The SDN Column

After an interlude of several months, we are in receipt of a communique from R.T. (Dick Roberts, who toiled on the news staff of this paper before defecting to the Texas Highway Department's Travel and Information Division a few years ago.

He apologetically forwarded a somewhat belated report on a meeting of the Beautify Texas Council held a couple of weeks ago in Austin.

"They had a slide display of beautification efforts from all cross the state, and there were some six or seven Snyder slides included," Roberts reported. "They compared favorably with those from other communities. Of course I took the occasion to say a few kind words to anyone who would listen about Snyder and West Texas. I'm surrounded by idiots who like pine trees and swamps."

Of possibly even more interest here, however, Roberts enclosed a copy of a survey card which was returned to the Highway Department. It is a form for statistical information on out-of-state tourists. Roberts said the department received over 48,000 of these survey cards back last year, which they believe provide a pretty good statistical base for their tourist promotion work.

This one had a letter attached as follows:

"Attached is card on our visit to Texas. We do love Texas and all the many places to see. The accommodations are fine and your tourist information centers are outstanding.

"We came through Snider, Texas (sorry about that spelling) and people at C of C and a Mr. Ernest Sears were just great in showing us the area. Your maps on 'Ride the Texas Fort Trails' is great...."

This just shows you never know who's coming and when.

The tourist who sent in this letter and survey card identified himself as a resident of El Dorado, Ark., and he disclosed that he and his family made two trips into Texas last year. The family of four estimated that they traveled about 3,000 miles in Texas, spent $150 on lodging, $120 on food, $60 on gasoline, etc., $50 on entertainment and $50 for miscellaneous items.

Roberts also told of meeting up with C.D. Henry, a former vice principal at Snyder High School.

"You should have seen him (Henry)," said Roberts——"Bright yellow shirt and pants, bright green tie and jacket. He looked like a John Deere tractor." (Roberts' appraisal, not ours).

Anyway, it is nice to know that Snyder and those of us who remain here are still in the thoughts of people who for one reason or another have moved on, especially those who work for first-class outfits like the THD.——WACIL McNAIR.

St. Clair Says New Transcript Clears President

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House lawyer James St. Clair today gave the House Judiciary Committee a partial transcript of a presidential conversation he said proved President Nixon was not aware of and did not approve paying hush money to Watergate defendants.

St. Clair, briefing newsmen after a closed-door summation of his impeachment defense, said the 2½-page transcript was part of a tape of a March 22, 1973, conversation the committee had subpoenaed earlier but which Nixon had refused to provide.

St. Clair said he gave it to the committee because former White House Counsel John W. Dean III's testimony before the committee changed Dean's earlier version of his hush money conversation with Nixon.

St. Clair said Dean, in his Senate Watergate Committee testimony last year, said he left the March 21, 1973, conversation with Nixon feeling the matter of payments to Watergate burglar Howard Hunt was unresolved.

But testifying before the Judiciary Committee last week, St. Clair said, Dean "indicated something had been resolved."

St. Clair said the transcript he presented to the committee covered a conversation between Nixon and his chief of staff, H.R. Haldeman, early in the morning of March 22.

St. Clair said the excerpt he supplied to the committee quoted Nixon as saying blackmail would not be paid to the Watergate defendants.

A crucial part of the committee's Watergate evidence is that $75,000 was paid to Hunt the night of March 21, following Dean's talk with Nixon.

St. Clair was reminded at the briefing that Nixon has repeatedly told the committee it had the whole story of Watergate.

In releasing edited transcripts two months ago, Nixon said he had now made available the full Watergate story.

"That doesn't mean every single word ever uttered," St. Clair said. "It was the full story as we understood it to be at that time."

He said Dean's testimony had changed the situation and led to Nixon's decision to release the portion of the March 22 tape covering Nixon and Haldeman's talk.

St. Clair's summation was delivered to the committee after it had already received draft proposals of articles of impeachment.

A working paper prepared by Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., for the committee's consideration, proposes seven articles charging Nixon with violations of the Constitution and the laws of the United States.

Evidence Disputes President's Role

By LEE BYRD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon privately voiced "after-the fact" approval of the White House plumbers' burglary despite his public repudiation of it, according to evidence just released by the House impeachment panel.

Documents said Assistant Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen told the Watergate Grand Jury that Nixon ordered the Justice Department away from the case in a telephone conversation April 18, 1973, "I know about that ... you stay out of that."

And John D. Ehrlichman, who overheard Nixon's end of the talk with Petersen, said the President told him moments after hanging up that the plumbers' break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist was "fully justified by the circumstances."

Ehrlichman, who last week was convicted on four felony counts related to the incident, said Nixon again indicated "his after-the-fact approval" in early May, 1973. He quoted Nixon directly as saying "I surely recognize the valid national security reasons it was done."

Ehrlichman's statements were in an affadavit dated April 30 this year.

Nixon claimed publicly last summer that he had no knowledge of the burglary beforehand, that he would have prohibited it if he did, and that he viewed it as "completely deplorable."

The Justice Department, several days after Nixon's talk with Petersen, ultimately informed the judge in Ellsberg's Pentagon Papers trial of the break-in, having first sought — and received — the President's concurrence.

The contradictions over the President's role in the case were among four new volumes of impeachment evidence, totaling 2,090 pages, released by the House Judiciary Committee. A fifth volume, 225 pages, contained defense evidence.

The White House defense on the Ellsberg burglary stopped short of claiming legitimacy for it, but hinted strongly that such measures were warranted by concern over leaks.

Nowhere is there any hard evidence that Nixon might have known of the operation in advance, or, for that matter, until John W. Dean mentioned it on March 17, 1973. But it was noted that Ehrlichman spoke with Nixon at length on the same day that Ehrlichman was himself briefed by one of the principals after the operation.

And Charles W. Colson said in an affavit that Nixon was so worked up over Ellsberg that he declared in July of 1971 — two months before the break-in — that "I don't give a damn how it is done, do whatever has to be done to stop these leaks ... I don't want excuses, I want results. I want it done, whatever the cost."

On another key matter, the documents showed that Nixon's closest aides, using information which the late J. Edgar Hoover had classified "Top Secret" and addressed directly to the President, attempted to turn a national security wiretap into political gain at home.

That disclosure came among a hefty — and heavily censored — sheaf of FBI files sent to the committee on the telephone surveillance in 1969 and 1970 of 13 government officials and four newsmen.

Hoover, in a Dec. 29 letter to the President, noted that one of the men being wiretapped had received a call from former Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford.

RODEO IN EXCITING START

Northwest Team Takes Lead In Riding Match

The 39th Annual Scurry County Rodeo got off to exciting start at the rodeo arena west of town last night as thousands of people were on hand to see the Northwest Ranch Association team take a 199 to 153 point lead in the special feature event, match saddle bronc riding.

The Texas team took an early lead with three cowboys scoring points. Don Morris of Houston tallied a 62 aboard Jet Set, David Little of Pasadena scored 47 on Butcher Boy and Tom Stovall of Spring received a 44 on Bonanaza.

Texas' Lee Beasley of Oyster Creek failed to score, and Charlie Beasley of Freeport got a zero after getting a re-ride.

Meanwhile only two Northwest cowboys had scored—Gene Griffis of Hulet Wyoming with a 45 and Jamie Byrne of Mill Iron Montana with a 38. However, the Northwest team had the last two rides when Bill Carlyle of Ekalaka, Montana and Craig Vaughn of Rapid City, South Dakota drew re-rides. Vaughn scored highest in this special event with a 66, and Carlyle tallied a 50 to put the Northwest team out front. Bill Stearnes of Garden City, Kansas didn't score.

Most of the stock was rough and spirited as the fans applauded the cowboys' eager efforts, especially in the bull riding event. In this event, Lubbock's Kenneth McKee took the opening night lead, scoring a highly respectable 70 on Yellow Fever. Tim Tatsch of Fredericksburg was only two points behind with a 68 aboard ZooLoo. Russ Baize of Stamford scored 65 on Psydellic, and R.D. Constock of Oklahoma City, Okla. had a 60 aboard Little Boots.

Rodeo clowns Gary Poston and Benny Lloyd of Pasadena did a good job of keeping the contestants out of trouble in the bull riding events.

