Enter Eastland's Bathing Beauty Revue Now

The Annual Bathing Beauty Revue at Eastland will be held on July 5 this year at the City Park and Swimming Pool.

They urge that all the beauties of the surrounding towns enter— which takes in Strawn, Gordon, Ranger and Mingo. We know that we have plenty of them—for it has been proved before.

In 1940, Leona Cole carried off first prize and in 1941 Mary Louise Krensavage took second prize—and let's hope that in 1942 it will be the same way.

So, don't hide your beauty, get in touch with Mr. G. C. Lee at Strawn and enter right away!

By MARTHA LEE FRAZER

Foiled you, didn't I? Yep, that's right, ANN CARLYLE seemed to think the pastures were greener on the other side of the fence, so she just took off to California where she will live with her brother JIMMIE and work in one of the lumber plants. More power to her, I say—and a little note to let her know that she is being missed something terrible!!!

Just when you think that everyone is gone and all the kids who you once knew—well, we're not telling where—up pops FRANK KITCHENS and EUGENE DAVIS (better known as 'Wee' Davis). They seem to be sporting a Ford convertible—so be careful, boys, they sure catch the eye. Little RICHARD BULMER is best. His best girl pal and friend, PAULA PEDIGO, is away on a visit, and he is seen nowadays by himself.

What people can't think of to save tires about the cutest that I've seen is MR. and MRS. MARCHE ZIMICKI with their dogs riding around in the old ambulance. What knocks you over is when they sit down on the horn—that means you had better move quick.

Everyone seems to be doing their part about bringing all the scrap rubber to their nearest service station—at least BOB BROTHERS says they are. He said that he has never worked so hard before in his life. Keep up the good work, Bob!

If anyone would like to know just how to go about cleaning out a car—call on SUE LANDERS. I understand that she is fully experienced—especially when it comes to sweeping bananas and cookies out. But one thing about Sue, she always has a smile for everyone.

MISS GEO. TUCKER has some pretty smart grandchildren—one that I know of. MISS LINDA LATIMER can pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States perfectly, and she is just two years old. Could it be that she takes it after her granddaddy GEORGE.

It seems that ADELAIDE SMYTHE has really been hitting it hard. About the time that she was all set for a date from Camp Walters—some certain things pop up and she sits home with the rest of us. Hard luck, I call it.

By the way, it looks like JIMMIE UTLEY is missing GRACE MILLER (now MRS. JAMES ISBELL) in more ways than one. In order to make all these Strawn females beautiful she is down at the shop every night until 9:00 o'clock at least. But she is sure being true to KRAPT—that's one thing.

BETTY JANE MOON is kept very busy these days taking care of "WINKEM, BLINKEM and NOB"—her three new kittens. If anyone has any suggestions to ward making their lives more successful, I'm sure 'Bill' would appreciate it very much.

I guess this is as far as I go this time—but not until I say "hi" to my bud, WATSON FRAZER, way down in Algiers, La., and also SAM KEEVER. Watson said that he keeps the printing off the old home town paper and I imagine that all the boys are the same way.

So... until next week—I'll be seeing you. P. S. "Hello," HOWARD TUCKER, down in Tampa, Florida!

Wanted At Once

The names and official mailing addresses of all the boys from Strawn and the surrounding territory who are in the service of Uncle Sam, whether it be on land, the sea, or in the air.

Just write it on the back of a penny post card and mail to the Tribune, Strawn, Texas, and the boys, cooperating with local merchants will endeavor to see that every boy in the service receives a copy of their home town paper.

Ranger Bathing Revue Scheduled For July 3

Ranger merchants had voted 38 to 24 in favor of having a bathing revue on the night of Friday, July 3, it was disclosed after tabulation of the ballots secured from the business people of the town by the Boy Scouts, who volunteered for the service of making the survey.

A number of merchants also promised to make cash contributions to the expensing, and some indicated that they would donate without specifying any special amount.

The tabulation showed at least 17 entries could be expected, with several uncertain as to whether they would be able to secure an entry or not.

