The National Aeronautics and Space Administration hopes to learn July 31 just how cold it is on Mars.

That is the first date on which the first of two spacecraft is scheduled to fly by Mars at the nearest approach altitude of 2,000 miles. The other craft is due to hit the 2,000-mile mark on Aug. 5.

NASA says the infrared radiometers aboard both Mariner 69 spacecraft should provide some important answers to the question of the temperature of Mars. The small, delicate instruments, coordinating with the TV cameras, will measure the thermal radiation (heat of the Martian surface from South Pole to well north of the Equator, and on the night side as well as the sunlit side of the planet).

The instruments are designed to measure temperatures from 270 degrees below zero to 80 degrees above zero, F. But they are not expecting any readings above freezing on Mars.

The closest to Mars any other U.S. spacecraft has been was 6,100 miles in 1964.

This time, television pictures will show each area simultaneously with the temperature recordings, both of which will be transmitted back to Earth immediately.

Now, if they could just locate and transmit back a cure for the common cold. . .

Transportation is getting a lot of attention at all levels of government these days, and it is apparent that the federal government is worried about mass transit facilities and their relation to national defense. Now that scores of passenger trains have been dropped by railroads, how would great numbers of people be transported from one place to another in this country if suddenly there was a curtailing of air and highway travel?

Recent materials on both sides of the issue reaching the newspaper office indicate that the federal government may at least partially subsidize some rail passenger service and-or equipment.

Another factor that is bound to get some attention, although it may not be significant, is that some of the Post Office Department's biggest troubles concerning moving mail became apparent simultaneously with cancelation of railway mail contracts.

Subsidies are not popular, but rail officials, who often are asked why the U.S. can't have rail service like Japan or European countries, quickly remind that the railroads of the United States and one line in Canada are the only ones in the world operating today without direct subsidies. Court Martial Asked In Pueblo Incident

By BOB HORTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy Secretary John H. Chafee said today the court of inquiry into the Pueblo incident recommended general court martial for the intelligence ship's captain, Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher, and one of his chief assistants but "I have decided that no disciplinary action will be taken against any of the personnel involved. . ."

Chafee's disclosure came in a six and a half-page report on the exhaustive court of inquiry probe into the ship's takeover by North Korea on Jan. 23, 1968.

In overruling the court's recommendation for court martials of Bucher and Lt. Stephen R. Harris, Chafee said: "They have suffered enough, and further punishment would not be justified."

Harris was the officer in charge of the research detachment aboard the Pueblo, which was conducting an electronic eavesdropping mission off North Korea when she was seized.

Chafee reported these recommendations had been made by the court of inquiry:

—That Bucher be tried by general court martial for five alleged offenses including permitting his ship to be searched while he had the power to resist, failing to take protective measures during the attack, complying with North Korean orders to follow them into port, "negligently failing" to destroy all classified material on the ship, and "negligently failing" to see that his crew was fairly skilled in procedures for destroying classified material.

—That Harris be tried by general court martial "for three alleged offenses of dereliction in performance of his duties," mainly dealing with the lack of ability and readiness on the part of the research detachment to be able to destroy all classified materials during an emergency.

—That Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr., executive officer of the Pueblo, be given a letter of admonition for failing "to organize and lead the crew on the day of the seizure especially in the ship's major internal task of emergency destruction of classified material."

—That letters of reprimand be given to Rear Adm. Frank L. Johnson, commander of naval forces in Japan and Capt. Everett B. Gladding, now retired.

While Chafee praised "the completely objective approach" of the court of inquiry, he noted that Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chief of naval operations, as well as the commander in chief of the U.S. Pacific Fleet both "declined to accept" the panel's recommendations for general court martials of Bucher and Harris.

Said Chafee:

"I make no judgment regarding the guilt or innocence of any of the officers of the offenses alleged against them."

He said such a judgment would require further legal proceedings such as trial by court martial.

"I am convinced, however, that neither individual discipline, nor the state of discipline or morale in the Navy, nor any other interest requires furth r legal proceedings with respect to any personnel involved in the Pueblo incident."

Tax Writers Pick Combination Plan

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — House tax writers have settled on a combination of cigarette, sales and corporation taxes totaling about $208 million for use if a tax bill is needed this year, legislative sources said today.

"If that's the way they want to do it, that's all right with me," said Gov. Preston Smith about a proposed 5 per cent "surcharge" on corporation's federal income taxes.

Smith said Speaker Gus Mutscher showed him the tax proposals last week.

Mutscher confirmed that the corporate tax, which he calls a "corporation gains tax" is "one of the items under serious consideration," but other sources said a tax bill has already been prepared containing the $90 million item.

House Tax Committee Chairman Ben Atwell of Dallas said other elements in the Mutscher tax package are a 4 cents per pack cigarette tax increase and inclusion of such services as repairs, laundry and dry cleaning under the 3 per cent state sales tax. The cigarette tax increase would bring in $70 million over the next two years, the services tax about $48 million, Atwell estimated.

Mutscher and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes held another meeting today with Gov. Preston Smith, whom they are trying to convince of the wisdom of a one-year appropriations bill that would postpone new taxes until 1970.

Barnes said there is "just one factor" involved in the one-year budget issue: "That is whether we are going to have a tax bill in 1969."

The speaker said if he decides to go along with Smith's wishes for the traditional two-year budget, a tax bill probably would be reported out of Atwell's committee Thursday. The House would stay in session Friday—and Saturday, if need be—to work on it, he added.

