Greyhounds Lose Doubleheader on Tour Over State

The Eastern New Mexico Junior College Greyhounds, on their tour over the southern part of the state dropped the first two games in a double header to the State Teachers College Mustangs at Silver City Monday and Tuesday nights.

The outcome of Monday night's game was 35-27 and on Tuesday they lost by a score of 38-25. Patterson, fast forward, was the outstanding man on the court Monday night and scored 17 of the total points for the Greyhounds. Patterson has not been on the line-up regularly this season due to illness. Miller, guard, also made the trip after being ill for sometime.

Sturdivant, lanky center for the Greyhounds, was unable to make the trip due to illness. Sturdivant is a good scorer and is at the present time high scorer in the conference.

Last night and tonight the Greyhounds are playing the Aggie freshmen at Las Cruces in a non-conference game.

Friday and Saturday they will play the last games of their tour when they are scheduled to meet the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell in two conference games. The strength of the opponents is not known as they have not played a game in the conference so far this season.

The Greyhounds at present are at the bottom of the conference as they won five games and lost four, leaving them with a very low percentage at the present time. Coach Reed has been handicapped so far this season by the fact that he has not been able to start his best five men in any conference game.

Dramatic Club of College Will Present First Play

The Dramatic club of the Eastern New Mexico Junior college will present "Adam and Eva," a comedy in three acts, in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock Saturday evening.

This very clever play was written by Gay Bolton and George Middleton and has been successfully produced on Broadway and Hollywood stages.

James King, a rich man, Phil Ogle.

Corinthia, his parlor maid, Altie Price.

Horace Pilgrim, his uncle, Durwood Wright.

Adam Smith, his business manager, Ray Jolly.

Lord Andrew Gordin, his would-be-son-in-law, L. W. McGuffin.

"Adam and Eva" is the first open production of the college dramatic club, and since it will be used to make the college's dramatic debut much time and effort has been centered on it.

The story: Mr. King has made a fortune through gift for business organization, but has neglected the rearing o fhis daughters in his complete business preoccupation.

He goes to South America, leaving his business manager, Mr. Smith, to keep watch over his incompetent family. The family fortune is supposedly lost and the entire family is forced to go to work. Uncle Horace who came to spend a week end and has stayed 15 years, keeps the family as well as the audience in an uproar. A very intrcate and interesting romance is woven into the plot, giving Adam and the center of the stage.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Smith and son T. D. Jr., and several other friends were down from Clovis to attend the funeral of Mr. Smith's niece, Jo Ann Bremer.

Mrs. H. G. Rowley went to Artesia wit hthe Waltoms Saturday, and her daughter, Mrs. V. Britan met her there and took her with er to Carlsbad for a visit.

Waiting For Santa Claus!

CITY ADMINISTRATION ON THE SPOT

The new set-ups for work relief are now being made and all projects will have to be submitted by Feb. 11. What is Portales going to do about it?

Under the new set-ups the state and municipalities will have to devise means to raise funds to participate in this work. The state will have to raise $500,000.00. The municipalities will have to raise sufficient funds to at least supply materials for these projects.

Portales has many on the relief rolls and as the winter goes on, the relief situation will become more serious. These men cannot be given work unless Portales sets up work programs backed by sufficient cash to supply the material used. Without these projects every business interest in Portales will suffer.

So, it's up to the mayor and city councilmen to devise means for raising these funds. Are they going to sit idly by twiddling their thumbs until other municipalities in the state submit projects and absorb every available means for relief, leaving Portales with a heavy relief roll and no means of providing them any means of earning a living?

Mr. Mayor and councilmen, it is your responsibility; you are the guiding hand of Portales, and must meet this emergency.

Mr. Mayor and Councilmen, it is your responsibil- relieve this situation, but it cannot be met by penny-pinching. Portales is badly in need of a new city hall, sufficiently large to house the city administration, the fire department, a city jail, the public library, the chamber of commeree, and a municipal auditorium to take care of public gatherings. With such an auditorium, Portales can secure a number of conventions. On occasions of public speakings Portales is handicapped for room for this kind of gatherings.

The college needs an auditorium for their activities. A municipal auditorium would supply this need until such time as the college could build their own auditorium. Such a program would supply a large number with work throughout the winter.

By the use of adobe the material costs would be greatly reduced, and at the same time the making of adobes would give much employment.

It is up to the city administration to make some move to this end. What are you going to do about it?

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION BILL PASSES STATE SENATE MONDAY

Word from Senator T. E. Mears is that the Senate Joint Resolution No. 5, passed the senate Monday afternoon.

This bill was introduced by Sen. Mears in the 1933 session, and lacked one vote having a majority.

The resolution is as follows:

Provided, further, that in every case where exemption is claimed on the ground of the claimants having served with the military or naval forces of the United States as aforesaid, the burden of proving actual and bona fide ownership of such property, upon which exemption is claimed, shall be upon the claimant.

