500 and cremate it in a $200,000 insurance plot. St. Clair later committed suicide.

Hagler was arrested in 1963 at Las Vegas, Nev., and Police had questioned him at other times.

The Dallas swindling cases came up for trial in March of 1964.

Then on March 11, 1964, a rented plane crashed into the Gulf of Mexico near Port Lavaca. Officers found evidence that Hagler and Mrs. Loretta Anderson of Euless, Tex., had waded ashore from the plane.

Authorities located Mrs. Anderson at a Port Lavaca motel. They said she told of flying with Hagler to make aerial photos of Padre Island.

Police learned Hagler bought shoes at Port Lavaca that day. There the trail ended.

Decker's last clue to Hagler was the discovery of his car Oct. 23, 1964, in Seattle.

Broilers Open Strong In South Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas broiler markets opened stronger in South Texas Monday and about steady in East Texas. Both areas generally were unstable all week and closed unsettled. Supplies were adequate but demand lacked aggressiveness. Movement ranged from normal to brisk.

Closing prices: South 1.50; East 14.50-14.90. Last week: South 15.50; East 14.50-15.00. Year ago: South 15.50 East 14.00-15.20.

Basilica Near Completion

NAZARETH, Israel (AP) — The outside structure of the Basilica of the Annunciation, built over the Grotto of the Annunciation, is complete. Services may be held there at Christmas, although it will take several years to complete and decorate the inside.

Solel Boneh, an Israel building company, constructed it for the Franciscan order. The cost so far, more than a million dollars, has come largely from Roman Catholics abroad.

The design, by Giovanni Muzio of Milan, is traditional but contains elements of Crusader style. The dome rises 180 feet.

Two churches are built one above the other, each with a seating capacity of 3,000. The Nazareth Church of the Annunciation which stood at the same site had seating and standing room for 1,500.

Well Completions Continue To Lag

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission said Saturday that 150 oil and 28 gas wells were completed last week.

Total oil well completions are 4,718 for the year, compared to 5,771 a year ago. Gas completions total 1,803, compared to 1,898 in 1964.

Plugged were 154 wells, 83 of them dusters. Three wildcat oil and two wildcat gas wells came in.

Bridge Falls Over Flooding River

KLAGENFURT, Austria (AP) — A bridge over the rain-swollen Drau River south of here caved in today and 50 to 100 persons toppled into the muddy flood waters. Two of them are feared to have drowned.

They included soldiers, firemen and a crowd of curious onlookers. The soldiers and firemen were working to shore up the Hollenburger Bridge, about nine miles south of here.

The 328-foot bridge was sagging due to the push of rampaging water. Part of the bridge was closed and people limited to its southern part, which was believed safe.

But suddenly the southern part of the bridge caved in and splashed into the river with the crowd on it.

Traffic Deaths Told

AUSTIN (AP) — State police said 1,753 persons had died in Texas traffic to noon Friday, compared to 1,860 last year.

Band Is Invited To Lubbock Event

LUBBOCK — Six dozen area high school bands are being invited to participate in the "Parade of Bands" which officially launches the 48th annual Panhandle - South Plains Fair here at 10 a.m. Sept. 27.

Russell L. Wiley, widely known director of bands at the University of Kansas at Lawrence for 31 years, has been named judge of the 1965 event.

He is a brother of Dr. D. W. Wiley, Lubbock, who retired in 1959 after 25 years as director of bands at Texas Tech.

tions from South Plains high tions from South Plins high schools and five from New Mexico, many of which will be competing for $1,125 in prize money.

Wiley has judged numerous band contests and festivals throughout the nation, but most of his judging has been conducted in the Midwest and Southwest areas.

He attended Hardin-Simmons University and later obtained his degree at Phillips University, Enid, Okla. Upon graduation from Phillips, Wiley remained there as band director for four years. In 1932 he established the Tri-State Music Festival at Enid and the event has since become one of the largest festivals in the world.

Born in Comanche County, he was the youngest in a family of six boys and three girls.

Officials decided this year to pare the field of judges from three to one in order to speed up the judging process. Wiley unanimously was selected to evaluate the 1965 event.

In addition, cash awards for the first three places in classes B, A, AA, AAA and AAAA will be presented instead of the dual $100 and $50 checks previously given. This year, checks for $100, $75, and $50 will be presented and each participating band will receive an engraved trophy.

West Texas area bands being invited include Abernathy, Patton Springs of Afton, Andrews, Anton, Bovin, Brownfield, Crosbyton, Denver City, Dimmitt, Farwell, Floydada, Friona Hale Center Idalou, Jayton, Kress, Lamesa, Levelland, Littlefield, Lockney, Loop, Lorenzo;

Matador, Morton, Muleshoe, New Deal, O'Donnell, Olton, Petersburg, Plains Plainview Post, Ralls, Ropesville, Seagraves, Seminole, Shallowater, Slaton, Snyder, Springlake of Earth Spur, Sudan, Sundown, Tahoka, Tulia, Whiteface, Bledsoe, Borden County of Gail, Bula at Enochs, Cooper, Cotton Center, Dawson of Welch, Happy, Hart, Hereford, Hermleigh, Klondike Lazbuddie, Meadow, New Home of Wilson, Roring Springs, Southland, Spade, Smyer, Three Way at Maple, Union of Brownfield and Wellman.

New Mexico bands being invited include Clovis, Hobbs, Lovington, Portales and Texico.

Adaleen Sole To Teach At Los Alamos

Adaleen Sole, daughter of Mrs. Adam Sole, 3008 Thirty-seventh Street, has accepted a teaching position in the public school system at Los Alamos, N.M.

Miss Sole, a graduate of Snyder High School, received her bachelor of science degree on Aug. 26 at West Texas State University.

London Is Alerted For Killer

LONDON (AP) — A massive police search was on today for the killer of a beautiful blonde found stabbed, sexually assaulted and mutilated aboard a commuter train.

The women, identified as Patricia Grace Woolward, 28, Whitstable, Kent, had been visiting Bognor, where she was a student teacher at a training college.

She was killed Friday during the 24-minute run between Horsham in Sussex and the station at Gatwick, London's reserve airport. Her throat had been cut and she had other stab wounds.

Police are investigating a report that a man with a scratched face walked into a shop in the nearby town of Horley this morning. Police with dogs combed the railroad line.

Mrs. Woolward, whose body was identified by her father, was divorced. She lived with her father, Leslie Ward.

Her body had numerous stab wounds. It had been pushed halfway under the compartment seat. There was blood on the floor and walls.

FFA Boys Enter Feeding Project

Snyder Future Farmers of America have launched a livestock feeding project which their advisors, Billy Bob McMullan and Floyd Collins, believed to be one of the most practical ever undertaken by the group.

Seven of the local FFA members are entering 11 commercial steers for competition which will reach its climax at the Sweetwater regional livestock show next Jan. 8.

The feeding period has been set to run from Sept. 4 to Jan. 8. During that period the FFA members will feed out the 11 commercial steers, with gain and economy of production the chief objectives.

Keeping of records will be an absolute necessity. The records must show the initial cost of the calves, the total amount of feed used, total gain and the cost of the gain.

In January, the winners will be selected on the basis of daily gain, live grade, carcass grade and dressing percentage.

The steers will be sold on the regular commercial market, thus giving the youngsters an opportunity to observe first - hand how commercial beef producers operate and what they may expect if they go into commercial feeding programs themselves.

Kinney Hart and Ross Gillum are feeding out three steers each for the competition, while Max Moreland, Randy Davis, David Brecheen, Paul Glover and Jack Leatherwood have one each.

The boys loaded their steers Friday afternoon and took them to Sweetwater for weighing and tagging. The animals were to be returned here Saturday and the youths were to begin their feeding program immediately.

Amendments Are WTCC Panel Topic

The State Affairs Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will review proposed state constitutional amendments to be voted on in November when it meets here Thursday.

Howard Rose, Midland attorney and chairman of the committee, has set the meeting for noon Thursday at the Americana Motor Inn.

Rose's committee will formulate its recommendations on the amendments for presentation to the WTCC Board of Directors and the executive committee when they meet Oct. 1-2 at Lubbock.

Snyder members at the State Affairs Committee are Robert H. Crowell and Max West. The meeting here is one of several WTCC study sessions being held during the interim between the last board of directors meeting at Amarillo in July and the October session scheduled at Lubbock.

STEVE FREE

SPORTS

Steve Free Makes Grade In Pro Ranks

Steve Free, 21, former star shortstop for the Snyder Tigers, has fulfilled an ambition he has had since Little League days — to become a professional baseball player.

The young Snyder High School graduate has recently completed his second year of pro ball with the Minnesota Twins organization. In 1964, he competed with the Melbourne Twins in the Rookie League near Cocoa, Fla. and this season he played for Hi-Toms in the Class A West Carolinas League. The club nickname comes from the ball park's location, which is midway between the towns of Thomasville and High Point.

As a pro, Steve was switched to second base, where he had to "learn some new moves" to hold down the new position. Not only did the Snyder lad hold down the berth, he also led his team in batting with a .260 average.

Baseball and sports has been very much a part of Steve's life since boyhood when he played with local Little League teams. "I've wanted to play pro baseball ever since the Little Leagues," said Free.

In high school here, Steve began to carve a niche for himself in the baseball world. He won honorable mention All - State and was placed on the All-District team during his Sophomore year in 1960. He also won All-District as a Senior. Steve also was named to the All District basketball team as a guard his Senior year, and he was a quarterback for the Tiger football team.

A friendly, easy-to-know athlete, Steve was voted the most popular player this season with the Hi-Toms. His team, managed by Ralph Rowe, finished second in the league. The parent Twin organization also has farm clubs at Denver, Charlotte, Orlando and two teams in Wisconsin.

Steve won a baseball scholarship to the University of Houston, where he has completed 2½ years of studies. A year ago last May Ed Stevens, a scout for the American League leading Twins signed Free to a contract after he saw the youth perform with an amateur team at Houston.

The former Tiger star broke into pro ball during June and July of that year with the Rookie League team at Melbourne. The .260 Steve batted at Thomasville represents a .50 increase in average from the .210 he registered the first season.

"I'd like to field like Pete Rose (second baseman for Cincinnati) and bat like Al Kaline (Detroit hitting star)" said Free. He thinks Rose is the best second sacker in the National Loop and Bobby Richardson is tops in the American League. The Hi-Toms switched Steve to the second base position, although he had played shortstop in high school. With Melbourne, he played most of the infield positions and some of the outfield spots.

