Roosevelt Gets Break At Last As Man Leads

Fay And O'Connor Are Staging Neck-And-Neck Race; O'Connor Leads Republican Ticket

(By The Associated Press)

JAMES H. FAY, New Deal candidate for the house, took the lead early today over Rep. John J. O'Connor, blacklisted for renomination by President Roosevelt, with returns in from 65 of 84 election districts in New York's Democratic primary election. Fay led 6,223 to 5,894.

O'Connor, running also for the Republican nomination, was ahead in that contest, however, with 2,097 votes to 1,369 for Allen W. Dulles, on returns from 60 of the congressional district's 84 precincts.

Barbour Has Big Lead

Unofficial returns from 1,859 of New Jersey's 3,577 districts gave former Senator W. Warren Barbour an insurmountable lead over two opponents for the Republican U. S. senate nomination. Barbour polled 126,433 votes to 5,030 for C. Dan Coskey, self-styled progressive, and 7,555 for George O. Pullen, Townsend plan advocate.

Former state W.P.A. Administrator William H. J. Ely, unopposed for the Democratic senate nomination, polled 165,269 votes in 1,866 districts.

Curley Jumps To Front

Unofficial returns from 1,024 precincts out of 1,762 in the Massachusetts Democratic gubernatorial primary gave:

Governor Charles F. Hurley, 82,175; James M. Curley, 124,801; Francis E. Kelly, 54,419; Richard M. Russell, 16,063.

For the Republican gubernatorial nomination, 1,024 out of 1,762 precincts gave:

Frederick Butler, 15,249; William McMasters, 22,153; Leverett Saltonstall, 157,341; Richard Whitcomb, 19,034.

Governor Philip F. LaFollette far in the lead for the progressive gubernatorial nomination in Wisconsin, and Robert K. Henry, coalition candidate, leading for the Democratic but trailing for the Republican gubernatorial nominations. A close race between Lieut. Gov.

Seven Men Are Sentenced In Court Trials

It was a busy day in the 99th district courtroom Tuesday when Judge E. L. Pitts of the 99th district court sentenced seven defendants, all on pleas of guilty of charges on which they recently had been indicted.

Suspended sentences were assessed Jerome Kuykendall, about 21, and R. C. Francis, about 18, on their admissions of theft of over $50. They were indicted on a charge of theft of a $42.90 tire, a $7.23 tube, $13.75 truck wheel, and a $7 battery from Loyd Tucker Aug. 13. Although the older man had been charged as Kuykendall, Burks said the court learned the correct spelling was Kirkendoll and the mistake corrected. Kirkendoll's sentence was for five years and Francis' for three years.

Two Years Suspended

Gerald N. Branch, indicted on a charge of theft over $50, specifically two shotguns from M. E. Stone June 10, was assessed a two-year suspended sentence.

A five-year suspended sentence was the verdict in the case of Lynn Strickel, charged with theft of an automobile from Hub Jones Sept. 14.

By agreement, Bob Jones, charged with forgery, was assessed two years in the penitentiary.

John Monriquez, charged by indictment with driving when intoxicated, was given the minimum penalty of five days in jail, a fine of $50 and court costs, and his drivers

Third Booster Jaunt Staged

Lubbock's good-neighbor trippers and Panhandle-South Plains fair boosters, who have invited countless thousands to attend the fair here next week, Tuesday extended their travels into eastern New Mexico.

Residents of Clovis, N. M., and a dozen towns between Lubbock and Clovis were extended cordial invitations by approximately 45 boosters and a 25-piece Senior High school band under direction of H. A. Anderson, conductor.

Third Of Series Of Four

The emissaries were clad in loud shirts, broad-brimmed sombreros, and cowboy boots. The Tuesday trip was the third of a series of four. The final trip will be made Thursday and will take the tourists to Plains, Tatum, Lovington, and Hobbs.

Tuesday's 223-mile tour in three chartered buses carried the trippers to 12 towns and cities of this area.

Charles Still and Morris Levine were co-chairmen of the trip. Bus drivers were Bill Watson, Clyde Owen, and L. Z. Lowery of the South Plains coaches and McMakin Trailways.

Program At School

B. T. Rucker, superintendent of public schools at Shallowater, was in charge of the reception given the boosters there. A short program was presented at the school.

E. L. Roach, Anton mayor, and H. G. Richards of the Anton News were on the reception committee at Anton. Vernon Herndon of the Lubbock party extended the invitation to the fair. School children were released from school for the program.

At Littlefield programs were presented in town and at the school, Lee Hubby spoke in behalf of the delegation after Supt. Floyd Hemphill of Littlefield schools had wel-

Today Is Deadline For Extra Copies Of Fair Edition

FINAL WARNING!

Today is the last day to make reservations for extra copies of the big annual Panhandle-South Plains fair edition which will come off the presses Sunday morning.

A charge of 10 cents will be made to cover mailing or delivery costs.

Just send 10 cents per copy before 6 o'clock with the name and address of persons you want them mailed to. The Avalanche-Journal circulation department will take care of the rest for you.

Twelve Are Killed And 100 Injured In Train Crash

(By The Associated Press)

NILAND, Calif., Sept. 20—Driven frantic by uncertainty, a railroad brakeman threw a siding switch today as the Argonaut, crack Southern Pacific limited only 200 yards away, roared down the track.

The engineer saw the block signal arm rise, a red light flash. Brakes screeched, but the big locomotive veered sharply, ran into a siding, plowed into the Californian, a Southern Pacific tourist train.

One Of Worst Wrecks

It was one of California's worst railroad wrecks, with 12 persons

THE DEATH LIST

NILAND, Calif., Sept. 20 (AP)—The official, corrected death list, in the collision of two Southern Pacific passenger trains near here today follows:

Flora A. Tator, 30, Rhinebeck, N. Y.
Mrs. Emma Hall, 76, Auburn, N. Y.
Mrs. G. A. Hall, Loma Linda, Calif.
Mildred Greene, 40, Kalamazoo, Mich.
Mrs. Joe Sorrels, Tucson, Ariz.
Miss Rylva Easter, Los Angeles.
Robert H. Richardson, engineer of the Argonaut, Los Angeles.
P. E. Martin, fireman of the Californian, Los Angeles.
Henry R. Parsons, fireman of the Argonaut, Long Beach, Calif.
Mrs. Fronia Monroe, 65, wife of Lynne Monroe, Burbank, Calif.
Miss Amy King, Mexico, Mo.
Dorothye Blocker, 14, Dallas, Tex.

killed and more than 100 injured, some so seriously they were expected to die.

Said C. F. Donnatin, Southern Pacific superintendent: "The wreck was caused by man failure, an unexplainable act by Eric Leonard Jacobson, head end brakeman in our employ for 18 years."

Jacobson, dazed, hysterical, by the effect of a decision he could not explain, violated an important rule of the service, namely: that when a train is on a siding, waiting for another to pass on a single main tracks, he must not approach nearer than 20 feet from the switch stand.

Both locomotives were smashed to smouldering piles of scrap metal, five coaches were overturned, 800 feet of track ripped up by the terrific collision. Scores were trapped in the forward coaches of the Californian, and acetylene torches had to be used to reach some of the bodies.

Presidio Sends Appeal For Aid

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 20.—An appeal for outside help for citizens of Presidio was telephoned the San Angelo Morning Times here tonight by Mrs. Frances Fortner, the newspaper's correspondent in the flooded border city, as waters from the Rio Grande crept slowly over the section south of the railroad tracks. That section was evacuated early tonight, Mrs. Fortner said, and a party of 55 volunteer workers were fighting the break in the levee north of town. A call had been sent out for 150 WPA workers and also to Ruidos for a party of CCC workers in camp there.

Col. Robert H. Lewis, commandant at Fort D. A. Russell at Marfa inspected the flooded area during the afternoon and had sent one truck with 2,000 bags of sand into the stricken area.

Town Facing Doom

The correspondent said city leaders declared the volunteers could hold back one break in the north dike but the town would be doomed should another break occur. She said the river was rising one and

Mrs. Breedlove Dies In City Last Night

Mrs. Mamie Breedlove, 60, of Lubbock died in a hospital here about 9:45 o'clock Tuesday night after having been admitted more than a week earlier. She had undergone surgery at the hospital before her admittance the second time.

She has several relatives here and had lived here since 1916.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the First Baptist church with Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, officiating. He will be assisted by Rev. C. E. Hereford, pastor of the First Baptist church. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery with Rix Funeral home in charge of rites.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. R. T. Holton of Lubbock; three sons, William Clent Breedlove and Winfield Breedlove of Lubbock and J. P. Breedlove of Sarcoxie, Mo.; a daughter, Mrs. Garland Marr of Smiths Grove, Ky.; two sisters, Mrs. G. T. Crawford of Lubbock and Mrs. Minnie Buzzard of Missouri; four brothers, Cleve Holton, Claude Holton, Connor Holton, and Harry Holton, all of Lubbock; and three grandchildren, Mary Louise and Billy Mack Breedlove, and Trent Marr of Smiths Grove.

Clent Breedlove is manager of the Lubbock Municipal airport north of the city.

Mrs. Viola Loftin, Lubbock, Injured In Dallas Mishap

DALLAS, Sept. 20 (AP)—Mrs. Viola Loftin, 43, of Lubbock, suffered a head injury here tonight in an automobile collision.

Ashley D. Loftin, son of the injured woman, was driving the car in which Mrs. Loftin was riding.

The driver of the other car was ordered to emergency hospital for a test when he said he had drunk some beer.

BONDS ARE VOTED

LAMPASAS, Sept. 20 (AP)—Lampasas voted 347 to 183 today to issue revenue bonds totaling $100,000 for erection of a municipal light plant that would receive power from the lower Colorado river authority.

Enrollment For Tech Reaches 3,218 Tuesday

Officials Decry Limitations And Claim 4,000 Would Be Here If Space Permitted

THE registration figure shot upward to 3,218 Tuesday afternoon at Texas Technological college and appearances were that the total would reach at least 3,500 and likely higher.

Officials cast a rejoicing but anxious eye at the registration figure and decried the limitations which prevent enrollment from reaching the total that logically might be expected if sufficient facilities were available.

Would Have 4,000

"If we had dormitory facilities to double what we have, and students could have known it two years ago in time to make preparations to come to Tech, there is no doubt in my mind that we would have 4,000 students enrolled today," said Dr. James M. Gordon, chairman of the executive committee.

Dr. Gordon expressed belief that the college could attract an enrollment in keeping with its housing capacity up to a limit of 5,000 students, provided, of course, that time were allowed for students to learn of increased facilities and make plans to come to Tech. "Until we get 5,000, we can enroll all we can house," he said.

No Fear Of Room Shortage

No fear was expressed of shortage of rooms for this semester. More than four-fifths of the student body must be housed off the campus, however. Many parents are anxious that their daughters and sons stay in college dormitories and many students prefer to live on the campus. Scores of students have returned home after learning they could not live in college dormitories.

Reservations for this fall had been made last spring for every room in the two dormitories on the campus, each of which houses approximately 320 students.

A new men's dormitory on which construction has been started will not be in use until next fall.

Residents Are Complimented

Dr. Gordon complimented Lubbock residents on their cooperation relative to housing facilities. Housing officials are continuing approving homes in which students will live.

The total of 3,218 represented the number who had obtained permits to register. Officials worked an hour over the scheduled closing time for registration, and still there were students wanting to register who

White Claims Industry And Labor Must Give A Little

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—William Allen White, Emporia, Kans., editor, declared tonight industry and labor each must "give a little" for the sake of industrial peace or face loss of their Democratic privileges.

"It is easy to get out and fight a futile war to save democracy," White said in a speech prepared for delivery at an international meeting of business managers, "but it will be hard for us, harder even than war for all of us, workers, investors, consumers, to make in peace those inevitable compromises that are needed to guarantee maintenance of free institutions."

Crosbyton Farmer Is Injured In Accident With Horses

J. T. Chambless, about 55, Crosbyton farmer, suffered severe bruises, fractures of four ribs and a mangled shoulder blade as the result of injuries suffered shortly before noon Tuesday when a team of horses became frightened and ran away with him. He also suffered shock.

He was admitted to West Texas hospital here shortly after noon and authorities that night said his condition was satisfactory.

He was dragged by the racing team. The accident happened near his farm home near Crosbyton.

PRECAUTIONS RELAXED

VALETTA, Malta, Sept. 20.—Britain's Mediterranean fleet today resumed its regular cruise which was interrupted suddenly last week. Other military precautions on this "island Gibraltar" were relaxed.

Oil Field Worker Is Being Held Following Shooting

There'll Be Fun For Everyone Today; The "Big Top" Is Rising On Circus Grounds

Here is Frank Buck, famous "Bring 'Em Back Alive" celebrity, and Modoc, one of the giant elephants, who will be seen by those who attend the Al G. Barnes and Sells-Floto combined circus in Lubbock today.

THE big top is back in town.

Al G. Barnes and Sells-Floto combined, augmented by Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey features, is setting up on the circus lot at East Broadway, opposite the fairgrounds.

There will be performances at 2 o'clock this afternoon and at 8 o'clock tonight.

Day Of "Great White Lie"

Today is the day of the "great white lie."

