Congressman Mahon Visits In Home District

BY RUTH COFFEY
Record News Editor

Colorado City, Loraine and miles of Mitchell County were visited this week by the Texas Congressman whose life and work in Washington D. C—has put his hometowns and this county on the map of the world.

Here in Colorado City, that Congressman shared a Thanksgiving Day dinner with relatives then spent half a day taking a look at the ranch country which is part of his native heritage.

Congressman George H. Mahon spent Friday morning here observing effects of the brush control program in ranches in the southern portion of Mitchell County.

Mahon was guest of the board of supervisors of the Mitchell County Soil Conservation District board for the morning field trip.

The party left Colorado City at 8 a. m. and observed chemical control of mesquite at five area ranches. Lands visited for the brush control study belong to Foy Webb, Steve Brookover, Irvin Plaster and Lance Sears. The field day was climaxed with a stop at Renderbrook Ranch where the men on tour were guests of Otto F. Jones, foreman.

Mesquite, sprayed from the air, was also observed at the Plaster Ranch, the Webb Ranch and the Brookover ranges (part of the old White Elephant Ranch.) Lands belonging to Lance Sears, of Sweetwater, were studied at Beal's Creek. Sears lands were sprayed in 1961 for control of mesquite growth on ranges.

The overall problem of brush control by ranchers was chief topic talked by the Congressman and the SCD supervisors.

"Added research is "badly needed," said A. V. Sheppard, SCS conservation, after the field trip. "Need for further research was one of the main topics of the morning."

Control of the boll weevil and the general outlook for cotton was also discussed by Mahon after the field trip.

"Congressman Mahon showed been interest in on much knowledge of the whole farm picture," said Sheppard.

Making the morning tour of ranches with Sheppard and Mahon were Warren Anderson, Alfred Carey, Rex T. McKenney, all of the SCD board; Curtis Latimer, chairman of the Mitchell County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation organization; Buddy Logsdon, county agent, and M. A. Dunnahoo, president of the SCD board of supervisors.

THREE IN ONE ORAL

Polio Vaccine Day Set Sunday, Dec. 6

Sunday Dec. 6 has been designated by Colorado City Jaycees as oral polio drive day.

Three dispensing centers will be set up that day by the local Jaycees for the giving of the trivalent (3 in one) polio vaccine in Mitchell County, said Eddie Braswell, Jaycee president.

In Colorado City the oral vaccine will be administered at Civic House, 105 Elm St. Glenn Nolte is chairman here.

In Loraine, With Joe Emerson as chairman, oral polio vaccine will be given in the Lions Club building.

Mrs. Hoyt Roberts is chairman for the polio vaccine drive in Westbrook. Vaccine will be dispensed to Westbrook area citizens at Westbrook Rural High School.

Poliovirus vaccine, the live oral vaccine for Sabin strains 1, 2 and 3, will be given in the two-drop dosage on lump sugar. Stations will be open at 12:30 p. m.

Jaycees will finance the drive and the vaccine. Citizens may, if they wish, donate coins to help defray expenses. No charge of any kind will be made, however, Jaycees announce. The vaccine is free to children and adults.

All persons, young or old, who have had nohe of the Sabin oral vaccine are urged to take the trivalent vaccine, said Dr. Williams S. Rhode.

Children and adults who took the three Sabin oral vaccine throughout the county two years ago, and who have had no booster doses are also advised to take the one trivalent dose for protection of their immunization, Dr. Rhode said.

Persons who failed to take all three of the Sabin vaccine doses should take the three-in-one oral vaccine, doctors advise.

The vaccine is particularly advised for infants more than six weeks old but less than six months old.

Giving of the vaccine will be supervised by doctors at all three dispensing statjons. Administration will be by nurses. Information concerning the need for the vaccine will be given at each station.

"If you are in doubt as to whether you or your child should take the vaccine, please ask at the dispensing station," Braswell said.

The two-drop dose is said by medical representatives to "Confer active immunity, quickly, in all three types of polio." The one dose, rather than three, has the advantage of being quicker, less trouble, easier to remember, safe and effective.