All indications pointed to a bathing revue for Friday night, July 3, with a nice group of entries. The program and other details are to be worked out immediately, in order that a snappy well directed revue might be staged.

Ranger merchants take this method of inviting entries from Strawn, Mingo, Gordon and Santo. They may either represent your town or your business in either case, the publicity derived will be of value to your community.

Miss Tyson Is New Tribune Community Editor at Santo

Effective this week and for many weeks to come, we expect Santo will again be well represented in the news in the Tribune.

Last week, in desperation, while angling for someone capable of handling such an assignment at Santo, we were given to understand that Bernice Tyson, the lady in question and incidentally your new editor, was the "dish."

Miss Tyson, still a youth, has lots of vim and vigor and we believe what it takes to do the job, since she edited the high school paper at Santo last year.

We hope by the time she returns to school her journalistic talent will develop to such an extent that she will "talk us into" running her school paper in the Tribune. You will note, in starting, she doesn't start at the bottom, but half way up the ladder, by inaugurating a new column, "SANTO SCRAMBLINGS."

Polka... watch this young lady and her column. She has the talent and urge to develop it.

Santo Scramblings

By BERNICE TYSON Community Editor

These scorching days! Summer is here at last with boiling hot days and no "cooks" to help cool you off.

The past Sunday was Father's Day but it was "kidda" and a sad one as not any of the boys from camp were home.

W. I. Prince was inducted into camp at Mineral Wells and stayed at Camp Walters until being transferred to California. Neither his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Logan Prince, or his sister, Mrs. Jerome Watson, have heard from him over three weeks; so they don't know where he is now.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Driskill have two sons in the service. Muris is in the Navy and is training at Madison, Wisconsin, while Charles is serving the Army at Ellington Field in Houston.

Horace Tyson was transferred to Camp Field in San Angelo last week.

Several town incidents have occurred since the arrival of a new deputagat, three new telephone boys, and two airport boys. Every night these boys, with Craddock, Daniels, and often "Jenny" Davis, are coming around. Now, since the rubber shortage, every one is walking. Why don't someone fall for the depot agent; at least he has a bicycle, and it has tires on it, too?

Mrs. Johnnie Doan of New Mexico is spending the weekend in the McClish home. She has a very cute little boy who Mr. McClish adores.

I see Margaret Ann Bill is back in town. They have moved here from Stephenville.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Martin has moved into Mrs. Nora Littlefield's house. A shower was given for Mrs. Bonnie Jean Smart and Mrs. Elsie Adcock at the home of Mrs. Josie Readek.

Those of you who have loved ones buried in either of our cemeteries and wish to contribute toward their upkeep, please leave or send your donations to Mr. McClish.

We extend our sympathy to the Branson family due to the death of their brother, Fred, of Galveston.

Joe Hoyt Neely spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Alice Neely.

J. J. Gilbert was a business visitor to Santo this week.

Beryl Jean Driskill spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. C. Driskill. Beryl has a job in Garner.

Olen Hendricks left last week for New Orleans, Louisiana, with the Coast Guard.

Misses Bernice and Lillie Mae Bankhead are spending the week in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Stevens had as guests in their home last week her mother, Mrs. Motley, and her

Procedure to Secure Sugar For Canning Offered by A&M

Homemakers canning fruit this year will save themselves time and trouble if they do some advance preparation before applying for their local rationing board for certificates.

"Be prepared to answer these three questions when you go," advises Winifred Jones, specialist in food preservation for the A. and M. College Extension Service: How many quarts of fruit did you can last year? How many quarts of fruit do you plan to can this year? How many quarts of last year's fruit do you still have on hand? Another word of advice is: "Keep a record of the fruit you can with your rationed sugar because your rationing board will ask for it when you apply for more sugar."

Answering these questions will be relatively simple for the thousands of rural homemakers who have kept records and filled food preservation budgets as recommended by county home demonstration agents of the Extension Service.

Rural homemakers may stretch their sugar allowances by using thinner syrups for canning fruits and fruit juices and by using corn syrup or honey as substitute in canning recipes. Miss Jones says. Information on these methods can be obtained from county home demonstration agents. She warns that saccharine, a coal tar product with an extremely sweet taste, cannot be used in canning because it becomes bitter when heated.