Section 2. In the event of the passage and approval of the foregoing amendment the same shall be submitted to the people at the general election in November 1936; provided, however, that in case a special election is held prior to 1936 the same shall be submitted to the people at such election.

The first zero weather of the season struck here early Sunday evening. The government thermometer hit zero early Monday morning, according to reports.

Other registrations over town reported from 4 to 7 below zero.

Sunday afternoon a high cold wind prevailed throughout the day with increasing lowe rtemperatures. Monday morning the garages and service stations wer busy starting cars and thawing out radiators.

Sunday night in rturning from the Claudell test in the southwest part of the county, the car of Henry Caudill froze up and bursted the clyinder blocks, requiring a new motor.

Up to this time the winter had been rather mild, very little freezing weather being experienced.

Local Postoffice Shows Increase Over That of '33

The local postoffice receipts for 1934 show an increase of 26.8 per cent over that of 1933; the receipts for 1934 were $14,263.64 and for 1933 were $11,263.79.

This increase shows that the city of Portales is growing and that the present postoffice facilities are inadaquate, and that better accommodations are needed to take care of the steadily increasing business.

City delivery is needed and steps to this end were taken several years ago, but this service has not materialized.

Chumbley Purchases Service Station

G. A. Chumbley, Jr., has purchased the Mathen and Dean service station and Camp grounds and will operate them in the future. He made the purchase on Jan. 15, and took possession the first of the week.

Olen Terrell will be employed in the station and will assist Mr. and Mrs. Chumbley in giving a modern service.

"BRAIN TRUST" GETS RESULTS

That the "brain trust" is getting results is shown by the fact that the Finance and Revenue committees are though with all institutional and departmental hearings.

In previous sessions of the New Mexico Legislature it has taken from 30 to 40 days.

MOTOR PATROL ROUNDING UP CAR LICENSE

The New Mexico Motor Patrol was in Portales Monday, rounding up cars with 1934 license plates.

January 15 was the deadline to secure the new plates, and while the majority had secured new license plates, there were still a numbr of cars on the streets with the old plates, which will cost the car owners $1.00 per day penalty.

License sales have been heavy this year, and during the past week the local license bureau was taxed to the limit to issue license. Several extra clerks were necessary.

Report Max Stone In Auto Accident

Word was received here late last night that Max Stone, manager of the local Stone's 5-10-25c store, was in a car accident near Amherst, Texas.

Mr. Stone, according to the report, had been to Littlefield, where he visited with a brother, who is in a similar business, and had started on his return trip. A short distance from Amherst, the report said, Stone's car struck a concrete culvert and was completely wrecked.

An ambulance from Lubbock was summoned and Mr. Stone was taken there where he was given medical attention, the report said.

It was not learned what hospital Mr. Stone entered, and the seriousness of his injuries were not made clear. However, the report indicated that he was was suffering severely from the force of the impact. Mr. Stone was traveling alone, according to the report.

STOLEN CAR IS FOUND, LUBBOCK

On last Saturday night, Mr. Wagne rof Clovis was visiting his brother, Vernie Wagner, and had his car parked at the residence of his brother.

The car was stolen, and on the following Monday night was found deserted on the streets of Lubbock, Texas.

Deputy Poindexter left Tuesday morning for Lubbock to investigate the probability of the connection with the burglary of the store of Fields and Bonner on the same night.

NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL

The second week of the Legislature like the first failed to produce the customary thrills. This was due primarily to the fact that the membership had assumed the attitude of "watchful waiting", waiting on the governor to produce his program which seems to be coming slow.

The week beginning January 21, will, from all appearances, be a busy one. The governor's program will be well in hand and many individual bills will be presented.

The relief shake-up has kept the city gasping, and the announcement that New Mexico must raise an additional $500,000 for relief put the members of the legislature to thinking. Many methods for raising this revenue have been suggested and it is being freely predicted today (Sunday) that the administration will bring out a measure proposing an additional sales tax to raise the money, with Roosevelt county's representation reported to be split on the matter, Senator T. E. Mears being reported as favoring this tax while Representative Floyd Kennedy has gone on record as opposing this and it is understood will offer other measures designed to raise the needed funds.

Bills creating the most interest in both houses seem to be Senator Mears' bill to extend time for the payment of taxes without penalty which was amended in such a way that it even proposes to give back to the taxpayer a part of the principal. Senator Mears fought the adoption of this amendment, and it is understood that Mr. Kennedy will resist its approval in the house.

Kennedy's primary and homestead exemption bills will probably come up early in the week. House joint resolution memorializing congress to pay the soldier bonus passed the house unanimously.

Some are crying Huey Long, as Tingley pushes his program for concentration of power.

All indications point to a short session, probably not more than thirty days.

Strike Heavy On Local Men's Store

Nocturnal prowlers reached a new peak in Portales Saturday evening when they entered the Fields and Bonner haberdashery on the south side of the square.

