Fire Plugs In County Assured

Harold Picton, president of Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District, appeared before the County Commissioners Court Monday in connection with the installation of fire plugs in the county outside the city limits.

He explained that for the Conservation District to get a federal grant of over $900,000 to help bring the area a new water supply from the San Patricio Water District, assurance of financing for purchase and installation of the fire plugs must be given.

The Commissioners voted to "commit ourselves (in behalf of the county) to finance the installation of the necessary fire plugs."

Picton estimated that approximately 70 fire plugs at a cost of about $500 each will be required.

Judge John D. Wendell said the county "intends in the future to require subdivisions (in the county and outside the city limits) to provide a fire plug every 500 feet."

In other actions the Commissioners:

—Approved a plat for addition No. 2 in Palm Harbor subdivision with the understanding that R. L. Irwin furnish a grade sheet regarding drainage.

—Received and approved the following April fee report: Sheriff Joe Earl Hunt, $108; Justice of the Peace J. Paul Rogers, $48; Justice of Peace Lawrence Miller, $104; County Clerk W. E. Beasley, $1,356.15; Constable I. E. McLester, $6.

Aransas County Included In Disaster Area

San Patricio County, which got the brunt of last week's floods and high winds, has been designated a disaster area by the Small Business Administration.

The designation makes persons who suffered losses to personal property, homes and businesses eligible for 3 per cent federal disaster loans in San Patricio and the six adjoining counties, Paul Hoidal, manager of the SBA disaster branch office here, said.

The adjoining counties are Nueces, Bee, Refugio, Jim Wells, Live Oak and Aransas. Applications from residents of the seven counties can be filed at the San Antonio Region SBA office or the branch office at 317 Peoples, Corpus Christi.

Disaster loans may be made for as long as 30 years, but must be repaid in the shortest period of time without creating undue hardship for the borrower, Hoidal said.

Chairman of 1968 Buddy Poppy Sale Is Announced

The appointment of H. C. Mullinax and Melvin Hull as co-chairman of the VFW's annual Buddy Poppy sale was announced today by Commander Bob Hewes of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 3904. Announcement was also made of the appointment of Mrs. Charlie Garrett as Auxiliary chairman.

Buddy Poppies will be sold on the streets of Rockport on May 25.

Local VFW and Auxiliary officers expressed a desire to make this year's sale of Buddy Poppies the biggest in modern times. They point out that today, with boys fighting in Vietnam, we are reminded of our obligation to help those who gave, and are today giving, so much on our Nation's battlefields.

They point out that the continued high cost of living is placing an increased burden on our disabled and needy veterans and on those who are attempting to serve them. Those who buy and wear Buddy Poppies will make a substantial contribution to this worthy cause.

"It is hoped," said these VFW leaders, "that our citizens will contribute generously, and help us remember hundreds of orphans in our National Home at Eaton Rapids, Mich."

BULLETIN

Mrs. Virginia Miller was injured, apparently not seriously, in a crash involving her car and another at 9:30 a.m. today (Thursday) on Highway 35 North in front of Holiday Lodge, just north of the intersection of Highway 35 and Fulton Beach Road.

According to Patrolman Joe Dominguez, Mrs. Miller suffered shock and "there was slight bleeding from her mouth." She was taken to the office of a local physician.

Also injured was the man driving the other car, whose name was not immediately learned. Dominguez said this man was rushed to Lyman-Roberts Hospital in Aransas Pass by Cage-Marshall ambulance.

The man was reported to have suffered serious lacerations and was bleeding badly but was able to stand up after the accident.

Dominguez said Mrs. Miller was heading south on Highway 35 when the other car, heading north, apparently went out of control and cut across in front of Mrs. Miller.

The car Mrs. Miller was driving was extensively damaged and the other vehicle was demolished.

Deputy Sheriff E. A. Stautzenberger assisted in the investigation.

County To Operate City Police Dept.?

Mayor Delmar R. Hiller has asked members of the city council to consider the possibility of contracting with Aransas County Sheriff's Department to operate the City Police Department.

The suggestion was made at the council meeting this week when the subject of hiring a new chief of police came up for discussion. Chief Bob Hewes will become sheriff in January 1969.

Hiller pointed out that at present "two efficient police departments operate within a few blocks of each other with the result that there is duplication of equipment and personnel."