Here is the specialist's summary of the rationing regulations as they apply to sugar for canning:

"You will get one pound of sugar for every four quarts of finished fruit you are putting up, and you may use as much fruit as your family needs. You may have an additional pound of sugar for each person in your family to make a small supply of jams, jellies and fruit butters."

Approval of Eastland's Aircraft School Signed

Approval of the project for an Aircraft Defense Workers school at Eastland was signed at Washington and the school will be started in a few days, according to a telegram to H. J. Tanner, secretary of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce from Congressman Sam Russell at Washington. The school will enroll 150 students at a time, conducting classes in six-hour shifts of 40 students each.

Just think! A letter from home to that soldier boy, friend or sweetheart every week for only $1.00 for a six-month subscription to the Tribune, or only 50 cents for three months.

The first Secretary of State of the Republic of Texas was Stephen F. Austin, appointed by the first president, Sam Houston.

Ideas are obsolete little things. They won't work unless you do.

Although Texas showed a larger percentage of gain in population from 1930 to 1940 (10.1 per cent) than the United States as a whole, the gain was smaller than any in Texas history.

Texas Girl Heads Federal Training School, Washington

Miss Virginia Seay of Wichita Falls is glad she is able to apply to her war job in Washington. She is the head of OEM's training center for newly arrived employees.

Each week Miss Seay takes in two approximately 70 girls—mostly typists and stenographers—as they begin their duties in the Office of Emergency Management. They are familiarized with the various Government procedures and the work of the different branches of OEM.

During the brief period the new arrivals are assigned to Miss Seay they undergo intensive training so that their capabilities may be utilized to the fullest extent in the war effort. They are familiarized with the various Government procedures and the work of the different branches of OEM.

In a few days the girls are adequately prepared to render efficient service in any one of the OEM offices to which they may be assigned.

Miss Seay credits most of her ability in handling the youngsters to her six years of teaching.

She says that she will return home to Texas "some day," but not because she does not enjoy life in the nation's capital. Miss Seay lives in an attractive apartment in the Georgetown section of the city. Her favorite amusements are attending the theatre, reading modern fiction and playing the piano.

Miss Seay obtained her first Government employment in Washington by taking a civil service examination for typist which was held in Wichita Falls late in 1939. Soon after being notified that she had passed the examination, she was offered employment with the Social Security Board in Washington. Here she was assigned to a supervisory position in the "training pool." Later, newly formed OEM needed someone to set up a similar type of pool on a larger scale. Miss Seay was interviewed for the job and received a transfer. She says her present job is one of the most interesting she has ever held.

Examinations such as the one taken by Miss Seay are being held at frequent intervals in 116 Texas cities. The U. S. Civil Service Commission said that it is particularly interested in obtaining eligibles from Texas and other states which are in arrears of the quota of appointments in Washington to which they are entitled under the law providing for the apportionment of Federal positions among States according to population.

Then there's the fellow who went on a four weeks bender and didn't show up for work. At the end of the time he wired his boss: "I'm still with you, am I?"

War Dept. Rules on Status of Men 'Missing in Action'

The following information has been received from the War Department: "The War Department will consider the persons serving in the Philippine Islands as 'missing in action' from the date of the surrender of Corregidor, May 7, 1942, until definite information to the contrary is received. It is to be hoped that the Japanese government will communicate a list of prisoners of war at an early date. At that time closest of kin will be notified by this office in event a relative is contained in the list of prisoners of war. In the case of persons known to have been present in the Philippines and who are not reported to be prisoners of war by the Japanese government, the War Department will continue to carry them as 'missing in action' in absence of information to the contrary until 12 months have expired. At the end of 12 months and in the absence of other information the War Department is authorized to make a final determination.