Asked the main difference in school and pro ball, Steve said the professionals "teach you more and go into greater detail on the finer points of the game."

In answer to a question, Free said youngsters who have their sights set on a professional baseball career "should play every chance they get."

Free says Minnesota, the parent team, has the best chance to win the American League title since the club has a 6½ game lead. He says the Dodgers appear to have a slight edge in the senior loop for they are on top and have the best pitching staff.

Asked about the downfall of the Yankees, Steve observed that Mantle and Maris have been on the injury list often this season and several of the former World Champions have played with various ailments. They just haven't been at top form, he said.

Free said he is happy with the Minnesota organization and would rather remain with them to play at Houston if he had the opportunity.

Steve plans to interrupt his studies at the University this Fall with a six-month active tour of Army duty with the National Guard. By performing his active reserve obligation now, he can return to the Twin baseball camp next Summer at Florida and compete for a berth on one teams.

"I'd like to make it in double A ball next season," he said.

Marriage also is included in Free's future plans. He recently became engaged to Carolyn McWaters, a co-ed from Cleveland, Tex., whom he met on the Houston campus.

Steve is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed W. Free, 2703 Thirty-sixth Street. His relatives and a host of Snyder fans hope Steve makes the grade in professional baseball.

He's off to a good start.

Rookie Power

LA Blanks Astros, 3-0

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rookie Jim Lefbvre powered the Los Angeles Dodgers for the second consecutive game Friday night, driving in two runs and scoring the third in a 3-0 victory over Houston.

The triumph kept Los Angeles in first place, one game ahead of Cincinnati and two in front of San Francisco and Milwaukee.

Just the night before, Lefebvre lashed two singles and a double and drove in four runs as the Dodgers whipped Pittsburgh 7-1.

Lefebvre got the Dodgers started against the Astros in the second inning, singling across Ron Fairly, who walked and was sacrificed to second.

That was the only run of the game until the ninth. Then, with Lou Johnson aboard on a force play, Lefebvre drilled a triple to right-center field for one run and scored another on Wes Parker's squeeze bunt.

Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati crushed Philadelphia 16-7, Chicago edged San Francisco 5-4, Milwaukee nipped Pittsburgh 4-3 and New York beat St. Louis 6-3.

In the American League, Minnesota trimmed Chicago, 6-4, Detroit mauled Washington 10-2, Baltimore defeated Cleveland 5-3, New York trounced Boston 9-0 and Kansas City swept Los Angeles 4-1 and 1-0.

Cincinnati and Philadelphia battled to a 6-6 tie through six innings, but the Reds put the game away with three runs in the seventh and seven more in the eighth.

Jack Baldschun's bases-loaded walk to John Edwards broke the deadlock, and Tommy Helms followed with a two-run single. Edwards doubled across two runs in the eighth while Pete Rose knocked in a pair with his fourth hit, a triple.

Billy Williams powered the Cubs past San Francisco, hitting his 26th homer in the fourth inning and lashing a bases-loaded triple in the fifth. Pitcher Bob Bolin hit a two-run homer for the Giants, but Bill Faul hung on for his fifth triumph against three defeats.

Throwing errors by right fielder Roberto Clemente, after Mack Jones' line drive, and first baseman Donn Clendenon, on Ed Mathews' grounder, gave Milwaukee two eighth-inning runs and a victory over the Pirates.

Bowling Tournament Attracts Top Names

DALLAS (AP) — The $24,000 Dallas Open Bowling tournament started today with the star - studded field rolling 12 games in two shifts.

The second block of 12 games will be rolled Sunday and the 16 top shooters qualify for the finals Monday.

Dick Weber, Bill Lillard, Ray Billy Welu, Harry Smith, Amdy Marzich, Roy Lown, Carman Savino and Jim St. John are among the 99 pros entered.

CASEY SAYS FAREWELL TO SHEA STADIUM— Casey Stengel walks across the diamond at Shea Stadium in New York City in a farewell gesture of retirement as manager of the Mets. The garrulous old baseball man, now 75, uses a cane to favor his ailing hip broken in a recent fall. His baseball career dates back to 1910. (AP Wirephoto)

Autry Denies Bill Rigney Was Re-Hired

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Angel owner Gene Autry denied Friday a published report that Manager Bill Rigney had been rehired for the 1966 season.

Autry, at Chavez Ravine for the Los Angeles-Kansas City game, said:

"In San Francisco today I talked about the policy of Gene Autry Enterprises retaining its executive staff. I think Rigney has done a good job. I said it wouldn't be long until we made a decision about next year, but I didn't say he would be retained."

Need Miraculous Comeback

British Rout American Walker Cup Golf Hopefuls

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — American amateur golfers, routed by the British in the opening skirmish, needed a comeback bordering on the miraculous today to avoid losing the 1965 Walker Cup battle.

There was a point riding on each of the 12 matches and the British revolutionaries had to snag only four to nail down their second victory in 20 cracks at the coveted cup.

The invaders from England, Scotland and Ireland, predominantly on the youthful side compared with the Yanks, bolted to an 8-3 advantage in the first round of foring Friday.

The United States was in not quite as bad a situation in 1963, latest of the biennial contests, when it trailed 6-3 on the first day and rallied to win 12-8.

This year's squad from across the Atlantic copped two of the four doubles, tied a third and slaughtered the defenders 6-2 in the singles. They haven't prevailed in the doubles since 1938, when they won possession of the Walker Cup for the first and only time so far.

A pair of youngsters, 18-year-old Peter Townsend and 20-year-old Clive Clark, were among the brightest stars of the British uprising.

Townsend teamed with 26-year-old Ronnie Shade to score a point in the doubles and Clark, with British Amateur champion Mike Bonallack, battled to a standoff.

In the singles, Townsend unleashed a flourish of four birdies on the first nine holes in routing the veteran of U.S. and international amateur competition, 43-year-old Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., by a score of 3 and 2.

Clark had an even easier time against Mark Hopkins, 22-year-old Texan, finishing him off in 15 holes, 5 up.

The defending U.S. Amateur champion, Bill Campbell of Huntington, W.Va., and a former titleholder, Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., salvaged the only singles points for the Americans.

Campbell, shooting four par for the 13 holes he had to play, polished off Bonallack 6 and 5 while Beman was 2 up over Rodney Foster.

Outfielder Mack Jones of the Milwaukee Braves led the International League in homers (39) and in runs batted in (102) with Syracuse in 1964.

Champagne Flows As Twins, Athletics Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Kansas City Athletics have beaten the Minnesota Twins to the punch.

The Twins took another step toward a champagne celebration Friday night by whipping Chicago 6-4 and increasing their American League lead over the White Sox to 7½ games but the A's got there first when owner Charles Finley uncorked his long-awaited "cellar-braytion."

The occasion was a 4-1, 1-0 doubleheader sweep at Los Angeles that lifted the A's past Boston and out of the American League cellar for the first time since April.

As the players trotted into the dressing room after the game, the champagne began to flow and Finley toasted his players:

"Congratulations, on making this our happiest night of the year."

The New York Yankees knocked Boston to the bottom of the league by walloping the Red Sox 9-0, Baltimore defeated Cleveland 3-0 and Detroit clubbed Washington 10-2.

In the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked Houston 3-0, Cincinnati crushed Philadelphia 16-7, the Chicago Cubs edged San Francisco 6-4, Milwaukee nipped Pittsburgh 4-3 and the New York Mets downed St. Louis 6-3.

Tony Oliva and Don Mincher got the job done for the Twins. Oliva singled home two runs in the first inning, Mincher hit a two-run homer in the third and Oliva wrapped up the scoring with another two-run single in the sixth. John Romano and Ken Berry homered for the White Sox.

John Wyatt preserved both A's victories, sealing the champagne party when he took over for Lew Krausse in the eighth inning of the nightcap and put down a mild Angels' threat. Kansas City scored in the second inning on a single by Tom Reynolds and Bill Bryan's double.

Wyatt also completed a six-hit job in the opener, following Dick Joyce and Tom Aker to the mound. Ed Charles gave the A's the runs they needed with a homer and a run-producing bunt single.

Al Downing shackled the Red Sox on five hits — four of the infield variety — while the Yankees tagged Bill Monbouquette with his 17th loss against eight victories. Horace Clarke, just up from Toledo, spiced a seven-run New York explosion in the sixth inning with a pair of singles.

The Orioles capitalized on the wildness of Indians' rookie Steve Hargan, making the most of three walks and a wild pitch for four first inning runs. Brooks Robinson singled in one run, another crossed on the wild pitch and two more came home on Dick Brown's single. Wally Bunker got the victory, his first since July 18.

The Tigers got the job done with a four-homer salvo by Norm Cash, Willie Horton, Bill Freehan and Mickey Stanley. Hank Aguirre was tagged for homers by Ken McMullen and Woodie Held but got the victory for a 13-9 record.

Smith Seeks CJC Berth

Terry Smith, a former star football player for Hermleigh High School Cardinals, will try out for a position with the Cisco Junior College Wranglers.

A fullback, Terry was one of only four Class B gridders chosen to play in the annual All-Star game this summer. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Smith.

Eighty-Eight Games

Top Schoolboy Elevens Go Into Action This Week

By The Associated Press

Eight-eight games, bringing all but six of its 149 teams into action, get the Class AAAA division of Texas schoolboy football off and running this week.

Baytown, the pre-season favorite, gets a tough test the first crack out of the box as the Ganders meet always strong Spring Branch.

Defending champion Garland, which is supposed to have been swept pretty bare by graduation, will find out about it when the Owls clash with Dallas Samuell.

Other top games send Highland Park to Fort Worth to tackle heralded Paschal and Dallas Woodrow Wilson to Mesquite for a clash of district favorites.

Corpus Christi Miller, rated only a notch below Baytown in the rankings, takes on Austin McCallum without much chance of being upset.

Dumas, again a power of Class AAA, starts its campaign against the big boys by tangling with Amarillo Palo Duro.

Hurst Bell, another well ranked team, tackles Tyler; Odessa will be at Amarillo and Amarillo Tascosa at Odessa Permian in other feature games.

Brownwood, one of the big favorites of Class AAA, furnishes Cleburne opposition in an important inter-class clash.