"Obvious duplication," he said, "can be seen in such equipment as two way radios and perhaps vehicles and also such personnel as radio dispatchers."

He asked Aldermen Charley Garrett, N. F. Jackson, Joe Zambrano and Mrs. J. W. "Tony" Harden to consider this possibility before deciding definitely to continue the present set-up and employ a new chief of police to succeed Hewes.

The council made it clear that no immediate consideration will be given to hiring a new police chief.

Teachers' Salaries Raised $400 a Year

Salaries of teachers in Aransas County Independent School District will be raised $400 a year beginning in September, which will put the salaries $800 per year above the state minimum.

This increase will place salaries in the local school system in the median position or probably slightly above compared to other schools in this area.

The action was taken this week at a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the School District. It was pointed out that only one other school in the area had as low a salary schedule as that in Aransas county, thus posing a big problem in holding and recruiting teachers.

"This year alone," Supt. of Schools J. D. Gray said, "the local system will need to recruit approximately 20 teachers." He also pointed out "there will be a considerable increase in oil and gas production for taxable purposes in 1968."

In other actions, the trustees:

—Accepted the resignation of the following teachers: Mrs. Bobbie Whelan, Miss Helen Schulze, Mrs. Mary S. Ross, Mrs. Karen Moore and Marvin W. Rice.

—Employed the following teachers: Mrs. Mary Ann Maxwell (5th grade), Miss Claudia Jean Nelson (art, Junior High), Robert E. Crawford (English and Journalism), Marshall F. Freeborn (Junior High), Mrs. Mary Ann Hogue (second grade) and Mrs. Carol R. Smith (third grade).

—Voted to buy 100 band uniforms from low bidder Frauhof Uniform Co. for $96.58 each, one drum major uniform for $115 and three twirler uniforms for $85 each.

—Authorized Gray to sign a letter of intent to purchase water for Fulton Elementary School from Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District.

W. C. Underwood, principal of Fulton Elementary School, said today that due to the bad weather, registration of first graders will be continued all next week through Friday.

Sportsmen Protest 'Indiscriminate' Shell Dredging

The Rockport Sportsmen Conservation Association on May 8 sent a letter to the U. S. Engineers office at Galveston protesting indiscriminate dredging of shell without reefs first being checked and approved by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials.

The letter specifically referred to Permit No. 7562, Horton & Horton, Houston, to dredge shell for commercial purposes in 36 tracts in San Antonio and Guadalupe Bays.

The letter states that the Association objects to "dredging of shell for commercial purposes by the applicant, unless there is more consideration given to more effective controls put into practice for the safeguarding of nursery areas and exposed shell reefs which spawn and feed the seafood products in these bays. We do not believe there is any justification in the taking of one natural resource in such a manner as to irreparably damage other natural resources in these bays."

"Further we object to the dredging of any exposed reef, or for the dredge to operate within 1500 feet of an exposed reef or of grassy nursery areas; and to the dredging of any reef which does not have a minimum of two feet overburden."

"Further, we object to the (continued on page 8)

City attorney Dick Hatch, fire marshal Elva Mullinax and city health officer Dr. Homer F. Elliot will be authorized to investigate old structures, some on Austin Street, to determine whether such dangers as snakes and rodents and fire hazards are present.

When the survey is completed within approximately two weeks, the Council expects to receive from Hatch a recommendation as to what the city can do legally to remove such hazards.

Mayor Hiller said, "we expect the survey to reveal how many houses or business buildings need to be removed, cleaned up or repaired to make them safe from the standpoint of health and fire."

SPRING TRAINING OF BOYHOOD DAYS

Two boys were kneeling down in the dirt in front of the house. The man noticed them as he drove past. A mile down the road he realized what they were doing; playing marbles, no less.

So, he said, the game hasn't disappeared! And he smiled, as he sat behind the wheel and pushed his car onto the interstate highway.

Back, back through the years his memory trotted to the days when he was a lad of 12, and how, when the first real burst of spring came around, he ransacked the house back on the old farm place, for his bags of marbles left over from last summer.

Huh! He mused. Ball players think spring training is something fairly new. They just don't know any better. There were spring training days in the game of marbles, too, back on the farm.

Memory dashed back to the bare spot in the yard beside the front porch where grass seemed to never grow. This was the spot where the kids gathered on a warm spring day to get their thumbs in shape for the summer's season of playing marbles. Didn't take much shooting to raise a red spot on the thumb either, and only practice, and lots of it, made the hand's digit callous enough for the season when the boys started playing "for keeps."