Seven cowboys scored zeroes in the bull riding event. They are Wayne Higgins of Lubbock, Glen Altman and Freddie Claxton of Snyder, Tommy Watson and Roger Midkiff of Houston, Von Woodward of Wichita Falls and Curtis Boney of Colorado City. Midkiff drew an especially rambunctious animal, and he had a good ride going but missed the horn by about a second.

Competition was close in bareback bronc riding with Johnny Barrett of Houston taking an early lead with a 72 on Jitter Bug. Ronnie Williams of

Texas Leads US In Oil Search

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Chairman Jim Langdon of the Texas Railroad Commission said today the state is leading the nation's search for oil and gas. The commission once again set the statewide oil allowable at 100 per cent.

Texas has been on wide-open production since April 1972.

Langdon cited numerous statistics to show the search for oil is on the upswing in Texas in an effort to cope with energy shortages.

He said the commission had processed 10,600 drilling applications this year, compared to 6,600 at this time last year.

Also, Langdon said, as of July 8 there were 511 drilling rigs on location in Texas—a 42 per cent increase from a year ago and twice as many as in any other states.

"Thirty-five per cent of the total active rigs" in the nation are in Texas, Langdon said, "illustrating that Texas is the nation's leader in the "search for oil and gas."

A survey, however, showed drilling is being held up by a shortage of drilling pipe, rigs and other equipment.

The threat of a price rollback also had delayed drilling, Langdon said.

Major buyers of Texas crude oil asked for 4,092,231 barrels a day in August, an increase of 248,869 from July.

Exxon asked for an extra 220,900 barrels a day next month, and a spokesman said the company would have to rely on foreign oil for additional oil.

As usual the East Texas and Kelly-Snyder fields were restricted to 86 per cent production.

Nominations by major buyers of Texas crude oil for August, in barrels per day, with changes from July in parentheses:

Portugal Swears In New Regime

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — President Antonio de Spinola swore in Portugal's new government today and called upon the Portuguese people to discipline themselves and have respect for the new regime.

"Responsibility implies that somebody has the power to rule and to impose respect, and that sombody is the state," Spinola said after Premier Vasco Goncalves and his 16-member cabinet took office.

Goncalves, a colonel and member of the inner circle of officers who led the coup that brought Spinola to the presidency, was picked as premier last week. He named his cabinet on Wednesday.

The new government appears to be tougher and more decisive than the center-left regime Spinola selected nearly three months ago as military men took over seven cabinet posts, including the key ministries of interior, labor, defense and information.

The new cabinet is expected to take a harder line against labor, for example, to avoid the series of strikes and labor disorders that have plagued the country since the April coup against the rightist regime of Marcello Cataeno.

"We cannot blame just reactionary forces for the excesses that have been taking place in the streets, the businesses and even in the civil government," Spinola said at the swearing in ceremonies "This must be stopped at once for the prestige of the Portuguese people is at stake."

Service Friday For Mrs. Gray

The Rev. O. L. Gober pastor of the church, will officiate. Burial will be in the Ira Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

British Backed Makarios To UN

LONDON (AP) — Armed with promises of British support, Archbishop Makarios flew off to New York today to ask the United Nations to condemn the Greek military junta for the coup that overthrew him.

He told newsmen he had Britain's assurance it would not recognize the new military regime on Cyprus.

"I was very satisfied with the talks I have had with the prime minister and the secretary of state," the bearded archbishop said of his meetings with Harold Wilson and James Callaghan, the British foreign minister.

"I found a great degree of understanding and I appreciate the British attitude on the situation in Cyprus.

"I appreciate their assurances that under no circumstances are they going to recognize the so-called new regime imposed by the junta of Greece upon the people of Cyprus."

The archbishop was expected to appear before the U.N. Security Council on Friday.

Small-member powers of the U.N. Security Council were circulating a proposed resolution. It reportedly called for the withdrawal from Cyprus of the Cypriot national guard's Greek officers who led the coup. It also expressed opposition to annexation of the island by Greece, which is believed to be the object of the coup.

While Makarios pressed his personal crusade, Britain and the United States were trying to ease the threat of an armed confrontation between Greece and Turkey. But even though both the easternmost members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization had put their armed forces on emergency alerts, American military officials in Washington said they believed an armed clash between Greece and Turkey was unlikely.

Joseph Sisco, President Nixon's special emissary, flew into the British capital for urgent talks with British and Turkish leaders on the Cyprus crisis.

On the Mediterranean island itself, the Cyprus national guard pressed a massive manhunt for left-wing politicians and others who supported Makarios.

More than 1,000 persons have been arrested since the guard's Greek officers led it in the revolt. Soldiers began house-to-house searches in the capital of Nicosia and other cities, towns and villages on Wednesday.

Charge Abductor In Two Murders

By IKE FLORES
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A young abductor who was paid $50,000 ransom by his wealthy boss shot the executive and his wife to death in their expensive car, then pleaded "Don't shoot!" before surrendering to authorities, the FBI says.

Slain were Sydney Gans, 64, owner of a prosperous paper bag company, and his 60-year-old wife, Lillian, who had been held hostage by the gunman. Authorities said the man taken into custody was an employe of Gans' firm, but they knew of no animosity between the two.

Police identified the abductor as Thomas Knight, 23, of Miami. He was charged with two counts of first-degree murder.

FBI Special Agent Ken Whittaker said of Gans: "He decided he wanted to get the money and turn it over to the gunman because he was afraid about his wife."

Gans rushed into a downtown Miami bank on Wednesday and told the bank president that his wife was being held by a gunman. He said he needed $50,000. The bank officer called the FBI and Whittaker and another agent rushed to the scene.

Whittaker said Gans told him the gunman was circling the block with Mrs. Gans in the couple's Mercedes-Benz.

The FBI arranged for surveillance of the car being driven by Mrs. Gans while the gunman held a semiautomatic carbine to her head, Whittaker said.

Gans placed the $50,000 in a paper bag, left the bank and was picked up by the abductor and Mrs. Gans. The three drove off.

Mrs. Gans was forced to drive to a lonely wooded area in southwest Miami. The abductor then shot each in the head and fled into the underbrush as police and agents closed in on him, authorities said.

Some 200 lawmen converged on the scene and for some five hours used helicopters, a small plane, tracker dogs and tear gas to flush the gunman from his swampy hideout.

Finally, Dade County Police Sgt. Russ Kubik almost stepped on him as a seven-man patrol edged its way through waist-high weeds after lobbing tear gas grenades into the undergrowth.

"He was burrowed into sandy soil on his side," said Kubik. "I thought he might be dead. But I put my gun to his head and said, 'get up, put your hands up.'"

"Don't shoot!" the man cried.

Police said they found nearby the $50,000 in ransom and the gun used to kill Gans and his wife.

Knight, a slim six-footer, was muddied and bruised when pulled from the underbrush. Police said he had sustained an injury to his right arm. He made no audible comment as he was manacled and hustled into a police car.

John Shapiro, husband of Gans' daughter Harriet, said the abductor was at the company office when Gans got there on Wednesday morning.

"Unfortunately, it appears that he (the abductor) meant to kill them all along," said Whittaker.

Conditions Right For Anthrax

By The Associated Press

Anthrax likes hot and dry weather so it can spring from the soil and bring down its victims. It's now hot and dry in the Southwest and Midwest and the deadly disease has reared its ugly head.

The disease, which has proven fatal to livestock since ancient times, was first discovered in Central Texas June 28 and between 200 and 300 cattle in that area have died since then.

The Texas State Animal Health Commission quickly moved in, quarantining portions of Falls County, and urged cattlemen in a surrounding seven-county area to vaccinate their herds.

Then on Tuesday, Oklahoma City, Okla., officials, 175 miles north of the Texas outbreak, reported eight to 10 cattle had died. Anthrax is suspected. The state immediately banned shipment of cattle from Texas and scurried for vaccine.

By Wednesday two more states and the federal government got into the act.

Kansas Animal Health Commissioner Dr. Gerald Gurss warned that the nation's "anthrax belt" is ripe for major outbreaks.

"The weather conditions are really prime for anthrax, not just in Texas, but in Oklahoma and Kansas," Gurss said.

"The fuse is ready to be lighted."