"Recent legislation makes provision to continue the pay and allowances of persons carried in a 'missing' status for a period not to exceed 12 months to continue for the duration of the war the pay and allowances of persons known to have been captured by the enemy during the time they

How to Get Better Service

FROM YOUR ELECTRIC TABLE APPLIANCES

With electric table appliances out of production due to war, you'll want to take good care of the ones you have in order that you can continue to enjoy their step-saving convenience. Here are some suggestions that will prove helpful:

ELECTRIC TOASTER
Be careful in cleaning your toaster. Never put it in water. Wipe outside with damp cloth, using mild abrasive if necessary. Heating element cleans itself when you turn on the current.
Most toasters have removable crumb trays. Use a small brush to wipe out crumbs if your toaster has no tray.
Be careful not to drop your toaster; it may break connections or damage thermostat.

COFFEE MAKER OR PERCOLATOR
Never immerse a metal percolator in water. Stand on dry drainboard, wash inside with warm soapy water, rinse and dry. Wash outside with damp cloth, being careful not to let water get into electrical connections.
If you have a glass coffee maker with cloth filter, rinse filter cloth thoroughly with cold water after each using. Between usings, keep cloth in glass of cold water.
If you have a metal coffee maker or percolator, substitute a tablespoonful of baking soda for coffee occasionally and proceed as though you were making coffee. This will remove coffee oil adhering to metal and eliminate that bitter taste.
If your percolator refuses to heat, a fuse may have burned out. Remove bottom plate and replace with spare fuse or get another from your dealer.

WAFFLE BAKER
To clean waffle baker, wipe edge of grids with clean dry cloth. If any particles stick to grids, remove with wire brush. Never wash grids. It removes absorbed grease that prevents sticking.
Wipe any spilled batter from outside with damp cloth, then polish with soft polishing cloth. Never put waffle baker in water.
If waffles stick, due to improper preheating or insufficient shortening in batter, remove all particles from grids with wire brush, then with a small brush thoroughly cover grids with salad oil or unsalted melted fat. Connect iron and heat until grids begin to smoke. Pour in enough batter for one waffle and bake until done. Discard this waffle—as it has absorbed excess conditioner—and you won't have to grease waffle baker again if you take good care of it.

REASONS WHY ADVERTISING SHOULD BE MAINTAINED DURING SCARCITY

By LAWRENCE HUGHES

This is the land that brands built. And brands are built by advertising.

Advertising is not a shot-in-the-arm for sick products and businesses. It is not a loudspeaker to be turned on, now and then, for special boosting. It is neither a luxury to enjoy when times are bad nor a superfluity to discard when things are booming.

Advertising, instead, is an economic force. It is a potent and dynamic force which creates the reputation of products and services and confidence in them.

Confidence (once won, must be continued. Reputation constantly must be regenerated. And so must advertising.

Advertising is a vital force only so long as it is vigorously kept alive.

Whatever the scope and facilities of a business, its only real resource is reputation. A business lasts only so long as buyers know its products and believe in them.

Whatever the present problems and responsibilities of a business, it must continue to build this bond with present and future buyers.

Let them forget . . .

A few companies recently have stopped advertising.

If they were to fire their engineering and production staffs, burn their plant, and dump their working capital into the river, they could be called crazy.

And yet, in cutting out advertising, they are doing something similar. They are destroying contact with buyers and prospective buyers. In effect, they are telling buyers to forget them.

To be sure, they have "reasons": There are difficult times, and rapidly becoming more so. Priorities and scarcity of materials. Defense orders. And other things . . . Not forgetting the well-known "seller's market."

Some can always find "reasons." Yesterday, there were manufacturers who did not advertise because people lacked the money to buy. Today, there are manufacturers who don't advertise because they lack the products to sell.

Business men are supposed to be practical and sound. But such viewpoints may be simply suicidal superstition. Must the "times" and a lot of other signs and pointers all vibrate on the same plane before a business man dares to tell his customers that he's still in business and would like to have their help in keeping him there?

Times change. And so do markets and people. Reputation must be re-enforced to meet them.

Each year, even in "normal times," millions of consumers die and millions are born and become adults. Each year, millions of consumers get married and separated, get new jobs and retire from jobs, get new needs, habits, desires.

Each year, even in "normal times," businesses and brands must meet and overcome competition, prejudice, apathy and other conditions, in order to convince new customers and to reconquer the old.

