Fine Arts School Schedules Summer Sessions For Year

The Rockport School of Fine Arts has announced dates for the three summer sessions to be held here.

First will be the marine, landscape and free composition school, scheduled from June 15 through 26, according to Simon G. Michael, school director.

Following this, from July 13 through 24 will be the portrait, figure, free composition and still life class.

From August 10 through 21, Michael said, the class will study landscape, free composition and marine painting, with sand dunes, shrimp boats and similar subjects.

Further information can be obtained by addressing the Rockport School of Fine Arts, Rockport, Texas.

Council Session Is Short One

The only motion made at the regular city council meeting was one to adjourn, and this came two hours after the session started.

One hour and 45 minutes of the time was devoted to an extended discussion of the city's fire marshall setup, which councilmen finally decided to leave unchanged, at least for the time being.

Ten minutes was devoted to consideration of plans for a new fire station presented by Gilbert Hill, of the Rockport Fire Department, who was present with a delegation from the volunteer fire department.

The other five minutes was devoted to a consideration of the city's financial report presented by City Secretary Mrs. Mary Lake Segler.

Visitors on the fire department lelegation were Hill, Dic Fox, Coy Truelove, Raymond Wolfe, and Elva Mullinax.

Also present was the city's engineer, W. W. McLendon, of McLendon and Associates.

Warren Kane Finds Great Glass Fish Floats On Matagorda

Combing the beach on Matagarda Island, about five miles north of Cedar Bayou, Warren Kane discovered a treasure trove that come to few people—nine great glass balls, wrapped in webbing, and crusted with barnacles.

These glass balls floats, broken loose from the net of some Norwegian or Portuguese fisherman and carried by currents across the oceans.

The ones Kane found, however, were extra special for while they come in several sizes, shapes and colors, few are discovered as large as his, which measured 38 inches in circumference. An occassional small one is found, about the size of a grapefruit, but huge ones like these are rare indeed.

Mrs. J. R. Houser, Sr., of San Antonio, has one of the big ones and 16 or 17 smaller ones. Two of the latter came from the beaches of Padre Island, but all the rest, including the giant, were found at Washington Beach, about 60 miles south of Brownsville.

Mrs. H. G. Bryant, of Port Aransas, has some of the floats in varying sizes, including a big one, and Mrs. Douglas Johnstone, of Corpus Christi has another the same size as those that Kane and Houser found.

Most of them are crude, bubble-filled glass, and bluish or bottle green. More rare are deep blue, gold, amber, amethyst, milk white, and crystal clear. Some are egg-shaped; others are cylinders with a knob at either end, for fastening to the nets. These the fishermen, for obvious reasons call rolling pins.

Christopher Faye, a Norwegian, invented these glass floats more than a century ago, to replace the clumsy and inefficient wooden ones used in cod fishing. To skeptics he demonstrated they wouldn't become waterlogged, even at depths of 1800 feet, as the best wooden ones would do; nor would pressure crush them.

Storms tore Faye's nets loose and scattered the floats, their travels limited only by the continents, and currents introduced them to many nationalities, so in time the floats came to be used in Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Germany, England, Belgium, Portugal, Spain, the United States, Russia and Japan.

Occasionally they may be identified by their raised brands.

A cross in relief is probably from Belgium. The Soviet hammer and nickle needs no explanation. A long-rayed star is often the mark of the floats from Britain; an "F" generally means Friesland, Norway; and some even bear the familiar "Duraglass" of the Owens-Illinois Glass Co.

Harder to read than the brands, but even more fascinating are the ocean's marks. Spherical ones are often ground by the action of sand and water on the beach until they have a soft, frosted finish. Others reach shore bearing long streamers of seaweed, and Kane's had a whole colony of goose barnacles.

Sometimes the floats do reach depths they cannot stand, and are crushed. Others tougher, refuse to break and drink in water through their very walls and become drunken, for "drunk" is the term used by fishermen for floats that come up heavy and party filled with water.

One of Kane's was of this sort.