Parents, the old man said, frowned in those days on boys playing "for keeps." They called it gambling or something. But compared to the stuff going on these days among youngsters, he reckoned, it wasn't so bad.

Every morning the kids gathered at the bare spot in the yard and someone would take a stick, draw a ring in the dirt and there would be two "shooting lines" a proper distance from the ring. Early in the season the poorer class of marbles were put into the circle because no boy was chump enough to risk his good red agate, the one with the white running through it.

Then as the season progressed, the numbness of the thumb lessened and play got underway in earnest. That meant "for keeps" in earnest with the prize marbles offered.

Parents didn't have to wonder where the kids were in those days, so long as they were in the front yard shooting marbles. They knew they were playing "for keeps" and they shouldn't, but the older folks diplomatically looked the other way. At least the kids were at home.

Parents, the man mused, didn't have to phone the hot dog stand, had there been one in those days, liams, Mrs. Carl Osborn, Mrs. S. F. Jackson and Mrs. T. H. Pollard.

During the business meeting presided over by president Fred Brundrett, the men decided to continue the repair work on the church where they will contribute time and energy on Friday evenings.

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

RULE BRITANNIA

London, they say, is the swingiest city in the world these days. The noble old place is young. And why are the skirts short, short, short? Because they are go-go-fun? Because they are fashionable? Only partly, according to the Parliamentary secretary to the good grey Labor ministry.

Said Mrs. Shirley Williams in an address to the clothing manufacturers: "Your industry has been contributing substantially to saving imports and materials and helped the nation's balance of payments."

"Clearly, there is a patriotic reason why skirts have never been shorter."

Vivi le patriotism.—Edmonton (Alta.) Journal.

Bigness is a national trend, despite anti-trust laws and similar discouragement. One firm must survive by gobbling competitors, or be gobbled for lack of aggressiveness. Big money must work at big jobs, big men want big responsibilities and big government finds it much easier to put the finger on big companies. The little fellows survive on a probationary basis until they get big enough to be in the way. —Concrete (Wash.) Herald.

ANNUAL SCOUT BARBECUE

The local Boy Scout Troops will be holding their annual Boy Scout Barbecue on Saturday, June 1, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Rockport Lions Club pit.

Chicken and pork barbecue will be served with all of the trimmings for $1.25 a plate.

Tickets are available from any boy scout in either troop 49, 280, or may be purchased at the pit. By patronizing these boys who have tickets for sale you will be giving them an opportunity to receive credit toward their week of summer camp at Camp Karankawa this summer.

Monies from the sale of tickets will also be used by each of the three local scout troops to buy troop equipment, to maintain local boy scout property, and for other troop activities.

FHA Mother-Daughter Banquet

By Elida Tamez
The Richardson Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America held their annual Mother-Daughter banquet May 7 in the new homemaker department of the high school. After the greeting by Kay Sparks and the invocation by Linda Ballou, everyone served themselves buffet style. After the meal, the awards were presented. Kay Sparks was given the trophy for being the "FHA Girl of the Year."

Mrs. Linda Bradley then talked about personality. The theme for the night was "The Seeds of Tomorrow."

After that, eight guides, each in turn, went to the front, recited a purpose, and put a rose in a vase. Then the new officers were sworn in by the retiring president, Kay Sparks. Then she turned her gavel over to the president, Kathy Allgood. Kathy accepted the gavel and then sang the "FHA Prayer Song."

The new officers for the 1968-'69 school year are:

President, Kathy Allgood; 1st vice president, Paula Heselstine; 2nd vice president, Cynthia Rouquette; 3rd vice president, Marie Medina; 4th vice president, Kathy Bauer; reporter, Elida Tamez; secretary, Linda Ballou; parliamentarian, Cathy Deason; treasurer, Kitty Davenport; historian, Eileen Casterline; and pianist, Marilu Richards.

FUN IN THE PRESS

And then there's the story about the non-scheduled airline inviting passengers to show their own home movies. — Hereford (Tex.) Brand.