Children or adults who have had no vaccine at all are advised by doctors to take two oral vaccine dosages, two months apart. Person who have had vaccine previously are advised to take the one dose of three-in-one vaccine as a booster.

Jaycees, in sponsoring the public health drive, point out that winter is the best time for immunization.

"We want to know our county is safe from a possible epidemic next summer," Braswell said.

All three dispensing stations will be opened at 12:30 Sunday afternoon, Dec. 6, and will remain open until 6. p. m.

Doctors of Mitchell County have approved the Jaycee vaccine drive. Dispensing stations will be operated with their full approval and with their supervision, the Jaycee president noted.

Mental Difference Told Zetagathians

Women are the victims of a culfural stereotype was told the Zetagathian Study Club recently.

Topic for Mrs. Majors' speech was "The Mental Differences Between the Sexes".

"Before they can began to attain potential," said Mrs. Majors, "A lot of both men and women are going to have to learn that the distinction between man and woman is not so obvious as we might think, even physically.

"There are, of course, differences both in capacity and in accomplishment."

"If a girl is to maintain the qualities of dominance, independence and active striving that appear to be requisited for good analytic thinking, she has to defy conventions to act, un-girl like. She may do this successfully, in many ways, but it is a rare intellectual woman who will not have paid a price for it—a price in anxiety," concluded Mrs. Majors.

Following the program, refresments were served to Mmes. Warren Anderson, Don Butler, Jim Edison, R. F. Fee, Jr., L. S. Girvin, Jr., Larry Kincaid, Curtis Latimer, Henry Lewis, Sam L. Majors, Jr., Bob Reily, Bob Robinson, O. B. Trulock, Jr., Bob Carver, and one guest, Mrs. Martin Weaver.

Next meeting will be with Mrs. Don Butler on Dec. 3. Mrs. R. F. Fee, Jr. will be in change of the program.

MRS. HALE, HOSTESS

'Religion' Is Theme For Hesperian Club

"Through Religion" was theme for the recent meeting of the Hesperian Study Club in the home of Mrs. J. E. Hale.

Speaker for the afternoon was Miss Mabel Smith, who spoke concerning Women and the Church.

"History definitely shows that it was not until the Christian gospel became an accepted way of life that women was emancipated from a second or even lower class postition and was given a new respect for her ability to make positive contribution to life," said Miss Smith.

"The nature of Women" said Miss Smith, "Has led her to ponder the depths of religion in her heart and there is no denying that she has been a vital factor in the rise and spread of Christianity.

"The first American woman to be ordained a minister was Antoinette Brown, who lived from 1825-1921. At the time of her death there were 3000 ministers in the United States in various denominations."

"Catherine Booth shared equally in founding the Salvation Army which today has become a mighty church with over four million workers in 86 countries and territories," concluded Miss Smith.

During the business meeting, Mrs. J. W. Watson was selected as a candidate for the Mother of the Year contest. Mrs. J. A. Sadler gave the invocation.

Refreshments of fruit cake topped with whipped cream were served to 11 members by the hostess.

Members present were Mmes. Perry Barber, Ralph Graham, Witt Hines, J. A. Sadler, Bennett Scott, O. L. Simpson, Sam Thompson, J. W. Watson, J. D. White, F. N. Thomas, and J. E. Hale. Also Miss Mabel Smith.

Next meeting will be Dec. 4 in the home of Miss Clydine Stickney.

Special Pay For Penney Associates

A special Christmas payment to associates at the J. C. Penney Company department store here will be made Monday.

Store manager Luke Nichols explained that the payment will go to regular and to part-time associates employed on or before June 30—with the exception of members of the management staff.

"The special Christmas payment," Nichols said, "is one of the benefits available to Penney associates. It is offered as further testimony of the company's interest in the welfare of the people who contribute so much to our operation."

The payment is in addition to regular company provisions for sick benefits, medical insurance, non-contributory group life insurance, Penco Profit-Sharing Plan, discounts on purchases and other benefits.

VFW Post Discuss Christmas

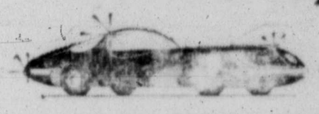

Christmas plans were topic for discussion when the Women of Wilson Wyatt Post 9178 met recently in Veterans of Foreign Wars Building.