Parents tell themselves they'll have to get out there with Junior or Sissie, when they have made up their minds several days in advance they could not miss the world-famous hunter and picture star Frank Buck, the "Bring 'Em Back Alive" celebrity and the usual welter of sound and color and animals and clowns.

Seven hundred persons, five herds of elephants, 837 menagerie animals, 400 horses, 167 red and gold wagons and the rest are being unloaded and shunted into their proper sphere for today's entertainment.

Animal Acts Return

Wild animal acts have returned to favor since the advent of the adventurous Frank Buck under the big top. The show has become jungle minded, and offers the largest group of African black-maned lions ever assembled; the giant gorilla, Gargantua the Great, advertised as the world's most terrifying creature.

Outstanding performers, too, will add to entertainment, many of them from Europe and Asia, including:

Mabel Stark, performing with savage Royal Bengal man-killers; Reckless Ralph Clark in a sensational two-horse Roman standing jump over a standard size auto-

Ultimatum For Ally Is Given

Renewed Pressure Is Being Brought To Bear; Second Parley Slated Thursday

(By The Associated Press)

BRITAIN and France served a virtual ultimatum on Czechoslovakia Wednesday to give a yes or no answer by tonight on the London plan to cede her Sudetenland to Germany.

Sources close to the French foreign ministry said the drastic step was accompanied by a warning that a negative reply from Prague would make it impossible for the two powers to guarantee the future existence of the republic.

Answer Unacceptable

It was learned the renewed pressure was exerted because Britain and France found "absolutely unacceptable" Czechoslovakia's answer to their proposals of Monday in which she offered to settle the Sudeten dispute under her 1926 treaty of friendship and arbitration with Germany.

Reports reaching London said President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia received the French and British ministers at Prague at 2:15 a. m. (8:15 p. m., E. S. T. Tuesday).

When the envoys left a before-dawn session of the Czechoslovak inner cabinet was reported to have been called immediately with a full cabinet session expected to follow.

Second Talk Delayed

French sources said Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain had deferred his second talk with Adolf Hitler until Thursday at Godesberg, Germany, in the hope that by that time the Prague government will have been forced to capitulate.

While Soviet Russia kept silent on what course she might take, Czechoslovak circles in Moscow still were confident the Soviet union would come to their aid in the event the Sudeten dispute generates into war.

An unofficial but informed source in Prague said the Czechoslovak reply, as yet unpublished, was "acceptance in principal," but with important reservations. A government communique said the reply left the way open for "further diplomatic negotiations."

Stop Sign Is Held Up

Russia was reported in Geneva to have promised aid to Czechoslovakia if she chose to fight, but Rumania, whose territory was the most likely avenue for Russian men and arms, held up a stop sign.

Rumania was said to have insisted that a previous promise of a military right-of-way for Russia hinged upon the possibility of other powers, besides Russia, going to Czechoslovakia's defense.

Now that France, Czechoslovakia's other great ally, had backed down to join Britain in efforts to placate the German fuehrer at Czechoslovakia's expense, that promise was canceled.

Russia Remains Silent

In Moscow, the Soviet government continued its official silence, but Soviet circles held the view that Russia alone could hardly be expected to defend a republic created by other powers.

Crosby County Entertains Large Crowds At Fair; Judging Results Are Revealed

Man Is Found Shot To Death

(Special To The Avalanche)

ROARING SPRINGS, Sept. 20—Thirty-year-old Jim Ferguson was found dead early this morning of a gunshot wound in the residence of his parents two miles southwest of Roaring Springs.

A shotgun lay near his body.

It was indicated a justice of peace here, who conducted an inquest, would return a verdict late today or Wednesday.

Passed Through Room

The son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ferguson, farmer family, passed through the room of relatives about 8 o'clock this morning, Dr. J. F. Hughes was told.

Almost immediately the report of a gun was heard, the Roaring Springs physician was told.

Ferguson, who had been admitted to a Lubbock sanitarium in June for appendectomy, had been in ill health two or three months.

Last rites will be conducted at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at the First Methodist church here with Rev. E. L. Naugle, pastor, in charge. Burial will be in Roaring Springs cemetery with Campbell Funeral home in charge.

CROSBYTON, Sept. 20.—Crosby county residents, without a fair since 1926, today loyally supported the first county exposition in more than a decade, by literally thousands of people coming here for the opening day. The day crowd was estimated at between 2,000 and 3,000 and according to Secretary Frank A. White of the fair, "there were more here tonight than there were today."

First judging was completed late Tuesday. Grady Lane, county agent of Dickens county, judged the agricultural products and community exhibits.

Mount Blanco First

Mount Blanco was adjuged first receiving $25; Big Four second, $15; Pleasant Hill, $10 and Leatherwood, fourth, $5. In addition each community entered received a bonus of $10.

Other communities with exhibits were Owens, Lorenzo, Wake, Caprock, Kalgary and Cone.

Wednesday's schedule of judging includes swine and poultry by Ray C. Mowery, associate professor of animal husbandry at Texas Technological college, and home economics by teachers of the Dickens and McAdoo home economic departments.

Parade To Be Held

A parade of livestock and exhibits is planned for Wednesday morning.

Crosbyton schools are to close in the afternoon for the occasion, it was said. A number of rural schools closed Tuesday afternoon.

Crosbyton Home Makers club, Future Home Makers club of Robinson and Lorenzo Home Makers clubs also had exhibits.

There were many individual exhibits, especially by women. Crowds stood around the booths and discussed the placings and the quality of the exhibits.

Secretary White announced the following decision in women's exhibits:

Lives Of 20 CCC Enrollees Endangered By Big Boulder

SILVER CITY, N. M., Sept. 20 (AP)—The lives of 20 Civilian Conservation corps enrollees were imperiled today when an earthquake dislodged a huge boulder from a hill overlooking their camp in the White Creek region 120 miles north of here.

The rock, estimated by CCC officials to weigh 24 tons, crashed down the hillside and destroyed a fence near the camp. The enrollees immediately were transferred to Willow Creek, 30 miles away.

Ambush Slayer Being Sought

(By The Associated Press)

MARFA, Sept. 20.—The Rio Grande, marking the United States-Mexico border, balked officers today in their search for the ambush slayer of Perry ("Hawkeye") Townsend, 46, prominent rancher of the Big Bend country.

Townsend's bullet-riddled body was found in his ranch home near Porvenir. Sheriff J. D. Bunton said he had been killed with his own rifle Sunday by a slayer who hid behind a mesquite bush as the rancher was saddling a horse.

Took Horse And Fled

Sheriff Bunton said the killer then took one of Townsend's horses and fled. He was trailed to the Rio Grande, across which he apparently escaped into Mexico.

"Townsend dragged himself from his horse into the house," the sheriff said. "He tried to load another gun, but failed from loss of blood.

"We found a pencil and paper in his hands. He had tried to write a note before he died. We are cooperating with Mexican authorities in the case."

Townsend lived alone on the 100-section ranch, which borders the Rio Grande. Officers expressed the opinion his death grew out of the theft of equipment from the ranch last December.

The rancher's body was sent to Coleman, Tex., where his father, A. P. Townsend, and two sisters, Mrs. J. C. Stovall, and Miss Gladys Townsend, survive. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Peoples Pension Party Plans For A Tour Of The State

DALLAS, Sept. 20. (AP)—The newly-organized Peoples Pension party arranged here today for a Texas tour by a troupe presenting a play, "Old Age Goes On Trial," in the interest of their gubernatorial candidate, A. B. Cyclone Davis.

Davis conferred with party leaders and announced the campaign against W. Lee O'Daniel, whose hillbilly orchestra helped win him the Democratic nomination for governor.

Both came to America in 1891.

Both served in the Spanish-American war.

Both married widows and live in Arkansas.

Founder Of East Texas Fair Taken By Death On Tuesday

TYLER, Sept. 20. (AP)—C. W. Boon, 72, founder of the East Texas fair here, died tonight during its 29th annual exhibition. Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

Survivors include the widow, a son, C. W. Boon, jr., a sister, Mrs. Horace Booth of Houston and a foster daughter, Mrs. B. B. Watson.

HOUSTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—Mrs. Bertha Smith, 22, was found shot to death today at her suburban home.

Justice of the Peace W. C. Ragan returned an inquest verdict of suicide.

Fellowships Totaling $1,350 Awarded At Texas Tech; Three Winners Announced

ANNOUNCEMENT of three fellowship winners who will engage in separate research projects on barley, beef cattle feeding, and cotton burrs was made Tuesday at Texas Technological college.

The fellowships have a total value of $1,350.

Winners are:

A. T. Fowler, June graduate of the animal husbandry department, from Brownfield, $500 fellowship awarded by the Texas Cottonseed Crushers association for study in some phase of beef cattle production.

Fowler

William H. Cardon, graduate of Utah State Agricultural college, from Logan, Utah, $600 fellowship, for research the remaining year of a two-year project in which the possibilities of barley as one of the major crops in this section are being studied, the project financed with $3,000 allocated by the state legislature last year.

Cardon

William E. Richards, June graduate in chemical engineering, from Dalhart, $250 scholarship awarded through the Mellon Institute by the Cotton Research foundation of Memphis, Tenn., research to be in analysis of cotton burrs.

FOR HOUSEWIFE'S BACK

HOUSEMAID'S knee is less important in these days of vacuum cleaners, carpet sweepers and gadgets than any housewife's back: Housewives, the Consumer's Guide says, should look at their working heights the first time they have the bent-over, cramped feeling that is the first symptom of this ailment.

Sinks for the average housewife, the Guide states, should have bottoms 32 inches from the floor, and should be either 5 or 6 inches deep. For work at the drainboard of this model sink, the average housewife needs a stool 25 inches high with a foot rest 14 inches from the floor. Working tables, where they stand to work, should be from 30 to 33 inches high; sit-down tables, on the other hand, should be 24 inches high.

Five Study Clubs Have Luncheon Or Other Meetings Tuesday Afternoon

New Programs Are Opened By Groups

Three luncheon meetings and two meetings held later in the afternoon were conducted by study clubs in Lubbock Tuesday.

Twenty-five members of the 1933 Study club enjoyed a luncheon, opening the year's course, at Mexican Inn. Mrs. T. E. Hendrick reviewed "Thrice A Stranger," an autobiographical book by Vera Britton, an English writer who describes her three trips to the United States. Mrs. R. S. Wilkerson was program chairman.

Hostesses were Mesdames Annie Steele, W. S. McDonald, Henry Turner and Wilkinson.

Meets At Hotel

A luncheon in the Hilton hotel Chimayo room opened the year's program for the Lubbock Women's club. Nineteen members and guests were present.

Invocation was by Mrs. T. H. Barnard and a brief address of welcome was made by the vice president, Mrs. A. B. Brown. Mrs. Raymond Marshall, a guest, sang "L'Amour Toujours L'Amour" (Friml) and "Luxembourg Gardens" (Manning) with piano accompaniment by Mrs. R. H. Hester, also a guest.

Mrs. N. S. McBride presented a detailed and interesting description of the 1938-39 program on "Education For Living" and presented attractively compiled yearbooks to the group. The books are printed on pale blue paper and bound in darker blue.

The president, Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt, presided and, at the close of the program, made a brief talk comparing status of European women with that of American women.

A T-shaped table was decorated for the occasion with three bowls of marigolds, purple sage and fern and, strewn along the table surface, sprigs and blossoms of lantana.

Men Of Presbyterian Church To Hold Meeting Tonight

Men of the First Presbyterian church will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the church to discuss plans for Rally day, Oct. 9, said R. E. McDonald, president.

M. D. Temple is chairman of the group's Rally day committee. Neil H. Wright has been named chairman of a committee to contact other groups in arranging for a large attendance at the Rally day program.

Fruit butters scorch easily because they are so thick. Placing the container on an asbestos mat helps prevent scorching. The butter should be cooked rapidly so it will keep its bright color. Use a long-handled wooden spoon, of the slotted type, for stirring. Because boiling butter bubbles a great deal, its safer to wrap your stirring arm in a dish cloth to avoid burns.

Officers For Presbytery At Paris Are Named Tuesday

TEXARKANA, Ark., Sept. 20. (AP)—Dr. Charles A. Nash, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Marshall, today was elected moderator of the presbytery of Paris (Texas) of the Presbyterian church of the United States.

He succeeded A. M. Ramsour of Tyler. Dr. T. O. Perrin of Greenville was named publicity chairman.

Two score ministers and elders attended the opening of the two-day session.

ONE-DISH DINNERS SAVE

One-dish dinners mean a cooler kitchen and less work for the cook in both preparing and clearing away meals. Pot roast of beef, cooked over a fairly low flame, avoids use of a hot oven and the vegetables — potatoes, onions, carrots, turnips, even tomatoes — can be cooked around the meat, and, in fact, add flavor to the gravy. Put the prepared vegetables in about one hour before the roast should be done.

Flavor changes: Add chopped pimientos to cooked peas or green beans. Mix chopped green peppers and onions in egg omelets. Put a few diced sweet pickles in fish loaves.

Every Day Of Delay In Solving Czech Problem Raises Demands From Hitler

More Fuel For Blazes Added

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Sept. 20—Every day of delay in solving the Sudeten German-Czechoslovak crisis raises Adolf Hitler's price of settlement, a foreign office spokesman declared today.

