THE WINTERS ENTERPRISE

VOLUME FIVE | WINTERS, TEXAS 79567 | THURSDAY, AUGUST 25, 1994 | PRICE 50 CENTS | NUMBER 34

VARSITY QUARTERBACK JOHN BELEW throws the short pass during scrimmage action against Eldorado last Thursday. The Blizzards travel to Colorado City this Thursday to scrimmage the Wolves. Regular season play begins September 2 against Roscoe.

1994 Blizzards debut against Eldorado; meet C-City next

Playing with some Blizzards on the mend, the varsity squad looked pretty impressive during their first outing in the opening scrimmage against Eldorado last Thursday evening.

Defensively, the Big Blue had some hard hitting with good basic fundamentals, then experienced some intermittent breakdowns. The Blizzards recovered two big fumbles late in the fourth quarter.

The offense seemed to struggle some and didn't run the ball as well as expected but there were some big plays in the passing game.

Head coach Robin Byrd said, "Although we lost 2-0, I don't think about winning or losing a scrimmage. I consider it an opportunity to take a close look at our players in a setting somewhat different than a regular game."

Although most of the injured players are improved enough to see action, three or four Blizzards will be out for an undetermined time.

The next scrimmage is August 25 at Colorado City, with the junior varsity starting at 6 p.m. followed by the varsity at around 7:30.

Regular season play begins Friday, September 2, with a home game against Roscoe. The Plowboys are currently ranked seventh in the state.

City discusses proposed budget, need for fire truck

The Winters City Council met in their first called session Friday, August 19, to discuss the proposed General Fund and Waterworks budget for fiscal year 1994-1995. The three and a half hour workshop presented many questions, all of which were answered by City Administrator Aref Hassan or the directed department supervisors.

Administrator Hassan was advised by the council to incorporate some corrections and revise the proposed budget accordingly. It was agreed that another workshop be scheduled for Monday, August 22.

With all council members present at the following meeting, the budget workshop was again opened for discussion. Jack Davis Jr., Charles Grenwelge, Johnny Merrill, and Ralph Whittenburg were visitors.

Mayor Joe Gerhart announced that the time period between the workshops was brief and that the revised proposed budget was not yet ready for the council's consideration; he asked for open discussion.

Fire Chief Johnny Merrill reiterated the need for a new pumper truck. "Our backs are against the wall. We've been asking about this pumper for years and now the situation is critical." The proposed budget does not include monies for the purchase of a new fire truck. Without replacing this 1965 model fire engine, the key rates would be lowered causing higher insurance rates.

Merrill stated that specific financing is available through several manufacturing companies and that the money could be borrowed with no down payment required. Over a ten-year period, $85,000 could be repaid at $13,000 year. Another alternative would be the lease-purchase option plan.

The old fire truck would be a great expense to maintain and insure; therefore, it would be to the city's advantage to sell the truck.

In other business, the new code of ordiances for the City of Winters was approved and will be adopted. The Main Street Interagency Council accepted Winters' application, one of 17 small cities who have applied for assistance in the Main Street program. Administrator Hassan said that Winters has a very good chance of being accepted.

The Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission (TNRCC) approved the condition of Elm Creek Reservior during their August 1 inspection. Recent repairs to the rip-rap of the dam were complimented by Hilary D. Spilo, E.I.T., dam safety inspector. She had shown her appreciation to Jack Davis Jr., Tony Torres, and David Carroll for their time, knowledge, and courtesy extended during her visit. She concluded her letter, addressed to the city administrator, by saying "Thank you for your commitment to the upkeep and maintenance of your structure".

Winters had applied for a grant through the Frees Foundation for assistance in building a new city hall. However, the Frees Foundation received far more applications than what can possibly be funded and are accepting no new applications at this time. They are currently committed for the next two years to projects that are already approved by their Board of Directors. Winters will continue to seek financial aid.

Further discussion of the proposed budget will continue at the next meeting, September 12.

New $2.9 million county jail discussed at public hearing

Approximately 40 people gathered for more than two hours in the high school auditorium Tuesday evening, August 23, for one of four hearings scheduled to explain reasons for building a new $2.9 million, 104-bed Runnels County jail.

The current 22-bed jail, built in 1925, is currently seriously overcrowded with 37 inmates, and has housed as many as 45 in the past.

In May, 1993, the Texas Commission of Jail Standards in Austin permitted the county to add a dozen bunk beds to help out with the overcrowding, and in November, 1993, agreed to extend that approval for two years or until a new jail is completed.

Tuesday night, Runnels County Sheriff Bill Baird said, "We're in deep trouble. The state is telling us we have to do something. We don't want to, but we'll have to and very soon."

Baird related that some counties waited too long and were completely shut down. "We chose to face this situation and do something before it's too late," he said.

OIL BIDNESS . . .

By Reg Boles ©1994

It's Oil Patch Basics time, and this time we are going to talk about all those necessary "odds-n-ends" in tubular connections throughout the oil and gas business.

You know what I mean: elbows (or "L's"), "T's", "60's", "30's", "U's" (or "180's"), nipples, pony joints, unions, etc.