Attending were Mmes. Floyd Sparks, Warren Goode, Billy Dearin, M. D. Robertson, Frances Turner, Jerry Jackson, Manuel Veiga, Millie Tate, Jesse Bunch and one guest, Mrs. Georgene Redman.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

In the future it may be possible for every landowner, with a good sized fishing hole or a satisfactory place to hunt, to borrow money to develop the project.

A program has been developed by Secretary at Agriculture Orville L. Freeman to broaden the lending program of the Farmers Home Administration to increase rural recreation facilities.

FHA now will accept loan applications from family farmers for recreational enterprises to supplement their farm incomes.

These same loans also are available to non-profit associations to cover costs involved in shifting land to new and more economic uses, which will include recreation.

Camping grounds, swimming facilities, tennis courts, riding stables, vacation cottages, lodges, lakes, ponds of water for sports, docks, nature trails, picnic grounds and hunting preserves may be provided on family farms through such funds, under the Food and Agriculture Act of 1962.

Maximum amount a landowner may receive for recreational enterprises is $35,000. Amount of real estate development of land and building, including this development, for recreational enterprises, is $60,000.

Operating loans are made for up to seven years, but real estate loans are for up to 40 years. Interest rate is 5 per cent.

These funds are available to farm residents who are unable to provide needed funds or who cannot get credit elsewhere at reasonable rates and terms to finance actual needs. Landowners may get necessary information from their nearest county Farmers Home Administration office.

This can be considered implementation of the national recreational program announced last year, in which the importance of recreation to growing America was shown.

How much of the program that will be used remains to be seen.

Most major landownees admit they would rather not have a bevy of hunters on their plcs in the Fall. There are a few notable exceptions where places have been made available on a fee basis. Some of these have been possible because much of the deer country now is becoming overrun with deer and the landowners find fees for hunting will help offset the feed bill.

But there has been a general tendency within recent years for landowners to make available their raw lands for fee uses in hunting. Also many places have allowed use of their fish-planted stock ponds at per day rates to fishermen.

It might be generally agreed that most of these places have shown no profit, but they do add some cash to the chicken and egg basket of the household.

Landowners have been able to get fish from the Game & Fish Commission for restocking their tanks and lakes. Some of them have taken advantage of the commission's hatchery to get pen-raised quail to restock their range.

Drouth and other conditions unfortunately made bird restocking an uncertainty, with about as many dismal failures as profitable ventures, Mainly where landowners have provided necessary cover, food and water, they have found their bird restocking programs worthwhile.

Naturally if a landowner borrows money from the FHA to equip his place with recreational facilities, same must be provided. If he wants to sell per day hunting for birds, or the use of his fishing lake, the customer must be satisfied Or if it is a nature trail, a swimming pool or just a restful cabin, then the things expected by the man who pays the bill must be there.

