DEATH VALLEY SCOTTY, WHO BROKE MARK FOR TRANSCONTINENTAL LOCOMOTIVE TIME, WANTS TO TRY TRIP ONCE MORE

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 9.—After 20 years spent in his stony castle deep in the recesses of Death Valley, Walter Scott who achieved fame in 1906 as the "Casey Jones" who piloted a train from New York to the west coast in record time has come back to civilization thirsting for more speed.

If he can affirm it, Scott who is now called "Death Valley Scotty" will sit at the throttle of another engine in an effort to "burn up" the rails between New York and the continental train race.

In 1906 he made the trip in forty four hours, just four hours better than it had ever been done before. After that feat which brought him a great deal of fame, Scotty gave up railroading. He had come into a vast amount of money. No body knew where it came from for "Scotty" wouldn't tell.

For a short while he made other records as a spender of money. Once he walked into a cigar store in Los Angeles and bought a cigar. He lacked the change with which to pay for it and dramatically taking a $1,000 bill from his pocket, tore it in half and gave the startled clerk half of it, leaving the other half in his pocket.

What drew "Scotty" from his desert castle, he said today, was the long to hear "an engine moan."

TERRELL KNOCKS DEMO PLATFORM

COVERS EVERYTHING AND SAYS NOTHING, IS COMMENT

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 8.—"A mother Hubbard platform—covering everything and touching nothing," was Commissioner of Agriculture George B. Terrell's comment on the platform adopted by the state democratic convention at San Antonio.

The platform while elaborate and covering all subjects did not say anything, Terrell said in a formal statement today.

"This platform is not modern in dress or expression, as it is longer in expression and covers more space than any modern dress, and can be more appropriately called a mother Hubbard platform," Terrell said.

Terrell announced that if the special session of the legislature which convenes next week does not levy an additional gasoline tax and provide for the proper support of the public schools he plans to call a statewide meeting of the farmers and friends of the rural schools early.

W. T. C. C. TAXATION FIGHT IS APPROVED BY INSTITUTE

In their regular meeting yesterday the resolutions committee of the South Plains Teachers Institute went on record as favoring some important policies and changes in the schools and systems of this section.

Chief in their resolution was the ever-present thought of the welfare of the schools of west Texas. Especially did the Tech receive mention in their meeting. In the legislation resolutions an increase of a sufficient amount to bring the present per capita to $15 per year, passing of a law making a minimum salary and special professional training for teachers, adoption of a strict county unit system, appropriation for additional buildings for the Tech, placing city and county superintendent on the same basis, and one or two other minor matters were included.

Recommendations that the legislature give attention to the survey commission's report and recommendations, and that the institute be held at the Tech with the same conductor was handled in the meeting also.

The teachers also commended President Arthur P. Duggan of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for his work in fighting for equalization of taxes in Texas.

The Resolutions

Following are the resolutions submitted: Be it resolved by the South Plains Teachers institute comprising the counties of Bailey, Crosby, Cochran, Dickens, Dawson, Garza, Gaines, Hockley, Lynn, Hale, Lamb, Lubbock, Kent, Motley, Terry, Yoakum in institute assembled.

First, that we express our deep appreciation of the valuable services of Dr. Horn as conductor of our institute.

Second, that we are indebted to the state department for sending Mrs. Marris to be with us throughout the week.

Third, that we extend our heartfelt thanks to Dr. Judd for his untiring efforts in our behalf for the entire institute.

Fourth, that we desire to thank each and everyone who has in any way contributed to the success of the institution and especially appreciate the fact that such cordial relations exist between the teachers and superintendents of Lubbock and adjoining counties.

Fifth, that we favor the continuation of the South Plains Teachers institute along similar lines with increased enrollment for the future.

Sixth, that we favor an appropriation of the legislature of an amount sufficient to increase the present per capita apportionment to at least $15 for the present year.

Seventh, that we favor the passage of a law making the minimum salary of teachers at least $1,000, and requiring them to take special professional training at stated intervals.

Eighth, that we are in favor of placing the office of county superintendent on the same basis as that of city superintendent, and urge the legislature to pass laws in accordance therewith.

Ninth, that we favor the adoption of a strict county unit system for the administration of public schools, and urge the legislature to provide, for such changes as may be necessary to accomplish this end.

Tenth, we urge the best possible support for all the state's higher institutions of learning. We believe that the educational system of Texas is and should be a unit, from the little red school house in the country to our state institutions of higher learning, reaching up to the university. We believe there is no room for conflict of interests, and that whatever advances the interest of anyone of these will be largely measure for the best interests of the others also. We would particularly call attention to the Texas Technological college and urge sufficient appropriation to meet its manifold needs. We would recall its magnificent opening with more than one thousand students and urge increased appropriations to enable it to reach the purposes of its organization.

Feminine Democracy To Meet Feminine Royalty

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Feminine democracy and feminine royalty clasped hands today when Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, of Texas, first woman governor in the United States, extended greetings to Her Majesty Marie, Queen of Roumania, who is to visit the United States in October. The greetings were contained in a telegram sent to Zoë Beckley, who will sail for Europe shortly to accompany Her Majesty to this country. Miss Beckley, a noted newspaper writer, is a close personal friend of Queen Marie, and has visited her several times in the various Roumanian palaces.

The telegram received by Miss Beckley from Governor Ferguson, reads: "Will you kindly convey to Her Majesty Marie, Queen of Roumania, my sincerest greetings. We are most gratified that this distinguished and universally beloved woman plans to visit our United States, and in behalf of Texas I wish to extend to her a warm and cordial welcome to our country."

MIRIAM A. FERGUSON, Governor of Texas, As Governor Ferguson does not leave office until after Queen Marie arrives in this country, she may have an opportunity of welcoming Her Majesty officially to Texas. The itinerary of the royal party has not yet been definitely settled but the Queen a few months ago expressed to Miss Beckley her desire to visit every state of the United States.

Since Her Majesty is exceedingly fond of the picturesque, according to Miss Beckley, it is hardly likely that she will miss an opportunity to see the cowpunchers of the Texas ranges in action. Horseback riding is her favorite sport.

Miss Mary Cook of Clarendon, Miss Cook expects to locate here in the near future.

Mrs. E. O. Nichols of Plainview is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Eastin Wolfarth and daughters are home from a very pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Beal of the Beal ranch near Big Spring.

Miss Mamie Wolfarth has returned home from a several weeks visit in Mineral Wells.

FADS OF THE FAMOUS

ATTORNEY GENERAL SARGENT

John Garibaldi Sargent is the only cabinet officer who doesn't blush when you ask him what are his hobbies. He is proud of them.

In fact, his hobbies are about the only subject on which the Attorney General will talk freely. Sargent, who is six feet two in his socks and close-mouthed as any Vermonteer, embodies in the flesh the "strong silent man" type attributed to his friend and chief in the White House.

But casually mention "pipes," and you will see the Attorney-General's eyes light up. For he is a collector whose pipes, gathered from a dozen countries and climes, are known by such connoisseurs everywhere.

Clocks—preferably old ones, also strike his fancy. He gathers them and spends many happy hours "tinkering" to put them in shape.

Of course, he is a fisherman.

Some "Do's and Don'ts" Given for Appearing Fashionably Slender

By Mae Busch

If you are one of the vast army of women who simply cannot attain the slender boyish lines your heart craves no matter how you try, and which Fashion so heartlessly demands of her adherents today, the next best thing you can do is to LOOK slender. There are many ways of looking much slimmer than you actually are. Choosing the proper lines and colors in clothes is one way of concealing rounded lines.

Of course the best thing is to be actually as slim and graceful as possible, but after having tried to reduce and found all efforts unsuccessful, make dress do for you what reducing can't. In other words, learn to dress so that you hide rounded curves and bulging advoidpous in order to look, if not be, fashionably slim. Here are some "do's and don'ts" that will help you.

Wear long lines. Short skirts are never becoming to the plump woman. She should not wear belts at the waist line and all drapes or panels should hang from the shoulders rather than from the hips. Especially is this true if you are large about the waist and diaphragm.

Never wear short sleeves. A plump woman looks even larger in either short or large flowing sleeves. Tight long sleeves should be used on every gown.

Of course every one knows that dark colors should be chosen by the almost too-plump, but even dark colors, if the wrong material is used, gives the appearance of being too fat, so select such materials as serges and satins for your gowns and your mirror will tell you that your efforts have not been in vain.

Smart little accessories help the plump figure to look slender. The scarf, so popular this year, seems made for the woman who would look more slim than she really is. A scarf that is long and filmy whose ends hang below the hem of the skirt produces just the right effect.

Avoid colors that are too vivid. If you are fond of colors the neutral tones are quite as popular and much more becoming to the woman who never will divulge her weight.

SMART LONDON CIRCLES OUST THE CHARLESTON

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Smart London has kicked the Charleston out of doors. It is one of those things that just are not done. It looked at first as if it would take London's dancers by storm, but the big dance-halls frowned on it and the socially prominent refused to learn it and now the Charleston, with the "Kitchen Lancers" and the slow waltz is an outcast. The Tango, on the other hand, is coming back into favor with a rush.

Diversified farming has been found advantageous by a man in Dallas, county, Texas, who this season decreased his cotton acreage and planted a nice patch of sorghum. While cutting his sorghum the other day he discovered hidden in the field 260 bottle of real beer.

Home Dressmaking

By JEANNE HOLLAND
(Copyright, 1925 by Pen-Art Service, Inc.)

Model for a Fashionable Autumn dress in this model.

A handsome thing in navy and tan in the dress pictured. The very deep front is a new note, as well as the long slender collar and the carefully concealed circular fullness of the skirt. The snug fit at the shoulders is achieved by means of a dart. (See figure.)

It is advisable with the woolen materials to split the dart, especially when it extends down from the front shoulder. Cut down to three-quarters of an inch of the point and overcast the raw edges with close stitches. A dart shaped in this way gives the close fit over the shoulder, at the same time providing fullness over the bust. This is sometimes called the "miting dart," because it may be made larger or smaller, as the lines of the figure require.

The vestee set into the front of the dress is made of heavy Georgette crepe. It has a straight upper edge and is trimmed with buttons. The collar is of satin corresponding in color with the figures in the material, although these frequently are in self-tones.

PLAN TO ELECTRIFY THE HOLY LAND BY MEDITERRANEAN WATERWAY RUNNING DOWN TO DEAD SEA

By JOHN O'BRIEN (United Press Staff Correspondent)
PARIS, Sept. 9.—French and British engineers have completed a project which it is hoped will be put into execution very soon for the electrification of Palestine by causing the waters of the eastern Mediterranean to flow over a 250-foot ridge bordering the coast, thence through a canal cut out of solid rock whence the waters would hurl themselves down in an almost sheer drop into Lake Tiberius and the Dead Sea, more than one thousand feet under the level of the Mediterranean.

It is estimated that the electric energy capable of being thus developed would be sufficient for Palestine, Syria, Asiatic Turkey and Egypt. The total cost is placed at about $75,000,000. Able scientists have calculated the net energy at 426,000 H. P.

"Palestine is the classic land of miracles," said Edouard Imbeaux, the French expert, chief author of the plan, to the correspondent of the United Press. "I firmly believe modern science will accomplish miracles there in its turn."

Mr. Imbeaux has sent to the Academy of Sciences a long, detailed statement of the geographic and other conditions favoring the plan for the electrification of Palestine. He emphasized that between the Mediterranean and the enormous depression in which are situated the valley of the Jordan, Lake Tiberius and the Dead Sea, there is only a low ridge less than two miles wide. He proposes therefore:—

1. Construction of a maritime canal from Haifa with twelve locks gradually rising to the summit of the ridge near the Zerim peak the Jizree of the Bible.

2. Piercing of the peak, a distance of about 3,500 yards and construction of an artificial river on the other slope of the ridge leading to the commencement of the depression.

3. Construction of a plant which would receive the falling torrent above twelve hundred feet below just above Lake Tiberius. Another plant would be constructed further south, permitting a further drop of nearly four hundred feet into the Dead Sea.

"We have calculated," continued M. Imbeaux, "that the gross energy derived would be 617,000 H. P. but 120,000 H. P. would be needed for the lifting of the waters of the sea up to the peak, leaving a net product of 497,000 H. P. or 249,000 kilowatts sufficient for all Palestine railroads, industry and agriculture. This enormous influx of water into the valley would be amply taken care of by evaporation. Irrigation, which is one of the crying needs of Palestine would take care of the rest."

M. Imbeaux has been studying every angle of the problem for three years. He has been in communication with the British government, which has a mandate over Palestine, and believes that the execution of the project is a matter of short time. Referring to the fact that Niagara Falls develops electrical energy which serves a radius of twelve hundred miles, he said:—

"If you draw a circle of six hundred miles with the region in Palestine to which I am referring as a centre, you will find that you will enclose Syria, all Turkey-in-Asia, reaching to the lack Sea, and Egypt. We have in mind an extension of our plan which would bring into its sphere all that territory. We aim at an immense development of cotton and silk growing, fruit culture and general agricultural progress which should make Palestine what it was in ancient times."

There is really no material obstacle. The work on our preliminary scheme would take about three years. Labor is cheap. The Jews have shown at Tel-Aviv that they are capable of tremendous tasks."

SAYS SCHOOL CHILDREN STARVE IN CHICAGO

United Press
CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—More than 27,000 Chicago school children are starving, according to Dr. Herman Buzen, health commissioner.

"The greater number of the children," he said "are starving in the midst of plenty because of improper diets or because of poisons in their systems from diseased tonsils, defective teeth or other organs—toxins which destroy appetites and interfere with proper nutrition."

RADIO

By WILLIAM J. FAGAN (United Press Radio News Editor)

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The recent injunction granted by the Federal Court at Trenton, N. J., to restrain the Splittorf Electrical Company from infringing on selective tuning system patents controlled by the General Electric, the Radio Corporation and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company is expected to involve millions of dollars.

The Splittorf Company and numerous other radio receiver manufacturers have been producing sets embodying great selectivity, which it is alleged is the sole development of Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, who patented the device in 1913 and sold the rights to the General Electric. The Radio Corporation was licensed to manufacture and sell the invention.

The court decision also held that the plaintiff corporations are entitled to an accounting of all profits according to the Splittorf Company through the alleged patent infringement. If the decision is upheld on appeal, the road will be cleared for the institution of other suits which are expected to involve practically every manufacturer of radio sets, most of whom are making multiple tube sets allegedly embodying Alexanderson's principle.

The Splittorf contention that the selective device was extensively used before Alexanderson's patent and that his company had employed a German circuit, patent rights on which had been confiscated by the government as a war-time measure and thus made available to manufacturers by government permission, was denied by the court.

It is said that between three and five million sets, embodying the Alexanderson principle, are now in operation, and that if the "Big Three" are successful, they will possess a virtual monopoly of set manufacture, with accountings on profits thrusting many present successful producers into bankruptcy.

Fashion Notes

(Written for the United Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Some women are spending so much on the new handbags and pocketbooks that they have little money left for other accessories. And who can blame them?

Pocketbooks have never been so beautiful as they are this season and each costume must have its own harmoniously matched bag to be considered smart. Shapes of handbags vary from large or medium-sized envelopes to flat pouch effects. Bags with long strap handles are not as new or smart as those with short straps or disappearing ones. On many of the pouch bags we find the short strap handle which can be slipped down into the bag when one wishes the handle-less mode.

Lizard and reptile skins of all sorts, calf's leather, suede, velvet, and even ostrich hide is used in the making of the modern handbag. Black suede is particularly important this year and it is astonishing how many black bags are being sold. Chanel red, jungle green, tan and brown are other good bag colors which come in both suede and glazed leather styles. The large square envelope or susede with the flap outlined in tiny gilt clasps is new and smart. Some smaller envelope shapes are made exactly like envelope bags being stitched to represent an envelope.

Velvet bags appeal to those who plan on wearing velvet costumes. Pouch shapes in velvet are not so good this year. The velvet bag may be trimmed in gilt or silver piping and adorned with a gold metal clasp set with brilliants or with a cut-steel clasp. Dull costume shades are these best liked for velvet models. A handsome dress bag is made entirely of gilt-leather in envelope shape. Stenciled effects on undressed leathers are among the novelties with plaid, mottled or modernistic designs on dull backgrounds.

WALES TALKS AMERICAN IN OXFORD ADDRESS

LONDON.—That the Prince of Wales' English has, occasionally, an American touch was the interesting observation made by his audience at Oxford—perhaps the most critical and cultivated audience in Great Britain.

For example the Prince chose the American pronunciation of "Capitalist" instead of the prevailing English pronunciation of "caPITalist." He wobbled a little on another word, first calling it, a la United States, "LABoratory" and then flopping over later, to the English form of "LABORatory."

His Royal Highness likes the t in "often" and says "die-rection" and "acoustics"—purely personal choices these. He stresses the first syllable of "Lustrate" and "pursuit" but in most respects he adhered to the forms generally favored by the bulk of his audience.

Four badgers attacked Harold Connors of South Beach, Conn., and bit him twice after he had struck one with a stick.

Fire Losses on Farms Growing

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—At the time when fire prevention is being most widely discussed there frequently is a disposition to overlook the danger on farms and rural communities. This is probably due to the fact that the statistics of large communities and of the nation as a whole are more impressive than the idea of a blaze at an isolated farm house. This is despite the fact that an analysis of the figures shows a farm building burns every seven minutes the year round.

Farm Fires Increase
Statistics show that farm fire losses are increasing despite the gradual disappearance of lanterns and open lights. The reasons assigned are the increased use of gasoline and oil, defective electric wiring, and large storage and utility buildings.

While the urban dweller is protected by a costly department, an extensive water system and good pavements to his door, the farmer has none of these advantages. While the fire department may be able to reach him in short time, if his farm is on a concrete highway, it is frequently unable to save him, since he has an inadequate water supply, and the department is intended to serve only the community which maintains it.

The only solution for the farmer to this problem is fireproof construction, not only for his house, but his barns, silos, corn cribs and other auxiliary buildings. There is an ever-growing tendency on the part of farmers to recognize this fact but the fear of making their property "top heavy" is holding back many. This is a mistaken idea as proved by the fact that fireproof construction is seldom more than 3 per cent more expensive than wood frame and frequently there is no difference in cost.

YOU CAN PREVENT FIRES BY Building your home and garage of fireproof materials.

Using your influence as a citizen to have modern building codes and zoning laws passed and enforced.

Storing your furniture in fireproof warehouses.

Attending only fireproof theatres.

Seeing to it that only fireproof schools are built.

Co-operating with your fire department.

Resolving to do your part in preventing fires.

Participating in Fire Prevention Week activities.

Disclaims Credit For Dempsey Nose

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Jack Dempsey's paraffin nose is unsafe, Dr. Henry J. Schireson, plastic surgeon, declared today in an answer to the suit which seeks to enjoin him from taking credit for building the famous beak. Dr. Schireson was named in the injunction suit filed by Dr. William E. Balsinger of Los Angeles, who says that he was the champion's nasal architect. In addition to criticizing the Dempsey sniffer, Dr. Schireson denies that he ever claimed credit for the operation.

WHITE RACE A MENACE, SAYS CORNELL ECONOMIST

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—White races not the yellow constitute the world menace, in the opinion of Professor Percy J. Clark, Cornell University economist who is now on a western lecture tour.

The white race is multiplying at a far greater rate than the others, having increased from 130,000,000 to 600,000,000 in 175 years and if this increase is maintained it will mean economic disaster for Europe and America, Professor Clark points out.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

What causes automobile accidents? This interesting question has been guessed at many times but it remained for the Scientific American to make a careful study of over forty seven thousand automobile accidents in New York during 1925. The importance of this can be gathered when it is learned that as a result of these accidents 1,981 persons were killed and 54,398 injured. Railroad crossings were not the cause of very many of the nearly two thousand deaths in New York State during 1925. Contrary to the usual off hand belief, only 148 accidents out of more than 147,000 occurred at railroad crossings and only 75 deaths out of nearly two thousand resulted there. This is only one of the usual ideas of automobile accidents which the figures compiled by the Scientific American compels us to change. "Without figures to guide us," says the magazine, "we should say that a majority of automobile accidents ought to happen on a curve, in a wet road, and at night, but things are not what they seem when the deadly yard stick of statistics is applied." Over one-half of the accidents occur on straight, level road and over 43 per cent occur at street crossings. Approximately one accident out of forty took place on curves. Just as surprising is the fact that considerably more than two-thirds of the accidents took place on dry roads, whereas about one out of five took place on wet road. Over two-thirds of the accidents took place under weather conditions designated as clear, while less than one-eighth of them occurred during the rain. The hour during which the greatest number of accidents took place was from five to six o'clock in the afternoon and the three greatest hours for accidents were from five to eight o'clock P. M. Every hour from 2 P. M. to 10 P. M. showed considerably more accidents than any hour from 7 A. M. to midday. The driver's inattention caused two accidents out of every five, although one accident out of every four took place while the driver was properly carrying out his duties. Dereliction of the driver such as failing to observe the right of way, running off the road, failing to signal, exceeding the speed limit, caused the rest of the accidents. Of the 30,000 cases affecting pedestrians forty per cent of the accidents was caused by people walking, running or playing on the streets, eighteen per cent crossing at intersections and approximately the same amount crossing streets improperly. Of the cars involved in accidents, nearly two-thirds were passenger cars. Approximately one-sixth were taxis and another one-sixth trucks or commercial vehicles.