Even when they work hard and intelligently to do this, they are at best only partly successful. Even when they move faster, they are lucky, sometimes, to stay where they are.

All times are tough, but in time of great stress and confusion, such as now, it is harder still to keep reputation alive. Businesses and brands must be great and growing.

The American people are being caught in the flood of war. We are not the people we were a few years or even a few months ago. We cannot be sold in the same way.

The less a manufacturer may be able to meet the immediate demands of customers, the more he should try to maintain, and deserve, their continuing confidence.

He should sell them what he can, in fairness to all his customers. He should tell them what he is doing now, and what he is preparing to do, to serve them better.

He must make their problems, more than ever, his own. He must keep them thinking of him.

For he can expect them to remain loyal to him only so long as he proves his loyalty to them.

These times which affect consumers so seriously, affect industrial buyers, perhaps, even more. Defense alters their problems and intensifies their needs. It is no easy task to sell to them.

He should tell them what he is doing now, and what he is preparing to do, to serve them better. He must make their problems, more than ever, his own.

The turnover, among industrial buyers also has been greatly accelerated. Executives, as well as workers, are on the move to new jobs, new localities, new industries. A supplier's reputation may not be even a memory in the minds of those who replace them.

These changing times, for all buyers and consumers, are realistic times. They seem to be leading to harder times. The 15 per cent of industry already devoted to war work has changed things a lot. Next year it will be far greater.

During the first World War, some manufacturers thought that the time were not favorable for advertising. They had to pare somewhere, so they cut out advertising.

Dig through the records of those days and you may find their names. You will find few of their names on going concerns now. Their competitors and creditors—and the short memory of their customers—removed them.

There were, however, many manufacturers and others who saw the advertising opportunity in those changing times. . . . such as Campbell and Coca-Cola, du Pont and Eastman, Gillette and Hoover, Simmons and Sunkist, Whitman and Wrigley . . . continued to advertise then. They advertised aggressively, even though some of them could not meet consumer demands. They are still leaders, and still advertisers.

New advertisers . . . such as Bond Bread and Del Monte, Lucky Strike and Pepsodent, and the present General Motors . . . started in vigorously then to build reputations.

The war is advertising opportunity, by then. There is advertising opportunity now.

Today's times provides opportunity for packaged brands to build more solid acceptance.

Today's time offer opportunity to manufacturers of durable goods for both consumers and industry. Such products are bought, usually, only after months of consideration and budgeting. Now is the time to sow the seed of future sales.

Advertising today creates the reputations and the businesses of tomorrow.

At the same time, advertising today helps to strengthen relations between a business and its suppliers, its customers, its workers and the government.

But most important today, when dictatorship dominates most of the world, consistent and constructive advertising can prove to our people an hour of speech and to others, that free speech and free enterprise are worth advocating, worth practicing, and worth defending.

Advertising is the voice, and the example, of the American Way.

Substituting for Sugar Explained

By observing several simple rules, homemakers successfully can substitute honey or molasses for part or all of the sugar required in their favorite recipes.

Hazel Flippo, Extension Service specialist in food preparation, says the characteristic flavors of molasses and sorghum make many foods more delicious. Both vary in moisture and acidity, she says, so the amounts she recommends for sugar substitution are "approximate."

It takes about 1-2 cups of molasses or sorghum to equal one cup of sugar in sweetness. Each cup contains approximately one-fourth cup of water so the liquid in a recipe should be reduced in proportion.

Prepare only the amount of sweetened food needed for each person, and avoid waste by thoroughly stirring the sugar in iced tea and coffee.

Fresh fruits, which carry their own sugar, make nutritious desserts and dried fruits are a good source of natural sugar. Honey, can syrups, molasses, sorghum and corn and maple syrups make good sugar supplements. Several of these are sources of calcium and iron.

When substituting honey, use approximately the same quantity as the sugar called for by the recipe. But on account of moisture in honey, decrease the liquid normally required by about one-fourth cup for each cup of honey used. Usually one-eighth to one-fourth teaspoon of soda is used for each cup of honey in products which are leavened.