"If we lay out a tax bill, it won't be a small one. It would cover our appropriations bill, the teacher pay raise and the difference between the house and senate bills. And that's a $100 million difference," Mutscher said.

"I am still convinced we can draw a progressive one-year bill without the need for a tax bill. I think the people would appreciate a breathing spell without being faced with a new tax bill," Mutscher said.

Local Chapters Are Called Cancer Society 'Backbone'

Local chapters are the "backbone" of the American Cancer Society, according to Curt Reimann of Austin, executive vice president for the Texas Disision, ACS. He spoke yesterday at a noon luncheon meeting of the board of directors of the Scurry Chapter, held in the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

"Your continued interest is the most important thing to us," Reimann said, pointing out that in order for work on the local level to be effective it must have a "feeling of continuity."

The state official discussed some of the problems of the American Cancer Society, observing that better communications are needed between local and state levels. He said if present plans are put into effect the state will be divided into five districts. He suggested this would make it possible for local chapter workers to participate in area crusade. Such experience would give them a better idea of the problems encountered on the state level, it was stated.

Reiman said more can be accomplished when local volunteers make the best possible use of their time. For instance, he suggested recruiting volunteers for committee work several weeks or months ahead of time. That way, efforts to secure local committeemen are not hampered by the "last minute rush."

Reimann said the Society must learn how to benefit from past mistakes. Concerning other state problems, he said efforts on the educational front could improve the number of persons who survive cancer from one out of three to two out of three. The state official also pointed out that 4½ million more dollars were needed for research last year. Inflation is a problem with the ACS as it is in other areas of operation.

New officers were elected by acclamation. They include Kathryn Dodson, president; E. T. (Pat) Patterson, vice president; Mrs. Travis Rhoades, secretary; and, Hubert Cargile, treasurer. Mrs. Dodson and Patterson were re-elected.

Committee chairmen gave reports on their work. Herman Trigg, chairman of the public education committee, reminded that the goal of his committee is to "save lives" through early diagnosis and prompt treatment. He said 15,500 persons were reached by this committee last year.

Mrs. Frank Wilson, chairman of the service committee, told of current work with patients and families of patients. Others who spoke briefly were Virginia Clark, chairman of the publicity committee, and Dr. Carl Dillaha.

Pat Patterson, campaign chairman, and John Thomas, crusade chairman, both expressed appreciation for the support given the Snyder Chapter by local persons. The goal this year is $4,500. The house-to-house camaign has netted about $900. County contributions total about $1,100 with a goal of $1,500. Some $250 have been collected towards the business division goal of $1,100. The special gifts goal of $900 already has been reached.

Group leaders for the house-to-house campaign were Mrs. Mary Thompson, Mrs. Ray Costello and Mrs. Hoyle Holladay. Local organizations who helped with the canvass include the Ladies Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 8231, Sheriff's Posse, Lucky 13, Iota Psi chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, Art Guild Study Club, Beta Sigma Phi, Gay 20's, Jaycee-ettes, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, Scurry County Association for Mentally Retarded Children, and the Humble-Smith School for Exceptional Children.

Banquet For Teachers Set

Presentation of service awards and a performance of the Snyder High School Darma Department's one-act play selection of 1969 will highlight the annual banquet tonight of the local unit of the Texas State Teachers Association and the Snyder Classroom Teachers Association.

The banquet will begin at 7 p.m. in the SHS cafeteria. Following the presentation of service pins and awards, the group will move to the SHS auditorium where the drama pupils of Jerry Worsham will present "A Man For All Seasons," the play they staged this year in University Interscholastic League competition.

During the awards presentation recognition will go to eight persons who are retiring this year from positions in the school system. Also to be presented are a 30-year service pin, nine 20-year service pins and twenty-two 10-year service pins.

No Mail Pick-Up Sundays, Holidays

Beginning Sunday, May 11, there will be no pick-up of mail from street letter boxes in Snyder on Sundays and holidays, Postmaster H. D. Moreland has announced.

All outgoing mail on those days should be dropped in the out-of-town drive-in box at the post office: It will be picked up there and carried to Abilene for processing. There will be no more processing of outgoing mail on Sundays and holidays at the Snyder Post Office.

Area Logs More Rains

More rains fell this morning in the Snyder area, as most of Texas continued to have stormy weather.

A thunderstorm, which included brilliant lightning and rolling thunder, dumped .44 of an inch of moisture on Snyder between 6 a.m. and 7 a.m. and intermittent drizzle continued into the later morning hours.

Another inch of rain fell at Lake J. B. Thomas. However, there was still little runoff at the lake. The elevation had increased by about .14 of a foot since yesterday as the Colorado River was reported running a stream about 15 inches deep into the lake. There had been no runoff through the Bull Creek channel.

Heavy showers had been reported in some western and northwestern areas of Borden County and into Dawson County. It was not known how much had fallen on the river's watershed, but in any event it would require it several hours to reach the lake.

14 Jaycees To Parley

Fourteen Snyder Jaycees are planning to attend the Jaycees State Convention May 8-10 in San Antonio, according to reports at the club's Monday night meeting. This will be the largest delegation ever to attend the convention from Snyder. President elect Bob Harlin outlined plans for the group's attendance and reported on Jaycee projects underway and those planned for the near future.

Ken Aldridge reported that the Jaycee petitions had been presented to the Commissioners' Court at its Monday meeting, but no action was taken by the court. There were 600 signatures on the court house-jail petition and 400 signatures on the museum - cultural center petition.