DRESSING FOR THE FAIR

The way in which one is dressed very often either makes or mars the pleasure of the occasion at which one is present. How many times have you gone to the County Fair and have seen men, women and children wearing shoes that are too small for them, limping through the fair exhibits and over the fair grounds? Now you know these folks can not have their minds on what they see, nor can they enjoy the festivities of the day. The pain caused by the pinching of the feet will detract their minds and instead of a day of pleasure they have spent a day of misery. Just as this is true of tight shoes it is also true of stiff clothing. Our advice to those who would enjoy the fair is to wear comfortable clothing and shoes that have already been broken in. The fair is no place to break in new shoes.

FARM RELIEF

For some time we have been hearing all kinds of stories concerning the wonderful benefits that would be the results of proper farm relief legislation. We have been assured that all the government has to do is to pass certain measures and, presto-change—the agricultural outlook will begin to be bright, the farmers can pay off their mortgages and be prosperous once more. Such a beautiful and simple theory ought, by rights, to be water tight and perfectly feasible, yet a careful examination shows the scheme to be full of holes and probably as impractical an idea as has ever been thought of. In the first place, such an idea is contrary to all the well-established and scarcely-to-be-questioned economic facts that have been established by the trials and errors of generations past. In the second place common sense itself will show where the scheme is fallacious. The real answer to the farmers problem, which, after all, seems to be more or less localized in the state of Iowa, is in co-operative marketing. If one half of the energy that is being spent in trying to put through remedial legislation, were put in organizing the proper mutual vehicle whereby the whole situation could be adequately controlled, there would be no problem today. It would have already been solved. It is the only sensible thing to do. The fruit growers did it. They turned defeat into a success greater than they had ever dreamed. They established a new era in the fruit industry and gained prosperity for themselves as well as the essential middleman. When will we ever get over the ludicrous idea that all one has to do is get a law passed and a problem is solved? Laws don't settle problems—they raise new ones, sometimes much more serious than the troubles they were supposed to remedy.

PLUCKY ABERNATHY

Abernathy, the plucky little town to the north of Lubbock, is showing a lot of genuine pep in putting over the community fair. They are making great preparation for the best fair of the history of the town, and had arranged a booster trip to a number of the towns in this vicinity. As fate would have it the very day that the trip was to be made, the rain came and the roads were made slick and boggy, but his did not dampen the ardor of these boosters, and they made their appearance at Lubbock only two hours behind the dry weather schedule.

These boosters were in earnest about putting the trip over, and were expecting to cover the entire round they had mapped out for the day's drive if there was any chance to do so. They are intent upon putting the fair over in good shape, and they will make a success of it, for with the determination that the boosters had, and they are representative citizens of the community, there is no chance to fail.

This is the kind of material the South Plains is built of, and though the task may be hard at times, they only set their determination to put it over and over it goes. The South Plains people are the most progressive of any section in Texas, and this is the reason that this section is going forward by leaps and bounds, and people are fascinated with the country, when once they see it, and see the progressiveness of the people. That is why Abernathy is growing. That is why Lubbock, Slaton, Dalou and fifty other South Plains towns are going forward, and making towns worthwhile.

CONSTITUTION DAY

While Constitution Day, September 17, is not a legal holiday it is observed with appropriate exercises in many schools, and various patriotic societies employ the occasion to renew acquaintance with the provisions of our nation's organic law. The Constitution of the United States was adopted on September 17, 1787, by the convention appointed in pursuance of a resolution of Congress Washington presided over the convention, which was composed of 55 delegates, representing each of the original 13 states except Rhode Island, and that body was in session nearly four months. The final draft of the Constitution was made by Gouverneur Morris, a delegate from Pennsylvania.

Delaware was the first state to ratify the Constitution which it did on December 1, 1787, and Rhode Island was the last, its date of ratification being May 29, 1790.

The first ten amendments, popularly known as the Bill of Rights, were proposed together, and adopted by the required number of states by December 15, 1791. Only two other amendments were adopted prior to the Civil War between 1865 and 1870 three more were added. Since then four additional amendments have been adopted, providing for the income tax direct election of United Senators, prohibition and women's suffrage.

Every citizen of the United States should read the Constitution and its amendments at least once a year, and Constitution Day is a very appropriate occasion for the purpose.

MADDEN'S MISTAKES

Representative Martin Madden of Illinois, chairman of the House Appropriations committee, in his eager search for front page publicity, might well have forgone his most recent experiment of advising the treasury department to engineer another tax cut instead of following the policy of retirement of the national debt, for there the worthy congressman committed a faux pas. For he apparently did not realize that the foreign debt settlements, which have been negotiated by this government with England, Italy and other nations, permit those countries to pay their installments in liberty bonds. Under this arrangement, if the debts are paid in such securities, which is very likely, since the other nations will seek to conserve their gold, it would be impossible for this government to do anything else but retire the bonds, which is the identical same thing as so much retirement of the national debt. Representative Madden has had his share of popularity as the result of the great tax reductions, which he vociferously demanded and helped get through, but he has yet to learn the discretion that distinguishes the true statesman and diplomat from the amateur. "A still tongue makes a wise head," says the old proverb, and in this case at least Mr. Madden would have profited greatly by following that precept.

LONG HAIR IN AUSTRIA

Just as we have been accepting the bobbed hair question as no longer a question, and filing it away in the editorial cupboard with other issues, comes the surprising news from Vienna that bobbed hair is taboo in Austria. The Juvenile Club of Weissenbach, with a membership of 2,000 has issued notice to its members that bobbed hair will not be tolerated because it is "barbaric" and "un-feminine." The girls who have already cut their hair short are allowed one year's grace to let it grow to respectable length. Never mind, probably by the end of the second year the girls will all have their hair bobbed again; and then, in another couple of years, there will be an edict threatening the expulsion of any member wearing long hair.

Senator James W. Wentworth, of New York, a candidate for the governorship of that state, has reached a conclusion that we might well wish all our lawmakers would arrive at. "I have reached the conclusion that the government cannot engage in commercial business efficiency," he says, "and it is equally impossible to legislate prosperity." Senator Wadsworth is entirely right, although his opinion may not coincide with popular ideas.

THEY NEVER DO THIS BUT, ONCE

So Think We

We think Jim is getting on the right track to bring disfavor upon the "kid" governor—he is bragging on him.

We think that Lubbock needs many more blocks of cement sidewalks. Many of the students to the Tech college as well as the public schools find it very difficult at times to get over the ground without these conveniences.

We think that young people should not fool themselves by thinking that the bars on the jail windows will keep them out.

We think the best way to get even with an enemy is to learn something from him.

We think there is one thing that people can say about most bootleggers and that is that they will not drink the stuff they offer others to drink.

We think it is hardly ever too late. A man has three hundred and sixty chances a year to start on the way to success.

We think that it does not make much difference. If a couple have no children they have other kinds of trouble, and sometimes they are worse than the little ones.

We think the staying qualities of the booze men drink nowadays is certainly unquestioned, when a man recently got in two jails from one drunk. He was released from one jail, got in his car and drove to another town and broke into the lockup there. This might also be termed two in one.

We think that many "cultured" persons possess a lot of information that is not worth a penny.

We think it is about time to put all this old stuff about Jacob working fourteen years in the junk pile for one girl. Many an American has worked five times fourteen for one girl.

We think when a girl is taught to mind her mother when she is growing up usually does not mind staying at home and minding the baby after she is married.

We think in fact we seriously doubt if any man knows as much as he sometimes thinks he does, and never as little as many neighbors would have you think he does.

We think that after all the South Plains is about the best part of Texas, and it is the biggest part—that is all of the same kind of country.

We think with the new Lubbock Hotel being filled every night in the week, there is little need to fear that Lubbock has overdone anything.

We think the Fair Association will do well to put up some more good-sibed buildings on the Fair Grounds.

We think from what we can learn, it will not do to trust to luck in this matter of leaf worms. The poison route seems to be the best, and it would seem that spraying the cotton after it reaches a certain stage might prove very beneficial even tho no insects seem to be bothering. Prevention is better than cure most any time.

We think that everything is looking mighty rosy for the Tech College opening, and there will be no dearth of students, according to reports coming from the officials of the school.

Old Pessimist Overdone is having a hard time to convince the people of Lubbock that he has done anything of the kind.

We think Lubbock has a lot of fine water, but we could see no objection to creating a great lake of surface water out in the canyon near town to furnish a recreational park for the people of this section.

We think if many of the houses in Lubbock were brightened up with paint and nice paper inside they would be a lot easier to rent at a price that would prove profitable.

It Is Reported

That the coal men are now pointing to the coming of winter, filling the bins, and everything else.

That the cotton production of West Texas has been cut at least twenty-five per cent by the ravages of the leaf worm. A little care and early poisoning might have saved this loss.

That many farmers are going to add many hogs to their holdings on the farm this year. It is hoped that they will increase the number very materially. This is the best way to market the big feed crop.

That some of the people are getting excited over the terrible feed crop in the Plains section. Just keep your shirt on. Store away enough to run a full year ahead and feed the balance to your hogs and a few young cows for beef, and you will find a good market for them, all the feed that you raise.

That a number of railroads would like to build on the plains but it would seem that the railroad commission does not care to put their okeh on them. They seem to think that the South Plains is not in need of additional rail facilities, while everything seems to point in the direction of needing several more lines.

That the Texas Legislature is to meet in special session Monday. Wonder what the Governor's message will contain.

That a dove hunter was killed a few days ago by the accidental discharge of a gun. We think many dove hunters are killed annually by the gun they had fixed up for the doves. Careful should be the word among hunters.

It is reported that the highest authorities in education that have ever been to Lubbock, and have seen the Texas Technological College plant and looked into the work and the progress that has been made since the institution started, make a wonderful report of what they find.

HOME EDUCATION

DRESSING THE SMALL CHILD

There is nothing that will do more to make a child self-conscious than to send him among other children in clothes that are obviously unlike theirs. A boy is especially sensitive if he is wearing something extremely different from what the other boys wear.

I remember the first day my younger brother went to school. He was dressed in a little velvet suit that he had been wearing for best. Mother, unthinkingly, put it on him so that he might start to school well dressed. She never had any idea that she was subjecting him into the ridicule of the other small boys who were less elaborately and, probably, more sensibly clothed. That afternoon he came home very much out of sorts because he had been teased so much about his suit. As a result of mother's mistake his whole first week was made miserable. Although he went the second day dressed like the others, they teased him quit a bit about his first costume.

It is as bad to dress a child too poorly as too extravagantly. Some children do not like to complain about their clothes and as a result wear those that are not quite as good as the others wear even though there is no question at all with regard to the parents' ability to pay for them. I know that I hesitated to complain when I was a small lad for some reason or other.

Little boys dislike to go in corduroys if the others of their age are wearing cloth suits; little girls dislike to go in gingham if the others are wearing something they think a little better.

I knew one small boy who was distinctly b-o-y. His mother forced him to go to school in curls. Probably much of the time that he spent there he was unhappy, and for no reason at all except that his mother liked curls on little boys of his age. Imagine the amount of ridicule that he went through, and the number of scraps that he must have had to defend the curls that he hated.

Another will do well to watch other little boys the age of her own son to see what they are wearing. When very young it is usually customary for the little fellows to wear hats; when slightly older they wear caps. Generally, they are old enough for a cap when entering kindergarten, but that depends a lot on the community.

Some well-meaning mothers dress their children different from the rest for fear that their children will look commonplace, and be "ordinary" children. There is little danger of a child being an ordinary child just because he wears clothes of the standard type. If he is going to be a leader, and not one of the "ordinary" children, he will show it in the usual way, by excelling in some activity such as debating, athletics, or the school chorus.

Different clothes will tend to prevent this. On account of them the child will be likely to hesitate to mingle with the others and may become what they will call "queer."

HAS THE PLAYGROUND BEEN WORTH WHILE

(From Plainview Herald)
 We can't believe that anyone who has visited the playgrounds and seen the happy youngsters at play there could ask that question—and yet it has been asked.

In the beginning they were those who complained about the location, those who thought that children should be taught to work rather than to play, those who predicted that within a week after the opening the children would tire of the apparatus and that the investment would not be worth while. Fortunately these were not the opinions of the majority. Had they been the playgrounds would not have been realized.

The fact that an average of more than two hundred and fifty children are daily using the facilities of the playgrounds is certainly proof sufficient of the wisdom of the investment. And this number is growing, not diminishing. Adults are finding real pleasure in a recreation there too, despite the fact that equipment for their use is not yet installed in its entirety—that matter several pieces of apparatus for the children are yet in transit.

Certainly you will get a "kick" out of spending an evening at the playgrounds, particularly if you were one of those who helped make this recreation possible for the young folk of Plainview.

JUST FOLKS

INGRATITUDE

Let not ingratitude your heart debase
 Be not embittered by the sins of men,
 Stand ready ever to be kind again.
 All memory of unworthiness erase,
 Do not with hatred nobleness replace.
 How shall you answer for your conduct when Judgment is passed? And shall it serve you then
 To plead the wrong of others for your case?

Let not ungrateful brothers drag you down,
 But keep your spirit kindly and serene,
 Let not a mean acquaintance make you mean,
 Bravest is he who smiles when others
 frown,
 Strongest is he whose heart with kindness beats
 Despite the base ingratitude it meets.

TILDEN AND JOHNSTON DEFEAT FRENCH NET STARS IN OPENING PLAY OF DAVIS CUP TENNIS TILT AT MANNHEIM, PENNA.

BY FRANK GETTY
United News Staff Correspondent
GERMANTOWN CRICKET CLUB
MANNHEIM, Pa., Sept. 9.—"Big Bill" Tilden and "Little Bill" Johnston once more have proved that they are masters of any pair of tennis players who may be sent from a foreign land in quest of the Davis cup.

Two big points for America's total in the 1926 challenge round, which began this windy September day before 8,000 spectators, were chalked up when these stalwart defenders of the classic international trophy won their matches against Jean Borotra and Rene La Coste of France.

Tilden, playing as never before in a Davis cup match, disposed of the "Bundling" Basore in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3, while Johnston had an even easier time, despite the deceptiveness of his scores in defeating La Coste, 6-0, 6-4, 6-0, 6-0.

Against the steady, accurate, hard hitting American players, the dashy Frenchmen wilted, weakened, and went down to defeat.

In the first singles set, La Coste made the mistake of trying to beat Johnston at the latter's favorite game, a base line duel.

Accurate and brilliant as Johnston was, it became apparent that La Coste was not himself. The Frenchman went to the net but once in the first set, and then Johnston passed him so handily that he remained in the back court thereafter.

The set was over in 12 minutes, Johnston winning 6-0, 6-0. It was not until the third game of the second set that La Coste woke up and began to pepper "Little Bill's" notoriously weak back hand.

Johnston began to catch the net with back hand drives, and La Coste threatened to even matters, playing with greater confidence and shooting across some excellent half volleys.

Johnston won the set 6-4, but his none too great strength was severely taxed, and the Frenchman, coming with a rush, won the third. Cross-court cross placements, made La Coste's task an easy one.

After a ten minute rest, the Californian came back to the court the unbeatens "Little Bill" of old. Fifteen minutes later the match was over. Johnston, amid a storm of applause, put the finishing touches to a love set.

Big Bill Tilden then took up the American burden. Borotra flashed about the court like a meteor, making amazing pickups and saving many a point by almost superhuman gets, but always there was Tilden, stroking carefully and accurately, driving the ball back, back, back, until the Frenchman laughed like a boy, admitting his helplessness.

The crowd was with Borotra, and each brilliant play of his was followed by a burst of hand-clapping against which the umpire raised a warning hand as play proceeded.

Once, at the end of a desperate rally, in which Tilden, taking the net and bestriding the court like a Colossus, had chased him back and forth across the base-line, Borotra stumbled and skidded along the slippery grass on his stomach for the all time world like Frankie Frisch sliding into second base.

For a time, in the third set, when Tilden tossed away three games, the crowd stirred uneasily, fearing that Big Bill might be planning one of his grand stand finishes after spotting his opponent a couple of sets.

But Tilden had other business in mind. He cut loose with service aces and placements which Borotra could not handle, and quickly ran out the set and match.

This year's challenge round may be decided Friday, when Vincent Richards, swallowing his disappointment at not having been selected for singles play, will be partnered in the doubles with R. Norris Williams, the captain of the American Davis cup team. They will be opposed by Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, if the American pair wins, the Davis cup remains here. If not, the score will be two points to one in favor of the United States, and Saturday's singles matches will decide the issue.

Fight for Positions On Mustang Team

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 9.—There is going to be a battle royal for positions on the Mustang football team this fall. Fifty men will report on Armstrong field on the tenth of this month and from this half hundred the eleven will be chosen by Ray Morrison to represent the red and the blue.

Eleven letter men from last year's squad and some 40 others comprise the material for this year's Red and Blue team. There is abundance of green material but the question is will there be enough experienced men on the club to steady the youngsters and thus make a real combination. Veteran linemen will be missed.

The team as a whole shows fair defensive possibilities with a world of latent offensive power.

There will be only a few faces missing from last year's squad. The backfield that carried through the season last year with only two losses will be back intact. The flashy little Mann at quarter is due for a great year; the big Chris Cortemeglia playing his last year has just found himself and is waiting to show some real power this season.

Wade, the smashing interference and defensive man of the backs, has returned, and Craig the fleet halfback, is as speedy as ever. Bishop and Kimbrough are determined to break into every game.

Dawson and Key, the two ends that bore the brunt of the burden last season will be back fighting for the old places and the youngsters that replace them will have to show some real talent.

It is in the center of the line that the old heads are missing. George Watters, the powerful tackle; Bill Vaughn, his flashy running mate; and captain Jim Magnus of last year's line will not return.

These men, the backbone of the line that was never pierced for a touchdown, will all be hard to replace. Ford will again be at the center position and Tatum, the most consistent performer in the Mustang line last season, returns with a year's experience to back him up.

R. L. Watters, brother of George, a man who makes up for lack of weight with bulldog fight, is the other lineman that returns. Morrison will have youngsters aplenty to supplant his varsity backfield. The freshman squad of last year sent up a wealth of embryonic football men.

There are Lynch, Love, Hume, Fincher, Campbell, Reed and Kniff trying for their first positions in the varsity back field. Lynch, who tore up lines for Oak Cliff in high school, is a punter, passer and runner. Hume also is a punter extraordinary. Fincher made, at least one touch down in every freshman game he played. Love is big and fast. Campbell is noted for his defensive ability.

According to Coach Morrison, these men all need a year of conference football to gain experience. Coming from the fresh squad as ends, Morrison has Parks and Sullivan both of whom showed great form last season. Other end and line material includes Alec Hooks, Harry Watters, a third Watters brother and Howard.

A team is no stronger than its weakest link, according to Coach Morrison, and the Mustang line will need lots of work if it does not prove to be the weakest link in the Red and Blue team. Assistant Coach Mentosh has the task of developing men to support the veterans Ford and Tatum. He, however, has material in abundance. Ray, Trigg, Daniel, Brown, Scherdel, Roach, Mays, Rowman, Bueens, Bennett, Wilmet, Hudson and Bristow furnish men with all physical qualifications.

The Mustang schedule includes Centenary, Trinity, University of Missouri and five strong conference clubs. Just how well this material will stand the gaff can not be told until the sun sets next Thanksgiving.

HORSESHOE CHAMPION WINS $5,000 CONTEST
CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Hansford Jackson retained his horse shoe pitching championship of Cook county today and William Hale Thompson, former mayor of Chicago was enriched by $5,000.

Thompson wagered Carter Blatchford $5,000 that the champion and his brother, Carroll Jackson, could throw 50 "ringers" between them in a 50 point contest at the Rainbow gardens. The two tossed 54 ringers between them.

New Football Men At Wayland Raise Jackrabbit Hopes
PLAINVIEW, Sept. 9.—The opening of school at Wayland found the football squad increased by the addition of five new men. These were, Abbott from McLean, Crow from Oklahoma, Craig from Plainview and Stroup from Quitaque.

The squad now numbers twenty-one hopefuls and several others have indicated their intention of coming out within the next few days.

Strenuous workouts are being held every afternoon from three to six and those who were in training camp last week are rapidly rounding into form. Remarkably few strains and "Charley horses" have developed and the enthusiasm and "pep" shown by the men in their daily workouts bids fair to overcome the tremendous handicap of inexperience under which the team will have to struggle during the early season.

The addition of Stroup and Craig materially strengthens the hopes of Wayland supporters for both are sturdy players of proved worth. Frank Cummings, regular end of last season, and his brother, Logan, who went so well last year until an early season injury cut him down, will be in Tuesday according to a message received yesterday.