Arkansas state veterinarian Dr. Richard Thomas said he knew of no cases of anthrax in his state but nonetheless began an embargo of cattle from Texas and Oklahoma.

Gurss said his state is considering the same embargo.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture took steps to increase the distribution of anthrax vaccine to Texas, specifically in the Falls County area. There is adequate vaccine and there is no danger to humans, it said.

Dr. John Jejl, chief of veterinary services for the USDA Animal Plant Health Inspection service, said Falls County is the only area where the cases have been confirmed. At this point the Oklahoma cases are merely "speculative" but could be true.

It is believed the strickened cattle in Oklahoma City came from a consignment in Sulphur Springs, Tex., about 50 miles south of the Oklahoma state line.

In Texas, there are an estimated 300,000 head in the quarantined and surrounding area and 41 roadblocks, supplemented since Monday by National Guard units, are set up to stop movement of cattle. There are only 250,000 more doses of the vaccine left in the state and a state official said that's why its use is restricted to Falls County and the surrounding area.

Debi Sheds Pounds, Hubby

GIBRALTAR, Mich. (AP) — Debi Horn says that during the seven months she had her jaws wired shut she lost 73 pounds and her husband.

But, she says, she found herself during the ordeal of not eating in an effort to slim down from 229 pounds.

"I'm a different person," said Mrs. Horn, 23, who had the wires taken out of her jaw this week even though she plans to lose another 20 pounds.

"I've had my hair cut, I'm starting to use makeup, I go to more trouble to take care of myself. But my marriage is a mess," Mrs. Horn said.

She said she and her husband, John, split up six weeks ago. She said she expects him to file for a divorce this week. Horn could not be reached for comment.

"I've found someone else," Mrs. Horn added.

She said her weight loss and development of a more positive outlook drove a wedge between herself and her husband.

Mrs. Horn, a 5-foot-7 brunette, now weighs 156 pounds.

Livestock Loan Bill By Congress

WASHINGWON (AP) — An emergency program authorizing government guarantees of up to 80 per cent on private loans to livestock producers has won final congressioal passage and now awaits President Nixon's signature.

The Senate approved the measure by a voice vote Wednesday after senators backing the bill decided against insisting on their version of the program. The bill won a narrow victory in the House Tuesday.

The decision avoided a Senate-House conference committee and possible defeat of a compromise back in the House.

The legislation would provide for a $2-billion ceiling on the total guarantees outstanding during the one-year application period for the loans, which could not exceed $250,000 for any one operation.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., a cosponsor, said Nixon could veto the bill. The President instead could give the industry import quotas it has sought to prevent further glutting of the meat markets, Dole said.

The credit-relief program, which stands to cost an estimated $9.4 million in administrative expenses, was sought after months of steady decline in live-animal prices and sharper climbs in farming and feeding costs.

In beef, the chief category covered by the bill, preslaughter prices for the most popular choice steers have since risen by about $9 per 100 pounds.

Cattle feeders, squeezed by high grain costs, had been losing between $10 and $20 per 100 pounds as the price dropped 45 per cent from last August's record levels.

For consumers, the program's supporters said, the bill would help stabilize their meat supply by keeping in business the small ranchers and feeders who provide 60 per cent of the beef.

Opponents said it would do nothing for consumers because it would not affect middlemen's mark-ups and high retail meat prices.

Tower Security Is Tightened

LONDON (AP) — British police put stronger security measures in force today after a bomb explosion in the Tower of London that killed one woman and injured 37 persons.

The bomb blast was the fourth in England in four days, and police believed all were set by the Irish Republican Army.

Guards were strengthened at places of entertainment and government buildings. The public was warned to watch for letter bombs or abandoned parcels in railway and subway stations and car parks.

Scotland Yard appealed to tourists who were taking pictures at the Tower around the time of the explosion to contact them. They were already studying a film taken by Joan Halgran, 29, from Minnesota, who said she saw a man running from the Tower within seconds of the explosion.

The bomb went off at 2 p.m. Wednesday in a stone dungeon in the basement of the White Tower where a crowd of tourists —many of them foreigners—were looking at cannon and suits of armor. Many others had just left the building to watch the changing of the guard.

Police said Dorothy Household, 47, of South London, was fatally injured. The wounded included four Americans and a family of five New Zealanders. Ten were in critical condition, but the Americans—identified as Edward Klein, 27, from Missouri, and Christina Grillo, 24; Jacky Ford, 27, and Shelagh Gray, 23, all of Boston, Mass.—were not among them.

A number of the injured were children. Detectives found a child's foot in the wreckage.

There was little structural damage to the Tower, but some of the historic collection of arms and armor was badly damaged. The government said the Tower, visited by 10,000 sightseers daily in the summer, would be open today, but the bombed area was closed indefinitely.

The bomb was estimated to contain 10 pounds of explosives and was set off by a clock and battery. There was no warning, although a man with an Irish accent telephoned the Daily Mirror two minutes before the blast and said, "We are planting bombs."

The man said he was a member of the Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army

Kiwanis Gets Report On Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Roy McCloskey discussed their attendance at the 59th annual Kiwanis International Convention June 23-26 at Denver as a highlight of the program at the regular luncheon meeting of the Noon Kiwanis Club, held Wednesday at the America Restaurant.

McCloskey said the Chancellor of Denver University was one of the main speakers. He said there are enough public school teachers in the United States today, and the "saturation point" in medical personnel will come within the next decade.

McCloskey said the speaker also said educators are shifting their emphasis from professional education to education for the various trades, such as plumbers, mechanics, etc.

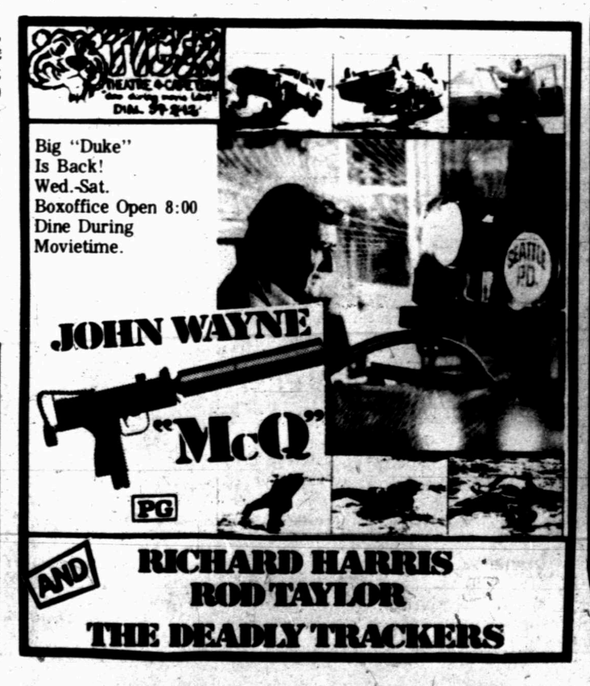

E.T. (Pat) Patterson, club president, presided over the meeting. On behalf of the club, he wished Harry Dietz well in his new job as Distributive Education instructor in the Seguin School. Dietz, who attended his last meeting as a member of the Noon Kiwanis Club, told members that he had enjoyed participating in club activities since he has been in Snyder. Dietz was coordinator of the mid-management program at Western Texas College.

Charles Blaylack, who recently was employed as a Mid-Management instructor at WTC, was a guest of the club as well as Sheriff Keith Collier.

There was damage to the stairway of an old hotel owned by Chris Clay.

Panel Discusses SHEAF Changes

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — The chairman of the Constitutional Convention's key compromise panel said today votes could be gained by changing the much-criticized State Higher Education Assistance Fund (SHEAF).

Sen. Nelson Wolff, D-San Antonio, said he felt his Submission and Transition Committee had the power to make that change in the body of the new constitution if the convention's Education and Finance committees gave their blessing.

Wolff's committee had several alternatives to SHEAF under discussion today.

"If we do something with SHEAF, I think we will gain some net votes," Wolff said.

His committee is trying to find the right combination to obtain a two-thirds majority to submit the constitution to the voters. Thus far the document has failed twice to even get a majority, by votes of 86-91 and 81-94. Both defeats were entangled with separate issues, aside from the basic constitution.