Clouds Spawn More Funnels

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One tornado after another popped up as fierce thunderstorms boiled across a wide expanse of West Texas during the night and early morning.

State police and the Weather Bureau reported at least a dozen funnel clouds appeared in open country. There was no word of any causing property damage, although hail as big as baseballs bombarded some areas.

Even more twisters were sighted just across the state line in Eastern New Mexico.

The turbulence kept official observers issuing repeated warnings. One of the latest, a severe thunderstorm watch in force until 7 a.m. today, covered 40 counties in a 140-mile wide sector centering on a line from Lubbock to 60 miles southwest of Del Rio.

An earlier alert against possible tornadoes affected 55 counties from Dalhart to Midland.

Storms started developing in West Texas near the end of a day which also saw heavy rains, hail and possible tornadoes scattered through South Central and Southeast Texas. Some of the downpours measured more than six inches.

State police told of watching six tornado funnels writhe toward the earth as they watched a giant thundercloud over lightly populated Martin County, between Midland and Lamesa.

Southwest of Andrews, in the next county west from Martin, observers saw a big tornado dip down and bound along the ground in three giant leaps and a smaller twister hit a few miles distant. Within 30 minutes three inches of rain descended as hail up to the size of baseballs battered the countryside.

Viet Reds Muster Heavy New Attack

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops struck back today at the massive American air and ground campaign along the Cambodian frontier but failed to overrun an American patrol base in the heaviest attack since the border war flared anew more than two months ago.

Troops of the North Vietnamese 1st Division also made rocket and mortar attacks on two other American bases within a 20-mile radius. The U.S. Command said at least 119 of the enemy were killed and 29 others surrendered.

The American defenders from the 1st Air Cavalry Division reported 13 of their men killed and at least 87 wounded.

In the heaviest attack, about 900 enemy troops stormed out of the bamboo jungles about 2 a.m. behind a mortar barrage and assaulted a patrol base named Carolyn from three sides.

The base in War Zone C, 65 miles northwest of Saigon, was defended by 300 Air Cavalrymen with 12 artillery guns. The North Vietnamese finally fled to the north just before dawn, driven off by the Air Cavalrymen, artillery guns firing at point-blank range, helicopter gunships firing rockets and fighter-bombers.

DEAR ABBY: Can you help me find a position as live-in housekeeper or mother's helper? It must be a modern home in the most desirable section of the city. (No remote, country or farm locations, please.) The father must be between 40 and 50, no older. And he must be at least 6 feet tall as I am a well-proportioned 5 ft. 8 and do not feel comfortable with shorter men around me.

I am well-dressed, attractive and well-groomed. Enjoy good music, dancing, and outdoor sports. I am 35 years old and in excelent health and can furnish character references.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding your reply to the lady who complained because her "Rebecca" was called "Becky."

True, "Rebecca" is a fine old Biblical name, but I'll wager that the Biblical Rebecca was called "Becky," even as Joseph was undoubtedly called "Joe," Peter, "Pete," and I'm sure close friends of Moses called him Moe."

DEAR GEORGE: If there is any evidence that "nicknames" nicked our Biblical characters, I have yet to come upon it. But I will wager that if there is any, one of my readers will provide me with it quicker than I can say "Abe" for Abraham.

DEAR ABBY: As a welfare mother, I am tired of hearing all welfare mothers judged by a few rotten apples. (Those who sleep with men, booze it up, and have one illegitimate child after another to pick up the welfare check.)

Prior to going on welfare, I worked full time. Then I was advised by my child's doctor to stay home with my child as she was already upset enough by Daddy's "sudden disappearance."

Abby, there are many welfare mothers like myself who do not drink and run with men, but stay home and raise their children, because they realize the importance of a mother's guidance during the children's formative years. Guidance which we never had because we ourselves came from broken homes.

Granted there are bad welfare mothers, just as there are bad mothers among the taxpayers. Mothers who spend their days having affairs with other men while their husbands are out working to support them, so perhaps the taxpayers should stop slinging dirt and get the rake going in their own backyards.

And if I am one who is taking your tax dollars, please stop by so I can kiss your feet because it is YOU, the taxpayer, who is making it possible for me to be the kind of mother I always wanted and never had. "ON A.D.C." IN LYNN, MASS.

A&M Vows To Yield To No Threats

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The Texas A&M University Board of Directors told a group of Negro protesters Monday it would not consider or tolerate changes "thrust upon this institution under the ugly veil of threat or demand."

The board issued the statement following a special called meeting at Dallas, after 15 Negroes marched into A&M President Earl Rudder's office Friday with a list of demands ranging from the hiring of a black counselor to recruiting black athletes.

The board's statement said in part:

"The doors of Texas A&M University have been, and will continue to be, open for orderly, constructive change as recommended by anyone with noble purpose.

"But change which would disrupt due academic processes—and thrust upon this Institution under the ugly veil of threat or demand—will not be considered or tolerated."

The Negroes refused to identify themselves and signed the list only as "Afro-American Society." They stated if the demands were not carried out by Sept. 3, 1969, the society would take appropriate action.

Other demands on the list included:

—Recognition of the society as an on-campus organization.

—An investigation into recruiting practices of athletic director and head football coach Gene Stallings.

Miss Bryce Initiated At LCC

Lubbock Christian College speech students have been involved in two meets recently both sponsored by the Texas Junior College Speech and Theatre Association.

Loretta Bryce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester C. Bryce, 108 Chestnut, Snyder, performed in women's extemporaneous and received a 3rd in the preliminary judging.