The thieves entered the store from the rear through the boiler room and, after entering took their leisure time in gathering up their loot as was indicated by the marks left in the building.

The robbery was reported about 2 o'clock Sunday morning. When Mr. Bonner reached the store and made an investigation of the missing articles he discovered that 17 suits of clothes, three pair of shoes, size 6½, 7 and 8, three overcoats, three boves of shirts, three shirts to the box, three Stetson hats and three or four suede jackets had been removed from the stock of merchandise by the thieves. Two suits wre missing from the cleaning department in the rear of the building which belonged to a resident of Elida. Kirksey, who works for the company, also reported his suit missing which had been left in the cleaning department.

Two overcoats, less expensive than the ones taken by the culprits, were found in the floor where the thieves, who evidently knew their merchandise of the them in an effort to get the better tem in an effort to get the better grade.

The burglars left the building after they had taken time out in the rear of the building to try on shoes before they were taken from the building. Exit was made thru the rear door which was easily opened from the inside.

Finger print experts were called to the scene and it was discovered th prowlers had taken great care not to leave any marks of evidence, having used gloves in making their rounds, it was revealed by the investigating finger print expert.

No estimate had been made early this week as to the loss suffered by the company, but it was believed to have run up near a thousand dollars.

Local officers working on the case, have not furnished any clues at this time, and have been prone to express any opinions.

The Warm Springs Foundation is one of the greatest humanitarian institutions in the world, and is doing a great work in studying for the prevention and the curing of that most dreaded disease, infantile paralysis.

NEW MEXICO PRESS ASSOCIATION MEMBER 1934

Beware of Grafters

The News again warns the public to beware of grafters who will soon flood this section with many plausible schemes to separate the people from their money or land.

After publishing the warning several weeks ago, two well dressed men and a woman made an attempt to separate some of our farmers from a good clice of cash.

They are always with us, but with the possibility of an oil field being developed in this county, their tribe will increase. They are usually a few jumps ahead of production, and afterwards the land owners find to their sorrow that they have signed away their rights.

When a slick stranger approaches you with a contract of any nature to sign, inquire of your banker or some one who is informed, before signing. It is also well to have your lawyer look over the papers before signing.

Should there be oil development in this county, the News would like for the land owners to participate in the profits. But in any event it is well to look with suspicion upon the slick city boys who come without credentials promoting any project.

22 New Subscribers

During the past ten days The News has received 22 new subscriptions. This is encouraging, as well as the many renewals that it has received sinct the first of the year.

The News strives to give the news, and render a service to all the people of the county, and these new subscribers and renewals is an indication that the paper is rendering a service to the public.

Amusing at Least

The News editor gets considerable amusement from some of the papers of the state that are yapping about the governor cleaning up the relief organization of the state.

Just before the election these same papers were crying for a Federal investigation of the relief agency, tsating that they were playing politics with human misery.

If these charges were true why condemn the governor for doing the very thing that they have been demanding for many months?

School Election Coming

In this issue of The News is the election proclamation calling for an election on the 12 day of February for the purpose of electing two school directors for a term of six years.

Six years is a long time, and the public should begin to make a selection of men for these places. The schools are a great asset to the city, and the directors are largely responsible for the success of the chools. Don't forget this election is coming on and be prepared to cast an intelligent vote.

Rehousing Program

The campaign for rehousing will start in Portales within the next day or so. A house-to-house canvass will be made to see what improvements are needed in Portales.

This program consists of remodeling, installation of electric and gas fixtures, and covers a multitude of improvements. Money can be secured for this purpose at 5 per cent interest running over a period of five years. This program will add comfort and make the homes in Portales more liveable. It will employ labor, which is one of the chief objects. It will create business in the building trades, including lumber, hardware, plumbing, electrical and gas appliances, and many lines of furnishings for the home.

It is well to give the program a careful study and see what you can do to aid in making Portales a city of better homes.

This program also includes the remodeling of farm homes.

The Relief Situation

Miss Margaret Reeves, state relief director, Governor Tingley declares it is the beginning of political manipulation of Federal funds. This we do not believe.

Less than three months ago the same press, particularly the Santa Fe New Mexican, was detailing purported instances of political administration of relief. It carried daily over the front page a standing head, "Playing Politics With Human Misery." The administration of relief was the same administration that has been upset by the governor. In other words the administration that was playing politics with relief when it suited the New Mexican to say so is now the administration that is completely free of politics because it suits the New Mexican to say so.

One of the most ludicrous phases of the current controversy was the refusal of Mr. McConvery to sign relief checks as authorized by a Federal Relief official and his then pious regret that the governor was withholding money from the needy.

Whatever the faces in the case it is patent that we can expect no reasonable analysis from that source.