"Nobody is happy with SHEAF—the colleges are not happy and the members that fear it will be giving away a ton of money are not happy," Wolff told reporters. Most of the proposed alternatives to SHEAF would restore a state property tax as the method of financing the fund. Wolff advocated making the change in SHEAF as part of the basic constitution, not as a separate proposal, because "if it is a separate proposal, people would be voting on something without understanding what it is."

As now written in the proposed new constitution SHEAF would be a mandatory appropriation from general revenue for construction and other improvements at state colleges outside the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems. It represents a potential drain of about $31 million a year on the general fund.

State college lobbyists kept a close watch on the committee Wednesday and frequently conferred with convention leaders. One of their major goals has been to persuade the convention to allow their continued use of building use fees to back college construction bonds.

Today's session of the committee followed the failure Wednesday afternoon of five separate proposals that have struck sparks before during the convention.

Like the basic constitution, any separate proposal must receive a two-thirds majority—121 votes—to go on the Nov. 5 election ballot.

These were the votes on the separate items:

—Limited home rule for counties, meaning voters could modify their form of county government, 119-36 on the first ballot but 101-59 when brought up for a second try.

—Raise legislative pay for $4,800 to $8,750 a year in lieu of the salary commission proposed in the basic document, 49 ayes and 103 noes.

—Double House members' terms from two to four years, failed 73-89.

—Prohibit pari-mutuel horse race betting, 103-65.

—Prohibit labor-management contracts requiring employes to join or pay "agency" fees to the unions that represent them.

The labor-management item continued to be probably the main sticking point, with the Texas AFL-CIO vowing to fight the whole constitution if it goes on the ballot.

Some delegates cautiously predicted that enough delegates who have steadfastly opposed the proposal would eventually break away to put the new constitution—and the labor-management proposal—before the voters.

BY ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

When a door in the house refuses to close or does so with great reluctance, it's usually because it is sagging. This condition is often neglected for years, especially when it is possible to close the door by using a little upward pressure on the doorknob.

This nuisance is tolerated even though other repairs around the house may be undertaken without much delay. It can only be assumed that the neglect is the result of a belief that only a professional can solve the problem. Actually, you can handle the repair in most cases without any special skill if you know what causes sagging.

The most common cause is one or more loose hinges. Since a loosened hinge may not be too noticeable, it often can be detected only if the door is opened and closed several times while the examination is being made. If there is even the tiniest fraction of an inch movement, it means either immediate or future trouble. A doublecheck test is to insert a screwdriver blade into each screw and turn it clockwise. If the screw moves the slightest bit, it is not as tight as it should be to insure against sagging.

Retightening a screw with a screwdriver is not sufficient. It probably will become loose again after a short time. The best solution is to remove the screw and fill the hole with wood putty, plastic wood or, for a short-time repair, steel wood. When the putty or plastic wood has dried, reset the screw. If you use steel wool to get a temporary result, the screw can be redriven immediately.

If you have determined that all the screws and hinges are tightly in place, it may be that the lower hinge leaf on the door jamb may need to be shimmed. Take out the screws that hold the leaf in place. Put a thin piece of wood or cardboard under the leaf and reset the screws, which should go through the shim. If this lifts the door a little and it works better than before, but still not perfectly, try using an extra thickness of shim. In occasional cases, the upper hinge plate has to be reset. This means deepening the mortised area under the plate, using a sharp chisel and working very carefully. When the plate is returned to position, it will set deeper into the wood.

There is a tendency to sand or plane the door to make it fit properly. Resist this move except as a last resort, since a big gap may result when a change in the weather dries out the wood. But if it must be done, be very certain to varnish or paint the sanded or planed area to prevent the entrance of moisture.

Sometimes the door hasn't sagged at all. Instead, the threshold under the door has loosened and is a fraction of an inch higher than it was when originally installed. If this is so, look for and remove any loose nails. Use new, preferably threaded, nails to drive the threshold solidly into the floor. Most thresholds are made of hardwood, which means that pilot holes must be driven for the nails to prevent the wood from splitting.

Buy Chicken Whole To Save You Money

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Cooking chicken parts — whether breasts, drumsticks, thighs or wings — has become a way of life in American kitchens. The parts may be bought separately or the birds may be bought whole, halved or quartered and cut into individual parts at home. If you have an eye on economy — and who doesn't these days? — we suggest buying whole chickens, dissecting them yourself and freezing the parts to have on hand. An informal countrywide survey showed that worthwhile savings may be made by this procedure.

A friend of ours uses it regularly when whole chickens are a "special" at her markets. She says that parts take much less space in the freezer than whole birds; parts are easier to wrap excluding air (air in a package discolors and dries the food and this in turn affects flavor); they're of similar thickness and cook evenly; and they may be seasoned and cooked in a wide variety of ways. Here's her assembly-line method for managing this maneuver:

Buy 3 to 4-pound broiler-fryers because they offer more meat than the lighter birds.

Wash chickens under cold running water, inside and out; drain and pat dry.

Set up a production line including chopping board, sturdy sharp knife, kitchen scissors, shallow rectangular foil trays, heavy-duty foil wrap. Include a saucepot and put pieces of skin, necks, backbones, wing tips and giblets in it. Gather together the livers and use them for pate or some other dish right then and there.

Disjoint chickens, putting similar parts in separate foil trays and arranging them compactly so the trays will be flat after they are wrapped.

You will know the amount you need for a meal for your family, but you may want to wrap some larger size packages for company.

Wrap each tray in heavy-duty foil, using the drugstore wrap. Label each package with the month, year and number of its particular contents. Freeze.

Back to the saucepot! My friend adds water to the chicken odds and ends plus scallion, fresh ginger root and bay leaf; she simmers the broth about 1 hour, then cools it before straining. If she wants fat-free broth, she refrigerates it and removes the hardened fat before freezing the broth in jars or ice-cube trays; the frozen broth cubes are stored in a plastic bag and removed a few at a time when just a little broth is needed.

Here is her recipe for pungent Chicken Wings, a delightful Chinese appetizer. After trying it in my test kitchen, I liked it so much that I plan to make it again from time to time. The wings may be served hot or cold, but I prefer them cold.

PUNGENT CHICKEN WINGS

1½ pounds broiler-fryer chicken wings (8 to 10)
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1½ teaspoons five-spice powder
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon peanut oil
2 tablespoons dry, medium or sweet sherry
¼ teaspoon dried hot red pepper flakes
1 tablespoon minced fresh ginger root
1 star anise
½ cup soy sauce
½ cup water

Wash wings, drain and dry; cut each into 2 or 3 parts (depending on whether tips are attached) at joints; do not use tips in this recipe. In a medium saucepan stir together the cornstarch, spice powder, sugar, oil and sherry until blended; stir in all the remaining ingredients except the wings. Bring to a boil, stirring; mixture will thicken slightly — this will help it cling to the wings. Add the wings and bring to a boil; cover and simmer until tender — 15 to 20 minutes. Remove wings from sauce and serve hot or let wings stand in the sauce, off heat, and reheat when needed; leftover sauce may be refrigerated and reheated with halved hard-cooked eggs and served with rice. Or let stand until cool; remove wings, cover and chill; strain sauce into a small square container; cover and chill — it will jell. Serve wings cold. To use sauce when needed, scrape film of fat from top, turn out and slice or dice; garnish cold sliced roast turkey or chicken or cold cooked or raw vegetables with this pungent jelly. Wings make 6 or 8 appetizer servings.

Note: Five-spice powder, fresh ginger root and star anise are available in markets selling Chinese ingredients. A generous ¼ teaspoon each of cinnamon, ginger, cloves, nutmeg and anise (all ground) may be substituted for the spice powder; crystallized ginger (rinsed to soften before mincing) for the fresh ginger root. Star anise may be omitted.

REMARKING ITEMS ON SHELVES

Safeway Stopping One Of Consumers' Pet Peeves

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The practice of remarking items on the supermarket shelves as prices go up, a practice that Safeway Stores Inc. says it is stopping, is one of consumers' pet peeves.

"Walk into any supermarket and ask any consumer and they'll scream about it," said Ellen Zawell, president of the National Consumer Congress.

Safeway, the nation's largest chain, announced Wednesday that it would no longer remark an item to reflect higher wholesale costs on new shipments.