Miss Bryce was also recently initiated into Phi Theta Kappa, National Scholastic Fraternity for Junior Colleges. The fraternity is for students of high academic standing and exemplary character. To be a member, freshmen must maintain a 3.7 academic average and sophomores must maintain a 3.5 academic average.

Out of the 22 students at LCC eligible, 19 joined. Miss Bryce is a speech therapy major.

Cotton fabrics are ideal sewing choices for the popular shirtwaist dress. Easy to sew and comfortable to wear, the classic shirtwaist is suitable for all ages and sizes. For a dressy version, choose fabrics like cotton organdy or romantic cotton lace. For sporty looks, make up the shirtwaist in cotton oxford cloth or printed sailcloth.

The boll weevil causes 90 percent of insect damage to cotton.

Newest in "pretty but practical" fabrics is a bonded cotton lace that is machine-washable. Available in a wide range of colors, the lace is bonded to batiste.

Sewing with cool, summery fabrics like cotton voile, dotted swiss or cotton eyelet, calls for a little extra care with seams. They should be as invisible as possible, neat and narrow. The French seam is the best choice. Check sewing books for exact instructions for stitching this seam.

MUTUAL LETTER STOCK

Another SEC Hot Potato

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In the portfolios of some mutual funds that show strong performance records is a type of security called letter stock. It cannot readily be sold for two or three years after purchase.

Mutual funds, nevertheless, like to publicize the marketability of their own shares. When its customers wish to redeem their holdings, the funds stand ready to pay them in cash. Proudly they give this assurance.

The cash for redemptions often is on hand, for mutual funds usually keep a percentage of their assets liquid, but if redemptions are heavy they may have to raise the cash by selling some of their own investments.

If too many of these investments are in letter stock a fund could find itself in a bind. It might not be able to pay off as advertised, for its letter stock cannot be converted to cash quickly enough.

This is one of the criticisms now being made against some funds from both within and outside the industry. And sooner or later this criticism may present the Securities and Exchange Commission with serious questions to be resolved.

Among the more outspoken critics is Oscar Lasdon, senior editor of the Bankers Magazine. "At long last," he says, "the SEC should be prepared to remedy the situation by outlawing further purchases of letter stock."

He and others are worried also about the manner in which funds value their letter stock. Since this stock cannot readily be sold, how is it possible, they ask, for a fund to assign a value to it?

Nevertheless, funds assign values to such stock, and some even place upon it a per-share valuation approaching that of the company's common stock, which can be traded.

This procedure serves a valuable purpose in this age of performance, in which funds vie with each other always to show the greatest growth in the value of the shares in which they invest their money.

Why? Because letter stock sells at a big discount, as much as 50 per cent in some instances. By arbitrarily assigning a much higher value to the letter stock it has purchased, a fund automatically shows performance.

This controversial security gets its name from a letter of agreement signed by seller and purchaser that limits the purchaser's ability to sell the stock.

The restriction is to emphasize the letter stock's role as an investment rather than a trading vehicle. And, since the stock is not to be traded to the public, the issuing company need not register it.

Generally speaking, the registration procedures are meant to protect the public by requiring the issuing company to disclose pertinent financial data upon which the public makes investment decisions.

Since letter stock is not to be distributed to the general public, but held only by "sophisticated" investors, no registration is required.

However, even if the mutual funds adhere to these limitations in purchasing this type of stock, some critics argue that they have effectively sidestepped the Securities Act of 1933 which was designed to protect the public.

The critics ask this question: "In purchasing letter stock and maintaining it in their portfolios, aren't mutual funds in effect distributing this stock to the rank-and-file public without having to meet the rigid tests called for in the securities laws?"

With the industry divided on the matter, and with the potential dangers growing, it looks as if the SEC has another hot potato.

Is Money Becoming Extinct?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Let us sing a dirge today for money. It appears to be going the way of the dodo.

In another generation it may become extinct.

There was a time, and not too long ago, when the three most respected things in America were motherhood, the flag and the almighty dollar.

The surest way to show you were a person of importance was to carry in your back pocket a bankroll big enough to choke an ox. Pretenders to wealth carried what became known as "Philadelphia bankroll"—one $5 bill wrapped around 20 $1 bills to give an impression of bulky affluence.

Today a well-to-do man rarely carries around a bankroll big enough to make a mouse gag. Anyone who flashes large bills is regarded as a crude and illiterate showoff, more to be laughed at pityingly than censured.

Money simply isn't money any more. A penny, once the bright shrine of childhood, is simply a nuisance, useful only in paying nuisance sales taxes, the bane of the present day.

Other coins have been similarly downgraded. The half dollar piece has practically disappeared from circulation, and you can go weeks or months without seeing one.

Dimes and nickels haven't much purpose now except to be shoved into machines that dispense coffee or candy bars. The quarter has suffered the most dismal fate of all. You can hardly tell one from a nickel, and it will hardly even buy what a nickel did at one time.

Worst of all is what has happened to the almighty dollar. It seems to be stricken by an incurable pernicious anemia, and its strength visibly ebbs year by year. About all you can buy for one is a shoeshine and a thin magazine.