They are the pieces that tie the whole operation together. Sure, 30 and 45 foot long joints of tubing making up most of any pipeline, battery connection, or flowline, but they wouldn't be able to accomplish their task if it weren't for the little guys.

As long as there are reasons to not go in a straight line, there will be reasons to have these special tubular connections.

Most are self-explanatory in nomenclature.

For instance, a "T" is just that. It is a connection with three threaded connectors; two opposite each other and one 90 degrees from the other two. Much like the letter (you guessed it) "T".

It is used mainly to branch a line into two directions. Say, for example, you might want to lay a flow line out of a tank and divert the flow into two opposite ends of the tank battery. A "T" would be placed in the flow patch to take the fluid in two separate directions. Or, one might want to join two separate lines into one--the opposite of splitting one into two. Just think in the opposite direction.

The "L" or elbow is used to just plain change directions. You may want to go around something or just want to come into a battery from a different direction. The connection shaped like an "L" does that job well. Usually, the connection has two female (or receiver), threaded ends, but they do come with one male and one female if you need it that way.

Connectors that don't quite bend 90 degrees like "T's" or "L's" are called "60's", "30's" or whatever based on the angle of change between one connector and another.

The infamous "180" is only for those that fall for the line on their first day on the gang truck. Although there probably exists some application for such a connector, changing directions that drastically would seem to indicate more serious problems ahead.

Small pieces of tubing to make things fit together are called nipples or pony joints. These items are listed as "6's", "8's", etc. to denote their length in inches. They make the setup at a battery fit perfectly. Sometimes they are purchased in certain lengths, but there are times when cutting your own is the only way to make things fit.

Unions are special connectors that have coarser threaded receptacles that pull two ends of some line together. They are used where the connection might need to be broken periodically or where it is difficult to get two joining ends to fit. The coarser threads and forgiving fit allow easier connections, especially up off the ground.

Now you are ready to go into some oil field supply store and start throwing some of these terms around. But, be careful, you might wind up with $500 worth of heavy metal for your front yard sprinkler system.

Poe's Corner

A record of our history

The concept of the Texas Main Street program, governed by the Texas Historical Commission, is to bring preservation based commercial revitalization to the communities.

Since the Historical Commission is in charge, one of their requirements in applying for a grant is to answer the question, "How many historical markers are in the city?"

Winters has eight official historical markers in the city limits!

Runnels County has had an active Historical Commission since 1962, organized by that year's county judge, W.H. Rampy. It was first called a "Survey Committee", and later changed to Historical Commission.

Having served as secretary for the first 27 years, I happen to have all the records. There are now 55 historical markers in the county.

The first Winters marker was issued in 1962 for the old cotton oil mill on 710 N. Melwood Street (known as the Norman Shetland Stables).

It was the first local industrial plant and processed cottonseed into cake, meal hulls, and oil. It gave the city a good payroll, a work whistle marking times of the day, and a good aroma.

Built in 1909-1910 by Bird, Hall, and Mertz of San Angelo, the stone for the millhouse was quarried at Posey Farm on Gap Creek (southeast of the city).

Owned by Herman Giesecke and Associates of Ballinger from 1911 to 1927; then by Anderson, Clayton, and Company of Houston. The mill closed in 1939, after cotton farming declined.

Another historical marker was issued in 1967 for the old Winters State Bank building located on the corner of Main Street and Dale Avenue.

It was founded in 1906 by John Q. McAdams, who served 17 years as cashier, and since as president. Original capitalization of the bank was $15,000. It was first located immediately south and moved to this site in 1909.

McAdams bought Farmers and Merchants State Bank in 1913 and the First National Bank of Winters in 1937. The building was enlarged in 1924 and again in 1954.

McAdams was treasurer (1918) and president (1931-1932) of the Texas State Bankers Association, served as the state banking commissioner (1941-1944), and held office as president of the State Banks Division - American Bankers Association (1950-1951).

The Winters Masonic Lodge #743, A.F. and A.M., then located at the present drugstore at 102 N. Main, was founded in the upper room of the schoolhouse ten years before Winters became a town. The lodge was chartered December 7, 1892. The first officers were J.T. Brown, worshipful master; Ervin Brown, senior warden; W.S. Mullin, junior warden.

After a 1910 fire, the lodge moved to the present hall. The marker was issued in 1971.

The Winters Brass Band, then located at the Boy Scout Hut on N. Main, was organized by Charles Grant in 1901, seven years after the town was incorporated. Grant conducted the band when it played for the coming of Winters' first railroad in 1909 and served as band master for 15 years.

Sunday afternoon concerts were presented in the bandstand, then located in Tinkle Park. Members traveled in a bandwagon drawn by four white horses to play in small towns nearby. Favorite tunes were "The Anvil Chorus", "Stars and Stripes Forever", and "Poet and Peasant". New uniforms, blue with gold stripes, cost $14 in 1905.

After 1920, the retired band members helped the Winters School organize a band by lending some of their instruments to the students.

About 200 brass bands once flourished in Texas, and music was a cultural activity in the state's first colony in the 1820's. Many towns had started to build bandstands by 1850, using them for political rallies, church socials, fund-raising drives, as well as concerts.

Once the largest brass band west of Fort Worth, the Winters group and others like it contributed much to the cultural growth of Texas.