"Our fuehrer is constantly raising the ante," he said as the controlled German press raised a new clamor for the outright partition of Czechoslovakia rather than mere annexation of the Sudeten regions bordering Germany.

More Fuel Is Added

More fuel to the central European fires was added by official German news agency reports of mounting border clashes between Sudetens and Czechoslovak troop detachments.

While DNB reports from the turbulent frontier poured in, Hitler in his Bavarian retreat received the envoys of Hungary and Poland for conferences on the Czechoslovak crisis.

The Hungarian army chief of staff, Marshal Krestztes-Fischer, came with Premier Bela Imredi and Foreign Minister Koloman Von Kanya to talk with Hitler and Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop "regarding the untenable condition in Czechoslovakia."

To Remain Steadfast

An official announcement said the Hungarian leaders told the reichsfuehrer they would remain "steadfast" in demanding self-determination rights for the 700,000 Hungarians among Czechoslovakia's varied peoples.

Presence of the army chief of staff gave an ominous character to the German-Hungarian talks which followed a quick flight by Hungary's statesmen from Budapest to Berchtesgaden.

The Hungarian regent, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, too is in Germany as guest of Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering in East Prussia.

Poland's ambassador to Berlin, Joseph Lipski, outlined the Polish position in regard to the approximately 100,000 Poles in Czechoslovakia.

New Border Incidents

Sensational headlines told of new border incidents reported by the official news agency, all of them in the mountains of Silesia, on the German side of the Czechoslovak frontier.

"The frontier is burning," proclaimed the Lokalanzeiger.

"Raining machine-gun fire opened on fugitives," cried Der Angriff, organ of Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels.

"Prague provokes an extremely serious situation," warned Borsen-Zeitung.

DNB reports asserted a band of Czechoslovaks fired on German customs officers from 450 feet near Seiderberg while a second Czechoslovak detachment crossed the German frontier.

It Takes A Lot Of Wind To Get Music From This

One Mouth-Organ—Five Boys

(By Associated Press Feature Service).

CHICAGO—When manufacturers and retailers of musical instruments gathered here they were introduced to a goliath of the mouth-organ family, a three-foot harmonica.

The organ could be played if the player possessed powerful lungs. But the builder didn't think anyone would want to play more than a few notes.

Besides the harmonica, the convention displayed a 44-note piano for youngsters who could not reach the ends of an ordinary 88-note keyboard. There was a new electrified guitar, too, and a miniature accordion.

Partly Clad Body Of Woman Is Found Floating In Bay

LA PORTE, Sept. 20 (AP) — The partly clad body of Miss Rose Mattern, 26, a maid, was found floating in Trinity bay today.

Miss Mattern, formerly of Kansas City, Mo., left Houston Sunday to go to the bayshore home of her employers, Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Glauser of Houston. Mr. and Mrs. Glauser were to meet her at the bayshore yesterday, they said.

Justice of the Peace John S. Kibler had not rendered an inquest verdict in the death of the maid.

Brother Of Governor Allred Freed On Bond Yesterday

FORT WORTH, Sept. 20 (AP)—Renne Allred, jr., Gov. James V. Allred's brother, under federal indictment alleging conspiracy to violate the Connally oil act, made $2,500 bond here today.

The indictment, returned Saturday in the court to which President Roosevelt has appointed the governor, also named Neal Powers and H. E. Hines. Powers has made bond in Houston.

There are three parts to a comet—nucleus, coma and tail.

Fire Marshals Meet In City

Approximately 50 representatives from 18 cities and towns of this area Tuesday attended a meeting of the 11th region here at the Lubbock fire department quarters in the city hall.

Eugene Sanders, fire prevention chief and assistant fire marshal of the Texas state fire insurance department, was principal speaker. Numerous discussions of value to fire chiefs, marshals, and city officials were conducted.

Assists In Session

The chamber of commerce fire prevention committee, of which J. E. Maisen is chairman, assisted the fire department with the session.

The meeting was opened Tuesday morning and was closed about 4 o'clock that afternoon. The meeting was "all work and no play," firemen said.

Those who registered at the city hall were: W. E. Twitty, chief of the Lubbock fire department; Cecil Casey, assistant chief here; A. L. Curtis, city secretary and manager at Seagraves; Loyd Bently, fireman here; Truett S. Cranford, fireman here; Walter Hord, fireman at Slaton; R. L. Wicker, marshal at Slaton; Clyde Smith, marshal at Seagraves; Jim Cousineau, marshal at Brownfield; E. D. Jones, chief at Brownfield; W. R. Mitchell, marshal at Seminole; R. H. Payne, marshal at Aspermont; H. H. Shadle, mayor of Aspermont; Guy Casey, fireman here; Glenn W. Smith, fireman here; Alfred Parrack, fireman here; Hugh Nation, chief of Crosbyton; W. J. Beaver, marshal at Roscoe; E. B. Bethell, marshal at Big Spring; U. F. Prothro, marshal at Midland; John Pliska, assistant chief at Midland; J. A. Tidwell, chief at Midland;

John N. Shipley, marshal at Sweetwater; Hugo Zetzman, assistant chief at Roscoe; Bert Rabb, marshal at Odessa; Jack Phinizy, marshal at Lamesa; J. A. Carroll, fireman at Paducah; W. H. Petty, chief and marshal at Paducah; H. M. Gregg, marshal at Plainview; Leedy Maxey, fireman at Plainview; A. C. Hodge, fireman at Post; Walter Crider, marshal and chief at Post; B. E. Ray, marshal at Crosbyton; Raleigh Keith, chief at Ralls; P. B. Ralls, marshal at Ralls; A. L. Elliott, marshal at Floydada; and E. S. Price, chief at Floydada.

Losses Are Listed

It was pointed out that fire is destructive of human life and property in that it: puts persons out of employment; reduces spending power of persons; removes much taxable property from tax rolls; destroys valuable papers, pictures and other articles that can not be replaced; and fire losses have a direct bearing upon fire insurance rates.

If persons will cease using gasoline and kerosene for starting and quickening fires, the number burned to death in Texas will be reduced by at least 40 per cent, Sanders said.

Number Of Deaths Gains

In spite of the fact that fire losses have been reduced amazingly in Texas the last few years, he said, the number of deaths from fires grow in even more startling proportion until 1937. Deaths in 1937 declined sharply from the all-time peak in 1926, but there still are too many, he declared.

Chief reason for the decline in fire losses, in his opinion, has been the closer investigation of all fires and the more vigorous and effective prosecution of defendants when incendiarism has been discovered.

Reflecting the steady drop in losses were figures cited by the fire prevention chief. In 1931 they totaled $17,565,457, or approximately 75 per cent of insurance premiums that year. Economic conditions undoubtedly had something to do with the heavy loss, officials believed.

The drop was steady between then and 1935, when it fell to an all-time low of $6,008,363. The 1937 loss in Texas was $7,483,878, approximately 37 per cent of premiums which Sanders described as "about average."

Deaths from fires increased steadily during the period, reaching an all-time peak of 567 in 1936 and then dropping to 463 last year.

Indictments Are Returned

During the seven years Sanders has been fire prevention chief, according to the official figures, more than 700 indictments have been returned in arson cases, resulting in more than 250 convictions. Peak year was 1933, when 150 indictments were returned, then dropping to a low mark of 61 in 1937.

Sanders credited the cooperation of county and district attorneys and of fire chiefs, marshals and fighters in individual communities with having brought about the improvement.

"It is becoming more difficult all the time to start a fire and get away with it," said Sanders, who as an attorney usually participates actively in the prosecution of arson cases.

He is to be in Amarillo Thursday for a regional conference similar to that in Lubbock.

Students Draw Day's Freedom

HOUSTON, Sept. 20. (AP)—There was no school at suburban Oates Prairie today.

Three sets of teachers and 348 students took a holiday because they did not know where to go or what to do.

Parents of the students asked the district court to settle the muddle.

Ernest Knipp, an attorney, representing one of the two factions disputing the school's status, asked Judge Ewing Boyd to hold a hearing immediately.

Mixup Last July

The mixup came last July when the school district, formerly operated by a common school board of trustees, voted to join the Houston independent school district.

Proponents of an independent school district asked that the election be voided because allegedly 41 voters had been denied the right to vote for failing to sign a tax inventory. The 41 voters, J. F. Pennington said, would have changed the outcome of the election.

While the argument waxed, the common school district, the independent school district and the Houston public schools each employed teachers to take charge of the pupils.

No Need To Go Into Court; Jury Rules That Man Plays Golf Course At Own Risk

DALLAS, Sept. 20. (AP)—If you get clipped by a slice or hook on your next golfing expedition, there's no need to come to this jury for succour.

Twelve men sitting in Judge Sarah Hughes' court decided today that a golfer plays at his own risk, and denied W. D. Walker, 64, damages for a broken arm suffered on a golf course in 1933.

He maintained that W. A. Grady should have yelled "fore" when he sliced a drive which struck him. The jury turned down the plea and held that Walker was negligent in not keeping a proper lookout.

The Sty, Cumberland, is among England's wettest spots. More than 247 inches of rain fell there in 1923.

Texas Company Well Expected To Be Brought In Soon

(By Staff Correspondent)

MORTON, Sept. 20.—The Texas company's No. 1 Dells Slaughter Wright, about 9 miles south of here and three miles southeast of Lehman, is expected to be brought in as a producer, latest reports here said.

Picking up the pay at 4,890-4,910, the well was drilled deeper, then shot and later acidized. The hole was plugged back to the pay.

Amount of oil and gas has not definitely been determined. A driller was quoted as saying it looked like a good producer, but he would not indicate the probable production.

League For Peace And Americanism Now Is Being Planned By Chairman Dies

Thousands Have Endorsed Idea

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—Chairman Dies (D-Tex) of the house committe on Unamerican activities announced today he would form a "league for peace and Americanism" to combat subversive influences.

Declaring he had received "thousands of letters" endorsing the idea, Dies said he would apply for a charter for a non-partisan, nondues paying organization to serve as an "antidote to foreignisms." He predicted 5,000,000 persons would enroll in it.

Will Fight Isms

The league, he asserted, would fight nazism, fascism and communism; favor strict neutrality, adequate national defense, and stronger immigration and deportation laws, and defend the independence of congress, the judicial system and the executive department.

The Texas congressman also said that one of the organization's objectives would be to "demand a change of attitude on the part of the department of labor and the department of state with respect to immigration and deportations, and to demand strict enforcement of existing deportation laws."

To Resume Hearings

His committee will resume hearings in about a week on a deportation case involving Harry Bridges, west coast CIO leader, Dies said. R. P. Bonham, district immigration director at Seattle, will testify about his efforts to deport Bridges.

Secretary of Labor Perkins, criticized by Dies for refusing to press the Bridges case pending a supreme court decision on another case, also will be called as a witness.

Youth Is Ready To Return To School; Is Given Parole

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 20—James Gaujot, 18, scion of a noted army family, was ready to return to high school studies, interrupted two years ago by a five-year sentence for the slaying of his uncle.

Young Gaujot received a parole from the state industrial school yesterday and left for Washington to live with Capt. Casey M. Jones, claims officer of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Col. A. A. Gaujot, member of a prominent military family, was killed in his hotel suite at Williamson after what the nephew said was a bitter quarrel. He told the judge his uncle frequently had threatened him and said he fired in self-defense.

Defense Given Pardon Board

AUSTIN, Sept. 20. (AP)—Chairman Bruce W. Bryant today defended the policies of the board of pardons and paroles with an assertion the amendment creating the board "was adopted for the purpose of removing the board as far as possible from political influence and domination."

Bryant said his prepared statement was a reply to criticism of Rep. E. F. Harrell of Paris who recently said he would renew an attempt to remove the board to Huntsville.

Two Offices Not Needed

Bryant said he agreed with Harrell that the board cannot function efficiently with two offices, one in Austin and a second in Huntsville, but took exception to other criticisms of the legislator.

He said the amendment contemplated that the board would not recommend a convict for clemency at the instance of any person when it would not so recommend for the convict alone.

"When the people adopted by an overwhelming vote the amendment creating the board," he said, "it was their hope to create a board that would consider each and every application for clemency on its merits and recommend clemency, when merited, to friendless convicts so that no convict could be said to be a forgotten man, and would not recommend a convict for clemency because of political pressure."

DIES AFTER OPERATION

MINERAL WELLS, Sept. 20 (AP)—John M. Chamberlain, 66, chamber of commerce manager, died today after an operation. Before moving to Texas in 1920 he served in the Illinois house and senate.

Widely-Known Cow Poke Of The Past Takes Plane Ride

He is 81, but Rollie C. Burns "took my first airplane ride when my daughter wasn't looking—and I'll tell her later."

Mrs. Richard McCrummen, the daughter, had held out "against me riding in a plane, but I've been wanting to go up a long time," said Burns, one of the earliest settlers of this section.

J. H. York warmed up a small plane and he and the old cattleman climbed to 2,000 feet and flew over Abernathy.

"I could recognize the place, all right," said Burns, "and I enjoyed the ride. Cars looked like toys, and the range and farms looked green. I didn't know what to expect."

J. D. Caldwell, another oldtimer, asked:

"Rollie, did you pull leather?"

Burns grinned and said he had understood the old bronc phrase of "pulling leather" meant in flying terms "hunting the high side." He was one-up there.