All of which would seem to indicate that Plainview fans may reasonably expect to see some very tardy exhibitions of the pickin art this fall when Wayland tangles with some of her traditional rivals such as Canyon and Clandrenon, both of which are met on the local gridiron this season.

CLERKS LOSE MONEY ON FLORIDA LAND
WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—More than 100 government clerks, all women, are believed to have lost $20,000 in a Florida land deal.

This develops in connection with the arrest in St. Louis of Harry M. Seiber, who formerly lived here, on a warrant sworn by Mrs. Tulley W. Nelson, a clerk in the state department, who charged that Seiber duped her out of $1,000 in the scheme.

YANKS AND CARDS TIGHTEN THEIR HOLDS

By United News
As the season draws to a close, the Yanks and Cards tighten their grip on first place in the respective leagues.

Finishing a brilliant season at home, the Yanks Thursday whitewashed the helpless Red Sox, ten to 0. Bob Shawkey pitching a masterful game and allowing Boston but four hits. Meanwhile, Detroit was beating the Indians 3 to 1. As a result, the Yanks left New York for their last Western trip, eight games ahead of Cleveland.

The Cardinals did not play but gained a mathematical advantage because Pittsburgh could do no better than break even with Chicago, winning the first 2 to 1, but dropping the second game, 10 to 1. St. Louis, therefore, maintained their three and a half game advantage over the Pirates and a three game lead over Cincinnati which did not play.

In the other games Thursday, the White Sox took a double header from the Browns, 3 to 1, and 5 to 1; the Gams defeated the Braves, 3 to 2, and Brooklyn took the Phillies into camp, 12 to 2. Cy Williams, the aged fielder, tried to win the game single-handed for Philadelphia, knocking out two homers, and making it three circuit clouts in two days. The Robins' nine run rally in the last inning was too much however.

Matador Training Camp Opens Today

The second Matador fall training camp opens today with at least a hundred men to report. A few of the old men arrived in town several days ago and reported yesterday afternoon for their "meal tickets."

The season has bright prospects and an undefeated schedule is the goal of the coaches as well as the men. Big Red Carpenter was the first to report yesterday and will lead the men on the field for their first workout this afternoon. He was followed close by Ox Reed, Preacher Calloway, Dope White, Vaughn Corley, Lyman Ashby, Rip Vinzande, Raymond Dean, Westfeldt, Jim Cloud, Elson Archibald, Bob H-yhurst, Mule Fikes and others.

New men who will be out today are Coates of Cisco fame, Roy Stevens, the fastest lad on the Texas gridiron, and others too numerous to mention. Percy Walker of Mission is expected in today and will add to the strength of the team greatly.

Satch Hill, Red Hamilton, Woodbridge, Smith, Hayhurst, Nicklaus, Harris, and several other old men are expected in today.

Two workouts will be held each day and the coaches plan to put the men through a grueling ten day grind for the opening game which will be played with McMurray college at Abilene, September 21.

Floydada Will Have Croquet Tournament

FLOYDADA, Sept. 9.—A Croquet Tournament is another feature added to the amusements of the Floyd County Fair to be held at Floydada Sept. 24-25. This tournament will be open to all comers in the South Plains and if it is necessary both days will be taken to determine the winners. The ground will be located on the local cotton yard which is in splendid shape and will not be in use enough by that time to interfere with the tournament. A small entrance fee will be charged and a substantial premium paid to the winners. It is possible that both singles and doubles will be played.

A football game between Floydada High School and the Plainview football squad will take place at the local park the first evening of the fair. The fair committee considers itself fortunate in securing this game for the reason that both teams are old-time rivals and neighbors. A large crowd of boosters from Plainview will attend the game. The Floydada squad has been working out for several days and will be in splendid condition by the time for the game.

Champions Past and Present

If Dr. Paul Crouch of Boston, national archery champion, had lived in the days when Richard of the Lion Heart ruled merry England, he would have given that famous gentleman, Robin Hood, some real competition. Dr. Crouch, not satisfied with being but eastern champion, added the national title to his belt at the last archery tournament at Rome, N. Y. In winning the shoot he set a world's record of 90 hits, 626 score, surpassing the former mark made by G. Phillips Bryant at Soldier's Field in 1912. At Deerfield, Mass., in 1924, he set a record for regulation free style shoot, sending the arrow for a distance of 293 yards, 18 inches. At Rome, N. Y., this year in free style shoot Dr. Crouch sent the shaft 311 yards, 4 inches. In the eastern meet he hung up a new mark in the double American round for 180 hits, 1196 score.

Dr. Crouch has been in active competition for only two and a half years and his capturing the title from archers of the calibre of Lagal, Elmer, Hertz, Palmer, Knight and Jiles was remarkable. They are veterans with the bow and have seen much tournament play.

What Price Pyle Gets Another Star
By United News
PARIS, Sept. 9.—Paul Feret, a wealthy French tennis star who has a victory over Vincent Richards to his credit, will sail September 21 with Suzanne Lenglen as a member of the exhibition team which will tour the United States under the auspices of C. C. Pyle, a representative of Pyle announced Thursday.

Announcement that Paul Feret had cast his lot with the Pyle tennis entourage, means that the troupe now comprises three players. Besides Feret and Suzanne Lenglen, Mary K. Browne of California, has also consented to play professional tennis under Pyle's direction.

REPUBLICANS HIT DEMO TRADITIONS

ENEMIES OF BUSINESS G. O. P.
LEADERS SAY OF OPPONENTS

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
PAULSMITH'S, N. Y., Sept. 9.—
Republicans have put a new twist on the prosperity issue by attacking the democrats as traditional enemies of business. This note will be noticeable in the republican campaign from now on.

For two months President Coolidge has been building up the prosperity issue. Industrial leaders have come here and make their views public in the prosperous conditions of the country.

Having the summer white house as a sounding board, these expressions carried additional weight. They composed a large part of the one million words which have been telegraphed out of here in news dispatches. These interviews all tend either by direct assertion or by inference to give the credit for current prosperity to Coolidge and the republican party.

Having built up this back ground, the psychological time has arrived to show the other side of the shield and argue that the democrats are a discouragement to prosperity. Representative John O. Tilson of Connecticut, republican floor leader in the house, came to the summer white house Thursday, and after a brief conference with the president, declared that the democrats "are reverting to type" and attacking all business under the guise of attacking big business.

Tilson used as his text a recent statement by Representative Oldfield of Arkansas, who said that the prosperity of which the republican boast is confined to a small group at the top.

"The democrats are reverting to type and attacking business," Tilson said. "I feel very strongly that prosperity is widely distributed, to say it is confined to a few is bunk.
Even the group of corporations which Oldfield mentions as getting most of the profits have thousands of stockholders and employees.

"The attack of our opponents is the old attack on business. They said it is big business. But you can't hit big business without hitting little business.

"If the democrats think we are showing favoritism to any corporations let them carry their evidence to the district attorneys for prosecution. The country should get republicans this year to maintain the present successful administration and for the good of business.
The democrats are threatening to revise the tariff when it is the tariff more than any other one thing that has maintained unprecedented prosperity."

Tilson predicted there would be no attempt to tighten the anti-trust laws in his next session on congress and indicated that the administration would ride through the coming session with agitating for legislation that would disturb business.

Prohibition, Tilson said, is not a party issue. It is not a struggle between the two parties and cannot be made so.

"I doubt if there will be enough change in the complexion of congress on prohibition to cause any difference in the attitude on the question," he said.

Trinity Product to Coach Crosbyton Chiefs for 1926

Special to The Avalanche

CROSBYTON, Tex., Sept. 9.—The Chiefs of the Gridiron in the local high school will begin training the earlier part of next week under the direction of Coach J. L. Weatherly, who for the past few years has been connected with athletic department of Trinity University. Weatherly comes to Crosbyton recommended very highly by those that have taken great interest in his work for the past few years and declares that he is capable of developing a winning combination.

Promising material awaits the arrival of the new motto and the ads that heed the call of the first workout are more anxious to hear he opening blast of the referee's whistle.

The following schedule was announced by Weatherly:

- Oct. 2—Matador at Matador.
- Oct. 8—Olton at Crosbyton.
- Oct. 15—Hale Center at Crosbyton.
- Oct. 22—Spur at Spur.
- Nov. 5—Lockney at Crosbyton.
- Nov. 11—Open.
- Nov. 19—Ralls at Ralls.

Weatherly stated that several more games will be scheduled before the season opens.

HOW MANY NAMESAKES WILL MOODY HAVE

DENTON, Tex., Sept. 9.—"Dan Moody's" will soon be found in every locality along with "George Washingtons," "Abe Lincolns," "Woodrow Wilsons" and namesakes of lesser lights among the makers of political history.

Little Dan Moody Adcock, of Denton County, however, holds first claim to having acquired the name of the governor-elect in his county and perhaps the first in the State to be christened by that name after Moody's nomination for the gubernatorial position. Dan Moody Adcock was born the night of the run-off primary.

So far as is known, the political career of the new governor's nameake has not been planned as yet.

LITTLEFIELD GETS FIRST BALE, 385 POUNDS

LITTLEFIELD, Sept. 9.—The first sale of cotton for this season was brought in by J. L. Woodruff from his farm near Littlefield. It was ginned by the E. D. Davaney Gin, and sold for a price of 25c per pound.
The bale weighed 385 pounds. Mr.
Woodruff has 400 acres in cotton here, which at the lowest estimate will yield 3-4 of a bale per acre. The sale of cotton was purchased by Veager-Chesher Land Co., of Littlefield.

EVELLAND OBSERVES LABOR DAY MONDAY

EVELLAND, Sept. 9.—Labor day was devoted to a very fine parade, made up of the local unions of the town and business men also. After the parade, addresses were delivered by County Judge, J. R. Evans,
Dr. E. J. Cook and Judge W. D.
"Ope."

Evelland is a very young town, yet is a live, wide-awake young city.
The carpenters have quite a good number of members in their local union and promises to be quite a live local.

WELLINGTON WILL MEET MANGUM FRIDAY

WELLINGTON, Tex., Sept. 9.—

an unbeatable team in 1925 and as here has been much rivalry for a period of years between the two teams, this game is expected to be an extremely exciting one.

By United News
LO SANGELES, Sept. 9.—The tribe of Yakima, one of the last remaining tribes of red men in the West, were throwing a state of terror tonight on their first introduction to the radio, in the isolated wilds of Yosemite valley.

A receiving set was taken to Yose-mite and in the shadows of Half Dome, the Yakima tribe gathered around a camp fire to hear their first radio program.

"It is the voice of your enemy, to explain to representatives of the

"My people say that the ghost of

RAIN FAILS TO DAMPEN BOOSTERS

ABERNATHY CARAVAN GETS TO LUBBOCK ON SCHEDULE

Undaunted by the rainy weather, 40 boosters of the second annual Abernathy Community Fair visited Lubbock yesterday, arriving here at 12:20 and giving a short band concert in front of the court house. After the concert, C. W. Bean spoke a few words concerning the fair and invited Lubbock to attend. A. B. Davis responded and assured the boosters that Lubbock would give them their whole-hearted support. The caravan then left for Idalou and other points on their circle of this section.

The fair will be held September 24 and 25 and the officials have planned for the largest ever held there. Special amusements features, contests, exhibits boxing exhibitions and battle royals, and speeches will be included in the two day program. Several hundred dollars in prizes will be awarded in the agricultural exhibits. The contests will consist of exhibits of cotton, small grain, legumes, vegetables, small fruits, canning, fine arts, needle work, flower display, baby show, poultry, cattle, horses and mules and hogs.

J. P. Nystel secretary of the Chamber of Commerce headed the boosters here yesterday and stated that much interest had already been manifested in the fair and many exhibits were expected. An exhibit from the fair will be entered in the South Plains fair here.

To Give Windmill as Prize at Fair

A windmill for the best ten maize heads on exhibit at the South Plains fair. This was the announcement given out by the Axtell company to the fair officials yesterday. F. W. Axtell, vice president and general manager of the company which has houses here and in Fort Worth is in town and the announcement came with his arrival. The mill, a roller bearing, is valued at about $76 and will make a valuable prize in the farm exhibits. Much interest is expected in this particular exhibit from now on out because of the announcement and prize by the company.

West Texas C. of C. Gets Endowment Of The People

STAMFORD, Tex., Sept. 9.—The present program of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is meeting with favor throughout the West Texas Chamber of Commerce territory as indicated by the enthusiasm with which the various towns have responded to membership drives during the past month. Approximately 98 per cent of the members whose memberships expired during this time, have renewed their affiliations, while some of them have taken double the membership held during 1925. The larger industrial companies of the state whose memberships expired during the month of August all renewed their memberships and several of them increased the memberships they carried before.

Keen rivalry between Amarillo and Wichita Falls, which has been manifest in all developments and improvements of these two oil cities, has been a feature of the membership drive. Last year Amarillo led all cities in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce district, with the exception of Ft. Worth, in the membership campaign, bringing in a total of 404 members.

Dallas Expects Biggest Show In Annual Fair

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 9.—With indications for an agricultural show that will transcend anything ever before seen in the Southwest, with promise for a livestock display running the full gamut of the industry and with the pledge of more free attractions and amusements than ever before offered, the presence of the fortieth annual State Fair of Texas, Dallas, October 9-24, is one of keen interest in every department.

Fully 75 counties, it is expected will be entered for the county exhibits contests and for the $10,000 cumulative premiums, the competition for which opens with this exposition.

Even Alligators Like South Plains

"Look out thar son, that alligator will get you."

The warning may be true now in Lubbock for a real live alligator exists here and has shown signs of liking the country. His home is the window of the Stafford Drug Store, 818 Main and he lies lazily in the small tank catching an occasional fly.

The gator was received Wednesday by express by W. W. Stafford from his brother-in-law, F. A. Saunders in Florida. He is about 30 inches from tip to tip and five years old. Stafford hasn't yet made plans of keeping the animal but it is likely that he will remain in Lubbock and grow up with the country.

Hereford Condemns Advertising Fakirs

HEREFORD, Tex., Sept. 9.—Promiscuous advertisers and beggars will not receive a warm reception when they enter Hereford. The directors of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce met recently and condemned various advertising schemes, the beggars who go about the business districts, and all those who solicit in the residence section of the city, without an approval from the advertising committee of the local organization. The directors are urging local merchants and citizens of Hereford to cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce in trying to curb this costly practice. The local advertising committee is composed of A. O. Thompson, chairman; N. E. Gass and Walter Dunlap. Beggars should be reported to Sheriff Claude Benton for the approval of the Charity committee. The selling of foreign printing companies, was also condemned, and Hereford merchants are urged to turn down such propositions unless such proposition has the approval of the advertising committee.

The following officers were re-elected for the coming year: E. E. Black, president; G. A. F. Parker, vice-president; A. O. Thompson, treasurer.

All committees that have been functioning in the past were approved, with a few names added here and there. The Finance committee received three additions, and is now composed of the following: A. O. Thompson, chairman; Homer Fox, J. A. Pittman, J. E. Hill, O. W. Brumley and E. W. Harrison. This committee was urged to plan a membership campaign for the near future. It was brought out that many more citizens and business men of Hereford should be members of the Chamber of Commerce, and drive must be made to sign these up.

Mr. Black said that the big development here would require a larger program for the local organization than it has ever attempted. He spoke of the exhibit that would be taken to the Tri-State Fair at Amarillo, and said a membership drive should be made before this fair. Mr. Black also stated that housewives of Hereford, and local business men should turn in every salesman or beggar who was working without a letter from the advertising committee of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand.—The New Zealand House recently adopted tariff amendments designed to give tariff preference to British automobiles. British automobiles will get the preferential rate of 10 per cent while others are taxed 35 per cent.

South Plains Fair On Cash Basis

With just three more weeks until the opening of the fair, the officials are busy making every preparation. The industrial building at the grounds is being improved and cleaned up and the booths will be ready for occupancy. Much interest is being manifested in the booths this year and an increase is expected over last year. The officials are reserving spaces daily now and it is likely that they will all be taken by the first of next week.

It will be the policy to give those who had booths last year the same spaces this year. An increase in the number of larger firms wanting booths is expected this year.

It is the plan of the board of directors of the fair to handle every thing on a cash basis this year.

BALDWIN STIRS COMMENT BY WEARING STRAW HAT

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Straw hats are almost obsolete in England, but they have just received a last-minute revival through the appearance on the streets of Prime Minister Baldwin topped with a "boater" as the straws are called in England. The Premier's political audacity in sponsoring a for moif headgear which has almost passed out of the book of styles has caused much comment.

While straw hats are, in disfavor however, the "topper" is enjoying a boom. Not since the beginning of the war have so many shiny tall hats and collapsible opera hats been seen in London. The manufacturers are busy not only meeting the demand of the male dressers but also satisfying a new fashion in women's millinery, which suggests that a crown of the same material of which "toppers" are made will supersede the interminable felts this winter.

CLOSE GUESSING ON DAN MOODY VOTE

On Saturday, the day of the second primary a group of men decided they would create a vote guessing contest, and accordingly a list of five votes guessed. Each deposited a dollar when they guessed and the one who guessed nearest to the number was to have the entire amount collected. The democratic State Committee at San Antonio gave the official count as 495,723 and Ed L.

Allen, of Ropes guessed 495,756. This being nearest guess, he was entitled to the pot, which amounted to about $75.00 as we understand it.

GREAT LAKES WATER DIVERSION CONFAB TO BE PRESSED AT CONGRESS' NEXT SESSION

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The first fight of the December session of Congress will be staged in the Senate over the river and harbors bill—a measure appropriating some $59,419,000 for various waterways development purposes.

The bill was passed last session by the House containing a provision for development of the Illinois project, opening a navigable channel from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico.

But adjoining lake states, particularly Wisconsin and Ohio, have protested that diversion of lake water in Illinois will result in lowering the level of all the lakes to a point where navigation would seriously suffer.

After a long discussion the Senate Commerce Committee reported the bill to the Senate in the closing days of the last Congress with the House provision for the Illinois project sanctioned.

Senator Willis, Repn., Ohio, served notice at that time that there would be a strenuous contest against his provision to protect the lake ports of his state and upon Willis' threat the bill was permitted to lay over until the coming session.

The argument which avoided the fight at the last session provided that on December 14 the Senate would proceed to the consideration of the bill and that debate would be limited thereafter so that no filibuster could halt its progress.

Under the limited debate arrangement no Senator after December 20 may speak longer than one hour on the bill or 30 minutes upon an amendment and after 3 p. m. December 21, no Senator may speak longer than 15 minutes.

The measure as passed by the House contained appropriations of $33,558,000, but the Senate committee cut the total to $29,419,000. Total additions of about $13,861,000 were made (including $5,000,000 for an intracoastal water way from Beaufort, N. C., to the Cape Fear River and $1,000,000 for Hackensack, N. J., harbor) and surveys with reference to power, flood control and irrigation were increased by about $5,000,000.

To more than balance this increase, however, the Senate lopped off $38,000,000 from the House provision of $50,000,000 for improvement of the Missouri River above Kansas City to Sioux City, leaving but $12,000,000 for that project.

Under the agreement the bill is certain to be adopted before the Christmas holidays although the outcome of the Illinois waterways provision is in doubt.

The world's record for a chicken egg is claimed for a hen owned by R. C. Evans of Cardiff, it being a trifle over 10 inches long and 8 1/2 inches in circumference.

HOW THE DAWN COMES IN A MOVIE STUDIO

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Came the dawn!

"One—two—three—four—five!" The sonorous voice of D. W. Griffith boomed above the confusion of the studio, his eyes watching the dingy window through which Carol Dempster was forlornly gazing.

Beyond the window were dimly visible the roofs and chimneys of old Whitechapel—a scene from the veteran director's latest picture, "Sorrows of Satan."

"Six—seven—eight—nine—!" The deep voice continued, while a property man standing beside a great sun-arc lamp focussed against the rear of the window removed, one at a time, thin frames of gauze from before the lamp.

The light grew imperceptibly brighter as each numbered frame vanished at the editor's command.

"Ten—eleven—twelve—thirteen—fourteen—all on!" The last diaphanous veil slid from before the lamp, letting its strong refulgent rays beat against the window.

Day had dawned—movie style.

BROADCASTING A FACE TRIED BY EXPERIMENTER

LONDON, Sept. 9.—"I knew it was you by the sound of your face" may soon become a common salutation.

Already radio listeners all over England know the sound of Captain Hutchinson's face. It is a low drumming sound, like a far-away airplane.

Captain Hutchinson has been broadcasting his face on a 200 meter wave-length for several weeks, experimenting in the new science of "television," sending motion pictures by radio broadcast.

His face registers in ordinary receiving sets only as a continuous hum, but when the "television" apparatus is hooked in, his face is shown on a screen so that the hearer of his words can tell, while he listens, whether the Captain is smiling or serious.

The British Government has just issued the first two "television" licenses on record, one for the London office of the company, Television Ltd., the other for the company's experimental shop at Green Gables, Harrow.