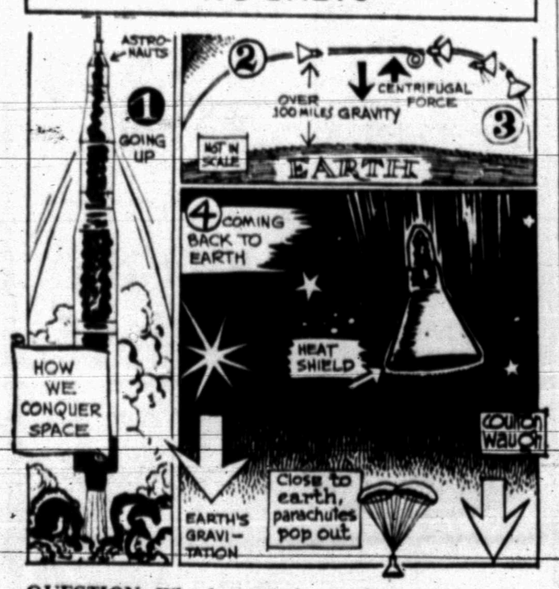

Yes, let us sing a sad song today for what has happened to money. It has fallen upon evil, evil times. Purchase a suit in a department store and offer to pay for it with cash, and the salesman stares down his nose at you as if you were a hermit or an uncouth pariah. He takes the cash in his reluctant fingers as if it were infected and would soil him.

Money has been replaced by the charge account, the checkbook and the credit card. A man's status today depends upon the number of credit cards he carries in his wallet; if he has fewer than three you can figure he is probably receiving public assistance of some kind.

Of course, here and there some recalcitrant fuddy-duddies are still saving money, hoarding it in baskets in the basement or hiding it in crotch holes in backyard elm trees. They think that money, like the South, will rise again.

But if you want to prove you're with the "in" crowd, you'll take any old money you have left lying around the house, buy a money shredding machine, turn it into scrap paper and throw it down the incinerator. Otherwise, you may be regarded as a hopeless old stick-in-the mud who is giving the neighborhood a bad name.

Junior Editors Quiz on ROCKETS

QUESTION: Why does a rocket need more fuel going up and coming down than when in orbit?

ANSWER: The huge rockets (1) which put astronauts into orbit around the earth must have tremendous power to overcome gravity and build up necessary speed. The rockets are large because so much fuel must be used. As it thunders up, various stages of the rocket fire their engines and drop away, leaving only the little cone at the very top to continue the flight. This is the part which contains the astronauts and which circle the earth. For a capsule to orbit, it must be above 100 miles up and be traveling at least 18,000 miles an hour (2). Such speed gives it centrifugal force, making it spin outwards, thus balancing gravity, which tends to pull it down. The capsule does not need fuel to keep up this speed, which results from the final push of the rocket. In space, there is no air to slow an object once it is in motion. To come down, the capsule fires pitch and yaw jets to turn itself around and retrorockets to slow its speed, slanting it toward the earth (3). Coming down (4), little fuel is needed, since gravity is pulling the capsule down and air friction is slowing it up.

Boston Sinks Lakers Again

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The tinues in the National Basket- reign of the Boston Celtics con- ball Associafion and frustration remained the key word for the Los Angeles Lakers today.

The well-balanced Celtics defeated the Lakers, 108-106, in the seventh and deciding game of the series Monday night. They did it on the friendly home court of the Lakers at the Forum before a record Forum crowd of 17,568.

It marked the 11th time in the past 13 years that Boston carried off the NBA championship, and the sixth time the Lakers came up short against Boston.

Capt. Elgin Baylor of the Lakers summed it up very well when he said, "It becomes very discouraging, the way Boston seems to tantalize us and then always come through in the clutch. They outplayed us in the third quarter and took the game away from us."

Player-coach Bill Russell of the winners, having made this his 11th winning season, took it all calmly—but happily.

"Comradeship, friendship, teamwork—that is the Celtics," said Russell.

Boston's John Havlicek put his team in front in the opening seconds and the Celtics were never behind from there on. Los Angeles tied it at 2-2 and then 4-4 on shots by Jerry West and Wilt Chamberlain.

Boston led by as much as 14 points in the first quarter but Los Angeles kept clawing back and trailed by only 59-56 at the half.

One minute 50 seconds into the third period Keith Erickson's free throw tied it up at 60-60 and it appeared the Lakers might roll on.

The hope evaporated as Havlicek, Don Nelson and Sam Jones, the latter playing his final game, put 11 points on the scoreboard in a matter of minutes and cruised out in front, 71-60.

"I think the turning point came at this point," said Havlicek. "They came on strong but we put together 10 or 15 points."

Going into the fourth quarter, it was Boston, 91-76.

"We had opportunities all over the place," said Laker coach Bill van Breda Kolff, "but we just couldn't do it. I really thought we had a chance to win it in the beginning of the third period because we were getting good shots, but the game just turned around instead. The ball just appeared to bounce their way."

But the Lakers weren't dead as ol' Sam Jones said later. "They just kept coming back."

West, apparently not bothered by a pulled hamstring in his left leg, accounted for 14 points in about five minutes to narrow the Celtic margin to 103-100.

But Larry Siegfried, Nelson and the awesome Havlicek stormed back to put the game really out of reach, 108-102, with less than 24 seconds remaining.

West won the Sport Magazine award—a Dodge R-T car — as the outstanding player of the series. His 556 points in the prolonged NBA playoffs bettered the 521 set by Rick Barry, then of San Francisco's Warriors, three years ago.

Said West, "The award should have gone to a player on the winning team."

The consensus: Havlicek.

Pro Grid Owners To Try Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Efforts will be resumed Thursday by professional football's 26 club owners to draw up a realignment formula for 1970.