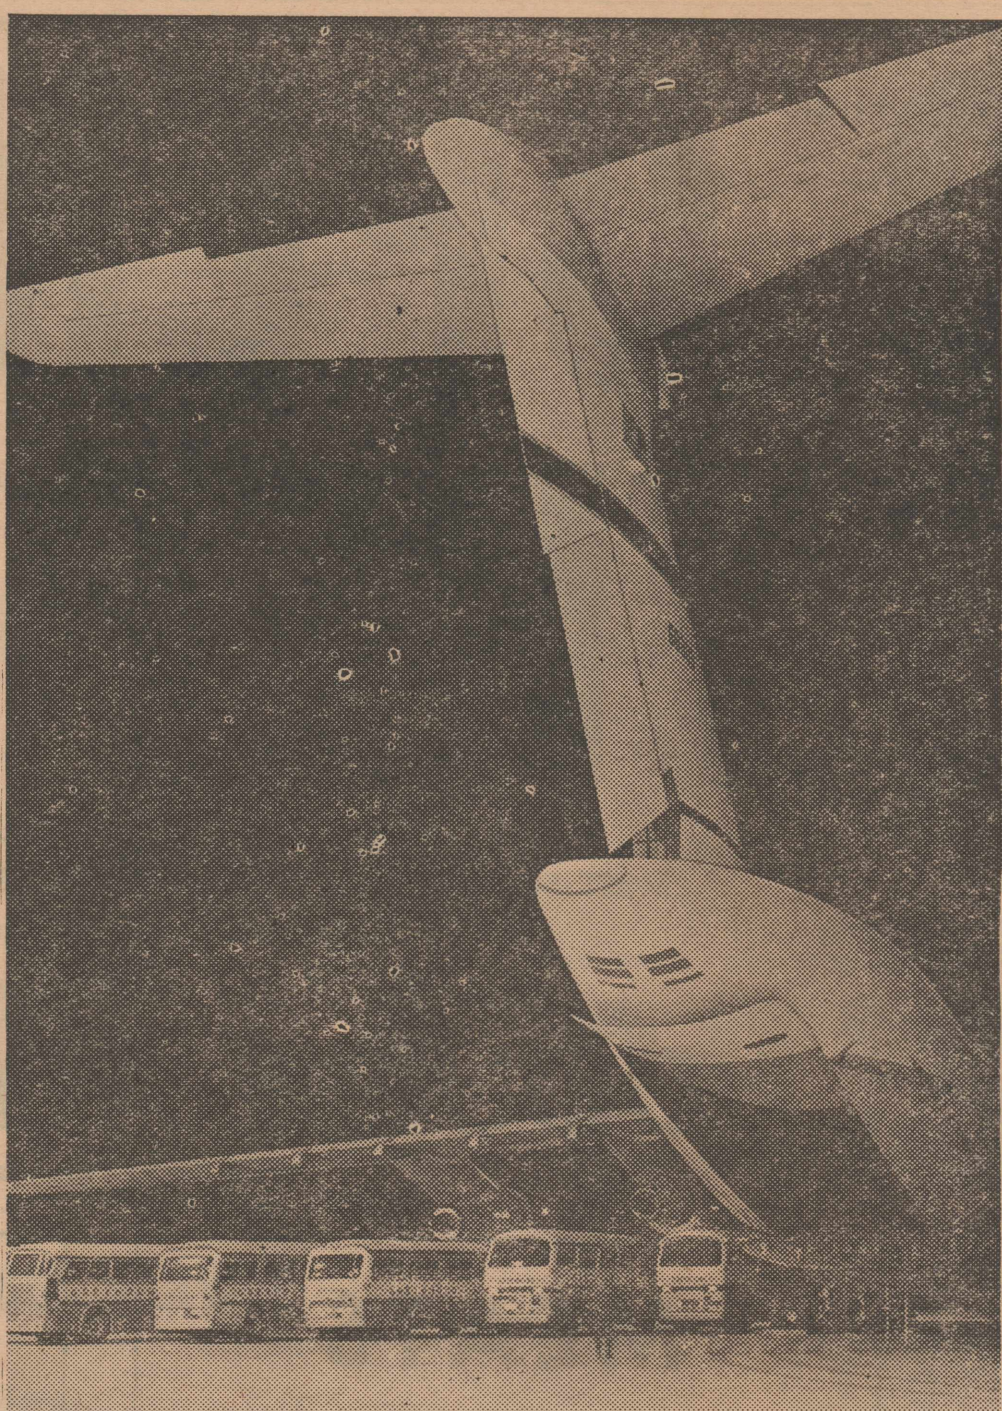

Man reports seeing an up to date fortune teller—a gypsy with a computer. — Windsor (Ont.) Star.