Caldwell said Burns "didn't have to be blindfolded and backed into the plane."

J. K. Milwee, who has it on Burns when it comes to some of his earlier days on the range, including acquaintanceship with the famous outlaw Billy the Kid, maintained he still is ahead.

"Did Mr. Burns get ahead of you this morning on that plane hop? Have you ever been up?" he was asked.

"No, and I ain't a-goin' to," he said. "I've got nothing but time — but I'd rather be right here than—"

He looked up from his park bench through the foliage of an elm.

York recently flew another oldtimer, Ed Odell, for a first flight, landing him on a Cochran county flight.

Deficit In General Revenue Fund Is Showing Increase

AUSTIN, Sept. 20. (AP)—The treasury announced today the deficit in the general revenue fund was $14,363,635, having increased to that figure from $13,496,173 on Sept. 3.

The announcement was in connection with a call of $49,328 in outstanding general fund warrants. The treasury is paying warrants up to and including No. 133,285, or those issues up to and including March 21, 1938.

The deficit in the Confederate pension fund stood at $3,944,341.

Building Permits Continue To Climb At Steady Pace

Building permits Tuesday continued to climb at a steady pace and sent the total for 1938 close to two and one-third million dollars, according to figures from the office of the city building inspector.

Tuesday's licenses authorized construction and repairs estimated at nearly $10,000, specifically $9,666.75, shoving the aggregate for the week to $27,791.75. The September total, bolstered by a permit for erection of a boys' dormitory at Texas Technological college, stood at $523,000.25. The 1938 total climbed to $2,310,734.68.

Three of Tuesday's five permits were more than $1,000 and were issued to: Paul Crouch, owner, and E. R. Reese, contractor, to construct a one-story frame brick veneer front residence at 2701 Twenty-fourth street, $4,200; J. P. Rippstein, owner, and E. V. Rippstein, contractor, to construct a one-story frame residence with garage combined at 2006 Avenue S, $2,981.75; and J. J. Nelson, owner and contractor, to build a two-story apartment and garage combined at 1713 Twenty-second street, $1,800.

Lubbock Grid Teams Play Final September Home Games Friday And Saturday

Wyoming Eleven To Offer Tech Some Exercise

Texas Tech's Red Raiders, confident they'll be up against stronger opposition Saturday night than they were in the season opener, worked diligently and with no show of cockiness yesterday in preparation for Saturday night's game against University of Wyoming's Cowboys.

That 35-0 victory over Montana State has been forgotten, at least by the boys, and they're starting all over again.

The Techs make their second and last appearance of September Saturday night, and they're forced to think of that, too, because there'll be little time next week to prepare for the third game of the season. So they're devoting most of the time this week to offensive drills, perfecting plays that they hope will click against Duquesne university at Buffalo, N. Y., next week as well as against the Cowboys from Wyoming this week. There will be little time to work on plays next week.

On Road Next Week

Saturday night's game will be the last at home for the Red Raiders until October 8, when they clash with the Oklahoma City university Goldbugs here.

That the fans are "sold" on the colorful Red Raiders is demonstrated by the manner in which tickets for the Wyoming game are going. The downtown and College Avenue agencies report already an increase over last week's sales, indicating that 8,000 or more will be in the stadium to greet the Cowboys. Tickets are selling at the Hilton and Lubbock hotels, at Sam Rosenthal's [illegible] Clothiers, at Mark Halsey Drug [illegible] and the Tech Drug.

[illegible] of the three Tech players sustaining injuries in last Saturday night's game with Montana [illegible] are back in the lineups, and ready to go. Milton Hill, backfield replacement, and Bobby Holmes, starting halfback, who were knocked breathless last Saturday night, are pretty sure to be ready for the Cowboys, but some doubt remained as to whether Captain Frank Gusich, who engineered two quick touchdowns for the Raiders as the game started, only to come out in the first period with a banged-up knee, would start, or even play, this week. The big quarterback has been taking it easy since released from the hospital, and chances are he'll continue to take it easy until the club lands in New York for the game with Duquesne.

Cowboys Enroute

Meanwhile, the Punchers from Laramie are marching on Lubbock. They are scheduled to work out twice in Colorado and once or twice in Amarillo before reaching Lubbock Friday. Taking the long trip by easy stages, they should not be so travel worn when they arrive. The club is considered much stronger than the 1937 edition of Wyoming Cowboys. Eighteen lettermen are on the squad, and all positions in the lineup are occupied by veterans.

Wyoming Club Works Out In Colorado

(Special to The Avalanche)

PUEBLO, Colo., Sept. 20—The Wyoming Cowboys worked out here today under a boiling hot sun. After shedding all the wearing apparel possible, they went through an hour of scrimmage against Texas Tech plays and then were given an hour of drill in grid fundamentals.

Coach Witte's starting lineup is still a guess, although after watching today's scrimmage it seems certain that Winterholler, Krpan and Davis will fill three backfield positions. Dorrington and White are still fighting it out for the other post. White is the better blocker of the two but Dorrington has an educated left toe that may give him the call.

Line Is Determined

In the line, Heaton will probably get the nod at center, with Moncini and Pratto at guards. Dunbar, the [illegible]bby 220-pound boy, and Nipper will start at the tackles. The veteran Kenny Sturnman and Dickson will hold down the wings.

The Cowboys indulged in a 2-hour skull practice tonight in Pueblo, and will go to Raton, N. M., for another rehearsal Wednesday. Coach Witte says tomorrow will finish the scrimmage for the week until the team meets Texas Tech Saturday night. Light drills will be held at Amarillo before the club goes into Lubbock late Friday.

Two Batches Of Subsidy Checks Have Been Received At Morton

(By Staff Correspondent)

MORTON, Sept. 20.—Two batches of subsidy checks, the first for $15,000 and the second for $20,000, have been received, Roy Hickman, county agent, announces.

Notification was sent to each farmer and producer receiving a check, to come in. More checks are expected within the next week.

Persian And Hungarian In Main Event Tonight; Joe Kopecky Takes Hagen

TONIGHT'S CARD

Main event—George Hartay of Hungary vs. Sheik Ben Ali Mar Allah of Iran, best two of three falls or two-hour time limit.

Semi-final—Joe Kopecky of Taylor vs. Jack Hagen of Shreveport, one fall or 30 minutes.

Curtain raiser—Walter Stratton of Ohio vs. Gus Johnson of Milwaukee, one fall or 20 minutes.

Time and place—8:30 o'clock, the Auditorium.

That titled old slugger of Persian, Sheik Mar Allah, draws George Hartay for an opponent tonight in the main event of the weekly wrestling card at the Auditorium.

He of the whiskers is none too popular in any sense of the word with Lubbock mat fans, who are not timid with their expressions of dislike, but he can hold his own with the top boys—that mainly through use of manpower and lack of will power.

Hartay, on the other hand, mixes up quite a bit of science with his grappler and rarely resorts to the rough stuff.

That contrast is as good as rassle fans can ask.

Joe Kopecky Returns

They can be either "fer or ag'in" the villain, depending on their thirst for blood. There may be some spilled tonight.

Old Panther Joe Kopecky comes to grips with Jack Hagen. The South Texan stalked his prey here several months ago with more than ordinary success, but may find tough sledding in a more experienced and slyer Hagen.

The Shreveport butcher boy takes no quarters from any of the rough lads.

Walter Stratton, another mainstay here on other occasions, returns to battle Gus Johnson in the 20-minute curtain raiser.

Big Spring Led League In Fielding

The Big Spring Barons, who finished fifth in the West Texas-New Mexico league pennant chase, were the circuit's best defensive players, exclusive of pitching, final fielding averages released by the league's statistical office reveal. The Barons led in club fielding with an average of .938, four points above the Midland Cardinals whose .934 was a single point above the league winners, Lubbock's Hubbers.

Considering the classification of the league, remembering that all players were youngsters, the club fielding averages are exceptionally high, only 14 percentage points separating the club leaders from the Wink tailenders.

Hubs Lead In Doubles

The Hubbers led the field in double plays, executing an even hundred; according to final averages. Big Spring, with Bobby Decker, the league's most popular second baseman, was next with 89. Lubbock's Bob Mosel, first baseman, though third in individual performers according to the averages, led in double plays with 79. McDonals of Clovis led the regular first basemen, with Siegbert of Big Spring second.

Barney Barnhill of Midland and Decker led the second basemen who played 100 games or more, although Beals of Clovis, playing in 97 games, led the fielding averages for second sackers.

The club fielding and individual fielding records for the regular season, and for players competing in a reasonable number of games, follow, the figures showing the number of games played, the number of stolen bases, put outs, assists, errors, averages and double plays:

Netters Idle Again—Rain

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. (AP)—Players in the national singles tennis championships wondered today if they would get home in time for Thanksgiving dinner when for the fourth straight day play in the three remaining semi-final matches was postponed because of rain.

If the weather relents and the soggy courts dry, the semi-finals will be played tomorrow and the finals Thursday.

Cadet Polo Team To Play Here Saturday

The fast riding New Mexico Military institute polo quartet comes here Saturday afternoon to match strokes with the Lubbock club at 3 o'clock at the fairgrounds polo field.

Major A. H. Norton, coach of the institute riders, will accompany the team here. He is well-known to many Lubbock persons.

It is expected to develop into one of the fastest games played here this season. The New Mexico cadets lost only to Yale in several games played against eastern colleges last year.

Admittance charge will be 25 cents.

Bill Dickey Named Leading Catcher

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 20. (Special)—Bill Dickey of the world's champion Yankees is the most popular catcher in baseball.

This surprising climax in the voting to fill the backstop job on the mythical honor team in Kellogg's All-American baseball popularity poll was announced Sunday.

Dickey's nomination proved an upset and a surprise in that during the early tabulation of the fans' ballots "Gabby" Hartnett of the Chicago Cubs and Ernie "Beezer" Lombardi of the Reds appeared to have things sewed up between them.

TENNIS OLDSTERS

LONDON (AP) — Combined ages of the four competitors totalled 252 years in the veterans' doubles final, Royal Navy and Royal Marines lawn tennis championships at Wimbledon.

A 1938-39 citrus fruit crop of more than 40,000 carloads, greatest in history, is predicted for the Harlingen, Tex., area.

Yankees Beaten Fifth Game In Row, 5 To 4

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 20—The champion New York Yankees hit a new low for Joe McCarthy's eight years as manager when they lost to the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 4, for their fifth straight defeat.

Not since McCarthy took over from Bob Shawkey in 1931 have the Yanks lost five in a row. Monte Stratton did it today, holding the champions at bay after a two-run uprising in the eighth threatened to tie the score. Stratton held the Yanks to eight hits in hanging up his 15th victory.

Presenting: Westerners

JUMBO WEBSTER

JOE PYTELL

For second successive year Capt. Walter (Jumbo) Webster is the sparkplug of Lubbock High school's offensive attacks. The 17-year-old senior, who stands 6 feet 1 inch, has won letters two years and this year is considered one of the best backfield prospects in the state. He packs his 180 pounds around with plenty of speed, and in addition to being a good ball carrier, he punts and passes well, and is a deadly tackler.

Joe Pytell, only other two-year letterman on the Westerner squad, is 18, weighs 165 on a 5-foot 10-inch frame. He also is a senior. Pytell is considered one of the most consistent linemen both offensively and defensively on the team. Rarely does an opponent slip past his guard position and blocking comes natural with him. It was he who clinched Lubbock's touchdown Friday night against North Side when he blocked the last man out with a resounding thud.

Patty Berg Paces Women In National Event With 8-And-6 Win; Mrs. Vare Is Defeated

CHICAGO, Sept. 20. (AP)—A chubby, freckle-faced Minnesota girl, the sensation of the year in women's golf, blazed a spectacular trail to new heights in the Women's National championship today.

Patty Berg of Minneapolis, with an amazing 10 and 8 "shutout" victory, paced a smart field into tomorrow's second and third rounds of match play.

The day saw the majority of favorites stick in the title running and one veteran campaigner, Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, bow out.

When Miss Berg routed Mrs. Myron Davy of Washington, tourney officials, thumbing record books, agreed her performance of winning 10 straight holes was unprecedented, at least in the modern era of women's play.

The Minnesota ace, winner of nine out of 12 tourneys this season, toured the first nine in 38, one under par, and won with a par 4 on the 10th green. Giving Mrs. Davy no openings, Miss Berg had seven pars, two birdies and only one bogey.

Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., sent Mrs. Vare to the sidelines. Even through 16 holes, Miss Kirby took the 17th as her opponent—six times winner of the crown—bunkered her tee shot. A half on the 18th ended the veteran's hopes.

Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C., the defending champion, downed Mrs. Eric Phillips of Lambton Mills, Ont. Dorothy Traung of San Francisco, co-medalist with Mrs. Page, eliminated Mrs. Lillian Zech of Chicago. Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., sent Dorothy Ellis of Indianapolis out, and Maureen Orcutt, Haworth, N. J., trounced Bernice Wall of Chicago and Oshkosh, Wis. Those victories were all by 4 and 3 margins.

Two rounds of play tomorrow will reduce the field to eight contestants. Quarter finals Thursday and semi-finals Friday over 18 holes will precede Saturday's 36-hole title skirmish.

