Life Is A Queer Proposition

Three Noted Americans Die On Same Day; and See What Was Said About Each.

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
Record News Staff

Three men passed on to their final reward this week and the press of the nation carried the stories of their lives and achievements. They died on the same day.

Rudolph Valentino was a very young man. He was called the greatest lover in the history of motion pictures. He made a million dollars in a single year and those who were close to him say that he spent the million in the year that he made it. He was an idol of the movie fans and his pictures were ever the craze of the movie world.

He was only 31. He was born in Italy. He came to America almost penniless and friendless. He had been carefully educated in art and architecture. His ambition was to become a country gentleman and the owner of a country estate. Rudolph Valentino was a man of culture; a man who loved books; a man who loved the clean side of life and he had millions of admirers in every civilized land under the sun were screen favorites and screen masterpieces are known. His passing called for pages in the great newspapers of America.

AWAY down in Maine, Burt M. Fernald died. He was a product of New England, of Maine, where his forebears settled 250 years ago. He was born on a farm that his great-great-grandfather had placed in cultivation. He couldn't walk until he was 6. He had many physical infirmities. As a boy he worked on the rocky farm. He attended school. He won an education. He became a builder and a manufacturer. He told his people that Maine should be the home of dairies and canneries where corn products could be put away.

He built and owned canneries. He established the finest herd of Holsteins in New England. He built and owned telephone lines. Everything he touched was a success. He accumulated a fortune. Then he invaded politics, or rather the political field. He served in the legislature, first as a representative and then as a state senator. He became governor of the commonwealth and succeeded himself. Then, 10 years ago he became a United States senator and he died in harness. All the time that he was engaged in politics he kept a close eye on his business concerns.

* * *

HE was a business man in politics, ever looking after the business interests of Maine and the business interests of the nation. He was a Coolidge type of a republican. He believed in business development and business expansion and that wherever business prospered then all the people prospered. This New England senator, who was born on a rocky farm and then worked his way to the top of the business ladder and again to the top of the political ladder, was given less than a column in the great newspapers of America.

This boy who was born in Italy, who was the greatest lover the screen has known, who had made and spent a million dollars in a single year; the maker of a life on the screen that has no existence in the real world, this greatest lover that the screen has known drew pages of publicity everywhere in death as he had in life after success had crowned him as its own.

AND away down in Maine, Dr. Charles W. Eliot was called to his long home. He was the most famous educator in America. He was president of Harvard at 35. He was president emeritus when he passed away. He had lived a magnificent life and he had lived it well. He had been prominent in the world of education, a leader in the world of education and progress for more than 60 years. His name was a household word in English speaking countries. He was the grand old man of America.

He never made a million dollars in his life, but he had enriched the civilization of the republic to an extent that will be lasting because he was a builder of character, a creator of ideals, an apostle of new and sane thought, ever for sanity in politics, ever for tolerance in religious and civil life, ever for honesty in government, ever for the golden rule in commerce and finance, indeed ever for the best obtainable for the world and its peoples.

A column sufficed for Charles W. Eliot, the grand old man of the educational world and one of the builders of the civilization of today.

CONGRESSMAN KILLED

Political Enemies are Blamed for Assassination

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Dispatches from Colima say that Federal Congressman Jesus Pineda and a companion were assassinated presumably by political enemies who killed them from ambush and escaped undetected.

Here in the capital a pistol battle between rival congressmen was prevented only by the intervention of the federal soldiers who were guarding the chamber of deputies.

AGENT ARRESTED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Charged by government agents with being the confidential secretary of General Enrique Estrada, alleged Mexican revolutionist Jose S. Healy was arrested here today. Federal agents charge Healy with conspiring to violate the neutrality laws.

Gulf Hurricane Hits Louisiana City

60-MILE GALE RIDES IN ON RAIN'S HEELS

Thousands Desert Beach Resort Until Storm Spends Its Fury

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The local weather bureau reported at 9 o'clock tonight that the center of the tropical hurricane which for the past two days has been raging through the Gulf of Mexico was in the neighborhood of New Orleans.

The barometer had reached 29.44 at that time and still was falling while the wind had attained a velocity of 40 miles an hour with occasional gusts of greater velocity.

The fire alarm signal system was put out of commission by the storm and several fires were reported in different sections of the city.

Three passenger trains of the Southern Pacific railway were detained at Avondale when railway officials decided the wind velocity was too great and the river too rough to attempt to send them across the ferries.

HOUSES UNROOFED AT MORGAN CITY.

MORGAN CITY, La., Aug. 25.—(AP)—A 60-mile an hour gale was sweeping Morgan ity at 5 o'clock this afternoon with the wind velocity apparently increasing hourly. The barometer stood at 29.32.

Several houses had been unroofed and long distance telephone and telegraph communication was jeopardized by the high winds. Four inches of rain have fallen during the day.

Ferry communication between Berwick and Morgan City was abandoned earlier in the day when the winds and tide made transporation hazardous.

THOUSANDS MOVE IN FROM BEACHES.

PORT ARTHUR, Texas, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Several thousand persons living along the gulf coast came into Port Arthur and Beaumont Tuesday evening when they received word of the expected storm. When it seemed early in the evening that the storm would strike Sabine and Sabine Pass, the people of that territory, having been through several previous storms, came to Port Arthur and Beaumont by the score. Some loaded their household goods into trucks and others moved their goods to the second floor in order to escape possible water damage.

Following storm warnings in the vicinity of High Island, more than 150 residents of that city and Caplen were brought into Winnie, Stowell and Beaumont. The water was so high that the Santa Fe train traveled only as far as Point Bolivar and passengers for Galveston were transferred to the tug there.

STEAMER SAFE IN SPITE OF STORM.

PORT ARTHUR, Texas, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Sighted off Sabine Bar late Wednesday by the tug Satoco, the schooner Stranger, believed caught in the tropical hurricane, is safe. Radio dispatches received here stated that the small three-masted vessel was riding at anchor awaiting favorable weather before coming into port here. She sailed from Mobile late Friday for this port and ran into the tropical disturbance.

Truck Runs Wild In Hamlin Store

HAMLIN, Aug. 25.—Considerable excitement was caused when a laundry wagon crashed through three plate glass windows of the Barrow Furniture Company's store in the heart of town, running completely inside the store and damaging three suites of furniture and minor pieces. The estimated damages is $3,000 or more. The accident was caused by the driver cranking the motor while the machine was in reverse, ran across the street into the furniture store. He was unable to climb into the front of the car and stop it.

NEW CHIEF NAMED

Canton Mayor Makes Appointment to Succeed Lengel

CANTON, Ohio, Aug. 25.—(AP)—While Stark county's grand jury deliberated today behind a curtain of unprecedented secrecy on the Don R. Mellett murder case, Canton's mayor appointed a new police chief and thereby paved the way for a contemplated clean-up of vice and bootleg rings.

It is expected the jury will deliberate more than a week. John "Jiggs" Wise was promoted from sergeant to chief of police. His appointment at present is temporary, being designated for thirty days beginning today.

Check Sharpster Using Names Of Officials Caught

A man said to have been passing a large number of checks to which the names of prominent Wichita Falls officials were signed was arrested Wednesday night by Constable C. L. Bradford and Deputy Constable Wade Taylor after a search that has extended for two months or more. He is believed to have obtained perhaps as much as $200 during his long period of activity.

Mayor R. E. Shepherd, Constable Bradford and former Constable Frank Morgan are three persons known to have been victimized. Checks purported to have been signed by each of the three men have been presented at local business houses and accepted, cash being returned in change after some small articles were purchased.

The man's policy, the officers declared, was to go into a store, make a small purchase and present the check in settlement of the bill. At a bakery shop where he bought about $2 worth of bread he told the proprietor he was going on a fishing trip with several officials and had been delegated to buy bread for them. A check for $10 bearing a signature presumed to be that of the mayor, was handed over in payment and accepted without question.

After his arrest the man admitted he had passed three checks on Bradford in recent weeks. One of these was at a local garage for $10.80; another at a music store for the same amount and another at a drug store for $8.50. He further made admissions. Bradford and Taylor said, of passing the checks on Mayor Shepherd and Mr. Morgan.

Most of the checks, it was said, were made out on a typewriter with the exception, of course, of the signature. They were then endorsed on the back in favor of the payee.

He was taken in custody at a residence in the 1900 block, Fifth street, and is being held in the county jail pending filing of formal charges against him Thursday morning.

KATY FIGHTS M-P PURCHASE

Will Oppose to Utmost Attempt to Buy S. A. Southern

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The Missouri Pacific railroad's announced intention to purchase the San Antonio Southern, short line operating between Kirk and Christine and into San Antonio over the International Great Northern tracks, will be contested by the Missouri-Kansas-Texas before the interstate commerce commission.

In making this announcement Wednesday, Charles N. Whithead, president of the Katy system, in a telegram to Walter Walthal, executive general agent of the Katy in San Antonio, said his company will resist to the utmost all plans for acquisition of the San Antonio Southern.

The Katy railroad now has a surveying crew in the fields between San Antonio and a point on the Texas-Mexican railroad. Some of this territory is now served by the San Antonio Southern.

U. S. Expenditures To Be Reduced

PAUL SMITH'S, N. Y., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The total proposed expenditures by the government in the fiscal year 1928 will be considerably below the actual expenditures for 1927, perhaps by a quarter of a billion dollars. Chairman Madden of the house appropriations committee said today.

While the Illinois representative did not go into details after discussing the appropriation situation for next year with President Coolidge, he said, the government would not be confronted with as heavy outlays as was the case this year on the postal pay increase voted two years ago or on the soldiers bonus and other special items, which in the fiscal year 1927 have placed an extra burden on the government of $300,000,000.

U. S. Sends Fighting Ships To Nicaraqua

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The navy was called on today by the state department to protect American interests in Nicaragua where another revolution has developed.

As a result orders were issued for the dispatch of two American war ships to the Nicaraguan ports of Blue Fields and Corinto. Selection of the vessels for duty there was left to Rear Admiral Latimer, in command of the special service squadron in central American waters.

SMUGGLERS EVADE AIRPLANE ATTACK.

MANAGA, Nicaragua, Aug. 25.—(AP)—An unsuccessful airplane attack by American flyers was made today on a gun running vessel flying the Mexican flag.

Arms and men were landed by the vessel 80 miles northwest of Corinto, Nicaragua, chief sea port on the Pacific coast.

$3,500 PAYROLL THEFT

Four Men Hold Up Supply Company Executive

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Four men in a touring car today held up and robbed Morris Rosenberg, proprietor of the Missouri Supply company, at Cement City, this county, of $3,500 he was taking to the store for cashing checks.

Several shots were fired by the men, one or more of which hit a Mexican who was riding with Rosenberg.

DESTROYERS TO NICARAGUA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Two American destroyers will be sent to the Nicaraguan ports of Bluefields and Corinto because of the revolutionary outbreak in that country.

BOOZE AGENTS PAID BREWERY

Many Arrests Expected As Result of Liquor Seizures

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Two San Antonio men were arrested, and several other arrests were expected Wednesday night in connection with the seizure of large quantities of beer in the San Antonio warehouse of the New Braunfels Brewery Company and the raiding of the brewery at New Braunfels by federal prohibition agents under the direction of Major H. H. White, regional prohibition administer, and N. A. Butler, county administrator for the San Antonio district.

A squad of San Antonio agents under direction of Baker took charge of the brewery at noon Wednesday, according to reports received here by White. At an early hour Wednesday night, detailed reports of the New Braunfels raid had not been received at the local office, he said.

$455,600 FOR HEALTH

Department Presents Budget to Board of Control

AUSTIN, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The health department Wednesday presented its budget to the board of control for the next biennium, requesting $455,600, an increase of $233,540 over the amount apropriated for the present biennium. The increase requested represents larger salaries, more employes, additional equipment, more money for general maintenance and larger sums for travelling expenses. This was the last state department to submit a budget.

PERMIT TO PARADE

Washington Commissioners Grant Plea of Klan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—A permit to parade without masks September 13 has been granted by the District of Columbia commissioners to the ku klux klan.

The application for the permit brought protests from negro organizations, but white groups opposed to the klan's principles and activities made no effort to block the permit. The order plans to conduct a demonstration similar to one staged last year.

STOCK FEEDS HOLD GREAT FARM FUTURE

Chillicothe Field Day Shows Wichita Valley Visitors What Can Be done

Northwest Texas will eventually become one of the greatest stock feeding centers in the world and the Wichita irrigated valley will be a district unequalled for the production of feed stuffs, excelling in point of production that great corn centers of the middle west, were the statements proven as facts at the annual field day of the Chillicothe experiment farm which was held early this week. More than 350 farmers and county agents, 27 of whom were from Wichita county, attended the meet and were given a complete exhibition and series of lectures on the progress of different experiments at the farm, County Agent Guy R. Jones and Agricultural Agent M. B. Oates of the F. W. & D. railway company were also present.

The main feature of the exhibition was the progress made in the breeding and acclimating of grain sorghums. It has been conclusively proven, through years of experiments and breeding at the farm, that grain sorghums such as produced in northwest Texas, are equal, pound for pound, to the best corn, and since grain sorghums can be produced in abundance and economically in this are, there is no reason why it should not develop into the greatest stock feeding center in the world, the farmers declare.

Years of Experiments.

The breeding and development of grain sorghums has been the principal aim and occupation of the Chillicothe station for many years.

Identity Of Bomb Maniac Clouded

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The name of the perpetrator of the fatal bomb explosion in the Farmers Deposit Savings bank remained a mystery tonight after two possible identifications had proven erroneous.

The most important development of the day was the location of the note in which the bomber yesterday afternoon made his demand for $2,000 and the threat to blow up the bank if he did not get it. The note revealed that the man carried fifty sticks of dynamite in a little satchel.

Crowds milled through the morgue today eager for a glimpse of the bomber's mangled body and so numerous did the curious become that morgue officials were forced to conceal the body from view.

INJUNCTION DENIED

Ku Klux Klan Petition Turned Down For Labor Day

GALVESTON, Texas, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The mandatory injunction asked by ku klux klan number 36 of Galvestion in connection with plans for a parade here in September this afternoon was denied by Judge Leo. C. Brady in fifty sixth district court. The injunction sought to compel the chief of police to issue a parade permit and restrain members of the city commission from interferring.

COUNTY'S AID SCHOOLS

25 States Show This Form of Educational Support

FORT WORTH, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Twenty five of the more progressive states of 45 replying to a questionnaire sent out by J. M. Bledsoe, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, have adopted the county wide tax system for the support of the public schools, the Texas Outlook, association publication will say in its September number out Thursday.

Your Fall Wardrobe--Free

Style Contest Conducted By The Record News to Mean Valuable Trade for Somebody; Three Prizes in Merchandise Will be Given Away

The Record News is announcing this morning a novel prize contest in which prizes aggregating over $100 will be awarded to ladies living in this section for the best style letters.

From now until the seventh of September the Record News will contain, among its advertisements, various fall style announcements from the leading stores of Wichita Falls. Readers are invited to read these advertisements daily until they have selected a complete fall wardrobe. When their selections are complete they may write a newsy letter to the style editor of the Record News setting forth their selections in an entertaining and instructive manner.

Names of stores from which various articles are selected must be given as well as the date the merchandise was offered. This mental shopping tour and the selection of an imaginary fall outfit will provide no end of pleasure to the woman who likes to shop and make stylish selections.

Date and style information may be obtained only from the advertisements in the Record News. The first prize of $75 in trade, good at any store in Wichita Falls, the second prize of $25 and the third of $12.50, will furnish inspiration for hundreds of shoppers to compete for these splendid prizes.

The contest opens this morning and closes Tuesday night, September 7. The only requirements attached to sending in a letter is that the sender must reside in northwest Texas or southwestern Oklahoma. The number of letters a contestant may send in is not limited, although in the selection of the winners, only one from each contestant will be considered.

Read the advertisements in the Record News this morning and every morning until this contest is over. Watch for the new fall style suggestions and make your selections as your own taste dictates.

Ferguson Pardon Record Assailed At Moody Rally

John Boyle of San Antonio Goes Into Detail On Clemency

A vigorous denunciation of the Ferguson regime in the Texas state administrative affairs marked a rally in behalf of Dan Moody's candidacy for governor at Bellevue park Wednesday night. A crowd, estimated at 1,200, attended and heard John Boyle, prominent Catholic layman of San Antonio score the Ferguson administration on a dozen counts—the highway contracts, failure to keep political promises, "proxy" governing, alleged demagoguery in campaigning and its pardon record.

It was upon the last of these—the administration's pardon record—that the speaker trained his heavy artillery. "A stand against the unconscionable liberation of criminals from the state penal institutions is of more importance than a vote for Dan Moody," he declared. "It presents an issue bigger itself than the issue of whether or not you will vote for good government."

Assails Rangel.

The liberation of General Jose Manuel Rangel and five companions, former Mexican revolutionists, by Mrs. Ferguson last Friday was termed by the speaker as an opening of the doors of the state penitentiary for six "red-handed murderers to walk out." The comparison drawn by Mrs. Ferguson in her pardon proclamation between Rangel and his companions and Travis, Bowie and Crockett, was characterized as an insult to the heroes of the Alamo.