POST OFFICE TO BE CLOSED MEMORIAL DAY

Armadillo Handicap To Be Sea-o-Rama Feature This Year

Something new and original will highlight the Sea-o-rama when it starts a two-day run, June 20-21. Others may have their turtle derbies and crab races, and the jumping frogs of Calaveras County were long ago made famous by Mark Twain, but only Rockport's Sea-o-rama has an Armadillo Handicap.

Ed Harper, chairman of arrangements for this sports spectacular, which includes boats and sport car races in addition to the one for armadilloes, has hunters scouring the South Texas brush country for members of these little pigs in armour which, contrary to popular belief, don't curl up in their shells when threatened with danger, but trust to their legs for safety. Roy Swann, sports editor of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times is aiding in the search.

The captives will be brought here and go into strict training for the Rockport Armadillo Derby.

Don't Let Children Get Trapped Says Refrigerator Man

Don't let any child get trapped in an old refrigerator, is the advice of the Refrigeration Service Engineers Society as the nation celebrates refrigeration week June 1-7.

When you buy a new refrigerator, don't let the old one become a death trap. Be sure to remove the doors. If you can't, the CSN Refrigeration Co. says to call them at SO 4-2791 and they'll do the job free, as a public service.

During the past 16 years, some 260 children have suffocated in discarded refrigerators, and the death toll continues to climb. Most of the deaths occur in the summer months.

Swimming Pool Opens Today

"Speck" Howery, pro at Live Oak Country Club has announced that the swimming pool at the club was opened Wednesday for the summer season. The pool is open daily for members and their guests, except Mondays.

There will be a benefit barbecue, proceeds of which will go to Scout troops 49 and 280, on Memorial Day, from eleven a.m. until there are no more chickens left, Dr. Elliot said today.

The barbecue will be held at the Lions Pit in front of the Woman's Club, and plates are $1.25 each.

"Preparations for the barbecue started a long time ago," said Dr. Elliot, "and we have concentrated on chicken this time, as it is very popular. We certainly hope for the benefit of the two troops and their programs."

Rockport Students Are Doing Well After Graduation

Local scholars are doing well in other schools and colleges after graduation.

Peggy Chambers scored 100 on a three-phase secretarial and shorthand course administered recently by Federal Civil Service officials from the Naval Air Station, being the only one out of 55 Del Mar students that took the test that made a perfect grade.

She was in Houston over the past weekend, being interviewed by NASA officials as a result of her high score.

Other members of last year's graduating class were doing well, also.

Paul Ramsey was on the honor roll at Texas Tech in Lubbock; he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Ramsey.

Mary Kathryn Gray, daughter of School Superintendent and Mrs. J. D. Gray, and Sue Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Johnson, are both on the dean's list at Southwest State College at San Marcos; Carol St. John, at Texas Women's University at Denton, is also on the honor roll at that school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas St. John.

Mary Walls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Walls, is a Texas Southern University student, and has made four A's and one B in her courses there.

Terry Falk, son of Major and Mrs. Walter S. Falk, Jr., is on the University of Oregon honor roll.

Doubtless there are others we have overlooked, but High School Principal A. B. LeFevre says that records received from colleges which local students are attending show that the majority of them are doing quite well.

Birdwatchers Asked To Aid Disease Study

Ornithologists and birdwatchers, both amateurs and professionals, are asked to be on the lookout for birds with unusual white or yellow feathers.

Their reporting will supply information needed in an investigation of migratory birds to determine whether or not they are disseminators of certain viral diseases which afflict man.

The unusual feathers are not natural. They were attached to the backs of the birds to make visual observations easy. The marked birds include orchard orioles, catbirds, indigo buntings and other species. Some were released in British Honduras and others in Louisiana.

One objective of the study is to make as many observations and/or recoveries of these marked birds in the United States as possible.

If one of the marked birds is observed, your findings, including data on location, date, habitat, weather and other facts should be reported to the Arborvious Unit, Communicable Disease Center, Atlanta, Georgia 30333. More important, if you learn of the whereabouts of a marked bird which might be investigated, immediate notification should be made.