Farmers' Field Day Here September 13

The Second Annual Farmers Field Day, under the auspices of District No. 2, of the Extension Service to be held at Sub-station No. 8 of the Texas Agricultural Experimental Station, Lubbock, Texas, Monday, September 13th.

In spite of the fact that the crops went through a 69 day drought they have made a good growth. It will well repay you to see how the different varieties of sorghums and cotton reacted under dry weather.

If you are interested in cropping methods you will be interested in seeing cotton, milo, kafir, sorgo completing their eleventh year on the same piece of ground.

Mr. Jones, who is in charge of the station at this place says: In addition we have seven acres devoted to 25 different rotations on which we have a ten year record.

"What is the best planting date? Grain sorghums planted on April 15, May 15 and June 15 are far enough advanced to draw a good comparison. This experiment has been running for seven years.

"Are you an advocate of thick or thin spacing of cotton? See cotton spaced at three intervals from three to thirty-six inches between plants. This is the eleventh year of this experiment."

"This year we have 21 different varieties and strains of cotton. See how your favorite compares with your neighbors planted, cultivated and given the same care throughout."

"Inspection of the fields will start promptly at 1 p. m. This will be followed by a round table discussion. A luncheon will be served by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce on the staid grounds at the completion of the round table discussion. A short program of about two hours will follow at which some interesting talks will be made.

"There will be plenty of good camping ground for those attending from a distance. The following morning an inspection of some pure fields of sorghums and the Texas Tech will be made."

ROMANCE OF AGED LOVERS OUTRUNS PACE OF YOUTH

STRADELLA, Sept. 9.—The best age for loving was decided by Giuseppe Velutti and Maria Agati, who have just been married here. He is 81 and she 79.

This is Giuseppe's own story of his courtship. "I was in her town for business one day when I saw her coming down the Main Street. I liked her at once. A man likes women at 80 just as at any other age, you know. I stopped her and asked her her name. My heart was in my mouth. She told me casting her eyes on the ground. She blushed, and so did I. She took to me at first sight, and so we got married. That's all there is to it."

BUTLER KILLS 'LADIES BOUNTIFUL' ENGLISHMAN, DISCHARGED BY SISTERS, SHOOTS THEM TO DEATH

HEREFORD, England, Sept. 9.—The "Ladies bountiful" are dead and a butler whom they discharged Tuesday morning is under arrest charged with their murders.

For 25 years Charles Houghton was the butler at palatial "Burghill court" to Elinor Woodhouse, 60, and May Woodhouse, 58, wealthy spinsters.

Tuesday morning he was given notice of his dismissal. With the dignity which marked his service for a quarter of a century, Houghton served their breakfasts. When the sisters had finished, Houghton and another servant vainly pleaded with them to reinstate him. The other servant left Houghton talking with them.

As he was mounting the carpeted stairs, he heard shots. Rushing to the room, the servant found the sisters on the floor, a double barrel shot gun beside them.

Houghton was in his own room which was barricaded. The police were notified. They persuaded the butler to open the room, and found him on the floor with six slight throat wounds, apparently caused by slashes from a razor.

He was arrested charged with the double murder. The sister were known locally as the "Ladies bountiful" because of their philanthropies. Elinor also was prominent in politics, having been president of the local conservative association.

MUSSOLINI ON FACULTY OF PERUGIA UNIVERSITY

PERUGIA, Sept. 9.—The newly instituted University for Foreigners in Perugia, at the head of whose list of professors is Benito Mussolini, scheduled to lecture on "Ancient Rome on the Sea," is turning this pretty Umbrian hill-town into a great cosmopolitan post-graduate center.

The courses for the foreign students, the majority of whom are people who have long left college embrace a variety of subjects, and the list of the professors who will give the various lectures and conferences comprises the first names among Italian men of letters, historians and philosophers. Minister Fedele, Professor Romagnoli, Signor Giovanni Papini and Professors Gallenga, Foa, Giannini and Nogara are among the lecturers.

In a campaign against kisses on the screen, Japanese censors have cut out about 800,000 yards of film in the past three years.

Rainfall for Last 52 Years Reviewed By Climatologist

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—There were eleven consecutive days of rainfall at the National Capital during the latter part of August, Preston C. Day, Climatologist of the Weather Bureau, Department of Agriculture, said on September 3, but he declared that this was not a record.

"There were eleven consecutive days of rainfall registered at the Weather Bureau during the period of August 12 to 22, last," said Dr. Day, "with rain again on August 24 and 25, and intermittent rains since, including September 2 and 3. But the Weather Bureau's record for consecutive rains was established in August 1920, with 16 consecutive rainy days, and, for amount of rainfall, in August, 1906 when the month's precipitation reached 14.36 inches."

"So far in 1926," Dr. Day added, "there have been no extreme outstanding floods, as in some years. In 1925 there were heavy rains, particularly in January in the South. In March and in May of 1924 there were floods in the Potomac River, with resulting losses of approximately $7,000,000 and in August there was another flood, in the west, caused by heavy rains."

VALET OF FOUR PRESIDENTS DIES

By United News WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The negro valet who is credited with making "good dressers" of four presidents of the United States and whose personal qualities led President Coolidge to describe him recently as "one of the finest men in Washington," died at his home here today.

Major Arthur Brooks, who came to the White House with President Taft 15 years ago, carried into death perhaps a more accurate knowledge of the real nature of the four chief executives under whom he served than any one outside the official family circles. A valet's intimate knowledge of the personal idiosyncracies of the men he serves is traditional, but Brooks never divulged, even to members of his own family, anything that went on behind the doors of the White House.

Major Brooks was more than a valet. He entered the White House service as a custodian of the property in the executive mansion; a duty he performed until his illness a few weeks ago. But it was as valet and advised on matter of dress that he is best known.

ing $3,000,000 loss. But this year, we have been fortunate in that respect. The average precipitation for August in the Bureau's history is 4.13 inches with two instances where the 1-inch mark was exceeded for September, the average is 3.37 inches with only one instance of more than 10 inches precipitation.

"The average annual precipitation for 52 years, from 1871 to 1923, is 42.24. In that period, the greatest amount of rainfall in one year was 61.33 inches in 1889, the year of the Johnston flood, and the least for one year was 30.85 inches in 1894. The greatest rainfall in one month during that period was 14.36 inches in August, 1906, while the least rainfall in any one month was .014 of one per cent in September, 1884."

Other Records Are Quoted "The longest period without rainfall extended from 4:30 a. m., September 12, to 5:45 a. m. on October 7, 1922, 25 days and one and a quarter hours. The longest period of uninterrupted precipitation extended from April 8 to April 12, 1918, more than 93 hours, during which time rain, sleet and snow fell."

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—The Department of Commerce announces a summary of the financial statistics of the State of Texas for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1925.

Expenditures. The payments or maintenance and operation of the general departments of Texas for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1925, amounted to $55,165,298, or $10.88 per capita. This includes $23,157,786, apportionment for education to the minor civil divisions of the State. In 1924 the comparative per capita for maintenance and operation of general departments was $7.92, and in 1917, $4.58. The increase noted for 1925 in expenses of general departments was due, principally, to the assumption by the State of the entire expense for maintenance of State highways, and to the increased apportionments for education to the minor civil divisions of the State. The interest on debt amounted to $220,051; and outlays for permanent improvements, $13,990,602. The total payments, therefore, for expenses of general departments, interest, and outlays were $69,346,952. The totals include all payments for the year, whether made from current revenues or from the proceeds of bond issues.

The governmental costs reported above, $20,979,760 was for highways, $10,040,879 being for maintenance and $10,938,881 for construction.

Revenues. The total revenue receipts of Texas for 1925 were $64,675,016, or $12.75 per capita. This was $3,283,667 more than the total payments of the year exclusive of the pay-

DAILY MARKETS

New York Finance Cotton Market

By E. WALTER MOCKLER
Written for the United News
NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Today's market was a stand-off so far as the industrial stocks were concerned although the leading rail stocks again yielded to pressure and the averages showed a net loss of more than a full point for the day. In the case of the industrial issues, it looked very much as though sponsors were serving notice on the bears to watch their step. There was no aggressive attempt made to bid up the market as was the case not so many days ago but the profit taking in the rails was forced by a steady industrial market which became even steeper on the first signs of any pressure.

Through all of the forenoon in the industrials such as Steel and General Motors, the actual market leaders have never dropped far below their highs for the year. With one exception in the case of motors, profit taking has been conducted orderly fashion and the attempts of professionals to make a turn against the stock have been doomed to failure each time. Motors is within the points of the record high established soon after the famous Cochrane interview. The hullabaloo which followed this interview has died down but quite a few

The Great Panhandle Oil Field Offers Opportunity To the People of Lubbock and Vicinity to Join Hands with the Panhandle Holding Co.

Twelve Chances To Win PANHANDLE'S GREATEST PAY OFF

100 PER CENT MONEY BACK GUARANTEE!

Here's Our Proposition:

The Panhandle Holding Company, organized under the strict laws of the State of Texas, owns 3,200 acres of leases, carrying full seven-eighths of all the oil and gas produced. These leases are located in the trend of the greatest development ever known in oil history.

A majority of the acreage is in the same drilling blocks with twelve different wells.

Capitalized for only $150,000.00, divided into 150,000 shares, with a par value of $1.00 each, the Panhandle Holding Company offers the investor an opportunity to reap huge returns from the greatest oil field activity on earth.

Five of the wells now drilling are close to the bottom. Any one of them may blow in a giant gusher any time. When one or more of them does, our books will be closed forever. A quick lease sale will be made, and then the first of the many pay-offs possible from the sale of leases owned by the Panhandle Holding Company will be made.

W. G. Burton, the man who drilled in the great Smackover discovery gusher, estimated as a 70,000 barrel producer, is drilling two wells near our holdings. In the drilling block with two of Burton's wells, the Panhandle Holding Company owns leases on 400 acres. In the drilling block with the other well we own leases on 320 acres. If even one of Burton's wells comes for only one-tenth as much as his Smackover gusher, your stock in the Panhandle Holding Company will be worth at least four to one.

Approximately 90 percent of the wells drilled in the Panhandle area have been producers and are producers now and will be producing for many years to come. All of the leases of the Panhandle Holding Company are on geology. They are on structure and scarcely a single dry hole has been drilled on structure or on geology in the Panhandle field.

Certainly it seems probable that at least fifty percent of the twelve wells will find production. Yet, if only one comes in as a big producer, you will make a very handsome return for your investment. Get in your order immediately—before the books are closed.

COL. GEO. E. MONTGOMERY

Colonel George E. Montgomery, the President of the Board of Directors for the Panhandle Holding Company, is recognized as one of the best informed oil men in the Panhandle area.

Colonel Montgomery opened up the famous "Y" block in Hutchinson county. This area is now the richest producing part of the Panhandle field, although Montgomery feels confident that its production is destined to be overshadowed by new producing areas, which he feels sure will be opened up.

Colonel Montgomery came to Amarillo seven years ago. At that time he was an experienced oil man, having devoted almost his entire life to the development of oil properties throughout the Mid-Continent and Eastern fields.

The structure traced out by Colonel Montgomery seven years ago has since been found to be the richest producing area on earth. His practical observations were verified about one year ago through the careful analytical work of Dr. William Clement Leonard.

Dr. Leonard was sent to the Panhandle field and to West Texas by the Research Syndicate, of New York.

Dr. Leonard is firmly convinced that very heavy production underlies the leases of the Panhandle Holding Company, and believes it quite probable that the "Mother Pool" may be found in either Lipscomb, or Ochiltree counties, Texas, or in Texas county, Oklahoma.

CUTLER-MOORE & COMPANY—General Agents Ray Bynum Building Amarillo, Texas References—First National Bank, Amarillo, Texas

So far, the greatest pay-off in the Panhandle has been made by the Amarillo Oil Company. That company paid 140 for 1. Think of it. One hundred and forty dollars for every dollar invested, yet the Amarillo Oil Company did not own 3,200 acres around twelve drilling wells. When that Company was organized, you would have agreed that it did not offer the prospects for a big winning that are presented today by the Panhandle Holding Company. You would agree with us if you understood this field as we understand it, that the Panhandle Holding Company may well be expected to make the greatest pay-off ever made through oil operations in the State of Texas.

Floyd County Clubs Are Active in Fair

FLOYDADA Sept. 4.—Floyd County Home Demonstration Clubs will play a very important part in the Floyd County Fair to be held here September 23-25, according to Miss Blanche Bass, county demonstrator, who states that every club in the county is hard at work preparing the best exhibit of their work and products possible.

A model bedroom will be one of the many different features of the demonstration clubs. Every article that is needed to make a very attractive bedroom will be used. Space has been reserved in the city tabernacle, where the fair will be held, for the little room and the ladies and girls are planning a very unusual and educating exhibit.

The splendid garden products will enable the ladies to make one of the best showings that has ever been made in the county. Gardens that were entered in the state contest produced wonderfully and these products will all be on exhibit during the fair.

The parade, which will be held on the second day, is attracting a great amount of interest for the reason that every live community intends to have a float and a community queen if it. This is a new feature of the fair as is the automobile show and community exhibits.

All amusements and concession rights are in the hands of the American Legion members who are lining up a real entertaining program for the fair visitors.

Sudan Farmers Will Winter Sheep
SUDAN, Sept. 8.—Leo Crosby returned yesterday from Wortham, Texas, where he visited with J. W. Bounds and Crosby contracted to winter a thousand head of sheep on their farms, ten miles southwest of Sudan. Both men purchased farms here last fall and this is their first crop on the land. The farms, three labor, adjoin and the feeding arrangement will be completed by the time the sheep are put on the land, proof to them that they can make an even better showing as the land gets into better state of cultivation.

The feeding venture will be watched by the farmers in this section with great interest. It is known by all that if our immense feed crops could be fed out and marketed on the hoof, the farmers might realize greater returns therefrom. Whether sheep, cattle or hogs, or some of all, will prove the more profitable in feeding, remains to be proven. The Bounds-Crosby experiment will be a step in this direction.

Kenneth Bounds, son of J. W. Bounds, has been doing the farm work on the 254-acre Bounds farm and is at present visiting with his family at Wortham.

Moody Wanted Ku Klux Named

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 8.—That Dan Moody, nominee for governor, wanted to take the fight to name the Klan as objectionable to the floor of the state democratic convention and was prevented from doing so by John Boyle, catholic political leader of San Antonio, was asserted by both men today in written statements.

Moody said that he wrote the anti-klan plank which the committee changed, and that he then insisted that he carry the battle before the open meeting, but Boyle prevailed upon him not to do so. Boyle also confirmed this in a statement.

The 1926 catalog for the South Plains fair is now off the press and is being delivered to the people of this section interested in the "Show Window of the South Plains." Three thousand copies were printed this year and the book contains 136 pages, giving the most complete premium list ever compiled by the organization.

TAHOKA WILL GO TO CROSBY FAIR

BIG LYNN COUNTY DELEGATION TO EXHIBITION ON SEPTEMBER 16
CROSBYTON, Sept. 6.—The city of Tahoka has notified the Crosby County Fair Association that they are sending a big delegation on Sept. 16. A letter from Monte Brown, director of the band at Tahoka, states that there will be thirty five cars and that the Tahoka band of thirty pieces will be here to add to the special features presented by the various cities of the South Plains.

Tahoka is planning a big County Fair this year and already has a wonderful line up for a substantial program for that city and Lynn County. Tahoka is in the heart of one of the best farming districts in the West and their fair promises a great success.

The Crosby County Fair this year will be Sept. 15 to 18, with special features for each day. The second day, 16th, is designated as South Plains Town Day and several towns have already indicated that they will be here. All do not have brass bands but some have special quartets and other musical features representing their city.

Eight Thousand Have Seen Cave Near Carlsbad

CARLSBAD, N. M., Sept. 4.—Many visitors to the world-famous Carlsbad Cavern are impressed with the untold millions of years required for its formation. Others view the marvelous formations merely for their spectacular beauty.

A new type of tourist was developed last Friday when one of the guides pointed to a formation which has every semblance of a woman mounted on a donkey. One tourist from Texas remarked humorously that it looked like "Ma" Ferguson on "Spark Plug," and a second visitor also from the Lone Star State instantly replied: "Well, 'Ma' surely will take her fall here today." The formation henceforth will be known as "Ma Ferguson Riding Spark Plug."

Cotton Around Olney Unusually Good This Year
OLNEY, Sept. 4.—Despite the invasion this summer of the cotton fly and other injurious insects, the cotton crop from the Olney district is expected to be unusually heavy.

As a result farmers are beginning to feel the effects of the labor short age, and an effort is being made by the Olney chamber of commerce to supply cotton pickers through the Fort Worth office of the United States Labor Division. At present more than 250 men have been asked for, while a few have been placed by the work of gathering the years crop has already begun on a number of farms.

If order to promote the cotton growing industry and attempt to standardize the handling of cotton and establish a set price for cotton pickers, an association of cotton growers will be organized Monday night. This movement is being sponsored by the chamber of commerce and a number of the leading merchants of Olney, and local cotton buyers have been invited to attend the meeting.

Olney's first bale of cotton was brought in several days ago by J. C. Thompson. The bale weighed 555 pounds, and brought the owner, in addition to the regular purchase price offered by the gin, a premium of $45 and a first, price of $15.

RAIN NEEDED, SOAKS PANHANDLE COUNTRY

AMARILLO, Sept. 8.—Rain, averaging two inches, soaked the Panhandle country early this week, coming at an opportune time to place wheat fields in ideal condition for fall planting. The precipitation was heaviest north and east of Amarillo, in some places being above two inches. Row and cotton crops now maturing also will be benefited by the moisture.

First Cotton Bale Arrives Floydada

FLOYDADA, Sept. 7.—Just one year from the day that the first 1925 bale arrived and was ginned by the Haynes Gin Co. Ernest Jones of the Starkey community south of Floydada brought the bale to town. T. P. Collins, local cotton buyer, purchased the bale paying 20 cents for it. The bale weighed out 420 pounds. A premium was raised by the Floydada citizens.

If present indications continue 200 dth of cotton crop in Floyd county will beat the 1925 record of 25,000 bales. Cotton pickers will be needed by the 20th of this month.

DEMOS SCORED BY LYNN COUNTY JIM FOR FAILURE TO NAME KU KLUX

DAN BRAVER THAN REST OF CONVENTION, HE SAYS
ISSUES STATEMENT IS NOT SATISFIED WITH CONDEMNATION OF "SECRET ORDERS"

AUSTIN, Sept. 8.—Former Governor James E. Ferguson, down trodden in Texas politics, today condemned the state democratic convention for not having "nerve enough to name the ku klux Klan" outright in its platform but condemned his former opponent Dan Moody, democratic nominee for governor, because he was braver than the convention.

TAHOKA WILL GO TO CROSBY FAIR

BIG LYNN COUNTY DELEGATION TO EXHIBITION ON SEPTEMBER 16

CROSBYTON, Sept. 6.—The city of Tahoka has notified the Crosby County Fair Association that they are sending a big delegation on Sept. 16. Some Fine Cattle At Hereford Fair

HEREFORD Sept. 4.—Anxiety 4th Hereford show from Bill Womble's Palo Duro Hereford Farm will be shown at the Deaf Smith County Free Fair September 16-17-18, and Mr. Womble plans to give his breeders some keen competition. He will probably bring in six head and his son will likely show at least three or four. Mr. Womble has been in the Hereford cattle business for a number of years, and has always saved back the cream of his herd for his foundation, and is now rated among the best breeders of the southwest.

200 PICKERS ARE NEEDED IN FLOYD

IMMEDIATE HELP IS NECESSARY FOR HANDLING COTTON
FLOYDADA, Sept. 7.—As many as 200 hands can be used in the Floydada territory immediately for the harvesting of the large maize and grain crop, according to several farmers who have been seeking hands to start to work this week.

An unusually good crop prospect this year did not cause the farmers to rush their call for hands because the harvest began there was no short age of hands. This was caused partly on account of the modern machinery eliminating the use of so many harvesters.

Cotton picking will start within the next fifteen days and the maize headers can find plenty of cotton to pick if the present prospects continue good. An unusual thing about the need for hands this year is the offer of good homes to stay in. Several farmers want large families to start to work on their places at once. Neighbors have promised these farmers that they will use the hands as soon as they are available.

Car Theft Ring At Borger Broken

BORGER, Texas, Sept. 8.—A gang of automobile thieves with headquarters in Borger, mushroom oil town, said to be the largest city in the United States without a city government, was believed broken up here Wednesday with the recovery of eight stolen cars.

Lynn Schools to Open September 13

TAHOKA, Sept. 7.—Lynn county teachers are attending the Teachers' Institute, that is being held in Lubbock this week. Practically all of the country schools of this county will open the school term on the 13th of September.

TAHOKA VICINITY NEEDS MEN TO GATHER COTTON CROP

TAHOKA, Sept. 7.—A large number of cotton pickers are needed by Lynn county farmers. A number of farmers are already picking cotton, while others are just waiting for pickers.