The speaker charged that 37 "rapists" had been released by Mrs. Ferguson from the penitentiary during the first seventeen months of her tenure of office, and he cited an instance where a school teacher in a border town had been incarcerated for alleged incidents in connection with certain of his pupils. He stated that James

Lockhart Woman Ends Life In Kan.

PARSONS, Kan., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The body of Mrs. L. P. Reed, 36, Lockhart, Texas, was found in the Neosho river at Humboldt today. An 18-pound stone was tied about her neck and a rope around her body with one end fastened to a tree at the water's edge.

Mrs. Reed and her three small sons arrived in Humboldt several days ago to visit her sister, Mrs. Jess Van Nice.

BUSINESS GLOOMY

They Settle Down to Wait Out Religious War

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The business men of Mexico with undisguised gloom, are settling down with whatever philosophy and resignation they can muster to what seems to be an indefinite continuance of the stalement in the religious situation.

There is still hope that somehow a solution may be found but so far as tangible facts are concerned nothing has occurred of late to substantiate that hope.

CAPITOL GETS SCRUBBING

Veterans Say It's The First Time In 20 Years

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 25.—(AP)—For the first time in many years, according to veteran state policemen at the capitol building, the first floor of the state house is being given a thorough scrubbing. The scrubbing is being done in sections at night.

One watchman said he had been on duty 20 years and this was the first time he had ever seen it done.

MAN INJURED IN OIL FIELD

Walter Sheets of Burk Is Hit By Falling Sucker Rod

BURKBURNETT, Aug. 25.—(Special).—Walter Sheets was seriously injured Wednesday afternoon while pulling rods on the Grace Oil company well at Bridgetown. The rod fell from the pulling machine and struck him on the head. The scalp was cut and the skull indented.

He was given first aid and then sent to the General hospital at Wichita Falls in the Collier ambulance for further surgical attention.

Mr. Sheets is married and lives at Thrift, a few miles northwest of Burkburnett.

KILLED IN TRUCK.

Frightened Race Horse Kicks off Motor, Man Dies.

FREDERICKSBURG, Texas, Aug. 25.—(AP)—When a frightened race horse kicked the switch key, cutting off the motor, the truck in which it rode got out of control and overturned, desulting in the death of Fred Baskin, 58, veteran horse trainer near here today.

Several horses were in the truck and as it turned over they leaped out. One struck Baskin in the head with its hoof and death was instantaneous. The horses were being taken from the Fredericksburg fair grounds to San Saba.

CAN'T DRAW PAY.

Tariff Commissioners Must First Be Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—E. B. Brossard and Sherman J. Lowell, members of the tariff commission who were given recess appointments by President Coolidge after congress failed to act on their nominations, can not draw pay until they have been confirmed by the senate, Comptroller General McCarl has ruled.

Mr. McCarl relied upon the law which declares no appointee can be paid salary for a recess appointment if the vacancy existed during the session of congress.

Arnstein-Murphy Start In Business

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The Chicago Daily News said today that sumptuous offices of an electric sign concern in New York are headquarters of a newly formed partnership of a New Yorker and a Chicagoan who have received much publicity—Jules ("Mickey") Arnstein and Timothy (Big Tim) D. Murphy.

Their widely separated careers have had one similarity. Each has served a prison term in connection with stolen securities. Arnstein was involved in the disposal of some $5,000,000 of stolen bonds in the east, while Murphy was convicted of a dominant connection with the Dearborn station $350,000 mail robbery here in 1919.

BEES CHASE WORKERS.

San Antonio Workmen Routed When Tree Is Cut Down.

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Robbed of their hollow tree, enraged honey bees routed scores of city laborers Wednesday causing a temporary halt in the San Antonio river widening project. The trouble started when the tree in which the bees stored their honey was felled. Bees, hundreds strong, swarmed out of the tree and settled down on the heads of startled workmen. Picks and shovels were thrown aside by the men in their mad flight.

PIONEER IS DEAD.

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—John T. Coates, 87, pioneer resident and former Texas ranger, died at the family residence Wednesday. A native of Alabama ad a Confederat veteran, Mr. Coates came to Texas in 1861 and later became one of Terry's Texas rangers.

THE LURE OF THE ROAD

20,000 FIGHT FURIOUSLY AT SIDE OF BIER

Valentino's Manager Says All Respect For Dead Is Destroyed

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Because of the disorder and rioting of the last two days the public will be barred after midnight from viewing the body of Rudolph Valentino as it lies in state in a funeral parlor, S. George Ullman, the dead star's manager, made this decision today when he arrived at the funeral establishment to find a mob of 20,000 struggling furiously with police in an effort to get into the building. Since late yesterday afternoon, when the doors of the parlor were first opened to the public, the fighting, noisy throng has endeavored to view the body and a number of persons have been seriously injured. "This has gone far enough," Mr. Ullman said. "The last of reverence shown by the crowds, the disorder and rioting since the body was first shown have forced me to this decision."

Mr. Ullman added that there will be no great funeral cortege Monday when the body is removed to St. Malachi's Catholic church for services.

"There will be only a hearse to bear the casket," he said, "and one or two automobiles to carry intimate friends."

Women predominated in the crowd that flocked by thousands and stood outside the parlors in the rain today until they could pass inside to view the body of the man who rose from dishwasher to the original "sheik" of the movies.

At 20 she falls in her business course, to the disgust and disappointment of MOMS, her mother. When her father die sshe takes a job in LILLIE DALEE'S beauty shop. At that time she is having the first real love affair of her life. The man in the case is TONY GAINES, a serious-minded young lawyer, who wants to marry her.

One night Merry, in a fit of jealous rage because Tony is spending the evening with his mother, lets DERRICK JONES make love to her, just by way of "getting even" with Tony. Later she goes out with a new man, BILL ERSKINE, a wealthy bachelor. When Tony hears about it he stops seeing her, and later Merry hears that he has gone to Montana. A letter comes from hi mto her, but is lost in the house before she has a chance to se it. However, she returns his ring and tries to forget him.

Helen, her oldest sister, marries BILL HEPWORTH. CASSIE marries MORLEY KAUFMAN, a rich broker with whom she quarels constantly and JINNY, the youngest sister, anexes DERRICK JONES.

Bill Erskine becomes a devoted suitor. He travels for a paint firm, and he sends Merry lovely gifts all along his road. He lends her the money to buy a share in the beauty shop. Lillie moves into the house as a boarder and when she sees Bill's picture she tells Merry she used to know him at Palm Beach, years before. At that time she says he was por and a fortune hunter. But Mery feels sure that Lillie is wrong about Bill. She knows he is no fortune hunter or he would yeong'nt Xtthnni manse r rMfMohrd not be wasting his time on a poor girl like her. When he comes to see her she decides to find out if he is realy serious in his intentions, and she tells him everyone is asking if she's engaged to him or not. Instead of answering her Bill flys into a rage and says it's no one's business whether their engaged or not.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER XXXI

Merry was furiously angry. But there was never anything sweeter and more gentle than her voice when she answered Bill.

"You don't need to get so peeved, Billy-Boy," she said softly. "You know how it is—I never go out with any man but you. I haven't for nearly a year. So Isn't it only natural that people think I am going to marry you?"

In the violet dusk her eyes were wide and shadowy and apealing. Her face, as she lifted it to his, was as frank as a wide-open morning glory. She was al innonce and shyness.

Within Was Not the Ring She Had Expected, But a Platinum Bracelet

She looked like anything but a girl who is doing her best to jockey a man into proposing to her. But that is exactly what she was trying to do—and Bill Erskine knew it! Girls had tried to "land" him in their nets before.

"Yeah, that's just the trouble," he growled in a disgusted tone. "Just the minute a man looks at a girl everybody starts wondering when he's going to marry her. It makes me sick!"

"Im sorry I make you sick," Merry answered with tears in her voice," but it's hard on me to have to tell people we're not engaged, when we've been going togteher so long—" Her voice broke in a dry sob.

The plain truth was no one had ever asked her whether she was going to marry Bill Erskine or not. Moms and Cassie were the only people who ever mentioned him to her.

But Merry, herself, had made up her mind that it was high time that her and Bil came to some kind of an understanding.

She was 21 and not geting any younger. By next year she knew she wouldn't be quite so young, so fresh or so desirable in Bill Erskine's eyes.

For he was the type of man who worships beauty and is moved only by youth. The type of man who goes to a musical comedy to study the chorus girls. The type of man who would rather talk to a young Dumb Dora than to the wittiest woman on earth, if she were over 40. And Merry knew it.

She saw Bill Erskine exactly as he was, and she was fond of him anyway. Moreover she felt that it was just plain common sense to marry him.

As assie pointed out, he would make any girl a good husband. He might be over 40 and disagreeable at times. But usually he was good-natured, easy going and kind.

Then, too, he was the soul of generosity——at least where Merry was concerned. Never did a week go by when he did not send her some kind of a gift.

When he came to town he bought her orchids, took her for long drives in hired limousines and took her to die at the most expensive places. Nothing was too good for her.

the evening with his mother, lets

"What other man," she often asked heself, 'would have let me borrow a thousand dollars without giving him a scrap of paper to show that I'd borrowed it?"

She had come to care for Bill in a quiet, passionless way.

Not at all in the way she had cared for Tony Gaines, it is true. She never expected to feel about any man as she had once felt about him.

The time of romantic adventure and love for her was gon eforever. It had gone with Tony Gaines as it had come with him that day a year ago when she had first laid eyes on him among the nooday crowds of Fir street.

And so, with her eyes wide open, she was setting out to marry Bill Erskine just as many another girl has cooly set out to marry a man. For a home and a living and lukewarm affection.

"You know, Bill," she said turning to him, "you know I hate to talk this over with you. But what can I do? I've got to know where I stand with you. Even Moms is always scolding me for letting you take up my time. She says I ought to go around with other men besides you, unless you mean business."

She sighed deeply.

"But I don't want to go around wit hany other man, Bill," she went on in a voice that was as smooth as Honey.

She laid her hand on his shoulder and gave him a long slow, sullen sweet kiss. Then another—and still another.

"No one but you, Billy-Boy," she whispered, her soft lips against his.

She felt his big arms go around

AUGUST SALE OF MORE THAN 250

NEW FALL AND WINTER COATS

BEGINS THIS MORNING

A Sale very similar to the one we held last August, with the exception that we will offer in addition a great Special Purchase.

Luxurious Fur Coats

Garments whose Style, Price and Quality are incentives for you to buy your Fall and Winter Coat during the month of August.

Our Coat Sale last August was such a pronounced success that we have had numerous requests to inaugurate another coat sale this year.

The critical condition in New York and other markets, due to the garment strike, and the extreme scarcity of Coats due to the strike conditions would have prevented us holding this August event had it not been for our special arrangements with the manufacturers.

Most of these coats are original models, submitted by the designers to the manufacturers from which samples were made. Consequently they are specially designed and carefully constructed, embodying the best of tailoring and finished with extra fine linings and carefully selected furs—Styles are new and different, revealing many new ideas in Coats so popular this season.

Special Notice To Charge Customers

If you so desire, your coat purchase in this sale will be entered on October accounts. Statements rendered November 1.

Travel Coats—Sports Coats—Coats for General Wear

Fine imported Sports Material in English Tweeds, Scotch Plaids—Shown in clever color combinations—Coats also in such materials as

FORTUNA, VIVETTE, VELOUR, NEEDLEPOINT, KASHMIRELLA AND LUSTROSA

FUR TRIMMING OF FITCH—BEAVER—SQUIRREL—LYNX—FOX—WOLF AND SEAL

Regular Sizes—Sizes for Small Women—Quarter Sizes for Larger Women
The Athletic Figure type can now be perfectly fitted from this very unusual collection of styles and sizes.

Cloth Coats Specially Priced

$29.75 to $150.00

A Saving of $10.00 to $50.00 on Each Coat

Beautiful Fur Coats

Correct in Line and Pelt, portraying the mode for winter at prices made possible by early and Judicious buying.

In this group of Fur Coats we show only Pelts that have been accepted as the vogue for this season—All carefully selected as to shade and blend. This Sale of Fur Coats offers you an opportunity to purchase exquisite garments at much less than their real worth—Here are the Pelts:

Cocoa Squirrel with Fox Collar.
Brown Kid Caracul with Fox Collar.
Grey Kid Caracul with Fox Collar.
Hudson Seal with Cocoa Squirrel Collars and Cuffs.
Sealine with Cocoa Squirrel Collars and Cuffs.
Grey American Broadtail.

PASTOR KILLED BY RELATIVE

"Unwritten Law" to Be Defense of Missouri Husband

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Rev. Edward Gillum, 40, who has been conducting evangelistic services at Sheridan, Mo., was killed last night by his brother-in-law, W. R. Leffler, local contractor. The fight took place at Leffler's home here.

Leffler used an Indian club to kill Rev. Gillum. The "unwritten law" will be Leffler's defense.

According to Leffler's statement to the police, he returned home and found Rev. Gillum in the front room. According to his version, Rev. Gillum has been trying to "wreck" his home. As he entered the room, he said Rev. Gillum reached for his hip pocket. Leffler grabbed an Indian club and crushed his skull.

her, straining her close to him in the warm, scented summer darkness. And she clung to him her face against his coat sleeve.

"Little sister, when I first knew you, you said you wouldn't marry the best man alive," he began, and all the resentment was gone out of his voice.

She knew from the very sound of his voice that she had won her point, and she held her breath, waiting for him to go on.

"So I took you at your word," he said. "And I was glad in a way, because I'm not exactly the marrying kind myself. But if you've changed your mind and want to get married, it's all right with me. You know I'm crazy about you and I'll do anything you want me to do. Only a man hates to feel that a girl's trying to marry him. He hates to feel that he's being roped in."

Still Marry said nothing. She knew that she had said all there was to say.

There are times when silence is more precious than gold, and this was one of those times.

She let Bill go on talking, and when he left her under the willow tree at the gate that night he was an engaged man.

She stood there, watching the taillight of his hired car vanish down the street and thought of a night a year ago when she had watched Tony's blue roadster disappear into the night.

Life had seemed to open up before her, in a wonderful rainbow vista, then—. But it wasn't nearly so wonderful now as she had expected it to be.

She tried to look ahead of her into the years, and could see nothing but cut-and-dried marriage with Bill Erskine. Nothing so fine, so thrilling and so wonderful in that! It was a pretty bleak outlook, as a matter of fact.

But with a little laugh she turned and went into the house.

"I guess I'd laugh, no matter what happened," she said to herself, as she mounted the narrow staircase in the darkness. "If I didn't laugh, I'd cry."

She wondered why she felt so blue and down-cast. She had done the thing she had set out to do. She had pinned Bill Erskine down to a proposal of marriage.

And even if she wasn't in love with him there was no one else with whom she was in love. Then why should she feel as if getting engaged to Bill was cutting herself off from all the gay and happy and worth-while things of life? She couldn't have told why to save her soul.

But her heart was like lead in her breast, as she stood before the mirror in her nightgown, brushing her bright hair and getting ready for bed.

"I guess I don't know what I want," she finally made up her mind, lying awake in the dark, hott litle room under the eaves.

"Well, I've put it over at last. Bill's going to marry me in September," she told Moms the next morning at breakfast.

"September, Moms repeated acidly, as she poured hot water into her coffee. "Thats a long way off. There's many a slip between June and September. Did he give you a ring?"

Merry shook her head. "No, but he's going to send me one," she answered. "He had to leave town last night on a late train."

Three days later she found a little square package waiting for her on the hall table when she came home at night.

"I suppose this is my engagement ring!" she said breathlessly to Moms, who had come running out of the kitchen at the sound of the screen slamming.

She tore off the brown paper wrappings with impatient fingers, and opened the little white box inside of them.

Within it was not the solitaire diamond ring that she had expected, but a platinum bracelet.

It was a beautiful piece of jewelry, thickly crusted with tiny diamonds. In the center of it was set the smallest of small Swiss watches.

Puzzled, Merry looked at it, her poppy red mouth pursed up thoughtfully. Then she looked up at Moms questioningly.

There was a bitter smile on Moms' face.

"Quite a nice engagement ring, Merry," she observed. "It's the first time I've ever heard of giving a watch for an engagement present!" She had nothing but scorn for the beautiful watch bracelet.

"The jeweler must have sent the wrong piece of jewelry," Merry said frowning. "This watch must belong to someone else—and my ring has probably gone to the person the watch was intended for."

But there was no mistake about it. The next morning came a letter from Bill Erskine.

"I am sending you a watch bracelet," he wrote. "It's about the prettiest thing of the kind that I ever saw, and I knew that you did not have a watch. "I'll see you soon, Bill."

He made no mention of the ring he had promised her. Neither did he mention their engagement, nor send his love to her.

"Funny,' 'thought Merry, turning the short, crisp little note over and over in her hands. "He said he was going to send a ring, I know." They had even talked it over, and she had told him she wanted a square diamond set in platinum.

She did not hear from him again for 10 days, and then he did not write. He sent her a five-pound box of dried fruits, with his card in it.

Merry turned up her dainty little nose at them, but Moms and Lillie enjoyed them enormously, and Lillie gained two more pounds before the box was empty.

"What's the matter with you, Lydia Languish?" Jinny asked Merry one Sunday afternoon in late August. "You look as blue as the bay of Naples."

They were sitting behind the currant bushes in the back yard so that Jinny could smoke without Moms seeing her. She took a cigaret from her little leather case now, tossed it into the air and caught it between her lips.