This much we do know—that New Mexico relief does not depend on retention or hiring of any one person, that any attempt by anyone to make a political football out of relief will strike instant response in Washington, will jeopardize New Mexico's funds. We can also be sure that the governor will do no such thing. We know that Federal Relief officials have been in New Mexico, have approved the governor's course. We can be pretty certain that the governor, if he has influence in relief and he apparently has, will insist that wherever possible values will be received for relief funds, in the form of permanent works. And that won't be so bad.—Albuquerque Tribune.

The Noblest Revenge

(By Dr. Frank Cone in Masonic Review)

The don'test of all don't is: Don't get even.

The greatest of all time-wasting is time wasted on revenge; it is not only a waste of time, but also of gray matter, nerve force, vitality and soul juice and life reserves.

The desire for retaliations is the most dangerous lust that enslaves human beings.

When you want to hurt him who has hurt you, you want something that irritates you while you want it, disappoints you when you get it, and makes you feel mean after it's all over. You can't get through this life without meeting people who injure you. There are those that snub you, those that betray you, those that cheat you, those that envy you, besides all the swarm of spiteful, malicious, weak and venemous human mosquitoes, worms and wasps.

If you stop and chase each of these to punish them, you will have not time for anything else; if you allow yourself to think of them they will poison you until your mind is sour as buttermilk, your sleep ruined, and your hours of leisure turned from contentment to wretchedness. Forget it.

It makes not so much difference whether or not you forgive an offense; the only satisfying thing is to forget it. Go on!

There's too much to do to stop and fight bees. Life's too rich to pauperize it by hate. Let it pass! Go on!

Doubtless your enemy needs a thrashing. But what's that to you? The question is: What do you need? You need peace of mind, poise and contentment; and to keep thinking about him is to upset yourself. When a man wrongs us, let us simply drop him. He's out of our life. Good-bye! There are plenty of others. As far as we are concerned he is an undesirable citizen, and that's all there is to it. Next!

Why redress injuries? They always redress themselves automatically better than we can redress them. We don't realize the self-acting, automatic equalizing efficiency of the spiritual world. It's more actual than any mechanical device. When a man does dirt, he gets dirt, bye-and-bye. Let him alone; why bother!

When Jesus said that about turning the other cheek, He was not talking impossible idealism, but plain sense. The people woh spiritually arrive are the "forgetters."

An injury can grieve us only when we remember. The noblest deed is to forget.

The fellow who thinks the world owes him a living seems unable to find a collector who will take the job on commission.

1935 Bankhead Allotment Made

A statement from the Division of Information of the Department of Agriculture is to the effect that the Secretary of Agriculture has seen fit to establish as the 1935 national Bankhead allotment 10,500,000 bales, 500 pounds net.

The national allotment expressed in terms of 478 pounds net bales is 10,983,263 bales. In calculating the total allotment the carry-over of tax-exemption certificates was estimated to be 700,000 bales.

In the allotment to New Mexico is on the same proportionate basis that it was in 1934, it would be 60,892.8 bales, 500 pounds net, or 63,937.44 bales, 478 pounds net. In pounds, this would amount to an allotment of 31,968,720, which would be an increase to the state of 1,522,320 pounds over the 1934 allotment. Allotted to the counties of New Mexico on the same basis as in 1934, the increase in some cases is hardly noticeable. In the case of Chaves county the increase in allotment would be 231,000 pounds; Dona Ana county would have an increase of 662,000 pounds; and Eddy county would have an increase of 400,000 pounds. While the increase would be proportionate in the other cotton counties of New Mexico, the figures are not impressive when expressed in terms of thousands of pounds.

Announcement also comes that voluntary rentals to the government will be permitted up to 35 per cent of the base history acreage. While some New Mexico producers desired an increase in rental acreage up to 45 per cent of the base acreage, this new figure may be considered as a compromise and as a concession in their favor.

Begins 29th Year as "The Law" In State

LAS CRUCES, N. M., Jan. 23. (UP)—Sheriff Joe Lucero has begun his 29th year as chief outlaw chaser of Dona Ana county, despite the New Mexico law allowing an officer to succeed himself only once.

Ludero circumvented that law by allowing his brother and chief deputy, Felipe Lucero, to run for the office at alternate elections. The name Lucero became symbolical of "the law" in 1900. He served as sheriff without opposition until the state was admitted to the union in 1912. That year he was elected in 1926. Nineteen thirty proved under the new regime.

In 1924 the Lucero and Lucero law enforcing partnership was defeated but regained office in 1926. Nineteen thirty proved to be a Democratic year and Joe Lucero, a staunch Republican, was defeated again. His opponent, Dick Trivis, served four years.

Lucero survived this year's Democratic victory and again is "the law" in Dona Ana county.

"You can prove anything with statistics" says the cynic. Like most cynical remarks it is only half the truth. More nearly true would be the statement: "You can prove anything with statistics to people who do not know anything about statistics." The cynic would doubtless retort that so few people know anything about statistics that it comes to the same thing.