The owners failed to reach agreement last week during a joint four-day meeting of the American and National Football Leagues. The meetings were recessed Friday.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle said at that time he hoped a final solution to the realignment problems resulting from the AFL-NFL merger could be worked out at the next meeting.

Stars Sign Simmie

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Simmie Hill of West Texas State, the No. 1 draft choice of the Los Angeles Stars, signed a contract with the American Basketball Association team today.

Hill, 6 feet 7 and 220 pounds, was also the No. 2 pick of the Chicago Bulls of the National Basketball Asssociation.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Cub Tilt Re-Set Here Thursday

The baseball tilt scheduled between Snyder's Tigers and Brownfield's Cubs here today has been postponed until 4 p.m. Thursday. It will be played on the Towle Park diamond.

Brownfield will host Snyder the following Tuesday at 4 p.m. on the Cub field. Brownfield also has another tilt scheduled next Saturday when the Cubs host Levelland. Brownfield would have to win all three tilts to become district champions.

Coach Speedy Moffett's Bengals, on the other hand, can sack up the 3-AAA crown with a victory either here Thursday or at Brownfield the following Tuesday. If the Tigers lose both and Brownfield also loses to Levelland, then the Cubs and Tigers would be tied for the title.

Retzlaff Takes Eagle Reins, Wants Williams For Coach

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pete Retzlaff, one of the all-time great pass receivers in National Football League history, is the new vice president and general manager of the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Eagles make it official at a news conference at 11 a.m., EDT, today.

The 37-year-old Retzlaff succeeds the recently fired Joe Kuharich as general manager.

His first job will be to name Kuharich's successor as coach, expected to be Jerry Williams, a one-time Eagles' star now coaching Calgary in the Canadian Football League, or Charley Gauer, a former Eagles' assistant coach.

Kuharich's 10 years remaining on a 15-year contract as general manager-coach, were bought out by new Eagles' owner Leonard Tose, Norristown, Pa. trucking executive.

Tose, who purchased the Eagles last week from Jerry Wolman for $16,155,000 is turning full operation of the Eagles over to Retzlaff, the former tight end.

The Associated Press learned Retzlaff favors Williams for the coaching job, but Calgary's board of directors has refused the Eagles permission to talk to Williams.

The board says Williams should abide by his four-year contract and remain with the Stampeders.

If Retzlaff is unable to get Williams, the prime candidate for the position is Gauer, an offensive coach with the Eagles' 1960 title team.

A two-way end for the Eagles for three years after graduating from Colgate in 1942, Gauer returned as an assistant coach in 1954 and remained through 1963.

Retzlaff has been a television sportscaster here since retiring as a player two years ago.

Retzlaff was purchased by the Eagles in 1956 for the then $100 waiver price from the Detroit Lions.

He was a fullback at South Dakota State College before being drafted by the Lions, who converted him into an end.

He went on to become one of the best pass receivers in league history, an All-NFL selection before quitting in 1967.

Williams, 45, paired with Gauer as a defensive backfield coach on the Eagles' 1960 club.

His most notable achievement as a coach came in the Canadian Football League, when he led Calgary to the Western Division championship in 1967 and was cited as Coach of the Year.

Oakland Oaks Pop Pacers, 144-117

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Oakland moved only one victory away from the American Basketball Association championship Monday night with a 144-117 triumph over the Indiana Pacers at Indianapolis.

The win gave the Oaks a 3-1 lead in the best-of-7 playoff series. The fifth game is scheduled Wednesday night in Oakland.

Warren Armstrong led Oakland's attack with 30 points, 18 in the third quarter. The Oaks outscored the Pacers 41-21 in the third period to clinch the game.

Oakland's Doug Moe was second scorer for the team with 27 points, Gary Bradds scored 26 and Lenry Logan 19.

John Fairchild led the Pacers with 18, followed by Mel Daniels and Bob Netolicky with 17 each.

Indiana Coach Bobby Leonard used his reserves most of the second half, holding down the normally high-scoring Daniels and Netolicky.

Tom Haller of the Los Angeles Dodgers led National League catchers last season in double plays. He was in on 23 of them.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — How do I work out the surcharge?

A —Follow the instructions for making this calculation that are given on Forms 1040 and 1040A. On both forms you will note there is a line on which to enter your income tax, a line to enter the amount of your surcharge and a line for the sum of your income tax and surcharge.

To avoid delays, it is important to enter all the information on each line as called for on your tax return.

Q — I've never filed an estimated declaration before and only owe $28 on my 1968 tax. Do I have to file the estimated form you sent me in 1969?

A. — If you estimate that your 1969 tax liability will exceed your tax withheld by $40 or more, then you are required to file a declaration of estimated tax.

The purpose of filing a declaration of estimated income tax and making quarterly payments is to provide a means for all taxpayers to pay their tax on a current basis.

Q — How can I file a return using the pre-addressed label if I've made a mistake on the form the label came on?

A — Lift the label off the form and place it on the one you are filing. The label has been made so that it lifts off easily but sticks tightly when placed on another form.

Q — My 10-year-old son received $45 worth of dividends last year on some stock his grandfather gave him. Does he have to report this or do we?

A — This income is your son's and should not be reported on your return. A return would have to be filed by your son if his total income for the year was $600 or more. In figuring gross income, the first $100 of dividends is not counted.

Q — I've heard that hospital and medical insurance premiums get special tax treatment. What is it?