"Well, I am blue, too," Merry confessed with a long, unhappy sigh. "Here it is the last week in August and I haven't heard from Bill for two weeks. We are going to be married the first of September—but I'm afraid to go ahead and buy my wedding dress and make plans for a wedding. He acts as if we weren't even engaged, lately."

Her lovely, apple-blossom face was dark with discontent, and she kicked the grass with her sharp little French heels, as she talked.

"Sometimes I think that men don't ever want to be married," she went on irritably. "Just think how hard Cassie worked for years to get Morley Kaufman to the point where he'd marry her—"

"Oh, banana oil!" Jinny broke in, in her quick sudden little way. "Of course men want to get married just the same as girls do! The trouble with Cassie and Morley Kaufman was that Morley wasn't crazy about her. He didn't want to marry Cassie, but Cassie just wore him down—and now look at 'em! They fight like cats and dogs all the time. If this Erskine doesn't want to marry you, for Pete's sake let him go. You don't want to live the way Cassie does, do you?"

Merry shrugged her shoulders, and bit a long blade of grass in two.

"Oh, I don't know," she answered with a yawn. "I know I'm terribly sick of that beauty shop and Lillie's chit chat all day long. I wish I'd never gone into the place.

It seemed a good thing to go into a year ago.

But you can get too much of even a good thing, when you have it day in and day out. Too much of the insistent telephone. Too much of the vain, foolish middle-aged women customers who wanted to be bobbed and massaged and cold-creamed into a semblance of their lost youth.

Merry was sick of the shop, to the point of nausea.

What she wanted now was to get married and live the way Cassie lived. She wanted to dress the way Cassie and Muriel Kaufman dressed. She wanted to spend her mornings shopping and her afternoons playing bridge—as Cassie and Muriel spent them.

In short, she had reached that dangerous time when a girl wants to marry and settle down. That time when nothing looks so good to her as a plain platinum wedding ring, and the word "Mrs." engraved on her calling cards.

And all she had was the beauty shop, the gloomy house, Lillie and Moms, and an occasional letter from Bill Erskine.

"I wonder what he thinks he's doing to me!" she thought, with a sudden flareup of anger. "I wonder if he thinks he can ask me to marry him and then forget all about it! I'll show him!"

She scrambled up from the grass, where she was lying flat on her stomach, and ran into the house for paper and fountain pen. She would write to Bill Erskine that very afternoon! She would ask him for a list of people to whom he'd like to send wedding announcements!

"That," she said to herself, biting the end of her pen, "ought to get some sign of life out of him, certainly!"

Why did Merry write to Bill, and why didn't she mail the letter? You will find out in tomorrow's installment of "The Petter."

CALIFORNIA SWELTERS

Interior of State in Grip of Severe Heat

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The interior of southern California sweltered through the hottest day of the year yesterday. Temperatures in San Bernardino county were San Bernardino 111; Colton 112; Ontario 111; Redlands 108.

There was no damage to crops. The situation has been much relieved, however, by a cool night last night. The minimum last night was 57 degrees.

SOCIETY

Division Two Christian Council Have Picnic

Members of the Highland Heights Womans Council of the First Christian church and their families met at Scotland Park from 5:30 to 8 o'clock and enjoyed a most delightful picnic.

Following a brief business session in which Mrs. G. R. Ellis gave the devotionals, readings were given by Grace Sims and Margaret Bell.

A basket luncheon was served to about 45.

Luncheon To Take Place of Breakfast

Luncheon will be served at 12 o'clock at the Country club to members of the Womans Golf Association and their guests, instead of the breakfast at 9:30 as has been the custom during the summer. This arrangement will continue as before throughout the fall and winter, it is announced.

Former Local Teacher Weds At Bonham

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Conway Crider of Bonham, to Joseph Carroll Hester of Iowa Park, the ceremony taking place Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents in Bonham.

Misses Joe Elizabeth Hill and Floy Rheubacker of Wichita Falls acted as bridesmaids. The bride was connected with the city schools the past two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Hester will make their home in Iowa Park where Mr. Hester is connected with the Iowa Park Oil and Refining Company.

Highland Heights Baptist Picnic

Members of the Highland Heights Baptist Sunday school enjoyed a picnic at Scotland Park Tuesday evening when games were enjoyed and a sumptuous basket luncheon was spread.

There were about 150 present.

BROOKHART ON ALLEN'S TRIAL

Iowan Assails Kansas Governor for Being "Farm Traitor"

WAMEGO, Kan., Aug. 25.—(AP) Colonel Smith W. Brookhart, republican nominee for the senate from Iowa, told a farmers' union picnic audience today that one reason western farmers "cannot get a square deal is because there are springing up constantly statesmen in the west who are traitors to their own communities." He charged that former Governor Allen of Kansas, "seems to have recently joined this class."

An article in a Chicago newspaper representing Mr. Allen as having cited specific instances to show that Kansas is full of successful and prosperous farmers and quoting him as saying that the "present unhappy condition of the Iowa farmer is not the result of poor crops and bad prices, but is due to speculation in a busted real estate boom for which there is no legislative remedy," was made the basis for Colonel Brookhart's attack.

MISSING AIR ACE IS FOUND

Bettis Discovered After Falling On Side Of Mountain

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Lieutenant Cyrus Bettis, army flying ace, missing since Monday, was found alive in the Seven Sister mountains today and is now in the Centre county hospital here in a serious, but not critical condition.

The flier's left leg is broken below the knee, his skull is fractured in two places and he has severe lacerations on the face and head.

The army officer owes his life to his grit. Buried deep in the thick forest here no one could find him or his wrecked plane, Lieutenant Bettis crawled for five and a half hours through the tangled under brush until he came to a roadway where he was later found by two state highway employes.

BIGGEST WELL NOW IN TEXAS

Mid-Continent's Best Is No Longer Located In Oklahoma

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 25.—The Mid-Continent's biggest well is no longer in Oklahoma, but out in west Texas.

It belongs to the Dixie Oil company, the producing subsidiary of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, and is its No. 4 Hughes, in the extreme southwest portion of Upton county.

Early Monday it found a lime sand at 2,180 to 2,200 feet that started off at the rate of 1,000 barrels a day, but steadily increased, and late that day it was gauged and was then doing 390 barrels an hour. Early Tuesday it continued to increase and when 24 hours old was gauged as a 12,000 barrel well, or flowing at the rate of 500 barrels per hour.

Sulphide gas accompanied the oil and one gauger was asphyxiated and two other gaugers were also overcome, but may survive. Several drillers also were rendered ill by the gas.

The Dixie's gusher found the big production at 140 feet lower than any other well in the Upton-Crane area. Its No. 2 Hughes, just northwest of the gusher, had pay around 2,040 feet and is making 2,000 barrels a day now.

Humble Oil and Refining company No. 1 Ricker, one-half mile to the south is below 2,060 feet, and drilling.

The Dixie was not anticipating a gusher well at No. 4 Hughes, and it was compelled to throw up earthen storage to care for the production, while the Humble Pipe Line company made preparations to connect the well to its tanks more than a mile due east.

Independent Oil and Gas company had a 50 barrel well at its No. 4 Wooley, due west of the big well, around 2,060 feet, and it is now deepening it to the 2,180 foot level.

150 Barrel Well Drilled In Late Tuesday At Olney

OLNEY, Aug. 25—The Madden and Hunt No. 4 on the Benson estate in Young county was drilled in for 150 barrels late Tuesday night from 23 feet of sand struck at 850 feet. The well is north of No. 1 and is on the T. E. and L. survey, block 1451. The sand was found 50 feet deeper than that of No. 1.

Patterson Well In At 20 Barrels

ELECTRA, Aug. 25.—W. A. Patterson, well No. 1, L. P. Douglas lease, near the east line of the north side Electra townsite, was completed the past week, making 20 barrels a day, on 1100 foot sand. The rig is now being skidded 30 feet northeast nad being rigged up for a second well on the same lease. This will be the first new production opened up in that neighborhood in the last 12 years. The nearest production being the Oktaha lease which has had small production and shallow sand for several years.

This will probably open up a bunch of new leases, but drilling is not permitted in the townsite, according to a restriction clause in the lot deeds.

Nigger Creek On Production Gain

Tuesday's production of the Nigger Creek pool, west of Mexia, in east central Texas, was 12,251 barrels from 14 wells, compared to 13,078 barrels for Monday and with but 12 wells in and several on top of the sand.

The Transcontinental Oil company, discoverers of the field, has completed its 4 Cogdell, that made 715 barrels the first six hours.

The Texas company has abandoned No. 1 O'Dell, in the northeast part of the field at 3,100 feet in hard lime.

In the south end of the field, Bass and others No. 1 Negro church lot, as abandoned as dry at 2,828 feet.

AMERICAN TURB

The American Refining company et al are drilling below 1300 feet and will look for the sand Thursday morning on their No. 3 Turbeville test, 437 feet south of their No. 2 producer in their new field in block 150 of the Robert Carson survey in Archer county.

ALLDAY, MONTAGUE

The Allday Oil corporation has made location for its No. 1 Howard fee wildcat located in the southeast corner of block 100, Kaufman county school land survey, Montague county, 6 miles north of Bonita and eight miles west of the Hooser producers. The test will go to 2,000 feet.

No. 9 POWELL COMPLETED

ELECTRA, Aug. 25.—G. W. Ridgway, No. 9, Powell north of pavement in Fowlkes district was completed this week from the sand from 1860 to 70 making 60 to 70 barrels a day. The rotary rig is being moved to the Company's new lease one half mile north of Sunshine Hill on the Fostor and Allen ranch. This well will be drilled to the depth of the Clark sand.

GOODING NOMINATED

Idaho Senator Successful In Campaign at Polls

WEISER, Idaho, Aug. 25.—(AP)—United States Senator Frank R. Goodling was renominated as the republican candidate at the general elections in November, at the party's state convention here today.

Burton L. French, Moscow, and Addison T. Smith, Twin Falls, were renominated candidates for the lower house of congress for the first and second Idaho districts.

TWO PROCLAMATIONS

LONDON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The Official Gazette publishes two proclamations signed by King George in council at Balmoral today, one declaring a continuance of the "state of emergency" called into effect during the general strike, and another summoning parliament to convene on August 30.

QUAKE RECORDED

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—An earthquake 7,000 miles away, the direction of which could not be determined, was recorded today by the seismograph at Fordham university. The first shock came at 2:30 a. m. and lasted until 3:20 a. m.

News of The Fields

YOUNG, LOGAN, ET AL

W. C. Young is moving in a rotary rig for his test on the Logan and Van Meter land in south Wichita county and near the old Kemp-Munger-Allen field, one-half mile southeast of Kemp City and located in the southwest corner of block 34, Kemp's Wichita Valley farm land survey.

PARKS-PRIDDY, C'RT'R

Parks and Priddy have abandoned as a dry hole at a depth of 1607 feet their test to the south of the Sunshine State pool in north Archer county on the Carter Bros., fee and located in the southeast corner of lot 12, section 93, ATNCL survey. Sand was tested on this hole from 1563 to 1583 feet which looked good but would not pay off.

BURNS ET AL, TURB

L. T. Burns and the Simms Oil company have tested a sand at 1030-37 feet on their No. 2 Turbeville in block 21, Jefferson county school land survey in Archer county, which is contrary about producing any oil and the test will probably be carried down to the 1070 foot horizon from which the wells in the major pool to the northwest are producing. This test, 300 feet east of the No. 1 discovery well in the same block, had only a small oil showing at 1010 feet from where the No. 1 well is pumping 25 barrels daily.

HUTCINSON COUNTY

One of the Texas Panhandle's largest oil wells is partly owned by J. R. Phillips of Skiatook, a pioneer operator in the Hutchinson county area. The new producer is Heywood-Phillips No. 1 Smith, in section 14, Mary Cummins survey, and had pay from 2,903 to 3,065 feet, and shot with 90 quarts it made 3,500 barrels the first eight hours before it was shut in for tankage and pipe line connections. This output was at the rate of 437 barrels per hour.

The Skelly Oil company of Tulsa, on Tuesday had 235 barrels an hour production from its three producers on its 160 acre Johnson ranch, in section 20, block Y, Hutchinson county. The No. 3 Johnson, that had sandy lime from 2,915 to 2,926 feet, for a fair sized well, was deepened further into the pay from 2,926 to 2,935 feet and its production jumped to 90 barrels an hour.

Its No. 4, was making 60 barrels an hour at 2,960 feet and drilling ahead, while No. 1 was making 85 barrels an hour.

KY., ET AL, WILSON

The Kentucky Oil company and the Rovana Petroleum corporation have a dry hole on their joint test in the southwest corner of block 24, section 118, ATNCL survey, L. F. Wilson land in Archer county, and have poured mud to the hole at a depth of 1458 feet.

CAMP ET AL, ROUNSA'

The Hedrick-Camp Drilling company failed to get a pay sand and is abandoning as dry at 1003 feet its test on the J. J. Rounsaville land, southeast of Antelope in Jack county and located in the northwest corner of the west 40 acres of the south 172 acres of the south 272 acres of the R. Parker survey.

BURNS, REESE

L. T. Burns is drilling at 750 feet on his test on the J. W. Reese land in Archer county in the northeast corner of the south half of block 29, Harris subdivision, about three-quarters of a mile south of the new Simms pool on the Turbeville land.

MARLAND, TURB

The Marland Oil company drilled out the cement plug at 1504 feet on its No. 3 Turbeville, two locations south of that company's No. 1 producer in the new Simms pool in block 172, Carson survey, in Archer county, and after drilling at 1514 feet the hole filled 1000 feet with oil in a short time. More sand will probably be drilled, although the well looks good for 100 barrels at the present depth. No. 2 test, 300 feet north of No. 3 was scheduled to be drilled in sometime Wednesday. Sand was topped on this test at 1510 feet. The same company has set pipe on its No. 3-A Thomas in the Pandem-Thomas field, northwest of Archer City. This test, in the southwest corner of the north 20 acres of block 6, Thomas survey, found the sand at 1164 feet, 11 feet higher than No. 2-A to the east, and a nice producer is expected.

EMPIRE, PARKEY

On the J. R. Parkey land in north Archer county, southwest of Holiday and 300 feet south of their discovery well in the northwest corner of the west half of block 2, abstract 1233, SPRR survey, the Empire Oil and Gas company has set and cemented the pipe at 1728 feet on its No. 2 test and will drill out the plug in the next few days. This test did not have a good oil showing at 1566-73 feet from which depth the No. 1 well is making 20 barrels of oil and 30 barrels of water daily, and the hole was drilled to the deeper sand. The same company has set pipe on No. 1-A Parkey at 1576 feet and will test it soon. This test, in the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 2, approximately one-quarter of a mile south and west of the producer, may make a nice well in the top sand.

OHIO DEMOS ASK ECONOMY

Platform Adopted Without Dissention As Meet Is Adjourned

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Unanimously adopting a platform with economy as its watchward the republican state platform convention today finished its business and adjourned. The entire platform was accepted as presented by the resolutions committee.

Before the fall of the gavel United States Senator Simeon D. Fess, who was chairman, made a last appeal for the re-election of Senator Frank B. Willis, and republican congressional candidates. He declared that unless Ohio returns every one of her present republican representatives there is danger of the congress being controlled by southern democracy.

The platform itself had given strong endorsement to Senator Willis and republican congressmen. Though the platform adopted yesterday by the democratic state convention severely condemned the stae public utilities commission and both Thomas J. Duffy in his keynote speech and Governor Donahey in his address did likewise, the republican platform was silent on the question which promises to be one of the leading democratic issues of the campaign. The republican pronouncement merely pledged the appointment of competent persons to the utilities and other commission.

At The Theatres

Palace Will Show "Police Patrol"

James Kirkwood, Edna Murphy and Edmund Breese head a cast of film favorites in the new Gotham production entitled "The Police Patrol," which will be the headline attraction at the Palace theatre today.

This picture is said to be a most interesting and exciting story of a complicated case which mystified police authorities for some time. The locale of the story is New York and ranges from the haunts of the under world to the heights of society.

The picture was produced under close supervision of the New York Police department and shows, among other interesting scenes, the famous New York Harbor police games, the inner workings of the city burglar alarm system, and many unusual and thrilling scenes. The story is based on actual fact and is an adaptation of the well known play by A. Y. Pearson.

"Eve's Leaves" At Olympic Today

William Boyd, Cecil B. De Mille's popular protege, was chosen as Leatrice Joy's new leading man, and he appears opposite this winsome star in "Eve's Leaves," which comes to the Strand theatre today. This followed his return to Culver City after his marriage with Elinor Fair, Cecil B. De Mille's charming leading woman.

Typical American in appearance with light-brown hair, Boyd makes a splendid foil for the dark-haired Leatrice, and the two provide an entertaining combination. Boyd's rise to leading parts was made under the careful tutelage of Mr. De Mille, who coached him as an "extra" through several pictures, giving him an occasional small part.

With the opening of the production of "The Road to Yesterday," Mr. De Mille decided that Boyd was ready for something big, and he made a real success in the part assigned to him. A lead in "Steel, Preferred," followed, and then he played the title role in "The Volga Boatman," under Mr. De Mille's direction—a part considered one of the greatest Hollywood has thus far provided any screen player.