Only Lubbock Monterey, Orange, Freeport, LaMarque, San Antonio Brackenridge and San Antonio Edgewood fail to open the schedule this week.

The schedule by districts (all games Friday unless indicated otherwise):

1. Silver City, N.M., at El Paso Andress, Albuquerque Highland at El Paso Austin, El Paso Coronado vs. El Paso Bel Air, Las Cruces, N.M., at El Paso Burgess, El Paso Eastwood vs. El Pasl High, El Paso Irvin at Alamogordo, N.M., El Paso Jefferson at Fort Stockton, El Paso Parkland at Fabens, El Paso Jesuit vs. El Paso Tech (Saturday).

Spurs Keep Hopes Alive

By The Associated Press

Dallas-Fort Worth stayed alive in the fight for the Eastern Division championship of the Texas League Friday night. The Spurs beat Austin 8-0 while leading Tulsa lost to Amarillo 2-1.

However, the Spurs still have an uphill struggle—they're two games behind Tulsa with three to play.

Dallas - Fort Worth shelled southpaw ace Herb Hippauf for seven runs in the first two innings and rolled to an easy triumph as Charley Hartenstein hurled a four-hitter. Hartenstein had a no-hitter until the sixth.

Jim Ray struck out 13 and kept nine hits well scattered as the Amarillo Sonics upset Tulsa. Amarillo came from behind to beat the Oilers.

Begins Sixth Season

American Football League Gets Jump On Nationals

By MIKE RATHET

The American Football League gets a one-week jump on the rival National League by opening its sixth season Saturday night, and there is the strong possibility that for the first time in its existence AFL-developed quarterbacks will outnumber NFL discards at the all-important position.

As the season gets underway with full, four-game program — Buffalo at Boston and San Diego at Denver Saturday night and Kansas City at Oakland and New York at Houston Sunday — it's likely that as many as six of the eight teams will start with home-grown quarterbacks.

That would represent a giant step forward for the new emerging quarterbacks, who for the most part sat and watched last season as former NFL players such as George Blanda, Tobin Rote and Babe Parilli dominated play-calling.

The biggest upheaval in the quarterbacking ranks started at New York, where the Jets traded away Dick Wood and surrounded themselves with Mike Taliaferro, who has one year of pro experience, and $600,000 worth of rookies — Joe Namath and John Huarte.

There is, of course, no question that a new quarterback will be handling the team but at this point only Huarte would seem to have eliminated himself from contention. Either Taliaferro or Namath will get the call against the Oilers.

At Houston, meanwhile, second-year quarterback Don Trull is threatening 37-year-old Blanda, who is in his 16th season as a pro. Trull has developed quickly during the exhibition season and in one pre-season game sole the spotlight from Namath.

Rote has retired after leading San Diego to the Western Division title and John Hadl, the former Kansas All-America starting his fourt.. season, will shoulder the full responsibility for moving the Chargers' potent attack.

Daryle Lamonica is challenging Jack Kemp, who saw limited NFL action, for the No. 1 job at Buffalo; Tom Flores is expected to get the call over Cotton Davidson for Oakland and Denver again will go with homegrown Mickey Slaughter.

Only Kansas City's Lenny Dawson and Parilli, Boston's 12-year pro veteran, are clear-cut choices to hold off the challenge of AFL-developed quarterbacks.

Dawson, a nine-year pro, figures to go all the way for the Chiefs unless his oft-broken nose acts up. In that case improving Pete Beathard will take over. Parilli is backed up by Eddie Wilson, acquired from Kansas City in an off-season trade to protect against an injury to the Babe.

While there is likely to be a large turnover in quarterbacks, there was no major turnover of veteran personnel in the off-season, with the Denver Broncos completing the two biggest trade by acquiring Cookie Gilchrist from Buffalo in exchange for Billy Joe and getting Abner Haynes from Kansas City for linebacker Jim Fraser.

Gilchrist, the league's leading rusher last season, and Haynes, the league's all-time No. 1 ground gainer, figure to provide a much stronger attack but the Broncos are still likely to wind up in the Western cellar behind San Diego, Oakland and Kansas City.

The Chargers are one of, if not the, most explosive team in the league with breakaway runners such as Keith Lincoln and Paul Lowe and an exceptional receiver in Lance Alworth. However, there might be an internal problem with all-league defensive end Earl Faison and tackle Ernie Ladd having announced their intentions to play out their options.

The Raiders will rely on Flores, split end Art Powell and running back Clem Daniels among others to make their game move. In addition there are three standout rookies likely to crack the starting unit — flanker Fred Biletnikoff from Florida A&M, tackle Bob Svihus from Southern California and guard Harry Schuh of Memphis State.

The Chiefs, minus Haynes, will go with Curtis McClinton and one of last year's rookie standouts, Mack (The Truck) Hill, to fill out the back field complement. However, there could be a major problem if receiver Fred Arbanas is unable to play because of an eye injury suffered when he was attacked by an unknown assailant lst winter.

Cowboys Fall, 57-17

Tarkenton Paces Viking Attack

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don't try to tell Minnesota Coach Norm Van Brocklin there's a better quarterback in professional football than the Vikings' rambling scrambler, Fran Tarkenton.

He's liable to show you the film of Friday night's 57-17 romp against Dallas.

Tarkenton threw two touchdown passes and piloted a Minnesota attack that gained 210 yards through the air and 198 on the ground. The Vikings' defense pitched in with six interceptions.

St. Louis intercepted four Rudy Bukich passes and whipped Chicago 25-3 in Friday night's other National Football League exhibition game.

Jim Bakken booted three field goals as the Cardinals won their first pre-season game after two losses and a tie. Chicago lost its second in four starts.

New York's new quarterback, Earl Morrall, starts against his former teammates, the Detroit Lions, in the first game of tonight's NFL doubleheader at Cleveland. The defending champion Browns face Western Division contender Green Bay in the second game, with 80,000 fans expected.

Baltimore plays Washington at Norfolk, Va., and Pittsburgh meets San Francisco at Providence, R.I. in other NFL tests today. Philadelphia is at Los Angeles Sunday.

In the American League, Denver meets Oakland at Sacramento, Calif. Boston is at Kansas City and San Diego plays Houston at Little Rock, in night games.

Nags Came Home

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Two tickets were sold on a $90,557.20 twin double at Yonkers Raceway Friday night.

The highest previous twin at Yonkers this year was on Feb. 22 when one bettor won $127,552.70.

One of the two winners, Benjamin Belzer, a 41-year-old restaurant owner from New York City, showed up for his payoff about 10 minutes after the race.

He took his winnings in a check saying, "I am very elated."

How to buy a new mattress in 4 easy steps

1) MEASURE YOUR FAMILY

If you, your husband or sprouting teen-age son measures taller than 5'9" it's time you looked into a mattress that's not just better, but bigger and better: extra long Sealy Posturepedic. Designed in cooperation with leading orthopedic surgeons to give firm support; and prevent morning backache from sleeping on a too-soft mattress.

2) MEASURE YOUR PRESENT MATTRESS

If it's only 75" long you're being short-changed out of a lot of comfort. You see, folks are taller today. An old-fashioned regular length mattress can leave your toes in the cold if you're over 5'9". Extra length gives you a 5-inch longer comfort zone.

Report Says Texans' Income Stands At All-Time High

AUSTIN (AP)—The level of income in Texas is at an all-time high and more widely spread than ever before, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

A report for the Texas Business Review said Texas business shows no concentration of soft spots in the economy strong enough to indicate that "any change in the present high level of business is imminent."

July business was 12 per cent above 1964.

July retail sales advanced strongly. Industrial production increased 1 per cent. The continued rise in the volume of industrial activity in Texas "is one of the strong features of the state's continued boom in economic activity," the Review said.

Capital spending plans of Texas business "have remained at the high level indicated earlier this year, and there is some possibility that a further increase in these plans for spending on new plant and equipment will be found when the next survey is tabulated," the analysis said.

The outlook for farm income in Texas also appears good.

The Review warned that the strong civil demand, if combined with an increase in military spending "might be sufficient to start an inflationary rise. This year shows the first signs of an inflationary rise in commodity prices during the present upswing in business activity. There appears to be some new evidence to indicate that an increase in defense spending might be enough to renew the dangers of inflation."

Construction "is the only factor in the Texas business situation to show an unfavorable trend. The volume of building has apparently for the moment caught up with demand."

Corsicana registered the largest increase in business activity from June, with a 24 per cent rise. Waco business activity rose 10 per cent and Lubbock 7 per cent.

For the year through July, Dallas showed a 21 per cent gain over last year. Beaumont was up 14 per cent, Houston 11, Corpus Christi 8, and San Antonio and Tyler 7 per cent.

Katzenbach Slates Address In Midland

MIDLAND (AP)—Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach is to speak here Oct. 1 at the state convention of Texas Judges.

San Antonio Judge Solomon Casseb Jr., chairman of the State Bar judicial section, said Katzenbach will address a luncheon.

The four-day conference begins Sept. 29.

Guests of honor will be Gov. Connally, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, Speaker Ben Barnes and Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr.

David McCallum Is Sudden Star

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The MGM commissary is an out-size restaurant in which one may see Indians in full warpaint eating with U.S. cavalry officers in crepe mustaches, and cowboys talking earnestly with their agents in Hollywood Boulevard suits.

It is a place where an actor must carry a lot of star-quality to cause any swiveling of necks.

Right now a slight, 31-year old Scottish fellow with a shock of blond hair attracts attention even at his own place of business. He is David McCallum who, although his billing in NBC's "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." is second to Robert Vaughn, is in fact a star. In fact, he is the uncomfortable center of a growing cult of young McCallum admirers all over the country.

When the series started a year ago, it was put in an awkward Tuesday night spot opposite CBS' "Red Skelton Show." Popular with young people, Skelton proceeded to slaughter the new show in the ratings. Then NBC moved it into an early Monday night position where it shot off like a rocket from its pad.

McCallum, an earnest and introspective young man, believes that the show dragged at first because the audience took the whole thing seriously.

"Then people suddenly realized the thing was all a big spoof," he continued. "They found it was a gigantic in-joke, and once they were in with it, they enjoyed it."

Suddenly "U.N.C.L.E. clubs" were being organized around the country — kids meeting at each other's homes to watch the weekly shows together. It has also caught on with the college crowd, notoriously casual about television. By season's end, "U.N.C.L.E." was counted a hit. McCallum is definitely considered to be a hot property with a big motion picture future ahead of him.