The first bale of cotton ginned in Tahoka was sold for twenty cents per pound in addition to a premium of fifty dollars. The bale was raised by a Mr. Browning in the east part of Lynn county, while it was bought by J. E. Stuart, local cotton buyer.

Both farmers and business men of this section seem to be highly pleased with the present outlook for a large cotton yield. The damage from the worms has been checked in most communities, while enough of the cotton is now matured to insure a fair yield if not a bumper crop. It is almost certain that the county will get the largest crop of record here.

MOODY SOOTHES TROUBLED DEMOS

GOVERNOR NOMINEE SAVES DALLASITE FROM STEAM ROLLER

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 7.—Wild confusion reigned in the democratic state convention Tuesday afternoon with the outbreak showing very evident signs of being a klan and anti-klan nature.

Trouble arose over the naming of D. F. Tysinger of Dallas a member of the state democratic executive committee by the committee on permanent organization over the recommendation of the Dallas county district who had selected R. L. Thornton for the position. Immediately after the announcement was made the convention went into an uproar with the Dallas delegation clamoring for recognition claiming that it was illegal to name a man other than the choice of the county he represented.

With the confusion growing greater each moment and no relief in sight, Dan Moody, attorney general and democratic nominee for governor stepped into the breach and saved Thornton from the steam roller tactics of the convention.

Moody in a brief speech declared that although Thornton was "objectionable" to him he was for peace and order and recommended that the Dallas county choice be given the honor. With this approval Thornton was qualified for a position on the executive committee without further discussion.

County Club Fair This Year Will Be a Big Affair

LAMESA, Sept. 8.—The annual Dawson county club fair has been set for Friday, September 24. The affair will be held in Lamesa and all the members of the women's and girls, home demonstration clubs and the boys of the farm project organizations will take part in the exhibits. There will be a department for the poultry show in which every poultry club member will be asked to enter a pen of the breed of poultry they are raising.

The women and girls will have a textile exhibit in which the required work of the clubs and other things will be shown. All the club girls of this county entering the state clothing contest will exhibit their work in the fair, but the county winners in the state contest will not be eligible for the prize awards.

Miss Kara Grimes, county demonstration agent says: "The members of the garden clubs will exhibit tomatoes in the fair. Each community will have a booth in which different kinds of project work will be shown. There will also be a general exhibit for canned goods and textiles for both women and girls. All contests and exhibits will be judged to the regulations of the State Fair catalogue.

The boys club will show dairy cattle, hogs, grain sorghum and cotton. A large premium list is being arranged and there will be something to interest the winner of every thing in the fair, the county agent says. Specialists on various phases of club work in connection with the extension department will be here and will make addresses during the day. This fair will give the people of this section an opportunity to see the actual results of the work being done here by the extension service workers.

Poultry Industry is Gaining at Alpine

ALPINE, Tex., Sept. 8.—Alpine will become probably the largest poultry center in this part of the state for the reason that the location and climatic conditions are ideal for poultry raising. The Chamber of Commerce here will aid in organizing a Poultry Association next Monday, following a talk by County Agent R. S. Miller. A goal of 50,000 laying hens in the vicinity of Alpine has been set as the initial step to make of Alpine the poultry center of the West. Plainview's First Bale Cotton Sold PLAINVIEW Sept. 7.—Plainview's first bale of cotton, grown by A. J. Green, who lives in the southern part of Hale county, was sold at auction in Plainview, Monday to S. J. Berry of the Amarillo Furniture Company of Amarillo, for twenty and 25-100 cents per pound. The bale which weighed five hundred and seventy-five pounds was ginned in Plainview Friday and graded strictly middling. The Chamber of Commerce gave fifty dollars as premium and are also offering another premium for the second bale. W. A. Nash auctioned the bale and Will Haines furnished the drayage for it. Both performed these duties free of charge.

Apply For Permit For Lubbock R. R.

VERNON, Sept. 8.—Application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity and for authority to construct and finance a railway from Ardmore, Okla., to Lubbock was made today to the interstate commerce commission.

Officials of the Ardmore, Vernon and Lubbock Railway company, including S. M. Carter, promoter, made the application which requests hearings at Vernon and Grandfield, Okla.

"Peddler's Jubilee, Lubbock, Texas, September 18, 1926," reads the automobile windshield stickers that are seen on a few cars around Lubbock these days. These stickers are advertising the fifth annual peddlers' jubilee when the traveling salesmen from all over the southwest will again be the guests of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. The windshield stickers may be obtained at the office of the chamber of commerce in the city hall and every business man who realized the value of the friendship of the peddlers are urged to secure a sticker to advertise the big party and to show the peddlers who make Lubbock that the citizens of Lubbock are still their best friends.

About four hundred traveling salesmen call Lubbock their home, working out of here for the 93 wholesale houses here and for a large number of other houses that have Lubbock for their distributing point for the plains section. These peddlers are doing a great thing for Lubbock in advertising in boosting Lubbock and this section over their territory in west Texas and in adjoining states.

Lubbock citizens originated the idea five years ago and began giving the peddlers a big party each year when the Knights of the Grip get together to meet old pals of the road and to meet the business men and merchants in a social way when all business is forgotten.

The same big time will be enjoyed by the peddlers this year when they meet in the new Hotel Lubbock according to Bill Lyle, dean of the salesmen, who has worked with the chamber of commerce the past several years in making the jubilee a success. The O. O. R. E. secret society of the peddlers will convene again when new members will be received into the organization in the usual manner and when old members of the fraternity will be given higher work, according to Lyle.

A big street parade with the usual stunts to be followed by a baseball game, will form a part of the program of the day after the peddlers register at 1 o'clock at the Hotel Lubbock, Saturday, September 18.

Fall Round-ups Start Near Alpine

ALPINE, Texas, Sept. 8.—The Fall roundup on the Harmon & Jackson ranches in the Big Bend got off to a good start the first of September, and branding is progressing nicely. On the Harmon and Jackson ranches the roundup will continue for a month or more. Branding and rounding up the cattle on other Big Bend-Davis Mountain ranches will continue throughout the fall months, finishing the branding of highland herds about Christmas time.

Rains have been falling as if ordered by the highland cattle men and range conditions are the best. All live stock is in the finest condition possible to begin the winter.

The following livestock deals have been closed here recently: George Benson purchased the Walter Matthews herd of cattle, 440 of which have been delivered. The balance will be received later.

W. H. Terry shipped a car of cows and calves to Fort Worth, which he sold for $1040. The cows weighed on an average of 917 pounds and the calves averaged 257 pounds.

Harmon & Jackson bought a bunch of mares from local parties and are changing them in the Glass Mountains.

C. B. Denman, a St. Louis buyer is in Alpine to buy ten thousand calves, and Mr. Temple, of Wichita, Kans., is here looking for five or six thousand calves. California buyers are also in the field. Among them are Messrs. Cooper and Bill Connelley, representing the Cudahy people.

It is expected that several important transactions will be made in the next few days.

Gin Being Built at Yellow House Switch

LITTLEFIELD, Texas, Sept. 7.—In order to take care of the tremendous cotton crop which will be gathered right away another gin is being built at Yellow House Switch, on the Santa Fe railroad about six miles southeast of Littlefield. There are four gins in Littlefield now, and it is not anticipated that they will be able to take care of the crop here this year, hence the additional facilities. There has been no damage from insects of any kind to cotton and it promises the largest crop in the history of the country. Farmers are already busy harvesting their feed crops, which are the largest ever grown. A spirit of optimism pervades the country and many new people are coming in daily.

CROSBYTON GIVES BIG COTTON PREMIUM

CROSBYTON, Sept. 8.—The first bale of cotton for this market this year was produced by George Crofforth and brought him a total of $1000. The bale was sold by public auction at $22.50 and a premium of $750.00 was raised by the business men. Crosbyton no doubt has the distinction of giving the largest premium of any city in Texas this year.

City Superintendent of Schools Hears Mrs. Marrs' Address on the Value of Education in the Home

Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs talked to the city superintendents of schools at the morning session yesterday morning on the importance of education. She described the Parent-Teachers association as a home and school partnership, organized co-operative, composed of parents, teachers, and all interested persons; stressing their sacred obligation to act intelligently on all matters necessary, in order to provide adequate educational opportunities for every child. Membership is open to all interested in its objects.

Non-political: It believes that every good citizen should exercise his right of suffrage wisely and well, but that, as an organization, it should refrain from any participation in distinctly political activities. This policy in no way interferes with endorsement of, and active work for child welfare measures, which is a very important activity of the national congress.

Non-sectarian: The importance of the welfare of the child is recognized by all creeds alike. The work of congress units is equally necessary in public, private and church schools. Unity of action in conserving the interests of the child require that no consideration be given to individual differences regarding dogma or creed in any of the work of the organization.

Non-commercial: It promotes no commercial enterprise organized for profit. The national bylaws forbid the use of the name of the congress or the name of any of its members in their official capacity in connection with any political interest or commercial concern of its products.

Non-interference: The administration of the schools is recognized as the function of the teaching staff and the school board. The parent-teacher association offers to the educational system, not interference, but constructive co-operation in promoting the interests of education.

Non-joining: As a national organization of men and women with definite objects, principles and methods, it is obvious that local units can not join other organizations. The national congress, including its local units, co-operates with every movement for child welfare, offering as it does a wisely guarded channel through which an informed public opinion may be developed on all matters concerning the welfare of children.

A national movement: It is devoted exclusively to working for the welfare of the child through united action on a nation-wide basis. The fundamental principles and methods of organization agreed upon by the national organization through elected representatives are accepted by congress units in order to effect the unity of action essential for the achievement of the great purposes of the national congress of parents and teachers.

The Objects of the National Congress Are:

- (1) To promote child welfare, in home, school, church and community; to raise the standards of home life; to secure more adequate laws for the care and protection of women and children.
- (2) To bring into closer relation the home and the school, that parents and teachers may co-operate intelligently in the training of the child, and to develop between educators and general public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, moral and spiritual education.—Nation By-Laws, Art. II.

Baptist Ladies Hear Miss Walker; China Missionary

The Baptist ladies met Tuesday afternoon for their week of prayer program but the time was given over to Miss Blanche Ross Walker, a missionary to China, who is home on a furlough and will return to China in October.

She told of the hardships of the Chinese and how eager they are to hear and accept the gospel, how their hearts are stirred when they learn to know our Savior and how eager they are to give their hearts to the spread of gospel among their own people.

She told us how Christian leaders in their armies were doing untold good in preaching the gospel to their soldiers and in desiring to be led by the Holy Spirit in all their undertakings.

This was a soul-stirring message and we are indeed grateful to this good woman for passing our way and telling the story of our sisters in other lands.

Preceding Miss Walker's talk Mrs. I. Holland sang beautiful solo and Mrs. P. T. Callaway conducted a very impressive devotional.

Visitors from Plainview, Lorenza, Shallowater, Tohoka and Southland, were with us and we appreciated very much having these out of town guests.

We will continue our week of prayer each day, meeting today at three o'clock.

WOULD FACILITATE SHEEP SHIPMENTS

C. O. C. STARTS MOVEMENT FOR FOOD AND TRANSIT

A movement was started yesterday by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce to obtain feed in transit rates here for sheep. This fall there will be a number of sheep owners of the southern part of the state who will ship car loads of sheep here to feed, thence on to market. By getting the feed and transit rate, they will be able to ship here an ahead and then send for market later with very little more expense than the rates straight through.

A. B. Davis, secretary, stated yesterday that there were a number of buyers who planned to feed sheep on the South Plains and then ship them on to market. The sheep will come from San Angelo, San Antonio, and other points in that section. With the feed and transit rate on the South Plains line, owners and buyers will likely make this section a regular feeding place each shipping season.

The matter is being taken up with T. B. Gallagher, general passenger and freight agent of the Santa Fe and action will probably be taken on the matter in a short time.

The committee recently appointed by the Lubbock bar association to investigate the possibility of a new district court here met yesterday and made plans for the presentation of the plan to the legislature. Senator W. H. Bledsoe and Representative J. K. Wester will carry the proposition to the special session which meets next Monday at Austin.

For several periods of court the docket of this district has been heavily crowded and the cases are delayed in many instances. The new court would be placed in Lubbock county and would allow more time to criminal cases for the present court. The new court would have jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases also.

The bill proposing the creation of the court will be presented in the first of the special session and the local legislators hope to put the proposition over. Many local men think the new court will be established without much delay after the session.

Mexican Orchestra Delights Crowd

The Tech Pavilion was well filled last night when the Imperial Symphony orchestra gave a two hour program which included a number of Spanish and Mexican airs, and which delighted the audience. The musicians came to Lubbock under the auspices of the South Plains Music Teachers Association.

Married Longer Than Any West Texas Couple

Perhaps the oldest and the longest married couple in West Texas are now visiting their daughter, Mrs. Jim Kaiback and family some ten miles east of Lubbock. This aged couple is Dave Baneom and wife, whose home is near San Angelo, Texas. They have been visiting another daughter, Mrs. Ruf Cowdrey and family of Garza County, who have also been visiting Mr. Cowdrey's two brothers and Mr. Baneom and family of Lubbock vicinity. Uncle Dave is 89 and his wife 88 and they are nearing their 66th marriage anniversary. In fairly good health and fair prospects for other anniversaries. They came from Marion County, Arkansas, to the big county of Tom Green about forty years ago, where they settled and still reside. Uncle Dave and his crew threshed my wheat on my little homestead in Marion County, Ark., in the 60's with an old horse power shaker thrasher. I was then just starting in married life, with one of the best women Alabama ever produced. Uncle Dave and wife were here about a year ago and were also here at the Tech celebration in 1923. Of course Uncle Dave is an old "Johnny cake" exception can be made. Congratulations and best wishes to this grand old couple and hoping that they may be able to pay us more visits and pass their 70th marriage anniversary.

EATON URGES FORM ENTRIES IN THE FAIR

SHOW WINDOW OF PLAINS WILL SOON BE READY FOR OPENING

Fair time is near and every exhibitor who will show at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair is getting ready for the fair which will be held September 29, 30, October 1-2. The majority of agricultural crops are ready to be gathered according to D. F. Eaton, superintendent of the agricultural department.

Exhibitors are getting into maize, alfalfa, hogs, fertilizer, millet, all varieties of cane, dango and other crops. The exhibitors will be getting some of their vegetables ready for the fair in the next few days.

"The Show Window of the Plains" will not be complete without all the best specimens on display. Eaton stated yesterday, and everyone who has exceptionally good products of any nature, should show them at the fair.

The best products from Lubbock county farms will be selected from the fair here and used in the Lubbock County Exhibit which will be shipped later to the Dallas Fair.

The catalogues of the show and anyone who has not received one can get one by calling by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce or by writing the Panhandle-South Plains Fair Association.

CREDIT LOSSES

The American Institute of Accountants is studying credit conditions, trying to avoid some of the credit losses. It may well do so. The credit criminal collects $250,000,000 annually from American business. Fake bankrupts take a big toll. People who charge a lot of stuff and then move out of town are another heavy drain. The ordinary person who works hard and honestly, but lives close to the line, has a difficult time paying his bills in case of illness or an emergency. He finds it almost impossible to understand how the clever credit rascals get away with their loot. This story is told in one city's building circles: A man established credit by conducting three or four building operations according to the conventional rules of the game. Then he found an opportunity to buy seven lots with a small down payment. He got large construction loans and started in and started in building all seven houses at once. Usually a builder starts one or two, then moves masons to another while carpenters proceed with the first, and so on, keeping all the kinds of workmen busy. Being honest themselves, the supply men merely thought his methods queer and suspected no evil. After a month of frenzied work with overtime, he collected a large part of his loan on the basis of work finished. He then stopped work and skipped. Supply men are holding the bag. He has the money and they have the bills, receivable, and that's all. Lawyers say the builder committed no legal crime. The bank cannot collect unless it finishes the houses and sells them. If he ever comes back he can be sued. But "it is not a crime to owe money." This is an ingenious, unusual and extreme case, but it illustrates the point.

LITTLE OLIVE BRANCHES

Delegates to the International Congress, meeting in France say that "children in school hold their hands in hope of world peace." Twenty-three nations are represented in that congress. Much may be accomplished, the leaders say, thru the exchange of letters by children representing all those nations, by the plan used already by thousands of American and French children. It makes a good starter, at least. It is good for children to correspond with children of other countries, widening their viewpoint and teaching them that all the boys and girls of other races are very much like them, with only enough difference to make them interesting. Youngster and grown-up of all races once learned that there was hope, for a little while that world peace might come in this generation; after the great sacrifice of the World War. That hope has vanished from most minds. The task was too great—minds were too stiff—the momentum of old racial passions and prejudices carries the on. The hope of peace is in the future, and therefore in the children. If they are taught wisely, then their generation when it comes to maturity and power—the next generation, or the generation after that—may accomplish the world wants.

TRANSATLANTIC RADIO

David Sarnoff, the practical presiding genius of American radio, has gone to Europe to arrange for better programs from the American point of view. "The day is gone," he tells London broadcasters, "when people of the United States listened to Europe for the novelty of doing so. The listeners are no longer interested in how they get their air programs, but in what they get. The object of my visit is to arrange for Americans to hear things from Europe that they cannot hear at home. He will try to make more satisfactory arrangements of broadcasting hours, as well as programs. Present hours are awkward. The arrangement ought to work both ways. If each continent can get characteristic programs from each other, by friendly cooperation, here will be a version of "hands across the sea" possibly more effective than any of the kinds of friendly interchanges yet tried. When different nationalities entertain each other, they begin to understand and like each other.

RESERVE FUNDS

Says Director Lord of the federal budget: There is now general acceptance of the principle that the minimum amount of money to be expended in any fiscal year is not of necessity the amount appropriated by Congress, but the smallest amount upon which the business of the government can be effectively administered under the program outlined by Congress. In other words, governmental departments are not expected to spend all Congress gives them and then holler for more, as they always used to do, but to make an honest effort to keep within their appropriations. As a result of this policy, there has now accumulated in the federal treasury nearly $300,000,000 saved by the departments out of their income, and held as reserve funds ready for unforeseen expenses: This example is respectfully recommended to private business concerns that have not yet tried it, and will more strongly to private families.

BEAUTIFUL FACTORIES

"Why should power plants be ugly?" asks a contributor to a Chicago engineering magazine. He finds that they usually are, in this country. The esthetic writer doesn't blame anybody for it. He recognizes that in the rapid development of hydro-electric power, it has been natural to concentrate attention on engineering efficiency rather than architectural beauty. Yet the occasional attractiveness of an American power plant makes his ugliness or "dubness" of the rest, all the more glaring, and suggests that it is worth while to pay more attention to looks. He speaks particularly of the lovely Amsterdam power station of the Adirondack Power and Light Corporation on the Mohawk River, in New York state. Such power plants, with their lack of smoke and dirt, are naturally adapted to artistic treatment. And really, here has been more of such treatment, already than the writer seems to think. Several of the small power plants built by Henry Ford in Michigan, alongside of small waterfalls, are said to be surprisingly beautiful. Some progress has been made in Canada, too. This raises the question whether our coal power plants, also, and our factories in general, could not be made attractive instead of ugly. Here, too, the unfathomable flivver-manufacturer has been setting a good example. His main plant in Detroit is at least not ugly. And there is the remarkable example characteristic of an entire Canadian city, Kitchener, (formerly called Berlin), where many factories representing varied industries are spread through the best residence sections, and would never be taken as factories by a passer-by, because they harmonize architecturally with their environment and are clean and quiet.

FISHERMEN VINDICATED

From time immemorial fishermen have held almost exclusive right and title to charter membership in the Order of Sons of Ananias. True, occasionally some prevaricator in other lines of effort has made a puny challenge to their supremacy—the hunter and goff liar, for example—but with little success. Now comes a fisherman's champion who apparently clinches the argument, Colonel Ed Landvoigt, editor emeritus of the Forrester City, Ark., Times-Herald, in a recent issue of that excellent publication relates some incidents which should vindicate the fisherman's claims for all time. He says: "A boy on White River saw a big catfish swimming beneath the water, plunged overboard and made pursuit, finally after swimming a mile he diving drove the fish into a cave and captured it." "Next, a man on the Arkansas River seized a huge fish by the tail, was dragged overboard, but with a bulldog grip he held on, was carried down the river for a mile or so, most of the time under water, but at last worried the fish to capture." "Another one from Florida, where a fisherman hooked a large tarpon, when he discovered that a shark was about to share the sport with him, he jumped overboard and shooed the shark away." Colonel Landvoigt is an old-timer, but he preserves the zest and enthusiasm of youth. He may live to write a companion book of Isaac Walton's "The Complete Angler." He might call it "Compleat Angleriar."