Take death rates. The crude death rate that you see recorded in the vital statistics of the state health department is simply the number of deaths per 1,000 population. Except in census years the population must be estimated. We hope our estimate is near the truth.

Most people will quite boldly draw comparisons between a crude death rate in New Mexico and a crude death rate in another state and say that the state with the lower death rate is more healthy. But the death rate may be made higher one state because that state contains a large proportion of aged citizens in its population. Before death rates of different states are compared they must be "standardized" for age composition. By mathematical adjustment it is possible to determine what the death rates would be if each state had the same proportion of people at each age. This has been done for the years 1929 to 1931 by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company for the white population of all states except Texas. The highest standardized death rates were found in New Mexico (15.6); Arizona (14.9) and Colorado (11.8), and the lowest in South Dakota (7.6). Strangely the death rate for men is higher in Arizona than in New Mexico; but for women and for both sexes together New Mexico leads the list.

There is, however, still another correction which should be applied and that is for residence. How many people die in these health resort states who come here already sick to death from other states or perhaps are accidentally killed while touring here on a vacation? The U. S. Census bureau is promoting a system among the states by which deaths of non-residents may be transferred to the statistics of the home state. As soon as we know how long it takes to make a resident, New Mexico will fall in with this plan.

Claudell Test Is Nearing Pay

Drilling on the T. A. Wilmes No. 1 by the Claudell Development company in the southwest part of the county continues. Through zero weather drillers continued their work, the drill pounding away at near a mile in the bowels of the earth in an effort to release the flow of black gold.

Sunday evening the formation changed from the hard dark brown caprock into gray lime, which indicated that they were nearing the producing sand.

For around 150 feet this hard cap made drilling hard and tedious, requiring many sharpenings of the bit. The well is now at a depth of between 3500 and 3600 feet, and the Glorietta sand is expected at any time.

It is in this formation that the drillers hope for production.

Interest in this well is spreading over several states, and the News is daily receiving inquiries for information as to progress.

The News hopes to be able to report something definite by the next issue of this paper.

PUBLIC HEALTH

Director, New Mexico Bureau of Public Health.
Conducted by Dr. J. R. Earp

BEFORE BIRTH

Many studies of death in motherhood have shown that about half of these deaths are unnecessary. The lives of some 30 or 40 mothers might be saved each year in this state if proper care were given them. But this implies that the mothers must seek advice and seek it in good time.

An xtra strain is put on the kidneys and the heart by child bearing. The urine should be examined regularly therefore all through pregnancy and a complete medical examination given as soon as possible after it is known that a child is to be born. If it is a first baby the doctor will make sure at his first examination that there is plenty of room for the baby to pass through the birth passage.

A specimen of the mother's blood should be taken at the first examination. This is for the baby's sake as much as for her own. If it is found that the mother has syphilis the baby can be protected from this fatal disease. Often the mother can be cured.

The mother will be given advice regarding her diet. If she cannot afford the proper food the relief agencies will come to her aid. It has recently been charged by Lady Barrett in London that some mothers die in childbirth for no other reason than that they have not had enough of the right kind of food. Undoubtedly many babies suffer because their mothers eat a deficient diet at this time. Such things should not happen in America but they will happen if mothers are not under proper medical care before the baby is born.

If the mother lives so far from a doctor that she cannot have medical care at the baby's birth that is all the more reason why she should have medical care beforehand, while she can still travel to town to see the doctor. Then in those few cases where complications are expected she can arrange to enter a hospital. Our

Preservatives Prolong Life of Fence Posts

The ever-increasing problem of providing long-life fence posts is worthy the consideration of the farmer. The durable woods from which posts were commonly made in past years are constantly becoming scarcer and more expensive, and less durable kinds of wood must often be used.

The life of a post depends very largely upon the conditions under which it is used. A post will last much longer in a very wet or a very dry situation than it will when the ground is just damp or alternately wet and dry. It will last longer in a compact clay soil than in a loose, sandy soil; longer in a dry climate or one that has a long cold winter, than in a warm damp climate.

It can be seen that some reasonably cheap method of increasing the life of less durable, cheap, woods will save money for the farmer. For a number of years the U. S. Forest Products Laboratory, Madison, Wis., has been experimenting with the preservation of fence posts, poles and other forms of timber. Its experiments have conclusively proven that when a suitable preservative has been applied, posts and timbers that would ordinarily rot quickly can be made to last from 15 to 30 years.

Decay is caused by certain low forms of plant life called fungi that feed on the wood; it is not caused by chemical action of the soil or fermentation of the sap. The most effective method of preventing decay is to poison the food supply of the fungus, which is the wood. There are six important requirements for a preservative for general use; it must be safe to use, reasonably cheap should penetrate wood readily, should not be corrosive to metal, should not evaporate or wash out of the wood easily, and shoudl be poisonous to fungi.