Now, on the threshold of a second season, McCallum says intently, "I am convinced that somebody is maliciously trying to kill the show."

And indeed it has been strange programming to move the hit "Man From U.N.C.L.E." to the 10 p.m. (EDT), Friday evening spot — a time when young fans should be in bed and on a night when many teen-agers have dates.

McCallum, the father of three small sons himself, feels strongly about it.

"With such a strong following among children, a lot of them who should be going to bed, won't. I'd like my kids to be able to watch the show — and they won't be able to."

NBC's explanation of the curious move is that it could find no other time spot for the show by the time it turned into a hit.

"Poof," said McCallum. "You know that networks can always find a way to move shows around when they want to."

Walkout Recalled By Luise Rainer

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "To them I seemed like a diamond on the counter — a diamond that suddenly sprouted legs and walked away."

"It" was Luise Rainer's reflection upon returning to MGM, from which she departed summarily 26 years ago. During her comet-like three years in films, she collected two Oscars — for "The Great Ziegfeld" and "The Good Earth" — and created a harvest of legends.

"Yes, my story has become quite a saga," she said with a wry smile on her lovely Viennese face. "I am amazed by some of the stories I hear — but no one enjoys them more than I."

For 10 years Miss Rainer lived in London with her publisher husband, Robert Knittel, and their daughter, now a beauty of 19. The Knittels were pursuing their hobby of mountain climbing in the Dolomites when a message came urging her to consider returning to Hollywood to play in ABC's "Combat" series.

The script caught up with her in Venice, she liked it, and the journey fitted into her plans. Only after she arrived did she learn that she was to film the TV show on the lot where she had spent her entire film career.

The return brought forth a flood of memories — and no regrets.

"My life is my life, the heartaches as well as the joys," Miss Rainer declared. "I would have it no different."

Over the years she has been intermittently active on the stage and in television. But she never returned to films. "I adore clarity," she explained, "and Hollywood is not a place for clarity."

I asked Miss Rainer what crossed her mind when she reentered MGM after the years of absence, and she said: "I suddenly remembered one time when I was at odds with the studio and Mr. Mayer was very angry with me. They were doing a picture with a lot of extras at the time, and he pointed to one and snapped, 'If you're not careful, that's how you'll end up.'

"Now he's dead, poor man, and I think of the full life I've had — a wonderful husband, a lovely daughter, the chance to work at my art when I want. Regrets? Oh, no."

Prop Man Is Vital To Most Shows

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The real and unsung costars of many new television series in the coming season will be the studio prop men in the gimmick shows.

The writers think up the situations, the actors play them out. But it is the prop man with his ingenuity and trunk of visual tricks who makes things work.

Jimmy Harris, prop man of NBC's new "Get Smart," has had his inventive talents strained to fill orders for the sight gags that abound in this secret agent spoof.

It was Harris who reconstructed a man's shoe so that it contained a secret telephone under the retractable sole and heel. Secret agent Smart — played by Don Adams — is a communications nut, so Harris also has had to build concealed phones in a flower pot, a pair of eyeglasses, a wallet, a belt buckle, a garter, a bed post and a cigarette lighter—as well as turn a normal telephone into a lighter.

His source of materials, Harris confessed, is a toy shop specializing in do-it-yourself miniature models of cars and planes.

"Hub caps make dandy miniature microphones and the wheels do very nicely for bugging' devices," Harris explained.

He visited a hardware store when he had to fill an order to build a pair of "wall-climbing shoes" for Smart. He merely attached a half-dozen outsize rubber suction cups to the metal foot platform of a pair of ice skates.

Other assignments are easier: An old railroadman's pocket watch, found in a pawnshop, was easily converted into a secret television set.

Murray To Take 'Stab At Drama'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedian Jan Murray, spurred by his friend Milton Berle's emergence as a serious actor, just moved out here from the East to make a stab at drama.

"I packed up my wife, three kids, my mother-in-law, and some pets," says Murray. "We looked like the Jewish wagon train.

"We got here when the heat was about 100 and the Watts riots were in full swing. I said to my wife: 'Let's go back to Harlem and relax.'"

Murray no sooner hit town and rented a Beverly Hills mansion when the offers poured in.

Clifford Is Due To Orbit

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Mike Clifford may get that big break yet, if the world settles down.

Mike is managed by Helen Noga, the impresario who made a millionaire out of Johnny Mathis. But she's having trouble getting him into orbit, through no fault of Mike's.

First, he went to Venezuela for a television show. He arrived in the middle of a revolution and spent his whole time in a hotel room.

Then he got a job in the Playboy Club in Miami. The Cuban crisis ruined that.

Next, Winnipeg, in the middle of the worst blizzard in history. Three people showed up at the club.

Finally, a few weeks ago, he opened at the Slate Brothers in Hollywood, the club that started off Jack Jones, Kay Stevens and Don Rickles.

But then came the Watts riots and police advised Henry Slate to close.

And that is showbiz.

Three Killed In East Texas Crash

CANTON, Tex. (AP)—A car-truck collision 8 miles west of here in East Texas Friday killed Mr. and Mrs. George Miller of Winona and his sister, Mrs. Etta Dillard, 63, of Dallas.

Some good cooks like to work heavy cream into softened cream cheese to serve with sliced peaches or strawberries.

BRUTAL ATTACK—Angered by her disclosure that she has become engaged to a young ensign, Capt. Paul Eddington (Kirk Douglas) brutally attacks Navy Nurse Annalee Dorne (Jill Hayworth) in this scene from "In Harm's Way," which is coming to the Palace Theater here Sept. 8.

VA's Irene Parsons Has Loftiest Post Of Her Sex

By JOY MILLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Through the tricky jungle of federal bureaucracy, a slim woman named Irene Parsons moves with the surefootedness of one who knows where she's going.

At this point she has reached the loftiest personnel post in government ever held by a woman — the $22,000-a-year job of assistant administrator for personnel of the Veterans Administration.

Luckily for the 170,000 employes under her supervision, Irene Parsons couldn't act like a stereotyped boss-lady if her pension depended on it.

She is, rather, one of the new breed of women executives that President Johnson likes to lure into government's higher circles:

They're attractive and feminine without flaunting sex; decisive without being dictatorial, intelligent without showing off and instinctively considerate of others without thinking of it as an instrument of policy. Their secretaries like working for them. So do their male colleagues.

A VA executive who Miss Parsons used to work for and who now reports to her says, "I don't think of it as having a woman in the job. I think of it as Irene Parsons, and that's delightful."

Brown-haired, brown-eyed Miss Parsons herself gives her gamin grin. "I haven't run into any unfavorable reaction," she says. "Of course, I've worked with a lot of these men during the years . . . I believe they will cooperate with me fully.

"I've been lucky in being associated with some able men who didn't discriminate, but I've certainly seen evidence of discrimination against women in government and studies have shown it existed.

"It's improving now, as more women are being brought in and they demonstrate they can do a job well. Lots of men in high position have never worked before with women, or with minority groups either."

Equal job opportunities is a major plank in Miss Parsons' platform. Because of her efforts as personnel director for two VA departments, she was cited by Ebony magazine in an article that called the Veterans Administration "the most integrated agency" in government.

"I've always said that anyone who discriminates against the Negro will discriminate against women," says the North Carolina-born and educated executive. "If they do it toward one, they'll do it toward any group."

She views her new job as one of seeing "that we have good staffing and the best talent we can get and that employes are well treated so they can give the best possible service to the veterans. After all, the VA was not set up to serve the personnel but the personnel set up to serve veterans."

Miss Parsons had been sizing up people for jobs for more years than you'd guess, looking at her. Her face is youthful, her figure supple, but she insists her only exercise has been walking up to her old third-floor office in the morning. "Now that I've been elevated to the 11th floor, I'll have to think of something else to keep fit," she says.

After graduating from the University of North Carolina in 1941 she taught school a year, worked for the Civil Service Commission, became a lieutenant in the Coast Guard doing personnel work in World War II and joined the Veterans Administration in 1946 as a $3,000-a-year-personnel assistant.

Gardener's Corner

A JUNKYARD produced the container used by the winner of the recent 10th annual Sterling Bowl flower arrangement tournament at Newark, N. Y.

Mrs. Floyd Doty of Walters, Okla., the winner among 103 women nominated from 43 states for the contest, related that she picked up some harrow teeth (called hamie teeth where she hails from) in a graveyard for farm implements, where she also acquired a piece of a broken trailer hitch and a flatiron.

Then Mrs. Doty donned a pair of safety goggles and held the scraps in the shape she wanted them while a welder joined them.

The theme of Mrs. Doty's arrangement was "Go Forth into Space." Her maiden name was Gordon.

Part of her philosophy of flower arranging is that originality should extend beyond the flowers to the container. She makes all her own containers, utilizing home-grown gourds, wood and metal.

Of her 1965 winner, she said the parabolic curves made by the harrow teeth are positioned "to add tension and the value of space it occupies." The vertical line and the Polynesian Sunset roses force the design directly upward and into outer space, she said.

At home, Mrs. Doty grows iris, chrysanthemums, dahlias and day lillies in her big garden. This year, she has won 37 blue ribbons 7 sweepstakes and 4 awards of distinction as well as the Sterling Bowl.

If you keep your plants in fairly sheltered porch, patio or fence areas, the need for water will be reduced.

Rather than use the hose freely, place the plants in big waterproof clay pots so that they may absorb moisture gradually from below. If watering from above, do it at dusk, so evaporation will be slower.

The National Chrysanthemum Society's 22nd annual flower show is scheduled at Morristown, N.J., Oct. 23-24. The theme will be "Colonial Heritage."

Fluvanna P-TA Sets Plans For Monday Evening

The Fluvanna Parent - Teachers Association will host a Welcome Back to School evening at the school Monday, September 6, at 7:30 p.m. Students, parents, teachers and friends are all invited to attend the informal gathering.

Guests will meet briefly in the school auditorium. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

Plans for this meeting were made August 26 when the PTA board met at the school in the afternoon. Mrs. Bill Jones, president, directed the session, and activities for the 1965-66 school year were outlined. L. M. Dawson, superintendent, discussed plans for the various programs, and several committees were appointed.