The marker was issued in 1967. The Texas State Historical Commission presented us this marker and paid for it in recognition of our work in the county.

It is well for us to review our heritage occasionally and recognize how much we owe our ancestors.

Annual Stenholm picnic planned September 10

"Welcome to Ericksdahl" will be the greeting on Saturday, September 10, as neighbors gather for their annual picnic honoring Charlie and Cindy Stenholm. Swedish immigrants first gathered here in 1906 on these eighty acres which belong to the Lutheran church. Once a part of the S.M. Swenson ranches, this soil along the California Creek could relate many stories of the past. A publication of 1918 records:

"The land occupied by the Swedish and Danish people stretches from Stamford to Lueders with some of it lying in the western part of Shackelford County. Most of it is upland intersected by hills and valleys."

The first church building was a white frame structure completed in the summer of 1907 at a total cost of $2520.00. A magnificent rock building dominates the area today. Men of the congregation began digging the rocks in 1932. It was completed in 1941.

Dr. Hugo B. Haterius had come to serve the church and the community in 1919. He dedicated his life to improving living conditions with emphasis on better farming practices. The California Creek Soil Conservation District was organized in 1938. One of the early officers of this group was Lambert Stenholm, father of Charlie.

On September 10, a western band will provide background music as friends reminisce and get in the line for barbecue and watermelon. This is the tradition and heritage from which Charlie Stenholm comes. He and Cindy have their farm home just two (2) miles from the picnic area. The fun time will begin at 4:30 p.m. For those not familiar with the site, call 915/773-5521 for more information.

Library News

by Joyce Krause, Librarian

The Winters Public Library is proud to announce that we now have Tom Clancy's new book, "Debt of Honor." We will handle this in the same manner as we are John Grisham's "The Chamber". The first one in on Thursday who wants "Debt of Honor" gets it. The others sign up and will be called as soon as it is returned.

Other new books are Mary Higgins Clark's "Remember Me", and Jeffery Archer's "Twelve Red Herring" and Lilian Jackson Braun's "The Cat Who Came to Breakfast".

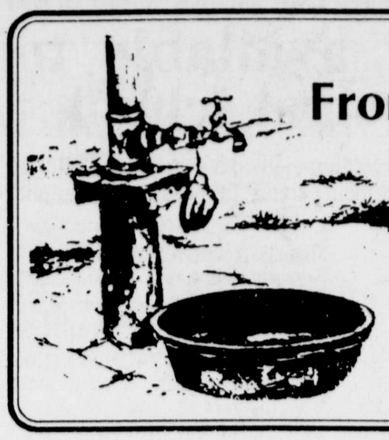

Other new books of note are Tony Hillerman's "Sacred Clowns", Sidney Sheldon's "The Doomsday Conspiracy", and Lawrence Sander's "McNally's Luck".

In paperback, we have "Forrest Gump" by Winston Groom and Elmer Kelton's, "Honor at Daybreak". Elmer Kelton is the western writer from San Angelo.

Donated by Nina Hale in appreciation of Jimmy Smith, D.V.M., "Every Living Thing". This is a biography by James Herriot.

On behalf of the Library Board and myself, we thank those of you who have made donations both in money and in books. This is the only way the library can operate. Your support is greatly appreciated.

From The Well

by Pastor Jim Hanson

My grandma was a "hummer". Off and on, during the day, I would hear her humming a tune. Usually a hymn. It was good for her soul. It brought to her a piece of peace. It quieted her anxieties and calmed her fears. Like a mother might still her child, her humming stilled her soul.

She also sang. Solos. But never in front of a crowd - at church or in some community gathering. She sang solos alone, in her room, to God. As part of her daily routine, usually about 9:30 in the morning. She would read Scripture - out loud. She would pray - out loud. And she would sing hymns - out loud. And she was all alone in the room.

I'm sure she wasn't the only one. Just yesterday I asked a group of young women if their mothers or grandmothers were "hummers", or if they sang around the house. They all raised their hands. I wonder if any of them hum or sing around the house.

I may be wrong, but I don't think many people do anymore. Humming and singing have been replaced by listening to someone else sing. Compact disks and tapes, walk-mans and boom-boxes, stereo systems in homes and cars and pick-ups, radio and T.V. fill the air with sounds. But, that's different. When you listen to someone else, they are playing on their emotions. When you are singing or humming, you are playing on your emotions. And there is a big difference.

Ramona, my wife, is really concerned about the children, all children, that 'they learn to sing songs, good songs'. Especially the hymns and songs that express our feelings toward God. She says that they need to learn them by heart, so that when they need to sing, to play on their emotions, the tunes and the words will be there.

She's right, of course. I can remember when I was serving up north, there were several women who, when they went to the hospital to sit with their husbands who were very sick or in a coma, would take their hymn book with them. One explained to me, "Pastor, as I go through the pages, the words and the tunes warm my soul."

My favorite song is "Jesus Loves Me." I want it sung at my funeral. On more than one occasion, when I have been called to an emergency room to bring comfort to a family, or to a home where someone has just died, the inside of my car is filled with me playing on my emotions and singing at the top of my voice, "Yes, Jesus loves me." And, being built up in my soul, I am given the power to assure the others that Jesus loves them, even in their grief, especially in their sorrow.