Coal-tar creosote, which is a brownish-black, heavy oil, practically insoluble in water, is in general use for preserving fence posts and other farm timbers exposed to the weather, and is considered about the most effective preservative against decay so far developed.

Peeled, round posts are preferable to split posts when they are to be creosoted, for the reason that the sap or outer wood can be more readily treated than the heartwood. The heartwood faces on split posts do not, as a rule, absorb the preservative well. Split red oak posts will take treatment in the heartwood well however, because the wood is very porous.

Peeled round posts, 3 or 4 inches in diameter at the top, are strong enough for line posts and are less expensive to treat than larger ones. Only sound posts are worth treating.

Coal-tar creosotes vary considerably in quality, but satisfactory results can be obtained by using any good grade, if a sufficient amount is put into the wood and good penetration secured.

The methods of applying creosote differ greatly as to character, cost, and efectiveness. The most thorough one that is practical on the farm is the so-called hot and cold bath open tank process, in which the posts are put into a tank of hot creosote and left for several hours to drive out the air and than transferred to another tank containing creosote, called the cold bath, in which they are left for one or more hours to absorb the oil. The creosote should penetrate from one half to three quarters of an inch, which will give very good results. Shallower penetrations may have to be accepted when the wood is practicularly resistant to treatment.

FORD PRESENTS

ANOTHER ADVANCE IN TRUCK ENGINEERING

Obtained by mounting front springs ahead of axle and moving V-8 engine forward. This places more load ahead of rear axle, more weight on front end.

THE important fact to remember about the new Ford V-8 Truck for 1935 is not merely that it gives you new money-saving features—but that these features have been added to a truck whose economy, performance, stamina have already been proved.

For 1935, Ford gives you an entirely new development—Forward Load Distribution. This makes possible more uniform tire and brake wear—better brake action—improved operation and wear throughout the truck. In addition, with more space between the cab and rear axle, the 1935 Ford V-8 permits acute angle turns with full-width semi-trailers.

No matter how efficiently you are now doing your hauling, these and the other features of the 1935 Ford V-8 are important advantages to consider. They are matched by no other truck in America today, regardless of price.

Test this new Ford V-8 Truck yourself. Your nearest Ford dealer will let you do this . . . on your own job, under your own load, with your own driver!

No Changes Made In Personnel Of Local Relief Office

The changes in the personnel of the Santa Fe relief office have not affected the personnel of the local relief office, according to last reports.

Seventy-five or 80 applications for farm relief have been received by the local office, according to rehabilitation agent, Mr. Field Thompson. Forty-five of these applications have been approved here but none have been returned with the state approval.

These applications are asking for different amounts to make the coming crops. Some only need seed; however, some are asking to be supplied with teams, farming tools, feed and supplies.

Mr. Thompson feels sure that the help will be received in plenty time for the farmers to make their crops.

It is the plan of the state relief to have all county relief offices under one roof. It has not been determined as to which building will be selected.

ers, revealed the fact that farmers, when given the opportunity, can successfully manage their own credit arrangements. The record made the first year, when 108 loans were made by the local association, for a total amount of $447,113, shows the need for this cooperative credit organization.

Re-payments on loans, collection of interest charges, interest received on capital stock of the association, and other sources of income, brought in a sufficient amount of revenue, during the year, to allow the organization to close the year on the profit side of the ledger, according to reports made at the meeting.

The membership of the association is confined to farmers and stockmen who borrow money for the production of crops and livestock. Funds used are not government money, but are obtained thru the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Wichita, Kan., which sells its debentuers, backed by the notes and mortgages of the farmer, on the private investment market. This draws in huge amounts of outside money to the farms of the community.

The association makes short-term loans for from 3 to 12 months for almost any agricltural production purpose. Interest is only five per cent per year, and is payable when the loan matures. Each loan must be backed by sufficient security, and present a definite repayment program.

Applications are handled in the office of the secretary-teasurer. However, local representatives have been appointed in almost every community, to help farmers in writing applications. The local representatives serving this association are: Tom L. Lawson, Tucumcari; A. J. Irwin, Santa Rosa; John W. Ballow, Portales; R. M. DeOliveria Ft. Sumner.

The program carried out at the meeting was one of the most outstanding of this character ever held in the community.

The local association is supervised by the Production Credit corporation of Wichita, and is one of 42 such organizations set up to serve every county in Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico.

Speakers from the Wichita office declared that the first year has proven the success of the production credit program. Approximately ten million dollars have been secured by farmers and stockmen in the four states. This was divided into about 9,000 separate loans. Total re-payments, in the Wichita district, were shown to be approximately three million dollars. Most of the outstanding loans have not yet matured, indicating a successful collection record.

Farmers at the meeting who have not yet joined the local cooperative organization seem to be interested in the program, and indications are that the local organization will enjoy a greatly increased volume during 1935.

The local association serving this territory embraces five counties, including Quay, Curry, DeBaca, Guadalupe and Roosevelt. The central business office for the district is at Clovis.