Other PTA officers present at the board meeting were Mrs. Bill Jennings, Mrs. Don Jones, Mrs. Don Gill and Mrs. H. C. Landrum.

The first regular business meeting of the PTA at large will be held Monday night, September 20, in the school auditorium.

Children Taught Gardening

AT THE Charles Andrews School in Syracuse, N.Y., the children do not trample the lawns or flower beds. They have helped teach themselves not to.

A grimy thumb is a prestige symbol. Youngsters who beautify the schoolgrounds are given recognition.

The Syracuse Men's Garden Club last year gave the pupils an award for beautifying the city. This year club members have been invited to talk to the pupils about trees and seedlings. They've also been invited to lend their spreaders and knowledge of potting and dividing plants.

Principal Frank Liss, who believes that "in all good education, you must follow through," wasn't satisfied with the limited seasonal opportunities for gardening. He ordered supplies moved out of a basement storeroom and fluorescent lights, a heating unit and dirt moved in.

The school's growing cycle is now more rounded. The children transplanted tulip bulbs from around the flagpole to the "greenhouse." And they're planning future floral patterns for the grounds.

Junior Troop No 85 (Mrs. Sam Block), met Tuesday, August 24th, for a short business session, to check badges of the girls who will go into Cadette troops this fall.

On Wednesday, the 25th, they met at Towle Park for a swim and weiner roast. They also went on a short hike to complete their Gypsy Badges.

• • •

Cadette Troop No. 325 (Mrs. H. P. Redwine) will meet Wednesday, Sept. 8th, for a planning session.

Four girls from Troop No. 325 took the Junior Life Saving course offered at Towle Pool during the summer. This also entitles the following girls to the Life Saver Badge: Chere Reneau, Paula Redwine, Patty Smyth, and Cheryl Wilkins. Many thanks to Mr. Jack Lawrence for giving us extra time on this!

Troop No. 325 will take care of children for West Elementary PTA this school year. Their first meeting will be on Tuesday, Sept. 14 at 7:30.

Mrs. Charles McCaleb, Neighborhood Chairman, has announced that troops will not be organized until the latter part of September. More information on training and organization will be available soon.

MRS. WILLIAM E. SNEED
. . . nee Betty Barrow

Miss Barrow, W. Sneed Repeat Marriage Vows

In a candlelight ceremony held August 26th at 8 p.m. in the St. Paul Methodist Church, Abilene, Betty Wayne Barrow became the bride of William Earnest Sneed of Gail.

Dr. Frank Charlton, pastor, led the couple in pledging vows.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Martha Musser Barrow of Abilene and Mr. Cecil Wayne Barrow of Texas City, and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sneed of Gail.

Ruth Wooten, organist, presented nuptial selections and accompanied Fred Goodson, soloist.

Escorted by her brother, Jay Barrow, the bride was attired in a full floor length gown of Beau Ganza featuring long tapered sleeves and Bateau neckline. A floral and leaf design of reembroidered alencon lace and seed pearls formed an apron effect on the bodice and front of the gently flared skirt. A soft flat bow caught her chapel length train. Her veil of French illusion was attached to a crown of seed pearls.

Mary Jane Barrow attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Candy Bass, Janeen Clements and Sharon Rutledge, all of Snyder, and Kay Sneed of Gail, sister of the groom.

Miss Barrow wore a full length gown fashioned of white eyelet organdy over aqua bridal taffeta. Bridesmaids were attired in floor length dresses featuring bell skirts, scooped necklines and cummerbunds in aqua Delicata bridal taffeta.

Margaret Barrow of Austin, cousin of the bride was flower girl. Saundra Sneed of Gail, sister of the groom, lighted candles.

Jim Shearer of Snyder was best man. Groomsmen included Taylor Rudd, Kenny Bennett and Dale Cornett, all of Gail and Gary Bradley of Lawton, Okla.

A reception was held in the church parlor following the services. Members of the house party were the bridesmaids, Miss Venna Lee Bradley of Lawton, Okla., Yvonne Green of Downey, Calif., and Joy Gibbs of San Angelo.

After a wedding trip to Cloudcroft and Ruidoso, N.M. the couple are at home at 1208 Twenty-seventh Street, Snyder. Mr. Sneed is employed by Dewey Everett Ranches.

The bride attended Snyder and Abilene High Schools. The groom is a graduate of Borden County High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sneed were hosts for the rehearsal dinner, and a rehearsal breakfast was held in the home of the bride's mother, 1519 Beechwood, Abilene.

Out-of-town guests were from Rotan, Lamesa, Snyder, Gail and Austin, Texas, Lawton and Willow, Okla., Downey, Calif. and Ruidoso New Mexico.

When you are stuffing an eggplant, halve the vegetable lengthwise, then cut out the pulp in chunks leaving a shell, that is about ¼-inch thick. The pulp can be cooked until soft and mixed with bread crumbs, milk, eggs, plus seasonings and liquid for the filling. The stuffed eggplant halves will need about ¾ hour baking in a moderate oven.

GRANGE WINNER — Mrs. Jean McCoy of Kansas placed first in the adult division of the all-cotton sewing contest with this jacket dress made in a decorator-type cotton.

Library Notes

Achievements, problems, and the changing role of the U.S. woman have received increasing attention in newspapers, magazines and books in recent years. The Scurry County Library has a vast number of books to help today's woman make a place for herself in her delineated world of business.

Though much has changed to aid in the emancipation of women since the early part of the 20th century, inroads into the outside world have been chiseled slowly. If a woman wishes to work outside the home she needs to understand the simple rules of do's and don'ts in entering what was for centuries only a masculine domain. Statistics prove that women can operate proficiently in many areas formerly thought only suitable for the aptitudes of men.

It has been learned through many special study groups that there are many reasons why women seek employment outside the home, the scope of duty bequeathed to her for several milleniums. Of approximately 20 million women gainfully employed today, some seek remunerative work to supplement the family income; others work to support elderly relatives; many widowed either by death of the bread winner or through divorce are the sole support of dependent children and themselves, and older women often find the need to be occupied fully after rearing a family. Compared to the large number of women who work outside the home, only a few are career seekers.

Considerable research went into the preparation of Barbara P. O'Neill's new book, "Careers for Women After Marriage and Children." The author takes a hard look at the possibility of a professional career for the mature woman. "Educated women are needed," Miss O'Neill states. She goes on to demonstrate that age and maturity have a definite market value. In each of several fields of employment, from teaching and nursing to engineering and architecture, case studies are used to show how some women have successfully prepared and found a job. Employment opportunities, psychological difficulties, and salaries expected are also discussed. This book also provides a list of schools which offer continuing education courses. Though the difficulties of returning to school and work after a lapse of time are portrayed with frankness, equal emphasis is given to the satisfactions and fulfillment resulting.

Adele Louis and Edith Bobroff have found in years of job counselling that the mature woman often faces her job - finding situation with some perplexity and dismay. The co-authors, directors of Career Blazers for one of New York City's foremost employment agencies, explore such questions as how does a woman who has spent all of her adult life as a homemaker go about finding a job for the first time? In their book "Kitchen to Career," they examine other questions as where does she go, whom does she see, how does she know for what she is qualified? The authors find that although a woman might have run a large house and managed to help her husband put a family through college, the mature woman has little or no job experience. She is, the authors have found, unsure about her capabilities and qualifications. They also find that there is no telling what a woman might do if she has the drive, energy, and ambition coupled with the right direction. Many women have started new and exciting careers at thirty, forty, and even fifty and sixty. This book provides guidance for the woman who wants to enter, or re-enter, the world of business.

"American Woman: The Changing Image," edited by Beverly Benner Cassara is a contribution of 11 distinguished women, each speaking from specialized experience. The forthright ideas exprssed by these women are sure to disturb the peace of mind of both the young and the mature woman, and many men will find themselves shaken by the opinions given. According to several of these writers, the struggle for women's rights is still very much alive, and in some areas the modern woman is actually losing ground. At a time when the demand for technological skill requires the best brains of both sexes, the American woman still lags far behind her Russian counterpart in terms of her professional contribution and opportunities. The role of the American woman is changing, with 250,000 married women reportedly returning to work each year. With one-third of the labor force made up of women, the pressure for eliminating professional prejudice grows stronger. This book raises many questions on the role of American women, offers some answers, and challenges all to give thought to how educated women can best fulfill their responsibilities in an increasingly complex world.

A new book that should be a must on every women's reading list is Margaret Mead and Frances B. Kaplan's book, "American Women: the Report of the President's Commission on the Status of Women," which will be on the library's shelves soon. President Kennedy appointed this commission in 1961 with Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt as chairman. The commission's final report, subcommittee findings and other publications are brought together in this one volume. Commission reports based on civil and political affairs, education, federal employment, home and community, private employment, protective labor legislation and social insurance are discussed. Whatever the future of a woman might be, she owes it to herself and others to acquaint herself with the findings of this commission.

Many other books about women and their problems are on library shelves. No Scurry County resident need be ignorant of the laws pertaining to such important items as wills and the legal status of women. Too often women learn too late that, perhaps unwittingly, their rights have not been properly protected. "What Women Want To Know About Wills," by Earl S. MacNeill will help any family plan its future security. MacNeill, a well - known lawyer, was head of the personal trust department of one of the country's largest banks and is an authority on trust subjects.

Books are also available to help the woman already gainfully employed to advance in her chosen career. Local women are invited to avail themselves of all information of particular interest to their betterment.

MR. AND MRS. JIMMY DON FOX
(Photo by Craft Studio)

Miss Parrish, Mr. Fox Wed In First Assembly Church

Double ring vows were exchanged on August 28th at 7:30 p.m. in the First Assembly of God Church, by Paula Jean Parrish of Snyder and Jammy Don Fox of Big Spring. Rev. R. C. Dearman, officiated, before an altar holding baskets of white gladiolus and banked by palms.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Otto Parrish of 1208 Nineteenth Street, Snyder, and Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Fox of Big Spring.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Robert H. Hicks of Midland, the bride wore a white satin gown featuring a boat neckline edged in tiny white lace, and long fitted sleeves edged with matching lace. The softly gathered skirt ended in a chapel train. Her waist-length veil of illusion fell from a pearl crown. She carried a cascading bouquet of white carnations.

Attending the bride were Glenda Brown as maid of honor, Tina Gale Antee as flower girl. Pamela Hicks and Imogene Adams, cousins of the bride from Midland, were bridesmaids.