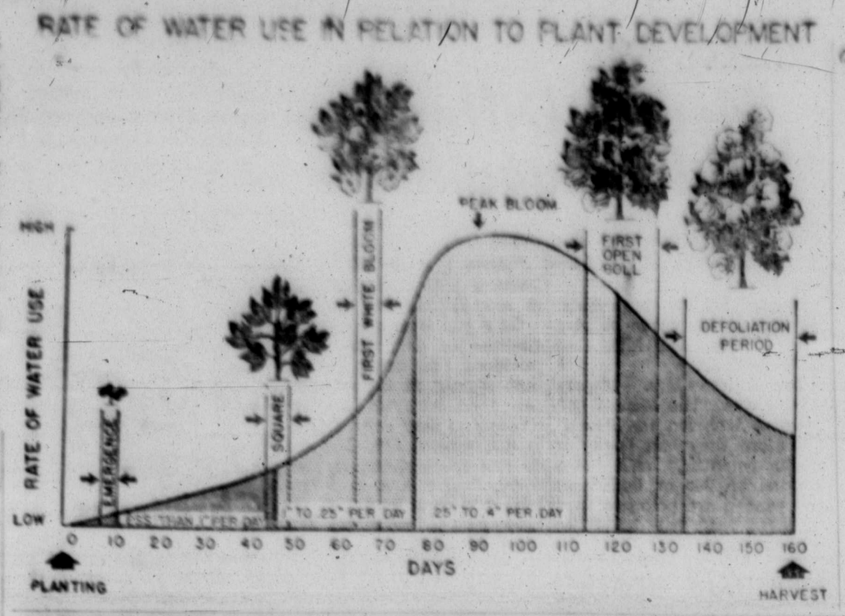

Perhaps the local Chamber of Commerce might be a better approach to the program. Even though Federal money is available to individuals, a community project might fare better.

But it is worth looking into.

Head of FB Edorses TB Seal Sale

Farm Bureau president for Mitchell County, Murrell Blassingame, has formally endorsed the annual Christmas Seal campaign in this county.

In a letter to Mitchell County TB Association president, Mrs. A. J. Hooks, Blassingame offered support from local Farm Bureau members.

"TB is one of the most dangerous diseases," Blassingame wrote. "The Mitchell County Tuberculosis Association has done much to help reduce the danger of this disease and other respiratory diseases.

"Millions of Americans suffer one of more chronic respiratory diseases. School age children are particularly susceptible to respiratory infections.

"I am sure that farm people throughout Mitchell County will join in the purchase and the use of Christmas seals to support the 1964 campaign for better health." Blassingame's letter concluded.

HUMIDITY

Agent Lists Factor Of Cotton Stripping

Three factors will determine the efficiency of your cotton stripping operation says County Agent Buddy Logsdon.

Factor are field conditions at harvest time; machine characteristics and adjustments; and skill of the operator.

Very important is field conditions at harvest. In damp weather, performance of a cotton stripper will be less efficient than under dry conditions. Extensive testing has shown best cotton stripper performance is obtained when humidity is below 60%.

So, for better grades and cleaner fields delay harvesting until the relative humidity is 60% or less at boll height in the field to be harvested. This measurement can be conveniently made with a dial-type hydrometer—a relative humidity measuring instrument. Dial hydrometers are available from hardware stores or instrument houses for approximately twenty dollars, points out Logsdon.

Measuring relative humidity and using this measurement as a guide for scheduling harvesting operations is important. However, also of importance, is condition of the cotton stalk. Strippers are designed to handle comparitively large volumes of dry trash efficiently. But a small amount of green leaves and other green trash can cause a significant reduction in the grade of stripped cotton. For this reason, cotton harvested with a stripper prior to frost should be treated with a chemical dessicant to kill the leaves.

After the dessicant application, delay narvesting for a week or ten days, recommends Logsdon. This will allow leaves and leaf stems to become brittle. Harvest should not be delay until the main stalk and branches are dead, as this will cause more bark to be accumulated with the cotton, which can cause a reduction in grade.

Harvesting after frost should be delayed until frost-killed leaves and stems are brittle or chisp. Here again, harvesting should be done while the main stalk still has enough spaco it to be limber. Brittle stalks and branches mean more dark in the cotton, but leathery leaves and limber leaf stems mean extra moisture in the harvested cotton which can cause sweating during storage prior to ginning.

MAHON –

Maj. Gen. Meyers, of Waco, will introduce the 19th Texas District Congressman. While Mahon has not announced the subject for his address, it is expected that he will discuss for 45 minutes ways the United States can get the most out of her military dollars.

Congressman Mahon, who will complete his 30th year in the National Congress in January, became chairman of the tremendously important and powerful Appropriations Committee last May. He succeeded the late Clarence Cannon of Missouri. Mahon had headed the sub-committee for defense appropriations for many years before assuming the chair for the 50-members committee.

His last major appearance as speaker in this immediate area was in June when he addressed graduates of Hardin-Simmons University, his alma mater, and was presented there the degree of Honorary doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Mahon were Thanksgiving Day guests in the home of her sister, Mrs. W. W. Rhode, and her nephews Dr. Bill and Dr. Oscar Rhode here in Colorado City. They are staying now in their Lubbock home and will drive to Abilene for the Officers dinner.