Portales Joins Federal Saving Loan Assn.

Wednesday afternoon Mr. Strause of the Federal Saving Loan association, Roy Smith and Fred Dennis of Clovis met with a group of Portales citizens for the purpose of explaining the workings of the association, a branch of which was organized in Clovis last July.

Portales was invited to participate in this association, those who desired subscribing for stock in the ame. Loans will be made up to 60 per cent of appraised value at a simple interest of 7 per cent payable monthly, running over a period of 10 years.

A committee was appointed to discuss the matter, composed of G. W. Carr, chairman; A. D. Ribble, R. G. Bryant, Floyd D. Golden, J. H. Lee and J. G. Greaves.

Committee reported favorably and recommended that Portales join in this association, and be allowed two directors of the board, one member on the board of appraisers. Work of organizing with this association is now under way.

The death angel visited our community on January 15, 1935 and took from us our beloved Anne Susie as she is known was born April 17, 1860. She was 75 years nine month old. She was a daughter of H. J. Bilberry and wife, was born in Tennessee. She was converted in early girlhood and united with church. She was married to Rev. C. S. Bilberry Feb. 24, 1876. There were born to this union nine children, seven living. All present at mother's death.

She has been a resident of this community since 1910. Been one of the faithful of church since that time. All her children were converted early in life. Rev. W. C. Grant preached the funeral sermon. She leaves a host of loved ones and friends to mourn her passing, but her last is her eternal gain. She has our brothers and two sisters.

Home Made Equipment For Slaughtering Hog

A 235-pound moderately fat hog produces "family" size cuts of pork according to W. L. Black of the New Mexico State college.

Such hogs will yield hams and three-rib shoulders weighing about 16 pounds each, bacon strips and loins of about 10 to 12 pounds. These cuts are of desirable size to cure and store after smoking. Heavier hogs normally produce a greater proportion of lard.

Simple home-made hog killing equipment removes much of the hard work from dressing hogs at home and makes it possible to clean the carcasses thoroughly. The equipment shown in the attached drawing consists primarily of a hoist for sticking, a metal or metal bottomed scalding tub which can he heated by a fire beneath, and a timber dressing rail. Hogs bleed more thoroughly when stuck without being shot and the hoist makes it possible to rope a leg and hoist the animal with a block and tackle. A 12-foot hoist made from two 16-foot poles sunk four feet in the ground will need but slight bracing.

The double home-made dressing rail shown in the drawing was designed by the Mississippi Extension service and can be extended to any length desired. Starting the dressing rail immediately above the scraping bench gives only a 4½-foot lift when the gambreled hog is raised from the bench to the rail.

The most valuable part of the unit is the fire heated scalding tub. With this arrangement, more fire or the addition of cold water makes it possible to keep the temperature of the water between 140 and 145 Fahrenheit. This slow-soaking scald makes scraping easier and makes it possible to clean the heads, feet, and skin thoroughly so that all portions of the carcass will be available for food.

This unit will handle from 6 to 10 hogs an hour. Operated by several neighbors or a community, it would be possible not only to compare the quality of hogs produced in various herds, but would also permit the employment of expert veterinary inspection of the carcasses for disease and parasites.

"Don't Quote Me"
By United Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. (UP)—James H. McIntosh, dignified and immaculate counsel for the Bankers Trust Co., probably will remember his appearance before the U. S. supreme court to the end of his days.

He will remember it not because of the eloquence of his argument that holders of gold clause bonds should be paid off in gold, nor because it was a maiden appearence in those August chambers.

Not even will he remember it because of the dramatic importance of the gold case.

McIntosh is going to remember the day because of his false teeth.

The attorney was reaching the high point of his argument. He stood before the nine solemn justices whose word is the final law of the land.

"And furthermore," said McIntosh, "I wish to point out—" His voice faltered. Spectators (and the justices) clearly heard a thud on the baize-covered reading desk before him.

McIntosh heard the thud too and his eyes dropped to the desk. A glaze of horror came over his face as with a quick movement he picked up his upper plate and tucked it back into his mouth. Then he glanced at the justices. By not the flicker of an eyelash did they indicate they had even noticed.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace is not concerned by the excitement caused by revelation that th agriculture department bud get provides for a mere $1,500 official automobile compared with $4 000 for Secretary of State Cordell Hull's new car.

The reason Wallace isn't exercised arises from the fact that he has a brand new Limousine, sleek and shiny, bought just a few months ago out of a previous appropriation. The $1,500 supposed for his car actually was asked for a machine for the forestry service.

Visitors with jittery nerves and easily upset stomaches had best arrange to meet Director J. Edgar Hoover of the justice department investigation division out in the corridor next time they go to see him.

For in the center of Hoover's suave, ultra-modern reception room with its soft blue carpet, soft blue leather chairs and gleaming chromium trim is a glass show case.

There in the center of the case where all eyes are inevitably attracted lies John Dillinger's head.