Dr. Kent Christensen, vice president of the National Association of Food Chains, said the action probably would force other supermarkets to follow suit.

Officials of most of the other big supermarket chains were not immediately available for comment or said they wanted time to study the situation.

Supermarkets often argued that it was necessary to remark the same item—putting a new sticker on top of an old one or blotting out the old stamp with a fresh one.

The argument went something like this:

Suppose a can of peas cost the supermarket 20 cents and is selling for 25 cents. The price the supermarket pays goes up to 25 cents and therefore the new shipment will sell for 30 cents.

It contends that it can't put out new cans priced at 30 cents while there are 25-cent cans still left on the shelf. That would bring complaints from consumers who picked up a new can, got charged the higher price, then spotted another customer with an old can paying less.

The manager of Wood's Market in Richmond, Va. explained it this way:

"Sure, we stamp higher prices on some items we bought before the prices went up and that were already on the shelves, but we do it to avoid confusion. We wait until only a few of these items remain on the shelves at the old price. Then we have to put out some more that we bought later at a higher price. Naturally, we have to charge more for these, so we just change the prices on the old items to conform. Otherwise there'd be all sorts of confusion among the customers, not to mention the checkout counter...."

A check of the shelves of a Safeway store in Los Angeles on the morning of July 5 turned up 16 items with two stickers, one on top of the other. A pound of Maxwell House coffee, for example, had a sticker reading $1.14 on top of one reading $1.11 and Ivory Snow detergent had a $1.19 sticker on top of a $1.14 one.

Ralph Pena, manager of the store, said then that all the prices were set by the regional office. He also said the district warehouse manager notified local store employes to raise prices when the entire warehouse stock of an item was used up.

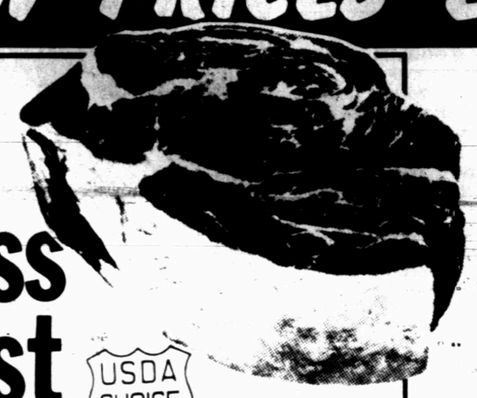

The practice of remarking is not illegal.

The New York City Department of Consumer Affairs says it has no power to fix prices. A spokesman said the only thing the department can do is make sure the consumer knows just how much he or she is paying.

Gas House Star Goes To Rest

By BILL CRIDER
Associated Press Writer

WIGGINS, Miss. (AP) — Dizzy Dean, known to millions as "Ol' Diz," was headed home in a coffin today, more than four decades after he and the Gas House Gang boasted and bullied their way to baseball immortality.

The self-styled fastballer—who ruled in St. Louis' Sportsman's Park from 1932 to 1940, then turned television "commultator"—ended a tumultuous courtship of baseball fans early Wednesday morning at St. Mary's Hospital in Reno, Nev., two days after he suffered a heart attack. He was 63.

He was to baseball what each fan wanted him to be.

"Dean became a legend to literally thousands of people who didn't know if he threw right-handed or left-handed. And didn't care. This was the magic of Dizzy Dean ... he knew what people wanted to hear. And he never got out of the mold," said Buddy Blattner, who was Dean's broadcast partner on the Game of the Week.

"This man was the best at what he did in an era that was quite possibly the most colorful the game has ever known. This was the Roaring '20s of Baseball, the Golden Era of the '30s. There were the Yankees and the Gas House Gang and all the characters, and of them all he was No. 1 because he had the most talent," Blattner said.

Dizzy's brother, Paul "Daffy" Dean, and wife Patricia were at his bedside when he died at 1:35 a.m.

"His philosophy was doing a fella right," said Daffy. "He never saw a man he didn't respect or like, and I never knew anyone who didn't respect or like Dizzy. Those qualities are God-gifted."

Shortly after news was made public of Dizzy's unsuccessful battle with two heart attacks in the past five days, President Nixon issued a statement from Washington that said: "To my generation of Americans, Dizzy Dean will always be remembered as the blazing fastballer who led the Gas House Gang of St. Louis to the pinnacle of baseball glory.

"To the young, Dizzy will also be remembered as the sportscaster who brought an extra touch of excitement and color to every game he covered.

"Dizzy was indeed a man for all generations."

The body was to be flown to New Orleans where it would continue its journey here by hearse.

Dean, whose Arkansas vernacular sent runners "sludding" into base or got them "threwed" out at home, was regarded as one of the game's best pitchers, though his fastball was slowed by a foot injury at age 27.

He won 150 games and lost 83 in his career, throwing 27 shutouts. He led the National League in strikeouts four years running and compiled a 30-7 record with the Cards in 1934, his best year.

The next two years Dizzy compiled 28-12 and 24-13 records and by the age of 25, he had won 121 games.

As a baseball pitcher in the 1930s he was a true free spirit, a master of comic bravado made memorable by the exaggerated boasts he usually put into the record books.

In one game, he vowed to throw nothing but fastballs and won. In another, he promised to throw any pitch the batter wanted. He won that game too.

Jay Hanna Dean was born Jan. 16, 1911, but for years nobody was really sure where. Records show he was born in Lucas, Ark., but Dizzy once was heard telling three different writers three different birth place in a single day.

Asked once about it, he replied: "I was helpin' the writers out. Them ain't lies; them's scoops."

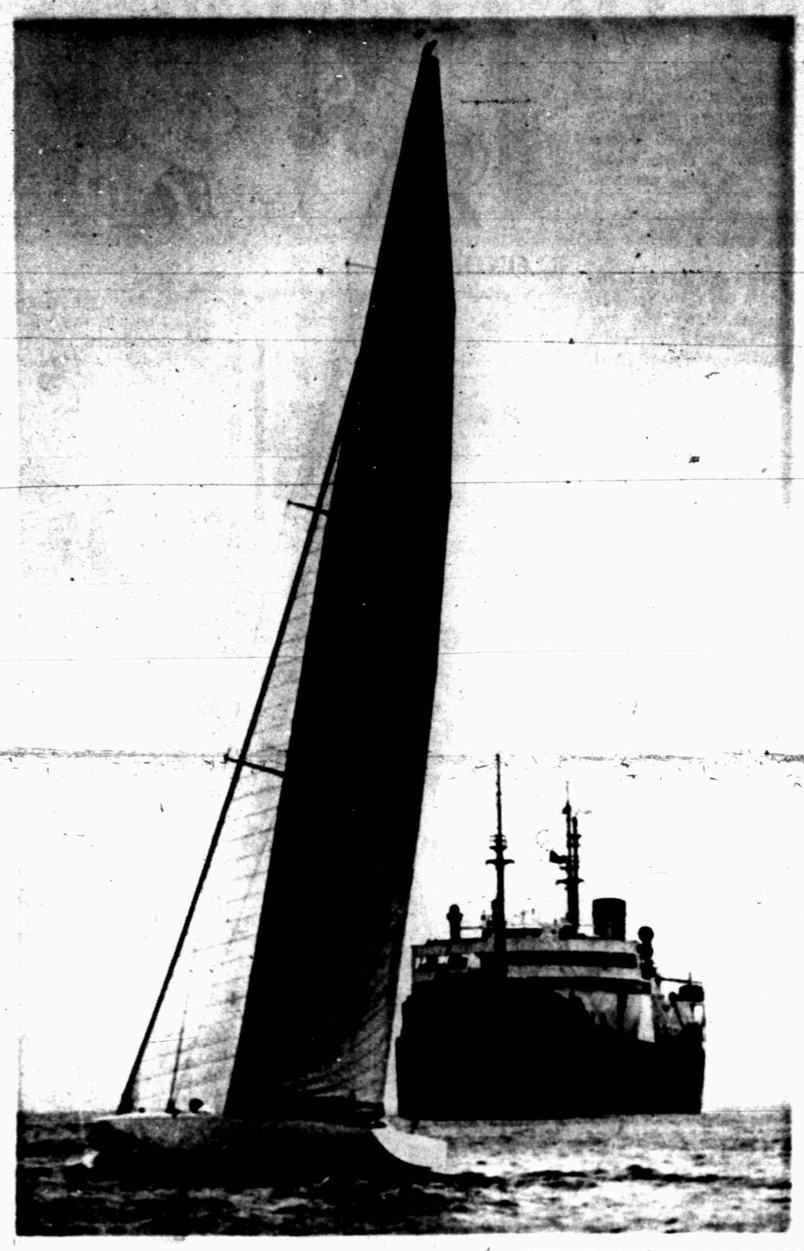

Dean began as a cotton picker in Mississippi.