A — Half of the premiums you paid for hospital and medical insurance up to a maximum of $150 can be taken as an itemized deduction without regard to the 3 percent limitation that applies to medical expenses. All other medical expenses, including the balance of any medical insurance premiums, have to be reduced by 3 percent of the taxpayer's total income before they can be deducted. Look on page 7 of the 1040 instructions for further details.

Q — Do you have to be married to file as a head of household?

A — No, you must be unmarried (or legally separated) at the end of your tax year. A single person can qualify as head of household if he or she furnishes over half the cost of maintaining a home as the principal household for a dependent relative or an unmarried child, grandchild, or stepchild, even though the child is not a dependent. However, a dependent parent need not live in the same home.

Q — I turned 65 last month. Can I take the extra exemption for age on my 1968 tax return?

A — No, your age for tax purposes is what it was on the last day of your tax year.

Q — Can I add the sales tax I paid on my car to the amount listed in the state sales tax tables?

A — Yes.

Q — What do you mean when you say all W-2's must be attached to tax forms Do you need all the copies my company gave me?

A — Only one copy of the W-2 should be attached for each job reported on your tax return for 1968. One copy of the form should be kept for your records and the other may be required for your state return.

Safety Tips For Storms

AUSTIN (AP))—Inside an automobile is a safe place to be in an electrical storm, the state Health Department said Wednesday.

"The steel shell will lead the charge of electricity to the wheels, from where it will jump to the ground," the department said.

This does not apply to convertibles, it said.

Thunderstorms are common in the spring, and the department gave several tips on what to do if you are caught in one.

Campers, golfers, swimmers and farm workers are especially vulnerable since lightning will usually strike the highest object in an open area.

"Just recently two fishermen were killed in North Texas when caught on a lake by a sudden storm and struck by lightning," the department said.

"Many people will run under a tree when caught in a storm, exposing themselves to a great danger, since lightning often strikes lone trees. The bolt travels down the moist interior of the tree, building up extreme hea. and pressure which causes the tree to literally explode."

"If a thunderstorm develops while you are out in the open, head for a building and stay inside until the storm is over. If you are boating or swimming, leave the water and get to a building. If there is no building available head for a grove of trees but avoid the tallest tree or lone trees. In an open area, lie down until the storm passes."

Combat Units Said Stabilized

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — American manpower in Vietnam has stabilized at 541,000 the past three months and Pentagon officers say the U.S. troop level probably will never reach the authorized 549,500-man ceiling.

Some officers believe the number of U.S. personnel committed to the war will not exceed 543,000.

The chief reason for the leveling off in manpower, they say, is the progress of the war as viewed from the Pentagon—not any presidential directive to hold back on new deployments.

The U.S. Command in Vietnam handled the North Vietnamese spring offensive well, battlefield casualties are dropping and the South Vietnamese military force in developing under an accelerated training program, military sources say.

As long as the situation does not worsen and there appears to be some progress in the Paris peace talks, they say the manpower level could remain where it is today, aside from minor weekly fluctuations due to rotation of troops. Between 40,000 and 50,000 replacements a month flow into Vietnam to relieve those completing their normal one-year tour of duty in the war zone.

Officers say all major combat units are now in place in Vietnam.

The peak U.S. strength came in mid-February when the troop level hit 542,500. The level immediately dipped and has remained below 542,000 since then. It even dropped to 539,500 in March.

The 549,500-man ceiling was authorized by President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1968 after the North Vietnamese began their February Tet offensive which shook a rather complacent attitude concerning the war's progress.

The Pentagon's maintenance of a Vietnam force level 6,000 or 7,000 men short of the approved ceiling may be interpreted by some as evidence the Nixon administration will, as has been widely reported, begin withdrawing American units from Vietnam this year.

Officers already are expressing satisfaction at the progress of the South Vietnamese force's training effort.

In one major program, South Vietnamese units are scheduled to take over the battle gear held by 2,500 Americans, allowing deactivation of the U.S. units and reassignment of the individuals.

The first move in this program came in April when a U.S. artillery battalion handed over its weapons to a South Vietnamese unit.

Other steps, expected to be a pattern, are being taken to let the South Vietnam assume more of the war burden. They involve letting South Vietnamese troops move into an area to free U.S. units for combat elsewhere.

There is also a program to cut U.S. advisory forces. Camps manned by U.S. special forces troops along South Vietnam's frontier with Laos and Cambodia are being turned over one-by-one to South Vietnamese.

LONG SHOT AMONG WINNERS

Pulitzer Prizes Awarded

By HAL COOPER
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A favorite and a long shot have emerged with the 1969 Pulitzer prizes for drama and fiction.

Playwright Howard Sackler, 39, was announced Monday as the drama prize winner for his Broadway hi t"The Great White Hope," based on the life of onetime heavyweight boxing champion Jack Johnson.

Surprise winner of the fiction prize was N. Scott Momaday, 35-year-old Kiowa Indian, for "House Made of Dawn," a novel about the tribulations of an Indian veteran of World War II.

As far as is known, Momaday, now an English professor at the University of California, is the first member of his race to win a Pulitzer. He said he was unaware that the novel, his first, had even been nominated for the award.

In the field of journalism, the Los Angeles Times won the prize for public service for the third time in 27 years.

This time the award was for an expose of corruption which led to a shakeup of the Los Angeles city government and three convictions for bribery.

William Tuohy, 43, a Times correspondent, won the prize in international reporting for combat coverage in Vietnam—bringing the newspaper's total of Pulitzers through the years to seven, including three since 1966.