The editor looked over the proofs of the book on "Child Care" and decided that the author had used the word "underpants" too often.

So the editor jotted down a notation on his calendar pad to "change underpants" in order to remind the author of this change.

The next morning, the editor's private secretary scanned her head and mumbled, "What will that guy want me to remind him of next?" — Anderson (S.C.) Independent.

Overheard: "With the present market, I'm neither a bull nor a bear. I'm just chicken." — Financial Post.

TOYS? No, these transcontinental buses just look that way parked under wing of U.S. Air Force Lockheed C-5 Galaxy, world's largest airplane. Transport could carry all six 60-passenger buses fully loaded with room to spare.

When asked in a public opinion poll which of 11 commonly-used goods and services gave them the most value for their money, more people answered "electricity" than anything else.

While electric service keeps doing more for you, the price keeps going down. A kilowatt hour of CPL electricity costs about half what it did 25 years ago, yet other things you buy cost up to five times as much as they did then. That's why we say that CPL electric service is a value that grows with use. And that's why users say that it's the biggest bargain in their family budget.

equipped according to specifications prepared by Commissioner of Public Works Tom Shults.

—Reaffirmed employment of city attorney Dick Hatch.

—Voted to allocate $225 expenses per man for Fire Marshall Elva Mullinax and two other firemen to attend the fire training school at Texas A&M for six days in July.

—Approved a sewer line request to extend the line on Cornwall east from Gagon, a total of 217 feet, to serve five houses. The projects, involving 6-inch line, will cost $303.08.

Since the last council meeting, three other homes not previously served now have sewer service.

—Approved by a split vote a contract with Carroll Weaver to pave the parking area at the city hall for $1,856 and to build up the gutters at several locations on Austin Street for $322.

Gutter build-up will be at Western Auto, between Rockport Bakery and Trade Winds Shell Shop and at Maverick Market. Aldermen Charley Garrett and Joe Zambrano voted against the gutter work, charging it would decrease parking space at Western Auto which might hurt the firm's business. Aldermen N. F. Jackson and Mrs. J. W. "Tony" Harden voted in favor of the proposal. Mayor Delmar R. Hiller broke the tie by voting in favor of the curbing work and the paving.

—Voted to install a culvert berger $150, the amount he paid for paving north of Johnson's Drug Store.

—Voted to install a culvert at the intersection of Laurel and Racine at the request of E. B. Crawford, Sr.

examination, and dental check-up. Immunizations will be given to all children and a hearing test will be conducted by the school nurse.

Registration of children will be held on May 21, 22 and 23 at the Rockport Elementary School, at the Live Oak Elementary School, and at the Fulton Elementary School. It is anticipated that they will have approximately 60 children in the combined programs.

Total funds applied for from O.E.O. is $12,496.00. Local schools expect to have employed the following personnel in the program: 1 part time principal, 4 teachers, 4 teacher aides, 2 cooks, 1 janitor and 1 secretary.

CONNALLY NAMED—

ing that voters in the county to go to the polls in November to vote, and advising them that "our strength in the state convention is predicted on the number of votes cast in said election." The recommendation was passed unanimously.

In 1966 Aransas county was entitled to five delegates to the state convention as compared to this year's three delegates. The decrease was due to fewer votes cast in the 1966 general election than in the 1964 election.

Delegates to the county convention were:

Precinct 1A: O. F. Poling; Precinct 1: Ray Longino, Hugh Morrison, W. B. Croncy, Jack Horton, H. F. Elliot, Lola L. Bonner and Anthony Del Rocco (Alternate serving as Delegate).

Precinct 2: Harold Picton, James B. Jackson, N. F. Jackson, F. N. St. Clair, R. J. Fox, Willard Haynes, Geraldine Stevens (Alternate serving as Delegate) and Mrs. N. F. Jackson (Alternate serving as Delegate).

Precinct 3: Joe R. Bush, Mrs. Joe R. Bush, H. A. McDonald, Mrs. Robert Hewes and Otilie Mundine.

Precinct 4: L. A. Goodman. Miss Bonner said there is ample evidence that many people marked their ballots incorrectly in the May 4 Democratic primary election and their votes were not counted.

She stressed that at the June 1 second primary runoff, voters should be sure to place an X in the box opposite the candidate's name. Do not cross out the name of the candidate you don't wish to vote for.