BY MRS. ERWIN AND MRS. WHITMORE

'Through Amercanism' Theme For Culture Club

Through Americanism was the theme for the regular meeting of Self Culture Club Friday.

Speakers for the meeting were Mrs. Albert Erwin and Mrs. Erwin Whitmore.

Topic for Mrs. Erwin's talk was, "Review of Declaration of Independence and Constitution." Mrs. Whitmore spoke concerning the American Creed.

"The unanimous declaration of independence of the thirteen colonies of America," said Mrs. Erwin, "Occured on July 4, 1776."

"The National Archives Building holds the original document of the Declafation of Independence."

"The Constitution of America is the supreme court of the land. It establishes the form of the United States government, and the rights and liberties of the American people. It is the shield of democracy under which Americans govern themselves as a free people," said Mrs. Erwin.

"James Madison was called the Father of the Constitution because of his strong fight for it," Mrs. Erwin said, then ed," said Mrs. Whitmore.

"I refuse to barter incentive for a dole," continued Mrs. Whitmore, "I prefer the challenges of life to the guaranteed existence; the thrill of fulfillment to the stale calm of Utopia.

"I will not trade freedom for beneficence or my dignity for a handout. I will never cower before any master nor bend to any threat. It is my heritage to stand erect, proud and unafraid; to think and act for myself; enjoy the benefits of my creation and to face the world boldly and say, 'This I have done.' All this is what it means to be an American."

A short business meeting was conducted.

Refreshments were served to 18 members by the hostess Mrs. J. L. Strain.

Amendments began to be adopted, the first ten of which are known as the Bill of Rights adopted and added to the Constitution in 1791. Through the years the Amendments have expanded the powers and broadened the base of the United States government.

"The story of how a farmer wrote the Constitution and of how it has met the challenges of American democracy in one that people should never tire of reading."

Mrs. Whitmore presented the American Creed which says, "I do not choose to be a common man. It is my right to be uncommon if I can.

"I seek opportunity . . . not security. I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me. I want to take the calculated risk; to dream and to build, to fail and to succe-

Ruth Coffey's CONVERSATION CORNER

TELL you what. You can live to be a million and still not have time to do all the things it might be fun to do.

Ever make a list of things you're gonna do . . . when you get time, opportunity and maybe money?

It always worries us a little to read the frantic pleas of people who have retired and simply can not decide what to do with themselves.

"Days are so long now that I don's work any more," they protest. "What can I do with so much time on my hands?"

WELL, there are millions and millions of things to do. Inexpensive things . . . meant for joy . . . it the heart and the imagination is in the seeking mood.

How long has it been since you took a long and leisurely walk? Feet, hurt? Got a bum leg or back or knee, you say? Then how's about a long ride down some unexplored country road?

HOW long has it been since you watched the sun rise? Or sat and watched the moon come up like a giant dip of orange sherbet sitting on the earth's horizon?

When have you had a cook-out? Tried a new recipe? How long has it been since you watched a narcissus bulb grow? Or a sweet potato vine sprout in the kitchen window?

How long has it been since you browsed in the library for something really different to read? A book of verse, perhaps . . . mythology . . . philosophy?

THEN, Too, there is the almost lost art of letter writing. How long has it been since you sat down and "took your pen in hand?"

Not writing letters happens to be our finest, most distinguished short-coming.

If, in some far-off tomorrow, our descendants want to collect and maybe publish our letters they're gonna be out of luck.

THEY could, of course collect our long-distance telephone bills to prove something or other. Laziness, perhaps.

They could prove the fact that we didn't get a letter written, again.

An even more fascinating collection would be a book containing all the letters we did not write.

That collection would be a doosy. It would contain letters we did not write to Harry Truman whom we happen to adore) and to Ogden Nash whose verses amuse us, no end.

THERE would letters to the taxi company in Big D, urging that certain night cabs slow down . . . letters to Mr. TAP screaming over the curtailment of passenger trains which we ride at least twice a year!

There would be a letter to Lin Yutang, Chinese philosopher and scholar, telling him we approve and agree with his theory that the seat of all human emotion is the stomach, not the heart.