The other day I found a piece that a pastor wrote. I will share it with you. "Arnold was a shut-in all of my years as a pastor. At the end, his wife Pearl kept the hospital vigil as he slipped into a coma. We talked to him and prayed with him, but all on faith, with no response.

On a hunch, I sang a song from my childhood to him, "Jesus loves me, this I know". It did not feel as foolish as I had feared. "For the Bible tells me so." His wife and daughter softly joined in, just for the sad comfort of it. "Little ones to him belong, they are weak but he is strong."

Suddenly, Arnold started singing along, first weakly, then strongly. "Yes, Jesus loves me." Deep inside, he heard and knew that song. "Yes, Jesus loves me." It was our last brief point of earthly contact, breaking through the coma, just for a minute. But, long enough to make the connection between his soul and God. No wonder the Apostle Paul says, "Make the most of the time...be filled with the Spirit, addressing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody to the Lord with all your heart." (Ephesians 5:19) It really works!

Winters School loses freshman football team

The 1994 football schedule has been revised.

There will be no freshman team playing this year as there are not enough players to maintain both freshman and junior varsity squads.

Please note that the games scheduled for the J.V. October 6 and October 13 have been changed to reflect different opponents (Roscoe to Coahoma, Forsan to Roscoe, respectively). Approximate times are listed for the beginning of the games.

The starting time of the junior high games against Stamford, September 22, has been revised to 5:00 p.m.

COACHES CHRIS WILDE (left) and BIFF WHITE go over instructions to the junior varsity Blizzards in their scrimmage victory over Eldorado last Thursday. Coach Wilde said, "I'm very pleased with our first performance. Our running game was a little weak but our passing game was impressive."

TIPS makes changes

The TIPS staff is happy to be serving the children of the district beginning the first day of the 1994-1995 schoolyear. However, because there has been a $10,000.00 cut in grant monies, TIPS has had to make some changes.

•The partnership fee of $25.00 per year must now be paid twice a year, once in the fall and again in January.

•January 6, 1995 is the due date for the second partnership fee. The fee must be paid in full before your child/children can attend TIPS.

•No partial payments will be received this year for either partnership fees or weekly fees.

•Weekly fees will be collected on Mondays this year. The fee is still $10.00 per week for one child, and $15.00 per week for two or more children.

•Because the fee for care is so reasonable, there will be no discounts for days your child misses unless he/she misses the entire week.

The staff of TIPS looks forward to a wonderful year, and appreciates your efforts to comply with the changes necessary to keep TIPS operating at their present level of success.

Coping with the "Home Alone" dilemma

Never before has the need for supervised care for school-age children been so strong. Today, experts estimate that at least five million school-age children are at home alone every day, for some period of time. In fact, half of these children are left unsupervised during summer days, or before and after school. And this trend is expected to continue: within the next few years, 75% of all parents of school-age children will be in the work force.

Experts agree that for the millions of American families faced with the dilemma, leaving school-age children at home alone can be very stressful. According to Dr. Marcy Guddemi, an expert in child development and vice president of education for KinderCare Learning Centers, "many parents are often very concerned about how well their children can cope, both with routine activities and potentially unsafe situations. And while many children enjoy caring for themselves and happily accept the added responsibilities, others don't adapt so easily and often feel lonely or scared."

Many communities offer affordable programs that are designed to meet the special needs of school-age children by opening new KID'S CHOICE centers, launched in communities nationwide.

KID'S CHOICE provides children ages 6 to 12 years-old with a wide-range of developmentally-appropriate, supervised activities offered in a 7,000 sq. ft. facility that includes full indoor and outdoor recreation areas and computerized learning facilities. Under the directions of trained teachers, kids participate in arts and crafts, drama and dance classes and organized sports. Breakfast and a healthy snack are served; KID'S CHOICE also provides transportation to and from local schools.

KinderCare plans to open several hundred centers within the next few years. Although cost varies by location, it averages $65 during the school-year and $85 per week for full time summer care.

However, for working parents with older latch-key children who will remain at home, Dr. Guddemi suggests the following tips to help them foster independence and build their self-esteem:

Discuss the importance of responsibility with your child; set rules for behavior and activities and inform him/her about basic safety information, including the "9-1-1" emergency telephone procedures. Young children who understand why they are home alone, and what they may and may not do, will be more at ease and confident in managing themselves.

If possible, inform a neighbor or nearby relative that your child is home alone and occasionally have them check-in with your child.

Have healthy, easy-to-prepare meals and/or snacks available for children; leave a note to create a communication bond that says you are close in thought.

Be sure your child has several appropriate activities to keep him/her occupied after homework is complete. Take time with them to prioritize these activities and assign a chore for each day (i.e.: "after you walk the dog, please set the table and practice the piano"). Children should be discouraged from watching too much television!

"Crews News" is not available this week. Mrs. Kurtz' phone was in need of repair as of Tuesday at publication time. Look for her column again next week.

"Runnels County can't afford to put 30 to 35 prisoners in other people's jails."

Bob Frisby, president of Jail Planners, Inc., of Corsicana, presented a detailed program on a proposed jail.