"Eve's Leaves," which has China for a setting, was written by Elmer Harris and directed by Paul Sloane. The story, it is said, affords both Miss Joy and Mr. Boyd with ample opportunities for the display of their artistry. Miss Joy is seen as a tomboy daughter of a schooner captain, with a romantic turn of mind. Mr. Boyd is the son of a rich man who turns out to be a regular he-man when fate throws him and the girl he loves into the clutches of a Chinese bandit chief, played by Walter Long.

YOUTHS LOOT IRVING BANK

Three Escape With Over $5,000 in Daylight Robbery

IRVING, Texas, Aug. 25.—Three unmasked youths robbed the Irving bank here Wednesday of between $5,000 and $7,000 after backing the officials and one customer into a vault. They escaped in an automobile headed toward Dallas.

The three men walked up to the cage and drew pistols. They ordered A. P. Mauk, vice president and cashier, Fred Hoosier, assistant cashier, and a customer, into the vault at the rear.

Keeping them covered with pistols, the robbers gathered up all the money in the vault and closed the door on the captives. They then collected the money in the drawers and on the counters and threw all the loot into a sack.

Mauk went into the street with a shot gun and attempted to fire into the automobile, but his gun jammed and he could not fire a shot.

A posse was formed and started on the trail. Two carloads of deputy sheriffs started for the scene from Dallas, taking different roads.

About half way between Dallas and Irving, on the Irving road, Deputies Bob Alcorn and Will Hood passed a five passenger car traveling rapidly. It was occupied by three men and a woman and had no number. They gave chase, but though they drove 70 miles an hour, they were unable to catch up with the automobile before it reached the Dallas city limits and disappeared.

Child-birth

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

'CHUTES ABLE TO SAVE PLANE

New Invention May Be Long Step Aboard For Aviation

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Naval observers declared today that complete safety of airplane travel has been assured for the near future as the result of a test made here yesterday in which a giant parachute brought a plane and pilot safely to earth from an altitude of 2500 feet. The ship was lowered from the skies after the engine had been killed and made a "pancake landing." A part of the undercarriage was broken and a propellor blade was snapped.

Lieutenant P. D. Donnelly of the naval air station at San Diego declared the experiment an unqualified success.

The mammoth parachute, spreading 274 yards of silk, is the invention of Harry A. Douchett, chief machinist's mate in the United States navy. The test was made at Inglewood airport by R. Carl Oelze of the naval reserve, who piloted the plane. The test was witnessed by 25,000 persons, including army and navy officers. A dozen planes, including several naval ships and others carrying news reel photographers, circled around Oelze's machine during its history making descent.

The daring pilot took the plane into the air and rose to the desired altitude when he stopped his motor and released the big bag. The descent at first appeared rapid, but was checked as the parachute opened. For a while the plane swung from side to side, but soon steadied itself. The plane landed on the outskirts of El Segundo, about 3 1-2 miles west of the starting place. The descent required one minute and six seconds, falling at approximately 38 feet a second. The pilot and plane weighed 1800 pounds.

"It was a very interesting experiment and I would not have missed it," Oelze said as he climbed out of his 'chute.

WEIGHED ONLY 98 POUNDS

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cleveland, Ohio.—"After having my first baby, I lost weight, no matter what I did. Then a doctor told me I would be better if I had another baby, which I did. But I got worse, was always sickly and went down to 98 pounds. My neighbor told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it helped her very much, so I tried it. After taking four bottles, I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework now without one bit of trouble."—Mrs. M. RISSINGER, 10004 Nelson Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

If some good fairy should appear, and offer to grant your heart's desire, what would you choose?

Wealth? It's a transient thing that brings its own cares.

Happiness? It's an elusive thing which we keep by giving away.

Health? That's the best gift. Health is riches that gold cannot buy and surely health is cause enough for happiness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be the good fairy who offers you better health.

Must Pay Debts For New Tax Cuts

PAUL SMITH'S N. Y., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Further tax reduction in the United States must await the funding of all the world war debts owed this country by other nations, is the belief of Representative Madden, republican, Illinois.

Mr. Madden, who was the overnight guest of President Coolidge at White Pine Camp, thinks no tax reduction program should be laid for the forthcoming short session of congress, although it is his opinion that by the time the congress of December, 1927, comes into session the situation may warrant an effort at cutting taxes.

MINERS ARE KILLED

White as Cotton Face Now Ruddy

Says Mrs. Wolcott—All the Terrible Aches, Pains and Sour Bile Sickness Gone

Like many other folks thereabouts, Mrs. Wolcott was a picture of misery. She says: "I was ghastly white as cotton, all thinned out, bilious all the time, terrible headaches, bones creaked as if they would snap apart, ached all over, could hardly walk or lift an arm; had been taking calomel steadily, and it made me so deathly sick I was completely discouraged. Then one day my cousin who lives near the state line came on a visit and she had a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. My! What a change. It gave me new courage. We went to town for two bottles and since then, my face is filled out, with a ruddy glow. Gained over twenty pounds and am the picture of health. Whenever I feel bilious or constipated I take a dose of Dodson's Liver Tone and it works just fine."

This wonderful liver tone is sold by all druggists and is absolutely guaranteed to start your liver without making you sick.

Get a bottle today, and when you feel sick, bilious, sluggish, constipated, with dull headache, Dodson's Liver Tone will put you to rights every time. Try it today.—Adv.

HALE-RAMSEY JURY FREED

No Chance For Verdict They Say After a Long Deliberation

GUTHRIE, Okla., Aug. 25.—(AP) The jury in the case of W. K. Hale and John Ramsey, charged with slaying Henry Roan, an Osage Indian, was discharged here this morning by Federal Judge John H. Cotteral.

Judge Cotteral summoned all attorneys and the defendants shortly after 10 o'clock this morning and the jury which had been deliberating nearly 50 hours was called into the room.

"Is there any possibility of an agreement on a verdict?" Judge Cotteral asked the foreman.

"There is none, we cannot reach an agreement," the foreman replied.

"Is there a member of this jury that believes the jury can ever reach an agreement?" Judge Cotteral asked.

Members of the jury shook their heads.

Will Arbitrate Salary Dispute

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—An agreement to arbitrate the demand for increased pay for conductors, brakemen and switchmen on railroads east of Chicago and north of the Ohio river was signed today by representatives of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and of the railroads.

The demand is the first to go to arbitration under provisions of the recently enacted Watson-Parker bill which provides for a board of mediation for the settlement of wage disputes between the railroads and the brotherhoods.

The agreement to submit the wage dispute to arbitration was signed at a final conference of the brotherhood leaders and the railroad representatives and followed a series of meetings held during the past few months by the federal board of meditation with both sides.

2 KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

Santa Fe Freight Train Piles Up in Arizona Village

WINSLOW, Ariz., Aug. 25.—(AP) One man and one woman were killed and eight persons injured, but, it is believed, not seriously, when 22 cars of a Santa Fe work train were derailed and several of them demolished a mile east of Thoreau, N. M., at 12:13 o'clock this morning. The dead are Conductor J. B. Tucker of Gallup, N. M., and Mrs. Joe Hansen, wife of the work train foreman.

The cause of the wreck had not been determined, railroad officials at the division offices here said.

A special train was sent from Gallup, N. M., and the dead and injured were taken there.

Two Die When Car Hits River

BALTIMORE, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Richard C. Eccles, 30, was drowned at the wheel of his automobile when the car plunged into the harbor at the foot of Fell street early today. His companion, William H. Rea, 28, freed himself from the machine and clambered ashore. He was placed under arrest after being treated for minor injuries at a hospital. Police declared that shortly before the plunge one of the occupants of the car shot at two policemen who cried to them: "Turn on your other light." Rea, however, denied the shooting charge.

40 ELECTION HEADS BILLED

Indictments Are Reported Drawn By Chicago Grand Jury

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Twenty indictments naming 40 election judges and clerks were reported today to have been drawn up by the special grand jury investigating charges of fraud at the last primary. The indictments charging conspiracy to make false regulations will be returned in criminal court tomorrow it was reported.

Most of those named were from the 42nd ward, it was said, where officials reported the "most outstanding fraudulence in the city."

DON'T have wash day blues. Cheer up! Savex has come to help you!

Savex is a good soap—ready to cleanse easily and thoroughly. Savex is a water softener—and it is the deadliness of hard water that makes washing so difficult. Savex is a mild, safe bleach—washing clothes whitely white and making bluing unnecessary.

In Savex this good combination will do your washing in double quick time. And of course, the easier the washing process the easier it is on your clothes.

Use Savex in washing machine without soaking or rubbing. Use it in tub or hand basin and only rub and soak badly soiled things. As for boiling and bluing—they are never necessary! There is nothing in Savex to injure the most delicate fabrics. Yellowed or stained things become gleamingly "white white;" colored things wash as bright as new and silks and woolens retain their textile beauty. Of course, care must be used when fabrics are delicately tinted. Moreover, since Savex is a good soap, a water softener and a safe bleach, it will both protect and whiten your hands. Women say "there's nothing like it!"

BUILDING GOOD WILL

A MEGARGEL resident, D. B. Kraft has written The Record News on a pertinent subject concerning traffic enforcement in Wichita Falls. His letter voices a reasonable complaint that may be in order in more instances than are called to public attention. However, it is not in a spirit of criticism of the city police or any one else that Mr. Kraft writes in.

It seems that late last Monday night he inadverdently drove past a "stop" signal on Burnett street, was arrested, required to post bond and the next morning fined $5 in police court without being given a chance to make a statement of any kind.

"When the police judge called my case," Mr. Kraft writes, "he asked me if I plead guilty or not. I plead guilty believing I had violated the law. He merely fined me $5 and called the next case. He didn't even swear me for my testimony, much less ask me to give any.

"Now I am a man that tries to obey the law as nearly as I can. I live at Megargle; and I certainly call it short pot justice to jerk a stranger up that generally tries to do the right thing over a traffic law he is not familiar with and then fine him without giving him a chance to talk."

Kraft's complaint is well founded He was guilty of a minor law infraction not wilfully but simply because of unfamiliarty. He admitted his liability for a fine, and had been accorded less unceremonious treatment he probably would have never uttered a word.

In behalf of the police department, they must of course insist on strict observance of the traffic laws as well as all others. Ignorance of the law does not excuse visitors to the city, but there is such a thing as tempering justice with a little reasonable mercy and consideration; and a man from out-of-town who happens to drive past a small stop signal on a dark night is not one to be dealt with too strictly. Hundreds of Wichita Falls motorists, knowing where stop signals are located whizz by them in broad daylight every day. They just don't get caught, that's all.

The city police and the police judge might very properly bear in mind some of these facts in their administration of the city's traffic laws. Ninety-nine out of 100 visitors from out-of-town want to obey the traffic laws, and if they unknowingly overstep some regulation, a courteous explanation ought to be sufficient. Wichita Falls does not need the few dollars it might collect in fines nearly as much as it needs the good will and esteem of its neighbors; and the police in their administration of these laws can do much to promote either good or ill will.

LITTER

THE summer season brings out the peculiar type of human who goes forth to enjoy the beauties of nature, and then does all he can to destroy those beauties for others. The camper and the picknicker are abroad in the land as is very evident from the landscapes which are despoiled of the flowers and trees of the beauty of which is marred by the cans, papers, boxes, scraps of food and other debris which joyseekers leave everywhere.

This tendency of week-end trippers to disfigure the countryside is not confined to America. It shows itself wherever the automobile has come into general use. The motor car gives opportunity for large numbers of people to go through the country and it seems to have destroyed the natural spirit of courtesy which would lead any decent person to remove from the road side the remnants of a picnic dinner.

The depredations of the motorists are not confined, either to the leaving of litter. Wherever there are flowers that can be taken without apparent danger of arrest, plants and trees and shrubs are despoiled. This is a particularly selfish enterprise. The flower that is left where it grows gives pleasure to many. The flower that is plucked lasts but a little time. It is often faded before it can be taken from the car.

The automobile may not be responsibit for the present littering and disfiguring of the landscape, except as it gives so much greater opportunity for people to reach the country. It has enlarged life for millions of people who formerly could never enjoy the delights of the open road. If it has even directly fostered a spirt of selfishness much of its value is lost. That which makes people discourteous and selfish is not altogether good, whatever desirable ends it may accomplish.

IS IT CODDLING?

CRIME is costing between $8,000,000,000 and $10,000,000,000 a year in the United States, chiefly because Americans have the habit of coddling criminals. This is the indictment drawn by Prof. William R. Vance of the Yale law school.

Whether Professor Vance has correctly estimated the cost, collossal though it be, is far less important than whether he has hit upon the underlying cause of crime conditions. There is always a remedy. No situation can exist in human affairs without a remedy, if one is needed.

It is not always, however, that mankind is ready to apply the remedy. Prof. Vance says that crime has developed into a profession in this country. It is a profession with an army of 3,000,000 predatory members. He made these charges in an address before the Rotary club of Ithica, N. Y.

Crime development really is a result of our sporting proclivities, the professor says. He explains it this way:

"The American people have a distorted notion of sport. The moment a man is arrested, the public takes the attitude that a game is on. They see the poor, unbefriended defendant on one side, with the uniformed, powerful hosts of the law on the other, with money behind them. So they begin to root for the defendant, who seems to be playing a losing game.

"We coddle criminals and build magnificent jails to put them in until they are happier than their victims or the widows and orphans of the victims. We let our sentimentality run away with us instead of seeing the criminal in his true light as a public enemy."

Coddling of crininals may or may not be the underlying cause of this coun try being swept by crime as it is freely acknowledged that it is. There is a strong belief in many quarters that prohibition was the chief factor. But Prof Vance does not believe it is the real cause of the prevalence of crime.

He places the blame chiefly on coddling. And the argument is somewhat convincing. He says the direct loss from crime is about $4,000,000,000 a year and the indirect cost for police protection and machinery for crime suppression is about $6,000,000,000.

Regardless of what the cause is, the price is too high. We cannot afford to indulge our sentiment to the tune of $4,000,000,000 a year direct loss. The only thing to do is determine the real cause—and then eliminate it.

A big job is waiting for somebody.

WHY COTTON JUMPED

A DECREASE of 373,000 bales in the prospective cotton crop during the last two weeks has shown in the federal department report indicating a total production of 15,248,000 bales. This led to an advance in the price of cotton of more than $5 per bale. It is safe to predict that the September report of the department of agriculture will show another decrease and then perhaps another advance will be the order of the day.

Mike Thomas of Dallas is of the opinion that cotton may go to 30 cents. Mike has made and lost millions in cotton in his career and then he won his millions back. He does not look for a bumper crop. He is guessing that the boll weevil, the leaf worm and other pests may keep the American yield down to 14,000,000 bales. There are others in the cotton game as wise who predict a crop of 15,000,000 bales.

Texas has a tremendous acreage this year. It is picking and ginning time in the lower counties. It is picking and ginning time in central Texas. Away out in the west the farmers will be picking and ginning until the snow comes. It is never safe to bet on the size of the Texas cotton crop. It is safe to say that a crop of less than 15,000,000 bales will not prove to be disastrous to the grower. "The price is the thing."

THE LAST ACT

FATE always rode with that midnight mail of melodramatic memory, but never was the total involved as great as that which was apparently lost through belated arrival in Mexico yesterday of American claims. These amounted to $,000,000 and were based upon losses suffered during revolutions. They came five hours late for filing. Somebody erred, somebody was carelessless, something was wrong. In consequence Americans may lose while Mexico gains. Now for another investigation; the final scene in the thrilling play.

The Terrible Tempered Mr. Bang

SPEAKING OF OSTRICHES

By Frederick Arnold Kummer

He turned with a vivid smile, then produced a pencil and paper from his pocket.

"All ready," he wrote. "Car's downstairs. Do you happen to understand lip reading?"

"No." Mary Ellen shook her head. "But I might learn."

"Try this," he wrote on his pad. Then he spoke. His mouth was judicially solemn, but she was not so sure about his eyes.

"Could you love a man with red hair and freckles?"

Mary Ellen almost betrayed herself by an astonished gasp. Well, she had brought it on herself!

"I couldn't make it out at all," she said coldly. "Shall we go?" In silence they descended to the car.

On the road, however, Mr. McCoy's desire to confide his inmost thoughts to the world again overtook him.

"Beautiful, but dangerous as they make them," he murmured, gazing off into space. "Why the devil should I fall in love with her anyway, or she with me, when neither of us has a cent? A man's much better off single. And yet, ever since I first laid eyes on her this morning, I've thought of nothing else. Dippy about her. If I supposed she'd be willing to be a poor man's wife, I'd ask her to marry me right now." He turned and faced her in the dark. "Mary Ellen, you dear, sweet, wonderful child, I do ask you. Will you marry me?"

Mary Ellen sat up very straight in her seat, her cheeks blazing. The only way to stop him was to say somethitg.

"What a perfect night!" she whispered inanely.

Mr. McCoy's hands fluttered for a moment from the steering wheel. Whether he meant to write an answer or take her in his arms Mary Ellen never knew, for a sudden lurch of the car sent them quickly back again. Once more he took up his monologue.

"I love you, Mary Ellen. I suppose it's ridiculous, only having met you this morning, but I do. From the top of your head to the bottom of those marvelous silk stockings, the like of which I never saw. I don't mind a bit your being deaf. If you weren't I'd never dare say the things to you I'm saying now. I wonder if you care about anybody else? Do you, sweetheart? Please say no."