He joined the Cards in 1930, pitching in the last game of the season, then was returned to Houston of the Texas League for seasoning before becoming a regular in 1932.

When he arrived in Houston in 1931, he immediately went to the ballpark and phoned the rival manager: "Say, this is Dizzy Dean," he said. "Yep, back in town and I can hear you gnashing your teeth, brother. Just thought I would call and tell you that I am gonna pitch against your ball club this afternoon and hold them to two or three hits."

He allowed just two.

For all his antics, Dizzy was serious about the game. He was known to give away a few hits now and then, but not when they could hurt him. Throughout his career, both as a player and broadcaster, he maintained his interest in baseball and its participants.

Houston Texans Blank Bell 11-0

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

Although the clock told a different story, time ran out on the Hawaiians, Jacksonville Sharks, Detroit Wheels and New York Stars Wednesday night. As a result, all four suffered World Football League losses.

—The Hawaiians, losing 23-0 after three periods, scored 31 points in the fourth quarter Wednesday night but wound up 38-31 losers to the Southern California Sun at Anaheim.

—Chicago's Chuck Ramsey kicked a 26-yard field goal with six seconds remaining to give the Fire a 25-22 triumph over the Sharks.

—Florida's Tommy Reamon scored on a five-yard run with 1:37 remaining, then the Blazers stopped Detroit on the one-yard line with 10 seconds left to save an 18-14 decision over the Wheels at Ypsilanti, Mich.

—And in New York, Birmingham quarterback George Mira connected with wide receiver Dennis Homan for a 73-yard touchdown with 2:15 left, then the Stars missed a 35-yard field goal with 36 seconds remaining and lost 32-29 to the Americans after leading 29-3 at halftime.

In Wednesday night's other WFL game, the Houston Texans blanked the Philadelphia Bell 11-0. The Portland Storm visits the Memphis Southmen in tonight's nationally televised game.

Attendance was lower in the league's second week of competition. Last week's blockbuster figures of 188,978 for five Wednesday night games far exceeded this past Wednesday's 116,197. But the seating capacity is less than 25,000 at New York's Downing Stadium and Michigan's Rynearson Stadium.

Sun 38, Hawaiians 31

"We didn't lose," said Hawaiians' Coach Mike Giddings after his club's second loss. "We just ran out of time."

Sun quarterback Tony Adams passed for one touchdown and ran for two others to spark the Southern California triumph witnessed by 32,008.

Fire 25, Sharks 22

Chicago quarterback Virgil Carter started the game-winning drive from his own six yard line, hitting Don Burchfield for 25 yards and Luther Palmer twice for a total of 35 before Ramsey's kick.

Mark Kellar scored twice and Joe Womack once for the Fire, 2-0. Ricky Lake scored twice and Bubba Thornton once for Jacksonville. 1-1, as 29,308 watched.

Blazers 18, Wheels 14

Florida raised its record to 2-0 and dropped Detroit to 0-2 when Reamon capped an 82-yard, 18-play drive before 10,631. The Wheels had two chances from the one-yard line in the last seconds.

Americans 32, Stars 29

Mira unloaded three touchdown passes and scored one himself for the Americans in the second half. The Stars, 0-2, had exploded for 315 yards in the first half. The attendance was 17,934.

Texans 11, Bell 0

Houston cornerback Daryl Johnson returned an intercepted pass 57 yards for a score and Charlie Durkee kicked a 28-yard field goal for Houston, 1-1, in a game witnessed by 26,227 at the Astrodome. Philadelphia dropped to 1-1.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — All but one of Notre Dame's six home football games this fall already are sellouts, ticket manager Don Bouffard said Tuesday.

Owners, Pros May Talk Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of the National Football League's owners and players are expected to resume negotiations, probably Friday, after a union proposal that marathon sessions begin to resolve their labor dispute and end the 18-day strike.

Reliable reports indicate the two warring parties will meet with federal mediator James Scearce Friday morning, but there has been no confirmation from anyone involved.

The meeting would be the first since a seven-hour session last Friday which proved fruitless. Scearce had said, however, he was encouraged by what he called the "more constructive attitude on both sides."

He had asked that the owner and player representatives recess negotiations, begun March 21, and "reconsider and reevaluate their positions."

Early in the week, both sides said they wanted to resume negotiations to end the strike, which began July 1.

The walkout has caused cancellation of the College All-Star Game and threatened the exhibition season, scheduled to begin July 27 in Canton, Ohio, with the Hall of Fame game between the St. Louis Cardinals and Buffalo Bills.

At a news conference Wednesday, the NFL Players Association proposed that talks with club owners be resumed round-the-clock.

Bill Curry of the Houston Oilers, NFLPA president, said if negotiations under the auspices of the federal mediator fail, the association would be willing to send all but its so-called freedom issues to binding arbitration.

However, he said the freedom issues should be given to a five-member blue-ribbon commission, including one newsman, for recommendations. Recommendations would not be binding.

LL Tilt Set Here Friday

The Snyder Little League All-Stars will play the winner of the Winters-Ballinger game at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Snyder.

Winner of this game will play again Tuesday night, July 23, at a site yet to be determined.

Snyder defeated Colorado City 14-8 in the first playoff game last Tuesday night.

The local roster includes Robert Bartlett, Scott Crenwelge, Tony Degrate, Tim Derrick, Paul Gafford, Mike Greenfield, Kyle Herrley, Greg Merritt, Shawn Ragland, John Reese, William Robinson, Kyle Short, Bryan Vincent and Sammy Willis. James Vincent is the manager, and Lane McMillan is the coach.

Flames Win, Tourney Set

The Snyder Flames defeated Rotan 25-0 there last night.

Evelyn Wesley and Lois Cunningham sparked the Flames attack with four hits apiece. One of Evelyn's hits was a triple. Regina Lewis socked a home run, a double and a single. Jan Kruse and Ella Coronado each hit three singles. Martha Braziel hit a homer and a single, and Vanessa White stroked two singles. Luther Daniels had one single.

Mary Braziel, the winning pitcher, worked the first five frames and was relieved by Jan Kruse.

The Snyder Tournament will be held here Friday and Saturday. The first game at 8:30 a.m. Friday pits Amarillo Tascosa against Western Insulation of Odessa, followed by a 10 p.m. contest between Proffitt of Amarillo and the Flames.

Saturday, Lubbock Chaparrals meet Wichita Falls Sidewinders at 8 a.m. while Crane takes on Odessa "66" at 9:30 a.m. There will be other Saturday games at 11:30 a.m., 1 p.m., 2:30 p.m., 4 p.m., 5:30 p.m., 7 p.m., 8:30 p.m., 10 p.m., 11:30 p.m., 12:30 a.m. and 2 a.m. The 10-run rule will be in effect after five innings. All games will be held in Winston Park.

IT'S A PERILOUS TIME!

Public Has Big Stake In Citicorp Offering

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The public has an enormous stake in the planned offering of $850 million in securities by Citicorp, which is the parent of the First National City Bank, second largest in the nation.

Ordinarily a financing of this magnitude by a financial institution of that size would have little or no meaning to the mass of people. But this one has pocketbook significance that everyone can appreciate.

1. If plans proceed, it would provide relatively small savers and investors an opportunity to obtain some of those high interest rates they've been reading about but found difficult to obtain. Not the 6 or 7 per cent they've become accustomed to, but close to 10 per cent.

2. At the same time such an offering might draw savings from the thrift institutions — savings and loan associations and savings banks — and thus reduce the amount of mortgage loans available to home buyers.