Absentee voting begins May 22 and ends May 28. Any person wishing to vote absentee is instructed to go to the county clerk's office in the courthouse and express a desire to vote absentee if the voter plans to be out of town on June 1.

Oyster Study
Platforms Completed

Austin—Two oyster research platforms built in San Antonio Bay have had final approval of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, according to Terry Leary, Coastal Fisheries Coordinator for the Department.

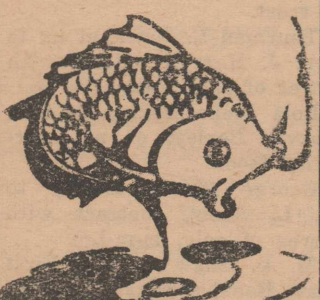

Leary said the platforms were built on Chicken Foot Reef and Mosquito Point Reef, both good oyster producing areas.

The 20 by 10 foot platforms, constructed four feet above the average water line, will be used to determine growth and survival rates of different stocks. The Department hopes to find an oyster which is resistant to the diseases which occur along the Gulf Coast.

The diseases, the Aransas Bay Organism and Dermocystidium, are linked with high salinity of the water. Too much salt in the water weakens the oyster and may eventually permit the disease to be established, Leary said.

Each platform is capable of holding thousands of oysters to be checked regularly by Department marine biologists. During these checks, trays of oysters will be hoisted to the surface and inspected and growth rates recorded.

Dead or sick oysters will be culled and studied in the laboratory.

Along The Waterfront

Joe's Boat Basin on Copano Bay reports, "It's still too rough for the boat fishermen, but the wade fishermen are doing real well. 'Pop' Pebles of Waco did two hours of wade fishing and caught 31 nice trout and two redfish."

On May 6 a test run was made on the Copano Bay causeway lighting system. Excellent results were obtained despite strong winds and outgoing tides. Several large catches of gafftop were caught, and Danny Adams, Don Oliver and Richard Loden caught 93 trout on white worms. Over half of these trout were two pounds or better. It is the general opinion that very good catches will be made with live shrimp.

The E. L. Killebrews of Amarillo, guests at Pierce Courts, caught a 5½ and 4¼ pound trout and several smaller ones last Friday while wade fishing in Copano Bay. During the two weeks they were here they caught several fish every day.

mud and silt, now buried in the shell reefs and dormant, be wasted in such a manner as to spread over the bay bottoms for miles; and we request that such waste materials be deposited in the bottom of the forty-foot trench using methods which will greatly reduce the turbulence.

"We request that no permit be approved until the submerged reefs which are approved are staked and checked by the Parks and Wildlife officials, in order that their location is definitely established.

"Unless the shell dredgers put into practice more satisfactory methods to protect these areas—vital to the production of seafood—they will suffer irreparable damage. When these spawning and feeding areas are silted over, there will be little to harvest. "On the other hand, it is an established fact, there are other sources of supply for lime and more satisfactory road construction materials which will be in greater supply long after the shell reefs are gone; and it will not be long if the present rate of depletion of the shell reefs continues."

JUNIOR-SENIOR
BANQUET AND PROM

The seniors were honored May 10 at the annual banquet and prom by the Juniors. The theme was "Paris by Night."

At the banquet at the Sandollar, speeches of welcome and thanks were given by John McDavid, Junior Class president, and Joe Valdez, Senior Class president.

In honor of the seniors, Roseann Elliot and Susan Ballard, both juniors, sang "You'll Never Walk Alone."

After a farewell speech, given by John McDavid, all were invited to the prom at the Paws and Taws building.

Upon entering the prom, the atmosphere and charms of France were evident. The entrance hall was covered with paper flowers and welcome signs written in French. A trestle of green vines framed the doorway leading to the open floor, which appeared as a street in France.

The center of attraction was the Eiffel Tower, a petite structure under the ceiling of draped red, blue, and gold crepe paper.

The beauty of the theme lay in the overall decoration scheme. To achieve an atmosphere of romance and fun, a garden scene was arranged in one corner and centered around a bird bath and a matching love seat.

Lining the "street" were several charming sidewalk cafes. A mural of the famous Arc de Triomphe bordered one wall. And in finality, the Young Society from Bishop sent their melodies into the air from beneath a draped awning of silk.