VETERINARIANS NEEDED

Improved conditions in the livestock industry, together with the breeding of better animals and the extension of sanitary measures, have increased the demand for graduate veterinarians, according to Dr. C. A. Cary, head of the veterinary department of the Aalabama Polytechnic Institute, which has graduated more than 200 veterinarians during the last few years. The upward trend of values has stimulated the livestock industry, particularly in the production of beef cattle, dairy products, poultry and mules. The dog industry is also breeding a greater number of valuable dogs than ever before. There is an increasing demand for trained superintendents for sanitary abattoirs, milk and food inspectors and other positions which are most acceptably filled by graduate veterinarians. Dr. Cary enumerated a number of graduates who have done well in private practice, some reaching a gross income of more than $17,000 annually. Others have devoted themselves to teaching in agricultural colleges, some have entered the government service in the bureau of animal industry and the United States Army, while many are connected with state departments concerned with disease prevention and inspection work. In view of Dr. Cary's statement that there is an excellent and growing field for graduate veterinarians, it may be expected that more young men, particularly those who have a liking for animals, will consider entering this promising and useful profession.

NEW FAR EDUCATION

Drastic changes in the methods of farm education heretofore employed were decided upon at a recent conference between federal and state authorities held at Fort Collins, Colo. Agricultural education in the past has been directed mainly toward securing the production of larger crops, through improved machinery, better methods of cultivation and other means designed to produce a maximum yield. But experience has proved that merely raising larger crops will not solve the farmer's problem. In fact, overproduction has caused the surplus of farm products which it has brought counteracted by various measures of legislative relief. The new program of education will stress the business side of farming, including financing, management and marketing. It will emphasize the idea that farming is a business, and as such must be carried on with the same careful attention to details of management as is necessary in any manufacturing or commercial enterprise. Another important phase of the new educational scheme is a plan to give systematic instruction to men and boys who may not be able to attend regular agricultural schools.

The system proposed by the conference is in line with the most advanced thought and practice in agricultural instruction, and it should be productive of greater efficiency in farm management, the serious study of which has been sadly neglected in the past.

So Think We

We think since we have a ninety-nine year lease on the fair grounds, we should begin some real substantial building, and halls. We need more buildings and nicer buildings and it is not too early to begin building some real buildings out there.

We think the radio is possibly one of the greatest inventions of the age. It can be put up in the middle of a three hundred just as fine a program and render it even better than in the heart of the biggest city in the world.

We think that Lubbock needs an auditorium about as bad as anything we know of now. We should get busy on a building that will accommodate the public in the future.

We think we will always have a lot of crime as long as the best people in the country will not take a stand against it.

We think we know that we did not come from a monkey, but we are not so sure that we are not going to the dogs.

We think that if Herbert Hoover was not so busy doing more important things, he would make a mighty fine president of the United States.

We think if music furnishes inspiration for the most appetizing dishes, jazz ought to go well with hash.

We think there are many ways of being happy. Some in dodging work, some in doing it and some in finishing it.

We think there are a lot of good lady swimmers in Texas who have no desire to swim the English channel.

We think there are some people in Lubbock who certainly do not know how to treat the American flag.

We think Lubbock has about the prettiest court house lawn of any county on the South Plains.

We think those Lynn county farmers who are practicing diversification as well as preaching it, are doing a fine thing for the prosperity of the county.

We think the peddlers will have a better time than ever when they are guests of Lubbock at the Jubilee at the New Hotel September 18.

We think that straw hats and ice cream pants are getting out of season.

We think these rumblings of football schedules must sound mighty good to gridiron fans.

We think Jim is dead wrong when he says Ma is a good sport, for the good sport nearly always pay their election bets.

We think that possibly the fear of becoming an old maid may be the cause of many a divorce. Some of the old maids will tell you that it is not so terrific after all, to bear that distinction, and so far as we are concerned, there is more honor in being an old maid than having a divorce suit.

We think the old theory of supply and demand controlling the price must have been knocked cold in Pennsylvania. A few weeks ago at the primary election, there were more voters voted than ever before, still the cost of votes was much higher.

We think unless we are going to stand squarely behind the enforcement officers of the laws of this country and Lubbock that we might just as well not have any officers, and let crime run rampant.

We think that the old saying that one half of the world does not know what the other half is doing, may be true, and possibly that is as it should be.

We think that if there are as many detours in the air as there are on the ground, we can see much advantage of getting up in the air.

We think this is a wonderful country anyway. Just about the time we get to the point where we cannot blame anything else on the war, we find that prohibition has been the cause of the downfall of the nation.

We think one of the very greatest examples of optimism might be credited to the bald-headed man, who bought a bottle of hair restorer from a local druggist a few days ago and with it requested a comb and brush.

We think that Lubbock did not just happen, but it was built by men of wide vision and determination and those fellows are still here, and Lubbock is still building. If you do not believe it, just drive over the town.

We think unless we are ready at all times for the unexpected we will hardly succeed in this great big wide world.

We think it is the worst thing on earth some folks can receive is praise.

We think that happiness will keep the wrinkles away better than all of the facial creams that mortal man ever made.

That the government says there will be more than fifteen million bales of cotton in the United States this year. The worms and insects, however, are doing their parts to keep the production down.

We think that the educators are taking a great interest in health condition, but they are the child's mind and the general not stressing the importance of good, clean play. This, we believe, is very essential.

We think a good stiff gasoline tax is better than a tax on cars, regardless of how much they run. It will build better roads and more roads.

We think Lubbock streets have been wonderfully improved within the past few months, but there are still a few more that should be paved and we believe the people will want them fixed up in good style.

We think that work is not profitable without play, and play is not enjoyed without a certain amount of work. It takes the combination to make a go.

It Is Reported

That there are now nineteen cables under the Atlantic. It won't be long until the queens of America can talk to the queens of England for an hour at a time and central will be calling back that "the line is busy."

That some fellow is talking of revising the old calendar. We wonder if it would do any good to swap September for January.

That we can see a drunk man now and then even in the reign of the Eighteenth amendment, but this would not be if everyone was law-abiding and their appetites were not warped.

That there has arisen another cost of necessities. A mastodon's skeleton has been found and sold in Ohio for the handsome sum of $75,000.

That there is much complaint about grease on the English channel. It could hardly be possible that the swimmers who recently made the historic swim could have caused it.

That the umpire's life is just about to end for this year.

That many of the Tech students are arriving daily, and before the opening date there will be a large number of students here, and comfortably located.

That Lubbock is to have a bigger and better post office soon. It could not be too soon.

That now is a good time to sow turnips. How about the back yard garden patch? Is it in good condition?

That cotton pickers are in demand in nearly every West Texas county where cotton is grown at all.

That in a confused, augmentive and hot-tempered world,

President Coolidge keeps right on silently catching fish.

That there are a few people who are fussing about bobbed hair.

That a Paris court has ruled that a wife has no right to open her husband's mail. However, our wife is not under the jurisdiction of a French court.

That more South Plains counties will be represented in the South Plains fair this year than ever before. The fair is growing, and the exhibits will be startling in their quality and quantity this year.

That more booths will be needed this year to take care of the commercial and industrial needs at the fair. More and better, and more permanent buildings should be erected.

That the fair catalogues are being scattered out rapidly and the people will begin to know what is being offered them and will begin to get their exhibits lined up.

That the Tech football team has a pretty stiff schedule this year, and Lubbock must get behind them in full force, and give them good support, financially and physically.

That the Symphony Orchestra is quite a hit with the people of this city in their program at the Tech Pavilion last night.

That the Rotary baseball team has developed quite a reputation (we will not say what kind) and will play the peddlers when they come to Lubbock for their annual frolic.

That the Slaton Rotarians are all fixed up to pour it on the Lubbock Rotarians, when they meet the mon the Slaton diamond, to exchange courtesies with them for the visit that they made us some time ago.

That the boys who go prairie chicken hunting in the counties to the southwest claim that they are unable to connect up with many of them.

That Sweetwater has struck oil. There may be a specific use for that section of West Texas yet.

That some of the fellows, even no further away than Snyder, seem to think that the sun gets so hot in this country (the South Plains) in the summer that people go around with their tongues out and fanning themselves to sleep at night, and in the winter the weather is cold enough to freeze horns off the heads of the cattle. It's funny that people who are supposed to be reasonably sensible should act that way.

That the Lamesa baseball team will return home tomorrow and the old home town is going to give them a royal reception. Why not? They did well and brought back honors that only one other team in tournament excelled.

That the cotton is opening up very fast South of Lubbock county, and all that is on the stalks will mature thoroughly before any danger of frost, which means a big crop.

That the South Plains expects to have a large increase in hogs next year. We hope they won't be road hogs.

That the traveling salesmen are looking forward with a great deal of interest to the jubilee they are to have here the 18th.

Harley Sadler is Coming Monday

Harley Sadler and his Own Company will open a week's engagement in Lubbock next Monday night, September 13th. The opening play will be "The Awakening of John Slaton, or When Toby Hits New York." This play was given by the same Company a year ago, but owing to heavy rain only a small crowd was in attendance. It is one of the funniest Toby plays ever written and Mr. Sadler has more requests for it than any other of his plays. For the rest of the week the plays will all be new. Eddie See's famous band and orchestra will have new and novel features, and a complete change of specialties between the acts.

West Texas Fair Urges Improved Grain Growing

The West Texas Fair Association is trying to encourage the farmers throughout West Texas to plant a better strain of maize seeds. With that object in view, this organization is offering unusually liberal premiums to the farmers who exhibit the best ten heads of maize at the coming air. As you know, if we in this territory plant better seeds, the movement becomes contagious and extends to other sections. Any worthy development in one section is calculated to effect the whole area of West Texas. For that reason, we are asking you to kindly give publicity to the following information. "The West Texas Fair Association to be held from September 20th to 25th will award the lump sum of $100 to the exhibitor of the best ten heads of maize. Competition is open to the world and either white or red maize will be acceptable. Farmers, especially, are urged to enter ten heads for this premium. "This Association will also award $100 to boy and girl club members who are working with a county of home demonstration agent, for the exhibitors of the best ten heads of maize, to be divided as follows: 1st, $25; 2nd $20; 3rd $10; 4th $9; 5th $8; 6th $7; 7th $6; 8th $5; 9th $4; 10th $3; 11th $2; 12th $1. "Boy or girl club members may compete for both the lump sum of $100 prize and also for these club specials by entering 20 heads of maize. "This Association will also award $10, 75 and $2.50 to exhibitors of the best bunch of sweet clover three inches in diameter. Entries are open to the world. "All entries must be on the Fair Grounds not later than noon of September 20th and specimens that are mailed in should be addressed to J. R. Masterson, Superintendent Agricultural Department, West Texas Fair, Abilene, Texas.

WEST TEXAS C. OF C. PROGRAM IS MEETING WITH ENDORSEMENT WHEN PLEDGES ARE RENEWED IN RAPID SUCCESSION

STAMFORD, Tex., Sept. 4.—The present program of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is meeting with favor throughout West Texas as indicated by the enthusiasm with which the various towns are responding to membership drives during the past month. Approximately 98 percent of the members whose memberships expired during this time have renewed their affiliations, while some of them have taken double memberships. The larger industrial companies of the state whose memberships expired during the month of August all renewed their memberships and several of them doubled the membership they carried before.

The response has been region-wide, too. For instance, in the extreme western part of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce territory, renewed standing memberships and took more than double the 1925 membership, Odessa, which last year was not a member of the organization came forward with the full quota assigned them. Midland, in the same section of the state, went over the top with an increased membership. In the northern part of the region response has been even more enthusiastic. Panhandle, which last year carried the membership registers a 1000 percent increase this year. One hundred members have signed up in this thriving oil city of the plains. Plainview also renewed practically all memberships and registered a sharp gain. The situation was throughout the Plains section. In Central West Texas Eastland put over a good drive.

Wichita Falls, selected as the convention city for 1927, has reported an increase of 186 members in the drive which is the way there now. Wichita carried 524 members last year and has set their goal at 500 for the present year. A contest is now under way between Amarillo and Wichita Falls for supremacy in memberships. Amarillo last year led all West Texas cities exclusive of Fort Worth. The Plains city carried 404 members and plans an increase this year. Memberships in the organization are ten dollars each. The increase in membership is welcomed by the management of the organization. The slogan adopted at the beginning of the present administration to be "Bigger and Better, and More Active Than Ever," is being literally followed. The organization is pushing two programs of major prominence for the year. These major programs are: the diversified farming movement, begun last year, and a campaign for the equalization of taxes. In addition the organization is maintaining in Philadelphia a large exhibit of West Texas agricultural products and is distributing there an enormous amount of advertising literature for the entire section. The traffic department of the organization has been exceedingly active during the year and the work of this bureau has been greatly expanded. The publicity department is carrying out a program of advertising for the region which is placing the messages of West Texas cities and counties before the leaders and concerns throughout the United States who are or

W. T. C. C. TO FIGHT RATE INCREASES

WEST TEXAS CITIES NEED NOT HIRE OTHER HELP, SAYS WADE

STAMFORD, Sept. 7.—The interests of West Texas cities are being protected by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in the matter of the proposed increase in insurance rates. Homer D. Wade, manager of the organization, in a letter sent to affiliated chambers of commerce, officers and directors declared that it is unnecessary for West Texas cities to contribute funds to any organization in order to have their case properly presented at the forthcoming hearing on the matter. The executive board of the West Texas Chamber, by resolution passed at their quarterly meeting in Abilene on July 12, expressed opposition to the increase and instructed the legislative bureau of the organization to make an active fight on the increase. Considerable work has been done by the bureau and briefs are now being prepared which will set forth the case of West Texas. Before the hearing is held, the local chambers of commerce and the towns of West Texas will be advised as to how they can cooperate in the fight the organization is making. This matter will occupy the attention of the executive board at the next meeting to be held during the month. Wade stated, in his letter, that the West Texas Chamber was in perfect harmony with all parties opposing the increase. The executive board takes the position that the insurance companies can secure more adequate relief by weeding out over-insured risks, an doing away with agents who write insurance in an indiscriminate manner, than can be secured from a general increase in rates. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce may see fit to join forces with other organizations fighting the proposal according to the letter, and has no objections to West Texas contributions to other agencies. However, Wade pointed out that it would be a duplication of efforts and expense for West Texas cities already represented by their own organization to duplicate their efforts. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce was formed specifically to afford machinery for a cooperative effort such as this. And West Texas, through its existing machinery will receive this service without the great expense now being incurred by cities which have no organization. Wade declared that regardless of the action of others, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce would continue the fight which it began several months ago, and that effective work was now being done.

Cotton Picking and Ginning Are Under Way in Big Bend

ALPINE, Tex., Sept. 8.—Tri-County Agent, Richard S. Miller, agent for Brewster, Presidio and Jeff Davis counties, reports that picking and ginning is well under way in the Big Bend counties. There is considerable leaf worm infestation, which has resulted in some damage to the top crop during the past week of rainy weather but it is believed that the Big Bend production will still be an average of a bale to the acre. Mr. Miller says that several bales have been gathered and ginned in the southern part of Brewster county, and more than a hundred bales have been ginned in Presidio county. He says that by the end of this week it is expected that the Big Bend gins will be running both day and night. The cotton is opening rapidly and in some of the fields, stalks are putting on squares, opening and blooming at the same time. The outlook continues to be the best in years. There are plenty of Mexican laborers here to gather the entire crop.

LEVELLAND, Sept. 8.—The post office receipts at Levelland has made a 60 percent increase in volume of business during the month of August over July, due to the fact that the city has made a wonderful increase in population, yet the increase is not so great as it will be from month to month from this date on.

PLAINVIEW BULLDOGS HAVE TEN LETTER MEN TO WORK WITH

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 8.—The Plainview Bulldogs have been in training here for sometime and Coach "Duckie" Allen, who has been the Bulldog master for the past four years is expecting a wonderful development of his squad which consists of some ten last year men. A. C. Boswell, a firm backfield man of the Bulldogs will be again in the line up and his work will greatly aid the chances of the Plainview eleven as again the contenders of the district tilt. Aside Boswell a wealth of material is found in nine other men that are back for the gridiron beckoning in McCowan, Pierce, Craig, William, Kelly, Dean, Klein, Stevens, Carter and Visor. Coach Allen announces his schedule for the year as follows: Sept. 17, Talia at Plainview (tentative); Sept. 24, Floydada at Floydada; Sept. 31, Slaton at Lubbock during South Plains fair; Oct. 8, Lockney at Lockney; Oct. 15, Canyon at Plainview (tentative); Oct. 22, Lubbock at Plainview; Oct. 29, Open; Nov. 5, Amarillo at Amarillo. Last season the Bulldogs were champions of the Lubbock District but were ruled ineligible on McCowan's resident question.

LITTLEFIELD ELEVEN MEETS WESTERNERS HERE ON NOV. FIFTH

LITTLEFIELD, Texas, Sept. 8.—The Littlefield eleven lost all but three of the eleven with the coming of the 1926 season but will have a wealth of material to work with in the next few weeks and Coach Bowles, who handles the high school athletics for the ensuing year, hopes to have a fair club developed to meet with the toughest of the class B schools in this district. Bowles has arranged the 1926 schedule: October 1—Ralls at Lubbock, during South Plains fair; October 8—Spur at Littlefield; October 15—Tahoka at Littlefield; November 5—Lubbock at Lubbock; November 19—Floydada at Littlefield.

CROPS NEVER BETTER IN TERRY COUNTY

BROWNFIELD, Sept. 4.—Crop conditions were never better in Terry county, the entire trade territory of Brownfield seems to be in excellent shape. The leaf worms have been making their appearance in large numbers but the farmers are controlling them by poisoning and if the present indications materialize Brownfield will gin about 20,000 bales of cotton and quite a large number of bales will be marketed here from tributary territory. The feed crop of all varieties seems

Healthy Hair

Gleamy, Thick, Wavy—Full of Life

The constant curling and waving demanded by modern style in hair dress, slowly burns the color, lustre and very life from the hair, leaving it dry, faded, brittle, streaked with gray; then the hair roots shrink and the hair falls out fast.

Try this for one week! While combing and dressing your hair, moisten your hair brush with a little "Danderine" and brush it through your hair—the effect is startling. Your hair immediately takes on new life and that healthy, youthful lustre, becomes incomparably soft, wavy and appears twice as thick and abundant. "Danderine" costs only 35 cents a bottle at any drug store.

The Westerners have had one week's preparation with training at Silver Falls near Crofton. At this encampment Von Tugler had in training some thirty men who are prospective members of the Westerners squad.

Brighter prospects for the season are looking as the training starts and it is very likely that the Westerners will be strong contenders for the Class A championship this year.

According to Coach Von Tugler arrangements are being made where by the games schedule for this year will be played on the Matador Gridiron.

An incomplete schedule was announced yesterday afternoon by Coach Von Tugler as follows: Oct. 1 Post at Lubbock during South Plains fair.

Oct. 8 Lamesa at Lamesa (tentative). Oct. 22 Lubbock at Plainview Oct. 29, Abilene at Lubbock. Nov. 5, Littlefield at Lubbock. Nov. 1, Roswell New Mexico at Roswell, (tentative)

COACH LOVERNE ANNOUNCES 1926 GRIDIRON CARD

RALLS, Texas, Sept. 8.—"Froggie" Lovorne, formerly of T. C. U. Horned Frogs, and coach for the past two years of the Ralls Jack-rabbits, looks very dim prospects for his eleven this season; but in view of the fact that he will have several of his last year's eleven back, he hopes to replace those that were lost in their final performance with the end of last season, with new material. He stated today that by his observance of the material will report few work-outs in the next few days they will have the lightest weight club in several years.

The schedule announced by "Froggie" was: Sept. 25—Amberts at Ralls. October 2—Littlefield at Lubbock during South Plains fair. October 8—Post at Post. October 15—Floydada at Floydada.

October 22—Open. October 29—Slaton at Slaton. November 5—Spur at Ralls. November 11—Lockney at Lockney. November 19—Crosbyton at Ralls. November 25—Open.

GAINES WILD CAT DOWN 2450 FEET MIDLAND, Sept. 8.—The widest test of Mahon & Johnson in the Cedar Lake area of Gaines county, their No. 1 Lindsey, found a 60 foot thickness of lime topped at 2,220 feet. It is now drilling at 2,450. The owners believe that the finding of this lime indicates that the log is running high.

The location was made in the hope of finding a subsurface ridge running westward into New Mexico from the Mitchell county area and roughly paralleling a hypothetical ridge running in an approximately parallel direction from the Reagan county field.

Thus one of the vacant buildings in town are being occupied.

MODERN DESIGN INVADERS ANOTHER TEXTILE FIELD

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—In keeping with the modernization of design which has characterized the decoration of silk, rayon and cotton fabrics during the past few years, it is interesting to note the revolution which has recently taken place in the designing of the most choice of fabrics, linen damasks. Traditionally dedicated to classic scrolls and heraldic emblems, the new damasks now embody such motifs as literary narratives, inspirations from Seces china and Adam furniture and architectural studies from American and British cities. These may be discovered in the delicate tracery of the modern damask tablecloth.

Fight for Positions On Mustang Team

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 9.—There is going to be a battle royal for positions on the Mustang football team this fall. Fifty men will report on Armstrong field on the tenth of this month and from this half hundred the eleven will be chosen by Ray Morrison to represent the red and the blue.