Mary Ellen could stand no more.

"Are you speaking to me?" she asked desperately. "Your lips are moving."

Mr. McCoy stopped the car, switched on the dashboard light.

"Singing," he wrote on his pad. "I always do when I'm happy. Please don't mind." Then he began to sing a gay little tune. Mary Ellen could not catch all the words, but it seemed to her that "love" occurred with remarkable frequency.

"I suppose I'll lie awake all night thinking about her," he suddenly broke out in annoyed tones. "Women sure are the devil. Who in thunder invented them, anyway? Why can't they let a fellow alone?"

This final insult proved to be the straw that broke the camel's back. Mary Ellen could contain herself no longer.

"You may be quite sure, Mr. McCoy," she said, "that there is one woman who will make it a point to let you alone in the future. Please take me home at once."

In the darkness Mary Ellen could not for the life of her tell just what effect her outburst had produced upon the astonishing young man at her side. She could feel his body shaking a little, and the thought that he might possibly be laughing at her increased her rage. Mr. McCoy had already turned the car back in the direction of the hotel. They reached it in an astonishingly short time and parted without a word.

Mary Ellen went to her room in a cruel temper. There were three at least upon whom she could vent her wrath. At the small desk between the windows she wrote three letters. One was addressed to Mr. James Cartwright. A second bore the name of Mr. Roy Baker. The third went to Mr. Samuel Drummond, and all contained the same astonishing statement.

"They have discovered oil on a farm my father owned in Arizona and I am worth half a million. Thought you might like to know. Please don't tell anybody yet, however. It's a secret. Mary Ellen Harwood."

When these bombs had been started on their way in the care of a bell boy, Mary Ellen felt decidedly better. Her anger had almost completely evaporated.

It was late the next morning when she awoke in response to a furious pounding on her door. That her deafness had been a fiction, it seemed had not yet penetrated the dull minds of the bell boys. She slipped on a dressing gown and took the three notes the boy handed her, noting as she did so that they were all written on the hotel letter paper.

"The three gentlemen is waiting downstairs and says I was to bring them your answer," the boy said, with a wide smile.

"Please wait." Mary Ellen closed the door and glanced through the notes. As she had anticipated, they were responses to her communications of the night before, and while their phraseology differed widely, the purpose of each was to make her an offer of marriage. With a diabolical grin, Mary Ellen took up her pen.

Across the bottom of Mr. Cartwright's communication she wrote:

"Sorry, Jimmy, but I wouldn't think of putting you to the trouble of carrying a secretary around with you."

Mr. Baker's bore the significant words:

"Too late, Roy. Somebody has offered to take me off your hands."

At the bottom of Mr. Drummond's note appeared the legend:

"Back up, Sam. And I don't mind a bit if you put a paragraph about my money in the paper."

Then she gave the three letters back to the boy.

In the office of Messrs. Carter & Willcox, Mr. Terence McCoy was still engaged in his study of Blackstone. When Mary Ellen entered he rose with a sudden flush.

"Mr. Willcox is in court," he wrote on his pad. "Won't be back all day. Please wait." Again the "please" was heavily underscored. Mary Ellen tossed the message into the wastebasket.

"What's the use of keeping it up any longer?" she said. "You know perfectly well I'm not deaf."

For a Good Husband—Shall the Mother Who Loathes Housework Take Back Her Old Job and Hire a Nurse for Her Children—Folly of Going Only With One Boy.

Dear Miss Dix.—Our forum is to discuss the question:

What are the qualifications of a good husband? Will you please tell us what you think? MRS. F. S. J.

Answer:—Well, Mrs. F. S. J., I think that the first qualification of a good husband is the ability to make a good living.

Perhaps this sounds rather sordid, but all of our happiness and well-being in life depends upon our being properly fed, and housed, and clothed. Our physical needs come before our spiritual ones, and I have observed that the women who were hungry and cold and ragged and shabby, and whose children were crying for bread, and who lived in terror of the rent collector, didn't seem to take much interest in whether their husbands were their real soul mates or not.

So I put being what is called "a good provider" at the top of the list to desirable qualities in the husband. It doesn't take riches to make a happy home. You don't have to live in a palace. A man doesn't need to give his family imported cars, and Paris finery, but he must be able to give them a settled roof over their heads, enough food, and freedom from anxiety.

No man who doesn't do this is a good husband, and no man who does is a total loss as a husband.

Next, I put a good disposition. Being pleasant to live with.

A man may have each and every one of the standardized virtues. He may be honest and honorable, moral, sober, industrious and yet be the sort of a husband that makes his wife wish that she had died on her wedding day.

There are good men with tempers of vile that their wives live in dread of saying or doing something that will provoke an explosion. There are admirable citizens who grouch and gloom around home until they make the domestic atmosphere such a dark pessimistic blue that every one who is forced to breathe it becomes a victim of melancholia.

There are men who take every bit of the heart and spirit out of their wives by their ceaseless nagging and fault-finding. And there are other men who are jolly and good natured and optimistic and smiling and veritable rays of sunshine in their homes.

It is a man's disposition that his wife has to live with and that makes or mars her happiness, and therefore, it is of the utmost importance to her to pick out a husband with a good one.

Next I should put liberality. No tightwad husband who begrudges the cost of a family, no man who doles out nickels and pennies to his wife, and wants to know what she did with that quarter he gave her week before last is a good husband.

The man who won't go fifty-fifty with his wife on the money proposition, and who isn't willing to give her as her right as liberal an allowance as he can for her personal use, hasn't any right to get married, and ruin some woman's life with his parsimony.

Furthermore, this liberality should extend to granting a wife the right to her own opinions and views instead of trying to make a rubber stamp of her.

Next I put chumminess.

A woman marries to get a fireside companion, not to be left to hold the fort alone while her husband fares forth to his own amusements. Neither is she lured into matrimony by the idea of sitting up and watching a man read a newspaper, or listening to the radio.

Nothing comes nearer to making matrimony a grand sweet song to a woman than a husband who really likes to talk to her, and who takes her along with him because he wants to instead of because he has to.

Then I put sympathy and understanding, and last, but not least, I put being interesting among the desirable qualifications of a good husband.

The woman who is married to a man who can distinguish between temper and nerves, and who has a line of conversation that doesn't bore her stiff, is blessed among her sex.

DOROTHY DIX.

150 QUARTS FOUND

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—An automobile containing 151 quarts of wine and tequila and 25 gallons of mescal was seized by patrol inspectors near Mercedes according to reports to San Antonio Tuesday. Upon seeing the officers waiting down the highway two men jumped from the car and escaped in the brush.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

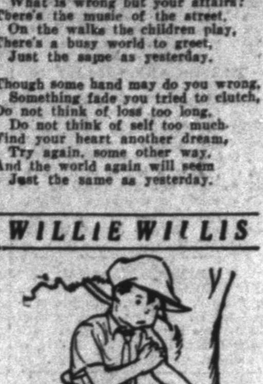

JUST THE SAME.

Someone said some word unkind,
Made the world a world of woe,
But, I wonder, are we blind,
Has creation altered so?
There's the tree upon the hill,
There's the grass along the way,
There's the old sun shining still,
Just the same as yesterday.

Hurt and loss and tale untrue,
So we fill our lives with cares;
What has altered, though, but you?
What is wrong but your affairs?
There's the music of the street,
On the walks the children play,
There's a busy world to greet,
Just the same as yesterday.

Though some hand may do you wrong,
Something fade you tried to clutch,
Do not think of loss too long,
Do not think of self too much.
Find your heart another dream,
Try again, some other way,
And the world again will seem
Just the same as yesterday.

MEDIAEVAL MEDICINE

The doctors of the middle eges inherited a few good traditons from the classical and Saracenic physicians. For the most part, though, they were pretty superstitious, even when not out and out quacks. One remedy much used by them for almost anything, was the mandrake. It was believed, however, that to touch the mandrake would cause a man to die in the fits. Therefore dirt was dug away from its roots, a slip noose slipped over the roots, and the rope tied to a dog's collar. The dog was then whipped; in his efforts to get way he usually tore the roots out of the ground, when, if we may believe the old books, the mandrake "uttered loud shrieks."

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday's questions:

1. The Ainus are a race of very hairy people living in the northern part of Japan, and probably the aboriginals, not closely related to the present Japanese.

2. Polynesians are a race occupying many of the South Sea Islands, who probably originated in Asia but are of uncertain relationships.

3. Bantus are a race of dark African tribes.

4. Malays are a brown-skinned race occupying southeastern Asia and many of the East Indian Islands.

5. Pigmies are found in southern Africa.

6. The Cro-Mangan race is now extinct; it existed in prehistoric times, had a very fair culture for its time, and was not entirely dissimilar from the present white races.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

BY MARY BLAKE

VIRGO.

Today's planetary aspects are variable, although clear and definite. In the morning they are adverse. In the afternoon they are actively favorable. In the evening they again revert to the adverse stage, but not in so decided a degree as during the early part of the day. The afternoon—from midday until sunset—can be well consecrated to serious effort and work and the indications point to ultimate success for anything especially of a constructive nature, that is initiated under such influences. The balance of the day should be spent in customary work or pastimes, and it will be essential, in order to obtain the greatest measure of good, to establish poise and maintain equilibrium.

Children born today will, during infancy, enjoy robust health, and will give evidences of great vigor and strength. They must be taught to regulate their energies as there is an indication of possible accid nt during the 'teens. This can, possibly, be avoided if they learn to avoid taking chances and not to overtax their physical forces. They will have winsome and attractive dispositions and their characters will be easy to mould in the way that may be desired. They will be imitative, rather than original, and will be quick to learn. Their natural inclinations will be for all that pertains to "out-of-doors."

If today is your birthday you are not a very practical person, but are more disposed to theorize than to execute. It is quite difficult for you to make up your mind, and, when any decision is required, it is customary for you to consult others, rather than to trust to your own judgment. Your tastes are along literary and artistic lines and, although versatile, you are whimsical and very much a slave of your moods. You are entertaining and congenial, which is evidenced by the regard in which you are held by your friends. They, however, generally seek you in their lighter moments, and do not often come to you in their troubles or with their difficulties. You are very sincere in your affections, and unfortunately for your own peace of mind, super-sensitive. Your home is probably attractive and happy, as your well-grounded affection, and your guileless nature, will undoubtedly contribute to such a result.

Successful people born this date are: Joshua C. Stoddard, inventor; James Harlan, lawyer and senator; Stephen P. Nash, lawyer; Charles J. Paine, soldier and yachtsman; John W. Philip, naval officer, and August Hecksher, capitalist.

BATTING FOR KING SOLOMON

Dear Readers:

In this argument
'Twixt Sunny and her lover,
It seems to me the lady has
Prince Charming hunting cover!
She said her love was so intense;
So great, so overflowing,
That if he lost his job she'd help
With needle work and sewing.

It's an amusing thing to watch
Two lovers start discussing;
But often what, at first, is sweet,
Ends up in bitter fussing.
And so, without ado, I will
Elect myself arbiter,
Because I know this boy and girl
Each is a finish fighter.

The other's love is something that
They neither should disparage;
It's bad to argue thinks like
It might forestall the marriage.
So my decision is: 'Twas wrong
For Sunny thus to wheedle,
And yet se wins the argument
By one point—on her needle!

Without a Doubt!

Henry: "So you really think that you love the girl!"
Charles: "Love her! Say I actually enjoy the company of her mother!"

THE REPORTER TRIES FICTION

By Marvin Harpers.

("Go to work on a newspaper" is the advice given to aspiring authors, but wouldn't that make their stories sound like this?-)

It was a nice day according to the weather man, when a person known as Edward Sloan stepped from what was thought to be a taxi at an hour said by some to be five o'clock. It was rumored that a girl, reported to have been pretty, approached him and the alleged whispered conversation is believed to have been taken place:

"Briand Cabinet Fails; Asks Probe," he hissed, through teeth said to be gritted.

"Rum Ring Uncovered, Officer Says," the girl was thought to have replied.

"Alimony Refused; Slays Mate," he was quoted as saying.

"Man Held in Motor Crash," she groaned, and fell into his arms, bystanders stated.

"Big Expose in Bathing Beauty Contest," he was said to have shrieked.

Their lips met, it is said, and were still combined in the merger at a late hour last night. The police are investigating and an arrest is expected at an early hour today.

Mexican Students Return to San Antonio In Sombreros.

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Walving the dignity of Phd's, M. A.'s, and half a score of other degrees which trailed behind them, some 25 professors of various American universities, arrived in San Antonio from Mexico late Monday, wearing sombreros and with native blankets wrapped around their luggage.

They have been attending the University of Mexico City summer session. Chanting loudly the praises of the tamale and the tortilla, the professors who have spent six weeks in Mexico, had nothing but praise for the southern republic.

REMANDED TO JAIL.

CUERO, Texas, Aug. 25.—(AP)—William Nack, charged with the slaying of Jans Johnson, former race horse owner and jockey, who resided on Nack's place for a time, was remanded to the DeWitt county jail without bond following an examining trial in justice court Monday. The defense offered no testimony but indicated that application for a writ of habeas corpus in district court would be filed.

ELECTRA'S NEW TERM READY

Dinsmore Announces Full List of Teachers For Coming Session

ELECTRA, Aug. 25.—Superintendent B. M. Dinsmore of the Electra public schools has returned from teaching at the North Texas State Teachers College in Denton this summer and has completed the list of teachers for the public schools this term. Mr. Dinsmore requests all teachers to meet at the high school September 3 for a get-acquainted meeting, at which time an informal reception will be given. The following Saturday the teachers will make preparations for the opening of school. Credit will be given for the one days' work at the institute which will be held the week before the Christmas holidays in Wichita Falls.

All the children who have reached the age of six years will be allowed to attend school by paying the necessary tuition, if there is roof for them this year.

Mr. Dinsmore believes that this will be the greatest school year in the history of the Electra public school system. A great enrollment is expected on September 6.

Ruptured Blood Vessel Brings Death

That Jess Harris died as a result of a blow given him in the fight in which he participated Sunday afternoon was the opinion expressed by the district attorney's office Wednesday afternoon following a post mortem examination of his body Tuesday by County Physician D. J. H. Fletcher.

Dr. Fletcher found that death had apparently resulted from a ruptured blood vessel at the base of the brain. A mark of a heavy blow from an instrument of some sort on the back of the neck may have caused the rupture, he said.

Jack Abel, another participant in the affray, is held under a $5,000 bond in connection with the case.

Fire Threatens Ohio Ave. Store

Fire of undetermined origin, seriously threatened the entire building occupied by the Scotch Woolen Mills at 609 Eighth street, at 8:30 last night, but was checked and confined to the rear of the building by the fire department, which was forced to break open the front door of the building to get to the flames. Little damage was done except by smoke and water, although the back part of the building was practically burned away.

In connection with the fire, it seems that the red demon still pursues Joel H. Douglas, who conducts a gent's furnishing store in the building. In February of this year Mr. Douglas lost his entire stock by fire on Ohio street. This fire started in another building and spread to Mr. Douglas' store, and the fire of last night also started in another portion of the building and threatened his establishment again. The damage to his stock last night, however, is confined to water and smoke and will be of little consequence, it is thought.

"TAILOR" ARRESTED.

City police arrested a man Wednesday night, who, passing ostensibly as a tailor, they claimed was doing a thriving liquor business on the side. He had in his possessin at the time of arrest, they stated, two gallons of whiskey and number of bottles of beer. Charges of possession of liquor for purposes of sale will be filed naming him in federal court this morning, it was stated.

STRIKE THREE

BEDFORD, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Women in the state reformatory have a baseball league with five teams. McGraw would envy the institution for some of its pitchers, the superintendent says.

Craterville Park Indian Fair Is Ready For Show

Frank Rush phoned from Craterville park concerning the Indian fair that is opening there for three days Thursday.

Already a collection of Kiowas, Comanche and Apache Indians are on hand. Have war dances every day. Friday a sham battle between whites and Indians in pioneer wagons. And closing day will butcher two buffaloes. Noted Indian chiefs will be present.

Cool Weather For Local Area

With the mercury falling as low as 62 degrees, Wichitans have been having a taste of real fall weather the past 24 hours. This is the lowest point reached in several weeks and new fall coats were being displayed on the streets Wednesday.

Tuesday afternoon the temperature was 87 degrees and continued to fall during the night until it reached the low point of 62 degrees. The mercury had climbed some Wednesday and at 5 p. m. had reached 85 degrees. The wind however was still from the north and indications were for fair weather.

16 Ballots Come In To County

Seventeen marked ballots came with Wednesday's mail to Miss Elissbeth Hall, county clerk, for voting under the provisions of the Texas absentee voting laws. The seventeen brought the total cast thus far in the second primary to 225, slightly more than half of the number cast in the first primary.

The ballots yet to come in under this clause of the election law will all be through the mail, voting "over the counter" having ceased Tuesday. Despite this, however, a number appeared at the county clerk's office Wednesday and asked to vote.

Gorin Is Honored At K. P. Meeting

C. W. Gorin of Wichita Falls was blemished yesterday with a medal emblematic of the longest overland automobile trip to attend the district Knights of Pythias convention held at Lost Lake, Okla. The Wichita Falls man drove further to attend the meeting than any other of the many there.