They wore matching street length dresses of blue satin adorned with blue roses and long stemmed white carnations accented with net and flowing satin streamers.

Aubrey Seals of Big Spring served as best man. Ushers and groomsmen were Bobby Birdwell, Bill Blum and Darrell Sanders.

The bride sang "Always" to the groom.

Mrs. Ann Powell, sister of the bride was organist, and accompanied Brenda Fox, sister of the groom, who sang "Only You" and "Because".

A reception followed in fellowship hall. A bouquet of white carnations and pink roses centered the white lace covered table. Dale Antee, Nadine Hicks, Audine McCann and Sherry Parrish presided at the serving table holding a three tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

For her wedding trip to Dallas the bride chose a white linen suit, green blouse and black accessories.

They will make their home at 306 West Eighteenth Street, Big Spring, where the groom is assistant manager of Gibson Discount Store.

Out-of-town guests were from Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Seminole and Lubbock.

Catton: Events In Perspective

NEVER CALL RETREAT (Centennial History of the Civil War: Vol. 3). By Bruce Catton.

Bruce Catton's artistry as a historian never was more evident that in this third and final volume of his Centennial History of the Civil War. We can see here plainly the techniques which put him not merely in the front rank but almost in a class by himself.

First of all, of course, he is a writer of high talent; he knows how to keep a narrative moving, he has a gift for crystallizing in a phrase what others would obscure in a chapter. He has the benefit of meticulous research (directed with exceptional skill and thoroughness by E. B. Long), and he knows how to take advantage of the wealth of knowledge thereby gained.

Perhaps most important, Catton can ably relate the past to the present; the pertinence of his discussions of slavery and the problems of the slaves is inescapable. Civil rights workers and segregationists alike should read the "Eloquence at Gettysburg" section of chapter five.

"Never Call Retreat" covers the last years of the war, from December 1862 to May 1865, from Fredericksburg to Appomattox. It is almost too much to encompass in one volume. At times, the reader feels that Catton has him by the elbow and is hurrying him past scenes where he would like to linger. The reader is whisked past Gettysburg, for example, without information or conclusion on the controversies of that battle.

This is neither a major nor a serious fault. The true value of "Never Call Retreat" lies in the depth of its narrative, the skill with which events are fitted into the framework of history's stream and made to contribute to a unified whole.

No new nuggets of knowledge are offered. The distinction lies in the freshness and depth of interpretation. For example, Catton's treatment of Appomattox and his emphasis on Robert E. Lee's role in fostering the Lost Cause legend and contributing to enduring romance of the war is at once bold and authentic.

Poor Little Princess

PRINCESS VIC. By James Brough.

It is a common practice for authors to write fiction by borrowing from fact, usually with a considerable number of modulations. Brough's novel is utterly fictional, but poses some thoughts on things that could have happened.

The story is about the British monarchy in our times, featuring a Princess Victoria, younger sister of William, who in 1952 succeeds his father, a crusty realist named Albert II, who as a second son was plunked down on the throne upon the accidental death of the heir apparent.

Brough tells Princess Vic's story from childhood, and makes her a good example of the Poor Little Royal Girl. For she is whiffed about from nurse to tutor to ceremonial duty without regard for her personal feelings. Her brief stay in a private school gives her only a glimpse of how the other 99 per cent live.

Of course even a princess can have clandestine intimations of the boy-girl bit in contrast with arranged marriages. Even as a child, Vic has been a playmate of Tom Grigson, the tutor's son. And in her blossoming years she burns the romantic candle for Tom, who very discreetly has bustled off to America to make his fortune. Naturally, the fatal question is whether a princess can marry a commoner.

For many pages in this novel, the story seems to be a timid satire on the sterile vacuum in which offspring of a royal family are raised. But the latter part gets right down to the question of warmer human equations, without really solving them. The novel won't win any prizes, but it has its minor values as entertaining fiction.

THE SITUATION IN FLUSHING. By Edmund G. Love.

This Flushing is in Michigan, a few miles from Flint; and at the time Love is describing (his first 12 years, from 1912 to 1924) it had 271 houses.

The author became a railroad buff about the time he started to school. And as he says on his very first page, he started to write about locomotives—and a small boy who wanted to become an engineer. But it turned into a story of Flushing's change from the horse and buggy and the kerosene lamp to the gasoline and electric era.

So what we have here, in addition to railroad fever, is a really intriguing story of small town America in an innocent but lusty day; a good documentary account of the metamorphosis of a quaint little cosmos.

Things could be dramatic in those days. On Love's 6th birthday the West Side School caught fire and there was a train wreck, but unfortunately he missed most of the excitement. Later, when Hart's Mill burned down and everyone thought the whole town would be lost, he was in the thick of things.

There are stories about Grandfather getting his wooden leg caught in the pedals of an early auto; Percy Benjamin, the railroad telegrapher and semaphore man who finally was disocvered to be color blind; the famous 20-foot drift of snow back of Henry Chatter's barn; the first radio receiver in town; the tremendous civic response when Flushing's only Negro retired. There also was a riotous fight when motorcyclists invaded the town, and doesn't that have a modern echo?

This is a book of specialized appeal, under the general heading of nostalgia. And though it is an amusing yarn enlivened by some delightfully eccentric characters, it has more than entertainment value. It is an authentic peak into an engaging past.

A six- or seven-inch skillet is fine for making an individual plain omelet using two eggs.

Rogers-Spradlin Repeat Doublering Vows

Trinity Methodist Church was the setting for the marriage of Oneida Ann Rogers of Ira, and Bob K. Spradlin on Sunday, August 29th at 3 p.m. Elder O. C. Floyd of Primitive Baptist Church, and grandfather of the bride, performed the double ring services. Baskets of white gladiolas, were used in the church decor.

Guests were seated by David Hughs of Abilene, Jack McDonald of Lubbock, Jim Vineyard and Gary Vineyard of Ira.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Vineyard of Ira, and Mr. and Mrs. James C. Spradlin of 2302 Forty - first Street, Snyder.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal gown designed with a basque bodice of Chantilly lace featuring a square neckline. The sleeves came to a point over the hands and were closed with tiny buttons covered with lace. The cut-away top skirt of organza was draped to the back by a detachable double watteau train of organza framed by lace. Her elbow length tiered veil of silk illusion was held in place by a circlett of orange blossoms, crystals and pearls.

She carried a cascading bouquet of Frenched mums and roses.

Miss Carolyn Rogers of Ira attended her sister as maid of honor, Mrs. Bennie Ogden of Abilene and Mrs. Janice Hart of Snyder were bridesmaids. They wore pink A-line dresses of everglaze cotton lace with long fitted sleeves, and carried long stemmed red roses.

Jim Spradlin of Denton served his brother as best man. John Paul Rogers of Ira, brother of the bride, and Kent Sterling of Ira, were groomsmen.

Mr. Dan Ogden presented traditional wedding music on the organ, and accompanied Mrs. Barbara Daniells who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer".

Fellowship hall was the scene of the reception following the ceremony. The table was covered with pink with an overlay of organdy. Serving the white three tiered cake were Mrs. Faye Stone and Jetahn Rainwater. Joy Cox of Hobbs, N.M. registered guests.

For traveling to Fort Worth the bride changed into a black and white seersucker two-piece suit and black accessories. She wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will live at 1342 Jeanette Street, Abilene, where the groom is attending McMurry College.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Ira High School and the groom graduated from Snyder High School in 1963.

Out of town guests were from Garland, Denton, Vernon, Abilene, and Hobbs, N.M.

Stamps In The News

GYMNASTICS is the theme for two new stamps issued by Austria. The stamps honor the "4th Gymnaestrada" held in Vienna last month. The 1.50 schilling blue-gray shows two male gymnasts on the practice bars. The 3 schilling light brown depicts two female gymnasts with tambourines.

The Gymnaestrada is an event sponsored by the International Federation of Gymnasts. Countries from various parts of the world send athletes to compete. Previous Gymnaestradas have been held in Rotterdam (1953), Zagreb (1957) and Stuttgart (1961).

Israel will issue an unusual set of six stamps Sept. 7 to honor the Hebrew New Year Festival for 1965 corresponding to the Hebrew calendar year 5726. The stamps tell the story of the creation of the world according to Genesis, Chapter 1. On each stamp is an allegory of the accomplishment of each day of creation, reports the Israel Philatelic Agency in America.

Each drawing is composed of luminous lines against a dark background representing the void of unending space. The lowest value shows the creation of light. Other stamps, depict the creation of waters, land and life. The sixth stamp is for the creation of man.

The latest nation to issue stamps honoring the International Cooperation Year is Pakistan. The main feature of the design is the insignia of "Cooperation" in an eclipse. The slogan "Peace and Progress Through Cooperation" is imprinted on each. The words "Pakistan" in Urdu and Bengali appear atop the adhesive. The same in English is at the bottom. The 15 paisa is blue and black. The 50 paisa is yellow and green.

Make Each Detail Of Home 'Different'

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If all the houses in your area are alike, warm weather can bring a challenge to make your house look different. Not merely to compete but to offset the regimented feeling.

You can survey all the possibilities. You can do a lot with paint to the exterior of a house to set it apart from others. So many handsome colors are available in exterior paints that you can give your home an air of distinction with a new color.

A crushing thing is to have houses in the vicinity in such garish colors that you have no alternative but to use white. Not that white can't shine. Its pristine beauty shows up best when it stands alone as an accent or background in solitary splendor, rather than as one of many. But it is fun to use color.

Trees and other plantings can do much to change the look of your home. And if you have neither the time nor money to do more, a pretty colored door will liven up your entrance.

Inside a house, there are many ways to be different, too.

In visiting the homes of interior decorators, one would see all sorts of ideas that one would be hesitant to use without professional advice. But because they are not afraid to be different, professional people can go the limit.

Why be afraid to use something different if you like it and it is in good taste, even if it seems wild?

Walls take to a variety of interesting ideas. One decorator uses a great many individual gilded brackets, each holding a candle holder. The gold look against a red background is a rich idea. But another decorator uses the brackets to hold sculpture and other art pieces against a white wall for a different sort of effect.

Decorators make little areas such as shelves look more elegant, covering them with slabs of marble. Over a radiator cover, for instance. Or used in a bathroom instead of just an ordinary shelf.