Eleven letter men from last year's team and some 40 others comprise the material for this year's Red and Blue team. There is abundance of green material but the question is will there be enough experienced men on the club to steady the youngsters and thus make a real combination. Veterans linemen will be missed. The team as a whole shows fair defensive possibilities with a world of latent offensive power.

There were only a few faces missing from last year's squad. The backfield that carried through the season last year with only two losses will be back intact. The flashy little Mann at quarter is due for a great year; the big Chris Cortes might play his last year has just found himself and is waiting to show some real power this season; Wade, the smashing interference and defensive man of the backs, has returned, and Craig the fleet halfback, is as speedy as ever. Bishop and Kimbrough are determined to break into every game.

Dawson and Key, the two ends that bore the brunt of the burden last season will be back fighting for their old places and the youngsters that replace them will have to show some real talent.

It is in the center of the line that the old heads are missing. George Watters, the powerful tackle; Bill Vaughn, his flashy running mate; and captain Jim Magnus of last year's line will not return. Those men, the backbone of the line that was never pierced for a touchdown, will all be hard to replace. Ford will again be at the center position and Tatum, the most consistent performer in the Mustang line last season, returns with a year's experience to back him up. R. L. Watters, brother of George, is a man who ranks up for lack of weight with bulging fight, is the other lineman that returns.

Morris will have youngsters plenty to supplant his varsity backfield. The freshman squad of a year sent up a wealth of "emerald" football men. There are Lynch, Love, Hume, Fincher, Campbell, Reed and Kniff trying for their first position in the varsity back field. Lynch, who wore up lines for Oak Cliff in high school, is a punter, passer and runner. Hume also is a punter extraordinary. Fincher made, at least one touch-down in every freshman game he played. Love is big and fast. Campbell is noted for his defensive ability.

According to Coach Morrison, these men will need a year of conference football to gain experience. Coming from the "B" squad as ends, Morrison has P. S. and Sullivan both of whom showed great form last season. Other end and line material includes Alec Hooks, Harry Watters, a third Watters brother and Howard.

A team is no stronger than its weakest link, according to Coach Morrison, and the Mustang line will need lots of work if it does not want to be the weakest link in the Red and Blue team. Assistant Coach Mentzer has the task of developing men to support the veterans Ford and Tatum. He, however, has material in abundance. Ray, Frigo, Daniel, Brown, Schaefer, Roach, Mays, Brown, Humes, Bennett, Wilmet, Hudson and Britton furnish men with all physical qualifications.

The Mustang schedule includes: Centenary, Trinity University of Missouri and five strong conference clubs. Just how well this material will stand the puff can not be told until the sun sets next Thanksgiving.

BUTLER KILLS 'LADIES BOUNTIFUL'

ENGLISHMAN, DISCHARGED BY SISTERS, SHOTS THEM TO DEATH

HEREFORD, England, Sept. 9.—The "ladies bountiful" are dead and the butler whom they discharged Tuesday morning is under arrest charged with their murders.

For 25 years Charles Houghton was the butler at palatial "Burghill court" to Ellnor Woodhouse, 60, and May Woodhouse, 58, wealthy spinsters.

Tuesday morning he was given notice of his dismissal. With the dignity which marked his service for a quarter of a century, Houghton served their breakfast. When the sisters had finished, Houghton and another servant vainly pleaded with them to reinstate him. The other servant left Houghton talking with them.

As he was mopping the carpeted stairs, he heard shots. Rushing to the room, the servant found the sisters on the floor, a double barrel shot gun beside them.

Houghton was in his own room when he was barricaded. The police were notified. They persuaded the butler to open the room, and found him on the floor with six slight throat wounds, apparently caused by slashes from a razor.

He was arrested charged with the double murder.

The sister were known locally as the "ladies bountiful" because of their philanthropies. Ellnor also was prominent in politics, having been president of the local conservative association.

A. L. DUFF TAKES CHERI CASA PLACE A. L. Duff left Thursday for Lubbock where he will have control of "Cheri Casa," the boys' dormitory at the Tech College. Mr. Duff will remain here until the first of January, and will have charge of the Gaines County Abstract Co.—Seminole, Senter.

HALE COUNTY GETS NEW DEMONSTRATOR PLAINVIEW, Sept. 9.—Many expressions of regret are coming from all parts of the county because of the resignation of Miss Gladys Short, county home demonstration agent, who leaves this week to resume her former occupation as a teacher of home economics in the Eckenridge public schools.

Miss Short came to Plainview in November of last year and her pleasant personality and loyal devotion to her work soon won for her a host of friends. A decided progress was noted in her work throughout the county during her term of service.

Miss Myrtle Murray, district home demonstration agent, endeavored to persuade Miss Short to remain in Plainview and when fully convinced that her efforts were futile started an immediate search for one who could successfully carry on the work.

After considering several applicants, Miss Opal Wood, of Lamesa, was chosen as Miss Short's successor.

In addition to criticizing the Dempsey sniffer, Dr. Schireson denies that he ever claimed credit for the operation.

VALET OF FOUR PRESIDENTS DIES

NEGRO WHO DRESSED MAJESTIES OF WHITE HOUSE IS NO MORE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The negro valet who is credited with making "good dressers" of four presidents of the United States and whose personal qualities led President Coolidge to describe him recently as "one of the finest men in Washington," died at his home here today.

Major Arthur Brooks, who came to the White House with President Taft 15 years ago, carried into death perhaps a more accurate knowledge of the real nature of the four chief executives under whom he served than any one outside the official family circles. A valet's intimate knowledge of the personal idiosyncracies of the men he serves is traditional, but Brooks never divulged, even to members of his own family, anything that went on behind the doors of the White House.

Major Brooks was more than a valet. He entered the White House service as a custodian of the property in the executive mansion; a duty he performed until his illness a few weeks ago. But it was as valet and advised on matter of dress that he is best known.

DEPORTATION OF MEXICAN ORDERED ON LIQUOR CHARGE WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Deportation of a Mexican from this country to Mexico for entering the United States illegally and violating the National Prohibition Act was ordered by the Immigration Board of Review of the Department of Labor at a hearing held August 31.

According to the Department's records on the case, the alien admits entering the country near El Paso, Texas, without inspection and without being in possession of an immigration visa, and, at the time of his arrest by immigration officers, was said to be in possession of four and one-half gallons of alleged liquor.

MULESHOE TO HAVE NEW WATER WORKS MULESHOE, Texas, Sept. 9.—It was reported that two test wells have been drilled for the city and the water has been sent to A. & M. Collier, for analysis. The two wells are located North of town on a high point and will afford the city plenty of pressure for a nice fire department as soon as the city officials can arrange to purchase one.

The contract to be let for the complete water works as soon as desirable location for well is found. The bond tendered is now on the Attorney General's table waiting for his approval.

It will not be long until Muleshoe will have all of the modern conveniences of a city much larger in size.

OLD FOLKS MUST NOT USE PHYSICS While Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, knew that constipation was the cause of advancing age, he did not believe that a "purge" or "physic" every little while was necessary.

To him, it seemed cruel that so many constipated old people had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils every day or two.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which regulates the bowels of old folks. A single dose will establish natural, healthy bowel movement for weeks at a time, even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement, but, best of all, it is often months before another dose is necessary. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasurable.

FLOYDADA, Sept. 8.—The Floydada Whirlwinds will be hard to control according to the material that Coach J. C. Wester has on hand to work with. Last season the "hard winds" had a successful season but it is expected that the Floydada eleven will have a Class B contender for the gridiron tilt in the Lubbock football district.

Articles and Local News about South-Plains Farmers; Prepared by Welton Winn, Practical Farmer

What The Farmers Tell Us

J. S. Guthrie, who lives twelve miles northwest of Lubbock, was in the city Saturday and gave a report from his neighborhood. He said his crop of 435 acres of cotton was good. If there are any fleas he had not noticed them, he said, however, that there were a few leaf worms in his cotton, but they are doing no serious damage to the crop. He has 150 acres in feed which is fine and ready for the harvest. He will begin his feed harvest next week. He has seen here six years.

The Dandy brothers, who live southwest of Lubbock six or eight miles, were in Monday and when asked about crop and worm said they had quite a lot of leaf worms but could not tell just how much damage they will do. They do not seem to be bothered much about them and did not state if they were poisoning them. These men are good farmers and have good cotton and feed crops. One of these men has a fine flock of White Leghorn chickens that are very profitable on the farm. He sent out and secured some of the very best stock of that desirable breed and has raised and sold lots of them to breeders. These men are from Oklahoma.

J. E. Adams, who lives fourteen miles north of the city, was in Saturday. He has 300 acres in cotton; it is good, no fleas but a few leaf worms which he thinks are doing very little, if any, damage. His crop, or most of it, is very early for this county as he began to plant his cotton on April 22, finishing May 15. Mr. Adams said his feed crops are fine, especially Sudan and cane. Had a small corn crop but the yield was good. He has 40 acres in feed and will break his land that has feed on it early and very deep. He said he would not put eight inches to a double disc and break this land.

We visited the farm of Mr. T. J. Wright, who lives north of the city Wednesday. He has 50 acres in cotton and about 40 acres in feed; his feed crops are fine and he was harvesting his cotton early. Mr. Wright's cotton crop is good, he has some late cotton planted June 15th, that has made wonderful growth and new has matured half way up the stalks. His older cotton has matured well and is ready to pick. He has had neither fleas or worms to bother his cotton, and is sure of a good crop.

THE NEWEST COUNTY HEARD FROM

W. D. Armstrong, who lives at Whit Garrett, sent in a truck load of very fine melons Thursday. These were about the finest and largest lot we have seen this season. They were brought in by his sons who were interested with him in producing these melons. They were selling them very readily and will continue to bring them in as long as the price will justify. These young men said the crops out that were very fine here, cotton and feed crops. They are quite a lot of corn grown out in that new county, in fact, any crops that will grow anywhere on these plains will do well in that county. These young men were delighted with their crops and farms.

H. B. Brewer, who lives in Lynn county, east of Tahoka, was in the city Monday. He said the crops are good, some worms in the cotton but could not tell the amount of damage they will do. The feed crops are good there are quite a lot of hog in that part of the country but most are not doing well. They are not getting very strong on poultry but he thought they would take up that line of farm work in the near future. Mr. Brewer is only two years from Johnson county but it differed with the plains country, so far.

S. A. Poole, who lives near the Hedges school, was in Thursday and when asked about farm conditions in his neighborhood said they have been in a dry streak since the third of June not like a week ago, the cotton crop is fairly good, but fleas or worms, the dry weather had nearly been a help along that line, the feed crops are late but good. The recent rains the feed has fair to make a good crop. Mr. Poole will plant wheat again this fall and he thinks every farmer on the plains should sow some wheat when the conditions are favorable. He thinks there would be very few years that would be too dry to sow grain on the plains. Where the land has been well cultivated in cotton he sees there could be no risk only the loss of the seed and there will almost always be some amount of rain to bring the wheat up and start it off.

Will Gatt, who also lives in the Hedges community was in Thursday. Mr. Gatt had 50 acres in wheat which yielded 22 bushels of wheat and he mentioned a lot of wheat as did Mr. Poole. Mr. Gatt will plant wheat again this fall and thinks all farmers should plant some wheat or corn each fall. Mr. Gatt has a nice lot of hay and some alfalfa for pasture and hay. He thinks there should be many more hogs raised here to feed this good feed crop. He has a nice herd of good milk cows and a fine flock of chickens and says they help out wonderfully on the farm.

H. N. Tucker, who lives at Doad Switch, was in Monday and when asked about his crop said he had no worms and the lice had done no harm in his crop. He has 55 acres in maize that is ready for the harvest and will make a ton per acre. He had only a small patch of corn, but it made well. He said roasting ears at a fair price which made his corn crop pay well. He has five nice milk cows and sells $7 worth of cream each week. He has hogs enough to make his meat and thinks every farmer should grow his own meat each year. Mr. Tucker has been in the Plains six years. He says that anything that will grow anywhere else in Texas will grow here.

A VERY IMPORTANT AND INTERESTING INTERVIEW

We met E. C. Merrill, who lives five miles north of Shallowater, in city, Wednesday. In discussing the farm problems he mentioned the importance of the farmers growing more wheat in this county. He said last year he prepared 200 acres of land early for wheat, and some one, a friend, we believe he said, rather encouraged the planting of wheat and rented the land and put it in cotton. He said if the cotton on the farm sold for 18c he would lose $5,000 by not planting the wheat. The land adjoining his farm made 45 bushels of wheat per acre and sold for $1.20 per bushel, so if he had sown and planted the land he would have made $5,000 better off. He had figured it all out carefully and showed the figures to prove his claim. Besides growing all classes of crops, Mr. Merrill has a herd of very fine, high-producing Jersey cows and heifers. He has encouraged his neighbors to join in with him in building up a nice string of high class Jerseys in his community. He said the time has come to produce the best. Just milk cows will no longer do, but the very best is all the kind that will really pay to produce. Mr. Merrill said the feed crops are good in his community, and the cotton is fine.

Mr. Isham Tubbs, who lives seven miles west of town, was in Tuesday and said they have cotton ready to pick on his farms. The worms had done little or no damage. They have been in rather a dry streak in his community, and that is why they have not been bothered with worms, and the cotton is now opening up so readily. He said picking will begin in full swing out here. The feed crops are fine and are now being harvested. All classes of feed have done well this year.

OTHER COUNTIES HEARD FROM

Mr. C. Garner, who lives at Canyon, Milan county, was in the city Monday and gave us some points from that county. He said they had as good prospects for cotton in that county as they could wish for until two months ago, when boll weevils, worms and about everything that could injure cotton, hit that county. This will cause the crop to be very short in that county. The early cotton is all that will stand any chance to make anything. The feed crops, such as corn, oats and millet, are very fine this year. The yards and all truck crops are good; the fruit crop is excellent also, and the people have canned more fruit and vegetables than they had ever canned before. The dry weather last year had taught them a lesson along that line. He said even the negroes were putting up lots of fruit and vegetables for winter use, which is something unusual for them. Mr. Garner said their land is gradually washing away and a general deterioration in the farms was going on in that part of the state. He suggested that the only thing that might save them; this and sowing the land in wheat, oats and other small grain is the only remedy for them, but he said they have given so shortly all their efforts to growing cotton so long it will be hard to get them to change to other crops.

Our old time friend, H. C. Pearson, who lives at Lorenzo, and has been farming interests in that county and near that thriving little city is in Lubbock Thursday. Mr. Pearson said the crop conditions in Crosby county are in most of that county is very fine, and that the cotton and feed crops are all that could be desired. He has 500 acres in present and is much interested in his present and is anxious to encourage any others to go into the business for the several seasons given and we tried to enter him in the details of the business as given by men who are now growing the sheep.

F. M. Ballard, who lives near East City, but just above the Concho was in the city Thursday. It had been very dry all the year down that way. The feed crops are nearly all gone. It got to crop very short but this side of Shallowater some of the feed crops were badly damaged by the leaf worms. It seemed that some farmers had poisoned or tried to poison the worms but they had done great damage to the crops. He had been down in the Hedges country recently and the feed crops are good down in that part of the country but worms had done great damage to the cotton.

A GREAT CROP

R. L. Curtis, who lives west of town, near Snyder, was in Saturday. He has, with a sample of the finest tomatoes we have ever seen. One of these weighed 28 ounces and was five inches across and about two and half inches in diameter. There were two others that were only a little smaller and then there was a cluster of five nice ones, two of which were only a shade smaller than the larger ones. He calls them the "Prolific" and we think their size and number in the cluster he brought in fully justifies that name. Mr. Curtis has four rows of these, 160 feet long, and to estimate the crop by what these rows have made would make an acre produce at least $50. This is his estimate, but from other reports we have had from other parts of the state where the yield was not near so good as these, they would have produced at least $500 on the acre and two-tenths.

COUNTY AGENT EATON SAYS PLANT WHEAT

In discussing the farm problems with Mr. Eaton recently he suggested that we call attention to the importance of planting a liberal acreage in wheat this fall. Mr. Eaton has been over the county, and says in most all parts of the county there is a fine season in the ground and he thinks this is a good time to sow wheat. The land that has been well cultivated in cotton could now be sown to wheat at a very small cost, and by the time the cotton is gathered there would be fine grazing in the wheat fields. Good seed can be had right here in Lubbock.

There is no large surplus of wheat in this or any other county at present, and it is a safe thing to plant wheat when there is such a fine season in the ground. If a large crop of wheat should be made next year we know of no other crop that can any better be held and carried over than wheat. Then we have never known any farmer to be in very bad financial circumstances when he had a good supply of wheat or oats in his granary.

SELLING EGGS BY WEIGHT

Each year brings the usual discussion of selling eggs by weight. The fact that there is more or less interest in the matter indicates that the problem is not settled. The discussion will continue until a satisfactory solution is found. It is only natural that the poultryman who has a flock which lays eggs weighing from 24 to 28 ounces to the dozen feels that he should have more for his eggs than the fellow who has only one ounce of eggs weighing from 16 to 20 ounces. He is giving more and he thinks he should receive a higher price.

On the other hand we have been told for generations that an egg is an egg and the consumer feels this way to a very large extent.

The trend seems to be towards selling eggs by weight as a fair basis. Perhaps the matter might be settled by the dozen, as to that we can not say, but it seems quite evident that small eggs will have to sell for less than large ones. In some sections eggs are now graded for size and we believe it will become universal in time. If this is to come, it seems that poultrymen should make up and begin to brand their flocks for large eggs. We have thought too much about high production and too little about the size of the eggs. Minera breeders would welcome a demand for larger eggs, but there is no reason why breeders of other breeds can not increase the size of the eggs that their birds lay. The time is here and we hope every reader will consider this due and timely notice and govern himself accordingly.—Poultry Keeper.

BUSINESS ACTIVITY NOTED IN AUGUST

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—Business activity during the last week of August, as seen from check payments, continued to show advances over a year ago, according to the weekly index of business conditions just issued by the Department of Commerce. The distribution of goods during the third week of August, as shown by orderings, also continued to record increases over the previous year. Building contracts awarded during the last week of the month were larger than in either the previous week or the corresponding week of the previous year.

Production of bituminous coal during the third week of the month, although smaller than in the previous week, was larger than in the same week of 1925. Lumber production, however, was smaller than in the second week of August, recording a decline also, from the third week of August in the preceding year. The output of petroleum in the last week of the preceding year.

Wholesale prices during the fourth week averaged higher than in the previous week for the first time in almost two months, but were still below the average of a year ago. Loans and discounts of Federal reserve member banks were larger than at the end of either the previous week or the same week of 1925. Time mortgages averaged higher than in either the previous week or a year ago, with rates for all money showing similar comparisons. Average prices for stocks declined from the preceding week but were higher than last year. Business failures were more numerous than in either the preceding week or the corresponding week of 1925.

Miss Marion Turple, 18-year-old Southern women's golf champion, was at first intended for a musical career, but finally abandoned it for outdoor sports.

Miss Helen Chaney of Oldham, Iowa, had that she could walk from one hotel to another in her raincoat, but was arrested when she had gotten half way.

CANYON PARAGRAPHS

This is the time of the year when the old folks take a back seat, and the little tots come into prominence, for everyone knows that school is going to start Monday, the thirteenth. School isn't like it used to be back in the East. Our fathers had to go a little log shack with puncheon floors, and sat on split logs for seats. They learned something about arithmetic, reading, writing, spelling and geography, and that was about all. The old school master ruled with an iron hand, and every student knew which suppling above the fireplace was his on account of the size. No wonder school was not a pleasure. Mr. Haynes used to tell us that the only pleasure he got out of early school was in seeing who had the strongest pinf bottle.

We do not have to describe, the present country school in Lubbock county. It has gotten to where it should be a real pleasure for the children to go to school. Our school starts Monday with over 150 students. The board of trustees had hard times in selecting their last teacher, but after several lengthy sessions, they have made the following selections: Miss Ammon, superintendent; Miss Lois Cone, sixth and seventh grades; Miss Doydel Hill, fourth and fifth grades; and Mrs. A. M. Eubanks and Miss Minnie Coker, primary work. Mr. Ammon has arranged so that there will be a great deal of departmental work. Spanish is being offered, for the first time. This will enable students graduating from the tenth grade to go to any good high school without any trouble. We have been working on our library until we have one of the most complete of any school of our size. Of course the trustees and the faculty are asking for close cooperation with the parents. If this is accomplished, we can predict a very successful year.

The social activities have taken on a new impetus. We are making up for the time that will be lost when school starts. Miss Trucey Thompson gave a splendid party Saturday night and as usual, the slumbering party was absent. This party was given in honor of Miss Nina Mae Thompson from Hubbard City. Miss Flossie Sharp gave a party Wednesday night in honor of her cousin. We can always have a good time at the Sharp residence.