Mr. Gorin was accompanied to the convention by Dr. T. L. Myers, the latter's wife and his mother. They reported an excellent time. Mr. Gorin was placed on a committee of arrangements to make the meeting an annual event. The one held yesterday was the first of its kind.

Will Protest On Business House

Formal protest against the building of a business house at the corner of Avenue J and Taft street, application for which is pending before the city council at their meeting Monday night as considerable objection is being raised to the project by residents of the neighborhood. A hearing for the applicant, T. L. McGee has been set for Monday, September 6, and the matter will be disposed of at that time.

The corner in question is immediately across the street from Junior high school, and this will be one of the reasons held by those objecting to the building.

FOUR MARRIAGES.

There were four marriage licenses issued Wednesday at the county clerk's office, these going to E. L. Rymal and Mrs. Hattie Fuller, Holliday; Carroll Turpen and Jewel Riddell; H. M. Evans, Bowie, and Mrs. Annie Walker, Mexia; Virgil Taylor and Miss Gertrude Clara, Iowa Park.

My Favorite Stories

ABSOLUTELY NO REASON FOR IT.

Harry Beresford, the actor, was born in England but has lived long enough in America practically to have recovered from it. One fall a friend sent him two tickets for one of the world's series ball games at the Polo grounds, and he took with him to the game a newly arrived Englishman, a distant kinsman and also an actor.

The stranger sat patiently enough through seven innings. The whole riotous proceeding was a puzzle to him but he was too polite to mention it. Then, when the mighty crowd, following the baseball custom, stood up to stretch, he rose, too, and started for the aisle.

"Hold on!" said Beresford. "It isn't over yet."

"I was only going to get a cup of tea, old chap," explained his guest.

"You can't get tea now," said Beresford; "the game goes right on."

"You mean to say there is no tea being served?" demanded the Englishman in amazement.

"Certainly not!" said Beresford.

"Well," demanded the other, "what then, is the purpose of the bally game?"

STEERS TAKE SERIES FINAL

Tom Estell Goes Down In Tough Scrap by 5-4 Score

Tying it up in the eighth and then forging a run out front while Dick Shuman held the home guard scoreless in the ninth, Dallas finally managed to nose out on Wichita Falls yesterday taking the final game of the series from Tom Estell, 5 to 4.

The Spudders won the first two games of the three-game series. They jump to Dallas with the Steers today for another contest. Fred Fussell or Joe Kiefer will do the chunking for the Williams outfit this afternoon.

Back Sept 7

The Spudders tour South Texas, returning by way of Fort Worth Sept. 6 on which a double header is to be played in Cowtown, then coming home for the final stand of the season, playing Shreveport here two days and then taking Fort Worth in four. The season closes September 12.

A base on balls to Riley, singles by Woeber and Tate with a double play on Hungling and Tate sent a Dallas run over in the second frame yesterday.

Slimuel Love, the long left-hander, held the domestics scoreless until the fifth, Dallas scoring another in the fourth to cop a two-run lead. Singles by Miller and Riley with an error at first base on Woeber's ground ball accounted for the run.

Fitz Homers

Fitzgerald knocked a home run over the right field fence in the fifth. It was the second hit off Love.

A single by Hungling and a double by Love gave the Herd another run in the sixth. The Spudders got the marker back in the same round. LaFayette led off with a bingle to right. He was forced at second by Turgeon who a moment after pilfered the sack and came home later on Benton's double to right.

Estell blanked the opposition in the seventh and his nine then took unkindly to Love's offerings and clouted him from the promontory. One-base biffs by DeFate, Lapan, LaFayette, Turgeon and Jenkins scored two runs. LaFayette came near coming over for another when during an argument at first base he sneaked off third and endeavored to steal home. Jim Riley turned and threw quick enough to get George on the slide. Yep, the argument, as usual was with an umpire over a decision, this time being on whether or not Jenkins outfooted an infield hit.

Brainard Wins

Spike Hunter spiked the Spud attack in the eighth and ninth. During the eighth a combination of bingles by Woeber, Rhino Williams and Morse scored one for Dallas. Brainard singled in the Dallas ninth, went to second on Miller's sacrifice and scored on Riley's single to center. Brainard, incidently, led the hitters with three out of five.

5 to 1 Wins

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Friedjof Hansen, a five to one shot, log cabin stud, captured the 24th annual running of the Adirondack handicap, $5,000 guaranteed for two-year olds at the Saratoga track today. J. E. Widener's Laddie was second and Easy Money third. The time for the six furlongs was 1:14.

THREE NEW HURLERS

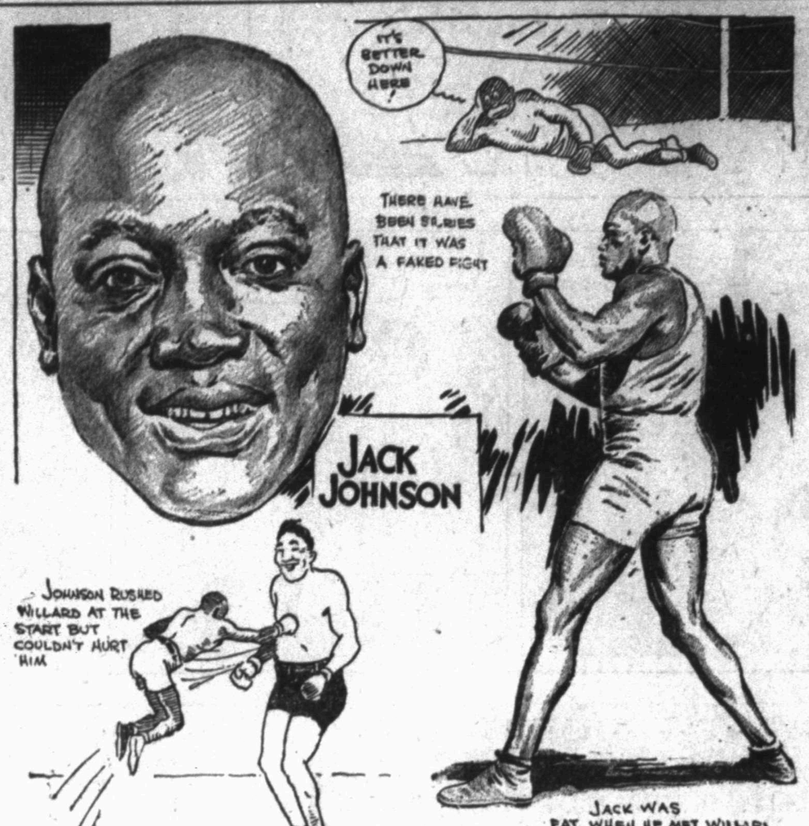

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP) Three more young pitchers have been added to the Washington Senators' rookie staff. Joe Engle, the club's scout, informed headquarters he had closed a deal with the Chattanooga team of the Southern association for Jones, Coffman and McEvoy. They are to join the Senators at Tampa in the spring.

BARNABEE SOLD

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Charley Barnabee, star left-hand pitcher of Shreveport, Texas League, today was purchased by the Chicago White Sox. He is the second left-hand twirler purchased by President Comiskey in the last few days. The other was Bert Cole of the Pacific Coast League.

THE LAST ROUND
The Reign of the Black Man Comes to an End

Almost immediately after his knock-out victory over Jim Jeffries, Jack Johnson began to abuse the popularity that was his. Yes, more than this, he abused the idolatry and loyalty of his own race thrust upon him. He divided his time between high powered autos and worse forms of dissipation. He did not even hold his dissipation to members of his own race.

Jim Jeffries, the old king, had proved no match for Johnson. There seemed no one else in sight who could be tuned into championship timber. So began the long and hectic hunt for a "white hope."

They bobbed up Dan Beersheda. Anything that stood six feet or over, had a kick like a mule in both fists and a desire to fight was given a chance to show his stuff. Most of them turned out to be just second rate fighters, however, with no indications apparent of ever becoming anything more.

Finally into this corral of possibilities Jess Willard bounced. Oh, what a boy he was! Came from Kansas. Rode a horse—and had to have the biggest one west of Jersey City so his legs wouldn't dangle low enough for the rattlesnakes to bite.

He stood six feet six inches high and had a reach of 83 1-2 inches.

"Gunboat" Halts Him.

He had started fighting in 1912 and in that year had knocked out such brother hopes as John Young, Arthur Pelky, Luther McCarthy, Sailor White and Soldier Kearns. The next year he socked Frank Bauer and Jack Leon, a couple of unknowns, and then met Gunboat Smith. The latter gave him his first set back by beating him in 20 rounds.

After that he met Bull Young, who died from a blow Willard struck him, and other hopes presented.

But it was his size, physical condition and a fair defense, rather than any greatness he had shown in the ring, that prompted his selection for the bout with Johnson in Havana, Cuba., April 5, 1915.

Johnson was in disrepute in the states. That and consequent promised opposition to the bout in most every state prompted the staging of the fight at the Cuban capital.

Johnson's object in taking such a match under consideration while in his physical condition has always been a matter for conjecture. There have been mean stories that it was a "money fight" with him and not on the up and up. Willard, however, saw in the fight his big chance and made the best of it. He was a beautiful specimen of man the day he entered the ring. And his perfect condition won the fight for him. Johnson got to him early and often. He could not hurt Jess, however. And when the Kansan hit Johnson it was the gentle touch of a Redwood tree falling on a poodle.

Johnson stood up under the punching for 25 rounds and then went down under Willard's sledge-hammer blows. Johnson's day was done.

How Jack Johnson Lost Title

This is the way wire accounts of the Johnson-Willard fight described the last round.

Round 26—Johnson rose slowly from his chair and Willard met him more than two-thirds of the way across the ring. Willard stabbed a long left into the negro's face, sending his head bobbing back. Before the champion could recover his position Willard swung a smashing right which landed full on Johnson's stomach. Johnson was flung against the ropes by the force of the blow and he clinched on the rebound. The white man tried to tear loose, but the black held grimly, with eyes closed and legs shaking.

Just before the referee broke them Johnson looked over Willard's shoulder to the box where his wife had been, his eyes showing a dazed, puzzled expression.

As soon as Welsh had broken the clinch Jess rushed again, forcing the negro into Willard's corner, where the finish came. Johnson was slow in guarding and his youthful opponent hooked a swinging left to the body. The fading champion's legs quivered and again the towering giant feinted for the body. Johnson dropped his guard and Willard won the title with a quick, hard swing to the exact point of the jaw.

The negro's knees folded up under him and he sank slowly to the floor and rolled over on his back, partly under the ropes.

Welsh waved Willard back and began to count. Johnson never moved. His eyes were glassy, only the whites being visible.

At the count of 10 Welsh turned and held up Willard's hand and a new champion replaced Johnson, who was still stretched on the floor of the ring.

So passed Johnson, king of the colored race.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Cincinnati's winning streak of ten games came to a stop today when McQuillan outpitched Mays in a hurling duel, New York winning, 2 to 1. Three snappy double plays helped the Giants. The only time Cincinnati broke through was in the seventh when the first three men to face McQuillan singled but in attempting to sacrifice, Dressen hit into a double play. Score:

Youth Is Served In Western Golf Play Wednesday

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Surviving a field of brilliant golf with the second best woman's card ever scored on the course Miss Marion Turpie of Audubon, New Orleans, 17-year-old Southern association champion moved into the third round pairings of the women's western championship play at Olympia field today by eliminating Mrs. Melvin Jones, a former title holder, on her home course, 4 up and 3 to play.

Tomorrow Miss Turpie meets Miss Naomi Hull of Kendallville, Ind., another youngster with remarkable performance behind her.

Miss Hull, a South Bend, Ind., school teacher, today defeated Mrs. Jay S. Cassriel of Aurora, former Illinois public links champion.

A third new comer in the tournament, Miss Elsie Hilding of Highland, Grand Rapids, Mich., upset the veteran, Miss Dorothy Klotz of Indian Hill, Chicago, 7 to 6.

Miss Margaret Waddles, Hutchinson, Kan., defeated Mrs. David Veitch, Hillcrest, Kansas City, 3 and 2.

SHIPPERS WIN, 6 TO 5

WACO, Texas, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The Exporters came back here today and took the second game of the series from the Waco Cubs by a score of 6 to 5. The Cubs got to Robertson in the first inning for two runs and in the fourth the visitors chased Freese from the mound with five runs. The locals came back in the fifth, after the Exporters had scored one more to make three but Hansen went in for Beaumont and stopped further scoring.

Corbett Silent On Fight Injunction

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25—(AP) Threatened court action of James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion who claims to have had an understanding with the sesqui-centennial exposition authorities to hold the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight title bout in the sesqui stadium, did not materialize today.

"I think the action we propose will take the form of an injunction," said John J. McDevitt, counsel for Corbett today. Corbett and I feel that we have not been treated fairly. We had planned to hold the fight July 4th, but dropped the matter when we were led to believe that it could not be staged here.

CARDS TRIM BRAVES

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25.—(AP)—It's off again on again in the three cornered fight for National League leadership. The Cardinals won yesterday, got knocked from their first place perch by splitting a double header, with Boston today trimmed the Braves, 4 to 3 in a thrilling 11 inning battle and regained the coveted position. Hafey batting for Southworth, singled in the 11th frame with the bases loaded and won the game. Pittsburgh and Cincinnati both lost today. Score:

Lions and Optimists Don Monkey Suits and Fight It Out At Spud Park Today

The long awarded and muchly ballyhooed Optimist-Lions baseball encounter, postponed once because of rain, is carded this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock on the Spudder diamond.

Now that the professional teams have quit Wichita Falls a few days, the Spudders jumping off today for Dallas and a short road trip, fans are enabled to see a real baseball game, both as it should and should not be played, it was announced from rival camps yesterday. The civic club athletes are not a bit backward in declaring their prowess as ball players, in fact, the only reason they haven't challenged the Texas league for a game with its leading team is because they believe they can obtain stiffer competition playing against each other.

Today's affair is scheduled to go the nine-inning route, but it's doubtful whether Umph Frank Queisser will allow the battle to continue after dark. The first inning is expected to run at least two hours.

Joe Harris, Lions' pitcher, averred Wednesday that he hoped his team would get to bat first then by the time it became his turn to pitch it would be too dark, so he would be saved the exertion.

The feature of the Lions' defense, if any, is expected to be produced at third base by that famous court room athlete, Joe S. Dickey.

The Lion lineup follows:

Jack Murray, first base; Jim King, second base; Joe Dickey, third base; Maples and Surles, shortstops; Frank Criplever, left field; Carl Riley, center field; Carrol Spangler, right field; Joe Harris, pitcher; C. C. Frazee, catcher. The Lions will have plenty of reserves to shoot into the affray should any of the starters become weary.

The Optimist squad consists of the following:

Harrison or Reeves, third base; Zale, second base; Hart, first base; Sharpe, shortstop; Whatley, fielder; Stephens, fielder; Loveland, fielder; Eudelman, fielder; Friberg, fielder; Armstrong, catcher; Brown, catcher; Sartin, pitcher; Fetherstone, pitcher; Hanks, pitcher; Buelow, pitcher; McCutchen, pitcher.

Utilities; Hyer, Bachman, Moline, Pyland, Ford, Kramer, Meade, Brown, P. H. and Billy Burke.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

John McGraw, Giant leader, will hand out railroad tickets to three ball players September 1, entitling them to one first-class passage to Milwaukee, Wis. The three are Chick Davies, Paul Florence and Andy Cohen.

These three players go to the minor league club as payment for the star battery of the Brewery team, "Orry" Orwell and McMenemey. At least this is the dope from New York. Orwell is the team's best hurler and McMenemey his catcher.

Davies is allowed to depart as McGraw figures the pitcher, while valuable at times, will never become any better than he is now. He is a veteran in point of service in the game and in age.

Cohen is a young infielder who shows great promise but needs some intensive training.

Florence is the young backstop who has seen regular service with McGraw's team much of the current season. Just why McGraw is letting this good-looking young man go is a mystery. McMenemey must come highly recommended.

Florence is a big husky chap—the ideal type of a catcher physically. He has done fair work behind the plate considering his experience. Frank Snyder, veteran receiver, is slated to drop out of the game at the close of the present season. McGraw could well afford to keep Florence, along with McMenemey.

It may be, however, that Owner Borchet of the Milwaukee team insisted on getting a good backstop to take the place of his hopeful. And it may also be that McGraw has strings on both Cohen and Florence.

New York fans probably will show more interest in the deal when McGraw introduces his new battery pair to them in one of the late games.

* * * *

The case of Adolpho Luque, Cuban hurler with the Cinci Reds illustrates how club owners, managers and fans can let their wishes run away with their thoughts.

Luque, outstanding member of the Cinci pitching staff ordinarily, was forced to undergo an operation for appendicitis a few weeks before the regular season started last spring. Reports from Luque and members of the club indicated that he would be sufficiently recovered from the operation to take his place in the box a short time after the season opened. That is what all hoped.

Luque did get back into the game in a month or two but not until the last few weeks has he been showing his old mastery. Despite the splendid physical condition of an athlete it is foolish to expect him to overcome the nervous shock and loss of vitality sustained in such an operation within a period of a few weeks.

While Helen Wills felt confident early in the recent Seabright tourney that she had recovered entirely from a similar operation abroad early in the summer the decisive victory of Miss Elizabeth Ryan over the California girl would indicate that she was not up to her usual game. Miss Ryan proved her master last season but Miss Wills, under ordinary circumstance, should have given her a much more bitter battle this year.