A lady decorator pastes artificial flowers over the glass around a shower stall. Another built a makeup booth in a tiny closet, lining the walls with mirrors, putting lights around the little dressing table. Practically all decorators do something different to kitchen cabinets.

The way you succeed is to take each dull or uninteresting detail that is just like your neighbor's and do something different to it. A little thought and imagination can go a long way. But don't try to do it all at once. Take each thing in turn.

Just putting up flashy pictures or putting down a new rug isn't enough. You'll need to be a little more dramatic whether the result is just merely eye - catching or something special.

For example, short swinging gay nineties barroom - style doors that go to a dining room can become conversation pieces. One interior designer framed chicken wire with 1 by 2 inch boards to get the effect, spraying the chicken wire gold. Another used radiator grid metal, painting it white with a pine frame painted gold. The latter doors opened into a very cool-looking dining room in white and lettuce green color. The table and chairs had been painted white with just a border of the green and a slab of white marble over two wrought iron stanchions served as a serving board in the very small space.

Chocolate Sponge Cake

4 ounces (2-3 cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 tablespoon instant coffee powder
¼ cup cold water
½ cup unsifted flour
5 large eggs
½ cup plus 1 tablepoon sugar

In a small saucepan over very low heat stir together the chocolate, coffee and water until chocolate melts and is smooth; cool. With an electric beater at high speed, beat the eggs and sugar until very thick and pale in color and mixture takes some time to level out when beater is withdrawn. Turn the flour into a sifter and sift in a little at a time, folding in as you do so. Fold in the melted chocolate mixture. Turn into a buttered square cake pan (9 by 9 by 2 inches). Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 40 minutes. Turn out on wire rack; turn right side up. Cover with chocolate butter-cream frosting flavored with coffee and rum.

"Gonks At Play". Funny face applique on an A-line jumper of wide - wale Corduroy. Each color of jumper has a different applique. Long sleeves, turtle neck, cotton knit shirt. White/Blue; Black Red; Gold/Green.

Although Water Is Plentiful We May Soon Be Thirsty

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Water is indestructible. Presumably there is exactly as much water on earth today as there was at the time of creation.

It is not the total amount of water that concerns mankind, however: It is the quality of the water and its availability for human use.

And herein lies the crux of what is now recognized as the U.S. Water Problem.

(1) The available supply of good water is so limited that within 35 years demand will outstrip supply by 350 billion gallons daily.

(2) The water in the nation's 90 major river basins is being polluted by municipal, industrial and agricultural wastes.

The work of improving the water quality of just 17 of these streams has cost nearly $3.1 billion since the program began in 1957.

The fact that the nation's waters are being polluted is probably no surprise to anyone, especially anyone who has felt the urge to swim in the waters off Milwaukee, Cleveland or New York City, for example.

But pollution is a variable depending for definition upon the intended use of the water. And that complicates matters.

For domestic use, water must be clear, free of disease organisms, waste and odor. It must not have a dissolved mineral content higher than 500 parts per million, according to U.S. Public Health Service standards.

Water for agriculture is judged on mineral content, particularly its sodium level. Sodium will turn good soil into a sort of compacted gumbo.

Water for fish propagation must be relatively free of industrial and municipal wastes and be able to sustain a flora for the small organisms which serve as fish foods. It must also have a minimum dissolved oxygen content of at least four per cent.

Water for industrial use runs the gamut from complete absence of minerals to temperature, the critical factor where water is used for cooling.

There is, apparently, a widespread assumption that the nation's waters are being polluted chiefly by municipalities, which dump raw sewage into lakes, rivers and streams.

This is true only in part. One of the worst offenders is the nation's industrial complex.

The report of a special subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Public Works found that "at the present level of industrial waste treatment, in 1970 the amount of organic industrial wastes discharged will be the equivalent of the raw sewage that could be discharged by the entire population of the United States in that year."

By 1970, the United States is expected to have a population of 210 million. The subcommittee estimates the nation's industries need to build 6,000 waste-treatment plants, beginning now.

The subcommittee also reported that there are now 7,939 municipalities with waste-treatment plants which serve the needs of 102 million people. Many of these plants, however, are obsolescent.

There are 6,141 municipalities with waste-treatment projects under way, costing $3.1 billion.

The Public Health Service is processing another 1,400 applications for federal assistance in building treatment plants which will cost $879 million.

Cleaning up the nation's waters is not going to be cheap. The ultimate bill may run as high as $40 billion.

In any event, the health service contends the nation's cities are not moving fast enough. Paul W. Reed, in charge of water supply construction grants for the service, has estimated there are still 5,277 communities in need of waste-treatment plants and sewers.

Under the present law, the health service has $100 million a year for loans to communities for waste-treatment plant construction. The law limits the loans to 30 per cent of the total estimated cost up to a maximum cost of $600,000.

For all practical purposes this excludes the nation's larger cities. Atlanta, for example, figures that to clean up its wastes will cost somewhere between $60 million and $70 million.

But industry is the big headache. The health service says that until it knows what industry is putting into the nation's waters, it has no idea of just how to go about cleaning them up — and industry is hesitant to tell.

Richard S. Greene, chief of the service's basic data branch, says most industrialists have refused to provide information on the quality and quantity of liquid wastes.

"It is understandable from the management viewpoint," he said. "No industry makes a profit from treating wastes — unless it figures the cost of lawsuits is going to be higher than the cost of installing treatment facilities."

But water pollution is not the only problem. In the arid and semi-arid regions of the West, water collected underground over thousands of years is being pumped out much faster than it is being replaced, raising the specter of great areas returning to desert.

Ironically, some of this water is used to irrigate crops, such as cotton, which the government is paying producers in other sections to take out of production.

Deer Valley, an 80-square-mile area north of Phoenix, Ariz., already has returned to desert, its ground waters exhausted.

The pumping of ground waters has caused parts of the Imperial Valley in California to subside. On Long Island, N.Y., salt water is intruding into the drained reservoirs.

The nation now uses about 360 billion gallons of water a day. The Senate Public Works subcommittee estimates the nation will be using 515 billion gallons within 15 years and "the most the nation can ever hope to achieve as a result of engineering works is about 650 billion gallons a day."

At the present rate of growth, the subcommittee estimated, the nation will need more than one trillion gallons daily by the year 2,000, leaving a deficit of about 350 billions gallons daily in the dependable supply. This means, the committee said, that the nation is going to have to use and reuse its available waters, hence the concern with pollution.

Any water, no matter how polluted, can be made reusable — at a price. When people talk of converting sea water to fresh water, or of reusing waste waters, they are talking economics, primarily.

What they generally mean is water available at a price they want to pay, not what they can afford to pay.

As the nation runs out of dependable water supplies, the cost of water undoubtedly will climb — unless communities are willing to subsidize the users by delivering water at below cost.

Water reuse means the nation's scientists are going to have to learn a great deal more about water than they now know.

Junior Editors Quiz on MERMAIDS

QUESTION: Are there such things as mermaids?

* * *

ANSWER: The sweet little mermaids in our picture are so attractive that it seems a shame to report that they do not exist. The idea that there are mermaids, half human and half fish, is one of the legends dreamed up by sailors who constantly travel the mysterious sea. At sea, things are often so far away, or so shrouded by atmosphere, that it is difficult to see them clearly. Many sea creatures are thought to have suggested the mermaid idea to sailors. The seal, with its large expressive eyes, has an almost human look when swimming along with only its head showing. At the upper left we illustrate the seacow or manatee, a sea-going animal with a trick of rearing out of the water. At a distance, such a creature may have looked like a person waving its arms. The dugong, a somewhat similar animal, may have also played a part in the mermaid legend. Both these creatures have fishlike tails.

Having imagined mermaids, it was natural for superstitious seamen to go further. Each mermaid had a cap, they thought, which she could slip on the head of a man she liked. Then the man could live under the sea.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Color this picture, making the mermaid's hair golden yellow and her scales emerald green. Better yet, draw your own version of a mermaid combing her long hair. 9-4

(Sheila Hamilton of Springfield, Ga., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper.)

MRS. WILLIAM A. HOLT JR.

Conely-Holt Marriage Vows Exchanged In Michigan

Miss Margaret M. Conely of Brighton, Michigan became the bride of Mr. William A. Holt Jr. of Kalamazoo, Michigan, in St. Patricks Catholic Church in Brighton, Mich. on August 13th, at 7:30 p.m.

The Reverend Roy B. Conely, M.S. of St. Louis, Missouri, brother of the bride, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Roy N. Conely, Brighton, Michigan and the late Mr. Roy N. Conely, and Mrs. William A. Holt Sr. of Snyder, Texas and the late Mr. William A. Holt Sr.

Given in marriage by her brother John J. Conely of Brighton, Michigan, the bride wore an ivory linen floor length gown of imported Belgium linen. Embroidered eyelet and French lace created a floral design in the skirt. French lace trimmed the slightly scooped neckline. A crown of matching linen trimmed with seed pearls held her finger-tip English illusion veil. She carried an arm bouquet of long stemmed white roses.

Miss Susan Bath of Detroit, Michigan was maid of honor, and Miss Susan Cleary of Bradford, Pennsylvania was bridesmaid. They wore matching floor length gowns of sea green linen, featuring matching French linen lace which encircled the natural waistline and extended to the floor in back. Headpieces were matching Dior bows of linen and lace. They carried arm arrangements of [illegible] roses.

Mr. Russell Holt of Shreveport, Louisiana served as best man and Lt. Col Garland Holt of Oklahoma City, Okla. seated guests. They are brothers of the groom.

A reception was held in the Shamrock Room of the church. Mrs. Charles McDowell, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Theron A. Finch, aunt of the bride, served cake. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. William Fitzgerald and Miss Evalyn Funsch. The punch was served by Mrs. William Funsch and Mrs. Maxwell Gardner, both aunts of the bride.

For traveling to Northern Michigan for one week the bride chose a long sleeved navy blue rippled silk A-line dress, matching shoes and purse, with melon colored flowered hat and corsage.

The couple will make their home at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Mrs. Holt has a B.A. degree from Marygrove College, Detroit, Mich., was a member of Sigma Alpha Eta, National Speech Pathology Association; Iota Gamma, honorary society, and has been a speech therapist in the Lincoln Park (Michigan) school system for two years.