This study is just another example of how scientists and citizens work together to get information needed for the good of all.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts Johnleft Thursday night for Beaumont, where they will attend the graduation of their son, Roberts Johnson, Jr., from Lamar College of Technology.

Views From Hewes

Police Chief Robert Hewes

The Prowler, a Community Menace

The detection and apprehension of prowlers, more often than not, prevent the commission of a more serious crime. This article will try to highlight this problem and some points in dealing with it.

One of the most dangerous of all criminals is the prowler. His intentions cannot be defined because of the differences in each call received. Calls complaining are very rare here in Rockport in the winter but increase in the summer time. Each prowler call has to be investigated and we must try to apprehend the prowler.

The danger of the lurking prowler is the uncertainty, whatever he sees may determine his actions. He may be only a Peeping Tom, but this could lead to a more serious crime. He may be a thief, seeking to gain what does not belong to him in any manner he may obtain things, he may have a unhappy home life and just Peep to see how others live.

He may also be the type we call the sex offender. This type of prowler is usually looked upon as harmless, but is he always harmless? Definitely not, sometimes he may have a dangerous potential. Sometimes he resorts to assault and rape.

The child molester type prowler is one of the worst in my book. His prey is the small child and hangs around where children congregate. He may be from 10 to 70 years old and is hard to define. Definite instructions to children to parents as what to do if approached by strangers with generous offers is one of the best ways known to combat this type.

On noticing or suspecting a prowler call the police right away, do not turn on lights in the house and above all try to be calm.

Mike Johnson, son of Mrs. Joe Johnson, will be home Wednesday, from Texas A&M University.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS
By Vernon Sanford

The common American bear may be cinnamon, chocolate, brown or black in color. But, correctly speaking, all are Black Bears.

Largest fish is the Whale Shark. Smallest is a Goby. The latter is less than an inch long.

Bats rest during the day, hanging upside down in caves, under cliffs and in trees. At dusk, they fly out to feed on insects.

Horned lizards often bury themselves in the sand. Then they change the color of their bodies to match the color of the sand as they lie in wait for their prey. They can change from dark to light, and back again, in a few minutes.

Not all so-called beavers are found in water and have webbed feet. The mountain beavers, or sewellels, found in the mountains of Oregon, Washington and northern California never go near the water. They have neither webbed feet nor flat tails. Futhermore they are no more given to felling trees and building dams or houses than are rabbits.

* * *

Spittlebugs also are called froghoppers because the adults hop about from plant to plant and seldom fly.

Alewife, a member of the herring family, is used for oil and feed products.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father, Mr. Thomas Webb.

Miss Carolyn Washington was maid of honor. She wore a full skirted dress of pink sheer with matching head piece and carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

A. J. Nickens, father of the groom was best man.

Mike Webb, brother of the bride and Jerry Wright served as ushers. Miss Sue Armstrong presided at the register.

A1/c Dan Cathey was the soloist "I Love You Truly" and "One God" with Miss Iris Sorenson and Miss Kathy McClellen accompanists.

The reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the Fellowship hall. Miss Sue Armstrong registered the guests, with Miss Claudia Jackson serving the punch and Mrs. Glenn Mundine, aunt of the bride, serving the wedding cake.

What's Going On At Live Oak Country Club

Scotch Foursome — Forty-seven golfers took part in the regular Scotch foursome played Sunday afternoon at Live Oak Country Club.

A ten-under-par took top honors, nine under placed second and there was a four-way tie with eight under for third place. A flip of a coin determined the third place team.

Dr. Neil Kirkham led the first place team. His teammates were Leonard LeBlanc, Flo Stellman, J. R. Fortner andf W. F. FitzSimmons.

Second place team included Tom Moore, J. T. Stellman Jr., Lou McCleese, Roy Rogero, Mike Flinn and Elaine LeBlanc.

Third place team was composed of Speck Howery, Calvin Seals, Mildred Miller, J. G. Richards and J. M. Auten.

Fine scores were recorded in view of the wet condition of the course following last week's welcome rains. The fairways are turfing over nicely due to routine watering and the recent rains.

Due to the Memorial Day weekend, there will be no Scotch foursome next Sunday.