Atlanta Fielder Coming To Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 25.—(AP) Wilbur Good, slugging centerfielder of the Atlanta Southern association club, was purchased today by the San Antonio Bears and will report here Friday or Saturday. President Harry Ables of the Bears wired Good to come right away," which indicates he will take a regular berth immediately. Good led the Southern circuit last year with a batting average of .379. He is expected to bolster the San Antonio team considerably in its final dash toward the pennant.

SPORTS BLOW UP FOR CATS

Wachtel Allows One Safety, Adkins Two in 4-0 Game

FORT WORTH, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Except for its hurling, the Sports machine which was forging to the front until it encountered the Cats, went completely to pieces Wednesday afternoon and Fort Worth won 4 to 0 on two hits. Shreveport made five errors. Wachtel pitched a one hit no run game against Adkins, who did almost as well in that direction also, he allowed six walks. The Catspitter struck out five men to make his victory more binding. Hoffman, Sport second baseman, collected two errors.

DUKE EXPECTS TO KAYO PAT

Plans Under Way To Bring Many Biff Stars Here This Winter

With Pat Corbett in hard training here for his 10-rounder against Duke Tramel next Monday plans were underway toward bringing a number of the nation's leading welterweights to Wichita Falls this fall and through the winter.

Matchmaker Wofford declared it his opinion that regardless of who wins Monday night either Tramel or Corbett is capable of holding his own with practically the best in the game today.

Both Corbett and Tramel are young and coming up fast. Yet neither is being pushed too quickly. Corbett probably is the more experienced of the two, having traveled a wider range and engaged in more fights, taking on many of the country's best welters.

Corbett is the faster and the cleverer. Tramel is the more rugged and heavier hitter. Yesterday word was received from Fort Worth that Duke is confident of slipping over a knockout on the Kansas City miller and stopping him once and for all time as a ring rival. Corbett has proved more or less a thorn in Duke's side, giving him two hard battles and often challenging him for matches when the Fort Worth walloper was busy scrapping easier boys.

Duke is said to have declared Wednesday: "I hope to stop Corbett cold and shut him up for all time. I know he's fast and mighty clever, but if I can hit 'em I can drop 'em and I certainly believe I can hit Corbett."

Negro Attacks Hutchins Woman

HUTCHINS, Texas, Aug. 25.—(AP)—A negro attacked Mrs. Herbert Orem, 30, at her farm home near here. Mrs. Orem fought off the man and struck him with a hammer which she picked up from the back porch.

A posse of 100 was scouring the country between here and Dallas this afternoon searching for the negro.

Mrs. Orem was seated on her back porch when the negro seized her. She struggled and then managed to get hold of the hammer. After she had struck him he hit her a blow under the eye and knocked her down. Mrs. Orem screamed for help and a negro woman washing clothes at the home of John Orem, Mrs. Herbert Orem's father-in-law, hearing the screams came to her aid. When the negro saw the wash woman approaching, he fled. John Orem's home is down the road a short distance from the home of the woman attacked.

Gunman Is Given Hearing In Texas

TEXARKANA, Ark., Aug. 25.—(AP)—While sheriffs from Tennessee and Mississippi were making a fight for his return to those states on charges of murder, Kennie Wagner, notorious gunman and confessed slayer of six men, was given a preliminary trial today before Judge Louis Joseph. Wagner was ordered held for the grand jury.

Hundreds of persons jammed the little court room which was closely guarded by deputies to prevent any attempt on the part of Wagner to escape. Wagner is charged with the murder of Sam and Will Carper, brothers, on the E. P. Williams plantation, southeast of Fouke, Ark. Bob Carper, a third brother, was wounded.

Kellogg, American secretary of state, for a settlement of the dispute between Chile and Peru over the provinces of Tacna and Arica, now held by Chile.

Heap Big Chief! Woof! Woof! (Yaqui Joe) in Ambush for Mantell

Mr Socko Dutch, He Kick Me in Wr-resl-l-l Ma-atch

Yaqui Joe is either stalking some unseen enemy in the picture or merely lying there thinking about it. But any way you take the situation he's going to have to do more than that tonight if he puts to rout Dutch Mantell, the burly Amarillo orant outang, in their finish embroglio on the Wichita Falls Wrestling association mat.

Joe won't be able to sneak up on Dutch and jump him from ambush whereas he'd better keep his eyes leveled in the right direction or the Dutchman certainly will sneak up and bust him like he did Bill Romonoff last week when the latter turned to the referee momentarily.

They call Yaqui Joe an aborigine and Dutch Mantell a white man. Nevertheless, tonight's battle is a case of savage versus savage. Take it however you like it.

The Indian has been training many weeks for this one chance tonight. He's been coached day in and day out by the wily Matty Matsuda for a revenge bout with Mantell. And the Indian's confident Mantell can't kick him, the burly one's pet method of attack. And he's not worried about Dutch's fist punching ability.

Yaqui has become inbued with the idea Mantell has what is commonly termed in pugilistic circles as a "glass jaw," and he declares that the first time Dutch becomes unruly, or words to that effect, he's going to land a clean knockout punch on that protruding chin.

Jack Gorman, one of Mantell's other close "friends," is billed on the same program with Bert Edwards, a 148-pounder, in a finish mill, also. Gorman, ever a pleaser, is expected to give just about as much real action as Mantell and Joe will, which is expecting a lot.

The first match is to start at 8:15 o'clock.

TIGERS KILL TWINS

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Detroit went on a batting spree today and hammered eight Red Sox pitchers about Fenway Park to take both games of a doubleheader, 11 to 4, and 7 to 6. The Red Six piled up four runs off Stoner in the first inning of the second game, but Harriss was unable to hold the advantage and the Tiger wrecking crew accounted for five runs in the fifth. Heilmann hammered out a home run in the fifth inning of the first game. Score:

UHLE WINS 21ST

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.(AP)—George Uhle, Cleveland pitching star, won his 21st victory of the season here today when the Indians blanked the Yankees, 6 to 0. It was the second shutout recorded against the Yankees this season. The first shutout was tagged on the Hugmen by Tom Zachary of the Browns, July 18.

Uhle allowed eight scattered hits in the triumph which was his fifth in a row over the Yankees.

The contest was played in a steady drizzle and a second game scheduled was postponed. Score:

2,380 CASES OF CLEMENCY

Records Show Generosity of Ma in Giving Freedom

AUSTIN, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Since she has been chief executive of Texas, Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson has issued 2,308 clemency proclamations, records in the office of the secretary of state, show. Since April 6, exactly 593 clemency proclamations have been issued.

The governor has issued 365 full pardons; 756 conditional pardons; 336 restorations of citizenship; 108 paroles; 540 furloughs and extensions of furloughs; commuted six death sentences; granted eight respites of death sentences; remitted 20 jail sentences and balance of jail sentences; remitted ten fines; remitted 13 fines and jail sentences; reduced six fines, reduced one fine and sentence; remitted seven bond forfeitures; revoked nine conditional pardons; revoked 31 paroles and furloughs; suspended service on two mandates of the court of criminal appeals; restored three hunting privileges; reduced 17 bond forfeitures and remitted one jail and bond forfeiture.

Shows Fewer Cases.

In her platform made public April 25, on which she entered the first democratic primary election, the governor showed that she had issued 1,715 clemency proclamations, there being 251 full pardons granted; 647 conditional pardons; 236 restorations of citizenship; 129 paroles, 351 furloughs and extensions; six commutations of death sentences; six respites of death sentences; 15 remissions of jail sentences and batances; eight remissions of fines; 12 remissions of fines and jail sentences; two remissions of bond forfeitures; five revocations of conditional pardons, 23 revocations of furloughs and paroles; two suspension of criminal court of appeals mandates; restored three hunting privileges and reduced 14 bond forfeitures.

The records show that despite the clemency granted the population at the Texas penitentiary remains about the same. When the governor was inaugurated January, 1925, there were about 3,500 prisoners, and the prison report of August 24, 1926, shows that there are 3,529 convicts in the mills and on the farms.

The governor granted a parole Wednesday to Nick Martini, convicted in Archer county in February, 1926, in two liquor cases. He was sentenced one year in each case. Martini was paroled to N. J. Weingapfel of Windhorst, Texas, who is to pay him $20 a month.

GLARE BRINGS DEATH

Sun's Rays Blamed for Fatal Accident Near Houston

HOUSTON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Glare of sun was held responsible for a double tragedy near Wallis Tuesday when John Weaver, 58, drove his automobile directly in the path of a southbound Santa Fe passenger train and resulted in the instant death of Mr. Weaver and his wife, eight years his junior.

The accident occurred at a grade crossing near El Pleasant, a short distance from the Weaver home. Persons who live near the scene reported there was no obstruction at the crossing and that the approaching train could be seen for a considerable distance. Their theory was that Mr. Weaver, who was driving the machine, became blinded by the rays of the sun.

Pollard's Campaign One Of Evasion and Denial, Allred Says

Special to The Record News.

GREENVILLE, Aug. 25.—Alleging that Claude Pollard mis-stated the facts in his speeches wherein he asserted that Allred carried the majority of the counties that had been carried by Ferguson in the first primary, James V. Allred tonight showed by figures of the Texas election bureau that such was not the case.

He stated that Mr. Pollard was deliberately charging a collusion between himself and the Fergusons and was attempting to prove this misstatement by stating that the majority of the counties carried by Ferguson were likewise carried by Allred over Pollard. The records of the Texas election bureau showed however, according to Mr. Allred that out of 57 counties carried by Ferguson in the first primary, that 35 of these were carried by Pollard while Allred carried only 23 of these counties. In two counties no votes were cast.

Takes Exception

He further took exception to the contention of his opponent that his age was a determining handicap, and contended that success rather than age should be the factor to be considered by the voters. Mr. Allred said:

"It is not the number of years one lives but the amount of work he does and what he accomplishes while he lives that makes him efficient. Notwithstanding Jim Ferguson's statement, my official record as district attorney is equalled by few, and the people whom I served as such have so testified by the overwhelming vote they gave me for attorney general.

"My opponent advertises himself in the Martindale law directory in 1926, as a specialist in corporation law, but asserts that he has not represented a corporation for ten years. He cites his record as assistant attorney general as evidence of his qualifications. This record was made just after his defeat for district attorney in the district where he was born. Bear in mind that he was then young, it was even before he became a lobbyist for the railroads at the legislature, representing the Gulf Coast lines.

Evasion and Denial

"His campaign has been one of evasion and denial, denials involving him in issues of veracity with men of the highest integrity; his latest denial bringing him in conflict with the election bureau. The press of the state has quoted him frequently in this matter. The Dallas News quotes him saying, at Corsicana on Monday, August 23:

"'Pollard pointed out that in a majority of counties which went for Governor Ferguson in the first primary also went for James V. Allred for attorney general in the first primary, clearly indicating that there was an understanding between Ferguson and Allred.'

"The election bureau records show that Mrs. Ferguson carried 57 counties, of these Pollard led me in 35 and I led him in only 20. The other two gave neither of us a vote. His error in this statement is in keeping with his denials of promises made to Judge Brachfield, Judge Beard and his old law partner, Judge Lewis Fisher of Houston.

"I have made this campaign as best I could without money. It is true that I have had the help of many moneyless friends. The daily press has been almost unanimously against me; so were they against James Stephen Hogg in the memorable campaign of 1892. I have had no campaign funds with which to spread literature and buy publicity. I have gone to the common people who believe in truth and that a promise means an agreement upon which all men may rely.

Demands Co-operation

The office of attorney general is one that demands co-operation with all departments of state in every proper undertaking. The attorney general should co-operate with industry to the end that the natural resources of Texas may be developed along with the splendid growth of the state, and manufacturing encouraged to keep pace with the ever increasing demand for its products. An arbitrary course on the part of the attorney general may retard these, which would reduce pay rolls and bring stagnation in business.

"I have no business alignments to interfere with a conservative course and no professional obligations to override in order to take care of all enterprises fairly and to represent the whole people. There will be no outside influence to act as proxy for me, no one has financed my campaign and no group has given me publicity.

"The race is practically over. All designing men know for whom they are going to vote. With them the question of qualification is immaterial. With them experience is not a matter of concern. They are against me because I am not aligned with them. Hence, for election I have appealed to the independent voter whose only interest is to select an attorney general whose heart and very soul are in unison with the great mass and whose only ambition is to make the best attorney general within his power.

All grain sorghums originated in Africa and Asia, some having been grown in China and Japan hundreds of years back, and tested in the various experiment stations for adaptability to this country. Most of the varieties have come from Africa, and the Chillicothe station has produced several different kinds of cane and maize and kaffir corn which have proven most valuable to growers in Texas, especially the northwestern part of the state.

Introduced Sudan Grass.

It was the Chillicothe station which introduced the famous Sudan grass. This plant was brought to the states from southern Africa, and was tested out in a number of different experiment stations. Practically all the stations reported unfavorably on the plant with the exception of the Chillicothe station, which bred it up and acclaimed it to this section. From this start Sudan grass has spread to all parts of the United States, and is now one of the finest feed crops raised.

The farm has made extensive experiments with the Hegari variety of cane for feed. This cane is a remarkable heavy producer in all seasons, but experiments show that it produces exceptionally heavy in a rainy season, and for this reason is believed to be a money maker for farmers in the Wichita irrigated valley since it responds well to an abundance of watering. This was one of the most interesting features of the meet to local farmers, as they are interested in a heavy grain sorghum variety for the irrigated belt. There are more than one hundred varieties of grain sorghum now growing under tests at the farm, which is one of the most conclusive testing stations for this crop in the world, and it is felt that their statements are the last word in the matter of grain sorghums.

Cotton is also a matter of considerable interest. The station has been carefully building and breeding up a new variety of cotton for use in northwest Texas. This new plant may not be ready for general planting for several years yet, but work is proceedings on it year by year, and it is hoped that the farm will be successful in breeding up a cotton that will mature earlier and produce heavily from the first blooming, which will enable the crop to mature completely before early frosts.

The Chillicothe experiment farm is a unit of the Texas experiment station service, but it co-operates with the United States experiment service, while not receiving any funds from the United States bureau. The farm is composed of 160 acres of land carefully blocked off into small fields and is well managed. J. R. Quimby is the director, and assisting him are a corps of experienced agriculturists.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—With new export business totaling 700,000 bushels, wheat values gave evidence of a good deal of underlying strength today. Closing quotations on wheat were firm ⅛ to ⅝c net higher, corn ⅛ to ⅝c up, oats a share to ⅛@⅜c down, and provisions unchanged to 30c lower.

Corn rallied with wheat, the fact that skies were clear and temperature normal in the corn belt was partly offset by signs that commercial demand for corn is making steady inroads on invisible supplies. Arrivals of new oats tended to ease down the oats market.

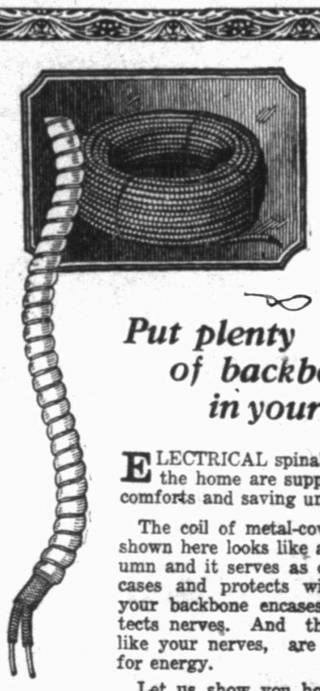

Provisions especially meats lacked adequate support.

Put plenty of backbone in your home

ELECTRICAL spinal columns in the home are supplying many comforts and saving untold labor.

The coil of metal-covered wire shown here looks like a spinal column and it serves as one. It encases and protects wire just as your backbone encases and protects nerves. And these wires, like your nerves, are a pathway for energy.

Let us show you how to equip your home with plenty of electrical backbone and the outlets, switches, fixtures and appliances which put that energy to work.

The energy is there, an unfailing stream of it, surging to you along wires which lead from the Wichita Falls Electric Company's generating stations. Night and day this dependable service is on tap.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Stiffening of call money and time money rates brought about another sharp reaction in today's stock market. Operators for the rise continued their ineffectual attempts to revive bullish enthusiasm by bidding up selected rails and specialties but the higher prices merely increased the volume of offerings, closing quotations disclosing a long list of net declines ranging from one to four points.

Bearish sentiment was rampant in the financial district despite such favorable trade news as the report that steel mill operations and demand were being maintained at an unusually high mid-summer rate and the crossing of the million mark by freight car loadings for the twelfth consecutive week.

Persistent rumors of an early increase in the Boston and Philadelphia federal reserve re-discount rates, while impressible of confirmation undoubtedly led to the heavy liquidation of stocks on the theory that such action would lead to a further restriction of funds for stock market purposes.

Persistent liquidation of U. S. Steel common which sold down to 146⅝ as against the record high of 159⅝ established only eight days ago, was attributed in some quarters to selling for the account of a large New York estate but this report also lacked verification. At the closing price of 147½, steel was off two points on the day. An attempt to rally the market in the late trading by bidding up General Motors also fell flat, the stock closing fractionally lower at 206½, as compared with an early high of 208⅜ and yesterday's high of 214⅝. Cubs company broke over three points to a new 1926 low at 33.