There would be at least one fan letter to Lady Byrd Johnson. Another to the late J. Frank Doble, a real individual all his life long.

THING we have decided to do in case we live long enough to retire is to write some of those letters we did not write.

Shall answer all friendly fan mail, something we never seem to find time for as of now. Intend, once we get retired, to write a note of thanks to Opal Coles (Mrs. Ewell) of Iraan for that beautiful snapshot in color of Mrs. Lyndon Johnson when she was visiting San Angelo.

FRIDAY mail brought a happy note from Alice Coles (Mrs. Roy Davis) who is in Bakersfield, Calif. right now.

"I am in Bakersfield taking care of my third granddaughter, Janine Maria, who arrived Nov. 5 and weighed 8 lbs., 1 oz.," Alice, wife of Mitchell County superintendent, writes.

The new baby is third daughter for Roy Davis Coles, Jr., Shell Oil Co. engineer, and his wife Janie. Their daughter Lisa is five now and Ellen . . . Roy and Alice are also grandparents of two little boys, David and Doug Price, sons of their daughter, Rebecca and her husband Bob Price of Lubbock.

HATTIE RAMSDELL was one of the lucky mothers and grandmothers for the Thanksgiving holiday. Her daughter, Elsie Ann, son-in-law Fred Scaife and their three little ones, Joyce; Jim and Janet, spent several days in C-City.

The Scaifes are moving from Denver, Colo., to Boston, Mass. and left here Friday morning for a visit with his family in Ohio before settling in Boston.

Houseguest now in the Ramsdell home on Locust St. is Hattie's sister Mrs. Elsie Clark.

SEEN LATELYS were Mrs. A. G. (Red) Ballard mother of Joyce Ann Bostwick of Austin. Joyce, mother of two little girls, is another of the illustrious alumna of MCK, Mrs. Coffey's Kindergarten.

THANKSGIVING at the Ratliff house was "different." Harry, local lawyer, went deer hunting as guest of John Boyd of Dallas who hosted a group of executives and friends at his ranch near Valentine.

Isabel and her guests spent Thanksgiving with Irvin and Jane Smith and their boy-child, Kevin in Abilene. The Irvin Smiths are son and daughters-in-law of the Guy Smiths.

THE GORDONS, Nadine and Gerald, spent Thanksgiving Day as guests of Gerald's sister in Lubbock.

Spied the T. D. Wimans lunching out . . . Ditto the Sam L. Majors Sr.

Office guest for a too brief minute was our George Maedell Foster of Northwestern University, here to visit her father G. D. Foster.

Colorado City Battery To Take Part in Tests

National Guardsmen of the 49th Armored Division, which includes Colorado City local battery, will match duty during the coming year with their active duty counterparts in the same kind of jobs.

Umpiring the match will be electronic scoring machines at Ar-off Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., home base of the Army's Enlisted Evaluation System.

According to Lt. Col. John A. Waldrip, test control officer for the 49th, "These tests will be given to about 4,000 of our enlisted men above the grade of PFC. Test periods come every three months—in November, February, May and August—with roughly one quarter of the eligible men tested in each period."

This is the first time that members of the National Guard not on active duty have taken the proficiency tests, which are "old hat" to their counterparts on active duty.

"For the active duty soldier," Col. Waldrip said, "making a high score on the annual tests, coupled with doing well in an efficiency rating from his commanding officer, can have benefits on payday, when the top scorers draw proficiency pay."

For the Guardsmen, not so much is at stake, since proficiency pay is authorized only for soldiers on active duty.

Instead, Col. Waldrip continued, "These test scores, when they come back from the scoring center, will indicate to commanders at all levels the effectiveness to which the training their men are getting."

"Another way the tests will be useful is in checking to make sure that a man has been assigned the right job. For example, if one soldier consistently makes a lower than average score that will flash a warning that perhaps he should be given a different assignment," the Lone Star Division's test administrator related.

"Then, too, a man who does very well on his tests year after year is more likely to be promoted when he becomes eligible than one whose scores are less impressive," he said.

The tests are being given in the Army's Reserve components for the first time this year in response to an order from Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, calling for all units to have at least 90 per cent of their enlisted men qualified in their Army specialties.