WOMAN INDICTED

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 20. (AP)—Mrs. Helen Steiger, beer parlor operator, was indicted today for murder in connection with the fatal shooting here on August 12 of Private Donald R. Sutherland, 25-year-old Fort Ringgold soldier.

Missions Take Playoff Lead

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 20. (AP)—The San Antonio Missions took a 2 to 1 lead in the final series for the championship of the Texas League in the Shaughnessy playoff here tonight, eking out a 4 to 3 decision over the Beaumont Exporters.

With the score tied at three all going into the last of the ninth, Art Scharein and Bob Swift walked to open the inning, and Dizzy Trout was put in to relieve Ed Selway for the Exporters. They both moved up on a passed ball while Pitcher Harry Kimberlin was striking out, and with the infield drawn in very close, Milt Byrnes sewed up the ball game with a single through short.

The Exporters bunched three of their hits off Kimberlin in the third inning to shove across two runs, after the Padres had taken a two run lead in the second on three hits. Three more hits gave the Exporters a 3 to 2 lead in the fourth, but the Missions tied it up again in their half of the same inning, and it remained tied until the ninth.

"The March Of Sin" Subject For Revivalist Last Night

Dr. A. D. Foreman, pastor of the First Baptist church of San Angelo, preached Tuesday night on "The March of Sin" at the First Baptist church here. He is conducting a revival meeting at that church.

At 10 o'clock this morning Dr. Foreman's subject will be "The Christian Calling." At 7 o'clock tonight he will preach on "The Bible and Salvation."

The public is invited to attend the church services, said Rev. C. E. Hereford, pastor of the church here.

Westerners And Eagles Resume Play Friday

Hard scrimmage was the prescription of Doctors Weldon Chapman and Goober Keyes for their Westerners Tuesday afternoon as they tuned up for the Abilene Eagles' invasion Friday night.

It's no secret that the locals have a hard task this week-end. Coach Dewey Mayhew will bring a versatile attacking eleven that packs plenty of weight and power.

A pair of ends that dwarf Lubbock's Joe Bob Foster, Ernest Winter and "Deal" Hill likely will start for the Eagles. Bennett and McAdams each scales above 180 pounds. Capt. Jumbo Webster is only Westerner regular who can match either in weight.

Hefties In Forward Wall

Able, 210, and Osborne, 185, will line up at tackles, considerably heavier than Jerry Nash and Pat Farris, Lubbock tackle mainstays. Leach, weighing 154 pounds at guard and Sibley, 154, at center are only Abilene linemen who will give weight to the Westerners. Joe Pytell and Red Pipes each tip the beam above those figures.

Leach's running mate, Chambers, adds needed weight at his guard post with 173 pounds. Lloyd Sanders only matches Leach and Pytell cannot match Chambers after a hearty meal of bananas.

Abilene's line will outscale the Westerner forward wall by approximately a dozen pounds by average.

Backs Are Lighter

Lubbock backs, however, carry more poundage than the Eagle ball carriers. Four Abilene starters in the backfield are McClure, 132; Sewell, 143; G. Stovall, 157, and C. Jones, 162.

After a brief session of foundation tackling and blocking, the Westerners went through one of the most strenuous workouts of the season yesterday. Running against Abilene plays, regulars polished up on defensive assignments with fair success, then ran plays against the Eagle defensive formations.

Howard Martin, reserve halfback, was sent to the hospital with an injured shoulder. Extent of the injury was not known late last night.

Another heavy drill is scheduled today with lighter work Thursday.

Final Details For Camporee Saturday Will Be Made

Final details for the camporee at Texas Technological college Saturday for all Boy Scouts of the South Plains council will be made at a committee meeting at 8 o'clock this morning, according to announcement for scout headquarters. The meeting will be conducted in the headquarters on the fourth floor of the Myrick building.

Approximately 700 scouts are expected to attend. All scouts, cubs, and leaders will be admitted to the Texas Tech-Wyoming university football game here that night.

LOOKS UP OLD LAW

DALLAS, Sept. 20 (AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel asked the Dallas county legislative delegation today to submit to him a list of obsolete Texas laws which might be scratched off the books. He also asked each of the seven men to send him their photographs for an album.

Possible Sites Are Inspected

Inspection of possible sites for a national guard armory contemplated for construction in Lubbock was made Tuesday afternoon by Gen. C. W. Nimon of Fort Worth, secretary of the Texas national guard armory board.

General Nimon was hesitant to make known whatever impressions he received from his visit, but said whatever recommendations he might make would be to the state board.

Arrives By Auto

The general arrived by automobile, later than had been expected by a board composed of Lubbock business and professional men who greeted him.

Announcement of his coming was first disclosure Lubbock is being considered and is seeking such a structure. Two national guard units are stationed here, having been served with armory facilities in a leased building at Tenth street and College avenue.

ALLOTMENT ANNOUNCED

FORT WORTH, Sept. 20 (AP) — An allotment of $69,525 for construction and equipping a $191,000 building at Houston for the thirty-sixth division of aviation, Texas National guards, was announced Tuesday by the regional Public Works administration headquarters here.

Cost Near $100,000

While definite information was wholly lacking as to what the cost of any such structure might be, best estimates were that it would be "somewhere in the neighborhood of $100,000."

Meeting with Gen. Nimon that afternoon were members of the chamber of commerce armory committee, composed of Dr. O. W. English, H. L. Allen, Clark M. Mullican, George W. Brewer, Robert J. Allen, Harold Griffith, J. L. Walton and Capt. L. E. Boren.

Locations Not Disclosed

Although several sites were described as being available for an armory, their locations were not disclosed.

Financing of any such structure, officials are informed, would come from an allotment of $7,055,000 which has been made by the Public Works administration for construction of armories in Texas.

Hub Motor Company Gets Service Award

A distinguished honor in the automotive service field was awarded here last night to the Hub Motor company, Lubbock De Soto-Plymouth dealer, by the Chrysler Corporation. Cited for its excellently equipped service department and service facilities, the Hub company was presented with a large plaque in the course of a banquet held at Hotel Lubbock. Shown in the picture above, W. C. Hedrick, regional manager, is presenting the plaque to Hub Jones, manager of the local company. It is the first service award made to a De Soto-Plymouth house in the Dallas region, which includes all of Texas, Southern New Mexico and Southern Oklahoma. A 100-per cent attendance of Hub Motor company employes at the banquet is pictured. At the front table, left to right, Fenner Tubbs, sales manager; H. H. Shaw, district manager; W. H. Freeman, wholesale manager; W. C. Hedrick and Hub Jones.

The line on the right, composed of members of the service department, are, starting nearest the camera, Neal Purdy, Herbert Tucker, W. D. Wells, Ernest Casey, Charley Lingle, service manager, T. M. Champion, Lucean Beavers and Lester Parker. The company's salesmen and office force, on the left, are, C. E. Davis, Tom Draper, Clayton McCelvy, C. C. Hunt, Q. B. Taylor, Roy Lowance, Lee Hinds, Harry Shaw and C. L. Truly.

Cardon is to continue the research started last fall. The project is under direction of Dr. A. W. Young, head professor of animal husbandry. The research is devoted to study of both malt barley and feed barley, but principally to malt barley. The crop is being grown on several farms in this section as a part of the project.

Dr. Young said he expected to announce in the next few days the conclusions that may be drawn from the first year's research.

Richards is the first winner of the scholarship awarded by the Cotton Research foundation through the Mellon institute. Award of the scholarship to Richards was announced by Dr. R. C. Goodwin, head professor of chemistry and chemical engineering.

Richards' project is to last nine months, the other two, a year.

Dumpy Continues To Produce Cash; Her Cache Is Mystery

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 20 (AP)—Dumpy, Mrs. Harvey C. Stiles' canine money-digger, continues to produce. At the latest count she has trotted in with $52 from her secret cache.

This has been going on for several weeks and Mrs. Stiles says, neither detectives nor amateurs have been able to discover where Dumpy finds the $1 bills.

Hockley's Jail Is Progressing

(By Staff Correspondent)

LEVELLAND, Sept. 24.—Pouring of the concrete foundation walls for Hockley county's new $70,000 jail, has been started by Robert F. Maxey, Lubbock contractor, and work is expected to progress rapidly as soon as brick laying can start.

The jail is located at the southeast corner of the courthouse square.

Maxey's contract is for $35,995 for the building. Southern Prison Co., San Antonio, has a $29,500 contract for the jail cells and fixtures.

Grant From PWA

A grant of $31,500 came from PWA for building the structure.

On the first floor will be quarters for the jailer, or sheriff with juvenile, women's ward, negro ward, hospital and venereal ward and a kitchen.

The second floor is given over to jail, with a run-around. The jailer can unlock any one of the cells without entering the main section and can get inmate to the exit without having other prisoners interfere.

M. C. Butler, Lubbock architect, who designed the courthouse, built in 1927, drew plans for the jail also. It is said the building will be the most complete and up-to-date on the South Plains.

Election Dishonesty Charged By O'Connor Headquarters

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. (AP) — Charging election "dishonesty," campaign headquarters of John J. O'Connor (D-NY) purge-listed chairman of the house rules committee, indicated tonight he would bring a court contest in the event he is defeated for the Democratic nomination to congress for the 16th New York district by James A. Fay, New Deal candidate.

A spokesman at O'Connor's headquarters said nearly complete, privately collected unofficial returns indicated Fay would win by 400 to 800 votes.

Returns Are Unofficial

At the headquarters of Allen W. Dulles, whom O'Connor opposed for the Republican nomination, unofficial returns from 67 out of the 84 election districts gave O'Connor 2,523 votes and Dulles 1,676.

Speaking of the Democratic contest, O'Connor said:

"I'll wait to see the complete figures in the morning before challenging the results.

"If they are anywhere near as close as the figures show as a matter of fact there ought to be a recount.

"The voting in the sixth, eighth, fourteenth and lower part of the twelfth assembly districts certainly indicates that the vote was not honest in those districts."

Gly-Cas Did Not Disappoint Him

Had Been Miserable For Years With Indigestion, Nervousness; Gly-Cas Amazes; Now Feeling Fine

"The results I have received from Gly-Cas' use in this short time are worth telling all sufferers about," said Mr. Justin Lambright, 2000 Leopard St., Corpus Christi, Texas.

MR. JUSTIN LAMBRIGHT

"I had been in awful distress for sometime with indigestion and constipation. I got little if any enjoyment from my meals knowing how I would suffer afterwards. Often I would not eat my evening meal knowing it meant a sleepless night was sure to follow. I became dreadfully nervous, sluggish, and went about my work with dread for it was nothing less than drudgery feeling as I did. But finally I was induced to try Gly-Cas and what it has done for me seems impossible.

"In two weeks time Gly-Cas gave me such results that I could not ask for better nor expect more," continued Mr. Justin Lambright. "I am not suffering with indigestion or constipation, my nerves are wonderfully improved and I can eat and enjoy my meals without any fear of those awful consequences. I rest well at night, nerves are quieted and even my bowels are functioning properly again. I am glad to make this statement of facts for the interest of similar sufferers so they too might put Gly-Cas to a test."

No Profits Made From Fair

AMONG questions frequently asked, especially by newcomers, with the approach of each Panhandle-South Plains fair are: How does the fair operate; and who gets how much out of it?

Those questions can be answered briefly. The fair association is an incorporated, non-profit organization for which the civic minded citizens of Lubbock are responsible. It pays no dividends. Any surplus above operating expenses it may earn must go back into the fair.

The association was organized with a capitalization of $10,000, an amount which remains unchanged. The stock was bought by an aggregate of several score citizens who knew that the money they put in was a donation; that it was gone from them forever; that it would never pay them a penny of direct revenue. Operation of the fair is in the hands of a board of directors who elect all officers, name all employes and determine all policies. No director nor officer may receive any remuneration although his job is timetaking and often thankless—the kind of job that no citizen really wants.

Incorporation of the fair association was a necessity. Otherwise, no responsible citizen could take the risk of being connected with it. As the association now stands it is responsible for its own obligations. If it were not incorporated, any persons who became directors would become liable individually and collectively for all obligations the association might incur; for any damage suits which might be successfully brought as result of operation of the fair. That, obviously, would be too much to ask of any person.

The association, of course, must have a paid personnel. The directors, however, do the "hiring and the firing" in that respect. And the directors are answerable to the association membership.

During recent years, financial operations of the fair have been successful. During that period, a considerable indebtedness was paid. Improvements estimated in value at $60,000 to $75,000 have been made and paid for. The association started this year with a surplus, all of which and more has been spent in preparation for the Silver Jubilee fair which starts Monday.

The fair, in brief, is a civic enterprise which expects and merits the support of all civic minded citizens. As such it has been a success in the past. As such it will fail or succeed in the future.

"The Glories Of War"

THOSE who are inclined to think in terms of the "glories of war" might be wise to ponder an item of news which appeared in the nation's press a few days ago.

The item was contained in a dispatch from Prague, capital of Czechoslovakia. It related that simultaneous announcements had been made of the opening of three new cemeteries in that vicinity, one of them large enough to provide burial places for 500,000 bodies.

No suggestion was made that the announcements were linked in any way with the imminent prospect of war for the citizens. But it is a fact that Central European peoples, more than most, seek to make provision in life for the disposition of their mortal remains when dead. It is a fact, also, that every Czech must face the stark knowledge that his expectancy of long life is not as good at this time as that of any other European people.