If widely copied by other corporations, its critics contend, such money-raising techniques could so drain the nation's fund of mortgage money that the buying and selling of homes might all but cease.

Nobody knows this for certain, because this financing is an innovation into an unknown area.

It has startled many money men and banking and securities officials. It is attracting the admiration, and maybe the emulation, of other corporations fighting for funds in a tight-money economy.

First National City Bank, the largest member of Citicorp, couldn't have offered these notes because it is regulated by the Federal Reserve, which sets limits on the interest rates a bank may pay.

A Citicorp offering, however, would serve to sidestep this regulation. Not limited to a specified rate, it is offering 9.7 per cent, higher by far than any bank rate. And the funds will be available to the bank as if it had raised them itself.

That 9.7 rate under present plans would be guaranteed until June 1, 1975, and thereafter would float one point above the average Treasury bill rate. Beginning on June 1, 1976, the notes could be redeemed at six-month intervals.

High finance of this sort generally might be expected to be aimed at big savers or corporations. But after an initial purchase of $5,000, investors would be able to buy notes in $1,000 denominations. That's the kind of money the thrifts feel is theirs.

Smallpox Epidemic Spreads In India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Indian government says a smallpox epidemic in eastern Bihar state has spread to two neighboring states despite an intensified eradication campaign.

Deputy Health Minister Amiya Kisku reported at least 18,000 persons have died of smallpox this year in Bihar, where 91,436 cases were reported through June. He said the epidemic also has taken 1,700 lives in West Bengal and 500 in Assam.

Other official sources reported a total of 140,308 smallpox cases so far this year in all of India, or about 85 per cent of the world total of 164,313 reported to the World Health Organization.

Only three other countries—Ethiopia, Pakistan and Bangladesh—still have epidemic smallpox. WHO hopes to eradicate the disease from those areas as well as from India by the end of 1974 or 3arly 1975.

Lindsay To Act In Film

PARIS (AP) — John V. Lindsay, who retired as mayor of New York this year, is getting back into the spotlight via motion pictures and television.

It was announced on Tuesday that Lindsay will play a U.S. senator in a film about Arab hijackers and next year will become a television commentator on a new ABC-TV morning show, "AM America."

The movie, "Rosebud," is being filmed here and in Israel and is being produced by Otto Preminger.

Film May Be Helen Hayes Last

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Could the unparalleled 65-year acting career of Helen Hayes be reaching the final performance?

She thinks so, but she is reluctant to make a formal announcement.

Once before she declared she had given up the stage forever. A few months later she was acting on Broadway in a revival of "The Front Page." written by her late husband, Charles MacArthur, and Ben Hecht.

Still possessed with limitless energy, the 73-year-old actress was here overnight from Honolulu, where she had helped son James MacArthur with a benefit. In the morning she would be leaving for London to appear with Peter Ustinov in "One of Our Dinosaurs is Missing." It would mark her second Disney production and — she thinks — her last film.

"I really must stop all this," she remarked. "It's such an interruption of my life ... I love my home (in Nyack, N.Y.), I love my house in Mexico. I would like more time to enjoy them and to do the things I like to do.

"Would I miss acting? I wish I wouldn't. I agree that I must like it or I wouldn't have done it all these years.

"Somewhere inside me is a fear that I might get very lost without it. But I don't really think that will happen."

Miss Hayes finally had to give up the theater because of a bronchial condition that was aggravated by backstage dust.

"Whenever I did a play, I always ended up in the hospital for a week," she recalled. "I finally told myself I was such a bad risk I might as well have been a drunk."

"The Snoop Sisters," the television miniseries in which she starred with Mildred Natwick last season, hastened Miss Hayes' urge to retire.

"I was miserable doing it," she said. "It was like a jail sentence ... The hours that we had to work were terrible, not only for Mildred and myself, but everyone.

"I felt petulant, angry and sorry for myself. Oh, it's easy to sit on the sidelines and say, 'Why should television stars complain when they're getting paid $125,000 a show?'

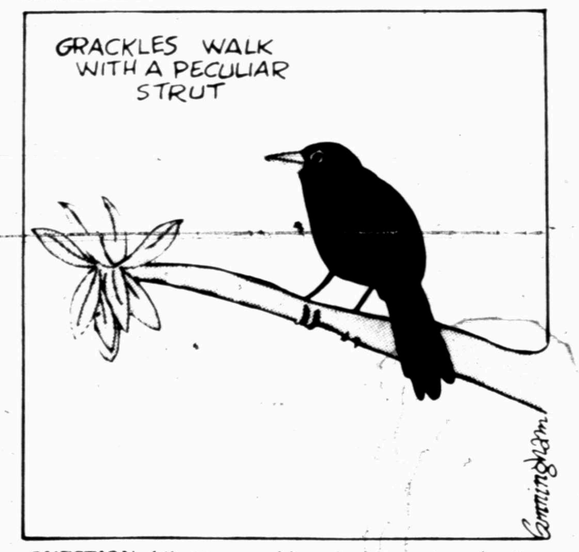

"But something inside you feels put upon when you are required to work under such miserable conditions."

Helen Hayes' career has been laden with honors, including two Academy awards ("The Sin of Madelon Claudet," 1931; "Airport," 1970). Now she seeks a more reflective life.

"I have a great interest and inquisitiveness about the world around me," she enthused. "If I ever start to get bored, I simply take a walk. Then the fun begins."

Junior Editors' Quiz on THE GRACKLE

QUESTION: What is a grackle and what are its colors?

* * *

ANSWER: The grackle is a large blackbird which lives in North America. It resembles a starling, but is a much more graceful bird. There are several species found in the United States. The best known is the purple grackle, a distinguished looking bird about 12 inches long. The crow blackbird, as it is often called, has irridescent hues of violet-blue, copper and green in its feathers. The female is duller than the male in color. Its long tail is wedge-shaped. The eyes are bright yellow. Grackles travel in large flocks and gather in treetops. They announce their presence with a chorus of raucous cackling and creaking notes. The wave of sound sometimes resembles the patter of a heavy rainfall. The voice of the grackle has been described as similar to the sound of a rusty hinge. They build bulky nests in evergreen trees and have from three to six young in the mating season. They eat harmful insects, but also eat the farmer's grain.

"Nice guys" also known as "suckers."

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and Bill is 21 and we're getting married soon. My problem is my mother. She doesn't drive, and she is always offering Bill's driving services to her friends without asking Bill first. She just calls him and tells him to pick up so and so. She also asks him to drive her around and do different errands for her. She has never offered to put any gas in Bill's car and with gas so high, it makes a difference.

Bill isn't dumb. He knows he's being taken advantage of, but he's such a nice guy he never says "no" to her.

I've asked Mom not to take advantage of Bill this way, but it hasn't helped. Any suggestions? BILL'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Tell Bill that when your mother's requests are an imposition to tell her in a nice way that he can't accommodate her. People who let others take advantage of them can expect to go through life being used and inconvenienced. They may be known as "nice guys," but they're also known as "suckers."

DEAR ABBY: To "HAD IT WITH MOM", who visited her elderly mother only occasionally because Mom talked of nothing but illness, death and hardships – present and past.

Too bad we can't just consign all the contrary old folks to a gas chamber, so we won't have to bother with them!

Old people complain of "illness" because they are at that stage of their lives when their bodies (and minds) have begun to deteriorate.

Probably the most exciting thing that happened to Mom was her visit to the doctor's last week.

Old folks talk about "'death" because they live at death's door. Their friends are dropping like flies, and death seems so near to them.

They speak of "hardships – present and past" because they are proud to have overcome the hardships of the past, and are trying to endure present hardships.

My own mother suffers from all the above. You see, I have memories of Mamma from when I was a child. Of the love, care, time and tenderness she gave me. What she taught me was more valuable than what I learned in college. There is not one single day that passes that I don't use some of the knowledge that Mamma imparted.

Someday I will be visiting Mamma's grave, as I do Daddy's now. I will then wish I could hear a few complaints or hard luck stories from her past.

If we are lucky, we, too, will grow old. Then we will pray that some loving friend or relatives will come to visit us and patiently listen as we talk about the aches and pains of our minds, bodies and hearts.

DIANNE IN BILOXI

DEAR DIANNE: You're beautiful.