The thorough, detailed examinations will provide the barometer for measuring this qualification quota.

There is a different test for each occupation in the Army—bakers, truck drivers, infantrymen and clerk-typists. In addition, there are nine completely different tests for each occupation, ranging from relative simplicity for the lower ranking enlisted men to challenging difficulty for the most experienced non-commissioned officers.

Examinations for men in grades E-4 and E-5 have 100 questions each, while the ones for grades E-6 through E-9 have over 125 questions, all of the multiple-choice variety. Each question has four possible answers from which to choose. Army regulations do not permit disclosing sample questions, Col. Waldrip said. However, the soldier who wants to study for the examination can do so, because three months before the test date he will receive a pamphlet explaining, in general terms what he will be questioned on, and listing the reference books to be consulted for more study. The soldier then can check the reference work out of his company or battalion library.

The test for each subject covers a wide range of subjects. A cook, for instance, might be asked not only how long to roast a roast or toast a slice of toast, but also questions on maprreading, marksmanship and leadership matters of concern to all soldiers, regardless of their jobs.

"Although Guardsmen normally don their uniforms only once a month, the tests they will be taking are exactly the same as those given to men in the active Army, who work at their jobs each day," said Maj. Gen. Harley B. West, commander of the 49th.

"If that doesn't seem fair, it must be remembered that each member of the 49th Armored Division must be prepared to make his once-a-month job his full time job if the division is called to active duty in time of war or national emergency. It is imperative that our men know their Army jobs as thoroughly as they do their civilian jobs," Gen. West concluded.

THANKSGIVING LETTER

Retired Missionaries Praise Colorado City

Colorado City Record received this week a letter of Thanksgiving from two women missionaries retired.

The two, Miss Mina Ostertag and Mrs. Herman Becker, first moved to Colorado City five years ago and still reside here in the Joe Cowan home on Chestnut St. With them came Mr. Becker, missionary for the Lutheran Church for almost 60 years.

Rev. Becker died in Colorado City last year. Miss Ostertag, trained nurse and retired medical missionary, was spokesman for herself and her friend Mrs. Becker in a letter of gratitude to Colorado City townspeople. Her letter follows:

Dear Editor:

With Thanksgiving Day's coming again, we can not but remember our first Thanksgiving in Colorado City when we were introduced through the Colorado City Record pages as new-comers to the friendly people of Colorado City, Nov. 26, 1959.

We had many friends in Germany, Switzerland, England, China and from the East to the West Coast of America. But Texas, the Long Star State, seemed not to hold many friends for us. It has been a new step in the unknown and our hearts had been filled with mixed feelings when one afternoon we drove into Colorado City . . . after a long trip from Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cowan had given us the address of their friends Mr. and Mrs. Bill Helm, who gave us a real, heart-warming welcome. Then there was Mrs. L. I. Taylor who handed us the key to the new home.

After the Colorado City Record introduced us we did not feel like strangers and more but were accepted like long known friends. The chain of friendship has grown far beyond the borders of Colorado City, Roscoe and Big Spring and we will always be grateful to the Record for that kind and friendly introduction to the town's people.

The many churches, their pastors and members have also been so kind to us. We most gratefully appreciated the thoughtfulness and friendliness of our neighbors.

Rev. and Mrs. (Herman) Becker had been missionaries for 58 years, had served the Lord in many countries. China was their first calling. They spent 36 years there under most trying circumstances.

More than 30 times Brother Becker was held by bandists and Mrs. Becker almost died of wounds from a bandit's sword.

Many books could be written about their experiences during those years . . . but the greatest reward that came from their labor of love was the harvest of souls who came out of fear and darkness . . . into the light of God's love.

Brother Becker received many orders of recognition and gratitude—from the King of England, the government of Australia, the government of China, the International Red Cross and the city government where he spent 36 years.

May we at this Thanksginig season especially thank all those who were so kind to Brother Becker during the last chapter of his ministry. There are so many names we would like to mention but space does not permit to thank each individually. Our prayers is that the Lord may bless each one.

Sincerely yours,
(Miss) Mina Ostertag