Golf Tip—In proper position for a short pitch shot to the green, the feet are close together in an open stance and the ball is played slightly back of center. The body is almost directly over the ball. This permits better control of the club.

Definitions—Advice is any council or suggestion which could influence a player in determining his play, the choice of a club, or the method of making a stroke. Information on the rules, or local rules is not advice.

Speck Howery,
Pro.

Elect
JOE EARL HUNT
SHERIFF

The office of the Sheriff of Aransas County is but one office among thousands of political offices that make up the finest government in the world; the Democracy of the United States of America.

The reliability of this form of Democratic Government has long since proved itself to be the finest in the world. This fact in itself should be a constant source of pleasure to us in that we accept as everyday luxuries, things that people of many lands will not see for another two centuries, if they ever see them. One of these luxuries is the choice to place in a public office, the one which we think will best serve our city, county, state or nation.

This person must strive for progress without thought of personal gain through his position as an elected official. The monetary compensations provided by our local governments should be sufficient for any true democratic patriot.

As a candidate for Sheriff of Aransas County, the one promise that I will make, and keep, will be to give of myself in any capacity, or asset that I have available; and to put personal gain below patriotism, honesty, progress and fair and impartial law enforcement.

I have begun a two week leave of absence from my position as Chief Deputy Sheriff of Aransas County, under the present administration of Sheriff Virginia Shivers. This is to assure you once again that I am not absorbing any county time for the purpose of furthering my campaign.

I am a member of the First Methodist Church, the Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club, Fire Department, Aransas County Emergency Corps., and am also vitally interested and concerned with our youth organizations.

I have almost 3 years law enforcement experience, all of it locally, dealing with our own problems. Ten months of this experience was gained on the Rockport Police Department and 23 months have been with the Aransas County Sheriff's office.

I am a lifelong resident of Aransas County and also a property owner, and a high school graduate, having graduated in 1953 locally.

LOVE THAT GAS BILL!

Don't you wish all your bills were as small as your gas bill? They don't come much lower. Yet nothing you buy gives you so much for your money as dependable, versatile natural gas.

Gas heats your home in winter and cools it in summer. It cooks your meals and dries your clothes. It refrigerates and freezes food. It keeps plenty of hot water on hand all the time.

And it does all these things for pennies! If gas isn't doing all these tasks around your house, you're paying too much to get them done. Put them on your gas bill—and save!

SHRIMP LANDINGS—

600 pounds, 307,800 pounds, 1,341,100 pounds; and Port Isabel-Brownsville area, 869,900 pounds, 900,000 pounds; 3,969,300 pounds.

Long range trawlers worked waters on the high seas off Mexico and accounted for about 75 per cent of all Texas landings. Vessels made fair to good catches, Farley said, running from 200 to 250 pounds of tails per night from Latitude 24° south to the Tuxpan area, and from 300 to 425 pounds in the waters north of Campeche.

Weather conditions were favorable on all distant grounds.

Trawlers working Texas waters caught about 150 to 200 pounds of brown shrimp per night. Those working off the north Texas coast and off Louisiana reported inshore catches of white shrimp from 200 to 400 pounds per 12 hours effort, Farley said.

Weather conditions along the Texas and Louisiana coasts were highly unsettled during the month, with fresh strong winds restricting vessels to short broken trips.

Landings of blue crabs during the month amounted to 185,000 pounds, almost twice as much as in March, and equal to or above any month since August, 1963. Fishermen were receiving from 5½ to 7 cents a pound for live crabs.

Finfish landings were about the same as in March, hanging around 250,000 pounds. Noteworthy, Farley said, was a sporadic but heavy catch of large red snapper in the Aran-Pass area. These fish were predominantly females, and were located around hulls of three sunken vessels.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Finter and family of St. Louis have been visiting the A. L. Reed family.

Library Starts Summer Schedule Reading Program

The Aransas County Public library has announced that it is cooperating with the school system in instituting a summer reading program for children in the elementary and junior high schools.