DEAR ABBY: Please help correct the erroneous idea that most homes for unwed mothers have closed down because they are no longer needed.

The fact that more unmarried mothers are keeping their babies doesn't necessarily mean that no one needs our services anymore. Many unmarried pregnant girls need a quite place where they can "think," and get counseling and guidance (not preaching) from people who understand. Delivery of her baby is a small part of her need.

The Salvation Army has 35 Booth Memorial Hospitals around the country that stand ready to serve.

MAJOR HELEN PROSSER, OMAHA, NEB.

Project Launched To Tame Lightning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government weather scientists have launched an effort to tame lightning, one of nature's most destructive weapons.

Their experiments, just started in thunderstorm-prone Colorado, involve a variation of a technique developed in World War II to jam enemy radar.

Developing thunderstorms are to be seeded with literally millions of inch-long aluminum-coated nylon thread fibers, called chaff. The needle-like fibers will be spewed from aircraft flying through the heart of a brewing storm.

The object is to cause thunderheads to discharge their electrical energy slowly, rather than in sudden and violent bursts of lightning.

In World War II, chaff was deployed from aircraft as a kind of decoy screen designed to protect American bombers from the searching eyes of enemy radar. The technique became known popularly as giving the "electronic raspberry" to the enemy.

Announcement of the newly launched project came on Wednesday from the Commerce department's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Heinz W. Kasemir, chief of the Colorado project, stressed that the would-be lightning tamers are not trying to suppress lightning in all its forms. He indicated that a little lightning can be a good thing, by adding nutrient nitrogen to the rain and consequently to the soil, as well as by playing an important role in balancing the planet's "electrical budget."

"We want to be able to suppress severe lightning that comes when it is least welcome—for example, during very dry periods in forest areas and during spacecraft loading and launching operations," Kasemir said.

The experiments will last through August.

Two aircraft—a B26 and a Convair T29 on loan from the Air Force—will operate out of Jefferson County airport, southeast of Boulder, flying their missions during the middle and late afternoon, when Colorado thunderstorm activity is greatest. Their project will concentrate mainly on the northeast corner of Colorado and adjacent areas over Nebraska and Wyoming.

Show Is Taped Without Archie

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "All in the Family" taped its first show of the fall season without its star, Archie Bunker.

Carroll O'Connor, who plays Bunker in the popular series, is in a contract dispute with Tandem Productions, owners of the show, and was not at the taping on Tuesday night.

The CBS show, entitled "Where's Archie?" centered on Jean Stapleton, Rob Reiner and Sally Struthers.

O'Connor filed suit in June against Tandem, asking the Los Angeles Superior Court to declare whether he has a valid contract. He also seeks $64,017 he claims is owed him in back salary.

Tandem also filed suit against O'Connor and obtained a temporary restraining order which prevents him from working anywhere else.

Farabee Attends Rodeo's Opener

Ray Farabee, Democratic nominee for the Texas Senate from the 30th District, attended the Thirty-ninth Annual Scurry County Rodeo Wednesday night after riding in the rodeo parade Wednesday afternoon with Mike Ezzell, Democratic nominee for State Representative from the 63rd District.

While in Snyder, Farabee visited with with several Scurry County residents.

Farabee observed that his summer travels in the 29 county district have been more relaxed than those made prior to the May Primary elections. There has been more time to talk with citizens about the problems that face them and gain a better understanding of the needs of each county. Farabee will face a Republican opponent from Plainview, Mary Kirchhoff in the November general election.

A large portion of Farabee's time in recent weeks has been spent communicating with the Governor's office and with officials in Washington regarding the problems facing the cattle industry. Farabee has urged adjustment of import and export quotas on beef, emergency loans to cattlemen and purchase of surplus beef by the government at fair prices for use in programs such as school lunch and military installations.

In discussing the beef situation, Farabee complimented the efforts of the Cowbelles throughout the district for their efforts to promote the consumption of beef and for their letter writing campaign to Washington officials. Direct communication with government officials is essential if we are to make government more responsive to problems at the local level, noted the candidate.

Major Flynn To Direct Training

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., (AP) — The former commander of U.S. prisoners of war in North Vietnam will begin directing the training of Air Force enlisted recruits here next month.

BANKERS PREDICT

High Interest Rates Will Stay

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidents of three Federal Reserve banks predict interest rates will remain high and unemployment will rise in the fight against what one called the worst peacetime inflation in the nation's history.

They told the House Banking Committee Wednesday that inflation was at a dangerously high level, although not out of control, and said great sacrifices would be required to beat it back.

David P. Eastburn, president of the Federal Reserve bank of Philadelphia, said:"We are in perhaps the worst peacetime inflation in our history. Unless we begin to unwind inflation, I am fearful of the consequences not only for the economy but for our entire social fabric."

Eastburn, Alfred Hayes of the New York bank and John J. Balles of the San Francisco bank said government spending should be reduced to eliminate the proposed budget deficit for next year. They also said the Federal Reserve should further tighten the money supply.

All stressed that the historically high interest rate level —more than 12 per cent for banks' most creditworthy borrowers —was a symptom of the inflation and not the cause.

Eastburn said the high interest likely will continue to choke off inflationary demands for credit. He conceded, however, that the medium and low income persons were the ones most hurt and that big business frequently could find credit somehow and just pass the cost along to customers.

He said the burdens of restricted credit and compressed job opportunies from a tighter monetary policy should be accompanied by social programs such as "liberalized unemployment benefits, public service jobs, welfare reform and training and education programs."

Both Hayes and Balles endorsed a proposal by Rep. Chalmers P. Wylie, R-Ohio, to keep government spending below its income and to reduce the upcoming year's fiscal debt by 2 per cent.

The budget proposed by President Nixon provides for an estimated $14 billion deficit.

Balles criticized attempts to lower interest rates alone, despite the serious effect of high interest on the housing market, the stock market and the overall economy, saying in the long run it would cause an even sharper rise in prices and in turn even higher interest rates.

Refunds Wait To Be Claimed

DALLAS—More than 18,500 undelivered income tax refund checks are waiting for Texans to claim, the Internal Revenue Service says. The number grows annually. Of that figure 8,003 are from this year's crop of returns.

The most common reason for an undelivered check, A.W. McCanless, IRS District Director for North Texas explained, is that the taxpayer moves and leaves no forwarding address with the U.S. Postal Service.

The Director said that a taxpayer who is due a refund from either 1972 or 1973 tax years should call IRS if he has not already recently contacted the Service on this subject.

In a case where the taxpayer suspects that his check may have been lost or stolen, the Director urged the person to telephone IRS as soon as possible so that action can be taken to trace the missing check.

McCanless stressed that in all refund inquiries to the IRS, the taxpayer should provide the name and address as it appeared on the return, the actual name and address is different, the social security numbers, and the type of form filed.

IRS can usually remail an undelivered refund check within a few days to the new address, he said. However, after October 1 all undelivered refund checks are cancelled. IRS must then follow a more time consuming procedure to issue checks in response to inquiries.

Dallas taxpayers who suspect that they have an undeliverable refund check due them should call 742-2440. Fort Worth residents should call 334-3811. All other North Texas residents can use the IRS toll-free number 800-492-4830.

Seek Lakes For Future Power Plants

Representatives for Texas Electric Service Co., Dallas Power & Light Co. and Texas Power & Light Co. will appear at a public hearing of the Texas Water Rights Commission Aug. 5 seeking approval to construct two new water reservoirs to supply cooling water for future power plants in East Texas.

One dam would be on Steele Creek in Limestone County and the other on Duck Creek in Robertson County.

A TESCO spokesman said the plants would be fueled by lignite coal, and land with lignite supplies has been leased or purchased in the areas where the reservoirs are planned.

The two plants would not be available for service until the 1980s. The three power companies already have one lignite-fueled plant in operation in Freestone County near Fairfield, another is nearing completion in Titus County near Mount Pleasant and a third is under construction in Rusk County near Henderson. A nuclear-fueled plant also is proposed for construction in Somervell County near Glen Rose.

The TESCO spokesman said that because new supplies of natural gas and oil are extremely difficult and expensive to obtain the companies are building and planning power plants that use more abundant lignite and nuclear fuels in order to provide an adequate supply of electricity for their customers in the future.