Standing out against a background of declining prices was the sensational gain of 13 points in Warner Brothers Pictures "A," which touched a new high record at 50 as against a low of 12 earlier in the year, on buying influenced by the success of the Vitphone, a new form of talking motion picture. U. S. Rubber common also moved counter to the general trend closing over three points higher at 42⅝.

Call money renewed at 4½ per cent, and then advanced to 5, the first change since August 10. Banks called about $20,000,000 in loans during the day. Time money rates also stiffened, being quoted at 4⅝ to 5 per cent. instead of 4½ to 5. Prime commercial paper ruled firm at 4¼ to 4½ per cent.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Unfavorable crop and weather news gave bears in the cotton market a big scare today with the result that prices had a sharp advance, carrying October up to 18.05 at the extreme, and January to 18.10, or 32 to 35 points over the previous close. Realizing in the last ten minutes left the market finally 18 to 28 points net higher.

The market opened steady and 8 to 13 points higher. The tropical storm was reported a little south of New Orleans, and with expectations that the weekly crop and weather report would prove a bullish influence, led to considerable local and outside buying in the first hour.

Finding the weekly report less unfavorable than anticipated, bears executed large selling orders under which October dropped to 17.71 and January to 17.80. The undertone was very unsettled through the middle of the session but was fairly steady because of uncertainty over the progress of the gulf storm.

In the afternoon, when advices were received from Dallas reporting a falling barometer, traders immediately reached the conclusion that the storm had changed its course and was headed for Texas. As this news feature appeared in the market coincident with weather details showing unseasonably low temperatures in the Oklahoma district, a big covering movement developed which reached its apex in the last half hour. The trade seemed to be impressed with an idea that the crop was getting too much rain and was steadily slipping backward for which reason it felt inclined to reduce its short commitments and be prepared for whatever developments might be forthcoming over night in connection with the tropical storm.

Port receipts 14,479. Exports 6,443, making 243,554 so far this season. Port stocks 607,034 bales.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The cotton market experienced fairly active trading today and the general trend of prices was mainly upward owing to the storm in the gulf, which it was feared would cause general rains in the eastern belt when it struck the coast. There were several good reactions due to selling on the bulges by traders who believed the storm would be only a passing influence. Although Liverpool was barely up to expectations the market opened higher and showed gains of 15 to 17 points in the early trading. Later prices eased off 16 to 24 points to levels six to eight points below the previous close, but during the afternoon prices rallied again on the prospect of the storm striking the east Louisiana coast, advancing 18 to 27 points from the lows. Some of this late gain was lost before the end and the close showed net gains for the day of seven to eight points.

First trades here showed gains of 8 to 15 points and the market continued to improve after the start on storm news until October traded up to 17.90, December to 17.90 and January to 17.84, or 15 to 17 points above the previous close.

The subsequent reaction carried October down to 17.67, December to 17.86 and January to 17.68, or 16 to 24 points down from the highs. These were the low points of the day. The market again rallied during the afternoon and made new highs with October at 17.94, December at 17.92 and January at 17.87, or 19 to 27 points above the lows and 18 to 21 points above the previous close. The market lost 10 to 13 points of this gain in the late trading.

COTTON SEED.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Record breaking consumption of cotton seed oil products during the crop year just ended, not only lifted the weight of the year's enormous current supply of oil, says the National Bank of Commerce in New York but also cleared the market of a heavy carry-over from the previous season. Only moderate supplies have been carried forward into the new year, sufficient, however, to supply requirements until the next crop of seed, which again promises to be large, comes to the market in quantity.

E. Ferguson had made ten mothers of the town a solemn promise that there would be no executive clemency for the man, but that within a few days of this promise a car load of Texas rangers appeared at the county jail in the dead of night where the man was confined and proferred the jailer a pardon, authorizing his liberation. They then took him out of town, "affording," the speaker said, "protection from an outraged citizenry that would never have allowed him to get out otherwise."

Boyle stated that there had been 1,225 pardons issued in the first 17 months of the Ferguson administration, of which 205 had been for men convicted of murder; 101 for burglars; 138 for theft; 51 for assault; 38 for driving a car while intoxicated, and 37 for criminal attacks. "There were no proclamations issued from June 1 until after the first primary," he stated, "and I for one supposed that they had stopped until after election. Not so, however. An enterprising reporter, digging in the records of the office of the secretary of state discovered that a round 140 had been issued without publication of the proclamations."

The speaker charged Ferguson with insincerity in his attempt to inject a ku klux klan issue into the present political campaign, and exhibited a circular which, he charged, was being distributed in known klan communities in which a letter purporting to be from the Taylor chapter of the klan berates Dan Moody for certain alleged actions. "That circular is being scattered in klan communities the while Jim Ferguson is denouncing the organization and attempting to ally Moody with it in speeches at Sealy and Galveston," Boyle declared.

MYTINGER AT WORK ON HOME

New $20,000 Structure Being Erected On Seymour Road

Construction was started this week on the new $20,000 home of J. C. Mytinger on the Seymour road, a building permit having been issued for the structure last Saturday. The home is located on the Seymour road just across from Westmoreland park, and is one of the most beautiful building sites in the city.

The home is to be constructed of No. 1 white pine, with hardwood floors and tile baths. The architectural design is of the colonial type which will fit approximately with the natural setting of the building site. There will be 17 rooms in the house, a basement garage, laundry and heating plant, and the entire design is built for both beauty and comfort. The garage can be entered from the building without having to go outside, and the heating plant and house laundry are all under the same roof.

The grounds, which consist of 20 acres, are naturally beautiful and will be further beautified with plants and shrubs. There are two natural lakes of clear water fed by the irrigation ditch and it is the plan of Mr. Mytinger to utilize these two lakes in improving the grounds.

Harris H. Roberts is the architect and the Walker Construction company is doing the construction work. John Ochesner has the electric and wiring contract and Jack Moore the plumbing.

Hart Addresses Optimist Club

Giving sweatshops, child labor regulations, liquor and drug traffic and corruption in politics, as some of the evils and oppressions of the present day, C. R. Hartt spoke interestingly on that subject to members of the Optimistic club at the weekly luncheon at the Kemp Wednesday.

Mr. Hartt told of some of the conditions existing in some of the manufacturing centers and urged further remedy of conditions as they exist in the sweatshops. He also called attention to the progress that has been made in the regulation of child labor.

"Narcotics and concoctions being sold under the name of liquor are wrecking the lives and impairing the health of thousands and little is being done to halt this menace," the speaker said.

Insufficient salaries are blamed by Mr. Hartt for a large part of the corrupt politics. He spoke of some of the higher appointive posts of the government and compared the small remuneration to the high cost of living.

Final arangements for the Lions-Otimistic baseball game to be played at Athletic Park today were made at a board meeting of the governors, prior to the meeting. The game will begin this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, girls helping with the ticket sales will be guests at luncheon of the club at noon today. Proceeds from the game will be divided between the Optimists Boys home and the Lions club zoo fund, it was announced.

Wichitans Given New Commerce Service In Houston

Wichita Falls manufacturers are offered the direct services of the new district office of the United States Bureau of foreign and domestic commerce which has recently been established at Houston. The manager of the office, Earnest L. Tutt, is a visitor in the city this week, and has called on local manufacturers in connection with the duties of his office.

The bureau of domestic and foreign commerce is established for the purpose of providing information as to freight and water rates to other countries; market conditions, etc. They also give information as to where the best demand for particular goods is, and gives detailed report on credits.

The new office was one of six sew offices recently established by the bureau, which now has seventeen of such offices in operation. They have extended their scope to include every section of the country and by establishing these additional offices are giving better service, as in case of this state, which formerly had to apply to the New Orleans office.

Mr. Tutt was much enthused over what he has seen of the city, and expressed great surprise at the volume of manufactured goods shipped from Wichita Falls to foreign ports. There are few cities in the south shipping more volume to foreign ports than this city, and for this reason Mr. Tutt expects to have considerable business with local manufacturers.

Youngster's Fame Goes Before Him

A 13-year-old youngster found that his fame had gone before him when he arrived in Wichita Falls after making a sensational escape from a child's detention home at Fort Worth, for there were kindly officers here who were willing to do everything in the world for him except to let him roam about the country at will.

The boy was turned over to Miss Katherine Henricle of the local welfare bureau, and with the financial co-operation of the Salvation Army, was returned to Fort Worth.

TO OPEN NEW BRIDGE TODAY

Holliday Creek Structure Over Harrison Is About Ready

The new bridge across Holliday street at the terminus of Harrison street should be open for traffic today. County Engineer J. M. Isbell stated Wednesday. A crew was at work then he said at grading the approaches and the work should have been completed by last night. The road leading across the bridge will probably be paved within the next month or so, he stated.

The bridge's opening provides a third route from Wichita Falls to Lake Wichita, the old way over Grant street, at second via Holliday street, and this, out Harrison, over the bridge and tence to the lake via the Holliday-Park-Lake road.

Adair Attending Highway Meeting

In connection with the many details of building Wichita Falls the local chamber of commerce is not overlooking in the way of improved highway conditions, and today H. J. Adair, publicity director, is in Denton attending a roads meeting at Denton. This meeting is being held by interested parties along the proposed route for a new road to extend from Montague to Denton. An effort is being made to have this road designated as a State Highway, and if these efforts prove successful it will mean a material shortening of the road from Wichita Falls to Dallas.

Will Edwards of the Denton Record-Chronicle has been active in getting the meeting called and will have a large group of representatives from along the road at the meeting this afternoon.

The proposed route would give a direct road from Wichita Falls to Dallas by way of Bowie, Nocona, and Denton.

CHARGES FILED.

Formal charges of assault with intent to murder were filed Wednesday by the district attorney, alleged to Simmons if Burkburnett, alleged to have stabbed his wife and seriously injured her in the course of a domestic altercation at their home near the northwest field Sunday night.

Wife Went Out Too Much So He Seeks Divorce

The "gallivatin's around" of his wife, mother of four children ranging in age from nine to 17 years are made the basis for a divorce suit filed in the district court Wednesday afternoon. Infidelity and harsh and tyrannical treatment are alleged by the plaintiff, who states that his wife would habitually leave his home at night-time without his permission and attend dances at roadhouses in the western part of the county. Once, in a fit of anger, he says, she scratched his face with her fingers. According to his petition he married the defendant in January of this year.

The divorce suit was one of three filed in the district courts Wednesday, allegations in both of the others being harsh and tyrannical treatment.

Returns From Cotton Conference

Mrs. J. W. Fauntleroy, 1108 Burnett, returned Wednesday from Childress county where she attended a banquet and get-together meeting of the farmers who met to discuss the better way to raise cotton to avoid the cotton fleas and other pests.

Mrs. Fauntleroy stated that while the cotton on her farm has not been bothered by the pests, that they have damaged the crops in other portions of the county. In the meeting which was held at Childress, the farmers advocated the planting of cotton early as the best means of avoiding damage from fleas, worms and insects, Mrs. Faunleroy said.

The first bale of cotton marketed in the county was Tuesday and was raised o. the J. W. Trent farm joining the Fauntleroy land.

PERMITS GET GOOD BOOST

$29,000 Total Reached In Last Two Months Record Shows

Building permits for suburban development received a decided boost Saturday afternoon, when a permit was granted Mytinger and Walker to build a residence on the Seymour road at a cost of $20,000. This runs the total for suburban building up to $29,000 for the past two months.

Other permits issued in suburban development are:

July 1, J. M. Isbell, residence, Indian Heights, $5,000.

July 28, G. W. Edgin, residence, 2709 Holliday, $3,000.

August 3, J. D. Tidwell, residence, Thirty-fourth and Travis, $1,000.

Additional building permits within the city for the first three days of this week totalled $17,300, making an additional amount of $46,300 to add to the already enormous total of more than seven million dollars for the year.

BIRCHFIELD IMPROVES.

Carl Birchfield, who dropped to the sidewalk unconscious Tuesday morning while talking to a friend in this city, and was taken to a local hospital, is improving and not in a serious condition, according to information received Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Birchfield of Electra, rushed to the hospital upon receipt of a message stating that their cousin, Carl Birchfield was in a critical condition. His wife who was at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ground on the Seymour road, was also summoned to his bedside.

Mr. and Mrs. Birchfield lived in Electra until a month ago when they moved to Vernon and later to Wichita Falls.

Iowa Park Gets Ready For Fair

F. F. McMordie, manager of the Iowa Park branch of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce, and assistant county agent, was a visitor in the city Wednesday afternoon, and stated that Iowa Park is getting ready for the Texas-Oklahoma fair, and that a number of exhibits are already gathered and ready for entering at the fair.

Cotton is looking fine in that section, and picking will be in full sway in a few days. All crops are doing fine, the melons hanging onto good production despite the recent rains.

Hundreds of acres of trees like this one, under the electric lights and traversed with paved driveways of our fast growing city—This is the future we've pictured for Pecan-Fruit Orchards. Watch it come to pass.

Pecan Tree, under irrigation, in Yuma Valley, Arizona; planted in January, 1923, and loaded with pecans when this picture was made in May, 1925. It is one of 135 trees, all of which bore nuts first year after planting. A recent report states that these trees have an estimated average of 20 pounds per tree this year, 1926. The nuts are sold at $1.00 per pound. Very little waiting for results here.

An Irrigated Pecan Orchard Within Two Miles of the City Hall!

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR ONLY A FEW—THERE'S NOT ROOM FOR MANY

WE OFFER 30 ACRES—THAT'S ALL, NO MORE

In tracts to suit purchasers, and cut from the choicest acreage of Pecan-Fruit Orchards, to a few desirable citizens who will subscribe to modest building restrictions.

Pecan experts have pronounced our soil and climate unsurpassed for the Pecan tree. In other localities, with thin land that calls for fertilizers, without irrigation, and many miles from city or town, pecan trees are giving values of $5,000 and more, per acre to land previously worth only $30 to $50 per acre. What may we expect in our great Wichita Valley where nature and man, with soil, climate, abundant water and thriving city have done their very best?.

Our soil is an exceedingly fertile, sandy loam, underlaid with a rich, porous, clay subsoil—no hard-pan or unproductive sand-bed beneath—a soil that is all good to 15 to 20 feet deep. It produces huge crops of melons, potatoes, tomatoes, beans, and peas and all manner of vegetables. It is the land that grew "Hearts of Gold" Cantaloupes, literally in piles this year. It is adapted to the highest development of the grapes, blackberry, dewberry, strawberry, peach and plum. All are being started on our lands and grow splendidly. All kinds of vegetables and fruits can be grown in profusion between the pecan trees.

A Pecan orchard out-rivals the orange and lemon or walnut groves of California or Florida. As a producer of wealth, it excels each and every fruit, vegetable or nut of any country on the globe. Of course, we refer to the big, budded, paper-shell pecans that bring 75 cents to $1.50 per pound and begin bearing the first or second year after planting.

American Nut Journal: "An investment of $3,000 to $6,000 which in ten years grows to $100,000 and continues to increase in value and in the amount of revenue produced for 100 years or more, might rightly be termed a "get-rich-quick" scheme and be shunned by those who have purchased oil stock or have invested in gold and copper mines in far away mountains. YET, there are a number of instances where such investments have been made in East Texas.—Reference is made to East Texas Pecan Orchards."

An orchard of 800 trees at Albany, Georgia, averaged six pounds of nuts the 4th year; 13 pounds the 5th year; 28 pounds the 6th year; and 53 pounds the 7th year. One tree yielded 41 pounds the 5th year.

The original Oliver tree, 75 years old, averaged more than 300 pounds per year for 30 years.

A 40-acre orchard, 16 years old, at Cairo, Georgia, netted its owner $37,000 in 1925.—What is the value of such property?

Mr. J. E. Fitzgerald, prominent Texas business man said: "Pecan trees seldom die.*Two trees in Lampasas County, Texas, bear 600 and 1,000 pounds respectively, and the nuts sell for 50 cents to $1.00 per pound. These two trees could not be purchased for $5,000.

A whole newspaper page might be covered with such instances as the above. We can duplicate every one of them in the Wichita Valley.

Three-year-old orchards are selling in Georgia at $800 to $1,000 per acre. Experts assert that one acre here will prove more profitable than three acres there.

The total annual crop of pecans produced amounts to only about 4 ounces for each citizen of the United States. There is no danger of an over-supply.

One company sells its large production of pecans at $1.50 per 12 ounce fancy box delivered by mail and cannot supply the demand.

"The nut grower of the future will be the aristocrats of the agricultural world."—Dr. J. H. Kellogg, head of the Battle Creek Sanitarium.

WHICH WILL IT BE

When our city reaches out and takes these beautiful groves unto herself and bestows the added charm of electric lights, cement drives, gas and water—when that day arrives, will you be the happy, contented owner of several acres covered with their wealth of trees, vine and bush or will you be the regretful owner of only a city lot? The present cost is the same.

If desired, each purchaser can arrange to have his tract set in pecan trees next winter in the same expert manner as the 120 acres now planted in our orchards. It is our desire to see the entire tract of 400 acres developed in pecans in the most perfect manner and of finest varieties possible, and we shall exert every effort to this end.

For full particulars, call at Pecan-Fruit Orchards between 3 and 7 o'clock p. m. Location 1½ miles northeast of city on Charley Road.