Through this prom, the junior class wished to express their appreciation to the seniors and wish them a successful future.

I'm kind of proud of my Dad and I'm glad he will arrive at San Antonio Saturday by plane from Los Angeles to visit my wife and me.

Dad will be 88 on Oct. 23 and everyone who knows him marvels at his excellent physical and mental condition. He is six feet tall, keeps trim, wears sharp looking tailor-made suits and sports coats, and always is immaculately groomed.

He reads a lot and keeps well posted on national and international affairs, and still looks after the management of business real estate he owns in Illinois.

Until the last year or two, Dad played golf several times a week and shot a good game. When he was 80 he got a hole-in-one on a 97-yard hole in Long Beach, Calif., and three years later duplicated the feat with a borrowed seven-iron.

Dad worked his way through the University of Illinois, assisted by my Mother who addressed envelopes to help out. He graduated as a civil engineer in 1907 and still keeps in touch with the few remaining members of that class.

Not only was he successful as a civil engineer, but he also was active in community affairs in our home town of Pekin, Ill. He served one term as mayor, when Everett M. Dirksen was getting his political start as councilman. Dad also was president of the School Board and the Country Club.

Also, he's been a wonderful Dad for 59 years.

Pardon me for bragging.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Texas offers one type of fishing that recognizes no particular season.

The day can be as hot as blazes . . . or as cold as the nose of a houn' dog on a frosty morning . . . but this kind of fishing always is good.

We're talking about snapper fishing off the coast of Texas. Year in and year out you can catch snapper if you are willing to take the punishment dealt by the weather.

Actually, it isn't the heat or the cold that will stop you from catching snapper. It's the wind and the waves. Sometimes the waves get mighty "high—and wide" between the shore and the snapper reefs. But if you can whip them, you've got it made . . . summer or winter.

Most snapper fishing on the Texas Gulf Coast has been done out of Galveston and Freeport. They are not too far apart, and usually the fishermen go into virtually the same area. There is a heavier concentration of party boats around Freeport so it is safe to say that most of the snapper fishing for sport is out of there.

You can reach snapper banks from many other places along the coast . . . such as Port Arthur, Port Isabel, and the Corpus Christi area.

There's another access point, too. It's out of Port Mansfield. These new banks are located closer to the mainland but as yet the general public hasn't become aware of their existence.

Since the banks out of Port Mansfield are close enough they can be fished with outboards. Difficulty is that few of these smaller boats are equipped to locate the banks.

Actually, successful snapper fishing depends almost entirely on locating the reefs. Most of them are down from 10 to 40 fathoms, and some even deeper. It takes a good boatman with proper electronic equipment to locate them. Sometimes due to the wind and wave action, it is even difficult for the experienced boatman to find them.

But once you're over the banks, it becomes a fairly simple matter to get all the snapper you want. And for a bonus you might catch a dozen different species of deep water fish, including ling, grouper, jewfish, kings and quite often sharks.

Snapper fishing off the party boats usually is the most productive. Sometimes a boat will return to its dock by 6 o'clock with the ice boxes loaded down with a ton of snapper. And every fisherman completely worn out!

Hauling up one of these fish from the bottom . . . with a heavy rod and reel . . . is a pretty good chore. Some weigh as much as 30 pounds. After you catch a few big ones you are ready for a rest and something to eat.

It takes very little preparation to go on a party boat fishing trip. Party-boat operators know your needs and are ready to serve you.

Most of the regular snapper fishermen have their own equipment. It consists of a heavy rod not more than 5 feet long and not less than a 4/0 reel and a line that will test well over 100 pounds.

You'll need a bottom rig. It consists of a steel or heavy monofilament leader, with two hooks at the end of stageons extending from heavy swivels. Some 16-ounce, lead weights are tied to the end of the leader. Their purpose is to carry your bait quickly to the bottom. Usually the water depth will be at least 150 feet. Extra large, heavy duty hooks are a necessity.

A few personal items should be part of your equipment. These include heavy canvass gloves to use while handling the fish, a pair of fish grippers or heavy pliers, and a large ice box or garbage pail in which to carry your fish.

Another must is an old hand towel. Tuck it under your belt and use it to wipe your hands after handling the slimy fish or after baiting your hook with frozen squid or sand trout. Bait is furnished by the operator when you sign on to one of the party boats.

If you do not have this equipment and don't want to acquire it for such an occasional trip, it can be rented from the boat operator for a nominal price.