It is still further a fact that if war should begin, the new cemeteries, huge though they may be, likely will not be large enough to provide resting places for all Czechs who will require them.

With Our Contemporaries

"Men who work just enough 'to get by' and there are many, should use their stolen time to read Horace Greely," notes E. I. Hill in the Lynn County News. "'The darkest hour in any man's life,' said the great editor, 'is when he sits down to plan how to get money without earning it'."

"With few exceptions, good cowboys have been born of the land of waving grass and far horizons," Douglas Meador writes in the Matador Tribune. "Fine timber grows in soil made fertile through the heritage left by other trees. The eagle inherits the love of height."

Although he carried the 100 pounds over icy roads, the 138-pound youth covered the entire distance making only one stop—to take off his rubbers.

CHAPTER XV

They were sitting at a table in the clubhouse when Monte Hill exploded his bombshell.

"Linda, want to pick up $10,000?" He asked the question casually, but she saw a tense look in his eyes.

She was silent for a long while. Just looked at him. "Monte—what's the game?" she asked at last.

He answered her obliquely. "You've got a fast colt. But he ran out today, maybe he'll run out next Saturday. If he does, he loses—sure. Even if he doesn't, there's no guarantee that he'll win."

"Well?" She looked at him levelly.

He dropped his voice almost to a whisper. "I don't want you to start him in the Stakes."

She felt herself stiffen. "Why not?"

He glanced away an instant. Then faced her. "Linda, all the good 2-year-olds except my Merry Maid and your Golden Toy, have been raced to death this year. The race is between us—unless the Toy runs out again, then I've got—in the bag."

"Well? Afraid to face us, Monte?"

He answered with a question. "What's the race worth to you—if you win?"

"About $12,000 — the winner's share; and Tom Cartwright has an option to buy at $17,500; a grand total of $29,500."

"If you win. And nothing if you run out of the money."

"Right."

"I'm offering you $10,000 not to start him. And, if Merry Maid wins, I'll give you $10,000 more."

She drew a deep breath. "Monte—you're talking in big figures. Explain."

He said: "Three months ago, I got odds of 12 to 1 against the Maid in the Stakes. I put up $4,000. I win $48,000 if she comes in, plus the purse. I can win if your colt stays in his barn, the filly is at tops. I'll give you $10,000 cash—tomorrow—to keep him there. And $10,000 more when Merry Maid wins. Fair?"

Linda looked steadily at him, slowly she gathered gloves and bag, pushed her chair back, stood up. "Monte, what little I know of racing, I learned from an old-fashioned horseman. With all his faults, he plays a different game. He'd punch you in the nose if you made such an offer to him, Monte, Monte!"

"Listen, Linda, we're friends—" he began, but she cut him short. "We were, Monte—we were." She smiled wanly. "I guess you're right; women and racing—they don't mix." She left him, standing by his table; tugging at his coat, a confused look on his face.

Race-mad folk crammed the Downs' rococo stands when the bugles sounded Boots and Saddles; and Golden Toy, in the Gordon silks of scarlet and purple, led the field out, to the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home." "We got a chance," Uncle Sandy told Linda, as they stood in the infield. "If Toy don't run out—"

"They're off!"

Starting from an extension of the backstretch, the field spurted down the mile sprint.

"Yes, sir—it be Toy and the Maid!" Uncle Sandy exclaimed, as the golden chestnut and the dark bay filly shot out from the pack. "H-m-m! Three lengths already ahead o' the field. The first quarter"— the watch clicked in his hand—"it be in 22 flat—that's sizzling."

Down the long backstretch those two horses fought eye to eye—the field far behind. Now they were going into the far turn. Uncle Sandy pocketed his watch. "Yes, sir—Marder's opening up a bit."

They were coming into the stretch. The grandstands crowded with humanity, let out a great roar.

"Look—look!" Linda grabbed her uncle's arm. They were running wide into the stretch—Golden Toy was bearing out, carrying Merry Maid with him. "That durn colt!" Sandy Gordon began, then changed his tune. "Nope—Marder's got him, they just went out a little way—they comin' home in the middle o' the track."

Down the last two furlongs the colt and the filly pounded—neck and neck.

"Uncle Sandy — Uncle Sandy! Come on!" In excitement Linda seized the horseman's arm, started toward the finish line. He ran with her. Norman trotting alongside. "Lawdy, lawdy—what a finish, what a finish!" Norman shouted, as the stand burst into hysterical shouts.

A great golden chestnut—a dark bay—they shot under the wire together, noses on a line—

Uncle Sandy stopped. "Durn if I ain't afraid— He didn't finish the thought.

"Uncle Sandy, did we win—did we win?" Linda spoke huskily, as the remainder of the field galloped past the finish. Sandy Gordon shook his head doubtfully. "I don't know, honey—it was mighty close. Look—the sign!"

A sign flashed from the bulletin board:

PHOTOGRAPH FINISH

"The judges," Uncle Sandy said calmly, "they goin' to look at the picture—took from top of the grandstand. The nag whose nose touches the wire in that picture—he or she wins. Won't take but a minute for that high-speed camera to show 'em."

He led her to the vacant winner's circle, by the judges' stand. In a moment the horses would canter back, the jockeys weigh out.

A buzzing sound overhead—a metal carrier slid down a trolley from the grandstand to the judges. It held the picture. With her heart pounding furiously, Linda saw the judges take it out—look at it—nod in agreement. The senior judge rose, pushed a button—

A light flashed on the bulletin board:

RESULT
No. 1

Golden Toy won!

"Wait—tain't official yet," Uncle Sandy warned, as Linda turned, exulting, to him. "Why—what could there be—" she broke off, as she saw Monte Hill step from the group of trainers, meet Merry Maid as the filly galloped back. She saw Monte grab his jockey's shoulder, heard his tense voice:

"You were fouled, boy—the colt took you wide. Go claim a foul!"

Linda, her face white, turned to her uncle. Trouble showed on his face. "Wait till Marder gets back—he, he is," he said, as Golden Toy galloped up, stopped by the winner's circle.

"Don't lead him in yet," a judge called from the pagoda. Monte Hill and his jockey were with the judges, talking excitedly. Suddenly a light flashed on the bulletin board—a gigantic gasp went up from the stands:

FOUL CLAIMED

Marder swung to the ground. "I didn't foul him, Mr. Sandy!" he protested.

"I know you didn't, son; come on, they is callin' us up."

Sandy Gordon, Linda, and the jockey went up the stair into the judges' stand. The senior judge spoke:

"Marder, Jockey Heek claims you fouled him—ran him wide coming into the stretch."

"I didn't!" Marder's jaw shot out aggressively. "This colt did run wide last week—ran to the fence. I was lookin' for it this time—holdin' him in. Comin' into the stretch—we were comin' so fast—we just naturally swung out a bit—Merry Maid happened to be on the outside—but we didn't touch her—we straightened out in the middle of the track—and we outrun her to the wire!"

The judges conferred a moment. The senior looked up. "The foul is"—his face was stern—"disallowed!"

Linda Gordon looked at Monte Hill—shook her head, turned her back on him, forever.

They were sitting at the dinner table in a cottage behind the track. Sandy Gordon, Linda, Bruce. "Uncle, I'm giving you one-third—$10,000—of our win and sales money," Linda said, with a fond smile. "The rest goes—"

"Goes into an annuity for you," Bruce spoke quickly.

Uncle Sandy nodded. "I can buy three-four right nice 3-year-olds with my money—"

"Callie," Linda smiled up at the buxom woman passing the cranberries, "is Norman in the kitchen?"

"Is he," Callie grinned. "He's gnawin' away on de turkey drumstick this minute."

"Tell him to come in—bring his drum-stick, too."

Norman came to the door, a big grin on his face. "You wants me, Miss Linda? Here I is."

"Yes, Norman. We're all going home, tomorrow. Next week, Mr. Bruce and I will be married in the front parlor of Radford Farms—a day before it is sold. And, Norman—" she leaned forward, smiled, said: "It's an old southern custom for the colored folks to be married in the white folks' parlor. So, since you and Callie have been engaged all these years— e thought—you'd like to be married after we are. Wouldn't you, Norman?"

Norman gulped—his eyes grew wide and white.

"In de parlor, wid you all there?" A big grin cut across his dusky face. He looked toward the smiling Callie. "Yes, ma'am, I shore would! If—if Sis' Callie will have me."

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT Roosevelt consulted political rather than army engineers when he promised the Baltimore-Chestertown bridge to Marylanders on the eve of the recent Lewis-Tydings battle. The men in charge of our national defense haven't yet recovered from the shock.

The bridge is admittedly a deserving project, for traffic between Baltimore and the Eastern Shore must now cross by a tedious and expensive ferry. Free Staters have urged its construction for pleasure and business reasons for many years. So they didn't mind if the presidential promise was timed to win votes for New Dealer Lewis in a city notoriously pro-Tydings.

But the army engineers were bewildered. For the site of the proposed structure lies directly in the arc of fire of the great guns always undergoing tests at the nearby Aberdeen proving grounds. In a moment of absentmindedness, War Department experts okeyed the plan, but now that the primary is over (Tydings won handsomely), they are "restudying" the proposal.

SET: President Roosevelt's bold determination to reorganize the Democratic party inside out has never been doubted, but a hitherto unpublished incident discloses how mad—how serious—he is about this problem of separating political sheep and goats.

When the first primary tests showed that he could not transfer his enormous popularity to another fellow, four cabinet members visited him to beg him to forget it. None of the counsellors will admit publicly that he went along, but the quartet of brave men and true is supposed to have consisted of the politically minded members of the cabinet—Messrs. Farley, Cummings, Woodring and Roper. In tragic tones they pictured the disastrous effect which his strategy might have on the next congress, the 1940 convention, the future of the party, the nation and himself.

Mr. Roosevelt did not resent their coming or counsel. He listened attentively, thanked them for their interest—and returned even more enthusiastically to his purging.

LOYALTY: Jim Farley has successfully tackled many tough problems in his vicissituomous career, but he faces his most difficult assignment within the next few weeks. He will take to the political road to resell the administration to hard-shelled bosses and to perform a rescue act for the Democratic party.

It will be the national chairman's first hobnobbing with the cracker barrel boys since F. D. R. set out to defeat their senators and representatives, to crack up their state machines, to advocate a realignment of parties. They can't understand that kind of talk, since they regard platforms and promises as something to catch votes and obtain jobs with. Though they suspect that Jim was unsympathetic to the movement, they will reproach him for the things the President has said and done during the last few months.

Jim won't let the president down—he never has. He'll try, as best he can, to explain that Mr. Roosevelt nonestly seeks a redivision as the best course for both the party and the country. He'll probably talk 1940 politics, advising everybody to keep their shirts on until it's time to take them off; they may not want to two years hence. Jim has a childlike faith in time's healing qualities—or, as he puts it, "it'll all come out in the wash." But he isn't so sure of it himself.

BILLION: Uncle Sam has been running a billion-dollar department store and wholesale house for the last five years without knowing it. Within a few weeks the general manager—the Federal Surplus corporation—will publish an accounting revealing the amazing cost and scope of this sideshow to the New Deal's big tent.

The business has operated in the dark—and the red—because it was handled by so many different agencies. Largely for relief purposes the A. A. A. purchased and processed everything from cheese to tobacco, figs to filberts, eggs to paper bags. The F. S. C. C. went into the market for coal and clothing. The C. C. C. gobbled up major crop surpluses for sale abroad or for transfer to other outlets. It is estimated that the cost of purchase, processing and distribution will total almost a billion dollars for the last five years. These are wholesale, not retail prices.

A billion dollars sounds like chicken feed these days. But insiders estimate that the expenditures and transactions involved have maintained prices, provided employment and furnished food and clothing and fuel to several hundreds of thousands.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

AS we noted here yesterday, New York Republican leaders were thrown into vast confusion by the Hines mistrial. Most of them had banked so heavily on District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey as their sole salvation that they didn't know where to turn or what to do.

One influential element in the party organization still favors drafting Dewey for governor regardless. They have frankly convinced themselves that they cannot win with anyone else, and they believe they can build a hot campaign issue on Justice Pecora's alleged partiality towards the Tammany man's defense. But informed observers say they are reckoning without Mr. Dewey himself—that the D. A. will politely but firmly decline to be drafted because he has other work to do.

On the other hand, upstate G. O. P. chiefs—who were not too keen about Dewey anyway and are fed up with having New York grab off the gubernatorial nomination every time—are now determined to name one of their own. The state party convention, to be held in Saratoga next week, shapes up more like a prospective Kilkenny brawl than the feast of harmony originally expected.

ASPIRANTS: If Dewey is eliminated, three men figure as outstanding G. O. P. aspirants for the governorship: newspaper publisher Frank Gannett of Rochester, Mayor Rolland B. Marvin of Syracuse and State Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Newburgh.

Impartial analysts figure that Marvin is the only one of the three who has a ghost of a chance to win in November. Gannett is too intimately identified with the extreme conservative wing of the party (except on monetary policy). Desmond is virtually unknown outside his own bailiwick.

But Marvin, who used to rant and roar on the slightest provocation, has been tactfully silent for the past year. He has taken particular pains to cultivate friendly relations with Dewey's supporters. The Syracuse mayor is a colorful and aggressive campaigner and might make a real race of it. Keep an eye on him.