The prize for news photography went to Edward T. Adams, 35, of The Associated Press for his picture of Brig. Gen. Nguyen Ngoc Loan, the South Vietnamese national police chief, shooting a Viet Cong captive in the head with a pistol. It was the 23rd Pulitzer Prize for Associated Press staffers.

The fiction prize was won by N. Scott Momaday, 35, a Kiowa Indian, for his book "House Made of Dawn." Momaday is the first known member of his race to win a Pulitzer.

Playwright Howard Sackler, 39, won the drama prize for his Broadway play "The Great White Hope," based on the life of onetime heavyweight boxing champion Jack Johnson.

Norman Mailer, previously best known for his novel "The Naked and the Dead," shared honors in the general nonfiction category with Dr. Rene Jules Dubos, Rockefeller University microbiologist. Mailer was honored for "The Armies of the Night" and Dubos for "So Human an Animal."

All individual winners, including cowinners, receive $1,000 apiece. The Los Angeles Times award is a gold medal.

Pulitzer winners are selected by the trustees of Columbia University with the help of an advisory board. The annual prizes, first awarded in 1917, were established in the will of Joseph Pulitzer, founder of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and later publisher of the New York World.

Journalism winners for 1969 included:

Local reporting—John Fetterman, 49, of the Louisville (Ky.) Times and Courier-Journal, for the story of the return of a Vietnam veteran's body to Hindman, Ky.

Local reporting, special—Albert L. DeLugach, 43, and Denny Walsh, 33, for investigative reporting in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat of fraud in a steamfitters union.

National reporting—Robert Cahn, 52, Washington reporter of Boston's Christian Science Monitor, for a series on national parks.

Editorial writing (over a period of time)—Paul Greenberg, 32, Pine Bluff (Ark.) Commercial.

Cartooning (over a period of time)—John Fischetti, Chicago Daily News.

Winners in the arts field:

History—Leonard W. Levy, Brandeis University, "Origins of the Fifth Amendment."

Biography—B. L. Reid, Mt. Holyoke College, "The Man from New York; John Quinn and His Friends."

Poetry—George Oppen, New York, "Of Being Numerous."

Music—Karel Husa, Cornell University, "String Quartet No. 3."

"House Made of Dawn" was fiction winner Momaday's first novel, and he said, "I hope it's an indication the American Indian is coming in for more recognition than he's been awarded previously."

Momaday, who grew up on southwestern Indian reservations, worked on the book for three years. He is an associate professor of English with the University of California. His parents are veteran employes of the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs and his father, Al, is a noted painter of Indian scenes.

Adams, whose photograph had won a string of previous journalism prizes, said, "I just shot by instinct" when Loan raised his pistol.

Informed at his home in Bogota, N.J., that he had won a Pulitzer, Adams said: "I'm very excited. I was hoping, but I wasn't sure."

Mailer's "The Armies of the Night" is a report on a four-day protest against the war in Vietnam. The 46-year-old author is now a candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor of New York. He said he would use his prize money as "the first contribution" to his campaign fund.

Dr. Dubos, cowinner with Mailer in the general nonfiction category, was born in France and is 68. His book is a study of how man is shaped by surroundings and events. His work in this field already had brought him the $25,000 Arches of Science award—sometimes called the "American Nobel Prize"—in 1966.

Playwright Sackler, 39, was born in New York but lives in London now with his wife and two children. He had previously won both the Maxwell Anderson and Sergei awards for play writing, but "The Great White Hope" was his first to make it big on Broadway.

Tuohy, the international reporting winner, has covered Vietnam intermittently for the past four years.

A former Newsweek bureau chief in Saigon, Tuohy has been in on almost all major military operations since the U.S. escalation began in 1965. The Pulitzer judges commented:

"Few correspondents have seen and written more about the war in Vietnam than William Tuohy."

Panel Approves Vocational Study

AUSTIN (AP) — After an 18-month study, a Senate committee recommends that vocational-technical education "be fully integrated into the entire system of education" from the ninth grade through college.

The Committee on Vocational-Technical Education issued its recommendations Monday.

"Determined efforts must be made to prepare every student for roles in society which are meaningful as well as enriching," the committee said.

"Careful attention to the needs of the industries hiring the products of such programs would prevent the mistake of graduates who are well versed in theory, but unusable as technicians or technologists," the committee said.

The committee also recommended:

—The establishment of a 21-member advisory Council on Vocational-Technical Education, to be appointed by the Board of Education after consultation with the governor, and with the consent of the Senate. Federal funds for state programs will stop this July in states that have not set up such a council.

—A strict licensing law for private trade schools, with felony penalties "for those who willfully defraud and bilk unsuspecting students."

—That a "maintenance allowance" for each vocational teacher in public schools be considered. Another committee suggestion for helping schools expand their vocational-technical education programs is to fund them under the minimum foundation program. Junior colleges should be paid 80 per cent of the cost of instruction and equipment for such programs, the committee said.

—That the James Connally Technical Institute (now the Texas State Technical Institute) be continued.

—That the state Board of Education continue as the state Board for Vocational Education, and that the assistant commissioner for vocational and adult education be promoted to a position comparable to that of deputy commissioner.

—That a pilot in-service counselor training program be funded through and directed by the Texas Education Agency. Also, a pilot summer workshop program for advisers and guidance counselors be established.

—That secondary schools be authorized to contract with junior colleges for use of expensive vocational-technical education facilities. The committee said federal funds are available for this.

—That the committee be continued, so it can study such things as recruitment and certification of vocational teachers.