Frisby recommends that the jail be built at a location away from the courthouse, where it is presently, and with expansion capabilities in the design.

Sheriff Baird said he has been talking with other sheriffs and federal government about housing their prisoners which would help pay for part of the new jail.

The proposed new, one-story facility would be approximately 27,000 square feet with state of the art equipment and cost around $2.94 million. The new jail would contain 104 beds and be maintained by the same manpower as presently needed to secure 38 inmates. Construction, which should take about 18 months, would be of steel, concrete and special reinforced glass in a more open-view type of security.

County commissioners are looking at various ways to fund this new facility, with options such as a bond election or certificates of obligation.

Several members of Tuesday night's audience posed questions to Mr. Frisby and Sheriff Baird, such as why can't the new facility be built near the courthouse, why can't the county just remodel the present jail, and why does the county have to provide such a "nice" facility as compared to state and federal prisons.

Answers to these questions and further details were given and will be published at a later time.

The first hearing was held Monday, August 22, in Ballinger.

Next week's hearings are scheduled for Monday, August 29, at 7 p.m. at the ODHS Hall in Rowena and on Tuesday, August 30, at 7 p.m. at Weatherby Hall in Miles.

WHS Class of 1979 finalizing 15 year reunion plans

The Winters High School Class of 1979 is in the final stages of planning their 15 year reunion for the Labor Day weekend. The activities will start off with an informal get-together after the Roscoe game, Friday, September 2.

Saturday at lunch (11:30-1:30), everyone is invited to bring their own picnic lunch to Ted Meyer Park. It is going to be a family time to visit with ex-students of many classes and with teachers (and their families), as well. Saturday night at 6:30 p.m., there will be a dinner at the new Mount Carmel Catholic hall with dancing and music afterwards.

All 1979 graduates, their spouses and guests, those who attended school with the class (even though they might not have been around to graduate), and other classes (especially 1976, '77, '78, '80, '81, and '82) are invited to attend any or all of the events.

There will be a $15 per person charge to those attending the dinner and dance. Anyone planning to attend the dinner should RSVP to Janet Jacob Cason (915-754-5205) or Becky McKnight Boles (214-553-9823) or leave your name and money at The Winters Enterprise office by Friday, August 26, at 5pm.

Everyone is also invited to bring their memorabilia to the reunion for fun and reminiscing.

The following class members are still without an address, so, if you know how to reach any of them, please let Janet or Becky know as soon as possible: Kelly Blackerby, Elmer Buckelew, James Gonzalez, Steve Hall, Martin Martinez, Melanie McGinnis, Bryan Osborne, Jill Walker, Kay Black, Curtis Minzenmayer, Corkey Solomon, Kevin Sanders, and Lindy Ortegon.

MCBETH FAMILY REUNION held July 16.

McBeth reunion

by Laura McBeth Thaxton

Mabel McBeth White of Tuscola, Texas was the oldest living McBeth present at this year's reunion July 16 in Cisco, Texas. Descendants of the six children of Alexander Campbell McBeth meet each year on the Saturday nearest his birthday of July 18 to visit with relatives and to remember the McBeth ancestors.

After meeting the first few years in Rising Star, the reunion was moved to Cisco where it has been held since about 1948. Mrs. White is the great-granddaughter of Alexander and Mary Thomas McBeth.

Alexander Campbell McBeth and his wife, Mary Thomas Brazil, came to Texas in 1870 from Covington County, Alabama, and lived in Eastland County, Stephens County, and Indian Territory, Oklahoma, before finally settling in Rising Star. He and Mary Thomas had five sons and one daughter. They were William James, Alexander Campbell Jr., "Joe" Thomas, Daniel, George Aulcey, and Mary Elizabeth "Lizzie" McBeth. All but George Aulcey remained in Texas all their lives.

At the time of the first McBeth reunion only Joe and Lizzie were still living, but from these sons and daughter came 39 cousins who first began the McBeth reunion. Today there are over 600 descendants of Alexander and Mary Thomas McBeth.

There were others in attendance from as far away as Spain; El Cajon, California; Lakeside, California; San Antonio, Texas; Copperas Cove, Texas and many other Texas cities.

Those in attendance were: Jerry McBeth, Dustin Smith, Lance Smith, Shena Smith, Justin Thomas, Amber Thomas, Sarah McBeth, Bryan Hawkins, Seth Hawkins, Cynthia Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McBeth, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fisher, Leslie McBeth, Carrie McBeth, Mr. and Mrs. E. Burn Hull, Vena Hart, Mabel White, Louise McBeth, Mr. and Mrs. Abner Pittman, Richard Pittman, Laura Thaxton, Judy Rather, Mr. and Mrs. Jeep Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Ribble, Carolyn Reed, LaVerne Huffman, Sybil Tounget, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bristow, Brandon Bristow, Carol McBeth, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Raymond McBeth, Melissa Price and friend Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Denver Price, Larry McBeth, Lugene Morris, Wynell Terry, Carlos McBeth, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McBeth, Macy McBeth, Ryan McBeth, Polly Hewitt, Jani Edwards, Michael McBeth, Jimmie Ray Bristow, Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Thaxton, Matthew Thaxton, Kyle Thaxton, Kaitlin Thaxton, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Martin, Justin Martin and Chance Martin.