Operators furnish ice. Also drinking water. Take along plenty of food and beverage because you'll build up quite an appetite.

Better take along some sea sickness pills, too, just in case.

Whenever you want to go snapper fishing, write the chamber of commerce in any of these coastal cities and you will get detailed information.

SITES FOR RE STOCKING OF OYSTERS SELECTED

Austin—Sites for an oyster reseeding effort have been selected in San Antonio and Espiritu Santo Bays, according to Terry Leary, marine fisheries coordinator for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Leary said the $50,000 Federal Aid project, tentatively scheduled to start the first week in May, will include reefs which have a history of producing commercial oysters and which were killed by flooding due to Hurricane Beulah.

The fresh water discharged into the bays reduced the salinities quickly, causing a drastic ecological change which killed the reefs.

In order to carry out this project, it is necessary to obtain a source of seed stock or oysters about to spawn, said Leary.

"The nearest source of seed stock is Galveston Bay," he said, "and our oyster biologists have determined areas where these oysters may be taken without adversely affecting the Galveston Bay Fishery."

Oysters will be taken from designated reefs located in areas which have been determined by the State Department of Health to be polluted. Commercial harvest from these reefs is unlawful, but the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is authorized to issue permits for the taking of seed oysters from polluted reefs for restocking on private reefs. When transplanted in clean growing areas, oysters will quickly cleanse themselves from any impurities collected from a previous habitat.

"We will utilize oysters from some of the same polluted reefs which we make available to private lease holders for much the same purpose," Leary said.

In all such cases, the transplanting is done in a cooperative program with the State Department of Health, and the shellfish must remain in the approved area for a prescribed period of time before harvest. In this instance, the oysters will be transplanted during closed season.

San Antonio and Espiritu Santo Bays produced over 37,000 barrels of oysters valued at $275,000. The economy of the area is largely dependent on the commercial and sport fisheries, and the Department determined that was advisable to re-establish the oyster fishery in the area as quickly as possible.

At the Parks and Wildlife Department's request, U. S. Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall declared the oysters in San Antonio Bay to be a commercial fishery resource disaster which entitled the Department to apply for Federal aid.

Leary said the gathering of seed oysters will be done under contract with commercial oyster fishermen. He said the oysters will be located so as to allow the currents to carry the spawn to other reefs.

Highway Dept. Reports Hazards To Motorists

Austin — Truckers today were urged to use designated rest areas or to park off frontage roads when taking rest stops along controlled access highways.

The Texas Highway Department has received reports of large trucks making rest stops along the main travel lanes of freeways and expressways, creating driving hazards.

State Highway Engineer J. C. Dingwall said one person was killed and another injured in an early-morning crash when a car slammed into the rear of a truck-trailer combination parked on an acceleration ramp on a Texas Interstate highway.

Fog had restricted visibility. When a second car stopped to render aid, it was hit by a third vehicle. In all, 13 people were involved in the accidents.

The tractor-trailer combination had pulled off on the small four foot shoulder but two-thirds of the width of the trailer extended out into the acceleration lane itself. The driver of the truck was taking a nap in the cab.

Dingwall said the practice does not appear to be widespread as yet.

Recent reports of trucks parking along main lanes and ramps, however, indicate the practice is increasing and that the matter if of some concern.

The State Highway Engineer noted that paved shoulders along the main lanes were not designated for rest stops.

"Paved shoulders afford an extra margin of driving safety," he said, "as well as providing a place to get off the main traffic lanes in emergencies."

Parking trucks off the main lanes near cafes and truck stops located across the freeway also was cited as another dangerous practice.

It is doubly dangerous.

Not only does the parked truck pose a potential hazard, but the driver himself is running a great risk in walking across both main lanes. Main lanes are no place for a pedestrian at any time.

Sometimes drivers even clamber over median barriers. At one Texas truck stop, empty oil drums were rolled against the median barrier to form makeshift stairs so drivers parked on the opposite side of the freeway could climb the barrier with ease.

"Truckers in Texas have a well-deserved reputation for safety and courtesy," Dingwall said. "The overwhelming majority realize that well-designated highway facilities contribute to safety and convenience. They also realize that they, too, have an obligation to use highway facilities for the purpose and in the manner they were intended."

"It is regrettable that a few careless and irresponsible drivers are posing potential hazards to the traveling public," Wingwall said.