DOMINANCE: Meanwhile the New York Democrats have headaches of their own. Nobody seems to want their gubernatorial nomination except Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr—and the state party bosses are plainly not too enthusiastic about him.

Governor Herbert H. Lehman shows no signs of yielding to strong pressure (of which there has been plenty, but NOT from the White House) to run again for the same office. Senator Robert F. Wagner evidently prefers to stay in Washington, although in a pinch he will do as the organization decides. Congressman James M. Mead of Buffalo was supposed to be the New Deal's pet candidate, but last week he issued an apparently inspired statement to the effect that he did not propose to sacrifice his assured re-election to the House to take a chance on running for some other office that he might not win.

One thing is clear. James A. Farley and Herbert H. Lehman between them—not Franklin D. Roosevelt—dominate the Democratic party in New York state. What they say goes—or will when they get together. This state situation—in both parties—has important implications for 1940.

Texas Topics---By Howard Marshall

AUSTIN, Sept. 20 (AP)—The hills and plains of Texas this fall will be "happy hunting grounds in the truest sense of the words" says Will J. Tucker, secretary to the state game commission.

Tucker, one of the Southwest's foremost naturalists, says deer, turkey and duck hunters will find the same great abundance of game in its accustomed haunts as dove hunters have found during the current season.

"Range conditions for deer in most of the state have been excellent," Tucker said. "They were particularly good in the Central Texas hill country, the heart of the deer hunting area. Rains have provided lots of food and the faun crop last year was first rate."

The secretary said most of last year's bucks would be big enough to shoot this season.

Targets To Be Plentiful

THE SOUTH TEXAS deer range, Tucker said, while not profiting as greatly from climatic conditions as the hill country, probably would have its share of venison ready for the hunter's table.

"Drouth conditions in spots have not helped deer," he said, "but for the most part, our reports show the real hunter will not lack for targets."

The secretary said blacktail or mule deer, the West Texas minrods' prize which roams the Trans-Pecos region, also had benefitted by good weather.

"Starvation rations," he said, "which plagued the deer some years ago, apparently are over for the present. Conditions improved last year and were better this year."

A game department survey showed more than 30,000 deer taken by hunters over Texas last season and Tucker predicted the number would increase in the coming season.

More Turkeys This Year

"THERE will be more turkeys this fall than in any of the past seven years," Tucker said. The same conditions which made for a good deer crop in the hill country applied to turkeys, the secretary explained. He advised the wild fowl enjoyed a particularly favorable breeding season.

The game department's coastal observers have reported unusually early flights of ducks arriving to take up winter residence and Tucker said this indicated increased numbers for the hunters.

"We'll have a 45-day season this year as compared to 30 days the past several years," the secretary said. "Since the federal government controls the migratory fowl season, it means ducks have enjoyed better breeding on the lakes up north."

Teal, the first arrivals, already are swarming in secluded portions of bays, wardens have reported.

No Conflicts This Year

NO CONFLICTS between state and federal laws on open seasons such as troubled nimrods in past years will bother them this fall.

Tucker pointed out the concurrent seasons now being enjoyed by dove hunters were the result of legislative action in a special session last year.

On top of this, the dove hunters also profited by climatic conditions favorable to the birds and a large hold-over from last year when conflicting seasons limited the take.

Tucker observed doves were not as greatly affected as other game species by encroaching agriculture since the doves, to some extent, profited by grain grown in fields.

"Since they do not live on the ground as do quail," Tucker pointed out, "their habitat is not destroyed."

He said, however, the white wing dove in South Texas had been greatly reduced in numbers during the past decade.

TARZAN THE FEARLESS No. 33 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

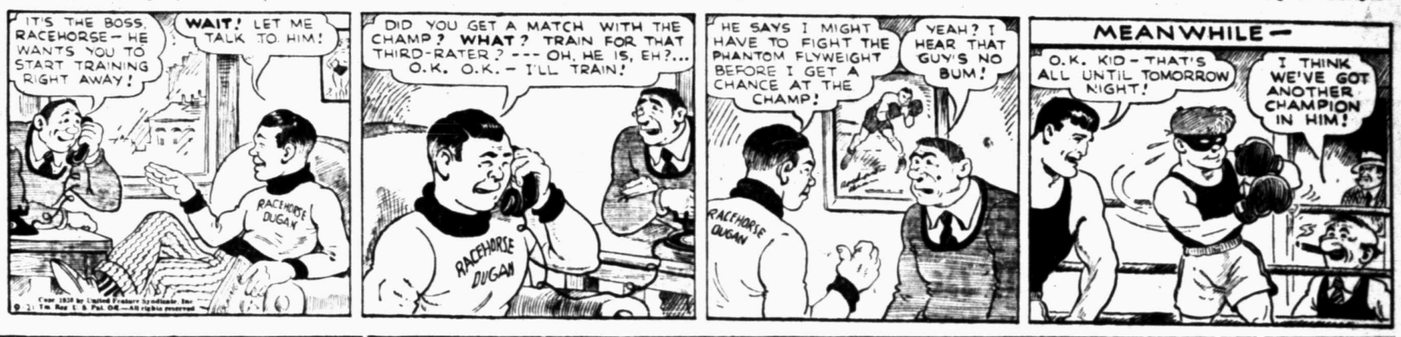

The cunning Balzo weighed carefully his chances for success. Now his prospective captives were relaxed and incautious; tonight they would be ringed around with alert sentries. Besides, he believed the darkness would confer special powers on Tarzan, the demon.

So, Balzo dispatched a messenger to bring his horde of warriors down into the valley. Warily they came, without a sound, for the children of the Tree-God were well trained in the art of surprising their victims. At last they deployed and encircled the camp.

Ordinarily Tarzan would have picked up the scent of the foe, for his nostrils were as keen as any beast's. But now, by a strange caprice of fate, he was near the campstove, and his nostrils were filled with the spicy aroma of a civilized luncheon in preparation.

Balzo grinned. For every member of the safari, he had five powerful warriors. It would be a simple matter to capture Tarzan and his friends. Suddenly Balzo's voice rang out, "Attack!" And with blood-curdling yells, the savage horde charged into the clearing!

AUCTION SALE OF CATTLE EVERY THURSDAY, STARTING 10:00 A. M.

AUCTION SALE OF HORSES AND MULES EVERY SATURDAY

At our sale Thursday, September 15, cattle prices remained steady with those of the previous week. All classes of cattle moved freely with a strong demand for butcher cattle.

Tune in KFYO each Thursday from 2 to 2:15 o'clock and hear the auction sale also made by the South Plains Singers direct from the sales pavilion. If you have livestock for sale or are in the market to buy don't fail to attend our Thursday auction sale of cattle and Saturday auction sale of horses and mules. Livestock sold at private sale every day. For best results consign your livestock to Snyder Livestock Market. Bonded and insured.

Wall Street . .

MODERATE BUYING SPLURGE

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP)—Wall street stepped out from behind its war precautions today and joined Europe in a moderate buying splurge in security markets, giving stocks another strong recovery boost.

Confidence large-scale conflict would be avoided by the British-French plan for dismemberment of Czechoslovakia to settle the German minority issue seemed to take firm hold of financial sentiment.

It was fostered in Wall street by a broad upturn in London, Amsterdam and Paris markets before dealings began here and by indications of at least a temporary halt in the panicky flight of capital from Europe to the United States.

Closing quotations for many active issues were 1 to around 4 higher.

The unsettled dispute over the railroads' demand for a 15 per cent wage cut was a minor cloud on the horizon. But some compensation was found in rail loading reports, showing sharp traffic gains last week.

Among shares 1 to 4 higher at the finish were U S Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Johns Manville, Eastman, Anaconda, American Smelting, American Telephone, Youngstown Sheet, Sears Roebuck, U S Rubber, General Electric, Union Carbide, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Electric Auto Lite.

Transactions were 1,198,310 shares against 825,400 yesterday.

The Associated Press composite price of 60 stocks closed at 47, up 1.4 points.

Cotton . .

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20 (AP)—A combination of bullish influences attracted increased trade and investment buying in the cotton market here today and at the best active positions were more than $1 a bale net higher. Final prices were steady at net gains of 19 to 22 points.

A clearing in the war-like atmosphere abroad and higher stocks combined with reports of a tight spot situation in the interior and improved sterling were the principal influences behind the buying movement which persisted throughout the session.

Occasional flurries of profit-taking were encountered but closing prices were at or near the best with Oct. contract at 8.09, Dec. at 8.14@8.15, Jan. at 8.15, March at 8.17, May at 8.13, July at 8.13 and Oct. (new) at 8.04-bid. Spot cotton closed steady 21 points up with middling at 8.04. Sales totaled 9,289 bales.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP)—Cotton established net gains of about $1.00 a bale today with all deliveries going above the 8 cent level. December rallied from 7.98@8.09 and closed at 8.04. Final quotations were 19 to 22 points net higher.

The market opened 11 to 13 points higher in response to steadier markets abroad and on foreign buying promoted by hopes of a settlement of the European crisis. With offerings light, the market responded easily to a moderate demand. Strength of the stock market attracted Wall Street covering while demand from abroad became more aggressive around noon.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20 (AP)—The average price of middling cotton at ten southern spot markets today was 21 points up at 8.18 cents per pound; the average for the past thirty market days was 8.25.

Booster Trip

comed the party.

C. M. Coffey of the Amherst schools dismissed school children for the program there and Hugh Anderson, assistant county attorney of Lubbock county, spoke.

Forest Weimhold, editor of the Sudan paper and president of the chamber of commerce, greeted Lubbock visitors at Sudan. Chas Gunn responded and also spoke at the school.

Rev. J. H. Sharp of the First Methodist church at Muleshoe welcomed the group there and Still responded. The program was presented at the school.

Parade Is Staged

The trippers, headed by the high school band, paraded from Farwell to Texico.

The buses arrived at Clovis on schedule and the delegates marched from the high school there through the town and presented a 15-minute program in front of the Clovis hotel where they lunched with the Clovis Lions club and the chamber of commerce there.

Leon Womack, president of the Lions club, presided and L. J. Stone, mayor, extended the welcome to the visitors. Hubby responded and Levine and W. O. Daniels made short talks. Each of the boosters introduced himself and told what business he represented.

One Bus Remains

One of the buses of boosters remained in Clovis all afternoon visiting with Clovis business men and returned to Lubbock that night.

The other bus of visitors and the band boys left Clovis shortly after noon. The first stop on the return trip was at Enochs and a short program was presented.

Loyd R. Kennedy, Cochran county attorney, greeted visitors at Morton. H. J. Bingham responded for the Lubbockites. T. J. Briscoe of the Cochran County News also participated in the program.

At Levelland the group was represented by Pat Bullock. Smyer was the last stop.

All persons wishing to make the last trip to Hobbs Thursday were requested to communicate with fair officials today at the offices of the chamber of commerce. The group will leave at 7 o'clock that morning.

Christmas and New Year's are observed as holidays the world over.

Grains . .

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 20 (AP) — Topping of prices in Chicago today carried the wheat market down 1⅜ cents a bushel, owing almost entirely to apparent lessened likelihood of widespread war.

Czechoslovakia's reply, accepting in principle recent proposals from Great Britain and France for placating Germany was not received here until after grain trading had ended, but at no time was any special anxiety shown as to whether or not the Czech government complied with the terms submitted.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ½ to 1 cent down compared with yesterday's finish, Dec. 64⅛@64¼, May 65⅜@65½, corn ⅞ to 1¼ off, Sept. 52⅛@52, Dec. 49⅜@49¾, oats showing ¼ to ⅜ setback, and rye ⅜ to ¾ fall. Provisions closed unchanged to 20 cents lower.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Sept. 20 (AP) — Demand for grain was moderate here today. Estimated receipts were: wheat 15 cars, corn 2 and sorghums 1. Cars manifested Monday were: wheat 46, corn 8, oats 5, and sorghums 1.

Wheat No. 1 soft red winter 76¼-77¼; No. 1 hard 77¼-81¼.
Barley No. 2 nom 48-49.
Sorghums No. 2 yellow per 100 lbs. nom 87-89; No. 2 white kafir nom 86-88.
Corn, shelled, No. 2 white 61-62, No. 2 yellow 61-62.
Oats No. 2 red 36-40.

one-half inches an hour.

Peak of the flood was expected sometime tonight or tomorrow morning. The water, all coming from the Mexican side of the river where heavy rains have fallen during the past few days, was said to be emptying into the Rio Grande. From Salomir, 82 miles in the interior of Mexico, word was relayed that streams in that section were at a standstill. The crest of the flood was said coming from Boquilla dam, more than 200 miles from the Mexican border.

Rate Increase Draws Delay

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. (AP) — Governor Blanton Winship of Puerto Rico said today the maritime commission had suspended, pending a hearing, proposed increased freight rates between Atlantic, Gulf and Puerto Rican ports.

Winship reported the action after a conference with commission officials. He said five steamship lines had proposed to put the increased freight rate schedule into effect tomorrow.

To Conduct Hearing

Instead, he said, the commission would send a representative to San Juan to conduct a hearing on Oct. 10 at which Winship and representatives of other interests opposing the increase would be heard.