Pest Management News

by Richard Minzenmayer
Extension Agent-Entomology (PM)
Runnels-Tom Green Counties

GENERAL SITUATION

Dryland cotton has cut-out and bloomed out the top. Many irrigated cotton fields are also cutting out and blooms are within 2 or 3 nodes from the terminal.

Bollworm egg counts are beginning to increase as is the weevil punctures. Cotton aphids continue to be a problem primarily in the irrigated cotton.

Corn harvest is well underway and most producers are very happy with yields.

COTTON

Boll weevil punctures ranged from 0 to 48% this week. Once cotton cuts out and blooms near the terminal begin pulling small nickel-sized bolls instead of 1/3 grown squares. Pulling squares at cut out does not give you a true picture of what's going on because there are so few squares and so many bolls. The treatment threshold at this stage should be 10 to 15% punctured bolls. Bolls should be protected until the youngest bolls you intend to harvest are 12-14 days old. These are about the size of a quarter and firm to the touch.

Cotton aphid populations continue to be a problem primarily in irrigated cotton. We should delay insecticidal control of the aphids until infestations exceed 50 aphids per leaf. Most aphid infestations develop to their highest levels after mid-August, often declinging to low levels soon after this peak. This 50 aphids per leaf guideline is not an economic threshold, but rather a level signalling the need to intensify scouting efforts. Some field populations rapidly increase to much higher levels than 50 aphids per leaf and can result in significant economic damage while other infestations level off and remain at a moderate intensity for several weeks. So, thorough frequent scouting is important.

Bollworm larval counts were generally pretty low this week with the highest counts running about 9,000 worms per acre. Egg counts were very erratic with most counts near zero. There were a few irrigated fields with counts in 80 to 110 eggs per 100 plants range, but this was restricted to just a few fields. We could see a substantial increase in egg-laying activity around August 22 or 23.

Balloonfest to benefit Boys Ranch & West Texas Rehab

Balloons will fill the air Labor Day weekend in San Angelo with the Coors Light Balloonfest benefiting West Texas Boys Ranch and West Texas Rehab Center.

Scheduled for September 2-4, to be held at Mathis Field Airport, the Balloonfest promises a weekend of activities while showcasing some of the nation's best balloonist.

While 1994 will mark the 8th year for the balloon races in San Angelo, this will be the first year the races will include Boys Ranch and Rehab Center.

Beginning Friday, September 2, Balloonfest will "lift off" with a mass ascension from Mathis Field at 5:30 p.m.

Saturday's events will begin with the Hare and the Hound race at 7:30 a.m. at the airport.

Highlighting Saturday evenings activities will be the popular "KLST Moon Glow" at 8 p.m. The Moon Glow promises a visual and musical extravaganza as the airport becomes aglow with the balloon pilots lighting their burners en masse choreographed to music.

Balloonfest will conclude Sunday, September 4, with a scheduled CNT beginning at 7:30 a.m. with lift off again from Mathis Field.

Special attractions, food booths, music and displays including the Customs Black Hawk Helicopter, Shannon Emergency Helicopter and more will be a part of the weekend's festival activities.

Activities and booths are scheduled to open at 4:00 p.m. on Friday and 5:00 p.m. on Saturday.

Wildlife symposium begins August 26

A Trans-Pecos Rolling Plains Wildlife Conference has been scheduled for August 26-27 at the Texas A&M University Extension Center in San Angelo to discuss a variety of topics of interest to land managers within the two ecological areas.

The conference, with a theme of "Managing for Diversity", is sponsored by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in cooperation with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Service and the Texas Wildlife Association.

"It's been several years since there's been a symposium of this type in San Angelo," said Ruben Cantu, TPWD biologist in San Angelo. "Some outstanding authorities will share their expertise on such topics as managing whitetailed deer, mule deer, quail, turkey, predators, range lands, backyard habitats and farm ponds."

"In light of the wool and mohair incentives being phased out, we are optimistic that even more land managers in this area of the state will incorporate sound wildlife and habitat management practices as an alternative to diversify their operations," said Lee Miller, TPWD biologist in San Angelo.

There will be early registration and a social at 6 p.m. on August 26. Registration, which is $10, will continue at 8 a.m. on August 27 at the Texas A&M Extension Center, 7887 N. Hwy. 87. The symposium will run from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information contact the department's wildlife office in San Angleo at (915) 651-4748.

1994 Football Preview

A Special Section of
The Ballinger Ledger

August 25, 1994

BALLINGER HIGH SCHOOL

Bearcats picked #1 in District 6-3A gridiron competition this season

BEARCATS

Football fans around the area are excited about this year's gridiron action.

Coming off of a play-off season, Ballinger's Bearcats remain as a number one choice for the same slot in this year's District 6-3A competition.

The 'Cats lost 12 lettermen, but have 12 returning lettermen who will lend experience to the team.

Dominic Reyes and Wesley Jennings are expected to shore up the rushing attack for the 'Cats in 1994.

Reyes rushed for 1,105 yards last year and Jennings added 850 yards to the rushing game of the 'Cats in the '93 season.