It takes about one and one-half times as much sorghum or molasses to give the same sweetness as the sugar the recipe calls for. Add one-fourth teaspoonful of soda for each cup of syrup in leavened products, and decrease the liquid given in the recipe one-fourth to one-third cup for each cup of sweetening in order to equalize the moisture in sorghum or molasses.

The baking temperature should be lowered when honey or molasses is substituted for sugar in a recipe.

Revised Payments Reflect War Needs

Wiser use of land, labor and equipment in producing wartime food is the aim of recently announced parity and conservation payments to be made Texas farmers cooperating under this year's AAA program.

Payments also act as levers to assist farmers in continuing soil conservation practices and in converting from production of crops with big surpluses to crops the country needs to increase quickly. Geo. Slaughter, chairman, Texas AAA committee, announces.

A parity payment of 13 cents per bushel will be made to cooperating wheat growers, but so parity payments will be made to cotton and rice farmers because their 1941 return, including conservation payments, is at or above the parity level.

New conservation rates of payment, which are paid producers for seeding special crops according to AA regulations, also have been announced and replace rates originally designated. New cotton rate is $1.20 per 100 pounds instead of $1.25, while the wheat conservation rate of 10.5 cents per bushel has been reduced to 9.9 cents.

The payment rate on commercial peanuts, which does not include peanuts for oil under the Food for Freedom program, has been reduced from $1.45 per ton to $1.25 per ton, and the rate on Irish potatoes has been changed from 2 cents per bushel to 1.5 cents per bushel. The 1942 rice payment will be 3.88 cents per barrel instead of 4.86 cents.

New payment schedules do not include changes in the soil-building allowance rates or soil-building practice payment rates under the 1942 conservation program, the AAA chairman said. Necessary changes in these rates will be made later when more adequate information becomes available concerning the extent of participation in this phase of the program.

Government as a wartime measure, businessmen are endeavoring to familiarize themselves with the credit regulations and are asking their patrons to likewise study the new provisions recently announced and which are now effective.

Because they affect every user of credit, whether in the form of "charge" accounts or installment purchases, the Federal Reserve Board's new regulations on credit control should be carefully studied by everyone, it was pointed out.

The ruling will have no effect on regular 30-day charge accounts. It was stated, and those who pay their accounts regularly on or before the 10th of each month may carry on business relationships as in the past. But local merchants explain, accounts due on the 10th of each calendar month, become delinquent on that date, and under federal regulations, the merchant cannot permit any further charge to these accounts without becoming liable himself.

Near the close of a rush day, a salesman called on a big business man. When he was admitted, the magnate said: "You ought to feel honored. During the day I have refused to see eleven men."

"I know," replied the salesman. "In them."

It takes that metal, to stop the enemy

So Take Good Care of Your Gas Equipment

Make it Last till We Win this War!

★ ★ ★ ★ Since this country has to skimp on metal household goods, we urge you to keep your gas equipment in first class condition.

I. ROOM HEATERS: To store for the summer, remove dust inside and out; wrap in newspapers and keep in a dry enclosed place.

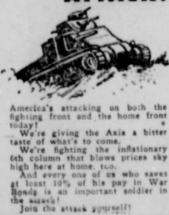

II. RANGES: Do not let food spill over (in top cooking, the simmer-burner heat prevents this; in oven-cooking, careful handling does it). Do not set hot vessels on the bare porcelain surface. (Use cork mats.) Do not use the oven to heat the kitchen in cold weather (prolonged heat will cut down the life of the oven walls). Do not clean up the range while the enamel is warm. When it cools, remove crumbs and spatters with a damp cloth. Do not over-cook foods. It means wear and tear on the range, as well as on the groceries.

SPECIAL NOTICE

The Government Order freezing all types of gas heating equipment has been amended. Floor Furnaces, Gasmaster Radiators, Circulators and Radiant Heaters NOW may be sold and installed for use in rooms which do not already have some type of heating equipment. Likewise, under certain conditions, you are permitted to purchase and install Gas Ranges and Gas Water Heaters. Your gas company will be pleased to advise and assist you with complete information and details.