Not really John Dillinger's head, of course, but enough like it to give the unwary caller something of a shock. Actually it's John Dillinger's death mask and has the place of honor in Hoover's collection of public enemy curios.

The mask is pure white plaster. The eyes are shut, the face in repose with just a hint of a smile about the lips. The moustache is well trimmed. It looks like the face of some small haderdasher's clerk. On one side of the face there is the impression of a small round hole. This was made by a bullet, one of those with which Hoover's men ended the outlaw's career.

Hoover is very proud of the display. He had the death mask made up specially as the crowning featuer of his museum.

Wait until Rep. George H. Tinkham, R., Mass., and Rep. Hamilton Fish, R., N. Y., see the new uniforms of the waiters in the senate restaurant. Tinkham is the man who wants to sever diplomatic relations with Russia and Fish is famous for his attacks on communists.

The white jackets of the senate waiters are boldly embiasoned with the initials "U. S. S. R." They stand for United States Senate Restaurant—not Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

Albuquerque, N. M.—Two flat cars on the Santa Fe branch line near Tyrone, N. M., broke away from control and sped 15 miles downgrade to Burro Mountain Junction recently. There they crashed into parked freight cars. No one was injured in the accident. The brakeman jumped off the cars after he saw he had lost control.

Gallup, N. M.—A shrewd old Navajo squaw is a bit distrustful of the New Deal, particularly, as he admits, of the latest plan to burn all old Navajos. It all came about this way. When a United States fieldman counted her goats and sheep a year ago, he told her that they were to be bought by and killed by the government in a range control program. Then she heard about the old age pension plan of the government. So, when a census take rarrived at her home near Chin Lee, she was rather reticent. Finally, she admitted that she didn't approve of the plan of gathering up old Navajos and burn them. A long explanation of her unfounded fears did no good.

Gallup, N. M.—A smoking "push-o-moter" has been seen lately on Gallup's avenues. A steel lime barrel, in which a real fire is kindled to belch forth impressive black smoke, makes its fire box and boiler. The stack is represented by a length of stove pipe and a blackened coffee can does for a steam dome. The cab is realistically made of good. There are six wheels. Engineer Gasparich, 12, drives and Fireman No. 1 Schauer, 13, sits beside him, while Fireman No. 2 Speicher, 11, furnishes the steam power.

New Spring Suspension

Front and rear springs of the 1935 Ford have been made softer and more flexible.

By an improved suspension of the time-proved transverse springs, spring-base and the length of the front spring have been greatly increased.

This gives both longer and wider base for spring action and greatly increases smoothness of riding.

SPRINGS ARE USED ONLY TO ABSORB ROAD SHOCKS

New X Type frame is lower, stronger, more rigid, adding further to stability and safety.

Federal Housing Act Will Aid All Home Owners

The Federal Housing act can be a boon to the Portales residents renting rooms to college students.

Through taking advantage of the provisions of the act, those homeowners keeping students may appreciably improve the conditions provided for the student. Rooms can be added to the homes, rooms can be improved, more desirable reception facilities can be developd and many other items improved to make the housing of the student body of the Eastern New Mexico Junior college more satisfactorily.

The present approving plan for homes for students lists several rules that are affected by the Housing act. Some of these rules are:

1. There must be a reception room provided in each home where the visitors of students may be entertained.

2. Kitchens, dining rooms and living rooms shall not be rented to students for sleeping quarters.

3. Rooms shall not be rented to students where over eight persons use the same abth and toilet.

4. There shall not be more than two students living in the same room except with the consent of the college authorities.

Homes to be approved for the summer term and the fall term of the college must show that the list of regulations are being met or that with improvements the regulations are being met or that with improvements will be met prior to the opening of the summer term.

With the anticipated increase in enrollment of the college for another year, more homes will of necessity need opening to students. The Federal Housing act permits and makes it possible for all homeowners to alter, enlarge or improve their homes so as to aid the housing of the college students.

Mrs. J. O. Creighton received a message Monday morning stating her father at San Angelo was seriously ill. He had been in ill health since 1918. Mr. and Mrs. Creighton left immediately for San Angelo.

Sweet Potatoes Shipped by Truck

No sweet potatoes have been shipped by rail from the houses of the Portales Sweet Potato association, however, a number are being handled by trucks, according to a statement from Lewis A. Little manager.

From information that is being obtained from the smaller farms of the Portales Valley, their crops are almost marketed. Some of the farmers have already sold their sweet potatoes.

Indications are that the Louisiana crop is getting low. They were estimated to be some greater than the one of last year However, it is reported that 200 more cars have been sold this year than last.

Mr. Little thinks the demand for sweet potatoes will increase enough within the next few days so that local farmers can realise enough out of their potatoes to make a reasonable profit.

Mrs. J. B. King is leaving for er home at Slaton, Texas, after a visit in the J. G. Greaves home since the holidays.