Something that created a great deal of speculation was when about two weddings took place among our young folks. W. D. Sides came in Sunday with a bride from Amarillo. Mr. Sides intends to be with his father in the store. The other wedding happened when Mr. N. D. Kelsa came out from Lubbock last Wednesday and married Miss Lenza Crim, Miss Crim, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Crim, of this community. Mr. Kelsa is one of the most successful grocers in Lubbock and we are sure that under the new circumstances, he will be all the more prosperous than we could wish for him.

We are still having a number of visitors. Mrs. Joe Richards was visited by her cousin last week. Also, her daughter, Mrs. Julia Covey, of Levelland, was a visitor last Wednesday. Miss Minnie Fay Humphreys, of Tahoka, who has been visiting with Miss Della and Ruth McLean, has returned to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mitchell, of Littlefield, were visitors in the Jim Perry home, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Burgess had an old-time family reunion Sunday. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Burgess, of Childress, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Gaines and family, of Littlefork, Ark.; Mr. White Currie and family, of Happy, Texas; and Mr. H. L. Burgess and family, of Lubbock. Mr. James Currie and family, of Happy, Texas, and Mr. Joe Currie also of Happy, Texas.

Miss Francis Pugh has returned from a short visit to Amarillo. Mr. C. P. Williams, of Athens, Texas, is visiting with his sister, Mrs. A. J. Ammon. Mr. Ammon's father, from Van Zandt county is also visiting here. Adolph Sides, Harold Ammon and George Brock were visitors at Vernon and Chillicothe last week. Mr. and Mrs. Simpson, and daughter, Mattie, and Miss Geneva Daggel have returned from a visit to East Texas.

Mr. Wilburn Brock and Mr. Tom Brock have been visiting in the Jim Perry home, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Potts have as their visitor this week, their daughter, Mary, and husband. Mr. and Mrs. Sherrod enjoyed a visit to the Carlsbad Cavern.

Miss Trucey Thompson returned a short time ago from a visit to the mountains in New Mexico. We imagine that the weather is getting rather like winter time, in the high altitudes.

Irene Perry visited with friends in Littlefield last week. The writer has accepted a position in the Estacado high school for the coming year.

Mr. Green, the owner of the new canyon, says that a number of farmers are ready to start picking cotton, the gin will be ready to begin operations on the 20th.

All of the old-timers will be sorry to learn of the death of J. P. Webb, at Olton, last Friday. Mr. Webb came to Canyon community over nineteen years ago, a dull recent took the lead in everything. That happened worthwhile. He and Judge McGee originated the idea of building the first brick rural school building in the State of Texas and in 1911, that idea took material form. He was a member of the old county board of trustees. He was the head of our first work and took the lead in church and social work. Since going to Olton about five years ago, he has taken a lead in that community. All of his old friends will miss the man that would always stand for what was right, and we extend our greatest sympathies to his aged wife and his children. He was truly a pioneer of the West.

BECTON NEWS

We have been having some light showers around over the community for the past week. We are in hopes we will have some pretty weather row so the cotton will open. The worms have been damaging the cotton some but we hope they will not do much to amount to anything. We think that prospects are better than they have been in quite a while. The Abernathy boosters rendered a program at the auditorium Monday night. They rendered a real good program. We welcome them back to our community again.

We have been having some real good singings at the church house on Sunday nights. We have some real good singers in the community and large crowds attend each time. There were 105 present at Sunday school Sunday morning, even though it was a bad morning. We have the best little Sunday school in the county for its size, we think, and we welcome all who attend.

There was a fruit supper in the Bush home Friday night, and it was well attended by the young folks. Everyone who was present reported having a nice time. The young people of the community attended a party in the Clark home Saturday night. Ice cream and cake were served to the large crowd that attended.

We are sorry to report that Muriel Stevens was badly injured Monday when the team she was driving ran away and overturned the cultivator she was on. We are glad to say that she is getting along all right now. Mrs. Pool and family, of Clarendon, Texas, have been visiting in the S. A. Pool home, but have returned to their home.

Miss Vera Remy of this community and Miss Vera Stevens, of Lorenzo, were united in marriage at Lorenzo, Saturday. Miss Remy has lived in our community for years and was graduated from the Lorenzo high school this year. Mr. Stevens has resided in Lorenzo for some time. Their friends wish them much happiness in their new life together. They will make their home in Slaton.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly are the proud parents of a baby boy. Mr. and Mrs. Kiser and family and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas and family were guests in the Woods home, Sunday. Muriel Stevens spent Sunday in the home of Lillian and Etta Grace. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kyle were Lubbock visitors one day last week.

Maggie Phillips has returned to her home, she has been visiting with friends in the Liberty community. Lillian Grace spent one day last week in the home of Muriel Stevens. Mr. Kyle and family have had relatives visiting them from Santa Anna for the past few days. They have returned to their home. Bernice Stevens went to Plainview Sunday where she is to attend Wayland college.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Burress are the proud parents of a baby boy. Mrs. Givens was sick and unable to attend Sunday school Sunday morning. We hope she will recover soon. Lucille McKinney, of Idalou, spent Saturday night and Sunday with friends in this community. Fay Thompson spent Sunday in the home of Wessie and La Fay King. Beulah Moore who has been attending college at Canyon, is at home now for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have moved back to the tenchorage and are ready to begin school. They are attending the institute at Lubbock this week. Ercell Givens and Andrew Reid of Abernathy spent the week-end at home. Maggie Phillips has been visiting in Santa Anna and Blackwell. She reports having had a nice time.

PETERSBURG NEWS

Our little town has been enjoying a religious revival for the past two weeks. Rev. Ball has assisted Bro. Derr in his work here greatly. There were many conversions and quite a few joined the churches. A baptizing took place Sunday afternoon at M. J. Gregory's pool. A large crowd attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Higgins of Fort Worth have returned to their home after a few days' visit to Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Shankle, and other relatives here. Mrs. A. O. FARM GOSSIP

SAYS COOPS NO PANACEA

"Cooperative marketing has been over sold to the farmers of the Nation," says John W. Coverdale, former secretary of American Farm Bureau Federation. "It will do much toward raising the quality of the product handled; but it only widens the handler charges between producer and consumer. Cooperative marketing is like government ownership and operation—it requires much overhead and loses efficiency as it grows. It requires special privilege through legislation and at once becomes the target for its competitors in business. This competition it has so far been unable to meet."

Mr. Coverdale advocates that organization of corporations is the best means of increasing prices on the farms, declaring they were advantageous in that they needed no special privilege, no legislation, were not dependent upon the members and could expand and contract general business conditions warrant.

He may add that the greatest work over done by any cooperative association is the National advertising campaign they have conducted to increase the consumption of their goods. The association that have depended almost entirely upon the actual marketing of their products without extending their efforts to stimulating increased consumption have had very hard sledding and it all goes to show that it is next to impossible to successfully conduct any business large or small, without advertising.

GET THE KIDS IN SCHOOL

Now that schools are opening all over the country every effort should be used to see that every child of school age is entered and that they have the opportunity of getting at least a foundation education so that they may be in a position to rightfully take their place in life. Over 7,000,000 boys and girls of rural America between the ages of six and twenty are today out of school, according to a survey of rural education by the American Library Association. There is no real reason for this because for the youth of America there exists today an investment of nearly $6,000,000,000 in facilities for formal education—in text books, buildings, machinery and equipment.

Although only about 64 per cent of the youth of America attend school at all the average of these is only seven and a half years at school room work and college and university education reaches only about two per cent. America has taken her place as a leader in the world affairs, but she may not continue to hold this position if more of her youth do not avail themselves of the educational advantages that surround them.

WHEN IS MILK MADE

It has always been a question whether milk is manufactured during the few minutes required for the milking process, or whether it is secreted continuously and collected in the udder previous to milking. To determine this the udder of two cows killed at a Federal Dairy Experimental Farm, were removed immediately after slaughter and mounted in a position for post-mortem milking and tests were made. It is quite generally held that the capacity of a cow's udder is not more than a half pint to each quarter and therefore, that the milk must necessarily be manufactured during the milking operation. In these tests it was found, however, that a cow's udder is capable of holding from 11 to 20 quarts of milk. One of the cows had normally been giving about 10 pounds of milk. When her udder was milked after being completely severed from all body connections a total of 10.27 pounds of milk was obtained, or more than 85 per cent of her normal production, indicating that this amount had been collected and stored as milk previous to her slaughter. The post-mortem milking of the udder secured practically 50 per cent of her normal production. A considerable quantity of milk still remained due to the difficulty with which it was released.

In the opinion of W. W. Sweet, Bureau of Dairy Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, these tests indicate that milk secretion is to a considerable extent a continuous process, and that a large proportion of the milk secured at any milking is collected and stored within the mammary gland before milking is commenced; also that the liberation of the milk from the gland is not dependent either upon a nervous or mechanical stimulation or upon internal muscular contraction.

A WORD ABOUT PECANS

Judge S. J. Pieratt who called on us last week was in the city again Monday and we showed him our monument in the court yard, the little pecan we planted there last year. He was pleased with the idea, and went on to say there is one pecan planted in the court yard in Coleman, the balance of the trees in that yard are hackberries. He said the pecan was now a fine large tree and had been bearing since we were several years old and furnished a good shade than any three or four of the hackberry trees. He said it was a great pity that the court yard here in Lubbock had not been planted in pecans instead of the locust trees here. He thinks this country will be a great pecan producing section whenever the people take the proper interest in planting and looking after them.

Mrs. Carroll Jay spent last week with relatives in Crosby county. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stapleton are occupying the apartment in Mrs. J. R. Davis' home. We are glad to state that Mrs. Estes Martin is no worse but is still ill with typhoid fever at her home near Clovis, New Mexico. Her mother, Mrs. Belle Hankins, of this place, is with her. KANGAROO STAR ARRIVES IN HUB CITY TO COACH LUBBOCK HIGH SCHOOL WESTERNERS IN FOOTBALL STRATEGY

Henry Frnka, four year veteran of the Austin college kangaroo squad at Sherman arrived in Lubbock recently and has taken up his duties as assistant coach of the Lubbock high school Westerners. Frnka is a 1926 graduate of Austin college where he played his first year at full back and the last three at guard and tackle. Frnka has an outstanding record on the 1922 team which took the T. L. A. championship. He shifted to guard and tackle the next year and proved to be a power in the line in 1923 when the Kangaroos again copped the T. L. A. flag. He remained in the line during the 1924 and 1925 seasons. In 1924 the Kangaroos enjoyed another successful season defeating both Baylor and Rice on their home grounds and losing the T. L. A. championship by a close game to Howard Payne. Frnka will have charge of the line. Uniforms were issued yesterday and the Westerners will get in action this afternoon when the boys will begin the grind to perfect a machine to win honors for the local high school.

LYNN COUNTY FARMERS ARE PRACTICING DIVERSIFIED FARMING WITH RESULTS WHICH JUSTIFY EFFORTS IN THAT LINE

TAHOCA, Sept. 7.—Lynn county farmers are practicing what they have been preaching in the way of diversification. This applies to the general farm crops and live stock raising over the county. A few years ago diversified farming became a thing practically unknown, as farmers were more interested in raising cotton than all other crops. Since that time farmers here are finding that it does not pay to follow the one crop system.

This year the majority of farmers here have adopted a diversified system that is yielding fine returns. An average of from one-third to more than one-half of the total acreage in cultivation is given over to feed crops of various types. Lynn county is making one of the largest feed crops of history for this section. These crops cover a wide variety of feed crops. Grain sorghums consisting of milo, maize, kafir, feterita, and similar crops make up the largest portion of the crops. These crops are yielding fine this season with an average of more than one ton of heads per acre, where headed an equally as well in proportion where the crops are gathered with row binders.

Corn crops over Lynn county are also making a fair yield, in fact the crop this year are better than previous years. Cane and sudan, are the principal grazing crops, these feeds always make a large amount of feed per acre. Lynn county farmers will have enough feed stored away to supply them for the next two years with a surplus to place upon the market. Many farmers here are coming to the conclusion that it is just as profitable or more so to grow maize than it is cotton. When the cotton makes a bumper crop and good prices are received then the cotton crops pay far the largest profits, but taking a ten year average the maize profits will equal or exceed the cotton profits. This is due to several reasons. In the first place a good maize crop is practically insured each year, as no insects destroy the crop. One man can farm double the amount of acres devoted to maize than he can farm in cotton. One man can gather a large maize crop, providing that he has his feed planted at different ages to make it mature over a period of several weeks. This fact saves many additional dollars that must be spent in gathering the cotton crop. The direct profits realized by placing the feed stuff upon the market are satisfactory, as the prices are always fair, but farmers here make even a larger profit by feeding the grain sorghums at home than selling the fattened stock. This diversified system of farming has been carried out in the vegetable and fruit lines as well as the regular farm crops. Farmers here are using steam pressure canners to store away their own supply of groceries for the winter months, which is supplemented by plenty of home raised meats and lard. Live stock is bringing in added profits for many farmers here. Dairy cows and hogs are the principal sources of income in this line, while some farmers are keeping a small flock of sheep and others are fattening out range steers, which all together build a steady income for farmers of this county.

Ray McCorkle Off For Week Soliciting

Ray B. McCorkle, assistant advertising man on the Lubbock Morning Avalanche, left Monday morning for a trip to nearby towns, where he will solicit business for the South Plains Fair Edition of the Avalanche which will make its appearance between now and the fair. He will do feature writing as well, and will have a number of very interesting development stories of South Plains towns. This will be a very valuable edition, and will set forth many of the good features of the country, and contain much valuable information to people who have not seen this elsewhere, and orders should be placed for what you will want before the first sections go on the press.

Home Dressmaking

Model for a Fashionable Autumn are all adapted to development in this model. A handsome thing in navy and tan is the dress picture. The very deep front is a new style, as well as the long slender collar and the carefully concealed circular fullness of the skirt. The snug fit at the shoulders is achieved by means of a dart. (See figure.) It is advisable with the woolen materials to split the dart, especially when it extends from the front shoulder. Cut down to three-quarters of an inch at the point and overcast the raw edges with close stitches. A dart shaped in this way gives the close fit over the shoulder, at the same time providing fullness over the bust. This is sometimes called the "mitten" because it may be made larger or smaller, as the lines of the figure require. The vestee set into the front of the dress is made of heavy Georgette crepe. It has a straight upper edge and is trimmed with buttons. The collar is of satin corresponding in color with the figure in the material, although these frequently are in self-tones. Reports from Paris say that there is a decided trend toward the return of the old-fashioned customer of grandmother's day, but of course, highly improved and glorified in new colorings and patterns. "Fitting" Dart for Shoulder Seam. A Ladies' Dress No. 451, cut-in style, will be mailed, postpaid, upon receipt of 15 cents. Be sure to give correct number and size of pattern desired when ordering. Write name and address plainly, send orders to Pattern Editor, this newspaper.

HOW MANY NAMESAKES WILL MOODY HAVE

DENTON, Tex., Sept. 9.—"Dan Moody" will soon be found in every locality along with "George Washingtons," "Abes Lincolns," "Woodrow Wilsons" and namesakes of lesser lights among the makers of political history. Little Dan Moody Adcock, of Denton County, however, holds first claim to having acquired the name of the governor-elect in his county and perhaps the first in the State to be christened by that name after Moody's nomination. The gubernatorial position, Dan Moody Adcock was born the night of the run-off primary. So far as is known, the political career of the new governor's namesake has not been planned as yet.

WELLINGTON WILL MEET MANGUM FRIDAY

WELLINGTON, Tex., Sept. 9.—The Wellington high school football team under the leadership of coach Devin has been matched to play the Mangum, Okla., devil dogs Friday, September 17th, at the Collingsworth County Fair. The Oklahomans had an unbeatable team in 1925 and as there has been much rivalry for a period of years between the two teams this game is expected to be an extremely exciting one.

LITTLEFIELD GETS FIRST BALE, 385 POUNDS

LITTLEFIELD, Sept. 9.—The first bale of cotton for this season was brought in by J. L. Woodruff from his farm near Littlefield. It was ginned by the E. D. Davaney Gin, and sold for a price of 25c per pound. The bale weighed 385 pounds. Mr. Woodruff has 400 acres in cotton here, which at the lowest estimate will yield 3-4 of a bale per acre. The bale of cotton was purchased by Yeager-Chester Land Co., of Littlefield.

LEVELLAND OBSERVES LABOR DAY MONDAY

LEVELLAND, Sept. 9.—Labor Day was devoted to a very fine parade, made up of the local unions of the town and business men also. After the parade, addresses were delivered by County Judge, J. R. Evans, Dr. E. J. Cook and Judge W. D. Cope. Levelland is a very young town, yet it is a live, wide-awake young city. The carpenters have quite a good number of members in their local union and promises to be quite a live local.

PUBLIC OPINION

THREE CLASSES The farmer produces the clothing and the food that all must have, and they do so at their own expense, and without protection help or subsidy from the government or anybody else. He just has to "Root Hog or Die." But how about the favored and petted National Bankers and Railroad companies. Haven't room here to tell, but you know or could easily know by a little investigation. What did the National Banks ever produce in tangible necessities that the people actually need and can't get along without, as farmers do? Neither do the railroads produce, they only transport what others produce. People have lived happily and prospered without either and could do so again, but how about the farmer and laborer? Not a garment could be had—not a bushel of grain or meal of food supplied without the farmer. Not a tool or piece of machinery made or used without the worker and what protection do they get? Are they and their business not as important? Yes, many times more important than the National Bankers and railroad companies. Do these, and have these, and the manufacturing interests received any protection from the Government or any class legislation from our lawmakers? You know, and you also know who it is that is always ready to howl "Class Legislation," when a measure is presented to benefit the farmer or help him and the other workers. If th workers and producers that support all and on whom everything depends can't get help and protection, then help and protection for all others should cease. All we ask is fairness and equal rights. T. J. ESTES, Lubbock, Tex.

PLAN TO ELECTRIFY THE HOLY LAND BY MEDITERRANEAN WATERWAY RUNNING DOWN TO DEAD SEA

By JOHN O'BRIEN (United Press Staff Correspondent) PARIS, Sept. 9.—French and British engineers have completed a project which it is hoped will be put into effect very soon for the electrification of Palestine by causing the waters of the eastern Mediterranean to flow over a 250-foot ridge, bordering the coast, thence through a canal cut out of solid rock whence the waters would hurl themselves down in an almost sheer drop into Lake Tiberius and the Dead Sea, more than one thousand feet under the level of the Mediterranean.

West Texas at Sesqui-Centennial On Exhibition

STAMFORD, Texas, Sept. 8.—Responding to calls sent out from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce here, cities in the Panhandle and on the South Plains district of Texas are sending in literature concerning their opportunities and advantages offered, to be distributed among the visitors to the Sesqui-Centennial-Exposition being held in Philadelphia. The literature is being distributed from the West Texas Agricultural Exhibit, put on display by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which is being shown throughout the entire Exposition. Persons from all parts of the United States, as well as from several foreign countries, call for bulletins and booklets from cities in West Texas. The towns which send in this literature will thus be advertised in many sections of the country, with very little effort on their part. Cities in the Panhandle-Plains district that have already sent in bulletins are: Tulsa, Happy, Amarillo, Wellington, Spur, and Spearman. Other sections of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce territory are also answering this call sent out from Philadelphia. According to John W. Whiteaker, who is in charge of the West Texas exhibit, this display of products, taken from all sections of the country, is one of the most favored in the agricultural hall, and hundreds of questions are asked daily concerning the production of grains, cotton, fruits, and the like. The visitors are also interested in the dairying, poultry raising, and ranching industries. Many of these questions can be answered by the distribution of such literature as has been sent in. Homer D. Wade, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, is urging every city sponsored by the organization to comply with this demand for literature, which will not only aid their city in advertising campaigns, but will boost West Texas as a unit.

PRINCE OF WALES IS KEEPING A DIARY

LONDON, Sept. 9.—It has been learned that the prince of Wales is faithfully keeping a diary. Each night he writes into his book, in his careful rounded cellophane what he has done and thought during the day. Like most diaries, the Prince's recordbook is highly confidential, but some day it may become a document worth a fabulous price. The Prince, judging by his public letters, has a keen wit and an observant eye, and it is confidently stated that what he puts into his diary every night would be well worth reading if it became public.

PLAINVIEW SCHOOLS ARE OVERFLOWING

PLAINVIEW, Tex., Sept. 9.—A steady stream of prospective students poured into the offices of the various Plainview public school buildings Monday to receive assignments to grades and fill out registration cards in preparation for the resumption of their studies for the fall term. At noon today 1,739 had enrolled in the five Plainview public schools. This is well above the figures for last year and it is thought the number will be considerably increased during the remainder of the week as students, were still signing up when the figures were given. Those so far registered are distributed as follows: Senior High, 332; Jun'or High, 390; Lamar, 421; Central 533; Seth Ward, 63. Last year 1,666 had enrolled September 15th, showing that 73 more are already enrolled this term and indicating that the number will undoubtedly show a still greater increase later on. The last day of September 1924 showed an enrollment of 1,429 in the Plainview public schools last year. The various school rooms are all well filled this year and Dr. Page says that it will be necessary to hire at least three teachers in addition to the original faculty.