According to Mrs. Val Jean Eaton, librarian, as schools close, the library will go on a summer schedule of five days a week instead of three that it has been open during the winter, in order to make it more easily available to those students who wish to avail themselves of the opportunity.

To make it easy for them, and to increase use of the library will be open from 2 until 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, and from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturdays.

Each student that reads a minimum of five books will be awarded a reading certificate during one of the assemblies in September, after school reopens. Students are expected to read on their own grade level and to keep their own reading logs. Also, credit will be given for one book read for each three hours of work done in the library.

"We would like for as many students as possible to participate this summer, and make our reading program a success," Mrs. Eaton said. "Mr. Barre, principal of the junior high school, believes that the students who read during the summer are better prepared for school in September, so we would appreciate it if teachers would encourage their pupils to come in and read."

If any student who wishes to participate would like to ask further questions, Mrs. Eaton said, she will be glad to explain the plan, which is also carried on in cooperation with the State Library, which awards the certificates."

CHURCH OF CHRIST HAD MANY VISITORS

The Rockport Church of Christ had many visitors this past week. Among them were Mrs. James Hall, College Station; Mrs. Thelma Wright, Truth-or-Consequences, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alesandria, San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Townsend, Gary Horne, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gray, all of Rockport; and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Horne and son, Junction.

ARMADILLO HANDICAP—

now and then, and some assorted vegetables," Harper said, "but we're really pinning our faith on a training ration of scorpions and trantulas. You've never seen an armadillo scoot until you've seen one from the brush country that has been rutting these things out from under every log. Those brush country armadilloes are the champs, especially if they can get a few red ants or a handfull of cockroaches now and then. Seems as though these kind'a pep them up, and gets the kinks out of their legs,"

How fast can an armadillo run? Nobody knows for sure, but everyone seems to be agreed that those from the brush country are faster on their feet than armadilloes from the hills.

Ed and his cohorts say it's all a matter of relativity anyhow.

"Sure," said Bob Turk, "not every armadillo is a Man-of-War or Citation. There are fast armadilloes and slow armadilloes; some are undoubtedly of stake caliber, others wouldn't make good selling platers, but we figure if we go into this armadillo racing in a big way, we'll eventually improve the breed and we might even be able to produce a line of thoroughbreds that could show some real speed in the stretch."

A lot of times wild armadilloes, when they're alarmed will jump straight up in the air and light a-running, being able to outdistance most men and dogs. It is on this characteristic that Harper and his minions are relying to start the weird little beasts.

Jack Sanders, who is chairman of the event, has figured out an armadillo starting gate and race course that ought to do the trick if anything will.

In the middle of a series of concentric circles, the fartherest some 25 or 50 feet from the center, there is a box which can be whipped into the air from an overhead pulley. In this the armadilloes are placed by their pulchritudinous handlers, beauties who will compete for the title of Miss Sailorette in a beauty contest on Thursday night, before the Sea-o-rama.

In the bottom of the box is a piece of screen, hooked to an auto battery, when the girls have retired outside of the fence around the track, the starting bell goes off, the armadilloes receive a slight hot foot, and the first one to reach the outside circle is the winner.

Of course, armadilloes eyes are on the sides of their heads and, as they can's see straight ahead, they are apt to progress in a series of zigzag darts, but this should only add zest to the contest.

Sanders says there will be a card of nine races both days. Outside entries will be accepted, he said, and for entry blanks, and further information, contact "Armadillo Race," c/o Rockport Chamber of Commerce, Rockport, Texas.

Benches Given By Students

On Friday afternoon, during assembly four concrete benches were given to the Aransas County Junior High School to honor the 8th grade class of 1963 and the 8th grade class of 1964.

Jody Rouquette, a freshman from the Aransas County High School and past president of the Student Council, presented two benches inscribed with "8th 1963." Ricky Drummond, present Student Council president, received benches in the name of the school and for the benefit of all future students who attend the junior high school.

Ricky Drummond then presented two benches inscribed with "8th 1964" to John Jackson, vice president of the Student Council, to honor the 8th grade that is now finishing that grade. John received the benches in the name of the school and for the future use of students attending the Aransas County Junior High School.