Quarterback Alan Wilson will be back to lead the Bearcats. Wilson compiled 884 yards passing last season and was only intercepted four time in 107 attempts.

The kicking of Brian Hallmark, who gave Ballinger 49 points on the board last year, will again be an added extra for the Bearcats.

Chris Quirino, who recovered five fumbles, will be a defensive key to this year's team as well.

Also returning will be Owen Davenport in the offensive-defensive tackle position; Kyle Winchester as wide receiver; SE Dustin Caudle; offensive tackle Steven Rutledge and Justin Wiley in the center position.

Early season scrimmages with Vernon, Dripping Springs and Midland-Greenwood will allow the Bearcats to work out the kinks.

Breckenridge has been added as a new contender for this district. With a new coach, the Buckaroos will be attempting to step back into the playoffs.

Competition for the second-place slot in the district is tight, with Comanche, Coleman, Wylie and Eastland all digging in for a fight.

Wylie will return a veteran outfit and Eastland will have standout quarterback Todd Hatton from Ranger.

Coleman, who is the popular choice for second, brings back 22 lettermen, 16 of which were starters. They ended '93 with a 7-3 record.

The Wylie Bulldogs will have an advantage with 23 returning lettermen, but only seven of those were starters.

Eastland and Comanche are on the low end with returning starters, but may still be expected to turn in a few surprises.

Merkel, who had a 0-10 season in '92 and 1-9 team in '93, will be Ballinger's homecoming lamb this year.

It should be a tug-of-war for this district in football action this year.

Blizzards move into District 6-AA

Facing a new district, Winters Blizzard coach Robin Byrd will field 14 returning lettermen in a new district woth some new district foes for the '94 season.

The Blizzards posted a good 4-2-1 district mark and almost pulled out a playoff berth. Coach Byrd says, "We were one game short of going to the playoffs after being picked to finish 7th out of 8 teams."

The overall record in 1993 was 4-5-1 for the Big Blue. The Blizzards resided in 7-AAA in '92 and '93, but the UIL moved Winters to 6-AA for '94-'95.

Wall and Jim Ned look like the two teams to beat, but don't look past the Blizzards.

Two big linemen will lead the Blue and White into this season. Senior Cody Whittenburg, a 6-4, 250 lb. senior, and Presiliano Sanchez, 6-0, 200 lb. junior, will open the holes on offense at tackle and guard, respectively, and will close them from the tackles on defense.

Chane Reagan, 5-10, 180 lb. senior, returns opposite Sanchez at offensive guard to give the Blizzards a solid tandem at this position.

Positioned at center is returning starter Kevin Conner, 6-0, 210 lb. junior. Conner also holds down a linebacker spot on defense.

Junior Michael Luna will back up Conner at center.

In the offensive backfield, big junior John Belew, 6-3, 210 lbs., returns as the trigger man. Kelly Thompson will be the backup at quarterback.

Zane Guy, 6-0, 190 lb. senior, returns as an All-District two-way starter at tight-end on offense and end on defense.

Three running backs who all started at one time or another last season will be returning to give the Blizzards that much-needed experience and quickness.

Senior Robert Silva and juniors Mark Deike and John Biddix all will see action both at running back slots and defensively in the secondary.

Winters will definitely be in the district showdown this year.

Coahoma, with a new coach from the Midland Lee system, will return 13 lettermen, seven offensive and eight defensive starters.

The Wall Hawks have always been a dominating force, averaging 40+ points a game. But that may be challenged this year by Jim Ned, who is also coming in from District 7.

Stanton's Buffaloes, under head coach Bill Grissom, had a winning season in 1993, improving to 5-4 overall and 3-3 in district play. This season, the Buffs have 17 lettermen and six starters each way.

Jim Ned's Indians made improvements with every game they played last year, earning them a playoff berth, their first in 19 years. They will be returning 13 lettermen and 6-9 starters.

The Forsan Buffaloes moved from Clas A to AA per UIL rules for football seasons 1994 and 1995. The Buffs have been competing in District 9-A, but will move into a very tough 6-AA district.

Indians ready for 1994 season

The Paint Rock Indians will begin their 1994 six-man season with six returning lettermen.

Returning starters for the team this year will be Clifton Sonnenberg, linebacker; Hugo Balderas, running back; Jorge Correa, running back; and Jed Hruska, quarterback.

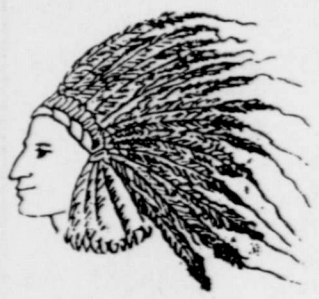

Top prospects for the team will be running back Ben Orosco; center Joe Matthiesen; end Seth Becker and wingback Tito Soso.

Panther Creek will likely dominate the district picture again this year.

The Panthers return 16 lettermen and are coming off a 15-0 state championship year.

The Blackwell Hornets have the advantage for the second-place slot in 1994. They had a 5-5 season last year and are returning 10 seasoned lettermen.

Novice, also with an open coach's position, will only return with five lettermen, leaving the team to gain experience as they go.

Bulldogs facing tough gridiron action

The Miles Bulldogs will have another season dominated by Rankin, Menard and Eden.