The U. S. Atlantic and Gulf-Puerto Rican conference, had announced increased rates would become effective tomorrow. The five shipping lines affected were:

Baltimore Insular Steamship Line, inc., Bull Insular Steamship line, Lykes Brothers Steamship line, New York-Porto Rico line and Waterman Steamship corporation.

Court Trials

license was suspended six months.

Gene Robertson, about 28, of Lubbock was given a two-year sentence in the penitentiary for attempted burglary of an Austin Food store Aug. 14. Court authorities said Robertson had been in the penitentiary before. His trial had been conducted Monday, but Judge Pitts withheld sentencing until Tuesday morning.

Burton S. Burks, district attorney, with Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney, represented the state.

Petit Jury Dismissed

The petit jury was dismissed by Judge Pitts for the week.

J. C. Airhart, charged with forgery and passing, said he would require time for gathering witnesses. Since he is in jail, his case was passed to the next criminal week which will be the week of Oct. 3.

Strickel's explanation of how he came to steal a car from Hub Jones and drive it to Roscoe made for serious moments.

Barely Could Remember

He said he was drunk when he left Lubbock and drunk when he reached Roscoe. In fact, he said he barely could remember of the overt act.

Judge Pitts asked him if he realized he could be indicted for driving drunk in Lubbock, for compounding a felony. Strickel opened his eyes wide.

And, the judge pointed out, the four other counties intermediate to the man's destination could indict him within two years provided by the statute of limitation in such cases.

Strickel patently was wide awake. He said he believed he could "straighten up" in the duration of his suspended sentence.

Two Small Girls Are Drowned In A San Perlita Reservoir

RAYMONDVILLE, Sept. 20 (AP)—Two small girls drowned in a reservoir tank at San Perlita near here today, five hours of resuscitation work proving futile.

The girls were Rose Tumlinson, 12, daughter of Supt. and Mrs. V. H. Tumlinson, San Perlita, and Anna Margaret Lemmons, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Lemmons, San Perlita.

Ultimatum Given

years ago Italian troops fought Austrians, re-emphasized Italy's readiness for war without mentioning the Czechoslovak crisis. He declared Sunday that plebiscites for Czechosolvakia's minorities were the solution.

In London and Paris, diplomatic thoughts turned to what plan Prime Minister Chamberlain would be able to carry with him to Godesberg, Germany, when next he sees Hitler.

French Sitting Tight

The Paris government was sitting tight through a shower of criticism brought on by virtual renunciation of the French alliance with Czechoslovakia.

The nature of the Czechoslovak reply cast the shadow of delay over proposals which Hitler had indicated must be promptly forthcoming as an alternative to forceful "protection" of the Sudeten Germans.

A Berlin foreign office spokesman said every day of delay raised Hitler's price of settlement—"our fuehrer is constantly raising the ante." The controlled nazi press raised an even greater clamor for outright partition of Czechoslovakia rather than mere annexation of Sudetenland.

Train Wreck

neer of the Californian, heard his fireman, P. E. Martin, shouting: "Jump! Jump! She's coming at us!" Mason jumped. He was the only survivor of the two locomotive crews. Martin was crushed to death in his cab.

Lines Are Cut Down

Communication lines were cut down as poles fell along the right of way, smashed by the big, rushing locomotive. The third car of the Californian, a streamlined coach on a non-streamlined train, suffered greatest damage. The heavy baggage car in front telescoped it. All eight of the dead passengers were taken from this coach.

Although there were screams from hysterical passengers, order soon was restored, and J. H. Dyer of San Francisco, a Southern Pacific vice-president whose private car was attached to the Argonaut, took personal charge of the rescue work. The dead were taken to Brawley and Indio, nearby Imperial Valley points. Injured were taken by a hastily-summoned train from Niland, to Yuma, Ariz., and Indio.

Baby Is Survivor

One of the survivors of the wreck was the eight-months-old baby of Mrs. Joe Sorrels of Tuscon, Ariz. She was killed, but the infant was only slightly hurt.

In the baggage car of the Californian, badly jammed in telescoping the streamlined coach, scores of baby chicks walked about, their shipping case broken open in the wreck.

Railroad officials said the track would be repaired and service restored tonight.

Dyer disclosed that the brakeman, Jacobson, came to him while he was directing rescue work.

Confesses Responsibility

"I was helping to get the injured from the wreck, and I called to a man who passed me to get an axe so I could break into a coach," said Dyer. "The fellow looked at me as though he were in a trance. He said, 'I have to tell you I'm responsible for this wreck. I threw the switch. I am not crazy, but I do not know why I did it.'"

Trainmen said Jacobson, watching with horror the terrible result of his strange, unexplainable impulse, fled from the wreck scene, but was caught and brought back. Railroad men said he was so much in a trance that he had to be given restoratives and treated as one of the injured.

Pays Tribute To Work

Dyer paid tribute to the work of Dr. George T. Mahan of St. Louis, who took charge of first aid work, and to two nurses, Marjorie Brothers of Santa Barbara, Calif., and Maxine Chalmers of Tucson, Ariz.

Capt. Leon Johnson of the U. S. army base at Barksdale, La., remarked at the coolness of passengers and absence of hysteria.

"I heard a few screams as I started forward in our car," he said, "but everyone seemed to exercise perfect self-control. We worked for about an hour to free a woman about 65 years old who was pinned by seats in the streamlined coach where most of the deaths occurred. When she finally was extricated she was able to walk away. She was in a seat immediately behind one in which two women were killed."

Tech Enrollment

had not gained access to the gymnasium.

Registration will continue as classes of the fall semester open this morning. Instead of going to the gymnasium, however, students will report to the office of Registrar W. P. Clement in the administration building and will be referred to the various departments.

New Records Are Set

The number of permits issued in the two official registration days exceeded by 64 the number of students enrolled during the entire fall semester last college year. It exceeded by 342 the number of permits issued the two official registration days last year.

The total for the entire 1937-38 long session, counting only once those students who re-enrolled the second semester, was 3,494.

Dr. Gordon hestitated to say whether any emergency measures would be necessary to care for the large enrollment. It could not definitely be determined to what extent the present faculty will care for increased numbers of students. The distribution of enrollment by divisions and departments was not definitely known.

New Rooms Are Available

It was thought that present classroom space will accommodate the increased enrollment, new rooms having been made available for classes in the new library.

Registrar Clement said he had no doubts that the registration figure would reach his predicted 8 to 10 per cent increase over last year, which would bring the total to between approximately 3,406 and 3,469.

Sophomores, juniors, seniors and graduate students were to register Monday and freshmen and stragglers Tuesday. Many sophomores and some of other classifications besides freshmen registered Tuesday, however. Number of permits issued Monday was 1,837; the number Tuesday, 1,381. Even if the number enrolling after today should reach no higher than the number enrolling after official registration days last year, the total would reach 3,496. Because of the large number enrolling Monday and Tuesday, however, many likely postponed registration and the number yet to enroll might logically be expected to exceed that after official registration days last year.

All of the students who had obtained permits had not completed registration procedure by payment of fees. A long line of students to pay fees was waiting at 5 o'clock and the business office also remained open late.

A late registration fee is to go into effect Saturday morning.

Occupations In School Taught

Well underway is the class in distributive education in the Lubbock Senior High school, according to Sam Leifeste who is in charge of the work.

The class is made up of boys and girls who have chosen their occupation—this is the first year such a class has been taught in the schools here.

Meets Two Hours Daily

Only those students in occupations in which training is necessary and possible when in high school may participate in the class which meets two hours daily. In the afternoons they work in business places and receive training valuable to them in their work.

The boys and girls in the program receive an average of about $5 a week for their services from the firms for which they work. In one case the salary is $8.25 a week.

"Lubbock business men have been especially cooperative in helping work out details for this class," Leifeste said. "They have helped analyze their occupations and are assisting in arranging instructional materials which will help their employes. This plan gives the employer an opportunity to say what training the employe should receive when in school."

Have Variety Of Jobs

Members of the class have employment in hardware stores, feed and grain stores, jewelry stores, men's clothing stores, grocery stores, wholesale drug stores, lumber office supplies, paint and paper companies, electrical supplies and fixtures, dry goods stores, body and fender repair shops, car and motor service, interior decorators, and other business establishments.

The number in the class will be increased to accommodate a limited number of other high school students who can qualify, it was pointed out.

Eligibility rules require the applicant to be at least a junior, 16 years old, and have at least four hours of employment in his vocation. He must agree to continue his training over a two-year period and must be employed by one who agrees to help train him over that period.

Two Credits A Year

Two credits a year toward graduation will be given for work. Since it is possible to take two other regular high school subjects, the trainees are able to obtain enough high school credits per year to be able to graduate with their regular class, it was explained.

"The trainee who participates in this work receives many definite advantages," Leifeste said. "He gets actual experience in making a living, thus earning while learning. He gets training and experience that will help him develop and advance on a job. He is associated with adult thinking. He receives an inside view of how business is conducted. It prepares him for something definitely practical, opening opportunities not generally recognizable outside the business situation."

Given Specific Help

The firm employing boys and girls is given specific help in the training given their employes. The salary is low enough to permit the employer to have the worker earn his wages.

This class was added to the school work upon recommendation of committees of representative business men, after a survey conducted here in the spring by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce officials upon request of W. B. Irvin, superintendent of the public schools.

It was pointed out there was a two-year breaking-in period for new employes; that there was no organized training program for them; that there was a need for more practical training along with class work; and that Lubbock business men were willing to help work out a part-time school and employment program.

Lubbock primarily is a distributing center, having more than 300 retail firms and more than 100 wholesale establishments, school authorities said. It was therefore deemed advisable to provide training for future employes in distributive occupations on a part-time basis—hence the new course in distributive education.

The work will be fully affiliated by the state department of education as is other high school work and will be acceptable for college entrance as is other vocational work.

Lubbock Men Under Oklahoma Charges

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 20. (AP)—Three Lubbock men are charged in 27 counts each with larceny after assertedly giving too much of their attention to Oklahoma City's parking meters Saturday night.

G. T. Moore, detective, reported 27 meters were robbed. E. L. Drane, detective lieutenant, ordered a separate charge for each meter be filed against Reb Brown, 21 years old; Bill Brown, 22, and Ira Pierce, 22.

J. W. Neuffer, sergeant in charge of the traffic violations bureau, said police found the trio had 14 keys designed to fit parking meters and a nickel cache beneath the upholstery in their car.

HAD RECORDS HERE

Records on the county jail docket show Reb Brown was placed there May 13, to be held for the city, and was released May 17, only to be returned there next day and held until June 8.

Records also show that Ira Pierce made bond there after being committed to county custody Dec. 27.

All cases were misdemeanors, said the sheriff's department.

The boy with the daddy and mama named daddy and mama announced he lived on Water street, adding he also lived on Brannan street.

"How old are you?"

"Six," he answered with some hesitancy, "no, five."

The police were getting desperate when in walked mama.

"His name is Julius," she asserted, "and we live on Water street."

"How old is he?" a policeman asked.

"Julius," said she, "was three in June."

Mrs. Winfield Scott Is Taken By Death

FORT WORTH, Sept. 20 (AP)—Mrs. Winfield Scott, 7?, widow of the millionaire capitalist and cattleman, died in a hospital here early this afternoon. She had been ill six months.

A native of Alabama, she went with her parents to Weatherford when she was nine years old. In 1884 she was married to Winfield Scott, Colorado City bank president and cattleman. The ceremony was one of the largest social events Weatherford had known.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott lived at Colorado until the early 1900's when Mr. Scott moved to Fort Worth to better direct the cotton oil mills which he had established over the state.

Survivors include a son, Winfield Scott Jr., two half-brothers, Dr. W. L. Simmons, Big Spring, and Ted Simmons of Wisconsin.

The average elevation of land above sea level is 2,800 feet.

Ralls Man Buried On Tuesday; Died In Lubbock Hospital

CROSBYTON, Sept. 20.—J. N. Ivey, 40, of Ralls, was buried after 3:30 o'clock rites read this afternoon at the Crosbyton Church of God.

Death was late this morning in a Lubbock hospital, where he had gone for an emergency operation.

Marr Funeral home of Ralls directed arrangements for burial.

Ivey was a foreman of the National Recovery Work relief of the state highway department.

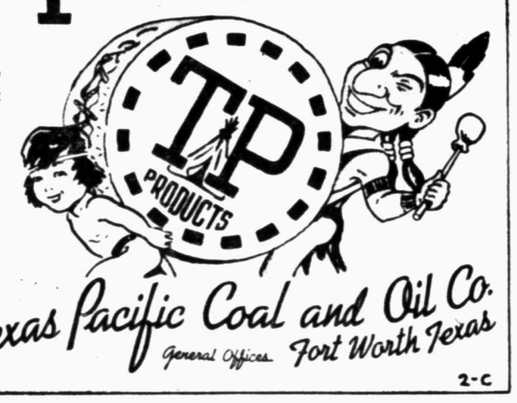

Ivey had moved to Ralls from Crosbyton, where he lived several years. He became a N. R. W. R. foreman under the division highway office here in January of this year, it was said at the division office. In his work as foreman, he had been employed on projects in Post and Ralls.

Survivors include his wife, and two sons, one a step-son. According to information he had given here early this year, his father, H. N. Ivey, lives in Idabel, Okla.