Mr. Holt has a B.S. degree from Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Tex., and is now completing his Master's degree [illegible]

ON THE HOUSE

Everybody who has anything to do with advising householders about painting is continually stressing the necessity of preparing the surfaces properly.

More than any other single factor, the failure to apply paint to a clean, sound surface is responsible for a poor result. This is true whether referring to interior or exterior painting and regardless of the type of material being painted.

Perhaps the most neglected surface, from the standpoint of preparation, is the ceiling. It may be that painting a ceiling is a nuisance in any case — and the thought of spending considerable time perched on a ladder or other support, merely for the purpose of getting the ceiling ready to receive the paint, is enough to provide an excuse for skipping this part of the job. It can often be a sad mistake, because a poorly painted ceiling can ruin the entire appearance of a room, no matter how much care and time have been taken on redecorating the walls.

All loose paint should be scraped, and any cracks or holes filled with spackling compound or patching plaster. The openings should be undercut before making the patch. This means cutting slightly under the plaster edges, so that the bottom of the patch is wider than the top. If this is not done, there is a possibility that the new mixture will begin to drip before it has had a chance to harden. Professional painters sometimes mix the spackling compound with plaster of paris for patching ceilings, as the plaster of paris will aid the mixture to harden faster. They then apply a little paint over the patch and wait for it to dry before doing over the entire ceiling.

More than any other ceiling in the house, the one in the kitchen should be washed thoroughly before any painting is done. Grease has a habit of collecting on the kitchen ceiling. It may appear to be nothing more than surface dirt that can be brushed off, as is sometimes the case in other rooms. But the odds are that it is grease which will not yield to anything else but detergent or soap and a scrubbing brush. An ordinary wash rag is not enough. Only the bristles of a scrubbing brush will do the trick — and even then, considerable elbow grease is necessary.

Incidentally, always paint a ceiling before doing the walls. And it is very seldom that a room can be painted without doing the ceiling. Even though the ceiling may appear to be in pretty good shape, it will suddenly assume a dingy appearance once new paint has been put on the walls.

QUESTION: Many years ago when we owned another house, I put down a concrete driveway. It seemed to be a nice, neat job, but within about a year the driveway began to develop cracks that grew wider and wider as time went on.

We now have a house with a driveway of ordinary soil and once again I would like to install a driveway. I have been told that a wire fabric reinforcement will prevent the cracking that occurred the last time. Is this so?

ANSWER: Yes, wire fabric is a good reinforcing material for concrete driveways. It is especially good for do-it-yourselfers, since a series of wires welded to other wires at right angles provides the proper spacing and does away with guesswork. Also, it can be cut with wire cutters or a hacksaw and does not require special tools that you may never use again. The wire comes in rolls five or six feet wide ranging from 125 to 300 feet long. Most dealers will sell fractional rolls in the event that you do not need one of the standard lengths.

There are various ways of placing the wire fabric into the driveway for strengthening purposes. One of the most common, and the easiest, is to proceed with the laying of the driveway in the ordinary way; that is, pouring the concrete mixture over the bedded materials — but only to halt the thickness you need. Then place the wire reinforcement into the leveled but still wet concrete and pour on the rest of the concrete to the required thickness. By having the wire fabric in the middle of the concrete, there is little or no chance that the metal will rust or deteriorate.

Quick Quinine Quencher

On those hot Sunday afternoons, when neighbors drop in to chat, serve this easy - to - prepare refresher. It can be made from ingredients kept on hand in the pantry and freezer.

Quinine Quencher, developed by Liberty Cherry and Fruit Co., has delicate lemon flavor and is not too sweet. A lovely pink tint is achieved with maraschino cherries.

QUININE QUENCHER
Makes about 2 quarts

1 quart quinine water
1 quart club soda
1 6-ounce can lemonade concentrate
Maraschino cherry juice, stems
Maraschino cherries, with
Lemon slices

In large punch bowl, mix quinine water, soda and lemonade concentrate until lemonade is thoroughly mixed. Add enough maraschino cherry juice to tint the drink a pretty pink. Add ice cubes or block of ice. Float cherries and lemon slices in bowl. Serve in punch cups, garnished with whole maraschino cherry.

MRS. ORDIA F. GILBERT

Miss Row, Mr. Gilbert Wed In Lubbock Church

Miss Betty Ivone Row of Lubbock, became the bride of Mr. Ordia Franklin Gilbert of Lubbock in single ring services held in the College Avenue Church of Christ on August 21st at 4 p.m. Rev. Leslie Rickerson officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Row, 1501 Avenue E, Snyder, and Mr. and Mrs. Ordia Gilbert, Route 2, Snyder.

The couple are at home at 2101 Twenty - eighth Street, Lubbock.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder High School and Jessie's Beauty College. She is presently employed at Petite Beauty Salon, Lubbock. The groom is a 1961 graduate of Snyder High School and is a senior agriculture major at Texas Tech. He is a part-time employe of A&M Extension Station, Lubbock.

Colorful Character

MRS. JACK. By Louise Hall Tharp.

Isabella Stewart Gardner was one of those many-faceted personalities usually described as colorful, who lived in a time and place where you wouldn't expect much red blood — 19th Century Boston's social world.

A New Yorker, she married Jack, one of the Boston Gardners (Peabodys around the corner), invaded the Back Bay and soon gave the inaccurate gossip columnists of that day something to write about. In those times she seemed unconventional in her attitudes toward the social graces, fashions, music and art, and in her mildly flirtatious games with a constantly renewed swarm of young men.

She began her art collecting while her husband still was alive. She formed real friendships with Sargent, Singer, Adams and James. Imperiously she crooked her little finger at the staffs of the Boston museum and symphony.

It was in the long years of her widowhood, when she became a legendary eccentric, that she created Fenway Court, an art museum of top masterpieces and fading mementoes, whose present-day visitors may be only partly aware of her engrossing personality.

Mrs. Tharp has researched her biography in depth. In fact, she has turned up (especially in the first half of these pages) a great many minor details that will slow down many readers. It is a thorough work, chronologically organized and soberly documented. Mrs. Gardner had a wonderful flair, and her personality manages to shine through the chronology, but her story might have been told better — and some day will be, no doubt — by someone who has the comparable flair to understand Mrs. Jack's zest for life.

Miss America Hopefuls Will Start Competition

By TOM SEPPY

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Fifty of the nation's most beautiful girls — most of whom are college students seeking a week in a full day talent and beauty examination that will end with one being named Miss America 1964.

The agenda for the examining includes pulchritude, poise and personality but with a special emphasis on talent.

The girl who scores the highest grade will receive a $10,000 scholarship, personal appearance contracts valued at $80,000 and an opportunity to travel 200,000 miles throughout the United States and perhaps some foreign countries.

The winner's life will be changed whether she makes her home in a large city like Denver or Indianapolis or in a community like Old Orchard Beach, Maine, Ogallala, Neb., Paris, Tenn., or Freedom, Wyo.

Her face and figure will look down from billboards and look out from the pages of newspapers, magazines and programs in cities and hamlets. Her smile will grace thousands of stages and banquet halls.

She will travel days and nights on a schedule blanked out only Sunday mornings to give her time for church, and the Christmas holidays.

She'll have most everything dreams are made of: a fabulous, high-fashion wardrobe designed especially for her. A new limousine to meet her every time she steps off a plane; the scholarship to use at the end of her reign to launch her on any career she chooses, and the nest egg from using her smile in personal appearances, advertising and television.

She will have everything — except the freedom to have a date, and the fun of slipping into a pair of old jeans and ducking out for a soft drink at a drive-in, and all the thousands of little things that real life is made of.

For everywhere that Miss America goes, her title goes with her. And this title is zealously chaperoned by a day and night companion, manager and schedule-maker.

The Cinderella world of Miss America, the nation's oldest beauty contest, began for most of the girls as they arrived this weekend. On Labor Day, they will register, get hotel assignments and preliminary instructions and pose for pictures.

The public gets its first view of the girls as a group Tuesday evening when they move along the Boardwalk in the annual festival of floats. The girls will be accompanied by some 30 bands, 40 floats and golfer Arnold Palmer as grand marshal during the two-hour illuminated parade.

The testing begins Wednesday and continues until the successor to the reigning queen, Vonda Kay Van Dyke of Phoenix, Ariz., is named shortly before midnight Saturday.

During the three days of preliminary competition, the girls will vie in the evening gown, swim suit and talent divisions as the nine judges — headed by actress Joan Crawford — award points which will give one of the girls the title.

Saturday night, the names of 10 girls will be called and they will step down stage at convention hall to become semifinalists of the contest. The runnersup will then be named until one remains.

The final two hours Saturday night will be shown for the 12th year on national television — CBS, p.m. EST — before an expected audience of 25,000 in the hall and 87 million viewers. Bert Parks will be the master of ceremonies for the 11th year.

Another former queen: Bess Myerson who won the title in 1945, will serve as the television hostess.

Even if a girl doesn't win the title and the first prize scholarship, she still can earn part of the some $40,000 given away during the finals. The first runnerup receives a $3,000 scholarship, second runnerup, $2,500; third runnerup $2,000 and fourth runnerup, $1,500.

The semifinalists who finish from sixth to tenth each receive a $1,000 scholarship as does Miss Congeniality who is selected by the contestants. There are also six $1,000 scholarships awarded to talented nonfinalists and all preliminary talent and swim suit winners who don't earn one otherwise.

Each of the girls is also assured of a $300 scholarship for appearing in Atlantic City.

In fact, the Miss America Pageant has become one of the nation's leading scholarship funds.

During the past 20 years — beginning with the year Miss Myerson was named — beauties competing for the title of Miss America have taken home $5,675,975 in scholarships.

Contestants have received $675,975 from the pageant at the national finals held in Atlantic City each September. The rest of the money has been distributed by some 3,500 state and local pageants which pave the way to this resort.

The 20 Misses America beginning with Miss Myerson won scholarships totaling $171,250. All of them except Yolande Betbeze, Miss America 1950-51, used the scholarships to attend college. Miss Betbeze spent her $8,000 for private voice lessons.

The Miss America Pageant was begun in 1921 by local businessmen who wanted to extend the summer season an extra week. The first queen was petite, blue-eyed Margaret Gorman of Washington, D.C.

It ran into financial difficulties in the late 1920's and was not staged from 1928 through 1932. A contest was held again in 1933 but not the following year.

The pageant began again in 1935 and has been held every year since.