Returning lettermen for Miles, all double-duty players, will be offensive guard-linebacker David Carreon; offensive tackle-nose tackle Andy Alwine; offensive tackle-defensive end John Kohutek; quarterback-defensive back Ryan Snowden; running back-linebacker Jason Tingle and running back-linebacker James Moelier.

Christoval's Cougars have moved into the territory, coming in with a 4-7 six-man play-off team

Eden's running game will be a major factor in their '94 season. The Bulldog's will be returning 10 lettermen, including All-State Linebacker Gabe Stansberry.

Menard's Yellowjackets will be led by Johnny Saucedo, who has switched from the running back position. Sauecedo led the Yellowjackets in both rushing and passing as a junior. The team will be made up of 10 lettermen, which had a 5-6 play-off season last year.

Irion County came out ahead on the return list, only losing two lettermen this year. Tillman Lawdermilk, who passed for 1,600 yards (408 in one game), will return as quarterback for the Hornets.

The District 8-2A game plan stacks up with Rankin in the lead and Menard and Eden in a shove for the second spot.

BULLDOGS

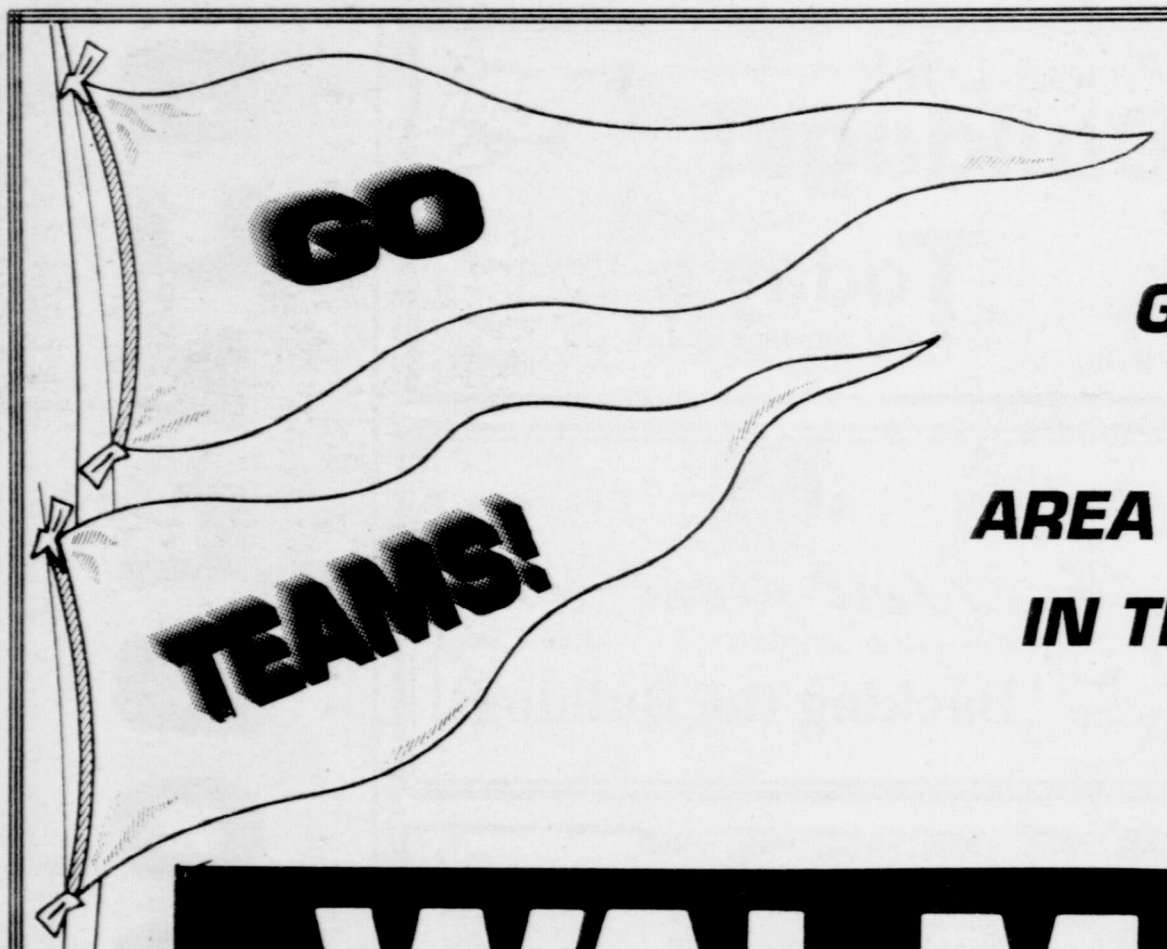

Get ready all you Bearcat fans
Football is finally here.
You need to be in support of our team
If they're going to have a winning year.

You will want to wear your black and red
To show which one is your team
And because of your support the boys will go on
And realize their championship dream.

It's been a long hard climb for the coaches & boys
Now this year the dream can come true
We will all be there to watch the Bearcats win
And it will happen with support from you.

So come on out and watch the Bearcats play
And see a team with spirit and fight
They will be Taking Care of Business
On football Friday nights.
